CHINESE RESTRICTION.

The Chinese have rights as well as any other people. Justice and fair-play demand that those rights be respected. Chinamen who have been allowed to come into the country and make it their home should be protected. No just or fair-minded man will dispute this. Whether it was wise policy to have admitted them in the first place, or whether their coming has been beneficial to the country, are questions of a different nature. Indeed, although we uphold their just claim to be treated as rational free men in a free Christian country, and should strenuously oppose their being dealt with here as they have been in some other countries, we do not for one moment admit that their presence in this country in such large numbers has been otherwise than detrimental to the country's best interests. True, they have performed an important part in developing the agricultural resources of the country, and converted malarial swamps from beds of bulrushes and nesting places for mud hens into beautiful fields of waving rice; but, be it remembered, at the expense of demoralizing the native population in localities where these operations have been in progress, and to the exclusion of people of a newer and better civilization. The restrictive measures recently adopted by the Government do not encroach upon the rights of the Chinamen already here, and those who may wish to come have no rights in this kingdom to be encroached upon. The country has a perfect right to protect itself against an invasion, which, if allowed to go on, would ultimately demolish every institution and every interest not of its own creation. The great mistake has been in deferring restriction so long: it should have been put in operation years ago. Moreover, heartily as we endorse the regulations already in force, we deem them insufficient. Nothing, we believe, will be thoroughly effective short of absolute prohibition; or, if permitted to land in limited numbers, being kept on the plantations, and compelled to leave the country or re-ship at the expiration of their contracts.

PUBLICITY.

The Daily Press has expressed an opinion on "publicity of public business," which it is safe to say no statesman of any country entertains. Following are the words of our contemporary:—

"In representative Governments we hold that all political matters are so directly related to the people that immediate publicity of all Cabinet actions should be published for the information of the people. Publicity may not always prevent mischief being worked by Administration Cabinets and Boards, but at all events publicity sounds the alarm and calls attention to the danger, if it exists. Under old forms of statecraft secrecy was considered one of the safeguards indispensable in political affairs, but in this day and age secrecy is only tolerated when Cabinet policies are absolute and where the "one-man-power" principle is able to delay publicity until the wrong is committed and can only be discussed after the lapse of time when tardy Cabinet reports are submitted to a subservient Legislature. In free countries the case is entirely different; so much so, in fact, that one of the leading statesmen of the United States once said, 'I would not give a dime for all the secrets that people may imagine to be locked up in the United States archives.'"

It is admitted that "all Cabinet actions should be published for the information of the people," but "immediate publicity" is not always expedient; indeed, is sometimes subversive of 'a wise policy and hurtful to a nation's interests. There is a time for making public "all Cabinet actions," but the time of action is not always the proper time for publicity. In all countries with representative government cabinets sometimes have to transact business of a nature that State Expediency requires to be kept secret until revealed in the assembly of representatives. Even then it is sometimes considered premature to announce certain "actions" that may be in process of development. It is no uncommon occurrence for a Cabinet Minister in the British Parliament to rise and state in response to an inquiry that "State considerations require the withholding of an answer for the present," and such a reply is always accepted as sufficient for the time being. This is done in England, a free country with a form of representative government that is more directly controlled by the people than any other government on the globe, not excepting that of the United States.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

People, even old residents, who confine themselves to Honolulu can scarcely realize the alarming decrease of the aboriginal population of the islands. The numbers are maintained in the city at the expense of the country. Many of the rural districts that a few years ago were moderately well populated by natives are now either almost deserted or occupied mainly by Mongolians. Death, in various forms, has been quietly but steadily doing its work. supplemented by migration to the capital and other centres.

At Chinkiang, in China, a disturbance recently arose between the Chinese and some American missionaries, in which the missionaries were rather badly abused by the Chinese. The British Admiral, learning of the missionaries' trouble, sent a man-of-war for their protection, until relieved by an American man-of-war. Several such instances of readiness to help each other when in need have occurred in the last few years' history of the two great English-speaking nations, which tend to bring the two peoples of one race and one language closer together.

A NEW SOURCE OF WEALTH.

J. S. Drury has recently received from the East a pair of gloves, some embroideries and specimens of various fabrics manufactured from the fibre of the ramie plant; also samples of the yarn, or thread, of different colors, together with some of the fibre of ramie, decorticated, that he sent East. Taken together, it constitutes an interesting exhibit and attracts considerable attention. The manufactured fibre is of European growth. It is the strongest and most beautiful texile grown and is little inferior to silk in beauty and durability. The reason it has not been largely cultivated and extensively manufactured is because of the difficulty and expense that has hitherto attended its decortication and preparation for use. For many years the ingenuity of inventors has been taxed to construct a machine for the purpose, and it is said that more than two hundred have been patented which have proved failures; but at last one has been constructed that answers the purpose perfectly, and a company for the manufacture of ramie in Newark, New Jersey, has been organized. One of the managers writes to Mr. Drury that there is now a market for all the ramie that can be produced, at prices which for many years will be more remunerative than any agricultural products now grown. He states that the ramie produced in this State is best that he has seen. It is enormously productive and attended with no more labor and expense than alfalfa. It is grown from the roots, and the chief difficulty consists in their propagation and planting. This done, there is little subsequent trouble. It is perennial and a field may not require replanting in a lifetime. It can be marketed in bales, in its natural state, and there is no article of commerce that will so well bear transportation across the continent. Mr. Drury is meeting with considerable demand for roots, and the present year will witness the inauguration of its culture in this State—to increase until it is carried on to a great extent and perhaps become one of our most important resources.—[Bakersfield Californian.

The county in Florida that has the fewest doctors has also the smallest death-rate. The natives are trying to decide which of these facts is cause and which effect.—[New York Tribune.

We find in the Pall Mall Gazette suggestions intended for the eyes of English matrons, but which may be equally commended to the attention of American mothers, relating to the establishment of "housekeeping schools" after the pattern of those in Germany. Every girl in Germany, be she the daughter of nobleman, officer or small official, goes, as soon as she has finished her school education, into one of these training establishments. The rich go where they pay highly. They are never taken for less than a year, and every month has its appropriate work: Preserving of fruits and laying down meats, the care of eggs and butter, the preservation of woolen clothes, repairing of household linen, etc. Besides these general branches of housewifery, they are taught cooking, clear starching, the washing of dishes, the care of silverware and glass, dusting and sweeping, laying of a table and serving—in brief, all the duties which will fall to their own lot or to the servants whom they employ. As a result, the menage of a German matron is perfection, according to German ideas.—[New England Magazine.

A sailor returned from Annam and Tonquin is feted by his friends, to whom he recounts his adventures. "Did you see the King of Annam?" inquired one of his admiring friends. "No, and it is very lucky for me that I didn't; for, according to the law of that country, the first time a person looks on the King he is beheaded; for the second offense he is banished."

The bark Ceylon sailed this morning for San Francisco with 13,908 bags of sugar, valued at $68,631.69.

Schooner Ehukai brought 648 bags of sugar from Waialua this morning.

Stmr Jas Makee brought 2,455 bags of sugar this morning from Kauai. She sails to-morrow at noon for Waianae, Kilauea and Kapaa.

Stmr Iwilani arrived from Kauai this morning with 4,002 bags of sugar for the C O Whitmore. The Iwalani sails this evening at 5 o'clock for Eleele, Makaweli and Waimea.

Stmr Dowsett brought 1,500 bags of sugar from Paia this morning, and discharged into the schooner W S Bowne. The Dowsett sails again to-night.

The W S Bowne and Caibarien have finished discharging and are receeiving sugar.

Stmr Kilauea Hou brought 2,693 bags of sugar from Hakalau, and 1,116 from Ookala. She sails to-morrow at 5 p m.

The three masted schooner Ke Au Hou left for Hawai about three weeks ago.

LOCAL & GENERAL NEWS.

MR. W. S. Lace has branched out in an interestiig advertisement.

No fresh news of the Volcano by the Kilauea Hou this morning.

NEW planks are replacing old ones on the wharf, near the fishmarket.

MR. L. J. Levy's regular cash sale comes off to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock.

GEO. Stratmeyer is artistically painting Mr. Vaterhouse's Queen street stores.

THE dance at the Hawaiian Hotel this evening wil undoubtedly be a pleasant event.

A CHILDREN'S ocial will be held this evening, at the Bethel vestry, commencing at 7 o'clock.

THE pursers of the steamers Iwalani and Kilauea Hou report fine weather on their respective routes.

THE steamer Santa Maria will leave, carrying PostOffice mails, for San Francisco, on Monday.

MRS. Captain John Rice is very low with the dropsy, and the doctor fears she will not survive the night.

PRINCESS Likelike is holding a reception this afternoon, between the hours of three and five, at her Makiki residence.

THE Pele, after a protraced illness, has resumed work with renewed vigor. She towed the Irwin to sea yesterday and the Ceylon this morning.

THIS morning's "Advertiser" contains the first instalment of a very interesting article on the craters of Mokuaweoweo, written by Mr. J. M. Alexander.

SCORES of boys, of all sizes and many shades of color, congregated yesterday afternoon and evening in the water underneath and seaward of the King street bridge.

A LADIES' Bazaar will blossom out on Hotel street next Saturday, with choice millinery and fancy goods. Miss A. M. Burke will conduct the millinery department.

A CHINESE express carriage was capsized and broken on King street near Alakea, this morning, and the driver kicked in the abdomen. All the result of keeping a baulky horse.

MR. H. J. Agnew is building a cottage at the race course, close to the Casino, where he will stable his animals, and probably catch the time of his adversary's horses during practice.

THERE seems to be a new disease raging amongst the poultry of this island. Several parties tell of large numbers of chickens and other fowl suddenly dying from no apparent cause.

MESSRS. J. M. Oat, Jr., & Co. have imported a new-fangled musical instrument. Our reporter attempted a description, but broke down. The public are invited to go and see for themselves.

A POPULAR young gentleman who has been induced to eschew intoxicants, through the influence of Mr. Noble's lectures, may be heard of an evening at C. McCarthy's billiard saloon, denouncing intemperance.

NEWS was brought by the steamer Kilauea Hou this morning of a teamster by the name of Low, employed on Laupahoehoe plantation, being stabbed by a Portuguese madman, last Saturday. The injured man is receiving proper medical assistance, but is not expected to live long.

THE best thing out on horse flesh is the Horse Owner's Cyclopedia, which can be seen at the store of J. M. Oat, Jr., & Co. The book treats of all the ills that equine flesh is heir to, and gives a large variety of interesting history relating to the horse. The volume is elegantly bound and splendidly illustrated.

MR. Hay Wodehouse was thrown from his horse this morning, while on his way to town, and received a few slight bruises about the body and an abrasion on the forehead. Mr. Wodehouse, though pretty well shaken up, is able to attend to business, and thinks nothing of the adventure. This is the same horse that threw Mr. Guy Wodehouse and is apparently a vicious beast.

THE steamer James I. Dowsett, with the schooner Wailele in tow, arrived at Paia Tuesday morning, having left here Monday afternoon. The passage was made in less than 13 hours. The captain of the Dowsett reports good weather in the channel and at Paia. The steamer, with the schooner Ehukai, will be hauled onto the Marine Railway this afternoon, to be cleaned. She will again sail for Paia about midnight.

THE tug Eleu is laid up for repairs. It will take until to-morrow afternoon for the machinists to remedy the accident to the pump. She will then be ready to tow vessels, but is sadly in need of further repairs. Her boiler leaks badly and requires attention. Mr. Farnsworth, the engineer, during the time the tug was hauling mudscows, was unable to do much in the way of cleaning the boiler, unless he worked of nights, which was not expected.

MESSRS. Gedge and Guillaume, two young sports who left here last December, by the ship Southern Chief for Hongkong, have been heard from. They are at Hanoi, Tonquin, and speak of the country being very rich but not developed. They also say that sugar planting is likely to be a principal industry there before long. They enjoyed the voyage to Hongkong, and are well-pleased with the place. They intend to remain there, but for what purpose they did not say.

THE TEMPERANCE CAMPAICN.

There was a pretty full attendance at the Y. M. C. A. Hall, last evening, to hear Mr. Wm. Noble speak on the moderate drinker. The address was pointed and practical. The next lecture of the course will be delivered, at the same place, this evening.

INTERMEDIRY COURT.

Before Preston, J. In re appeal of Ah You, from the Police Court, charged with having opium in possession, the judgment of the Police Court is affirmed, and an appeal noted to the Supreme Court. W. A. Whiting for defendant.

In re S. Paaniani vs. Kuia, appeal from District Court, Koolauloa, damages $20. W. L. Holokahi and J. P. Kauwalu for plaintiff, appellant. Cecil Brown for defendant. Appeal dismissed.

NOT A CANCER BUT A LIZARD.

Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 14.—Mrs. J. C. Williston, the wife of a contractor and builder of this city, has just returned from an extended trip after a most remarkable experience. Mrs. Williston is not yet thirty, but her hair is almost white and her face bears the signs of a life of suffering. She has been the victim for years, at varying hours of night and day, of pains like the cutting of a knife, and physicians supposed her to be suffering from cancer of the stomach. Eminent physicians failed to exactly locate the trouble or afford the lady relief. She spent months in travel and large amounts of money endeavoring to find effective treatment for her malady, but most of the physicians whom she consulted said that her disease was cancer of the stomach and that death would ultimately result.

Last October she went to San Francisco, stopping and treating, while en route, at the soda springs of Idaho, but in vain. Later she tried the waters of Calistoga Springs and the baths of Passo del Robles without effect. San Francisco's best physicians could afford no relief, and she started for Sonora, Mexico, intending to visit some celebrated springs near Nogales. She was taken seriously ill at Tucson, A. T. One day during her illness a Papago Indian, of local notoriety as a "medicine man," visited Tucson from St. Xavier's Mission. He was taken to Mrs. Williston's rooms and asked if he could tell her ailment. He looked at her, had her describe the pains and their location, and then with the exclamation, "Me sabe heap bad spirit," he rushed out and toward the mission. In a few hours he returned with herbs and a basket of mescal, a root used by the Indians for food.

He motioned to Mrs. Williston to swallow the herbs. They made her deathly sick, so much so that she almost died from fright, thinking she had been poisoned. The result, after a few hours, was the emission of a dead lizard that was fully four inches in length. It was apparently of a species common to the East, but how it had managed to live for so many years was the mystery. Mrs. Williston says that but one explanation occurs to her, which is that when a child and living at Phillipsburg, N. J., she and her brother were accustomed to drink from a little brook that ran near the house. They would scoop the water up with their hands, and she thinks that possibly in this way she swallowed the embryo lizard. Mrs. Williston's recovery has been rapid, and she is now fairly on the way to a complete restoration to health. Though the taking of living objects into the system is not rare, medical men say that this is one of the most remarkable cases on record.—N. Y. Times, Feb. 15.

BEANS.

It is not always safe to ask questions of a Sunday school unless you make sure of the answer beforehand. At a certain Sunday school anniversary in Boston the speaker to the children waxed eloquent in describing the breakfast at a poor children's home which he witnessed on Easter Sunday morning. He wished to bring out the fact that the poor children had eggs for breakfast, in recognition of Easter. So he said to the Sunday school he was addressing: "Oh, children, it was a beautiful sight to see all those poor boys and girls enjoying themselves. They had clean napkins, and fresh faces, and bread and milk; and what else do you think they had to eat?" "Beans!" shouted a chorus of boys from all parts of the church. What else could be expected of a Boston audience when speaking of a Sunday breakfast?—[Congregationalist.

Nevada seems to be the paradise of the school teacher. The annual report of the Bureau of Education, which has just been given to the public, states that the average salary of male teachers in Nevada is $140 per month, and for women $96. Intellectual Maine goes to the other extreme, and pays its women teachers $16 per month. The average salary of teachers per month is reported from all the States except Arkansas, Florida, Georgia and Texas, and from all the Territories except the Indian Territory. In those States where no distinction of sex is made in reporting this item (Alabama, Delaware, Indiana, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, Missouri, New York, North Carolina and Tennessee) the average salary ranges from $27.87 (in Kentucky) to $47.75 (in Missouri). It should be noted that the report from Kentucky includes only white country schools. In this State the average salary for teachers in city and graded schools for whites is $71.25. For the States not included in the foregoing statement the lowest average salary per month is, for men, $26.92 (South Carolina); for women, $16.28 (Maine).—[Washington Corr. Chicago Journal.

A LECAL OATH.

"Do you," said Fanny, t'other day,
"In earnest love me as you say?
Or are those tender words applied
Alike to fifty girls beside?"

"Dear, cruel girl," cried I, "forbear!
For by those eyes—those lips—I swear——"
She stopped me as the oath I took,
And cried, "You've sworn—now kiss the book!"

THE CHRONIC GROWLER.

He growls about his boarding place,
He growls about his bed;
He growls about most everything—
Wants something else instead.

He growls about his laundryman,
He growls about his tailer,
He growls about the fit of things,
Like Jack Tar 'board a whaler.

He growls about the daily news,
He growls because it's new,
He growls about an article
That doesn't suit his view.

He growls about his daily work,
He growls because it's labor;
He growls because he's not born rich,
As was his next door neighbor.

He growls because he has no wife;
He growls about the ladies;
He growls about the style they wear—
Consigns them all to Hades.

He growls when he to theatre goes,
He growls about the seats,
He growls about the play again
To every one he meets.

He growls about a legacy,
He growls because 'tis small;
He growls as if it was his right
That he should get it all.

He growls about the Holy Writ,
He growls because he can;
He growls because he's bound to growl,
He's such a cranky man.

A Woman's Sufferings and Gratitude.

A Voice from Austria.

Near the village of Zillingdorf, in Lower Austria, lives Maria Haas, an intelligent and industrious woman, whose story of physical suffering and final relief, as related by herself, is of interest to English women. "I was employed," she says, "in the work of a large farmhouse. Over-work brought on sick headache, followed by a deathly fainting and sickness of the stomach, until I was unable to retain either food or drink. I was compelled to take to my bed for several weeks. Getting a little better from rest and quiet, I sought to do some work, but was soon taken with a pain in my side, which in a little while seemed to spread over my whole body, and throb[illegible] in my every limb. This was followed by a cough and shortness of breath, until finally I could not sew, and I took to my bed for the second, and, as I thought, for the last time. My friends told me that my time had nearly come, and that I could not live longer than when the trees put on their green once more. Then I happened to get one of the Seigel pamphlets. I read it, and my dear mother bought me a bottle of Seigel's Syrup, which I took exactly according to directions, and I had not taken the whole of it before I felt a great change for the better. My last illness began June , 1882, and continued to August 9th, when I began to take the Syrup. Very soon I could do a little light work. The cough left me, and I was no more troubled in breathing. Now I am perfectly cured. And oh, how happy I am! I cannot express gratitude enough for Seigel's Syrup. Now I must tell you that the doctors in our district distributed handbills cautioning people against the medicine, telling them it would do them no good, and many were thereby influenced to destroy the Seigel pamphlets; but now, wherever one is to be found, it is kept like a relic. The few preserved are borrowed to read, and I have lent mine for six miles around our district. People have come eighteen miles to get me to buy the medicine for them, knowing that it cured me, and to be sure to get the right kind. I know a woman who was looking like death, and who told them there was no help for her, that she had consulted several doctors, but none could help her. I told her of Seigel's Syrup, and wrote the name down for her that she might make no mistake. She took my advice and the Syrup, and now she is in perfect health, and the people around us are amazed. The medicine has made such progress in our neighborhood that people say they don't want the doctor any more, but they take the Syrup. Sufferers from gout who were confined to their bed and could hardly move a finger, have been cured by it. There is a girl in our district who caught a cold by going through some water, and was in bed five years with costiveness and rheumatic pains, and had to have an attendant to watch by her. There was not a doctor in the surrounding districts to whom her mother had not applied to relieve her child, but every one crossed themselves and said they could not help her. Whenever the little bell rang which is rung in our place when somebody is dead, we thought surely it was for her, but Seigel's Syrup and Pills saved her life, and now she is as healthy as anybody, goes to church, and can work even in the fields. Everybody was astonished when they saw her out, knowing how many years she had been in bed. To-day she adds her gratitude to mine for God's mercies and Seigel's Syrup. MARIA HAAS."

The people of England speak confirming the above.

After Many Years.

"Whittle-le-Woods, near Chorley,
"December 26, 1883.

"Dear Sir,—Mother Seigel's medicine sells exceeding well with us, all that try it speak highly in its favor. We had a case of a young lady that had been troubled many years with pains after eating. She tells us that the pains were entirely taken away after a few doses of your medicine.—Yours truly, E. PEEL."

After Several Years.

"Stoke Ferry, January 9th, 1884.

"Gentlemen,—I have used Siegel's Syrup for several years, and have found it a most efficacious remedy for Liver complaints and general debility, and I always keep some by me, and cannot speak too highly in its praise.—I remain, yours truly, Harriett King."

After Sixteen Years.

"95, Newgate Street, Worksop, Notts,
"December 26th, 1883.

"Gentlemen,—It is with the greatest of pleasure I accord my testimony as to the efficacy of Mother Seigel's Syrup. My wife, who has suffered from acute Dyspepsia for over sixteen years, is now perfectly better through the sole help of your Syrup. I have sent pounds in medicines from doctors—in fact, I began to think she was incurable, until your marvellous medicine was tried.

I remain, yours, thankfully,
ALFRED FORD."

The Effects have been Wonderful.

"Ilford Road Dispensary, Dukinfield,
May 3, 1884.

"Dear Sir,—I am happy to inform you that the sale of your Syrup and Pills increases here continually. Several of my customers speak of having derived more benefit from the use of these than from any other medicine. In some instances the effects have been wonderful.

Yours very respectfully,
It wly] PRO. EDWIN EASTWOOD, J.B."

SHAKING HANDS.

The hand I shook to-day
Was warm and sweet;
And charming every way
For one to greet.

How differently we feel,
When hands are shook;
To some we almost kneel,
With Godward look!

And others send a chill,
As if from ice;
Some have a grip to kill,
As in a vise.

And hands we shake which tell
What tongues and lips
Could ne'er express so well,
Of earth's hardships.

A hand there is that darts
Both to and fro,
And shakes by fits and starts,
Possessed to go.

And the hypocrite's hand.
Whoever shakes,
Must surely understand
The touch of snakes.

There is a hand that crooks,
As hard to squeeze
As 'twere a fist of hooks,
Or bunch of keys.

The conventional hand
Which shakes by rule,
In all the dignity
It learnt at school.

Some lovely hands there are
That thrill us so,
We think heaven isn't far
For us to go.

The hand that got astray
For to shake,
And which we shook to-day,
For love's own sake,

Was a rapturous thing,
And nothing less
Than sample angels bring
Of God's caress.

BISHOP'S RING AROUND THE SUN.

If there is nothing new under the sun, there is at least something new around it. For the last two years close observers of the sky have noticed that the noon-day sun has been surrounded by a corona of dusky, coppery, or reddish light, as it has been variously described, the circle of most distinct color having a radius of about fifteen degrees and inclosing a brilliant, silvery or blueish glow close around the solar disk. A similar appearance of much less intensity has been occasionally noticed around the full moon on very clear winter nights.

The most experienced observers of sky colors are agreed that this corona was not visible before the latter months of 1883. Von Bezold of Munich, who was considered the most competent meteorologist to prepare a schedule for observations on the colors of the sky for the recent German Arctic Expedition, says that in spite of the close attention he had previously given to the appearance of the usual whitish glow around the sun, he had never till recently seen the dusky ring. Thollon of Nice, who had made a special study of the sky around the sun for a series of years, declares confidently that a change occurred in November, 1883. Backhouse of Sunderland, who has a careful record of parhelia for twenty-five years, confirms this opinion. We may, therefore, safely accept the conclusion that the change of color from the blue of the open sky to the intense glare of whitish light close around the sun was until lately affected without the appearance of any reddish tinge in the transitional area.

The new corona, to which the name of "Bishop's ring" has been given after its first observer, has never been a very conspicuous affair, and therefore has not attracted the popular attention that it deserves; but it could easily be seen every clear day last winter, and has repeatedly been noticed since then in the latter months of 1885.—[Popular Science Monthly.

In closing his remarkable essay upon the money established by the Constitution, George Bancroft says: "I am pleading the cause of industry, the cause of labor, the cause of the poor; and yet, as I do not believe that the interests of the various classes of society necessarily clash with each other, I may hope that I am pleading for the welfare of society, for the rights and duties of all who, in the many diversities of honorable occupation, contribute to the completeness of a nation. What I have written is the fruit of many hours employed in examining the laws of our period of colonial life, as well as in the study of our Constitution and of the corresponding history and affairs of many lands. I may utter these last words of admonition as assurances of that love of country, of liberty, and of truth, that has been the rule of my life, and still glows in a heart which must so soon cease to beat."—[S. F. Alta.

A Clergyman, who owed his situation to a titled patron rather than to his abilities, in visiting his parishioners for the purpose of catechising them asked one old, stern Presbyterian, "Who made Paul, a preacher?" "It wasna the Duke of Queensberry," replied the old man with a grim smile and a shake of the head.

STATEMENT.

THE undersigned, a Committee of Directors of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, appointed to formulate the views of the Board on the advantages offered by the Society to the public, report:—

1st—The Society issues all the approved forms of assurance, including Ordinary Life, Endowment and Tontine policies. It is immaterial to the Directors which form of policy is taken by intending assurers.

2d—The Life and Endowment forms of policy provide for annual cash dividends and a surrender value; are indisputable after three years and payable immediately after proof of death.

3d—The premiums on a Tontine policy are the same as on the Ordinary Life, but, while the latter is only payable in the event of death, the holder of the Tontine policy has the right to draw the whole of the reserve and the accumulated profits in cash at the end of a stated period; thus, during his own lifetime, after his producing years are past, he can, without any larger premium than on an ordinary policy, secure these greater advantages.

4th—Experience shows that the return paid in cash on maturing Tontine policies approximates to or exceeds the amount of premiums paid by policyholders, so that the average cost of the assurance will be only about the interest on the premiums.

5th—Tontine policies, like others, are paid in full in the event of death at any time during the term of the policy, and are incontestable after three years, and payable immediately after due proof of death.

6th—Experience shows that the mortality is lower among Tontine policyholders, as the better lives seek this kind of assurances, which is a considerable source of profit.

7th—Tontine policies will be made non-forfeitable under the laws of the State, if so desired at the time the assurance is effected.

8th—The Tontine system is fair and just; its accounts are accurately kept, separate from all other business; the funds judiciously invested and improved, and the accumulated profits faithfully guarded and properly apportioned.

9th—The Society has since its organization transacted a larger amount of new business than any other company, while its new business for the first half of the present year is $1,750,000 larger than that of the first half of 1884. It has Assets of $60,000,000; over $14,000,000 of Surplus, and its ratio of Surplus to Liability is greater than that of any other company.
