COUNTY JAIL LAXITY, 'LENIENCY' OF JUDGES DENOUNCED BY JURORS

Territorial Tribunal in Comprehensive Reports Gives Result of Probe Into Many Local Affairs During 1915—Investigation of "Jack" McGrath's Escape and Fred Gough's Story Detailed—Sentences Passed By Courts Criticized—Boys' Industrial School and Road Conditions Get Emphatic Comment

In one of the most comprehensive and far-reaching reports ever rendered by a territorial grand jury, the administration of the county jail is vigorously criticized and Sheriff Charles H. Rose is held responsible. The conclusions of the grand jury, reached after a year of work, were given to Circuit Judge Clarence W. Ashford at 10 o'clock this morning by Foreman James H. Fiddes.

Basing its findings on some of the stories told by Fred Gough, former inmate of the jail, and others, first brought to the attention of the public by the Star-Bulletin, the grand jury declares that the sheriff should have exercised greater care regarding the men, and that laxity exists at the city and county lock-up.

The report as presented is a typewritten document of 70 pages, of which 31 are given over to statistics regarding jail sentences and paroles. The other 39 pages represent one of the most exhaustive probes into and surveys of public affairs in the city and county of Honolulu that any official body has ever conducted.

The grand jurors, in one drastic section of their report, point out what they declare is an "excess of leniency" on the part of the territorial courts, and state emphatically that the double purpose of the law is most "woefully forgotten." They declare that penalties should be such as to deter others from crime, and point out also that serious crimes such as embezzlement and robbery are prevalent to a startling degree. The granting of paroles is also criticized.

Embezzlements Are Serious.

"We view with alarm," the jurors says, "the prevalence of embezzlement, as shown by the increased number of indictments returned by us during the past year under this heading. This increase has had very serious consideration by us and we have endeavored to ascertain if we could not make some recommendations to safeguard both employer and employe."

They add that, from their investigations, they have found that embezzlement has been made possible by lax supervision.

Before taking up the more weighty matters such as the county jail, boys' industrial school, roads and theaters, the grand jurors devote a part of their report to investigations of various public institutions in and about the city.

The veniremen declare they are favorably impressed with conditions at the home for non-leprous girls, and the work of the sisters of charity in caring for the inmates. It is urged that more money be given the institution, for the principal reason that improvements to the grounds may be carried out.

A contrast is noted in the report between the girls' home and the home for non-leprous boys. At the latter, says the jurors, there is a forlorn and uncared-for atmosphere, and the grounds and buildings of the institution are positively dirty. It is urged that the institution be moved to a more desirable locality, possibly in the vicinity of the girls' home, and that the two homes be run by the same management that governs the girls' home.

Praise for Dr. Schwallie.

Considerable credit should be given to Dr. Schwallie, the jurymen declare, for the efficient manner in which he is handling the difficult situation brought about by the crowded condition at the insane asylum. Two very urgent needs of the institution are pointed out in the report; first, that the overcrowded condition be relieved, and, second, the introduction of some light occupation for the inmates who are able to work. The conclusion reached by the inquisitors is that there are quite a few patients, both male and female, whose condition might be greatly improved by having some light duties to occupy their hands and minds. Some form of amusement also would be acceptable, the report says.

Except to make the suggestion that more money might be provided to supply a few luxuries to make the lives of the inmates pleasanter, the jurors' report has no recommendations for or criticism of the detention camp at Kalihi. The management is perfect, the report declares, and the jurymen are unanimous in their appreciation of the work of Dr. H. T. Hollman and his associates.

The grand jury did not visit the settlement at Molokai this year, but the members of the tribunal say that they have every reason to believe that the same efficient care is exercised at that institution as was seen at the Kalihi detention camp.

More Pay for Firemen.

The addition of a few men at each station, and the paying of higher wages to the fire-fighters, are recommendations made by the jury in commenting on the city's fire department. Other recommendations include the putting of the entire department on a motor basis, extensive repairs to the Makiki station, the erection of a new station on the Mauna Kea street lot and one in Manoa valley, and the extension of the department further into

Supervisors Rescind Water Investigation Fund, and Give Up Salary Boosts

Meeting in secret session yesterday from 9 o'clock in the morning until 5 o'clock in the afternoon, the supervisors held earnest consultation over their 1916 expenditures, and when the assembly broke up the former proposed budget was shaven and shorn. The budget as it stands today ready for adoption into the municipal fold is less by about $80,000 than the appropriation bill of last year.

Assuming that there were over-appropriations of $147,000 to meet, and that the July bill should be the same as the January one, the total for this year would be $77,979.75 over the estimated revenue. This meant that one-half of the excess stated should have to be trimmed off the demands for the six months ending June 30, or $38,989.87.

Water Appropriation Rescinded.

It was decided to rescind the resolution appropriating $20,000 for a water investigation. Then came an appropriation of the entire balance of circuit court expenses for 18 months, lately made by special resolution on the advice of the first deputy attorney. As only one-third of the amount could fairly be charged against the current six months, two-thirds of the item was cut out.

Next an extra $600 a month to Koolaupoko for roads was cut off, the district being taken care of in the belt road arrangement, with part of its small road taxes reserved for cantonier work. The Honolulu police item was reduced $2500, still leaving the sheriff the additions to the force he asked. Parks, general fund, was cut $500 a month.

Honolulu roads maintenance was left at $10,000 a month, the same as for some months past, and all out of the road tax fund.

The decision to repeal the water investigation resolution was not altogether a matter of particular moment. Originally the money was voted, on the advice of Jorgen Jorgensen and J. T. McCrosson, two of the most eminent hydraulic engineers in the islands, with a special view to tunnel-

COMMITTEE WILL SEND $1000 TO AID POLISH SUFFERERS FROM WAR

A round thousand dollars, given by the people of Hawaii, will be forwarded within a few days to the Guaranty Trust Company of New York City expressly for Polish relief. The money now is in the hands of James A. Rath, secretary-treasurer of the local War-Relief Committee.

The first appeal for relief for the menu, women and children of war-ridden Poland reached Hawaii only a short time ago and the money now in hand for this purpose shows that the response in Hawaii has been speedy and generous. Mr. Rath reports that, to date, about $80,000 has been sent out from Hawaii to assist war sufferers in various parts of Europe.

NEW ALARM SYSTEM AT POLICE STATION

Honolulu police will use the same system for "checking in" and reporting fires that is used in nearly all cities on the coast when the new Gamewell system, now being installed in the police station, is ready for use. The indicators will be set in the rooms which have heretofore been used for the examination of detained prisoners, and by the captains and provost guard. New flooring will be put in this week under supervision of Building Inspector Henry Freitas.

The new system is arranged to provide for all boxes needed at present and is large enough to accommodate all which may be put in in the future, the extension of the system to any desired part of the city merely requiring a new box to be put up.

STORM SWEEPS MAUI BUT HARM LUCKILY SMALL

Kahului Harbor Wave-Racked and Claudine Unable to Make Port

SOME DAMAGE TO ROADS, PLANTATIONS LITTLE HURT

Much Snow Falling on Lofty Haleakala; Skies Clearing Today

(Star-Bulletin Special by Mutual Wireless).

WAILUKU, Maui, Jan. 10.—Maui has been gripped and torn in the tremendous storm of the past few days. Old-timers declare it the worst that has raged for many years, and the continuous rains are particularly unprecedented.

The Inter-Island steamer Claudine was unable to make the port of Kahului either on Saturday or Sunday. Kahului harbor is in the worst condition of years from the storm. For the first time in 12 years, say the old residents, Maui has had tremendous rain over the whole island.

No very serious damage has been done to roads except that the high water makes the Wailuku-Lahaina road service impassable. The mail service on the Valley Isle is demoralized. In Iao valley the storm was the most terrific in years. The bridge is partially gone and the ragmg torrent washed out the large vegetable gardens along the stream. No lives are reported lost. On the high levels the cold is severe and on Haleakala there is more snow than observation has ever before shown.

Plantations, however, have not suffered seriously.

Unusual thunder and lightning were experienced yesterday. This morning the weather is clear.

CITY GANGS AT WORK TO CHECK STORM RAVAGES

Honolulu and Outside Islands Alike Soaked By Heavy Downpour of Rain

Gangs of city employes worked all day yesterday and all last night taking turns to keep the storm drains open and prevent high heads of water from backing up and causing damage. It is due largely to the hard work of these men that the property loss has been kept down as much as it is.

Trouble men were also kept out by the Honolulu Rapid Transit Company in the same sort of work, and linemen from the electric and telephone companies put disordered wires back in shape here and there about the city.

In the Makiki district where the storm dains showed signs of weakening, an unusually large detachment of men was sent to cope with the storm. One flume which takes all the water from the Makiki elevations threatened to wash out under the strain. If this should occur a great flood of water would sweep down on Liholiho, Kewalo and Piikoi streets. The Makiki district lighting system was out of order for two hours Saturday night.

Watchers Busy All Night.

Braces were driven int the bank against the flume yesterday afternoon, and watchers weer kept at it through the night.

Makee island in Kapiolani park was completely under water yesterday, but no great damage is reported. Tides from the ocean sweep in against the outlet of the stream that drains past the island, and thus prevent its free passage to the sea.

Athletic park is suffering the worst drenching that it has seen in years, the water sweeping down over it from Liliha highlands. Chinese residents have been put into a state of much discomfort by the high water in the vicinity.

Queen street paving which is composed of wood blocks is continuing to cause trouble by buckling and the street is in a miserable condition. Kakaako is deep in mud, and garbage trucks are unable to force an entrance to the dumping grounds.

Duck Ponds Flooded.

Between two and three score men have been kept on the watch constantly since the storm first began to show signs of making trouble. Duck ponds out Waikiki way are deeply flooded, and residents of Kalia road had difficulty reaching the street car this morning.

Sweeping down upon the settled district along Kunawai about 1 o'clock this morning, a high wind did much damage by overturning houses and other buildings.

Mr. and Mrs. Redell and their baby were asleep in their house at the time, being tumbled out of bed into the storm but suffering no permanent injuries. Mr. Redell was struck on the wrist by a piece of tin roof blown from another cottage several yards away, but the injury is not severe.

The wind also wrought havoc with a garage which was being built on Kunawai lane by David Bray, automobile driver. The building was tumbled over into the lane and badly wrecked.

Up to noon today the present storm had not yet equalled the records established by the wet seasons of November and December, but the sun is shining only fitfully and every indication, according to old-timers about the city, is that the rain will continue.

Total rainfall for January now stands at 7.29 inches, and of this amount 6.66 inches has fallen during the present storm which began Friday.

This morning in the four hours from 8 o'clock to noon .12 of an inch of rain fell. From 8 o'clock last night until 8 o'clock this morning .84 inches were recorded, and from 8 o'clock yes-

PRESIDENT MAY TAKE STUMP TO ARGUE DEFENSE

Mr. Wilson Possibly Will Speak in Number of Cities on Military Needs

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 10.—Vigorous efforts are being made and planned by the national administration to impress upon Congress and the country that the administration's program of military and naval expansion is justified by its view of the facts.

It was learned today that the president will possibly put the question of national defense before the country in a series of speeches, in order to assist in getting the necessary legislation through Congress. Many cities are inviting the president to speak before their people.

That the administration and the military experts are working together to secure enlarged defense facilities was further apparent today when Gen. Hugh L. Scott, chief of staff of the army, testified before one of the congressional military committees. In the event of war the United States would need an army of from one to two million men or must "accept disaster," said Gen. Scott.

He reiterated Secretary of War Garrison's vie wthat if the plan for a continental army fails there is no escapes from compulsory military service.

Germans Report Hartmannsweilerkopf Recaptured; Say East Front Unchanged

The following cablegrams from official German sources were received yesterday:

"German Headquarters Report, January 8—Eight Germans conquered by surprise a trench on the south of Hartmannsweilerkopf, capturing 60 chasseurs. On most part of the west front activity is hindered by bad weather.'

Yesterday's Situation.

"German Headquarters Report, Jan. 9—South of Hartmannsweilerkopf near Hirzstein the Germans yesterday took the last trenches which on December 21 fell into the enemy's hands, imprisoning 20 officers and 1083 chasseurs. Fifteen machine guns were also taken."

Today's Situation.

The following cablegram from official German sources was received today:

"German Headquarters, January 10—The Germans northwest of Massiges, near the farm of Maison de Champagne, conquered several hundred meters of the enemy's positions and trenches. Four hundred and twenty-three French, among whom are seven officers, are captured. Five machine guns, one large and seven small mine throwers, were taken.

"The French counter attack westward of the farm failed.

"A German air-craft division attacked the enemy's rear-guard establishments in Furnes.

"On the east front the general situation is unchanged. The advance of stronger Russian detachments near Selestianmy was repulsed."

TERRITORIAL GRAND JURY REPORTS ON YEAR 1915

SUPERVISORS FLAYED FOR WASTE OF MONEY ON ROADS OF ISLAND

Too Much Politics Principal Trouble, and Work Too Temporary, Grand Jury Says

That too much money is being spent on road work in the city and county of Honolulu which, at best, is only of a temporary nature; that too little work of a permanent nature is being done, and that conditions along these lines might be relieved in some measure by the application of the frontage tax, are some of the conclusions reached by the territorial grand jury, after an inspection of the highways, as outlined in its report presented to Circuit Judge C. W. Ashford today.

Appended to the grand jury report is a report of the city engineer covering the period from January, 1913, to May, 1915. Attention is called to one item of $35,000 for maintenance in the Honolulu road department, which shows that, for each dollar expended in the period, it cost 80 1-2 cents. "This is a bad enough showing," the grand jurors declare. "But take into consideration that the money actually spent for maintenance is probably not more than 50 per cent efficient, and you have a state of affairs that is appalling."

It is pointed out that, in the district of Honolulu, where it cost $80.50 to spend every $100, there was expended in May $5720 for equipment. Specific instances have been brought to the attention of the roads committee, the report says, where road work was begun, and in fact completed except for the surfacing, and then allowed to stand for extended periods until it was washed out by rain, necessitating the work being done over again. The report adds that there are cases where ordinary prudence and the expenditure of a few dollars at the time would have saved the city considerable sums of money.

The conclusions reached by the grand jujry in its roads investigation are as follows:

Too Much Temporary Work.

"First: Too much money is being expended for work which at best is only of a temporary nature, much of which is only begun and then allowed to drag along until washed out by heavy rains, and has to be done again, and too little work of a permanent character. This condition may be relieved, in some measure, by the application of the frontage tax.

"Second: That efficiency rather than party affiliation be made the qualifications for employment in the road department. This principle should apply from the engineer to the man with the pick and shovel. Results should be the only criterion. The laborer who loafs on the job should be displaced at once; the overseer who fails to keep his men busy should be fired, and the engineer who cannot make good, lose his official head with equal promptitude.

"Operate the road department on the same principle that any private business is conducted. Eliminate waste and extravagance; place the heads of the department on the job unhampered by having to carry the pets of his political boss on the payroll. If this end cannot be obtained under the present system of party government it is strongly urged that our local control be vested in fewer hands and made more sensitive to the will of the people through the medium of the recall. This is the only practical solution that presents itself to the jury."

Belt Road Is Rapped.

Considerable criticism is presented by the grand jury regarding the belt road, of which it made a thorough inspection. That portion of the road from Honolulu to the Pali was found to be in fairly good condition, with a little resurfacing needed in some places, while the road from the Pali to Kahana was found to be in an exceedingly bad condition, due, the jury believes, to unintelligent supervision. Drainage of the roads was found to be insufficient; the road is filled with ruts and numerous small slides have hindered travel.

"As a remedy for the evils above enumerated," says the report, "the cantonier system is suggested by which method small slides would be removed as they occur, the ditches kept open, and the roads crowned so that water would drain to either side and vegetation kept from encroaching on road-beds. With such a system in vogue and the installation of sufficient culverts to carry off the water, it is believed that the life of the roads would be greatly extended and the safety and convenience of the public promoted."

Waiahole Road "a Reproach."

Waiahole road is branded by the grand jury as a reproach to a civilized community. Nothing has been done to repair this road in years, says the report. "Compelling school children to wade through such a mud hole is a public scandal," declare the jurymen. Severe criticism is given the manner in which work is being done on about 400 feet of road near Kualoa. Repairs to all roads should be taken up when first needed instead of waiting until the road bed is gone, say the jurymen.

The most feasible plan in caring for road problems, says the report, is the flotation of bonds and expenditure of the money thus acquired in constructing new and permanent road beds wherever required from Haleiwa to the Pali. Such expenditures, the jury believes, should be in charge of a commission of competent engineers who are familiar with island conditions and "who know more about road building than of local politics."

Roads in the Kahuku and Waialua districts, as well as from Haleiwa to Honolulu, were found to be in excellent condition. The jury found that many of Honolulu's streets are suffering from long neglect, the Beretania extension from Alexander street to Moiliili being particularly mentioned in this respect.

Bad Roads Given Hard Raps

COURT PRAISES CAREFUL WORK OF 1915 GRAND JURY

Judge Ashford, in Brief Address, Thanks Tribunal for Faithful Work

Following the presentation of their final report, the members of the territorial grand jury for the 1915 term today were dismissed by Circuit Judge Ashford.

In dismissing the jury, Judge Ashford devoted a few minutes to thanking the members for their diligent and untiring service.

"From my reading of the report," Judge Ashford said, in part, "I consider it one of the ablest and most thorough documents of its kind ever presented to this court, or to any other court in the territory, by a grand jury.

"It is something which I trust every voter and taxpayer will read. It contains food for thought. It displays a marked degree of industry and devotion on the part of the grand jurors which is highly commendable.

"I feel that all that has been said in the past by this court to the grand jury is amply justified by this report, and if nothing had been done by the grand jury save the preparation of this report, still the report itself is worth all that has been paid to the jury in the way of fees and mileage. It is in itself a splendid justification of the position taken by the judge of this court when he first took the bench.

Beyond Mere Routine.

"The report shows that the duties of the grand jury have extended far beyond the mere ordinary matter of sifting cases and finding indictments. While I do not believe in government by grand jury, I do believe that the grand jury should be made a useful factor in inquiring into the general features of the government.

"From the report just presented, it is manifest that the grand jurors thoroughly appreciated their duties, privileges and responsibilities. Gentlemen, the court parts with you with extreme regret, and hopes that your successors may prove as devoted to their duties as you have been. If they act as attentively, intelligently and conscientiously as you have throughout the year, then they will have great cause for congratulation and felicitation."

The first meeting of the new grand jury is scheduled to be held in the judiciary building at 2 o'clock next Thursday afternoon.

TOO MUCH WORK, TOO LITTLE PLAY, CAUSE OF WAIALEE SCHOOL MUTINY

Cheerless Regime at Institution Condemned By Grand Jury; Personal Touch Needed

"We very strongly condemn the principle which seems to pervade the whole atmosphere—that the boys are put there for the purpose of working rather than of making better citizens of them."—From territorial grand jury's report on Boys' Industrial School, Waialee.

A feeling which appears to prevail at Waialee that the inmates of the school are placed in the institution to turn out the greatest possible amount of industrial products is strongly denounced by the members of the territorial grand jury in their final report presented to Circuit Judge Ashford today.

Several pages of the report are given over to an exhaustive account of the jury's visit to and investigations of conditions at the school, as well as many concise and apparently well founded recommendations. A few weeks ago the grand jury indicted 15 of the inmates on a charge of unlawful assembly or alleged "mutiny." The boys were acquitted after a trial, and it was largely on account of their testimony regarding conditions at the school that the grand jury's personal investigation was made.

The first thing to which the jury calls attention is the lack of care of the school's grounds, and recommends that some effort be made to clean them up; also that attention be given to keeping the woodwork and tables in the dining-room clean. ... ...

Find Feeling of Enmity.

Emphasis is laid on the proposition that, in the minds of the jury, the so-called insubordination at the school has come largely through lack of proper administration. While this fault is not laid at the door of any particular individual, it is borne out by testimony, the report says, that there is a feeling of enmity between the administration and inmates of the institution.

"We are of the opinion that only a certain degree of reliance should be placed on the statements of the boys of the institution," the jurymen say, "but nevertheless some credence should be given their story and their appeal should be listened to."

The jurymen believe that the recent escape, taken part in by 54 inmates, was brought about largely by the curtailing of their rations. The power of strapping the boys, the report continues, hardly appeals to the boys as much as the power of reasoning. More play for the boys and more guards are recommended. It is further pointed out that there should be raised at the school only those things necessary for its maintenance and that absolutely nothing should be sold.

Going further into the matter of discipline, The report says that the employes of the school are not sufficiently imbued with the policy of kindness towards the inmates. The matron, the report adds, has caused considerable of the trouble, if the jurymen may accept the statements of the boys. Her services, however, are not condemned by the tribunal. It is recommended that a man be employed who is an expert in farming.

A strong stand for more amusements is taken by the grand jury. It comments as follows:

More Play Necessary.

"Amusements in the school, in so far as we were able to judge, are extremely limited, and we want to very strongly condemn the principle which seems to pervade the whole atmosphere—that the boys are put there for the purpose of working rather than of making better citizens of them. A certain amount of work never hurts any person, but a certain amount of work and a greater amount of play is certainly conducive of the best in any youth.

"There is an absolute lack of association between the officials of the school and the inmates. Ball games, tennis, football, basket-ball, marbles, tops and all play which boys are accustomed to, would, in our opinion, help to maintain a greater degree of discipline than any other means which could be adopted. What would be more conducive to a spirit of congeniality in a boy than to have the teachers become a part of them in their sports; help to make up a baseball nine or a football eleven to contest between other teams of the school made up partly of teachers and partly of boys. We firmly believe in the theory that the boys there should be made to work, but if the hours of work are shortened and the hours of play increased, we believe that the same amount of work could be accomplished and in a better spirit."

Try Military Trainning.

The jurymen suggests moving pictures, a band and, possibly military training for the school. It is urged that a professional cook be employed, and that the superintendent have absolute authority over everyone—boys and teachers alike—and that he should be empowered to employ his own help, including teachers and guards.

The jurors add that they would like to see the whole atmosphere surrounding the school changed so that the boys might find an incentive to do better and make men of themselves, rather than to be imbued with the desire to escape, and harbor a perpetual grudge.

COUNTY JAIL LAXITY, LENIENCY OF JUDGES, DENOUNCED BY JURY

the suburbs, particularly into Nuuanu valley.

Commenting on the gambling situation in Honolulu, the grand jurors, in their report, do not bear out the charges made by another local daily paper alleging incompetency on the part of the police and the detective department to suppress this vice.

"It was apparent that there are few gambling games running in Honolulu," the report says, "although we understand that the lottery, known as chefa, is being conducted in a number of instances, but is gradually being eliminated. As to the lottery, we understand from the police authorities that it is very difficult to secure evidence against the conductor or manager of the lottery; the agents are being continually arrested, and if a jail sentence were imposed, instead of a nominal fine, it would have a tendency to suppress the activities of the bankers. We have no positive proof that there is any protected gambling in Honolulu or elsewhere on the island of Oahu."

Liberty Is Safe Theater.

That the Liberty is the only theater in Honolulu which is built to conform with the present ordinance, is the finding of the jury after a visit to the Liberty, Bijou, Asahi, Empire, Hawaii and Popular theaters. At the Liberty, the report says, the patrons are amply safeguarded as to exits, which are properly lighted, and the doors unlocked in conformity with law.

At the Bijou theater, one exit was found fastened on the inside, and another was blocked with trunks and chairs. "The law provides that all exits shall be open and free of passage," the jurymen explain. The Bijou also was found to be in an insanitary condition. Four main exits at the Hawaii theater, as well as two stage exits, were found dark and locked. Two exits at the Asahi were found properly lighted, but not open. All the exits at the Empire were found open, lighted and unobstructed. One exit at the Popular was found obstructed by potted plants, rendering it "worse than useless in case of need."

The grand jurors call attention to the fact that the present ordinance under which theaters are conducted carries no penalties and makes no provision for its enforcement. It is recommended that another ordinance be passed embodying the following additions to the one now in force:

"Passageways to and from all entrances and exits to be kept free; aisles to be kept free of chairs and other obstructions; doors to be kept unlocked during performances; no film exchange to be allowed in theaters; providing for police inspection; providing penalties."

Indeterminate Sentences.

(In the indeterminate sentence, the statute fixes the maximum penalty a man shall receive, while the court fixes the minimum. For instance, the court may sentence a person to serve one year in jail in a case where the maximum sentence is five years. Upon the expiration of one year, the person is eligible for parole. However, should he not be paroled, he might be compelled to spend any number of years, not exceeding five, in prison.)

Considerable emphasis is laid by the grand jurors in their report on the matter of indeterminate sentences, and attention is called to what they think is "an excess of leniency in sentences imposed by our courts upon convictions under felonious charges . . . and the granting of paroles upon the minimum sentence." Appended to the report is a tabulated statement showing the number of convictions upon which the parole prerogative has been exercised during the last two years.

The tabulated statement shows that there is a large proportion of first degree burglary cases and several of robbery, "a crime," says the report, "that is seldom committed without either violence, threats, assaults with deadly weapons or actual knockdown."

The report calls attention to the fact that cases of assault and battery with a weapon, assault with a weapon with intent to commit robbery, and assault with intent to commit murder, are offenses against the person, and that the general average of the term imposed by sentence for the commission of these offenses is less than two years, while the maximum is from five to 10 years. It is pointed out that, in many instances, persons convicted of these offenses have been paroled in less than two years after the beginning of their sentence.

Embezzlement and Perjury.

"The crime of embezzlement," says the report, "which is perhaps the most cowardly and inexcusable crime involving greed that can be committed, because it can only be done by a breach of confidence, is dealt with in the same way—less than two years, maximum penalty 10 years. Perjury, which is a sneaking crime, comes into the same category. One case of perjury convicted, sentenced to two years, where the maximum penalty is for 20, was paroled in less than two years after serving of sentence was begun. This crime goes directly against the administration of justice.

"The theory is not that the law should be vindictive in its punishment of a man who has fallen by the wayside," the report adds, "but that he should be punished commensurate with his own deserts so far as he is concerned; but the still higher purpost of the law that the penalties imposed upon a violator of its mandates, while commensurate with the deserts of the offender, shall be of such a nature as to deter others from similar transgressions."

Comment On Parole Law.

The jurors comment further to the effect that the parole law of this territory "seems to be interpreted to mean that the minimum sentence shall be all that a man convicted of crime shall be required to serve."

They add, however, that "we do not think it is the intention of the parole statute to encourage minimum sentences except in cases where peculiar circumstances may require it, or justice be tempered with mercy."

In closing this section of its report, the grand jury recommends the following to the particular attention of Circuit Judge Ashford and to the other judges of the local circuit court:

"Information has come to this jury that certain felons, paroled from the territorial penitentiary, have, since their parole, committed misdemeanors and are now serving short terms of imprisonment in the county jail. We feel that this is detrimental to the institution and against the spirit of the parole law; and such paroled prisoners should be immediately returned to the penitentiary and in the future any prisoner that has been paroled and commits offense against the laws of the territory should be returned to the penitentiary to serve out his former sentence."

City Jail Investigation.

Concerning its investigation of affairs at the city jail; the notorious getaway of J. J. McGrath, and the story of jail conditions related to the tribunal by Fred Gough, a former prisoner, the jurymen repeat their former assertion that there has been carelessness and laxness in administration at the jail. Various statements were made to the grand jury which, in the opinion of the members, were of importance and should be considered. Gough's testimony conveyed much startling information which, if corroborated, would show beyond a question of doubt that there was criminal negligence about the jail's hospital, the report adds.

"There are certain statements made by Gough," the report continues, "which have been corroborated by the testimony of others; but generally speaking, we are of the opinion that the charges and statements made by Gough are absolutely without foundation and should be given but little consideration."

Summariing the situation as far as Gough was concerned, the grand jurors reached the following conclusion:

Guarding Was Lax.

"The fact that McGrath escaped from the jail and is now at large, demonstrates a question that there was not sufficient guarding of the hospital while these men were confined there. There was a manifest laxness among the jail officials in allowing visitors to visit these men. There was a lack of discipline in allowing Gough to have free access to the dispensary, and there seems to be a difference of opinion as to whose custody these men were in while they were confined to the jail hospital.

"The responsibility of custody has been shifted from one shoulder to another shoulder so as to throw off the odium of the escape, but we are of the opinion that inasmuch as the sheriff is directly responsible to the people for the conduct of the jail, he is responsible, and that he should have exercised greater care in guarding the men and that he should visit the jail oftener to acquaint himself with the way business is therein conducted."

No credit is given by the jurymen to the story of the former prisoner at the jail who testified that he would answer certain questions regarding "conditions at the jail." The man who testified that, on several occasions, Sheriff Rose had given him money to buy liquor, was believed by the jurymen to have been "put up to the job" by someone, or was more likely lying.

That part of the report dealing with the city jail investigation is concluded as follows:

Carelessness In Plenty.

"Summing up the findings of the jury in the investigation, we are of the opinion that there is carelessness in the county jail. Visitors should not be permitted to go to the jail at will as has, beyond reason of doubt, been the practise and is the practise. We are of the opinion that there has been no drinking or drunkenness in the jail by the officials. We are of the opinion that the sheriff should devote more attention to the conduct of the jail; no reports are made to him so as to keep him in daily detailed touch with all the affairs of the jail, and daily reports should be made and all passes to visitors should be signed or approved by him and no person should be permitted to visit the jail without permit so signed or approved.

"We feel that we owe it to your honor and to the public generally to make the foregoing statements."

A marked contrast is noted in the grand jurors' comment on the city jail and that upon conditions at Oahu prison under the efficient management of High Sheriff Jarrett. "Everything seems to be in first class condition, taking into consideration the fact that they are to move shortly into new quarters," says the report, speaking of the visit which the veniremen made to the prison. "Under the able administration of High Sheriff Jarrett, this institution is well conducted, and the discipline is excellent."

Police Department.

The members of the grand jury are of the opinion that the placing of the police department on the civil service basis has led to a distinct improvement, but that there should be more cooperation between the police department and the city and county attorney's office. This cooperation is sadly lacking at the present time, the jurymen add in their report. They further emphasize that the territory doubtless would be better served if there was a more intimate connection between the police department and the jail department.

It is urged by the members of the jury that immediate steps be taken to repair the county jail in such a manner as to "prevent the prisoners from escaping." An iron railing or heavy net will accomplish this, the jurymen understand. In order to make it impossible for prisoners to escape, a stronger guard should be placed over them, the grand jury believes, and, by these minor changes, it adds, a severe stigma might be removed from the police department.

The jury urges that there be a reasonable increase in the personnel of the police force and is of the opinion that the detective force should be enlarged and strengthened. Other recommendations are the purchase of a new motor patrol wagon which, at times, might be used as an ambulance in connection with the newly-established emergency hospital; the setting aside of a room for the storage of the personal property of the prisoners; the installation of a dictaphone system; a reasonable increase in the guards at the county jail; that the hospital, dispensary and workshop be transferred into the jail proper, or else extend the jail walls to include these buildings.

Lillis' Work Gets Praise.

Supplementing the report on the police department, the grand jury recommends that Robert Lillis of the bureau of weights and measures be given an assistant and additional apparatus. It considers that Mr. Lillis' work is splendid.

Summaries of the grand jury's report on roads, and on the boys' industrial school at Waialee, will be found elsewhere in today's issue of the Star-Bulletin. The Star-Bulletin will publish later the jury's findings on matters which are not covered in today's general summary.

Thanks to Officials.

In closing their report proper, the grand jurors express their sincere thanks for assistance rendered by City Attorney Arthur M. Brown and his deputies; John W. Cathcart, former city attorney; Harry Terrence Lake, criminal investigator with the city attorney's office; Captain of Detectives Arthur McDuffie and Detective Sergeant Kellett.

"The thanks of the grand jury are also heartily extended to Hon. Clarence Wilder Ashford, first judge, for his very acceptable advice, assistance and unfailing courtesy and patience extended to us throughout our term of public duty," the report adds.

A brief but appropriate tribute is paid to the late Carl S. Holloway who, at the time of his death, was a member of the grand jury and a committee chairman.

In closing, the grand jury expresses the wish that its successor may achieve substantial success to the end that Honolulu may be a better, brighter and more wholesome city to live in.

The members of the jury were James H. Fiddes, foreman; Raymond C. Brown, secretary; H. F. Bertelmann, H. T. Hayseiden, James T. Taylor, Curtis P. Iaukea, William Henry, William M. McQuaide, W. F. H Heilbron, Arthur F. Wall, F. A. Potter, F. K. Archer, Edward Dekum, Otto A. Bierbach, W. J. Coon and J. T. McCrosson.

terday morning to 8 o'clock last night there fell 1.88 inches, making the hardest part of the downpour yesterday during the daylight hours.

November's storm produced 7.18 inches, while the Christmas storm has 8.53 inches to its credit. Both of these storms were Konas, however. The present storm has come with a prevailing northeast wind.

A. M. Hamrick, federal meteorologist, said today that it has been unusual for high winds to continue as they have for such a long period. The barometer still keeps high and steady, and the thermometer is fairly low.

Minimum temperature this morning was 6 4degrees Fahrenheit, and minimum yesterday was 62.

Much damage has been done on the belt road, according to further reports from the engineer's office today. Engineer Collins says that a rock fill will probably be the only method of fixing the washed out places along Punaluu, Kaaawa and Kahana, where the sea has come up the lagoons and torn out the road bed.

Residents in the vicinity of Diamond Head yesterday afternoon were treated to the unusual sight of waterfalls plunging over the usually bone-dry sides of the extinct crater.

The waterfalls plunged over the cliff, down upon Diamond Head road, then overflowed the lawns and grounds of all residences in the vicinity before falling into the ocean. The sight was one that had not been seen in a long, long time.

PLANTATIONS REPORT SCARCELY ANY DAMAGE

Only in the Lahaina district in Maui did the week-end storm do any damage to the sugar plantations, according to reports received by the sugar plantation agencies in Honolulu up to noon today, and the Lahaina damage was so slight as to be much more than offset by the generally beneficial effects to the crop which the rainfall will have, say Hackfeld & Company. Lahaina had 7 inches of rain yesterday.

On Oahu no reports of damage to cane were received, though 4.25 inches of rain fell at Waialua yesterday, and 3.95 inches are reported from Ewa, according to Castle & Cooke. On Oahu the additional moisture is welcomed, though it will hinder grinding a trifle.

Heavy rainfalls are reported from all districts on Kauai, but no crop damage is mentioned. Detailed reports from Hawaii are expected tomorrow morning by C. Brewer & Company, but to date no intimation of damage has been received.

GLAD TO RETURN

Mr. Andell O. Platt, who has just returned from a lengthy trip to New Zealand and Australia, wishes to make it known to his many friends and customers that owing to war conditions he was unable to return before this date. Mr. Platt will now make Honolulu his permanent home. Now is your chance to have that old piano made like new at a reasonable price.

Col. W. D. Beach camp No. 4, United Spanish War Veterans, has issued invitations to an installation of officers which will take place tonight at 7:30. Installation will be in charge of Department Commander MacDonald.

Owing to the spell of rainy weather and the condition of the roads in the vicinity, school will not open at the Honolulu School for Boys until tomorrow, which is one day later than was intended when the Christmas vacation began.

Charged with having embezzled $30, the property of Mrs. Jose Tavares, James J. Overby today entered a plea of not guilty in Circuit Judge Ashford's court. The case will go to trial at 9 o'clock next Thursday morning.

The attorney for Fusano Sasaki, petitioner for a writ of habeas corpus, has been given until next Friday to file a supplementary petition. The case has been continued in federal court until January 15 for further hearing.

Kenneth Brown was charged in the police court Saturday with driving an auto without a number but was not fined, as he had a reasonable excuse. Brown said he bought a new car and had a temporary number on it, and this dropped off without his knowing it. Brown is connected with Castle & Cooke.

Officers from Fort Shafter, the forts of the Coast Defense of Oahu and the Department Hospital have arranged for a ball to be given at the National Guard armory the night of January 18. An army band will furnish the music, and the money received for admissions will be turned over to the Army Relief Association.

Two days probably will be consumed in the trial of Yee Yo Keuk, Korean bad man, which is scheduled to begin in Circuit Judge Ashford's court on Monday morning, January 17. The Korean is facing two charges, one of first degree robbery and another of assault with intent to commit murder. He says he will act as his own attorney.

MONDAY.....JANUARY 10, 1916.

THE TRUTH COMING OUT.

More satisfactory than its earlier brief report is the full statement of the territorial grand jury upon the county jail scandal surrounding the escape of the notorious "Jack" McGrath.

Furthermore, the criticism of the present jail administration is more to the point because more definite and detailed than that of the perfunctory paragraph of comment rendered at the conclusion of the jury's investigation. The escape of the gangster and the laxity of Jailor Fern's rule are put right up to Sheriff Rose; and as Fern is Rose's appointee; as the rules of the jail are evidently in part those instituted by Rose himself, the sheriff is rightly held responsible.

Only in public opinion, however, is the head of the police department likely to suffer in any way for the glaring inefficiency and incompetent jail administration shown up by the McGrath escape. As in many other cases "nothing is going to be done about it." On the surface a rule or two may be changed but the rule of friendship, politics and incompetence will not be changed. Nothing but a determined stand next campaign by the voters of Honolulu will change this rule.

It is interesting to note that the testimony of Fred Gough, the ex-prisoner, is discredited by the grand jury. His story was so prolific in detail, and in essential points so borne out by the actual happenings at the jail as known, that it is impossible to believe he could have invented all or even the gist of it. That he had "done time," that he occasionally became drunk and that others accused him of being addicted to "dope"—which, by the way, was only accusation—seem to have convinced the jurors that most of his story was lie. Yet the basic allegations on which that story rested were provably true, and enough was actually proved true to justify the belief that conditions were much worse than the jury has seen fit to admit.

Still more interesting is the fact that the jury, though discrediting Gough's testimony, in substance abundantly upholds that testimony by its conclusions! It is quite apparent that the jury minimized Gough's story because he was a jail-bird and nobody outside the jail could substantiate many of its details.

But, even though reluctantly, the truth about the county jail has been forced out through the lever of Fred Gough's story in the Star-Bulletin. In spite of official apathy, in spite of active, persistent and unscrupulous efforts to "reach" and muzzle, or beat up and silence, grand jury witnesses; in spite of attempts even more vicious to poison with suspicion reputable men who were fighting to get the facts to light—in spite of such desperate practises, the truth came out. It is mutilated and incomplete, but it is the truth. The community knows it, whether or not those in official position are willing to secure evidence for prosecution.

WOMEN AND FAME.

A typical story in the magazine section of a Sunday newspaper syndicate contains the more or less interesting information that the best way for a woman to "get into the limelight" is to marry a famous man. The wives of the Marshall Fields, Mrs. Vincent Astor, Mrs. John Jacob Astor and other women of this generation are cited as examples, the inference being that they are entitled to some measure of fame through going through a ceremonial with a man of note.

The story is more than ordinarily silly. Few of the women mentioned are known outside the society columns of the newspapers and the world of society which is so insignificant as compared with the real world. And the inference that women cannot through their own and independent efforts win lasting fame is just as silly.

Florence Nightingale, an English nurse, rose from obscurity to world-wide renown and honor through her noble work in the Crimean war and after, doing deeds any man might have envied. She won the gratitude of nations in spite of determined opposition of military commanders at the beginning of her great campaign of mercy.

Marie-Rosa Bonheur did not wed to achieve fame. She won it through her own efforts and talent. Her first paintings when she was a girl of sixteen, were so severely criticised that her family opposed further study, but at eighteen her talent was beginning to show and she became the world's best-known painter of animals in spirited action.

Frances Elizabeth Willard, temperance advocate and reformer, founded the World's Christian Temperance Union, became probably the best-loved woman of her time, left behind her a progressing work that will endure as long as the world endures.

Jane Addams, head of Hull House in Chicago, made settlement work in that busy, preoccupied, materialistic city such a tremendous power for good that her fame first became nation-wide and then world-wide. She was called to preside at the Woman's Peace Congress some months ago, honored as the first woman of her time in broad humanitarian work.

These are four instances that come first to mind. They could be multiplied indefinitely. No woman has won permanent hold on the affection and admiration of the world through marriage. They have won riches and social position, ephemeral as the pleasures of their kind.

The best way to "get into the limelight" is neither via the altar nor the divorce court, though they furnish excellent mediums for unwelcome notoriety. The best way is to do work that endures, as thousands of women have proved and are proving.

ANOTHER STATEMENT ON THE BOYS' INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

What the territorial grand jury reports concerning the Boys' Industrial School is substantially what every unbiased and broad-minded observer of this institution for reform must report—that the school has been run on the principle of getting work out of the lads rather than of making better citizens out of them.

In its observations and conclusions the grand jury fully confirms what this paper said when it took up the cause of the mismanaged boys last November. Conditions at the school have been such as to breed sullenness and rebellion. Less emphasis on output of farm and dairy products, more play, a more sympathetic discipline, are needed. The boys are not badly cared for in body, but in spirit they are scarcely cared for at all.

The grand jury's report today shows the insight the jurors gained from their recent trips of first-hand investigation. If these trips had been taken in November, it is hardly likely that the grand jury on December 10 would have indicted fifteen of the Industrial School boys of charges of "unlawful assembly." And now it is more obvious than ever that the prompt acquittal of these boys when their cases were tried was a correct verdict.

Retail merchants of Honolulu are making protest against that section of Superintendent Forbes' recommendations to Congress which would give Honolulu members of the National Guard the privilege of purchasing supplies from the United States commissary department. This is a very small matter either way you take it. The recommendations of the superintendent as a whole are good, and if there is danger of any of them being blocked by a quibble of this sort we would say out with the quibble. The money that would come to the Guard at Honolulu, and be spent among the merchants of the city, through the adoption of the recommendations of the superintendent, would amount to a great deal more than the trade of the men could possibly be with the commissary department of the army.—Garden Island.

One can hardly expect the visitors in our midst to appreciate the sort of "liquid sunshine" that has been descending for a week, nor to place full reliance in statements that this weather is unprecedented. That, however, is the truth, and the weather reports for decades past prove it. Hawaii has no record of such weather as that of December and this month. In the ordinary acceptance of the term there is no "rainy season" here as in most lands of the sub-tropics and tropics. The tourist may smile at this and other assurances that it's bound to be "mid-winter summer" pretty soon, but such is the unexaggerated fact.

Jail sentences will do more to discourage the usury gentry than mere fines in any amount. Judge Ashford's action on Saturday in imposing imprisonment penalties on two men found guilty after their cases had been thrashed out in court trials, will let loan sharks know that the law is no joke.

It would seem to be in order for Henry Ford to charter a train and conduct a few pacifists to Youngstown.

Letters on Timely Topics

APPRECIATES AN EDITOR'S DIFFICULTIES.

Editor Honolulu Star-Bulletin.

Dear Editor: This is my first offense at bothering you by writing letters, but as the following has been corked up in me for some time, I'll ask permission to let it ooze out to you. I have nothing of harshness to say, so you might as well read this through like you do most of the other stuff that is sent you. It is one of the pol-whizzled hardest stunts to climb up on the neutrality pedestal and stay there. Why? Because you know as well as the next person that neutrality is not an attainment the human system is heir to, is it, Editor? Do you gather? I can almost hear you say, "I do."

I am sure a catalogue and synopsis of the letters you get from the people during the space of one month would be most interesting. People plunk themselves down at their mahogany writing desks and work together a lot of harsh words, address the letter to you, and you (I won't say "must" but generally do) read them. But the worst is to come, for you put a heading to the stuff and (sometimes) run it. If things don't go just to their liking, possibly aggravated by a "dull headache" or a touch of housemaid's knee they seem to think the only blow-off valve is the Star-Bulletin, and they proceed to hook up a chain of friendship link cuss words and fire them at you, Editor—not the Star-Bulletin. Here again is where you absorb, for you have to read it: the Star-Bulletin doesn't have to read it. Then you must get letters from people (of course you do, for I have read them), thanking you for a boost you have given some outer circle or inner circle scheme—thoroughly appreciative of the "shoulder you have put to the wheel" of their move, and make it quite clear to you, Editor, that "any further assistance will be highly valued."

It has been said that "All things are possible," and it is just possible, Editor, that some day you may make a slip, but as that contingency is, to my way of thinking, very remote, and I shall probably not be here, I am not going to worry over it. I should like to say a word or two on the very good policy-shaping regime you employ, but will be content with saying that although the lady me and my children board with is some "decided" when she's in the mood (and that's most of the time), you have gotten her beat to a frazzle. You can decide more policies in a week than she can in a year, working overtime, and that's going some. I have often thought it must keep you hustling changing from high to intermediate, to low and back to high again, so that all the public bumps and private chuckholes can be negotiated smoothly. It is all right, Editor, so long as you don't use the brake or reverse gear. I'm with you, notwithstanding the fact that some of our own crowd try to stall your buzz wagon occasionally, in a mild way, but it is yet to be recorded that they, or anybody else, have forced you to the ditch, or crowded you off your side of the road.

NEBUCHADNEZZAR.

THE MATTOS TRIPLETS.

Editor Honolulu Star-Bulletin.

Sir: Mr. W. O. Smith, in his letter to the Advertiser of yesterday, says "There is a misunderstanding somewhere which should be corrected."

I think that the misunderstandinng is due to the insufficiennt understanding of Mr. Smith about this matter.

Last Thursday Mattos and his family called at my office, saying that he had arrived from Kauai, and begged me to intercede for the purpose of securing help for him as he was unable to maintain his family, which now comprised five children, three of whom were triplets born in Hawaii. He stated that he at present was earning $24.

Touched by the condition of this family, I sent them to the commissioner of immigration, at the territorial immigration station, where, in the presence of the commissioner, I advised them to return to Kauai, and promised to intercede in their behalf. It was my intention to personally assist these people, should the plantation agents decline to do so. As I did not see them after their visit to the immigration station, I was convinced that they had taken my advice and returned to Kauai. On the day following the call of this family at the consulate I saw in the Advertiser what seemed to be an appeal to aid the triplets. I immediately took advantage of the suggestion and had my wife contribute $10 for that purpose by depositing $5 in the office of each paper, the Advertiser and Star-Bulletin, it being gratifying to me to take the lead in such a worthy cause. I felt that the total amount collected should be used for the benefit of the three newly born American babies.

Later I called upon Mr. Smith, who, without knowing the purpose of my visit, willingly offered to subscribe a certain amount, whereupon I informed him that donations for this purpose should be left at the offices of the Advertiser and Star-Bulletin. The purposes of my call at his office was to obtain some assistance from the Kauai plantation for this family.

All that Mr. Smith states in his letter is true, but I think he forgot to mention what I understood him to say, that he would, on his own account, give a dollar or two as long as they were in need, to which generosity the Star-Bulletin very properly refers.

In fulfilment of my duty I have, with courtesy, only solicited from Mr. Smith aid for two needy people of my country, for whose protection I shall not cease in my efforts.

I willingly admit that during my stay of a year and a half in Hawaii all consideration has been given to requests of this nature which I have made, for the benefit of the people I represent.

Requesting the publication of the foregoing, and thanking you for the space it will occupy, I remain,

Yours very truly,

A. C. PESSOA,
Portuguese Consul-General.

Honolulu, January 10, 1916.

AN UN-AMERICAN LETTER.

Honolulu, Jan. 10, 1916.

Editor Honolulu Star-Bulletin.

Sir: It was with mixed feelings of indignation and pity that I read a communication from one who styles himself "Honolulan," in yesterday's Advertiser. Had the writer signed himself "Britisher" he could not have more clearly demonstrated that this fair land of ours is not the "land of his love." From one who lives under and enjoys the protection of the blessed Stars and Stripes of America, his expressions of sentiment are arrogant, ignorant, unpatriotic and ungentlemanly.

We who to the best of our judgment, try to live up to our ideals of strict neutrality, feel insulted at this expression of ideas, which is as un-American as it is vulgar. "Honolulan" would have us believe that this nation is composed of statutory offenders, coolies, etc. The only comment I have to make is—"Honolulan," by his residence (by choice) here would indicate that he deems this a happier and purer sphere than some other place.

If "Honolulan" has such a great regard for New Zealand, small nationalities, Belgium neutrality, etc., why is he not at the front "somewhere in France?" "Oh, shirker, why pratest thou?"

Sincerely,

AMERICAN.

Personal Mention

ROBERT C. LYDECKER, superintendent of the public archives, will return to the city tomorrow on the Lurline. Mr. Lydecker has been spending several weeks on the mainland.

MRS. ALBERT F. JUDD, accompanied by her son, Albert, returned to Honolulu last Saturday from a visit to the Volcano. Master Judd has completely recovered from the illness which he suffered while on the Big Island.

CHARLES S. DAVIS, who recently was graduated from the law department of Stanford University, has filed in the supreme court an application for admission to the bar of the territory. He will be examined by the supreme court board of law examiners. Mr. Davis has been admitted to practise in the federal court.

J. D. SHERWOOD, a pioneer resident of Spokane, is staying at the Moana with Mrs. Sherwood. They have a number of friends in this city. Mr. Sherwood is a Harvard alumnus, having graduated with the class of 1883. Mr. Sherwood says he likes Honolulu very much. The Sherwoods will return to the mainland Saturday, January 15, on the Great Northern.

A. C. Wheeler, acting superintendent of public works, returned to Honolulu from Hilo last Saturday. While on the Big Island Mr. Wheeler inspected the Kuhio wharf road and attended a meeting of the Hawaii Loan Fund Commission.

HORACE W. VAUGHAN, district attorney, left for Hilo Saturday to meet the steamer Great Northern, which is bringing Mrs. Vaughan and her mother to Hawaii. The district attorney will return in the Great Northern next Wednesday.

SMALL NEGLECT LEADS TO RUIN MINISTER SAYS

In a strong sermon yesterday morning at the First Methodist church, Rev. L. L. Loofbourow commended the "Safety First" policy as it has been applied by corporations, and in the evening recommended the practical application of the motto to individual life.

Mr. Loofbourow quoted statistics to show that 500,000 workers are killed or injured each year by industrial accidents—more than the losses for the same period would be in two wars as big as the Civil war and the Russian-Japanese war combined. Beginning with the steel trust, he said, a great movement had been made for safety and this had extended to the individual, who was trained to look out for himself. He suggested that Honolulu should have a safety engineer to look out for recreational life, public health, workers, and the prevention of crime.

In the evening sermon the minister said one motto of a big plant was "Small neglects cause big accidents." He said no amount of money could pay for the loss of an arm, a hand, an eye or a life, and comparing industrial loss with the loss of character said no amount of pleasure could compensate an individual for the loss of his moral and spiritual integrity, which was brought about first by neglect of small things.

AD CLUB ASKING TOURIST GUESTS

Several well-known businessmen of the mainland, among them one of the big men of the railway world, will probably be the guests of the Ad Club at its weekly luncheon next Wednesday. The Ad Club has wirelessed to the Hilo liner Great Northern inviting as its lunch guests Edson J. Chamberlin, president of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway; F. G. Bonfils, one of the proprietors of the Denver Post, and Waldo G. Paine of Spokane, as well as the parties with which the two latter are coming.

The Honolulu Automobile Club now has five women in its membership. At a meeting of the board Friday, 18 new members were elected, three of whom were women. The club now has about 150 members.

Head Of Mystic Shrine Coming Soon For Visit

J. Putnam Stevens, imperial potentate, A. A. O. N. M. S., head of the Mystic Shrine for North America, who is coming to visit Aloha Temple.

By Thomas E. Wall, Potentate, Aloha Temple.

J. Putnam Stevens, imperial potentate, the head of the Mystic Shrine for North America, is coming to visit Aloha Temple.

He will leave San Francisco on the steamer Matsonia March 22, arriving here on March 28, when he will be met by all the nobles of Aloha Temple. During his stay, Aloha Temple will hold a ceremonial session and show the imperial potentate how they do things in Hawaii. This is what he is coming for, to inspect our temple and give us advice. The temples on the mainland look forward to these visits or pilgrimmages every year. The nobility all turn out, it brings them together when nothing else will. It creates enthusiasm and brings out the good fellowship which is the keynote of shrinedom. It is the event of the year.

Imperial Potentate Stevens hails from Portland, Maine, and is a member of Kora Temple of that city. He has been one of the leaders in shrinedom for a number of years. He has filled the several offices on the imperial divan until step by step he has advanced each year and finally reached the top when he was elected the imperial potentate at the meeting of the imperial council in Seattle this year in July. Our representative, James S. McCandless, invited him and all the nobles to visit Hawaii where he assured them of a hearty welcome and the latch string would always be hanging out.

Aloha Temple has kept open house at every meeting of the imperial council, and they have advertised Hawaii so that all the nobility know of Hawaii and want to come and see us.

The members of Aloha Temple are highly elated over the news of the imperial potentate coming, and there will be great doings when he arrives. He will be shown all around, including a trip to the volcano; there will be banquet at which all the nobles will be present. It is not known yet how many may accompany his imperial highness, but they will all be welcome.

He will be here one week, returning by the steamer Matsonia on March 5. March 5.

CHURCH SOCIETY OUTLINES WORK FOR THIS YEAR

Work for the year was outlined at a meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of Central Union church, President Lambert making a general plan which will be filled in by the meetings and programs committee. A new department to do social survey work was instituted and to the philanthropic committee was assigned the task of securing a man who will offer himself to James A. Wilder as a scoutmaster for the Boy Scouts and a woman who will offer herself to the Y. W. C. A. as a club leader for girls.

The following list of "endeavors" was adopted by unanimous vote:

1. Come every meeting.
2. Be on time.
3. Bring a friend.
4. Bring something from your preceding week's experience—reading or conversation, to contribute to the open forum.
5. Be an active committeeman.
6. Make suggestions.
7. Join heartily in the singing, whether or not you can sing. Volume and numbers drown discords.
8. Pray silently, and read the Bible freely.
9. Remember the week day to keep it holy. Live as well as you can. Be helpful; be cheerful, and be happy.
10. Get acquainted with the strangers present.

Y. W. PHYSICAL CLASSES BEGIN

Classes in the physical department of the Young Women's Christian Association are commencing today after a vacation of three weeks. All of the classes formerly held in the Castle Kindergarten will now be held in the new gymnasium.

This gymnasium is large and well ventilated, and there is an abundance of showers, lockers and dressing rooms. Among the new gymnastic classes being formed at this time is an adult class which will meet Tuesday and Thursday mornings at 10 o'clock.

Another gymnasium class will meet on Tuesday evenings at 8 o'colck and a beginners' class in aesthetic dancing is being arranged for now.

Swimming classes will still be held at the Castle tank at Waikiki, but owing to the fact that necessary repairs are being made on the tank, no classes will be held this week. The tennis class will continue as before on the tennis courts, at The Homestead, 610 King street.

Miss Leonore Andersen, physical director, said today that a complete schedule showing all the work of the classes may be procured at the office in the new building, and that she will be glad to talk over work with any girls interested.

Private lessons may be arranged for. The gymnasium is open for the use of members at any time that it is not being used for classes, and visitors are welcome at all times.

Hamburg has an experimental plant that obtains power from the ebb and flow of North sea tides.

What It Your Blood Pressure?

The age of the 40s is a critical period in every person's life. And one of the most common things that make it critical is increased "blood pressure" with its accompanying "hardening of the arteries."

Scientists have fully proven that increased blood pressure is caused by poisonous deposits in the delicate tissues of the arteries. One of the chief agents in this process is coffee, with its poisonous drug, caffeine.

"A man is as old as his arteries," life insurance companies say, and the Blood Pressure Test is one of the principal factors nowadays in determining "risk." How do you stand?

If there is any doubt about coffee's hurting you—if you have frequent headaches, biliousness, sleeplessness, nervousness, or heart flutter—try a 10 days' change to the pure food-drink.

Made of prime wheat roasted with a bit of wholesome molasses, Instant Postum contains no caffeine, no cumulative, harmful drug, nothing but the good food values of the cereal.

Postum comes in two forms: The original Postum Cereal—must be boiled, and Instant Postum—the soluble form, made in the cup instantly.

One of the first steps away from increased Blood Pressure in coffee drinkers is POSTUM.

ARMORY TO BE SCENE OF BIG CHARITY BALL

What is declared will be one of the biggest military social events of the season is the annual charity ball to be given in the National Guard armory on the evening of January 18, under the auspices of the Army Relief Association.

It is announced that plans for the big affair now are practically complete. Department headquarters, the Coast Defense, Artillery, the Medical Corps and the organizations at Fort Shafter all have given their cooperation toward making the event a success.

Mrs. Wisser, wife of Brig.-gen. Wisser, commander of the Hawaiian Department; Mrs. Chatfield, Mrs. Ellis, Mrs. Atkinson and Mrs. Coe have been selected to comprise the general committee in charge of the ball. The decorations which were used for the governor's ball have been left in place, and will be used during the military fete. Twenty-four boxes, each containing six seats, will be provided for parties, and these may be engaged for $10 each. Reservations for boxes may be made with Wall & Dougherty. General admission to the armory will be $1. Refreshments will be served throughout the evening.

On Wednesday evening, Jan. 19, the relief association will give another dance in the armory for the benefit of the enlisted men in the service.

South Africa is expected to become one of the great world producing countries of the world.

SHIPPING & WATERFRONT NEWS

SUGAR SHIP WELL KNOWN HERE IS DISPOSED OF

A ship well known here in the early days, when she took big cargoes of sugar from Hawaii to New York around Cape Horn, has just been sold. She is the Edward Sewall, a big windjammer.

Arthur M. Sewall, founder of the firm of Arthur Sewall & Sons, owners of the Edward Sewall, was the last minister plenipotentiary from the United States to Hawaii, in the days of the Republic of Hawaii, prior to annexation.

A story in the San Francisco Chronicle of December 31 says the Sewall and Poltalloch, both well-known in Hawaii and the coast city, have been sold. The Texas Company of New York, said to be a subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company, has purchased the Edward Sewall. Eschen & Minor of San Francisco, while admitting the sale of the ship Poltalloch, refused to announce the purchaser.

The purchase price of the Sewall is said to be $150,000, and the Poltalloch is said to have changed hands for about $100,000. Both are big carriers.

MANOA AND MAKIKI HAVE SCOUT TROOP

Manoa and Makiki have the latest organization of Boy Scouts in Hawaii, under the leadership of Scoutmaster Charles Sheldon Judd and although just formed the troop has 16 members on the list and others are rapidly joining. William Allison Bryan is first assistant scoutmaster, Rev. Henry Judd, second assistant and Rev. Schneck, third assistant.

Just now headquarters are being sought by the scouts and immediately after they are located the troop will do some active scouting. This troop will make a specialty of woodcraft, forestry and camping. A few more members are wanted at once to become active leaders. Their applications will be received by Charles Judd.

CARCHELL TRIAL NOT SET

Pvt. Ben Carchell of the 25th Infantry, who killed Pvt. Benjamin Franklin in a fight in the barracks Christmas Day, is still in the guard house at Schofield Barracks, awaiting trial, the date of which is uncertain.

Carchell will be tried at the post by a court martial. The date for the convening of the court martial has not been set by any orders.

STORM DAMAGES BREAKWATER ON KAUAI

Great damage has been done the $200,000 breakwater and railroad wharf of the Makee Sugar Company, at Kealia Landing, Kauai, on the weather side of the island, according to a letter from Col. Z. S. Spalding, an officer of the company, to the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company, ordering the company to land all its freight at Nawiliili until further orders, as the storm has partially wrecked the sugar company's breakwater.

The letter arrived yesterday on the Kinau, and President J. A. Kennedy of the Inter-island said this morning that it states the costly breakwater and railroad wharf running out on it to be nearly destroyed. The breakwater was only recently completed. It is the main shipping point for the Makee Sugar Company and the new pineapple plantation at Kapaa, established last year.

At 5 o'clock tonight the Inter-Island steamer Claudine will sail for Maui, taking the same freight she had on her last trip, and which she was unable to land on account of the storm and raging seas.

The Claudine returned here yesterday with all her outbound freight still on board. She did not go in to Kahului at all, but anchored off Lahaina and rode out the storm all day Saturday.

At Lahaina the Claudine was able to get one boat ashore with mail. The landing nearly became a tragedy as the boat was partly filled by water from the huge breakers, drenching all occupants, including two passengers who went ashore at their own risk. Returning, the boat brought back two more passengers, who also risked their lives to get on board the steamer.

A 5 o'clock this afternoon the Maui will go out for Ahukini, taking the W. G. Hall's run this trip, as the latter steamer is now receiving her annual inspection, which began today.

As the weather moderated today at Kaneohe, the Eben Low fleet, which was stormbound there Saturday, is believed to be at work again lightering 33,000 cases of canned pines out to the bark W. B. Flint, off Libby's Landing. Down to a late hour today no word had been received from the boats.

MATSON LINE RAISES CANNED PINE RATES; NOW $3.75 PER TON

Freight rates on canned pines have been raised from $3 to $3.75 a ton by the Matson Navigation Company, effective with the Matsonia, sailing Wednesday morning for San Francisco.

The old rate on canned pines has been less than that on general merchandise. The American-Hawaiian, Matson and Oceanic lines last summer increased their rates on general freight from the coast, from $3.50 to $4 a ton. This was followed by a boost from $3.50 to $4 of the general freight rate from the islands to the coast.

The canned pines rate was not raised at that time. Now, however, it also has gone up. The old rate, $3, was made when preserved pines first began to be shipped, in order to encourage the industry. It is expected that the Oceanic and Great Northern will follow suit in the raise, and advices are expected this week.

General freight rates on the Great Northern will go up from $3.50 to $4 a ton beginning January 25, when the liner sails on her next voyage from the coast, the local agents, Fred L. Waldron, Ltd., have announced.

MORNING ON 'CHANGE

Pioneer down one quarter, Olaa offered with few takers at 9 7-8, and McBryde up to $9 again were the unimportant features of a quiet but strong market this morning. Today is dividend day for Wailuku, and owners of the stock will receive $1 per share, or a total of $30,000.

Pope Benedict intends to consecrate the year in which peace is concluded as Holy Year.

MATSONIA STERN LINES PART IN HILO STORM

Returning from Hilo, where she rode out a storm which carried away her two stern lines of eight and 10 inches diameter and compelled her to steam outside the bay for safety, the Matson steamer Matsonia docked at 6:30 this morning at Pier 16.

The big liner brought back all her Hilo freight, 1600 tons. She was unable to land anything except mail and express packages, because of the raging sea, and bringing her 40 passengers out to the ship in launches yesterday afternoon proved a ticklish job, although the steamer came within a quarter mile of Kuhio bay wharf to get them.

Officers of the Matsonia said the sea was rough when they arrived from Honolulu and that at 7 o'clock Saturday morning the two stern lines, rope cables of eight and 10 inches diameter, carried away, about 40 fathoms of each (240 feet) being lost, together with the anchors to which they were attached. The steamer had to go outside for safety.

Went Outside Second Time.

Out in the open the Matsonia rode out the storm well, and at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, hauled up her two forward anchors and came back to the bay, making an attempt to begin discharging cargo. The sea was too high, however, so Capt. Charles Peterson took the ship outside again.

At 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon the steamer came back to within a quarter of a mile of Kuhio bay wharf, and passengers were brought out to the ship in launches. They had to stay overnight at hotels in Hilo, as the waves were so high that launches would have foundered had an attempt been made to use them.

All the passengers were safely brought on board by 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and the voyage back to Honolulu was begun. Extremely rough weather was met on the return trip. Capt. Ferdinand Mosher, harbormaster and pilot at Hilo, told the Matsonia's officers the storm was the worst he had ever known at that port.

The Matsonia's Hilo cargo was unloaded here this morning at Pier 16, and will be transhipped on the Lurline. It includes nine automobiles.

MENDELSSOHN PROGRAM AT PUNAHOU SATURDAY

Miss Genevieve Young, assisted by Miss Louise Churchill and Mildred Chapin, gave a delightful program of Mendelssohn compositions Saturday afternoon in the Punahou studio. Despite the adversity of the weather and the fact that this was an invitation affair, a fairly large audience was in attendance.

Miss Young is planning to leave for the coast Wednesday on the Matsonia, where she intends to study for the next eight months.

ing into the Koolau range for another great reservoir such as had been struck at Waiahole.

Activity of General Range.

The water commission appointed to handle the investigation has, however, taken a general range of activity, while meantime the falling off in the outflow from Waiahole tunnel is rather discouraging of hopes in a similar enterprise for the city.

Apart from the appropriations matter, different supervisors had agreed that nothing was to be gained by prolonging investigations that seemed likely only to yield additions to the volumes of reports on the subject gathering dust in official pigeon-holes.

The foregoing figures show reductions in the apparent deficit as follows: Water investigation, $18,000; circuit courts, $31,133; Koolaupoko roads, $3600; police, $2500; parks, $3000; total, $58,233, or a margin of $19,243.13 over the required reduction. No public service is made to suffer materially by the changes, and there is no general slashing, say the supervisors.

Salaries Remain Unchanged.

After the reductions mentioned had been agreed to, a motion was carried, four to two, to leave all salaries the same as during the past six months. This action saved less than $400 in the bill as it stood. One out of four salaries raised had made no difference, as it did not alter the aggregate of salaries in the particular department. Two members opposed the repeal on the ground that sufficient reasons had appeared for the raises. Those prevailing held that any raises were unfair to worthy claimants not raised.

In the permanent improvements schedule the lump appropriation of $105,000 for the belt road from Hakipuu toward the Pali, which had been intended to extend over the remaining 18 months of the present term, was changed to an allotment of $4000 a month, and the item of $9000 for concreting the Pali road toward Kaneche was changed to $2100 a month. These items make $36,000 for the belt road until June 30.

Appropriations for the city's share of district improvement schemes will be made as required and to the extent that the fund will allow. There is enough in sight to take care of, at least, Manoa, Lusitana and Kalakaua avenue districts. Beretania and others may have to await next year's revenue.

When the board went into secret session yesterday, they took with them a letter from Auditor James Bicknell, relating to the expenditure of city money past and present, and reading as follows:

"I have the honor to enclose herewith statement of the different fund accounts with relation to the calendar year 1916 in order that you may be guided in your appropriations:

General Fund.

This fund is estimated for 1916 at	$700,000.00
Deduct 1915 overdraft	147,000.00
Balance available to appropriate	$553,000.00
The present bill under discussion carries	$289,640.00
Figuring the July bill the same	289,040.00
Special resolution covering court expenses, etc.	46,699.75
Election and registration expenses, October primary, say	5,000.00
	$630,979.75
Deficit at December 31, 1915, in sight now	77,979.75

Note—This prohibits the appropriation of one dollar for emergency or special purposes under this fund.

Permanent Improvement Fund.

This fund for 1916 is estimated at, net	$150,000
Requirements under the improvement act amount to now	$140,000
The Pali concreting project for six months requires	9,000
The Kaukonahua reconstruction requires	1,500
The Nuuanu culvert requires	1,000
The Koolaupoko Belt Road construction contemplates an expenditure of	105,000
The Kalakaua avenue lighting scheme requires	5,000

A total of $261,500 or an amount $11,500 in excess of the estimated revenue.

Water Works Fund.

Receipts from all sources for 1915 were	$195,542.26
The amount actually spent was	186,282.89
Balance forward to 1916	$9,259.37

Note—Chargeable against this balance is an amount of $22,840.62 for interest on bonds, but, as this amount is included in the bill under discussion, this balance carries forward to 1916 and will bring the revenue account for 1916 up to practically the same as in 1915 ($195,542.26).

Sewer Work Fund.

All this fund had at its disposal for 1915 after deducting the 1914 deficit, was $21,655.11.

"The amount actually spent in 1915 was $39,015.30—an amount $17,350.19 in excess of the revenue and without any reference to a bill for interest on bonds $7651—which you have now included in the bill under discussion: this will have to be met out of the 1916 revenues."

Saturday Night Meeting.

Several items of business in connection with the setting of hearings, the passing of preliminary resolutions, and the adoption of engineers' reports whiled away the hours at Saturday night's meeting.

Hotel street improvement plans from Nuuanu to River were among those adopted, the hearing being set for February 3. Also adopted was the resolution providing for the improvement of Pauahi street from Fort to River, the hearing being set for January 26.

Supervisor Arnold introduced a resolution providing for improvements in the Beachwalk district, and on motion of Supervisor Shingle bitulithic pavement was named. Mr. Shingle advised the board that it is better to name a high priced pavement and be able to come down to something cheaper than to name a cheap pavement and not be able to introduce a more expensive one in case residents ask for it. The board voted therefore to adopt bitulithic in this section.

Here arose the question as to what kind of pavement former City Engineer Whitehouse had recommended. Six of the supervisors claimed that he had recommended concrete, out and out, in a report submitted to the board while Shingle was absent from town.

Shingel stated just as emphatically that Whitehouse was much opposed to recommending concrete, and did not believe his report had intended to convey such an impression.

"That's just it," said Arnold, "you'll never get him to recommend anything—to come right out flat footed on it."

Finally Whitehouse himself was sent for, and in the meantime there followed much scurrying through desks and reading of reports. The consulting engineer arrived about an hour later, and after some talk here and there the question was put up to him.

Whitehouse denied that he had ever gone on record as favoring concrete. He said that his statement had been that if conditions here were the same as in the states a concrete road would last here for 15 years.

Larsen took time to declare that he would never vote an appropriation in which Whitehouse had a hand, and said that the deficit that the supervisors are now facing had been brought about largely through the former city engineer.

Then new business was taken up. In the outline of work for the coming month, City Engineer George Collins asked for raises in the salaries of F. Ohrt and F. Pierce, engineers. Whitehouse, as sponsor for the new improvement projects, was given a salary of $300.

Then Larsen tore loose again, being hushed by Shingle, who requested the other to "cut out cheap talk," saying that he was growing tired of it. He suggested that Larsen act "like a man rather than a baby," and informed the fuming supervisor that he was not the only man in the building that was trying to do his duty.

Shingle finally explained that Whitehouse is needed in the department for a few months at least to keep the improvement projects in hand, and that the board can keep him or dismiss him after February 1.

Larsen then declared that he would not stand in the way if the board wants to keep Whitehouse as consulting engineer, and Shingle's motion for a $300 salary for the engineer passed. Collins' letter concerning a raise in the salaries of the two engineers was referred to the road committee.

Attorney Frames Bill Which He Believes Will More Firmly Unite North and South

With a view to carrying out a plan which, he believes, will result in the uniting of the North and the South as one people, with the unpleasantness of 50 years ago wiped out and forgotten, Francis Tracy Tobin, a prominent attorney of Philadelphia, Pa., has drawn up a bill which he intends to have presented in the Congress of the United States.

For many years Mr. Tobin has been active in Republican politics; has been on the national stump and has spoken in many parts of the United States. He also has been delegated on various missions of importance, and at one time was president of the National American-Cuban League.

The bill drawn up by Mr. Tobin provides for "the payment to all surviving Confederate soldiers and sailors of a pension, together with all rights and privileges of granting land, also their relatives; the same as is paid and granted to the surviving Federal or Union soldiers and sailors, and their relatives."

Make List of Eligibles.

There are 24 sections to the bill. It provides, among other things, that the secretary of war be authorized and directed to communicate with all Confederate army posts to secure the names and addresses of all surviving Confederate soldiers, and that the full and complete list be forwarded to the commissioner of pensions. It is also provided that the secretary of war secure the names and addresses of those Confederate soldiers and sailors entitled to file claims for land.

It further provides that there be placed in the official list of pensioners all names of relatives of Confederate sailors and soldiers who have served three months, who are entitled to receive a pension. Provision is made that the secretary of the interior make all grants for land without delay to surviving Confederate soldiers.

The bill lastly provides that all the acts or parts of acts of Congress inconsistent with the provisions of the bill be repealed.

Advices from Washington state that President Wilson will reappoint C. C. McChord to the interstate commerce commission.

SMOKER TONIGHT FOR FOREIGN WAR VETERANS

Hawaiian Post No. 94, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be host tonight to all men who have served in any foreign campaigns, whether or not they are members of the order, at a smoker to be held at Mansfield Hall, Fort Shafter, beginning at 8 o'clock. Men who attend are invited to bring ladies with them. A short business session will be held at 7:30, previous to the smoker.

Musical selections, an imitation of Charlie Chaplin, songs and other vaudeville stunts are on the program, after which lunch will be served.

Officers elected at a meeting of the camp yesterday afternoon were as follows:

Commander C. J. Edwards, vice Ernest W. Ely, who was the first Commander of Hawaiian Post No. 94.

Senior Vice Commander William Carleton, vice C. J. Edwards, elected Commander.

Junior Vice Commander E. B. Mullaney, vice J. E. Hill, U. S. N., who has just been sent to the Naval Hospital at Mare Island, for treatment.

Adjutant John E. McNellis, reelected.

Quartermaster Victor Whitaker, vice Arthur Hayes.

Chaplain George Stutzman, vice Louis Broadus.

Surgeon William Wheeler, vice John P. O'Keefe.

Officer of the Day, John P. O'Keefe, vice Philip L. Fisher.

Patriotic Instructor E. W. Ely, vice George B. Stutzman.

Post Historian Peter Holm, vice Charles Bengal. Trustees for the first six months, James Kelly. Trustee for one year, Arthur Hayes. Trustee for 18 months, James A. Phillips.

DANCE AT THE MOANA HOTEL

J. A. WILDER TO TALK AT KAUAI OF BOY SCOUTS

Leader of Movement is Making an Energetic Campaign to Build Up Organization

Another step in the movement recently begun by James A. Wilder to build up an organization of Boy Scouts in Hawaii which will be a credit to the territory will be the rally and meetings on Kauai which are to be held the last week in January to perfect the troops on the Garden Island. Mr. Wilder is to make a speech to citizens on Kauai January 28.

"I am going to tell them just what the movement means," Mr. Wilder said, speaking of the work on Kauai. "I am going to point out to them that the Boy Scout movement will produce good citizens with high ideals and the idea of helpfulness, bravery when it is called for, self sacrifice, and the ability to take care of themselves under all circumstances.

"Years ago the idea was to work for boys. Then it changed to work with boys. The Scout movement means letting boys work. It teaches them to do things, not to expect their teachers to do them; to want knowledge of all the things a scout must know, because it is honorable to know these things, and still more honor to apply them.

Pledges of Scouts.

"There are three chief pledges of the scouts which will in themselves make a good man of any boy. These are three of the principal things 150,000 boys in the organization have pledged themselves to do.

"'To do his duty to God and to his country and to obey the scout law.'

"'To help other people at all times.'

"'To keep himself physically strong and morally straight.'"

Mr. Wilder believes no place is better suited to the scout movement than the territory and no set of boys can use it to better advantage or get more profit from it than the boys of Hawaii.

"There are so many boys of varied races here," he said, "and many of them are lacking in some advantages. It will be a wonderful thing for the future if they are taught the scout laws.

"'Do a good turn daily.' 'Always be kind and brave.' There are two of our mottoes and they are obeyed in big and little things.

Many "Good Turns."

"Why, the reports from scoutmasters of the good turns are as varied as life can allow them to be. I read a scoutmaster's report which I happen to remember of scouts on a hike who took a tin can from a little dog's tail in the face of opposition from a gang of youngsters who did not know that cruelty is not sport. There was a lad who reported his good turn this way: 'I picked up a handkerchief for a fat lady.' They pick up glass from the road, remove fruit peels from the sidewalk, help old ladies and blind men across the streets; these are some small things. But I read also of a boy who saved three persons from drowning, of a scout troop that, when others were standing helplessly by an injured boy, rendered him first aid quickly and effectively. There are hundreds of such deeds.

Praise From Police Chief.

"Raymond W. Pullman, superintendent of the police department of the District of Columbia, said after the G. A. R. reunion that he had followed the scout movement for five years and he adds: 'I find myself each year believing more and more firmly that the movement is giving the boys of this country more that makes for character building and good citizenship than any American institution, except the home.'"

Is Fun for the Boys.

Mr. Wilder says all boys like to be scouts. They like the outdoors knowledge it gives them of woodcraft, camp cooking, forestry, trees, flowers and of caring for themselves. It is natural for a boy to be manly and clean, he thinks, and when they learn that in the scouts it is "smarter" to be good mannered and manly than to be tough which boys sometimes think is "smart," it is an easy task to make good scouts of them.

"We can get scouts," he said in concluding, "but not until we get scoutmasters. We need men who can give some of their time to the movement, as a pleasure and because they are doing something worth while. What we need in Hawaii now is scoutmasters who will help to train all the boys who want to join."

CHRISTMAS SERVICE HELD LAST FRIDAY FOR RUSSIANS HERE

For the first time here Russians celebrated their Christmas last Friday with services of the orthodox Russian church. The services were held in Trinity Chapel, on the grounds of St. Andrew's Cathedral, Bishop Restarick having granted permission to use the chapel.

In the Russian calendar Christmas comes on the day which on our calendar is January 7, and this year Russians gathered to hear service conducted by Rev. J. Korchinsky, priest of the Russian Orthodox church. Following the service a Christmas tree on which were hung many presents for the 96 Russian children present was visited, in Memorial hall.

PUNAHOU STUDENTS WITH FEVER OF 100 WILL BE SENT HOME

When are coughs and colds contagious? This is the question to which the school authorities at Punahou have been trying to find an answer. The question had so many difficulties that the trustees of Oahu College asked the executive committee of the Hawaiian Medical Society to suggest a method of procedure which would be practicable in handling all cases.

The medical men recommended that any child having a rise of temperature to 100 degrees Fahrenheit should be sent home. This regulation is based more on the child's own condition and less upon the danger to others. The physicians state, however, that most of the contagious cases of coughs and colds will be discovered in this way. The plan recommended by the Medical Society will be put into effect at Punahou as soon as possible after the opening of the winter term.

FORTY YEAR OLD TREE UPROOTED AT PUNAHOU

Torn up by the roots last Saturday afternoon, a large pepper tree, more than 40 years of age, still lies on the spot on which it fell, on the Punahou campus. When the wind was at its height last Saturday afternoon, a gale coming down from Manoa valley caught the tree and tearing it up by the roots, caused it to fall on a road, blocking all traffic.

In the Makiki district several large algarobas have also been torn up from their foundations by the wind, while the same thing has occurred in the Puunui valley.

FAMOUS BAAR LECTURE TO BE READ TUESDAY AT CAPITOL BUNGALOW

On invitation of the United Service Medical Society and through the kindness of Dr. Gustav Baar, physicians in Honolulu will have an opportunity to hear tomorrow afternoon a paper which has attracted much attention recently.

The paper will be read by Dr. Baar at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the Bungalow in the Capitol grounds, and members of the United States Medical Society will be glad to see as many local physicians present as can possibly attend. The paper Dr. Baar will read and of which he is the author, is entitled "Unrecognized Symptoms due to Syphilis of the Brain or Cord." The paper is original and extremely interesting. Dr. Baar read the paper before the medical societies of Idaho, Washington and Oregon in joint session at Lewiston, Idaho, and will leave Wednesday for Los Angeles, where he will read it before the Los Angeles Medical Society.

Dr. Baar makes his home in Portland, Oregon, and is now returning from Vienna, where he has been doing special research work.

Physicians are welcome at the meeting, no special invitations can be sent out on account of lack of time.
