DID GOULD HAVE TWO WIVES?

That Is the Story of a Late Telegram.

FORGOTTEN DAUGHTER HAS A CLAIM.

Says That Her Mother Was the Multi-Millonaire's First Wife—No Divorce Ever Issued—Marriage Certificate in a Vault—Will Go to the Courts.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Oct. 21.—The statement that the eldest daughter of the late Jay Gould, millionaire and railroad magnate, is the wife of a humble employee of the Union Pacific Coal Company, residing at Rock Springs, Wyo., will be surprising news to the world, but such is the claim of Mrs. B. F. Pierce and there does not appear to be much question that the lady has the proof to establish what she claims.

Mrs. Pierce says that her mother, Jay Gould's first wife, from whom it is claimed he was never divorced, is still living at Rouse's Point, Clinton County, New York. According to her story Jay Gould met his first wife, a Miss Sarah Ann Brown, at the little town where the woman now resides, and on the 16th of May, 1853, the couple were married in New York City by Rev. Hanna, a Methodist minister.

Mr. Gould was then comparatively a poor man. The couple did not live happily together and before a year of married life Mrs. Gould left her husband and returned to Rouse's Point, assuming her maiden name. She has lived there in obscurity all these years, but she claims that neither she nor Mr. Gould ever secured a divorce.

On the 15th day of February, 1854, a daughter was born to Mrs. Gonld or Mrs. Brown as she was ever afterward known. When the child was 2½ years of age her mother gave her in adoption to James and Mary Morton, of St. Thomas, Canada. In 1866 the Mortons moved to Hamilton, Caldwell County, Mo., and it was there that Miss Morton met Benjamin Franklin Pierce, to whom she was married on October 5, 1882.

Mrs. Brown never obtruded herself upon her husband after leaving him, but in 1889, after the death of the second wife, she called upon him in New York and informed him of the existence of their daughter, his eldest child. Mr. Gould acknowledged the claim and promised to make a settlement of a certain amount on the child. This he failed to do.

The daughter never knew of her relation to the Gould family until after her marriage and removal to Wyoming. She was led to believe by her foster mother that her father was dead, but knew of the existence of her own mother, although she had never had any communication with her. Early in 1891, Mrs. Brown, who had lost all track of the Mortons and of her daughter, began to trace her up and located her at Rock Springs, where Mr. and Mrs. Pierce had settled.

In July or August, 1891, Jay Gould's private car was in Rock Springs. Mr. and Mrs. Pierce solicited an interview with Mr. Gould, and a gentleman representing himself to be that individual met them, and the case was stated to him. The gentleman said to them that if their statements were true the best thing they could do was to make them public.

Mr. and Mrs. Pierce now have reason to believe that it was not Mrs.

JAY GOULD.

Pierce's father with whom they talked, but Dr. Munn, Mr. Gould's physician.

Mrs. Pierce's mother was informed of the interview, but she advised her daughter to wait awhile and see if Mr. Gould was disposed to do anything. She desired, if possible, to prevent any publicity of the affair. After the death of Mr. Gould in December, 1892, Mrs. Brown came to Rock Springs to ascertain if George Gould, as administrator of his father's estate, had taken any action in the matter, he having previously been informed of the existence of the child by a former marriage.

George Gould and his attorneys have entirely ignored all communications sent them on the subject, and failing to secure what they believe to be their legal rights, Mr. and Mrs. Pierce have determined to resort to the courts. They have employed able counsel and expect to begin suit as soon as they have collected their evidence. They have secured the marriage certificate of Jay Gould to Sarah Ann Brown, and those who knew the late Jay Gould and who have seen Mrs. Pierce say she bears a strong resemblance to her father.

Mr. Pierce is the nominee of the Populist party for State Auditor of Wyoming, and himself and his wife enjoy the confidence and respect of the entire community where they reside. It was with considerable reluctance that he consented to give out the facts of his wife's relationship for publication.

The marriage certificate of Jay Gould to Sarah Ann Brown is now in a safe deposit vault in the First National Bank of Rock Springs. Mr. Pierce says that his wife has the only legitimate claim to the Gould estate, and he proposes to establish her identity and secure her rights. He says that he had hoped that he and his wife would be able to have their just claim recognized. Mr. Pierce has been boss at the Union Pacific coal mines at Rock Srrings for years, and is now engaged in making a canvass of the State.

THEY SAY "BILLY" IS A "BAD'UN."

Some Rough Remarks Made About Wm. H. Aldrich.

Accounts of Him by Witnesses in Court. His Sister Wants a Guardian Appointed to Manage Him.

An application to have a guardian appointed for Wm. H. Aldrich is being heard before Judge Whiting of the Circuit Court. The petitioner is Annie Aldrich Barton of San Francisco. Her attorney is W. A. Kinney and V. V. Ashford is fighting Mr. Aldrich's sister. J. O. Carter is mentioned as a proper person to become the guardian of the defendant.

The petition sets out that Mr. Aldrich has an interest in a large estate and receives a fine income. His allowance is estimated by outsiders to be about $8000 a year. Miss Barton represents that her brother is incapable of handling the money which comes to him. She says he is addicted to "drunkenness, idleness and debauchery." This is what Mr. Kinney is trying to prove to the satisfaction of Judge Whiting. Mr. Ashford, on the contrary, contends that Aldrich is entirely capable of caring for his income.

Only witnesses for the plaintiff were heard yesterday. Aldrich listened to some rather uncomplimentary accounts of himself during the forenoon. He was not in attendance after lunch. Several business men had no hesitancy in declaring that "Billy was a dead beat" and a thorough spendthrift. He is now a bankrupt, promises to pay, but never yields. The witness said he was a heavy drinker and seemed only to want to have a good time.

It was when Mrs. Arnold took the stand that a search-light was thrown on Aldrich's private affairs. She had cared for Mrs. Aldrich and two children for a number of weeks. During that time the only financial transaction she had with the husband and father was when he borrowed money from her. It was not returned. One day "Billy" negotiated a loan of $1.50 from Mrs. Arnold. He said he wanted to bring home some small supplies. He went away in a hack, came back several hours later staggering under the load of a jag and two bit's worth of 11 a.m. fishmarket beef.

Mrs. Arnold said that when Mrs. Aldrich was very ill "Billy" took prescriptions to have them filled and failed to return with the medicine. In several instances of this sort Mrs. Arnold obtained duplicates of the prescriptions and had them filled herself.

AT THE END OF THREE YEARS

The Concordia Society Has a Birthday Party.

GAVE A CONCERT AT THEIR HALL.

An Occasion of Melody and Mirth—Club Founded in 1891—To Have a Building of Its Own—Committee and Officers.

RIVERS of melody and mirth floated from a hall at the corner of Beretania and Alapai streets last Thursday night. Perhaps this word-figure is a trifle far-fetched. But there was nothing distant about the good time. The Concordia Society celebrated the third anniversary of its foundation. The main entrance and hall and rooms of the club house were crowded from early in the evening until after midnight. The grounds were illuminated and paths served for promenade purposes. Those present were the wives, families, sweethearts and friends of the members.

M. G. SILVA, CONCORDIA'S PRESIDENT.

The hall was decorated with Hawaiian, Portuguese and American flags, and with ferns. Some very pretty effects were produced. Japanese lanterns were used without stint. The Concordia has a full brass band, which is trained and led by Libornio. It plays well and that it is seldom heard in public is to be regretted. There were twelve numbers on the concert programme. Several selections were encored. Libornio introduced music of his own arrangement or composition seven times, and made a decided hit with the Portuguese selections and "New Hall" and "Foundation Day" marches.

After the concert brief addresses were made by a few prominent members. The Concordia has an earnest membership and is in prosperous circumstances. It has secured land near the Mormon church on Punchbowl street and will put up a building. It is purely a musical organization. When a young member of the colony evinces musical talent he is taken up by the Concordia and encouraged and assisted.

Frank Cabral was chairman of the committee which managed the celebration. His assistants were J. T. Figuerado, J. Correa, M. G. Samusca and A. Nunes. They deserve praise for making the affair a complete success.

These are the present officers of the Concordia:

President—M. G. Silva.
Vice-President—M. D. Freitas.
Secretary—J. T. Figuerado.
Treasurer—J. V. Fernandes.

The band may soon give a public concert in connection with a Concordia entertainment.

Remedy If It Should Become a Nuisance.

In Connection With the New Pumping Plant—A Patent Stoker That Does the Business—Its Merits.

LIFE in some places is made miserable by the smoke that pours from high stacks. Sometimes the heavy black clouds float away. Again the lighter components only travel and much of the refuse falls upon houses and into gounds. In old countries, particularly in manufacturing districts, the smoke nuisance is almost as prolific of lawsuits as the boundary line. Since steam power supplanted horse power transit lines in the United States, the "smoke nuisance" has been very much in evidence. It has been the worry for years of many a conscientious official and as well has figured in municipal politics. In Denver, Colorado, a few years ago, there were pitched battles on election day between the forces of the Tramways Company and the opposition.

Some people will be inclined to smile at the suggestion that Honolulu is likely to become a manufacturing city and have to struggle with the smoke nuisance. That is the trend. There are already several large industrial businesses in which steam is extensively used. Every year sees additions and the grove of isolated smokestacks will thicken to a forest. There will be more rice mills; there will be coffee mills, more great shops, and more planing mills; there may, some time, be a great sugar refinery.

The smoke nuisance will be nipped in the bud. It obtruded itself into the new water works system. It was first proposed to locate the pumping plant near the drill shed. Much of the time smoke from that quarter would strike the Executive building. Then they talked of going to the Government yard across the street. The occupants of the Judiciary and Kapuaiwa buildings protested. The corner of Alakea and Beretania streets was selected. A number of residents in that vicinity have inquired if the smoke would bother them. At one time there was some difference between a householder on the smoke path of the ice works and the corporation. It was settled amicably and there has been no complaint in the neighborhood since.

To those who have asked about the new pumping plant, Mr. Rowell, Superintendent of Public Works, has replied that a stack one hundred feet high would be provided. It is calculated that this will carry the smoke away satisfactorily.

Mr. Rowell says that if there is well grounded complaint about smoke it will be necessary to secure a "patent stoker." By the use of this appliance the smoke is consumed in the furnace. The "patent stoker" is nothing more nor less than a mechanical fireman. It is coming into general use in manufacturing centers in the United States. A brother of Mr. Rowell's, who is inspecting boilers in the South, writes about the "patent stoker" from New Orleans. He says the one in use there is effectual. To substantiate his account he sends a photograph of a group of stacks. All the shops are in operation. From the funnels of all but two dense volumes of smoke are rolling. At the two places the consumer attachment has been made. A bare trace of smoke is coming from these stacks.

The "patent stoker" will not be ordered for Honolulu at present. Mr. Rowell remarks that it will be secured if it seems to be required. He wants the public works department to be up to the times in everything.

Fritz Rowald Injured.

Fritz Rowald, of Hall & Son's, and a lieutenant in A Company, N. G. H., was the victim of a serious accident last evening. His driving horse became unruly. During its efforts to run away, Mr. Rowald was crushed between the buggy and the fence. His face and head were cut, and his body bruised. Dr. Day dressed the wounds. Mr. Rowald's many friends will hope for his speedy recovery.

Luau Extraordinary.

Big preparations have been made for a native luau at Moanalua this afternoon. Several wagon loads of supplies were sent out from town yesterday. The affair is in honor of Griffiths and Terrill, the visiting bicycle racers. A number of wheelmen and young gentlemen interested in sports are getting up the luau.

MURDERED BY MISTAKE.

An Extraordinary Story of a Father Who Killed His Son For Another.

An extraordinary story is reported from Tarnopol, in Galicia. A peasant named Adam Gawrydo, whose property is in a small village near Zbaraz, in Galicia, cut his own son's throat with a kitchen knife by mistake. Some weeks ago a Hebrew merchant, Solomon Barb, bought old Gawrydo's stock of honey and paid 50 florins in advance to make the bargain valid. When the time for delivering the honey came, the peasant declared that he could not keep his word and was prepared to pay any damage to the merchant that the rabbi might decide.

They both went to the rabbi, who said the peasant must pay the merchant 10 florins damages. This he did most willingly, and both went away together. On the way home they stopped at a wayside inn and did not leave it till night. It began to rain, and the peasant asked the merchant to pass the night in his house. The merchant accepted, and they went home together. The peasant prepared a bed of straw in the barn, and when the merchant had laid down went to his own room after carefully locking the barn door. This frightened the merchant so much that he got up, felt his way about until he found a second door, which was bolted from the inside, left the barn and started to walk back to the inn.

In the meantime the son of the peasant returned home half drunk, and finding the barn door open walked in and dropped on the bed of straw prepared for the stranger. He was soon fast asleep. The merchant on his way to the inn met a gendarme, who asked him where he was going so late. Barb told him all that had happened, and the gendarme, thinking he had a dangerous man before him who was lying to avoid suspicion, asked him to go with him to the peasant's house. There they found Gawrydo in the act of washing his hands, which were stained with blood. When he saw them he exclaimed, "Surely I killed you an instant ago!" The gendarme searched the house and in the barn found the son of the peasant dead, with his throat cut. The peasant was immediately arrested. — Vienna Cor. London News.

A KINGDOM FOR SALE.

It Is Called Matupia and Is One of the Bismarck Group.

A genuine kingdom, with a capital, residence and seaport, is at present offered for sale in Berlin. It consists of a part of the island of Tatota and is called Matupia. The island is part of the Bismarck group between New Zealand and New Mecklenburg. The "empire" covers just seven square miles (German) and was purchased during the eighties by Herr Georg Weisser, a retired paymaster of the German navy and afterward director of the New Guinea company.

Herr Weisser had several bloody fights with his Samoan and Kanakan chiefs, but managed to quell all rebellions and become very popular with his subjects. He died last year, and his heirs, who reside at Kaiserlautern, do not wish to exercise their regal duties and have instructed their agents to sell the unique property. Matupia, the capital of the little kingdom, contains about 1,600 inhabitants, many of whom are Europeans. It is one of the best harbors in the archipelago.—Literary Digest.

Miss M. F. Cain of Lancaster has passed her examination before the state druggists' board in Pennsylvania.

National Cane Shredder

(PATENTED UNDER THE LAWS OF THE HAWAIIAN ISLANDS.)

Mr. John A. Scott, Manager of the Hilo Sugar Company gives the following wonderful record of the working of the NATIONAL CANE SHREDDER, which was erected by their works at the commencement of the crop just harvested:

"During the past week the Hilo Sugar Company's mill exceeded any of its former records by closing the 125 hours grinding with an output of 300¾ tons. This is fully 10 per cent. more than the best work of former years.

"The three roller mill being 26 in. by 54 in. and the two roller mill 30 in. by 60 in. The first mill doing this amount of work in an efficient manner and with great ease, compared with work on whole cane, owing to thorough preparation of the cane by the National Cane Shredder, recently erected by the Company. And by its use the extraction has been increased from 3 per cent. to 5 per cent. on all kinds of cane, and in some cases 80 per cent. has been reached; the average being 75 to 78 per cent., according to quality.

"I continue to find the megass from shredded cane better fuel than from whole cane.

"The shredder has been working day and night for seven months and has given me entire satisfaction, having shredded during that time about seventy thousand tons of cane, and a large part of it being hard ratoons.

"The shredder and engine require very little care or attention."

On WEDNESDAY, December 5, 1894, at 12 o'clock noon, at the front entrance of the Executive Building will be sold at public auction, the lease of a Boat House site, situate on the east side of the Harbor, below the Immigration Wharf, Honolulu, Oahu, containing an area of 8500 square feet.

Term—Lease for 5 years.

Upset price—$40 per annum, payable semi-annually in advance.

The sale of lease is conditioned that within one year from date, the lessee shall erect upon the said site a good substantial building to cost not less than Three Thousand ($3000) Dollars and to be used for Boat Club purposes only.

A privilege of extension for an additional term of 10 years will be allowed upon the fulfilment of the above condition with a further extension of 5 years should the site not be required by the Government for other purposes.

Building to be removed by the lessee at the termination of the lease.

Of Interest to Sugar Mill Owners

Managers and Agents of Plantations, and to Everybody Using Machinery.

The undersigned begs to inform the public that he has opened an establishment at the corner of QUEEN and NUUANU sts., HONOLULU, where will be kept in stock a full supply of Engineer's Findings; Steam and Water Pipe and Fittings; Brasswork, Finished and Rough; Hooker's Steam and Double Acting Pumps; Deep Well Pumps; Windmill Pumps; Hand Power Pumps of various designs.

Being sole agent and representative of the firm of W. T. GARRATT & Co., of San Francisco, who are manufacturers of this line of goods, I am enabled to sell at prices never before quoted in this market, saving my customers the wholesale and jobbers profits.

Agent for the Hawaiian Islands of the Richard's Lock Nut, which is an ordinary hexagon nut constructed so that it is impossible for the nut to become loose or slack, and fall off the bolt. It costs no more than the ordinary cold pressed iron nut and dispenses with the use of the lock washers, keys and split pins. This nut is now exclusively used on all the principal railroads and street cars lines in the United States. Samples and pamphlets furnished on application to the undersigned.

Agent for the Siphon Water Elevator, which is automatic, for irrigation, city supply, farms, etc. This invention as its name indicates is based upon the principle of the siphon known to the Ancients but it is devised in such a manner as to greatly enlarge the field of application. Used until today only for the drawing off of liquids to a lower level, the siphon now becomes an Automatic Water Elevator, which under favorable conditions is endowed with great powers. In many instances, land situated higher than the irrigation ditch can be irrigated at a nominal expense. The Siphon Elevator is especially adapted for such conditions, as it can elevate the water from the main irrigation ditch to a higher one, while the waste is available for irrigating the lower levels. The siphon elevators are made of brass and iron in sizes ranging in capacity of from two hundred to three million gallons per day.

THIS THE DAY THEY CELEBRATE.

Japanese Wish their Ruler Many Happy Returns.

Mr. and Mrs. Fujii Will Receive—The Entertaiment in the Evening—Down Town Festivities.

His Imperial Japanese Majesty's birthday is noted opposite date of November 3 in all chronological calendars. Those who love the sunburst flag will celebrate in honor of their sovereign wherever they may be. Making astounding progress as a civilized nation, victorious on sea and on land in the war with China, sending colonists everywhere, entering the commerce of the world with confidence, Japan has reason to congratulate herself. Much of this is due to the intelligence, the dauntless courage, the statesmanship and the business sagacity of the present Emperor. He is, in all lines, the most aggressive man who ever sat upon the throne of that ancient country.

Small wonder is it, then, that the Japanese in Hawaii exert themselves to do honor to the Mikado. The coolie in the cane-field and the merchant in the counting-room are alike filled with the spirit of the time. No holiday has been declared for the plantation laborers. They will celebrate on an elabrate scale nevertheless.

Some mention has already been made in this paper of the local observances of the day. There will be gala doings from early morning till late at night. The small shopkeepers and servants and laborers made up a fund some time ago. They have engaged the Hawaiian National Band, and will have it play on Maunakea street. They will have day and night fireworks, and will treat their visitors to refreshments.

Mr. Fujii, the representative of the Japanese Government, with Mrs. Fujii, will receive friends at the Legation this afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock. The Legation is on Nuuanu Avenue. The Government band will be in attendance, and there will be a display of day fireworks.

The celebration proper is in the hands of a committee of which Rev. Jiro Okabe is chairman. His associates are: Dr. S. Asano, Mr. E. Hoshino, Mr. S. Anno, Mr. S. Kimura, Mr. W. Kobayashi, Mr. K. Kawasaki, Mr. G. Mizuha, Mr. W. Ogata, Mr. K. Sato, Yokohama Specie Bank, Nan-Yu-Shosha, Itohan Store, Ogura & Co., Yokohama Bazaar, Ozaki Store.

The old armory on Beretania street will be the scene of the meeting at 7:30 in the evening. Music will be furnished by the band of the Republic. Admittance is by card from any member of the committee. Friends of the Japanese are invited to apply for cards. Following is the programme for the evening:

Self-Righting Boat.

An iron boat has recently been constructed by a Nottingham inventor, who proposes to cross the Atlantic in it. The vessel has a whaleback deck and is 10 feet and 6 inches long, with 3 feet beam and 2 feet 6 inches depth. The cabin which is lighted by glass windows at the side, will be completely watertight when closed, fresh air being obtained by pipes. Should the vessel be overturned the inventor claims that it will automatically right itself. It will be fitted with a ten-foot mast from the fore deck, with jib and mainsail and additional motive power will be supplied by a geared hand screw. The inventor, says our informant, has spent about a year in the construction of this boat. He will launch from Nottingham and expects that his voyage will take him about four or five weeks to accomplish.—London Invention.

CHEAP GOODS—HIGH WAGES.

The cost of labor, on these islands, is a matter on which every planter and business man steadily keeps his eye. We have, in our columns, made some analysis of the real cost and value of it.

The following extract from the financial columns of the Outlook confirms our views. A correspondent of that paper calls its attention to the enormous increase in the number of cotton spindles in Japan, and asks, what is the outlook? The editor replies:

As Western civilization spreads in India and Japan, these countries will doubtless manufacture more and more. Simultaneously, however, the wages paid to their workmen will rise, and not until their industrial civilization is such that their workmen are able to earn European wages can they hope to compete in the European markets. It is a principle of universal application that the countries where wages are lowest are the countries which most largely import manufactures and export raw materials. The want of skill on the part of their working people tells most heavily against them in manufacturing industries. In manufacturing, the comparatively well-paid labor of Europe can as easily undersell the ill-paid labor of the Orient as the well-paid labor of the United States the ill-paid labor of Spanish America. The reason why our manufacturers welcomed the policy of reciprocity with Spanish America was because they knew that in manufactures we could undersell the Spanish-Americans in their own market, despite the fact that wages here are three times as great as wages there. The very same principles govern the competition of the Orient with the manufacturing nations of Western Europe. Until the industrial civilization of the Orient equals that of Western Europe, the Orient will continue to furnish a market for Western manufacturing nations.

The Wool and Cotton Reporter, of New York, states that in an American mill using English carding machines, working the same stock, and making the same numbers of yarns, Americans will produce in the same time thirty per cent. more carding than is produced in an English mill, and that this is due to the different modes of living, and to other causes. And England competes with India in making cotton goods, although wages in the latter country, are only one-fifth of those in England.

The manufacturer and the business man does not believe this, until some "crank" proves it to him, right under his nose. Nor does the Egyptian peasant believe in reaping machines, although their great value is well known. Advanced and "proved" ideas do not materialize rapidly in a busy man's mind, for many, and often, sufficient reasons.

Those in America, who believe that the rate of wages, for skilled labor, will be permanently lowered by the Asiatics, may find themselves in the end, very much mistaken. It may, and will happen, in due time, that the American laborer will stop shaking in his boots, whenever he sees a Chinaman, because the Chinaman will keep up wages, instead of lowering them. All this will not happen in a day.

CHEAP MONEY.

No feature of the existing financial situation in all the principal commercial countries attracts greater attention than what is usually described as the glut of money. As compared with this time a year ago, the Bank of England, for instance, holds specie to the amount of about $65,000,000 more than was in its vaults at this time last year. The reserves of the Bank of France are some $40,000,000 larger than in the autumn of 1893, and the increase in the holdings of the German Reichsbank are but little under that amount. The last report of the Associated Banks of New York displays an increase of $96,000,000 in cash reserves, and, in spite of the recent revival of demands for money, shows an idle surplus of nearly, $60,000,000, while some $200,000,000 is lying useless in the Bank of England. Money, in short, is a drug. Nor does the end of this situation seem to have been attained. The attempts, whether in London or New York, to institute a speculative movement which would furnish temporary employment for these accumulations have not thus far been successful, and developments of commercial activity and legitimate business in lines which up to the moment, cannot be clearly foreseen, must furnish the outlet for all this unused and unproductive capital.—Bradstreet.

Nothing indicates so clearly the stagnation of business, as the amount of capital lying idle. Speculators have no use for it, and capitalists will not lend money excepting on the very best securities. One sees that the rate of interest in the cities is only two per cent., and wonders why he cannot borrow, when he is willing to pay seven per cent., or more. The reason is, that in dull times, the capitalist is afraid of the security offered, and prefers to take two per cent., without running any risks.

MR. MAGOON, in another column, defends his attitude toward the American League. He claims that he has fully discharged his political duty, as a member of the League, in supporting the Provisional Government, and its successor, the Republic, and that he does not believe that the Republic is not a stable Government. He thinks that if it is not a "stable" Government, this fact should not be proclaimed to the world. We regret that Mr. Magoon does not favor annexation, but can hardly see how he can be charged with disloyalty to the American League if he does not favor it. Much of the power of the Roman Catholic church is in the fact that even if a man is in error, it holds on to him, and if it can't keep him, at the front, it keeps him in the rear and never lets him get away into the hostile ranks. But that Church is a very wise, and long headed institution, and knows something about human nature.

SENATOR HILL, of New York, has been forced to become the candidate for Governor of the Democratic party. He, evidently, didn't want the nomination, but, if he had refused it, the party would have accused him of "going back" on it, in a critical time. If he is defeated, he remains Senator. The chances are that he will be defeated by the Republicans, as the Mugwump vote is bitterly hostile to him, and it nearly holds the balance of power. "Tammany" does not trust him, but accepts the situation.

H. H. ANDERSON, the son of Rev. Dr. Anderson, of Boston, the late Secretary of the C. B. C. F. M., is a distinguished lawyer of New York City. In 1852 he was retained by Walter M. Gibson in his defense of the charge of violating the United States neutrality laws, in loading the schooner "Flirt" with guns for the Venzuelean revolutionists. He was allowed to escape. Mr. Anderson was never paid for his services.

A Wonderful Discovery.

ANGIER'S PETROLEUM EMULSION.

A preparation of purified petroleum combined with the hypophosphites. Cures consumption if taken in time.—Not unpleasant to take.—Testimonial of Mr. Walton.

Ancient Use of Petroleum.

As a remedial agent petroleum was known to the ancients by whom it was considered a sovereign remedy.

Literature on the Subject.

It is only within recent years that the properties of petroleum have been discussed through the medical journals. Articles have appeared and given, in very positive language, the most gratifying results from its use, both as medicine and as a reconstructive. Great value is attributed to petroleum in the treatment of consumption, bronchitis, la grippe, catarrh, asthma, diseases of the digestive apparatus and of the kidneys, as well as in wasting diseases It appears to have especial value in all pulmonary complaints.

Former Drawbacks to Its Use.

The reason why petroleum has not been more general in use is due to the fact that, in its unpurified state, it has nauseating and irritating properties. After exhaustive experiments Angier's Petroleum Emulsion was secured. It is deprived of all objectionable features while retaining the valuable medicinal qualities, and is acceptable to both palate and stomach.

Petroleum Emulsion vs. Cod Liver Oil.

All who have ever tried Cod Liver Oil know what a nauseating dose it is. It is impossible to disguise the disagreeable taste and odor of the Oil. The palate and stomach revolt against it.

Every Mother Loves

To see her children strong and healthy. If the little ones are troubled with coughs, croup, or are thin and puny, or have any wasting disease, they can be brought back to health by Angier's Emulsion. Children will take it readily who resist taking Cod Liver Oil.

It Saved My Life.

"Six months ago, I was told by three physicians that I had quick consumption. I was coughing badly, had hemorrhages and profuse night sweats. I was rapidly wasting away. I tried Cod Liver Oil, but could not retain it. Angier's Petroleum Emulsion was then prescribed. It agreed with me perfectly. I then weighed 102 pounds. Now after taking it 6 months I weigh 161 pounds. I consider myself cured and attribute it all to Angier's Petroleum Emulsion.

B. H. WALTON,
Bedford, Mass."

Tell Your Sick Friends.

It is worth your while to give Angier's Petroleum Emulsion a trial. Have you any friends with colds or consumption? Tell them about it.

Timely Topics

October 26, 1894.

If the United States government should place no obstacles in the way of the cable scheme from Vancouver to the Colonies via Honolulu, Hawaii nei will, within the next two years take on a new lease of life. Instead of a couple of third-rate steamers on the Canadian line, there will be five of the first-class. Emigrants will learn more about our country and the lands will be settled by the small farmer. Houchins' Water Filters at a dollar apiece will be in demand by thousands instead of hundreds as it is today. The islands will be joined by a local cable line and the country in general will be in the swim instead of the soup. The advent of a cable will bring to our shores men with progressive ideas, men who by their acts will better themselves, at the same time improve the condition of the country. Hawaii is all right; it has the finest climate in the world and the people would wax rich on it if climate was a commercial commodity—the trouble is with the people. Compared with the United States, we are living in the era, of pantalettes instead of bloomers. We want new blood, something that will make us shake off the lethargy that the people have lived in since the time of whaleships. Give us a cable and we will have new blood. The newspapers, instead of publishing boiler plate will give the news of the world for breakfast. You will learn, probably, that the metallic refrigerator we are selling is the greatest ice saver of the age and that it is economy, money in your purse to buy one. We put thirty pounds of ice in one of the boxes on Friday evening and it was not all melted until Monday afternoon, keeping the lower portion of the box at a temprature of 58° all the time. If you can get a wooden refrigerator or ice box that will do better than that you ought to buy one. We've never seen them.

Incidentally we have mentioned Houchins' Tap Water Filter; now we will tell you what it is. An arrangement that fits on to the faucet and filters the muddy water as clear as crystal. Talk about microbes; they're not to be found in filtered water, and where can you find anything to equal the Houchin filter for a dollar. We have them for the regular ¾ hose pipe, the size generally used here and we expect a big demand for them.

The very unique Electric table bells so much used in the United States have a place with us. You can have one for two and a half.

Writes About His Affair With the League.

Did Not Suppose It Would be Published—This is a Stable Form of Satisfactory Government.

MR. EDITOR: I was not a little surprised to see in your paper of the 1st inst., an account of what occurred at the meeting of the American League, held on the 31st ult. concerning myself. While the article was as considerate in its tone as I could have expected, and indeed from a personal standpoint was gratifying to me, I had supposed that business transacted at the meetings of the League was private and could not be disclosed without special permission from the League. If my supposition is erroneous it is obvious that any member is at liberty to publish the fact of the blackballing of any applicant for membership, the statements of members in meetings which concern others not connected with the League and the various matters that occur in the meetings from which all excepting members are excluded. It seems to me that this very fact, that outsiders are excluded, indicates that everything transacted at the meeting should be inviolable. However this may be, it would never have occurred to me to speak of anything that took place at a meeting of the League.

The matter having become public, I should be permitted to say that unless my anti-annexationist sentiments conflict with paragraph 3 of the preamble to the constitution of the League, the action taken against me is illegal and unjust.

Paragraph 3 reads as follows: "As the Provisional Government was established to secure annexation to the United States we pledge ourselves to support said Government against any and all uprisings pending such negotiations as may be necessary to secure annexation or a satisfactory form of stable government."

This is the article under which the proceedings were instituted. It is not claimed that I have failed in any respect to support the Provisional Government "against any and all uprisings" during its existence. My so-called offense seems to consist in the fact I am not still supporting the Provisional Government (a government which has been constitutionally abolished) "against any and all uprisings pending negotiations necessary to secure annexation or a satisfactory form of stable government." This contention shows conclusively that the judgment of men cannot be relied upon when their passions are aroused. The argument is that this is not a "satisfactory form of stable government." It is hardly possible to credit it but such is the case. In other words, that the paragraph should have read "pending such negotiations as may be necessary to secure annexation or annexation itself," as annexation is evidently the only form of stable government to which the preamble refers. I cannot refute the statement that this Republic is not a satisfactory form of stable government so far as the American League is concerned. To me the form is entirely satisfactory. If in its details it needs modifications, I have no doubt that time will bring about the desired changes.

Supposing it to be unsatisfactory, is it not our own creation, the child which we have begotten, fondled and nursed until it appears to be getting healthy and strong? Admitting, for the sake of argument, that the child be illegitimate (which I deny), we should not stultify ourselves by proclaiming that fact to the world. Whether the government is "stable" or not is a mere matter of opinion. God alone knows how long the strongest nation will continue to exist. America was born under British rule. The last few years have witnessed many changes in the forms of government throughout the world. I had supposed that when a government had been recognized by the great powers of the earth it might be considered to be "stable" for all practical purposes. However this may be, the fact remains the same, that it was for my opinion that this is a "stable government" that I was condemned. One might suppose that it would be just the reverse: rather that those who hold the opinion that this is not a stable form of government should be condemned.

PROTECTIVE LEGISLATION.

A Correspondent Wants War Declared on Saki and Cigarettes.

MR. EDITOR: Whoever is interested in the welfare and progress of this community must be pained at the evident growth of drunkenness. So long as liquor selling is recognized as a legitimate business, and not put upon the same footing as the lottery or other forms of gambling, so long must the evils of the saloon and the barroom grow more and more rampant. Men go into the business for the money there is to be got out of it. To make money, they must push their business as others do who have wares to sell. But there are other considerations to be regarded besides individual pecuniary profit. The community, as such, may be benefited or injured by the method of conducting business. A man cannot open a slaughter house, or keep a piggery, or build a firetrap in the business portion of this city. For most of the departments of business a license is required, for which a tax must be paid, or the business cannot be carried on. Special restrictions are imposed upon the liquor traffic. Saloons are closed by order of the marshal on public days.

There is one additional restriction that seems to be demanded by the necessities of the situation. The recent and increasing sales of saki, the cheap, Japanese intoxicant (a bottle costing only twenty-five cents), are doing incalculable harm. Especially is this true among the Hawaiians. This saki mounts quickly to the brain, and deranges its operations. Under its influence, quarrelsome passions are excited, recklessness in spending money is fostered, the public quiet is disturbed by drunken outcries, and the sense of decency shocked by the maudlin behavior witnessed in the public streets. Cannot this community protect itself against such open, flagrant and increasing evils by some suitable legislation?

Another growing evil is the habit of cigarette-smoking among young boys. The harm done is notorious in the case of adults. We have not to go out of this community to learn of many instances of the injury done by cigarettes. When one knows that the popular brands are loaded with opium, and, before the victims are aware of it, a habit is fastened upon them which they cannot throw off, is passive endurance, all that is possible? Is it legitimate business which seeks to increase its gains by making the weaknesses of our humanity its chief allies in working out degradation and ruin? Are not the ignorant masses, and our uninstructed children, deserving of some protection against the wiles of those who care not what harm may come to others if only they can count up additional gains from sales pushed by any methods? Ought not all cigarettes that contain opium to be summarily confiscated as summarily as diseased meat or spoiled fish? H.

LODGE TO BE FORMED.

Time Ripe for Organization of Local Theosophists.

In her lecture last evening, Mrs. Third's claimed great antiquity for Theosophy. She proved that there was an active movement in the Third Century to spread its teachings. Again, in the Seventeenth Century scholars took it up in London. In the last century, in France, Mesmer was, on account of politics and personalities, forced to abandon efforts to teach and investigate.

The present movement has been under way only nineteen years. There are four hundred societies. Ninety-five of these are in the United States. The constitution provides that organizations shall not interfere with caste, politics, social observances or religious beliefs of members. A member is required simply to give adhesion to the purpose to form a universal brotherhood of man. Theosophists are searchers after truth, contending that there is no higher religion. They declare that Theosophy is the "wisdom religion," from which all beliefs have originated. The leaders say there are golden nuggets of fact in all religions and philosophies, and that all should be tolerated.

Upon materialism only does Theosophy make war. The teachers desire to bring from the far East knowledge which appeals to the higher man, to the reasoning and discriminating faculties. Therefore, the study of Ayran and other Eastern literature is pursued and insisted upon.

Mrs. Thirds and her immediate followers believe that the time is now ripe for the formation of a branch in Honolulu. A lodge for research and reading will be instituted at once. Mrs. Thirds will be at Foster hall from 2 to 5 this afternoon to answer inquiries and receive applications for charter membership. A library that will be complete is to be maintained.

They Need Furniture.

"Two pastors on Molokai" says Rev. O. P. Emerson in the Friend, "are greatly in need of a supply of crockery. One of them is about to entertain the brethern of the Mani and Molokai presbytery at their meeting; the writer thinks he has need of plates and tea cups, spoons, knives and forks. Two years ago he had not enough dishes to set a table for two after the most primitive fashion. We caught the other brother once making his tea and coffee in the came pot, and that was the kettle. We then bought a separate tea and coffee pot for him. These brethern have eked out a living only as they have raised their own taro, caught their own fish, and had their clothes given them. They are not loaded down with spare cash. For their sakes as well as for others in like need we would be glad of a larger furniture fund for pastors."

China's Crippled State.

The writer who shields his personality behind the pseudonym of "Nauticus" is a recognized authority on naval matters, and his views on the present condition of the Chinese fleet, as reported in a special Commercial Cable dispatch from Brussels, will be read with interest.

In the battle of the Yalu all China's best warships were either destroyed or else so much damaged as to be obliged to go into dock for repairs. At the present moment, as "Nauticus" points out, China's effective sea force amounts to one vessel of the third class, which perhaps has not yet received her armament.

Japan is therefore completely mistress of the sea, and if she turns this overwhelming advantage to as good an account as hitherto the result of the war will not be long in doubt.—New York Herald.

AMID ARCTIC PERILS

EARLY SEARCHERS FOR THE LONG ELUSIVE NORTHWEST PASSAGE.

Ross, Peary and Sir John Franklin, Who Perished In the Ice—The Expeditions That Went to Find Him—Fame, Not Commerce, Now Explorers' Motive.

Never before in the history of the world, to judge from the number of expeditions in the field and the amount of money invested in their outfitting, has there been such general and genuine interest in arctic exploration as at the present time. And yet the moving impulse behind the polar search parties headed by Wellman, Peary, Nansen, Jackson and all the rest is solely the desire to find out some new geographical fact. Of course coupled with this is the perfectly natural and laudable hope of fame and gain from lectures and publication, but there is no great commercial motive at all, whereas the early voyagers within the northern circle of frost all went seeking for that elusive northwest water passage across North America, through which ships, once it were discovered, would be able, it was thought, to sail from European to Asiatic coasts, to the great saving of time and money.

Luke Fox and Thomas James were among the first searchers for the passage. They accomplished nothing, of course, and little was done for nearly or quite 200 years after their failure. In 1746 there were feeble efforts at exploration of the territory adjacent to Hudson bay, and in 1753 a schooner of about 60 tons was fitted out in Philadelphia, principally through the efforts of Benjamin Franklin, for the purpose of finding what others had failed to locate. The expedition accomplished nothing.

Twenty-five years later, in 1776, James Cook, the famous Captain Cook, made a northern venture, his ships being the Resolution and the Discovery. The latter vessel was commanded by Captain Charles Clarke. They approached the arctic problem via Bering strait, but as they entered the polar sea late in the season soon retraced their course for fear of being frozen in. It was but a few months later that Cook was murdered at the Sandwich Islands. For about 40 years after Cook's attempt little or nothing more was done in the way of northern exploration. Then, in 1818, the secretary of the British admiralty, Mr. (afterward Sir) John Barrow, succeeded in persuading the British government to fit out an expedition of two ships. They were the Isabella, commanded by Captain John Ross, and the Alexander, commanded by Lieutenant W. E. Parry. The party numbered 94 men all told, and high hopes were entertained for its success. After an absence of but seven months the two ships returned, having accomplished rather less than nothing in the way of exploration, though Captain Ross had been diligent and faithful in the taking of astronomical and other observations.

The next year Lieutenant Parry went north with two ships, the Hecla and the Griper, and exactly the same number of men that had been in the Ross party. They were away 1½ years and got to Melville island, the farthest western point that had been reached. This entitled the officers and crew to prize money amounting to about $5,000. The winter passed in the ice by Parry's party was long and tedious, but was neatly relieved by the ingenuity of the officers, who got up a weekly manuscript periodical which they named The North Georgia Gazette, or Winter Chronicle, and was republished in print upon the return of the expedition to civilization.

SIR JOHN FRANKLIN.

Parry was in nowise convinced by the fact that he failed to find it of the nonexistence of a northwestern passage, and at his own earnest solicitation was sent again to look for it the next year. He was absent two winters on this voyage, made many valuable geographical discoveries and was more firmly than ever convinced of the existence of the passage. He admitted, however, that it might not be practicable to sail through it, even if it were discovered, because of the ice. In 1824 Parry undertook his third voyage, with instructions to look for the passage through Barrow strait and Prince Regent's inlet into the western seas. His first season north this time was more unfavorable than any he had yet encountered, and the next was even worse. In 1826 he returned to England, carrying with him many new charts of the frozen regions visited and much novel information, but without having found the passage.

During Parry's absence on his third voyage Captain (afterward Sir) John Franklin had made an overland journey from the west to Point Turnagain, and Captain George F. Lyon, who had been with Parry on his second voyage, was sent with the Griper to meet Franklin, the route lying through Hudson bay. This venture was a complete failure. The passage was not found, and, worse yet, little or no exploration was accomplished either. This was largely because Lyon's party got so near the magnetic pole that their compasses were rendered useless. Beechey's voyage of three years, begun in 1825, added little to the knowledge already possessed of the Arctic. In fact, Beechey, who went north via the Pacific, devoted far more time to the islands of that vast ocean than to northern exploration.

In 1827 Sir John Ross, who was greatly interested in the inscrutable problem, induced Mr. Felix Booth, one of the sheriffs of London, to contribute to the outfitting of an expedition which should be sent north without government aid or supervision. This expedition sailed in a steamer of 85 tons, the Victory, on May 23, 1829, and its members did not return to England again until 1833, having abandoned their steamer in 1832 after suffering severe hardships. They were picked up near the western shore of Baffin's bay by a whaleship. No progress so far as to the discovery of the northwest passage was made, but the true position of the magnetic pole was found, and that was of great scientific importance.

In 1845 the Sir John Franklin expedition, 129 strong, and with two ships, the Terror and the Erebus, was sent north. Sir John was then in his seventieth year, but he did not shrink in the slightest from his mission. He had two excellent officers under him, Commander James Fitzjames, in charge of the Erebus, and Captain F. R. M. Crozier, in charge of the Terror, while the outfitting and provisioning of the expedition was for an absence of three years, and in every way greatly superior to the outfitting and provisioning of any previous northern party. Notwithstanding all this, no member of Sir John Franklin's party was ever seen alive after their departure. In 1847 the anxiety felt by the entire civilized world for their safety became so great that it was decided to send relief expeditions after them, and in 1848 three such search parties started out. Sir James Clarke Ross had charge of one of these, Sir John Richardson of another and Captain Henry Skellett of the third.

TOWING THROUGH THE ICE, 1600.
[From Gerrit de Veer's "Vraye Description."]

None of them, nor of any of two or three overland parties, succeeded in finding any traces of the missing Sir John or his men.

In 1850 ten vessels in seven expeditions went in further search, but there is not space at command to speak in detail of the men who commanded them, the ships they sailed or the hardships they suffered. The latter were many and trying, and more than one of the vessels and many human lives were lost. One of the parties, headed by Captain Robert L. McClure, who went from the Pacific, pushed far enough east to connect his discoveries with those of Parry made 30 years before. Thus the passage was found at last, but it was an empty discovery, after all, for it is closed so much of the time every year (and often all the year round) by ice as to be unavailable commercially. In fact, McClure himself had to abandon his ship, the Investigator, and escape with his men as best he could.

Some of these expeditions found traces of Franklin, and several of them made important additions to the maps of the arctic regions, but it was not till 1859 that the fate of the brave old English man and his men was fully determined. The expedition that succeeded in performing this service was headed by Captain F. L. McClintoch, who sailed on the steam yacht Fox. The expense of this expedition was borne partly by the British government and partly by Lady Franklin. Several boats and the skeletons of a number of the men were discovered, and Eskimos who saw them when alive were talked with. According to the testimony of the latter, the poor fellows fell in their tracks as they were walking over the snow and ice and died. A complete written history of their adventures and hardships to April 26, 1848, was also found. Franklin himself died June 11, 1847, but when the history was written there were still 105 survivors.

No mention has been made here of the heroic and valuable arctic work done by Grinnell and Kane, Americans, and scores of Englishmen during the years that were devoted to the search for Franklin, nor is there space for more than this brief allusion. Since then Dr. Hayes, De Long, Greely and later northern voyagers have penetrated farther north than any of the earlier explorers, and now, as all readers of newspapers know, several expeditions are at the north. They are all striving for the pole as their predecessors strove for the passage, and some of them may win out this year. Who knows?

Their vessels are far better equipped than were the early ones. All are furnished with steam power, and their supplies are greatly superior. Some idea of the ships that went north in the seventeenth century may be obtained from the accompanying cut from an ancient publication. CHARLES APPLEBEE

IMPORTERS,

Hardware and General Merchandise

For some time we have been trying to get hold of a GOOD LAWN MOWER, one that would do all the work of high priced machines, and yet sell for about ONE HALF THE MONEY. We have succeeded in finding just such a LAWN MOWER and do not hesitate to recommend them to you. If you want a Lawn Mower these will please you in every respect and cost you as we say about one-half the usual price.

Besides our regular line of 3 and 4 ply HOSE we have the WATERBURY SPHINCTER GRIP GALVANIZED SPRING STEEL ARMORED HOSE, which is the best of the kind in this market. Those who have used the common iron-bound hose will appreciate the WATERBURY STEEL ARMORED HOSE; it last longer and is in every way better.

The CACTUS LAWN SPRINKLER was evidently made to never wear out; it is simple and inexpensive, while it does the work of any other Lawn Sprinkler, though it has no revolving parts.

Remember, we sell PEARL OIL at $1.90 per case, c. o. d., delivered to any part of the city.

It's easy, cheap, time-saving,— business-like, to use a "Caligraph" typewriter.

Who will think you are wideawake and progressive if you stick to the way your grandfather wrote? Steel pens instead of quill pens; you're ahead there. Take another step. Use a Caligraph.

You can do more work on a Caligraph than with a pen.

It's more comfortable to use a Caligraph than a pen.

The Caligraph

is better than any other typewriter, because it is simpler, lasts longer and does cleaner work than any other.

It's easier to learn than any other, too.

A Rhyme for the Times!

And why have annexation,
Why not have something new,
With it we'll get vexation,
And taxes extra too!

Let us a grand example be,
A Republic true and great;
Let nations in Hawaii see,
No party strife or hate!

Let freedom be our battle cry,
Freedom in word and thought,
And in Providence the world defy,
The devil set at naught!

May statesmen of the future say,
And point to his fair lay:
"In honor their foundation land,
On truth they firmly stand!"

"They rested well on WOVEN WIRE,
For be it of them said:
If freedom was their hearts desire,
All slept on BAILEY'S BED!"

Per stmr Iwalani—1400 bags sugar.

WHARF AND WAVE.

DIAMOND HEAD, Nov. 2, 10 P.M.—Weather, clear; wind, light north.

The Australia will be in this morning.

The Miowera will take away the usual large shipment of bananas.

The W. G. Hall carried away 120 Japanese yesterday for plantation work.

The Iwalani arrived from Kauai yesterday with 1400 bags of Kekaha sugar. She unloaded into the Robert Lewers.

Teams were kept busy yesterday moving freight from the Mail wharf. Deputy Surveyor Gilfillan declares that Japanese expressmen take the cake for slow work.

The schooner Eva, Captain Klitgard, arrived yesterday, twenty-three days from Eureka, with a full cargo of lumber for Lewers & Cooke. She is docked at the Oceanic wharf.

The schooner Alice Cooke has finished discharging and, after being cleaned, will leave for the Sound in ballast for a cargo of lumber. She will sail about the middle of next week.

There are 197 bales of wool, weighing 113,344 pounds, on the Mail wharf awaiting shipment. The wool is consigned to Brewer & Co., Boston, and will be via Canadian Pacific Railway. Gay and Robinson are the shippers.

On Thursday last three prisoners who were employed on the Mail wharf brushing up refuse, managed to brush up against a broken case of saki, and as a result they became gloriously drunk. As a punishment they have been removed from the sacred precincts of the water front and are now engaged in breaking rock.

According to official statements there were added to the French register in the first six months of the present year 17 steamers, of 9,646 tons gross, and 439 sailing-ships, measuring 5,465 tons, which were built in France, and 24 steamers, of 21,999 tons gross, and 38 sailing-ships, measuring 9,228 tons, built in foreign yards.

The loss of a blade or so of the propeller of a big ocean steamer nowadays does not apparantly give the vessel a great deal of inconvenience. At any rate it is only incidentally mentioned on arrival in port, or perhaps it is not spoken of at all. There was a time not so very long ago, when an occurrence of this kind would have had particular mention and considerable space would have been given to the subject by the daily press. The loss of propeller blades is not now so frequent as it used to be. And in the event of its happening it means little more than a slightly delayed passage. The triumph of modern ship-building over many of the terrors of old ocean is marked and it is to be hoped it may continually progress.—Ex.

THEY DIDN'T DO A THING.

The Sailors on the Nanshan Tell Their Story.

Interpreter Doyle Runs Up Against a Cold Wave—He Objects to Being Tried for Contempt of Court.

The most interesting incident connected with yesterday's session of the naval court of inquiry, on board of the Japanese steamer Nanshan, was the retirement of C. A. Doyle as interpreter. Doyle arrived on board yesterday morning about fifteen minutes late and found the members of the board in a very displeased frame of mind. He offered an excuse of some kind, which was received in a very chilling manner; in fact the officers of the court looked as cold and as blank as a banker does when a man wants to make a touch for a hundred on a worthless note. Mr. Doyle felt the cold atmosphere and commenced to button his coat about him, but the next moment he was thrown in a fever heat by hearing a request for the saloon to be cleared of all outsiders but himself. He realized that he would have to answer for contempt of court and visions of "boiling oil" or some other Japanese punishment floated before his eyes. He was not punished, however, and quit his job, remarking "you can get some other Irishman to interpret for you."

Another interpreter was secured and the trial was resumed. Several of the defendants were examined and the manner in which they "spieled" out their stories even forced a smile of incredulity on the face of their own attorney.

According to their side, they are very much injured men—as sailors always claim to be when hauled up for disobeying the laws of the high seas.

One defendant was so innocent that he was not aware of any trouble until he was told of it by his shipmates; another knew something about a fight, but he placed the guilt on some one else, and so it ran. Yasuda, the original cause of the trouble, did not do a thing, and he denied that the captain was assaulted in the forecastle. He explained how the ship ran out of her course, and claimed it was an error on his part.

The hearing will probably be concluded today.

NOVEMBER TERM.

Long Criminal and Civil Lists and Nineteen Divorce Cases.

Circuit Court for the November term for this island will open at 9 next Monday morning. Hawaiian jurors will attend at 10 a.m., and the foreign panel when notified. Judge Henry E. Cooper will preside. Attorney General Smith will for the first time in Honolulu have the assistance of his new deputy, A. G. M. Robertson.

For the Hawaiian jury there are seventeen criminal cases.

In thirty-six criminal cases foreigners are defendants. At the head of the list is the name of Arthur White for shooting Woods, the black boy accused of selling a baseball game. C. A. Fogarty must answer to the charge of embezzlement. The appeals of Police Captain Klemme and Lieutenant Cordes will also be heard.

There are only seven civil cases for the Hawaiian jury. In one of these Kapiolani is defendant. The foreign jury civil cases number forty-three. In thirty-three civil cases jury is waived.

On the last page of the calendar are nineteen divorce cases, as follows:

Kuhinu (w) v. Kalepe.
Anna Luddecke v. W. Luddecke.
William C. Achi v. Isabella A. Achi.
Phoebe Makee v. Chas. B. Makee.
Marie Gloria Nunes v. John Sorderberg.
Lilikalani Fern v. Lipine Fern (k).
Alice M. Featherstone v. Arthur E. Featherstone.
Kilikina (w) v. Hake.
Kate M. Thomas v. Edward B. Thomas.
C. Akima v. Hannah Alo.
S. Maluna v. Mary Kini.
Elese Quinn v. Thomas G. Quinn.
Kinolau v. Mileka Kauha (w).
James Anipo v. Kahalaopuna.
August Bock v. Balbini Bock.
Hiram Amara v. Lena S. Amara.
Helen P. Kakoi v. Thos. K. Nathaniel.
Emma Pedersen v. Ole Pedersen.
Esther K. Mahaulu v. A. S. Mahaulu.

The Pacific cable upon which English contractors are now estimating, at the invitation of the Canadian Government, is to connect Vancouver with the British possessions in Australia. The cost of the cable, it is thought, will not be over $10,000,000.
