M. CHARLES CARNIER.

Views Honolulu—Leaves for Honkong Today.

On last Wednesday afternoon M. Charles Garnier, the French educator, accompanied by Consul Moet, was driven over the city by Minister of Foreign Affairs, Mott-Smith. Mr. H. M. Mott-Smith was also with the party. During the drive they visited Pacific Heights and Punchbowl. M. Charles Garnier took great interest in the geological formations exposed on the heights and Punchbowl as well as in the botany of the neighborhood. He said during the afternoon that he was delighted with Honolulu and mentioned that in educational matters Hawaii had much the same problems to solve as they had in Algiers where there was a similar mixed population. He thought that his experience in Honolulu would be valuable to him in his work. He leaves today for Hongkong.

CONFLICTING NEWS FROM SOUTH AFRICA

Story of a Battle at Ladysmith in Doubt.

USUAL GRIST FROM THE SWAMPS OF THE PHILIPPINE ISLANDS

Dagupan Captured But Aguinaldo Yet Evades His Pursuers—Army and Navy Are Not Co-operating.

ESTCOURT, Monday, Nov. 20.—Today fresh news is again at hand from Ladysmith in the shape of a long official message from General White and also some private dispatches. It appears that on Wednesday and Thursday of last week a big fight took place, the Boers attacking the town in force. All the English infantry was engaged. The Boers were repulsed and a portion of their trenches were carried. Their loss was great in killed and wounded and prisoners, but the British casualties amounted to only about one-tenth of theirs.

Ladysmith is full of wounded and captured Boers. It is reported that in the fighting on November 9 the enemy lost 300 killed and 500 captured.

Major General Methuen's patrols have located the enemy on the northeast about ten miles off. The Boers would not be drawn out. Fighting is reported at the Mooi river.

Runners declare that General Joubert is coming on against Estcourt today with large reinforcements, with the intention of attacking the place.

BERLIN, Nov. 20.—The Cologne Gazette publishes the following dispatch from Cape Town: "Everything is prepared for a general rising of the natives throughout Cape Colony. They are ready at any moment to make common cause with the Boers."

A DESULTORY CANNONADE.

LONDON, Nov. 21, 5 a. m.—The reports of heavy fighting at Ladysmith last Wednesday have not been confirmed. On the contrary, the reliable advices from Estcourt indicate that there was nothing more than a desultory cannonade. Probably the rumor of a serious engagement grew out of the fact that the Boers threw a few harmless shells late Tuesday night, leading to the supposition that an attack was imminent. Nothing happened, however, on Wednesday.

Beyond the fact that the Boers are daily receiving fresh reinforcements and supplies there is practically nothing new from the front.

The Boer invasion of Cape Colony continues steadily and rapidly. There are 1,300 Boers at Colesburg and news has reached East London that Lady Gray, near Aliwal North, has been deserted by the British and is now in the hands of the enemy.

A Pretoria dispatch announces the arrival there, among the British prisoners, of Major Haldane, Lieutenant Brochie and Lieutenant Hallway. It also declares that the British on Sunday made two unsuccessful attempts to oust the Rustenburg commando from a position near Mafeking and that severe fighting took place.

From Delagoa bay come reports of the arrival of more German officers and artillerymen who have volunteered to serve with the Transvaal forces.

The War Office semi-officially asserts that all news received from Africa has been published with the exception of demands for the renewal of stores, war material and the like. There is an unconfirmed rumor that more troops have been ordered from India to the Cape.

The plan of operation on both sides is slowly unfolding itself. General Joubert is evidently moving south to prevent, if possible, the junction of the British relieving force with the forces at Estcourt and Ladysmith, while on the Orange river border the Boers are believed to be concentrating at Donkerpoort to oppose General Buller's advance. It is said 6,000 Boers have already laagered at Donkerpoort.

The English plan seems to be a three-fold advance—from Durban to Ladysmith, from Orange river to Kimberley and from East London, by way of Queenstown, to Burghersdorp. General Buller has wired the commanding officer at Queenstown announcing the dispatch of General Gatacre with the first battalion of the Seventh Brigade to East London. This was the place it was originally intended that Gatacre's column should start for. Thus it is possible that General Buller's first plans have suffered less modification than some have supposed.

General Gatacre will be able to keep the Boers on the Orange border sufficiently occupied to preserve General Methuen from undue molestation, especially if rumors from various sources that describe the Free State burghers as in no wise enthusiastic for fighting are well founded.

It has been reported that General Buller will take up his quarters at De Aar, but this seems doubtful. De Aar, where a vast amount of stores have been collected, is the base for General Methuen's advance, and General Buller may have been there for a day or so. It is believed, however, that he still has his headquarters at Cape Town.

Although Kimberley is supposed to be the objective point of General Methuen, many military critics are of the opinion that his advance will be not toward Kimberley, but across the Orange Free State, in order to secure complete command of the Orange river.

The debarkation of troops at Cape Town is proceeding in the most satisfactory manner. One thousand eight hundred and fifty railway carriages have been collected there for the conveyance of troops northward, and there is talk of suspending the suburban traffic so as to accelerate military work.

The Daily Chronicle in its "War Diary" says this morning: "Hitherto we have hesitated to speak of the quality of the tinned meat supplied to our transports, much of which has had to be thrown overboard. But we have made inquiries in quarters not likely to be influenced by mere rumors, and we find there a suspicion that some of the meat supplied to the Government for use on British transports was meat which had been rejected by the United States during hostilities in Cuba, where it was picturesquely known as 'embalmed beef,' and relabeled with the mark of the current year. Whatever blunder there may have been it must not be laid at the door of the War Office, but at the door of the Admiralty, which has undertaken to feed the troops. Not a single complaint has come to hand regarding the War Office."

A FIGHT NEAR KURUMAN.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—The Daily Telegraph publishes the following:

CAPE TOWN, Saturday, Nov. 18.—The military authorities authorize the publication of the news that a heavy engagement has occurred near Kuruman. The place was attacked by the enemy in force, but after sharp fighting the Boers were repulsed with considerable loss.

This action is supposed to have been fought by Colonel Plumer's column, but further details are expected shortly. News has reached here from Mafeking, under date of November 2, to the effect that the Boers are disheartened by the failure of their operations. It is reported that many of them are retreating in various directions.

CLERY'S TASK DIFFICULT.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—The present week, according to the dispatches from the front, ought to see a change in the defensive tactics hitherto maintained by the British in South Africa. It is said that the task allotted to General Clery, that of relieving Ladysmith, will tax his generalship to the utmost. The Boers are developing a great deal of strength in the neighborhood of Estcourt and General Joubert is reported to be moving southward himself in order to direct the movement to repel the British advance, after, it would seem, attempting to isolate Estcourt. This latter movement is already in progress. The Boers practically surround the town.

General Clery is lamentably deficient in cavalry and artillery, though attempts are being made to replace the former by an Outlander mounted infantry, of which about 1,500 have started for the front.

The popular anticipations here regarding the relief of Kimberley appear too sanguine. The British force is not yet ready and when it starts it will have a dangerous road to follow, every foot of which will probably be contested if the British attempt a direct advance. So, it is said, possibly instead of rushing directly for Kimberley the British will advance across the frontier in the direction of Bloemfontein, which may thus be threatened. This, it is claimed, would draw off General Cronje's forces and enable the railroad to be restored.

From the presence of General Buller near General Methuen at Orange river it is anticipated that the main advances will be made on the west side, but it is added unless General Gatacre is able to advance simultaneously and push back the Boers who are occupying so many points south of the Orange river, the British lines of communication will be seriously threatened.

General Buller's orders to his officers on the subject of their equipment are taken to mean that the officers are to carry rifles, like the troops.

BOER PRISONERS DISCOURAGED.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—The following dispatch from its special correspondent is published by the Daily Telegraph:

CAPE TOWN, Nov. 14.—A batch of eighty-seven Boer prisoners who were captured at Elands Laagte arrived today by the steamer Putiala. Many of the men were wounded. The most serious cases, numbering a dozen, were landed and dispatched to the camp hospital at Wynberg. The others were taken to Simons Town to join their comrades, who are detained on board the Penelope. I conversed with some of the wounded, including Commandant Pretorius, who was shot through both legs, and three members of the Johannesburg detective force, who were enrolled in his commando. With trifling exceptions the Boers had no conception of the business they undertook. In their own words, "We expected to meet boys but we were vanquished by men."

The majority of the Free State Boers indeed, looked upon the affair as a pleasant picnic through Natal, with peace terms to be dictated by General Joubert from Pietermaritzburg, with British withdrawal and an immense strengthening of the Dutch republican position in the country. All prisoners to whom I spoke extolled the bravery of the British forces at Elands Laagte.

NIGHT ATTACK FAILED.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—The Daily Telegraph publishes the following from its special correspoindent:

ESTCOURT, Nov. 19.—Some parties of Boers appeared this afternoon and evening at Willow Grande Highlands, near Mooi river. Bodies of our mounted volunteers, who were out in that direction, attacked the enemy, firing volleys at them. Skirmishing continued until dusk, when the Boers fell back, having suffered slight losses. Our casualties were reported nil.

Natives report that more Boers are advancing from their camp at Colenso to reinforce the laager which is now before Estcourt. Runners from Ladysmith, who came in today, state that all is well there. A night attack was made by Boers on Friday, but they were repulsed with heavy losses. Cannonading went on all night.

POLICY OF THE POPE.

BERLIN, Nov. 20.—A correspondent of the Tageblatt in Rome learns on good authority in Vatican circles that an influential group tried to influence the Pope against British policy in South Africa. The Pope, however, declined to follow their counsels because England has never given the church any ground for complaint and because an anti-British policy would check the movement in England in favor of good relations with the Vatican.

ALLEGED STARVATION.

PIETERMARITZBURG, Nov. 20.—A party of British heliographers, cut off by the Boers outside of Estcourt, connived to escape to New Hanover, on the Greytown line, and arrived here today. They report that 6,000 Boers, driven by starvation, are foraging toward Greytown. No alarm is felt, but it may require a division of the relieving column to annihilate them.

BOERS OCCUPY CAMPBELL.

HOPETOWN, Cape Colony, Nov. 16. Yesterday the Boers occupied Campbell, in West Griqualand.

AFTER AGUINALDO.

Dangerous Pursuit of the Insurgent Army in Luzon.

MANILA, Nov. 20.—Only fragmentary reports reach Manila of the operations north, which, when the story is known, will prove to have been the most remarkable campaigning the Philippine war has known. General Lawton's division is spread thinly over the territory beyond San Jose, where the telegraph ends. General Young's two regiments of cavalry are continuing their rapid sweep into the new towns and infantry is being shoved forward to hold the towns. The cavalry takes in a country whose natural difficulties are increased indescribably by tropical rains, making rivers of creeks and swamps of fields. Wagon transportation is supposed to have been practically abandoned, the American troops living on captured supplies and the little produce the insurgent levies have left.

Major Samuel M. Swigert's squadron of the Third Cavalry is reported to be engaging a greatly superior force at Pozorrupeo, northeast of Dagupan. These troops have fought three engagements and are now holding their position, waiting for reinforcements. It is believed at headquarters that this force is covering the retreat of the insurgent leaders to the Binguet Mountains; that the insurgents planned to retreat northeast, along the Layug road, which is stocked with storehouses, three of which the Americans have had to draw upon en route, and that only the insurgent advance force had passed Layug before the American occupation, the main body of Aguinaldo's army being within our lines. The majority of those insurgents may reorganize and pose as amigos when the Americans overtake them.

Among the scraps of news obtainable are stories of the hardships the American army is meeting with. It is reported, for instance, that General Lawton narrowly escaped drowning while fording a swift river, when Lieutenant Luna, and two privates were lost. Captain Henry A. Leonhauser, with a battalion of the Twenty-fifth Infantry, is on his way from Bamban to O'Donnell to take the insurgent cartridge filling works there.

A Filipino captain, who surrendered with four men to Colonel Andrew S. Burt of the Twenty-fifth Infantry, described the factory and volunteered to guide the expedition.

The Governor of Neuva Visaya has determined, like many other Filipinos in these days, that the administration of his province cannot change too quickly, and is coming to Manila to tell Major General Otis of his loyalty and incidentally to request that he be retained in office under the new regime.

GENERAL WHEELER'S VIEWS.

MANILA, Nov. 20.—General Wheeler has decided not to return for congress. He is writing a letter to President McKinley, with a request that it be forwarded to the House of Representatives. In the course of an interview with a correspondent of the Associated Press he said:

"Congress, if it occupies the first day of the session in passing a resolution declaring in unmistakable terms that the sovereignty of the United States is to be maintained in the Philippines, thus dispelling Aguinaldo's delusion that the anti-imperialists can assist him, will be performing a sacred duty. Such a resolution would save the lives of many American soldiers and of thousands of deluded Filipinos; would avert famine, suffering and desolation from these islands and would render unnecessary the expenditure of hundreds of millions of dollars.

CREW OF THE CHARLESTON.

MANILA, Nov. 21—10:40 a. m.—The gunboat Helena has arrived here with the officers and crew of the wrecked cruiser Charleston. All are well.

DAGUPAN OCCUPIED.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—One of the important objectives of the present campaign in the island of Luzon has been achieved by the occupation of the city of Dagupan on the Gulf of Lingayan and the consequent possession of the railroad connecting that point with Manila by the American troops. By the acquisition of the railroad General Otis has succeeded in driving a wedge in between the insurgent forces and has insured the prompt transportation of reinforcementes and supplies, and is now ready to devote all his energy to the death or capture of Aguinaldo and the men with him, and, according to officials of the War Department, this ought not to be a difficult matter, for they assert that Aguinaldo is not at Bayombong, but is in the province of Zembeles, to the westward of the railroad and bordering on the China Sea, endeavoring to concentrate the detachments driven into that territory for the purpose of making another demonstration against the American forces. General Otis has shown, the War Department officials say, his ability to handle the situation with his present force, but before December 1, when the effects of the rainy season will have disappeared, he will have two-thirds of his reinforcements at Manila, which he will be able to put into the field. These reinforcements have not yet arrived, however, and General Otis in a dispatch to the department today shows that he is embarrassed for want of troops on account of the premature occupation of Zamboanga by the naval forces. The War Department officials say that the occupation of Zamboanga indicates that there is no harmony of action between Admiral Watson and General Otis.

OHIO'S OFFICIAL VOTE.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 20.—The canvas of the official vote in Ohio was completed this afternoon. It shows that Judge Nash's plurality is 49,023. The total vote cast was 908,159, divided as follows among the six candidates for Governor: George K. Nash (R.), 417,199; John R. McLean (D.), 368,176; Seth H. Ellis (Union Reform), 7799; George M. Hammell (Pro.), 5825; Robert B. Bandlow (Socialist Labor), 2439; Samuel M. Jones (Non-Par.), 106,721.

The plurality of John A. Caldwell (R.), for Lieutenant Governor over A. W. Patrick (D.), who was supported by the Anti-Saloon League, is 12,720. An analysis of the figures shows that about 40,000 electors who voted for Jones for Governor failed to vote for any other candidate for State office. The Non-Partisans drew their strength about equally from the Republican and Democratic parties.

THE HAWAIIAN BILL

Early Action Predicted by Senator Cullom of Illinois.

WILL PRESS THINGS SHARPLY

Favors a Territorial Government for These Islands But Not for Other New Possessions.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Senator Cullom, who was chairman of the Hawaiian Commission, has announced his intention of reintroducing on the opening day of the Fifty-sixth Congress the bill providing a territorial form of government for Hawaii. He will urge action upon this measure, insisting that it should be disposed of before Congress gives serious consideration to any legislation for other insular possessions.

"The Hawaiian bill," said the Senator tonight, "has precedence, and, in my judgment, there ought to be early action upon it. Congress during the coming session certainly ought to provide a form of government for both Hawaii and Porto Rico, but Hawaii should come first. Congress could have adopted a form of government for Hawaii at the last session, and probably should have done so. The Hawaiian Commission, consisting of Senator Morgan, myself and Congressman Hitt, having made a full investigation of conditions in the Islands, had reported a bill to Congress providing a form of government, but the weighty matters which pressed upon Congress in consequence of the war with Spain prevented the Hawaiian bill from being taken up. The people of Hawaii have now waited a whole year upon Congress without a murmur. They are loyal, patriotic Americans, and they appreciate the causes for delay in giving them a representative government. These causes no longer exist, and they have a right to expect early action."

"Do you think committees of Congress should be sent to Porto Rico and the Philippines before any bill creating a form of government for those islands is considered by Congress?"

"I think it might be well to do so. But probably in the case of Porto Rico it may not be necessary. The Porto Ricans are thoroughly loyal to the United States. There has never been any disposition among them to question our sovereignty. It may be that Congress can legislate satisfactorily for them without Congressional committees visiting the island. That will appear later. But whether it is necessary to send a committee of Congress to the island or not, some form of government for the Porto Ricans ought to be provided before the conclusion of the coming session."

"Will the bill reported by the Hawaiian Commission for the government of the Hawaiian Islands serve as a model for a form of government for Porto Rico?"

"It may be of some use, but I doubt if it would answer in all particulars. The Hawaiians are a very different sort of people from the Porto Ricans. The Hawaiians are fully Americanized and have demonstrated their capacity for self-government. They speak the English language for the most part and understand American institutions. With the Porto Ricans it is different. They have never had any experience in self-government. Their training under Spain has not been such as to qualify them for it. Few of them speak the English language, and few have, as yet, a proper appreciation of the principles of our republic. In the beginning, therefore, they may need a different form of government from that which we will provide the Hawaiians. The difference will be in details; the underlying principles, of course, will be the same."

In reference to the reported intention of the President to appoint a civil governor for Porto Rico immediately, it would seem as if the program to appoint Assistant Secretary Allen of the Navy Department has been suspended. The President told Senator Foraker on Saturday that he doubted now whether he would make any civil appointment in Porto Rico until after Congress had had a chance to legislate on a form of government for that island and Hawaii. It would seem from this remark that the subject has had very recent consideration at the White House and that Senators have advised the President to go slow in the appointment of civil governors. The question of revenue in Porto Rico to support the island will be a difficult problem to determine.

Among the luncheons to be given during the coming week is one by Mrs. F. A. Schaefer which will take place on Tuesday.

Mrs. Marsh, wife of Capt. Marsh, who was recently ordered to Manila, left for her home in the East by the steamer Coptic.

Sunday Dr. and Mrs. J. S. McGrew entertained the members of the Boston Lyric Company at their country residence, Aiea.

Mrs. Dodge, of Boston, is visiting her son Mr. F. Dodge. She is accompanied by Miss Dodge, a sister of the famous Gail Hamilton.

Dr. Walter Maxwell, who left by the Miowera for Queensland, to be the guest of that government, will be greatly missed in society circles.

Mr. W. G. Irwin will entertain at his Waikiki residence on Sunday the friends of Mr. H. M. Sewall, who are expected to arrive on the Nippon Maru.

About sixty invitations have been issued to the little friends of Miss Carmen Vida for a party to be given in her honor at the residence of Mrs. J. S. Walker, King street.

Hon. W. N. Armstrong, who has been connected with this paper for so long a time, left for the States on Tuesday. His departure is regretted by all and society loses a leading member.

SATURDAY : : : DECEMBER 2

Admiral Dewey is waking up to the unpleasant fact that the donors of a gift house always feel that they have a string tied to it.

There are a good many candidates for next year's honors over on the Mainland but the "Tagalogical" candidates seem to have the worst chance.

Everybody but the professional news-liar seems to be censored nowadays in South Africa. The man with the plain story, telling whether a battle was fought or not and if so how it came out, is never in fashion there without a muzzle, a gag, a hobble, an attending spy and a standing threat of the guard house in case he shows himself at a telegraph station.

The trouble which has led to such serious fighting in Colombia is partly due to the hard times caused by rapid fluctuations in the currency. The Government has issued vast sums in paper money and it continues to issue them on a depreciated financial market. No people have ever been willing to endure that sort of thing indefinitely and the Colombians, in fighting over their misfortunes, can cite more than one distinguished precedent.

An interesting feature of today's Advertiser is the society column, in which is a record of the week's festivities and social movements. This sort of thing has long held place among the undeveloped news resources of Honolulu and Hawaii, but the Advertiser intends to make a strong effort, in which it hopes for the friendly encouragement of the Island hosts and hostesses, to make the column a permanent and attractive addition to the journalistic menu.

It was of course to be expected that some reaction would follow the extreme popular adulation of Dewey but there is no just pretext for it in the transfer of his recently acquired house to his wife. Had Dewey sold the house the critics could not go too far in characterizing the breach of taste or even of good faith; but the house remains in the family and is vested in a lawful heir. Why the Admiral chose to make this disposition of his property we do not know, and, speaking as a part of the public it is none of our business. Probably, if the reason were known it would be deemed sufficient to justify the act.

The reappearance of Signor Celso Caesar Moreno as an agitator in the affairs of Hawaii nei is sure to follow the advent of Robert Wilcox in Washington. Signor Moreno is profoundly impressed with the merits of Our Bob as a statesman and incidentally with his prospects as a land claimant, while Our Bob recognizes in the noble Italian that fellow feeling which makes good men kin. It will be a rare sight when the two Hawaiian-Italians sally forth from their macaroni haunts and beard the Congressional lion in his den and it is a pity that it must be denied to so many of their mutual friends and admirers in these Islands.

The oil boom in California is making fortunes for people who took it at its flood, among the number several men who do not need them. M. H. De Young, proprietor of the San Francisco Chronicle, always a superlatively lucky financier, has cleared up $100,000 on an investment of $1,700. Some oil-land owners came to him and offered him a fourth interest in the property providing he would put up a certain amount for development. He accepted and by the time he had spent $1,700 in boring, a "gusher" was opened up. The property was then sold for $400,000, of which amount Mr. De Young pocketed 25 per cent. His earnings in sugar and industrials during the past year have also been very large.

It is a question whether Hawaii, even at the risk of having its Americanism impugned, can afford to be eager for the annexation of the Philippines. To be sure the Philippines are in American hands and, as President Schurman points out, the country is bound to maintain law and order there if it can and to work out the problem of civilization. Still there is nothing in the way of selling the archipelago to some other civilized power, which would act for us by proxy, providing the party of the second part will buy, and if that is done Hawaii will be benefited in a very practical way. It is bad enough to have to compete with Cuba in the American sugar market by and bye, without counting the enormously productive Philippines into that category also. So if the Philippines finally go elsewhere we, as Hawaiians, will have no reason to shed tears.

MAKING HASTE SLOWLY.

First the blade, then the ear, then the full corn in the ear. That is the theory upon which self-government under the pending Act of political organization for Hawaii will work out. We cannot think it is other than just and sensible; and it is essentially American inasmuch as all Territories of the United States go through the same evolutionary process. The seed is planted when the preliminary steps for the organization of the new political entity are taken; the ear of corn begins to form in the exercise of the limited right of self-control which Territorial rule permits; the full corn in the ear is Statehood. Here is an evolution which runs few risks and takes no chances and by means of which Hawaii is sure, in time, to realize its best and highest aspirations. But if we demand first the full corn in the ear we invite the failure of our husbandry.

With due respect to the native vote we still contend that it would be perilous to let that vote control the major part of the administration of Island affairs under the appointed Governor as it could and would do if the plan advocated by the Star were carried out. Moreover the Governor would be thereby reduced, save for his veto power over enacted bills, to the merest lay figure. We should have no very different civil service than we had under the monarchy and much of the same personel. How would that comport with the ambition to Americanize Hawaii? The native, belonging though he does to the "most advanced of the dark races," hardly claims for himself the capacity, nor does he seek the responsibility, of setting up and carrying on a distinctive American government here. That is a task for Americans, not Polynesians. Left to themselves, as the probable majority vote of these Islands, the Polynesians would doubtless elect and ordain a good native government as such governments go. But there would be very little Americanism in it and we are not prepared to surrender that boon even to confer an educational advantage on the aboriginal inhabitants. It is better for Hawaii to have American rule than native rule and for that reason the Governor appointed by the President will himself name the great officers of State. Deprive him of that right and confer it on the natives and he becomes but little more than the immaterial chairman of a government which, in its character, its methods of business and its personel will bear a fateful resemblance to that which went out, with a general good riddance, in 1893.

In due time, of course, all officers, from Governor down, will be elective. But let us hope when that time comes, the Americans or the affiliated white races of American sympathy will not only be in the majority but that the natives themselves will have become Americanized and ready, as they are not ready now, to follow our national way of doing things instinctively. They will learn and unlearn fast after the seed corn has been planted. It will be their privilege to practice American politics in the purely local field where their power to work mischief and exalt demagogues will be limited. Having gained fitness there the question of investing them with higher responsibilities may then come up. Judging the native politician by his past we contend that, in no other than this cautious and evolutionary way, could Hawaii be safely governed. And safe government is the sine qua non of progress and prosperity.

THE TERRITORIAL BILL.

Senator Cullom is right in insisting that the Hawaiian bill shall be taken up in Congress ahead of any other work of insular reorganization. Hawaii has been seeking admission to the Union as a Territory for seven years, come next January. Since the 6th of July, 1898, these Islands have been accepted by the United States as a national possession, subsequently coming under the flag by formal transfer. For considerably over a year we have waited for the finishing touch to be put upon our Territorial aspirations and in common fairness we ought not to be compelled to wait much longer.

There is no good reason for delay. The case of Hawaii presents no such difficult problem as that of Porto Rico and of the Philippines. Unlike the people of the East and West Indies the dominant Hawaiians are Americanized—"thoroughly so," as Senator Cullom says. We have very little if anything to unlearn before coming into the privileges of American citizenship. There is no danger of an uprising among us. All but the actual recognition of Americanism is with us now. No harm can be done, no good left undone, no complex problems created by simply passing the Territorial bill and letting us go our way.

We agree with Senator Cullom that it would be unjust to treat Hawaii as captured or conquered territory. Hawaii is as well-fitted for the Territorial form of self-government as was New Mexico, Arizona the Oklahoma strip or Utah before they were admitted. But that is poor praise. There are safer citizens here in the dominating political class than Arizona, New Mexico and Utah had in the beginning and there are more men capable of working out a high degree of culture and civilization than there are today in the State of Nevada. Under such circumstances why should we be kept out any longer than, say, the first of the coming year? No good can be done the United States by holding Hawaii in suspension; much discomfort and some harm might result from it here.

Senator Cullom may be trusted to push these views to the uttermost. We know of no one in Congress as yet, who intends to seriously antagonize them and if any one gets in that frame of mind it should be the business of our unofficial delegates to Washington to see that he does not lack for dissuading information.

A November Outlook reports that the annual Missionary Council of the Protestant Episcopal Church, which convened at St. Louis during that month, took up the question of prelates for Porto Rico and Hawaii. "At present," the Outlook says, "there is a Bishop at Honolulu but he belongs to the Anglican Church. Since the Islands have become a part of the United States, the churches must also be under American jurisdiction." It is disappointing to be unable to say what the Missionary Council concluded to do, but as that body—which is composed of bishops and priests—always forbids the publication of its minutes there is at present no means of finding out. We venture the guess, however, that there was not much difference of opinion about incorporating the Island church with the American Episcopate as soon as the permanent form of civil government here is adopted, or about consulting the wishes of the Hawaiian churchmen as to the personality of their future diocesan shepherd.

If Sir Redvers Buller whips General Joubert he will have the distinction of beating the best field commander who has shown himself anywhere since the Franco-German war. The honors thereby won will entitle him to a place in the peerage. The fact will of course impel General Buller to extraordinary efforts and we shall see a determined advance movement the day he gets in touch with the enemy.

A PARTY AT EWA

Manager Renton and Wife Entertain.

Anniversary of Marriage on Thanksgiving – Dancing and Music.

Thursday evening manager and Mrs. Geo. F. Renton of Ewa plantation gave a dancing party to the white employees and residents of the plantation, including the American colony who are planting cane on shares, and also a few friends from Honolulu. It was the fourteenth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Renton as well as Thanksgiving Day. The large residence was tastefully decorated with bamboo, ferns, palms and sprays of other trees. A large American flag hung draped in the arch between the two main rooms which were brilliantly lighted with incandescent electric lights.

The music was fine, the guests were lively, and all present enjoyed themselves greatly. A lunch was served at 11:30 after which the dancing was continued till nearly one o'clock. One of the enjoyable features of the occasion was an Irish jig performed by Mr. D. Douglas. At the close all joined hands, sang "Auld Lang Syne," gave three hearty cheers for Mr. and Mrs. Renton, and returned to their places of abode, cherishing many kindly feelings toward the host and hostess for their generous entertainment, which will undoubtedly be remembered for years to come.

Among those present were the Misses Templeton, Miss Winne, Mr. Templeton and Mr. Cooley from town, Mr. and Mrs. Murdock, Douglas, Christianson, Tieman, Richardson, O'Dowda, Lampe, Brown, Myhres, Mulholland. Misses Wores, Stevens, Farmer, McCullough, Eklund. Messrs. Kinney, Campbell, May, Nelson, Thirkield, DeFreest, Coombes, MacLeod, Brown, McKeever, Farmer and Paine.

IN THE COURTS.

A Ten Years Sentence—Acquittal in the Denny-Armstrong Case.

A sentence of 10 years imprisonment with hard labor was yesterday morning imposed by Judge Perry on Detogni Marcello, convicted on Wednesday on a charge of manslaughter in the second degree.

The jury in the Denny-Armstrong conspiracy trial in Judge Stanley's court, returned a verdict of not guilty at about 4:35 yesterday afternoon and defendants were discharged.

The trial of Tam Tai and four others for unlawful assembly at Waianae has been continued till next term.

In the case of Maigawa Kuitaro (Jap) charged with assault with intent to kill, the jury returned a verdict of guilty of "assault with a weapon eminently and obviously dangerous to life," and defendant was sentenced by Judge Perry to imprisonment at hard labor for eighteen months.

E. C. Macfarlane has filed an appeal against the commissioners award in re the widening of Beretania street.

Application for a new trial by defendant's attorney in the case of C. Kane, sentenced to six months imprisonment and costs on a charge of larceny in the second degree, was yesterday refused by the Court. A further application for time in which to file a bill of exceptions was granted.

St. Clements Fair Today.

The great fair of the ladies of St. Clement's Chapel takes place today at the late residence of Mrs. Gulick, King street, opposite the Arlington hotel. The whole affair is characterized by the greatest taste, and is most creditable to the authors and workers. In fancy work, the display is very beautiful, there being many specimens of excellent work of various kinds. The dolls are so pretty that any child without one may well be consumed with envy. Silver and glass ornaments are in the latest fashions and are the most suitable that could be obtained in London and New York. All these and many other things most suitable for Christmas presents can be found. That the ice cream and refreshments will be of the best goes without saying. No pains has been spared to give pleasure to the public, and to enable them to purchase the best articles at the lowest cost. The fair will be open from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. today. The admission is 25 cents.

THE GOOD TIMES

Their Effect on Political Outlook.

Democratic National Committee Fear That They Will Re-elect President McKinley.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—The Democratic national executive committee, with National Chairman J. K. Jones in the chair, spent most of today in a room in the Sherman House, discussing matters pertaining to organization, ways and means and administration affairs of the committee. The committee will meet again tomorrow, and, it is expected, will not get through with business on hand before night.

Nothing was aid about a meeting of the national committee, but it is the opinion of most of the national committeemen that the full committee will be called to meet in Washington on February 22, and that the National Democratic Convention will be held the latter part of May or the first of June. Mr. Jones would say nothing about calling the committee.

The committeemen were very uncommunicative as to what was done at the meeting. Secretary Charles A. Walsh said the committee had transacted no business of interest or importance and had only considered administrative affairs. After the meeting had adjournd, however, some of the committeemen continued the discussion of the probable situation next year. They disclosed the fact that a considerable part of the committee's sitting had been devoted to discussing the probable effect of high prices on the campaign of 1900. It was said that several members of the committee are of the opinion that if present prices of manufactured products are maintained next year, with plenty of work in sight, the Democrats will "have a hard row to hoe" unless they can show farmers and workmen they are not getting an equivalent increase for their farm products and labor.

It is the purpose of some of the committeemen to organize a bureau of information and education, whose duty it shall be to gather accurate and definite information relating to trusts, cost of manufacturing, selling prices to jobbers and middlemen, selling prices to consumers, wages paid and cost of raw material. They believe that they will be able to show that the present high prices are the result of trusts and combinations and that workmen have been given but a small proportion of the increase in selling values.

This idea has assumed such tangible form that it is predicted W. H. (Coin) Harvey will be placed at the head of the bureau. None of the committeemen would admit this matter had been discussed. It is proposed to engage a large staff of men to gather information which can be used in an anti-trust campaign.

There did not seem to be any disposition to shelve free silver as an issue; all the committeemen said free coinage was in the platform to say, but none of them said it would be the dominant issue.

Congressman William Sulzer of New York appeared before the committee. He said trusts would be the issue in the next campaign. James F. Minturn of New Jersey told the committee practically the same thing. Senator Pettigrew of South Dakota and Charles A. Towne of Duluth, both of them Silver Republicans, told the committee that free silver was still a live issue in their States.

There was a strong feeling among the committeemen present in favor of holding the national convention earlier in the year than has been the custom. A number of the committee expressed themselves as being in favor of holding the convention in April or May, preferably the latter month. A strong delegation was present from Milwaukee to press the claims of that city. No delegation was present from any other city. It was not within the province of the executive committee to take action regarding the convention but it was freely admitted that the offers of all expenses paid and a bonus of $50,000 to the campaign fund, which had been made by Kansas City and Milwaukee, were conducive to very favorable consideration of both cities.

Congressman Sulzer of New York managed to put some strong props under his ambition to be the minority leader of the House in the next session of Congress. He received promises of aid from Illinois and other Western States, and a number of Southern votes were promised him. When he left tonight for New York he claimed sixty-three votes, fifteen short of the number necessary to give him the place.

It was announced at the conclusion of the meeting that a gathering of Silver Republicans would be held in Chicago on or about November 27.

GREAT SEIZURE OF PEARLS.

Ten Thousand Captured From Smuggler Bock—Old Shoes Full.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Ten thousand smuggled pearls of all sizes, some imitation and some genuine gems, were taken to the custom house today and spread out in Collector Bidwell's office. They will be taken to the Appraisers' stores, where the Government will pass on their values. The pearls were seized by Special Treasury Official Theobald from Francois Bock, a dealer in jewels and gems, of Providence, R. I. Bock was arrested on the French liner Bretagne, but preceding him had come a cable message to the customs officials telling that the Providence man had pearls of great price in his possession. To the inspector Bock declared he had nothing dutiable. He declared he was going to Mexico and said nothing about his business in Providence.

Special Agent Theobald and the inspectors made a rapid examination into his baggage and in his pockets. In Bock's trunks were three pairs of worn shoes, tied together, heel and toe, and wrapped compactly in newspapers. Inside each pair of shoes were many packages of half pearls. There were two quarts of the gems altogether. They were of all sizes, and until the experts examine them it will not be known what are genuine and what are imitation.

These half pearls are used extensively in the manufacture of jewelry, but the imitation article is expensive. Both true and false are dutiable.

When the officers had secured all the pearls from Bock's trunk they examined his wearing apparel. In the inside pocket of his topcoat they found a package containing some beautiful specimens. In the tail pockets of his coat were found pearls, and there were more in the other pockets. The customs officers are inclined to think the pearls on his person imitation. A rough estimate of the value of the entire seizure is $50,000.

Bock does not speak English. He said he was born in Austria and had gone from Trieste to Paris. Special Agent Theobald has learned of a trip that Bock made from Paris to this country last May, and regrets that bock's baggage was not searched at that time. Bock spent Sunday night in the police station and today was taken before United States Commissioner Shields and held in $5000 bail. He said he had no means of securing bail and went to Ludlow-street jail.

Treasury agents say they have no evidence to show that Bock had any accomplices.

TEN SHIPS ASHORE.

The Straits of Magellan Strewn With Wreckage.

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 20.—According to reports brought in today ten ships are ashore in the Sraits of Magellan. The steamship Kurdistan, Captain Lalehale, reported six and the Heedless, Captain Miller, reported four. Each vessel came through the straits bound here for coal, and had an extremely rough voyage.

While off the Patagonian coast the wrecked vessels could be discerned, but owing to the heavy weather and the treacherous formation of the coast line neither vessel dared approach, and the names of the wrecked steamships or fate of the crews could not be learned. The wrecks stretched for several miles.

Judging from a former experience of the Kurdistan, the crews of the wrecked vessels may have been devoured by cannibals. The Kurdistan was disabled in the straits once, and the crew was obliged to give battle to the maneaters.

BUYS CUBAN PROPERTY.

Carnegie Company Invests Heavily in Island Values.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, Nov. 20.—Rumors current for several weeks culminated today in the definite admission by officials of the Satanillo and Moroto Railroad and the Ponupe mine that both properties had been sold to the Carnegie Company. The Ponupe mine is considered one of the richest manganese mines in the world. It has a practically unlimited deposit of ore assaying 65 per cent. The railroad, which holds a Spanish construction concession to Manzanillo and Guantanamo, is now a paying property fifty miles into the interior.

Mr. Carnegie's representatives have been active in the district for a month and have received options on many valuable iron and manganese deposits along the line of the proposed railroad.

WOULD YOU BELIEVE

The Statement of Some One in New York Quicker Than That of Someone in Honolulu.

Supposing you had a bad back; that is one that was weak, lame or caused you hours of suffering? Sometimes you had headache, and you would feel worn out, listless and played out generally. In such condition what would you most desire? Relief and cure. So would we all and so you can if you will listen to the advice of your neighbors. You may have tried many things without success; perhaps you read of some one in New York who was cured of a similar affection and tried his remedy; The failure may have made you skeptical. What you want in way of proof is the statement of a citizen of your own town, someone you can inquire of how he found relief. Now, that's just the kind of proof we are going to give you here.

Mrs. N. Joseph lives at the corner of Liliha and King streets, this city. She states as follows: "I was troubled for seven months with a lame back, and also suffered from occasional attacks of chills. These various complaints made my condition by no means a happy one, so that I much desired some remedy which would bring relief. This I found in Doan's Backache Kidney Pills, some of which I obtained at the Hollister Drug Co.'s store. I am pleased to say that they gave me not merely temporary but permanent relief and I have not the least hesitancy therefore in recommending Doan's Backache Kidney Pills. They are a good kidney medicine."

Doan's Backache Kideny Pills are for sale by all dealers at 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50. Mailed by the Hollister Drug Co., Ltd., Honolulu, wholesale agents for the Hawaiian Islands.

A HEROIC SOLDIER

Stops a Runaway on King Street Yesterday.

Kauhai Badly Injured—A Gentleman Rewards the Soldier for Saving His Daughter's Life.

A runaway on King street yesterday resulted in a sad accident to the old native Kauhai, who has been such a familiar figure about the Bishop bank corner, and further brought forth an heroic deed performed by a member of the hospital corps, who is attached to the 38th U. S. A., aboard the transport St. Paul, and for which the young man, whose name is A. Opperman, was thanked for his manly act.

Hack number 195 stands at the I. X. L., corner of King and Nuuanu streets, and yesterday morning was second in the line, with the driver standing on the sidewalk. The horse began sidling away from the line, and by the time the driver discovered its movements, had gotten out of the way of the hack in front. The driver made a grasp at the bridle, and his action startled the animal which immediately started at break-neck speed down King street toward Fort. No damage was done until Fort street was neared, when the horse suddenly veered into the mauka sidewalk in front of J. H. West's paint store, between Mr. Waldron's carriage and West's delivery wagon. At this juncture the enfeebled old native was just about to step upon the pavement when he was run down and fell under the maddened animal's hoofs, rolling beneath the wheels, and being thrown with terrific force upon the pavement. The horse again turned into the street capsizing the hack. Just as the horse was about to dash up Fort street, A. Opperman leaped forward, caught the bridle, and with main force and true grit held on and turned the animal until its head was almost within the door of the saddlery shop on the corner. Although a powerful animal yet the daring soldier was able to control the runaway and handed it and the rig over to the police.

As to Kauhai he was picked up by willing citizens, still conscious, and carried into West's store, where he was immediately attended by Surgeon-Major Maus from the transport Hancock. Upon examination, it was found that his left leg had sustained a compound fracture, the bone protruding. An impromptu bandage was prepared by the surgeon who also strapped the injured limb to a plank. The old man remained quiet throughout, never murmuring, even when placed upon the stretcher and taken to the Queen's Hospital in the patrol wagon. There at latest accounts he was resting easily, but his emaciated condition and age are likely to prove barriers to his recovery, as the shock to his system was sufficient to make his chances doubtful.

At the time of the accident the street corners were crowded with pedestrians, and the quick and brave action of Opperman undoubtedly prevented a repetition of the accident to the old native. Some citizens who observed Opperman's action were highly pleased and a purse in recognition of the deed was raised and will be presented to him before the St. Paul leaves.

Last evening a gentleman called at the Advertiser office and left $20 with the editor for presentation to Mr. Opperman in recognition of his coolheadness and self-sacrifice in stopping the runaway. The gentleman stated that the young soldier's action undoubtedly saved his daughter's life, or saved her from severe injury, as she was directly in the path of the plunging animal, and had it not been for young Opperman's promptitude, would have been run down. The gentleman, who desired that his name be withheld, took this method of expressing his gratitude. This sum of money will be in Mr. Opperman's hands today.

WHARF AND WAVE

Steamers and Windjammers Arrive In the Harbor.

TRANSPORT DUKE OF FIFE'S TRIP

Cape Horn Delays the County of Merioneth—Collier Bloemfontein Discharging.

Four wind-jammers and two big steamers came into the harbor yesterday. Early in the morning the United States army transport Duke of Fife, from San Francisco, was off the port and soon after the big British freighter Abergeldie came in the channel from Yokohama with Japanese immigrants. During the day the American barkentine W. H. Dimond and bark Mohican, from San Francisco, and British bark County of Merioneth, from Liverpool, all with general cargoes, came to anchorage in the stream, followed late in the afternoon by the British bark Cardigan Castle, with coal for the United States quartermaster, from Newcastle. The Duke of Fife and Abergeldie anchored in the stream and the Japanese passengers of the Abergeldie transferred to Mauliola quarantine station. During the ferrying of the Japanese one of the boats was capsized throwing the occupants into the shallow water close to the quarantine wharf. There was quite a scare for a while. Men, women and babies all did their share of the yelling, but they received nothing more than a good wetting, which was taken good naturedly by all. The Mohican got a berth up town and the W. H. Dimond will commence discharging soon as possible, as both these vessels have cargoes on board which are greatly needed by the local tradesmen. The Cardigan Castle, with her 1,700 tons of coal, was hauled alongside the transport Garonne at Oceanic wharf and began discharging into her bunkers immediately. The County of Merioneth's cargo consists of general merchandise much needed in the coming holiday trade, and every effort will be made to get her a berth.

TRANSPORT DUKE OF FIFE ARRIVES.

The British steamship Duke of Fife, with 870 men and 23 officers of the Thirty-eighth United States Infantry and 100 recruits and casuals, yesterday joined her consort, the St. Paul, which, with the other companies of the regiment, arrived Thursday afternoon. The Duke of Fife sailed from San Francisco on the morning of November 21, bringing one day's later news. She was delayed on the way down by her machinery getting out of repair, which will be put in thorough order before sailing for Manila, which will probably be about next Monday in company with the St. Paul.

The officers of the Thirty-eighth Regiment on board are: Major C. H. Muir, commanding; Captains D. F. Allen, R. A. Nichols, J. L. Jordan, J. S. Powell, C. L. Greenstead, W. H. Collier; Lieutenants G. D. Arrosmith, J. E. Morris, J. L. Krarmer, A. J. Brown, R. F. Woods, R. Blanchard, P. Hitt, E. G. Abbott, W. C. Hudson, J. R. Marwell, D. G. Mendell, R. B. Ellis. Captain T. S. Dewey is surgeon, G. H. Jones assistant surgeon and Captain J. Newton quartermaster. Lieutenant F. A. Thompson is adjutant. The officers of the Duke of Fife are: Captain J. S. Cox, First Officer G. Mills, Second Officer A. Hawkins, Third Officer T. Tutt, Fourth Officer L. P. Cole, Chief Engineer C. Gleddon and Purser G. Bishop. The Duke of Fife is a British ship of 3,117 tonnage and was formerly of the Queensland Royal Mail line, running between London and Queensland. She has been chartered by the United States Government for six months with an option of twelve.

NOTES.

The Bloemfontein is discharging at the Railway wharf.

The barkentine Skagit returns to the Sound this afternoon.

The freighter Carmarthaenshire, from Yokohama, is expected today with Japanese immigrants.

The ship Antiope arrived in Tacoma from Honolulu November 19. The barkentine Eureka arrived there on the 17th.

Supercargo Charlie Everett was being welcomed by the waterfront yesterday. He returned after a visit to the Coast by the Mohican.

The County of Merioneth's long voyage of 163 days from Liverpool, which ended at this port yesterday was caused by a Cape Horn experience which the skipper will not care to repeat. For forty days the Merioneth stood on and off this dreaded point baffled by adverse winds. Just as he was about to give up a fair wind came along which brought the vessel into the Pacific.

The immigrants from Japan on the Abergeldie number some 684 souls, about 500 of whom are free laborers possessing $50 necessary to land them. Twenty-five thousand dollars is a good deal of money to yield as a guarantee on one steamer, but the passengers of the Abergeldie seem to have it.

THE KINDERGARTENS.

Supervisors Meet—Report of Miss Laurence on Work in Hand.

The general condition of the various kindergartens is satisfactory. Where there has been trouble and inconvenience in former years, there is betterment now; as witness the dreaded process of vaccination which this season has passed without mishap, and, to the great gladness of all concerned, the ordeal is almost over.

Miss Laurence reported Thanksgiving festivals very happily planned and carried out. She said Thanksgiving is past, but Christmas is yet to come; shall the children be able to celebrate it to their hearts' content? They ask so little to give them joy! What shall we do? From whence shall come the funds? Last year one of the teachers, the Portuguese directress spent from her small income, not to disappoint the little ones in making and giving gifts to their parents.

There are hundreds of our citizens who wish well towards the children. Will these kind friends seal those wishes with a dollar-stamp this year? The little ones do not so much care for having things, it is the joy of giving, as well as of receiving, "of keeping Christmas," that so pleases them; and so it should, for are we not, old and young alike, alive to these same pleasures?

In the Hawaiian kindergarten Miss Bray was found at the head of her contented band, cheerful and capable. The Japanese had had their Thanksgiving gathering in Emma Hall in their own room, where the picturesque dots enjoyed the feast apparently as well as they could on the soil of Japan.

At Palama Miss Rice gave the children music that suited them and a Thanksgiving to remember. A taro patch is coming forward there under the care of the kindergarten forming a sort of practice-school for them.

South street also had its happy time on Thursday. Its hedge of green is growing, its anti-malarial trees started. Madame La Victoire spoke for the Castle Memorial Kindergarten on King street. What they are trying for there is to teach each member to do his or her part for the good of all; to have a share in responsibility; to get an idea of a home. The garden is to yield its lessons in simple science, setting the table for luncheon and lessons in order and neatness.

MILITARY DRILL

Forty-Fourth Regiment at Makiki.

Col. McClernand In Command—Excellent Work—Many Spectators Present.

Colonel McClernand, commanding the Forty-fourth Regiment, U. S. V., marched his regiment out in three-battalion formation to the baseball ground at Makiki yesterday afternoon at 3 p. m., where dress parade was given. The march from the Hancock was made up King street and thence into the ball grounds. The band containing twenty-seven pieces and sixteen buglers played splendidly, marching at the head of the column. Behind them came Col. McClernand with his regimental staff, consisting of Major Lippett, Captain Forbush, Captain Stuart, Lieutenant Jackson and Lieutenant Barry.

All three battalions were uniformed in clean new Khaki uniforms and presented a fine appearance. The national and regimental colors were carried in the second battalion, and were new and brilliant, both inscribed, "44th Infantry, U. S. A." Upon entering the grounds, in which was already gathered a large assemblage of spectators in carriages and afoot, the band marched to the Waikiki end facing mauka; each battalion formed to the left of the band, four companies to the battalion, the Hospital corps with stretchers taking up the extreme left of the line. Colonel McClernand took the position usually occupied by a reviewing officer, his staff in attendance. After the battalion commanders had reported all accounted for in their respective commands the band "sounded off" and marched in review before the regiment.

The manual of arms was a surprising feature of the review, the precision and snap throughout eliciting great applause. The Colonel has a loud well modulated voice and every command could be heard distinctly. For a new regiment the drilling was performed with a degree of excellence that would be a credit to many of the older regiments. Each company then marched past, with rifles at "port arms," breaking into column of fours at the double quick.

It had been arranged to pass before President Dole at the Executive building but before reaching there it was discovered that the President was away. Colonel McClernand regretted the inability of the President to review his troops as he takes a great pride in their appearance and make-up.

With so many companies and battalions out drilling yesterday, including the 38th Regiment from the St. Paul, Honolulu put on quite a martial aspect throughout the day.

JUDGE A. McWAYNE.

Resolution on His Death by Court and Attorneys of North Kona.

Early on the morning of the 22nd the residents of leeward Hawaii received telephonic account of the decease of Albert McWayne, who for more than three years had been the magistrate for North Kona.

In response to a call many of Kona's business men and citizens generally gathered in Kailua court house on Thursday the 23rd, and the following resolutions, drawn by Attorney Harry G. Mills, were presented to the Court. Acting Judge Clark presided and an appropriate address was made by Attorney A. Lindsay who was an intimate friend of Judge McWayne. Eloquent tributes to the late Judge were also delivered by Attorneys Greig, Aiu and Mills. The latter gentleman remarked that the tone of the Court had, under deceased, been raised to a high standard and the loss was one to North and South Kona in very many ways; for a good citizen, a pioneer planter, a home builder, and a kind physician, who was an acceptable healer and confidant of native Hawaiians, had passed away.

The following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God to remove from amongst us Judge A. McWayne;

And, whereas, deceased was, for a number of years, the resident district magistrate of North Kona, Island of Hawaii, and in that capacity and office gained and held the high esteem of all those who came in professional contact with him;

And, whereas, it now seems fitting for some especial mark of the loss which the community has with real sorrow heard of. Now, therefore, be it

Resolved that we, Attorneys and Court officers of the Konas, who knew of the integrity and justness of the late Judge McWayne, do hereby express our deep regret at his demise and tender our heartfelt sympathies with his whole family. And, be it further

Resolved, That the foregoing be this day spread upon the records of the District Court of North Kona, and a copy of same, with a letter of condolence, be forwarded to the bereaved family.

Done at Kailua, Hawaii, this 23rd day of November, in the year 1899.

Strong Bones

In speaking about Scott's Emulsion for children, you should not forget that it contains lime and soda, just what the child must have to form strong bones and good teeth. It's this forming time you want to look after.

Growing bodies must have an easily digested fat. Just think how much of it there is in milk, as cream.

Scott's Emulsion

is even more easily digested than cream. It's surprising how children thrive when given it.

Don't keep the children living on the edge of sickness all the time. Make them strong and rugged, plump and hearty. Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil and the Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda will do this for them.

BRILLIANT ENDORSEMENT.

By Health Journal of New York August 24, 1899.—J. A. Davis, M.D., Editor and Manager.

Only last week we examined the beer brewed by the Capital Brewing Company of Olympia, Wash., and it is a perfect illustration of the quality of beer which we are always glad to commend, for the analysis showed it to be entirely free from any trace of any injurious substance. Such a high grade of beer is most beneficial in its use, for none of the pure malt and hops have been displaced by harmful ingredients. Every hygienist will concur with us in saying that a beer of such superior excellence is a very wholesome beverage. Physicians often have occasion to prescribe a pure beer for cases of debilitation, and they can safely order this beer, made by the Capital Brewing Company.

L. H. Dee has in his keeping the American Journal of Health and can be seen by anyone.

This beer can be had in bottle or on draught at the HOFFMAN, corner of Hotel and Nuuanu streets. A large assortment of the very best of American and foreign liquors we are pleased to sell you and give you value for the benefit of your health.

PROPOSED CABLES

It is also to be apprehended that the construction of a direct line between North America and northern Asia will take the larger part of all commercial business; for who would cable from Vanvouver to Japan or China, via New Zealand, if he could reach these points in one-third the distance and time?

The All-British cable certainly does not follow established trade routes, and this objection was made to it by Mr. Lucas before the British commission. It is not a route that can secure the greatest amount of paying business. This is not, however, the only nor the most serious objection. The first stretch of 3,561 miles, from Vancouver to Fanning Island is 450 miles longer than any cable yet laid, and this extreme length makes this line very costly to build. The difficulties of laying the cable will be greater than hitherto experienced, because it is longer and heavier and because the sea is deeper, even to 3,000 fathoms for hundreds of miles at a stretch, with possible holes of greater depth. A known hole of 5,515 fathoms (not on the route) was brought to the attention of the British commission, as a warning of a contingency to be met almost anywhere in the south Pacific.

It is on account of this depth and length that the cost of maintenance is put at £70,000 per annum at 75c. or 3s. a word (three times the Atlantic rate) is estimated in order to earn gross £178,000, and even this sum is less than 4½ per cent per cent. net on the first cost.

Wires of 650 lbs. of copper per mile, or 96 lbs. more than proposed for a distance of 3,561 n. m., have a maximum theotetical speed of 60 to ninety words a minute, and the various experts reduce this to practical speed of paying business of from four to forty words per minute. This wide variation in estimate emphasizes the uncertainty of this experiment. This long north-and-south cable would, however, be free from the magnetic disturbances that are liable to cause trouble on northern land or sea lines.

So unpromising is this cable from a commercial point of view that it is advocated solely on sentimental grounds. It is called the "All-British" cable because it touches only British possessions. Its promoters deplore that Bird Island, 150 miles west, northwest of Kauai, and only 2,600 miles from Vancouver, is not a British possession. That it is not is because the vessel despatched to annex it as an unclaimed island arrived too late, the Hawaiian flag having been raised the preceding day. Now, notwithstanding an offer, a landing on Hawaii is distinctly rejected, because, in spite of the additional business from Hawaii, a station on foreign soil would at once deprive this cable project of the only argument with which it can be defended, namely that it is All-British.

Because it can never be made to pay commercially, the mother-land and all the colonies which this line touches are asked to contribute the capital required to build it, and its promoters refuse to consider an annual subsidy of £20,000 a sufficient guarantee to induce private capital to subscribe to the undertaking.

THE AMERICAN CABLE VIA HAWAII.

This route, as originally proposed, ran from San Francisco to Hawaii and thence to Japan, a rational and sensible route, yet a thousand nautical miles longer than from San Francisco to Yokonama, via the northern route. Recently, owing to the expansion fervor, its American advocates have copied in a weak and dilated way the British arguments and now suggest an "All-American" cable to the Philippines.

The stations are:

	n. m.
San Francisco to Hawaii	2,000
Hawaii to Wake Island	1,952
Wake Island to Guam	1,234
Guam to Philippines	1,454
Total	6,640

It has been openly charged that any cable reaching Hawaii will stop there, and the selection of Wake Island as the next landing place gives weight to this charge. Wake Island is a very small uninhabited coral reef thus described by Chas. Wilkes, U. S. N., who visited it in 1841. "Wake Island is a low coral one of triangular form, eight feet above surface. There is no fresh water on the island and neither pandanus nor cocoanut trees. The rise and fall of the tide was 3 feet. From appearances the island must be at times submerged or the sea makes a complete break over it; the appearance of the coral blocks and of all the vegetation leads to the conclusion, showing also that the violent winds or rush of the water when the island is covered are from the westward.

Wilkes' survey of this island was corrected in 1898, with the remark that the island is from five to fifteen feet above high tide with rise of tide about six feet. The last reports on the island are dated January 17, 1899, on which date observations were made by the U. S. S. Bennington, with the following remarks: "No anchorage. Entrance to lagoon closed. Island is in some places twenty feet above water. Nothing was seen to indicate that the sea breaks over it." In view of the fact that the barometric wave is eight feet, that the tidal wave following earthquakes is often forty feet, that storm waves in those vast reaches of the Pacific may be very high—it seems impossible that this island should not be frequently submerged, and while it has been suggested that a high tower could be built in which to land the cable and in which the cable operator might find refuge, the same authority also insisted that a ship should visit the island every few months and replace the employees, who by that time would probably be insane and playing havoc with the messages.

If the uninhabitable Wake Island is discarded as a cable landing, the stretch between Hawaii and Guam becomes 3,186 miles, and this is only slightly less objectionable in expense, difficulty, and uncertainty than the Vancouver-Fanning stretch of the All-British cable. Four surveys have been made from California to Hawaii. The depth found on all of these is from 2,500 fathoms up to 21,000 fathoms. Two surveys have been made west of Hawaii, and on one the depth reaches 3,287, and on the other 3,409 fathoms. A few miles southwest of Guam, the sounding is 4,475 fathoms, and, while this hole can be avoided, depths of 3,400 fathoms between Guam and the Philippines must be reckoned with.

It is highly desirable for the United States to have more direct cable connections with the Philippines than 14,000 miles, via Europe, and it is also highly desirable to connect Hawaii with the United States by cable; but this latter project should be considered on its own merits and, even if a heavy cable were now in operation to Hawaii, it would still not be a way station on a direct Asiatic line. All the Hawaiian business can be safely handled over a thin, and therefore cheap, cable. The Hawaiian Islands have a total population of 109,000, nearly all Asiatic coolies. The business is principally with San Francisco and in the hands of a very few firms, mostly American. No cable can greatly increase American trade with the islands.

This cable via Hawaii, not even the shortest route to the Philippines, owing to the length of its links, the enormous sea depths, the ocean wastes, is scarcely less to be condemned than the All-British cable. It can never be built without a subsidy that must amount to a guarantee of a substantial rate of interest on its entire cost, because the volume of commercial business over it will always be small. Its cost is estimated by Z. S. Spalding, president of the Pacific Cable Company, of New Jersey, at $10,000,000, and the cost of a cable to Japan, via Hawaii is estimated by Jas. A. Scrymser, president of the Pacific Cable Company, of New York, at $7,000,000 or $1,034 per mile.

It is not generally known that the nearest point in the United States to the Philippines is Cape Flattery, the northwest corner of the State of Washington, from which point the distance by air line or great circle, all the way to the Philippines, is 5,400 miles—700 miles less than from California, via Hawaii.

All the Atlantic cables follow great circles as closely as conditions will permit, but the two new Atlantic cables will diverge from this short course and be laid far to the south via the Azores because there is no other way in which the long single stretch from Ireland to Newfoundland can be broken into shorter links, and, notwithstanding the increased cost and greater aggregate length, there will be gain in speed and economy.

The western cable builder is more fortunate than his Atlantic forerunner, because in the Pacific the short great-circle route is also the route of shortest links. It does not run through the wastes of the Pacific, but follows closely the British and United States north Pacific coast, which is so rapidly growing in importance, runs through Dutch Harbor in Alaska, touches Attu, the last of the Aleutian Islands and until recently the most westward possession of the United States, crosses in short links to the Russian-Japanese boundary, with one branch to connect with the existing Siberian net-work of land lines, and the other branch to run down through Japan (Yokohama being on the air line), and onwards to the Philippines, looping, on its way from Attu to Manila, the whole of the rich Asiatic coast to North America.

THE GREAT CIRCLE CABLE.

	n. m.
Cape Flattery to Chirikof Island	1,254
Chirikof Island to Attu, via Dutch Harbor	1,262
Attu to Russian-Japanese boundary	643
Boundary to connection with Siberian land wires	528
Minimum of milage to connect with all Asia	3,687
Cable from boundary to Japanese land lines	693
Cable from Japanese lines to Philippines	600

This system gives two wholly independent lines from Russian-Japanese boundary to the Philippines—one line via Vladivostok, Pekin and Hongkong, and the other via the Japanese lines. To interrupt Asiatic communication, the United States would have to be at war with both Russia and Japan, or with Great Britain and Japan. In the former case, communication is still open as at present via Europe, and in the latter case danger on both Atlantic and Pacific coasts would be so great as to make communication with the Philippines a secondary matter.

Stretches of over 1,200 miles are given in the table, but the longest necessary link is 528 miles. Everywhere else this cable lies so close to land as to permit intermediate stations, whenever desirable. This makes it possible to use the Morse instrument, thus adding very greatly to the speed of transmission. It would be no serious matter to add a few miles to the length of these short shore lines and to run via Mary's Island, Sitka, and Cook's Inlet, with a branch to Juneau and Skagway, thus bringing the whole Alaskan coast into cable communication with the United States. This is a necessity which sooner or later must be met, and only those who have been in Alaska know the millions of dollars and the hundreds of lives such a line would have saved, had it been in operation during the last two years.

In the joy over the new island possessions with their Asiatic inhabitants, the United States should not forget that all the Philippines are only one-fifth the size of the enormous Alaska, to which there has been a rush of 30,000 of their citizens in the last two years.

Not the least important service of a cable, via Alaska, would be daily meteorological reports to the weather bureau from Dutch Harbor, Attu, Bering Island and Choumchoum Island—reports of incalculable value in all weather predictions for the whole United States; if this route had no way stations and led nowhere, its meteorological importance alone would justify a heavy expenditure of money. It will, however, be subjected to the same tests applied to the other proposed routes.

The way stations of importance are Juneau, Skagway, and Dutch Harbor. All the Alaska and Yukon business to the gold regions goes either by way of Juneau and Skagway, or by way of Dutch Harbor, and this business in and out amounts to $40,000,000 annual-

A Model Plant is not complete without Electric Power, thus dispensing with small engines.

Why not generate your power from one CENTRAL station? One generator can furnish power to your Pump, Centrifugals, Elevators, Plows, Railways and Hoists; also, furnish light and power for a radius of from 15 to 30 miles.

Electric Power being used, saves the labor of hauling coal in your field, also water, and does away with high-priced engineers, and only have one engine to look after in your mill.

Where water power is available it costs nothing to generate Electric Power.

THE HAWAIIAN ELECTRIC COMPANY is now ready to furnish Electric Plants and Generators of all descriptions at short notice, and also has on hand a large stock of Wire, Chandeliers and Electrical Goods.

All orders will be given prompt attention, and estimates furnished for Lighting and Power Plants; also, attention is given to House and Marine Wiring.

ly and is steadily increasing. It is in the hands of at least ten thousand active men, and, owing to the impossibility of mail transmission during many months in the year, there must be much cable business. The shipping and passenger interests are very great and steamers arrive at Skagway from the south almost daily carrying each month nearly as many American citizens and British subjects as all the coolies carried in a year from Asia to Hawaii. In local business, therefore, this cable will be much better patronized than either of the other cables.

The North American terminals are two of the most rapidly advancing regions in the United States and Canada, namely, the State of Washington, which in the last census showed a greater percentage of increase than any other State, and British Columbia, the most energetic of all Dominion provinces; for, while other parts of Canada cannot prevent their inhabitants from emigrating to the United States, British Columbia has to pass laws to keep out Americans, for fear they will overrun it. The Asiatic terminals are the already built Russian and Japanese lines, and this cable thus unites four of the leading and most progressive nations of the world. If the Philippines be considered the objective point, Asiatic Russia, Japan, Corea and China are way stations on the route. Alaska (including British Yukon) has a total trade of $40,000,000; Japan's foreign trade has grown from $59,000,000 in 1893 to $221,600,000, and in the same time her imports from the United States have grown from $3,000,000, to $20,000,000; Corea has a foreign trade of $10,000,000, Asiatic Russia of $51,000,000 China of $277,000,000—a total of $599,000,000, exclusive of the Philippines. With the exception of the Russian business, all of this will find this cable the most direct and cheapest route, not only to the United States and Canada, but to Great Britain, Germany, and France. The business, great as it is now, has but begun. Before the cable can be laid the Siberian Railroad will be completed to the Pacific. Already four Trans-Pacific lines of steamers run past Cape Flattery to Japan, a dozen different lines run up the Alaskan coast, there is a monthly service to Dutch Harbor. This activity sufficiently indicates that this cable is on the "track of trade."

The estimates for the southern cables were $7,500,000 and $10,000,000 respectively. For the short northern cable, to connection with both Russian and Japanese lines, the estimate is $2,400,000 or $500 a mile, which is $20 a mile more than the estimate of the British Commission (£53,000 for the 573 miles of British cable from Norfolk Island to New Zealand). Three million dollars will build the whole lines, including branches to Skagway, to Russia, and the 660-miles length from Japan to the Philippines.

The commercial rates now in force from London to Vancouver and Seattle are less than 35 cents per word, but the rate from London to Japan is $1.50, via Siberia, and $1.90, via Suez, and to Hongkong, $1.40. (From New York it is 25 cents per word higher.) A dollar-per-word rate from London to Japan, 75 cents from New York, 65 cents from the Pacific Coast (this latter being one-third the present rate), ought to secure a large share of the business, and, instead of asking Japan for $200,000 per annum and the United States for $175,000, which is a guarantee of 5 per cent. on the alleged necessity of spending $7,500,000, the Alaskan coast cable could well ask Japan, Russia, the United States and Canada between them to guarantee $150,000, unless otherwise earned. With such a guarantee and with its paying local business, this cable could dictate terms to the European-Asiatic lines and obtain a remunerative share of the business.

Not only is this cable in short lengths, cheap to lay and easy to repair, but the sea depths are not excessive. The deepest sounding between Sitka and Attu is 2,441 fathoms, the deepest between Attu and the Russian-Japanese boundary—(Choumchoum Island and Cape Lopatka) via Bering Island is 2,400, and the deepest in the Sea of Okhotsk is 1,848 fathoms. From its American-Canadian terminal to Sitka, a distance of 765 miles, the cable lies in shallow, smooth water, and breaks could be quickly repaired by a small tug boat. From Sitka to Chirikof Island it would add but a few miles to the distance to lay the cable within the thousand-fathom line. From Chirikoff to Dutch Harbor, 440 miles, the depth is but 137 fathoms. The cable should be laid through Onimak Pass from the south to the north of the Aleutian Islands, because the north side has better harbors, is freer from fogs and storm, has shallower and more even bottom, and is also in a more direct line. The pass is nine to ten miles wide in its narrowest part, is clear of hidden dangers, free from dangerous tide rips, and with less tidal current than any other pass. The cable should land in Unalaska Bay, which lies between Cape Kalekhta and Cape Cheerful, and is commercially the most important bay in western Alaska. On the east side of the bay are the important anchorages of Iliuliuk Bay, Dutch Harbor and Iliuliuk Harbor. Cape Cheerful, the western entrance to Unalaska Bay, is made of bold, very high headlands, intersected by deep grassy valleys. The shore is free from dangers and has deep water close to. In Dutch Harbor a wharf 200 feet long extends to deep water, and at the outer end large ships can lie.

Three objections have been made to the northern route. They are that it lies in perennial fog banks, that it crosses the track of severe storms, that owing to its northern path it is subject to magnetic interference. The truth is that the region is not more stormy or foggy than the north Atlantic, through which the thirteen European-American cables are laid. Nor is the ocean further south a region of perennial calm. In the spring of 1898 one of the large Nipon Yusen Kaisha steamers, on her way from Hawaii to Seattle, rolled almost continuously 45 degrees by pendulum measurement, and in September of the same year another steamer of 2,000 tons, which had safely in winter time made the trip from New York to Seattle around South America, was shaken to pieces 400 miles northeast of Hawaii. On neither occasion would it have been an easy task for any steamer, however large, to grapple for a broken cable in 3,000 fathoms.

Alaska generally seems subarctic, and the erroneous impression is conveyed that a cable via Alaska must lie very far north. In reality, all of it lies south of the latitude of Aberdeen, Scotland. It runs northward to Sitka (57 degrees north latitude), thence southwestward in an air line to the north islands of Japan. At Sitka it is but 300 miles north of the Atlantic cables landing on Ireland. Magnetic disturbance can be but inappreciably greater than in the Atlantic cables, and apprehension on this score may be safely dismissed.

There are no data by which accurately to estimate the probable amount of paying business on any cable line, but an estimate can be made of the fixed charges had from these the volume of business at a given tariff be stated, necessary to make the enterprise a paying one. The British commission has made such estimates for the All-British cable, and these give a basis for equally valuable guesses for the Alaskan Coast cable. For convenience of comparison these estimates are tabulated together.

British Cable—First cost, $10,000,000; Int. 5 per cent., Sinking fund 3 per cent, $800,000: Maintenance, $350,000; Operation, $110,000; Total, $1,260,000; No. of words to earn this at 75c. a word, 1,680,000.

Alaskan Coast Cable—First cost, 3,600,000; Int. 5 per cent., Sinking fund, 3 per cent., $240,000; Maintenance, $114,000; Operation $70,000; Total, $424,000; No. of words to earn this at 75c a word, 565,300.

There remains one more route to consider, namely:

THE OVERLAND ROUTE, VIA THE YUKON RIVER.

As is well known: the Western Union Telegraph Company attempted to explore an overland route to Asia and thence on to Europe (before the Atlantic cables were a success, and when it was still feared that so long a cable could not be successfully operated). It is said that several million dollars were spent in this attempt. Telegraph Creek, on the Stikeen River, in British Columbia, a place that acquired some prominence last year as a possible starting point for an all Canadian overland route to the Klondike, is in its name a reminiscence. At that time San Francisco was the nearest telegraph point on the Pacific coast, and nearly all the way to Bering Straits, a distance of 4,000 miles, was an unexplored wilderness. All this has been changed. The Yukon valley is now well known and travelled summer and winter from Bering Sea to Skagway. Over the worst part of it all, the divide between the Pacific and the headwaters of the Yukon, a telegraph line has been built, and was in operation last winter. A railroad runs over this pass, and the telegraph line has been continued well down towards Dawson. The Canadian Government has undertaken to put in the line between British Columbia and the Yukon valley, and thus Dawson will be connected by wire with the civilized world. A line of less than a less severe in climate and in snowfall than the upper Yukon, would connect Dawson with St. Michaels, the port at the mouth of the Yukon. Thence by a series of short cables, either via the American islands, St. Lawrence, St. Mathew and Attu, or from headland to headland on the Asiatic coast, the Russian-Japanese boundary could be reached.

One thousand miles of land line and two thousand miles of short cables would connect Dawson with the Russian or Japanese lines, but the objections to this project are many. Owing to the high latitude a long land line is very liable to magnetic disturbance, especially in winter; it is also liable to break-downs from storm and snow, which might interrupt communication for several days at a time. I have seen hoar-frost form a rope six and eight inches in diameter on the line north of Skagway, and break it down repeatedly. There might be even more trouble with the cables. Bering Sea is very shallow, its shores are ploughed by fields of floating ice, which might rake up the shore ends of the cables, and repairs, in case of break, would be impossible, except in summer time.

Which of these four routes shall be selected—or, unfortunately, shall two or more lines be attempted at once?

A great commercial enterprise is incompatible with a narrow nationalism. If the western coast of North America is to reap the Asiatic harvest, ready for the gathering, a direct Pacific cable must be laid to Asia, as business cannot successfully be transacted either via London or via Australia. If the United States and Canada are conscious of their imperial position between the two great oceans of the world, between the great marts eastward and westward, they will not long permit this last ocean to remain unspanned. Here is a great world market at their western door, opening a hungry mouth for food and clamoring for manufactures, both of which North America so abundantly and splendidly produces. In spite of their misunderstanding over the Alaskan frontier, Canada and the United States should join hands in laying the shortest and best cable to the oriental world, forcing European messages and European trade to come their way through the San Juan de Fuca Straits, with its cluster of American-British cities, through the great Columbia River to Portland, through the Golden Gate to San Francisco.

It is not an impracticable and ruinous national cable, whether British or American, that is needed, but a cable that will bind closer in friendship and in swelling trade relations the United States, Canada and Great Britain of the west—Russia, Japan, China and tropical Asia in the east.

Impoverished Blood

is the secret of half the diseases known to humanity—rheumatism, dropsy, scrofula, stomach and liver troubles may in a majority of cases be traced to the circulatory system. They can be avoided and they can be cured by the use of a remedy that supplies the necessary elements to enrich the blood.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People increase the red corpuscles in the blood and thereby give it new life and richness. They also tone up the nerves and are a specific for many serious disorders.

From the Journal, Carterville, Mo.

Mrs. Joseph M. Evans, of Carterville, Mo., says:

"Two years ago I had dropsy of the left limb so severely that my physicians said I could not recover—that it would be impossible to give me any treatment that would afford permanent relief. I had been sick about a year, and most of the time was bedfast. My husband spent over $300 that year doctoring me, with the result that the treatment of the physicians did me no permanent good. I steadily grew worse.

"My brother insisted that I try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I did so with some reluctance and without much hope that they would benefit me, but the effect was almost marvelous. The first box effected a change for the better in my condition, and I continued to improve steadily.

"I took about six months steady treatment, and kept them in the house and took them at intervals for a year or more afterward. The result is that I do not now feel a trace of my former ailments."

MRS. LUE EVANS.

Hawaiian Scenic Calendar

This popular Calendar for 1900 will be by far the finest piece of work ever gotten up for this trade. It now enjoys a larger circulation than all other similar calendars combined. The publisher found it necessary to get out a THIRD edition this last year in order to fill the large and increasing demand. (THE FIRST EDITION WAS 2,000.) This 1900 Calendar will be the "Ne Plus Ultra" Calendar of the year! Don't buy any but the best, and the friends to whom it is sent will bless you always and for aye! The following is an extract from a letter just received from the finest Art and Color Printers in Chicago, who have the printing of the "Hawaiian Scenic Calendar" for 1900:

"We will be able to furnish you with a piece of work as attractive and artistic as anything that has ever reached the Islands. We therefore appreciate the confidence you have placed in us, and we shall see to it that none of the details are slighted," etc.

The cover this year will be a copy of Hitchcock's painting of the Volcano in eruption last July, in oil colors, and the Calendar will give the temperature of Honolulu for every day in the year, with the rainfall for the past fifteen years. A new departure will be FOUR of the best pieces of Hawaiian music in the back of the Calendar, including the National Anthem. The Calendar will be put up in an extra heavy mailing envelope, and will be ready for delivery in time to reach the States and Europe before the New Year. The price will be 50 cents!

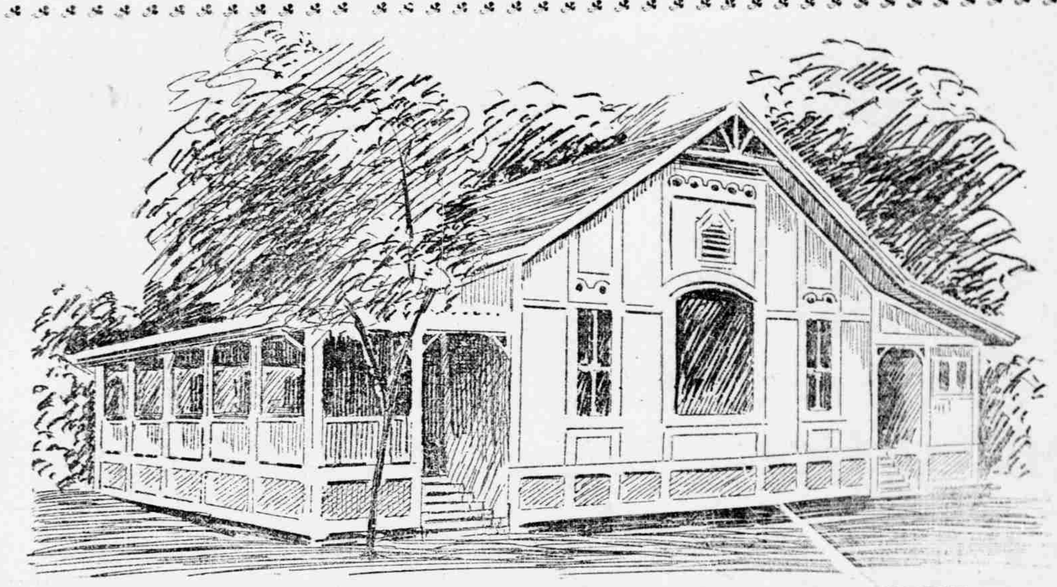
CASTLE MEMORIAL

A Charitable Gift for Kindergarten Work.

Description of Building—Madame La Victoire Talks of the Plans and Aims.

In connection with the charitable purpose to which the old Castle homestead on King street was dedicated a short time since, the gift of Mrs. S. N. Castle for charitable works, is another feature of the philanthropic donor's plan to do charitable work for the little children who are without home influences and whose young minds are in need of the training necessary to mould them for the education which in time they will receive in the city's schools. This additional charity is the Free Kindergarten dedicated to the memories of Henry and Dorothy Castle.



HENRY AND DOROTHY CASTLE MEMORIAL FREE KINDERGARTEN.

MRS. S. N. CASTLE.

Within the same enclosure which contains the large institution, is the attractive and commodious hall which has been reared for the purposes of the kindergarten work. The building occupies the corner space well back from the street and surrounded by large shady trees. Built of wood, with gable roof, built high above the ground, and lighted by large windows and sliding doors, it is well adapted to the educational and play work of the children. A large lanai which can readily be made a part of the large schoolroom by throwing open the sliding-door, is to be used as much as possible in order that the outdoor air and the sunshine can at all times reach the children.

The interior, containing one large room and several small rooms is a model of airiness and adaptability for the interesting kindergarten work. There is an air of inviting freshness and homelike feeling in the arrangement, in itself as much of an object lesson as the bits of ordinary kindergarten utensils, which form the basis of the children's daily education. One small room is termed the kitchen, which contains, in miniature, all the various articles for preparing and cooking a luncheon; there are twelve small oil-stoves mounted upon a low table, over which is a metal covering to hold the little receptacles for boiling water, and for making biscuits. Another room contains a bathtub, and even this room has its purpose in educating their little minds—that of cleanliness.

A large window facing upon the street bears the legend which designates the purpose of the charitable institution, "The Henry and Dorothy Memorial Free Kindergarten." The building was erected to memorialize Henry Castle and his daughter Dorothy, who were lost in the Elbe disaster four years ago.

Miss Florence La Victoire, the kindergarten director, came to Honolulu from Chicago, and was formerly associated with the University Elementary School, which is connected with the pedagogical department of the Chicago University. She studied under Dr. Dewey, who delivered the University Extension series of lectures here during the summer, and, although not a strict imitator, yet she follows his methods for developing the mind of the child. She believes in practical object lessons for children of the kindergarten age, and in such a climate as Hawaii has afforded for her purpose, has extended her practical object education to gardening, planting seeds and shrubs, and in watching their growth and cultivation.

In speaking of her work and her plans Miss La Victoire said: "Of course I have my plan of work, but first I will have to see how far it fits these children who have been entrusted to me, as I am dealing with a class of children entirely new to my experience, that is, foreign children; for I have Portuguese, Hawaiian, Japanese and Chinese children, and the work has to be greatly simplified before giving it to them. With all young children our object is to attract their attention and bring out the features which interest them and which do not tire or tax their minds. The child's play-life fits it for the life it is to live in its future years. Previously in my work I have been able to hold up the children's own homes as an ideal, but here the homes are not ideal. So you see our kindergarten has to take the place of a home and each child will contribute to the welfare of it.

"I have begun one feature of work which I know will be beneficial to them, and that is to have them get up a luncheon every day for themselves. Twelve of the children will get the dinner, another group will set the tables, and still a third group will work in the garden, and alternate in this work. This luncheon, too, is a practical object education, for it is their midday meal. Thus while their interest is greatly centered on the comfort the getting-up of the luncheon will give to them, it is intended through this play to give them an education, and to give them a chance to understand the prinples which govern the preparation of foods—the idea of heat and boiling water—and they then understand why they work in the garden to raise vegetables.

"Mentally, the children who have come to me 4 to 6 years of age, are about as far advanced as children of 3 years in the Eastern States, but this of course may be understood by saying that their fathers and forefathers are more used to manual labor than to mental development, which brings out the race proclivities. In choosing work for the children it is very necessary to chose work that does not tire the child's brain or bring on nervousness. We can get plenty of work of passing interest out of them without an educational value, so while we deal with the play interests, it must be educational play; otherwise there would be nothing in the subject to warrant its existence to make it of educational value. A kindergarten is not a day nursery, but is a school which is governed in its play and work by scientific principles of mental development.

"In the old systems of kindergarten work there were symbols and certain kinds of mechanical work which appealed to the older people; but this really meant nothing to the children, and was lost on them in time. The methods of practical education which we have begun here are of such a combination of work and play, and are such as to develop their ideas of numbers, of the utility of certain things which they are being taught to use, that they are sure to be of great advantage when they begin their actual school life."

Forty-five children are now regularly enrolled at the kindergarten, and Miss La Victoire is well pleased with the beginning of the kindergarten education which has been so generously provided by Mrs. Castle.

Succeeds H. P. Weber as Assistant to Attorney General.

The appointment of Mr. J. W. Cathcart, as assistant to the Attorney-General, will be made this morning. Mr. Cathcart comes from St. Paul, Minn., and obtained his early training in law in the office of Davis and O'Brien, one of the foremost firms of attorneys in the United States. He is 39 years old, and came to Honolulu a little over a year ago, with very strong recommendations from his old chief, Senator C. K. Davis, who it will be remembered, was a member of the Peace Commission at Paris. Soon after his arrival here, Mr. Cathcart entered into partnership with W. C. Parke and practiced his profession in the courts. He is considered an exceptionally well informed man, and his appointment is regarded with much favor.

RECORDS OF OFFICERS.

Distinguished Service Officers Now With the 38th.

Few of the regiments that have thus far arrived at Honolulu en route to Manila contain so many veterans as the 38th U. S. V. not only among the enlisted men, but the officers as well. With one or two exceptions the officers have been recommissioned, many of them for gallant action in the Spanish war. Colonel Anderson, a major in the 6th Cavalry, spent many years of his service in the frontier army posts and is an Indian campaigner. Majors Muir and Holbrook are both captains in regular service and were promoted for bravery in the Santiago campaign; Major Goodier was Colonel of the 22d New York; the Surgeon, Major Glennor served with distinction on General Lee's staff in Cuba; the Adjutant, Capt. B. A. Read, also served on the Southern leader's staff as assistant Adjutant General; the Quartermaster, Capt. W. G. Fleischauer, was captain of a Michigan regiment; Ordnance officer, Lieut. Pavey was a captain in the 4th Illinois; Captains Weber Moore, Nolan, Valden, Powell and Jordon held the same rank last year in the volunteer service; Capt. Collier was a major; Captain Allen has been an officer in the service off and on since the civil war. More than half of the 1st Lieutenants are experienced company commanders having been captains in last year's campaigning; Lieut. Doane, the 38th's "Adonis," served with Bryan in the 3rd Nebraska; Lieuts Kelly, Morrison, Krebs, and Howard were Captains in Southern regiments. In fact nearly all have had years of training under the eyes of veteran officers. Among the Second Lieutenants there are men of merit, Lieuts. Thornton and Johnson having served in Cuba as junior officers, while Lieut. Wonde was then a captain in the 10th "Immunes."

Of the remainder, Lieuts. Bury, Weimhimer and Husmer were appointed from the ranks for distinguished service, the latter from the navy for his performance of a singularly brave deed in the line of duty.

The Colonel is highly pleased with Honolulu and the reception accorded his regiment. He is anxious to reach the Philippines where the fighting qualities of his regiment can be brought out.

CABINET MEETING YESTERDAY.

Conclusion Reached in the Harbor Extension Matter.

The Cabinet held a short session yesterday morning at the usual hour. There were present President Dole and Ministers Young, Cooper and Mott-Smith. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

After discussion the Cabinet advised President Dole to grant a reprieve to Ihara, as recommended by the Council of State, to the third Friday in July, 1900.

The matter of harbor extension was again taken up and discussed and an agreement was reached touching the extension on the north line. It is expected that the formal conclusion relating thereto will be made out at the regular meeting on Monday next. It has been decided not to give out the agreement reached until the authorities at Washington are heard from in the premises.

Educational Report.

The Minister of Public Instruction, A. E. Mott-Smith, is quite busy at present preparing his biennial report and making out the required estimates for coming appropriations. The report will be of much interest this year owing to the rapid advance in educational matters here during the past two years.

"The Merry War" will be presented by the Boston Lyric Opera Company this evening.

This address has been given in many cities of the U. S. Chaplain Bateman enjoys the distinction of having served under General Shafter in the Santiago campaign and has received honorable mention in two books on the Spanish-American war. He is a life long friend of the Y. M. C. A.

There will be a prayer meeting of the workers at the Y. M. C. A. tonight at seven o'clock. All active members of the Association are invited to come.

Chaplain C. C. Bateman of the U. S. Army and W. F. Gloeckner, Army Y. M. C. A. secretary, met with the Worker's Bible class last night and gave short talks on the lesson. Chaplain Bateman spoke of some of his experience in the army work before Santiago, Cuba.

Mr. F. J. Cross will give a lecture on "Wireless Telegraphy" before the Triangle Literary Club Monday evening at 8 o'clock, and not four o'clock as has been announced. All membrs of the Association are admitted to the lecture.

The Y. M. C. A. Athletic park on the corner of Beretania and Alakea streets is now ready for use, the members are already training there, preparing for the athletic contest between Kamehameha and the Y. M. C. A., to be held December 16th at Kamehameha.

First Game of Basket Ball

The first exhibition of basket ball for the season will be played in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium this evening at 8 o'clock, between the "business men" and the "evening class." The admission is free and ladies are invited. A series of games will be begun in the near future, in which six teams will take part. The following is the line up for this evening:

Orpheum Matinee.

The success of last Thursday's matinee has induced the Orpheum management to announce another at the popular house this afternoon and thenceforward on every Saturday. This afternoon's performance will equal in every way that of last Thursday. It is the intention of the management to inaugurate a series of souvenir matinee performances, commencing with next Saturday afternoon. The program last night was well received by a fairly large audience, including a number of officers and men from the transports in the harbor. The sketch by Mr. and Miss Fletcher was exceedingly well rendered and Miss Fletcher was compelled to respond to a double recall for her clever descriptive work. The Misses Llewelyn were in fine voice and were also in strong demand, and Dreyfuss and Hearde scored again in their sketch "Off to the War."

His Life Threatened.

A member of the Garonne's crew called at the station-house last night and complained that another of the ship's company had threatened his life for having taken the part of the wounded man in a stabbing affray at sea.

His version of the affair is that while sitting in a saloon last night the man accosted him and exposed first a revolver and then a large clasp-knife, with which latter weapon he threatened to cut complainant's heart out. An officer near by was called upon to protect him, but the man had in the meantime disappeared and a search proved unsuccessful although participated in by a number of patrolmen. The threatened man refused an escort to his ship and later on left in a hack for a hotel.
