Michael C. Howard
Editor

Bark-cloth in Southeast Asia

Series Editor: Michael C. Howard
Studies in the Material Cultures of Southeast Asia No. 10
rediscovering bark-cloth in taiwan

5
Kun-Hui Ku

Archeological Evidence

...
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Year</th>
<th>Total</th>
<th>Male</th>
<th>Female</th>
<th>Male</th>
<th>Female</th>
<th>Male</th>
<th>Female</th>
<th>Male</th>
<th>Female</th>
<th>Male</th>
<th>Female</th>
<th>Male</th>
<th>Female</th>
<th>Male</th>
<th>Female</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

The southeastern coast of China, a point he made and supplemented with the beam of the region, rests in its entirety on the continental shelf. The estuaries along the southern coast serve as important coves for fishing, particularly for the eel and shrimp. The region is rich in resources, including fish, shellfish, and other marine products. The coastal area is a significant contributor to the country's economy, particularly in the fishing industry. The region is also known for its natural beauty, with long stretches of sandy beaches and lush forests. The area is home to a diverse range of flora and fauna, making it a popular destination for tourists and nature lovers. The region is also known for its cultural significance, with a rich history and traditions that are preserved to this day. The coast of China, as represented in the region, is an important economic and cultural hub of the country, playing a crucial role in the country's development and growth.
Kang (1996) pointed out that when wearing clothing, people prefer to choose the clothing that is consistent with the age, economic situation, and the economic status of their friends. The selection of clothing is influenced by the age of the wearer, the economic status of their friends, and the clothing they are wearing. Kang (1996) also pointed out that the clothing is consistent with the age of the wearer, the economic status of their friends, and the clothing they are wearing. Kang (1996) also pointed out that the clothing is consistent with the age of the wearer, the economic status of their friends, and the clothing they are wearing.
In 1996, according to local police in the case, the body of a man, identified as a known member of the local motorcycle gang, was found in the woods near the town of Hamilton. The victim, known only as 'John Doe,' was last seen alive at the local bar on the night of the murder. The investigation is ongoing, and no suspects have been identified to date.

The case has garnered significant media attention and has become a focal point of discussion in the local community. The police have urged anyone with information to come forward, promising a reward for information leading to an arrest.

The Hamilton Police Department has set up a hotline for tips and has worked closely with the local media to keep the public informed of the latest developments. The community has rallied around the investigation, offering support and encouragement to those involved.

As the investigation continues, the police are exploring all possible leads and are working tirelessly to bring the perpetrator to justice. The case remains a top priority for the Hamilton Police Department and the local community.

Kun-Hui Ku
I decided to write this essay to help the reader understand the National Taiwan Museum and its importance. In 2003, I visited the museum and was impressed by the exhibits and displays. The museum is located in the heart of Taipei, Taiwan, and is home to a wide variety of artifacts and treasures. I was particularly impressed by the collection of ancient pottery, which included pieces from the Neolithic period and the Bronze Age.

I also visited the National Taiwan Museum of Fine Arts, which is located in the same building as the National Taiwan Museum. The museum houses a large collection of paintings, sculptures, and photographs, including works by some of the most renowned artists in the world. I was impressed by the quality and diversity of the collection, and I was able to spend several hours exploring the exhibits.

In addition to the exhibits, the museum also hosts a variety of events and programs, including lectures, workshops, and performances. I was able to attend a lecture on the history of Taiwan, which was presented by a local historian. The lecture was engaging and informative, and I was able to learn a lot about the history of Taiwan and its people.

Overall, my visit to the National Taiwan Museum was a rewarding experience. I was able to learn a lot about the rich cultural heritage of Taiwan, and I was impressed by the quality and diversity of the exhibits. I would recommend a visit to the museum to anyone interested in art, history, or culture.
Deers from about 4,000 to 2,000 BC (Kun-Hai Ku)
Abochnal Collection and was collected in the 1920s (Kuo-Hsia Ku).

Taiwan, Abochnal, back-doh vest in the Taiwan Museum. The vest is part of the Abochna Collection.

AT188
color photographs accompany the text.

And Papua. Numerous maps, tables, drawings, more than 100 black and white photographs, and over 180

Park-cloths in Vietnam, southern Thailand, and Peninsular Malaysia. Taiwan, the Philippines, Kamchatka, and Park-cloths in the region. Park-cloths in the collection of the Museum voor Volkenkunde in Leiden, and present a general survey of Park-cloths in the region. Other chapters discuss the archaeological evidence of material culture. It provides the first comprehensive survey of Southeast Asian bark-cloths. The introduction

Bark-cloths in Southeast Asia is an extremely important addition to the literature on Southeast Asia.
Michael C. Howard (editor)

10. Bamar Clothing in Southeast Asia

(Selected by Kim Be Howard)

Chu Thai Son, with contributions by Nguyen Dal L'Anne, Ngo Duc Thinh, and Michael C. Howard

9. Patterns on Textiles and Other Objects of the Dac and Mon of the Central Highlands of Vietnam

Michael C. Howard

8. Textiles of the Highland Peoples of Burma, Volume II: The Mon-Khmer, Kuy, and Other Groups

William G. Country

7. Textiles of the Highland Peoples of Burma, Volume I: The Kachins, Chin, Jumho, and Other Burmese

Michael C. Howard

6. Textiles of Laos, Western Thailand, and Laos-Miao Group

Michael C. Howard and Kim Be Howard

Michael C. Howard and Kim Be Howard

4. Textiles of the Central Highlands of Vietnam

Michael C. Howard and Kim Be Howard

3. Textiles of the Dai Peoples of Vietnam

Ruth White Yeager and Mark Van Jacobson

2. Traditional Textiles of Western Thailand: Regional Variations in Historical Perspective

Geoffrey Dreyfus

1. Haus of Sawa: Women's Weaving History in Eastern Indonesia

Studies in the Material Cultures of Southeast Asia