Hawaii's Young Ladies To Tour Pacific Coast

FIFTY-FIVE COMING

Washington, D. C., March 30.

Atkinson, Honolulu. Estimated thirty-seven men, eighteen ladies. Stay three weeks. McLELLAN.

The above cable was received this morning by secretary Atkinson from Delegate Kubio's private secretary, and settles the question that has been bothering those in charge of arrangements for the entertainment of the Congressional party that is to visit Hawaii in May. There has been considerable guessing as to the ultimate size of the party. Kubio estimated that it would probably number about 100, and other guesses ran as high as 150. A party of 100 to 150 would be much more difficult to handle and take care of than the one which it is now known is coming, which will total only 55, and considerable relief is felt by those having the arrangements in charge.

"Lucky Six" Hawaii Girls To Tour Coast

The Bulletin has conducted many successful voting contests but the latest enterprise that is to be placed in the hands of the people next Monday may well be put down as the biggest and best ever carried out in and for this Territory.

The scheme is to send six young ladies of Hawaii on a tour of the Pacific Coast States under the direction and chaperonage of Mrs. Edith Tozier Weathered, who brought the Oregon Girls to Hawaii, and is such an enthusiast on the islands that she is one of the best promoters Hawaii has.

The first purpose of the Bulletin was to confine the contestants to young ladies of Hawaiian or part Hawaiian parentage. It was immediately asked by prominent Hawaiians, "Why not let in young women who are born in Hawaii?" This represents the true spirit of the people, so the original plan was changed to the extent of making young ladies born in the Islands eligible to become one of the Lucky Six.

The preliminary talk which the first announcement has brought out indicates that the people, through the Bulletin, will send a thoroughly representative group of young women to tour the Coast.

Maui men have several candidates who will be put to the front. Hawaii is certain to have some attractive young ladies whom the people wish to honor, and Kauai is never behind the game, despite the talk of the politicians that the Garden Island County has no use for spreading abroad the good name of the Territory and its people. Kauai has the prettiest Island and may therefore send the prettiest girl.

The trip planned will be a splendid one for any young woman under any circumstances. But with Mrs. Weathered at the head of the party, the journey is certain to be a continuous round of the most pleasant events to be found. Mrs. Weathered is well known and favorably known all along the route. The young women will come in contact with the best people in the social and official life of the cities and towns through which they pass.

This will be the greatest opportunity for giving the people of the Coast a good impression of Hawaii that has ever been presented to the people of the Territory.

There is really nothing more winsome than the attractive young women of Hawaii.

The voting will begin Monday morning. The conditions are published on another page of this issue.

HILO AND HAWAII ALREADY PLANNING FOR VOTING CONTEST

(Special to The Bulletin) HILO, Hawaii, March 28. — The Bulletin's popular Girl Contest is going to be, here, of all other contests the most popular.

Many are like the prominent merchant, who expressed himself during the week, "I took little interest in the automobile contest. This is different. There is a mutual benefit in the outcome for every one. The publicity for Hawaii the party of girls will give along the Coast should be foreseen now by all the merchants and they should take particular care in securing a fine young lady or perhaps two or three to represent us. I have always taken the Bulletin, but count me in on this—doubly so."

This man is no exception. Many others have spoken similarly. The names of several young ladies have already been mentioned and there is certain to be a spirited campaign by the friends of at least four. There will be considerable rivalry on the island of Hawaii and more so in Hilo, from whence the names of two contestants will come.

GRAND JURY MAKES ITS FINAL REPORT

The Grand Jury made its final report this morning to Judge Robinson and was discharged. Its place will be taken by the April term Grand Jury, which will be sworn in next Monday. The judicial body made only a formal report, stating that all its indictments had been previously reported and it had no special report to make. The report was received and the judge discharged the jury with the thanks of the court.

Lot-jumpers at Goldfields, Nev., have had a little heart-to-heart talk with the Chamber of Commerce of that mushroom city. The lot-jumpers were advised to cease operations in their line of business or something would be likely to drop. The warning did not have the desired effect and an emergency meeting of the Chamber of Commerce was held and 200 members marched to the corner under the leadership of Dick Colburn, first vice president. The entire body rushed at the jumpers, threw them into the muddy street, and then proceeded to rid a lot of a cabin which had been erected in disregard of the warnings of the leading men of the town.

The jumpers were lined up and told that if they attempted to repeat operations they would be escorted down the road and shown the trail across the desert. In the attacking force there were ten millionaires, most of whom had suffered from some blackmailing tactics.

Dr. Ramus, in charge of the marine hospital service in this city in the absence of Dr. L. E. Cofer, has received a letter from that gentleman, who at the time of writing was on the Telemontepue Isthmus. The letter was very brief and simply stated that Dr. Cofer expected to be back in Honolulu about April 1. He is looked for on the Alameda, due next Friday.

SENATE vs. CARTER

Be it Enacted by the Legislature of the Territory of Hawaii:

Section 1. From and after the 30th day of June, A. D. 1907, it shall be unlawful for the Auditor to draw any warrant for the payment of any salary to any Territorial official or employee whose resignation as such official or employee, dated or undated, is in the official or personal possession of any heads of Departments of the Territory of Hawaii, or in the official or personal possession of any official of this Territory authorized by law to fill the office covered by such resignation either by nomination or appointment. Provided, however, that nothing in this Act shall be construed to prevent the bona fide resignation of any official or employee of the Territory.

Section 2. All laws and parts of laws in conflict with this Act are hereby repealed.

Section 3. Any person who shall violate the provisions of this Act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon due conviction thereof, shall be fined not more than One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) for each such offense.

Section 4. This Act shall take effect upon the day of its approval.

The above bill is the answer of the Governor, he said, and had stated to him the purpose of the call. After having talked with him for some time, the Governor had stated that he had the undated resignation of all the heads of departments, though he disclaimed knowledge as to the resignations of the deputy tax assessors, and he gave the committee to understand that he would persist in holding them.

Coelho moved to adopt the committee report on the municipal bill, and make amendments on third reading so as to save time. Smith opposed this. The message was too important to be dispensed with but one full reading. There was a strong feeling in the community against the bill. Smith had shared that before he went into the bill, but now the committee, of which he was a member, thought it was for the public good.

Chillingworth said the Senate had a large amount of work before it. There were only seventeen days left before the exercise of the pocket veto would be possible. The municipal bill, the liquor bill and others should be passed before that. He recommended night sessions.

Dowsett suggested to take the municipal bill up in night sessions to be held Monday.

Smith suggested to defer action only until a few bills on the order of the day had been passed. This carried.

Senate Bill 76, providing against the cutting up of any government road without permission from the Supervisors; House Bill 41, relating to the publishing of laws in the newspapers in all the counties; House Bill 52, relating to reserved questions; House Bill 152, relating to coroner's inquests; House Bill 125, providing that no person shall hold more than one appointive or elective office; passed third reading. The latter was amended by inserting the words "salaried, officer."

Senate Bill 16, relating to pounds, passed second reading.

HOUSE CONCLUDES LABORS OF WEEK

Eminent Domain Bill Strongly Opposed By Kaniho

HOUSE 33d Day—Forenoon Session Another bill fixing the wages to be paid laborers on the roads, bridges and other public works of the Territory, or any political subdivision thereof, was introduced by Nakaleka this morning.

This is the second measure of the kind that has been introduced this session. The first bill was introduced by Correa and fixed the wage at $1.50 a day. It was passed by the Legislature but the Governor vetoed it.

Nakaleka's bill differs from Correa's only in that it fixes the wage of laborers at $1.25 instead of $1.50 a day. As the Governor vetoed the first bill on account of the principle involved, that of the Territory dictating to the Counties what they shall do, rather than on account of the amount of the wage, it might not be a far guess to say that the second bill is liable to meet the fate of the first.

Interpreter Kaulukou didn't have any time for dreaming this morning. Clerk Wise was absent and it fell to the lot of the interpreter to fill his place.

WOULD INCREASE POWER OF COUNTY

Opening Up Of Bishop Street Allowed By Smith's Bill

Senate Bill 73, which was reported on favorably this morning by the Judiciary Committee, if it becomes a law, will settle the difficulty which has arisen in reference to the cutting through of Bishop street for the proposed Federal building.

The bill, which was introduced by Senator Smith, gives to the counties the right to condemn land for the opening up of roads. As it stands now, the Superintendent of Public Works must order the land appraised and the road opened.

The report of the committee created a rather lengthy discussion in the House, Rawlins talking in favor of the measure. He suggested that there is no use in having counties if the counties have to appeal to the Superintendent of Public Works every time they want to open up a road, and cannot open it up if he refuses to order it done.

The measure met with decided opposition from some of the members. Kaniho called it a land-grabbing measure, which would work a hardship on the owners of small kuleanas. He couldn't see what moral right the county would have to take away land from an owner who objected, and he objected to giving them the legal right.

Rawlins explained that the measure only extended from the Superintendent of Public Works to the counties the right of eminent domain. The bill passed third reading in the House and goes to the governor for his signature.

The designs of the gold coins of the United States will be changed some time during the coming year. It is so ordered by the President. A celebrated New York artist is now working on plans. The law provides that the designs on coins shall not be changed oftener than once in 25 years, and that on each coin there shall appear an emblem of Liberty, the year of the coinage and the words "E pluribus unum." Beyond being bound by this general description the President may do as he likes. The present gold coins have been in use about 50 years, and the President may therefore change their appearance if he so desires.

The Education Committee reported on House Bill 138, establishing the Hawaiian Library, providing for its care and management, introduced by Hughes, and recommended its passage. The report of the committee was adopted.

The Education Committee reported on Senate Bill 69.

Nakaleka introduced a bill, to designate the pay of laborers engaged in constructing or repairing roads, bridges or streets, water works or other works for the Territory of Ha-waiki or for any political subdivision thereof. Passed first reading. The bill is similar to the one recently voted by the Governor.

EMINENT DOMAIN
The Judiciary Committee reported favorably on Senate Bill 73, extending to the Counties the right of eminent domain.

Mahoe wanted to know from the Judiciary Committee who would pay for the services of the appraisers who place valuation on land. Rawlins replied that in the absence of a specific law, the County is responsible for the payment of the appraisers.
Should the commission lose its case
the plaintiff pays the costs of court.

Mahoe moved to postpone consideration of the bill until Monday, Lost.

Kanilo moved to postpone the bill indefinitely, as certain points which he said are rather doubtful had not been satisfactorily explained by Chairman Rawlins of the Judiciary Committee.

Kanilo thought that this was a land-grabbing law, for the reason that the commissioners could under the authority of the law take away a portion of a man's kuleana. He said that besides the land-grabbing it would cost the poor man considerable to employ lawyers to defend his contention. If he won, so much the better, but if he lost, his land and his pocket were also wrecked.

Kalelopu, in expressing his views, said that the land owner is practically compelled to give up his land at the appraisal by the land appraisers whether he liked it or not.
As a land-owner Kalelopu did not favor the passage of this act and moved to postpone indefinitely.

Rawlins defended his bill again and said that the County should stand on its feet and support itself without the aid of the Territorial government. "We should not allow ourselves," he said, "to stand at the door of the Superintendent of Public Works with the expectation of getting his support. This bill is properly a County matter and should not be indefinitely postponed."

Sheldon seemed to think that the law was a good one and moved to defer action instead of indefinitely postponing the bill.

Kaleo agreed, as usual, with Kan-ilo.

A ROAST FOR HUSTACE Full said that the House should not waste basket a good bill like this.

The Supervisors of the County of Oahu, he said, are spoken of as being unreliable. "The Maui Board of Supervisors is O. K.," said Full,
"but the members of the Oahu County Board of Supervisors have to bear on their shoulders the chairman of that board." Here Full called the attention of the Oahu members to a cartoon of members of Oahu County with C. Hustace comfortably seated in the chair.

BILL PASSES
Kalana said that the bill was not a land-grabbing act, as the final say goes not rest with the Board of Supervisors, but the decision can be appealed to the highest tribunal of the land. He moved, therefore, to act upon the bill right away.

The question of indefinitely postponing the bill was put and lost. Ma-hoe, Kanilo, Keouli and Alawa voted in the affirmative. The motion to pass the bill as amended was put and resulted in its passage.

TAX EXEMPTION
Senate Bill 44, relating to the exemption from taxation of property used in certain industries, came up for third reading, and the bill passed, 23 ayes, 5 noes.

Senate Clerk Savidge informed the House that Senate Bill 30 had passed third reading in that body.

A communication from Henry Smith, clerk of the Judiciary Department, in response to the resolution introduced by Kalelopu relative to the interpreters of the Circuit Court of the First Judicial Circuit, as to their citizenship, was received.

Smith said Hawaiian interpreters Ilopihina and Beckley are United States citizens, while Chang Kim and Geo. Yamada, respectively Chinese and Japanese interpreters, are not. Chang Kim came here when 7 years of age and the latter, Yamada, when but 9 years old.

diciary Committee; House Bill 170, relating to the licensing of trust companies, which was referred to the Judiciary Committee, passed second House Bill 48, relating to nego-

States and Territories, came up for third reading, but was deferred for action until Tuesday.

Rawlins, for the Conference Committee, submitted a report on House Bill 92, relating to private ways and water rights, and recommended that the bill pass with amendments agreed upon by the committee. The report of the committee was adopted.

A communication from Samuel

Relief Society, inviting the members of the House to attend the luncheon to be given at Brewer's wharf tonight at 7:30 o'clock, was read. The communication was placed on file and the Clerk directed to extend the

EASTER SERVICES IN CITY CHURCHES

Easter Sunday will be celebrated by special services in the churches of the city tomorrow, some of them having prepared services and anthems of unusual beauty. At the Central Union the morning service will be at 11 o'clock as usual. Subject—"Beyond the Veil." The choir will sing an anthem, "Awake Up My Glory," by Barnby. Mrs. Mackall will sing a solo, "Christ is Risen," by Coumbs. In the evening there will be an Easter praise service at 7:30. The program is as follows: Organ prelude, "Offertoire, E. Minor"; Deplautoy, by Miss Clarke; Anthem by the choir, "Break Forth into Joy," Barnby; Congregational Hymn, "Ten Thousand Times Ten Thousand"; Anthem, "Christ The Lord is Risen Today," Mozart; prayer; response; offertory anthem, "Christ is Risen," Oush; prayer of consecration; Congregational Hymn, "Jesus Christ is Risen Today," Address: "Is a Man Die Shall He Live Again," Rev. J. Walter Sylvester, D. D. Solo, "The Resurrection," Shelley, Mrs. Mackall; Congregational Hymn, "Hark, Ten Thousand Harps and Voices," Benediction; silent prayer; organ postlude.

The same was true as to the discharge of the cargo of sugar. A marked improvement was seen, however, and Captain Tapley says after two or three ships have discharged and loaded there the work will be done much more speedily.

The Arizona was at Salina Cruz twenty-nine days. The officers report that the Tehuantepec railroad started in handling freight at a lively pace and that as everything about the service was new the troubles which were to be expected were experienced. However, the railroad officials are fast getting things righted and by the Arizona's return there a month or six weeks hence the service will be first class.

The distance by railroad across the Isthmus is 192 miles and should be made in from twelve to eighteen hours. Capt. Tapley reports that the Nebraska was to sail from Salina Cruz today, which should bring her here within seven days.

The Arizona is of 8671 tons gross tonnage, and 5621 net tonnage. She is 474.1 feet in length, 57.2 breadth and 31.5 feet depth. She carries a crew of 44 officers and men. The Arizona was built in 1902 at San Francisco.

The officers of the steamer are: Captain, R. M. Tapley; chief officer, A. B. Gilbert; second officer, S. Jensen; third officer, Nelson Lansing; purser, W. M. Park; chief engineer, H. Tripp; first assistant engineer, Victor Mallin; second assistant, O. Hughes. —San Diego Union.

LOOK OUT FOR THE FIRST OF APRIL

The Honolulu Brewing & Malting Co. have concluded not to put out their Beck Beer until the proper season, April 1. They believe the public will better appreciate it at that time. They will on that date offer to the public the best Beck Beer that has ever been put on this market.

EASTER SERVICES AT THE METHODIST CHURCH

The services at the Methodist Church tomorrow will be commemorative of the Resurrection of Christ. In the morning at 11 o'clock the pastor, Rev. John W. Wadman, will preach on "The Earthquake in the Garden," at the close of which the sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered. The offertory solo, entitled "The Resurrection" (Shelley), will be sung by Mrs. Grace Crockett. A quartet of girls will sing an "Easter Carol." In the evening at 7:30 o'clock Mr. Wadman will preach again. Subject, "Human as an Evergreen." There will be two anthems by the young ladies of the Kaula Home, entitled "O Blessed Day" (Towner) and "Alleluia, the Strife is Over." Mr. B. F. Snyder will sing a solo, "Show Me Thy Way, O Father" (Williams). The public is cordially invited.

NOT TALKING GOVERNORSHIP

The report published in the morning paper that the Planters' Association held a meeting yesterday in the interests of Faxon Bishop's candidacy for Governor was characterized by one connected with the Association as a pure manufacture. The planters had no meeting yesterday. "The article looks to me," said the gentleman, "like something hatched up by a gubernatorial aspirant with a view to knocking Bishop. That's the way it reads. I know the planters have not discussed the Governorship."

Chillingworth, Haysden and others said that it could not be done under the rules, as the bill had passed first reading. Smith and Knudsen fought hard for its return. Makiela objected to this return. He said the House wanted to reduce the pay of the Supervisors, which it had raised to $600, back to $500, or to kill the bill altogether. He claimed that the salaries of Territorial officers, who were white, had been raised, while there was a tendency to cut the salaries of the county officers, which were held by Hawaiians.

LEGISLATIVE NOTES

Representative Pali is the smiling member of the House. He wears a smile that won't come off. No matter what the subject for debate, Pali always sees the humorous side of it and his laugh is infectious. Pali also takes great delight in playing a mild practical joke on his fellow members. Just when some of them have got well warmed up on some subject of debate and the flood of oratory is being whipped into tumultuous billows by a particularly windy speech, Pali will rise with a grin and move the previous question. It never fails. The motion is like a bucket of cold water on the fires of eloquence. They subside at once.

LADY TEACHER BILL.
Senate Bill 80, providing against the employment of married lady teachers, came up for second reading. Smith moved to amend the bill striking out the provision against the married teachers. He thought it was an unwise provision, which would in some cases be very unfair and unjust. The Board was competent. It had done admirable work. Its powers should not be so limited. The bill was evidently aimed at a few individual cases in Honolulu. Dowsett said that the bill might work a hardship in some cases, but it was impossible to legislate for everybody. A married woman's place was in her home, and when she taught school she could not give her attention to her own children. It was a condition which almost tended to discourage race suicide. Teachers all wanted to stay in Honolulu and single women had been discriminated against in this matter. The Hawaiians would not be much affected as most of these gave up teaching when they married. Smith's amendment was lost. He moved to amend the bill so as to make it read: "married woman (who is supported) instead of 'who is entitled to support,' from her husband. Coelho wanted to know if under this amendment the law could not easily be evaded if amended as proposed. Dowsett called attention to the fact that the law applied only to districts where the population was above 15,000. Smith wanted to know how many teachers would be affected. Dowsett said there was not over a dozen. Only one of them was Hawaiian. Smith wanted to know what the bill was passed for. Dowsett said that such amendment would open the door to fraud. A woman could simply go to the Board and say that her husband was not supporting her, and he could agree to say so. Lane moved to defer. Dowsett opposed this. McCarthy said he was a member of the Education Committee and moved to have the bill referred back to it, so that a more full report could be made on it. This was lost. Hewitt introduced a bill, preventing the giving of undated resignations by territorial officials and providing a penalty against this. The bill passed first reading. House Bill 78, legitimizing children in certain cases, was referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Senate Bill 79, relating to trusts, came up for second reading. Smith moved to table it. Hewitt supported him. Lost. Chillingworth moved to amend the bill so as to make it include insurance, exchange, labor and professional services. Smith thought it was dangerous to include the insurance business. Chillingworth said that if it was wrong for merchants to combine, it was wrong for insurance men to combine by means of a board of fire underwriters, and arbitrarily raise or lower the insurance rates in the different parts of the city.

This amendment carried, whereupon further action was deferred on motion by Knudsen. House Bill 26, relating to the removal of county officers; House Bill 117, providing for the disposition of moneys received by the government from the sale of improvements placed upon lands by settlers or homesteaders, passed second reading.

INFLUENCED BY PRESS.
House Bill 136, the salary grab bill, came up for second reading. At the same time a request was read from the House asking that the bill be returned. Coelho said the House wanted to reduce some of the salaries, the press having caused a change of heart. The matter as to whether the bill could be sent back was debated backwards and

WILLIAMS BLOCKED APPROPRIATION FOR HAWAII LIGHTHOUSES

The Congressional Record of March 24 gives the following detail of the discussion on the refunding of money expended on lighthouses by Hawaii.
Mr. McGavin: Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent for the present consideration of the bill H. R. 10193. The Clerk read as follows:
"A bill (H. R. 10193) to refund to the Territory of Hawaii the amount expended in maintaining lighthouse service on its coasts from the time of the organization of the Territory until said lighthouse service was taken over by the Federal Government."
"Be it enacted, etc., That the sum of $23,393.69 be, and the same is hereby appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to be paid to the Territory of Hawaii to reimburse said Territory for money paid, laid out, and expended by said Territory in maintaining lighthouses, bell buoys, and lighthouse service on its coasts from the time said Territory became territory of the United States until said lighthouses, bell buoys, and lighthouse service were transferred to and taken under the management and control of the Lighthouse Board."

The Speaker: Is there objection?
Mr. Williams: Reserving the right to object—
Mr. Livingston: Reserving the right to object, I want to know where that comes from.
Mr. McGavin: Our committee reported the bill here. The bill was originally passed upon by the Committee on Claims, and it was taken up for consideration at the last claims day in the House. It was objected to by my colleague from Illinois (Mr. Mann), who has since looked over the bill, and it has met with his approval, as well as the approval of the Secretary of Commerce and Labor, and also of Commissioner Justice, who went there.

Mr. Livingston: Was it a unanimous report from the Committee on Claims?
Mr. McGavin: Yes, sir.
Mr. Williams: How did this bill get to the Committee on Claims?
Mr. McGavin: By reference of the Speaker. It is a claims bill transferred from the Private Calendar to the House Calendar.

The Speaker: To the Union Calendar.
Mr. Williams: Mr. Speaker, I understand this involves a claim.
Mr. McGavin: A claim for money expended by the Territory of Hawaii from June 14, 1900, until January 1, 1904. While we were collecting the revenues from the island we were compelling them to maintain—

Mr. Payne: It is not a private claim; it is a claim from the Territory of Hawaii and went to the Union Calendar.
Mr. Williams: I understand that. Nor is the captured and abandoned property bill a private claim. It is the claim of a whole community and a whole class more than this one. Now, what is the character of this legislation?
Mr. McGavin: The character of the claim is simply this: That from the time we acquired the Hawaiian Islands until the lighthouses and bell buoys were taken over to the Lighthouse Board the Territory of Hawaii was forced to expend money for the maintenance of their own lighthouses and bell buoys. A report of the itemized accounts was kept that they were compelled to expend, and the names of the parties to whom the money was paid.

Mr. Livingston: Does the gentleman not think that ought to go on one of the appropriation bills?
Mr. McGavin: I think not.
Mr. Livingston: My recollection is that we have considered that matter.

Mr. McGavin: I think not.
Mr. Mann: If the gentleman will yield to me for a moment, I wish to say for the benefit of the gentleman from Mississippi that this bill originally was put on the Private Calendar, but was taken off the Private Calendar and put on the Union Calendar because it was not a private bill. Now, these are the facts in the case. The Government of the United States ordinarily maintains the lighthouses and works in connection with the lighthouses established out of the general Treasury. When we acquired the Hawaiian Islands there was no order issued immediately by the President transferring the lighthouse establishment in the Hawaiian Islands to the Lighthouse Board. The Territorial government continued to maintain the lighthouse establishment in the Hawaiian Islands, paying the expense out of the Territorial Treasury. After that these lighthouses and buoys were turned over to the Lighthouse Board. They are now being maintained out of the general Treasury. Whatever the merits of this proposition, it is simply to repay to the Territorial government the money which ought in the first place to have been paid out of the general Treasury.

Mr. Williams: Mr. Speaker, whatever may be the merits or demerits of this claim, they are no higher than the merits of a trust fund in the United States Treasury, declared by the Supreme Court to be a trust fund and not the property of the United States; and until some consideration can be obtained for the repayment of that trust fund to the people to whom it belongs, when the bills of lading are right there showing from whom the property was taken, I shall object to the consideration of any bill in the form of a claim. I object.

WOULDN'T HAPPEN HERE

Niagara Falls, March 12.—A huge icicle dropped from the cliffs of the Niagara gorge onto a trolley car of the Gorge road this afternoon, as it was passing the Whirlpool rapids. Motorman Evert Ramsdell was killed. Dr. and Mrs. M. H. Nerry of Sioux City, Iowa, and Miss Nerry were struck on the back and badly bruised, and S. S. Lindsay and wife of Pittsburg were injured, the former having his hand smashed. The injured were taken to the Project House.

The date of consolidating the present Asiatic fleet and the Pacific squadron will be probably about the end of this month. While the Pacific Coast fleet will be available for service in any part of the Pacific ocean, important changes of squadrons or divisions from one side of the station to the other will be made only by order of the Navy Department.

It is planned to have fleet drills and exercises, to include battle tactics and competitive target practice for such squadrons as are available.

The department is planning to assemble a fleet of sixteen battleships in the Atlantic fleet in order to carry on tactical exercises, which will afford concentration of ships of identical type and give proper training for the subordinate flag officers and Captains. When the new battleships join the Atlantic fleet next month the older ships will be placed in reserve or put out of commission for repairs or general overhauling.

Naegeli, a German botanist, claims there is no natural death in the plant world, and that trees, living thousands of years, are destroyed at last by some catastrophe or external action. Prof. Loeb agrees that natural death is unproven. The so-called deaths from old age, gentle and painless, prove to be violent, the action of disease microbes being revealed by lesions of the internal organs.

Impressive Ceremony At Tehuantepec Opening

TWENTY AMBASSADORS AMONG THOSE PRESENT

When the big American-Hawaiian steamer Arizona arrived in San Diego harbor yesterday morning at 9:30 it brought the first cargo to this port and had on board the first cargo for northern ports that ever crossed the Isthmus of Tehuantepec on the new railroad which recently was opened for traffic of this sort.

The big steamer was much later than expected, the delay being incident to the handling of freight at both terminals of the Tehuantepec line. This is the first time a cargo has been handled at the terminals of the new line and the workmen and officials, as well as the machinery itself, was new to the system which is being used.

As soon as the workmen are familiar with the system boats will be arriving every fifteen days in San Diego harbor and cargoes will be carried regularly from New York city to this port in twenty-five days or less. A service of nine steamers will be established on the Pacific coast plying from Salina Cruz northward. Seven steamers, the largest of the line, will be used, it is expected, on the Atlantic coast between Coahuacalcoos and New York city.

Captain R. M. Tapley is in command of the Arizona, which also has the distinction of being the first steamer to bring a cargo to Salina Cruz for shipment to the Atlantic coast. The Arizona will be in port three days, after which the trip northward to San Francisco, her next stop, and Honolulu will be commenced. The ceremonies attending the un-

SATURDAY, MARCH 30, 1907

Head supports the Primary law. Republican legislators are pledged to support it.

No one has arisen to defend the Senate School Renting appropriation. It is indefensible.

Washington, D. C., with March temperature of 92 degrees, has cause to wonder whether Theodore First is about to break out.

Evidently someone is hot-foot for the Governorship and has started a campaign of knocking every head that shows above the horizon.

After all, the Congressional party will not be so large that Hawaii cannot give each and every one a good time from the day of arrival in the islands.

Having checked the "salary-grab bill" the House has now the responsibility of heading off the Public School Renting bill just passed by the Senate.

Honolulu must be in first-class condition, judging from the report of the latest Grand Jury. Only an elections approach do the people appear to become thoroughly bad.

The undated-resignation policy is not popular among people who assume that the appointment of a man to public office indicates a full measure of confidence in his ability and good intention.

Hawaii ought not to call on Captain Macfarlane to again do the Columbus act in the La Paloma. Give him a yacht that is safe as well as speedy and the cap will come to Honolulu in 1908.

Hilo thinks someone swiped the Juan supplies after the Los Angeles visitors got through. Possibly the committee has not properly figured on the amount the visitors stowed away, despite the food was something quite new.

Hold the Territorial salary schedule down to reasonable figures. There is no occasion for maintaining the expensive Territorial machinery when County government has been framed to assume much of the work and responsibility.

A rule against married teachers can be made of benefit to the public schools if framed to operate with some discretion. A hard-and-fast rule put in force at the present time would work a hardship and rob schools of some of the best teachers.

Hilo asked Alexander Young to open his hotel because there is money in it. Young recommended the opportunity to the kind attention of Hilo if his business men do not accept the suggestion and open the hotel.

Every Republican member of the Legislature solemnly pledged himself

An extensive collection of the public school buildings in accordance with the schedule of the Department of Public Instruction. The schedule adopted by the Senate was a violation of public law and puts the hearing public schools completely at the mercy of cheap, untrained teachers and the private schools.

REFORMATION AND IMMIGRATION.

Reformation of methods in dealing with Portuguese labor now in this Territory is to be commended.

This reform cannot be brought about in a day nor possibly in a year.

Assuming that for unexpected reasons the reformation is not as successful as anticipated, what anchor to windward has this Territory?

During the period of the reformatory struggle, the European immigration work is abandoned?

No sooner is the proposal to pay Portuguese higher wages made than a Japanese agent begins to make threats. To be sure, it is irresponsible and thoroughly antagonistic to American interests in Hawaii, but it nevertheless is holding to educate a portion of the Japanese residents. It bespeaks the program of the agitator, and as an agitator and promoter of un-American interests, is to be reformed with.

What is to be done if the reformation is not suited to each and every Portuguese, and what if it should be found, after the Legislature is adjourned and all bridges burned, that it is not wages but the plantation store which requires the greatest reformation, and must be reformed in order to "hold" the Portuguese?

Where will the American interests and the laboring interests find themselves? More completely and absolutely in the hands of the Japanese?

It must be accepted that if money is to be expended for the improvement of conditions among white laborers already here, a smaller sum will be available for immigration purposes.

It will be suitable, however, to put all the Americanization eggs in one basket. There must be more than one line of effort, if our good people expect to avoid the course of a squelched "crack-up" a year.

Governor Carter has made the suggestion that it would be better to call an extra session to pass immigration legislation. An extra session of the Legislature is mighty expensive, or at least has always been so considered heretofore.

There is no good reason for abandoning the immigration work when the abandonment promises to bottle up the Territory and allow Hawaii but one source of labor supply.

There is no better time for legislative action than during the present session.

YACHT FOR HAWAII.

Hawaii should be represented in the second Trans-Pacific yacht race—assuming, of course, that the people of this city intend to keep in the foreground of progress in the Pacific.

Just how this yacht should be secured is a matter on which an iron-clad proposition cannot be immediately laid down. But the scheme outlined by Mr. McInerney when interviewed by the Bulletin furnishes an excellent basis on which to start.

The first yacht race was a paying investment for the people of Honolulu and brought more mainland people to a knowledge of Hawaii. Having inaugurated the race, our people would make a fatal error if they drop out of the second race because of alleged lack of funds to provide a yacht. That would not be in keeping with the progressive spirit of Hawaii.

There ought to be enough money in this city and enough supporters of good sport—and good business as well—to make possible the formation of a syndicate to purchase a yacht and sail it under the flag of the Hawaii Yacht Club.

Six men contributing a thousand dollars each or twelve putting in five hundred each could carry out the plan proposed by Mr. McInerney. Men with the five hundred or the thousand have spent much more on projects with profitable returns less certain.

Is there such a thing as natural death? The idea that there is no natural death is receiving marked and studied attention from learned biologists throughout the Old World. Among those standing high in the study of "life," the theory is brought forward that all death comes by accident.

LEGISLATIVE NOTES

Kalelopa got off on the wrong foot the other day on the salary grab bill, but he appears to have returned to the fold. As soon as he became convinced that the bill was a grab, he seconded Lone's motion to reconsider. Kalelopa usually votes right and does what he can to carry out the party pledges.

Representative Sheldon is the champion introducer of bills. He averages two or three a day. Of course, they are not all his own bills. He is so complacent that everybody who is anxious to get a measure before the Legislature passes it along to Sheldon, who promptly places it before the House. But no matter where a bill comes from, if he introduces it, Sheldon always champions it warmly when it comes up for discussion.

There are now 46 House Bills in the hands of the Senate, while only 9 Senate Bills remain unacted upon by the House. Some of the House measures have been in the Senate for more than two weeks. Some of the members of the lower body whose bills appear to have been lost above stairs are growling over it and asking why.

So great has been the influx of Japanese through Manzanillo, Mexico, that hundreds have stopped in El Paso, readily securing employment as house servants, displacing Mexican help. The result is that the Mexican authorities are taking cognizance of the matter and propose action looking to the abatement of the Japanese immigration unless the new amendment to the United States immigration laws brings relief. An immigration inspector stated recently that every vessel from the Continent and the Hawaiian Islands arriving at Manzanillo, Mexico, brought from 500 to 1700 Japanese.

A letter recently received from Mr. Leffingwell, who is one of the leaders of the Mikkelson-Leffingwell polar expedition, says that the party's schooner, the Duchess of Bedford, is in winter quarters at Flaxman Island, about 200 miles west of Herschel Island.

WHEN THE SHIP GOES DOWN

We occasionally read the following headline in the newspapers: "Another Ship Lost at Sea." Our minds naturally revert to the thought of what has become of the crew and possibly passengers, if the ship had any. The chances are that the crew took to small boats and, as often happens, were picked up by a passing vessel.

But how many have given a thought to what becomes of the ship that has disappeared beneath the broad surface of the ocean? If she happens to be a wooden ship her sinking may take an hour for her to reach the bottom, where she gently sinks into the cozy bed as softly as a mother would place her baby into its cradle. Of course, if she was laden heavily with material of a nature much heavier than water her trip to the bottom would be more speedy and the chances are she would burst open when she struck. An iron ship would make much quicker time on her trip to the bed of the ocean, for the reason that she would turn head down like a fancy diver and would fetch up with a crash that would probably demolish her into a shapeless mass of iron.

When a ship sinks in water not over a half-mile deep countless thousands of inhabitants of the ocean will immediately take possession of her. They will be shy for some little time, but as they become bolder they will swarm over and through her, making her their home. A certain species will at once commence to cover the hull with a thick coating of a limellike substance. This will take time, and generation after generation will work unceasingly until every part of the ship is crusted with such growths as corals, sponges, barnacles and the like. If it be a wooden ship the incrustations will become so heavy in time that the frame of the once noble ship will burst asunder and eventually become a part of the vegetation at the bottom.

The action of salt water soon destroys an iron ship. The only metals that will withstand the chemical action of sea water are gold and platinum. No matter how long gold may remain under salt water no effect is noticeable. It is always gold and always bright. This fact explains the many expeditions that have been fitted out at great expense and gone in search of gold that is known to have been under water many years, even centuries.

To All the Women Who Suffer Pe-ru-na Is Earnestly Commended

Mrs. Geo. C. Worstell, 11 River Road, Clarksburg, W. Va., writes:

"I trust that no one will think from this that I want my name in public for any cause only to let sufferers know where they may find relief from many ailments."

"I can truly say I have been much benefited by the use of Peruna. I feel better than I have for two years. It is the best medicine that I know for pelvic troubles."

"I have taken medicine from the doctors and found no relief; but when I began taking Peruna I could see that before I had finished taking the first bottle it was doing me good."

Cold Developed into Catarrh.

Mrs. N. P. Lawler, 421 1/2 N. Broadway, Pittsburg, Kas., writes:

"Peruna is a sovereign remedy for catarrh. Last spring I caught a severe cold which developed into a serious case of catarrh. I felt weak and sick and could neither eat nor sleep well."

"A friend who had been cured of catarrh through the use of Peruna advised me to try it and I did so at once. I expected help, but nothing like the wonderful change for the better I observed almost as soon as I started taking it."

"In three days I felt much better and within a week I was well. I continued taking the entire bottle and within two weeks I was in fine health. Peruna is a wonderful medicine."

Catarrh of the Bowels.

Mrs. Maggie Darbin, 1322 North St., Little Rock, Ark., writes:

"I was troubled for five years with a chronic disease. I tried everything I heard of, but nothing did me any good. Some doctors said my trouble was catarrh of the bowels, and some said consumption of the bowels. One doctor said he could cure me; I took his medicine two months, but it did me no good."

"A friend of mine advised me to try Peruna and I did so. After I had taken two bottles I found it was helping me, so I continued its use, and it has cured me sound and well."

"If anyone wants to know what Peruna did for me if they will write to me I will answer promptly."

Pains in the Side.

Mrs. Julia Braxton, Apollo, Pa., writes:

"Peruna has cured me of heart trouble and pains in the side."

"A year ago I was expected to die at any time, and the doctor was sometimes called at two o'clock in the morning. But I am thankful to say that I do not know I have used your Peruna as you advised me, I am well and able to do all my household work."

"I have all the faith in the world in Peruna as it cured me and I know that it will cure others."

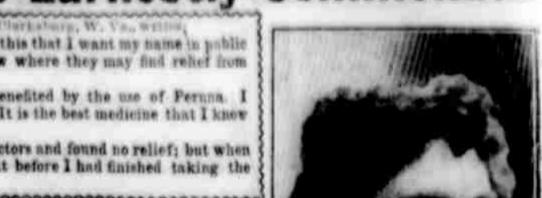

"I cannot praise Peruna enough for what it has done for me."

Stomach Trouble.

Miss Anna Garsten, Clayton, Ill., writes:

"Your Peruna did me so much good. I am feeling so well now and have no trouble with my stomach."

For special directions everyone should read "The Life of Life," a copy of which surrounds each bottle. Peruna is for sale by the following druggists and will supply the retail trade in Honolulu, Hawaii: Benson, Smith & Co., Hobron Drug Co., Honolulu, Hawaii.

MISS NETTIE E. BOGARDUS

Miss Nettie E. Bogardus, R. F. D. 21, Westfield, N. Y., writes:

"I have been a great sufferer from sick headaches, but am now entirely free from that trouble. I have not felt so well in ten years as I do now. I would recommend Peruna and Manalin to all sufferers. I will say, God bless Dr. Hartman and his wonderful remedies."

Stomach Catarrh.

Miss Julia Butler, R. R. 4, Appleton, Wis., writes:

"For the past six years I suffered with catarrh of the stomach, causing loss of sleep and appetite, with frequent severe pains after eating."

"My sister advised me to try Peruna. I took your treatment and my appetite returned speedily."

"I gained strength and flesh and am in perfect health."

"I am so thankful your medicine has done me so much good."

Stomach Trouble.

Mrs. O. D. Robinson, 48 St. Felix St., Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"I have taken Peruna and it did me more good than all my two years' treatment by special physicians. I can really say that I feel like another person. No more swollen feet and limbs. No more bloating of the abdomen. No more shortness of breath. No more stiff and sore joints. You have no idea what your treatment has done for me. It certainly has prolonged my life and made a new woman of me."

"O, such a blessing I have received through your kindness, doctor, and the assistance of the medicine which you so kindly prescribed. I am able to work since I began your treatment, but before I was not able to help myself, much less work for any one else. All praise is due to Dr. Hartman and his treatment."

Stomach Trouble.

Miss Anna Garsten, Clayton, Ill., writes:

SOCIAL CHATTER AND HOME TALK

NEVER has a Lenten season found society so busily engaged in social duties. There has been something going on nearly every day, and the last seven days, although Holy Week, have been quite taken up with teas, dinners, bathing parties and the omnipresent bridge.

I have heard of several dances which have been postponed when the Lenten season began to realize it was Holy Week, and there have been several Lenten sewing teas where the thimbles and tonics were used with each other. Bridge is just as popular as ever here. Hostesses are quite mad on the subject and it is a perfect boon for dinner givers, and always makes an interesting evening for the guests. Big games are only white-pierced about; there is really little gambling, for conservative Honolulu does not approve of big stakes—the pleasure, pure and simple of the game, seems most to appeal. A story like the following, which I heard somewhere, could hardly happen here.

A friend recently returned from England was telling of the experience of a young girl, a debutante of the past season and a great belle in London's smartest set, who was asked to a large house party given by a titled friend at her country seat. The girl, who was only 19, was accompanied to the scene of the party by an aunt, who had chaperoned her and presented her at court. Some thirty or forty guests made up the party. After dinner the first evening the young girl was approached by her hostess, who informed her at what table she was expected for bridge. Upon taking her seat the debutante asked for what stakes the game was to be played, and gazed in horror when told that the play was for a shilling a point. Her aunt, noticing her evident embarrassment, whispered that she would stand for her losses, but that it was the last time they would visit in the house where girls of 18 were thrust into games where $300 and $400 could easily change hands.

Life at Goldfield
 A young San Francisco matron just returned from Goldfield tells me some interesting facts about society in that mining town—or the lack of society, if you prefer the distinction. The most surprising thing to her was the readiness with which one conventionally reared can become accustomed to conditions for which "unconventional" would be a mild term. Accustomed here to associating only with people whose standing is guaranteed, she found herself in Goldfield living next door—or next tent—to a gambler's wife with whom she became on almost familiar terms, and in whose husband's winnings and losses at faro, as detailed by the wife, she took as much interest as she would here in the stockbroking operations of her husband and his friends. When I speak of the gambler's "wife" I do so without authority, for I do not know that she was married to him. Neither does the young matron know. "It wasn't considered tactful, in Goldfield, to ask who read the book or rang the bell," she said. "And some of the women I met there were so really nice that I didn't want to know—was rather afraid that knowledge would make me have too hard a struggle with my social conscience." Rough town though it is, full of adventurers and gamblers, the streets lined with saloons and gambling places, Goldfield has some really elegant shops. Its jewelry stores in particular are magnificent in their display of precious stones, which are freely bought by the miners for their wives. "To eat the bread of infancy," Kipling says of her who looted the little silver crucifix from the body of Hank, the blue-eyed Dane, slain for her; but the harpies of Goldfield want diamonds, and they get them. Also they dress most extravagantly. Dressmakers and milliners do a thriving business. There are no life insurance agents in Goldfield. When the scandals about the big insurance companies came out, the miners invited the representative of them to leave town without delay. Those who did delay were hustled out without ceremony after their offices had been wrecked. Mail that came to them from their employers was destroyed, and altogether they were made to suffer severely for the sins of their employers.

Moonlight Bathing Party
 Gayety and mirth were the keynote of the bathing party and dance given by Miss Nannie Winston on Wednesday evening on the lawn of the new bathing pavilion at the Moana hotel. The guests began to assemble about eight-thirty and were greeted by their charming hostess in her usual hospitable manner. A pleasing sight was a buffet on one side of the room, where refreshing concoctions of various meats were served throughout the evening. As the night was rather cool for bathing only a few plunged into the briny, and it turned out to be one of the jolliest dances ever given. Salads, sandwiches and coffee as well as the concoctions already mentioned, were served with true Southern hospitality. At the conclusion of the evening the quintet club played "Dixie," which was danced with great enthusiasm. About twelve-thirty the last good byes were said and everybody departed thanking the hostess for an unusually jolly evening. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. A. Knudsen, Mr. and Mrs. E. Knudsen, Mrs. Knudsen, Mr. and Mrs. Rand, Mr. and Mrs. David Rice, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ivers, Prince and Princess Kawananakoa, Mr. and Mrs. Crooke, Mrs. Francis Gay, Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Klapp, Mrs. Avery, Mrs. Hicks, Miss Hicks, Major and Mrs. Van Vliet, Mr. and Mrs. James Wilder, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Atkinson, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Hawes, Jr., Miss Marion Scott, Miss Kaufmann, Mrs. C. W. Case Deering, Lieut. Epply, U. S. A., Mr. MacCormick, Mr. Richards Wright, Mr. Daley, Dr. Fitzgerald, Dr. and Mrs. Blanchard, Mr. Herman Foeke, Mr. Thielens, Dr. Wilkinson, and others.

Informal Dinner
 A charming informal dinner was given on Thursday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Atkinson at their cosy bungalow at old Waikiki. The guests, who were invited on the spur of the moment, were Mrs. Jewell, Miss Nannie Winston, Mr. "Jack" Atkinson, and Mr. Walter Dillingham. The table was much admired, the centerpiece of nasturtiums being artistically arranged in an old Chinese flower stand constructed by the hostess. Everybody is delighted to have Mrs. Atkinson here, for she has always been one of the most popular girls in Honolulu, as well as one of the most attractive.

Bridge Tea-Party
 On Thursday afternoon Mrs. Brock entertained at a bridge tea and Mrs. Cushman for the fortunate prize winner. Among the guests were Mrs. Van Vliet, Mrs. Cushman, Mrs. Brainerd Smith, Mrs. Chamberlain, Mrs. Charles Wilder, Mrs. Gilman and Mrs. Lucas. A delightful hour was spent in discussing the delicious viands and admiring the beautiful view which is one of the charms of the artistic abode of the hostess.

German Cadets Entertained
 On Wednesday ex-Governor Cleg-horn invited the cadets of the Herzogia Cecilia to have tea in his extensive grounds at Alahua and they responded by turning out in great numbers. Unfortunately the Governor was too ill to see them, but Mrs. Hoffmann, who was the chaperone of the occasion, took care that they had a delightful afternoon. Miss Elsa Schaefer, Miss Edith Kopke, Miss Damon, Miss Green-well and many other charming girls assisted Mrs. Hoffmann in her pleasing duty. Tea, coffee, sandwiches, cakes and ices completed a thoroughly enjoyable afternoon. At tea-time Mrs. Du Roi, Mrs. Hanneberg and Mrs. Rodiek appeared and were greeted with enthusiasm by the cadets. They are a handsome set of young men and do great credit to the Fatherland.

New Consul Calls
 Mr. Ralph G. E. Forster, the acting consul during the absence of Mr. R. de B. Layard, has already arrived and has been paying calls during the week, accompanied by Mr. Layard, Mr. and Mrs. Layard expect to sail on Monday for the Orient, en route for England. They will be greatly missed and all their friends are very sorry to see them depart, even for a few months. They are very popular and have entered into the social life actively.

Last Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. McClanahan gave a bathing party and supper at their artistic bungalow in Maunaloa in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Atkinson. The bathing party is one of the most attractive in Honolulu, being held and protected by natural foliage, and the path leading to it is also tiled in blue and white. The large fireplace in the living room has been much appreciated during the past cold weather. Among the guests, besides the guests of honor, were Mr. and Mrs. Turner, Mrs. Burnette, Mr. and Mrs. Gignoux, Miss Ridgeway, Miss Scott, Miss Alice Macfarlane, Messrs. Sidney Ballou, Douglas McBryde, Walter Dillingham, and Derby.

man won the first man's prize. To Miss Waterman was awarded the consolation prize. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. McCandless, Mr. and Mrs. M. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Halstead, Major and Mrs. Van Vliet, Miss Waterman and many others.

This has certainly been a bridge week, for nearly every day there has been a few tables of bridge. On Monday Mrs. Cushman was the delightful hostess of a most agreeable affair. Mrs. A. Fuller was the one to win the prize on this afternoon. Among the guests were Mrs. Francis Swany, Mrs. Van Vliet, Mrs. A. Fuller, Mrs. Chamberlain, Mrs. Brock, Mrs. Charles Wilder, Mrs. Kleban and Mrs. Richardson.

On Thursday afternoon probably Mrs. Halstead had the largest afternoon bridge party of the week. There were seven tables. The prizes, which were usually handsome, were won by Mrs. Peterson, Mrs. Paris and Miss Waterman. Among those present were Mrs. McCandless, Mrs. Meyer, Mrs. Van Vliet, Mrs. Grinbaum, Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Brock, Mrs. Waterman, Mrs. Hannah, Mrs. Reuton, Miss Margaret Walker, Miss Waterman and many others.

Last Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Paul Isenberg gave a pot supper and dance at Waiala. The guests were delightfully entertained and had a glorious good time. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ivers, Mr. and Mrs. Turner, Mrs. Burnette, Mr. and Mrs. Gignoux, Miss Ridgeway, Miss Scott, Miss Alice Macfarlane, Messrs. Sidney Ballou, Douglas McBryde, Walter Dillingham, and Derby.

The Moana hotel will be quite empty with the Randa, Grinbaums, Rices and McBrydes on the briny. They expect to sail for the Coast next week.

Mrs. Russell, of the Seaside hotel, is giving a series of bridge teas. One occurred on Thursday and I am told it was a very pleasant affair. Mrs. Brainerd Smith also entertained at bridge this week in her usual delightful manner.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Moore entertained at dinner at the Alexander Young in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Rand, on Sunday evening.

The marriage of Miss Lucy O'Meara and Captain Robert S. Finlow occurred in Calcutta on the 25th of January. The brother-in-law of the bride was present and the nearest friends only of the contracting parties, as the wedding was strictly private. Captain and Mrs. Finlow departed directly to Pusa, the station where they will reside. They were given many beautiful presents, and a regular reception on their arrival.

Mr. Arthur Berg gave a dinner for five guests at the Alexander Young on the 23rd.

Mr. and Mrs. McClanahan gave a dinner last Saturday to Attorney and Mrs. Frank of San Francisco. Mr. Frank is associated with Mr. McClanahan in a case pending in the courts at the present time. Other guests were E. M. Watson and wife, Mr. Derby, Miss McClanahan. The decorations were ferns and American Beauty roses.

Mrs. S. Parker entertained at luncheon on Saturday last in honor of Mrs. Purdy and Mrs. Schmidt.

Mr. and Mrs. Usbourne are having a difficult time in getting away. They booked in January and were told only a day or two ago they must wait a month longer, as every room was "full up." This is a very uncomfortable state of affairs, for Mr. and Mrs. Cockburn have already sailed from Victoria and will take possession of "The Rectory" upon their arrival. The Usbournes will go to "The Cliffs," their Waikiki villa at Diamond Head, in the interim. Mr. Usbourne's health has been poor for some time, and it is necessary that he should get away at once. It is to be hoped that more steamers can be gotten in the interest of the islands, for people will be chary about coming if their departure is made so difficult.

Miss Madge McCandless, the handsome daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McCandless at Waikiki, gave a luncheon on Thursday last in honor of Miss Brown, who, with her mother, Mrs. Brown, are guests at the villa of the "necessary" parents. Rosey made the table charming to look upon and the pretty girls surrounding it carried out the effect of a rosebud lunch. Among those present were Misses Elsa Schaefer, Violet Damon, Ashley, McStocker (2), May Kleung and Winne. Mrs. Brown, her daughter and Miss McCandless have gone to the Volcano for two weeks. The Browns are from Seattle and are making a tour of the world. Miss Brown was at school with Miss McCandless.

Layard, who expect soon to take a trip via the Orient to the old country. Rosey most exquisitely arranged, decorated the table, and the hall and dining room were also profusely ornamented with these beautiful blossoms. ## When Billy And Bertha Fought

BY ANNIE JAMES.

Billy was seven years old and his sister Bertha was two years younger. They had always played in the greatest good humor together, each giving up toys or bonbons to the other in the most loving and generous manner. But one day a Naughty Voice whispered into Billy's ear: "Take all the apple and candy from Bertha. You are big and strong and can do it."

They were playing in the warm sitting-room when the Naughty Voice whispered in Billy's ear. They had a little table spread for make-believe dinner, an apple cut in halves and two blocks of taffy. Bertha was playing at being hostess and Billy was her "company." Billy reached across the table and took both blocks of taffy, putting one in his mouth and the other into his little trousers pocket.

"Oh-o-o-o!" You took all 'e candy," said little Bertha, looking shocked at her guest's very unbecoming conduct. "You mustn't do that way, bruvver. You must play nice."

The Naughty Voice again whispered, and Billy obeyed its promptings. He reached over and took the two pieces of apple, jumped up from the table and ran out of the room, looking back thru a crack in the door to make a wary face at Bertha and laugh at her tears.

"You're a bad-b-a-d boy, so you are," cried Bertha. "I'll not play with you any more. I don't like you-so I don't give me back any candy or apple of 'll go tell mamma."

"You'll better not tell mamma," said Billy, threateningly. "I'll smack your ears if you do."

Bertha began to weep loudly, and declared he was a bad, bad bruvver. Billy, fearing that their mother—who was in the sewing-room up stairs—might hear, ran into the sitting-room and clasped his hand over Bertha's mouth. The Naughty Voice had prompted him how to act. "Shut up this minute," he commanded, his fat fist crushed against Bertha's mouth.

Now the owner of the Naughty Voice was in his glory. All he had to do was to whisper into Bertha's ear to have a fight started. The situation was prime for just such a thing. Bertha, being now very angry with her bad brother, listened in turn to the Naughty Voice and heeded what it said. "Fight!" it whispered in her ear. "Scratch, bite and pull hair."

Bertha, a strong little pudge of a girl, thrust her hands into her brother's curly hair before that fellow knew she had any intention of retaliation. She pulled and scratched, hurting Billy till he began to cry out. But he fought like a little animal, scratching his sister's wrists and pulling her flaxen hair nearly off her head.

How long the fight might have lasted there is no way of knowing, but it would probably have kept going till one or the other had cried "enough!" for the Naughty Voice was whispering first in Billy's ear and then in Bertha's ear, urging them to "fight like soldiers and never give in." But the noise of the conflict—the crying and shuffling of feet—caught the ears of their mother, who was up stairs, and hurrying down to the sitting-room she beheld a sight that at first quite took away her breath.

After she had separated the children she led them to her room, where she placed them on chairs in front of her and sat down to question the cause of such an unusual and shocking sight as she had just witnessed in the sitting-room. After the drying of tears, the adjustment of collars and shoe laces and smoothing of hair, Billy and Bertha told their stories.

"But why did you take all the candy and apple from your sister?" asked their mamma, addressing Billy. "Didn't you know that was selfishness, and that selfishness is wickedness?"

Billy hung his head, but made no answer. The mother turned to Bertha: "And you, little daughter, should have come to mother about it, instead of fighting with your brother over it. Because he was naughty was no excuse for you to be so, too."

"But bruvver spoiled the play," pouted Bertha. "He et up our play dinner and made a ugly face at me. I just had to fight, mamma."

While there was a smile lurking in the mother's tender eyes, her voice became very, very serious. "Well, my dear little son and daughter, I can see but one way to avoid future quarrels and fights between you. If I send Bertha to her great aunt Mary and Billy to his grandmother, in the coun-

Agents of the underwriters board have been giving considerable attention to the wrecked Great Northern Line steamship Dakota. They are of the opinion that salvage work can be done if weather permits. Considerable time would elapse before proper gear could be landed at the wreck. The position of the wreck is open to equinoctial gales at this season of the year any may put a stop to any work of that nature. A driver who has visited the wreck reports three large holes in the side of the Dakota.

LIMERICK

There was a small boy
From somewhere,
Who had a mean snarl in His hair.
He brushed with his night,
But it stayed a real fright;
And the boy stamped and said:
"I declare!"

She Changed Her Opinion

O'Hara was dying and sent for a lawyer to draw up a will. His wife was in the room to witness what he said. The lawyer, with pencil and paper in hand, told O'Hara to begin.

"Tim Sullivan owes me fifty dollars," said O'Hara.

"Good," said the prospective widow. "He is sensible to the last."

"Mergely owes me twenty-seven dollars," said O'Hara.

"Bless the man," said the prospective widow. "Sensible to the last."

"To Patrick Kelly I owe three hundred dollars," said O'Hara.

"Have pity on me, soul!" cried the prospective widow. "He is raving at the last!"

Today when the wicked promptings came to their ears?

"Yes, indeed, mamma," promised Billy. "I'll not forget that I was almost sent to live with Granny, away from papa, mamma and Bertha. I would just have died of homesickness, so I would."

"An' I'll never, never flink of quarreling wif bruvver again, nor biting him and pulling his hair," declared Bertha.

"An' we'll play at keeping house and having dinner, too, won't we, Billy?"

Billy brightened up, taking from his pocket the appropriated play dinner, holding it out to Bertha. "Here, Bertha, take it 'n go and fix up the dinner again. I'll come down in a minute and kneep at the door. Play I'm company invited to dinner. Will you?"

"Yes, bruvver, an' play 'at I'm a great lady like mamma, an' 'at I'm savvy 'a party. Ole Towser an' ole pussycat can be niver company. They don't like taffy or apple 'n' will sit at the table very quiet."

Then, with the apple and taffy in her apron, Bertha ran, happy and laughing, from the room to prepare the feast for the expected company.

And it is safe to say that never again did the Naughty Voice find listeners in Billy and Bertha. Their one experience with him had almost cost him their happy home and each other's society, and they never, never forgot it.

Queens Of England

Katharine Howard, fifth wife of Henry VIII of England, was wedded to that monarch of inquiry privately sometime about the middle of August, 1540, soon after the annulment of Henry's marriage with Anne of Cleves.

Katharine was in her eighteenth year, bright-eyed, sparkling, tiny and fascinating. Before her advent at court as a maid-in-waiting to the Queen she had lived with her grandmother, the dowager duchess of Norfolk, who neglected her young granddaughter in the matter of proper home training. The maid, who was ever of an excitable and straggling mind, was allowed to associate with persons of inferior birth and education, often making the women servants of her grandmother's house her confidantes. Thus it will be seen that her downfall and death were due to the gross neglect of her grandmother.

Fifteen months after her marriage to Henry an enemy went to her old home in Norfolk and questioned the former servants of the Dowager Duchess concerning Katharine's former life. He easily got what he wanted, for then, as now, evil tongues were ever ready to tell the truth, and then trim it up with their own wicked imaginations. A story was told of Katharine's indiscretions when she was a child in her thirteenth year. She had then fallen in love with her music master, and had secretly pledged her troth with him. She being more than twice her age and a most unscrupulous fellow, was free with her name when in the company of the servants. Later, while in her fourteenth year, she had another affair of the heart, being still a susceptible and unsuspecting child. In fact, throughout her short life she was ever more stained against than sinning.

The stories gathered about the child in her early teens were whispered to her arch enemy, Cranmer, who in turn enlightened his gross lord and king, the monster Henry. At once Henry, who was doubtless growing tired of his fifth bride, had an investigation made into the girl life of his queen. Plenty of persons of low birth were found to verify the scandals now being whispered against Katharine. She had engaged herself to a certain young gentleman of some standing by the name of Culpeper, before she came to court. This had been kept secret from the King—sufficient reason for Henry to die the wife of Culpeper, the man he rid of. Other and more dangerous accusations were made against the helpless Katharine, who denied the falsehoods to no avail, although she confessed the truth in every instance. She had loved and pledged her troth to young Culpeper, this she did not deny, but the slanderous stories she vehemently denied.

Katharine now saw her impending doom. She fell ill through fever. She was banished from the King's presence and made a royal prisoner. Many innocent persons and some guilty ones just their heads in connection with the affair. Katharine was condemned to death on the most flimsy evidence, but Henry needed only a fragile thread from which to weave a tangled web about his victims. On the 13th of February, 1541, Katharine Howard was executed on the scaffold and Henry was free to contract another marriage, to ensure another victim into his spider's web.

The day before her execution Katharine had the block brought into her apartment that she might practice placing her head upon it in the right position to receive the headsman's stroke. She went bravely to her death, but of no crime. On the scaffold she said: "I die a queen, but rather would I die the wife of Culpeper, the man I loved and who loved me."

try, to live, there will be no chance of your falling out again. Of course, you cannot be allowed to visit each other again after the separation.

Bertha's face grew serious and her lips trembled as though she were about to break into tears. "I don't want to go to great aunt Mary's," she whimpered. "I want to stay wif my mamma and—"

"Here the little miss broke into sobs, unable to complete her sentence. The mother turned to Billy. "Well, son, what have you to say in regard to going to live with grandmamma?" she asked.

Billy hung his head in a ashamed way, butting his eyes furiously, as though something were in them. "I—I want to stay at home," he said in trembling tones.

"But how can I allow you to remain here if your sister stays?" asked his mamma. "You don't want to be with her, do you?"

Billy nodded his head vigorously. "I want to have sister at home," he admitted.

"But children who fight don't love one another," urged the mother.

"I love sister," said Billy, thinking that he was about to lose her forever. "I was very naughty mamma, and I think I need a whipping," he pleaded. "It was all my fault, for I took the play dinner and et some of it and put the rest in my pocket. I don't know why I was so bad—honest I don't, mamma."

The mother looked both little ones to her breast, saying: "It was the voice that whispered in your ears. If you say 'I love her' to me, it will come again and again, each time whispering louder and bolder, urging you to do very, very naughty things until at last you will become a very wicked boy and bring grief to those who love you so dearly."

Billy sat very quiet, meditating a CHILDREN'S PAGE—When Billy and moment. Then he broke out with: "If the Naughty Voice whispers to me any more I'll make a face at it and tell it to get a move on itself. I will and now, mamma, may I stay and I stay at home with you and papa?"

Bertha had dried her eyes during her brother's and mother's conversation, and was an interested listener. Without waiting for her mother to answer her brother's question she said vehemently:

"The ole Naughty Voice whispered to me, too, mamma dear. I des it tole me to fight bruvver, cause I jus' fought him as hard as I could, but all the time I was not mad wif him, I love bruvver an' don't want him to be sent away to Granny's."

"Then my little son and daughter won't ever, ever again listen to the Naughty Voice?" asked mamma. "They will always remember what happened today when the wicked promptings came to their ears?"

"Yes, indeed, mamma," promised Billy. "I'll not forget that I was almost sent to live with Granny, away from papa, mamma and Bertha. I would just have died of homesickness, so I would."

"An' I'll never, never flink of quarreling wif bruvver again, nor biting him and pulling his hair," declared Bertha.

"An' we'll play at keeping house and having dinner, too, won't we, Billy?"

Billy brightened up, taking from his pocket the appropriated play dinner, holding it out to Bertha. "Here, Bertha, take it 'n go and fix up the dinner again. I'll come down in a minute and kneep at the door. Play I'm company invited to dinner. Will you?"

Mr. Potato—Madam Clock, I've got my eyes on you, so don't dare to strike Madam Clock—Sir if you don't withdraw I'll sound the alarm!

the Mayor of San Juan has established a sprinting record that will stand for many a day. No official time was kept, but those who witnessed the feat say that it will never be beaten. One of Henry Miller's prize geese got on a rampage a short time ago and ran in at the open door of the San Juan hotel. He met Mayor Hayden coming out. The Mayor at once executed a side step but the steer was hot on his trial with head down. Round and round they went, the Mayor making such good time that he had to show up as a not to overtake the steer. The animal was finally captured.

SOCIAL NOTES

The entire ceremony was very interesting. The bride and groom stood beneath an arch of ferns and palms. A reception was held at 1157 Union street directly after the wedding, and the guests surveyed the many presents, danced and supped until a late hour.

The pretty bride was given by Mrs. R. de B. Layard on Saturday afternoon last was participated in by sixteen guests. A prize was given for the largest score at each table, and Mrs. E. M. Watson, Mrs. Stanley and Mrs. Focke were the winners. The prizes were Chinese purses and Japanese trays. The guests were Mrs. George Carter, Mrs. F. M. Swanzy, Mrs. Mary Gurn, Mrs. H. Focke, Mrs. Richard Ivers, Mrs. Stanley, Mrs. Van Vliet, Mrs. George Potter, Mrs. E. M. Watson, Mrs. Arthur Wilder, Mrs. Francis Gay and Mrs. A. G. Hawes, Jr. Coffee and delicious refreshments were served.

Mrs. George Carter will not be "at home" on the first Wednesday of April. The Carters are going to their new villa, Kailua, around Diamond Head. This property was purchased of Mrs. Clifford Wood some time ago, and has been rebuilt and made beautiful. The lanai is particularly attractive, for the ocean at high tide almost surrounds it, and the view of the Pacific in a wild mood is very picturesque.

Invitations have been pouring in all the week, for society will open her doors during the next three months, and there are prospects of a very gay season. Easter Sunday is now devoted to good music, and Easter hats are

The hop at the Seaside on Thursday evening was a very gay affair. The circular lanai was unusually full and there were hundreds of spectators. A concert was given by the band the first part of the evening, and later Mr. Ellis and his well known orchestra played in their most brilliant manner for the dancers.

The Bulletin's offer to send several young women to the Coast at its own expense is attracting a great deal of notice. The chaperone will be Mrs. Weathered and everything is to be done by the prominent men and women at each place visited to make the guests enjoy themselves. Hawaii has a chance now to show how superior she is in manners, birth and education, by sending the right sort of girls to represent her. It all depends on that, for they will meet only the best class of men and women during the tour.

Colonel and Mrs. George Macfarlane are spending a few days at Wahiawa with Mr. and Mrs. Brown.

Mrs. W. R. Castle has returned from Boston, where she has been visiting her son and other relatives.

Mrs. and Mrs. Paxton have taken the chalet belonging to Mrs. Mabel Victoria, and Mr. James Lowrie Cook

They move today. Mr. and Mrs. Lewton-Brain are still occupying the beach bungalow of the von Holts.

Easter will be a delight for the little ones this coming week. I hear of several boy parties already in view.

Mr. Frank Winter's condition is very much better, so Mrs. Winter called from San Francisco.

Mrs. James Castle is taking Mrs. Swanzy, Mrs. Goodale and Miss Locke to Laie for a few days this afternoon.

Mr. Spindle, who was so ill, is slowly improving. His mother and brother are with him at the James Castle mansion, Kalaiala.

Mrs. Wilkinson, the wife of Doctor Wilkinson of the Moana Hotel, is still confined to her bed with dengue.

The picture of the King of Roumania is ridiculously like the Rev. John Ubourne of St. Clement's. In fact many thought it was his portrait at first glance.

Mrs. Patterson, nee Stella Love, has a little son.

The following item will be of interest, as Mrs. Baxley is well known here:

Santa Barbara society has been deeply shocked by the tragic death of Mrs. Baxley, one of the best-known society women of the Southern California town. Mrs. Baxley, who was a bridge enthusiast and an ardent card player, met death in a very sad and deeply tragic way. She was a guest last Saturday at a bridge party given by Mrs. Arthur Lord of New York, in honor of Mrs. William Prentice Morgan of San Francisco, at the Country Club. All of Santa Barbara's exclusive set was gathered for the game, which had only just begun, when Mrs. Baxley, who had played but one hand, suddenly complained of pains in her head, and, leaning back, passed away.

Captain and Mrs. Hugh Rodman are expected on the next steamer from the Orient. Captain Rodman will only spend the day here to the disappointment of his friends, owing to orders to proceed directly to Washington.

The dinner given by Mr. Bruce Cartwright, Jr., at the Alexander Young Hotel on Thursday evening was a charming affair. The table looked artistic with its burden of beautiful flowers. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Swanzy, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Wilder, Miss Wilder, Williamson, Mrs. Hugh McCall Webster, Miss Carolyn Oliver, Miss Bessie Palmer, Miss Vera Nicholson, Miss Edith Selby and Miss Alma Brown.

Among those present were Mrs. George de Golla, Mrs. Frederick Dieckman, Mrs. Clifford Kroll, Mrs. Frank Gilbreth, Mrs. James Mundy, Mrs. Benjamin Thomas, Mrs. Grace Gorrill Gowing, Mrs. Tinnerman, Mrs. Fisher, Mrs. Tashera, Mrs. Henry Lund Jr., Mrs. Clifford, Miss Elsie Clifford, Miss Elsie Ames, Miss Sloper, Miss Lillian Downey, Miss Marie Nicholson, Miss Belle Nicholson, Miss Maude Edith Pope, Miss Anita Thomson, Miss Virginia Van Lohen Seis, Miss Marletta Havens, Miss May Cogan, Miss Gertrude Allen, Miss Grace Dawson, Miss Emma Rathbone, Miss Elsie Sinclair, Miss Ruth Kales, Miss Rose Kales, Miss Flora Aldermot, Miss Evelyn Hussey, Miss Kathleen Kutz, Miss Jane Barry, Miss Mollie Conners, Miss Sevilla Hayden, Mrs. Roland Oliver, Mrs. Hugh Goodfellow, Mrs. H. SUPT. BABBITT ON FLAT-RATE SCHEDULE

Senator McCarthy, chairman of the Ways and Means and Educational Committee, received a letter from Superintendent Babbitt yesterday, treating on the subject of the salary schedule proposed by McCarthy in the Senate.

In the communication, Superintendent Babbitt states that he is of the opinion that a flat-rate schedule will seriously embarrass the Department of Public Instruction. Among the objections set forth by Mr. Babbitt appear the following:

It makes no provision for vice principal, an important office in large schools. It leaves no room for inducements, often necessary to offer, to obtain teachers for remote and uninviting sections. It cuts out entirely all specialists—such as instructors in music, drawing, handicraft, etc. In this respect it would abolish face-making that has proved a valuable adjunct to the education of girls.

The Mayor of San Juan has established a sprinting record that will stand for many a day. No official time was kept, but those who witnessed the feat say that it will never be beaten. One of Henry Miller's prize geese got on a rampage a short time ago and ran in at the open door of the San Juan hotel. He met Mayor Hayden coming out. The Mayor at once executed a side step but the steer was hot on his trial with head down. Round and round they went, the Mayor making such good time that he had to show up as a not to overtake the steer. The animal was finally captured.

Second Seventy-seven

By FRANK E. McCARROLL

Ben was a tall, lanky fellow, but as he was a little less than six feet high...

Ben was usually a rush month with us. From the coast we caught the new crop Japan tea...

A whistle cut the wind, then another. It was the signal for brakes. The second section was coming down the steep grade...

Ben laughed a little. "I think I do. Will there be two sections today?"

"No, sir. Thank you, Mr. Reed." But his "thank you" was so pleasant I couldn't altogether ignore it.

When the flier pulled in from the west in the afternoon it carried two extra sleepers. In all eight Pullmans, and every one of them loaded to the ventilators.

As the heavy train pulled slowly out the hand played, the women waved handkerchiefs and the boys shouted themselves hoarse.

In the evening I got reports of heavy rains east of us, and after 77 reported "out" of Turner Junction and pulled over the divide toward Beverly it was storming hard all along the line.

The heavy train was well in hand, and it rolled down the long grade as gently as a kitten.

At the foot of Beverly Hill there is a salubrious long siding, once used as a sort of cutoff to the upper Zaneville yards.

The storm increased in violence. It was not the rain driving in ferociously, but the lightning blazing and the deafening crashes of thunder that worried him.

Ben was usually a rush month with us. From the coast we caught the new crop Japan tea and the fall importations of China silks.

A man running up in the rain passed him. Ben shouted and held up his lantern. It was his brakeman.

"Buckley, they'll telescope us." "Can you pull ahead any?" "The bridge is out."

With a rattling crash the points shot into the switch.

There were plenty of things to do if there was only time, but there was hardly time to think. The passenger crew were running about like men distracted, trying to get the sleeping travelers out.

"Daisy," he cried in a voice like a pistol crack, "get those two stowaways out of my cabin!"

It was a chance—single, desperate, but yet a chance—the only chance that offered to save the helpless passengers in his charge.

The angry wind staggered him. It blew out his lantern, but he flung it away, for he could throw the switch in the dark.

Could he make it? A cry from the sleeping children rose in his heart. Another breath, an instant floundering, a slipping loop, and he had it.

He saw streams of fire flying from many wheels, he felt the glare of a dazzling light, and with a rattling crash, the points shot into the switch.

"Jump!" screamed Ben, useless as he knew it was. What voice could live in that hell of noise? What man escape from that hub now?

They stumbled over a body. Seizing the lantern, Ben turned the prostrate man over and wiped the mud from his face.

And while the trainmen of the freight worked at the wreck the passenger train was backed slowly—so slowly and so smoothly—up over the switch and past, over the hill and past and so to Turner Junction and around by Oxford to Zaneville.

When the sun rose the earth glowed in the freshness of its June shower bath. The flier, now many miles from Beverly Hill, was speeding in toward Omaha.

The truth is we had no gold medals to distribute out on the West End in those days. We gave Ben the best we had, and that was a passenger run.

"Grateful Results" A life of suffering and misery, without sleep, without appetite. Restored to health by

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

I was grievously afflicted with biliousness and liver complaint. My mouth was in a terrible condition every morning, my tongue thick coated, my breath was offensive.

There are many imitations Sarsaparillas. Be sure you get "AYER'S."

SOMETHING OF THE PROPOSED TRIP

Victoria

At Victoria the young ladies will tread on British soil and enjoy the interesting sights of one of the historical cities of the Pacific Coast. There will be a reception tendered the guests and drives to many beautiful spots around Victoria. The trip from Victoria to Seattle is by boat, which requires a night and half a day on Puget Sound, which is ever a delightful journey, free from seasickness and with the many snow-capped mountain peaks of the Olympic range continually in view.

Seattle

At Seattle a reception and ball will be given, also a sail on Lake Washington, followed by a Clam-Bake. A side-trip to one of the large mines, and a visit to the immense saw-mills at Port Blakeley. The party will be escorted on these trips by a special committee of ladies from Seattle, who intend to show their Hawaiian guests every courtesy. There are many interesting points of interest around Seattle, but these alone will not occupy all the time, for Seattle wishes the young ladies to enjoy the home hospitalities of their progressive and famous city.

Tacoma

From Seattle to Tacoma another journey by water will be taken on the steamer Flyer, so widely known for its swiftness. Here another opportunity is afforded to view the grand panoramic effect of wooded shores, green fields, rolling hills, and perpetual snow. Tacoma, another city of wealth, beautiful homes and substantial business interests, will be enjoyed for a day and night; here the young ladies will be given a hearty welcome and special entertainment. They will leave Tacoma by morning train for Portland, arriving there in the evening.

Portland

At the State line several of the Oregon Journal girls and a special committee will meet the Hawaiian party and from that moment until they leave the State—a week later—it will be one round of pleasure and sightseeing—Receptions, Balls, Dinners, Etc. Portland will endeavor to outshine the other cities in their welcome and entertainment. One day will be devoted to the world-renowned Columbia River Scenery, with an elegant spread at noon. On this trip several of Portland's leading ladies will accompany the party. Another excursion will take them to Seaside, where two days will be spent at the Hotel Moore. At Astoria, en route to Seaside, they will visit one of the large salmon canneries, and be treated to a fish dinner.

Salem

Leaving Portland on a morning train, a ride of fifty miles will be made to Salem, Oregon's capital, where a day will be spent and the ladies received by the Governor and the State's officials. Albert Tozier, secretary of the Oregon Press Association, lives here and will take the party for a carriage drive, visiting the State's public institutions. Miss Blanche Brown, one of the Oregon Journal girls, will entertain the guests at her home for luncheon, followed by a reception. In the evening a dinner will be given by members of the Press at the Hotel Willamette. The 11 o'clock train will start the party south. At Roseburg, Ore., Miss Edna Parsley will be at the train when it reaches there, the following evening, and give the young ladies the glad-hand. All along the Oregon line friends of Mrs. Weatherred are preparing to be at the train with fruits and flowers for the Hawaiian Party.

Sacramento

At Sacramento the Governor will welcome the visitors and a committee of ladies will spend the day showing the sights of their city. In the evening the journey will be continued via the Valley Route to Los Angeles.

Los Angeles

While in Honolulu the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce learned of the coming contest and all were enthusiastic over the visit of the young ladies from Hawaii to their city. "Just leave it to us," remarked one of the prominent ladies. A grand reception and ball will first be given, and during their stay Los Angeles' best homes will be opened to receive their guests from the Islands. There are so many interesting places to visit in and around Los Angeles that a week to ten days will be given there.

PASADENA, REDLANDS, RIVERSIDE, LONG BEACH, SAN DIEGO AND OTHER BEAUTY SPOTS of Southern California are included in the itinerary. Each place will extend its hospitality in true California style.

San Francisco

From Los Angeles to San Francisco will be by Coast Line, so noted for its picturesqueness. A week will be given to San Francisco, which includes near-by places of interest—Stanford University, Palo Alto and University of California at Berkeley, Oakland and Alameda. A trip up Mt. Tamalpais is ever interesting. The road winds to the top of the highest peak near San Francisco, where a grand view is enjoyed of the surrounding cities and the Golden Gate. The ten ladies of the Western Tour's Party who recently visited Honolulu have already planned ways of entertaining their Hawaiian guests when they visit San Francisco and Berkeley. From San Francisco the party will sail for home, after a tour of Six or Seven Weeks.

SCHEDULE Of Vote Credits

In every copy of the paper there will be printed a coupon which being properly filled out with the name of the party for whom it is desired to vote and deposited with the EVENING BULLETIN Within 3 Weeks After the Day of Issue, will be credited as ONE VOTE. Subscription vote credits will be allowed as follows:

The Bulletin's Pacific States Tour means the best effort at promotion Hawaii has ever made. The party of young ladies, under careful, experienced direction, will meet the political and social leaders of the Coast States and will splendidly represent the land of their birth—Hawaii nei. The Girls from Hawaii will be so prominently in the public eye that they will do glorious work in creating right impressions regarding the typical characteristics of one of Nature's finest conceptions—the real Island Girl.

THAW TRIAL IS NEARING THE END

Prisoner Confident of Acquittal—Tide May Turn

Although Harry K. Thaw appears so confident of again walking the streets as a free man, and of engaging rooms at a seaside resort where he says he will spend the summer with his wife, the danger of his conviction has never been greater than during the last ten days. Evidence of the most damaging character has been piled up against him by District Attorney Jerome.

Evelyn Nesbit Thaw has told so many conflicting stories regarding her connection with Architect White, has sworn to certain evidence at one session and contradicted it at another, that the jury, it would seem, is taking very little stock in what she says, but will base their findings on evidence other than hers.

In the face of proven facts, it would seem that Thaw should be dispirited and anxious. Yet the contrary is true. With nothing between him and the electric chair but the ability of his six attorneys to prove that he was insane when the fatal shots were fired, one can count on the fingers of one hand the times that he has given evidence of a serious appreciation of his plight. When his young wife was on the stand, making that sacrifice of all that woman holds dear, he was at times solemn; on one occasion he was violently agitated; but within an hour his face was wreathed in smiles again and he had become once more the most unconcerned man in the courtroom.

On the afternoon the mother told her impressive story on the witness stand she and her son met midway on the bridge of sighs, whence he was returning to his cell in the Tombs. He burst into tears and throwing his arms about the trembling old lady cried:

"I never knew what a wonderful mother I had."
On the day following the final appearance of his wife on the witness stand, after she had, with rare fortitude, withstood the fearful cross-examination of Jerome, he threw his arms about her in the corridor of the prison and cried hysterically:

"My poor, dear little wife! Poor little Evelyn!"
Both incidents are in marked contrast to his demeanor in the trial chamber.

Oblivious to his surroundings, Thaw listens awhile, soon grows tired, takes up the morning's mail and plunges into it.

From time to time he allows his eyes to wander toward the witness stand, listens as he holds an open letter in his hand, makes a note on a sheet of paper, hands it to Peabody, then turns back to his mail.

Rarely during the morning session does Thaw give any attention to the proceedings. When the most damaging facts are being placed before the jury either he seemingly hears them not at all or else he found in the testimony matter for jest, for he turns to one of his attorneys and makes a remark, at which both smile.

At the opening of the trial it is a noted fact that public opinion was on the Thaw side, but at present there seems to be a turn in the tide. The amount of rottenness that has been brought to the surface has had a tendency to weaken any benefit of doubt that was once his.

Numberless newspapers, with a proper regard for the chastity of the home, have discontinued the publication of the proceedings of the Thaw trial.

Captain Sam Will SOON COMMAND
Chas. W. Ziegler was elected colonel of the National Guard of Hawaii last night.

Capt. Sam Johnson was elected Lieutenant Colonel. His ambition to be Colonel of the regiment will be realized in about two weeks, through an understanding with Colonel Ziegler.

According to military law, unwritten however, and can be broken should occasion require, when a vacancy occurs, the next ranking officer steps up and fills it. Such a precedent was near to being broken in the present instance. The officers and men of the N. G. H. wanted Captain Sam made Colonel and such a result would have obtained had the gallant Captain allowed it.

A REPERUSAL ONCE A YEAR

It wouldn't do any of us any harm to read over Darwin's letters say, once a year.

What a gentle man this great iconoclast was all the way through! Absolutely true to Truth, loyal to his facts he discovered whether in his favor or not, though dreadfully opposed and avoiding in every way any hurt to his kind!

He must interpret Nature though the heavens fall. There was no other course even if all his friends were alienated from him. When the Bishops of the Anglican church were fulminating against him and his book in a frenzy of vituperation; when ministers and others of the orthodox church wrote publicly and to him privately stinging letters—he answered without anger. But he was often very much depressed, and with the physical pain he suffered so much, came more and more near to abandonment of his work.

But a cheering letter from Lyell, of a defense by Huxley, set him right again, dear, gentle human Darwin.

G. H. Lewes said of him:

"We must call attention to the rare and noble calmness with which he expounds his own views, undisturbed by the heat of potential agitation which those views have excited, and persistently refusing to retort on his antagonists by ridicule, by indignation or by contempt. Considering the amount of vituperation and insinuation that has come from the other side, this forbearance is supremely dignified."

"Nowhere has the author a word that could wound the most sensitive self-love of an antagonist; nowhere does he, in text or note, expose the fallacies and mistakes of brother investigators—but while abstaining from impertinent censure, he is lavish in acknowledging the smallest debts he may owe."

On the afternoon the mother told her impressive story on the witness stand she and her son met midway on the bridge of sighs, whence he was returning to his cell in the Tombs. He burst into tears and throwing his arms about the trembling old lady cried:

"I never knew what a wonderful mother I had."

"Life and Letters of Charles Darwin Authorized Edition.
How simple and frank—to an author who dedicates his book to him—"I have just received your book, and declare that never in my life have I seen a dedication which I admired so much. Of course I am not a fair judge, but I hope that I speak dispassionately, though you have touched me in the very tenderest place."

And of Dr. Pusey who attacks him rudely:

"Many years ago, when I was collecting facts for the 'Origin' my belief in what is called a personal God was as firm as that of Dr. Pusey himself. How modest, too was the Master!"

"Many persons think that what I have done in science has been much overrated, and I very often think so myself; but my comfort is that I have never consciously done anything to gain applause."

He could not hurt an insect or an animal, and when he saw a horse or a dog abused he would be disturbed.

WHICH TEAM WILL DESHA PLAY WITH?

Who will get the services of Eddie Desha, the best pitcher who represented the Puns in the box last year and is supposed to be with them again in the present season. The Puns feel satisfied that they have him on their list and that he will play with them when they are ready for the season's opening. But then the Diamond Heads come in. Yesterday while talking over the make-up of the ball team for this season, Manager Eddie Fernandez was very decided in his statement to the effect that Desha would be the pitcher for his team in the coming season.

Desha seems properly to belong with the Puns, as they have taught him all the baseball he knows and he has been with the team for a long time. If they really need him it would look as if he were rather ungrateful to leave for a new team that is just being formed. But the question is: do they need him? The Puns have Johnny Williams for a pitcher and it is practically certain that he will be the regular man in the box. Why, then, should Desha be forced to stay with the team and play second fiddle to Williams, when he might be the big toad in another puddle? There are very few good pitchers in the town as it is, and to have one team gobble up two of the best is hardly good for the game of baseball. If Desha wants to play with the Diamond Heads the Puns, looking toward the general good of the game, should hardly try to hold him.

If the Diamond Heads do not get Desha they will still have a team which will keep well away from the bottom of the list. Oliver Jones, their catcher, is probably the best man behind the bat in the League and may be depended on to help out any young pitcher. Jim Gorman is another old-timer who will be handy in many ways, while Kia and Fernandez are as well known as any of the local players. The Heads play the Rapid Transit team this afternoon at the League grounds and will line up as follows: O. Jones, c; J. Gorman, 2b; R. Leslie, 3b; H. Sheldon, ss; E. Fernandez, lf; Kia, cf; G. Clarke, rf.

SPORTING NOTES

Yale won the individual intercollegiate championship in swimming at the meet held in Philadelphia on March 16. The scores were as follows: Yale, 21; Pennsylvania, 18; Princeton, 6. Harvard, Brown and Columbia did not compete.

Harvard should have a strong ball team this year, as her infield is intact, she has the best catcher now in college circles and there is only one new man in the outfield. There are a number of strong candidates for the vacancy in the box.

According to the Coast files Cambridge had no trouble whatever in beating Oxford in their annual shell race. Her crew was five lengths to the good at the finish. It was practically the same crew that beat Harvard.

It won't pay to talk back to the umpire in the Coast League this year. The minimum fine, according to President Cal Ewing, will be $20. He also says that no betting on the games will be allowed.

Marvin Hart knocked out Harry Rogers in Hot Springs on March 16 in the second round. The miner was no match for Hart and went out with a right to the jaw.

The St. Mary's College team shut out Stanford at baseball the other day by a score of 4-0. It takes a Catholic College to produce a team of ball-players.

Members of the U. of P. track team complain of discourteous treatment at the hands of Harvard men at the recent meet of the Boston Athletic Association.

In the wrestling match between Hackenschmidt and Dan McLeod recently in Ottumwa, Iowa, the former dislocated his shoulder.

The Scotland team competed the international Ruby series against England, Ireland and Wales without losing a game.

A University of Chicago professor has suggested the endowment of a Department of Athletics.

Jack Palmer will fight Jack "Twin" Sullivan at Los Angeles in the near future.

Another Hebrew-Irish alliance. Abe Attell has married Miss Elizabeth Egan.

Next week the White Rock tournament will be played at the Moanalua links.

C. S. Titus, the champion oarsman of America, will coach the Princeton crews.
