PROBABLE EFFECT ON SUGAR MARKET

Ratification of Brussels Conference By Germany.

SHOULD HAVE IMMEDIATE INFLUENCE ON PRICES

Agreement To Take Effect After Fifteen Months--Germany's Crop This Year As Large As Ever.

W. M. Giffard of W. G. Irwin & Co., on being asked what would be the probable effect on the Hawaiian sugar industry of Germany's action in abolishing bounties on beet sugar, replied:

"It ought to have a good effect on the market immediately. When the German farmers know the bounties are going to be stopped, they will reduce the amount of beets planted. There would then be assured so much less of sugar over-production.

The German farmers have the present season's crop to take off and will have time to plant another crop before the abolition of bounties, the agreement giving a year and three months for itself to go into effect."

Mr. Giffard had not seen any calculation of the probable effect on quantity of world's production which would be caused by abolition of the European bounties.

E. D. Tenney, of Castle & Cooke, questioned upon the probable effects of the action of Germany, replied:

"The only immediate effect will be the influence on the market. The resolutions of the Brussels Conference have to be ratified by the countries paying bounties.

"Yes, I think Germany's ratification will go for nothing if the other bountypaying countries fail to ratify the agreement.

"In the meantime, there is no immediate lessening of over-production. According to Licht's estimates--I do not remember the exact figures--the European beet sugar crop this year will be fully equal to last year's crop.

THE OKOLEHAO LIBEL MEETING OF THE MINISTERS' UNION

SCHOONER KAWAILANI AND UNLAWFUL FREIGHT Question of Ownership in Marine Collision Suit--Double Appeal In Naval Station Case.

Judge Estee is holding the trial of United States vs. schooner Kawailani, libel for breach of the internal revenue laws. Evidence was all in before noon recess and argument takes place this afternoon.

Exceptions to the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals of both parties in United States vs. Honolulu Plantation Co. are continued until this afternoon with the probability of going over one week.

PEST DISAPPEARING

Deputy Sheriff Frank Pahia of Koolau, came to town this morning from Kaneohe. Pahia comments upon the non-appearance of the rice birds which, he says, is causing much wonder among the inhabitants of the districts on the other side of the island.

The rice fields are now ripening in Koolau and many are at present being harvested. Pahia says that as far back as any one in Koolau can remember, this is the first year that the rice birds have neglected the chance of stuffing their little stomachs with the fruit of celestial industry.

TRAMP TO VOLCANO

HAWAII GOT SOME PRIZES.

The result of the Examiner's late drawing of prizes, for distribution among subscribers, has Hawaiian interest, the following persons being named as prize-winners:

Ladies' pocketbook, Frank Sakamachi, Oahu; fountain pen, P. M. Lucas, Honolulu; ladies' gold watch, Ignatius Devine, Metropolitan Market; silver watch, Frank Godfrey; gloves, S. Chang Chau, Honolulu; G. P. Rasmussen, Oahu; H. C. Sheldon, Keala, Kauai; D. E. Wilson, Hilo; bicycle, C. B. Fisher, Honolulu; cashbook, W. F. Dale, Wailua, Oahu; J. F. Janssen, Koloa, Kauai.

The main prize, a gold nugget, went to T. W. McCann, Eureka, Cal.; the second prize, "his weight in silver," to J. S. Holding, Salt Lake City, Utah; the trip around the world went to Butte, Montana, and the trip to Paris to Marysville, Cal.

MR. LIPPY SPEAKS.

Mr. Lippy, the president of the Seattle Y. M. C. A., who is at present stopping at the Hawaiian hotel, gave a very interesting talk at the Y. M. C. A. meeting which took place on the Oahu College campus yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The audience listened to Mr. Lippy's interesting talk with much attention and upon his finishing, asked many questions of him. Quite an extensive discussion took place in which a large number of those present took part.

ORPHEUM TONIGHT

The program successfully given by the Sutton-Cogill company on Saturday evening will be repeated tonight at the Orpheum. The entertainment is consistently a good one throughout and should not be missed amid the general dearth of good things theatrical.

Many of the numbers are fully up to the high standard of vaudeville set by the World's Entertainers, and there is not an uninteresting act on the bill. Cogill is a comedian of the first water and is ably seconded as a laugh-maker by Dave Castan. Alto the Juggling Tramp has many novelties in his act and is thoroughly a master of his art.

With Rose Aquinaldo at the head, the ladies of the company are all pretty and sing, dance or perform daring and difficult gymnastic feats on wire trapeze and rope with equal agility. The show should have a most successful season.

MEETING OF THE MINISTERS' UNION

Soares Speaks On His Work Among Portuguese In Cities.

REPORTERS MAY COME ON CERTAIN CONDITIONS Rev. A. V. Soares Does Not Wish His Paper Published To Avoid A tacks From Roman Catholics.

The Ministerial Union of this city held its regular fortnightly meeting in the parlors of Central Union Church this morning at 10 o'clock. The meeting was called to order by Rev. W. H. Rice, who was elected chairman during the temporary absence of Rev. O. H. Gulick, who arrived shortly after the meeting had begun.

Under the regular order of business, "Book Reviews," the subject of the new "Twentieth Century Bible" was brought up by Rev. W. M. Kincaid, who stated that he had recently been giving this book much attention but that he had found it a very unsatisfactory translation which in places was pitifully weak.

The work of the Congregational church in Oregon was largely on the missionary order. Only about six or seven of the churches of that denomination were actually self-supporting, while the rest, there being about fifty altogether, had to be subsidized.

The paper of Rev. A. V. Soares on the subject "Evangelical Work Among the Portuguese," was next read. The paper was not given out for publication on the recommendation of the members, as Mr. Soares feared that in case it was made public it would invite forth attacks from the Roman Catholics, who were opposing him violently.

Turner, a hackman who has been driving in Honolulu for fifteen or sixteen years, appeared in the Police Court today. He was charged with violating Regulation No. 3, by disobeying the directions of a police officer. In this instance, it was Sam Macy, the hack inspector.

NOT SPANKED ENOUGH

It seems that Turner was too close to the Orpheum theater entrance to suit the police officer, and he told the hackman that he would have to go way up mauka and sit down. Turner wanted the exact spot pointed out to him and, after a passage of words, the hackman was arrested and driven to the police station in his own hack.

SENT FALSE ORDERS

This dismissal made Kelly very angry and he immediately set about to do his former employer an injury. Going to a number of telephones, he sent in orders for carriages to be taken to various places about the city. This went on for some time and then Mr. Carty learned of the trick that was being played on him. He kept very quiet, informed the police, officers were sent out, and soon Kelly was in the toils.

In the Police Court today, it was learned that Kelly did not sober up much on leaving the stables but proceeded to take several more drinks. He was fined $10 and costs, Judge Wilcox stating that he did not wish this to be taken as a precedent.

WILL BE NO RECEPTION.

The published report that there will be a reception at the McGrew home following the wedding of Miss Gillette and Mr. Young is erroneous. There will be a small gathering of the immediate relatives of the family directly following the services at the church, but no general reception.

MANUFACTURERS

Work has been begun in constructing a hall for the Fourth of July ball. It is 100 x 50 feet, extending from the southeast tower and adjoining with the front of the Executive building. Communication with the House of Representatives hall, where the Governor's reception will be held, will be from the east end veranda. After the opening of the hall, dancing will be conducted in both hall and lanai.

SHOES ENTERED

The offices of McCabe, Hamilton & Renny and the Van Ham-Young Co. were entered last night but not a cent was secured in either place, the money having all been locked up in the safes previous to closing on Saturday night. In neither case could traces be found of how the robber or robbers got into the offices. There are suspicions in one case. The matter is now in the hands of the police.

EXCHANGE TO FRONT BUILDERS WILL FRAME SET OF BUILDING LAWS

To Be Presented at Next Session of Legislature--Will Assist Superintendent of Public Works Boyd.

The recent falling down of an extensive part of a brick structure which is being erected by Japanese on Nuuanu street and the attention which the Bulletin on that occasion called to this and some other examples of the instability and danger of the building which the Orientals are erecting in this city has furnished the Builders' Exchange the initiative to take a step in the matter by offering their services to the Department of Public Works.

The members of the Exchange have already for some time past been aware of the fact that the buildings erected by Japanese and Chinese contractors in this city in many cases violated the fundamental rules for substantial buildings, often being positively dangerous.

While the matter had often been a subject for discussion, no action was taken in it before this morning, when a committee, consisting of A. Gartley, president of the Builders' Exchange, and L. E. Pinkham of the legislative committee of that body, called upon Superintendent of Public Works J. H. Boyd to offer to the department the cooperation of the body they represented.

It is the feeling of the Builders that a great deal of good could be accomplished if a building inspector could be appointed to work in the same manner as the sewer and electric light inspectors and which would give the Department of Public Works more power to act in such cases as mentioned than it is possessed of at present.

There is at present no regular set of building laws, the thing nearest to it being the sanitary regulations of the Board of Health set forth in the building permits. The police have more power to prevent the erection of structures which are dangerous to the public safety and in this may lie a remedy. The Board of Health has the power to enforce sanitary rules and make builders comply with these, and this may also prove to be a preventive measure.

THROUGH TO WAIKIKI

According to the present program of Manager Ballentyne of the Rapid Transit Company, on Saturday afternoon of this week there will be a trial trip of cars over the King street extension which has now been laid as far as Pihook street, and, on Sunday, regular cars will be run from Kalia through to the Waikiki road without transfer. This will also be done from Wylie street through to Punahoa, making through service on the two branches of the Rapid Transit lines.

OFFICES ENTERED

The progress of the work on King street has gone along with a rapidity that has been simply remarkable, and the announcement that there will be through service to Waikiki on Sunday next is a fitting climax to the splendid work that has been carried on under the direction of Manager C. G. Ballentyne.

ALLEN ARRIVES FROM THE COAST

With but little if any kind of wind the bark S. C. Allen, Captain George Johnson, drifted down from San Francisco in seventeen days and arrived off this port at 7 o'clock this morning, docking at Brewer's wharf shortly after noon. She brings a full cargo of general merchandise and forty-one mules on deck. The passage was uneventful and the Allen comes in fine condition, with her live stock looking as if they were taking life easy in the stable.

The steamer W. G. Hall, Captain Thompson, arrived from Kauai ports early yesterday morning with a cargo of sugar and several passengers. The Maui also arrived from Maui ports with the usual large freight and some passengers. The Hall's cargo consisted of 4290 bags of sugar, 18 bundles of hides, 18 barrels of tallow, 3 bags of coin and 22 packages of sundries. The Maui brought 7951 feet of lumber, 115 sheets corrugated iron, 32 boxes, and over one hundred packages of sundries.

The Custom House team beat the Punahoa at baseball on the Oahu College campus Saturday afternoon, the score being 13 to 7. This game was had enough but when it came to the second game, which was between the Artillery and H. A. C. teams, the result was most pitiable for the Soldiers who were beaten to the tune of 26 to 4. This spoiled the record of good games which the various clubs had played from the very beginning of the season. The Soldiers cannot, when pitted against such a team as the Honolulu, put up ball playing that the public would care to look at very long.

WAILUKU CLUB GIVES CREDITABLE ENTERTAINMENT

Excellent Musical Program is Given Enthusiastic Reception—Pleasant Evening and Good Receipts.

Wailuku, June 14.—A very pleasing entertainment was given at the Wailuku Union school house Saturday evening, June 7, by the members of the Wailuku Dramatic and Musical Society, assisted by local talent. There was a good house present. The stage scenery was elegant, especially the piece representing Diamond Head. The oil paintings were the work of Brother Frank of the Wailuku Catholic school, and would rank him among many of the painters of the Kiloahua Art League.

The following program was successfully rendered, many of the pieces being deservedly encored:

Piano Solo, "Maritana".....Wallace G. B. Schrader.
Vocal Duet, "On Music's Wing".....Mendeisohn
Miss M. E. Huntington, Miss L. Phil. "Larboard Watch".....

"Vacation"
An original comedy in two acts by Charles Townsend. Characters: Mr. Pemberton, president of the First National Bank of Wailuku—H. Meyer. Herbert Wells, alias Jim Parr, formerly cashier of the First National Bank; now guide—A. Enos. Dennis Clancy, an all-round man—A. Enos.
Curtis Dunbar, a "truly good" young man—G. B. Schrader.
G. Elliot Brayton, a sweet member of New York society—J. Garcia.
Old Obediah Higgins, a Kula farmer with an eye for business—C. Crowell.
Young Obediah, his son—John Garcia.
Raggles, a rag-time tramp—J. A. Potter.
Jack Ashton, of the "Maui News"—A. J. Gomes.
Dick Percival, a leading actor in the Bonton Theater—F. Vasconcellos.
Toots, a negro cook—A. Garcia.
Tableau, Dunbar in Prison—G. B. Schrader.
"Star Spangled Banner."
While all the performers acquitted themselves very creditably, the pieces that took the audience by storm were: Vocal duet "On Music's Wings," sweetly sung by Misses Mary E. Huntington and Louise Phil. The piano duet "Poet and Peasant," by Mrs. T. B. Lyons and G. B. Schrader, two of Wailuku's leading pianists, was most exquisitely rendered. The vocal solo "Song of the Turnkey" by L. R. Crook was well given, and the young basso was encored. Another hit of the evening was the cornet solo by C. D. Lufkin. This gentleman's playing is excellent. The comedy entitled "Vacation" was quite creditable. Receipts netted $174.

BROWN WAS TOUCHED

Wailuku, June 14.—E. M. Brown, captain and pitcher of the Hilo baseball team, is mourning the loss of his fine gold watch and chain. The articles were stolen from his room at Tallent's hotel, High street. Before retiring on Thursday evening, Mr. Brown took his watch and chain from his pocket and put them in a coat pocket and then hung the coat on the wall. When he arose in the morning he found that these articles were missing but that he was mysterious to him is that the would-be burglar left the $50 in coin in the pant's pocket untouched. The chain is a very valuable one aside from its intrinsic value, it being the property of his wife. This chain is made up of one dollar gold pieces which are very rare now, and was valued at $100. The matter has been reported to Sheriff Baldwin and his sleuths were hard at work yesterday morning ransacking every room in the Tallent's hotel in search of the missing articles, but so far without success. Mr. Brown feels deeply the loss of the chain as his wife prizes it highly. The police are still at work and the culprit may be brought to justice. The hotel was filled with lodgers on the night when the articles were stolen. Mr. Brown has been for several days quartered with W. H. Cornwell Jr. at the Cornwell mansion at Waikapu, and only moved to town on Thursday night.

OBSERVE ADMISSION DAY.

Wailuku, Maui, June 14.—Today being Admission Day, Judge John W. Kaulu adjourned the June term of the Second Circuit Court from last evening (Friday) until Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock. Plans are being in the breeze from government buildings and the residences of prominent citizens in and around Wailuku, and although there is no cessation of business there is enough of loyalty exhibited by public spirited citizens to make this a real holiday.

WAILUKU CLUB GIVES CREDITABLE ENTERTAINMENT

Excellent Musical Program is Given Enthusiastic Reception—Pleasant Evening and Good Receipts.

Wailuku, June 14.—A very pleasing entertainment was given at the Wailuku Union school house Saturday evening, June 7, by the members of the Wailuku Dramatic and Musical Society, assisted by local talent. There was a good house present. The stage scenery was elegant, especially the piece representing Diamond Head. The oil paintings were the work of Brother Frank of the Wailuku Catholic school, and would rank him among many of the painters of the Kiloahua Art League.

The following program was successfully rendered, many of the pieces being deservedly encored:

Piano Solo, "Maritana".....Wallace G. B. Schrader.
Vocal Duet, "On Music's Wing".....Mendeisohn
Miss M. E. Huntington, Miss L. Phil. "Larboard Watch".....

Vanilla Bean Culture In Seychelles Islands

Continuing the discussion on the method of raising the vanilla bean in the Seychelles Islands, the article begun in Saturday's Bulletin takes up such matters as cropping of vines, checking of branches, flower fertilization and the like.

Preparing Vines for Cropping.

If the plants have done well they should be ready for such preparation in about eighteen months more or less according to the season. Formerly in this colony they were allowed to grow until a spell of dry weather set in prior to the usual blossoming time. The growing ends were then cut off and all new shoots removed as they showed till flowers began to come or till the season for them was past. When a dry spell proved a long one, this seemed to answer pretty well; and, indeed, under these circumstances flowers would come in any case, whether growth was checked or not. But it is more usual to stop the growing ends some nine or ten months, in the first instance, before flowering time. In the majority of cases the terminal bud will push, and this new shoot should also be removed when five or six inches long, not earlier, else the next to the last bud is apt to grow.

Six Weeks to Develop.

After the second checking most vines will shoot far enough back to allow of the shoots being left. These grow on for the next year, and the stopped branches hang down with their lower ends a good foot or more from the ground, being generally from four to six feet in length, according to the heights of the forks through which they are hung and the positions of the new shoots, though these generally spring just before the last buds of the checked branches, which are to be the cropping parts. The new growths behind these are supposed to drain them of their sap, and thus conduce to flowering. However that may be, these checked hanging branches have certainly more tendency to flower than other parts of the vines. Flowers take some six weeks to develop from the moment they burst through the buds to their time of opening, but this period varies in length with the weather, continuous dryness retarding and moderate showers hastening their development when once started.

More Checking Necessary.

The growing branches of vines should now be checked again for the following year's crop. These will be less troublesome in putting out inconvenient shoots, as the plant's sap is more apt to go into flowering branches, where nourishment is now more needed. Could the whole work be performed in a few days, this change in the direction of sap flow should be done preferably ten days or a fortnight before flowers begin to open. In a large plantation, unless the hands are very numerous or the shoots have been arranged beforehand so that there is little else to do than cut their ends, it will take some weeks to accomplish this, and therefore work must begin earlier or finish later. If the dry spell necessary for flowering has lasted a good while and can fairly be depended upon to continue long enough, the growing ends may be cut earlier; but it must be borne in mind that if rain in quantity comes too soon and, in addition to the stimulus given by it, the branches intended for flowering have also the sap from previously growing shoots poured into them, the chance of their cropping well will be much diminished. Many a promise of a fine crop is ruined by too early rain here. The country, climate, and the planter's skill as a weather prophet must govern this undertaking.

Leaf Mould Needed.

An abundant supply of leaf mould should be in readiness for laying on the roots at this season, and should be applied when flowers begin to open, or a little before. If previous dressings have been so timed that vines are in a somewhat starved condition when flowering is expected, the chances of a good blossoming are increased, but this practice needs judgment, or a poor quality of pods will be the result.

There used to be a story current here, no doubt with some grain of truth in it, to the effect that in a very wet season the only vanilla planter who had any crop was one whose pigs had got adrift in his plantation and spent the night in grubbing up vanilla roots. This method of producing flowers is not recommended, but it is quite possible that careful and systematic root pruning might be carried on with advantage in wet years, if one could tell beforehand when these were coming.

Flower Fertilization.

The work of flower fertilization (pollination)—for they have all to be fertilized by hand, and that on the day they open—is mostly done by women and children. The operation is a very simple one, and an average negro will acquire the knack after being shown a few examples.

The flower is taken in the left hand, three fingers being placed at its back and the thumb in front, the column with organs of fertilization on being supported against the middle sepal behind. A bit of hard wood, cut to the size of a toothpick and scraped smooth and flat at one end, is the only tool required; this is held in the right hand. To get at the organs of fertilization easily, the sack which grows from the side of the column enveloping its front and marking the sexual organs is pressed down by the bit of wood, or this is run through its base, and the sack torn up, or the whole sack may be plucked off with finger and thumb. It matters not how it is laid open, so long as this is done quickly and without injury to any other part of the flower. The smooth end of the fecundating instrument is then laid flat on

DAMAGE CASE SETTLED AFTER MANY TERMS

Decoto's Granted Divorce That Causes Surprise — Japanese Sure of Acquittal is Promptly Convicted.

Walluku, June 14.—The June term of the Second Circuit Court is still in session at Walluku courthouse. The Grand Jury presented its report last Monday, June 9, reporting thirteen indictments for various offenses and found no true bills in two cases and defendants were discharged. There is a likelihood that the term will last ten or more days.

The following criminal cases were disposed of:

Territory of Hawaii vs. Young Nap; liquor selling. Jury found defendant not guilty.

Territory of Hawaii vs. Tagami; assault with intent to murder. The court asked defendant if he had any money, also if he desired counsel. The "sassy" Japanese replied that he hadn't a cent and he didn't want any attorney. The judge explained to him through an interpreter that if he did not want an attorney, he would have to defend his case in person before a jury of twelve impartial and disinterested men. The defendant replied he did not care if there were twenty jurymen to try him. He was sure he wasn't guilty of the charge. So the case went on and jury was drawn. Deputy Attorney General Dan H. Case put on evidence for the government which went to prove that defendant attempted to kill his wife at Hana by butchering her with a knife, and that it was through no fault of the defendant that his victim survived. The defendant did not put up any defense. The jury returned a verdict of guilty and Tagami will have to appear before Judge Kalua next week for sentence.

One of the most important cases of the week has been the damage suit of B. K. Kaiwala vs. J. K. Iosepa for criminal conversation. E. Johnson of the firm of Achi & Johnson, prosecuted the case for the plaintiff, while attorneys J. M. Kaneakua, A. N. Kepoikai and N. W. Aluli championed the cause of the defendant from whom the plaintiff wanted to exact damages amounting to $5000. The parties reside at Hana and are among the most prominent Hawaiians of the "Ua Lanibahaa" district. After hearing for two days, the jury rendered a verdict for plaintiff and assessed his damages for the unlawful and unchristian devotion of the defendant towards his wife in the sum of $1. One of the jurymen even favored damages at fifteen cents. And so ended a case which has been on the calendar for three terms and which has caused no end of anxiety to the parties concerned.

The case of Hiramoto vs. Pioneer Mill Co., damage suit for $2000, jury rendered verdict for plaintiff for $300.

The divorce suit of Mrs. Sarah L. Decoto vs. W. L. Decoto was heard before Judge Kalua last Saturday afternoon, with closed doors. Geo. Hons represented the libellant. The libellee did not have any one to represent him, nor was he present in person as he did not care to oppose the divorce proceedings brought by his wife on charge of cruelty. This suit came as a great surprise to all the numerous friends of both parties. The judge granted the divorce on the grounds asked for in the petition. Mrs. Decoto is a daughter of the late Hon. W. Y. Horner of Lahaina, while W. L. Decoto is one of the leading citizens of that place.

WAILUKU REPUBLICANS BEGIN THEIR WORK

Walluku, June 14.—At a meeting of the Walluku Republican precinct club held at the Walluku courthouse on Friday evening, June 13, the following were nominated as candidates for election at the primary meeting to be held in the Walluku courthouse on Friday evening, June 27: President, Hon. A. N. Kepoikai and Judge J. W. Kalua.

First vice president, Wm. G. Scott and J. Nua.

Second vice president, Noa W. Aluli.

Secretary, Samuel Kellin.

Assistant secretary, J. K. Saunders.

Treasurer, Wm. T. Robinson and L. M. Baldwin.

Judges of election, W. A. McKay, M. P. Walatolo and J. Pali Sylva.

Five members of executive committee, Hons. A. N. Kepoikai and John W. Kalua, C. B. Wells, W. G. Ogo, S. E. Kaleikau, W. E. Saffery, R. A. Wadsworth, J. Kiri Kana, David Crowell, Wm. T. Robinson, Jas. N. K. Keola, Wm. E. Bal and Moses Kauhimahu.

There was a fair attendance present, among them being some of the Honolulu politicians. Messrs. W. J. Coelho and J. M. Kaneakua made brief addresses, after which chairman A. N. Kepoikai declared the meeting adjourned until June 27. Lahaina and other districts will hold meetings next week.

Since he began yachting, about fifty years ago, Lord Brassey has sailed nearly 322,000 miles in a dozen yachts of varying tonnage.

Local Quarantine Law Supported By Court

Washington, June 2.—The United States Supreme Court today declared the right of a state of the Union to pass laws excluding the body of a person going into a city or community which is quarantined. The case in which this decision was given is one which was brought against the Louisiana Board of Health by the owners of the Britannia, a French steamer which sought to land Italian immigrants in New Orleans in 1898. The city then was infested with yellow fever and a quarantine was in force against it. The Board of Health enforced the state law authorizing exclusion from a quarantined municipality, refusing to allow the immigrants to land. The owners of the steamer took the case to the State courts, where the decisions were against them. There was an appeal to the United States Supreme Court, and it was prosecuted on the ground that the law was a violation of the interstate commerce law and also in contravention of the treaty of 1803 with France.

The opinion of the Supreme Court was handed down by Justice White, and sustained the State law on the ground that until Congress takes the quarantine power from the State each State is entitled to make and enforce its own quarantine regulations. Justices Harlan and Brown unite in a dissenting opinion.

Cape Colony Boers Come to America

New York, June 3.—As a result of the penalty which the Cape Boers, who assisted the Boers of the South African republic and the Orange Free State, may be called upon to pay by the terms of the peace agreement, an effort may be made to find homes for some of them in the United States. W. G. Snyman of Cape Colony, who fought with the Boers and who has been speaking in the United States for the Boer cause during the past year, said, regarding the terms of surrender: "The colonial Boers are to be punished. I am a colonial Boer, born a British subject, and am liable to imprisonment for from five to ten years if the terms as published are correct. I am acquainted with President Roosevelt, and shall see if there is not a way for some of our people to come to this country. I think there is great opportunity for us here. There are few here now, but in Portugal there are a good many colonials, and they probably will not want to return to South Africa now. They are men well born. If the United States Government would open the way they would be glad to settle in some state like New Mexico, Arizona, Texas or Colorado. They would make good citizens. No one would need to be ashamed of them. I shall use every effort to open the way to bring them here."

GOD REVEALED GUILT

Salt Lake, Utah, June 5.—James Sharp, father-in-law of James R. Hay, who was murdered last December, took the witness stand today in the trial of Peter Mortensen for the crime and with tears streaming down his cheeks testified that God had revealed the guilt of Mortensen to him. Testifying to his talk with Mortensen today after the disappearance of Hay, Sharp said in effect:

"I charged Peter Mortensen with the murder of my son-in-law because I knew that he was guilty. God revealed it to me. He appeared to me by the Holy Ghost and put the words of this spirit into my mouth. I had to utter them, for I knew they were true. I cannot and will not deny it here, neither will I deny it when I meet my God on the last day.

"This is not the only manifestation I received. On Tuesday noon I saw the trail of blood leading from the railroad tracks to where my son-in-law was buried. I saw it in a vision just as plainly as when I afterwards visited the spot."

Sharp is a devout Mormon. Under sharp cross-questioning by the attorneys for the defense Sharp stated that he had received revelations from God before relating to the gospel of Jesus Christ. He said he had not told the officers of his first revelation because it was not necessary. He knew Hay's body would be found.

MONDAY, JUNE 16, 1902.

Even the Maui News can't find anyone to pardon Dole for his abuse of pardoning power which is practically an attack on the courts.

Saturday's baseball games were an exception that must not become a rule, if enthusiastic crowds is what the boys are after.

Indiana Democrats summoned enough courage to give Bryan a hearty cheer but it was too much when they were requested to adopt his cheap dollar scheme.

A London dispatch says Lewanka, the black king of Barotseland has visited King Edward, smoked his cigars and enjoyed himself. This is a recommendation for King Edward's cigars.

Kilauea is at least stirring sufficiently to be worth going to see, but the Laughing Jackass responsible for the spread on Punchbowl and Diamond Head remains in a special class by itself.

From the discussion of franchise rights carried on in some sections of the community one might be led to believe the corner stone of the American constitution to be the Almighty Dollar.

In all seriousness there is not a section of Honolulu that will oppose municipal government while the franchise remains unrestricted? This is the conclusion drawn from sentiments the Advertiser voices.

Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel. This is what the Bible says, but the Honolulu Ministerial Union has voted a censorship. Query—If Christ came to Honolulu what view would be expounded?

W. O. Smith is modest. People generally are satisfied to have the city charter, he assisted in framing, adopted by the Legislature. The perfect charter has yet to be found. It never will be determined except by practical experience—in Hawaii.

When the next Legislature meets this Territory will have had a full two years in which to "study" forms of municipal government adaptable to conditions in every district of the islands. The plea for further time to deliberate has lost its power.

Let the franchise alone. If this is to continue a bone of contention in Republican ranks, the Home Rulers will have a perpetual lease on legislative control. Get to work under the law as it stands and stop this damnation of citizens which accomplishes only alienation of votes.

The nomination of Judge Kalua in the Walluku precinct meeting suggests that the judge may contemplate doing politics. If the Maui News is properly understood, Judge Kalua has more than he can do attending to the affairs of his position without branching into the trials and tribulations of political contests.

Some of the stockholders in Lipton Limited have been unkind enough to suggest more attention to business and less to yachting on the part of Sir Thomas. A reduction in dividends was the cause of this thrust, which indicates that Lipton has not found his yachting ventures such valuable advertising material as was anticipated.

Something besides hard times may be speedily coming Hawaii's way after all. The best sugar news from Germany is a host in itself. If this can be followed up by a Federal appropriation for the fire claims and the election of a Legislature that will do something, this Territory will not remain long in the doldrums of financial shortcomings.

MINISTERIAL CENSORSHIP.

Censorship of the Ministerial Union meetings is without exception one of the funnest things Honolulu has produced in many days. One might almost be led to believe we are living in the days of the Inquisition or even the earlier years when men and women were cast into dungeons and the lions' den for proclaiming their belief in Jesus Christ as the Savior of men.

Once in so often, be it weeks or months matters little, the ministers of the Gospel residing in Honolulu meet to discuss matters of religious import bearing upon their work in leading men to a higher life, elevating the moral plane of the community, advancing the teachings of Christ. The newspapers of the city have lent their assistance to this work by giving full reports of the meetings and publishing extensive excerpts from the paper read at each session. By so doing the papers have not only fulfilled their obligation in giving the news, but it is also certain they have given the words and thoughts of the ministerial workers broader publicity than could be secured from the pulpit of any single church or all the churches combined.

On this bright morning in June newspaper reporters who went to report the Ministerial Union meeting were informed that they could attend the sessions but must do so with the understanding that only such remarks or such discussions as the Union desired should be published. The list of questions marks this action naturally suggests is interminable. A ministerial censorship in this day and generation is so remarkably extraordinary as to become provocative of excessive mirth. Has religion and religious discussion reached the point where it must be hedged about with the care that surrounds the dispatches from a seat of war or has some new way to the joys of the hereafter been discovered free only to a special few?

It is not likely the ministerial censorship will seriously interfere with the peace of this community. There are no constitutional rights involved, and unfortunately religion is not sufficiently deep seated in the minds of the majority to cause any worry over whether the ministers censor their views or hold their sessions and speak their minds on the street corners. But one sentiment is likely to be heard: Lord, Lord, into what narrow grooves are thy servants leading!

This idea of carrying elections and securing wise legislation by telling the electorate what an overwhelming percentage of unadulterated rascality it contains is a phase of good government or good citizenship that doesn't take its text from the Golden Rule or wise politics.

The statement that cities are corrupt because the good government forces are not active puts the good government citizen on a lower plane than the corruptionist. The man who knows his duty and refuses to do it will find no place vacant for him in the galaxy of honest citizenship.

Officials of the Rapid Transit company have stated that no voter of the Territory seeking work on the extension of its road work will be turned away. Now gentlemen, you're talking.

POWER OF THE PULPIT.

[New York Mail and Express.] Bishop Earl Cranston of the New York East Conference of the Methodist church, raised a large question the other day when, in addressing a meeting held in Torrington, Conn., for the ordination of deacons and elders, he preached on the subject, "is the Pulpit Losing its Power." The answer which any man is likely to give to such a question depends on the sort of man he is. If he is optimistic, he will give a hopeful answer. If he is pessimistic, he will be quick to report that the ministry is certainly losing its grip. Bishop Cranston is a genial and hopeful man, and we are not surprised to hear from him a negative answer to his own question.

He was right when he declared that one of the reasons why the impression prevails that the pulpit is not as effective as it once was is the fact that the spiritual level of our communities has been greatly raised in the past century. The ministry does not have as much occasion as it once did to number its admonitions from the pulpit, or to apply to members of the flocks the terrors of an outraged gospel. People are better than they used to be. To be sure, enough of them are bad. The occupation of the minister as the crier of the summons to repentance is not yet gone by any means. But the mass of our intelligent communities has been lifted up, by the pulpit and by other good agencies to a vastly higher level of spirituality than once prevailed. When the stream has filled the lake, it no longer needs to roar over the stones.

But with this very advent of a higher degree of spirituality, a higher responsibility has come to rest not only on the ministry, but on all other sorts of spiritual leaders, great and small. This increased spiritual responsibility is the influence which has made the pulpit a harder station to fill acceptably than it used to be. It is a nervous, watchful, eager task—this duty of keeping up to a high standard a flock which, though it may often fail to translate its own ideals into virtuous and noble conduct, nevertheless undoubtedly possesses the ideals, and must not lose them. Though it has

FROM THE ISLAND PRESS

MAIL THE OLIGARCH!

[Hilo Tribune.] So the vindicated Hawaiian Monarch with Roosevelt's brand "O K" on his bosom landed in Honolulu and forgot that he had just come from the country where the courts are respected! He pardoned good Editor Smith, who had been sent to the reef for thirty days for flagrant, contemptuous and contemptible contempt of court. The sentence had been imposed by the First Circuit Court, sitting en banc. It had been confirmed by the Supreme Court of Hawaii, and on being sound, the United States District Judge, Morris M. Estee, had declined to interfere habere corpus.

How was it done? Dole knelt upon his knees and slipped his lithe head through the Thurston brass collar. He licked Thurston's boots and granted the pardon. He comes back to Hawaii the same paradoxical combination of haughty stubbornness and cringing servility that he was when he quit drumming his office table with his fingers at Honolulu, and answered Roosevelt's summons to come to Washington. The spots on the leopard are changeless. We had forgotten that.

Volcano Marshal used strong language in his paper, got six months, and was worked on the streets with convicts. Smith, in the Advertiser, does worse, and gets thirty days. Marshall was pardoned, true enough, after he had done weeks of rock pounding. Smith is liberated from the roof garden of Oahu prison before he gets comfortably settled upon his prison divan. Talk about your root-top-or-die policies. What are we up against in Hawaii?

ON DANGEROUS ROCKS.

[Hilo Tribune.] The Republican party in Hawaii is losing the active assistance of some of its most capable campaign workers and leaders. When men like J. A. Kennedy come to feel that it is not worth while, the party is in the vicinity of dangerous rocks.

WHO'LL PARDON DOLE?

[Maui News.] Governor Dole pardoned Walter G. Smith, but the more serious problem now remains as to who is going to pardon Governor Dole for his hasty act of executive clemency.

HIS GREAT MISTAKE.

[Hilo Tribune.] Dole's best friends in Hilo say the Smith pardon is his greatest mistake, so far.

HAWAIIANS APT SCHOLARS.

[Maui News.] It is pleasing to note the readiness with which native Hawaiians adapt themselves to the institutions of free self-government. The older men, who were born and raised under a monarchy vie with the young men in grasping the idea that men are capable of self-government. The added dignity of character which they develop, as they become conscious of the fact that each one of them is an integral portion of sovereignty is already becoming noticeable on Maui, and gives promise of a splendid race of American Hawaiians. Of course, they have much to learn yet in the matter of choosing proper, upright and able men to fill public offices, but they are apt scholars, and will soon learn this lesson.

STILL WANT BOYD.

[Hawaii Herald.] If Colonel Boyd insists that is name be withdrawn from the list of candidates for Delegate, the people of this Territory should endeavor to have a heart to heart talk with him and convince him of his error. His first duty may be, as he puts it, at home, but he has a higher duty to perform if the people demand it. It will be less difficult to secure a competent Superintendent of Public Works than to find a good man to represent the interests of every section of the Territory in Congress. Colonel Boyd is admittedly a strong man politically and his ability is recognized to an extent that his election would be sure, whichever party would nominate him. It is due to the people of the Territory that he accept the nomination when it is tendered him.

"The Opium Cache on Maui."

It has not been alone in building up these ideals, the pulpit has had its full part in the work; and the power which it exercises today, as the nourisher and sustainer of them, is not less, but greater, than the power of the minister of former generations.

It is less as the lawgiver, the intimidator, the policeman of religion and morality that the minister of the present day acts than as the inspirer, the suggester, the sustainer. And by the same token he is greater than his spiritual forbears. He does not threaten or bearers so much as they did, but he knocks more insistently, and to better purpose, at the portals of their hearts.

LABOR AND THE CIVIC FEDERATION

By FRANK P. SARGENT, Grand Master Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen

The industrial committee of the National Civic Federation has outlined a work the value of which cannot be too highly estimated. The fact of such importance being united to bring into close relations the two most powerful factors in the nation is of itself a gigantic undertaking, especially when for so many years such a wide difference of opinion has prevailed as to what should be the position of a man of wealth and an employer of men and one who has labor alone to offer for employment.

To be successful in the accomplishment of such an undertaking, those who control capital must realize that in labor is the creative power of capital, and that the more enlightened, skilled and disciplined by the influence of organization are the wage-workers, the greater are the returns for the capital invested by the employer.

When labor is encouraged by the controllers of capital in everything that tends to improve their efficiency as workmen, when societies of wage-earners are assured that they are to have the cooperation of their employers in well-directed efforts toward organization, the task of "establishing right relations between employers and workers" will be an easy one.

It is evident to those who impartially study the effect of organization in the trades where the greater percentage of the workers are under organized discipline there is found the larger percentage of returns on the capital invested. The product is of excellent quality and of skilled workmanship, which is evidence of the pride taken by the worker who was engaged in fashioning and creating or discharging the duty assigned to him.

Workers as represented in organized labor should be regarded as dignified, skilled and of the best type of manhood, and should be so taught through the principles of their organization.

Employers should also encourage workers in the establishment of such organizations as will bring them up to the highest standard of efficiency, and when so organized, by frequent conferences, discuss those questions which so much concern their wages, prices, cost of production, hours of labor, discipline and social conditions. To the end that at all times there may be a thorough understanding between them upon all questions that affect each other.

The employer and workers having such understandings cannot help but maintain close relations so that each may get the best possible results. Where today we find these relations prevailing, we also find "industrial peace."

The influence of the Executive Committee of the Industrial Branch of the National Civic Federation declares in favor of mutual agreements between the employer and employee, each recognizing their dependency upon the other in getting the best results. Second, organization of the worker

THEY CAN'T DO BUSINESS.

Albany, N. Y., June 4.—Supreme Court Justice Chester today granted an injunction restraining certain beef-packing companies of the West from carrying on business in this State in violation of the Donnelly anti-trust law. The order was served on the representatives of the concern in this city and Troy today, and will be served on others throughout the State as quickly as they can be reached. It was obtained on the affidavit of D. W. Meredith, a former manager of Swift & Co.

HOW THE PEACE NEWS ESCAPED CENSORSHIP

New York, June 2.—Some interesting stories are told in this morning's papers of the ruses adopted by correspondents to dodge the press censors in South Africa in keeping their editors informed of the progress of the peace negotiations, says a Herald dispatch from London. The Daily Telegraph, for instance, received from Bennett Burleigh on Whitmonday a cablegram with the words "Whitsuntide greetings." When the dispatches arrived without any official dispatch, the first idea was that the transmission of such a message at all times from the seat of war was a somewhat superfluous demonstration of politeness. A little reflection, however, seemed to indicate the significance of the particular season at which the sociable sentiment was expressed.

JOHN L'S NEW ROLE

New York, June 5.—A dispatch to the Sun from Waterbury, Conn., says: John L. Sullivan left town this morning, after sundry interesting experiences with the local sheriff, with Toanick, once boss fighter of the Cheyenne Indians, with Buffalo Bill and with John Barleycorn. His parting words were to the effect that he'd had a warmer time than is usually enjoyed on earth or in heaven.

ADVICE TO YOUNG BASE-BALL PLAYERS

Base running should not be attempted unless the runner secures a good start, and in this respect he must use judgment. A player should run on every hit made, no matter whether the ball goes to the infield or outfield. Many games have been lost through failure and neglect to observe this rule. Many players, when the ball is hit to the infield, jump at the conclusion that it will be fielded cleanly, and will loaf in the play, or make an attempt to advance a base. He will often find the ball fumbled by the fielder, and will then start for his next base. He finds, to his chagrin, that he has missed his opportunity, and that, had he started at the time the ball was hit, he would have reached the base in safety, but owing to his blunder he is put out. Plays of this kind not only rob the player of a base which should be credited to him but it frequently causes a loss of the game itself, where by good playing he might have won it.

CANAL FIGHT WILL BE A HARD ONE

Washington, June 4.—The question of whether Nicaragua or Panama will prevail as the route for the proposed canal is coming rapidly to the front, and will be decided in a few days, from the present outlook. Senator Hanna and his lieutenants in the Senate are active in behalf of Panama, and great interest will attach to Hanna's speech tomorrow. Senator Mitchell said today: "It is too early to say what will be the outcome. The opposition to Nicaragua is powerful and shrewd. So far as I know, the Nicaragua adherents, those who really want a canal cut, in other words, are firm, as usual, and will vote solid. No canvass has been made of the Senate on the question."

BOGUS "AD" INVITATION

New York, June 5.—A special to the Sun from Washington says: A number of American citizens have written to the State Department saying that they have received handsomely engraved invitations, purporting to have been sent by order of King Edward, to attend the coronation ceremonies in London this month, and the writers want to know if the invitations are genuine. The invitation seemed to be genuine enough until that part of the text containing instructions to the recipient was reached. The instructions concerned the length of the trains of the ladies and the costumes to be worn by men, and other needful information and some suggestions as to what the person invited was expected to do.

Arbitration is Expensive.

Washington, June 5.—Secretary Hay today asked Congress to appropriate $50,000 for the expenses of the board of arbitration which will consider the claim against Mexico regarding the fish pond of the Californians. This is in accordance with the protocol signed May 22. Part of the expense will be the printing of the entire record of the mixed claims commission of 1893. The arbitration board will meet at The Hague soon. None of its members are to be citizens of either republic involved.

BRYAN A BACK NUMBER

Indianapolis, June 4.—The Democratic State Convention today was remarkable for its lack of discord, candidates for all but three of the offices being chosen by acclamation. While there was no fight in the convention proper, there was a battle royal in the meeting of the committee on resolutions. A number of the friends of William J. Bryan, from the Second district, were very much in earnest in view of the insertion in the platform of a plank endorsing him and the Kansas City platform. The majority of the committee was against any such endorsement, saying that they considered it out of place at the present time to inject Bryan's name into the State campaign.

Slide Over Money Issue and Bring Tariff, Trusts and Philippines to the Front—Only Cheers for Bryan. Indianapolis, June 4.—The Democratic State Convention today was remarkable for its lack of discord, candidates for all but three of the offices being chosen by acclamation. While there was no fight in the convention proper, there was a battle royal in the meeting of the committee on resolutions. A number of the friends of William J. Bryan, from the Second district, were very much in earnest in view of the insertion in the platform of a plank endorsing him and the Kansas City platform. The majority of the committee was against any such endorsement, saying that they considered it out of place at the present time to inject Bryan's name into the State campaign.

Arbitration is Expensive.

Washington, June 5.—Secretary Hay today asked Congress to appropriate $50,000 for the expenses of the board of arbitration which will consider the claim against Mexico regarding the fish pond of the Californians. This is in accordance with the protocol signed May 22. Part of the expense will be the printing of the entire record of the mixed claims commission of 1893. The arbitration board will meet at The Hague soon. None of its members are to be citizens of either republic involved.

LEAVITT FINDS ANGEL New York, June 5.—A cable to the Telegraph from London says: M. B. Leavitt, who has been in hard luck financially of late years, is going back to the United States to enter the theatrical business on a larger scale than ever. He will be backed by a millionaire Australian turfman, Frank Gardner. Some years ago Leavitt was managing a burlesque company in the City of Mexico and ran across Gardner there. Gardner had stranded with a circus and Leavitt loaned him $2000 to help him get back to the United States and England. When Leavitt had almost reached the end of his rope here a few days ago he accidentally learned that Gardner was the same man he had aided in Mexico. He called on him and said he was in need of money. Gardner took Leavitt to his town mansion as his guest while in London, figured out he owed $10,000 principal and interest and then offered to back Leavitt in the United States. UNSURFASSED.

Sir Henry Irving, after the play one evening recently, told of an inebriated American who was boasting to a party of friends in a London hotel about the commanding position his country had taken in the world's affairs in recent years and the superiority of all things American.

"There's one thing, though, that you'll admit, I am sure," remonstrated one of the Englishmen, "in which this country surpasses America."

"What is it?" was the aggressive reply.

"Fog! You never saw on the other side of the Atlantic any fog that could match the one which hangs over London tonight."

"Fog! Fog!" came the hesitating, befogged reply; but the hesitation only lasted a moment, and was followed by a still more aggressive tone and manner, as the irate American cried:

"Why, this is nothing compared with some of the fogs we have around New York harbor. Sometimes the fog is so thick around there that it's a common thing for the captains of the ferry boats to put on extra crews simply to pump the fog out of the cabins. Why, there's a corporation organizing in New Jersey right now to can American fog and supply the British people with 'the real thing'."—New York Times.

AS TO BLUSHING.

Not every one would consider that to blush indicates special intelligence, yet blushing is an eminently human attribute, and Darwin says that "it would require an overwhelming amount of evidence to make us believe that any animal could blush. Idiots, too, rarely blush." It is a fact that the nerves have an effect even on the circulation of the blood, and the very pulse at our wrist is not due only to the heart throbs, but to an organism called the vaso-motor system—three vessels distributed to the walls of the blood vessels and making a regular pulsing motion as they force the blood along. These blood vessels are related closely both to the cerebro-spinal and the sympathetic system, and the reason for the effect of sudden shock, of the pallor produced by fear, the crimson blush of shame, and the flush of rage. These are really psycho-phenomena, and indicate the remarkable vascular changes caused by feelings of the mind. Blushing really is a sort of momentary paralysis or suspension of the vaso-motor nerve influence, and the opposite emotion of fear either stimulates the contractors of the tiny capillary vessels or sometimes permits their action by suspending the cerebral influence.

SONG OF THE PATH.

Just until the May snow comes,
Scenting all the sweet spring day,
Let us walk together, dear,
Hand in hand, a little way.

Just until the May snow falls
In the still fields, let us meet;
Let me walk and know you near,
Shadowy through the petals, sweet.

Just until the June flowers blow—
Ah, 'tis such a little while!
Let my heart delight to beat
To the music of your smile.

Till the harvest moon—till then
Let us stay. When poppies die,
Crushed and crimson in the corn,
We can bear to say good-bye.

Love, my love, the year is done,
Wreck of golden hours and days—
Nowhere in the path we took
Is there parting of the ways!

THE MOON AND THE CITY.

I do not wonder, pale nun of the skies,
Above the serried roof-tops looking Down,
That thou in clouds shouldst strive to
veil thine eyes,
And shut from out thy sight the tin-
seled town!

For Crime now creeps from out its gloomy lair,
Seeking, where'er it may, its evil aim.
And down the street and through the crowded square
In her bedizened arrogance walks
Shame!

THE OLD-FASHIONED SWING.

A sensible mother said one day, in discussing the methods she had followed in bringing up her children, that the old-fashioned swing would give a growing boy all the gymnastic exercise he needed. She might have added that it was equally good for small, growing girls.

This device, one of the simplest and best expensive known to man, was almost gone out of fashion for children. Anybody who was brought up in a country village, where the swing was as much a part of the furniture of the yard as was the front door-step, knows what a delight it was to children of all ages and sizes. To one who possesses these memories the modern apology for a swing, with its rattled-round seat and ugly framework, is positively painful. Where is the chance for exercise in that machine? What child old enough to have a mind of its own wants to get into a cradle that has swung back and forth by a nurse?

The old-fashioned swing was a rope hung in a long loop, with a notched board placed in the loop, and the child could sit or stand, according to age and ability. Expert youngsters could "swing standing up" until the rope was nearly horizontal, the weight of the body holding it taut, so that the danger of accidents was practically non-existent. The falls which children have had from swings were, in nine cases out of ten, the result of scuffling or malicious pushing, and not of the amusement itself. It is one of those amusements which look a good deal more dangerous than they are. In acquiring momentum, every muscle is brought into play, and the hands and arms are strengthened gradually, without strain, so that all the benefits of athletic training are secured, together with recreation, and that is always a good point to make with children.

THE CLUB BOAT.

Some of the members of a yacht club near this city which is distinguished by the size of its "rocking chair" fleet, and which may be called "The Never Reef" club, received notices last week that members who did not have boats might cruise on the club's boat this summer. The club has never owned a boat of its own and this notice stirred up much curiosity. Members who had neglected to pay their dues and who were seriously considering never thinking of them again sent their checks to the treasurer. They wanted the privilege of cruising on the club's yacht. One of them met an officer of the club on Saturday and said:

"That idea of a club boat is a great scheme. Have you bought a new boat for the purpose?"

"No, you know the craft well enough. She will be launched next month and you are entitled to your share of her."

"What is she?"

"It's the club's floating debt, and it's been floating so long that you need have no fear of its sinking."

"The man who had just paid his dues is going to console himself by buying a new cushion for his rocking chair."—New York Sun.

THINGS HAVE CHANGED.

"Politics has changed mightily in this country," said the old-time colored voter. "Hit's all diffunt now fum what hit use to be."

"You think so?"

"I knows so! Why, de time was w'en Marse Bill would make up his min' dat he wanted a office, en he'd shoulder his shotgun en walk right in de middle er de crowd, en say:

"'Boys, dat's de office yander, ain't it?"

"'Yes, dey'd make answer, 'dat sho' is it."

"'Well, I'm done 'lected ter dat office, 'ain't it?"

"'En dey'd all speak up, ez one man, 'Cose you is 'lected ter it! Go 'long in dar, en hang yo' hat up, en shet de do!' What you stan'in' roun' heah for, anyhow? Go 'long in, whar yo' b'long!'—Atlanta Constitution.

THE CHEAT.

Love and I threw dice one day;
Love threw cinque and I threw tray;
'Loaded dice!' I straightway cried;
All my protests were denied.
Love, in spite of all I said,
Pocketed the stakes, and fled,
Unless further to complain—
I had lost my heart again.
And the play was false, 'tis true,
Ah, I wonder if he knew
With what intricate device
I myself had caged the dice!

SHIP ALSTERSCHWAN

MAKES LONG VOYAGE FROM GERMAN PORT

Head Winds Held Her Back—Put Back to Hamburg to Change Captains—Cargo of Cement.

With her tall, white masts and black yards the big steamed German ship Alsterschwan, Captain Erdman, presents a striking appearance as she lies at the Irmand wharf, making ready to discharge a large cargo of cement from the "old world."

After a long voyage of 163 days, 120 of which were spent in the Pacific ocean, the handsome windjammer arrived safely in this port yesterday afternoon from Hamburg. She has nearly 11,000 barrels of cement, consigned to order. The Alsterschwan showed up just in time to dispel an anxiety which had commenced to grow in the minds of some of those interested in her safe arrival. She was beginning to be spoken of as far behind time, were responsible for the vessel's long passage from Europe. From Hamburg to Cape Horn the voyage was a fairly good one, forty-three days being consumed. After rounding the Horn the Alsterschwan had little of anything but head winds all the way to port. Several sails were carried away in a gale running the eastern down, but beyond this no accident occurred of any consequence.

Over a week ago the Alsterschwan was off the island of Molokai, attempting to make Honolulu. On Friday last this island was sighted. Even when Honolulu was in sight the good ship found it impossible to get closer than twenty miles. The tug Fearless went out to meet her yesterday morning, after taking the bark Molokai to sea.

Captain Gieritz was in command of the Alsterschwan when she left Hamburg. He became ill when the ship was three days out, however, and it was necessary to put back for medical treatment. This delayed the vessel a week. Captain Erdman succeeded Captain Gieritz.

Though this is the first visit of the Alsterschwan to Honolulu, her present commander has been here several times, having many friends here. The ship carries a crew of twenty-eight men. She is a vessel of 2309 tons and, now that the Drigo has sailed, is easily the finest ship in the harbor.

Below the water line the Alsterschwan is foul with barnacles. This fact alone had a little to do with the vessel's delay toward the end of the voyage, as the barnacles became more numerous. As much as is possible, with the ship in the water, this disadvantage will be remedied while the Alsterschwan is in this port. Captain Erdman expects to be in port about three weeks.

THE HARD TIMES PLEADED IN COURT

ings are so encumbered as to leave but small equity value therein to him. Some time ago he had an opportunity of selling a piece of land, whereby he might have obtained funds to satisfy the debt, but his wife prevented the sale by refusing to release her right of dower. Moreover, the prevailing depression has reduced his business to a point where it ceased to yield him a livelihood, so that he is now employed as a clerk in a grocery store at $38 a month. The citation was returnable this morning, when Judge Robinson put the hearing over until tomorrow.

Judge Robinson allowed no alimony in the divorce suit of Lina Bailey vs. H. S. Bailey, but granted counsel for libelant a fee of $35.

Judge Humphreys approved the accounts of W. O. Smith, auxiliary administrator of the estate of Eva J. Spencer, and granted discharge.

Judge Gear has ordered payment to Frances Della McCarrison a legacy of $100 under the will of the late John McColligan.

Judge Robinson has approved with slight exceptions the report of Charles R. Hemenway, master, on the accounts of B. W. Houghtalling, guardian of George S. Houghtalling, and allowed the master a fee of $50.

HE UNDERSTOOD.

The other day a lady was driving her husband down a narrow country lane, when, on suddenly turning a sharp corner, they encountered a brewer's van. There was no room to pass, and the lady said, very tartly: "You must go back, for I shall not. You ought to have seen us before entering the lane."

"But, my dear," remonstrated her husband mildly, "the man couldn't see round the corner."

"I don't care," was the characteristic reply. "I'll sit here till doomsday before I give way to that man."

The carter, who had overheard the colloquy, here remarked cheerfully: "All right, guv'nor. I'll back out of this," adding contentedly, "I've got such another one at home."—Tit-Bits.

HOW IT HAPPENED.
"It was kinder funny—that is, overlooking the seriousness of it," said the landlord of the Pettyville tavern. "You see, Miss Gabriella Lanks, who has not meant any disrespect to her, you understand—been an old maid so long that it's generally believed to be chronic, approached the railroad crossing, and a brakeman waved a red flag at her to warn her of the danger. She thought he was trying to flirt with her, and advanced toward him with a smile; and a caboose that was backed up struck her good and plenty. Luckily, no bones were broken; and the first thing she said when she recovered consciousness was:

THE MAN WHO LOVES A JOKE.
Though his pedigree be painted
Scuteless of prince or peer,
Though he least no kinship sainted
Breaching stately in his rear,
Though his funds be low and slender,
'Like of clothes and cologne broke,
All my scruples I surrender
To the man who loves a joke.

Mark I not his lore nor living,
Count I not his tongue or creed,
Sin and shadow all forgiving,
Bow I gladly to his need.
Friends and fathers ranged before me,
Clodded head and heart of oak,
I will give them all that bore me,
For one man who loves a joke.

Flaunt his banners fore and after,
Count his battles lost and won,
Kindly connoisseur of laughter,
Just philosopher of fun,
Lighter shall beat the breaker,
Lighter shall beat the human yoke,
On the happy copartaker
With the man who loves a joke.

Brother to the world around him,
Fellow with the clod and clay,
High and low alike shall sound him
For the comfort of their way;
Sharer of life's joy and sorrow,
Bearer of the erring stroke,
Hopeful of the fairer morrow,
Lives the man who loves a joke.

Clearer eyed and broader builded,
Kinder toward his human kind,
Vision keen, not fancy-silded,
Open heart with open mind,
Self-esteeming, yet denying,
Severed from the selfish cloak,
I will spend my life relying
On the man who loves a joke.

A NERVE-RACKING EXPERIENCE.

According to Harper's Weekly, the Marx family, of Brooklyn, has sold the property in Westmoreland County, Va., where Herbert Marx was living when, on December 3d, he had such an astonishing experience with his neighbors. He seems that about 9 o'clock in the evening, as he was sitting alone in one of two large rooms on the lower floor of his house, reading a magazine by the light of a lamp, a pane of glass crashed at the other end of the room, a gun-barrel came through and a voice invited him to throw up his hands. Back of the gun he saw a head, the face hid by a black mask. Marx jumped, called out something dashed for the five-shooter under the pillow of his bed across the room, and retired with it into the back room, where there was no light. As he passed his table another gun-barrel came through another window near it, and another head appeared, the face masked in white. As he dashed into the back room, a third man, gun in hand, came crashing through a window close upon him. Marx knocked his gun up, fired his own pistol, not stopping to raise it. The man fell. Marx made for the door. It burst in, and a fourth man met him. Marx fired again, and the fourth man fell back on the porch. Marx dashed out and made for the gate. The night was dark, and he brought up against the fence so hard that he was thrown back several feet. Right in front of him rose another man with a gun. Marx dodged, and scrambled over the fence. The man followed. Marx fired. The man fell. Marx ran on and hid in the orchard. Presently, getting his breath, he started for his nearest neighbor.

Relating that he had been attacked by burglars, he got two men, lanterns, and a gun, and came back to investigate. They found William Taylor dead by the fence, J. Q. Stiff lying on his back in the house, and William Hefflin on his face by Stiff's side. All the men were familiar acquaintances of Marx, the latter two, especially, being his friends. These two were alive. What could be done for them was done. Doctors were brought, and they were sent presently by boat to a hospital in Washington. Near the house were found two buggies, and the horses hitched and blanketed, and in the buggies were found a gallon of kerosene, some tar, a bag of rags soaked in kerosene, twenty feet of rope, and a long whip. The explanation, since given by Stiff in the hospital, is that Marx had been accused of insulting a girl, and that his young friends undertook to discipline him. Two of them are dead, and a third may get partly well. Two others, Thompson and Douglas, are in urgent request.

Marx appeared before a coroner's jury, and being exonerated, went North to rest his nerves, and is now in Brooklyn. He is described as a studious, mild-mannered young man of twenty-one, who had overtaken his strength in studying for the bar, and went to the farm in Virginia, which his family had long owned, to rest and regain his health.

HIS FAITH.

Passengers in an uptown car one afternoon recently were very much entertained and amused by a discussion of things spiritual by two colored passengers. As the debate waxed warmer, the voices of the debaters grew louder until what was said was plainly audible to all in the car. After each had made a confession of faith and given his views of the means whereby mortal man could gain salvation, one of the pair blurted out, in a tone that implied that all his hope for the next world was embodied in the words:

"Well, sah, I b'lieve dat whar's gwine to be is sholy gwine to be."

"Huh!" granted his companion, contentedly. "Den yo' b'lieves in premeditation."—Baltimore Sun.
