DIVIDEND DAY LOOSENS MONEY

Regular Rates Are Paid On Popular Stocks

One hundred and sixty-two thousand dollars in dividends were reported on the Stock Exchange this morning as paid out today. These are the regular dividends of the 15th of the month, and include Hawaiian Sugar, Oahu plantation, Oahu Railroad, Pepeekeo, and Waiālanu. With the exception of Pepeekeo all these

Mott-Smith Robinson?

Despite the repeated announcement that Mark Robinson will remain president of the Board of Health, and despite the fact that the Senate confirmed his appointment last week, the rumor that Secretary Mott-Smith will soon be at the head of the Board will not down. The Secretary this morning denied any knowledge of any proposed change, though he declined to hazard any guesses concerning the probable action of the Senate on the Appropriation bill, which, in reality, is the chief factor in the whole discussion. There is a party that would like to have the presidency of the Board of Health tacked onto the Territorial Secretary's job, and there was even an effort made in the House to have Mott-Smith made ex-officio president of the Board, until it was pointed out that that could not be done under the law. With the general sentiment in favor of retrenchment, and in line with the policy of amalgamating as many of the public offices as possible, it is considered not unlikely, however, that the Senate may make such a cut in the salary of the president of the Board of Health, as to make the office unattractive of itself. Should this be the fact, it is generally conceded that Mott-Smith will step into Robinson's boots. From time to time there has been considerable talk of having the Secretary of the Territory act as president of the Board of Health, and the fact that nothing has been done toward filling the place of Dr. Wayson has lent color to the belief that there is something in the air. On April 1, Dr. Wayson's term expired, but, as the law provides that members of the board shall hold office until their successors are appointed, (Continued on Page 2) stocks are widely held and the money will be very generally distributed. The market continues firm. Wailuku took a jump of $2.50 a share over the last sale. Many feel that one hundred and fifty per cent. above par is a good figure at which to sell and get in on some of the other stocks, despite the 3-per-cent. dividend. Ewa is held strong at twenty-eight and three-quarters. Oahu dropped back a fraction, selling on the board at thirty-one and three-quarters. Twenty-five shares of Hawaiian Commercial went at $116.25. There is very little of this stock offering. All stocks are strong despite the many projects that have been taken up lately that call for good-sized lumps of money. The slight drop in the price of sugar has had practically no influence. The raw sugar market is strong and conditions are generally favorable.

GRAFT HEARINGS WILL BE PUBLIC

Investigating Committee Decides Not to Hold Star Chamber Proceedings; First Meeting Being Held This Afternoon

The investigations of the "Graft Committee" are not to be star-chamber proceedings. They are to be public, so far as members of the House and representatives of the press are concerned. This much was decided upon this morning at the first meeting of the committee, held in the Speaker's private office, where the committee is to make its headquarters, so as to be within call whenever any member is needed in the House. Shingle declares it is his intention to go to the very bottom of the matter and if there is any graft to bring it to light. At the same time, he says that he is firmly convinced that there is nothing wrong, and expects to be able to give the House a clean bill of health. The Graft Committee will sit as a court, Deputy Attorney General Whitney being present as the attorney for the committee. The reporters were called in this morning and a statement made by Mr. Whitney said it had been decided that the newspapers might be represented, on condition that no comment be made on the proceedings until after the report of the committee is made. The committee, he said, has all the powers of a court to subpoena and examine witnesses, and any failure or refusal to obey a subpoena may be treated as contempt of court. The first witness was called for 2 o'clock this afternoon. There was considerable discussion among the members of the committee previous to this statement being made as to whether or not the proceedings should be behind closed doors, but it was finally decided that the public would be liable to place more confidence in the sincerity of

SENATE GETS INTO TANGLE, AND EXCEEDS WAYS AND MEANS COMMITTEE ESTIMATE $126,000—NO INCREASE FOR ATTORNEY-GENERAL

Senate Gets Into Tangle, and Exceeds Ways and Means Committee Estimate $126,000—No Increase for Attorney-General

Already the Senate has managed to chase the Appropriation Bill up $126,000 above the estimate submitted by the Ways and Means Committee, and the end is not yet in sight. The readiness with which every request for a salary increase was granted yesterday afternoon, played havoc with economy and put things into what looks like a hopeless mix-up. The estimates sent down by the Governor in his message were pronounced too steep by the Ways and Means Committee of the Senate, and cuts were made right and left. Sitting in Committee of the Whole, the Senate jolted the committee's draft of a bill in every direction, and the bill now shows some $80,000 more called for than was incorporated in the Governor's message. Unless the bill goes to the Executive chamber at 4:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon there is the possibility that the pocket veto may upset all that has been done and throw matters back just where they were when the session opened. The bill as it now stands is so hopelessly divergent from that passed by the House that it is difficult to see on what grounds $500 a month. He, however, objected to making any change at this time under the circumstances. Both Quinn and McCarthy, though speaking highly of Hemenway, and expressing a belief that $500 a month is none too much to pay the Attorney General, asked that no action be taken at this time. On request of Senator Chillingworth, Senator Smith withdrew his amendment.

REV. CHAS. DOLE AT COMMERCIAL CLUB

"Honesty, generosity, and good treatment of your fellow-men is a golden rule for success."

Rev. Charles F. Dole, who was a guest of the Commercial Club at lunch today, made a most interesting speech before an enthusiastic audience of business men. He said the business men should treat others kindly and fairly. This, he said, would induce buyers to come again stores. He emphasized the fact that and purchase more things from the business men should not be selfish toward their associates. With the business which is growing today, it would be well to conduct various businesses in mutual-ity.

New Law That Has To Do With Registrar's Office

An Act which was introduced in the Legislature, and now has become a law, being Act 69, relating to acknowledgment and execution of written instruments affects some of the Corporations of this Territory when acknowledging documents, as by the provision of this Act, it is necessary that the officers of the Corporations shall take oath that they executed the document by authority of the Board of Directors, which authorization has never before been required. This Act also amends other portions of the heretofore existing law and provides additional forms so that there may be more uniformity in the acknowledgment of written instruments in this Territory as compared with various States and Territories of the United States.

SHALL COUNTIES CONTROL SCHOOLS?

Moot Point Raises Much Discussion In Senate

49th Day—Morning Session Whether or not the Counties should have the power to discontinue school houses proved a big bone of contention when House Bill No. 88 came up for third reading this morning. The bill as it came up provided that the Counties should have the power to regulate, maintain, etc., hospitals, school houses, etc. President Smith took the floor and argued against the bill, insisting that, should it pass, it would bring about a conflict between the County. MOTT-SMITH, ROBINSON? (Continued from Page 1) he is still serving. That he has not been formally reappointed, or that some one has not been named in his stead, is considered a significant fact. The wise ones are calling attention to the fact that the delay in filling Wayson's place is caused by a desire to see who will be president of the Board. Should Robinson stay in office, they point out that some one may succeed Wayson, should Mott-Smith take over the presidency, then Wayson's reappointment. The Governor has not given any indication of his intention. Mott-Smith denies all conjectures of what the future may bring forth, and the others connected intimately with the affair are keeping very quiet. Robinson says that he will remain president of the Board of Health.

QUEEN'S ALLOWANCE IS RAISED TO $700

Promotion Committee Is Allowed $6000 a Year

SENATE.

Forty-Eighth Day—Afternoon Session. In the Committee of the Whole yesterday afternoon the Senate raised the appropriations for salaries, maintenance of hospitals, promotion work, charity purposes and several other matters.

The Queen's monthly allowance was raised to $700 from $625. The appropriation for promotion work passed at $6000 and other items for maintenance of hospitals and charity work were liberally passed.

Robinson asked an appropriation of $400 for pay rolls and $7200 for the maintenance of Malulu Hospital in Waiuku. Smith in seconding the motion said that the institution has been very useful on the island of Maui. The item passed. Hilo Hospital, on motion of Brown, was given an appropriation of $11,500. Harvey moved that $7200 be appropriated for the Kapiolani Maternity Home. All the above items passed.

Knuelsen, who was presiding, called out to Fairchild to look after the Kaula hospital, but, unfortunately, he was not in, and hence no appropriation was secured for the Kaula hospital. Supreme Court.

The salary for clerk of Supreme Court passed at $150 a month. Henry Smith, who has been clerk of the judicial department for many years, will, it is said, be given another position in the First Circuit.

Stenographer and clerk pay passed at $125 a month. Assistant clerks, bailiffs, librarians and messengers were given $3600 a year.

The salaries of all the interpreters of the First Circuit, including the Hawaiian, Japanese, Chinese and Portuguese, were fixed at $125 a month.

The clerk of the Second Circuit was given a salary of $125, and a special appropriation of $2500 provided for stenographer's hire.

Coelho wanted the expense allowance of the court raised to $10,000 from $7500. Failed.

The salary for the clerk of the Fourth Circuit was raised from $125 to $150 a month. The assistant clerk was given $125 and Hawaiian interpreter $100. The appropriation for a Portuguese interpreter was stricken out. Archives.

The salary of the Superintendent of Public Archives passed at $125. Baker moved that a salary of $100 be appropriated for a translator of the archives. His motion failed, but on motion of McCarthy an appropriation of $5000 passed. This item included the salary of a translator.

Queen's Allowance Raised. On motion of Baker, which was adopted, the allowance of Queen Liliuokalani was raised from $625 a month to $700. Chillingworth, in supporting Coelho's motion to increase it to $650, stated that she had been the Queen of the people and in order to keep up the dignity, though she is living in private life, it was necessary to give her a decent allowance. McCarthy was named of making a small raise of $25. He suggested that a decent raise be made, which passed according to Baker's motion.

Promotion Support. Chillingworth made an eloquent speech in support of the promotion work. He asked that $6000 a year be provided. Carried. Baker wanted to know if the amount just appropriated included the bringing of immigrants into the Territory.

Governor Appoints. The Governor sent down the following message of appointments: "I hereby nominate and propose, with the advice and consent of the Senate, to appoint the following persons to the following offices: Board of Allot One-Fourth of Special Income Tax. Comedy reigned at the Orpheum last night when the Elleford Co. presented "The American Girl," a much-pleased house. The play needs no description or words of praise as the Elleford's presented it here two years ago to three full houses, but the performance this year is much superior to the last engagement.

It seems to give the popular Osborn children a chance to show that they can act as well as sing and dance, and they held up their reputation in a manner that surprised their most ardent admirers. Miss Due had a part that gave her a chance to show what she could do in the emotional line and stamped here as one of the best little leading ladies Mr. Elleford ever brought from the mainland. In the comedy parts, Geo. Hernandez and Mattie Lloyd Luck kept up their reputations as laugh-makers and in fact every member of the company seemed to please, and the audience went home with nothing but words of praise. "The American Girl" is the bill for tonight. And tomorrow and Saturday the big Western story "Beacon Lights" is the bill. It is sensational in character. The action of the play taking place in a Western military post. The Saturday matinee bill, "Pals," will give the little folks a chance to see a good bill that was produced the first of the week. The Osborn children will have a new specialty for their little friends. Seats are now selling at the Orpheum box office for all the Elleford performances!

GRAFT COMMITTEE HAS BEEN APPOINTED

Members Fear Coat of Whitewash Will Be Applied

HOUSE

48th Day—Afternoon Session. A committee was appointed yesterday afternoon by the Speaker to investigate into the charges of graft that have been flying back and forth about the House of Representatives ever since last Saturday. The committee, it was announced, was to begin its sittings at 10 o'clock this morning in the Speaker's private office. Shingle, Coney, and Kawewehi were appointed as the members of the committee. They could not say last night whether or not the hearings would be public, but it is probable that they will be on the chamber order, that being in line with Speaker Holstein's general policy as regards everything but matters of mere routine.

The Judiciary Committee, to which was referred the resolution presented Tuesday by Kaleopoia for the appointment of an investigating committee, reported back a substitute resolution of the same general tenor as the original measure, and it was in accordance with the provisions of this resolution that the committee was appointed to nose out graft if there be any graft.

It was noticeable that Speaker Holstein did not appoint on this committee any of the insurgents. Kawewehi is a Democrat or a Home Ruler—he does not seem to be sure just which. Shingle has made the statement on the floor of the House that he believes in standing by the Speaker, right or wrong. Coney is another member of the "Cabinet" and generally backs Speaker Holstein up in everything the latter does—unless it be something that is liable to injure Kaula.

When the House arose yesterday the comment was freely made that the committee is to be a whitewashing committee, and that it will report back that it could find no evidences of graft. Several members asked why Cohen, Long, or Alfonso was not made a member of the committee instead of appointing three men who have steadfastly denied that there is any graft going on and who will have to be convinced against their own previous convictions.

Kawewehi's "two-county" bill was plastered with amendments yesterday afternoon until it presented a deliriously ridiculous appearance, and was then laughed to death. By the time the House got through sticking amendments all over it it looked so funny that even its proud father was willing that it be given decent burial, and he himself voted with the other members of the House to table it.

When, for the fifth time, the bill was taken up for third reading, there was an immediate flood of amendments offered, the Clerk getting no less than sixteen to read. And every one of them was adopted. By the terms of one amendment the City and County of Honolulu was made a suburb of the County of East Hawaii, the amendment offered by Furtado providing that all islands within 200 nautical miles of the coast of East Hawaii be included in the new County. Another amendment, also by Furtado, was to give East Hawaii 79 per cent. of the balance in the County Treasury of the County of Hawaii. Kawewehi objected strenuously to this, saying it looked like graft, but the House cheerfully adopted the amendment.

When it seemed that there was no room for any further amendments to be plastered on, Rice arose and in a regretful tone announced that the bill was spotted, so it might as well be tabled. The rest of the House looked duly mournful, but all the members turned their thumbs down and the bill gave up the ghost.

Did Not Concur

The House refused to concur in the Senate amendments to the "show bill," the motion to non-concur meeting with a chorus of kokua. A conference committee consisting of Cohen, Like, Kinney, and Kamahu was appointed.

The House by a vote of 14 to 12 Selection—Belle of Bohemia. Engländer PART II. Vocal—Hawaiian songs. by Berger Selection—Emperor's Review. Edenberg Waltz—El Paso. Anthony Pinalo—Mokihana. Berger The Star Spangled Banner. The Star Spangled Banner. The band will play at Fort Shafter this afternoon.

concluded in the Senate amendments to the depositary bill.

House Bill 208, the substitute "wireless" bill, which takes the place of the three bills originally introduced by Shingle, passed its third reading. Senate Bill 166, providing for the payment of claims totaling $2290.72 incurred during the time of the first and unsuccessful County Act, also passed third reading.

Kamamalu introduced a resolution which, if it were to become law, would virtually have the effect of shutting fish out of the markets of Honolulu. The resolution is as follows: "Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives of the Territory of Hawaii, That the Board of Health be requested to direct its several fish inspectors to prevent the sale of any deep-sea fish or fishes that have been kept alive in any storage or fishing boat for more than twenty-four (24) hours after the same have been caught, and that said inspectors be given authority to prevent the sale of any such fish or fishes from any fishing boat or boats remaining away from its mooring in any harbor throughout this Territory for more than twenty-four (24) hours at any one time."

The Agricultural Committee, by its chairman, Shingle, presented a concurrent resolution relating to how the $150,000 natural resources share of the immigration tax should be spent.

The Truth About Kidney Trouble

(UREMIC HEADACHES)

There is a class of headaches that are very persistent and very painful, that are to be suspected where there appears to be no cause for them, especially in those cases in which there are decreased or scanty eliminations. These are usually ugly symptoms and mean that the kidneys are not eliminating the toxins or poisons, and that they are retained in the circulation. It is in such cases that appropriate symptoms of drowsiness and convulsions follow.

The central difficulty is again inflammation of the kidneys that has to an extent closed the kidney functions, and it is apparent that a reduction of the inflammation will re-open the tubules with gradual restoration.

An direct effect of Fulton's Renal Compound is to absorb inflammation in the kidney tissues, it is seen why it is the first thing to be effective in those cases and why failure has been the rule under the old indirect treatment.

The symptoms under the above heading are urgent and permit of no delay, for before this Compound was discovered they were nearly always fatal and generally in a few months.

In such cases hot baths are not admitted. Literature mailed free. Write to JOHN J. FULTON CO., Honolulu Drug Co., Fort St. are our sole local agents. Ask for 10-Monthly Bulletin of late recoveries.

EVERYBODY ADVERTISES

Secretary Wood in his report to the Promotion Committee for this afternoon makes reference to the municipal advertising that is going on.

At a meeting of the different business interests of Buffalo, New York, held February 17th, it was decided to raise a fund of $500,000 for advertising the city. Missouri is planning to spend $50,000 annually; South Dakota the same. Spokane Washington, spent $60,000 in 1928. St. Paul will spend as much in 1929.

We make a point of keeping closely in touch with the progressive organizations of these different States and Cities and endeavor to profit by their experience.

Every man, woman, and child able to do so should visit the exhibition of work from the schools of this Territory now on display in the National Grand shooting-gallery. This exhibition is a liberal education in what the children of this Territory are doing. Any person who can look over this work and then hold that manual training is useless must be either deficient or fat-witted.

If Charles Hastace were made Treasurer the Governor would have an independent man in his official family.

Young Turkey is making itself felt, and the blood it is shedding is a mere drop in the bucket to the slaughter done by the Old Order to delay progress.

"Don't Consolidate" cry the advocates of the Old Order that has fought local government from the first. And then these hypocrites turn around and claim that it is only in the Counties that efforts are made to increase the number of jobs! Territorial offices should be consolidated if it is possible—and it is possible.

"Tariff agitation is now losing its effect. It is already recognized that the Payne bill is so full of objectionable features that it will have no chance whatever in the Senate." This from Banker Clews' latest circular may be taken as assurance that Wall Street doesn't expect the tariff to undergo anything more serious than a tinkering that will not hurt much.

The appointment of Treasurer Campbell on the Liquor Commission is now recognized as a mistake. He had enough to attend to as Treasurer. The same rule applies to other officers of the Territory who are paid a salary to occupy a post that should receive undivided attention. Governor Frear having had one recent experience, ought to have enough judgment to prevent the repetition of an error made by his predecessor in office.

The daily newspaper is the most valuable advertising medium for any bank seeking local business. There is no better way to reach a large number of persons cheaply and effectively. The newspaper is a part of the daily life of the American people. It goes everywhere. Everybody reads it. Every day it comes entirely fresh and new. If he is wise, the advertiser in it makes his message fresh and new daily, too. The daily newspaper can best give the constant repetition that wears away forgetfulness and forces attention. It enables the adversary to tell his story quickly. It makes it possible for him to reach many whom he could reach to advantage in no other way, as everybody who reads at all reads some newspaper.—T. D. MacGregor, manager Banking Magazine, in an address before the American Institute of Banking.

ONE MAN AND FORTY POSITIONS.

Officials of this Territory are frequently attacked with "apella" of appointing one man to every position in sight.

Far be it from this paper to raise any criticism against any man willing to accept all the positions offered him and able to give each the amount of attention a proper performance of duty demands. But there are mighty few who believe that the twenty-four hours each day allows will admit of the division necessary. Something has to be slighted.

Any number of instances of one man for fourteen jobs, more or less, might be pointed out. They are the usual thing in the history of the Territory of Hawaii, and would be above criticism if the results were beneficial to general administration and the person involved.

Hon. James F. Morgan has been "rushed" for quite a period, and having held nearly every honorary office at once is gradually beginning to pass into the background.

The immediate figure of prominence is Marston Campbell. The Governor has now appointed him to a new commission created by the Legislature, which makes the fourth position of responsibility, and possibly glory, that has been shouldered onto Campbell. He is Superintendent of Public Works—entitled to one man's full time—a member of the Board of Agriculture, a member of the Board of Regents of the College of Hawaii, and now on a commission to apportion the income tax. Some of these positions are doubtless the result of holding the post of Superintendent of Public Works, but this ought not to be.

It is not a matter of money, as the pleasure of being a commissioner has no other remuneration than glory and takes any quantity of time if properly followed up.

It is a pure case of getting one man and "rushing" him into every board in sight. Now it is Morgan and Campbell. Tomorrow it will be someone else. It is habit rather than personality.

The whole scheme is wrong. It shows either a lack of public spirit among the citizens of the town, or a failure of executive officers to appreciate the value of getting as many men into public work as possible, thus broadening the interest in public institutions and bringing in new ideas and obtaining a representation from all the elements of the city and Territory.

This one man for forty positions is mighty poor politics in the first place and therefore mighty poor government.

The average man usually feels that there are enough loyal citizens to do the work required of public boards, although he may not be enthusiastic over serving on one himself. Unless there is a wider representation on the public boards this average man gets the idea, and sometimes he is correct, that one gang is trying to run everything and the clique rule is worked to the finish. Whether this man's idea is right or not, if he thinks so another kicker is created who might better be a supporter.

Centralization has its values, but the successful administrator is the man who secures the assistance of the largest number of citizens in public work, and gets the largest number of community or factional elements actively at work for the common good.

HOUSE

(Continued from Page 1) been hung up in committee for a long time, was finally led out, its neck laid on the block, and the axe buried in its quivering tissues.

Douthitt's medical bill was also slaughtered and a substitute bill, which looks as if it might have been drafted by an osteopath, took its place on the calendar.

There was no debate on any of the measures except Douthitt's bill to raise the maximum limit of imprisonment on conviction of assault and battery to a year. This bill was killed, mainly through the efforts of Rice and Castro.

Osteopathy Wins.
On recommendation of the Health and Police Committee House Bill 131, relating to the practice of medicine and surgery, was tabled and a substitute bill introduced. The committee expressed the opinion that the passage of the original bill might tend to encourage a monopoly in favor of the present holders of licenses to practice medicine, in that the medical examiners, selected from their number, would be permitted to impose such standards of efficiency as are obtainable only in the largest cities of the Union, and thus prevent a new man from practicing here who might be equally or more efficient than the examining board but not in touch with their particular school of medicine.

The substitute bill lets the osteopaths in on the ground floor, instead of excluding them from practice as did the original measure. The bill provides that licenses to practice osteopathy may be granted to graduates holding diplomas from any regular school of osteopathy, provided further that a certificate to practice osteopathy has first been obtained from the State Board of Examiners of the State of California of osteopathic examiners until such time as there is an osteopathic Board appointed for Hawaii.

ed to shut the Orientals out of the fisheries of Hawaii, is as dead as Julius Caesar's ghost. The Health and Police Committee acted as executioner, wielding the axe on the measure. The committee reported:

"The object of this bill is to prohibit aliens from fishing within certain limits from the beach line, confining them to deep-sea fishing only. Although this bill would allow them to fish beyond the reef, it would still prevent them from fishing for the required bait, which can only be obtained within the prohibitory zone and thus impose upon them an unnecessary hardship and expense.

"Your committee believes that the passing of such a bill would defeat the objects sought, but on the other hand materially advance the price of fish to consumers all over the islands, and whatever few might be benefited, the whole community would be the sufferers and more particularly the Hawaiian Americans.

"Your committee, therefore, recommends that this bill be tabled."

The report was unanimously adopted. Coelho's Senate Bill 3, was also killed by the adoption of the report of the Health and Police Committee. This bill was to authorize the Board of Supervisors of each county to establish and maintain hospitals. The bill was tabled because the House has already passed a bill turning over to the various counties the establishment and maintenance of just such hospitals as are referred to in Coelho's bill.

Senate Bill 58, Brown, relating to property exempt from taxation, was tabled on recommendation of the Finance Committee on the ground that the subject matter has already been covered by House Bill 189, passed by the House.

House Bill 213, to provide for the reimbursement of the Territory for the cost of the Kula pipe line, was tabled, as being already covered by Senate Bill 140, Garnishment Bill.

Afonso's garnishment bill, H. B. 193, which is intended to obviate the necessity, in cases where a garnishee debtor, of instituting a new suit in case the person garnisheed shall quit his place of employment and obtain employment elsewhere, met with no opposition when it came up for final reading.

Professional Jurors.

The enactment into law of House Bill 198, by Douthitt, which was on third reading, would probably create a class of professional jurors who would hang about the courts in the hope of being able to turn a penny now and then by sitting on a jury. The bill provides that when a sufficient number of grand or trial jurors cannot be obtained from the regular panel, or whenever the panel shall for any reason become less than the maximum number allowed by law, the court may order the Sheriff to summon extra jurors. "Three additional grand jurors and three talesmen for trial jurors may be summoned from among the bystanders, if no objection is made by any party interested." The bill, however, passed third reading without any one pointing out the obvious effect of such a law.

Animal Quarantine.

House Bill 196, Rice, which increases the powers of the Board of Agriculture and Forestry in regard to the examination, quarantine and, where necessary, of the destruction of animals, passed its third reading without opposition.

Bill Tabled.

House Bill 206, Douthitt, raising the maximum limit of imprisonment upon conviction of assault and battery from six months as at present to one year, was killed on third reading. Sheldon vigorously defended his bill, but Castro and Rice attacked it and shot it full of holes. Rice contended that if the courts were given the power to send a man to jail for a year for assault and battery, there would be danger that prisoners charged with graver offenses might be allowed to plead guilty of assault and battery and thus escape the punishment they should suffer.

An Old Judgment.

Senate Bill 102, to provide for the payment of the judgment for $3002 rendered January 15, 1905, by the Judge of the Third Circuit Court in favor of David K. Baker against Alatau T. Atkinson, A. M. Brown, Lorrin Andrews and George P. Kamaoaha, was taken up on third reading.

The case referred to is the old trespass case of South Kona. The same bill was introduced at the 1907 Legislature, but failed to become law. The bill passed third reading without opposition and now goes to the Governor for his signature. Long, as one of the attorneys in the case, was excused from voting.

Land Commission.

The House without discussion passed Senate Joint Resolution 2, providing for the appointment of a Commission to examine into the matter of private holdings of land occupied prior to the Great Mahele.

Senate Bill 115, supplementary to the Conservation and Immigration Act, and providing for the expenditure from the general revenues of money for the Board of Agriculture and Forestry, Experiment Station and Hydrographic Survey, until the one fourth of the special fund becomes available, passed third reading.

Senate Bill 124, relating to accounts of executors and administrators, passed third reading without debate.

VOLCANOES SUBJECT OF SCIENTIST'S TALK

Jagger Delivers Address Before University Club

Prof. T. A. Jagger, Jr., of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology gave an illustrated lecture on volcanoes last night at the University Club, where a large number of scientific men assembled to hear him speak.

Speaking from his personal observation of volcanoes and the movements of the earth, Prof. Jagger said that Hawaii presented many advantages for the study of terrestrial phenomena on account of its locality in the middle of a great ocean.

He said that the Japanese have taken a leading part in this research and that their empire has established seismic observatories. He then proceeded to tell of his own experiences in connection with the various volcanic eruptions which have taken place recently.

Rev. Charles F. Dole of Boston also spoke. Justice S. M. Ballou introduced the speakers.

I shall be very glad to stop as suggested.

My present plan is to sail from San Francisco on the Chiyo Maru on April 16th and resume my journey from Honolulu on the Mongolia May 11th.

It has long been my desire to visit the Hawaiian Islands, and I look forward to the fulfillment of my wishes with the utmost pleasure.

Mrs. Fairbanks and our daughter, Mrs. John W. Timmons, accompany me. Very respectfully, (Signed) CHAS. W. FAIRBANKS.

The Man That Pays Is The Man Who Knows

Mr. L. B. Kerr

of L. B. KERR & CO., LTD., is one of the most liberal users of printers' ink in Honolulu. MR. KERR'S ad. bills run into the hundreds of dollars every month and he has been doing this for years. If any merchant in this city is capable of expressing an opinion that may be classed as "Expert," that man is L. B. KERR, and this is what he says: "I have tried all forms of advertising in the papers, programs, and billboards of Honolulu, and I have reached the conclusion that the afternoon paper reaches the people who buy the goods far better than the morning paper has ever done, and I desire to place the EVENING BULLETIN at the head of the roll of honor as the Best Advertising Medium in this City; the Bulletin has always paid me the largest returns on the money I have spent for advertising."

CHAPTER IV. THE SOLDIER FINDS AN UNEXPECTED ALIEN.

MEADE BURRELL had expected a profound sense of pity for Neela upon learning her father's relation to Alhuna, but this also largely vanished when he found that the girl was entirely oblivious to its significance. He had tried her in many subtle ways and found that she regarded the matter innocently, as customary, and therefore in the light of an accepted convention, nor did she seem to see anything in her blood or station to render her inferior to other women. She questioned him freely about his sister, and he was glad of this, for it placed no constraint between them.

As for her, each day brought a keener delight. She unfolded before the Kentuckian like some beautiful woodland flower and through innumerable, unnoticed familiarities took him into her innermost confidence.

A month of this went by, and then Rynn returned. He came on an up-lying steamer. The manager of his company was bold, for he stood fairly upon the ship's deck, and his smile was evil now, as it had been before. With him was a stranger. When the boat was at rest Rynn sauntered down the gangplank and up to the lieutenant, who stood above the landing place and who noted that the sailor, close up against his husband, was wearing a hat.

"Well, I'm back again, you see, and I'm back to stay," Rynn said. "Very well, Rynn. Did you bring an outfit with you?" "Yes, and I'm pretty fat besides." He shook a well-taken golf sack at the officer.

"What do you want in this place anyhow?" demanded Burrell curiously. "None of your d—d business," the man answered, grunting. "Be sure it isn't," retorted the lieutenant, "because it would please me right down to the ground if it were. I'd like to get you." "I'm glad we understand each other," Rynn said, falling into conversation with the stranger, who had been surveying the town without leaving the boat. Evidently this man had a voice in Rynn's affairs, for he not only gave him instructions, but he also handled his merchandise, and Meade Burrell concluded that he must be some incoming tenderfoot who had grub-staked the desperado to prospect in the hills back of Flambaua. As the two came up past him he saw that he was mistaken. This man was no more of a tenderfoot than Rynn. On the contrary, he had a bearing of one to whom new countries are old, who had trod the edge of things all his life. There was a hint of the meat-eating animal about him. His nose was keen and hawk-like, his walk and movements those of the predatory beast, and as he passed by Burrell observed that his eyes were of a peculiar cruelty that went well with his thin lips. He was older by far than Rynn, but while the latter was mean visaged and swaggering, the stranger's manner was noticeable for its repression.

Impelled by an irresistible desire to learn something about the man, the lieutenant followed after Rynn and his companion and entered the store in time to see the latter greet "No Creek" Lee, the prospector, who had come into town for more food. Both men spoke with quiet restraint. "Nine years since I saw you, Stark," said the miner. "Where you bound?" "The Giggings," replied Stark as Lee addressed the stranger.

"Mining now?" "No; same old thing, but I'm grub-staking a few men, as usual. One of them stays here. I may open a house in Dawson if the camp is as good as they say it is." "This here's a good place for you." Stark laughed noiselessly and without malice. "Fine! There must be a hundred people living here." "Never mind; you take it from me," said the miner positively, "and get in now on the quiet. There's something going." His one sharp eye detected the lieutenant close by, so he drew his friend aside and began talking to him earnestly and with such evident effect as to alter Stark's plans on the moment, for when Rynn entered the store shortly Stark spoke to him quickly, following which they both hurried back to the steamer and saw to the unloading of much additional freight and baggage. From the volume and variety of this merchandise it was evident that Mr. Stark would in nowise be a burden to the community.

Burrell was not sufficiently versed in the ways of mining camps to know exactly what this abrupt change of policy meant, but that there was something in the air he knew from the way the manager of "No Creek" Lee and from the suppressed excitement of Rynn and the trader. He earnestly got the letter of his finally, and he fell into talk with Lee, inquiring about the stranger by way of an opening. "That's Ben Stark. I know him back in the 'custer' country," said Lee.

"Is he a mining man?" "Well, summit, he's made and lost a bank roll that a greynound couldn't leap over in the main business, but it ain't his regular graft. He ran one of the biggest places in the northwest for years." "Saloon, eh?" "Saloon and variety house—seven bartenders, that's all. He's the fellow that killed the gold commissioner. Of course that put him on the blacklist." "How do you mean?" "Well, he had a record as long as a sick man's drug bill before he went into that country, and when he got the commissioner away from Canadian officials went after him like they was killing snakes, and it cost him all he had made to get clear. If it had happened across the line the coroner's jury would have freed him, but a commissioner was drunk and started the row. But it happened right in Stark's saloon, and you know Chubb is stronger than vitriol for law and order. Not Ben's first offense, it went hard with him."

"He looks like a killer," said Burrell. "Yes, but he ain't the common kind. He always lets the other men lead, and therefore he ain't ever done time." "Come, now," argued the lieutenant, "if it were the other man who invariably shot first, Stark would have been killed long ago." "I don't care what would have happened, if it ain't happened, and he's got nitches on his gun till it looks like a cab-horn and chawed it. If you was a western man you'd know what they say about him. 'The bullet ain't been run to kill him.' That's the saying. You needn't grin. There's many a letter man than you believes it."

"Who is it that the bullet hasn't been run to kill?" said the trader's deep voice behind them. He had finished with his duties and now sauntered off forward. "Ben Stark," said Lee, turning. "You know him, John?" "No; I never saw him, but I know who he is; used to hear of him in the Coeur d'Alenes."

"That's him I was talking to," said the miner. "He's an old friend of mine, and he's going to locate here." Burrell thought he saw Lee wink at the trader, but he was not sure, for at that moment the man of whom they were speaking re-entered. Lee introduced him, and the three men shook hands. While the soldier fell into easy conversation with the newcomer, Gale gazed at him narrowly, studying him as he studied all men who came as strangers. As he was doing so Allana entered, followed by Johnny and Molly. She had come for sugar and asked for it in her native tongue. Upon her exit Stark broke off talking to the lieutenant and turned to the trader.

"Your squaw, Mr. Gale?" "The old man peddled." "Tah-Ute, eh?" "Yes. Why, do you savvy the talk?" "Some. I lived in California once." "Where?" The question came like a shot. "Oh, here and there; I followed the mother lode for a spell." "I don't recall the name," said the trader after a bit. "Possibly. Where were you located?" "I never lit on any one place long enough to call it home." It seemed to Burrell that both men were sparring cautiously in an indirect, impersonal manner.

"Those your kids, too, eh?" Stark continued. "Yes, and I got another one besides—older, a girl." "She's a 'pip,' too," said "No Creek" Lee fervently. "She's plumb beautiful." "All of them half breeds?" questioned Stark. "Sure." The trader's answer was short, and when the other showed no intention of pressing the subject further he sauntered away, but no sooner was he out of hearing than Stark said: "Humph! They're all alike."

"Who?" "Squaw men." "This one ain't," Lee declared. "He's different. Ain't he, lieutenant?" "He certainly is," agreed Burrell. This was the first criticism he had heard of Neela's father, and although Stark volunteered an argument, it was plain that his opinion remained unaltered.

The old man went through the store at the rear and straightway sought Alhuna. Speaking to her with unvoiced severity in the Pah-Ute language, he said: "I have told you never to use your native tongue before strangers. That man in the store understands." "I only asked for sugar to cook the berries with," she replied. "True, but another time you might say more; therefore the less you speak it the better. He is the kind who sees much and talks little. Address me in Swahili or in English unless we are alone." Suddenly she dropped her work and came close up to him. "Can he be the one?" "I don't know. Stark is not this name, but he might have changed it. He had reasons enough."

be that of the man I was in British Columbia." "But surely you must know if he is the same. She must have told you how he looked. Others must have told you."

Gale shook his head. "Very little. I could not ask her, and others knew him so well they never doubted that I had seen him, but this much I do know, he was dark." "This man is dark." "And his spirit was like that of a mad horse." "This man is forty years old. It must be he," said the squaw. Even Neela would have marvelled had she heard this revelation of her father's.

"This man's temper is black," "and his eyes were cruel." "This man has evil eyes." "He looked five years of my age," said the trader.

"The most wonderful thing has happened," she began. "The man has come here to live, and it would do any good to send her away, and after all, what is to be will be. But she must never be seen in that dance girl's dress again, at least not till I learn more about this Stark. It makes no difference whether this one is the man or not. He will come, and I shall know him. For a year I have felt that the time was growing short, and now I know it."

Long Distance Runners Are Fit

Marathon runners were scattered all over the city last night, and the suburban roads were dotted with lightly-clad men, all trotting along in good style. A bunch of about half a dozen long-distance athletes ran out Whittki way, and went a few times around the track at the park. Another crowd, after their run, did strenuous stunts on the beach near the Moana Hotel. Leapfrog and tag seemed to be the favorite nets.

The ball ground was well patronized during the afternoon, and although most of the men were content with an eight- or ten-mile run, some of the sticklers plodded over a much longer distance. "Longboat the Second," who varies his pace a lot, and does not seem able to maintain an even jig-jog, sprinted and ran slowly alternately. This man has pretty action, but takes a lot out of himself by changing his speed so much. His training stunts would be ideal if it were a 440- or 880-yard race instead of a full-distance Marathon.

Jack Scully is a very busy man nowadays, and is up to his eyes in work. There are continually small details cropping up which must be settled at once, and it keeps Jack going to see to things. Another time-keeper has been appointed, making four so far. W. R. Kinsion has consented to hold the watch, and as he is well on to the timing proposition his services will be very valuable.

The clocking of the big race is a very important matter, and although it is very easy to get the actual time of the race over the whole distance, the catching of the miles as they are reeled off by thirty-odd runners is no small job. Still with five or six clockers, all of whom are onto their work, the matter can be looked after properly.

The sale of tickets is going on briskly and everything points to a most successful afternoon's sport.

More Boxing Is In Sight For Fans

As Joe Cohen has decided to give no more boxing shows, the "game" seems to be in a bad way in Honolulu. There is plenty of good material in our midst, and provided that something like even matches are made, a good audience can always be depended upon. Mr. Cohen certainly was not to blame for the miserable exhibition that Silva put up a couple of weeks ago, and anyhow the rest of the program was interesting, if not highly scientific.

It seems a pity that the stonch business should be so quiet just now; of course the theatrical shows are attracting a lot of people, but still there are other persons who would not go over the road to see a play, no matter how good, but who would walk five miles backwards to be present at a scrap.

There is some talk of a boxing tournament being brought off in the near future, and the interested parties are now looking around for a suitable location. There will be no lack of scrappers to fill the program, as McCollough, McIntyre, Sharkoy, Nelson, Wahilani, Stanley, and half a dozen others are simply longing to maul someone. If a hall can be engaged a very interesting evening's sport could be arranged, and, providing popular prices for admission are charged, a big crowd of spectators will surely attend. All lovers of the noble art hope that the show will be brought off soon.

Lahainaluna Class Ball Game

Willie Cahill, captain of D class of the Lahainaluna School, Maui, sends the following account of a baseball match in which the D class put it all over the C class to the tune of 7 to 5.

A game of baseball was played between the D and C classes at the Kiloana Park ground on April 11. This was the sixth game of the inter-class league of the Lahainaluna School boys. It was a very good game and the lads enjoyed it very much.

The C class boys were all big "makua" and the D class were all kids but they put it all over the C class. The features of the day were the home-runs made by David Kaula, Joe Morris, and James Buchanan, while Isaac Noa and Willie Cahill did all the stealing of bases.

The twirlers Joe Nalau and Willie Enoka of the C class were hit all over the field, while Joe Morris fooled the C class boys with his 40-11 curves.

The lineup was as follows:
D Class—Isaac Noa, c; Joe Morris, p; David Kaula, 1b; James Buchanan, 2b; Sam Kamae, 3b; Willie Cahill (captain), ss; David Pimannu, lf; Peter Ederts, cf; Chas. Perez, rf.
C Class—W. Kaholokai, c; Joe Nalau, p-ss; Willie Enoka, p-2b; Moses Kawaha, 2b-ss; James Kahahe, 2b; Chas. Mokiao, 1b; J. Jones, lf; Victor Kinolua, cf; Adam Kealakai, rf.

Umpire, Chas. Naope. Scorers, Louis Kelehiwa and G. Wittrock.

Cricket Once More At Makiki

There will be cricket practice on the Makiki ground next Saturday, and all members of the Honolulu club are requested to turn out for the game. If enough men are present at 2:30, a scratch match will be played between picked sides. This should be a very interesting game, as the two respective captains will choose "man and man about, thus evening up the sides. Of course the best men are picked first and so on down the line.

The cricket ground is in good order now, and as the weather is ideal for the game at present, no doubt there will be a big turn-out of the willow-wielders. One or two newcomers have signified their intention of having a game, and it will be interesting to see how they shape up at the wickets. One of the new bunch is reported to be a very fast bowler, and is said also to have a good off-break. If this is correct, this player will be quite an acquisition to the local cricket circle. Play will start at 2:30 sharp.

BELMONT HORSE BEATEN. — Nottingham, Eng., April 6. — The Robin Hood plate of 160 sovereigns for 3-year-olds, distance four furlongs, was run here today and won by Fair Dart. Split was second and Chittina third. There were 11 starters, among them August Belmont's Burgman.

WELSH MOVES ON. — Norwich, Conn., April 6. — Sergeant John Welsh of the United States Army, who left Boston Sunday on a walking trip across the continent to San Francisco, left here at 5:30 p. m. for New London.

ROYAL REGAL UNPLACED. — Saint Ouen, France, April 6. — Royal Regal, a horse owned by Thomas Hitchcock, Jr., of New York, was one of the contestants in the steeplechase here today, but did not get a place.

Horse Racing Is Nearly Pau

The news that Banonica, the mare that won the rich Merchant stakes in Hilo, had made a killing on the Emeryville track, starting at 50 to 1 against, did not surprise those who knew what times the mare had put up. Banonica, whilst in training on the Hilo track, cut out the three-quarter mile in 1 minute 14 seconds, and during one trial ran the mile in 1:41. Those times are nearly good enough to win anywhere, and when the cable informed John O'Rourke that the mare was fit and "on the job," a wad of money was sent up to be put on the good thing. The mare started twice on the Coast but was pulled on both occasions and finished behind the winner. As soon as the price against her lengthened out she was let loose, with the result that she won easily.

It is all in the game, of course, but that is just the kind of work that has killed the racing game on the mainland, and it never will be revived, either, unless drastic methods of handling crooked horse owners are introduced. Such an utter reversal of form as Banonica seems to have exhibited would have called for instant investigation in other countries where horse-racing is run fairly straight, and if no satisfactory explanation was given, the mare would have been ruled off forever.

However, the goose that lays the eggs is about dead in California, and the race game has killed itself. Horse racing is about the best sport in the world, when conducted under decent rules and management, but otherwise is about as crooked as a dog's hind leg. And the short-sighted policy of the owners and bookmakers is the whole cause of the game being stopped in California. Of course now with the end of the game in sight everyone is out with both hands ready to grab all they can, and it is too late to do anything to improve the business.

Five Mile Road Race On Saturday

On Saturday next the five miles "around town" race arranged by the Y. M. C. A. will take place, and as a lot of men have been in training for some time for the event, a good, fast race should be run. Dr. Hand is keeping in touch with the youths who are to compete, and his expert advice is sought by the boys whenever any little pilikia appears.

The race, which will start and finish at the same place, viz.: the junction of Alakea and Beretania streets, is attracting a lot of attention and a big crowd will probably line the route the runners take. The contest promises to be very close, and a half dozen men seem to have a good chance of capturing the first prize.

Another Y. M. C. A. affair that Dr. Hand is taking a great interest in, is the eleven miles' bicycle race, which is to be ridden on the Kapiolani Park track. The Doctor has presented a gold watch as a trophy for any man who can equal or beat the time which Dr. Hand put up some years ago, viz.: 27 minutes 19 seconds. This is a prize well worth trying for, and although the park track is in very bad order, some of the local riders should be able to make good.

PUUPUEO TENNIS CLUB DANCE

The Moana Hotel will be the scene of a gay dance tomorrow evening to be given by the Puupueo Tennis Club, which was but recently organized by Miss Alice Cooper, who was later elected president of it. The members include many of the younger set, and are all tennis enthusiasts, among them being Misses Wadman, the Misses Kopke, Mrs. Lucas, Mrs. E. M. Watson, Miss Dorothy Wood, the Misses Ballentyne, Mrs. J. Love, Miss Townsend, and others. For the dance a number of the society ladies have consented to act as chaperones and as there will also be an introduction committee the guests of the club can be assured of a good time. The affair is strictly invitational, and the admission cards must be presented at the lanai steps leading to the dancing floor.

The chaperones are Mrs. B. F. Dillingham, Mrs. J. Gilman, Mrs. E. M. Watson, Mrs. Walter Hoffmann.
