MORI MAKES THREAT

HIGH WAGE THUG STABS TO KILL

Editor Sheba of the Hawaii Shinpo was stabbed this morning by Mori, a delegate of the High Wage Association from Maui. The wounds are serious but not necessarily fatal. Sheba was standing on the street when attacked, the knife of the assailant striking him in the head, shoulder, and arm. Mori is a former clerk in Makino's store.

The expected has at last happened. Sheba, the courageous Japanese editor who has stood by his guns manfully and made a brilliant fight for justice and fair play, has been laid low by the knife of the assassin. While walking along Smith street near King at 10:45 this morning, Sheba was accosted by Mori, who said he desired to talk with him about the higher wage proposition. Mori had just come from the conspiracy trial, where Negoro testified that he had always urged Higher Wage followers to preserve peace.

"Come to my office," said Sheba, "and we will talk over the matter there."

Mori accepted the offer, and as they walked along the sidewalk, quick as lightning, Mori drew a long bladed pocket knife and stabbed Sheba three times, once in the head, once in the left forearm, and once in the back of the neck.

A struggle immediately followed, in which Sheba by main strength soon got Mori down under him. The blood from Sheba's wounds poured out on the assassin, and Ogata, a close friend of Sheba's, seeing the attack from the doorway of a Chinese newspaper office close by, ran to the wounded man's assistance. He lifted Sheba from the ground, grasped Mori and with the aid of several others held him firmly until the police officers arrived.

The office of Mr. Sheba was notified at once, and looking out from the windows of the little den where the plucky editor has written so many brave editorials on the strike situation, urging his countrymen to do what was right and forsake false leaders, they saw their beloved employer in the clutches of the man who was trying to stab him to death.

W. Denning, the Japanese interpreter, immediately on hearing of the affair, went to the hospital to see Sheba, and later went with the representatives of the press to Sheba's office. He secured full and accurate statements of the affair, visited the scene of the assault, and aided th papers in every way possible.

Dr. Judd, after examining Sheba's wounds, stated that had the knife been brought forward the sixteenth of an inch, the stab in the neck would have revered the jugular vein and Sheba would have lived less than a minute.

this morning that it was a cold-blooded stabbing affray. Se said that had Sheba been a physically weak man, he would have been dead.

"I was watching at my work over here," pointing at the place in the empty lot, directly makai of Smith street, "when I heard the cry, 'Help.' I heard it twice, but could not locate the place where the voice came from. The next time I heard, I looked out and saw two Japanese struggling on Smith street near King.

"I then rushed out towards the

SPAIN IS IMPROVING.

MADRID, August 3. — The situation throughout the insurrectionary parts of Spain is improved. The number of killed in the recent riots is placed at 2,000 and the wounded at 2,500.

Sheba Improves

Although there were many visitors at the Queen's Hospital this afternoon desiring to see Sheba none of them were allowed to disturb the wounded man, the orders of Drs. Judd and Collins being that the patient was not to be disturbed throughout the day.

Sheba was suffering considerable pain from his wounds when he recovered consciousness after the operation. It was stated by the hospital physicians that he was considerably weakened by loss of blood and the shock of the knife wounds.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon it was stated that Sheba is resting easily and there is little likelihood of any complications developing that will endanger his life. The wound in his neck is the most severe and prevents him from moving his head. The wounds are all of a painful nature and in the ordinary course of events it will be weeks before the editor of the Shinpo is fully recovered from the murderous attack that was made upon him by the delegate from Maui of the Higher Wage Association—the former employe of Makino.

SAYS OTHERS ARE MARKED

"Others beside Sheba will get it," was the statement made at the police station this afternoon by Mori, the man who attempted to assassinate the editor of the Hawaii Shinpo this morning.

Instead of expressing regre for his crime, Mori boldly declares that others of his countrymen will take up the knife that was snatched from his hand this morning after he had plunged it three times into the body of Sheba.

His intimation that the vengeance of the Higher Wage Association will be felt by others and that it will be spelled in blood was made in a manner and indicating that Mori believes that he is not the only man who is willing to sacrifice himself and commit murder in the supposed interests of Makino and his colleagues of the Higher Wage Association.

The would-be assassin is thoroughly sane in the opinion of Drs. O'Day and Sinclair, who examined the man at the police station during the afternoon. During his interrogation by the physicians he did not lose any of his calm demeanor, and the two physicians are sure that he is entirely responsible for his act.

He also stated that he did not intend to deny that he was the man that stabbed the editor of the Hawaii Shinpo and added that he was perfectly willing to take the penalty for his deed.

GIVE HIM JUSTICE

"Why should not this Mori or whatever his name is, be put on immediate trial?" said a prominent citizen this noon.

"I believe the officers of the law should act promptly. Put the man on trial tomorrow. Let there be an end of the law's delays. Give us some straight quick justice. The Lord knows that there has been enough quibbling with the men behind this fellow who evidently is sorry that he cannot be tried as an assin."

GAVE IT FOR JAPAN

"Oh, that's all right. This man gave up his body for Japan all right."

This is the comment made by the Japanese servant of a prominent physician when told that Mori might have to hang for his assault on Editor Sheba. It voices one Japanese sentiment.

Sympathizers with Evansville (Ind.) street car strikers tossed a tick of dynamite on a car last night, injuring one of several strike breakers.

NEGORO'S PLANS

The primary aim of the Higher Wage movement was to bring about international complications between Japan and the United States.

This fact was brought out yesterday by Negoro himself in his testimony at the conspiracy trial, and in a most peculiar way.

Negoro's attorney sought to introduce Negoro's admittedly first article published in the Jiji, in which he outlined the program for the high wage movement. Kinney for the prosecution fought to keep it out of the evidence. The judge ruled against him. When the article was read Mr. Kinney immediately realized its great value for the prosecution as it sets forth clearly that from the very outset Negoro's plan was to set the laborers against the planters, and stir up such a furore that the Japanese government would interfere and back the demands of the Higher Wage Association.

The article in full follows, the translation being that made by the defense:

We regret that the wages in Hawaii are disproportionately low in comparison with the large profits have been reaping. Perhaps nowhere in the world there will be found capitalists who reap so high a rate of profit on the one hand and laborers on the other hand whose wages are so low, as compared with the profits of the capitalist as in Hawaii. They raise cry when they lose their equilibrium. We hope that the Hawaiian planters soon awaken and raise the wages for the sake of the continued peace of Hawaii.

It may be that the planters consider there is no fear of losing laborers, however, bad the treatment accorded to them may be, because the Japanese laborers must either stay here or return to Japan, since their emigration

UNUSUAL CASES ARE PRESENTED

Many Features Not Met With Elsewhere Are Before Survey

Owing to the conditions of the roads, Marston Campbell and Messrs. Leighton and Meidenthal of the Hydrographic Survey were not able to cover all the ground contemplated on their automobile trip around the island yesterday, that portion between Waialua and Honolulu being covered after dark. They will return over that much of the trip this afternoon.

They started at the Waimanalo Pali and skirted the coast as far as Kahuku plantation, making observations to get ideas as to the objects involved. They were obliged to wait for two hours at Kalawaimea for the tide to recede in order to go along the road.

While the members of the party did not this morning care to mention any particular places, there was presented in some valley several unusual problems in surface water measurement and conservation to the solution of which special methods must be adapted. As a whole, the country covered, according to Mr. Leighton, is one in which the maximum utilization of surface waters involves the conservation of flood waters and the final possibilities depend solely on the existence of suitable reservoir sites. It is apparent that there are few such sites of large capacity and it will require careful surveys to determine whether or not the object may be accomplished by the construction of a series of small reservoirs. The great need of the island aside from the careful measurement of stream flow is the making of detailed topographic maps such as are being made by the Geologic Survey in the United States. These maps show precisely the slopes and elevation of the land surfaces and the location of the rivers down to the smallest tributaries and they reveal the location and possible locations of reservoirs. These and other purposes would be served by the typographic survey and it is the intention of the Superintendent of Public Works to secure co-operation from the geological surveys in their work as well as in the Hydrographic which we are now prosecuting.

Honolulu Oil Supply Station For Warships

WASHINGTON, August 2. — The Navy Department is considering the establishment of a supply station for oil-burning warships at Honolulu. A general coaling station is being considered for California City.

The Navy Department has been conducting experiments on the old monitor Wyoming, now known as the Cheyenne, with oil as a fuel for warships. The tests have apparently been satisfactory, for twelve of the new torpedo boats ordered built are to be equipped with oil burners. Other vessels may have combination oil and coal burners. That the government contemplates establishing an oil-burning station here indicates that oil-burning war vessels will either be stationed here as a base, or that visits of oil-burners may be frequent.

ARMY AND NAVY

Work has been completed on the two mess halls, the two bath houses, the waterworks and two incinerators at Fort Ruger to be used by the two companies of coast artillery which are scheduled to leave San Francisco for Honolulu tomorrow. The construction work has been in charge of Captain Falls, the depot quartermaster, and the buildings erected resemble those at Leilehua for the cavalry. The placing of the platforms for the tents of the enlisted men and the construction of the quarters for the officers is being hurried to completion.

Through a letter that has been received by Delegate Kuhio from George B. McClellan, it is learned that the reason that the building of a quartermaster depot in Honolulu has not received greater attention at the hands of the Washington authorities is because a site has not yet been suggested that will be satisfactory to the department.

Referring to the supplies depot of the army commissary department, McClellan states that quarters will be rented to serve the present needs of the dpartmnt.

McClilan says that "proper quarters will be built later when the quartermaster general's department settles the question of further depot facilities."

The assignment has been announced of Lieutenant Albert K. Lyman, corps of engineers, who, upon his graduation from West Point, was placed in the Engineer Corps. Lieut. Lyman is now visiting with his family in Hilo and upon the expiration of his graduation leave of absence will proceed to Rock Island, Illinois, where he is detailed to remain until November 30, when he will be assigned to duty in the Canal Zone. On May 10, 1910, he will go to New York City and later report to the officer at Detroit in charge of the Detroit Engineer District of the survey of the northern and northwestern lakes.

Major B. H. Ray, the arm ypaymaster, visited Fort De Russy and paid the men of the engineer company stationed at the post. The sum distributed by Major Ray amounted to about $3,000.

Major Ray states that the monthly payroll of the troops now in the Territory amounts to approximately $43,000 and with the arrival of the coast artillery companies the payroll will approximate $56,000.

The War Department at Washington will son have before it the findings of the board detailed to report on the permanent post at Leilehua. Colonel Schuyler, president of the Board, states that everything has been done by the Board toward examining into all the questions having a bearing upon the subject and that as far as the report is concerned there should be no delay in the War Department reaching a conclusion at an early date. It is stated that accommodations for one regiment will be first constructed and the size of the post increased as accommodations become necessary. It is the intention to provide accommodations for about four regiments of different branches of the service.

It has been discovered that there has been tampering with bids submitted to the Navy Paymaster's office in Manila by which certain bidders enjoyed an unfair advantage. An investigation was ordered several weeks ago, and it was found that a Filipino clerk, named Emilio Mendoza, and a Chinaman, named Chua Yaw, had an understanding by which the latter was to get a contract for coal for the Navy. Another bidder made a mistake in getting his bid too high and asked that he be permitted to withdraw it and that bids be asked again. This was allowed, and the second time the Chinaman underbid the other bidder by precisely the same amount. These bids were rejected and another competition arranged and a lot of fake bids sent in. Secret service men were placed where they could watch the office and they saw Mendoza examine the bids and make notes of them. He was at once arrested and later confessed, implicating the Chinese bidder.

MARINE OFFICER COMMITS SUICIDE

Without giving any reason to his shipmates for the rash act, Pat Gerald Bennett, a member of the U. S. Marine Corps, jumped overboard from the transport Logan en route from Nagasaki, Japan to this port, and was drowned before the life crew could reach him. The big transport arrived this morning en route to the States, her capacity crowded to the limit, which is a disappointment to many military and naval officers here who desired passage to the mainland.

The officers are at a loss to know the reason why Bennett committed the deed. He was apparently well mentally, until July 23, when at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, he made a quick and unexpected move and jumped overboard. Everything was done to save him, but of no avail. He has a family on the mainland.

The Logan is carrying back to the States 230 cabin, 88 second cabin, and 1132 steerage passangers. Almost all of them are from Manila, while a few of them came from Nagasaki, Japan. The officers and men are members of the 30th Infantry, U. S. A. Col. E. B. Prattf is the commanding officer.

She brought two bags of mail for Honolulu and will take mail from here, sailing this afternoon for San Francisco at 4 o'clock. The trip from the Orient was fairly good.

MORI WELL KNOWN

Mori, the assailant of Editor Sheba, is what is commonly classed as a "dressed up Japanese." He is always well dressed, rather diminutive in size and dapper in appearance. A few mornings ago he boarded a down-town car from the Punahou section and was met on the car by Makino. They were seated together and appeared to be talking earnestly in Japanese.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 23.—The United States army transport Sheridan, which sails August 5 from this port for Manila, will carry a number of well-known army officers who have been stationed at this port. Prominent among these is Col. John B. Bellinger, who was transport quartermaster at this port for two and a half years. He will be accompanied by his wife and his four young sons.

Colonel John L. Chamberlain, inspector general's department, from Washington, D. C., and his family are on the passenger list. Col. Lea Febiger, Third Infantry, well known at the post, and who was prominent and effective during the great fire, is also to be a passenger.

The Sheridan will take the following troops:

The One Hundred and Fifth company, coast artillery, Captain J. R. Pourie, for Honolulu; the One Hundred and Forty-sixth company, coast artillery, Lieut. Gordon Robinson, for Manilla, and the One Hundred and Fifty-ninth company, coast artillery, Lieut. G. E. Turner, for Honolulu.

The One Hundred and Forty-sixth company is designated in the service as "mine planters." The Sheridan will also take 136 recruits.

Captain H. L. Kinnison will go out as quartermaster, relieving Captain Campbell E. Babcock, who is going to join his regiment.

COMING OUR WAY

SEATTLE, Wash., July 20. — On the big register in the Hawaiian building, in which visitors are invited to enter their names and addresses is a column headed "When do you expect to visit Hawaii?" A large proportion of persons leave this space blank, but a considerable number make some attempt to answer the query. It is really surprising the large number of persons who set an approximate date for their trip to the islands, and if even a small portion of them carry out their intentions the ocean transportation companies will be completely swamped unless they are able to develop resources not now apparent.

Then there are a lot of more or less funny persons who write more or less funny things in the big book. Miss Adelyn Gandolfo, of Ventura, Cal., says she will go to Hawaii "When Tom sends for her." A man from Kalamazoo, Mich., expects to go on the "30th of February." Another thinks he would like to visit the islands "When Easter falls on Wednesday." A man from Bellingham, Wash., who evidently has the "Pacific Coast spirit" very strong, proposes making his trip "When the Japs vamose."

Miss Baltimore, Md., will go "when invited." Miss Los Angeles is longing to get to the Paradise of the Pacific, but must make her own living. Therefore she will be only too glad to pack her trunk "when she secures a position." A hopeful Wisconsin youth, who feels the importance of 15 years and notes it in the book, is determined to see Hawaii "when he is 21." A loyal resident of the Canal Zone will go to Hawaii "when it gets cold in Panama."

Any number of persons expect to see the islands "before they die," while several are so sure that Hawaii is the real Paradise that they write "in the next world, "when I die," "after death," etc. Others, apparently not very sure of the future state, write the one despairing word "never;" others simply "don't know," or find it "impossible to tell," and are satisfied to leave the matter in doubt with the simple interrogation sign—"?."

Some persons are positive, if perchance a little indefinite, as for instance the man who writes "you bet," or "very soon," or "in the near future," or "next vacation." A sweet school girl from Berkeley is in this class when she writes "real soon."

Many have hopes. They "hope to," "hope to some day," "soon, I hope," or "in the sweet bye and bye."

Very few entries are like that made by so well satisfied and contented persons as apparently are J. M. Phy, wife and son Conrad of Highland, Cal., who simply "haven't desired."

scene of trouble. When I arrived I saw Sheba stabbed near the shoulder. He was, fortunately, holding the other Japanese down. The blood was running out of Sheba terribly and I told him to let go. I then got myself busy and held down the other Japanese, whose name I afterwards found to be Mori. I took him down to the police station, with the assistance of another Japanese.

"When I heard the cry 'help,' I looked around and saw the Japanese of the Hamano store go out to see the trouble. They did not stop though to find out the pilikia. It was after this that I ran up to the scene of trouble."

Shortly after the trouble occurred, the employees of the Hawaii Shinpo, who had been told of the fight, rushed out on the streets to see the fight. Editor Mikami of the Hawaii Shinpo then ran back to the office, and with the assistance of the Bulletin man, who happened along, telephoned down to Judge Ballou, telling him what had taken place. The Judge soon arrived in a hack in company with another Bulletin man.

Judge Ballou was the first to reach the Queen's hospital, whence Sheba was taken after the stabbing. It was shortly before 11 o'clock when Judge Ballou arrived at the hospital and at that time Sheba was being operated on by Drs. Collins and Judd. He was under the influence of an anesthetic but the statement of Dr. Judd was to the effect that the wounds in themselves were not serious and that Sheba was not in a dangerous condition unless unforseen complications arose.

Sheba is suffering from three wounds, all of which are painful. The wound on the neck missed the jugular vein by a thread and it was from that cut that the heaviest flow of blood came. A second wound is on the left side of the head and a third is a deep cut on the left forearm.

When the wounded editor was brought to the hospital he was suffering greatly from the pain and was weakened from the loss of blood. He spoke cheerfully and declared that he had a narrow escape from death.

After learning of the wounded man's condition Judge Ballou started for the police station and encountered High Sheriff Henry and Attorney Kinney, who were hurrying to the hospital. After a consultation on Beretania street the party all turned for the station for the purpose of confronting the would-be assassin.

Mori, the Japanese who committed the murderous assault, was formerly an employe of Makino, having been engaged as a clerk in the agitator's drug store. It is stated that he has been seen frequently with Makino during the past several days and was encouraged in his murderous attack by the bitter denunciation of Sheba that was voiced by Makino and his fellow conspirators.

COURT BREAKS UP WHEN NEWS COMES

Shortly before 11 o'clock this morning, when the conspiracy trial was on full swing and Judge Dole and Judge Woodruff were among the audience, Bailiff Hopkins approached Kinney and whispered something. The prosecutor rose in an agitated manner and stated to the court that someone on the telephone, who knew he was there, wanted him on a very vital matter. Judge De Bolt took occasion to call a recess and Kinney went out. A moment later he walked quickly down the corridor with his hands twitching.

An instant afterwards the participants in the trial were thunderstruck by the announcement that Sheba had been stabbed. The court was hastily adjourned and Kinney rushed away. A moment afterwards Lightfoot followed him, asking questions of all and Makino, Soga, Tasaka and Negoro, in a scared manner, wandered about the building before they too left.

At first it was not known whether Kinney had said "Sheba" or "Mead," the partner of W. O. Smith, and it was not until some time later that it was learned that it was Sheba.

The news acted as a bombshell on the trial and inside of a half hour there was no one except the clerks about the second story.

The defendants were plainly scared and at first hardly seemed to believe the news. Sheba is the star witness for the prosecution and his assault looms up darkly on the success of their defense.

SHEBA'S BRAVE FIGHT

Sheba fought desperately for his life when the assassin drew the knife and struck at him. He tried to protect himself with his bare hands and suffered two slight cuts upon the hands in warding off the murderous blows of the would-be assassin.

The blow that struck the editor in the neck was of sufficient strength to plunge the keen blade of the knife several inches into the flesh, missing the jugular vein by the sixteenth of an inch.

That Mori was determined to take the life of Sheba is shown conclusively by the repeated blows that he struck at the neck and head of his victim. It was while trying to avoid a desperate plunge at his neck after the first blow had been struck, that the knife reached the left side of Sheba's head and laid open the scalp for several inches.

The blow on the head brought Sheba to his knees, locked in the deadly embrace of the would-be murderer. Although the blood was pouring from his numerous wounds and he was almost blinded by the flow of blood from the wound on his head the brave editor never gave up his battle for life until he fell exhausted when the assassin had been dragged from him.

The sidewalk where the attempt upon the life of Sheba occurred was drenched with blood and at first glance it seemed impossible that Sheba could survive wounds that resulted in such a loss.

Judge Ballou and Attorney Kinney believe that the evidence is ample that the attempt upon the life of Sheba is the direct and deliberate result of the urging against his life that has been made by the agitators and their colleagues.

"The men who are responsible for this attempt on the life of Sheba," said Judge Ballou after the attack this morning, "having been calling for a 'Sagawa' to have vengeance upon those that have opposed their program. Sagawa was a Japanese who attained to celebrity because he defied the law. They have finally had their appeal answered and that is why Sheba had to fight for his life this morning."

BLAMES PAPERS

Upon being questioned by the officials at the Police Station, Mori said: "I read the newspapers. I have formed my own conclusions." Then, seeming to think he had said too much, the prisoner added: "I did this myself. Nobody told me to do it. I think Sheba is not a good Japanese. I bought the knife at a store on King street. I did not want to kill Sheba, only to punish him."

The knife with which the stabbing was done is an ordinary I. X. L. one, and was bought at C. M. Tai's store. The clerk says that Mori, when purchasing the knife, remarked that he wanted it for sharpening pencils.

The big blade had been sharpened to a razor-like edge, and about half an inch of the point had been broken off. It is surmised that this happened when Sheba and his assailant fell to the pavement.

The knife is blood-stained and has a large clot near the stem close to the handle.

Attorney Lightfoot was at the Police Court shortly after Mori was brought in. "I suppose we will be blamed for this affair too," he remarked to a group.

District Attorney Breckons said that he had seen Mori up at the Judiciary building this morning, and Sheba had also left the office a little before Mori did.

Mori is said to be the delegate from Maui for the Higher Wage Association, and previously had been employed on a Japanese paper in Wailuku.

Sheba's assailant is a small, bright looking man of about 26 years of age. He is very intelligent and replies to all the questions asked him readily, but sticks to the story that he alone is responsible for the crime.

Within a short time of the arrival of Mori and Sheba at the police station, a big crowd of lawyers and court officials assembled there. Attorneys Kinney, Prosser, Ballou, Milverton Breckons and several others were closeted in the Sheriff's office from 11:30 o'clock and Mori was cross-examined on every point.

Makino was seen on the street and on being asked what he thought of the stabbing of Sheba said: "It is too d——d bad; too bad altogether." At the police station Mori is booked on the blotter as for investigation.

TASAKA IS SORRY

Tasaka, one of the defendants in the conspiracy case, who is also assistant editor of the Nippu Jiji, stated today that he was sorry that Mori had stabbed Editor Sheba of the Hawaii Shinpo.

"I am sorry that trouble had arisen between Sheba and Mori," said Tasaka. "We have been telling these people not to make any trouble. The stabbing of Sheba by Mori will, I am afraid, affect our case which is being tried before the court.

"Some foolish Japanese can make the trouble worse than it is, and I am sorry for Sheba."

URGED TO KILL

Mori, the would-be assassin, replying to a question from Mr. Rath after his arrest this morning, as to why he tried to murder Sheba, said: "I did it because I read the newspapers." When asked by Mr. Rath which paper he read the Japanese became more cautious and declined to state.

Before the issuance of the injunction by Judge Robinson the Nippu Jiji made daily appeals for someone to smite Sheba with the "iron fist," a phrase which Attorney Lightfoot has been attempting to show in the conspiracy trial possessed a purely figurative and harmless meaning.

Drew Lots For Man To Slay?

What points to a deliberate conspiracy to bring about the death of Editor Sheba, although purely circumstantial, are facts spelling out as bloody a council of death as ever met at Duke Alva's command in Holland's most gory days.

A very secret meeting of the Japanese delegates to the Higher Wage conference is supposed to have taken place last night, and it is thought that the stabber of the star witness against the leaders now on trial for conspiracy was drawn by lot at that meeting.

It is also thought that Mori, the would-be assassin, purchased the knife last night and had it specially sharpened, and the knife now on exhibition at the police station shows every evidence of having been specially prepared.

According to this theory, Mori was the man to whom the lot fell, and the quarrel that ended in the assault was only a pretext.

QUICK ACTION SAVES VICTIM

E. J. McCandless, the foreman of Tom Sharp, the sign painter, who arrested Mori, was out on a job this afternoon and could not be seen to obtain the details of his arrest of the would-be assassin.

According to Mr. Sharp, McCandless was finishing the painting of a Bull Durham sign near the scene of the attack and while engaged in his work suddenly heard cries for help. There was something in their tone that made McCandless think that the cries "meant business," and turning he saw Sheba, covered with blood, lying on the ground with Mori on top of him. McCandless rushed across to the struggling men, and, pulling off the blood-mad Japanese, struck the knife from his hand and dragged him to the police station. But for his quick action, the editor would have been killed instead of but seriously injured.

PRECEDENT SET FOR ANARCHISTS

The attempt to murder Sheba this morning has brought the multitude of law-breaking acts by the agitators and their agents to a focus.

Under the principles of criminal law that were established in the cases of the Chicago anarchists, Makino and all of those identified with his activities can be held for murder in the event that the wound of the editor of the Shinpo should result fatally. Several of the defendants who were convicted of murder in the celebrated Chicago case did not even know the men who hurled the bombs into the crowd of police officers.

In a snappy game of ball that was played on the City diamond this noon the Detroit nine put it over the Chicago team by a score of 3 to 0.

The game was a fast one and only 45 minutes elapsed between the time the first ball was pitched and the finish of the game. This was the second game for the Bulletin cup and both teams—the Chicago and Detroit—have now one loss and one victory to their credit.

George Shipley and John A. Clarke of Chicago, who were charged with assault with intent to kill Howard H. Robinson, manager of the Summit house on Pike's peak, were discharged after a preliminary hearing in Colorado Springs, Co. They pleaded self-defense.

The credentials committee of the International Longshoremen's association, which began its seventeenth annual session in Galveston, announced that Daniel J. Keefe, former president of the organization, but now Federal commissioner of immigration, would be denied a seat in the convention.

Who can say that the secret conclave of Higher Wage delegates was not for the purpose of selecting the man who should strike at the life of the man courageously standing as an exponent of law and order?

THUG OR MURDERER.

To say that it was expected, simply expresses what the public thinks of the outfit that has violated the laws of the Territory, intimidated workmen, defeated justice and finally struck down on the street Editor Sheba.

Perhaps it needed the spilling of a well-known man's blood to bring home to some of our people the seriousness of the present situation.

It was only a step from the agitation, intimidation and the secret work of the thugs, to the blow that picked none of the settings and may even now mean murder.

The high wage agitation had its origin among the most dangerous elements of the Japanese community. There seems no further need for argument that it is being kept alive by the same gang.

Those allied with it are easily classified.

THE SOURCE OF IT.

If the stabbing of Editor Sheba was no connection with the conspiracy of the Higher Wage leaders, let the casual reader follow the course of the would-be assassin for a few moments this morning.

This man left the court room where one of the leaders of the Higher Wage Association was on trial, only a few moments before he stuck the knife into his victim.

He heard Negoro, who was on the stand, testify that he had always counseled peace and consideration for the law.

With this advice still ringing in his ears, he secured a knife and started for the man who had stood in the way of his peaceful leader.

Is it clear that the soft words of peace, the deep regard for the law, were for the white population and had a much different meaning for the disciple of the Higher Wage leaders?

What must we say of this when the first word uttered by the culprit was "I read the newspapers?"

Did he gain the inspiration for his act from any other source than the mouthpiece of the strike leaders?

THE VISITING FLEET.

With the date set for the arrival of Admiral Sebree's fleet of armored cruisers, the thoughts of Honolulu people will at once turn to the plans for appropriate reception and entertainment. It is obvious that on account of the fleet itinerary allowing a month's stay in Honolulu, the program will need be different from the usual fleet visitation during which the officers and men are kept on a busy round from the time they land until they depart.

The Bulletin would suggest that both officers and men will enjoy themselves quite as much if the formal entertainment is covered with one or two special functions and after that they be allowed to do as they please. There is such a thing as bestowing too much entertainment on public guests, particularly when the visitors are out for work and not making a business of public receptions, as was the case with the Atlantic battleship fleet.

The reported month's stay in Honolulu doubtless means that the fleet will do more or less maneuvering in these waters and some or all of the ships may visit other ports.

Honolulu will be no less cordial and very much more practical if it does not attempt to do too much in the way of formal affairs and does that very well.

If the officers and men are made to feel at home and the talkative ones of Honolulu forget to remark how nice it will be or is for the business of the town to have eight cruisers in the port, the visit of the warships will be very gratifying and satisfactory to all concerned.

WHAT JAPAN ESCAPED.

No better light can be thrown upon the character of the Agitators who have engineered the Japanese higher wage movement than the initial article of Negoro which is elsewhere printed in full. This was the article with which the entire movement was launched, and as brought out in the conspiracy trial Monday, Negoro offered it both to the Shinpo and the Chronicle, who rejected it as too radical before he found a willing publisher in the Jiji. Reference having been made to this circumstance by the prosecution, the attorney for the defense claimed the right to introduce the article itself that the jury might judge how radical it was. The judge allowed the article to be introduced against the objection of the prosecution, but when it was read to the jury Kinney promptly withdrew all his objection.

Beneath this veneer of plausible argument on economics the article is about as dangerous and inflamatory a production as ever eminated from the pen of a hare-brained fanatic. With the usual style of a demagogue the laborer is compared to a slave and an animal in an endeavor to arose him to a sense of his alleged pitiable condition. But by far the most mischievous thing about the article is the program of international complications which it breathes in every line. The wild imagination of the author was beyond the possibility of creating local discord and lays out an ambitious program whereby the Japanese government is to stand sponsor for his demands, and the friendly agreement of the two nations regarding immigration matters, which tided over the critical situation caused by the California school troubles, is to be abrogated in favor of the higher wage movement. The Japanese government, "taking great courage itself," is to request the American government to dissolve the prohibition of emigration of Hawaiian Japanese to the mainland, and then, having re-opened that source of friction between the two nations, Japan is to reach the sublime heights of impudence by formulating demands for higher wages upon the Hawaiian planters. Anybody who could imagine the Japanese government in this business deserves to be immortalized in the "Letters of a Japanese School Boy."

If the Japanese government had been represented here by a consul willing to countenance a scheme like this instead of a man of firmness and discretion, there is no knowing what mischief this fool piece of work and the campaign which succeeded it would have caused.

NEGORO EXPECTED.

to the states is prohibited, and that therefore the supply of laborers will be plentiful. And it appears that they do not attempt to improve their treatment.

But this is a great mistake. The emigration to the Mainland has been stopped, but the immigration to Hawaii is also prohibited, the United States has succeeded in forcing Japan to stop emigration of her subjects to America by sending the Atlantic Fleet. But it cannot make Japan dissolve the prohibition of emigration to Hawaii. The Japanese government, foolish as it is, would not be so foolish as to send emigrants to Hawaii because the planters need them, while her subjects are excluded in America. The reason is obvious for the Japanese government is well aware that its subjects are not born to be slaves of the capitalists of Hawaii.

Not only that the cane contractors are making profits, and a large number of them are returning to Japan, thus diminishing the number of laborers; and as the fresh supply is entirely cut off, the present tendency is the gradual depletion of labor without any prospect of increase. After a few years hence it is plain than the planters will be forced of necessity to increase the wages.

We must hope that our home government, hearing the conditions of Hawaii and in opportune moment, approach planters and have the wages raised.

The prohibition of emigration to Hawaii is an act silently demanding higher wages, and we endorse it; but we hope that the government will endeavor to restore freedom of labor to change its residence by having the prohibition of emigration to the Mainland dissolved, and thus strengthen the position of labor toward the capitalist.

The laborer from whom is taken away the right to change at liberty its place of abode differs in no degree from the animal, and he is a slave, pure and simple. Though the animal demand wages, no man will give it to him; and the demand by a slave for an increased wages would, it is plain, be futile. The Japanese laborers, who are placed in the position of slaves by reason of the prohibition of emigration to America, do not have courage to ask for a higher wages. And though they demand it, it is plain that their wishes cannot be accomplished. So it is to be hoped for, but as a matter of fact it is an impossibility. Now the emigration to America is absolutely stopped at the request of the American government, and the emigration to Hawaii is also stopped by the Japanese government of its own motion. Henceforth, therefore there is no danger of increase of Japanese people within the mainland of the United States. At this time, it is a concession on the part of the United States to dissolve the prohibition of emigration to the Mainland and make it free when the Japanese Government shall request it, which is one that ought to be justly conceded. Such being the reason, the Japanese Government, taking great courage itself, should request the American Government to dissolve the prohibition of emigration of Hawaiian Japanese to the Mainland.

The time is ripe. Though the Hawaiian immigrants do not say it in so many words, it is their hope of years and their silent prayer that they recover the lost liberty of choosing and changing their place of abode, and become a full fledged man and to be in a position to earn a just reward for their labor. And we hope that the laborers do petition the proper authority by sending them the statement of their conditions and supply the Government with the materials upon which it may formulate demands for higher wages.

TUBERCULIN TEST IS A PROBLEM

Supervisors Consider Question In Open Meeting on the Ordinance.

At the open meeting held last night by the sanitary committee of the Board of Supervisors the possibility of enforcing the tuberculin test on dairy cows was the most important question that came up for consideration. It was the sentiment of the members of the committee that it would be to be general benefit of the public to enforce the test and the only doubt expressed bore on the problem of the necessary legislation.

The original ordinance required that all milk from tuberculin tested cows should go into effect immediately. Objection was raised to this by D. P. R. Isenberg, who stated that all the cows in the country could not be put to the test in less than a year's time.

Replying to a question from Supervisor Logan, Dr. Norgaard, the Territorial veterinarian, expressed the opinion that the Board of Agriculture might undertake the work of testing the cows, but said that the county would have to provide the funds. He also observed that about 2500 cows were used to provide the people of Oahu with milk and that it would necessarily require some time to put them all to the test.

Percy Pond did not think that the problem of putting all the cows in Oahu to the tuberculin test would be such a difficult task and said that it would be comparatively easy to keep them up to the required standard.

Mr. Isenberg expressed himself as favoring the tuberculin test with the county paying the expense.

"Are we going to allow only the milk barons to sell milk, or are we going to allow the poor man to engage in business also," he said. "Unless the county pays the cost of the tuberculin test, the poor man will be driven out of business. I am glad that the time has come when the dairy cattle are to be inspected, but I certainly believe that the county should bear the expense."

On the suggestion of Judge Andrade the ordinance will be referred to the dairymen, who will make such suggestions as they think proper and a meeting of the Board of Supervisors will be called to considehr it.

ANOTHER SIGN OF THE TIMES

AUTOMOBILE TRUCK

By the Mauna Loa today, E. O. Hall & Son, Ltd., shipped a 3-ton Logan Automobile Truck on order from Mr. John Hind, to be used on the coffee and pineapple plantation in Kona. Mr. Macfarlane, manager of their plantation, made the selection of this car and expects to use it in handling their freight between Kailua and the upper district. This car is of the 45-horsepower type and has the most up to date equipment.

KILAUEA ACTIVE

The Volcano of Kilauea is very active at present, fountains and rivers of fire playing and rushing about in full view of the spectators. The coincidence of this increased activity and the earthquakes in Mexico is such as to set scientists at work, computing the conjunction of Heavenly Bodies, the combination of which must be the primary cause of such molten activity.

There is another active volcanic region in Hawaii which the residents of Honolulu are interested in and where large numbers of them are at present locating; and the Kaimuki Heights, where the real estate exchange of 82 King street are selling choice residence sites on easy term and to homeseekers intending to build in the near future.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells, which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying powers, are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them willfully with narcotics. Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher guarantees genuine Castoria

Physicians Recommend Castoria.

"Your preparation known as Castoria I have used for years in children's complaints and I have found nothing better." JOHN J. LEPPA, M. D., Cleveland, Ohio.

"For several years I recommended your 'Castoria' and shall always continue to do so, as it has invariably produced beneficial results." EDWIN F. PARDEE, M. D., New York City.

"Your Castoria is a meritorious household remedy. It is purely vegetable and acts as a mild cathartic. Above all, it does no harm, which is more than can be said of the great majority of children's remedies." VICTOR H. COFFMAN, M. D., Omaha, Neb.

"I have prescribed your Castoria in many cases and have always found it an efficient and speedy remedy." A. F. PEELER, M. D., St. Louis, Mo.

"I have used your Castoria in my own household with good results, and have advised several patients to use it for its mild, laxative effect and freedom from harm." EDWARD PARRISH, M. D., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Your Castoria holds the esteem of the medical profession in a manner held by no other proprietary preparation. It is a sure and reliable medicine for infants and children. In fact it is the universal household remedy for infantile ailments." J. A. PARKER, M. D., Kansas City, Mo.

POOR INTERPRETERS IN KAUAI COURT?

LIHUE, KAUAI, July 31.—A pitiful scene took place in the Court Room Thursday at 2 o'clock P. M. when Higashi, the Japanese who was convicted of murdering a Japanese woman in Kapaa, was sentenced to death by hanging.

The prisoner all through the trial had exhibited no unusual feeling, in fact, he did not seem to understand all what was going on. The interpreter was a very poor one. At the time defendant stood before the Court to receive his sentence of death, he was asked by the Court, through the interpreter, if he had anything to say. His answer indicated clearly that he did not anticipate what soon followed. After Judge Hardy passed sentence upon him, and it was fully explained to him by Mr. Mica, who was the regular term interpreter, the defendant was noticeably affected; he broke down and wept. If those present had the power to change the sentence to one of life imprisonment, we do not doubt but that it would be done.—Garden Island.

SIEMSEN'S DEATH.

Seattle Times, July 23.—Charles Siemsen, a popular member of the Hawaiian colony that had assembled at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition at its opening, and who had been cast for a position in the Hawaiian building, died at the Pacific Hospital last evening of pulmonary tuberculosis.

The widow surviving Siemsen has been in charge of the information booth at the Hawaiian building. She is one of the best known members of the party at the fair. She is a niece of the Rev. Stephen Desha, the most noted clergyman in the Hawaiian Islands. After the cremation of her husband's remains, Mrs. Siemsen will leave with them for home.

A meeting of the Waialae, Kaimuki and Palolo Improvement Club will be held at the residence of A. F. Cooke Thursday evening, August 5 at 8 o'clock. A public park will be the chief subject of discussion.

The appeal of Henry Kailichu, A. N. Keooikai and John Richardson, defendants in the action brought against them by Virginia E. Sands, alias Virginia Lynch, was dismissed today by the Supreme Court of the Territory.

Deputy Attorney General Sutton acting for Treasurer Conkling, today filed a motion for the appointment of appraisers to determine the value of the estate of Cornelia H. Brown passing to J. F. and A. M. Brown and Minnie H. Gilman, to fixe the amount of tax to be paid by the legatees.

Morisuka, a Japanese who was described by Judge Andrade as a "Tout and no account fellow," appeared before the court this morning on a charge of assault and battery. The evidence against him on this particular charge was weak and he was discharged. The Judge, however, spoke very plainly to the man before he discharged him and intimated that should he ever appear before the court again he would be treated with the utmost severity. Morisuka was advised to leave the country and the police consider his absence would be an advantage to the Territory.

SU SHEE CASE

A very short session this morning of the United States District Court ment of the Su Shee deportation case. The extension was made at the request of W. W. Thayer for the defense and agreed to by U. S. District Attorney Breckons. Mr. Thayer stated that it was not a question of evidence, as all the facts would probably be admitted, but a plain case of law. Several other cases were assigned for trial.

APPEAL FROM TAX

The Oahu Railroad & Land Company today filed an appeal from the stamp assessment levied on it by Treasurer Conkling some time ago as told exclusively by the Bulletin. They merely incorporated in their appeal their contention that the paper which they filed and which the government calls a mortgage, is nothing but an agreement. It is on this point that they will try to escape the payment of the stamp tax on the paper, fixed at $5,989.

ACCOUNTS APPROVED

The first and final accounts of the estate of John Marques Alexandre were today approved by Judge Robinson and the administrator discharged. He charged himself with $361.41 and asked to be allowed $117.40. The administrator did not know how to dispose of the sum collected from the San Antonio Benevolent Society, but reference to the by-laws showed that it could be given to the widow only.

WILL TAKE TWO MONTHS

Word was received last night from Waipahu plantation which indicated that things were rapidly shaping themselves for the better. It is said at least 500 men are at work, and a few are put on each day as needed.

It will take about two months longer to complete the grinding of cane as the work has been set back considerably on account of the strike. An effort is being made on the part of the management to select men for the cane work in the future that deserve recognition by their faithful services in the past.

Ewa plantation finished grinding last Saturday. The output for the season totals up 34,380 tons, an excess of 4380 tons over the estimate for the year. For some time it has been patent that the crop would exceed the estimate, but the management was hardly prepared for the fine showing which has been made.

YOUNG DEFENDENT IS DISCHARGED

Kawamura was yesterday discharged from the conspiracy proceedings at the request of the prosecution, thus leaving only Makino, Negoro, Tasaka and Soga.

The prosecution considers that what proof they had advanced as to the complicity of Kawamura is insufficient to convict him on the charge and they did not prove that he was at the initial meeting. His youth was also taken into consideration.

Negoro was being examined on direct examination this morning when the court adjourned at the news of Sheba's stabbing, and the defense's side of the meeting of the newspaper men was just being given, according to the testimony of the witness. Kinney has not yet commenced on the cross-examination, and Negoro is evidently the star witness for the defense.

Kinney objected early to the manner in which Negoro was commenting on the questions, and Lightfoot pointed out the fact that Sheba had been practically an assistant to the prosecution in which manner Negoro was said by Kinney to stand to the defense. Lightfoot asked if Sheba was to be considered as a witness and liable to be called in rebuttal that he be dismissed from the court room.

Sheba went, smiling, and that was the last seen of him in the court room. An hour later the news of his stabbing broke up the trial.

BRAKEMAN FALLS WHEN CAR TIPS

Through a car leaving the track in the O. R. & L. Co.'s yard yesterday Gilman Johnson, a brakeman in the employ of the company, was injured. The accident occurred at about 12:30 o'clock as several cars were being switched around.

Johnson was riding on the top of the car, and when the car jumped the track he was thrown off onto his head. The car came to a stop a short distance from where it was derailed and no further damage was done.

Two fellow employes witnessed the accident and rushed to the assistance of the injured man. After a while Johnson recovered sufficiently to be removed to his home.

HOW FRENCH MIGHT SOLVE OUR PROBLEMS

Says We Treat Japanese Laborers Too Well; Tropic Colony

The San Francisco Bulletin of July 19 publishes the following:

To treat the Hawaiian Island as a "tropical colony," to allow the American capitalists to exploit the Asiatic laborers at their own sweet will—that is the way to solve the race problem, according to A. Monestier, editor of the Echo de Chine, a French paper published at Shanghai. It is an extreme policy he advocates and his ideas are interesting.

It is the race feeling, not the class feeling that has given rise to the troubles with the Japanese in Hawaii, says Monsieur Monestier. A blow given or a wrong done to a Japanese rouses the anger of his countrymen.

"The fact is that the Japanese are not willing to be treated as an inferior race," he says, "especially since their victory over the Russians. Moreover, feeling that they dominate the labor market, they act the matador, are insolent and undisciplined and always ready to quarrel with their masters. Then there is that youthful vanity which is a characteristic of their race and of which we have often had manifestations. Besides it must be taken into account that the recent imigrants are not the ignorant peasants of former days.

"Many of them are educated and know of socialism. Recently they have organized a 'higher wage association,' and that association has been responsible for the recent troubles.

"If the Americans would make up their mind to treat these islands as a tropical colony and to exploit them simply for the benefit of the white capitalists, the race problem would be solved—it would no longer exist. The Asiatics would sell the toil of their arms, the planters would but it at the best price they could make, and—nothing more said.

"But the American ideal refuses to sacrifice the principle of a free, democratic community to purely material interests. This ideal, of course, is a credit to the humanitarianism of the United States, but it may at times be a little out of place, especially under the peculiar conditions in Hawaii. For all races are not equally capable of assimilating modern principles of civilization.

"The Hawaiian question is therefore far from solved."

POHA

Once more Kamaianas and others who are familiar with this delicious berry, may obtain the fresh fruit in Honolulu. In the old days when we wanted Poha we had only to take a basket and gather all we needed on any open spot. But when stock, birds, mongoose and pests invaded the islands, the Poha disappeared; the same thing happened in New Zealand, where the Poha or Cape gooseberry grew to great perfection, and only when the wild berry was cultivated and protected, was it possible to enjoy the delicious fruit.

When the Honolulu Jam and Chutney factory started, the problem of obtaining fresh Poha presented itself. Hawaii seemed to be the only island where it can be successfully grown, and until recently Kona was the only district where Poha could be procured, but through long transit, the delicious fruit lost much of its freshness on arrival.

But now there is a Poha plantation established at Mountain View, Hawaii, and the fruit is picked on Friday morning and is on sale at the Honolulu Jam & Chutney factory soon after the arrival of the Mauna Kea on Saturday morning. So the ladies of Honolulu can now make their own Poha jam and jelly.

Mrs. Kearns is the sole agent of this plantation.

The BLACK BAG

By Louis Joseph Vance

Copyright, 1908, by the Bobbs-Merrill Co.

"Not unless you attack or attempt to follow me. I mean to say that the Belgian police are notoriously a most efficient body and that I'll make it my duty and pleasure to introduce 'em to you if you refuse. But you won't," Kirkwood added soothingly, "will you, Calendar?"

"No." The adventurer had become suddenly thoughtful. "No, I won't. Glad to oblige you."

He tilted his chair still farther back, straightening out his elephantine legs, inserted one fat hand into his trousers pocket and with some difficulty extracted a combined bill fold and coin purse, at once heavy with gold and bulky with notes. Moistening thumb and forefinger, "How'll you have it?" he inquired, with a lift of his cunning eyes, and, when Kirkwood had advised him, slowly counted out four fifty-franc notes, placed them near the edge of the table and weighted them with five ten-franc pieces. And "That all?" he asked, replacing the pocketbook.

"That will be about all. I leave you presently to your unholy devices, you and that gay dog over there." The captain squirmed, reddening. "Just by way of precaution, however, I'll ask you to wait in here till I'm off." Kirkwood stepped backward to the door of the captain's room, opened it and removed the key from the inside. "Please take Mulready in with you," he continued. "By the time you get out I'll be clear of Antwerp. Please don't think of refusing me. I really mean it."

The latter clause came sharply as Calendar seemed to hesitate, his weary, wary eyes glimmering with doubt. Kirkwood, watching him as a cat her prey, intercepted a lightning swift sidelong glance that shifted from his face to the port lockers, forward. But the fat adventurer was evidently to a considerable degree deluded by the very childlike simplicity of Kirkwood's attitude. If the possibility that his altercation with Mulready had been overheard crossed his mind, Calendar had little choice other than to accept the chance. Either way he moved the risk was great. If he refused to be locked in the captain's room, there was the danger of the police, to which Kirkwood had convincingly drawn attention. If he accepted the temporary imprisonment, he took a risk with the gladstone bag. On the other hand, he had estimated Kirkwood's honesty as thoroughgoing from their first interview. He had appraised him as a gentleman and a man of honor. And he did not believe the young man knew, after all. Perplexed, at length he chose the smoother way and, with an indulgent lifting of eyebrows and fat shoulders, rose and waddled over to Mulready.

"Oh, all right," he conceded, with deep toleration in his tone for the idiosyncrasies of youth; "it's all the same to me, beau." He laughed a nervous laugh. "Come along and lend us a hand, Stryker."

The latter glanced timidly at Kirkwood, his eyes pleading for leave to move, which Kirkwood accorded with an imperative nod and a fine flourish of the revolver. Promptly the captain sprang to Calendar's assistance, and, between the two of them, the one taking Mulready's head, the other his feet, they lugged him quickly into the stuffy little stateroom. Kirkwood, watching and following to the threshold, inserted the key.

"One word more," he counseled, a hand on the knob. "Don't forget I've warned you what'll happen if you try to break even with me."

"Never fear, little one!" Calendar's laugh was nervously cheerful. "The Lord knows you're welcome."

"Thank you most to death," responded Kirkwood politely. "Goodby and goodby to you, Stryker. Glad to have humored your desire to meet me soon again."

CHAPTER XXII.

KIRKWOOD, turning the key in the lock, withdrew it and dropped it on the cabin table. At the same time he swept into his pocket the money he had extorted of Calendar. Then he paused an instant, listening. From the captain's room came a sound of murmurs and scuffling. He crossed to the port locker forward.

He had its lid up in a twinkling and in another had lifted out the well remembered black gladstone bag.

This seems to have been his first compound larceny.

As if stimulated by some such reflection, he sprang for the companionway, dropping the lid of the locker with a bang which must have been excruciatingly edifying to the men in the captain's room. Whatever their emotions, the bang was mocked by a mighty kick, shaking the door, which, Kirkwood reflected, opened outward, was held only by the frailest kind of a lock and would not hold long.

Big League Ball On Saturday

Things are getting into shape for the start of big ball at the League grounds, and the prospects of a short season of snappy ball look bright.

Eddie Fernandez and Charlie Falk are doing all in their power to interest the public in the series, and today they are making a personal canvass of the business houses of the city in order to see how many season tickets can be disposed of.

Everybody is ready for big ball, and the opening game between Diamond Head and Punahou on Saturday next should be a rattling good one, and one that will remind the fans of the good old games that were watched by crowded grandstand and packed bleachers.

The Hawaiian band will be on hand on Saturday, and Captain Berger is composing a special waltz song to commemorate the occasion. From the present indications the old grounds will look something like they did a year or two ago, when interest in the doing of the Puns, Jewels and Kams ran so high.

There will only be one game each day, and that should be plenty, as long as the standard of the play is kept up. The Diamond Heads and Punahous are capable of putting up a great game of ball, and as they have been practicing hard for some time, the meeting of the old opponents should be well worth watching.

Lorrin Andrews will be the official scorer, and as he is an expert at the game, his records will be always on the right side. The sale of season tickets is going on at Gunst Eakin's store every day from 11 a. m. till 1 p. m., and Eddie Fernandez is always there to give any information that may be required as to seats and the prices thereof.

Bert Bowers will be umpire for the games, and his decisions are too well known for anyone to kick at his appointment.

On Saturday two tally-hos will leave the drillshed, and one will be occupied by the players, and the other by the band. The Punahou team will be as follows: McCorriston, c; J. Williams, p; A. Q. Marcallino, 1b; W. Hoogs, 2b; Henderson, 3b; Medcraft, ss; C. Cooke, lf; J. Kia, cf; J. Waterhouse, rf.

Wall Cup Play Of Yesterday

Play in the Wall Cup tennis tournament advanced another stage yesterday when some four matches were played off during the afternoon. None of the sets were very close, and there were sevral live ones.

All the matches were won by two sets straight, and of these the one between A. L. Lowrey and I. Hurd was the best fought out. Lowrey won by a score of 6-1, 6-4, and showed some good form.

C. G. Bockus had no difficulty in defeating D. W. Anderson, and took two sets straight to one game. E. S. Gee met R. B. Booth and the latter only got four games in the two sets.

Captain Low, who is to meet Gee this afternoon, beat J. Macaulay 6-0, 6-0. E. L. Sinclair was returned a winner over W. L. Whitney, owing to the latter defaulting.

The tournament is in a very interesting stage just now, and the match between Gee and Low this afternoon will decide which of the two men will get into the finals.

There will be another inetresting game this afternoon when Bockus and Sinclair meet. The winner of this match will play Lowrey to see who is eligible to meet the winner of the Low-Gee match in the final.

A large crowd of tennis enthusiasts is expected to attend the games this afternoon, as both matches promise to be very close and exciting. The weather is ideal for tennis just now, and besides the tournament much play is going on when the courts are not engaged by the tournament men.

The plumbing ordinance will pass in its original form. The sanitation committee of the Board of Supervisors has decided that the changes recommended at the public meeting are not of sufficient importance to make it worth while to incorporate them in the law.

Boxing Notes and Training Stunts

After all, there will be a preliminary to the Sullivan-Cordell boxing contest, and it will be put up by "Kid" Terry of the Iroquois and Bugler Sarconi from the marine camp.

These two men have been anxious to get together for some time now, and they should provide a good lively contest. Both the lads are known to the fight fans, and, as they are willing young fellows, the preliminary should stir the spectators up in anticipation of the big match.

The principals in the main event have started easy work and will quicken things up next week.

There was a general wish that there should be a preliminary to the star event on Saturday week, and the management has done well in arranging one, as otherwise a lot of people would have stayed away from the boxing show.

Cordell will do his work at the Marine camp, and Sullivan, as usual, will get permission to train out at Fort Shafter. Dick is not a hard man to get fit, and a week or ten days will fix him up all right.

Al Fellows has not, so far, hitched up with anyone, and there does not appear to be anyone of his class in sight. Corporal Terrien of the Engineers is still anxiously waiting to hear from "The Whirlwind," and has not given up hopes of a match with the knockerout of soldiers.

There is an undercurrent of expectancy around the haunts of the boxing fraternity, and something may break loose any day in the way of new matches.

Jack and Jeff Certainty Now

No what Jack Johnson has put up his money to cover Jim Jeffries' forfeit, everybody can rest assured that, barring accidents, the fight will take place.

But still, should Ketchell defeat the negro, a peculiar state of affairs would arise, and nobody would know exactly where things are. And to make things worse, what will happen if Langford whips Ketchell before Johnson and Stanley hitch up?

Still, there is one thing to be thankful for, and that is that things have come to a head at last, and "Dearie" will now have to face the man who has been forced by public opinion to come out and do battle once more.

All sorts of rumors are going the rounds now about Jeff's condition, and one writer states that the big fellow was puffing and blowing after a two-round spar in a vaudeville show. That does not look as if Jim is in any kind of shape at present, and shows that he will have to do a long course of training to have any show against the negro—if the latter is in condition.

And right here the question asises: what about Lil Arth's pranks? He is reported to be right out of condition and treading the primrose path that beats all the pugs for sure.

It certainly would be ludicrous to see two broken winded, out of condition, fat and flabby would-be champions shaping up to one another for a purse somewhere in the neighborhood of $150,000.

All the same the men will have plenty of time t torain properly—if they will do so — and the fight is going to draw the biggest crowd of this or any other country.

RESULT OF TOM MORRIS CUP PLAY

OAHU COUNTRY CLUB RANKS NO. 44 ON LIST AND DEFEATED EIGHTEEN MAINLAND CLUBS — DENVER COUNTRY CLUB TURNS OUT TO BE WINNER.

Over six hundred golfers took part in the Tom Morris competition for which the local Country Club also entered a team and came out No. 44. Sixty-three teams sent in their reports, but quite a number who thought they were too much down to par refrained from turning in cards.

The Denver Country Club proved to be the winner, its team finishing 16 down to par, with the Annandale Country Club of Passadena, Cal., a close second at 17 down.

The Denver club used four substitute players. The average age of the team is an even 44 years. The course has never been an easy one, and it has been made more difficult this year by the addition of a number of traps and bunkers. The creek, 150 feet wide, which runs through the club grounds, is crossed eight times. The statement in some of the papers about the Denver course not having a bunker on it or a blade of grass on the entire links is not true. The only thing in Denver's favor, not possessed by other clubs, is the rarified air, which unquestionably enables the players to secure greater distance to each shot.

The medal scores of the winning team cannot be given, as at a number of holes balls were lost or picked up without holing out. R. E. MacCracken of the Denver team made the best score, 4 up on par.

Exmoor was the only club among the leaders that furnished complete medal scores. The average medal score of the Exmoor team was 81½. The total score was 652, which, by strokes, was 60 more than par.

The roll of honor, those who were even or on par, is as follows: R. E. MacCracken, Denver, 4 up; Walter Fairbanks, Denver, 2 up; Harold Weber, Inverness, 2 up; J. P. Edrington, Memphis, 2 up; Dr. D. P. Fredericks, Claremont, 2 up; A. C. Travers, Denver, 1 up; E. P. Gates, Annandale, 1 up; W. B. Egan, Exmoor, 1 up; J. V. Eliot, Annandale, even; F. W. McCartney, Denver, even; M. W. Gano, Denver, even.

Oahu Country Club ranks No. 44 on the list, and not counting the clubs who did so badly that they did not turn in cards, beat no less than 18 clubs.

The following is a corrected list of results, the score sheets having been checked by the editor of the Golfer's Magazine:

Denver, C. C. Down, 16; Annandale C. C., 17; Inverness G. C., 22; Memphis, 23; Exmoor C. C., 25; Los Angeles C. C., 43; Detroit C. C., 45; Owentsia C. C., 47; Euclid C. C., 48; Omaha C. C., 49; Arlington C. C., 49; Stokie C. C., 50; Claremont C. C., 51; Beverly C. C., 52; Riverside G. C., 53; Detroit G. C., 54; Midlothian C. C., 55; Chattanooga, C. C., 64; Jackson Park G. C., 64; Normandie G. C., 67; Glen View Club, 69; Rock Island G. C., 71; St. Paul C. C., 71; Hyperion G. C., 72; Omaha F. C., 72; La Crosse C. C., 74; La Grange C. C., 77; Minikahada C. C., 78; South Shore C. C., 79; Cleveland C. C., 80; Westward Ho G. C., 80; Wheaton G. C., 80; Calumet C. C., 80; Edgewater G. C., 81; Indianapolis C C., 86; Atlanta C. C., 87; Soangetaha C. C., 88; Colorado C. C., 90; Northland C. C., 91; Blue Mound C C., 93; Windsor C. C., 95; Hinsdale C. C., 97; Little Rock C. C., 97; Oahu C. C., 98.

The eighteen teams behind the local one ranged from scores of 99 to 129, so Honolulu did well after all, and for one thing is now on the map as regards golf.

New President Of National League

LOUISVILLE, Aug. 2. — John H eydler, secretary of the National Baseball League, has been chosen president to succeed th late Harry Pulliam.

According to the above cable, the secretary of the National League has been appointed to the position held by Harry Pulliam, who, it will be remembered, shot himself last week.

The new president is a man of great experience in the national game, and has been secretary of the league for many years. He no doubt will fill the bill satisfactorily.

NEW BOND RULE.

According to an order issued yesterday fro mthe Federal Court, it will hereafter be harder for those who are unfortunate enough to require bonds for violating Federal laws to obtain the same.

The new order calls for each bondsman to have in personal or real property value to the entire amount specified in the bond instead of permitting three or four persons to go on the bond whose property, etc., in the aggregate amounts to the sum required.

It is reported in London that Mme Nordica will be married to George W Young, the New York banker, as soon after his arrival in London as the legal requirements can be fulfilled.
