IMMIGRATION TO THE ISLANDS

Interesting Paper of Prof. Alexander Before Social Science Club.

EXPERIMENTS OF FORMER YEARS.

Various Nationalities Introduced as Agricultural Laborers — Colonies Brought in by W. M. Gibson—Effects of American Reciprocity Treaty, Etc.

The subjoined interesting treatise on Immigration was read by Prof. W. D. Alexander before the last meeting of the Social Science Club:

Preliminary Reflections.

During the legislative session of 1878 the project of introducing East Indian coolies into these islands was warmly discussed. The member from Hamakua advocated the mixing of Asiatic races with the Hawaiians to improve the stock. "Look at my native island, Great Britain," said he, "The original Britons mingled with the Saxons and the Danes and the Normans and the result was the world-conquering English race." At this point Pilipo of North Kona asked and was granted leave to put a question. He said, "Will the member from Hamakua please to inform us whether the Britons appropriated money to import the Saxons and the Danes and the Normans? A general laugh ensued and the reply is not recorded. If Pilipo were now living he would see his patriotic forebodings fully justified.

To a growing state, in the formative period of its existence, immigration is a matter of vital importance. To old and overpopulated countries, emigration to relieve the pressure of a congested labor market, may become an imperative necessity. A compact and homogeneous nation, stationary in numbers, like France, may afford to be indifferent to the subject. But to the growing communities of America, Australia and Hawaii, the character as well as the amount of their immigration are matters of supreme importance.

Even the Great Republic with her unequalled power of assimilating foreign elements has been compelled to close her Western gate against the Chinese, and is striving too late to regulate the human tide that is pouring through her Eastern gate. It is not merely the large proportion of paupers and criminals in this recent immigration that is alarming, but also the fact that it is imbued with a set of ideas that are diametrically opposed to the fundamental principles of Anglo-Saxon liberty. Every steamer dumping its motley herd of immigrants at New York, swells the ranks of socialistic anarchy. If such a nation with half a continent at its disposal, cannot stand indiscriminate immigration, much less can this "pinhead" Republic at the Cross-Roads of the Pacific.

Fortunate indeed was the United States in the character of the early immigration, which so firmly laid the foundations of the Republic. The Puritan and the Scotch-Irish settlers were not land speculators or gold hunters or, in the main, operatives from the towns, but hardy, self-reliant, God-fearing farmers. They did not hang around the seaports, demanding employment of the State, but pushed into the heart of the forest with the axe and the rifle, to hew out homes for themselves and their children. Nor were they spoiled by too rapid material prosperity. On the contrary, they were hardened by persecution, by cold and famine, and by the cruel wars, which compelled them to "unite or perish." It is by centuries of such stern discipline, and by the necessity of making sacrifices for principle, that a great people is formed.

Australia, if in some respects a model, is in others a warning for other young countries. Her recent troubles seem to be owing not only to a vicious land system but also to the fact that a majority of her emigrants have been townspeople and artisans, imbued with strong caste prejudices and socialistic theories. Those who have studied the subject, say that the English middle class, the farmers with small capital, have preferred to emigrate to the United States and Canada. Other causes have concurred to bring about the present unhealthy state of affairs in those colonies. How could there be stability in an ultra-democratic state, exempt from the burdens and responsibilities of national government, with nearly four-fifths of the adult population dependent on wages, with one-half of the private lands held by less than one-sixteen-hundredth of the people, and a majority of the total population crowded into the great cities; with the governments the chief employer and the laborer the ward of the nation, and with the resulting lack of self-reliance visible everywhere? Nowhere, it is said, are class lines more strongly drawn. These remarks apply specially to New South Wales, and not to New Zealand, where more healthy conditions prevail. I beg pardon for the digression.

It is a truism as old as the Greek poet Alcæus, that it is not land, nor climate, nor wealth that constitute a state, but men "who know their rights," but "know their duties," too.

It is one thing to "exploit" a country, to extract from it its latent wealth, and another to build up in it a civilized state. Holland and Venice are well known examples of these truths, especially the latter, which, amidst its sand-banks and lagoons, not only became the foremost commercial and naval power of Europe for centuries, but also produced great statesmen, philosophers and poets, immortal schools of art, and in short, contributed an honorable share to the progress of European civilization.

On the other hand, look at Singapore, an island formerly occupied chiefly by tigers, which under the wise policy of the British Government and with unrestricted immigration, has now become a city of 200,000 souls, and a great port of call for shipping. But who will pretend that this motley aggregation of human beings is capable of self-government or of forming an independent state? It cannot live and prosper except as a British Crown Colony of a despotic type.

These islands have not yet become a Singapore, but we have gone dangerously far in that direction. History shows that an intelligent middle class is an essential element of every country that aspires to self-government. Such a government can be perpetuated only by men who have been educated in it, so that they can comprehend its workings and appreciate its benefits.

A narrow plutocracy tends to corrupt both rulers and ruled and cannot permanently stand without foreign support. The home basis of support should be as broad as conditions will permit. The political importance of small holdings was ably set forth in a paper read before this association by President Dole in 1886, and none will deny that a class of intelligent farmers, who own their own homes and do their own work and their own thinking, is the best safeguard of freedom, and of the rights both of labor and of property. It should be the chief object of the government in promoting immigration to build and foster this element of the national life, the choicest as well as the most difficult of all to preserve.

Although the course of emigration is generally controlled by economic and natural laws, yet experience has shown that much can be done by private associations and by governments to mould the character and control the destiny of young states. Thus Kansas was rescued from slavery by organized, assisted immigration from the Free States.

As the late John L Stevens said, this is the meeting place of the East and the West, and it will soon be decided whether the Oriental or the Occidental types of civilization are to prevail. But it is only of late years that the serious nature of this "struggle for life" has been appreciated by our legislators. Many even now consider that the Asiatic, as the "fittest" man to "survive," will and ought to triumph.

Historical Sketch.

During the last forty years the chief object of every Hawaiian administration has been to supply the demand for cheap agricultural labor. At the same time there have not been wanting friends of the native Hawaiians who have advocated the introduction of people of "cognate races," who should become amalgamated with them, and infuse new life into their decaying stock. Various experiments have been tried with this end in view. Nor have patriotic statesmen been wanting who have opposed the importation of male laborers exclusively, and have advocated Government assistance for the introduction of families of suitable character to become permanent citizens of the state, but with only partial success.

The First Coolie Immigrants.

In the latter part of the year 1851, Captain Cass, of the bark Thetis, was employed by the Royal Hawaiian Agricultural Society to bring 180 Chinese coolies under special contract for their passage and advanced wages. These coolies were engaged for five years at $3 per month, in addition to their passage, food, clothing, housing and medical attendance.

The cost of importing them was $50 apiece, and an advance of $6 each was made to them in China, this last to be refunded out of their wages after their arrival. The next year Captain Cass brought about 100 more who gave satisfaction as laborers.

The Pitcairn Islanders.

Kamehameha III, desiring to encourage the immigration of a class of people likely to make good citizens, endeavored to obtain the consent of the British Government to the removal to these islands of all the inhabitants of Pitcairn's island, to be settled as tenants on the Crown lands.

This project, however, failed, because General Miller stated that his government would never allow them to transfer their allegiance and become Hawaiian subjects. It is to be regretted that this promising experiment was not tried.

The Board of Immigration.

It was not till December 30, 1864, that the "Bureau of Immigration" was constituted for the purpose of superintending the introduction of immigrants, and soon afterwards an ordinance was passed forbidding the introduction of any contract laborers into the kingdom without the express license of the Board of Immigration.

In April, 1865, Dr. Hillebrand was sent on a mission to China, India and the Malay archipelago, to collect information and to make arrangements for the importation of laborers. The following July he sent about 500 Chinese coolies on two vessels from Hongkong. The total cost of their passage averaged between $50 and $60 per head. Several other small companies arrived from various quarters during the next two years. But this class of immigrants was even then very much disliked, especially by tradesmen and mechanics, who soon found them dangerous competitors.

Cognate Races.

The idea of re-peopling this country with races "cognate" to the Hawaiians, found much favor, and attempts to carry it out were made in several directions.

LAND ACT BEFORE THE HOUSE.

Today a Bill to Incorporate Honolulu Electric Railway Company.

COUNCIL OF STATE MEMBERS.

Presidential Appointments for Confirmation Thursday—Thirty-one Sections of Land Legislation Acted on. Questions Asked Minister Hatch.

The Senate met at 1:30 Tuesday afternoon according to adjournment, with all members present. The report of the Secretary was adopted as read. The Secretary announced that a message would be presented from the President. As this was not forthcoming, the regular order of business was taken up. Under the report of committees Senator Rice stated that cards containing the names of the standing committees were ready for distribution. These were distributed among the members. Senator Brown introduced a resolution setting June 19th as the day on which the Senate should elect the members of the Council of State. Senator McCandless offered an amendment to the effect that the Senate should nominate rather than elect the members. His amendment was not accepted, and the resolution as presented was adopted.

HON. GEO. N. WILCOX, SENATOR FROM FOURTH DISTRICT.

Senator Wright asked that a janitor be appointed.

Minister Hatch suggested that the Foreign Office janitor could look after the room, and stated that the salary of a special janitor might be saved. The suggestion met with approval, and Mr. Hatch was requested to provide for the janitors. On motion of Senator Brown the rule to employ an interpreter and translator was dispensed with. Pending the arrival of the President's message a recess was declared.

At the close of the recess Major Potter presented the message of President Dole containing the appointments made by the Executive. These included members of the Cabinet, Judges of the Supreme and Circuit courts, and the diplomatic and Consular corps. On motion of Senator Waterhouse the consideration of the message was made the order of business for Thursday. Adjourned to 10 o'clock Wednesday.

House of Representatives.

TUESDAY, JUNE 18TH—FOURTH DAY.

The time of the House was consumed in discussing the Land Act, which, after the usual routine, was heard in committee of the whole.

Under suspension of the rules, the House proceeded to elect a Vice-Speaker.

Rep. Hanuna nominated G. P. Kamauoha; Rep. Bond named E. E. Richards, who declined. Kamauoha elected.

Rep. Kamauoha moved House proceed with consideration of Bill No. 1.

Under suspension of the rules, the bill was read second time by title and referred to select committee of five. The rules called for a committee of three, but owing to importance of the measure, it was thought desirable to add two additional members.

On motion the House went into committee of the whole.

The Speaker announced the following committees:

Education and Sanitary—E. C. Bond, A. Pali, E. E. Richards.

Revision, Enrollment and Printing—E. E. Richards, E. C. Bond.

The House went into committee of the whole to consider the Land bill. Rep. Kamauoha was called to the chair.

It was concluded to discuss the bill section by section.

The Attorney General was called on several times to define meaning of certain sections.

Only a few sections were considered when the House at 12:05 adjourned till 1:30 p. m.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Rep. Richards called attention to section 4 as conflicting with Article 12 of the Constitution respecting Eminent Domain, so far as taking private lands without compensation.

The Attorney General explained to the satisfaction of the House that deeds issued under the Act reserved the privilege of taking such lands as might be needed for roads, etc.

In considering Section 18 Rep. Richards asked the Attorney General to explain why procee ls of public lands should be set apart as a special fund for the payment of Government debts. Explanation made that bonds were issued on a basis of Government holdings. Current expenses should be paid out of current funds. Unless there was something valuable to secure indebtedness the Government credit would be lessened.

Rep. Rycroft thought exception should be made to enable the Government to purchase desirable properties which would prove particulaly remunerative.

The Minister of Finance was heartily in favor of such and classed them as re-investments. He favored referring the section to a committee. This was done.

When Part V was reached Rep. Rycroft declared his opposition to any and all kind of leases; everybody wanted to own their own land. Land is wanted for the many people, not the few. He favored maximum tenure of public land leases at 15 instead of 21 years as in the printed draft, making a motion to that effect, which failed to receive a second. Passed as in the draft, with date of renewals two years before expiration of lease, instead of one, as made by the Attorney-General.

At 3:05 p. m. Rep. Naone moved that the committe rise, report progress and ask leave to sit again.

The Chairman reported that Sections 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 20, 31, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, with amendments, had been considered and remanded for passage. Section 7 had been referred to a select committee; 18, 29, 31 referred to a committee.

Rep. Robertson moved that the report of the committee of the whole be amended by referring sections passed to Public Lands Committee. Carried, and amended report adopted.

The Attorney-General announced that Acts 2, 3, 4, relating to financial matters, were ready for consideration. He moved they be taken from the table and referred to Finance Committee.

Rep. Robertson moved a suspension of the rules in order to give notice of the introduction of a bill by motion to incorporate the Honolulu Electric Railway Company. This bill will be introduced Wednesday.

Rep. Robertson propounded the following questions to the Minister of Foreign Affairs:

First—Has the Government authorized the introduction of any Chinese laborers under Chapter 80 of the laws of 1892?

Second—If so, how many?

Third—How many Chinese are there now in the country on six months residence permits under said law?

At 3:40 p. m. the House adjourned till 10 a. m. Wednesday.

A CLAIM FOR DAMAGES.

It Will Be Submitted by the United States of Colombia.

WASHINGTON, May 31. — General Regn fo, the representative here of the republic of Colombia, expects to be authorized by his Government to present a claim against the United States for damages sustained by Colombia by reason of President Harrison's proclamation of tariff retaliation. Secretary Blaine effected reciprocity treaties with most of the South and Central American republics, but Colombia and a few other countries refused to make such treaties. They were warned that if they held off against reciprocity they would be retaliated against.

This failed to effect any arrangement. Thereupon, at the suggestion of Secretary of State John W. Foster, who had succeeded Mr. Blaine, President Harrison proclaimed discriminating tariff rates against the coffee, hides, sugar and molasses of Colombia. This practically ruined the trade of Colombia, as her coffee and hides could not be sent to this country against the competition of Brazil, Mexico and other countries, which enjoyed freedom from duties under the reciprocity treaties. These exports to the United States reached about 5,000,000 pesos, a peso being worth about 45 cents, but immediately after the proclamation they fell to almost nothing.

Colombia protested against the retaliation, claiming that the most favored nation clause of the treaty with the United States protected her against the discrimination. Secretary Foster and the Colombian Minister, Senor Hurtado, carried on a sharp and very personal correspondence, and the Minister finally left Washington with the statement that he would not return until a settlement was effected. No settlement was ever made, and the submission of Colombia's claim for losses and damages sustained will be the result.

Decoration Day.

NEW YORK, May 30.—Memorial Day is being celebrated on a grand scale in this city today. The feature of the parade was the first public appearance of the "American Guard," which consists of sixteen fully uniformed, drilled and equipped regiments of school boys, ranging in age from twelve to eighteen years. The work of drilling the youngsters has been carried on very quietly, and the appearance of such a vast army, fully equal in appearance and almost equal in efficiency to the regular State militia, created a great sensation.

To Bring Democrats Together.

NEW YORK, May 31.—In Democratic circles there is talk today of giving a dinner to William C. Whitney, ex-Secretary of the Navy, who returned this week from a protracted trip to the old world.

The dinner, it is suggested, will take the form of a conference, looking to harmonizing the factional differences that divide the Democratic party in this city. Ex Mayor Grant will be home from Europe in two weeks, E. Ellery Anderson, another Democrat, who is expected to take an active part in the reorganization of the party, is expected here from the West early next week.

IMMIGRATION TO THE ISLANDS.

In June, 1868, an act was passed, authorizing the Board of Immigaation to bring in Polynesians of both sexes, and to bind them out to service under contract. Accordingly, the following year, Captain English was sent in command of the Maunaloa on a cruise to the South, returning with 84 Manahikis from Reirson's Island and Humphrey's Island. The following September Captain English was sent again, in command of the R. W. Wood, and brought back 42 Bukabukas, so-called, from Danger Island. These last people turned out to be very unsatisfactory, and most of them were sent home on the schooner Annie, Captain Babcock. The experiment of introducing Polynesians was then dropped for about ten years.

For many years Walter Murray Gibson advocated the introduction of Malaysian settlers, who, he said, would "infuse fresh blood from a kindred source into the decaying Hawaiian race." He pointed to the rapid growth of Singapore and of the Malay settlements on the coast of New Guinea as examples of what might be done. M. de Varigny, who was then (1869) Hawaiian envoy in Europe, corresponded on this subject with the Government of the Netherlands, which replied that it could not permit any such emigration as was proposed from its East India possessions. To Mr. Gibson's great disappointment, the scheme of sending him to the East Indies, as Commissioner of Immigration, was given up.

The next cognate race which was sought for was the Japanese. A long correspondence on this subject was carried on with Mr. Eugene Van Reed, Hawaiian Consul in Japan, and in January, 1868, he sent 148 Japanese laborers by the "Socioto." The people were under three years' contracts for wages at $4 per month besides food, lodging and medical attendance. They gave excellent satisfaction, but before long false reports of ill-treatment reached Japan, in consequence of which two commissioners were sent in 1870 to investigate their condition.

Although the commissioners admitted that they found no ground for complaint, they took back forty of their countrymen to Japan, binding each one to labor three years in order to reimburse their government for the expense of the return passage.

Gibson's Lanai Colony.

It was in the same year, 1870, that Mr. Gibson brought out from the United States a little colony of white immigrants to Lanai to cultivate his lands on shares. According to Mr. Gibson, the agreement was "that each person should take up at least twelve acres of land for a period of twelve months, the proprietor to supply them meanwhile with lodgings, working animals and tools. The crop was to be equally divided between landlord and tenant. Should the latter refuse to carry out his part of the contract, his deposit of $35 for passage money should be forfeited." Owing to the severe drought which prevailed during that year and other causes, the experiment proved to be a sad failure, and the unfortunate immigrants denounced the Shepherd of Lanai as a cruel imposter. At best, it was a visionary, unpractical scheme.

The Hawaiian Immigration Society.

The Hawaiian Immigration Society, composed of the chief business men of this country, was founded November 6, 1872, but little seems to have been accomplished by it. Its secretary, Walter Murray Gibson, in the first report properly stated the building up of a nation to be "the vital question, without which we cannot hope to maintain an independent organization," and he never ceased to recommend the Malay races as a class of settlers who would not much affect the identity of the Hawaiian race, and whose gradual influx would harmonize and strengthen the native stock.

The Riciprocity Treaty with the United States, which went into effect in September, 1876, created a pressing demand for labor. The relative merits of immigrants from China, Japan, the Malay Archipelago, Hindoostan, the Azores, Madeira and the islands of the South Pacific were discussed at length, with respect to their qualities as laborers or colonists, their adaptation to amalgamate with the native Hawaiians, etc.

Great efforts were made, especially by Mr. Godfrey Rhodes and a Mr. Horne from Mauritius, to induce the Government to make a convention with England in regard to the importation of Hindoo coolies from British India, and Hon. H. A. P. Carter, while in England, in 1877, made personal inquiries on this subject at the Foreign Office and the Immigration Bureau. His report on the onerous conditions required by the Indian government, and on the character of the Hindoo coolies, was very discouraging, and all efforts in that direction were dropped for the time.

Portuguese Immigration.

At the same time arrangements were made through Dr. Hillebrand, who was residing on the island of Madeira, for the immigration of Portuguese from that island and the Azores. The pioneer company of 180 Portuguese arrived here September 30, 1878, by the Priscilla, from Funchal, followed by the Ravenscrag, from Madeira, with 419 Portuguese, and the Highflyer, from the Azores, with 332 passengers. The business was conducted through Hoffnung & Co., of London, and the first three companies signed no contracts till after their arrival here. After that time, however, the signing of contracts before embarking was made a sine qua non by the Hawaiian Government. In 1882, Hon. H. A. P. Carter succeeded in negotiating an immigration convention with Portugal, and during the first six years about 7000 people were brought in from the Azores and Madeira. The Board of Immigration had wisely instructed its agent that "no townspeople were wanted nor women unwilling to work." In 1880, Mr. C. H. Dickey of Haiku wrote to the Bu eau of Immigration that there were in the State of Illinois a number of Portuguese with their families desirous of emigrating, and asked assistance in bringing them here. But the Board replied that there were no funds available for that purpose. From what we now know of those people, it is much to be regretted that the suggestion was not acted upon. In bringing in the Portuguese the Government "builded better than it knew," for though not "of a race cognate with the Hawaiian," they are the most valuable accession yet made to the population of this country. At the present time, the total number of Portuguese, including those born here, is not far from 13,000. Their industry and thrift need no praise from me, while the reports of the Chief Justice credit them with the lowest percentage of crime of any nationality in the islands. At the same time they have a laudable ambition to own and till lands of their own, and are entirely free from European anarchism. This, however, may not be the case with those from the mainland of Portugal.

Polynesian Immigration Again.

Persistent efforts have been made to introduce Polynesian laborers, but the results have been very unsatisfactory. In 1877 Captain Mist was sent to Fiji and New Zealand to inaugurate emigration from the islands of the South Pacific to this country. He purchased the brig Storm Bird and sent her on a cruise to Rotumah and the neighboring islands for laborers. Several trips were made by this vessel, under Captain Jackson and a Mr. Freeman.

The bark Hawaii also made several trips to Micronesia, while the Pomare was sent to the New Hebrides. The Hawaii was wrecked on Tarawa, January 28, 1881, and the Storm Bird on Bonham island the following August, while returning South Sea Islanders to their homes. During 1878 and the following six years nearly 2,000 Polynesians, mostly from the Gilbert Islands, with a sprinkling of black Melanesian cannibals, were introduced into this country. It was a costly experiment. Neither as laborers nor as citizens did they give satisfaction, and nearly all of them have since been returned to their homes.

WEDNESDAY, : JUNE 19, 1895.

POLITICAL activity in the Hawaiian Republican club has a proper ring. There is no begging the question with the members of this organization, and the public knows just where to find it when affairs of public moment are on the tapis. The club represents an element in political life that has stood firmly by the cause of the Republic and whose opinions cannot be turned aside without serious consideration.

A SPECIAL LABOR CENSUS.

One of the recommendations that will probably be placed before the Legislature will point out the necessity of a special census of the Islands giving particular attention to the labor interests. The proposition is a good one and is especially pertinent to the present occasion, when every item connected with the conditions of labor are of vital importance. The figures obtained by such a census will not only be valuable to the people of the country in dealing with local issues, but will prove effective material in the hands of members of the United States Congress who advocate the cause of annexation.

The statements that are made at the present time are of such a general nature that they are used with equal ease as the weapons of the friends or enemies of the country. A certain number of various nationalities are known to be employed in the several industries of the country, but for exact data we are sadly deficient. It is known that there is a general mixture of nationalities with a liberal sprinkling of Chinese and Japanese, but how many are working at trades, in taro or rice swamps, on plantations or the general mercantile business is largely a matter of conjecture.

The statement of Inspector Nacayama shows that 11,730 of the 20,113 Japanese that have come to the country remain without contract. What are these people doing? How many are employed as servants, how many are on the plantations or what proportion are engaged in business? Of these facts practically nothing is known and this is none the less true of the Japanese than of every other nationality. It is not only a matter of interest but of vital importance that the people of the country should know the exact conditions surrounding them. Nothing has ever been gained by beautiful generalities. Facts and figures obtained by a thorough going investigation that can be looked upon as a sound basis is what is needed and the sooner it is obtained the more intelligently can the racial and labor problems be dealt with. The expense would be nominal, a mere bagatelle when the benefit is taken into account.

FRANCE AND HER ALIENS.

France is struggling with a social problem that has engaged the attention of French legislators for twenty years past and appears about as far from an acceptable solution as it was the day it was first brought to the front. French citizens want to know the best way of dealing with their alien residents. Owing to the low birth rate the population remains about stationary, a decrease often being noted. Consequently the only increase comes through the influx of foreigners attracted by high wages and general advantageous conditions surrounding the common people.

What makes the problem more complicated is the disparity between emigration and immigration in other features than mere numbers. The number leaving the country is comparatively small and the commercial returns from the colonies established by the emigrants is correspondingly large. Many Frenchmen have gone to Argentine Republic within recent years and as a result the trade with that country has increased from nine millions to forty millions. In the words of a Tribune writer "Every French emigrant is a commercial agent of the Fatherland."

On the other hand aliens add little to the financial or political welfare of the country. Of the 319,000 foreigners in Paris 301,000 are dependent upon their immediate earnings and in all France there are about 1,100,000 European aliens living upon French industry. This showing does not meet the approval of the patriotic Frenchman who looks upon these alien residents much the same as Americans of the West regard the Chinese—leeches on the public finance.

This is the problem. All France is unanimous that something should be done, but counsels are divided on the method of procedure; a condition of affairs that is not unknown in our own country. Some favor liberal naturalization laws, while others want to impose conditions that will drive foreigners out of the country. As is so often the case, there is an utter failure to strike at the root of the evil—the low birth rate. There is no way of meeting this phase of the problem directly. Raising the standard of French morality appears to be a task far too arduous for the common people to undertake. The immediate measures taken to alleviate the difficulty will be watched with interest throughout the world.

"The rich grow richer and the poor grow poorer." Such is the general impression. Is it true? The rich have grown richer, the well-to-do have become rich, the poor have become well-to-do in some cases. The poor however are still with us. Many are found in extreme poverty. Do industrial conditions tend to extremes? Have the hoards of the rich been filled from the pockets of the poor, as is implied in the above quotation.

Riches and poverty are relative terms. Considered relatively, the very rich and the very poor, are farther apart than ever before. This may be true, and still the very poor may be at a higher point in conveniences and even the comforts of life, than was attainable in the past.

It must be remembered that better pecuniary conditions encourage artificial wants, and that under the stress of such wants, that what were once considered luxuries became necessaries. Gratification of artificial wants cannot easily be denied. So it comes to pass that the style of living is advanced.

The laborer out of employment finds that in prosperous times he has lived up to the limits of wages earned. Envy seizes the suffering employe. Can we rightly blame him? Sympathy will not relieve his distress. Charity is distasteful to him. Work, whereby he may secure food, clothing and shelter, is his desire. But work is not always at hand. What means can he use to secure support in times of forced idleness? One answer rises to every mind: While employed and earning wages he should have foresight enough to lay aside a part of his daily earnings.

If a home is not attractive there is something wrong. Anyone can make it attractive if they will only make an effort. It isn't altogether a question of beauty; it is largely a question of health. Leaving out all considerations of attractiveness and looking at the matter only on the side of comfort, a person's health should be the object of greatest care and thought. One of the first things in building or renting a house is the sanitary condition. See that the drainage is perfect in every respect. This one particular point you can't afford to overlook.

Those having homes or intending to build will do well to examine into the merits of our Porcelain Lined Soil Pipes and Fittings; they are coated on the inside with the same material as our celebrated baths, and prevent rust and the accumulation of dirt, in addition to adding great strength to the iron by being annealed by the process. The baths are one of the many things we have considered in our selection of stock and wish to make a thorough examination of these as well.

The Enameled Rolled Rim Bath Tubs are one of the many things that go to make a nursery complete, and for hospital use they cannot be duplicated.

We have the same thing suitable for families, being so arranged and partially sunk in the floor that they utilize all waste space. The Enameled Plain Kitchen Sink, Laundry Tubs and Standard Open Lavatory go to make your home complete, and the sanitary condition of your house is perfect.

MONTHLY W. C. T. U.

The regular monthly meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held in Central Union church parlors yesterday with a goodly number of ladies present.

Mrs. McCully-Higgins gave a most interesting talk on temperance work in the city of Charlestown, Mass. Methods of work were cleverly outlined.

Mrs. Lyman, president of the W. C. T. U. in Hilo, spoke of the union temperance meetings held in that city at intervals of a month. The great help of the Hawaiian ladies in furthering temperance work was referred to as a very large factor in its success. Mrs. Lyman said Hilo contained but one saloon, and an effort would soon be made to have that closed.

Mrs. W. Hopper and Mrs. O. H. Gulick reported on the flourishing condition of the Woman's Exchange, which was started some time ago. The Union voted that it be continued three months longer.

Miss Mary Green spoke encouragingly of her temperance work among the Hawaiians and of her boys constituting the Band of Hope.

SONS AMERICAN REVOLUTION.

Officers and Board of Management Elected—Historical Event.

The Hawaiian Society, Sons of the American Revolution, was organized at the office of the Hawaiian Investment Company on last Monday, the anniversary of the battle of Bunker Hill. The following gentlemen were elected to serve for the ensuing year: Hon. P. C. Jones, president; Chief Justice A. F. Judd, vice-president; John Effinger, secretary; Prof. W. D. Alexander, registrar, and W. J. Forbes, treasurer.

Rev. D. P. Birnie, J. Walter Jones and H. W. Severance were elected to serve with the officers named as a Board of Management. The meeting was enthusiastic and with the present and prospective applicants there will be about fifty members to comprise the Hawaiian Society. It is intended in the near future to give an historical entertainment by the society.

LABOR VERSUS LIQUOR.

"One of the most cheering indications of the working of the prohibitions leaven, is the fact that labor leaders are manifesting a disposition to break away from saloon influence. The custom which has largely prevailed in our cities of having labor union headquarters in saloons, and which temperance reformers have naturally deplored, has proved to be one of the seeming evils which brings forth good. For having experienced the damaging effects of such connection, the leaders are awakening to a realizing sense of the great stumbling block which the liquor traffic is, to every effort for the improvement of the condition of the wage worker. New York walking delegates, recently interviewed by The Voice, express themselves willing to discuss remedies for the drink evil with a readiness which has hitherto been conspiciously lacking among labor agitators. While few of them, probably, would favor prohibition, still it is a great step forward to recognize, as they do, that the liquor problem is one that the industrial reformer, like the civic reformer, the financial reformer and every other kind of reformer, must meet and deal with. In applying restrictive measures they will learn that to 'cripple' the evil is not enough, and will eventually come to see that total destruction is the only effective remedy. We believe that whenever the day comes—and it is coming—that the working man refuses to be politically led and financially bled by the rum power, it will throw light upon many a problem which now appears so difficult of solution."—Y. W. C. T. U.

A bad complexion means misery to many—it is sadly disfiguring in woman. It is one of nature's danger signals—means impure blood, poor circulation. Not incurable, but very troublesome and annoying. Are you a sufferer in mind and body from a bad complexion? If so, don't delay or neglect a cure, but commence at once taking

Brown's Iron Bitters—take it faithfully and you will have cause to be thankful. This celebrated remedy thoroughly cleanses the system and removes those impurities in the blood, of which the outward signs are pimples, blotches, boils, etc. Brown's Iron Bitters won't stain the teeth or cause constipation. But get the genuine.

See what you are purchasing. Don't let the druggist sell you a substitute for larger profit. Look for crossed red lines on wrapper.

TRIBUTE TO SECTY. GRESHAM.

Resolutions Passed by Natives Over Death of American Secretary.

Fitting Eulogy Expressed to One Who is Said to Have Espoused the Cause of Hawaiians—Sympathy.

Yesterday afternoon at a late hour, according to previous arrangements, a mass meeting of native Hawaiians was held on Union Square to offer resolutions of condolence to the widow of the late Walter Q. Gresham, Secretary of State of the United States.

Long before the hour appointed, natives began to collect on the corners in the vicinity of the Executive building, and at 5 o'clock a crowd of over 300 people had collected.

James Kaulia took a position in the center of the throng and read the following resolutions of condolence:

Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God to take away from this earth Walter Q. Gresham, Secretary of State of the United States, to the realms of the blessed as we firmly believe; and

Whereas, In his capacity of Secretary of State he was asked to investigate matters concerning Hawaii nei and the wrong done to our Queen and the nation by those in power in the United States; and

Whereas, After he had investigated with great forbearance, he decided that wrong was done to our Queen and our nation, and that it was fitting that the President of the United States should make amends for the wrongs which the servants of that great nation had done; and

Whereas, In all his doings looking toward our good he showed us the highest regard without fear; and

Whereas, It has not fallen upon him to bear the burden of keeping up these wrong-doings which we are now bearing, and

Whereas, It has fallen on the widow and the beloved children the burden of losing such a good husband and a loving parent, it would be a good thing for Hawaiian people to show their feeling of condolence for the great trial which has fallen upon them; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we show our heartfelt sympathy to the widow and orphans in the trouble which has befallen them; and we pray to God Almighty to enlighten their thoughts and feelings in the dark hours of sorrow.

Resolved, That these resolutions be prepared and sent to Mrs. Gresham and her children.

Joseph Nawahi, in a few well-chosen words, seconded the feeling expressed in the resolutions of condolence as read.

At the close the natives broke up into small groups and discussed the meeting.

W. R. CASTLE ENDORSED.

Hawaiian Republican Club Asks Senate to Confirm Nomination.

A most enthusiastic meeting of the Hawaiian Republican Club was held last night at American League headquarters, where over forty members assembled to discuss matters of great interest and importance to the society.

The main object of the meeting was the consideration of Hon. W. R. Castle's nomination as Hawaiian Minister to Washington and, in consequence, it received first attention.

Ringing speeches on the subject were made by President Naone, Kahookano, Frank Archer, J. U. Kawainui and Thomas E. Cook.

The meeting was enthusiastic and a unanimous vote was secured on the following resolution:

Whereas, We have heard that the President has nominated Hon. W. R. Castle to be Minister to Washington, and, in our opinion, such nomination is fitting and acceptable to the people of Hawaii; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Hawaiian Republican Club endorses said nomination of W. R. Castle to be Minister to Washington, and respectfully prays that the Senate unanimously confirm said nomination.

It is probable that a petition will soon be sent to the Legislature praying for the ratification of the President's act in nominating Hon. W. R. Castle Minister to Washington.

In the near future Hon. W. R. Castle and L. A. Thurston will be asked to address the Hawaiian Republican Club.

Representative Kamauoha, of Hawaii, was an interested listener at the meeting.

Choral Society Practice.

The last meeting of the Honolulu Choral Society for the year was held in Y. M. C. A. hall last night with an attendance of some thirty-five members. A number of songs were practiced. At the close Miss Grace Richards, leader of the society, addressed the members in a few well chosen words regarding the faithfulness with which they attended the meetings and the spirit displayed on those occasions. Aside from this, the last meeting marked the culmination of improvement which increased steadily from the first meeting of the year.

See garbage notice in this issue.

Death of Mrs. Cummings.

Mrs. W. H. Cummings, wife of Road Supervisor Cummings, died last night at 6:30 from la grippe and fever. She had been ill for three weeks. Deceased was 34 years of age, leaving eight children, ranging from 16 years to one and one-half; also three sisters and one brother. The sisters are Mrs. James Campbell, Mrs. Otto Isenberg and Mrs. D. Analuhi, the brother being John Dwight.

The funeral will take place from the family residence in Kalihi at 3 p. m. today, services being conducted by Rev. H. Parker one hour previous. H. H. Williams will conduct the funeral.

40 Pounds of Granulated Sugar For $1.00.

In the language of the poet, "Would ye moind thot now."

Did you ever hear of anything so cheap? Never did, and never will.

But what's that got to do with my business?

Simply this:—We want you to understand that when we sell you an article, there's just about as much in it for us, as when a grocer sells you sugar at his proverbial close price.

In spite of the fact that YOU MAY THINK we are high, we sell our goods at closer figues than any house we know of.

Did you ever stop to consider how much more our goods cost us landed here, then they do where produced; and with all that, do you think you could buy one of our solid copper chafing dishes cheaper than $6.50 (our price) even in New York, or one of our $4.50 tea kettles and stands for less than that, even on the third floor of the factory where built. THESE ARE NOT BAITS EITHER, but honest goods at honest prices, as is every article in the store, from the two-bit silver pin to the $200 article.

DON'T THINK that because some one offers you a few trinkets at less than cost, that he is selling everything else in the atore at the same rate. Don't your intelligence convince you that he is going to make that loss up on the very next article he sells you.

OUR STOCK IS ALWAYS RIGHT, AND OUR PRICES ARE A BLANK SIGHT RIGHTER.

Fort street.

All have handsome, tasteful, durable cases; but in their factory constant, careful, studious attention is given to the production of a perfect and lasting tone. Another load of Kealia sugar will be brought to port today by the James Makee.

Business is more than dull around the boat landing since the departure of the Philadelphia.

Captain Jacobson had the C. D. Bryant moved to the Kinau wharf yesterday to load sugar.

A number of lepers were shipped to Molokai last night on the steamer Kilauea Hou; a boat boy was among the lot.

The steamer W. G. Hall arrived from Hawaii today with 2747 bags of sugar. She will leave port again on Friday morning.

Captain Godfrey will look after things on the Inter-Island wharf during Captain Campbell's absence, which will be of three months duration.

The schooner King Cyrus left Tacoma on the 2d inst., bound for Port Pirie with a cargo of lumber. She will return to Honolulu with coal.

Captain Hubbard will receive enough sugar from the W. G. Hall to top off his cargo. The Castle will probably leave for San Francisco tomorrow.

All the freight brought by the Andrew Welch has been discharged. Captain Drew will have a chance to test his patience while waiting for a cargo of sugar.

The ship Helen Brewer left for New York yesterday with a cargo of sugar valued at $146,297. Fred Whitney took out a party of ship captains in the yacht Helene, to bid good bye to Captain Mahaney.

Very encouraging news has been received from the sealing schooners operating on the Japanese coast. Ten Victoria schooners reported up to May 15, had 6410 skins. Reports received from twenty-one American schooners placed their total catch at 7743.

The whale is destined to disappear from the north Pacific much more speedily than he was driven from the eastern approaches to the Arctic. When one small steamer takes sixty-two whales in a single season, and a still smaller one kills sixty-four, there is a striking illustration of what steam is doing for the extermination of the whale in the Pacific.—Ex.

Captain Griffiths is in port again much to the satisfaction of his many friends; the Albert arrived yesterday 17 days from Port Gamble, with 730,000 feet of lumber for Lewers & Cooke. She will commence discharging this morning. The vessel left here on April 26th for the Sound. She made the round trip in 53 days. This time could have been shortened had it not been for a three-week stay at Port Gamble waiting for a cargo.

Since the barks R. Tucker and Canton of New Bedford, Mass., arrived from Hudson bay last year with good catches of whalebone, that sold at from $1.75 to $2 a pound, interest in whaling in that latitude has greetly revived, and both vessels have been refitted and sailed again for the bay, with the intention of wintering there. Previous to last year whalers from Scottish ports only had been there for several years. The belief is almost a certainty that a northwest passage exists, and that whales that have been hunted in the vicinity of the nouth of the Makenzie river have become shy and have come through into Hudson bay and on the coast of Greenland. Irons have been found in the whales killed on one side that were struck in previous years on the other side.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Tea Under Sail.

Despite the promised increase of steamer service this year between China and Japan and Pacific Coast ports, the usual number of sailing ships is likely to be employed in the tea trade. The steam service between San Francisco and the tea markets has not been disturbed, says the San Francisco Bulletin. It consists of three steamers every month, the two lines employing six steamers. The Tacoma line has been increased from three to five steamers, so the arrivals will be semi-monthly instead of monthly. A monthly steam line is to be immediately inaugurated between Hongkong and Portland. The first steamer in that line is the Chittagong, and she was to have left Hongkong for Portland about the 15th of May. The Canadian Pacific Company's line will consist of a monthly service between Hongkong and Vancouver as heretofore.

Of Interest to Managers of Plantations.

A Model Plant is not complete without Electric Power, thus dispensing with small Engines.

Why not generate your power from one CENTRAL Station? One generator can furnish power to your Pumps, Centrifugals, Elevators, Plows, Railways and Hoists; also furnish light and power for a radius of from 15 to 20 miles.

Electric Power being used saves the labor of hauling coal in your field, also water, and does away with hihg priced engineers, and only have one engine to look after in your mill.

Where water power is available, it costs nothing to generate Electric Power.

THE HAWAIIAN ELECTRIC COMPANY is now ready to furnish Electric Plants and Generators of all descriptions at short notice, and also has on hand a large stock of Wire, Chandeliers, and all Electrical Goods.

All orders will be given prompt attention, and estimates furnished for Lighting and Power Plants; also attention is given to House and Marine Wiring.

National Cane Shredder

(PATENTED UNDER THE LAWS OF THE HAWAIIAN ISLANDS.)

Mr. John A. Scott, Manager of the Hilo Sugar Company gives the following wonderful record of the working of the NATIONAL CANE SHREDDER, which was erected by their works at the commencement of the crop just harvested:

"During the past week the Hilo Sugar Company's mill exceeded any of its former records by closing the 125 hours grinding with an output of 300¾ tons. This is fully 10 per cent. more than the best work of former years.

"The three roller mill being 26 in. by 54 in. and the two roller mill 30 in. by 60 in. The first mill doing this amount of work in an efficient manner and with great ease, compared with work on whole cane, owing to thorough preparation of the cane by the National Cane Shredder, recently erected by the Company. And by its use the extraction has been increased from 3 per cent. to 5 per cent. on all kinds of cane, and in some cases 80 per cent. has been reached; the average being 75 to 78 per cent., according to quality.

"I continue to find the megass from shredded cane better fuel than from whole cane.

"The shredder has been working day and night for seven months and has given me entire satisfaction, having shredded during that time about seventy thousand tons of cane, and a large part of it being hard ratoons.

"The shredder and engine require very little care or attention."

☞ Plans and specifications of these shredders may be seen at the office of
