SCARED CHAMELEONS

It is contended that Iaukea, if elected Sheriff, would clean house. IF he will do that, it will not matter to the people of this country how wide his experience has been in respect of party affiliation.—Advertiser Still In Doubt.

(Advertiser, Oct. 11, '06)
 We can have the good laws we make enforced by the police if we secure the election of Brown's opponent (Iaukea). That implies the duty of working, by every legitimate means, for the Democratic nominee for Sheriff.

(Advertiser Editorial Aug. 25, 1904)
 The great question with the Democrats now they have named Iaukea for Congress is whether they can keep him Democratic until the end of the campaign.

He has belonged to all three parties within a year and back of that had a now-you-see-it-now-don't record which would have scared a chameleon.

Queen Emma had the honor, such as it was, of bringing Iaukea into public notice. She made much of the stalwart youth, but at the first good opportunity he deserted her for that of Kalakaua.

The king kept him amused with decorative trifles and Iaukea was fairly loyal to his second benefactor, but when Liliuokalani came to the throne he turned against her and became one of the few natives who supported the P. G.

During that period he went to Washington as an attendant of President Dole, whom he subsequently opposed.

Upon annexation he became an ardent Republican but falling of office he joined the Home Rule party and ran on its county ticket last fall for assessor. Before long he became a marplot in Home Rule councils and then went over to the Democrats.

Where he will go next even he cannot guess but those who know him best put least reliance in his Democratic professions.

(Advertiser Nov. 4, '04)
 "Iaukea is an unstable, vacillating man who has belonged to all three parties in a year and cannot be depended upon to move in any given political direction if the wind changes. He has confessed to having indelible spots on his record. But his most serious fault as a Delegate in Congress would be his blind, unreasoning hatred of white men and white men's measures."

(Advertiser of Sept. 18, '06)
 "Mr. Iaukea has the respect of the community, has filled position of trust in the Government, to the satisfaction of everyone, and has had in the past some very important missions abroad."

(Advertiser Nov. 1, '04)
 "Curtis Iaukea, the Democrat's choice for Delegate to Congress, has changed his party politics so often that he forgets at times on which party's platform he is standing."

(Advertiser Nov. 8, '04)
 "Iaukea began a speech yesterday with 'My Fellow Home Rulers.' The other day it was 'My Fellow Republicans.' Unless Iaukea stops to think he never can tell which particular party he belongs to at that particular time."

Two-Faced Promises

Made By Iaukea
Of Fat Police Jobs
 HOME RULERS OFFERED ONE-THIRD

An offer by Iaukea to give one-third of the appointments in the police force, should he be elected County Sheriff, in exchange for the support of the Home Rule party in the election, is the latest political move in the Shively fight. Other similar promises made of fat jobs in the police department by Iaukea, shows that the much-vaunted cry of the Democrats to the effect that they will, if victorious, place the police station above politics, is merely "hot air," and should be accepted as such.

It was a few days ago that Iaukea sought out Kalaukalanui Sr., the grand old man of the Home Rule party, and made his proposition to him. Iaukea introduced the subject by stating that he was sure of his election. He represented that besides the Democrats, the Civic Federation and a good portion of the white vote would be his share. Nevertheless, he said, he wanted the Home Rule support in order to make absolutely sure. For this support he would give the Home Rulers one-third of the police appointments when he was elected. Kalaukalanui was not very keen on accepting the proposition, political promises being so exceedingly cheap, and as far as can be learned, the offer was not gone through as yet.

Several prominent Democrats are much in favor of this plan, but no decision will be taken before the Democratic County Committee meets next Tuesday evening, when the matter will be discussed.

It further appears that Iaukea, by making still other promises has gotten himself rather in a pickle. It is reported that when Harry Juen secured the support of the Attorney General for the place of Deputy Sheriff on the Democratic ticket, Iaukea was not very much pleased. He did not think that Juen's record was such that his name would exactly strengthen the ticket. He consequently induced Juen to withdraw in favor of Wm. P. Jarrett by offering to give him the office of Assistant Sheriff, when he was elected.

A little later Jack Kalkiela, having failed to secure the nomination for Deputy Sheriff at the hands of both Republicans and Democrats, was offered the nomination for Sheriff by the Home Rulers. The thought of having Jack for a rival disgusted Iaukea very much. He therefore induced Kalkiela to decline to accept the Home Rule offer, by promising him the handy Assistant Deputy Sheriffship.

In the meantime the fact that the Democrats are considering offering Kalaukalanui their endorsement, as he that Iaukea will create another fat political job in the police department probably another bid for Home Rule as to satisfy them both.

WITH ANCIENT HAWAII

Jamie Wilder, head of the entertainment committee of the University Club, treated his fellow-clubmen to a program last evening which is not likely to be duplicated again in these islands. During his search for Hawaiian types for art purposes Mr. Wilder has sought out artists who perform on the most ancient musical instruments known to Hawaiians. There is one man and only one who can play the nose flute of ancient times and the Hawaiian jew-harp. Wilder found this man. He with others performed at the Club last evening and gave demonstrations which the oldest residents present had never witnessed. As an exemplification of ancient Hawaii the program has never been equalled and was of especial historical interest.

Republicans Expect Aala Park Meetings

The Republicans will hold a big meeting tonight at Aala Park, at which the Portuguese band and quintet clubs will be a great attraction. Jos. K. Kanepeu will preside. The speakers will be as follows: John A. Hughes, J. H. S. Kaleo, George A. Davis, S. C. Dwight, W. T. Rawlins, E. K. Liliokalani, A. V. Gear, E. A. C. Long, Chas. Huestace, Jr., E. A. Douthett, W. H. Kahumoku, Henry C. Vido, A. D. Castro, C. B. Matie, E. W. Quinn.

Through some misunderstanding the Home Rulers were overlooked, and the Republicans given the right to use Aala Park for their meeting tonight, although it was the Home Rulers' turn by rights. The Home Rulers felt sore, whereupon the Republican leaders generously offered their opponents to have the band stand and the lower part of the park, as long as they themselves could use the upper part, where they intended to erect a temporary rostrum. The Home Rulers, not to be outdone in generosity, declined to accept the offer, and as a consequence the Republicans will be the sole cock of the walk.

COPTIC BRAVED FURY THROUGH TYPHOON

The terrible typhoon of September 18, which swept the harbor of Hongkong and sent so many other vessels to the bottom or piled them on the shore, tangled masses of wreckage, left the steamer Coptic practically unscathed. As she steamed into the harbor of Honolulu this morning and up to the Hackfeld wharf, she bore but slight marks of the fury of the storm through which she had passed. Her bows were somewhat scarred, and one of her house-pipes had been replaced, but otherwise she was about as she used to be when she came and went so regularly on her runs between America and the Orient.

The storm occurred on September 18, On the 25th the Coptic sailed for America, delayed only two days by the experiences through which she had passed. She carries no passengers, except the 294 Japanese in the steerage. She had been lying in the harbor of Hongkong for a long time, and her officers expected her to remain there for an indefinite period. But the disabling of the Manchuria and Mongolia necessitated putting the Coptic back on her old run. When she was sold her fittings, such as napery, tableware, etc., were taken off and returned to the White Star line, and consequently when she received orders to sail, she was not fitted to carry passengers. It was impossible to get the necessary fittings in Hongkong in sufficient quantities, and so the vessel was unable to carry passengers.

Yet the Coptic experienced all the wild fury of the worst typhoon that has occurred in that part of the world in recent years. Her crew saw other vessels go down within a short distance of her. The saw helpless human beings drown in hundreds. One ship crashed into her, damaging the Coptic's bows lightly, and was later thrown on the shore by the violence of the wind and the lashing waters of the harbor.

The wind howled about her, drowning out the cries of the dying, the appeals of the helpless for help. And through it all the Coptic rode at her moorings, wrenched and shaken, but in safety. While other vessels dragged their anchors and went ashore, she remained where she was.

Is Your Name Written There?

London, Sept. 26.—Arthur Meredith Burke, son of the late Sir Bernard Burke, compiler of "Burke's Peerage," is completing a work which he calls "Prominent Families of the United States of America." One of the specimen pages is devoted to the coat of arms and genealogical history of the Roosevelt family, showing that the earliest recorded ancestor of the President, Charles Marston Van Roosevelt, emigrated from Zealand, in Holland, to the New Netherlands in 1649. The property of this man is shown to have figured prominently in the military and civil history of New York, culminating in the particularly strenuous and brilliant career of Theodore Roosevelt.

the beach at Kowloon. The British destroyer Taku, the river gunboat Moorhen and the gunboat Robin were damaged. Large numbers of steamers and sailing vessels were wrecked or damaged. The German steamer Aprende foundered and was a total wreck, one life being lost. The German steamer Johann was beached and badly damaged. The German steamer Signal was also beached but not seriously injured. The British steamer Fatahn went ashore in Kowloon bay and was badly damaged. Three lives were lost aboard her. The British steamer Montague also went ashore, but was not greatly hurt. The Kwongchow, a British steamer, sank off the Kowloon Godowns and Captain Mead and his crew were drowned. The Stratmore collided with the Quinta and was badly damaged, as was the Prinz Waldemar (German). The American ship H. P. Hitchcock went ashore at Kowloon and had her hull badly damaged and her foremast carried away. The American ship L. F. Chapman lost her main royal mast. The British river steamer Wing Chai went ashore in Kowloon and broke her back, and the Kong San, also a British river steamer, was completely wrecked. The German steamer Emma Layken went ashore but was not seriously damaged. The British Changsha also went ashore, as did the old steamer Rosario and the British steamer Tak Hing. The Kinsban, a fine British river steamer, was wrecked. The British steamer Heungshan went ashore on San Chan Island, with a large rock through her bottom. The Dutch steamer Tjilivong collided with the Emma Layken and the Devawongse and was badly damaged on the port side. The Devawongse had her bows stove in. The American steamer Sorsogon foundered along side the Kowloon docks and caught fire. The master of the Chinese win screw river steamer San Cheung (British) was unable to get up steam in time to help himself and the vessel sank at the dock and broke her back. The wooden screw river steamer Pak Kong went ashore. The Sado Maru was among the vessels which was injured. When the storm passed away the harbor was strewn with wreckage. Practically every sampan, lighter and river boat in the harbor was gone. Most of the larger vessels were either ashore or damaged to a greater or less extent. At 2:30 in the afternoon the British cruiser Terrible came and reported that she had seen no bad weather whatever. The next day she picked up 200 dead bodies. For days the dead were floating on the waters of the harbor, and up to the time the Coptic left it was impossible to more than approximate the loss of life and the damage done by the storm. At Hongkong, out of 28 wharves only three were left standing. The entire fishing fleet was lost outside the harbor. An investigation of the Hongkong observatory is to be made, to endeavor to ascertain why it did not give warning of the approaching typhoon. The Coptic will sail for San Francisco at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

PEOPLE OF KOOLAU GREET CANDIDATES

Talk and Eat Their Way Around Entire Island

County Sheriff Brown returned this morning from Haleiwa, where he left the rest of the touring Republican candidates this morning. He will return to join them this evening.

"We had an excellent trip all the way," said the Sheriff this morning. "We had good crowds everywhere, and I think the political situation in the Koolaus looks far better for the Republican party this year than it has ever been before."

"We left here last Thursday morning and arrived at Kaneohe at 10 o'clock. A meeting was held there with H. W. Lelewi, the Koolau candidate for Representative, presiding. There were about fifty people present, who received the speeches well. At 2 p. m. we arrived at Wailua. We stopped at Captain Parker's house, where a luau had been prepared for us, and made speeches. In the evening we spoke at Waikane, spending the night at Senator McCandless' place."

"Yesterday we started at 8 a. m., arriving at 10 a. m. at Kahana, where we had another luau and made more addresses. At 2 p. m. we spoke at Hauula, and in the evening we arrived at Laie, where a fine luau was prepared for us by Judge Nalua. We spoke at the dancing hall, there being music, singing and dancing between the speeches, and did not wind up before 1 o'clock this morning. This morning we went to Haleiwa, where the rest of the candidates are now. We will speak at Wailua tonight and at Wailane tomorrow."

Sugar Trust Record Is Again Exposed

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 25.—George H. Earle, receiver of the Real Estate Trust Company, announced tonight that he had laid before President Roosevelt the evidence that the sugar trust had violated the Sherman anti-trust law and he had decided to begin suit against the company. This decision was reached after he had made futile efforts to induce the sugar trust to either take up the 49 per cent. of the stock of the Shalckamicon sugar refinery, which Adolph Segal transferred to the trust company, or consent to the opening of the refinery, so the Real Estate Trust Company could realize on the stock.

The James Gay Gordon, who represented the sugar trust, would not consent to either proposition submitted by the receiver. Segal, who was present, said that when he sold 51 per cent. of the stock of the refinery he was given to understand that the purchaser represented the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York and that the business would be continued. Soon after the sale the refinery was closed.

Mr. Earle communicated recently with the Department of Justice concerning the alleged conspiracy of the trust, and Chief Wilkie of the Secret Service came here. The receiver held a long conference today with C. E. Hotchkiss of New York, representing the American Sugar Refining Company.

Timothy Healy And His Ownership Views

Chicago, Sept. 23.—Timothy Michael Healy, M. P., perhaps the most conspicuous of Irish statesmen, is stopping over a few days in Chicago on his way to California, where he will look over some legal matters connected with his office as King's Counsel, the character of which he would not divulge. Incidentally Mr. Healy praised President Roosevelt for his action in coming out for spelling reform. It will benefit children with limited educational possibilities, he said.

Mr. Healy was surprised when he was compelled to pay "two pence ha'penny" for a ride on one block in a street car. He felt sure "such a ride" in Dublin would have cost but a ha'penny.

When Mr. Healy did not hesitate to express his opinion that municipal ownership in Chicago would not be a success if undertaken by the present or any other administration.

"While I am far from posing as an authority on the subject, my observation leads me to believe that municipal ownership in Chicago will not be a success," he said. "It is true that it has been successful in Glasgow, but

PEOPLE OF KOOLAU GREET CANDIDATES

Talk and Eat Their Way Around Entire Island

County Sheriff Brown returned this morning from Haleiwa, where he left the rest of the touring Republican candidates this morning. He will return to join them this evening.

"We had an excellent trip all the way," said the Sheriff this morning. "We had good crowds everywhere, and I think the political situation in the Koolaus looks far better for the Republican party this year than it has ever been before."

"We left here last Thursday morning and arrived at Kaneohe at 10 o'clock. A meeting was held there with H. W. Lelewi, the Koolau candidate for Representative, presiding. There were about fifty people present, who received the speeches well. At 2 p. m. we arrived at Wailua. We stopped at Captain Parker's house, where a luau had been prepared for us, and made speeches. In the evening we spoke at Waikane, spending the night at Senator McCandless' place."

"Yesterday we started at 8 a. m., arriving at 10 a. m. at Kahana, where we had another luau and made more addresses. At 2 p. m. we spoke at Hauula, and in the evening we arrived at Laie, where a fine luau was prepared for us by Judge Nalua. We spoke at the dancing hall, there being music, singing and dancing between the speeches, and did not wind up before 1 o'clock this morning. This morning we went to Haleiwa, where the rest of the candidates are now. We will speak at Wailua tonight and at Wailane tomorrow."

Sugar Trust Record Is Again Exposed

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 25.—George H. Earle, receiver of the Real Estate Trust Company, announced tonight that he had laid before President Roosevelt the evidence that the sugar trust had violated the Sherman anti-trust law and he had decided to begin suit against the company. This decision was reached after he had made futile efforts to induce the sugar trust to either take up the 49 per cent. of the stock of the Shalckamicon sugar refinery, which Adolph Segal transferred to the trust company, or consent to the opening of the refinery, so the Real Estate Trust Company could realize on the stock.

SOPHS, ARRESTED

Chicago, Sept. 25.—Thirty-two sophomores of Armour Institute of Technology were arrested today for having Rev. E. M. Dunne, chancellor of the diocese of Chicago, was the complainant.

A wholesale round-up of students marked the end of the hazing "stunt," the like of which has never been recorded in the annals of the big school. Fifty-five freshmen will have cause forever to remember their experience, covering a night and part of the day.

Freshmen were seen on the streets wearing all colors of the rainbow that can be found in a paint pot. Some of these found their homes last night, and some today, but their friends knew them in their disguise of red, blue, yellow green and black paint. To people who saw them on the streets they were maniacs.

The scene of the hazing was a barn. Three hundred second-year students used the barn as a prison in which they held nearly sixty freshmen captives throughout the night.

Poi Luncheon
Mrs. Eben Low's poi luncheon last Saturday in honor of her niece, Miss Ethel Wilcox, who has lately returned from Europe, was a large and enjoyable affair. The house which the Lows have recently acquired has been completely renovated and is thoroughly comfortable and artistic. The broad lanais and the series of charming rooms were much admired. Mr. Ernest Kaal's admirable orchestra played and sang throughout the feast in their usual brilliant manner. The tables, fern-covered and flow-bedecked, were tempting to look upon. Among the guests were Princess Kawananakoa, Mrs. Harvey Murray, Mrs. Galt, Mrs. McCloud, Mrs. Cunha, Mrs. Alonzo Gattley, Mrs. Gertrude Wilder, Mrs. A. Lewis, Mrs. A. Wilder, Mrs. A. S. Wilcox, Mrs. Holloway, Mrs. Lena Brown, Mrs. Fairchild, Mrs. George Carter, Misses Violet Mako, Morgan, Macfarlane (2), Mutch (2), Magoon, Muriel Campbell, Lorna Hauka, Ethel Bishop, McStocker (2).

Rosebank Luncheon
The dances at the Seaside hotel are just as popular as ever, and always attract crowds of people. The hop for the Wisconsin and transports this week was an unusually gay affair, and there were many little dinners previous to the dance. Mrs. George Fairchild entertains quite often and is never happy unless surrounded by a crowd of congenial young people. With such a coterie of young people as Mrs. Harry Macfarlane, Mrs. Henry Dutton and Mrs. Brooke, and Mrs. Russell to say nothing of Mrs. George Fairchild and her guests, the Seaside is always gay and attractive with pretty faces and smart frocks.

Military Hop
"Rosebank," the home of the Schneefers, was the scene of an elaborate and beautiful luncheon on Thursday given by Mrs. Schaefer. The large table was profusely decorated with the high crimson blossoms which are seen in such lavish profusion in ex-Governor Cleghorn's grounds. Among the guests were Mrs. George Carter, Mrs. Francis Swanzy, Mrs. Andrew Fuller, Mrs. A. J. Campbell, Mrs. George Rodiek, Mrs. J. Dowsett, Mrs. Faxon Bishop, and Mrs. Charles Cooper.

University Smoker
The University Club gave a smoker last night which proved to be a Hawaiian evening devoted to the old musical instruments played by old Hawaiians. Mr. James Wilder was the promoter of this enjoyable affair and the members and their invited guests were thoroughly amused and interested. The noise instrument was most unique and created quite a diversion. Mr. James Wilder is devoted to the Hawaiians and has always been interested in bringing them forward. Sandwiches and liquid refreshment made a pleasant interlude.

Visiting Here
The many friends of Miss Janet McIntyre, formerly of The Glen, will be pleased to learn that she is at present home from Honolulu on a visit after a residence of five years in that distant part of the world. Miss McIntyre, who was well known in postoffice circles, began her career in Innesdille postoffice, under the last Mr. John Paterson. For several years previous to going to Honolulu, she was a member in solo by Miss White, with piano accompaniment by Miss Robinson; and a reading by Miss Paty, both of whom responded to enthusiastic encores; a reading of an "Uncle Remus" story by the Rev. E. B. Turner, and a trio by B. L. Marx, violin, Dr. Carl Ramus, cello, and Mrs. Whitney, piano.

At the close of the program light refreshments were served and an informal social hour spent. During the evening the guests were shown a unique sand picture made by an ingenious Japanese, which showed considerable originality. About three hundred people were there during the evening.

There is not a kinder man toward animals than Mr. Arthur M. Brown. He always does everything in his power to aid the dumb creatures and in the old days of Paia's mule cars he has often kept his dinner waiting at Waikiki to assist some poor animal in distress. Anyone who has had anything to do with Mr. Brown in this connection can but admire him, and toward those interested in the work he is always kindness itself, and personally attends to many matters that he could leave to assistants. Never has he been known

A man with this well known sterling virtue and good heart and with dozens to testify in his behalf, must necessarily have enemies, for nothing seems to arouse animosity so much as superiority, and certainly Mr. Brown scores there.

Mr. and Mrs. George Castle and family expect to sail for the Coast in a few weeks and may tour Europe for a year.

Mr. Harold Castle has been visiting in Denmark and Sweden. He is having an interesting tour and does not expect to return to Honolulu for a year.

Mr. and Mrs. Pike and family, who are domiciled at the Moana hotel, may stay on for several weeks, as they are delighted with the place.

It will soon be the season for bazars and on November 17th the ladies of the Central Congregation will hold a fair at the residence of Mrs. F. J.

Lowrey. There will also be a fair at St. Clement's in November and dolls and fancy work are already being started.

Mrs. Heidt, the sister-in-law of Captain Heidt, has been staying at Camp McKinley. She was before her marriage one of the McKinley girls and a niece of the late President.

Mr. John H. Bliss, who lives at the Moana hotel also had a birthday last week and received congratulatory cables from relatives and friends. Mr. Bliss, although in the eighties, hardly looks fifty, and is as straight as a sapling and can give a dinner which would make a far younger man eminent. He is one of the most popular men in Honolulu.

Mrs. Henry Highton departed in the Ventura for the Coast this week. She will proceed directly to New York and Kentucky in the interest of her patents. Mrs. Highton will join Judge Highton in a few months and go out to Manila.

Miss Josephine Lock's lectures are attracting a great deal of attention. She is an impressive speaker thoroughly at home with her subjects.

Mrs. McClannahan spends nearly all the week-ends at the pretty lagoon at the top of Manoa Valley.

Mrs. James Castle and Mrs. George Castle are spending a few weeks at Lahue.

Son is Cut Off

For Wild Speculation

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 21.—The will of former Mayor Corliss P. Stone, who died a few days ago, worth $750,000, cuts off his son, Corliss L. Stone, with a monthly allowance of $200 for life. His son's wife, from whom he had been divorced, loses a monthly allowance of $150 by re-marrying. She married Claude Meldrum, city passenger agent for the Great Northern, two weeks before Stone died. She was given $2000 outright and offered in the will $150 a month, conditionally upon her re-marrying Stone's son or remaining single. Stone had tried ineffectually ever since the separation to reimburse the two. The widow is given a monthly allowance of $500, and after a number of minor bequests are made, she also gets the remainder of the property. After the death of his widow and son, the Berkshire, a $300,000 property, is to be given to Stone's grandson, a five-year-old boy now in his mother's custody.

In the will, Stone explains that he cuts off his son because he has shown no inclination toward business, but has speculated wildly and would probably dissipate the fortune.

MIND-READING FAKE

New York, Sept. 13.—That telephone and charcoal paper are the simple means used by "The Marvelous Pays" to give a so-called occult performance that has been bewildering New Yorkers all summer at Hammerstein's, was alleged in the Supreme Court today. Two former employees of the Pays quit and at a rival playhouse started to expose the Pays' performance. An injunction suit by the Pays brought all concerned into court. Herbert Lambourne and Louis Garrat, the defendant ex-employees and exposers, told the court all about how Eva Fay, assisted by John Fay, was enabled to answer questions written by the audience. The defendants declared pads were distributed for the audience to use in writing queries. When the sheet was written on it was torn off by the questioner and the pad handed back to the attendant.

The paper was of such a sort that by rubbing charcoal on the next sheet lines of writing would appear. These slips were sent down to a confederate in the basement. He telephoned them to Mrs. Fay, who sat upon the stage. The woman was shrouded with a heavy veil, under which she was able to receive telephone messages undetected.

BECOMES TEST OF UPRIGHT AMERICANISM

It is not unexpected that an effort should be made to quiet the consciences of any doubting members of the Anti-Saloon League by assuring them that political treachery is indeed political "reform" and the principles of civic and party honor which the leading citizens of Hawaii have preached to the Hawaiians are mere trifles of the hour, to be put aside when selfish interest points otherwise.

Every man whose conscience is not absolutely seared with moral indifference or hypocrisy knows that good government cannot be advanced by cutting loose from those anchors of fair and honorable dealing which establish civic as well as personal character. Men who become mentors of the public conscience are certainly not approaching an average ideal if they adopt methods of the political weather-vane corruptionists, who are all things to all men.

Moral weakness oozes from every letter and sentiment of the statement that for any reason "good citizens with moral causes to serve, have come to avoid primaries as things calling for a useless expenditure of breath and force."

If this be true, the good citizen with a moral cause is a traitor to his country—if he be an American. Indeed, what a statement that is to be offered as the excuse or the explanation for the action or lack of action of any man, any American!

Could anything more completely epitomize everything that is opposed to upright, decent Americanism? Is it possible to propose a more cold-blooded overthrow of every principle that has been emblazoned on the tablets of American virtue, honor and dignity, than to suggest that good citizens with a moral cause avoid primaries?

It is as impossible for the honest men of the Anti-Saloon League or any other league of honorable American citizens to subscribe to such a sentiment as the utterance is unworthy a place in the tenets of American faith. Since the campaign against the Republican candidate is based on such a flimsy cause, and supported by such thoroughly un-American appeals, it must indeed be true, as the Bulletin has suggested, that the Anti-Saloon League in calling the voters to ballot for a reform administration could not contemplate casting votes for opponents of the Republican candidates.

FOR CITY IMPROVEMENT

In these days a great deal is said and written on civic improvement. One of the simplest and most easily obtained reforms along this line is neglected to a great extent. There should be an ordinance in every city restricting the building of houses too near the sidewalk on residence streets. The framing and enforcement of such an ordinance a few years ago in certain California towns would have preserved those vistas of lawn and shrubbery which are so beautiful a part of every city. It takes but two or three obtrusive bun-

WHAT ROOSEVELT SAYS OF THE CANDIDATES PROMISING EVERYTHING

President Roosevelt in one of his notable utterances on political activity spoke as follows:

A promise is as binding on the stump as off the stump, and there are two facets to that crystal. In the first place, the man who makes a promise which he does not intend to keep and does not try to keep should rightly be adjudged to have forfeited in some degree what should be every man's most precious possession—his honor. (Applause.) On the other hand, the public that exacts a promise which ought not to be kept, or which cannot be kept, is by just so much forfeiting its right to self-government. (Applause.) There is no surer way of destroying the capacity for self-government in a people than to accustom that people so demanding the impossible or the improper from its public men. No man fit to be a public man will promise either the impossible or the improper; and if the demand is made that he shall do so it means putting a premium upon the unfit in public life. (Great applause.)

There is the same sound reason for distrusting the man who promises too much in public that there is for distrusting the man who promises too much in private business. If you meet a doctor who asserts that he has a specific remedy that will cure all the ills to which human flesh is heir, distrust him. He hasn't got it. If you meet the business man who vociferates that he is always selling everything to you at a loss, and you continue to deal with him, I am glad if you suffer for it. (Applause.) Any man who promises as a result of legislation or administration the millennium is making a promise which he will find difficulty in keeping.

Any man who asserts that by any law it will be possible, out of hand, to make all humanity good and wise, is again promising what he cannot perform.

But important though the law is, though the administration of the law is, we can never escape having to face the fundamental truth that neither begins to be of the decisive importance that the average man's own character which is and must ever be the determining factor in his success or failure in life.

galows set stolidly down in some one's front-yard to utterly spoil the vista of a street for many blocks and render broken and unattractive what might have been a pleasure to look upon.

Honolulu has as yet not suffered to any large extent from this pest of the front-yard dwelling, but the very fact that it has not makes the matter of avoiding it a much simpler problem. Prevention is better than cure any day, and a word to the wise should be sufficient.

This age of hurry and bustle and activity, of chronic congestion in every line of work, is shown as strongly in the matter of building as anywhere else. As land becomes more valuable and "near in" property is at a premium for renting purposes the same spirit which causes the driver of a public bus line to crowd in passengers till everybody steps on somebody else's toes, takes possession of the householder and he immediately erects a bungalow in his back-yard or possibly converts a ready-made barn into one. This he rents for a goodly sum and ought to be satisfied. But no; not content with carrying double, he conceives the idea of using his front lawn as the site of a third cottage and in two months' time the builder's art has planted a third house, its veranda—if isn't big enough to rejoice in the name of lanai—almost flush with the sidewalk.

In coin the owner is $20, a month richer. In beauty the street is more richer. In beauty the street is more richer. In beauty the street is more richer.

Just what the prescribed number of feet should be between sidewalk and house line is a question which would have to be carefully considered by those in a position best to know. That at least twenty feet should be devoted to grass and flowers is a most conservative restriction, while there should be no limit as to the lengthening of space,—the more the better.

If a City Council or Board of Supervisors can regulate the hours at which a merchant may wash his sidewalk and show-windows on a downtown street; if it shall prescribe rules as to the width of the sidewalks and the kind of gutter and curb a man shall have, the size of his sewer-pipes and the kind of plumbing he shall have, surely it must have the right to make a few sensible building restric-

PROMOTING POLITICAL INSTABILITY

But as time went by, the Hawaiians became more stable in their politics and while reasonably independent in local voting, they are not now so likely as they were to be Home Rulers today. Republicans tomorrow and Democrats next week.—Advertiser.

As shining examples of this reformed impression of the Democratic organ let us contemplate: Charles Broad, who appealed to the Republican party a few weeks ago for nomination to the Territorial Senate, and, failing to obtain it, straightway went over to the Democrats and was accepted;

Also Joe Fern, who sat in the Republican nominating convention and with equal suddenness and ease slid into the ranks of Iauka and the Advertiser;

Also M. A. Silva, who was elected to the Republican Territorial Convention by Republicans and, having assisted in the nomination of Delegate Kubio, returned home to accept candidacy for Representative from the Fourth District on the Democratic ticket.

We leave it to the calm deliberation of honest citizens. Can honest government be obtained from the representatives of a party which sanctions thoroughly un-American partisan dishonesty?

The morning paper either lied in 1904 in its comment on the changeability of the head of its County ticket or it is lying now, and is indeed promoting to the best of its ability the very political instability which is generally accepted to be the worst enemy of good government and reform administration in Hawaii.

Roosevelt says "The liar is no whit better than the thief."

MISREPRESENTED ONE, WHY NOT ANOTHER?

The political organ that attacked Iauka in 1904 by every invention of innuendo and ridicule now confesses: "His political opponents, including this paper, searched his official record with microscopes and could find no flaw of dishonesty."

The same paper is now attacking Sheriff Brown with greater enthusiasm of malice. It has not substantiated a single charge against him.

Roosevelt says, "The soul of every scoundrel is gladdened whenever an honest man is assailed, or even when a scoundrel is untruthfully assaulted."

Be he honest man or scoundrel, the organ confesses that it untruthfully assaulted Iauka. The record for an truthful assault goes further than Iauka incidents. It now includes Brown.

Honest citizens do not flock with the scoundrel, for "the liar is no whit better than the thief."

REPUBLICAN SENATORS

Chillingworth, McCandless and Smith, the Republican nominees for the Senate, are all good men who have been prominent in public life. While Mr. Chillingworth has not had the experience of the others in Legislative enactment, he has always shown himself to be a brave, fearless and hard-working official and his friends can be counted by the hundreds both in the Fourth and the Fifth Representative Districts. There is no need to remind the public of the effort that was made nearly two years ago to down Chillingworth, blacken his character and ruin his future. Then he was Deputy Sheriff under Arthur Brown, but nothing was ever proved against either of them and they came out of their trouble with cleaner hands than their traducers.

Chillingworth, as a young Hawaiian, is naturally proud of the nomination he received at the hands of the Republican party and he has since expressed himself as being very glad that the opportunity has been afforded him of showing what he can do. He will be found among the hardest workers in the Senate, interested in whatever legislation he may deem best for the Territory.

Mr. McCandless and Mr. Smith are so well known to the people of Oahu that it is needless to say that they will receive the hearty support of the straight Republican ticket.

With three men like these, following the lead of the Republican Delegate to Congress at the head of the Republican ticket, there should be no talk of scratching, although it is possible that a few of the Magwump soreheads may try to elect a Democratic or Home Rule Senator.

PARDON ME, BUT--

Pardon me, but— If you were going to rent your farm to a man, you would feel surer of getting your money if the man had had some experience in farming, wouldn't you? If you had a job, a steady job, and you knew there was going to be a change of managers in the business that hires you, you would feel safer if you knew that the incoming manager had had experience in managing your line of business, would you not? You'd feel more certain of his running the business successfully, wouldn't you? You'd feel surer of holding your job, wouldn't you? If you are hustling around for a job you would rather get one, if you could, in a business that is run by an experienced manager, wouldn't you? For you'd figure it out that your job would be more likely to pan out, to be a steady one, wouldn't you?

And: When you take a ride on a railroad train, you wouldn't feel particularly comfortable if, just before the train was to start, you saw a young dry goods clerk climb up into the engine cab and begin to yank the lever. Now would you? You would not want to be working at the mouth of a mine and know that a poet was running the hoisting engine, would you? You'd be afraid of your corpus, eh? "That's what."

Now, when it comes to politics don't you think a man ought to try to show just as good sense in voting as he does in his trade or his business. Iauka is long on promises, we can all agree on that; but Brown has got the engineer's license. He's been over the road. But Iauka claims he has an entirely new method, a method of his own for running the Sheriff shop's steam boiler. He's crazy to try his new method—if she busts, she can bust. Brown maintains, though, that you can't monkey with a steam engine. 'Twont do to let the water get too low and you've got to shovel something besides air into the fire-box.

SUFFERED FOR YEARS WITH A PELVIC DISEASES.

Robust Women Who Owe Their Restored Health and Usefulness to Pe-ru-na.

Read the Letters of Gratitude From Women Who Have Been Benefited By Dr. Hartman's Advice.

A Multitude of Such Letters Are Received Every Year.

A TYPICAL LETTER.

Mrs. Carry Peduzzi, Linstad, N. Dak., writes: "I take pleasure in telling you that through your wonderful medicine I am entirely cured of catarrh of the stomach and pelvic organs. I was so run down on account of my illness that I could no longer attend to my household. I could not eat or sleep and had terrible pain in my back. I took Peruna and in five months I was well. I have not felt so well for a long time. I wish everyone who is sick would take Peruna and thus recover their health. I have Peruna in the house continually. I thank you for all that you have done for me."

A Medicine of Merit. Miss Katie A. Washer, 1706 Prentice street, Louisville, Ky., writes: "As my experience has been so favorable from the use of Peruna, I unhesitatingly state that I believe that it is a medicine of unquestioned merit for all the ills that we women suffer from. I find that it strengthens and infuses new life into the system, and whenever I feel run down or over-tired, a few doses of Peruna will strengthen me again."

Found a Friend in Need—Pe-ru-na. Mrs. Florence Aitkens, 1104 Front St., Toledo, Ohio, writes: "Peruna cured me of catarrh of the uterus. I took about four bottles when I noticed an improvement and five bottles cured me. I do not know what I would have been like to-day had I not obtained Peruna, for I was in a terrible state. I had pains all over and was cross and irritable. I was losing hope of ever being well again. I am to-day a well woman after suffering for nine months. I cannot tell you how happy I feel, but you will know."

Peruna is the best medicine on earth. My husband is now taking it and I will always keep Peruna in my house. Peruna is the best friend I ever had. It cured me."

For special directions everyone should read "The Ills of Life," a copy of which surrounds each bottle. Peruna is for sale by the following druggists and will supply the retail trade in Honolulu, Hawaii: Benson, Smith & Co., Hobron Drug Co., Honolulu, Hawaii.

MISS KATIE WASHER, LOUISVILLE, KY.

America is the Land of Nervous Women. The majority of women are nervous because they suffer from some form of pelvic catarrh. The greatest obstacle in the way of recovery is that they do not understand that catarrh is the main source of their illness. Women who are in doubt as to their ailments should write to Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio, who will give their letters prompt attention, without charge.

Miss Anna McGinn, 161 Plain street, Providence, R. I., writes: "I wish to let you know of the good your medicine has done for me. I had what the doctors called heart trouble. I had been doctoring for a year before I tried your Peruna. I got a bottle of your Peruna and after a week's use of it I began to feel better. I could not eat, sleep, or work, but I have at last found that the medicine that will cure me is Peruna."

THE ICEMAN STOPPED

Before Judge De Bell this morning Katie Olson was granted a divorce from William Olson on the grounds of extreme cruelty. The case was rather interesting in some ways as Philip Dodge, testifying for the plaintiff, told of hearing such a rumour in the house of the Olson's that "even the iceman stopped to see what was the matter." Olson put in no testimony in his defense and the plaintiff was allowed the divorce asked with $50 per month for her support.

IN SUPREME COURT

The case of the Wai'alea Agricultural Company vs. The Oahu R. & L. Co., on appeal from the Circuit Court, where Judge Lindsey allowed the plaintiff $4900, was argued this morning before the Supreme Court and submitted. The case is in relation to the rent of certain lands near the Haleiwa Hotel which the railroad company agreed to pay a "minimum fair percentage of the total rental paid for the entire body of land" now under lease to the Wai'alea Company from the Bishop Estate. The two companies were unable to agree on the rental, and neither were agreeable to the decision of Judge Lindsey, so the case has been taken to the higher court for decision.

you can prepare a meal in shorter time than with wood and the food tastes better. Here is a recipe for an oyster pie that can be cooked to a turn on a gas stove:

Oyster Pie:—Line a vegetable dish with mashed potato. Brush it over with the white of an egg, and put it in the oven to brown lightly. Take two dozen oysters, half a pint of milk, one table-spoonful of butter, pepper and salt to taste. Let it come to a boil and thicken with a heaping teaspoonful of flour and put into the space left in the vegetable dish.

SOCCER MEN BUSY

The executive committee of the Hawaiian Association Football League met last evening at the Tule Club. Those present were R. Charlton, E. Fernandez, Major R. C. Van Vliet, Allen Lowrey, H. Bailey, R. Colton, B. F. Beardmore, J. C. McGill, R. Anderson, J. L. Cockburn, J. C. Anderson, C. Mayall and H. Bruns.

The following correspondence relative to the Camp McKinley team was read:

Honolulu, T. H., October 5, 1906.
Major R. C. Van Vliet, Camp McKinley, Waikiki, Honolulu.
Dear Sir:—At a meeting of the Hawaiian Association Football League, held last evening a unanimous opinion was expressed by those present that they would like to see a team entered in the league from Camp McKinley, to be known as the Infantry team.

We have now four teams entered and would like to have yours as the fifth. We feel that you have the material among the men if they are only worked into shape, and members from every club represented last evening expressed a willingness to coach and practice with your players, if desired. It is suggested that the season commence about the end of November, so this would give about two months to get in trim.

We would like to hear from you as soon as possible as to whether you think you can enter a team, as the league, according to its by-laws, must meet and arrange a schedule for the coming season before the 15th inst.

I might say the only necessary item in an entrance fee of $10 to the league from each team, but, as in baseball the clubs taken an equal share in the gate receipts after expenses have been deducted.

Trusting to hear from you favorably in reply, I remain,
Yours very truly,
B. F. BEARDMORE,
Secretary Hawaiian Association Football League.

Camp McKinley,
Honolulu, October 8, 1906.
Mr. R. F. Beardmore, Secretary H. A. F. L., Honolulu.
Dear Sir:—The invitation of the football league for the troops at this post to join the league is accepted with thanks and we will endeavor to learn the game well enough so as not to be a detriment. The Diamond Head team gave us instruction last evening and we will have another lesson tomorrow. If the association furnishes the balls, as I understood you to say, would it be possible to get a practice ball?

Thanking you for your kindness,
Very sincerely,
R. C. VAN VLIET,
Major Tenth Infantry, for Infantry Team.

P. S.—If agreeable to the association our uniform will be light blue shirts, khaki pants.

Following are the officers of the various teams:
Punahou—Captain, R. R. Catton; secretary, A. J. Lowrey.
Males—Captain, H. S. Gray; secretary, H. Bruns.
Diamond Heads—Captain, E. Grune; secretary, S. Chillingworth.
Y. M. C. A.—Captain, R. A. Charlton; secretary, Dr. Hand.

Stout and Lean Sizes Fitted
In handsome suits, priced from $8.50 up to $22.50

Our object in advertising is to keep driving home the fact that there is nothing in the clothing business we are not prepared to meet. Now, take for instance, the subject of "extra sizes" for men who are stout or lean, too short or too tall for regular clothing sizes. It is a bigger subject than you may imagine, or at least we make a deeper study of it than the average retailer. WE EVEN GO TO THE EXTENT OF SENDING OUR BUYER TO THE WHOLESALE MARKET FOR EXTRA SIZES ALONE. The result is that we can at all times fit those men who want a special waist measurement or a special arm length or shortness. This, mind you, is ONLY ONE of the thousand things we look after in order to live up to our reputation as "Dispensers of Suit Satisfaction."

MEN'S NEW FALL CLOTHES

COLLEGE WOMEN FEAST AT SEASIDE

Also Raise Money For College Girls Loan Fund

CLUB'S QUARTERLY MEETING HAPPY SOCIAL AFFAIR

MISS POPE GAVE INTERESTING TALK ON HER TRAVELS—HONOLULU COLLEGE CO-EDS CONGREGATE BY SEA

Three hundred and seventy-five dollars raised in fifteen minutes for the loan fund, was the most important item of business in connection with the quarterly meeting of the College Club, which was held this morning in the Seaside Hotel following the breakfast which was served in the lanai.

The meeting was of unusual importance, as there were several matters of business demanding the attention of the members, and the club had also the pleasure of welcoming six new members.

Socially the affair was most delightful, as all of these quarterly reunions of the college women of the town; and the round table, arranged in the shaded lanai looking out over the sparkling blue water and surrounded by the members in their light summer frocks and dainty hats, made a most attractive picture.

To the artistic ability of Miss Tracy was due the decorations of the table which, though simple, were charmingly arranged. Rising from the center of the table to the ceiling was a large pillar, and this was wreathed with long graceful tendrils of dark-leaved vines, falling in a shower to the white cloth. Large sprays of the fluffy double hibiscus blossoms in azalea pink, were placed about the table while the single blossoms and delicate greenery were scattered over the snowy napery. The fern-embowered lanai with its swinging baskets of canyon ferns, its potted palms and tropical plants, is an ideal setting for such an affair.

After the breakfast a business meeting was held. After the chairman of the loan fund committee had raised the desired amount of $375 for five years, other matters were taken up. It was voted to do away with the constitutional provision of six months' prerequisite residence for new members, so that now women eligible for membership in the club may be admitted at once if the club so desires. It was also voted that an assistant for the secretary be appointed.

The matter of the advisability of sharing with Dr. Scudder the expense of employing a visiting nurse in the interests of tuberculous cases came up for discussion, and it was voted that the Chair appoint a committee to look further into the matter and make decision. At one of the last meetings of the club, addressed by the late Dr. Day he spoke of this matter, which was very near his heart, and from that time the members have been interested in seeing his ideas carried out. It is quite probable that half of the expense of such a nurse will be assumed by the College Club.

Following the business session which included other items of a minor nature, Miss Pope, principal of Kamehameha Girls' School, spoke entertainingly of "The Joys of the Road," which was a short and interesting sketch of her recent month in Italy. She told in a most pleasing manner of some of her novel experiences and by her clever descriptions gave delightful bits of local color.

The new members who were welcomed at the breakfast this morning were Mrs. Scudder of Vancouver; Mrs. Edwards of Missouri; Miss McLeod and Miss Colwell of Acadia; Miss Charlotte Dodge of Smithy Miss Alice Thompson of the University of California; Miss Booter, who was absent to have been present, was detained by illness and will be welcomed at the next meeting, which will take place in January.

About half of the members of the club were present this morning, those seated at the table being: Mesdames W. F. Frear, W. L. Whitney, Scudder, Arthur Alexander, Frank Atherton, S. P. French, Henry N. Carter, A. W. Crockett, MacNeil, A. E. Griffiths, William Forbes, P. L. Weaver, Selma Kinney, A. Lewis, Walter Clark, Edwards, George Waterhouse, Westervelt, Wallace R. Farrington, Richard Ivers; Misses Pope, Thompson, Dodge, Macdonald, Grayden, Ziegler, Yeoh, Alexander, Agnes Alexander, and Dr. Myers.

KUNAU CLUB HOUSE

Work is progressing on the Kunau Boat Club's new boat-house and it is confidently expected that the building will be ready for occupancy within six weeks. Walker is the architect and contractor, and he has embodied many pleasing features in his plans. The building is being erected between the houses of the Myrtle and Healan Clubs and will cost in the neighborhood of $1700.

The upper floor is to be devoted to the needs of reception and tea-room and the floor will be of the kind which makes dancing a delight. Attractive furnishings appropriate to the fashion of the house will be chosen and the members of this "dove" club will have as charming a little dovecote as heart of maid could wish.

Weathered pine with oak finish is to be used in the interior woodwork. Below in the first story will be arranged the dressing-rooms and lockers, bath-rooms with showers, etc., and there will be rooms for three or four boats.

One of the best features is to be the patent hoister for the boats, so that the girls will not need to be dependent upon the stalwart arms of chance masculine friends to assist them in drawing up the hoavy boats. Though, the famous little coxswain of the Myrtle Club, is the club coach and is doing some excellent work. There are now three crews, of which the captains are respectively: Miss Constance Restarick, Miss Hazel Hoffmann and Miss Renée Carton. The club has a membership of about twenty, but with its new and more commodious quarters will doubtless enlarge its membership roll. The completion of the new boat-house will be a great boon to the club, which is being looked forward to by members and friends of the club.

At the recent election of officers the following members took office: President, Miss Violet Damon; vice president, Miss Mary Lawrence; secretary, Miss Blanche Super; treasurer, Miss Hazel Hoffmann; manager, Mrs. Camp.

It is a notable fact that this energetic club of young women are paying for their club house themselves, several hundred dollars of the required amount already having been raised through the means of various entertainments given. A minstrel show, the amateur presentation of "Alabama," a lecture and various other affairs have netted good profits in the past and several things are planned for the coming season.

Catholics Of France And Church Separation

Paris, Sept. 22.—The letter to the Catholics of France which was adopted by the recent council of Bishops after having been signed by all the prelates, was sent to Rome for the approval of the Vatican will be read tomorrow in all pulpits in France. This action has again brought the question of the separation of church and state to the fore.

Cardinal Lecot, a Bishop of Bordeaux, the virtual leader of the church party, questioned as to the attitude the people would take after the reading of the letter, said it would be one of waiting. The priests would not leave the churches until they were requested by the authorities to do so, after which mass would be said in places which already were being arranged, and seminaries likewise would be transferred to other buildings.

"I personally will leave the palace for a house rented by me," said Cardinal Lecot. "We have appealed to the generosity of the faithful and have gathered a large amount of money, which I shall distribute to the neediest of the priests, and we will live as best we can."

"We will be careful to observe all laws except that of separation of church and state. That we cannot accept, because it tramples upon the dignity of the Pope and Bishops, not only of France, but of the whole world. The Pope must look at the question as a whole. He cannot abdicate his authority for a moment when the church is the object of attacks. In other countries, notably Spain, all eyes are watching to see the outcome of the struggle between the Government and the Vatican. It is impossible for Pius X to countenance the act which broke off the relations between France and the Vatican, and since he rejects it, no arrangement of the matter is possible which does not modify its laws."

The Archbishop of Avignon has decided to remove from his palace to the small seminary to which also the students of the larger seminary will be transferred, as to vacate all Government property as soon as possible.

Sonoma Arrives AT LAST From The Orient

The long-awaited O. S. S. steamship Sonoma finally arrived in port at 12 o'clock today, more than two days late, having taken within a few hours of eight days to make the run from San Francisco. Considerable anxiety had been felt concerning her and the relief was in proportion when she was finally reported off Waimanalo bay this morning at 8:30.

The delay was not caused by any breakdown, but by the general condition of the machinery. It seems much in need of a general overhauling. Only one set of boilers was used all the way from San Francisco, the others undergoing a cleaning which the stay of the vessel in San Francisco was not long enough to permit. Unlike the last voyage of the Sonoma and the Ventura, the fire crew this time is a good one and plenty of steam was kept up at all times. The chief engineer says that he has no fault to find with his fire crew. He refuses, however, to say what did delay the ship, declining to discuss the matter at all.

When the vessel will get to Sydney to Honolulu, she will probably lose a day in making the run from San Francisco to a mid-point. If she lost two days good deal more time before she gets to the end of her voyage. The passenger list for Honolulu is a small one, and those for other ports are not very numerous this voyage. The Sonoma will sail for the Colonies at midnight.

The Honolulu Breeding & Maltng Co. held a meeting yesterday afternoon, re-electing its old officers: A. Hoeking, president; Fred Harrison, vice president; and C. G. Bartless, secretary.

The Weekly Edition of the Evening Bulletin gives a complete summary of the news of the day.

THE ANEGAWA ARRIVES IN PORT FROM HILO

The Japanese training ship Anegawa arrived from Hilo and Kahului at 9:30 this morning after an absence from this port of five days. Her officers explain the mystery of her 40-hour voyage from Hilo to Kahului by saying that they spent one day in small gun target practice. It seemed strange that a ship like the Anegawa should take forty hours to make the voyage which is made in much less time by any old craft.

The Anegawa did not go into the harbor at Kahului, but lay outside until last night. Only the captain and one or two of his officers went ashore, where they were tendered a luncheon by the Japanese population of the place. The latter were greatly disappointed at the vessel's not coming in, as extensive preparations had been made for the reception of the ship, and these had for the most part to be given up.

The Anegawa will take on about 800 tons of coal here. Part of this will have to be stored on deck, as her bunker capacity is small. About Wednesday or Thursday she is to call for Sanebo.

NINE MONTHS IN PRISON

C. A. Schmiedt was sentenced to nine months' imprisonment this morning as the result of his conviction of the crime of embezzlement. In pronouncing the sentence Judge Lindsay said:

"I do not think that it will be advisable to say much to you in delivering this sentence. Your own conscience should punish you more than anything that I can say. It is a painful duty for me to inflict any penalty on a man who has a wife and children such as you have and I believe that a short term in prison will have as much effect as a longer one would.

"The lesson which you have already learned should be enough and ought to teach you to keep yourself more under control. For this reason I sentence you to nine months' imprisonment at hard labor."

W. T. RAWLINS Candidate for Representative from Fourth District

W. T. Rawlins, candidate for the House from the Fourth District, is an old timer in Honolulu. He was born in this city in 1877 and obtained his preliminary education in Punahou College from which he graduated in 1898.

He has never before come out as a candidate for the Legislature but has occupied a number of positions which have shown the people of Honolulu that they could trust him in every way.

He is much liked among haoles and Hawaiians and the reason was shown when entirely at his own expense and wish he spent nearly two weeks in court aiding in the defense of George Wainee, who was recently on trial for his life.

JOHN A. HUGHES Candidate for Representative from Fourth District

John A. Hughes, Republican candidate for Representative from the Fourth District, was born in a seaport town on the northeast coast of Ireland 47 years ago.

JOSEPH KALANA Candidate for Representative from Fifth District

Joseph Kalana, candidate for the House from the Fifth District, is a full-blooded Hawaiian who is known to almost everyone in Honolulu and his close personal friends on the other islands will help him if elected on November 6.

He has never before been a candidate for any elective office but has occupied a number of positions of trust, being foreman in the road department for some time.

CHARLES HUSTACE, JR. Candidate for County Supervisor from Honolulu

Chas. Hustace Jr., candidate on the Republican ticket for Supervisor from Honolulu, was born at Makawao, Maui, about 44 years ago, on August 25, 1862.

Mr. Hustace went to work at the age of 14 years and has been at work ever since. He has been connected with the banking business since 1883.

J. K. KALANIANA'OLE Candidate for Delegate to Congress

Jonah Kulo Kalaniana'ole, often referred to as "Prince Cupid," but more popularly known as Kulo, a Hawaiian, is the Republicans' candidate for Hawaii's Delegate to Congress.

Hustace was for six years with T. G. Thrum, the bookman, stationer and publisher. Mr. Hustace has won himself a firm position in the business world through his strict honesty and energy and as Supervisor he will prove an unqualified success.

A. V. GEAR Candidate for County Supervisor from Honolulu

A. V. Gear, Republican candidate for Supervisor from Honolulu on the Republican ticket, is a native son of the Golden West, about 40 years of age. He graduated with honors from the University of California in 1887 and in the year following became vice principal of the High School here in Honolulu, giving instruction in higher mathematics and Latin.

This continued for about one year, when the old Daily Bulletin was incorporated with the Independent. Mr. Gear has continued his affiliations with the Bulletin to this day.

His connections, today, with large business and land interests render him especially convenient with the requirements and conditions of this island.

In 1898 Mr. Gear was elected to the Legislature, on the Reform ticket. He it was who fathered the pure food law and he it was who brought about the legislation for fire stations in Makiki and Kalihi.

S. C. DWIGHT Candidate for County Supervisor from Honolulu

In S. C. Dwight, candidate for Supervisor from the Fifth District is found one of the strongest men on the ticket. He has been in this city for the past 32 years, coming here from his home on Molokai, where he was born 50 years ago.

His entrance into politics occurred in 1903 when he received the nomination for Supervisor on the Republican ticket, while he was in San Francisco on a business trip.

J. W. CATHCART Candidate for Attorney of the County of Oahu

For County Attorney John W. Cathcart is the strongest man who could be found for the position. His previous experience of four years as deputy attorney general of the Territory during the transition period showed to the legal fraternity and the people at large that he was and is a man capable of filling the highest positions of public trust.

F. T. P. WATERHOUSE Candidate for Treasurer of the County of Oahu

Fred. T. P. Waterhouse, the Republican candidate for Treasurer, is a man who is known to everyone in Honolulu and in the Hawaiian Islands. He was born in this city 37 years ago and has lived in the same precinct, the Eleventh of the Fifth, ever since.

C. F. CHILLINGWORTH Candidate for Territorial Senator from Oahu

Charles F. Chillingworth, Republican candidate for the Senate, was born on the island of Hawaii about 32 years ago, and has lived in these islands ever since.

Mr. Chillingworth has had much experience in the police department of this island and he was Deputy Sheriff when A. M. Brown was High Sheriff.

Mr. Chillingworth is now practicing law in this city. He is exceedingly popular with Hawaiians and haoles alike and will undoubtedly be the people's choice for a seat in the Senate.

E. W. QUINN Candidate for Representative from Fourth District

E. W. Quinn is the Republican nominee for Representative from the Fourth District. He was a member of the House during the last Legislature and as such distinguished himself in all important measures.

Mr. Quinn was born in Benicia, California, about 29 years ago. He received his education in the State public schools and in the Lincoln Night School in San Francisco, his thirst for knowledge leading him to study at every opportunity.

It is the earnest determination of Mr. Quinn to work for the advancement of Hawaii along American lines. He heartily favors a re-construction of the liquor laws and he will advocate the increase of funds for the Territorial public schools.

Mr. Quinn advocates additional funds for the improved maintenance of the leper settlement on Molokai and he stands for a simplification of the land laws for the benefit of Hawaiian and other settlers.

OSCAR COX Candidate for Deputy Sheriff of Waialua

Oscar Cox is the Republican nominee for Deputy Sheriff of Waialua. He has shown his ability as an officer of the police department and enjoys well-earned popularity. Born in Waialua, 25 years ago, Oscar Cox attended the public schools and later Kamehameha, graduating from the latter institution.

A. M. BROWN Candidate for Sheriff of Oahu County

Arthur M. Brown, who has so successfully served this County as Sheriff, is the Republican nominee for re-election to that office, having received the nomination of the convention by acclamation. Mr. Brown is a young man, 29 years of age, born in these islands, with all his interests here.

JOHN L. PAOO Candidate for Representative from Fifth District

John L. Paoo, running for the House of Representatives from the Fifth District on the Republican ticket, was born on this island, at Heala, 29 years ago, and was educated at the Royal School. After leaving school he was for several years a teacher.

Mr. Paoo is well and favorably known to the business men of this community. If elected to the Legislature Mr. Paoo will do everything in his power to pass laws for the benefit of the people of this Territory.

H. N. KANIHONUI Candidate for Representative from Fifth District

H. N. Kanihonui, Republican nominee for Representative from the District of Waialua, is 59 years of age and was born on the island of Kauai. For over nine years he has resided in Waialua and he is a property owner there. Well known, well liked, and always the friend of those who need a friend, Mr. Kanihonui is the recipient of that aloha which is earned by the man who never fails to do his best for the general welfare.

S. W. LOGAN Candidate for County Supervisor from Koolau

S. W. Logan, candidate on the Republican ticket for Supervisor from Koolau, has had in charge the road interests of his district for several years. He is a man of acknowledged integrity, great industry and much enthusiasm for all that promises to advance the interests of his district. He is 45 years of age, at that age when experience has seasoned his ideas, and he is such a man as would prove a credit to the Board of Supervisors. He can certainly be depended on to do his best for the general welfare of the County.

REPUBLICANISM

EXACTLY FIFTY YEARS AGO, in 1856, the Republican Party of the United States was formed to prevent the extension of slavery into the Free Labor States. This was not intended to interfere with the slavery system in those States where it existed, the idea being simply to prevent the aggressions of the slavery system which had been growing from the time of the Mexican War and the annexation of Texas. The Republicans were then, and have been ever since, the advocates of industry and intelligence. They were the advocates, and always have been, of higher wages. They knew that it would be useless to attempt any competition with Europe unless means were devised to counterbalance the low wages paid to workmen abroad. This was, and always has been, the principal point of difference between Democrats and Republicans.

For exactly thirty years, since 1876, it has been the Republican Party that has protected these Hawaiian Islands; that has made them productive, progressive and of prominence in the world. On the other hand, what has the Democratic party done for Hawaii? Nothing. What has it ever done for anybody? Nothing beyond occasionally making the people discontented, to their own loss and their own detriment. It has always been upon the tariff policy that the Democrats have, once in a generation, defeated the Republicans. Give the Democrats a chance to apply their free-trade policy to sugar and what will the result be for Hawaii? Stagnation, desolation, starvation, and damnation. Yet we are asked to send, as a Delegate to Washington, the representative of a party whose policy would wipe every Hawaiian industry off the race of the Territory.

There should be no doctrine of caste or classes in an American community. It is unworthy of a free people. Because Lincoln, Grant, Garfield and Logan were poor and of humble surroundings did not prevent them from opening the door of opportunity when they reached it. For this reason the Constitution has declared the ballot of the young man and the ballot of the old man, the ballot of the poor man and the ballot of the rich man to be equal.

But there are certain characteristics that distinguish the Republican party from the Democratic party. The Democrats are pessimistic. They always look on the dark side. Pick up a Democratic platform and you find: "We protest," "We denounce," "We view with alarm." They strive to make the people discontented and fill them with forebodings for the future. But the Republicans see the bright side and look with confidence to the future. Their platform says: "We rejoice," "We congratulate," "We point with pride." They bring a feeling of optimism, while the Democrats carry along their old grudge in their pessimistic pockets. The Republican spirit is one of expansion. It was one of our great Republican boys who set the hen on forty-seven eggs and told his mother that he did so because he "wanted to see the blamed old thing spread herself."

But there are some kickers even in the Republican party in Honolulu. It reminds me sometimes of Brother Smedley's church back East. Brother Brown and Brother Smedley were talking about the churches under their care. Brother Brown said:

"My church has a large membership, but only about one-fourth of them are active members."

Brother Smedley replied:

"My church-members are all active. The last one of them is active. Those who won't do anything else will kick."

Those are the ones who stay away from the meetings. They stay home and kick. Every man has a constitutional right to kick and, when a great principle is involved, political kicking may sometimes be a duty. But when the prosperity and future welfare of this Territory are at stake, as they certainly are today with the possibility of Cuban annexation before us, it is no time for kicking in the Republican ranks. A Republican Delegate is needed at Washington and he should be in a position to say that the whole of his party's ticket was elected with him. He does not want to creep in there and say: "I was the only Republican elected on my ticket, and they only elected me because Hawaii wanted something that the Republicans alone could give them—they wanted protection."

What a reception the Delegate would get in Washington, and what success he would have in securing appropriations for Hawaii!

Yet some of our citizens would bastardize the Republican party in Hawaii.

SCHOOL TEACHERS

Knowing and recognizing the fact that the school teachers of Hawaii are very poorly paid and deserve higher salaries than they have been receiving, the Republican party has pledged itself to increase their pay if placed in control of the Territorial Legislature. This is one of the first things that should be done and the Republicans recognize that fact; consequently every teacher who has a vote will cast it for the straight Republican ticket. The ladies who are educating the youth of Hawaii in our schools are unable to assist as the men can, but they may do much to insure Republican success by quietly talking to and influencing their brothers and friends, who are voters, to support the straight Republican ticket. Many, we believe, are already doing this and there are probably others who will be glad to do so now that the idea has been suggested to them.

The Republican bolter, Silva, who is now a candidate for the Legislature on the Democratic ticket, is a man worthy to follow in the footsteps of Chameleon Curtis. But Silva has undertaken a big contract. He has promised to revise, change, amend, and the Lord knows what else, the land laws of the Territory. After November 6th, when he has time to sit down and think, Silva will discover that the land laws can only be amended by Congress and that his promises to the voters are but another hunk of Democratic pie-crust, intended to be broken. This very faint Silva lining to the Democratic cloud only makes its gloom all the gloomier.

REPUBLICAN REPRESENTATIVES

Among the candidates for the House of Representatives from the Fourth District the names of Quinn, Rawlins, Hughes, Castro, Long and Kalea add a pillar of strength to the straight Republican ticket.

From the Fifth District, too, there has been an equally good selection, with the veteran Kaleiopi as their leader. This round dozen of candidates can be safely trusted to protect the rights of the people and to work for the greatest good to the greatest number, and to see that no mischievous or class legislation is placed upon our statute books.

Sunday Quinn will always be found in the lead to head off a veto should necessity again arise for such action. Under his leadership the straight Republican candidates for the Legislature are bound to give a good account of themselves when called upon by their constituents.

WHAT IS A TORNADO?

What is a tornado? Is the question you will hear Asked by everyone you meet first at this time of year. It seems so awful stupid that I often feel inclined To cyclone with my intellect the whirlwind of their mind.

Now, a full-grown tornado, it is very seldom seen. It leaves its track behind it and you know where it has been. It comes so very sudden, and as quickly doth depart, That its coming and its going are impressed upon your heart.

Now, I've told you all about it; there is nothing more to know Until early in November when Republicans will show A monsoon and a typhoon, with a whirlwind on the side, Gallivanting through the country, tanning Democratic hide.

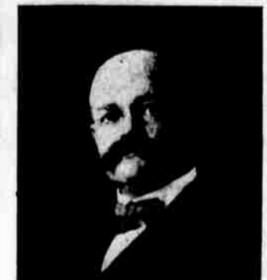

passed successfully the examination for qualifying himself to become a member of the Bar and received his papers to practice in the District Courts and on appeal cases in the Circuit Courts. In 1903 was elected sergeant-at-arms for the then House of Representatives during its regular and extra session. Has been a resident of Honolulu during the past two years.

A. D. CASTRO
Candidate for Representative from Fourth District

A. D. Castro, nominated by the Republican party for Representative from the Fourth District is a prominent young Portuguese. Twenty-five years of age, A. D. Castro has resided in these islands for twenty years. He received his education in Hawaii's public schools. Upon leaving school he entered the service of a commercial house of this city.

Four years ago Mr. Castro was selected by the San Antonio Society to take charge of its affairs as permanent secretary. Since his incumbency of this office the membership and finances of the institution have increased seventy per cent. Mr. Castro is a member of several prominent fraternal organizations here, holding responsible offices. He is the support of a family and a thoroughly dependable citizen, bright, energetic and reliable.

J. W. CATHCART
Candidate for Attorney of the County of Oahu

A Worker or a Wobbler

One of the peculiarities of the present political campaign consists in the formation of the Mugwump party, here, as they have always been elsewhere, the friends and allies of the Democrats. Failing in their duty at the primaries to secure control of the party mechanism, they now bitterly denounce the organization because, forsooth, the candidates nominated are not to their liking or of their own selection.

More than this, and worse than this. Instead of coming out in the open as Independent Republicans, they sneak behind the backs of Kinney, McClaughan & Co., Hobnob with Kidd, and go hand in hand with Charlie McCarthy, just for the sake of "sicking" the Democratic dog onto the Republican candidates whom they don't like. How the lawyers must laugh, how Kidd must cavor, and how Charlie must chortle when he sees the enemies of the rum shop hanging on to his skirts just to vent their petty spite against Brown.

How the "down Brown" cry started, and where it originated, we all know. It failed last year although the Federals tried to physic him to death. So the Mugwumps have put on their war paint, pulled their blankets around them and put strings on the mongrels who do their dirty work. With the true Indian mode of warfare they are afraid to come out in the open. They crawl along with their scalping knives ready to cut the Republican ticket, and smash the Republican party because the voice of the many has ruled in its conventions.

They offer up for sacrifice Mr. Curtis P. Laukea, the most notorious political wobbler in the Territory of Hawaii. A just for office can be the only excuse Mr. Laukea has for being made the tool of the Mugwumps. He is a gentleman in every respect and his character is above reproach. But not even his best Mugwump friends can vouch for his ability to fill the office of Sheriff. Weak, vacillating, wobbling, he lacks every characteristic of ability, strength and firmness that is needed in so important a position as that of Sheriff of the County of Oahu.

Brown, on the other hand, is a worker, and always has been. He is a worker for his party and a worker in his police department. He knows his business from A to Z, and has held his present position for upwards of ten years to the entire satisfaction of the people, of the party he represents, and of those, high in authority who first appointed him and who have never had reason to regret such appointment.

Which do you want, Curtis the Wobbler, or Brown the Worker?

Rally AT AALA PARK TONIGHT

publican ticket for Deputy Sheriff of Waianae, is a resident of that district which is also the place of his birth. He was born 55 years ago. Now he is the owner of considerable real estate at Waianae.

Leleo is very popular on this island, particularly in his district, and it would be strange indeed if he were not elected Waianae's Deputy Sheriff.

W. W. HARRIS
Candidate for Supervisor-at-Large of County of Oahu

A kamaaina of long standing is found in W. W. Harris, the candidate for Supervisor-at-Large on the Republican ticket. He was born in 1872 in Indianapolis but came to this city when only four years old and has remained here ever since. His education was obtained in the public schools of Honolulu, after leaving which he went into the employ of Road Supervisor H. P. Hebbard, then taking a position with the Walker-Rodwood company. He is now with Lowers & Cooke.

Mr. Harris first entered the political game in 1901, when a special election was called on account of the death of Representative Gilliland on the mainland. His opponent was A. Dreier, on the Democratic and Home Rule ticket, but Harris defeated the combination easily. He again was a candidate for the House in 1903 and in 1905, both times leading his ticket in the Fourth District. His record has always been of the very best and he is recognized as one of the strongest men who could be put up by the party. He has the solid backing of every business man in the city.

E. A. C. LONG
Candidate for Representative from Fourth District

In E. A. Long, candidate for Representative from the Fourth District, the younger element which is doing so much to advance the Territory, is shown to its best advantage. Mr. Long was born in this city 29 years ago and attended Punahoa preparatory school, then going to St. Louis College. He took a course in the Oahu College and then left for the East, where he received the degree of Bachelor of Law and Master of Law in Georgetown University.

He returned to this city in 1902 and immediately opened an office of law which he has made his profession most successfully. It was only a few weeks ago that he and his partner were complimented most highly from the bench by Judge De Bolt in open court for the splendid defense which they made in a case and according to the judge saved the neck of a Japanese who was on trial. This is the first time that Mr. Long has been a candidate for office but he has so many friends that he makes an unusually strong candidate.

H. W. LELEWI
Candidate for Representative from Fifth District

H. W. Lelewi is a Republican candidate for the House of Representatives from the Fifth District and, a sound, earnest Republican, he wants to see this island and this Territory go forward with giant strides. Lelewi is possessed of the true American spirit of advancement. He is proud of his beautiful island home, and those who are acquainted with Lelewi are proud of him. Everybody knows and likes Lelewi and Lelewi will be elected.

L. L. McCANDLESS
Candidate for Territorial Senator from Oahu

L. L. McCandless first came to Hawaii in the year 1882, when he, together with his two brothers, entered into the business of artesian well-boring, and many are the wells now supplying water for sugar and rice plantations from Hawaii to Kauai can testify to what Link has done for the enrichment of the soil, producing vast amounts of wealth to the country. He is at present deeply interested in the grazing and rice planting industries, employing a large number of Hawaiians on his many cattle ranches, paying them fair wages.

He is a man of reliance and the hopes of the people may well be dependent on him for the enactment of laws which will promote the future welfare of Hawaii.

In the year 1897 he was elected a member of the House of Representatives from Oahu.

In the year 1902 he was elected Senator from the Island of Oahu. All of his interests are in Hawaii. He is a staunch friend of the Hawaiians, his several homes on the Island of Oahu having open doors always to his Hawaiian friends.

His record as a member of the House of Representatives has been that of a fearless exponent for equal rights and justice to all.

He was one of the foremost champions who fought successfully for County Government.

It is right and proper for the Hawaiians to cast their ballot for Lincoln the artesian well-borer, the open and kind hearted.

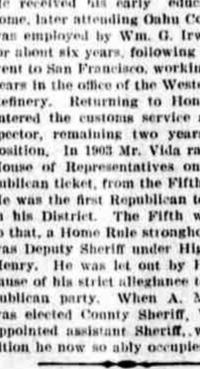

ANDREW COX
Candidate for County Supervisor from Waianae and Waialua

Andrew Cox is the Republican candidate for Supervisor from the District of Waianae and Waialua. He was born in Waialua on August 21, 1868, being 28 years of age at this writing. Educated in the public schools he was for two years a school teacher in Waialua when Hitchcock was Marshal and A. M. Brown was Deputy Sheriff of Waialua, remaining in this position up to the time of the realization of the County system, when he was elected Supervisor from his District, to which office he now seeks re-election. His good work as Supervisor recommends him most strongly to succeed himself.

HENRY C. VIDA
Candidate for Deputy Sheriff of Honolulu

Henry C. Vida, Republican nominee for Deputy Sheriff of the County of Oahu, was born on Maui 35 years ago. He received his early education at home, later attending Oahu College. He was employed by Wm. G. Irwin & Co. for about six years, following which he went to San Francisco, working for two years in the office of the Western Sugar Refinery. Returning to Honolulu, he entered the customs service as an inspector, remaining two years in this position. In 1903 Mr. Vida ran for the House of Representatives on the Republican ticket, from the Fifth District. He was the first Republican to win out in his District. THE ARMY AND NAVY

The Navy Man's Toast: "Here's to our wives and our sweethearts— May they never meet!"

The Army Man's Toast to the Ladies: "Our arms, our defense; Their arms, our recompense; Fall in!"

The Ward's Depart Among the passengers on the Ventura Thursday were George Gray Ward vice president and general manager of the two great cable companies, Mrs. Ward, and their daughter, Mrs. Hough. All were laden with leis and the ladies of the party carried armfuls of roses and violets.

"Sorry to leave? Indeed we are, enthusiastically responded Mr. Ward, "we wish we might have staid longer. It has been delightful."

"Oh, it has all been charming," said Mrs. Ward, "Our friends have done so much for us and every minute has been pleasant. We are sorry we did not know the boat would be two days late for we could have done so much in those two days. We did not dare make any plans for fear the boat would come. But it has all been delightful."

The Ward party has been the recipient of much pleasant social attention since arriving here and friends have rivalled one another in entertaining for them and making plans for their pleasure. Several army and navy people and other friends were at the boat Thursday to bid them bon voyage and they are leaving with the most happy recollections of Honolulu and her people. It is an ill reef that blows no passenger good. If the Mongolia had not met with mishap Honolulu and its charms would have been denied this trip of voyagers.

Bridge Party Quite the largest and most notable affair of the week was the bridge party given by Mr. and Mrs. James Wilder in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dutton of San Francisco on Thursday evening. Thirteen tables occupied the large lann and living room and there was a poker table at one side, for the non-bridge players. Mrs. James Wilder was a charming hostess and looked exceedingly pretty in a chle white evening frock. Mr. James Wilder, who was one of the most noted of the old Harvard set in his college days, was fitting everywhere and kept everybody in the best of humor by his witty sayings. Everybody remarked upon Mrs. Dutton's appearance and she was very handsome in her smart Princess frock. Cut flowers adorned the tables and low shelves, and the lawn extending to the sea attracted many for a tete-a-tete. Chairs and settees were most invitingly placed under the trees and one instinctively gravitated in that direction sooner or later. After the game, salads, sandwiches and coffee occupied the attention of the guests for a pleasant half hour, and the prizes were awarded as follows: Ladies first prize, sandalwood fan and Venetian heart chain, Mrs. Frederic Klamp; consolation prize, Venetian hat pins and veil pins, Mrs. George Carter. Men's first prize, a silver ice pick, Mr. Winifred Babbitt; consolation prize, a set of pencils with Vienna points set in brass, Judge Arthur Wilder. Among those invited were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Macfarlane, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Wilder, Governor and Mrs. George Carter, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Swamy, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Galt, Mr. and Mrs. George Potter, Mr. and Mrs. Ranney Scott, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Tenney, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ivers, Dr. and Mrs. Walter Brinkerhoff, Dr. and Mrs. C. B. THE CLOTHES ONE TRAVELS IN

Some women make a great mistake in their travelling clothes, and heard up all of the older and most unbecoming suits and shiftwaists for boat or train. Now when you come to think of it that isn't fair either to themselves or to the people who are obliged to travel with them, really it isn't. There is just as much reason why a woman should be attractively gowned and well groomed when she travels as when she is at home or visiting, and the sensible woman usually recognizes this fact, and that is why one sees always some attractive looking women on the train. All the others might be, perhaps, if they had stopped to think the matter over.

Have you ever been to the dock or station to meet a guest who was coming from a distance and felt a certain pride in her trim tailored suit, her natty little hat, fresh veil and well fitting gloves, felt buoyancy and freshness about her that made you glad that she had come, glad that your other friends at the dock could see that she was your friend?

Or was the guest you met at the station the other kind, the kind whose rumpled shirt waist and ragging skirt, whose half worn shoes and discouraged looking gloves, whose dusty hat and creased veil made you feel tired and dusty and discouraged too, made you wish, almost, that she had come at night so your other friends would not see her till she had been freshened up a bit.

When bound on a long overland journey isn't it natural to glance at each section as the porter takes you to your seat, and in about five minutes have you not made up your mind what people you care to know and those you are not going to care about? I always do and it very seldom fails to be a rule that works. We all know that outward appearances do not mean everything, but there is a way of wearing even the simplest clothes that tells the chance traveller volumes.

I know a woman who always makes it a point to leave a place and to arrive at her destination in her very best suit when that suit is a good travelling color. You know last impressions and first impressions always mean the most, she says, and I want my friends to remember me looking my best so that they will long for my return. Then I want people at the other end of the line to be glad to see me, especially if they are people who do not know me and have only outward appearances to judge by.

Into this woman's suit case goes a big black silk bag just big enough to hold her coat and soon after getting on the train the coat with its fresh silk lining has the tops of its sleeves stuffed with tissue paper and is wrapped carefully away from dust and cinders. When the woman retires at night her skirt, well brushed and neatly folded, goes into a similar bag and her hat and veil are already hanging in a silk or linen bag where they will remain till she reaches her destination. In her suit case has been placed a short skirt and fresh shirt waists and these she wears on the train. She also takes enough fresh collars so that she can have two a day if need be. On the last day of her trip the suit in which she left home is taken out and again assumed, the fresh veil and traveling hat replace the jaunty cap which has been all sufficient for station stops, and she is ready to greet her friends. It hasn't cost any more to be becomingly frocked and yet what a difference it has made.

I know a girl who evolved a rather good scheme for keeping her shirt waist clean when travelling and it is so simple that most any woman who travels can easily have one. This girl was travelling from St. Louis to Pittsburg in the summer, and any one who has ever done that will need no further comment on the girl's appearance. Soft coal dust had combined with road dust and the result was terrifying. Across the aisle from the girl sat a mother with her baby and the little tot wore a black silk slip over his white frock which protected it effectively from grime and dirt. When the girl made the return trip two months later the last thing she slipped into her suit case was a short kimono of black India silk, with loose sleeves confined at the wrist in a shirtwaist band. This slipped on over a clean white shirt waist, kept the dust away so that when she sought the diner for her meals she did not feel as if she had been doing a stoker's duty, and the other passengers were refreshed by the sight of the spotless waist. People do owe something to the other people who have to look at them and they ought to remember that it is their duty as human beings to the rest of the race to look as well as they possibly can under the circumstances.

Among the other guests were Mrs. Frederic Klamp, Admiral Very and Captain James Carter.

The "Toy Shop" The "Toy Shop" which will be presented in Honolulu this winter by Miss Margaret Martin, the versatile young woman who drilled the children on a previous occasion for "The House that Jack Built," is a much more charming little operetta than was the former one and those who care for amateur work of this kind will have a treat in store. The plot of the piece is a very slender cut, just enough of warp to hold the bright wool thread of song and dance and merry dialogue. An old toy-maker, tired with the day's work, puts by his tools for the night, locks up the door, and in reality charming little maid, turning out the lights, seeks his rest. At the stroke of twelve there is a strange activity among the dolls and gradually they come to life, the stiffness and jerkiness of their motions gradually giving way to the childish grace of real girls and boys and soon a merry flock of children group themselves upon the stage. The little wooden doll from the Noah's Ark of which Captain Woodhead is the leader, are among the quaintest. When given in Southern California one of the sweetest semi-professional singers of the southland took the part of the gallant young captain and in her trim uniform and with her delightful singing delighted all who attended. Then there are the tin soldiers, and the anarchist dolls, who are impersonated by little boys and are very clever. One of the most fetching characters is that of the French doll which, when taken by a pretty and graceful girl who can dance and pose well, as well as sing, makes one of the hits of the piece. The short pink silk princess robe with its fluted skirt and frill of ruffles, the pink poke bonnet and delicate hose and slippers made the handsome young contralto brunette who took the part on several occasions in California, be witching. One of the sweetest hits of the little piece is the song by the Child who sings "I Love My Old Doll Best," and comes in with her arms around a tiny waif in patched and torn clothes. After all the dolls have displayed their charms the Child decides that her old doll is to be queen and when this part is well taken by a tiny maid of five it is irresistible. As morning comes on the hours, one by one creep into the big clock, the last one vanishing just as the old toy-maker returns. He feels an electric thrill in the atmosphere and realizes that something strange and new has taken place during his absence.

The piece gives opportunity for many charming songs and picturesque costumes and is one of the prettiest of the children's operas put on.

Complimentary Dinner Monday evening at the British Consulate Mr. and Mrs. Raymond de B. Lazard entertained at dinner for Mr. and Mrs. George Gray Ward and Mrs. Hough. Among those asked to meet them were Lord and Lady Playfair, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Clive Davies and Admiral Very. Eases in large and small vases in conjunction with maidenhair formed the delicate and beautiful table decoration.

Bon Voyage Mr. and Mrs. George Gray Ward and Mrs. Hough departed on the Ventura. There was a large gathering at the wharf to bid them "bon voyage" and they were covered with leis. Their short visit in Honolulu has been a strenuous one, for nearly every day they were entertained at several houses during the time. Mrs. Hough, as well as Mr. and Mrs. Ward, was greatly liked and they made many warm friends during their brief visit. They will proceed direct to New York.

Governor's Dinner The dinner which Governor and Mrs. George Carter gave for Mr. and Mrs. Du Roi on Wednesday evening was a great success, and like all the Carter dinners, every detail was thoroughly carried out in every respect. La France rose in lavish profusion formed the central decoration for the table, and made a charming spot for the eyes to feast upon. Among the other guests were Mr. and Mrs. George Rodiek, Mr. and Mrs. Pottenbauer, Judge and Mrs. Alexander Lindsay, and Mr. and Mrs. Galt.

Crimson Dinner A pretty dinner was given at Camp McKinley by Major and Mrs. Van Vliet on Saturday evening for Mrs. Smith, aunt of Mrs. Frederic Klamp, Major and Mrs. Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Brooke, Mrs. Klamp, Mr. and Mrs. Tenney Peck and Mr. Epply, U. S. A. Crimson carnations in low silver bowls made a brilliant decoration in conjunction with tall silver candle sticks softly shaded in the same rich color. After dinner Mrs. Tenney Peck delighted the guests with her sweet singing.

Informal At Home Judge and Mrs. Arthur Wilder were at home on Thursday afternoon to about forty of their friends, and a very agreeable afternoon was passed at the hospitable home of the host and hostess. There were really more men than women present, which is a novel sight at a tea in Honolulu and greatly appreciated from the feminine point of view.

The Kunalu Boat Club gave a small and informal reception last Saturday afternoon from 3 to 5, at the home of Miss Hazel Hoffman, the captain of one of its crews, a few of the friends of the club being asked in for the afternoon. After the completion of the new boat house larger affairs will be given at which the members will be able to offer hospitality to more of their friends than is found possible at the homes of its members.

SOCIAL RIPPLES

Miss Brooke Rose, who came down from San Francisco five weeks ago on the Korea, and is teaching on the Robinson plantation on Kauai, is spending a few days with her sister, Miss Anita Rose, who came on the last Siberia, and expects to make Honolulu her home for some time. The arrival in the islands of the second sister was a complete surprise to the first and a very pleasant little reunion has been the result.

The contributors to Judge Dole's portrait, painted by Sandona, and soon to be exhibited in the Promotion Rooms, were Messrs. Charles Cooke, P. C. Jones, H. Baldwin, S. M. Damon, the two Wilcox brothers of Kauai, Francis Gay, Charles R. Bishop, W. R. Castle, and James Castle. The contributors for the frame will be announced later.

Among Mr. Sidney Ballou's dinner guests on Sunday evening, asked to meet Mr. and Mrs. George Gray Ward and Mrs. Hough, were ex-President and Mrs. Sanford B. Dole and Judge and Mrs. Frear. After dinner the guests were taken for a motor spin in "The Silver Spoon."

Mrs. J. O. Carter gave a pretty tea for Mrs. Ward and Mrs. Hough on Tuesday afternoon, and there were about fifteen present. The delicious refreshments which we always get at Mrs. Carter's were much enjoyed.

Mrs. Mary Gunn has been spending the past week with the Faxon Bishops. Her dancing class will begin next week and she has many new dances which are all the rage in New York and abroad to teach her pupils.

Miss Alice Cooper has issued invitations for a poverty party to be given at her home at Manoa a week from tonight, and those who have been asked are anticipating a most delightful and merry evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Scott are domiciled at the Alexander Young for two weeks. They then expect to go to Maui, returning to Honolulu and thence to Mexico.

Captain and Mrs. Armistead, nee Tutt, well known in Honolulu, are passengers in the Ventura. The Armisteads were married in Maulea, Italy.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Watson and family are spending a few days at Aiea.

CONSTRUCTING A COLOSSAL STRUCTURE.

People who are the most familiar with the PALM RESTAURANT form the framework upon which this establishment's growing reputation for supremacy and leadership is being built. It is hoped, with strict attention to even the small details of service and the careful purchasing and cooking of the eatables, like that of the past few months, to construct this reputation into a truthful-built, well-merited, colossal structure that will stand pre-eminent.

It is possible to get a meal here, morning, noon, or evening, equal to that of the best served in the town—and get it for almost half what others charge. A popular feature of our restaurant is the excellent turkey dinner served Sundays.

One of our noteworthy offerings is BUTTERNUT BREAD, made only by us in Honolulu. We have it always fresh from the oven and it is the most nutritious bread made. Although made in the same size loaf and sells for the same price as ordinary bread, it is far superior to the ordinary kind. TRY A LOAF; IT WILL PROVE THIS STATEMENT! We have a big fresh stock of GUNTHER'S World-Famous Candies.

When Sarah Bernhardt Came To Venice

Dressing Room Interview With Great Tragedienne--How She Looked On And Off The Stage

By Grace Hortense Tower.

RIGHT. A stage all dim with twilight darkness; below, a sea of upturned faces stretching away into the distance, a life and simon form all veiled in mystery and shadows; a woman's long white arms filled with pale lilacs and blood red roses; a murmur, and then a Voice speaking through the stillness, a Voice that heit those who heard it in the strange spell of its magic power; a Voice whose music and whose cadences, whose lure and whose tempting could never be forgotten. It was the first scene of "La Sorciere" and already the sorceress had claimed us for her own.

Morning. A long wharf jutting out into the blue sea; a private car drawn up upon the wharf; little knots of people waiting as for one expected. A tall, large woman in fawn color with a face suggesting the make-up room, framed in a fluff of yellow hair; penciled eyebrows, rosy lips, painted cheeks, an air of artificiality.

Such were the two pictures of Sarah Bernhardt the actress and Sarah Bernhardt the woman as I saw her first. I shall not soon forget either, for in the strangeness of paradox the artificial was so real and the real so artificial.

When Sarah Bernhardt went to Venice all Southern California went too. The Venice in question is not the Venice of historic and old world fame, but a promising young seaside resort on the Southern California coast, and the reason of the divine Sarah's going there was the same that caused her to play in tents on the greater part of her American tour--for Sarah's will is not keyed in harmony with that of the theatrical trust and she was not allowed to appear in any of the theatres controlled by the trust. So Sarah went to Venice and there gave her three California performances "La Sorciere," "Camille," and "La Tosca" in an ocean auditorium built at the end of a long mole jutting out into the blue sea. There were no backs and the greatest tragedienne of her time walked from her car to the ship hotel, where she took her meals, and from the ship hotel across the wharf to her dressing room.

Supported on one side by her physician, who always travels with her, and on the other by one of the prominent men of her company and surrounded by several women, she descended the steps of her car and went on her morning walk. She was attired in a morning gown of fawn-colored silk with a long travelling cloak of the same material made with triple capes, and a wide picture hat of mulberry red laden with ostrich plumes. She appeared to be a much larger woman and of much more matronly form than she whom I had seen the night before in spangled gauze and lilacs and I had a distinct feeling of disappointment in the disillusionment. But this was no time for disappointments so I put mine in my pocket and approached the little group, which had already attracted the attention of a number of people upon the wharf.

Might I be accorded the honor of an interview with Madame?

Certainly I might, but not then, not till after the afternoon performance of Camille. Then if I would come I would find Madame in her dressing room awaiting me, and with a pleasant nod and smile she continued on her way.

To me it was highly amusing, to her it must have been infinitely disgusting to see the lengths which the crowd's curiosity reached. No sooner was it noted abroad that Sarah Bernhardt was on the wharf than hundreds of people gathered and attached themselves to her retinue. It was a case of "Wherever thou goest I will go," and go they did. Her first visit was made to the large Japanese abut, where she purchased several handsome silken robes, an old print or two and several necklaces of amber and jade and turquoise. At every counter where she stopped the crowd stopped too and eyes leered at her, through the glass of the show cases. Necks were craned and toes stepped on. Up and down the aisles they went, some ahead of her and some behind, eager to hear every word, watch every gesture of the great actress. She must have been annoyed, but to her credit be it said she did not signify by so much as a quiver of an eyelid that she noticed this curiosity-mad company of followers.

Across the pier from the big Japanese store is the Cabrillo, the hotel built in the form of a ship and it was here that the actress was served to breakfast, the crowd following even into the cafe. But a private dining saloon fortunately opened its doors to her party and the gaping crowd were left to amaze themselves outside. Sand dabs, shrimps, veal cutlets and champagne comprised the menu ordered by the Bernhardt physician, and at its end, Bernhardt caught her first fish in the Pacific, her line being dipped through the port hole of her dining apartment. "Not much luck, the fishes they not come," she said to me in broken English as we laughed together later over her attempt. But at least her wish

"What is your method of studying a new piece?" I asked and through her interpreter she replied:

"I first read it through. I then know instantly whether it is a play I wish to take up or not. Then I study my own part and get the feeling of the character."

"What is your opinion of an actor's playing his own piece, would you advise it?" I inquired.

"Oh, yes, if he can write, his own work is preferable for him. For of course he knows better than any one else just the way he wishes each character portrayed."

"Then you like to play Adrienne, for instance, you feel because it is yours you can give a stronger and more perfect interpretation?"

"Oh, assuredly," Bernhardt answered.

"Supposing," I suggested, "you do not feel up to a certain part, do you not find it difficult to play the piece?"

"I do not feel up to a part I will not play," she answered emphatically. "Yes, she would rather disappoint an audience than do an injustice to herself by doing inferior work in a part, added her interpreter.

"But supposing it were in the middle of a play and you did not feel keen on a certain scene?" I persisted.

"Then I would not play that scene," she answered smiling with a defiant lifting of her chin.

Bernhardt told me that she makes all her own designs for costumes and scenery. She is a writer of ability and a sculptor as well as the most wonderful interpreter of tragedy the world of women has ever known.

"In your writing do you have certain fixed hours for work or must you be under inspiration before you can work?" I asked feeling that I already knew what she would answer, for women of her emotional artistic temperament cannot as a rule be bound by hours.

"Inspiration," she replied quickly. "I must be in the mood for it, then I can write."

"Is this the first time you have ever appeared in a theatre built over the sea?" I asked and she replied smiling. "Yes it is, and it is a very enjoyable experience."

"Have you a favorite role?" I asked.

eagerly wondering which of all the women she portrays she best loves to be. "Non, non, I must have no favorite. It would not do," she answered shaking her head with its mass of fluffy hair. "If I said 'I like best this character,' then the other writers would all be jealous, so I can have no favorite."

"Yes, but in your heart, is there not one you love more than all the rest?" I questioned.

"Oh, perhaps, in my heart," she replied with a faraway look in her shining eyes. "In my heart there is," and she again clasped her white hands to her breast in the vehement way characteristic of her.

Bernhardt has an almost barbaric loquacity for quaint rings and necklaces and many of the former she wore were of turquoise setting reaching to the second joint of her long slim fingers.

As I arose to go I asked if I might purchase a picture of her to use with the interview story. "Non, non, darling, you shall not pay," and speaking a few hasty words in French to her maid she reached to the table for pen and ink. As the maid handed her the photograph, a new one taken in the hall gown she wears in the denunciation scene in "Camille" or "La Dame Aux Camillias" as Bernhardt likes best to call it, she wrote across the picture a little personal message to me and signed her name with the date below, then gave it to me with a charming smile and a squeeze of my hand.

As a woman Bernhardt is not one we can admire. But the artist in the woman is a wonderful being whose powers of endurance, whose resourcefulness and energy are the marvel of all. Whether she sleeps in her basket or in an ordinary bed; whether she eats her salad before her meal or after it; whether she puts the color of her hair from the drug store or the sunshine are matters of little importance as long as she can give us her wonderful interpretations of life. As for the other side of which we do not like to think, we can only feel a keen pain and regret that a woman so great in some ways, should not have been great in those vital ways of life and thinking which after all, are a woman's dearest possessions.

Delightful Reception
Delightfully informal was the reception given Thursday evening at the Methodist parsonage by the members of the church in honor of the arrival of Mrs. Wadman, wife of the pastor, Rev. J. D. Wadman, who recently came down from the States with her husband. The popular pastor was called to the States to officiate at the marriage of his elder daughter, who married a young Virginia, and when he returned brought back Mrs. Wadman and their younger daughter.

The parsonage on Beretania street was prettily decorated for the affair with glossy leaved male which was garlanded gracefully over the doorways and about the picture mouldings, while branches of glowing pomegranates were hung effectively from the chandeliers.

Assisting Rev. and Mrs. Wadman in receiving were: Four other guests of compliment, Mrs. Mack, superintendent of the Susanna Wesley Home; Miss Meyer, general secretary of the Y. W. C. A. and her assistant, Miss Smith; and Mrs. Wadman. Unobtrusive women assisting about the rooms were Mrs. E. Lyle, Miss Lyle, and Mrs. Sheppard.

Mr. Peter Touch made the address of welcome, bespeaking for the church its pleasure in greeting the wife of its pastor and extending to her the welcome and alioha that the people of Honolulu know so well how to give.

Miss Walker, who is among those stranded passengers of the Manchuria who has chosen to stay over and visit the Islands, delighted her hearers with several guitar selections; Mrs. Ewing rendered piano numbers, Miss Waddington sang, while Mrs. Soper played a violin solo.

During the evening light refreshments were served by a party of young girls, who were Misses Chapin, Margaret Wadman and McAllister.

A large number of people called during the hours of reception.

Tete-a-Tete Supper
Among the delightful events of the week was the supper given by Prince and Princess Kawananakoa at their residence on Pensacola street. The guests were seated at little tables on the lawn and the electric lights were shaded in pink. The silver service of King Kalakaua, which was inherited by Prince David, was used, and the tall vases were filled with rose carnations and maidenhair ferns. Tall bamboo shoots and a profusion of greens, the huge lagoon into a bower. Mr. Ernest Kani and his talented musicians played brilliantly throughout the whole evening. The Princess wore a very beautiful pink dinner frock in the Empire style, a darker shade of plum being used with good effect. After dinner the guests played bridge. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Case Deering, Judge and Mrs. Gear, Mrs. Ebbel Low, Mrs. McClannahan, Dr. and Mrs. Harry Murray, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Giechert, Miss Igene Dickson, Mr. Peterson, Mr. George Bliss and Dr. Fitzgerald.

Now that the season is on we all have a chance to observe the new frocks which are being worn by the fortunate ones who can nod away to their wardrobe. With so many brides, and I can think of six right away--in town the tons and dinners fairly teem with new apparel--such pretty frocks, too. One charming girl was the admirer of the admirer the other day at the Charles Wilder's at home, in a delicate combination of old blues and old pinks with a trace of yellow and black. It was vainly becoming to this special girl, who is of a tall and willowy figure, but many would look like frights in such combinations of color. There is a decided change in headgear this season, and an importation of "Gage" hats must be the cause of the breaking out of our prettiest maids and matrons in felts of delicate tones of pink, mauve and blue. Mrs. Harry Macfarlane has been wearing a beautiful hat composed of feathers, tulle and flowers. It has the naughtiest tilt at the side most becoming to the pretty face beneath--but, again, no one else could carry it off like this young matron.

With the passing of October come thoughts of Halloween and the young people of town are busy planning various forms of festivity for this merriest-of-all months. Among the first of the hostesses of the younger set to plan an affair with Halloween as its motif are Miss Katherine Hopper and Miss Florence Hoffman, who will entertain on the evening of October 27 with a progressive Halloween party, a portion of the affair being held at the home of each hostess. Many unique features will be included and an evening of jollity and fun is inevitable.

Miss Jessie Forman expects to sail for the Orient in two weeks.

Dear Sirs:--About two years ago a very fine, well bred mare I own got what seemed to be a bad sprain of the off fore fetlock, which made her very lame; I bled her and let her run out for about four months, when I took her up she was better but still lame and got worse when worked. I then tried another kind of blister with about the same results. Last Spring I bought a bottle of your Save-the-Horse from your agent in this city. After treating the mare with this for about two weeks I gave her some slow driving; she improved very much, and by the time I had used up the bottle I was able to drive her twenty or thirty miles without any apparent bad effects. She now goes sound; I also with the same bottle removed two wind galls from her hind legs. Hoping that this will be of some benefit to you, I am, your truly, MARTIN BURNELL, 401 California St.

Mark Twain Tells How He Wrestled With Roosevelt Spelling

New York, Sept. 19.—Mark Twain was in one of his merriest moods to night when he addressed the banquet of the Associated Press in the Hotel Waldorf Astoria on the wisdom of the simplified form of spelling.

Like a father chiding his erring son the humorist urged the Associated Press to reform its spelling and not make the English language "rough" when it is "tuff" enough already.

Here is what he said:

"I am here to make an appeal to the nations in behalf of the simplified spelling. You speak with a million voices; no one can reach so many races, so many hearts and intellects as you, except Rudyard Kipling, and he cannot do it without your help.

"So I beg you, I beseech you—I implore you to spell them in our simplified forms. Do this daily, constantly, persistently, for three months—only three months—it is all I ask. The infallible result? Victory. Victory all down the line. For by that time all eyes here and above and below will have become adjusted to the change and in love with it, and the present clumsy and ragged forms will be grotesque to the eye and revolting to the soul.

"Then we shall be rid of 'phthisis' and 'psychic' and 'pneumonia' and 'pneumatic' and 'diphtheria' and 'pterycoctyl' and all those other insane words which no man addicted to the simple Christian life can try to spell and not lose some of the bloom of his piety in the demoralizing attempt. Do not doubt it. We are chameleons, and our partialities and prejudices change places with an easy and blessed facility and we are soon wanted to change and be happy in it. We do not regret our old yellow fangs and snags and tusks after we have worn nice fresh uniform store teeth a while.

Got Object Lesson

In 1883, when the simplified spelling movement first tried to make a noise I was indifferent to it; more—I even irreverently scoffed at it. What I needed was an object lesson, you see; it is the only way to teach some persons. Very well; I got it.

"At that time I was scrambling along, earning the family's bread on magazine work at seven cents a word, compound words at single rates, just as it is in the dark present. I was the property of a magazine—a seven-cent slave under a boiler-iron contract.

"One day there came a note from the editor requiring me to write ten pages on this revolting text: 'Considerations concerning the alleged subterranean holophotal extemporaneousness of the conchyliferous orthorhynchens, and rotten to the heart with holophotal subterranean extemporaneousness—God forgive me for that wanton crime; he only lived two hours.'

"Ten pages of that! Each and every word a seventeen-jointed vestibular railroad train. Seven cents a word! I saw starvation staring the family in the face. I went to the editor and took a stenographer along, so as to have the interview down in black and white, for no magazine editor can ever remember any part of a business talk except the part that's got graft in it for him and the magazine.

"I said, 'Read that text, Jackson, and let it go on the record; read it out loud. Read it out.' He read it. 'Considerations concerning the alleged subterranean holophotal extemporaneousness of the conchyliferous orthorhynchens, and rotten to the heart with holophotal subterranean extemporaneousness.'"

"I said, 'You want ten pages of those rambling, great, long summer thunderpeals and you expect to get them at 7 cents a page!'

"He said, 'A word's a word, and 7 cents is the contract; what are you going to do about it?'

"I said, 'Jackson, this is cold blooded oppression. What's an average English word?'

"He said, 'Six letters.'

"I said, '2-1-2 Letters to Word'

"I said, 'Nothing of the kind; that's French and includes the spaces between the words; an average English word is four letters and a half. By hard, honest labor I have dug all the large words out of my vocabulary and shaved it down till the average is three letters and a half. I can put 1200 words on your page, and there's not another man alive that can come within 200 of it.

"My page is worth $84 to me. It takes exactly as long to fill your magazine page with long words as it does with short ones—four hours. Now, then, look at the criminal injustice of this requirement of yours. I am careful. Examine your obscene text—please count the words.'

"He counted and said it was twenty-four. I asked him to count the letters. He made it 203.

"I said, 'Now I hope you will see the whole size of your crime. With my vocabulary I would make sixty words out of those 203 letters, and get $420 for it; whereas, for your lebanum twenty-four I would get only $1.88. I do not wish to work upon this scandalous job by the piece! I want to be hired by the year.'

"He coldly refused. Then I spoke right out and called him an anisodactylous plesiosaurian conchyliferous orthorhynchens, and rotten to the heart with holophotal subterranean extemporaneousness—God forgive me for that wanton crime; he only lived two hours.

LOW ANSWERS IN BEEF TRUST CASE

From that day to this I have been a devoted and hard working member of the heaven-born Institution, the International Association for the Prevention of Cruelty to Authors, and now I am laboring with Carnegie's simplified committee and with my heart in the work."

John S. Low filed an answer Friday afternoon in the suit of the United States vs. the "Beef Trust," in which he claims that he is totally innocent of any wrong doing and that he has wrongfully been brought into the case. While the answer is couched in some what legal verbiage, it was written by Mr. Low, acting as his own attorney and to a certain degree seems to be rather frivolous and hardly the sort of a document which is generally handed in to a Federal Court. It refers to U. S. District Attorney Breckons again and again as "Your Orator," always in quotation marks and from the manner

JEALOUS LOVER'S FATE AT HANAPEPE

Lihue, Kauai, Oct. 8.—The fame of the fair damsel in Hanapepe, while fully appreciated in their own locality, has up to the present not reached the outside world to the extent that their beauty deserves, but an occurrence that took place last Saturday is apt to make a change for the better.

A number of adoring young men went up to serenade a belle of that neighborhood, and tried to express their passion for her through the medium of soft matrasals and tinkling guitars. One after the other the adoring singers floated their burning love on the zephyrs of the night, to the edification of neighbors and the gratification of the drowsy beauty. Thoroughly awakened at last by a burst of specially ingratiating melody, the object of the serenade opened the shutters to give the singers a token that she appreciated, even if she didn't reciprocate their feelings. There she stood, flooded in the silvery light of the moon, revealed in all her peerlessness to the gazing admirers.

She was also revealed to another. He was one of the many who had succumbed to the charms of the fair one, and by the sight of so many rivals to the favors of his adored was seized by the demon of jealousy.

Politics And Leprosy As Practised In Countries Of South America

Washington, Sept. 13.—After displaying rare heroism by the devotion of a life time to a study of leprosy, Eugene H. Plumacher, American Consul at Maracaibo, Venezuela, has decided that the dread malady is not contagious, but is hereditary to a degree not reached in any other disease. He has made an exhaustive report to the State Department telling of his personal attendance upon lepers afflicted in the most revolting form. His report indicates that leprosy is curable, but that there is little hope in Venezuela or other Latin-American leper colonies where nutritious foods and expensive drugs rarely are provided.

Dr. Plumacher was appointed to Maracaibo in 1878, where, in juncture with his duties as consul, he has constantly observed leper cases and their treatment and where he experimented in the small way. In this he has had the benefit of correspondence with the most advanced scientists of the United States and Europe, and it was through his efforts that the "Tut Tun" plant, used in treating the disease, is now planted in all countries which have leper stations.

At the request of these scientists Dr. Plumacher took a large number of photographs of lepers, personally removing the bandages of the afflicted, in order that the best results might be obtained. It was prophesied that he would contract the disease, but this did not happen. He was allowed to visit secretly many lepers in Maracaibo concealed by their families to avoid their being sent in perpetual banishment to the island. Using a secret medicine which he obtained through Dr. S. C. Bothwell, now marshal of the Supreme Court of Porto Rico, he experimented with it on these private cases. The medicine was expensive, but the Board of Directors of the leper colony allowed him a small sum to prepare the medicine and ten lepers were given into his special charge.

These cases embraced both classes of the disease—the dry class, where extremities become deadened so that fingers and toes may be broken off without pain to the patients, and the other class, known as wet or soft leprosy, where every part falls away leaving at last nothing but a trunk of a human being. The money given Dr. Plumacher lasted about two months, after which he carried the cases eight months at his own expense. His reports point out that the treatment proposed of leprosy good results, but that the lack of proper food made absolute cure impossible.

Dr. Plumacher says in his report that as he was successful and full of hope for continued good results, he concluded he would rather drop the society of his friends of the foreign colony than to abandon the lepers. Though he observed minute care to avoid any danger by saying: "What leprosy is we do not yet know, but our people at home should be enlightened through the press that it is cruel to shun and abandon a poor, suffering human creature because he is a 'Lazarus.' Smallpox is much more contagious. I will cheerfully attend to any class of lepers, but smallpox makes me shudder. I would, if allowed the selection, rather storm a battery than go to examine a smallpox patient."

The report gives statistics showing the alarming number of lepers in the republics of Colombia and Venezuela.

ITEMS ABOUT SHIPS AND THE SEA

The shell and boilers of the new Cunard being built at Wallsend, Eng., are said to be constructed of the largest steel plates in the world. They are Silcock steel, weighing ten tons each. The boilers alone will weigh over 1000 tons.

The schooner Carmencita, which achieved a notorious reputation under the command of the "Sea Wolf," Alexander Melson, has been purchased by George W. Beechmaker, and has resumed her original name, Jennie Theim. Beechmaker has granted concessions on the Mexican coast.

The turbine Cunarder Mauritania, sister-ship of the Lusitania, and the White Star liner Adriatic, were recently launched from British yards. The Adriatic is the largest vessel afloat, with the exception of the Cunarders before named.

The Bureau of Navigation reports that 105 sail and steam vessels, of 35,221 gross tons, were built in the United States during August.

The American ship Bangalore, 135 days out from Honolulu, arrived at Philadelphia, Pa., on September 13, after passing probably the largest iceberg ever reported. The berg, according to Captain Blanchard, was nine miles in length and its crest towered 800 feet above the sea.

Mayor Schmitz, of San Francisco, has appointed a committee of one hundred to arrange for the reception of the famous Norwegian navigator and explorer, Captain Roland Amundsen, who recently sailed through the Northwest passage.

Puget Sound pilots have been accustomed to boarding incoming vessels at Fort Townsend, Wash., or Victoria, B. C., are forming an organization that will hereafter look after the piloting of vessels from a point as far out as Cape Flattery. Captain W. Mann, of Seattle, is the prime mover in the enterprise.

The schooner Thomas F. Bayard, for some months past lying idle at Seattle, is under consideration as a purchase for a pilot-boat.
