RUMORS OF WAR.

The Australia brought no news of a European war commenced, but news that seem to indicate that a European war is being nearly reached on the programme of events. If one allows himself to be carried away with all the latest rumors and opinions, he cannot evade the belief that war is near at hand. But we have been fooled over and over again in the recent past, which makes us more sparing of credulity in the present. That a great European war is brewing, and will ultimately be placed on tap, is univerally conceded. As to when the brewing process will be completed, is a question which no one can definitely settle at present. It may be during the coming summer, or the time may be postponed to some indefinite period in the future. When we hear the sound of the cannon, or learn from credible testimony that others have heard it, then we shall know that war has commenced.

UNFOUNDED RUMORS

EDITOR BULLETIN:—What is the matter with the Hilo people, especially with those of the so-called experts of volcanic phenomena? It has not been possible during the past few weeks to take up a weekly paper in which there does not appear some alarming account of a lava flow breaking out or about to break out from Mauna Loa. Most of these alarms come from Hilo. Now, as far as the view of Mauna Loa from this place extends, and it is a clear one to the summit when the mountain is free from the clouds, there has been nothing occurring to cause such alarming accounts. There has certainly been a little steam arising from ,Mokuaweoweo now and again, since the first outbreak, but not to the extent spoken of, and I fail to see anything alarming in this. Is not steam constantly arising at Kilauea? And is any one alarmed at it? Why then should it be predicted that another outbreak of lava is about to occur from Mauna Loa because Mokuaweoweo is steaming? Mr. Hitchcock says he is very certain another flow of lava must occur, because no pahoehoe was emitted at the last one, his reason for this assertion being that the flows of previous occasions have brought forth both aa and pahoehoe. Can this gentleman prove these two kinds of lava are not of the same substance, and the difference is not caused after it leaves the earth? one very good authority (Capt. Dutton), I believes gives it as his opinion that aa is formed by the lava being congealed by the cold air when being thrown to a great height, as it leaves the earth, but the question still seems an open one and I shall be glad to be instructed on it; but I do think that Mr. H. gives a poor reason for asserting that another outbreak will occur at an early day. Is there any record in previous times of one flow following so quickly after another? The 80—81 flow to Hilo did certainly at one time slacken its output, and then start up with renewed vigor, but from its commencement it did not cease running until its final stoppage on 9th August '81.

In your paper of the 19th Feb. you say a postal card from Hilo says: A lava flow has broken out on the side of Mauna Loa, and is evidently running down the mountain towards Kapapala or vicinity. I don't wish to say your correspondent has wilfully fabricated this item of news. It may have been told him by some one else, but I do deny the truth of it, no light has appeared on Mauna Loa, neither has any lava been running or is running towards "Kapapala," or anywhere else on this side of the mountain. The only signs of Mauna Loa being alive, as seen from here, has been the rising of steam or vapour from the summit, and that not in large quantities. In conclusion of my remarks on this matter, I must say that many of the accounts sent to the papers, of the late earthquakes and volcanic outbreak were much exaggerated. We residents of Kau certainly had a bad enough time of it, but some accounts made it look worse. Asking for the insertion of this in an early issue, yours &c, T. C. W.

Pahala, Kau, March 5, 1887.

NO LAVA FLOW.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—In your issue of Feb. 19th, I see, that someone has written from Hilo, saying, that "a lava flow has broken out on the side of Mauna Loa, and is evidently running down the mountain towards Kapapala, etc." Now, as I reside at Kapapala, and have a beautiful view of the mountain, I want to contradict this statement, and say that nothing like a lava flow, has been seen, on or near Kapapala.

It seems to me, that Hawaii has a good many would-be volcano prophets on it, who have, and are predicting lava flows every day. People in Honolulu had better stay there until they hear from good authority that a lava flow is on its way down, this side of the mountain, before they start up to see it, or they will be sure to get a "hoka."

A native, who resides here, and who guided the Rev. E. P. Baker to the summit of the mountain—where the snow was at its heaviest—wishes to say, he will guide any party or parties, to Mokuaweoweo and back, snow or no snow.

Yours etc. J. MONSARRAT.

LOCAL INDUSTRIES.

TAHITI LEMONADE WORKS.

The Tahiti Lemonade Works, at Sunny South, on the road half way to Makiki, established there for the pure artesian water since 1884, are well worth a visit, for their spaciousness, completeness and the beautiful machinery employed. Their inspection will amply recompense anyone, and especially if he be inquisitive as to the process of making aerated waters, of which such enormous and ever-increasing quantities are consumed daily and hourly all over the world.

By the Glengaber, now in port, the proprietor has lately received an anti-atmospheric apparatus, McEwen's patent, owned by Mr. D. Rylands, of Barnsley, Yorkshire, England, and which is fast throwing out of use all the old systems. This machine is specially designed for producing aerated waters of exceptional purity and strength, from which, during the process of making, all impurities are scientifically removed, and all atmospheric air excluded, whilst having a power of several hundred dozen per day.

For the benefit of those not informed, it may be here stated that there are two systems of making gaseous waters, viz.: the American or intermittent, and the European or continuous, the difference between the two being easily understood.

The American plan consists in placing two or more cylinders, connected by tubing, side by side; in the first of which the gas is produced by allowing sulphuric acid to run down from the generator above, on to the carbonate or whiting below, and which gas by the pressure evolved rushes with great force into the second cylinder, and commingles there with the water previously placed in it for the purpose of saturation. In this process neither pump nor gasometer is used, and the operation is perfectly simple, ingenious, and economical.

The European or continuous system, universally adopted in England and throughout the continent of Europe, does not permit the repudiation of either the pump or the gasometer, as the high scientific authorities on the subject declare the gasometer to be absolutely indispensable in every apparatus, intended to produce an article of commerce—aerated waters healthful and perfectly pure; notwithstanding the pretensions of those who, for their own ends, assert they believe, or would have others believe, that both gasometer and pump may be suppressed with impunity.

The utility of the gasometer is evident after a little investigation and study. It stores and expands the gas after it has been purified by passing, in its way from the generator, through sixty to a hundred gallons of water. The use of powerful pumps is equally recognizable, as their arranged speed keeps the pressure in the cylinders always at the same height, and this can be done by no other known method.

To return to the Tahiti Lemonade Works, this, we believe, is the only manufactory on these islands using the more complicated machinery of gasometers and pumps, driven by steam power. The Anti-Atmospheric machine above referred to as recently received, may be said to represent the last victory of progress, as (putting its pretty, graceful, and striking appearance aside), it is guaranteed to make the purest and best aerated waters in the world, against all competitors, at a saving of 30 percent in material and 50 percent in power—no small matter where making several hundred dozen a day is concerned.

The large factory at Sunny South, 60 feet in length, is cool and admirably clean, and the different machines (there are three) are remarkable for their polished brilliancy. With them no metal contamination can possibly take place, as they are thoroughly covered with silver.

Everyone is recommended to visit these works, where, at all times, the public are freely admitted and welcome.

The arrival of the Australia, yesterday, brought a large influx of guests to the Hawaiian Hotel. The Quintette Club—a company of native singers and string instrumentalists—has been engaged for the occasion. The public are cordially invited. Fine weather, a cool atmosphere, a mild moon, with comfortable seats on the balconies and in the open yard, and the sweet voices and plaintive music of the Quintette Club, all combine to furnish an evening's quiet pleasure, such as can rarely be found out of Honolulu and Hawaii nei.

ABSENT-MINDEDNESS.

A well-known and popular gentleman gave a splendid exhibition of absent-mindedness this morning. He entered his phaeton, which he had left standing in front of Mr. Engelhardt's store, and taking the reins whipped the horse. The animal moved about two or three feet, and stopped short. Again the gentleman applied the whip, more vigorously than the first time. The spirited horse danced, but did not go ahead. The whip might have been used again, with painful effect, had not another gentleman stepped up and informed the gentleman in the carriage that the horse was fast to the hitching post.

A Portuguese woman was charged with using lewd and blasphemous language towards a Portuguese man. Remanded until Monday next.

Gaetano, charged with assault and battery, was found guilty and fined $3 and $3.60 costs.

Kawelo was found guilty of assault and battery, and fined $7 and $3 costs.

A SHOOTING AFFRAY.

This morning shortly after 5 o'clock the two barkeepers at the Empire Saloon exchanged words with one another, resulting in one shooting at the other, but missing him. The bartender in charge of the premises, W. H. Vance, having reason to find fault with his assistant, E. C. Marden, told him last night that his services were no longer required. Marden, however, turned up this morning, when he was accosted by Vance and told to leave at once. Marden went about the premises, taking no notice of what Vance said. When both were in the rear of the building, Vance drew a revolver and fired at Marden. The ball passed through a venetian half door, alongside of which Marden was standing. The ball has not been found. Officer Tell was telephoned for at his residence, and in a few minutes he was on the spot. Walking up to Vance, Tell said, "There's some shooting being going on here, eh?" Vance replied, "Yes, I did the shooting." Captain Tell then put his hands on Vance and told him he was under arrest, at the same time taking a revolver from his hip pocket. There were at that time, four charges in the weapon and one barrel was warm and empty. Vance was taken to the Police Station and was brought up before the Police Justice this morning. He was remanded until Saturday.

CAPSIZE OF THE MALOLO.

The schooner Mary Foster, which arrived yesterday afternoon from Lahaina, confirmed the reported capsizing of the schooner Malolo. The steamer Mokolii had sent a boat ashore at Awalua, Lanai, where she found the crew of the Malolo. Captain McGregor, of the Mokolii, reported the accident to the captain of the Mary Foster, at Lahaina, and the definite news reached here yesterday. It seems that the captain had just gone below, leaving the mate, a white man, at the wheel, when a squall struck the vessel. The captain was on deck in an instant, but one of the crew, who was in the forecastle, could not get out in time, and was drowned. The vessel keeled over and filled very rapidly, but fortunately one of the ship's boats was loose on deck, and the crew made shore in it. On receiving the news yesterday, Mr. Cook, president of the Pacific Navigation Co., applied to the Minister of Interior for the use of the tug boat Eleu. His Excellency L. Aholo having complied with the request, the tug was provisioned, supplied with divers and wreckers, under command of Captain Cluney, and despatched at dusk, with Captain John Rice at the wheel. The steamer Surprise, which left here Tuesday afternoon, has probably left some men at Awalua, and if the schooner is afloat when the Eleu gets there, she will be righted and brought to port. The Malolo is one of the largest schooners in the P. N. Co.'s fleet. She was built four or five years ago at Port Ludlow, W. T., by Hall Bros. She was about 80 tons register, and a good sea boat. She was valued at $10,000, and was not insured in any outside insurance company. The Malolo has been to the South Sea Islands, and had proved herself a staunch craft. She was commanded by Captain Rosehill, an able seaman, and manned by South Sea Islanders. The tug is not to remain away longer than Saturday next.

A PECULIAR WRECK.

The Sydney Herald of January 17th says: One of the most extraordinary accidents to shipping that has been recorded for a long time past happened early yesterday morning, when the well-known bark Centurion, which has been a trader between London and this port for the last seventeen years, went on the rocks at North head and disappeared within half an hour afterwards. The Centurion cleared at the Custom-house on Friday for Honolulu, via Newcastle, with 400 tons coal, in addition to which she had 60 tons ballast on board. She was in tow of the steamer Phœbe. The vessels passed safely down the harbor, but when they were rounding South reef a bark, which afterward proved to be the Manhegan, was seen right between the heads, apparently anchored; and almost simultaneously a very heavy squall, with thick rain, came on. Captain Sutherland, of the Phœbe, seeing that if he kept going ahead his vessel would get foul of the Manhegan, stopped the engines and went astern. The tow rope at once slackened and the Centurion began to drift away to leeward on to North head. At this moment the rope got foul of the steamer's propeller, and as the ship went steadily on toward the rocks it parted.

Anchors were thrown out, but without avail, and soon after she struck. She was pulled off twice by the steamer, but after the second rescue she sank. The crew were saved.

OUR SUMMARY.

The Oceanic Steamship Company's steamer Alameda will be due here, en route for San Francisco, to-morrow afternoon, and will proceed on her voyage after a few hours' stay in port. Our regular summary of Hawaiian news, embracing everything of interest since the 28th February, the date of our last summary, will be published to-morrow morning, and may be had at this office or at the bookstores of Mr. Soper and Mr. Hewett. There is no better publication for sending to friends abroad, nor is there any better medium for advertising any special line of business that may depend, in part, for its support, upon foreign patronage. These summaries go to all parts of the English-speaking world, and the demand for it is constantly increasing.

EARTHQUAKES IN ITALY.

The San Francisco papers contain extended telegraphic accounts of a dreadful earthquake which was felt pretty well all over Italy, on the 23rd February. The damage to life and property was immense. The latest accounts, several days after, say:—

Harrowing details of the disaster caused by the earthquakes continue to arrive. At Diano Mariano today a child of twelve years old and her father were taken from the debris, when the latter expired on the spot. The survivors at Diano Mariano say that the majority of the victims were killed by the second shock, the people having re-entered their houses to procure clothing. The sum of $15,000 has been found in the ruins there. Bodies wrapped in shrouds lie in the middle of the streets.

The panic was renewed at Genoa to-day on a false report that Father Denza had predicted another shock. Both there and at Savona the people refuse to return to their houses. They sleep in improvised places of shelter. Slight oscillations were felt to-day at Albenga and Porto Maurzio. Relief committees are being organized throughout the country, but it is impossible to supply the numerous wants. A bill will be introduced in Parliament for a credit of $1,000,000 for relief purposes.

Troops have been compelled to keep back at the point of the bayonets the crowds of despairing men and women who were impeding the work of excavation in their efforts to find missing relatives. The bodies of victims of the disaster are terribly disfigured. The sufferings of the survivors are great, the supply of provisions, drugs, and ambulance apparatus being painfully inadequate; the work of the rescuers is attended with considerable danger. In some cases they have been obliged to flee from tottering walls, although they could hear the groans of victims buried beneath the debris. All the members of the family of the Mayor of Bajardo were killed. Of another family consisting of twenty-two persons named Maestri, only a single member, half demented, is left. Half-clothed people are wandering on the seashore, exposed to the inclement weather. At Diano Mariano a woman and child were taken out alive after being entombed three days. Groans can still be heards in the ruins, especially in the Via Garibaldi. The lost oil was valued at $500,000. The losses on other property are heavy.

SENATOR HEARST WANTS GOLD.

Chicago, March 1st.—United States Senator-elect George Hearst, of California, arrived here to-day and left in the evening for Washington, to be sworn in. He says that he will in the Senate try to effect some changes in currency denominations. He wants gold coin to be issued in denominations not less than the $20 pieces, so that all great moneyed transactions can be made with gold. He wants silver to be made to fill the medium of "small change." To do this he desires that silver certificates be issued in denomiations of $5 and $10, not lower, and have silver half dollars take the place of silver dollars. The silver dollar and the silver certificate he says are a nuisance; whereas the silver half dollar meets the convenience of all. Cleveland, he claims, is to-day more of a silver man than he was when he first went to the Capitol.

U. S. NAVY APPROPRIATIONS.

Washington, March 1st.—The aggregate increase to the Naval Appropriation bill by the Senate Committee on Appropriations is between twenty and twenty-two millions, but inasmuch as the largest expenditure covers a period of five years, it is estimated that the additional appropriation for the next fiscal year will not exceed $6,000,000, which will raise the aggregate expenditure for the year to between thirty-one and thirty-two millions. The Senate committee strikes out the House provision of $10,740,000 for two steel cruisers, and substitutes an appropriation of $9,000,000 for six protected steel cruisers, and $1,200,000 to pay premiums for extra speed of the same. It also appropriates $2,280,000 for the armament of these vessels; $6,000,000 to be paid for the construction of heavily armed vessels, floating batteries and rams, and $2,000,000 for their armament. Eight hundred thousand dollars is appropriated for the construction of light-draft gunboats, $720,000 for torpedo boats, $600,000 for torpedo and torpedo appliances, $112,000 for the purchase of the Destroyer and $10,000 for her care and operation. The provision for the equipment of vessels is increased $100,000; that for the purchase of proving ground is increased $20,000, and that for rebuilding wharves at the Boston Navy Yard is increased $25,000. The appropriation for the Bureau of Provisions and Clothing is decreased $30,000

The Best Manila Cigars in the Market!

Charles Stuart Caverley recently published a specimen of his lyrical talent, entitled "Mr. Leslie's Song" of which the following two verses are a specimen:

There is a rapture exceeding all measure,
Left to enliven this sorrowful world;
Who does not think of that moment with pleasure,
When first round his lips the wreathing smoke curled?
Parents look grave or sick,
Call it a nasty trick,
Say it is ruinous—say it is wrong;
Happy indeed is his lot,
Who, for these caring not,
Puffs like a chimney-pot,
All the day long.

Some, who are troubled with endless entreaties,
Strive for a time this delight to forego;
Vain are their efforts, their failure complete is—
Life without smoking's unbearably slow.
Soon their mistake they find,
Leave all such thoughts behind,
Wise resolutions all vanish in smoke;
And to their cost they see
That, if their life must be Unfumigatory,
'Twill be no joke. 71

THURSDAY, MAR. 10, 1887.

IN A MONSTER'S EMBRACE.

SENSATIONS OF A MAN WHO GOTS INTO THE CLUTCHES OF A DEVIL FISH.

"We were lying about half a mile off the beach at the Barbadoes, overhauling the standing rigging," said James Gillis, able seaman, "when the mate ordered John Webb, an apprentice boy, and myself into the yawl, which had been covered and brought around to the port side, that some painting might be done just abaft the mainmast. It was a terribly hot day, with the water very warm and the men having little energy. The paint was lowered down to us, and while I used the brush the boy held the yawl in position. We had been at work for about a quarter of an hour when the boy suddenly yelled out in affright, and as I turned to him he declared that he had seen a horrible looking object pass under the boat, and so on under the ship.

There are plenty of strange creatures floating about in those waters, and a patch of seaweed will sometimes assume a queer shape. I laughed at the boy's fears, but at the same time saw how pale and frightened he looked.

"'What's wanted below there?' called the mate as he leaned over the rail, having heard Webb's cry of alarm.

"'I—I saw something go under the boat, sir.'

"'Oh, you did. Well, if you bawl out again you'll feel something go under your jacket.'

"I began work again, and had been at it only three or four minutes when the yawl heaved away from the ship two or three feet, and at the same instant the boy screamed out again. His voice had scarcely reached my ears when something flashed before my eyes, something caught my arm and pulled it down and pinned it fast to my body, and in five seconds more I knew what had happened. A devil fish had flung one of his arms about me. Webb was screaming at the top of his voice, and as I got a look at him I saw that two of the beast's feelers were clutching him. The arm or feeler which had reached me pinned my arm to my side as if in a vise, making a clean wrap around my body, and the extreme end of the feeler crept up along my neck and face. Talk of pain: I never felt anything like it. The teeth of a bulldog couldn't have hurt worse. It was a burning, biting, blistering sensation, as if a live coal had been laid on the flesh. I added my yells to those of Webb, but before any one came to the rail I was jerked to my knees in the boat and saw that the creature's object was to pull me overboard. I heard the boy go down and thrash about, and then three of the men came to our assistance.

"The devil fish had outwitted himself. He had gone under the ship and fastened to her bottom or keel, and as soon as he began pulling on us he of course pulled the yawl close against the ship's side. That closed the gap, and he could not pull us overboard, although I think he would have upset the yawl, for we were both down on her starboard side and she was almost on her beam ends when the men jumped down. They began to cut and slash and hack with their knives, and after two or three minutes they had us free—not of the arms, but of the creature. We were hoisted on board howling and groaning, with the feelers still biting, and they had to be cut from us almost by inches. Webb got it far worse than I did, as he wore a thin cotton shirt and was barefooted. He was bitten on one foot, both hands and across the breast, and it was a long two weeks before he was on deck again, his face swelled up until one eye was closed, and the poison made me ill for many days. Wherever one of the cups or suckers took hold the skin was entirely taken off, and it seemed as if pins had been stuck in the raw flesh. A native doctor brought me some herbs of which to make a poultice; and, though that relieved the pain and helped me to get around again, it was months before my face was entirely well."—[New York Sun.

AFGHANISTAN.

New York, Feb. 21—The Star's London cablegram says: Despatches from India state that Russian agents are organizing another rising of the Ghilzai tribes against England's ally, the Ameer of Afghanistan. The Ghilzai chiefs have received large supplies of Russian arms, amunition and treasure, and are acting under the direction of Russian officers. The enormous concentration of Russian troops and war material at Merv, Samarcand and strategic points threatening Herat indicates an early Russian advance in the direction of Herat and gives color to the reported subsidizing of the Ghilazais by the Russians.

It has leaked out that the Indian Government has warned the Home Cabinet that the Ameer will shortly require effective support and has asked for sanction to push forward troops to Canadahar for that purpose. The application is under consideration, and in the meantime the Indian authorities are taking matters in their own hands as usual and making the necessary disposition of troops and stores in anticipation of orders for an advance.

Liberal members of the House of Commons assert that evidence will shortly be brought to the notice of Parliament proving that Salisbury's policy has quite recently brought the country within a measurable distance of war with Russia and that the relations between the two countries are dangerously strained.

SOME SMALL STATES.

It would probably puzzle most people to give a complete list of the sovereign states of Europe. We don't mean to suggest that they would be likely to omit Montenegro, or Servia, or Belgium, or Greece, or even Monaco, with its 7,200 subjects. But there is Andorra. One is prone to overlook its 600 square miles, and 10,000 mountaineers. And there is San Marino, the sole survivor of the old and once numerous republics of Italy. It contains only about 00 square miles and 8,000 inhabitants; yet it is a military power, and has an army of 950 men, while its revenue amounts to nearly $23,000 a year. And there is the principality of Lichtenstein, between the Tyrol and Switzerland. There is only a very little of this charming country. The land measures but twelve or thirteen miles in length, and the proud nation that inhabits it consists of only 10,000 souls; but, such as it is, this little principality exists under the rule of his most transparent Highness John II.; and it is protected by intimate alliance with Austria. Still more restricted in extent is the republic of Moresnet, between Verviers, in Belgium, and Aix-la-Chapelle. Its dominion reaches over only four square miles, it possesses about 3,000 inhabitants, and its annual revenue amounts to less than $2,500. The national army consists of one soldier, who also acts as policeman. —[Frank Leslie's Monthly.

A Woman's Sufferings and Gratitude.

A Voice from Austria.

Near the village of Zuningdorf, in Lower Austria, lives Maria Haas, an intelligent and industrious woman, whose story of physical suffering and final relief, as related by herself, is of interest to English women. "I was employed," she says, "in the work of a large farmhouse. Over-work brought on sick headache, followed by a deathly fainting and sickness of the stomach, until I was unable to retain either food or drink. I was compelled to take to my bed for several weeks. Getting a little better from rest and quiet, I sought to do some work, but was soon taken with a pain in my side, which in a little while seemed to spread over my whole body, and throbbed in my every limb. This was followed by a cough and shortness of breath, until finally I could not sew, and I took to my bed for the second, and, as I thought, for the last time. My friends told me that my time had nearly come, and that I could not live longer than when the trees put on their green once more. Then I happened to get one of the Seigel pamphlets. I read it, and my dear mother bought me a bottle of Seigel's Syrup, which I took exactly according to directions, and I had not taken the whole of it before I felt a great change for the better. My last illness began June 5, 1882, and continued to August 9th, when I began to take the Syrup. Very soon I could do a little light work. The cough left me, and I was no more troubled in breathing. Now I am perfectly cured. And oh, how happy I am! I cannot express gratitude enough for Seigel's Syrup. Now I must tell you that the doctors in our district distributed handbills cautioning people against the medicine, telling them it would do them no good, and many were thereby influenced to destroy the Seigel pamphlets; but now, wherever one is to be found, it is kept like a relic. The few preserved are borrowed to read, and I have lent mine for six miles around our district. People have come eighteen miles to get me to buy the medicine for them, knowing that it cured me, and to be sure to get the right kind. I know a woman who was looking like death, and who told them there was no help for her, that she had consulted several doctors, but none could help her. I told her of Seigel's Syrup, and wrote the name down for her that she might make no mistake. She took my advice and the Syrup, and now she is in perfect health, and the people around us are amazed. The medicine has made such progress in our neighborhood that people say they don't want the doctor any more, but they take the Syrup. Sufferers from gout who were confined to their bed and could hardly move a finger, have been cured by it. There is a girl in our district who caught a cold by going through some water, and was in bed five years with costiveness and rheumatic pains, and had to have an attendant to watch by her. There was not a doctor in the surrounding districts to whom her mother had not applied to relieve her child, but every one crossed themselves and said they could not help her. Whenever the little bell rang which is rung in our place when somebody is dead, we thought surely it was for her, but Seigel's Syrup and Pills saved her life, and now she is as healthy as anybody, goes to church, and can work even in the fields. Everybody was astonished when they saw her out, knowing how many years she had been in bed. To-day she adds her gratitude to mine for God's mercies and Seigel's Syrup. MARIA HAAS."

The people of England speak confirming the above.

After Several Years.

"Stoke Ferry, January 9th, 1884.

"Gentlemen,—I have used Siegel's Syrup for several years, and have found it a most efficacious remedy for Liver complaints and general debility, and I always keep some by me, and cannot speak too highly in its praise.—I remain, yours truly, Harriett King."

After Sixteen Years.

"Whittle-le-Woods, near Chorley, "December 26, 1883.

"Dear Sir,—Mother Seigel's medicine sells exceeding well with us, all that try it speak highly in its favor. We had a case of a young lady that had been troubled many years with pains after eating. She tells us that the pains were entirely taken away after a few doses of your medicine.—Yours truly, E. PEEL."

The Effects have been Wonderful.

"95, Newgate Street, Worksop, Notts, "December 26th, 1883.

"Gentlemen,—It is with the greatest of pleasure I accord my testimony as to the efficacy of Mother Seigel's Syrup. My wife, who has suffered from acute Dyspepsia for over sixteen years, is now perfectly better through the sole help of your Syrup. I have sent pounds in medicines from doctors—in fact, I began to think she was incurable, until your marvellous medicine was tried.

I remain, yours, thankfully, ALFRED FORD."

After Many Years.

"Ilford Road Dispensary, Dukinfield, May 3, 1884.

"Dear Sir,—I am happy to inform you that the sale of your Syrup and Pills increases here continually. Several of my customers speak of having derived more benefit from the use of these than from any other medicine. In some instances the effects have been wonderful.

Yours very respectfully,

It wly] PRO. EDWIN EASTWOOD, J.B."

Let me have a mild CIGAR

THE ABOVE REQUEST IS HEARD daily in cigar stores, saloons and other places where cigars are sold, for it is an undisputed fact that most smokers prefer a mild cigar and that those who have for a long time smoked strong cigars, principally imported Manilas, will, after having thoroughly injured the stomach and impaired the nervous system, surely want a mild cigar, if they could find the right kind.

How many thousands of smokers who suffer from loss of appetite, headache, nervous irritability, asthma, etc., and who have tried all possible remedies without success, might be cured if they knew that their sufferings were caused by the intemperate use of strong cigars, and that they should only smoke mild and properly prepared ones.

It is a fact that all mild cigars agree well with smokers, for in most cases there is a lack of care in the selection of the tobacco, and often the necessary experience for it is wanting, yet there is one brand which suits the most fastidious smoker, and that is

ENGELBRECHT'S

"Sampler" Health Cigar

Which is made from mild, aromatic and particularly selected and prepared tobacco, and combines all the qualities which may be expected from a health cigar. It causes no bad effect of any kind, is agreeable to the taste, burns evenly to the end and possesses a fine aroma. No smoker should fail to give

Engelbreht's "Sampler" Cigars

A fair trial, and benefit himself at the same time.
