JUDGE ESTEE STANDS BY CONSTITUTION

Judge Estee was punctual in having the United States District Court opened at 10 o'clock this morning, for the previously announced purpose of reading his decision upon the Mankichi habeas corpus case. Judges Gear and Little took recess in their respective divisions of the Territorial Circuit Court upstairs, to accept the Federal Judge's invitation to be present in his court room and sit with him on the occasion.

Immediately upon the opening proclamation by Deputy Marshal E. R. Hendry, Judge Estee introduced to the assembly Judge Duston of Dayton, Ohio, and invited the distinguished visitor along with Judges Gear and Little to seats on the judicial dais.

Judge Estee, before starting to read, remarked, "I have not had time to write a short decision."

As the reading proceeded it soon became evident that the decision was going to hold the American Constitution in its undivided integrity as coming into force in Hawaii contemporaneously with American sovereignty. Smiles were playing upon the countenances of Judge Gear, found himself sustained as against the Territorial Supreme Court, and Geo. A. Davis, who had fought the battle for the Constitution from the beginning.

Mr. Cathcart, as the reading from the bench approached the inevitable order of discharge, interrupted the court to announce his intention of appealing on behalf of the Government of the Territory, and to ask that the order of discharge be so made as to permit the holding of the prisoner to bail.

Judge Estee told him he should not interrupt the court when rendering its decision. The prisoner had not been placed in jeopardy and there was nothing to prevent his being rearrested and indicted.

Mr. Cathcart explained that he meant no disrespect, but had desired to anticipate the absolute order.

Mr. Davis was on his feet at once, urging that there was no appeal from a writ of habeas corpus ordered in that court.

Judge Estee ruled that he had nothing further to do, at that stage, than to discharge the prisoner. Forthwith he adjourned the court.

Messrs. Davis and Brooks kept watch over the prisoner for some minutes, surrounded by a curious crowd, awaiting further developments. Then they escorted Mankichi upstairs and kept him from leaving the building until 11:30.

At that hour the released prisoner ventured outside and was arrested just outside of the main entrance by Officer Chester Doyle, on a warrant charging him with being accessory to murder. He was placed in a waiting hack and driven to the station under escort of Detective Kaapa and Officer George Sea.

Mankichi, when brought up on habeas corpus, was serving a sentence of twenty years for manslaughter committed in the riot between Chinese and Japanese on Kahuku plantation about twenty-eight months ago.

This is an application for a writ of habeas corpus arising upon the petition of one Osaki Mankichi, a Japanese.

The evidence, oral and documentary, shows that on the 4th day of May, 1899, a presentment was filed against the petitioner by the then Circuit Judge of the First Circuit of the Territory of Hawaii, and without the intervention of a Grand Jury charging him with the crime of murder; that afterwards in the May term of that court, of the same year, he was tried on the said presentment and convicted of the crime of manslaughter in the first degree. The verdict was returned by nine out of the twelve jurors. On the 22d day of May, 1899 he was by the said Court sentenced to twenty years' imprisonment at hard labor.

Petitioner now seeks his discharge upon the ground that he is being illegally imprisoned because of the fact that he was not indicted by a Grand Jury, nor convicted by the unanimous verdict of a jury of twelve men, as is required by the Constitution of the United States, it being claimed that the Constitution of the United States was in force in these Islands during the period covered by the trial, conviction and sentence of petitioner, and that Articles V, VI and VII of the Amendments to the Constitution were thus violated.

(1) The first point made by the learned Assistant Attorney General for the Territory is that this Court has no jurisdiction to act and determine upon the questions involved in this matter, because a writ of error should be sued out of the Supreme Court of the United States by the petitioner herein; that whatever may have been the action of the Territorial Courts, the United States Supreme Court ought not to interfere; that this case is not one of sufficient gravity to call for the interposition of this court on habeas corpus.

Dole Not in Point.

This is a Federal question raised in a Territory of the United States governed by Federal law under the Constitution and statutes of the United States. The authorities referred to by the Deputy Attorney General, sustaining his position against this Court's assuming jurisdiction in this proceeding are not in point. Not one of the decisions cited relate to this class of cases. This Territory is under the control of Congress and is not an independent State with a Constitution and local statutes governing the trial and conviction or acquittal of persons charged with crime. Where a state is a party and where a constitutional question is involved, a writ of error should, save in exceptional cases, be sued out of the Supreme Court of the United States, because of the delicate nature of a conflict of State and National jurisdictions. Here there can be no such conflict. I have been unable to find any authorities of like import where a conviction is had in a Territory. Territorial action alone is involved here. The courts which have considered this matter before are all Territorial courts, the alleged conviction of petitioner occurring under Territorial law.

It should be here said that the Territorial situation of Hawaii is peculiar. We are by land and sea over five thousand miles from the capital of our country and practically the judicial officers of this Territory are beyond the immediate range of all appellate judicial tribunals. So all judicial officers here should be especially interested in maintaining public law in this Territory and particularly in maintaining the Constitution and statutes of the United States applicable hereto.

Differences of Judges.

In this habeas corpus matter there is a wide difference of opinion among the Territorial judges. Both the Supreme and Circuit Courts differ with each other, and the members of the Supreme Court differ among themselves; and especially so upon the question of the relation which this Territory bears to the Constitution and laws of the United States. For instance the Supreme Court of this Territory held in the very recent case of Honomu Sugar Co. vs. Sayewiz (12 Haw. 96), that certain amendments of the Constitution of the United States were not in force here between the 7th day of July, 1898, and the 14th day of June, 1900, namely, Articles V, VI, VII and XIII, which articles relate to indictment by a Grand Jury for infamous crimes, to a common law jury trial, and to the existence of slavery in this Territory of the United States. While the Supreme Court decided in the case of Ex Parte Edwards (13 Haw. 32) that no person could be put upon trial for an infamous crime in the Hawaiian Islands after August 12th, 1898, (the date of the raising of the American flag here) without having been first indicted by a Grand Jury, nor could he be convicted of such crime save by the unanimous verdict of a jury of twelve.

It was further held by the Supreme Court of the Territory on the 5th day of June, 1899, in the case of Spencer vs. Collector of Customs (12 Haw. 66) that Hawaii could register vessels although the Territory was annexed to and formed a part of the United States.

This was practically overruled by the Attorney General of the United States, who in a written opinion (22 Op. Atty. Gen. 578) instructed the Secretary of the Treasury that

"With due respect to the judgment of the Supreme Court of Hawaii, I am unable to admit that an Hawaiian register can now be issued to a vessel and the flag of Hawaii, the usual token of registration, be flown by her."

Supreme Court Uncertainty.

From these decisions it is clear there is a wide divergence of opinion on the part of the members of the Supreme Court of the Territory as to the constitutional question involved herein, and as to whether or not the people of this Territory were during the period between July 7, 1898, and June 14, 1900, living in an American Territory and subject to such laws as were not inconsistent with the Joint Resolution of Annexation "nor contrary to the Constitution of the United States." The familiar rule of stare decisis does not seem to receive recognition by the Supreme Court of the Territory, for that court decides one way at one time and another way at other times upon questions of the gravest importance and which cases involve identically the same principle. The very uncertainty of that court's opinions tends to disturb and unsettle the public mind as to the Constitution and its application to the people of and conditions in this Territory, and is a strong inducement for this Court to exercise its discretion in taking jurisdiction of this proceeding.

Duty of the Court.

It is argued that the District and Circuit Courts of the United States are courts of original and limited jurisdiction, which is true; but the United States statutes make it the duty of United States District and Circuit Judges to issue the writ of habeas corpus when justice demands it, or when "a person is in custody in violation of the Constitution." (Section 753, Rev. Stats. U. S. 2d, ed.).

"It is the duty of the courts to be watchful of the constitutional rights of the citizen." (Boyd vs. U. S. 116 U. S. 616.)

So constitutional provisions for the security of persons and property should be liberally construed. (Id. 636.)

As was said by the Supreme Court of the United States in the case of Walker vs. S. P. R. R. Co., 165 U. S., quoting from page 595-6:

"We deem it unnecessary to consider the contention of defendant in error that the Territorial Courts are not courts of the United States and that the Seventh Amendment is not operative in the Territories, for by the Act of April 7, 1874, c. 80, 18 Stat. 27, Congress legislating for all the Territories, declared that no party shall be deprived of the right of trial by jury in cases cognizable at common law;" and while this may not in terms extend all the provisions of the Seventh Amendment to the Territories, it does secure all the rights of trial by jury as they existed at common law."

If it be true that the Constitution and the Act of Congress referred to in Walker vs. S. P. R. R. Co. supra, has been nullified by the local Territorial Courts, then there should be an immediate remedy.

The Marshall Case.

The learned Assistant Attorney General on the argument pressed upon the attention of the Court the fact that on October 20th, 1900, this Court dismissed the petition for a writ of habeas corpus presented in the case of In re Marshall on the ground of lack of jurisdiction. But in that case the petitioner had been convicted of a misdemeanor and no Federal question was involved; the Court then saying generally that "only in very rare and extreme cases will it review upon habeas corpus the judgments or verdicts found in the highest Territorial courts of the Territory." And this Court is still of the same opinion.

An Exceptional Case.

The question now presented is, Is this an exceptional case? I am compelled to believe that it is. Whatever the intention of the local Territorial Courts, their decisions upon this constitutional rights of the citizen affecting life and liberty which are thereby made insecure.

In view of all the circumstances therefore, I think it would be in furtherance of public justice for me to exercise my discretion by assuming jurisdiction in this proceeding. I shall therefore consider the case under the writ.

Takes Jurisdiction.

The right of appeal in habeas corpus cases from the Territorial Circuit to the Territorial Supreme Court this Court will not consider. That is a matter entirely within the province of the Territorial courts.

So also as to the objections submitted in relation to Mr. Justice Perry sitting as one of the Appellate Judges in this case, originally tried by him while a Circuit Judge. That is largely a matter of discretion on his part, and I will not assume to question the wisdom of such discretion.

(2) Petitioner claims that he is in custody in violation of the Constitution of the United States in that he was tried and convicted of an infamous crime without an indictment by a Grand Jury, and by a verdict of less than twelve jurors, i. e., by nine of the twelve jurors. The specific articles of the Constitution claimed to have been violated by such conviction are Articles V, VI and VII of the amendments thereto.

There is no question as to the infamous character of the crime with which he was charged.

The Joint Resolution.

The Joint Resolution of both Houses of Congress annexing the Hawaiian Islands, passed by Congress July 7th, 1898, prescribes among other things that:

"The Hawaiian Islands and their dependencies are hereby annexed as a part of the Territory of the United States, and are subject to the sovereign dominion thereof, and all and singular, the property and rights hereinbefore mentioned are vested in the United States of America."

After providing for the disposition of the revenues of the Islands and for the future enactment by Congress of special public land laws, the Resolution then prescribes:

". . . . The municipal legislation of the Hawaiian . . . not inconsistent with this Resolution, nor contrary to the Constitution of the Unit-

WAR ON MOSQUITOES

PRELIMINARY MOVE IN BOARD OF HEALTH

President Sloggett had the mosquito nuisance on the order of the day for yesterday's meeting of the Board of Health. When the subject was reached he introduced it with a short address.

The Bulletin for some time past, said Dr. Sloggett, had been calling attention to experiments made with oil for destroying mosquitoes and the subject had been taken up by other papers. It was a very important question here.

Much work would be required in Honolulu, if the remedy were tried, on account of the large areas of rice and taro fields. Something might and ought to be done, however, though the present difficulty with the Board was a lack of funds. With the cooperation of private people a step in the right direction could be taken.

Dr. Sloggett produced a drawing of a specimen of the mosquito larva, the pollywog magnified many times, to illustrate how only a small quantity of oil works great havoc among them. It hangs head down in the water, letting a sort of caudal appendage reach the surface, that being a respiratory siphon through which the embryotic "skeeter" gains its necessary supply of air. The slightest atom of oil taken by this instrument sufficed to paralyze the sensitive nervous system of the creature, and when it was dead the emanation of oil from the carcass did for other larvae.

Several people had said to the doctor that it was all nonsense, but the illustration shown made it apparent why the oil was effective. One gallon of oil to a superficial acre of water was the estimate of effectiveness and the oil remained upon still water four or five weeks. So long as it remained it would be effective in killing the mosquito pollywogs.

Mr. Reynolds remarked that in the upper part of the town people collected water in tanks to ensure a constant supply, and he believed these vessels bred more mosquitoes than the rice and taro patches where the water was frequently changed.

Dr. Sloggett said the mosquito did not go far from the locality where it was bred. Answering a question as to the life of a mosquito, he said he had kept them alive in bottles for three weeks. The egg looking like a miniature caramel seed was laid on the surface of the water. It produced the chrysalis-like pollywog of which the drawing submitted was made. At a certain stage this slit up the back, making a sort of boat of the chrysalis out of which the winged pest ultimately emerged. Any disturbance of the water which upset the boat was fatal, hence the inability of the larvae to develop excepting in still water.

It was late when the discussion ended and no action was taken, but the matter will probably go to a committee at next meeting.

Fire Spreads Destruction

(By Wireless Telegraph.)

Hilo, Sept. 12.—Fanned by the increasing winds the Hamakua forest fire is now making an alarming headway.

The main tract of the fire is now on Parker's ranch and 40,000 acres of forest are doomed unless a heavy rain comes immediately. The total of 20,000 acres has been burned in Hamakua.

Twenty-five thousand acres of next year's cane crop in the Hamakua district is gone on account of the continued drouth. This includes fields of the Ookala, Kukaiau, Paauilo, Honokaa and Kukuihaele plantations. Part of the young cane is now being cut and part of it will be left to dry in the fields.

Brackish water is now the only available water for domestic use at Horners, and many Portuguese settlers and plantation hands are going elsewhere for work.

CALIFORNIANS MEET.

There were sixteen men present at the meeting of the Native Sons of the Golden West in the Elite building last evening. President Levingston was in the chair. The following committee was appointed to audit the various bills in connection with the admission day celebration and other outstanding claims: Capt. A. Gartenberg, Dr. A. C. Wall and A. Arendt.

There was quite a long discussion on permanent organization. The consensus of opinion seemed to be that there are a sufficient number of Californians in the city to justify the formation of a permanent organization. Temporary officers were elected as follows: I. Levengston, president; C. H. Bellina, vice president; G. W. R. King, secretary and W. E. Wall, treasurer. It was decided to open up a list at the place of business of the president, where all Californians are expected to register.

A vote of thanks was accorded Col. J. Walter Jones for his kind offer of the armory for the recent celebration. The meeting then adjourned to Wednesday, September 25.

NEW QUARTERMASTER.

Captain George McK. Williamson, U. S. A., has been ordered here to take the position of army quartermaster. He is now stationed at Schuylkill arsenal, Philadelphia, and will be relieved at the end of the present month. Captain Williamson is expected here on October 22. Upon being relieved Major W. W. Robinson the present quartermaster, will proceed to the Philippines for duty.

TO EXAMINE HACKMEN

HIGH SHERIFF BROWN OUT AFTER COMPETENT DRIVERS

Action Taken on Account of Constantly Increasing Traffic of all Kinds in the City of Honolulu.

Owing to the running of the electric cars and the constantly increasing traffic of all kinds on the streets of Honolulu, High Sheriff Brown has instituted a new plan with reference to public hacks which will at once meet with the approval of the people of this city.

This action on the part of the Chief of the Police Department bears special reference to the Chinese and Japanese hack-drivers of the city who are known, as a class, as notoriously careless drivers. However, Mr. Brown has not laid himself open to criticism by dealing with this class alone. On the other hand, anyone who applies for a license to drive a hack, be he white, brown, black, yellow, red or "green," will be subject to the new order of things.

In short, the High Sheriff intends to make every applicant for a license to drive a hack submit to an examination as to his fitness for such occupation. In the first place, an applicant must produce a certificate as to good character from two persons known to the department as upright, respectable citizens.

This part having been accomplished, the applicant must go out on the streets in a hack with an expert driver. He will be taken to crowded places and to lonely roads; in front of electric and tram cars; to curbings behind the carriages of ladies; by houses and stores from which children are likely to emerge on a run at any moment; past dog kennels and up to blind men. In short, he will be put through a course of sprouts that will show without doubt his qualifications.

Sheriff Brown said this morning: "The lives and limbs of the people of Honolulu must be protected, and I believe that the way I have suggested is the only one out of the difficulty. Of course some of these fellows who are now waiting around for licenses may try to compel me to issue them by getting out writs of mandamus, but even then they will have to prove they are competent to drive. My action will, of course, apply particularly to Japanese and Chinese, but every applicant, of whatever nationality he may be, will have to be examined.

FOR KILLING A WOMAN

Nakamura was placed on trial before Jude Gear this morning charged with manslaughter in the first degree. E. A. Douthitt, Assistant Attorney General, and F. M. Brooks for the prosecution; Geo. A. Davis and A. A. Wilder for the defendant. With three or four jurors excused for cause and challenged by the defense, the following were found satisfactory to both sides: J. Zablan, W. A. Baldwin, D. Hoapili, P. C. Jones, Frank Harvey, E. S. Holt, W. Blaisdell, H. F. Bertelmann, R. W. Davis, Jos. Andrade, B. F. Vickers and F. C. Bertelmann.

Defendant was indicted for the crime charged as having caused the death of a Japanese woman by a blow in the head on the first of August. The first witness called, at 11:40 o'clock, was the husband of the victim of the alleged crime. He testified that Nakamura was in a room with his wife, who was engaged in housework at the time. Witness being in another room heard talking between the defendant and his wife, then the sound as of two sharp blows, and hurried into the room where they were. His wife was lying upon the floor, while Nakamura stood about three feet away bearing the appearance of great anger. That was the end of his wife; there was no more talk from her. He next began to tell of a quarrel that had previously taken place between the children of the two men.

Mr. Davis objected to this evidence, and was sustained by the court unless connection were first established between the quarrel of the children and the fatal one of the elders. Mr. Brooks withdrew the question for the time being.

NO HORSE MEAT FOUND

FOOD COMMISSIONER'S REPORT FOR AUGUST

In the report of Food Commissioner E. C. Shorey for August, he gives a list of samples of milk examined which analyzed up to or above standard. Seventeen samples proved below standard, including four from V. Souza, two from a driver for A. Lopez, two from Nakatani, one each from drivers Perry and Bargo for the Star dairy, one each from Kahaika, Tanaki, M. Abreu, Gomes' Manoa ranch, Hop Hing restaurant, restaurant at Kukui and River streets and the European restaurant.

Mr. Shorey comments as follows on the milk question and proceeds with his report on other dietary articles examined:

"Among the samples passed as up to or above standard are a large number containing the minimum amount of total solids, viz: 11.5 per cent, and it is quite probable that some of these were adulterated with a small proportion of water. The present shortage of feed both in pasture and imported is affecting the milk supply, and there is a greater incentive to increase this supply by the addition of water, which fact is I think pretty well proven by the analyses given. There are a few new names in the 'black list' and the adulteration varies from 10 to 20 per cent added water.

"Seventeen samples of canned sausages representing nearly all the brands on the market were examined with the following results. In no case was there any evidence of decomposition or poor preservation, and in no case was the acid value of the fat high enough to indicate that the meat used was not in good condition. In some cases there was an excessive amount of moisture present, but as different meats differ not only in themselves but according to the way in which they are prepared in their capacity to hold water no attempt was made to fix a standard for moisture.

"The European brands were examined for the presence of horse flesh but no indications of such were found, although it should be noted that the chemical reactions which are relied on for this purpose are under certain conditions not reliable. Many samples were artificially colored, the colors used being harmless. The majority of the samples contained starch in some form. This starch is added generally in the form of cracker dust or old bread and is used as a cheaper substitute for meat, and also because it aids in retaining a large percentage of moisture. Partial analyses are given below. Those containing starch or coloring matter are classed as adulterated:

No. 1. Frankfurter, Karl Kramer. Moisture 69.2 per cent starch present. From Salter & Waity.

"No. 4. Vienna sausage, Rindsfleisch. Libby, McNeill & Libby. Moisture 61.4. Both starch and color present. From H. May & Co.

"No. 5. Club House sausage meat, Libby, McNeill & Libby. Moisture 53.6. Starch present. From H. May & Co.

"No. 6. Cambridge sausage, J. T. Morton. Moisture 42.8. Starch present. From H. May & Co.

"No. 7. Vienna sausage and sauerkraut, Libby, McNeill & Libby. Moisture 60.1. Both starch and color present. From H. May & Co.

"No. 8. Mettwurst, L. Mussow, Hamburg. Moisture 44.0. Colored. From H. May & Co.

"No. 9. Columbia bologna sausage, Armour & Co. Moisture 57.5. Colored. From H. May & Co.

"No. 10. Oxford sausage, J. T. Morton. Moisture 45.8. Starch present. From H. May & Co.

"No. 11. Vienna sausage, wiener wurst, Libby, McNeill & Libby. Moisture 55.7. Starch present. From C. J. Day & Co.

"No. 13. Rex brand Oxford sausage, Cudahy Canning Co. Moisture 57.8. Starch present. From Chun Yung, Fishmarket.

"No. 14. Rex brand Frankfurt sausage, Cudahy Canning Co. Moisture 66.4. Starch present. From Chun Yung.

"No. 15. Superior Vienna sausage, German American Provision Co. Moisture 66.0. Both starch and color present. From Chun Yung.

"No. 17. Epicurean Frankfurter, H. Levi & Co., San Francisco. Moisture 62.5. Both starch and color present. From Lee Chong, Asylum road.

"It is only fair to those whose names are mentioned above to state that most of these brands are found in all stores in town, and not alone in these from which the samples were obtained.

"One sample of vanilla extract was examined. No adulteration found. Four samples of quinine sulphate were examined and found to conform to the requirements of the U. S. Pharmacopeia.

"Five samples of olive oil from drug stores including one Japanese store were examined, four of which were found to conform to the requirements of the U. S. Pharmacopoeia for this article.

"The sample not up to standard was labelled Superior Olive Oil, Hollister Drug Co., and was obtained from the Hollister Drug Co. This sample gave all the reactions of cottonseed oil.

"Two samples of beta naphthol were examined. No adulteration found."

MINISTERS TAKE ACTION

The Ministerial Union held a meeting yesterday afternoon. The principal business was the adoption of the following resolution pertaining to the Murphy movement in the city:

Be it resolved, That we, a committee of the Ministerial Union of Honolulu, appointed to lend our assistance to the straightening out of the existing difficulties in the Murphy organization (having been requested to do so) do hereby make the following request to the public, viz.:

First—That Mr. Francis Murphy and his work be entirely disassociated from the criticisms of the organizations called by his name, with which he had had absolutely nothing to do; and that he receive the loyal support due him for his past services in his contemplated tour of the Islands;

Second—That all judgment be suspended as to the use or misuse of the Association until the accounts have gone through the proper form of examination. The regularly appointed auditor of the Association, Mr. J. P. Cooke, who we understand is on a vacation at present, has the absolute confidence of the entire public, and those aside from the donors of the money who are interested as to the use of these funds will be amply satisfied with the settlement of the question in the hands of the present trustees, after a proper audit has been made by Mr. Cooke.

We would like to express our approval of the kind of temperance work that Mr. Francis Murphy has always stood for and to hope that no local misunderstanding will mar the chances for an effective campaign at this time.

JUSTICE BY ESTEE.

Judge Estee's decision in the habeas corpus case is a treat to the loyal American mind following as it does upon the surfeit of judicial legislation, excuses, expedients and warping of justice to which two law students of the Territorial Supreme Court have treated the citizens of Hawaii. Judge Estee holds true to the mark set by him when first assuming office in the Territory, true to the principle announced by him as the guide of his judicial acts—"that American law is common justice."

The decision rendered today reads like a magna charta to the loyal people of this Territory who have so long witnessed the prostitution of justice for no other reason than that factional rulers dislike and are determined not to face the American issue. Judge Estee admits the "peculiarities" of the local situation; a string that has been harped on till it is worn to a frazzle. But he does not evade his duty; he does not set aside the requirements of his oath of office. Judge Estee meets the issue manfashion as true Americans have met every issue. He centers his mind on the rendition of justice without fear or favor. He recognizes that the rights of personal liberty guaranteed and guarded by the Constitution are the foundation of our nation virtues. And he proceeds to grant those rights.

Judge Estee's decision speaks for itself and the Bulletin commends its careful reading to every citizen of this Territory. Aside from its effect upon the prisoner at the bar, it has a deeper and more cogent lesson to Americans of this new possession. The power of the Constitution is here, not to be trod under foot and scorned, but to rise triumphant and bury the puny opponents of its operations in the dust heap of insignificant despair.

JUDGE ESTEE STANDS BY THE CONSTITUTION

ed States, . . . shall remain in force until the Congress of the United States shall otherwise determine." (Vol. 30, U. S. Stats. 750.)

Municipal law is defined to be:

"The rule of law by which a particular district, community or nation is governed." (1 Blackstone's Comm. 44; 1 Kent's Comm. 447; 2 Burrell's Law Dictionary 215.)

Annexation Was Complete

The Resolution of Annexation of the Hawaiian Islands as passed by Congress prescribes that "they are annexed as a part of the Territory of the United States and are subject to the sovereign dominion thereof," and on August 12th, 1898, the American flag was raised on the Islands. It matters not technically whether the Constitution followed the flag or followed American sovereignty here, for with it came all of American law not especially reserved by the Joint Resolution of Annexation. It goes without saying that two sovereignties could not exist here at the same time, and when the Resolution of Annexation provided that "the municipal legislation of the Hawaiian Islands not inconsistent with this Joint Resolution nor contrary to the Constitution of the United States should remain in force," it meant that all municipal legislative enactments of the Republic of Hawaii contrary thereto should be abrogated. No reservation was made in the Joint Resolution of Articles V, VI and VII of the Amendments to the Constitution, relating to indictments or trial by jury, in common law criminal cases. It showed that American sovereignty not only prevailed here, as elsewhere in the Territories of the United States, but that nothing could be done or permitted here contrary to the Constitution of the United States, excepting as expressly provided in the Joint Resolution of Annexation. This annexation was not as claimed by the Supreme Court of the Territory in the case of Peacock vs. Republic of Hawaii (12 Haw. 33) in a transition or inchoate state, but was complete, and the Constitution came with annexation and became and ever since has been the supreme law of this Territory. This is of paramount interest to the people of this Territory, as it secures to all the equal protection of life, liberty and property which are fundamental rights, and chief among which is the trial by jury.

It appears that the petitioner was indicted for the crime of murder under an indictment presented by the prosecuting officer of the Territory and found by the Circuit Judge of the Circuit Court under the provision of section 616 of the Penal Laws of 1897 of the Republic of Hawaii, which reads as follows:

"The necessary bills of indictment shall be prepared by a legal prosecuting officer and be duly presented to the presiding judge of the court before the arraignment of the accused, and such judge shall, after examination, certify upon each bill of indictment, whether he finds the same a true bill or not."

The petitioner was then tried upon the said indictment and a verdict of conviction of manslaughter was rendered by nine out of the twelve jurors who heard the case in accordance with section 1345 of the Civil Laws of 1897 of the Republic of Hawaii, which prescribes as follows:

"No jury for the trial of any case, civil or criminal, shall be less than twelve in number, but when nine of such jury shall agree upon a verdict they may render the same, and such verdict shall be as valid and binding upon the parties as if rendered by all twelve."

The questions then presented are:

Were the provisions of the Penal and Civil Laws of the Republic of Hawaii under which this petitioner was indicted, tried and convicted, Municipal legislation contrary to the Constitution of the United States? or, in other words,

"Could a person in the Territory of Hawaii, between the 7th day of July, 1898, and the 14th day of June, 1900, when the Act for the government of the Territory of Hawaii went into effect, be legally tried for an infamous crime without having been first indicted by a Grand Jury as required by Article V of the Amendments to the Constitution of the United States, or convicted by less than a unanimous verdict of twelve jurors, as provided by Articles VI and VII of said Amendments?

Article V of the Constitution of the United States reads in part as follows:

"No person shall be held to answer for a capital or otherwise infamous crime unless on a presentment or indictment of a Grand Jury."

Too Plain for Doubt.

Even if this constitutional provision had never been construed, the language is too plain for doubt.

It has been held by the Supreme Court of the United States that the Fifth and Sixth Amendments to the Constitution were not designed as limits upon the State Governments in reference to their own citizens, but are only restrictions upon the Federal power. (Barron vs. Baltimore, 7 Peters 243; Thorington vs. Montgomery, 147 U. S. 490.)

The Hawaiian Islands were territory of the United States, "subject to the sovereignty thereof" and under the control of Congress when the original proceedings in this matter were heard before the Circuit Court of the Territory. (Joint Resolution of Annexation).

Mr. Justice Bradley held in the case of the Mormon Church vs. United States, 136 U. S. 1:

"That the power of Congress over the Territories of the United States is general and plenary arising from and incidental to the right to acquire the territory itself, and from the power given by the Constitution to make all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory or other property belonging to the United States. . . .

"It would be absurd to hold that the United States had power to acquire territory and no power to govern it when acquired."

To the same point let me add it was recently decided in the case of Downes vs. Bidwell, 181 U. S. 779, quoting with approval from the decision of Chief Justice Marshall in McCullough vs. Maryland, 4 Wheaton 316:

"That the power over the Territories is vested in Congress without limitation and this power has been considered the foundation upon which the Territorial Government rests."

As to Territorial authorities on questions of the Territories being subject to Federal provisions, see Bradford vs. Terr., 1 Okl. 366; Walker vs. N. M. R. R. Co., 7 N. Mex. 282.

In the exercise of the plenary power conferred upon it, Congress provided by the Joint Resolution of Annexation that all municipal legislation of the Republic of Hawaii "contrary to the Constitution of the United States" should be repealed, leaving in force all that was not in conflict therewith.

Intention of Congress.

No language could be plainer. I am constrained to hold that it was the intention of Congress to extend the Constitution save as limited by the other provisions of the Joint Resolution over these Islands, and any other construction would be a straining after that which does not appear in the language of the Act.

As was said by the Supreme Court of the United States in the recent Insular case (Downs vs. Bidwell, 181 U. S. 781):

"When the Constitution has been once formally extended by Congress to the Territories, neither Congress nor the Territorial Legislature can enact laws inconsistent therewith. And if Congress cannot control the constitutional rights of citizens after they have once been extended to them in the Territories, how can the Territories themselves do this through their courts or otherwise?

"Assuming that the provisions relating to trials for crimes and to criminal prosecutions apply to the Territories of the United States, the next inquiry is, whether the jury referred to in the original Constitution and in the Sixth Amendment thereto is a jury constituted as it was at common law of twelve persons, neither more nor less. . . . This question must be answered in the affirmative."

Quoting approvingly from Springville vs. Thomas, 166 U. S. 707, where the Court says:

"In our opinion the Seventh Amendment secured unanimity in finding a verdict, as an essential feature of trial by jury in common law cases; and the Act of Congress could not impart the power to change the constitutional rule and could not be treated as attempting to do so."

And again on page 355 (Thompson vs. Utah supra) the Court says:

"The Const.....on of the United States gave the accused at the time of the commission of the offense, a right to be tried by a jury of twelve persons, and made it impossible to deprive him of his liberty except by the unanimous verdict of such jury."

See also Webster vs. Reid, 11 How. 437; 460 American Publish Co. vs. Fisher, 166 U. S. 464, 468.

The finding of a true bill by a Circuit Judge or in any other manner than by the indictment of a Grand Jury properly and legally empowered to act in the premises, is in direct violation of the provisions of Article V of the Amendments to the Constitution of the United States, and any person found guilty of an infamous crime without such indictment by a Grand Jury is illegally convicted and should be released on habeas corpus. (Ex parte Bain, 121 U. S. 1; Ex parte Parks, 93 U. S. 18; Callon vs. Wilson, 127 U. S. 540.)

Limit the Constitution.

It is fallacious to attempt to limit the force of the Constitution in this Territory or in view of the clear intent of the Resolution of Annexation to curtail the constitutional rights of the citizen. The pointing out to the people as the Supreme Court of the Territory has done that the Constitution "is not here in all its fullness," without stating what parts are and what parts are not here, simply befogs the question; and the argument of the Assistant Attorney General of the Territory that trial by jury is not one of the fundamental propositions of the Constitution is contrary to the settled opinions of such illustrious American jurists as Marshall, Story and Kent, and also of the leading American statesmen who assisted in framing those amendments to the Constitution.

The history of the trial by jury is the history of English and American civilization. It has come down to us from Magna Charta, and in criminal cases every presumption is in favor of sustaining it.

I am of the opinion that the proceedings in the Territorial courts of Hawaii for the indictment and conviction of the petitioner here in were contrary to law and void, and that he is entitled to be discharged on habeas corpus.

Let the prisoner be discharged.

ESTEE, Judge.

BOARD OF HEALTH

IT REFUSES TO DEPART FROM AIR SPACE RULE

The Weekly Session Yesterday Largely Devoted to Setting Matters Concerning the Leper Settlement.

Leper settlement concerns took up the major part of the weekly session of the Board of Health yesterday afternoon, this business amounting to a report of the Board's visits to the place last week in the form of action upon questions then investigated.

With Dr. Sloggett, president, there were present: Dr. Moore, E. A. Mott-Smith, Fred. C. Smith and William Auld, also in attendance for duty: Dr. Pratt, executive officer; C. Charlock, secretary; C. B. Reynolds, superintendent of the settlement, and C. H. Tracy, city sanitary officer.

Air Space Regulation.

An appeal of Wong Leong against the condemnation of a building for not conforming to the air space regulation was the first matter considered. Attorney F. M. Brooks appeared with the appellant and made an earnest plea for his client. The burden of it was that $300 had already been expended, the plumbing was of Emmeluth's best, the place had a cement floor, it was virtually an extension of Sing Chong's kitchen, the building was but nine feet high and the air space was shy but one foot.

Against the eloquent presentation of these facts Dr. Pratt urged that to make any exception would simply involve having it pleaded as a precedent by a numberless host of other builders. As a case in point he mentioned a building in Chinatown that was being erected without a permit, and fully thirty Chinese thinking its plan had been approved by the authorities tried to make it a precedent for other shacks.

It was voted that the executive officer enforce the regulation.

Water for Settlement.

L. L. McCandless, L. E. Pinkham and Plumbing Inspector Keen appeared to report as experts on the water supply of the settlement. Mr. McCandless was the first speaker. He spoke to the following effect:

"In looking over the ground up there I came to the conclusion that you might get a pumping well. A flowing well is absolutely out of the question. Our firm is out for business but we do not wish to advise you people excepting for the interests of the settlement. I think at sea level we could get a pumping well at a depth of 110 feet or perhaps a little more. The well would cost $2000 and the machinery $3000 or $4000 more. That would mean that you would have continual expense for fuel and men to run the plant. You might get a million gallons every twenty-four hours. This would probably be enough for twenty acres of taro, depending on the condition of the ground. For instance, on this island one and a half million gallons will in some cases irrigate 20 acres and in others 30 acres.

"If I were in your place I would not go into artesian water at all, but would develop the Waikolu valley source where twelve or fifteen million gallons are going to waste daily. The cost would be greater in the first instance than for artesian water, but when once installed the cost would be trifling. Coming out of Waikolu valley there is another valley opening toward the Baldwin Home. It looks to me that the intervening hill is not more than 200 or 300 feet through, which could be tunneled. The first thing that should be done is to send a surveyor there. If tunneling is not found practicable then lay a pipe line down from Waikolu valley by the sea. I would not interfere with the present pipe line."

Mr. Pinkham endorsed the opinions of Mr. McCandless. If an artesian well as to be adopted a gasoline engine ought to serve the purpose. However, he thought the development of the Waikolu water was the wiser plan. The high mountains indicated a large precipitation. The water running to waste would not only supply the taro patches but make a veritable garden of the whole peninsula. It was simply a matter of making a proper survey and ascertaining the probable expense. He certainly should recommend that a survey be made before any other experiments were tried.

Mr. Keen corroborated the previous speakers as to the waste of water at Waikolu. It seemed to him with very slight expense the probable supply could be determined. The hill mentioned was, however, more like 500 or 750 feet through than what Mr. McCandless judged. He recommended a survey.

Dr. Sloggett, who had previously thanked Mr. McCandless for his very clear report, proposed that a cordial vote of thanks should be tendered to Messrs. McCandless and Pinkham for the kindness and care with which they had given the benefit of their great skill to the Board in this matter. Such a motion was accordingly moved, seconded and carried.

Complaints Considered

Resolutions of denizens of the settlement, forwarded by Ambrose Hutchinson and covering the complaints investigated by the Board on the ground, were read and considered. They referred to the supply of palai, the water question and a request for iron roofs on the houses.

Mr. Reynolds said the supply of palai would have been all right only for two or three of those noisy people wanting to send the taro to Honolulu to jump up the price. He had arranged with several planters up there for their taro at 50 cents a palai and the Board to pay the 17 cents freight. They seemed perfectly satisfied, as they had not profited by the taro sent to Honolulu. The complaints to the contrary, he asserted that the taro was of excellent quality.

It was voted that the secretary be instructed to write to Mr. Hutchinson and associates who passed the resolutions, stating that Mr. Reynolds had made new arrangements for the supply of palai and that the whole matter had been left in his hands. This was moved by Mr. Mott-Smith and seconded by Mr. Auld.

As to the iron roof proposition, Mr. Reynolds said that none of the roofs were leaky and to put on iron would be an enormous expense, besides the metal would deteriorate rapidly in the saline air. The petition was denied on motion of Mr. Mott-Smith, seconded by F. C. Smith.

Mr. Mott-Smith raised an inquiry as to the advisability of planting taro if there was a scarcity of water.

Mr. Reynolds replied that the complaint of dearth of water for domestic purposes was idle.

On motion of Mr. Mott-Smith, seconded by Dr. Moore, the whole water question was referred to a committee to be appointed.

Individual Petitions.

Next a batch of miscellaneous petitions came up.

One was to release an inmate of Bishop Home and allow her to live in an isolated cottage to be erected for her at Waikapu, Maui, which was not considered for a moment.

The relatives of a boy wanted him placed in the Bishop Home, and the secretary was directed to ascertain if the Baldwin Home was not meant.

A man's request to allow his wife to go to the settlement as his helper was denied. S. K. Kaanaloa's wife wanted him to go there as her helper, but Mr. Reynolds had been informed that since he was committed to the settlement her man had married another woman, the couple having now two children and the family being together here in Honolulu. The petition was denied.

A petition deferred last week from dwellers near the mountain at Kalaupapa was ordered answered with the information that Superintendent Reynolds had already made arrangements for giving their houses more water pipe capacity.

A petition to have Beretania hall removed to somewhere nearer the landing only provoked a little solemn gaiety.

Mr. Reynolds was authorized, in regard to another petition, to build fences as he can find carts and stone.

The sponsor for a child of four years wanted its rations increased to the portion for adults. The presumption being that it was a clean child, the rule of half rations for such was declared to be inviolate.

W. K. Makekon's request for a larger water pipe was the last of the series and was considered to have been covered by other cases settled.

General Business.

Dr. E. S. Goohue wrote about a death from an overdose of Japanese medicine. The reply to him will be in accordance with a previous deliverance on similar reports, namely, that the Board is without jurisdiction in the matter.

Dr. Greenfield, who lately suffered a fracture of the leg by his horse falling, applied for a substitute. Dr. Pratt had already at his request spoken to Dr. Herbert to procure a physician for his public and private practice. The executive officer had also written advising him in the meantime to make arrangements with Dr. Irwin of North Hilo to take part of his work. The matter was left with Dr. Pratt, the sentiment of the Board being expressed that Dr. Greenfield was quite entitled to a furlough, especially in view of his misfortune, from his many years of service under the Board.

The report of the sanitary inspector for Hilo was read, showing much work for August and universal obedience to all his orders.

Reports of government physicians, submitted in a blanket tabulation, were presented but their consideration was deferred for want of time.

A delegation of plumbers was received and heard, the report of the Food Commissioner for August was read and accepted, and Dr. Sloggett submitted the matter of declaring oleaginous war on the mosquitoes, these matters being reported separately in this issue of the Bulletin.

The Board was in session two hours lacking ten minutes.

THE MASTER PLUMBERS

Pursuant to appointment a deputation from the Master Plumbers' Association appeared before the Board of Health yesterday, the delegates being W. J. England, W. W. Graham and C. Sellers.

President Sloggett asked who was the spokesman, when Mr. England arose and said: "We come before you, gentlemen, to see if something cannot be done to elevate the standard of sanitary plumbing. A great deal of work is being torn out and has to be done over again, on account of the employment of incompetent workmen, which Mr. Keen will verify. We would respectfully suggest that every plumber be compelled to pass an examination before a committee of the Board of Health, also that a plumber taking a contract for sanitary work, be required to file a bond."

Mr. Sellers said: "This is not a war against the inspectors, as a morning paper represented it to be."

Dr. Sloggett asked how they expected the Board to interfere with their trade. This seemed to him to be a matter entirely within the province of the Legislature.

Mr. England replied: "If you can compel men to use certain kinds of materials, cannot you decide on the qualifications of the men to do the work?"

Dr. Sloggett rejoined: "I do not think so. If the work passes inspection according to the regulations that is all we have to do with it. It requires legislation I should think. Far from me to give a legal opinion, however. What are the qualifications that would be required?"

"He must have served his time," was Mr. England's answer.

Mr. Mott-Smith wanted to know the difference between master plumbers and journeymen, and was enlightened with the information that the former were the employers and the latter the employed.

Mr. England, when he observed the tone of the meeting threatened a turning down, summarily, of the proposition, further urged: "This Board surely has the right to see that the work is properly done."

The president said he doubted the power of the Board in the matter, but assured the deputation that the subject would receive full consideration. Satisfied with this assurance the delegates withdrew. Upon the suggestion of the president the meeting voted to refer the proposition to a committee and Plumbing Inspector Keen, Mr Smith and Executive Officer Pratt were appointed to consider it and report at their earliest convenience.

PACIFIC UNION OIL CO.

Proven oil lands, completely surrounded by as rich oil-producing wells as there are in the State, yielding from 50 to 250 barrels per day.

Contract prices for oil at the Coalinga wells, 70 cents per barrel.

With twenty-five producing wells of 100 barrels each per day, you can make your own calculation as to profits.

The oil industry of California is in its infancy, yet many fortunes have been made by judicious and lucky investments in oil stock. Many more will be made in the near future.

The average advance on original sales of oil stock in twenty leading companies in California has been from $1 to $108 per share.

Oil lands have advanced from $1.25 to $1,000 and $2,000 per acre.

When the Pacific Union Oil Company has a number of producing wells on its property, its stock will have the same show for even a greater advance, as some oil stock has advanced from $1 to $1,500 per share.

The Pacific Union Oil Company has no salaried officers, and is controlled by well-known gentlemen of integrity, who will see that the money derived from the sale of stock will be legitimately applied to the development of its property.

For further information apply to J. H. FISHER & CO., Stock and Bond Brokers, and Hawaiian agents for the sale of a limited amount of Pacific Union Oil Company stock. Stangenwald building, Merchant street.

The Kamehameha Lodge of Perfection met last night and conferred the fourteenth degree upon a number of Masons. A large attendance was present.

Meeting at St. Clement's.

As was stated in yesterday's Bulletin, action along the line of sending a delegate to the Episcopal convention at San Francisco in October was taken at the meeting of the congregation of St. Clement's chapel last evening. Rev John Usborne, pastor of St. Clement's, was requested to accompany T. Clive Davies, the delegate from the Second Congregation of St. Andrew's Cathedral. Mr. Usborne has decided to go.

At the meeting held last night, Irwin Spalding and Edward Newcomb were elected sidesmen.

Paid Promptly.

Superintendent Reynolds discovered that one great cause of the difficulty in maintaining the taro supply for the leper settlement was the slowness of payment to the Molokai planters. They were consequently compelled to submit to a shave of 5 per cent or more from Honolulu financiers on their bills. Mr. Reynolds has now adopted the plan of drawing the money and paying the planters for their taro on the ground.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce was held this forenoon in the temporary assembly room on the second floor of the Castle & Cooke building. President W. G. Irwin was in the chair and J. G. Spencer was in his place as secretary. The other members of the Chamber present were as follows: J. B. Atherton, C. M. Cooke, Henry Waterhouse, B. F. Dillingham, W. F. Allen, W. A. Bowen, J. G. Walker, S. B. Rose, S. G. Wilder, H. Focke, M. Phillips, R. F. Lange, F. M. Swanzy, J. J. Egan and Paul Muhlendorf.

The first matter brought up before the Chamber was permanent quarters. The committee in charge of the matter asked for more time. It was stated that the room in the new Hackfeld building was not yet ready for occupation but that, as soon as it was, the committee would then investigate and report. The committee was granted the extension of time asked for.

The regular hour of meeting was, by vote, changed from 10 o'clock to such hours as the president should, from time to time, consider best. The dues were also changed from $36 a year, payable quarterly, instead of $12, as heretofore.

The matter of most importance discussed at the meeting was the claim of Castle & Cooke with reference to the building of the quarantine wharf. After considerable discussion, it was voted to place the matter in the hands of a committee to be made up of representatives from the following firms: H. Hackfeld & Co., Ltd., Alexander & Baldwin, F. A. Schaefer & Co., Castle & Cooke, Ltd., Theo. H. Davies & Co., Ltd., and W. G. Irwin & Co. The motion that brought about this action was made by Henry Waterhouse. The committee will be expected to investigate and made recommendations as to a means of payment.

The secretary read a communication from W. Pfotenhauer, Acting Imperial Russian Consul at this port, submitting an application blank for an exhibit at the International Fisheries Exhibition to be held in St. Petersburg during February and March of 1902. The requirement is that applications be in by November 1 of this year. On motion of J. B. Atherton, the communication was referred to the United States Fish Commissioner at Washington.

Alex. Douglas, the colored man, charged with an assault on Huihui, a native, with a knife, appeared again in the Police Court this forenoon. It was necessary to further continue the case until Tuesday next on account of the complaining witness, who is not yet able to leave the hospital.

A supposed leper was refused passage aboard the Hongkong Maru yesterday. The man was a Japanese and was turned over to the police who sent him to Kalihi receiving station.

Both Myrtles and Healanis have settled down to hard work and some very close races may be looked for on the 21st.

SHIRT WAIST COLLARS

STYLE AND COMFORT COMBINED : : :

Be Advised and Try One

"MY DEAR" said the groom, "Why do you insist on turning in the neck of your shirt waist like that? It isn't at all artistic." "Because, John, it's so hot here." said the bride, "And, besides, low neck is all the style in the East now."——Two good reasons; true ones, too; but we wonder if that bride had been introduced to the SHIRT WAIST COLLAR. Made of dainty laces and ribbons, it can be worn with any shirt waist, adding prettily to the appearance of that garment, and taking away the unfinished look which it has when the neck band is merely folded in. They don't cost much either. A dollar will enable you to try the experiment.
