PACIFIC MAIL COMPANY WANTS TO BUY THE OLD FISHMARKET LOCATION

A. L. C. Atkinson Makes Overtures on Behalf of Steamship Men---Want Land for Permanent Repair Shops.

The Pacific Mail Steamship Company, through A. L. C. Atkinson, has made an application for the purchase of the Fishmarket property between Alakea and Richards streets, and Allen and Halekauwila streets. The application was made to Superintendent of Public Works C. S. Holloway, to whose department the land belongs, but it has been referred to Governor Frear.

Ever since the Pacific Mail sent the Korea across from Yokohama to San Francisco about two years ago, with a cargo of silk, breaking all records and landing the cargo in New York in a shorter time than had ever been done before, there have been influences at work to get the company to cut out Hawaii and send its steamships by a direct course across the ocean. The offer for the purchase of the Fishmarket is taken to mean, either that that idea has been abandoned, or that the company is seeking to find out if it can secure needed accommodations here for a permanent maintenance of the present route, before finally deciding the question.

It is believed that what the company wants this property for is to establish on it a permanent equipment warehouse, repair shop, and coal shed. If Honolulu shall continue a port of call for the company, with the development of Pacific commerce there will be a continued growth of the fleet. The possession of an equipment warehouse at this port, having a repair shop with appliances sufficient to make any repairs such as may be needed or as are likely to be required at a port of call, it is thought would be of very great benefit to the company. In many instances and for much work it would give the company a very great advantage in the matter of labor troubles. If labor troubles in San Francisco interfered with repairs or equipment, the work could be done here. If a drydock should be established at Pearl Harbor by the United States, or by the United States in combination with the Pacific Mail or other steamship lines, the company would be entirely independent of labor troubles in San Francisco.

The establishment here of such an equipment warehouse, and repair shop would mean the addition to the permanent population of Honolulu of a number of mechanics and artisans of a high grade, with their families, and would to that extent be in line with the policy of making this an American community. The measure of establishing such equipment warehouse and repair shop would also tend to make permanent this place as a port of call and to develop its importance in the commerce of the Pacific.

With the new wharves touching Allen street the location of the Fishmarket for such a purpose could not be surpassed. It is directly across the street from these wharves.

In its application for the purchase of the Fishmarket, Atkinson offers $60,000. The Fishmarket property contains about 80,000 square feet. The present arcade fishmarket building was built about fifteen years ago. Up to about four years ago the entire fishmarket business of the city was done at this place. About four years ago a permit to establish a market on Queen and Kekaulike street was granted by the Board of Health. With the opening of that market, there was an almost instantaneous and complete desertion of the government fishmarket.

In its best days, in the good old days when James Kaulia made his "kill the snakes" speeches and his addresses in favor of gambling, to listening throngs, amid the babel of fishmongers, the gross annual rental from the market was about $6000.

The question of the utilization of this property has come up at frequent intervals since it ceased to be a fishmarket. One proposition was to turn it into a National Guard armory. Another was to turn it into a warehouse, and this has been done to some extent. At the meeting held in Governor Carter's office December 4, 1906, to work for a Pan-Pacific Commercial Congress here, Governor Carter said in speaking of this matter, as reported in the Advertiser the next day: "The Governor said that Secretary Taft had found some fault with the government about its declining to sell the market building to H. Hackfeld & Company. Accordingly negotiations were renewed, but that firm dropped the matter. The government thought it worth $60,000 and Hackfelds probably wanted it for about $25,000. He did not see any better use for it now than as an auditorium."

There was a report, in connection with the talk of the Territory's selling the property then or earlier, that if the Territory made any move to sell the property, the Navy Department would step in and gobble it up for its uses by proclamation of the President. But it is reported that when this was brought to Secretary Taft's attention by Atkinson, who was then Secretary of the Territory, Taft gave assurance that the Territory would not be interfered with in doing anything with it that was likely to advance its interests.

Governor Frear said yesterday that though the offer of purchase had been presented to him, he had not as yet taken it up for consideration and probably would not until some other matters under consideration were disposed of. Secretary Mott-Smith, however, went with Atkinson yesterday afternoon to look the property over, and the Superintendent of Public Works and Atkinson also looked the property over.

RECEPTION TO MASONIC GRAND MASTER

The Young Hotel roof garden and the dancing pavilions were bright with colored lights last night in honor of the reception given by the Masons of Honolulu to their visiting Most Worshipful Brother, Edward H. Hart, Grand Master of Masons of the State of California. The members of the Hawaiian Lodge, the Kilauea Lodge and the Oceanic Lodge, with their families, were present in large numbers, the guests including a large number of the best known people of the city.

The decorations in the garden and in the two ballrooms were particularly effective, appropriate Masonic emblems being worked out in incandescents, the colors in the emblems being gold and blue. High over all the other illuminations blazed the Stars and Stripes, while the national and Hawaiian flags were draped over the alcoves in the pavilions.

Grand Master Hart, assisted by Tyler J. B. Tucker and Worshipful Master Robert Hair, received the long lines of guests in the mauka pavilion, after which dancing was indulged in to the music of Kaai's ochestra. On the roof garden a quintet club also played and a number of selections were sung during the evening by Madame Alapai.

About eleven o'clock a slight shower came up, driving within doors all those who were promenading and enjoying the coolness, but this did not end the enjoyment of the dance, which continued until midnight.

Will Take Deported Laborers Back to Madeira and Funchal.

M. A. Silva and Henry Vida have been commissioned to accompany the deported Spanish and Portuguese back to their homes, the former to go to Funchal and the latter to Madeira. They will leave with those denied admission to the country on the Sierra, sailing for San Francisco tomorrow and will go overland to New York, taking steamers there for Europe. The total number of immigrants to be deported is fifty-one, fifteen Portuguese and thirty-six Spaniards. Of these about half have been rejected because afflicted with trachoma. Of the others, four are undesirables and the remainder are members of families, some other members of which are trachoma patients, whom they do not wish to become separaed from. Three of those who are to sail are in a way American citizens, being born under the shadow of the flag, two on Quarantine island and one at the Immigrant station.

The immigrants have been having the time of their lives at the station here. Three square meals a day have been provided for them, comfortable places have been given them to sleep in, all their necessities have been freely provided and many comparative luxuries have come their way. Clothes and other articles in abundance have been sent them by various charitable people of the city until the boxes they brought with them from their former homes are not big enough now to hold all the things they will take back, new boxes having to be sent down to the station yesterday to pack their new belongings in.

M. A. Silva leaves here as the representative of the U. S. Immigration service, while Henry Vida goes as the representative of the Territorial Board of Immigration. Inspector North, of San Francisco, willc receive the deported people when they arrive there and will see that they are placed aboard the proper train to get them to New York, where other immigration officials will receive them and start them across the pond.

Consul Rodiek is the man who recently foreswore allegiance to Emperor William, but has as yet been denied American citizenship, the United States having taken an appeal from the decision of Judge Dole who decided that he was entitled to citizenship.

RECEPTION FOR CONDOR SAILORS

German Colony Greets Men From Fatherland in Social Spirit.

The officers and crew of the German cruiser Condor were tendered a reception last night by the members of the German church of this city. The affair took place in the schoolroom connected with the church on Beretania avenue and there were nearly one hundred and fifty people in attendance, of whom about one-third were from the German warship.

The reception was opened by a short address from Pastor W. Felmy, who told the officers and members of the crew how welcome they were in this community and of the kindly feeling which existed between the Germans here and those coming from the Fatherland. He explained that during the entire time that the vessel was in port the schoolroom in which they were present would be opened every evening and afternoon that the members of the crew might have a pleasant place where they could meet young people speaking their own language and might read, or play games if they chose.

He also spoke of the special service which would be held in the church on Sunday, in honor of the Condor. Compliments to the ship, her officers and men ended his speech, after which the ladies of the congregation served refreshments and all started in for a general good time. Recitations, songs and music were the order of the evening and all enjoyed themselves, as was shown by the peals of laughter which could be heard for some distance away.

One of the pleasantest numbers of the program was the singing of Miss M. Ulrich, a young lady with an unusually fine soprano voice who has just arrived in the city. She will be married on Tuesday to Professor Kahl, the organist and musical director of the German church, who has known her from childhood, and who comes from the same part of Europe as Miss Ulrich, though his home is in Silesia and hers in Austria.

Among the officers of the Condor present last night were: Captain Ahlert, Lieutenant Commander Schutte and Lieutenant Luttschwager. There were several members of the congregation who had met the officers before and the renewing of old friendships made the evening even more pleasant than it would otherwise have been.

SPECIAL PARTNERSHIP.

Articles of copartnership in Silva's Toggery were filed with the Treasurer yesterday. The partners are David P. Lawrence who puts in $1500 and is the special partner, and Alfred C. Silva who puts in $3000 and is the general partner. The partnership is to continue until June 30, 1912.

This is said to be the first partnership of this kind ever organized under the laws of the Territory.

Governor Frear accompanied by Col. Jones, Col. Johnson and Secretary Mott-Smith yesterday called on Captain Ahlert of the German cruiser Condor. He was given the usual salute.

Meaning of the Battle Fleet Movement

By Arthur H. Dutton, late Lieut. U. S. N.

Much uncalled-for sensation and much error have followed the recent official announcement that the Atlantic battleship fleet has been ordered to proceed in the near future to the Pacific ocean. It has been taken in most quarters as an indication of an impending war in the Pacific. As a matter of fact, there was nothing sudden whatever in the decision to cause this movement westward. For months, indeed for two or three years, the weakness of the United States naval forces in the Pacific has been the subject of remark among those who know. It has been the intention of the navy department for fully a year to remedy this weakness by reinforcing the Pacific fleet. Sending practically the entire present Atlantic fleet to the Pacific instead of being startling, is in reality in obedience to a fundamental law of military strategy, that of concentrating, instead of subdividing, the battle units. Dividing a force is to invite disaster in case an attack should ever be made, for then the subdivisions could be defeated by a concentrated force of a relatively inferior navy. One of the great secrets of Napoleon's successes was his policy of not giving his enemy a chance to combine his forces, but to hasten to attack each factor of the total opposing army in detail. If the United States navy were divided into two fleets, both combined superior to a possible enemy, but separated individually inferior, it would be following the poor strategy of Russia, which, during the Japanese war, had her stronger total navy divided between Vladivostok, Port Arthur, Chemulpo and the Baltic Sea, while Japan kept all of hers in hand.

A reinforcement for the Pacific having been long contemplated, it was therefore obvious that the reinforcement should be of sufficient strength to insure superiority. Conditions on the Atlantic Coast are at present well settled; there will remain a strong force, and battleships even more powerful than those of the fleet destined for the Pacific are being rapidly turned out of Atlantic shipyards, to create a new Atlantic fleet, whereas none are being built on the Pacific Coast.

STRAUS HOME FROM HAWAII

Washington Star Gives Report of His Trip.

(Washington Star, Sept. 11.)

The visit of Secretary Straus to the Pacific Coast, including the Hawaiian Islands, has been a most enjoyable one, and is likely to lead to practical results. A firm believer in the idea that the vast interests intrusted to his safekeeping could not be entirely administered from his desk in Washington, the Secretary determined to make a personal inspection of the workings of the department away from the capital, and to become personally acquainted with the various officials having supervision. He accordingly planned a trip along the Canadian border to Vancouver, and thence south through Seattle and Portland to San Francisco, with Honolulu as the ultimate destination. He returned to Washington today, and talked freely about his experiences, especially those in the Hawaiian Islands.

When he arrived at Honolulu the islanders were out in force to greet him and his party. They were taken to the hotel in automobiles, the route being lined on both sides by the people, who were enthusiastic in their demonstrations. The presence of Representative and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth added to the warmth of the demonstration. At the hotel delegations from the board of trade, merchants' exchange, Chinese, Japanese and other societies, greeted the Secretary, extended invitations to dinners and made requests for speeches.

COMPLAINT OF SHIPPING LAWS.

Secretary Straus made several notable addresses while at Honolulu—one at a banquet given in his honor by Mr. Hatch, and at a dinner given by the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce the policy of the government in relation to the islands was touched upon. On the latter occasion one of the largest and most representative bodies of business men ever gathered in Honolulu assembled to present the commercial needs of the islanders. L. A. Thurston, speaking in behalf of the merchants and planters, described certain commercial disadvantages resulting from annexation, laying particular stress upon the necessity for a modification of the coastwise shipping laws applying to the islands, which penalize the carrying of passengers and freight between the territory and the mainland of the United States in other than American bottoms. Owing to the infrequency with which vessels of that description stop at Honolulu, Mr. Thurston declared that large quantities of fruit rot upon the wharves while awaiting shipment, and that the same lack of transportation facilities acts as a peculiar hardship upon residents of the territory, who were often obliged, as a result of illness or pressing financial matters, to leave for the United States on a vessel of foreign registry and thereby incur the fine of $200 which our navigation laws impose.

RESPONSE OF SECRETARY STRAUS.

Replying to this address Secretary Straus assured the islanders that he would endeavor to have existing grievances remedied, and closed his address by saying:

"I have knowledge and experience of the fact that one of the greatest shortcomings in the way of the progress of the islands is that there is not sufficient communication between them and the mainland. This you must have, and you ought to have, and speaking individually and officially I promise you that I shall do everything within my power to assist in getting the shipping facilities that you need. I have seen much of the world. I am familiar with those places which are the favored lands for tourists, and my eight days' stay here has convinced me that there is no land on the face of the earth, considering climate and population, and considering beauty and attractiveness of scenery and charms of hospitality, which offers so much to the tourist, either in health or pleasure, as this Eden of the Pacific."

These declarations were enthusiastically applauded, and upon closing the Secretary was generously cheered.

On another occasion the Secretary was waited upon by a delegation of Japanese editors, representing the four Japanese newspapers of Honolulu who called to ascertain his views regarding Japanese matters in the Territory and as to his policy with reference to Japanese immigration, particularly if he believed that the preponderance of Japanese in Hawaii was inimical to the future welfare of the islands. In reply the Secretary said:

"An ideal condition for the future welfare of these islands would be that there should not be too great a preponderance of any one race, but that an equilibrium be maintained. I would impress upon you, and upon each of the several races here, to have a care not to exploit these islands and their resources for the benefit of the country from which they came, but to act in the spirit of the government under which they live—of loyalty to the interests of the islands which afford such happy and ideal homes for them and for their children."

These remarks, which were reported in all of the newspapers—American, Japanese and Chinese—met with an enthusiastic reception.

One of the most interesting dinners tendered to the Secretary was given by W. R. Castle, an old schoolmate, who graduated from Columbia University with Mr. Straus in the law class of '73. The guests included the leading educators of the islands, who entertainingly described the public school system of Hawaii, and the progress made by its foremost institutions.

In the red-draped throneroom of the palace, long closed to social affairs, Gov. and Mrs. Carter tendered a public reception to Secretary and Mrs. Straus and Representative and Mrs. Longworth. The grounds were brightly illuminated by myriads of vari-colored incandescent lights, under which, to the music of the Royal Hawaiian band, thousands of citizens congregated while the reception was in progress.

Unfortunately the limited time at his disposal prevented the Secretary from visiting the various islands of the Hawaiian group, but his party were afforded opportunity of seeing all that there is in Oahu, the island upon which Honolulu is situated.

When the Secretary left Honolulu a large crowd was assembled on the dock to witness the departure. Secretary Straus stood on the deck of the steamer decked with wreaths of flowers, the last token of friendship bestowed by the warm-hearted islanders, who cheered vociferously as the steamer moved from the harbor. The last sound that reached the steamer from the shore was "Aloha nui," the Hawaiian farewell greeting and expression of regard and esteem.

WONDERFUL CAVE IN MASSACHUSETTS

WORCESTER, Mass., Sept. 10.—"Purgatory," a cave only a few miles from this city, many of whose mysterious bypaths have yet to be explored, is now attracting the attention of scientists all over New England because of the failure of Miss Lucia B. Thomson, of Boston, a well-known mountain climber, to penetrate the cavern. Miss Thomson found herself unable to proceed much beyond the entrance to the cavern, as it was icebound.

No one has yet had the courage to penetrate the furthest depths of the cave, and such an attempt is admittedly fraught with danger, for at its bottom is an unexplored subterranean lake or river.

There are scarcely three months in the year in which it is possible to enter the cavern. Miss Thomson, who has climbed the highest peaks of the Pacific Coast ranges, gave up the attempt after climbing in the ante-chambers several hours. Though she has climbed Mount Whitney, she says she never encountered a more difficult task than the cavern. Miss Annie Peck, of Providence, a well-known European climber, will try to explore the cave.

THREE CHINESE GIRLS ENTER WELLESLEY

BOSTON, September 11.—Three Chinese girls, wards of the emperor, two of them of royal blood and the first Chinese women sent by the government of that country to America to be educated, arrived at Wellesley College yesterday. It is their aim to gain knowledge to be used in the social uplifting of China.

They are Miss Faung Yuin Tsao, a woman of thirty, who speaks English fluently; Miss Chiche Wang, who is twenty-six, and Miss Ning H-Sia Hu, who is sixteen. They hope to enter Wellesley at the beginning of the session. It is not yet known whether they are ready, and they may have to take a preliminary course at Dana Hall.

The three students presumptive and their party were in native Chinese costume, but they will adopt the discomforts of American dress if President Hazard wishes it.

GIGANTIC OIL BONDS IN STANDARD APPEAL

CHICAGO, September 11.—Appeal bonds aggregating between $5,000,000 and $7,500,000 must be furnished by the Standard Oil Company of Indiana before the supersedeas asked for will be issued by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. Without the supersedeas the government will be at liberty to levy on the property for execution under the judgment of $29,240,000 returned against the company in Judge K. M. Landis' court.

Under the tentative arrangement there will be two bonds. One of these will be for $2,000,000 cash and furnished by a surety company, and the other will be what is known as a forthcoming bond, to cover the value of the Whiting plant. It is the last bond which is in question and over which there will be a struggle.

RIGHT TO SEND SHIPS ANYWHERE

Congressman Hull of Iowa Has Emphatic Views on Navy and Philippines.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—"I think Secretary Taft must have changed his views with regard to the Philippines recently. The people over there are just beginning to understand this, and they are getting down on the Secretary. He is a great big man, with a great big brain, and he is a splendid optimist," said Representative Hull, of Iowa, chairman of the Committee on Military Affairs, this evening.

"The fact is, Secretary Taft believed in the beginning that the Filipinos would develop more rapidly than they have, but unfortunately, when they reach a certain point they stagnate. We are not going to sell the Philippines, and there is no use wasting time talking about it. What we should do is to stop this infernal talk about self-government and give these people to understand that we are going to hold on to them; that if they are good we will reward them, and if they are bad we will punish them.

"We should encourage American capital to invest in the islands, and not hamper it by discrimination, as we do at present. This could be accomplished by giving them free trade. I do not believe in rewarding monopolies, but if some Americans start a sugar establishment or a big lumber industry, for instance, I believe in dealing directly with them and making concessions which will be to their advantage."

Mr. Hull was emphatic in his declaration that there was absolutely no reason why the Atlantic fleet should not be sent to the Pacific.

"In Iowa," he said, "we feel that we have a right to send our ships wherever we please, and if any nation has a chip on its shoulder the sooner we know it the better. The Eastern people seem to be afraid that if we send our vessels to the western coast some enemy will shoot up Boston or New York, but they must remember that the navy belongs to the whole country.

"I have no idea that Japan wants to go to war with us now. I can well believe that she would like to have some of our possessions, but the Anglo-Saxon race has a pretty well established habit of holding on to everything it gets."

On the subject of national politics, Mr. Hull had little to say, except that out this way the people seemed determined to give President Roosevelt another term if he could be induced to accept the nomination.

HEMENWAY AND THE HOSPITAL

The Attorney General's Duty in Regard to Public Charities.

The Attorney General's department, after a thorough consideration of the subject and a somewhat exhaustive study of the authorities, has reached the conclusion that "on a proper showing made it is the duty of the department to investigate a public charity."

This conclusion was reached on the representations of Thompson & Clemons, as attorneys for Dr. A. G. Hodgins, that such was the duty of the Attorney General, and that the action of the trustees of the Queen's Hospital, in striking Dr. Hodgins' name from the roll of honorary surgeons of the hospital, was a case calling for the exercise of the duty.

The conclusion reached by Attorney General Hemenway as yet goes no farther than the legal conclusion that, on a proper showing made, it is his duty to take cognizance of the wrongs and injuries in the administration of a public charity. But before he will take action in the Dr. Hodgins matter in connection with the Queen's Hospital, there must be a satisfactory showing that the Queen's Hospital is such a public charity as is contemplated by the rule, and that the Dr. Hodgins matter is such a one as requires the Attorney General's action.

These showings have not yet been made, but Thompson & Clemons, Dr. Hodgins' attorneys, are preparing to make the showing and they believe they will be able to make such a showing as will constrain the Attorney General to act.

The application to Attorney General Hemenway to take action in this matter was made more than a week ago. He referred the study of the legal questions involved, and a search among the authorities, to Deputy Attorney General Whitney who, after a careful study of the matter, reached the conclusion that has been announced, that "on a proper showing made it is the duty of the Attorney General to investigate a public charity."

It looks now very much as though action to test the legality of Dr. Hodgins' removal would be in the name of the Attorney General, but this is neither decided on nor is it certain, and will depend on the showing of law and facts that Dr. Hodgins' attorneys make in that behalf. But there is likely to be another result of the agitation regarding the matter of Dr. Hodgins and other features of the management of the Queen's Hospital. The Governor of the Territory is ex officio president of the trustees of the hospital. In the early days the king was, and he often actually took part. Of late years the governor has seldom or never attended the meetings of the trustees and the management has devolved entirely upon the trustees and the vice president. Governor Frear said yesterday that he had not yet taken any action in the matter but that he might to the extent at least of attending the meetings of the board and exercising the duties of president.

HIRED EXPRESS WAGON TO CARRY PLUNDER

Three Koreans, Ching Sung Chan, Yi Shee Kim and Yi Yong Tai, calmly sorted out about three hundred pounds of brass from the junk pile at the Honolulu plantation yesterday and then went off to engage an express wagon to carry their loot down to the station for them, leaving one of their number to pack the hardware into gunny sacks. Telling the expressman that they had some clothes they were taking into Honolulu, they began to load up his rig, just at the time that Chief Taylor swooped down upon them and pinched the outfit. Taylor happened to be on the scene in connection with another matter altogether, but had been watching the Korean junk thieves at their work. The three were brought into town yesterday afternoon and are booked at the police station for larceny, some ninety pounds of their plunder being brought in to exhibit as evidence against them.

The following is an item from Waimea in the Garden Island:

A DEED FROM AND TO LILIUOKALANI

She Is Described as Her Majesty---The Property Conveyed.

Two interesting deeds have lately been filed with Registrar Merriam. One is from A. S. Cleghorn to Liliuokalani, described as "Her Majesty Liliuokalani," by which he conveys to her all his interest in certain property conveyed to Likelike. The other is from the Queen, who describes herself as Liliuokalani of Honolulu, County of Oahu, Territory of Hawaii, in which she conveys to A. S. Cleghorn her undivided half interest in all the lands wherever situate which at her death belonged to "Her Royal Highness Miriam Likelike Cleghorn."

The granting part of the Cleghorn deed is as follows:

"Know all men by these presents: That I, Archibald S. Cleghorn, of Honolulu, County of Oahu, Territory of Hawaii, for and in consideration of the sum of one dollar to me in hand paid by Her Majesty Liliuokalani, of the same place, do hereby remise, release and forever quitclaim unto the said Liliuokalani, and her heirs, all my right, title and interest in and to the premises in Kaawaloa described in L. C. A. 6750, R. P. 3827 to Awahua, being the same premises conveyed to Likelike by deed of Samuel W. Alapai dated June 25, 1869 * * subject however, to a certain lease granted to J. D. Paris."

The granting part of the Queen's deed is as follows:

"Know all men by these presents: That I, Liliuokalani of Honolulu, County of Oahu, Territory of Hawaii, for and in consideration of the sum of ($10,000) ten thousand dollars to me paid by Archibald S. Cleghorn do hereby grant, bargain, sell, release, convey and confirm unto said Archibald S. Cleghorn, and his heirs, all her undivided one-half interest, subject to the life estate of said grantee, in and to all and singular the lands wherever situate in said Territory, which prior to and at the time of her death belonged to her Royal Highness Miriam Likelike Cleghorn, and which were demised by and under the last will and testament of the said Miriam Likelike Cleghorn hereto admitted to probate in and before the Supreme Court of the Hawaiian Islands."

THE MOTHER SUPERIOR CONVEYS MUCH LAND

Among the deeds filed for record in the office of the Registrar of Conveyances was one by Marie Brassier, Superior of the Sisters of the Sacred Hearts, to the Sisters of the Sacred Hearts, a corporation. The purpose of the deed is to vest in the recently formed corporation the property which has heretofore been held in the name of the Mother Superior for the time being, and the organization of the corporation and the conveyance of the property is simply for the purpose of more conveniently holding the property for the uses for which it is given. The grantor in this deed describes herself as Marie Brassier, known in religion as Judith, and Mother Superior of the Sisters of the Sacred Hearts. In the description of the various pieces of property transferred deeds are mentioned from a wide variety of sources. Some of the property was received directly from the Land Commission; some by deed from later officials; some by deed or conveyance from her predecessor as Lady Superior; some from Bishop Maigret, some from Bishop Hermann, and some from the trustees of the Second Foreign Church and Congregation of Honolulu.

WILL BUY HORSES IN AUSTRALIA

Major W. C. Brown, of the Third Cavalry, chief quartermaster, of the Philippines Division, has gone to Australia from Manila to buy three hundred cavalry mounts. The horses that have been shipped from the United States have proved to be so poor in the island service that the idea of taking over has been abandoned. Major Brown is well qualified for the task which has been given him. He spent a month recently in Australia, at his own expense, studying the horses there and made a report, to which we have heretofore referred, which was to the effect that the demands of horsemen in Australia for stock driving and travel have developed a very fine type, which is not depleted by the requirements of city freight traffic, as in this country, so that horses suitable for our army are abundant. Prices there run slightly lower than here. It is believed that the voyage will hardly affect their condition and that the horses when delivered in the Philippines will be immediately available for service. If Major Brown's experiment succeeds it will probably lead to the development of breeding experiments in the Philippines based on Australian stock.—Army and Navy Journal.

JAIL CURE FOR DELIRIUM TREMENS

C. W. Gaiser, of Kauai, after seeing the sights of this city for the past ten or twelve days, is willing to go on record in the matter of snakes, pink elephants and twelve-legged rats. He is no nature faker, either, but has a collection of the real articles that make the freak fish of the Aquarium look like the veriest has beens. At present he is in the hospital at the prison getting rid of his symptoms, having been taken over yesterday to serve a six days' term for drunkenness. Gaiser's jag has been of the long-drawn-out variety and the man was a pitiable object when he appeared before Judge Andrade yesterday. Eight days' steady consumption of booze had brought him into delirium tremens of the aggravated description and although he had plenty of money with which to pay his fine it was thought better to send him to jail where he can be taken care of. He rode over to the reef yesterday in company with Lionel Hart.

A ROMAN CATHOLIC OPINION OF Y. M. C. A.

A writer in the "Catholic Young Man," the official organ of the "Catholic Young Men's Society of Ireland," has recently made a study of the Young Men's Christian Association and urges on the Roman Catholic church in Ireland the organization of a work for Roman Catholics along similar lines. He has been much impressed with the work of the Y. M. C. A., which he characterizes as "the greatest force in Protestantism," a claim which the Associations would by no means make for themselves, but which is interesting coming from a disinterested party. This recalls a statement made some time ago by a priest in the States, that the Y. M. C. A. is the only thing the Protestants have that the Roman Catholic church covets.

But though the purposes, methods and influence of the Y. M. C. A. are Protestant, Roman Catholic young men by the thousands have found membership in the association congenial, and enjoyed the privileges of the institution on equal terms with other men. One-third of the Chicago Y. M. C. A., the largest in the world, are Roman Catholics.

WIDE AS THE POLES APART.

Somehow the majesty of the law comes to look very ridiculous when it demands the return, at great trouble and expense, of immigrants afflicted with trachoma, but allows the remission of the fine imposed on the Secretary of Commerce for breaking a law.—Bulletin (of course).

Taking the latter part of the contrast attempted to be drawn first, it is only necessary to say that no fine was imposed on the Secretary of Commerce. Mr. Straus was here on United States Government business in the special interest of this Territory. When it was necessary for him to leave the only available steamer for himself and party was one under a foreign flag, therefore subject to a penalty for each passenger carried by her between Honolulu and San Francisco. Foreign steamers on this route always, if they have room, carry such passengers as choose to make good to them the penalty. The passengers are not fined. They pay the penalty in advance with the regular fare. Even if it is a fine as stated in the law—a matter of utter indifference in this argument—it is not a fine in the common acceptation of the word any more than the duty on a piece of imported merchandise. Why, considering the official errand of Secretary Straus, should the penalty not be remitted? It is nothing but an incidental expense item of the Department of Commerce and Labor of the United States Government.

To speak of the deportation of cases of chronic trachoma as being very ridiculous, with or without any invidious comparison with anything else, is to invite not merely ridicule but indignation from the public against the orator. Trachoma is a loathsome, painful, dangerous and highly contagious disease. It got loose once in Honolulu, and that was once too often—crowding the public dispensary, the hospitals and medical consulting rooms; incapacitating adults from their respective duties for many days of agony and causing a general closure of schools.

Lately Judge Hough of the United States Court in New York, in deciding against two transatlantic navigation companies for violating the law by bringing in diseased immigrants, severely denounced the defendants for their audacity in pleading unconstitutional procedure while brazenly admitting the offense. The New York Tribune, while holding it indifferent to the average man whether the appellate court will sustain the plea of the companies or not, shows what it thinks about the protection of American communities from disease in the following language:

"The steamship companies have allowed their agents to imperil the health of many Americans by bringing over miserable wretches suffering from trachoma and other even more loathsome contagious diseases whose presence might have been ascertained at the port of embarkation by competent physicians. It is this fact alone which interests the ordinary man. The discovery that corporations, perfectly familiar with the dangers of contagious diseases, can deliberately throw infected aliens into our country simply to increase dividends already bountiful is a painful proof that there are still a few 'predatory rich' surviving. For this most contemptible practice some adequate punishment should be found, and its infliction should be hampered by no quibbles or sidesteps."

PURE MILK LEGISLATION.

Instead of providing the Board of Health with its desired provisions for ensuring a pure milk supply, the Legislature of 1907 reduced the powers of that body which did exist. Elsewhere pure milk is being treated as one of the primary essentials in the protection and maintenance of the public health. State and municipal action in this regard is becoming more and more stringent. Thus, under the recently amended agricultural law of New York State, any householder or consumer of milk who fails to clean properly the can or other receptacle in which the milk was delivered is liable to prosecution. The delivery to any railroad for shipping of an uncleansed empty milk can is prohibited, and every use, return, delivery or shipment of a foul can is made a separate violation of the law. The law prohibits the placing of "sweepings, refuse, dirt, litter, garbage, filth or any other animal or vegetable substance liable to decay and tending to promote or produce an unsanitary condition" in milk cans.

This law is being enforced. As its wording implies it includes bottles as well as cans. The department official in charge of the work in New York City lately stated that the inspection of milk cans by his men was proceeding satisfactorily at the ferries and that a great improvement in the condition of the cans was found. One night at Barclay street twelve thousand cans were inspected, and not one was set aside as failing to comply with the law regarding cleanliness. In the case of the bottles the commissioner and his men found a different condition, a large percentage of the bottles showing that they had been returned to the dealers uncleansed and that the old milk particles had not been removed through whatever cleaning they received later. It was explained that it is almost impossible to remove these if they are permitted to stand for twenty-four hours.

Such a provision as that just indicated, holding consumers as well as dealers to cleanliness, is one that ought to be desired by the milk dealers of Honolulu. No doubt they are sometimes called to account for bad milk by customers whose own fault it is from the uncleanly condition of the bottles when returned which, as shown above, is difficult of remedy afterward. However, just now it is no use to cry over bad milk here, since the assembled wisdom of Hawaii has shown it deemed the purity of food and drink a matter almost beneath its notice. Physicians, if the Legislature had any use for the variety holding reputable diplomas, might if consulted have shown an intimate relation between the milk supply and the infant mortality that discreditably swells the death rate of Honolulu.

WAGES AND FOOD.

Labor in the United States was appreciably better off in 1906 than in 1905, according to the annual investigation of the bureau of labor into wages and the retail prices of food. Although food went up, wages did also and in greater ratio. In the principal industries the average wages were higher, the regular hours of labor lower and the number of employes greater, in 1906 than in 1905. The average full time weekly earnings to each employe in 1906 were 3.9 per cent greater than in 1905. Wages were increased generally in nearly all industries, the greatest advance being one of 11.2 per cent in the manufacture of cotton goods. Two industries showed an increase in hourly wages of more than 10 per cent, seven industries an increase between 5 and 10 per cent, and thirty-one industries an increase of less than 5 per cent. In the industries as a whole the hourly wages improved 4.5 per cent.

Taking the consumption of food in representative workingmen's families, the retail prices of food were 2.9 per cent higher in 1906 than in 1905. As the advance in wages was greater than the advance in the retail prices of food, the purchasing power of an hour's wages in food was greater in 1906 than in the preceding year. The labor bureau statistician figures that an hour's wages in 1906 in the manufacturing and mechanical industries of the United States would purchase 1.4 per cent more food than an hour's wages in 1905, and a full week's wages in 1906 would purchase 1 per cent more food than a full week's wages in 1905.

As, however, the price of food steadily rose throughout the year, the ratio between food and wages at the beginning of 1907 would show little advantage, if not a slight disadvantage, in the household economy of the wage-earner. The price of food was higher in every month of 1906 than in the corresponding month of 1905. The increase over the corresponding month of the preceding year, which in February, 1906, was only 0.4 per cent, grew steadily greater throughout the year, the price in December, 1906, being 5.1 per cent above that of the preceding December. The price in December, 1906, was 4.8 per cent higher than the average for the year 1906, which year showed a higher average than any other year during the seventeen years, 1890 to 1906, covered by the investigation of the bureau of labor.

Yesterday marked a continuation of the abnormal humidity of the day before. The excessive percentage was 19 over the same date last year and 15 per cent over the average relative humidity for eight years. Hawaii will have a word for weather if this sort of climatic freak lasts much longer.

Japan is properly looking after her own shipping interests, an example that the little inlanders of the United States might study for the benefit of their own country.

Anecdotal

QUICK REPARTEE.

Archbishop Patrick J. Ryan of Philadelphia is as famous as he is eloquent as a divine, and many are the stories told of his quick repartee. When Wayne MacVeagh, former Attorney General of the United States, was counsel for the Pennsylvania railroad he called upon the Archbishop in company with Mr. Roberts, president of the Pennsylvania system.

"Your grace," said Mr. MacVeagh, "Mr. Roberts, who always travels with his counsel, will undoubtedly get you passes over all the railroads in the United States if in return you will get him a pass to paradise."

"I would do so gladly," flashed the Archbishop, "if it were not for separating him from his counsel."

On one occasion Archbishop Ryan complained to a Philadelphia editor that one of his sermons had been badly reported.

"I am sorry," the editor responded, "but one of our best men, who is likewise a Catholic, did it."

"What is his name?" the prelate inquired.

"Killpatrick," answered the editor.

"And he came mighty near doing it," was the Archbishop's final shot.

Some years ago there was supposed to be a difference between Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore and Archbishop Corrigan of New York. An interviewer asked Archbishop Ryan where he stood in the alleged controversy.

"As Archbishop of Philadelphia," he answered, "I naturally stand half way between New York and Baltimore."

WHAT "JIM" SAID.

During the revolution against the Republican organization, in which the bosses were twice defeated, State Senator McNichol, political and business partner of Israel W. Durham, the recognized boss, won the admiration of friend and opponent by his "nerve." McNichol remained in town, visited his office in the shadow of the City Hall daily, strode through groups of political "fire-eaters" and often lingered in the street to talk with reporters.

Most of the ward leaders then kept under cover, but one of the frightened ones managed one day to get to McNichol's office by a secret route. Tremblingly and in whispers he talked to McNichol.

"Say, Jim," said he, "I don't know what to do. They're going to put you in jail, and, if they can, they'll put all of us in jail. I'd rather 'skip' to Mexico than be arrested."

McNichol's face beamed with smiles. He slapped the visitor on the back, and then said, consolingly:

"Now, never mind. The jail is comfortable, isn't it? And it's not so far away from home as Mexico."

WINSTON CHURCHILL'S WIT.

When Winston Churchill, the novelist, opened his campaign for Governor of New Hampshire there was no one on the platform at the initial meeting except Churchill and Judge Remick, his sponsor. About 100 people were in the audience.

Not at all abashed by the lack of any one to introduce him, Churchill stepped to the front of the platform. "Ladies and gentlemen," he said, "this is Judge Remick. He will now address you. When he has finished he'll introduce me. I'm Churchill."

During the course of the campaign a supporter telegraphed to Churchill's home at Cornish: "Have you no buttons for your supporters?"

Churchill was not at home when the telegram arrived, but a waggish relative answered: "Entirely out of buttons; use safety pins." Churchill's name was signed to the telegram.

The joke lost the author-candidate an ardent supporter, but Churchill was so pleased with the witticism that he didn't get mad.

FORCE OF HABIT.

The Bishop of Maryland was much interested in uplift work among the lowly, and maintained a school for neglected children in one of the poorer quarters of Baltimore. Among the pupils was a little girl, whose free use of "swear words" indicated lamentable conditions in the home circle. On one of the Bishop"s visits to the school the teacher told him of this little girl's persistent use of profanity, and asked him to talk to her about it. Later the good Bishop called the child to him, and, after putting her at ease by a few kind and fatherly words told her how very wrong it was for a little girl to swear, and hoped she would not do it any more.

The child, in no wise abashed, wanted to know of the Bishop "who told him."

"Oh," he said, evasively, "a little bird told me."

"Well," said the child, with a flash of quick intelligence, "I bet it was one of them d—— English sparrows."

CLOSE CALL WITH MATRIMONY.

Walter Rothschild, the richest bachelor in England, had a close call with matrimony when he was a young man. A designing mamma had managed to get the heir to the Rothschild millions interested in her daughter, and the daughter did all she could to lead the interest up to the point of a marriage proposal.

One night, at a watering place, after Rothschild had retired to his room, he heard voices under his window which he recognized as those of the young lady and her mamma.

"Has he proposed yet?" asked the older woman.

"Not yet," answered the daughter, "but I'll have him hooked before long, if only I can endure his conversation. Tonight he bored me almost to death talking about his kangaroos."

"I am sorry," said Rothschild, putting his head out of the window, "to have bored you with tales of my animals. Forgive me. I shall never do so again." And he never did.

Governor Frear yesterday approved the opening of some lots on Maui near Maalaea Bay on the application of some native fishermen. This is land that has been made valuable by the growth of algaroba trees. A strip five hundred feet wide along the beach is reserved by the government.

J. CONNOR WINS CHALLENGE CUP

Beats W. E. Wall After Tie and Is Victor After Hard Contest.

After a hard contest, which has lasted for thirteen weeks, J. Connor succeeded in winning the weekly challenge shoot of the Hawaiian Gun club for the third time and the cup became his personal property. Connor did not win out without a fight, as in the match he tied with W. E. Wall, who brought down 21 birds in succession while Connor brought down his 21 out of 22. In the shoot off of ten birds, however, Wall fell down, missing two of the ten, while Connor took all without a single wasted shot.

The contest has been a prolonged one and the shooting has been much better than in either of the two previous challenge cup contests, which have been held by the club during the past year. In the present case there was no shoot won with a score of less than 19 birds, while in the previous contests seventeen and even sixteen birds have won. The first cup was won by J. A. Robb and the second by J. W. Harvey.

The Gun club will now put up another challenge cup, which will, however, be shot for under different conditions. The darkness comes so early that it is difficult to have enough light for a 20-bird shoot, so the contests will be limited to ten and unknown angles will be used instead of the known angles, which have been the rule in the contests up to this time. This will make the shooting much harder and the scores will, of course, not average as high as they have in the past.

The scores yesterday were as follows:

J. W. Harvey, 17 out of 20.
J. E. Whitney, 20 out of 21.
K. B. Porter, 19 out of 20.
E. Kopke, 17 out of 23.
I. Spalding, 18 out of 20.
W. E. Wall, 21 out of 21.
J. Connor, 21 out of 22.

The following table shows the scores of the winners of the thirteen shoots which have taken place for the cup won yesterday by Connor:

J. Connor, July 3, 25 out of 30.
K. B. Porter, July 10, 19 out of 20.
J. Connor, July 17, 20 out of 25.
W. E. Wall, July 24, 21 out of 24.
T. Treadway, July 31, 21 out of 27.
J. E. Whitney, August 7, 20 out of 26.
K. B. Porter, August 14, 20 out of 20.
J. W. Harvey, August 21, 20 out of 20.
E. Kopke, August 28, 22 out of 30.
J. W. Harvey, Sept. 4, 20 out of 20.
E. Kopke, Sept. 11, 22 out of 27.
J. E. Whitney, Sept. 18, 24 out of 24.
J. Connor, Sept. 25, 21 out of 22.

PRINCESS WILL BE OUT OF RACE

It seems a pity that the Princess will be unable to race on Sunday for the Macfarlane Cup. Her injuries when she was capsized on Regatta Day were such as to prevent her taking part in the contest, and the fast yacht owned by Prince Cupid will not have a chance to meet her old rivals, the Maggie and the Myrtle, in the last contest of the year for the second-class boats.

The entries for this race are being made to Henry Roth, of the Regatta Committee, and a great deal of interest is being taken. There should be at least six entries and good sport will be seen. The fact that the yachts will sail out to a buoy off the Moana Hotel on the first leg of the race, will please the residents of Waikiki and the other townspeople who visit the beach in the morning for a swim, as they can have an opportunity of viewing the yachts while they are still bunched together and make one of the pretty sights which can be seldom seen in this city.

PUNAHOU READY FOR FOOTBALL

The football season is at hand and the school teams are getting ready for their usual schedule. So far, the Punahou team seems to be the only one which has really started work in earnest, and the hot weather will probably have a tendency to hold back the enthusiasts a little while longer than usual.

Manager Lidgate, of the Punahou aggregation, has been arranging for suits for his men and will have them all ready for practise next week. If they follow up their course of last year, they should have an easy time with the other schools of the city. They have plenty of good material and it only needs a little hard training and a good coach to bring out a fast eleven.

ATHLETIC MEET AT NEW YORK

Pacific Coast Men Make Fine Showing at Travers Island.

NEW YORK, September 14.—Many athletes who figured in the track and field events at Jamestown a week ago were among the competitors in the fall games of the New York Athletic Club at Travers island today.

Ralph Rose of the Olympic Club, San Francisco, was the most prominent figure in the field events, as he made several new world's records in throwing weights.

In the regular event with the 16 pound shot, Rose sent the missile 49 feet 5 1-2 inches. His first record was with the 8-pound shot, which he sent out for 67 feet 7 inches, beating Martin K. Sheridan's world's record by 6 feet. His other records were: 12-pound shot, 55 feet 11 3-4 inches; 14-pound, 51 feet 6 3-8 inches; 18-pound, 43 feet, 9 1-2 inches; 28-pound shot, 34 feet 5 inches, all new marks. With the 24-pound shot he failed by a quarter of an inch to equal his own record of 38 feet 2 3-4 inches.

Forest Smithson of the Multnomah Athletic Club of Oregon won the high hurdle race handily in 16 seconds from scratch, but he was beaten over the low by Langdon of the Irish-American Athletic Club, to whom the western runner was conceding 10 points. Summary:

COMMITTEE WILL SELECT PLAYERS

Bert Bower and Dr. Raymond With Captain to Choose Ball Team.

Practise for the games with the ball team which will come down here in November from the mainland will commence in the near future. Jess Woods, who has charge of the matter on this end, has decided on the manner in which the men will be selected. He will appoint Bert Bower, the well-known umpire, and Dr. Raymond, one of the local baseball fans, to decide on the team which will play in the series. They will be assisted by the captain of the team.

The captain will be elected by the players themselves. A call will be issued asking all the players of the league to turn out for practise and they will then elect their leader for the coming games. The two selected by Woods, with the captain, will have entire charge of selecting the players and there will be no appeal from their decision.

The selection of Bert Bower will be a popular one without any question, as Bert knows the game from A to Z and will be sure to be impartial in every way. In regard to Dr. Raymond, Woods states that he is a fan who, while he has never played baseball, has followed the game very closely for many years. He has just come back from the Coast, where he saw nineteen games played by the teams in the Coast League. According to this he would hardly be the best man for the committee, on account of the fact that he must have missed the games here in the latter part of the season, from which the best idea of the players must be obtained. One good thing in his favor, however, and the most important of all, is that he is not closely connected with any of the local teams and will be, therefore, impartial in his selections.

There should be very strict rules in regard to practise made by the management of the local team. Upon this alone depends the showing which will be made by the Hawaiian representatives when Mique Fisher and his aggregation arrive. There are several men in this city who, if they will get in some hard practise, should be eligible for positions in the Coast League, and they will never have a better opportunity or making themselves known to the managers on the Coast than through the work which they may do when the leaguers arrive here.

JAPAN TRIP MAY BE OFF

Advices regarding the proposed trip of the St. Louis team to Japan are expected by the China, due in this city from the Orient on Saturday. The men here seem to think that it is hardly likely that they will go to the Far East this year but hope that the trip will take place next season. According to letters which have been received by local Japanese the nine from the Keo University will make a trip to the United States during the spring or early summer of next year, and in all likelihood will stop over a steamer in this city and play a series with the local aggregations.

The Japanese should be easy for the local boys from what the sailors on the Big Four say. Even without any practice they say the Wisconsin nine had no difficulty in defeating the best teams which could be found in Japan and the Wisconsin team was one of the weakest of those to be found among the ships on the Asiatic station.

WILL WRESTLE RUSSIAN LION

Joe Rogers, Tom O'Rourke's protege, sailed recently on the steamer President Lincoln for England, where he will undertake a tremendous task. He will wrestle George Hackenschmidt, the "Russian Lion," for the championship of the world. Then, whether he wins or loses, he will challenge Gunner Moir for the heavy-weight championship of England. Tom O'Rourke will accompany him.

COMPLIMENTS TO PALMA RIFLEMEN

The President and King Both Congratulate Crack Shots.

OYSTER BAY, Sept. 9.—"In the wars of the future, if wars there are to be, the individual rifleman will cut a much larger figure than they have in the wars of the past. Just such riflemen as you who won the Palma trophy at Ottawa are vitally essential to the welfare of the country."

So spoke the President today to the victorious team that won for America on Saturday against the best shots of England, Australia and Canada. The riflemen, seventeen in number, came in on an afternoon train and were introduced to the President by General James A. Drain, president of the National Rifle Association of America. The President received them informally in the library and expressed the greatest interest in the notable competition from which they had just returned. He told the men of the team that one of the first things he did when he left college was to join the National Guard and a political club, as he believed it desirable for every citizen of this country to qualify himself to do his own fighting and voting.

He personally complimented Colonel Thurston, the captain of the American team, upon the showing which the men had made, and signalled out Sergeant George Bryant, 23d New York Infantry, and Major Charles B. Winder, of the Ohio National Guard, for their remarkable scores of 219 each. These scores excel any other individual scores made in competition, and, while the figures are equal, Sergeant Bryant's ranks first on account of a higher score at 1000 yards.

General Drain, in commenting upon the match, said:

The American team is a strictly representative one. It was chosen after a five days' competition held at Camp Perry, Ohio, open to every citizen of the United States. The scores made by the team in the match exceeded those ever made in any other competition with a rifle for the distance and the number of shots. Eight men shooting made a total score at all ranges of 1712. The best previous score with a military rifle was 1572. The best previous score with match rifles was 1665. The British team, which finished last, being 132 points below the American team, exceeded the best previous record by 10 points.

The Canadian newspapers have ascribed the victory of the Americans to the use of the peep sight. It is true that the American military rifle is equipped with the peep sight. Our authorities have considered that form of sight superior to any other for more than fifteen years. Such advantage, however, as might accrue from such a sight in this match was largely offset by a condition governing the contest, which allowed the use by the other teams of an orthoptic eyepiece. This, unquestionably an advantage under certain conditions of light, although when used with a plain bar sight, is not considered a practicable device for field use.

In the work which the National Rifle Association is carrying on for the promotion of rifle practice, it is desirable that every young man who handles a rifle shall feel that he has a chance, and an equal chance, with every other man to take part in one of these great international contests. The association expects to take up with the various nations the question of another international match next year.

If enough interest is taken and such a contest can be arranged it will be shot in the United States.

Interest in rifle practice in the United States is increasing rapidly. This is evidenced not only by the large number of men who enter the competition for places on the Palma Trophy team, but also by the fact that the national matches held in August at Camp Perry, Ohio, attracted an entry list far greater than that of any other year. The contests were not only more interesting, but all the scores were better.

Rifle firing, particularly at long range, is a most fascinating pastime. It has the additional recommendation of preparing a man who becomes an adept in it properly to fulfil his obligation as a citizen in the event of war.

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 9.—The Governor General has received from King Edward the following cable dispatch under date of London, September 8: "Please offer my congratulations to United States team on winning Palma trophy with such a record score."—N. Y. Tribune.

THE PHILIPPINE TARIFF ISSUE

Will Come Up Next Session--- Mr. Dalzell on Revision of Tariff.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—"During the coming session of Congress another attempt will be made to enact helpful legislation for the Filipinos in the way of allowing their tobacco and sugar to enter this country free of duty," declared Representative John Dalzell of Pennsylvania, tonight. "This legislation is much needed by the Filipinos and should have been enacted long ago. It passed the House, but was held up in the Senate Committee on the Philippines.

"I am not in favor of giving the islands complete free trade on all articles with the mainland of the United States at the present time, but I believe that some remedial legislation should be passed. In fact, I think that it is possible that this will be the largest piece of legislation discussed during the coming winter, outside of the regular appropriation bills."

As Mr. Dalzell is a member of the Committee on Rules and is, therefore, a power in framing legislation in the House, he was asked his opinion of the prospects of tariff revision.

"Have you been converted this summer to revision of the tariff?" he was asked.

"Not yet," he replied, with a smile. "I do not believe that it is necessary to revise the tariff. I am in favor of letting it remain just the way it is at present. The schedules have worked successfully and have built up the present prosperity of the country.

"However, there probably will be a declaration in the next Republican platform favoring revision. In that case, I believe the tariff should be revised along conservative protectionist lines. I do not at the present time expect to see the question of revision made an issue in the campaign, unless in an incidental way, there being a difference between the parties and the methods of revision recommended.

"Senator Knox is the proper man to carry out such a policy, and I am, of course, in favor of his candidacy for the Presidency, but it is too early to talk about candidates. In my opinion, a man only hurts his candidate by saying too much too early. We yet have a session of Congress before us, the action of which will largely depend upon the President's message. Much may happen before the next campaign."

BATTLESHIP INDIANA HAS CLOSE CALL

The Navy Department has just made public the fact that through a fire in her coal bunkers on the morning of September 5 the battleship Indiana, now at the League Island navy yard, Pennsylvania, undergoing repairs, narrowly escaped destruction, the ammunition in the adjacent magazines being safely removed only by the exhibition of the greatest courage on the part of the crew.

No damage resulted from the fire, which was caused by spontaneous combustion of coal. The work of removing the ammunition from the adjacent twelve-inch and six-inch magazines, according to the report, proceeded in the usual quiet way, just as if the men were at drill, and most of the ship's company were not aware of anything unusual until after the fire had been extinguished. The two magazines and the shellrooms became dangerously heated, and were flooded to a depth of twenty inches. Lieut. Commander J. L. Sticht directed the fire party, consisting of Gunner L. C. Hull and nine men, who entered the magazines and removed the ammunition. The six boxes nearest the bulkhead were so hot as to be handled with difficulty, while the bulkhead and thirteen-inch shells were so hot that they burned the hands and blistered the paint. The coal on fire was flooded and removed from the bunkers, and the bulkheads and shells were sprayed with water until the temperature dropped to normal.

The following are given as the names of the men who first entered the magazines and were recommended for bravery by the commanding officer: C. W. Leisegang, E. Rowe, J. C. Bartunick, J. L. Gratton, H. A. Linderman, E. J. Cross, C. Sheppard and L. Oster.—Washington Star.

FOUND AFTER MANY YEARS.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., September 11.—Mrs. James Wicksell has learned that her daughter Eleanore, who was kidnaped from her forty-two years ago, is alive in Chicago. When Eleanore was a baby less than two years old her father, Gustav Wicksell, took her from her mother and disappeared. Since then the mother has kept up a constant but unavailing search to find some trace of her daughter in Spencer, Mass., and in Rochester, N. Y.

Recently the mother learned that the daughter was in Chicago, and she notified the Chicago police to look for her. Last night she received word from the Chicago police department that her daughter had been found.

CITIZENSHIP DENIED.

ITHACA, N. Y., Sept. 9.—Justice Miller, in opening the September term of the Supreme Court here today, surprised the court attendants by refusing all applications for citizenship.

"We have admitted too many ignorant foreigners to citizenship already," he said. "I do not purpose to admit to the franchise any person who does not know enough about the Constitution of the country to cast an intelligent ballot. I will not grant citizenship papers to any immigrant who has not a fixed intention of staying in the country and an intelligent knowledge of and patriotic interest in its form of government. An ignorant electorate tends to be a corruptible electorate; an unintelligent use of the ballot is dangerous to the success of a democratic form of government."

SYNOPSIS OF OPERETTA "THE RIVAL QUEENS."

Following is a synopsis of "The Rival Queens" operetta to be given in the Hawaiian Opera House by the Central Grammar Grade this evening:

ARGUMENT.

Act I. Scene: Fairies' Bower. Prince Leon, becoming separated from his companions while hunting, falls asleep in the Fairies' Bower. He is discovered by Nightshade (once an attendant of Queen Rose, but being banished for bad conduct, become Queen of the Goblins). Nightshade falls in love with the Prince, and weaves a magic spell to place him in her power, but Telfa, page to Queen Rose, enters and destroys the charm. Nightshade strikes him with her wand, and leaves him insensible. Leon awakening sees Telfa, gives him wine and revives him. Telfa conceals the Prince where he may view the Fairies at their revels. Entrance of Fairies and Queen Rose. The Queen's welcome. Fairies entertain their Queen by dancing. Rose bids farewell to the Fairies.

Act II. Scene: Goblins' Hall. Queen Nightshade on her throne. Goblin chorus. Goblin dances. Queen Rose a captive. Nightshade departs. Telfa appears pretending friendship. A merry time. Telfa drugs the wine. Goblins fall asleep. Eschscholtzia appearing, dances a mystic dance, lulling the Goblins into deeper slumber. Queen Rose and Telfa escape.

Act III. Scene: Fairies' Bower. Prince Leon, wandering through the forest. Nightshade enters and endeavors to pursuade him to forget Queen Rose. Leon vows constancy to the Fairy Queen, and repels Nightshade who renders him helpless with a touch of her magic wand. Telfa again breaks the charm. Enter huntsmen singing. Queen Rose appears disguised as a gypsy. Tells Leon's fortune. Nightshade once more pleads with the Prince. Gypsy throws off her disguise, appearing a Queen Rose and accepts the Prince. Grand march. Finale—Thou hast returned, beloved Queen.

CHIEF TAYLOR IN A PRISON CELL

Chief of Detectives Taylor now has a little cell all to himself at the police station. He moved in yesterday and is very much at home, having had his telephone, roller-top desk, electric fan and other working apparatus shifted into what will be his private office and headquarters from now on. This cell is next to the cozy quarters occupied by Lionel Hart during his stop with Sheriff Iaukea.

This move on the part of the Chief has been made necessary because of the very many persons dropping in to see him without having any very particular business, and too much of his time has been taken up in attending to things that the clerks in the office could very well do. His former office, next to the Sheriff's office, has been found rather too public, too, and this has hindered the quick discharge of work in some cases. After this those who want to see the Chief will have to announce their business or at least show that they have something which can not be attended to by some one else who has not the many duties on his hands that the head of the detective force has.

ODD FELLOWSHIP PROSPERS.

It is stated that the total membership of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows on Dec. 31, 1906, was 1,709,533, the increase for the year then ended being 108,821. Over five million dollars was expended for relief that year. The total revenue of the order was $15,168,307.90 and it had funds invested amounting to $44,117,842.29.

LOOSE LEAF LEDGERS

We are making the best loose-leaf ledger outfits obtainable and meet San Francisco prices for quality and style. We have just received a large shipment of metal parts of the cases and are prepared to give you satisfaction in every respect.

DURABILITY The making of mechanical parts of a case of compressed steel is a twentieth century method, the one we have adopted, and the results are highly satisfactory because the life of the case is indefinitely extended.

THEY GROW One of the features of a loose-leaf ledger is its tendency to grow with your business, or with the season; the extent of the business never outgrows the cover of the record. Our cases expand from two inches to four inches and a perfectly flat writing surface is always there.

The tendency of the average business man in this city is to keep business at home. All things being equal he would patronize home industry rather than send away for goods with a possibility of the work being unsatisfactory after traveling two or three thousand miles.

WE MEET CALIFORNIA PRICES
OUR WORK HAS NO SUPERIOR

The fact that our prices are no higher than those charged in San Francisco should encourage patronage among home people. We are getting more business than ever and we have facilities for increasing the output of our bindery department.

In ordering from us the customer has the opportunity to examine the proofs and inspect the work in its different stages. This is not the privilege enjoyed by a man who orders from the coast.

WOMEN'S WOES

HONOLULU WOMEN ARE FINDING RELIEF AT LAST.

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs, or headaches, dizzy spells, bearing-down pains; they must stoop over, when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with racking pains and many aches from kidney ills. Kidneys cause more suffering than any other organ of the body. Keep the kidneys well and health is easily maintained. Read of a remedy for kidneys only that helps and cures the kidneys and is endorsed by people you know.

Mrs. Emma Vieira, of King street, Honolulu, says: "For three or four years I had the misfortune to be afflicted with an aching back. The pain and discomfort this entailed on me can be better imagined than described. I have two children, and it was of course difficult for me to attend to them while oppressed with suffering. The way in which I found relief eventually was by using Doan's Backache Kidney Pills, procured at the Hollister Drug Co.'s store. They did me a large amount of good, as I now testify. I should certainly recommend those who have backache or any other form of kidney trouble to try Doan's Backache Kidney Pills."

Doan's Backache Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents per box (six boxes $2.50). Mailed on receipt of price by the Hollister Drug Co., Ltd., Honolulu, wholesale agents for the Hawaiian Islands.

MARINE

The cableship Restorer shifted to the railroad wharf yesterday afternoon to take on coal preparatory to making the trip to Guam where she will repair the cable which was broken there through the fouling of a ship's anchor, near the harbor entrance. The decision to send the Restorer to do the work, rather than a boat from the Orient, was not reached till yesterday morning, when orders for Captain Combe came by cable and preparations for her sailing were made at once.

It will take some time for the big cable ship to take on board enough coal for the trip from here to Guam and back and also to get up steam, so she will not get away from this city till Friday night at the best and probably not till Saturday morning. She will delight the hearts of the residents of Guam by taking them what mail there is here for them and also the late newspapers. As a rule no vessels stop at Guam except the transports, and the coming of the cable ship will be greeted with joy by the inhabitants of the island.

KOREA LATE.

The Pacific Mail Steamship Korea, Captain Sandberg, will not arrive in this city till Tuesday morning, according to advice received by H. Hackfeld & Co., the agents for the line. This will mean that the big steamer will make a slow trip down, taking her time and coming at a very slow rate of speed in order that, by making a seven-day trip, she may avoid any trouble with the quarantine officials on entering this port.

The Korea should bring many passengers for this city from the Coast and the first start of the tourist season may be seen when she arrives. The rush of tourists will not come till later, of course, but a number are expected on the big liner, many of whom will come earlier than they originally intended, simply because they would rather travel on the Korea than on any other vessel.

WILL SAIL MONDAY.

The American-Hawaiian steamer Missouri, now in this port, will not leave here before Monday, according to the plans which have been made. She has not yet finished discharging her cargo from the Coast and after that will taken on 6600 tons of sugar in this port, before sailing for Kahului. At the Maui port she will take 1300 tons, then going to Kaanapali, where 1000 tons will be ready for shipment. The Missouri's cargo will be completed with 1800 tons of sugar at Hilo and she will then said for Salina Cruz.

The sugar which will go to San Francisco by the American-Hawaiian boats has all been taken and there remains but in the neighborhood of 40,000 tons of the present crop for shipment to the Atlantic. This will be taken care of by the Texan, Columbian, Nebraskan and Arizonan. The Texan will be the first boat to arrive after the departure of the Missouri, and should be here from Puget Sound about October 10. Shortly after this the Columbian, coming direct from San Francisco, will be here on her maiden trip. She will be commanded by Captain Colcord, one of the old time masters of the American-Hawaiian fleet, who has been paid the compliment of being given command of what it is stated will be the finest vessel of her class in the world.

MARSTON GETS AWAY.

The American schooner W. H. Marston, Captain Peabody, with a full load of sugar for San Francisco, was towed outside yesterday morning by the Intrepid and started for San Francisco. The wind was so light that she spent several hours off the harbor without moving to any extent. The Mohican, which recently went up from Hilo to San Francisco, made a slow record of fifty-two days, but if the Marston has no better luck than she had yesterday she will make a passage that will be even longer.

CHINA DUE SATURDAY.

The Pacific Mail steamer China is due to arrive here Saturday morning from the Orient and should sail for the Coast during the afternoon, taking passengers, mail and a small amount of freight. The Sierra will leave Friday afternoon and will take the bulk of the mail leaving only the accumulation of one day for the China.

FLINT FOR MAKAWELI.

The American bark W. B. Flint, Captain Hanson, was towed outside yesterday afternoon by the Intrepid and started for Makaweli. She discharged part of her cargo here but the remainder was for Kauai, and she will take on sugar there for San Francisco.

GRAND JURY WILL TAKE UP LIONEL HART CASE

The Territorial grand jury will take up the Lionel Hart matter and the Standard Oil fire investigation at 9 o'clock this morning. It was expected that the matter would be taken up yesterday but other matters engaged the attention of the grand jury at both the afternoon and the morning session. The grand jury is meeting in the throne room of the Capitol.

One of the cases considered by the grand jury yesterday was that of Antone Rodrigues, Jr., charged with stealing cattle. County Detective Lake worked up the evidence in this case, doing some clever work in tracing a long continued series of cattle stealings up to Rodrigues and John Silva and cinching it by securing a confession from Silva. The particular offense charged against Rodrigues is the stealing of two head of cattle May 1 from Kalihi-uka.

Other cases considered were those of Antonia Acosta, charged with an assault with a deadly weapon on Owen Holt., Jr., at Iwilei last April; Murakami, charged with bringing a Japanese woman, Fujikama, into the Territory for immoral purposes; Chu Seo, the Chinese who escaped from a cell in the police station some weeks ago, who is charged with the burglary of a lot of jade jewelry; Antone Delda, charged with stealing jewelry from guests at a Japanese hotel at Hotel and River streets. He was caught by some Japs as he was trying to escape and was held by them until Officer Nielson came and took him in charge. Still other cases considered were those of Raymond Concepcion and Raymond Lucien, assault with a deadly weapon, and Gaya Uchi, assault with a dangerous weapon.

ALEWA LOTS WILL BE SOLD

Land Commissioner Pratt will shortly advertise for sale the remainder of the Alewa lots on the Ewa heights of Nuuanu Valley. There are about thirty or thirty-one lots left, and there are applications already in for about a dozen of these. They will be sold on terms similar to those on which the first of the lots were sold.

MEANING OF PACIFIC FLEET MOVEMENT

To have deferred longer the reinforcing of the fleet in the Pacific, which was poorly provided with warships, although containing important outlying and ill-defended possessions, would have been a grave military error. To have reinforced it in a half-hearted way would have been equally unwise. A time of general peace has been selected for the movement, in order that no nation might take offense, as none has.

The despatching of this powerful fleet to the Pacific, instead of being a cause for excitement, is merely the remedying of a past neglect and the adjustment of our naval forces in conformity with sound military policy.—S. F. News Letter.

SHARKS EAT STOWAWAY.

PHILADELPHIA, September 11.—The British steamship Annette, at this port from Kingston, Jamaica, brought news of the shocking death of William Brown, a stowaway, who had been debarred from land on the last trip of the vessel to this port.

Deported by the immigration officials here, he was on his way back to Kingston, and was nearing the shore when he sought to escape by leaping overboard and swimming to the land.

Hardly had his body struck the water when dark forms were seen rushing toward it below the surface, and in full sight of the crew a dozen sharks surrounded the helpless victim. He cried for help, but before assistance could reach him the sharks dragged him under the water, where he disappeared forever.

Jamaica punishes stowaways by compelling them to work on the public highways three months, and it was to escape this penalty that Brown made his effort to escape.

BIG RUSSIAN BATTLESHIP.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 7.—The battleship Emperor Paul, the most powerful warship of the Russian navy, was successfully launched at noon today from the Baltic Works in the presence of the Minister of Marine, Admiral Dikoff, and Admiral Bostrem, the Assistant Minister of Marine. The keel of the vessel, which is of the type of the St. Andrew, was laid in 1904, but many changes have been introduced in her construction, embodying experience gained in the war with Japan. The vessel is of 17,400 tons and 17,600 horsepower, is built to have a speed of 18 knots, and carries four 12-inch guns, twelve 8-inch guns and thirty-four smaller guns.

COL. WATTERSON'S HOT TALK.

Get out! The fools you followed into free silver and populism and protectionist-republicanism have led you a merry dance, and you seem to like it. What is left of your democracy? Next to Bryan you prefer Roosevelt, and, getting ranker and ranker for something still gamier, it will presently be Tom Watson and Hearst. Hell is full of such democrats.—Louisville Courier Journal.

A WELCOME TO REV. DAVID CRANE

A large number of the members of the Methodist congregation met in their church last night for the purpose of welcoming their newly arrived pastor, the Rev. David Crane, and also to hear a most interesting address by their recent pastor, Rev. J. W. Wadman, who had much to tell of the various ones known to Honolulans he had met on his trip across the continent. In nearly every town and city visited by Mr. Wadman he met someone who had either been in Honolulu or who had friends and relatives here, leading him to believe more than ever in the saying that the world is not such a big place after all.

Mr. Crane said that he had heard a great deal of the beauties of Honolulu and of the hospitality of the people before he came here, but having come and met the many member of his congregation and traveled a little about the city he was prepared to say that what he had heard had given him only a faint idea of the reality. He expressed his pleasure at finding such a good church building and comfortable parsonage as was provided and ended with the hope that he and his people would work together in harmony and concord for the general good.

MIDSHIPMAN S. W. KING PARTS WITH PATRIMONY

Midshipman Samuel Wilder King, while on his short furlough here, executed a deed by which he conveyed to Charlotte D. King all his interest in the property in Honolulu left him by his father the late James A. King. In his deed he describes himself as a Midshipman in the United States Navy at the Naval Academy at Annapolis and formerly of the County of Oahu and Territory of Hawaii. His brother William H. D. King executed a similar deed conveying his interest in his father's estate to Charlotte D. King. The interest in each case is said to be a one-sixth interest and the consideration in each case is given as $250. Both deeds were filed for record yesterday.

MORE KAU LAND OPENED.

The Greatest Doctor on Earth

Nature is the greatest doctor on earth. When she can't cure it is because she needs aid. Now, most people have an idea that this aid is drugs, and when they get sick or suffer from pain of any kind they proceed to dope their stomachs with the stuff that is sold for medicine. That doesn't help any; in fact, it does a great deal of harm. The dope that you put into your stomach is poison and poison weakens the organs and nerves of your body. What Nature needs is electricity.

When your stomach, kidneys, liver or digestive organs get out of order, it is because they lack the necessary electricity to enable them to perform their regular functions. The breaking down of one of these organs nearly always causes other trouble. Nature can't cure then, because your body hasn't enough electricity to do the work, so you must assist Nature by restoring this electricity where it is needed.

My Electro-Vigor does this while you sleep. It saturates the nerves with its glowing power, and these conduct the force to every organ and tissue of your body, restoring health and giving strength to every part that is weak.

* * *

Electro-Vigor is not an electric belt. It is a dry cell body battery, and makes its own power.

When I began your treatment my whole system was broken down. I had kidney and bladder trouble, rheumatism that always follows kidney trouble, weak stomach, varicocele and general debility. Drugs did me no good.

As for results of the use of Electro-Vigor, I will say that I am well and hearty, every organ works properly, and I have no pain. J. L. COLWELL,

TWO HUNDRED WITNESSES

Federal Grand Jury Will Have Record List of Cases Before It.

Preparations are being made for the October term of the United States Distict Court which meets in October and which will probably be the largest in number and importance of cases held for a long time. The term begins October 14, and the grand jury is summoned to meet at that time. About two hundred witnesses will be summond to testify before the grand jury in the numerous cases to come before it. The petit jury is not summoned to appear until November 4.

PAK CHEE DECLARED INNOCENT.

The jury in Judge Lindsay's court before which the case of Pak Chee charged with assault and battery on Look Lee last May near Love's Bakery, brought in a verdict of not guilty yesterday afternoon. They were out for about a half an hour.

The case attracted a good deal of attention at the time as it was supposed to grow out of a threatened tong war. The evidence was very conflicting, and it seems likely that the jury arrived at the verdict it did because of utter inability to decide what witnesses were telling the truth.

PUBLIC OR PRIVATE FISHERY?

The Attorney General has already submitted his brief in the case in the Supreme Court of the Kapiolani Estate Ltd v. the Territory of Hawaii. This case comes to the Supreme Court on reserve, two questions reserved by the Circuit Court of the First Circuit. The first of these questions is whether the First Circuit Court has jursdiction, and the second whether what is known as "Muliwai fishery" comes within the operation of the Organic Act relating to fisheries. The fishery in question is at the mouth but within the limits of the Hanapepe river on Kauai. While within the banks of the river the tide rises and falls, throughout the whole length of the fishery, the fish taken are sea fish, and the fishery is not enclosed but is open to the sea. The brief concludes thus:

"We therefore submit that a fishery where the only fish sought to be taken are from the sea waters of the Territory, a fishery not enclosed and open to the sea, is such a fishery as the Congress of the United States intended should be open to the people at large and not restricted to a private ownership."

The brief was prepared by Deputy Attorney Whitney and is considered a very strong argument.

L. L. M'CANDLESS INTERESTED.

In the case of the Oahu Railway & Land Company v. James Armstrong, L. L. McCandless by his attorney, A. G. M. Robertson, yesterday filed a motion to be allowed to intervene. He claims that he has an interest in the subject matter of the controversy and has a good defense against the claims of the bill.

CONDEMNATION JURY DRAWN.

The trustees of the Lunalilo Home have decided that it would not be safe for them under the provisions of the will to grant a right of way through the Lunalilo Home grounds for the new Tantalus slopes road. This makes it necessary that the property be condemned. On the application of the Superintendent of Public Works, Judge De Bolt yesterday had drawn a list of twenty-four from which he directed the High Sheriff to draw six to constitute a jury "to visit and inspect the locality and to decide upon the propriety of the work or measure proposed and to report thereon."

The following are the six drawn: J. F. Brown, Hugh H. Walker, C. H. Bellina, Joseph McQueen, R. C. Carter and G. G. Fuller.

COURT NOTES.

Before Judge De Bolt yesterday the case of Loo Den Kai, as treasurer of the unincorporated burial society Man Fook Tong, against Lum Shing was dismissed, the case having been settled out of court.

A divorce was granted Laie Kauha Rose from Benjamin Rose on the ground of non-support.

An order was issued authorizing personal service by the Chief of Police of Oakland in the divorce proceedings of Victorine S. Vierra v. Maria B. I. Vierra, in which the husband asks for divorce on the ground of desertion and asks for the custody of the three children.

Judge De Bolt also entered an order on George C. Myhre, to show cause why he should not be required to pay the expenses of his wife, Marion Myhre, to come here to testify in her own behalf and to pay her attorney fee and $50 a month pendente lite. The order is made returnable on Saturday. His wife is suing him for divorce.

Advertising is the best business bringer known to trade, the salesman is a good auxiliary. Let us have your advertisement and key it.

A PARTITION SUIT.

Yesterday a suit was begun in the Circuit Court as follows:

Maliana (w) v. Leilehua Kamakea (w), Ana Kanuiokalani Kamakea (w), Namea Kamakea (k), and Kalai Ahiena (w).

The complainant claims an undivided one-eight in certain lands in which the defendants have the remaining interests, and asks for a partition.

Father (to his son)—It is disgraceful. You never get good reports.

Son—Oh, but papa, after the way in which you obtained your Legion of Honor, I thought you wouldn't take good reports into consideration at all. —Pele Mele.

Derelict Seen At Honolulu

Only at rare intervals are derelict ships seen on the ocean. Rent derelicts are seen every day in this and in other cities. They are the generous, but improvident, people who believe in placing their earnings in a landlord's pocket, and not in a home for themselves. Don't drift along with the tide, deferring the time of buying until some future date. Do it now. Inquire at our office concerning bargains in homes.

The following paragraph was clipped from the "El Sol," a newspaper at Hermosilo, Mexico, it being a part of a letter to the publisher from a friend: "On my last trip to my properties on the frontier, my beast fell with me to the ground, wounding me badly, but by chance provision I had brought in my valise a flask of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and after using it I was able to continue my journey the following day as if nothing had happened. KINGSBURY-JONES WEDDING YESTERDAY

A special cablegram to the Advertiser yesterday brought the announcement of the marriage of Miss Katydid Jones, formerly of Honolulu, to Judge S. B. Kingsbury, a well-known legal practitioner of Honolulu, the senior member of the firm of Kingsbury & Kellogg. The marriage took place yesterday at the American Consulate in Winnipeg, Manitoba, the bride's brother being John E. Jones, American Consul at the Manitoba capital.

Mrs. Kingsbury is well known in Honolulu, having spent some time here during the past year as the guest of Mrs. L. Tenney Peck.

TENNIS COURT NEARLY READY

The new tennis court which has been built at the Country Club has been practically completed and should prove a great addition to that organization. The work has been done under the personal supervision of A. T. Brock, one of the crack tennis players of the city, who knows more about court construction than anyone else here, and will be the very best in Honolulu.

The back nets are in place and trees and vines have been planted around them, which will not only furnish a certain amount of shade on the warm days, but will also be very convenient as a windbreak, which will be needed when the northerly winds sweep through, as they have a habit of doing occasionally.

MYRTLES WILL GIVE SMOKER

Very fanciful invitations have been sent out by the Myrtle Boat Club, announcing a smoker which will be given at the boat house next Saturday evening at eight o'clock. The occasion will be one of great joy owing to the overwhelming victory which was won last Saturday by the Myrtle oarsmen, after having given in to the Healanis and used their slowest boat. There should be plenty going on all the evening or the Myrtles will be at a loss to account for it.

Surveyor W. A. Wall returned yesterday morning by the steamer Kauai from Hawaii.

REQUEST OF SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA.

Owing to shortness of time, will the Honolulu Symphony Orchestra kindly waive ceremony and consider this a courteous and most urgent request that they consent to assist the Central Grammar Grades in their operetta, "The Rival Queens," at the Opera House, Thursday evening? (Only overture and intermezzi which have been played recently in orchestra concerts.) The consent of Prof. Rudland Bode and Mr. Ernest Kopke has been obtained. A meeting is called for consultation and, if consenting to play, for rehearsal, at their hall, Art League building, at 4 p. m., Thursday. A great favor will be conferred upon not only the principal teachers and children of the school, but upon Mrs. J. W. Yarndley, in whose honor the entertainment is to be given.

THE COMMITTEE.

PUNAHOU STUDENT SCORES.

Florence Hoffman, who was the valedictorian of last year's class at Oahu College, has been admitted as a regular student at the University of California. Although her certificate from the college was for admission only as a student-at-large, on account of the excellence of her preparatory school work, she was given regular standing. In addition, after having only the regular work in French in Punahou, she is enrolled in the junior French classes. Her friends will be glad to know, too, that her eyesight is considerably improved.

MRS. KEPNER DYING IN COLORADO CITY

The news reached this city by the last mail that Mrs. T. G. Kepner, better known in this city as Mrs. F. B. Whitin, was dying in St. Joseph's Hospital, Denver, on September 10, and that there was practically no hope of her recovery. Mrs. Kepner was living with her husband in Blair, Nevada, when she was taken severely ill and could not be moved for some time. As soon as it was thought she could stand the trip she went to Denver, for treatment and for the benefit which it was thought the climate would do her health.

The news came to this city through a letter from T. G. Kepner, in which he stated that he had received a telegram saying that his wife was dying in Denver, and that there was no hope of her recovery. When living in this city before her divorce from Whitin, Mrs. Kepner was very well known. The Whitins stopped at the Moana Hotel and entertained freely and were great favorites in local society.

She obtained a divorce from F. B. Whitin on the grounds of habitual intemperance on September 12, of last year, and was shortly after married to Thomas G. Kepner, one of the most prominent attorneys in the State of Nevada. Before marrying Whitin she had been married to and divorced from a Colorado millionaire named Doyle.
