DEMOCRATS TURN FOR HELP TO COL. M'CARTHY HANGING IS SENTENCE OF DR. CRIPPEN

Col. McCarthy Back In Fold

Prominent Democrat Prevailed Upon To Assume County Management

My opinions on the Territorial campaign remain the same. I am not in sympathy with the fight against immigration. I shall not work for Mr. McCandless. My participation in the campaign will be confined to this county. I do not believe in pledging the legislative candidates to an anti-immigration measure, and I shall not mix into McCandless' campaign in any manner.—Statement of Col. C. J. McCarthy on assuming charge of the county Democratic campaign.

Col. C. J. McCarthy, for many years chairman of the committee, resigned one of the leading Democrats of the Territory, today assumed active charge of the Bourbon campaign in Oahu county. Foreseeing inevitable defeat, the Democrats after many attempts, have prevailed upon McCarthy to take up the reins and in the two weeks that are left, they will make a final effort to win back the hundreds of votes that have been alienated since Boss McCandless began his campaign of misrepresentation that has split his own party.

Col. McCarthy was named county campaign chairman and campaign manager at a meeting today of the county campaign committee, of which W. H. McClellan has been chairman. E. M. Watson, who is a member of the committee from the fifth precinct of the fourth district, resigned to let Col. McCarthy, also a member of that precinct, take his place on the county committee. Then W. H. McClellan,

CLARK IS BEFORE COURT

Arraigned On Two Counts Of Embezzlement Today.

Henry N. Clark was arraigned on two counts of embezzlement before Judge Cooper this morning, the aggregate amount charged in the two counts being $393.

The indictments against Clark were made by the Territorial grand jury on October 12 and placed on the secret file of the criminal court late Thursday afternoon, returnable this morning.

The first charge of embezzlement against Clark alleges that on July 18 of this year he converted to his own use the sum of $288, money coming from fines and other sources in the police court.

On the second count Clark is charged with converting to his own use the sum of $105 of police court funds, this defalcation being made on August 22.

Clark has retained as attorney Frank Thompson, but as he was out of town today Attorney Bittling appeared in court on the case.

The attorney for the defense asked that plea in the two cases go over until October 31, as Thompson was on Maui on an important case and could not return before that time.

This was granted by the court, and the case was set for plea at 9 o'clock on Monday week.

The contempt charge against Clark was set for argument before Judge Cooper this morning at 9, but was finally postponed until next Wednesday, with the understanding that a further postponement could be made until Monday, the 31st.

Attorney J. W. Cathcart protested against the allowance of any further time before arguments in the case were submitted to the court, but Bittling explained that the firm was retained on the case solely with the understanding that Frank Thompson give his personal attention to the case.

Thompson is away on Maui on a case there and will hardly return before Saturday of next week, but in event that he does, the case was set for Wednesday, with the provision of a continuance should he not arrive.

BOSS WANTS TO TALK TO LEPERS

McCandless' Manager Thinks Of Forcing Permission To Land.

SAYS DOLE'S RULING GIVES NEEDED POWER

Talk of Going Into Court to Over-ride Decision of Board of Health Against Settlement Campaigning.

"Under the ruling of Judge Dole in the Iauka case, some years ago, I am convinced that Link McCandless, or any other candidate, can go to the settlement and talk to the inmates there, regardless of the rule of the Board of Health."

G. K. Keawehaku, campaign manager of Boss McCandless, made the above statement this morning, in the Democratic headquarters, to a Bulletin reporter.

He stated that the time has come when he, as a campaign manager of McCandless, would do something to show the public that he and his Boss cannot be fooled by those who are in power. He believes that the decision by Federal Judge Dole, granting the right in question to C. P. Iauka, a candidate for Delegate to Congress in 1904, was final. Under that ruling, Keawehaku claims that President Mott-Smith of the Board of Health cannot stop McCandless from going to the settlement and talking politics to the voters there, and says court action will be taken if necessary to get the Boss on Molokai.

In order that Boss McCandless might be prepared to go to the settlement, a wireless message will be sent to him on Maui.

McCandless and Kaniho, who is traveling with him on Maui, will come direct to the settlement, either in a gasoline boat, or on one of the inter-island steamers.

While the Boss's henchmen are talking about going to court to get McCandless a permit to visit the leper settlement, such action is flatly repudiated by the county management.

B. G. Rivenburgh, county manager, today declared that if such a statement was made it emanated from an irresponsible brain. "We would have nothing to do with such a scheme," he said. "The Board of Health has already decided not to allow candidates on Molokai, and we will not try to over-ride it. If any such statement is made, the person making it is foolish."

LINK LOSES SOME LAND

Link McCandless is so busy looking after politics that today he neglected to have a representative present at an auction of land at the capitol and as a result another man has a half-acre holding right in the middle of his property at Kampaiki, Koolau-poko.

There was an auction of two tracts and a lease of one auctioned off by Commissioner of Lands at noon today, and the second one offered was the half-acre tract in the middle of Link's holding, which was put up at an upset price of $65 and sold to Henry Peters for $66, he being the only bidder.

The first tract put up was 51,250 square feet at Alewa Heights which was sold to J. L. Love for $201, the upset price being $200, and Love the only bidder.

Leases of lots F and G at Waikalua, containing 9.63 acres, for five years at an upset price of $151, was made to C. Lyon at $152, there being no other bidder.

TWO COUNTS OF MURDER

Kamaka Faces Charge of Killing Wife and Lover.

Two charges of murder in the first degree have been placed against Makaio Kamaka, who was arraigned on the charges this morning in the criminal court.

Kamaka is the man who on September 17 killed his wife and her lover and then walked to the police station and gave himself up, telling what he had done.

The woman had her throat cut and the man was shot by the inflated husband.

It was only a short time after Kamaka was married to Mele that they were at a neighbor's house for a luau. During the evening he missed his wife from the room and also Liu Ake.

He started to hunt for them and found them a short distance from the house and killed them both.

Murder in the first degree is the charge against him on two counts, and he will plead to the charges on Monday, October 31.

Attorney Rawlins will appear for the defense in the case.

MEDEIROS ILL WITH TYPHOID

At the advice of Dr. Straub, Medeiros has been obliged to relinquish his duties at the customs and take to his bed.

It is hoped that his illness will be of short duration.

The Woman's Guild of St. Clement's church will hold a Delicatessen Sale on Saturday morning, October 29th, in the store recently vacated by the Arts and Crafts Shop on Fort street near King. Besides the usual good things to eat, there will be chicken pies, cold boiled ham, turkey, pork and bean and lemon and pumpkin pies. The candy table will be under the efficient charge of Mrs. Newcomb who will have on hand all kinds of delicious home-made sweets.

Speedy Action In Murder Case

Dr. Crippen Is Found Guilty and Sentenced To Hang November 15

LONDON, Eng., Oct. 22.—Dr. Hawley Crippen must hang. Charged with murdering his wife, Belle Elmore, an actress, he was convicted today by a jury. The jury was out only half an hour. Step by step the evidence had been built up against the American dentist until there remained little doubt of his guilt.

Immediately following the verdict of the jury, sentence was pronounced. He was sentenced to be hanged on November 15.

Dr. Crippen, pale but composed, received the verdict calmly. In a statement made just after it had been announced and sentence imposed, he again protested his innocence.

The conviction of Crippen brings to an end one of the most celebrated cases in English criminal annals. He was accused of murdering Belle Elmore, last February and of burying her body in the cellar of a deserted house under a bed of quicklime. The discovery of the murder was made on July 13.

Crippen fled to Canada on board a steamer, in company with his stenographer, Ethel Clare Leneve. The chase by Scotland Yard was sensational, and the capture of Crippen when the steamer reached Canada was no less sensational. They were immediately taken back to England.

The trial of Miss Leneve, Crippen's pretty stenographer, will begin next Tuesday.

ESTATE OF TOM MAY IS WORTH NEARLY A MILLION OF DOLLARS

Nearly a million dollars, or, to be exact, $960,874.44, is the appraised value of the estate of the late Tom May, which was filed in court today by the appraisers, M. T. Simonson, F. B. Damon and J. L. Fleming.

According to the appraisement the deceased left bonds to the value of $70,345, stocks at $718,735, notes and mortgages $95,439.77, real estate $29,490, and cash on hand amounting to $46,864.67.

The holdings of the deceased were practically all in Honolulu and Hawaii, although a few thousands were invested in enterprises on the Coast.

In the bond holdings there were but two outside Hawaii, one being California Beet and Refining Company, amounting to $5000, and the other San Joaquin L. & P. Co., bonds which are valued at $24,250. The largest bond holdings in any one concern in Hawaii are Hilo Railway Company, in which there is $27,000 worth of bonds held.

The largest block of stock left by the deceased is that owned in C. Brewer & Co., in which there are 890 shares valued at $234,800. Practically all the stocks held are in Hawaiian companies, but there are several small blocks of stocks in enterprises both here and on the Coast which are given as of no value.

There are notes and mortgages amounting to $95,439.77, besides personal notes of people in this city aggregating $10,000, which are stated as of no value.

Real estate is that on Kinau, Lanailo and Pensacola streets, containing 120,000 square feet and valued at $26,099. Household furniture is given as of the value of $500.

Besides the lot mentioned, there is land at Kalihi valued at $400, and four other lots of land of a total valuation of $2500.

Cash received from P. C. Jones, as special administrator of the estate, amounting to $46,864.67, is on hand, making a total value of the estate of $960,874.44.

STRAIGHT TICKET TALKS

COL. C. W. ZIEGLER—Ordinary political issues aside, the straight Republican ticket is the only one to vote in the coming election. The Democrats are campaigning on promises they don't mean, and if they should succeed in their plans, it would be a serious blow to the prosperity of the Territory. I hope for a rousing Republican victory and for good government that follows it.

HIGH SHERIFF WILLIAM HENRY—There would be no question among fair-minded men as to their duty in this campaign. The issue is clean-cut, good candidates, fair issues on one side, and on the other a ticket hampered by some of the men on it and a platform that if carried into effect would be a serious blow to Hawaii. Let's get together with a vim and elect the Republican ticket from top to bottom.

PORTUGUESE-AMERICANS BY THOUSANDS GATHER TO HEAR REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN TALKS

Republican candidates are off today for Kahuku, where a big meeting is to be held tonight. The train leaving the Honolulu depot shortly after 3 o'clock today will carry practically every county and legislative candidate, and a number of enthusiastic party workers besides.

Andrew Adams is in charge of the Kahuku meeting, and advance reports are that it will be one of the greatest of the campaign. The candidates are working together with a will, and they are filled with campaign speeches. McCandless' campaign of misrepresentation has resulted in giving his opponents plenty of handles for the arguments.

Campaign headquarters in the Judd building were practically deserted today, every man being occupied in hustling in his own precinct. The Republican campaign is splendidly organized, and today the management is feeling more optimistic than ever.

"Don't be dissatisfied. Don't let the Democratic demagogues fool you with promises they can't fulfill," was the doctrine set forth by Republican speakers last night at what is said to be the biggest political meeting ever held on Punchbowl. More than 2500 people were present, and the big audience was closely attentive, in marked contrast to the unruly mob who made trouble for the Democrats on the previous evening.

Most of the Republican candidates were present, and every speaker was cheered as he was introduced and again as he took his leave. More than that, the real Portuguese-American politicians on the outside of the crowd were busy Republican workers, every one, and there were dozens of informal little speeches being made all the time, via the buttonhole route.

Ed. Towse, candidate for the House, ripped through with a ringing speech that made a deep impression. Towse had a sore throat from much campaigning, but when he got warmed up and began to tear the Democrats into shreds, he forgot about that and made a rattling address.

"The Democrats stand for nothing but dissatisfaction," Towse declared. "They come before you with false promises simply to make you dissatisfied with your present state. But what have they to offer that is better? They are simply after votes. Simply after office."

"You are not going to be fooled by the wild promises they make as to land, are you? Don't let them deceive you and make monkeys of you. It won't get you anything."

Robert W. Shingle, candidate for treasurer, talked along the same line, devoting particular attention to demolishing the Democratic promises that if a Bourbon ticket is elected the laborers will receive from $2 to $4 a day. Shingle talked in a calm, logical way, and his common-sense made an instant impression.

"The Democrats show that they have not your interests at heart when they talk of giving you big wages and know they can't do it," declared Shingle. "They are resorting to any desperate measure to get votes."

Many other candidates spoke and they all were cheered. On the outskirts of the crowd, R. H. Trent, Democratic candidate for treasurer, and E. M. Watson, a Bourbon campaigner, were prowling, with the glad-hand for anybody. Somebody in the crowd yelled, "Ask Trent what he thinks about immigration," but either Trent did not hear or he did not want to answer, for he paid no attention.

HINDOO INVASION MAY HAVE EXPERIENCED TEMPORARY SLUMP

KOREA CARRIES A FEW UNDESIRABLES - SCHOONER MARSTON BREAKS RECORD FOR BIG SHIPMENT OF HARDWOOD RAILWAY TIES TO COAST - MAUNA KEA BROUGHT LIGHT LIST OF PASSENGERS AND FREIGHT.

Hindoo immigration has suffered a temporary slump according to reports brought to Honolulu from the Orient by the Pacific Mail liner Korea.

The steamship arrived from Hongkong and the Japanese ports yesterday afternoon and among three hundred and fifty Atlantic passengers traveling in the steerage but a lonely half dozen East Indians were found.

The Korea steamed across the long log of the Pacific with a rather light list of cabin passengers. Upon arrival here but fifty three were found enrolled. An equal number will join the ship at this port for San Francisco.

It has been a lovely trip and we have a fine crowd of passengers, was the rejoinder from Purser Billie Allen who is one of few men that can attend to at least a half dozen distinct and separate matters at one and the same time and wear a smile that simply won't wear off either by the action of wind or water.

Three passengers will remain at Honolulu. T. J. Van Cleve is the traveling steward connected with the Pacific Mail Steamship Company. He has been in the East looking over matters connected with his department. He will remain over at Honolulu until the arrival of the Mongolia.

Alfred Harrison is completing a tour of the Orient. He is accompanied by his niece, Miss Ethel K. Harrison. Brigadier General Ramsey D. Potts who has been commanding the department of Luzon, Philippine Islands. He is on his way home where he is to be retired in the early part of November. His retirement will cause the promotion of Colonel Macomb who will come to Honolulu to assume command of the 2nd district of Hawaii.

Messrs. Forrester, Heliyer and Gottlieb are tea men who are returning to the mainland after completing extensive purchases of the present season's crop.

The Korea is carrying a large and valuable cargo to the mainland in addition to the nearly fourteen hundred tons that have been left at Honolulu. The shipment for the United States includes a quantity of silk, tea and there is one half million of specie for San Francisco.

Shipping at the port of Hilo at the time of departure of the steamer Mauna Kea included the Matson Navigation steamer Enterprise from San Francisco by the way of Honolulu. This vessel has discharged four hundred tons of freight and is expected to sail for Mahukona on Sunday there to take on five hundred tons of sugar for the coast. The American schooner Borealis sailed on Wednesday for the coast taking ballast only. On the morning of the same day, the schooner W. H. Marston departed for Honolulu taking the largest shipment of hardwood railway ties ever shipped from that port.

More Tonnage for North Pacific. Two new steamboats, the Oretic and Luercio, of the Weir Steamship Company, now loading at Cardiff and Glasgow, respectively, will soon start on their long passage to Puget Sound, where they will be added to the Waterhouse line to the Orient. The Oretic is taking on coal at Cardiff for Valparaiso and other Chilean ports, while the Luercio will take a general cargo from Glasgow and Liverpool to Seattle and British Columbia ports.

From San Francisco to Sydney Direct. Sir James Mills, founder and president of the Union Steamship Company, will come to San Francisco to complete arrangements with the Oceanic Steamship Company for the establishment of an agency for the line of two vessels that the Union Company will soon inaugurate between San Francisco and the Colonies. The steamers Aorangi and Maitai are being overhauled for the run and are now at Wellington, N. Z.

Mauna Kea Brought Few Passengers. A fair sized list of passengers and a light shipment of freight arrived with the steamer Mauna Kea from Hilo this morning. The cargo included consignments of hides, awa, fish, cord wood, chickens, vegetables, 249

A Wild West Show, with improvements, is being talked of at Hilo to take place on New Year's Day. Ollie B. Shipman, of the Keauau ranch, and George Richardson are two of those who are thinking of this plan, though no definite steps have yet been taken, owing to the fact that with the political campaign at hand, there is little time for anything else. Still it seems fairly certain that something of this kind will be taken up.

"BILLIE" ALLEN A BENEDICT?

W. A. Allen, a veteran purser on the Pacific Mail liner Korea, better known to thousands of trans-Pacific travelers and to shipping and business men of two continents as "Billie" soon to become a benedict, forsake a life on the bounding wave to take up the quiet pursuit of a retired rancher, is the rumor that has swept the spacious promenade decks of the Korea for a week past.

To see Billie Allen adorning a back-ground other than that of the deck of a steamer or the office of a purser is a picture that is very difficult to imagine by the host of friends of the genial Pacific Mail officer at the port of Honolulu.

Nevertheless, Dame Rumor has been exceedingly busy in juggling with the name of Purser Allen and that of the wealthy and beautiful niece of a big ranch owner on the Pacific coast.

The lady in question is a passenger on board the Korea and is returning with that vessel after almost two years touring of the world, a considerable portion of the time being spent in the Far East.

It was not until the lines had been cast off and the Korea swung around into the stream preparatory to taking up the voyage to San Francisco that a partial verification of the story of Little Dan Cupid's conquest was forthcoming. A few intimate friends of Purser Allen claim to have been let into the little secret just before the steamer departed for the coast at noon today.

The popular purser has always been considered proof against the insidious little darts, shot from the bow by the Deity of Love.

The only way that the affair can be accounted for is that it was a case of the time, the place and the girl, and "Billie" therefore decided that the life of a land lubber under such happy conditions could hardly be cast aside.

It is claimed that Mr. Allen will lead his beautiful and accomplished bride to the altar soon following the arrival of the Korea at San Francisco.

CHANGED PLAN OF HILO WHARF

New Direction Thought to Be of More Commercial Value, Deeper Water.

According to the plan which has been made for the wharf of the Hilo Railroad Company, the new structure will occupy an entirely different position from that which was proposed at the time of the meeting on harbor lines in this city. Mr. L. A. Thurston, when he arrived yesterday, brought with him a map showing a new plan for the wharf, in which the location is shown as lying at almost right angles to the former location. The start would be made from certain property now under lease to Carl S. Smith, and just toward Hilo from the Metzger house, and would run from there out towards the breakwater.

Mr. Thurston stated that the plan which had been proposed at first had been considered, and on account of the depth of the water and the character of the bottom, as found in the borings made by Engineer Rowell, a suitable wharf could not be built and be a commercial success. On this account the plan would have to be changed.

Edward H. Southworth was today appointed administrator of the estate of Harold Lord on petition of Mary Johnson. The estate is valued at $525 in cash and the only heir is George Lord.

Plenty of Business Reported. Bates & Chenebrouth, who have put on an independent line of steamers to carry cargo to New York, via the Isthmus, in competition with the Pacific Mail Company, announced on September 27 that they now have enough cargo in hand to maintain a weekly service, instead of bi-monthly sailings, as heretofore scheduled.

Additions to Packers' Fleet. It is generally understood in shipping circles that the American ships Atlas and Astral, now on the coast, will be with the big salmon packer fleet of the Alaska Packers' Association, when they clear from San Francisco next year for the northern canneries.

SPEEDY COMEDY WILL BE BILL

Howard Company to Present "Christopher, Jr." Next Week.

"The Witching Hour," which has scored the biggest hit of any play ever presented at the New Orpheum, will be given its final performance tonight, although it could have been continued another week had the management seen fit to deviate from the announced policy to change the bill semi-weekly. It is expected that the New Orpheum will be crowded to the doors this evening, as already almost every seat in the house has been sold or reservation made for telephone. Owing to the great demand for seats for the last performance of "The Witching Hour," the management wishes to announce that no telephone orders will be received after 7 o'clock and that reservations made by telephone during the week or today will be held after 8:05 p. m. to those on the waiting list.

"Christopher Jr.," the comedy to be presented by George B. Howard and his splendid company the first part of next week, is the well-known laugh provoker made famous by Maude Adams and John Drew, and it is said to be a splendid vehicle of expression for the versatile talents of the players and promises another treat of the kind that Honoluluans so much relish.

The plot is an epitome of real life and it concerns a young man, son of a millionaire, who suffers financial embarrassment as a result of his penchant for fast and furious living. His father, a stern, forbidding, pompous old gentleman, with ostentatious pride, consents to restore him to favor if he will consent to marry his partner's daughter. This the young man refuses, and what is more, can not, since he has entered into a secret marriage with a girl whom he has never seen. The son goes to Bombay, where, unknown to himself, the girl with whom he had contracted the marriage is also living. Of course, it comes out in the end. It always does, but not before funny situations and hilarious complications are brought to the surface.

of his friends brought him back. No one has ever questioned McCarthy's part yesterday, and this was played up until he agreed to take up the tangled ends of the Bourbon campaign and try to weave them into a victory.

"I am coming back to work for the party because I believe that the county ticket should be elected," said Col. McCarthy today. "I think the legislative candidates should not mixed up in the territorial campaign as has been done. I am putting aside some personal feelings in the matter for the sake of the party."

Retiring Manager Rivenburgh said: "With both my own and the county campaign to look after, I found that each was suffering. I had no time for both, and now will be able to devote myself to getting into the senate, although I shall of course lend my best efforts on behalf of the entire ticket."

The news that McCarthy's friends had finally succeeded in getting him to take hold of the campaign went around town quickly and many were the opinions heard. A good many feel that not only is the colored hurting himself by a change of attitudes, but the campaign itself is injured, because of the change of managers so late in the day. Many of McCarthy's personal friends regret that he has seen fit to go back into the Democratic camp so long as McCandless continues to campaign on the same party ticket.

The report was received at Republican headquarters jubilantly. It is taken as an open confession of weakness on the part of the Democrats and an avowal that their campaign has been mismanaged woefully.

NIGHTMARE WARSHIP IS LATEST THING

Strange Craft Said to Be Capable of Attacking Largest of Enemy.

BERLIN, Oct. 1.—The Vorwaerts, the leading Berlin Socialist newspaper, which usually possesses excellent sources of information, and has frequently, by its far-reaching connections, given official secrets to the world, publishes an extraordinary story of a new type of motor-driven warship which Germany has under construction.

The details of this amazing ship given by the Vorwaerts seem a little far fetched, but if they are correct they prove that while Great Britain has been experimenting with internal combustion engines for the smallest ships in her fleet, Germany has already adopted them for her most powerful, and has evolved a type of warship more formidable than anything that has ever been dreamed of and capable of throwing a projectile weighing more than two tons and a half.

Two Mighty Guns.
The Vorwaerts gives the following details of the new ship:
"The length is 284 feet, breadth 45 feet, draught 22 feet. The deck, which only projects 5 feet above the surface of the water, is protected by armor of such a thickness and arranged in such a way that it appears impossible for any projectile now in existence to pierce it.

"The ship will have a single turret, which will revolve, and will be situated exactly amidships. It will be armed with two mighty guns, capable of firing shells so quickly that all existing weapons will be entirely eclipsed by its marvelous performance.

"The new gun has a caliber of 17 inches, and the weight of the projectile thrown is 2 tons 13 cwt.

"In spite of their size, it will be possible to handle these guns easily and promptly by hydraulic machinery. The revolving turret's axle will be a short mast, on which the captain's conning tower will be placed. This also will be protected by thick armor.

"This curious system of construction is rendered possible by the absence of funnels and the substitution of gas for steam. The new German ship will have four gas-driven motors, each of eight cylinders and developing 6000 horsepower. Each motor works quite independently of the others and drives a separate screw, giving a speed of twenty-seven knots.

Can Attack Great Ships.
"According to the expectations of the German naval authorities, the new ship will be capable of delivering an attack on the largest existing battleships. More than this, it is probable that no existing battleship could withstand its onslaught, so that its appearance is likely to produce a revolution in naval ship building.

"A part from its capabilities of dealing with the biggest existing battleships, the new ship will be invulnerable against attacks from future aeroplanes or airships which may drop explosives from the clouds owing to the peculiar construction of its deck and its unusually thick armor.

"Ventilators driven by electricity will purify the air of the engine rooms from any escaped gases. In case of rough weather the ship is provided with a new kind of miniature breakwater, which could be affixed to the deck before the revolving turret. This contrivance is necessary owing to the low decks, which would be swept by the heavy sea."

Almost a Submarine.
If the details of this new ship given by the Vorwaerts are correct, Germany has effected a revolution in naval shipbuilding which will take away the breath of British naval constructors and engineers.

A deck only five feet above the surface of the water sounds more like a submarine than a battleship.

Then the 17-inch gun throwing a projectile of 2 tons 13 cwt. is a gigantic step further than anything that has ever been done in this direction. The German navy at present has nothing better to show than an 11-inch gun throwing about 700 pounds of metal, although it is probable that Germany's new ships will carry a 14-inch weapon.

The largest British gun is the 13.5-inch with which the Lion and Orion will be armed. It throws a projectile of over 1200 pounds, or a little more than half a ton, so that two of the guns which the Vorwaerts describes would be equal to the whole primary armament of the Orion, which will carry ten 13.5-inch guns.

The dimensions of the ship given by the Vorwaerts indicate that she is about as long and nearly twice as broad as one of our largest destroyers.

The United States destroyer Paulding, which consumes oil fuel only, has completed a four-hour's steam trial at an average speed of 32.8 knots.

MANY ARTISTS ARE ENGAGED

This morning a cable was received from Jack Scully, who is at present on the Coast; the new theatrical manager has engaged ten artists for his new Savoy theatre, and five of the company will arrive on the Sierra, the rest of the vaudeville people will come in on the Mongolia in company with Scully.

Scully is said to have engaged the best available talent and as he knows the local people, the show he will put on is expected to be the best ever shown in Honolulu moving picture houses.

E. J. Love is looking after Scully's interests, and he stated this morning that the new Savoy will open on about November 4. The new building is rapidly approaching completion and it is predicted that the theatre will be one of the best in the city.

OBSERVATORY AT VOLCANO

Delicate Instruments to Be Located at Kilauea—Money on Hand.

The Kilauea observatory which was proposed by Professor Jaeger about a year ago, is now certain to be established, according to Territorial Forester Ralph S. Hoamer, who has been in this city and the vicinity for the past ten days. The money for the work is already in the hands of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, which will have charge of the undertaking, or has been subscribed by Honolulu people, and eleven cases of the most delicate seismographic instruments are now in the Honolulu Custom House awaiting the arrival of Professor Jaeger, who will make a personal trip to Hawaii to take charge of their installation. — Hawaii Herald.

The glory of life is to love, not to be loved; to give, not to get; to serve, not to be served. To be a strong hand in the dark to another in the time of need; to be a cup of strength to a human soul in a crisis of weakness is to know the glory of life.—Rev. Hugh Black.

Trent is McCandless and McCandless is Trent.

The affairs of this Territory are to be conducted on the basis of manhood, not dollars.

Boss McCandless will not require the use of a shoe horn to get his hat on "the morning after."

A Territorial tragedy would be the election of McCandless to the Delegation, or his right hower Trent to the Treasurership.

Honolulu has always had enough money to build a church and establish a mission. So don't let 1916 record a fall from Grace.

After witnessing the game of football under the revised rules it is impossible to say whether they were revised upward or downward.

Theodore speaks for Henry Cabot Lodge in his capacity as a friend. For Henry Cabot could probably insure if the political exigencies called for it.

Glens Falls, N. Y., will soon be in the class of "Mother of Governors." Both candidates for Governor of New York at the coming election were born there.

When Honolulu was asked for funds for the Y. M. C. A. the people oversubscribed. Now that the Methodist church is asking for a little more money, certainly Honolulu's reputation should be upheld to the limit of $10,000 at least.

No power other than the power expressed by the will of the people through a straight Republican vote will permit this Territory to keep its surfbord on the crest of the wave of prosperity as has been done in the past under Republican administrations.

This idea of figuring that Trent is not with McCandless, gives you an example of popular errors. The Boss and the Deacon are working the game together. The Boss is playing to the anti-missionary and the Deacon to the missionary crowd, and they think it will work.

Hawaiians have gained a reputation as loyal Americans. A vote against European immigration will ruin that reputation. Though Americans might vote for McCandless and Trent, and therefore against immigration, the Hawaiian-Americans would have to shoulder the discredit of it, because they control the electorate.

HELPING BOYS TO BE GOOD FARMERS.

Every local effort to secure a move through the public schools for better education in agriculture meets with opposition. But the day is fast approaching when the reactionaries of poverty and ignorance and the reactionaries of wealth and intelligence must learn that small farming and intelligent agriculture must begin in the schools if it is to be made a success.

Dubuque, Iowa, has instituted an active fight against the "lure of the city," which is drawing boys from the farms and small towns to the large centers of population. A school has been established where youngsters from 12 to 16 years old can live out of doors, learn the practical lessons of the farm and at the same time follow the same course of "book study" pursued in other schools. This institution is called "Park Life" and was founded two years ago by Prof. B. J. Horchem of Dubuque as an experiment. The plan is to train young boys along useful, interesting and healthful lines, to keep them busy throughout the year and to instill in them a real love for out-of-door life, and, above all, for productive occupations.

All the work of the school centers about "the farm," where the boys are taught the simple elements of scientific farming, how to raise the different varieties of garden truck and how and when to plant the staple crops, such as wheat, corn, rye and barley. The boys also are taught about cattle, sheep and poultry.

In addition to this the school grounds must be kept up and the youthful farmers get experience in agricultural engineering, such as ditch and well digging, road building and irrigation.

In the summer the boys live in tents, cooking their own food and occasionally taking a "hike" to places of interest. Once every summer a longer trip is taken. In 1909 the boys went to the Dells of Wisconsin. Last August twelve of them, under the guidance of Prof. Horchem, went to Chicago. They stayed four days, seeing the city from one end to the other. They were greatly impressed and returned home full of reports of the wonderful things they had seen, but at the same time glad to "get back to the farm."

All this activity is carried on in addition to the regular school work. The boys are instructed in all the regular courses of study.

"The object of the school," says Prof. Horchem, "is to instill into the boys a genuine love for the farm. We are trying to counteract influences that are drawing the country boys to the big cities. There is no doubt that the cities have a strong attraction for young America and the way to counteract it is to bring the boys up to love the country. Our boys are interested in the work and are busy all the time. That, I think, is the solution of the 'boy problem.'"

The school is attracting interest all over the country and Dubuque people are satisfied with the promise of the new departure.

In Hawaii the leading purpose of such a school should be to prove to the young men the dignity of manual labor, and the economic value of becoming an efficient tiller of the soil.

HOT WATER

The Ruud Automatic Gas Water-Heater is different—essentially better than all other water-heaters. The difference is a pronounced betterment in hot water service. Imagine for a minute an ideal hot water service—wouldn't it begin and end at the faucet? The has done just this, it has reduced the hot water problem to a turn of the faucet—it's as easy to get steaming hot water now as cold water—you don't go near the Ruud itself—you don't have to strike even a match.

The Ruud differs from ordinary water-heaters in efficiency—it is independent of the kitchen range—a luxury in summer time—stands in your basement—self-operating and safe.

Finally, there's a difference in the hot water—never "lukewarm," but always heated to a fixed temperature predetermined by yourself—and the water is fresh, taken clear and cold from the water mains and heated instantly as it flows.

The initial cost of the Ruud is the final cost—so moderate that you cannot afford to buy a cheaper water-heater—or to put up longer with the vexations of the old one. Study this mechanical masterpiece at close range. Investigate NOW.

"There is more money to be made in oil today than ever before in the history of the country." ---D. EVANS, U.S.N., (Retired) President California Consolidated Oil Company

THE CALIFORNIA CONSOLIDATED OIL COMPANY Presents to You a Dignified Plan of Investment in an Enterprise of Solid Worth, of Actual and Substantial Merit; Backed and Managed by Interests of Unquestioned Integrity.

It is a proposition made possible only through the co-operation of investors who placed their interest in the hands of men upon whom they can rely with absolute confidence. The field to be covered is so large, the property to be acquired so rich and the necessity for funds so imperative, that no small group of capitalists or detached body of investors could begin to perform what the California Consolidated Oil Company expects to accomplish.

THE OFFICERS

President, REAR-ADMIRAL ROBLEY D. EVANS, U. S. N. (retired) Washington, D. C.
 Vice-President, ROBERT S. McCREERY New York City
 Treasurer, THEODORE P. GILMAN New York City
 Secretary, ROBERT LEE DUNN New York City and San Francisco

Board of Directors REAR-ADMIRAL ROBLEY D. EVANS, U. S. N. (retired), ROBERT S. McCREERY, Vice-President of the James McCreery Realty Corporation, New York City, THEODORE P. GILMAN, ex-Controller State of New York and President General Electric Inspection Co., New York City; also President Flower Waste and Packing Co., New York City, HON. JOHN W. MITCHELL, Vice-President Bank of Southern California, Los Angeles, California, HON. MEREDITH P. SNYDER, President California Savings Bank; Member Los Angeles Clearing House Committee; three times Mayor Los Angeles, Los Angeles, California, FRANK N. FISH, Cashier Metropolis Trust & Savings Bank, San Francisco, California, ROBERT LEE DUNN, Managing Director Lincoln Memorial Endowment Association, New York City.

These men are active in the affairs of today. Whether you have one hundred dollars or one hundred thousand to invest it will pay you to read every word of the unusual proposition below. It may mean a life of ease for you or merely the addition of a few figures to your bank balance. Certainly no better investment has ever been presented to you.

Detailed Statement of the Unusual Offer to Investors

The company has just been organized, under the strict laws of California having an authorized capitalization of 10,000,000 shares of a par value of $1.00 per share. It has been organized under a broad charter which enables it to acquire and develop proven California Oil properties, construct pipe lines, build refineries and engage in any other business appertaining to the Oil industry.

Deals have already been consummated for the acquisition of at least three of the leading individual oil companies of California. The net income of these companies at this time, conservatively estimated at a very low price for crude oil, is about $800,000 per annum. This represents a profit of 10 per cent per annum on the entire capitalization of the California Consolidated Oil Company at the present price of the stock, regardless of future development.

Properties and Earning Power

The properties proposed to be operated by the California Consolidated Oil Company, being being operated as three individual oil companies are as follows:
MASCOT OIL COMPANY—located in the Midway District, consists of 160 acres. Equipped with 24 wells. Four additional wells now being drilled. Present output 90,000 barrels per month, provides a net income of $260,000 per annum. Has a contract for the delivery of 5,000,000 barrels of oil at a gross price of $2,500,000. Now paying dividends of 2 per cent per month.

PREMIER OIL COMPANY—located in Coalinga Oil Fields. Property consists of 160 acres. Fourteen producing wells, one now being drilled and one ready for drilling. These 16 wells, basing the figures upon the present production of the 14 now producing, will yield at least 864,000 barrels yearly. This means a net income of $240,000. Has been paying dividends at the rate of 12 per cent per annum.

YELLOWSTONE OIL COMPANY—holding in Kern River, Sunset and McKittrick Fields. Property consists of 225 acres, all leased to other companies except 10 acres. This 10 acres being operated by the company contains 5 wells.

The estimates of profit from the Mascot and Premier properties above are based upon the present 50 wells upon the two properties. In the judgment of the best oil experts of California, these properties will easily support 140 wells. On the same conservative basis of estimate, this should provide a net income of $1,600,000 per annum. This estimate is based upon the two properties alone, making no allowance for the Yellowstone property or for other profitable branches of the industry into which this corporation will enter.

Underwriters' Syndicate Announcement
 Instead of following the usual practice of alloting this stock to a few capitalists as underwriters, and paying them for the disposal of same, it has been decided to organize an Underwriters' Syndicate. Readers of this publication are invited to join us by purchasing stock at the Underwriters' Syndicate price, the proceeds of which will go toward the payment of the properties. This gives each individual the privilege of associating himself with the organizers of the company, thereby securing the advantages usually accorded to underwriters or the founders of a company of this character.

The fact that this method of financing a conservative corporation is unusual, will, we believe, make it all the more attractive to the American public. We are sure that the investors of the nation large and small alike, will be glad of the opportunity to join in the organization of a company of this kind on the underwriters' basis, and will favor the idea of participating in the market at the bottom and not at the top, particularly in a company which has been organized by men of unimpeachable integrity for the protection of stockholders' interests.

The Underwriters' Syndicate price of the capital stock of the California Consolidated Oil Company is 60 cents per share. No order can be accepted for less than 100 shares. The allotment of stock at this price is necessarily limited. The demand for the stock is very great. It is therefore important that orders should be sent immediately.

IN BUSINESS CIRCLES

Just the suggestion of a mid-season boom entered the sugar stock market this week. It was based on the newspaper cables of the extensive damage done the Cuban sugar crop by the severe storm that has swept that section of the world.

Although the storm did a great amount of injury, the result was very like what has happened before—the wind was not heavy enough to break down the cane and the rain did the crop good. Newspaper correspondents reported the general damage, which, so far as the sugar growers are concerned, is quickly repaired.

On the basis of this news the market took quite a turn for the better and an advance in the price of beet strengthened the belief that the speculators of Europe were banking on some shortage of the estimated Cuban crop.

On Thursday however, Alexander & Baldwin cabled to their New York correspondents and learned from them that the damage had been very slight and the rains beneficial. This cable also stated that the American raw sugar market will follow the European market up or down, and gave the estimated European beet crop as 7,700,000 long tons.

This means that the large crop of Europe predicted by the Lights some weeks ago is coming up to the highest estimates that had been made. Taking this into consideration with the only slightly damaged Cuban crop and there is no doubt that the world's sugar crop this year will be one of the largest for many years, and the price of raw sugar will be comparatively low.

Sugar Prices.

The developments of the last two weeks are such as to confirm the advice made in these columns that the purchasers of sugar stocks this season base their plans on three-and-one-half-cent sugar.

It is the old story of a two years high price of sugar in the world's markets stirring the European farmers to plant large crops of sugar beets. And they are or will be flooding the market. In addition to this Cuba's crop is always increasing, as Cuba is the natural sugar cane country of the world.

Cuban Speculation.

In this connection, it is reported in some of the journals that the speculators of Great Britain are turning to Cuba. They have got through with the boom of the Malay States and are now led into investment in Cuban agricultural securities. It is claimed that the London excitement will soon be as marked as it was at one time over rubber, and the South African speculations.

Our Own Crop.

Conditions as regards our own sugar crop continue satisfactory. This season's crop is coming along well and, although more labor could be used, there is no serious pinch reported. The weather conditions, particularly on Kauai, have been very favorable.

Quotations.

Stock quotations during the week have been ruled almost exclusively by the news from Cuba, and the prospective price of sugar. The whole list went up on the newspaper dispatches and down again on the information given out by Alexander & Baldwin, and the further drop in the price of raw sugar. There has been no change in the condition of the plantation properties.

Waiakua and Pioneer are two of the stocks that appear likely to have reached the bedrock price for the season, as their regular dividends, like those of all the principal plantations, will be continued through the coming year, unless something very unexpected happens on the plantations or in the world markets.

Money Market.

In view of these conditions at the source of Hawaii's income the money market has of course taken on a more conservative tone, although it cannot be said that the market is tight.

This is the time of year when the banks find it advisable to retrench to some extent as taxes will be paid between now and the fifteenth of November.

Tax Period.

The suggestion has been made that the period of money stringency during the tax time would be somewhat alleviated if the payers of large taxes would make their payments previous to the last week of the tax paying time. This would distribute the payments over a wider period, supply the government with ample funds to carry in the treasury and allow it to immediately redeposit the surplus in the banks where it will render general circulation.

The moral of this suggestion is that to pay your taxes early you might assist in preventing tight money at tax time. As a matter of fact there is a greater prospect of money being tight at the May tax-paying time than now. In the spring, the banks are feeling the pressure of the plantation overdrafts, and the returns from the crops have hardly begun to come in. Right now the sugar returns are in and the dividends are being paid. If it were not for the certainty of low sugar prices there would be no suggestion of tight money or especially conservative loaning policies.

Street Railway Extension.

The Rapid Transit has begun work on double tracking King street. The present double track scheme will carry through from Kawaiaho church, where the men are now at work, to Palama and also from King to Berea on Alakea street. It will greatly improve the city service and enable the cars to keep more nearly on schedule. Under the new arrangement of the car service, the Fort street and Punahou cars will run through to the Iron Works and take the waterfront traffic. The car on Alakea street from King to the waterfront will be taken off. The Emma street cars will run through onto King and continue along King up Liliha, thus forming a belt line from upper Liliha around to Punchbowl by way of King.

The time will probably come when the Punahou line will be diverted down Alakea and stop at Fort street, making the corner of Fort and King the general transfer center of the town.

Before the year is out the Rapid Transit Company will have spent upwards of $200,000 in the improvement of its plant, all of which is necessitated by the increasing demands on the car service. This is one of the best evidences of the growth of the town.

If the Quartermaster General were so minded, he could settle important matters of transportation while in the city, in a way that would assure the extension of the Rapid Transit through to Fort Shafter and the naval station at Pearl Harbor. Whether he will do it or not depends principally on how deeply he is impressed with here with the need for aggressive operations for the development of connections between the town and the army and navy posts.

Holiday May Come.

There was a report current during the week that Admiral Holiday is to visit the city again. If Admiral Holiday and Quartermaster General Aleishire were to work together to push operations in their respective departments there would be lively times in Honolulu.

New Buildings.

Downtown building operations have begun to attract attention as a result of the conviction gradually working through the heads of the people and the investors that this city is bound to grow.

The Charles Brewer Estate has begun opening up the passageway between Hotel and King streets and will probably soon begin construction of the buildings in rear of the Fort street property so as to give clients there the space they are so anxiously seeking.

Active plans are being made for the erection of a building opposite the Young Hotel on Bishop street. Nothing exactly definite has been reached beyond the fact that the discussion is serious. If this property is occupied it will give Honolulu a principal retail street with no streetcar track.

There is a probability that this building may be constructed so as to give the city additional hotel space.

Tourists.

Speaking of hotels, the reports from the Promotion Committee all promise that Honolulu will this winter have the largest tourist season it has ever known. Excursion parties are negotiating with the regular steamship lines and special excursions from Seattle and Los Angeles are being talked. The Seattle excursion may be considered a certainty. The Los Angeles scheme will be accepted as first when it materializes. The first Los Angeles excursion had the misfortune to be unfortunate in the selection of its steamship. That gave a black eye to the whole trip. Although Los Angeles has talked excursion more than any other city of the Coast, it has never sent a party here direct since the eventful trip of the Ohio.

STOCK MARKET IS STILL GOING DOWN

Reaction After Cuban Reports Finds Expression in Declining Prices.

Receding prices marked the local sugar market today, the saccharine securities following the trend of yesterday, a reaction from the boom caused by the unfavorable reports from Cuba.

Oahu and Oiaa were the leading stocks today in point of trading, many blocks of varying sizes changing hands. Oiaa is low and there are a good many purchasers.

YANAGI WISHED FOR SENTENCE
Said He Would Go to Prison Rather Than Stand Second Trial.

"I am not guilty of the crime, but I had rather plead guilty and get a year than stay in jail awaiting a new trial," said Yanagi in the criminal court this morning.

The Japanese was tried a short time ago in the charge of assault with a weapon with intent to commit murder, and the jury could not reach a verdict in the case.

When Yanagi made his statement before the court, Judge Cooper told him that it was not the intention of the court to accept a plea of guilty from a man who was not guilty.

This was explained to the Japanese and he replied that if he could get a year sentence by pleading to a lesser charge he would do so, for he was guilty of shooting the revolver and scaring people.

On this statement the court passed sentence of from one to two years at hard labor, with all costs remitted, remarking that he thought the Japanese must have some dim notions for the actions of Yanagi with the gun were spectacular in the extreme.

He shut the doors of the house and began shooting around promiscuously and was arrested on a serious charge.

The charge on which Yanagi was sentenced was assault with a dangerous weapon.

He bowed three times in rapid succession as he entered the courtroom and the same number of times when sentence was passed upon him confining him in prison for a year at least, as he desired.

Had there been a section providing punishment for promiscuous shooting he would have been sentenced under that.

OIL, KING OF FUELS

Oil is the coming fuel of the navies of the world. At present it is driving the wheels of locomotives over the mountains and deserts; is furnishing light, heat and power for the entire Pacific Coast, and is destined to be used wherever coal has been used before.

The oil industry of California represents, at a conservative valuation, over $1,000,000,000. California is producing oil today at the rate of 86,494,640 barrels per year. This means a probable valuation of $40,000,000 per year for the product.

$34,832.55 in dividends is the record of the INDEPENDENT companies listed on the California stock exchanges. This does not include unlisted companies, companies of private ownership, the Standard Oil Company nor the profits derived from the oil wells operated by the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe railroads.

$1,000 invested two years ago in American Petroleum has been returning $1,600 a year in dividends.
 $1,000 invested a few years ago in Lucille is returning $8,000 a year in dividends.
 $1,000 invested a little over a year ago in Illinois Crude has been returning $950 a year in dividends.
 $1,000 invested in Monte Cristo returns in dividends $3,200 a year.
 $1,000 invested in Sterling is returning $3,333 per year in dividends.
 $1,000 invested about two years ago in Premier is returning at the rate of $1,200 a year in dividends.
 $1,000 invested in Fullerton is returning $3,333 per year in dividends.
 1,000 invested about two years ago in Mascot is returning $1,200 per year in dividends.
 $1,000 invested in Claremont is returning $1,600 per year in dividends.

The stock of the Associated Oil Company sold about ten years ago at below $1.00 per share. Today it is listed on the New York Stock Exchange and is selling around $44.00 per share.

The Union Oil Company of California began its existence a few years ago on a valuation of $250,000. Today the assets of the Union Oil Company have an estimated value of $100,000,000.

These are instances of profits that have been made and are being made today in the California oil fields. We submit them as proof of our claim that California oil is the most profitable field of investment of the present day.

We publish a weekly illustrated newspaper, "The Oil Book," which is devoted exclusively to the California oil industry, conveying all of the important news for the benefit of our clients. We will send you a six months subscription to this newspaper free of cost. Address all communications to

JAPAN CONTROLS FORMOSA SUGAR

U. S. Consul Reat Talks of Conditions in Far East.

"At least six of the best and most modern sugar mills now in operation on the island of Formosa are the product of the Honolulu Iron Works," was one of several statements incorporated in an interesting talk upon the sugar situation at the Japanese insular possession, coming from American Consul representative Samuel C. Reat, stationed at Taihoku.

"The amount of sugar coming from Formosan plantations, now almost sufficient to supply the present needs of Japan, is produced from an area comprising roughly speaking one hundred and twenty-five thousand acres."

Consul Reat is journeying to the mainland on a brief leave of absence. He has been associated with the United States consular service on Formosa for nearly two years. He is a passenger in the Pacific Mail steamship Korea and his present destination is Chicago.

"I am going back to the mainland to vote. I have always maintained a residence at Chicago. While I have spent a good portion of the time before going out to the East, at Washington, you know that we have no vote there.

Labor is Plentiful.

There is no difficulty in securing all the necessary labor for the production of sugar on Formosa," insisted Consul Reat this morning prior to the sailing of the Korea for San Francisco. "You know that we have a large percentage of Chinese on the island. These are considered the best of workers both in the cane field and around the mills and estates."

"There is a concern known as the Formosa Sugar Company who are today operating a number of newly installed mills that are the product of the local iron works. According to Consul Reat a company desiring to enter the lists as a sugar producer must first secure permission and authorization from the Japanese government." The concern is then granted a permit with which it is assigned a certain prescribed territory. Though a number of smaller planters may be cultivating cane within this district, but they are required to sell their cane to the company operating the mill. The price to be paid for the cane is in all cases fixed by the government. Each district now under cultivation throughout Formosa will comprise approximately one thousand acres.

Aborigines Make Little Trouble.

Slowly but surely the Japanese government is drawing an electrical and deadly net about the fast diminishing band of aborigines who are classed as head hunters and of whom there are said to be about eight thousand men, women and children. There is believed to be some 120,000 natives or aborigines but these in the main are peaceful and are not classed with the savages who have earned the title of head hunters. The government has the head hunters restricted to a rather limited area and they are surrounded by barbed wire entanglements and barriers through which course an electrical currents of high voltage. To attempt escape is death.

The Japanese government has but recently expended the sum of Yen 15,000,000 in carrying out the work of extending the frontier lines and preparing for a campaign which will probably result in the final subjugation of the wild tribes.

Sugar in Japanese Control.

"With the exception of one company the sugar industry of Formosa is practically all in Japanese hands," continued Consul Reat. There is one company which includes a number of British capitalists who operate under the name of the Formosa Sugar Refinery. Practically the entire output of Formosa sugar is going to Japan. The several coasting steamship lines are rendering a very satisfactory service between the island and the Japanese ports. Little or no attempt is being made to properly refine the sugar on Formosa.

Consul Reat predicts that by the commencement of the year 1913 the island of Formosa will have produced sufficient sugar to supply the requirements of Japan. Then it will be that the sugar factors there will seek for a larger and broader market for their product.

"Between fifteen and twenty million dollars gold is today invested in the sugar industry of Formosa," stated Consul Reat. The American official is very optimistic concerning the outlook and he did not hesitate to express the belief that the business was but in its infancy.

The fact that labor is plentiful and the climatic conditions are propitious, a soil of much fertility, were points dwelt upon by the official in bearing out his predictions for a bright and rosy future for the sugar industry in Formosa.

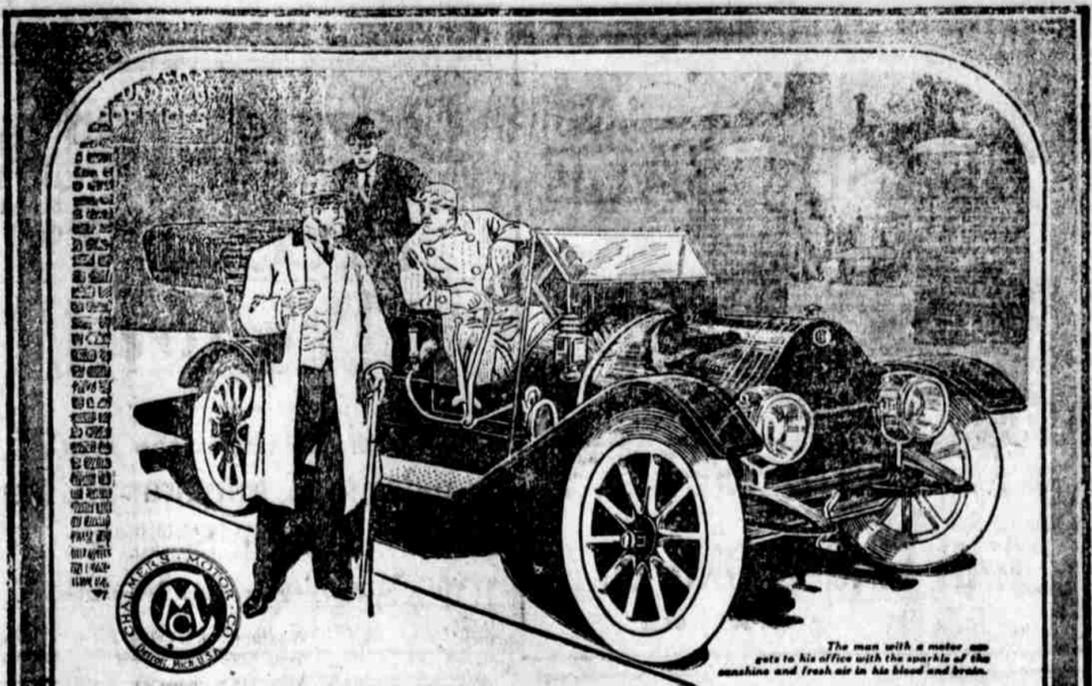

It was the intention that Consul Reat address the Chamber of Commerce but owing to the delay in the arrival of the steamship Korea, this plan was abandoned.

ANOTHER YARN IS PUNCTURED

E. O. Hall & Son Not Considering Move Reported In Morning Paper.

E. H. Paris, secretary and treasurer of E. O. Hall & Son, Ltd., this morning flatly denied the report that the firm is thinking of moving its location. Mr. Paris said:

"It is certainly amusing, but at the same time ridiculous, how statements of fact and of possibilities creep into the papers, from time to time. E. O. Hall & Son is content with considering a move to the corner of Port and Hotel streets. No one that I know of, connected with our business, has even given thought to the Dowsett block. Mr. Dowsett has had plans drawn and is going ahead with the erection of a building on the corner mentioned, and certainly if he was looking to us as a tenant, we would have known something about it, and at the same time he probably would have had to make plans that would accommodate our business. Probably someone has said, in an offhand way, 'That would be a fine corner for E. O. Hall & Son, in case they have to move.' Thus follows the rumor that the papers are prone to circulate. The only paper that published this rumor was the Advertiser."

The man with a motor gets to his office with the sparkle of the machine and fresh air in his blood and brain.

You're Paying for a Motor Car

You may think you don't want a motor car. But there isn't any question about your needing one.

There is a difference between wanting a thing and needing it. If you need a car you are paying for it. Paying in the time you lose that a car would save you. In the opportunities that get away. In the fresh air and recreation a car would give, but which now you do not get.

Whatever we really need we pay for, whether we actually own it or not. You might get along without an overcoat this winter, but you would pay for one just the same. You would pay with discomfort and colds.

If you use telephones, telegraph, wireless, express trains, electric lights, trolley cars, adding machines, dictaphones, newspapers, typewriters and labor saving machinery, then you need an automobile.

For the automobile has been developed to keep pace with the age that utilizes these other things—the age of speed—the age of efficiency. The motor car didn't create its demand after it arrived. The demand was waiting. It had been waiting for forty centuries.

The greatest obstacle to progress is distance. Civilization consists of doing away with the space that lies between man and man, city and city, country and country, between products of all kinds and the people who use them.

When the steamship, the railroad and trolley came to take care of the problem of community or public transportation, the world took a long step ahead.

When the automobile came to take care of the problem of individual transportation, the world took another long step ahead. If you haven't realized it, then the world has stepped past you.

The man with a motor gets down to his business in the morning quickly, cleanly and with gladness.

He arrives at his office with the sparkle of the sunshine and fresh air in his blood and brain.

business. Or, if he wants to take himself or a visitor to a train, he allows just a few minutes' leeway and the motor carries him to the depot swiftly and surely.

After the day's work, he arrives home again; arrives with weariness and worry air-sprayed from his brain; with a keen appetite and good humor for dinner.

In the evening he may use his car for a turn around the parks and boulevard or a spin into the country with family and friends.

The man with a motor car lives a fuller life than if he didn't have one. He has more experiences—more sensations. He does more things. He has a wider circle of interest and influence. He lives twice as long in the same length of time as the man who hasn't a car. Long life is not a question of years so much as it is of experiences and accomplishments. Yet motor cars will be factors in increasing the average span of man's years because they promote health through outdoor life.

How Every Member of the Family Benefits by the Possession of a Motor Car.

Head of the Family:—Going to and from business in fresh air. Making business calls. Entertaining customers, and business associates. Tours in the country. More knowledge of the country. Mental and physical exercise of driving. Good appetite—better digestion—better humor—better health. Prestige.

Wife and Daughter:—Social calls. Entertaining. Plenty of fresh air to drive away "nerves." More time with husband and father.

Sons:—Educative value of understanding and caring for a wonderful piece of machinery. Training of mental and physical faculties in driving. Clean, fresh air, recreation and decent entertainment in company of other members of family.

He is able to take up his business problems with clearer vision and greater energy than the man who has been worried and doped by the rush and jam and the bad air of a crowded train or street car.

The man in a motor car can cover 50 to 100 miles in a day just on business errands in the city, keeping appointments that it would take many days to make under the old system.

At noon time he can use his car to entertain his business associates with a five or ten mile ride to a pleasant luncheon place. He can send it out in the afternoon to entertain guests while he goes ahead with his

ALASKA GLACIERS WHICH RECEDED NOW ADVANCE

Laurence Martin, Archaeologist, Tells of Reversal of Movement.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 14.—Laurence Martin, Professor of Geology in the University of Wisconsin, who has been in Alaska for several months studying glacial formations and conditions for the National Geographical Society of Washington, arrived here last night from Alaska and gave out his first information regarding his search in the north.

He says that some of the glaciers which have been advancing toward the sea are now retreating. He found that the famous Columbia river glacier, which is five miles wide and thirty to forty miles long, was retreating until last year, but that it is now advancing, and has moved seaward 500 feet since it was observed last year, and that he found it advanced 122 feet in two months. Its seaward end rests upon an island and the slowly moving ice is crushing gigantic trees and covering the island.

The La Perouse glacier, east of Mt. St. Elias, which has not been advancing since 1895, is now showing signs of activity.

The Chersaga glacier, in the western part of Prince William sound is retreating and has gone back seven miles since it was mapped in 1791 by Captain Vancouver, the explorer.

The Barry glacier, surveyed by the Harriman expedition in 1899, has retreated four or five miles.

In the Copper River district Professor Martin says he found the glacial conditions every peculiar. The glacier and river occupy the whole valley and the ice is practically crawling back the hills, so that the Copper River railroad, which is being built through the valley, had to be laid over the glacial ice, which is advancing four or five feet per day.

Professor Martin spent four months with seven men in the Prince William sound district, west of Valdez, two weeks in Yakutat Bay and two weeks in the Copper River district. He left for Washington last night to lay his glacial data before the scientists.

SHELL RACE FOR TOMORROW

Three Crews Will Battle It Out On Harbor Sunday Morning.

Tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock the three-cornered shell race between Healan crews will start. It is the first event of its kind that has been brought off for ten years, and much interest is being taken in it. The race—or rather series of races—will last for some time as the winning crew has to take two out of three events. The shell crews, with two or three exceptions, are made up from the senior oarsmen, and they are all showing good form at present. The shell race should be a fine one, and the spectators will be kept off the quiver all the time.

There will be two races tomorrow and, besides the shell senior race, there will be a sprint for the youngsters. The juveniles will race over the short course, and the Seniors will battle it out over the longer distance.

Another race that is proposed is one between a crew from the Bank of Hawaii and four oarsmen gotten together by "Ginger" Mayne of rowing fame. This race should be a beauty and Hoogs, Cooper, McCorriston and Thompson will represent the cash handlers; Mayne's bunch is not decided upon yet, but a good crew will surely be arranged.

MOTOR CAR GOSSIP

Announcement is made by the von Hamm-Young Company of their taking up the agencies of the Lozier and the Hupmobile, two of the most popular of American cars. Deliveries of these two cars can be made very shortly.

The Hupmobile runabout demonstrator arrived last Sunday on the Illonian and may be seen at the salesrooms of the von Hamm-Young Company at any time. This is one of the cleverest little runabouts ever brought to the islands and is attracting a great deal of attention. There are more Hupmobile runabouts in San Francisco than any other car today, and they are being used for all sorts of purposes. Business men have them for business purposes, also at their homes, and many of them may be seen making country trips, as they will stand any hard usage which most any other car will.

There is one Lozier car in town, which is owned by John M. Candless and which has done very good work. Two tourists have recently been in Honolulu, one owning a Lozier Briarcliff roadster and the other—a lady from Los Angeles—owning a Lozier limousine. These high class cars have won a great many of the contests in the East, and are also very popular cars in San Francisco.

Great activity is reported in the von Hamm-Young establishment this week, sales amounting to in the neighborhood of $17,000 being reported. A cablegram was received this week from Mr. von Hamm, in New York, stating that he had sold a Lozier, a Packard 18 runabout and a Packard 30 phaeton to some prominent Honoluluans who are now visiting in New York.

Messrs. Hughes & Schoening have purchased a 1911 Packard 30 touring car, which they will place in the rent service on the Young Hotel Auto Stand. This makes two Packards these boys have, exactly alike, and they expect to do a great deal of business with their cars, both of them being high class mechanics and expert drivers.

A model 18 Packard roadster was delivered by the von Hamm-Young Company this week to one of our prominent business men. The sale is also reported by this firm of an Overland demi-tonneau car to Geo. O'Neil of W. C. Peacock & Co. Mr. O'Neil recently owned a Stoddard-Dayton and is fast becoming one of the automobile enthusiasts of Honolulu. He had a very successful trip to Leliehua last week in his new car, and is very proud of same.

The von Hamm-Young Company has booked an order this week for a Cadillac demi-tonneau car to be delivered out of the next shipment, due to arrive in a week, for the Mutual Telephone Company, for the use of the general manager, Mr. Hummel. In the meantime Mr. Hummel is using a second-hand Cadillac in his work. The Cadillac is considered the most adaptable to business purposes of this description, and has so proven itself to be for the past two years.

The sale is reported by the von Hamm-Young Company of two second-hand cars which were advertised among their bargains last week. These cars were sold at a great bargain, and the owners of the machines are very well pleased with them. Another bargain sale will be advertised shortly, and anybody wishing to buy a car at a great sacrifice will do well to note this ad and pick out a good car at a great bargain. These cars can be seen at any time at the new salesrooms of the von Hamm-Young Company, back of the Young Hotel.

Dr. Mackall is now the owner of a 1911 E. M. F. roadster. His old car, which became a landmark around the city, is now being operated by Deputy Sheriff Rose, who finds it an improvement over a rig when it comes to serving papers.

A Brush runabout has been purchased by the Honolulu Gas Company and a Ford roadster by Paymaster Stevens of the navy.

Another sale made by Schuman was to Manager Pritchard of the Hamakua and South Kohala Telephone Company, who will use it in connection with his official business.

The Schuman garage is kept busy in its repair shop, and the experts are hard at work all the time. The Locomobile for 1911 is reported to be a beautiful machine and it is said to be an improvement on the 1910 model.

Manager Hall of the Associated garage also reports a week with many sales. The 1911 40-horsepower Chalmers, which is due to arrive on the next Sierra, has gone to Sonny Gay, who will thus become possessed of one of the prettiest models of the year's output from this factory.

Another Chalmers sale was made to W. A. Thomas of the Thomas Pineapple Company, who purchased a standard "30" torpedo body, finished in gray.

The new Hudson 33, the announcement of which has been lately made, is also attracting local attention, as Mr. Van Valkenburg is responsible for an order which has just been placed on the Associated's books. This model was designed by Howard E. Coffin, who has made a high reputation in automobile designing.

"Every line of business must sooner or later form some policy adapted to itself and to the broadest interests of the public it serves," said Manager Hall yesterday. "The automobile business is no exception, especially now that the industry is beyond the 'new plaything' stage."

"After gauging the needs of autos to meet local conditions, we sought the advice of the best technical engineers in the United States, telling them what we have found out and asking them to tell us what were the best cars combining the features necessary to make them a success locally, and representing the broadest range of usefulness. We took their advice, and hope we got what we wanted. From the popularity of the cars, I guess we have."

During the summer many cities have put into force the ordinances that have been on their books against smoky exhausts from motor cars. The enforcement has generally been followed by a number of arrests but inquiry among its dealers by the Pierce-Arrow Motor Car company of Buffalo has failed to bring to the surface a single instance where the owner of a Pierce-Arrow has been taken into custody on this charge. The reason is that cars of this make are equipped with a lubrication system that prevents this annoyance. In its operation the oil flows directly to the crank shaft bearings and issues from them in the form of a mist which fills the crank case and cylinder walls. Too much oil along the cylinder walls might gradually work into the combustion chamber and this is avoided by the use of baffle plates at the base of the cylinders which have an opening just large enough for the connecting rods to work through. This effectively prevents an over-supply. When the oil mist in the crank case condenses it drains into a pump in the bottom of the case and after being filtered is pumped into a tank above the motor, from which it is again fed to the bearings. As a consequence of the use of this system it is so much an impossibility for a Pierce-Arrow motor to smoke that the sight of one indulging in that practice would be sufficiently amazing to make every experienced motorist take a second look.

In 1904 the Cadillac Motor Car Company built the first four cylinder Cadillac. It has just been bought by Don Lee of Los Angeles, Cal., who found it in a small Michigan town and was forced to pay the owner several times its value in order to come into possession of it.

For over a year Lee searched the country for this car, being aided by the Cadillac company. Records are kept at the factory of all the cars manufactured, but even with this assistance it was no sinecure to locate the car. At least one trip was made to an out-of-the-way point, upon receipt of news that the car had been found, only to learn that it was not the first four-cylinder Cadillac built, though of the same model.

Mr. Lee's idea was to demonstrate the stability of the Cadillac; and he continued his search, until notified by the company that the car had been located in Michigan. A representative was sent to buy it, but the owner was not inclined to let it go. He said he had become attached to it, and yielded only when the offer was raised to a figure that was irresistible.

The car has been shipped to Los Angeles, and upon arrival there will be exhibited and demonstrated by the local Cadillac representatives. In spite of having traveled some 60,000 miles during the six years of its life, the car is in good condition and capable of adding many more miles to its honorable record.

A new factor which will contribute to the stability of the automobile business, because it is being employed by the older and more stable companies, has appeared within the last two years to take the place of that uncertain element—the dealer without experience and without capital to do business on a large scale.

Some of the most successful vehicle and farm implement houses in the country are now turning their attention from the sale of those products to the handling of standard automobiles. These concerns have gone into business not for the purpose of securing quick temporary profit, but, through an alliance with the manufacturer of a well established car, to establish themselves in a permanent business.

The most successful dealer selling Rambler cars for the Thomas B. Jeffery Company last year was the P. J. Downes Company, of Minneapolis, a firm which had acquired an enviable reputation after many years success in the implement business.

HOLT CONTEMPT CASE ADJUDGED

Justice Hartwell Holds For Dismissal of Writ of Error.

J. L. Holt is held in contempt of court for refusing to answer certain questions before the grand jury in the now famous case against the former tax assessor. The motion made to dismiss the writ of error is granted.

This is the gist of an opinion handed down yesterday afternoon by the Supreme Court, written by Justice Hartwell. In part the opinion says:

"The Territory contends that as Holt has not disobeyed the order to appear before the grand jury and answer and no adjudication of contempt has been made or would be made if he obeyed the order, or if the judge upon reconsidering should vacate it, the writ was premature. In support of the motion decisions are cited that under a statute that a final judgment in a special proceeding is appealable, conditional judgments of contempt requiring further action to become absolute, are not appealable.

"We are not prepared to disturb the rulings of this court upon the non-appealability of judgments of direct contempt, for our statute upon the subject, unlike the U. S. statute, saves the common law on the subject unmodified.

"To hold that while an adjudication of direct contempt is not appealable, an order to answer or be adjudged in contempt is appealable, would be to open the door to all the objections on which the common law rule is based, such as interference with orders of the court, whether made to uphold its own dignity or to enforce its judgments or decrees, provided they are within the clear discretion of the court, and delaying trials upon every claim of constitutional right. It is far from clear that any question was submitted in the motion to vacate the citation or in the answer which would not have been reviewable in habeas corpus. If, as claimed by the plaintiff in error, the grand jury had no authority to investigate the matter, or if his answer would have incriminated him, he would probably have been released on habeas corpus. But however this may be, we can not avoid the conclusion that the motion to dismiss the writ should be granted."

Pierce Four Cylinder Wins Perfect Score in F. A. M. Endurance Contest

The 1909 Annual Endurance Contest of the Federation of American Motorcyclists was run between Cleveland and Indianapolis. The contest was a grueling one, and the securing of a perfect score was a mark-worthy event. Mr. Hunt, the "Pierce" rider, experienced no trouble en route, although the roads were far from good, there being an intolerable amount of sand. The claim which we most strongly advance is that Pierce Motorcycles are built to meet the conditions found on the worst American roads; they are eminently suited for long tours and arduous road work. It matters little whether the rider-tourist projects a trip over the smooth, level roads of France or the mountainous trails of the American Rockies, his mount should be a "Pierce," which will insure a safe and comfortable journey. To convince the skeptical concerning the practicability and the pleasure involved in using a motorcycle for touring, we point out that such an eminent gentleman as William Randolph Hearst uses a 1909 Model Pierce for touring at home and abroad.

OFFICIALS ARE SELECTED FOR RACE BETWEEN KAOO AND KING

ALL ARRANGEMENTS MADE FOR GREAT RUNNING EVENT IN WHICH COAST CHAMPION WILL MEET HAWAII'S BEST LONG-DISTANCE MAN.

Soldier King returned from Lela-hua yesterday and dropped into the Bulletin office shortly afterwards. The little fellow had a good time down at Spaulding barracks, and made arrangements for putting tickets on sale at the cavalry canteen. The boys who handle the horses are keen on the running proposition, and they are all going to get into town somehow or other and see King and Kaoo run their fifteen-mile race a week from tomorrow.

While at the canteen King made arrangements for Lieutenant Cressy to act as one of the judges on October 29. W. T. Rawlins will be another judge, and there is still a third to select. Some well-known man will be asked to officiate, and then that end of the business will be satisfactorily settled.

Timekeepers have also been appointed, and Lester Petrie and Frank Kruger will handle the watches. C. H. Reinecke will keep tabs on the laps as they are reeled off, and as he has had considerable experience in that line, the score should be kept straight enough.

The Athletic Park is in good order now, and next week King will change his training quarters to the grounds, where the race is to be run. The man from the Coast will run every afternoon next week, although he will not cover the full fifteen miles each time he gets out on the track. King is in the best possible condition at present, and fifteen miles is nothing for him to run.

Nigel Jackson is acting as King's trainer and adviser, and the talkative one is doing great work. "Jack" thinks he can keep up with King for a few miles now, and if he learns as much about the game in the future as he has in the past, Honolulu will have a couple of champions instead of one.

Fast Mile. Yesterday afternoon at the rink King ran three miles at a rattling good pace, and would have continued for a few miles farther only that there was danger of his feet becoming blistered. As it was, King cut out one mile in 4 min. 55 sec. He was not fully extended, and considering the turning that has to be done on the small track, his speed was excellent.

This afternoon at 3 o'clock King and a bunch of other runners will do stunts on the track at the Alexander Field. It is expected that King will run an exhibition mile and also do some sprints with the lads. A good turnout of spectators is expected, and those who attend will have a chance of seeing the mainlander in action.

Kaoo is working out faithfully, and he is doing most of his work on the roads. His followers know that King is a good man, but they still pin their faith in the old Wai-lua Horse, who can both run the distance and sprint in at the end in a manner that will astonish King if he is anywhere near Kaoo at the end of the race. Simerson is looking after Kaoo's interests, and there is no doubt that most of the people who gather at the Athletic Park on Sunday week will have a cigar or two on the old reliable runner.

Difference of Opinion. There is much difference of opinion as regards Kaoo's chance against King, and most people dope it out that the Hawaiian would have a better chance of winning in a full Marathon distance race. King may return from the Coast early next year, and then he would be willing to run Kaoo 26 miles 385 yards. At present King is not ready to tackle the long distance, and he is content to race over the shorter course.

Kaoo has done remarkable work in the past, and has made good over all distances, from a hundred yards to thirty miles. The old fellow is a wonder for his age, and lots of people wish that he had been taken to the States and England when in his prime. He would have made some of the champion runners look sick after they had met him.

The prospects of a big crowd attending on Sunday week appear to be good, and if the rain holds off there should be a record attendance. All Hawaii will want to see how the native and King shape up against one another, and the race will surely be a great struggle from start to finish.

The tickets are now being printed, and they will be on sale early next week. The charges for admission will be 75, 50 and 25 cents. The army will be well represented at the race, as packages of tickets are being sent out to all the posts.

COUNTRY CLUB IS BOOMING

STEWART CUP WILL BE OPEN COMPETITION

Ladies To Be Invited to Take Up Game Properly—Links In Splendid Condition—Lunch On Sunday.

Everything is booming at the Country Club and the links are in excellent condition. Extra men have been working on the greens, and the consequence is that the whole place looks well. The usual crowd will be on hand tomorrow, and lunch will be served at the pretty clubhouse.

Plans are under way for the Stewart Cup competition, and all the golf clubs of the island are invited to take part in the play. The trophy will have to be won three times by any player in order to become his property.

There is talk of a ladies' tournament, and the idea is a good one. Everywhere else the ladies play the game, but in Honolulu there are very few who take it up.

On the Saturday before Thanksgiving Day there will be the usual two team competition, and two captains will choose sides from those who are present. The day will be spent in sport, and a great time is promised those who roll up.

The greatest interest is taken in golf nowadays, and every Sunday a large number of enthusiasts are to be seen at the links. Many new players have taken up the game, and among them are some men who will find their liberal handicaps reduced at the next revision of the standings of the players.

This afternoon quite a number of golfers will be out on the links, and some strenuous practice will be indulged in. Golf is becoming more and more popular in Honolulu, and the Country Club, the Honolulu Club and the Wai-lua Club testify to the way the game has taken hold of the men who used formerly to play cricket or tennis.

Last night the Honolulu Yacht Club held its meeting and elected officers for the coming year. Harry Bailey was made president; C. Sullivan, commodore; Jack McVeigh, C. Sims and E. Schieber, committee on regattas; George Sims, Lou Ferguson and Kenny Smith, entertainment committee.

ELECTION RESULT IS UNCERTAIN

The result of an election is always uncertain, and anyone who can predict its outcome is more than half a prophet. It doesn't take a prophet, however, to predict that any man who really knows good service and appreciates good drinks and good fellowship will never go anywhere but to "The Fashion" for his cheering glass.

FOOTBALL. FIRST GAME IS DRAW

NEW RULES MAKE GAME TRIFLE SLOW

Neither Side Could Score Yesterday—Hoogs Nearly Made Touchdown—New Signals Cause of Piliika.

There was a fair-sized gathering of lovers of football at Alexander Field yesterday afternoon, and the first practice game between the Oahu College students was watched with interest. The new rules were in vogue, and consequently the men on the sidelines were deeply interested in the play.

Although neither side scored, the two teams did some strenuous stunts, and the play was more open than when the old rules were in force. The forward pass only worked properly once, although it was tried several times. The new rules made the game rather slow, and as a new set of signals had to be arranged shortly before the game started, there were mistakes made. The two teams were made up from the school as a whole, and as the bunch had, of course, been using one set of signals, another lot had to be arranged when half the school went up against the other half.

Hoogs nearly scored a touchdown for the seniors, and he was only about a foot short of the line when he was stopped. The game was played in sixteen-minute periods, with three-minute intervals for breathing after eight minutes of play. Between the first and second halves there was a spell of ten minutes, and then it was that the play was discussed by everyone.

The general idea seemed to be that the players had to think too much about the rules to get going properly. This will, however, soon be changed once the men get used to the changes in the play.

Akina was umpire; Leslie Clarke, field judge; Lawrence Gay and Leslie Wishard, linemen, Anderson was head lineman, and the watch-holder was Smootzer. The lineups were:

Seniors and Sophomores—Scotchie Gibb and William Hanson, center; Edward Lee, left guard; F. Eames and A. Lucas, right guard; William Peay, right tackle; Astley, left tackle; Seroggy, right end; Graham, right end; Ouder Kirk and O. Stevens, left end; C. Hoogs, quarterback; Dodge, fullback; Poepeo, left half; William Hitchcock, right half; Babe Pratt, mascot.

The Oahu Juniors will play ball tomorrow at the Athletic Park, and there will be two games. The Asahis will play the C. A. C. Juniors, and the Mithacks will tackle the Palanias.

TENNIS. HILO TENNIS MEN TIED

HAKALAU EXPERTS MAKE GOOD SHOWING ON COURTS

Match Ends In Draw With Two Sets Each—Hamakua Men Do Well Against Rainy City Players.

Hakalau was the scene of an interesting tennis match last Sunday. Hilo and Hamakua figuring as the opposing sides in a contest in men's doubles, says an exchange. Gene Horner and Ned Patten of Hamakua had decided that the title of champions of the island of Hawaii did not rightfully belong to Dr. Fred Irwin and Conness, who obtained the trophies in the tournament played in the spring, and made arrangements for a match to be played at Hakalau last Sunday. The honors were just about even when the day was finished, though the Hamakua men had a little the best of things.

Early in the afternoon the Hamakua team took two straight sets from the local players, both being won by the same score, 6-3, but an hour later the tables were turned. Conness and Irwin coming back and taking two straight sets from their opponents, the scores being 6-3, 7-5. This left the honors of the day nearly even, though the Hamakua pair had a slight advantage in the number of games won.

The playing of Patten was the surprise of the day. He was steady throughout, and his lobbing and smashing from the half court were unusually good. Horner did a great deal of clever work, but his service was not in form and many double faults contributed considerably toward the victory of the Hilo team. In other regards his work was excellent, however. Dr. Irwin played his usual steady game, and in the final set was particularly strong in his cross-court drives, which had terrific speed and meant sure points if they landed within the lines. Conness was not given a chance to play a net game, the Hamakua team keeping the ball away from him and practically putting him out of the game so far as that style of play went.

It is expected that a return match will be played before long, in all probability on the same court, as Hakalau is about half way between the two districts. The outside players who were on hand were entertained at lunch by the Hakalau men and all had a most enjoyable time. The Hakalau court was in fine condition, but is to be resurfaced within the next week, which should make it one of the best courts in the islands.

Two new "Pearls" will be aloft soon, and they are to be called the Elizabeth and the Florence. George Crozier will handle the latter boat, and Friday will have the Elizabeth.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.
Physicians Prescribe Castoria.

CASTORIA has met with pronounced favor on the part of physicians, pharmaceutical societies and medical authorities. It is used by physicians with results most gratifying. The extended use of Castoria is unquestionably the result of three facts: 1st, The indisputable evidence that it is harmless; 2nd, That it not only allays stomach pain and quiets the nerves, but assimilates the food; 3rd, It is an agreeable and perfect substitute for castor oil. It is absolutely safe. It does not contain any opium, morphine, or other narcotic and does not stupefy. It is unlike Soothing Syrup, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, etc. This is a good deal for a medical journal to say. Our duty, however, is to expose danger and record the means of advancing health. The day for poisoning innocent children through greed or ignorance ought to end. To our knowledge, Castoria is a remedy which produces composite and health, by regulating the system—not by stupefying it—and our readers are entitled to the information.—Anal. Journal of Health.

"I have used your Castoria and found it an excellent remedy in my household and private practice for many years. The formula is excellent."
—H. J. TAPP, M. D., Brooklyn, N. Y.
"I had your Castoria to be a standard family remedy. It is the best thing for infants and children I have ever known and I recommend it."
—R. E. HARRISON, M. D., Omaha, Neb.
"Having during the past six years prescribed your Castoria for infantile stomach disorders, I most heartily commend its use. The formula contains nothing deleterious to the most delicate of children."

DEMOCRATS AT PAUOA CHURCH

Gathering of Women and Children Greet the Spellbinders.

Torches flickered and waved, the moon peeped from behind a cloud occasionally, automobiles chugged up with glaring headlights and above all persisting Democratic orators let loose argument and metaphor at Pauoa last evening on a crowd of a hundred persons half of whom were women and children.

The big guns were all there at times and Wade Warren Thayer set the ball rolling in the speechmaking line, he being the first speaker of the evening.

Petrie, Wolters, Klakahl, Beneviedes, Turrill, Rivenburgh, Trent and Charlie Rose all told the people what they thought of the Republicans anyway, how fine the Democrats all were and what good Democratic officials there were in office.

It is considerable of a walk from the end of Emma street car line to the scene of hostilities at Pauoa and those who walked found the road dark and rough long before they came in sight of the flaring torches or heard the music of the quintet which enlivened the oratory turned loose on the night air.

In his remarks Candidate Wolters said if anyone was to blame for the Democratic platform, it was not Boss McCandless for he knew nothing of the platform until after it was all made. He, Wolters, was the man who did it all and his shoulders were broad enough to take the blame.

Following Wolters, Klakahl spoke in Hawaiian for half an hour and more keeping his audience in laughter from the jokes he sprang.

Immigration was the main subject of the discourse rendered by Beneviedes who told this audience that he would not talk more than fifteen minutes. "It is now nine-five and I will talk just fifteen minutes, stopping when it is nine-twenty-five," he said. Some one asked him how he added fifteen to five and made twenty-five and he had to acknowledge that he was a little off in his addition.

Beneviedes had a long spiel on imported labor that was taking the bread away from the mouths of the Hawaiians, dwelling particularly on Filipinos and Russians who had been brought here to keep down wages, he said.

Fred Turrill said that the Democrats were the real thing, that Republican orators said the Democrats were liars but that did not make it so.

Following Turrill Manager Rivenburgh made a talk on assisted immigration which he said was a bad thing for the Territory and that immigrants should be like those in the United States who had their own money to pay their passages to the country and then got land and made good citizens. He also said that some plantations paid dividends of 100 per cent, and if they should pay one per cent less they could pay their laborers a dollar and a half a day instead of less than a dollar.

Mr. Trent mounted the platform with a smile and looked down benignly upon the audience while the strangled instruments gave him welcome. Although the greater part of the audience was made up of young boys and children Trent did not tell his Red Riding Hood story to them. This was a disappointment to the older people also who expected to hear some juvenile stories from the lips of the treasurer.

Trent confined himself to telling the people that he was the first treasurer who had ever paid the face value of warrants issued for work for the city and county, and that while he was paying face value the school teachers working for the Territorial government were still subject to the discount.

The speaker also stated that all Democrats in office had made good and he hoped they would all be returned, including himself.

Charlie Rose mounted the rostrum and after a short address in Hawaiian told the people in English that the department which he represented had made good, quelling a riot and strike without bloodshed and doing many other things of importance.

"I am willing to stand on my record," said Rose. "If I haven't made good in your estimation you know what you can do to me at the polls."

Following Rose several other speakers addressed the audience and it was a late hour when the torches were finally put out.

During the evening several parties of Republicans chugged up in their machines to view the fireworks and Colonel McCarthy was present for a long time standing in the background and moodily chewing a cigar while listening to the speakers and sizing up the audience.

LAND BOARD DOES NOTHING

Trent Tries a Joker On the Kapaa Land Lease Matter.

There really was a meeting of the Land Board yesterday afternoon but no one knew anything about it until just before it happened and then when it did happen nothing amounting to anything was done at all.

The Land Board these days spends most of its time in arguments of little profit to the public generally and not of much interest even to the members themselves.

The real question yesterday was the Kapaa leases and Trent made a motion that they be disposed of. This was a surprise to everyone as this member has consistently sidestepped the issue on Kapaa for a long time.

When his motion was finally given in detail it was to the effect that the lands should be leased to Makee Sugar Company for a rental of $35,000 yearly without water. As the lands would be worth nothing without water and as the price with water at which the government has been holding them for rental was $7,500, Trent's motion was immediately set upon.

Andrade amended by giving water on the lands and then tried another amendment to bring the price of rental down. This Trent would not hear of and withdrew his former motion, leaving the matter just where it has stood for weeks.

Sale of Makiki Valley lots was up for discussion but that was all, no action was taken. Land at Kakaala was leased to Link McCandless for pasturing, there being no other application for it.

SOCIETY

The freshmen class of Punahou is going on a picnic tomorrow. Pearl City will be enlivened by this merry crowd. Miss Sheldon and Miss Dodge are to be the chaperones. Ruth Soper, Thelma Murphy, Edison Hutchinson, Harry Denison and Gilbert Brown have been the committee responsible for this outing.

What a pity it is that more interest is not maintained by the officers and members of the humane society. For so wrothy a cause it has but little backing from local people. Why not surprise the few faithful officers on Monday morning by attending the 9 o'clock meeting on the roof garden?

Tomorrow evening Mr. and Mrs. Falke will be host and hostess at a large informal supper for the officers of the training ship and a large number of local Germans. The officers and men are being largely entertained.

Dr. and Mrs. Hoffmann are practically packed for their trip around the world, which they intend to take at their leisure. Well, the sooner they go means the sooner they will be back, so good-bye to you both.

Mrs. Jack Hawes is expected home very shortly, much to the joy of her very numerous friends in Hawaii.

SOCIETY.

MR. and Mrs. J. A. McCandless' brilliant reception given at their palatial home, in Nuuanu Avenue, Thursday evening, is the topic for conversation among those who were fortunate to be invited. This function was planned with a careful nicety as to detail, every convenience and comfort for the guests having been provided with lavish generosity. This entertainment was given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Marlin Hepburn, the latter is the only daughter of the house. She was married in New York to Mr. Hepburn who is a son of Congressman and Mrs. Hepburn of Washington, D. C. The meeting of this young couple, was quite romantic. Mr. Hepburn was formerly a Lieutenant in the United States Revenue Cutter service. Since meeting his fate, he desired a more domestic life, as a Naval Officer has to forego many times the pleasure of a home; his decision to resign from the service, was approved by his fiancée. He now occupies a responsible position as Manager of the Hawaiian Electric Company in this city. A picture appears of this paper. She is a tall, regal blonde, highly accomplished, and is noted for her charm of manner and lack of affectation; her numerous friends were overjoyed, when the Hepburns decided to make Honolulu their permanent home. Thursday evening society was there in gala attire, the broad avenue leading to this beautiful home was crowded with automobiles, from eight to ten, which were the hours of the reception, there was a constant stream of society folk, who came to pay their respects and extend a welcome to the young couple. The large east veranda was filled with gigantic palms, swinging hanging baskets containing maiden hair ferns were swung overhead the steps leading to this beautiful lanai, which by the way was used as the main entrance, was banked with smilax and large double pink hibiscus. A Hawaiian orchestra was concealed behind a screen of greenery and dispensed Hawaiian music, during the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. McCandless and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Marlin Hepburn received in the drawing room midst a bower of green. The floral setting was exquisite, an array of beautiful potted palms and plants formed a background for the receiving party, with the addition of waving banana plants, which lent a tropical setting. The McCandless home is ideal for entertainment, the large double drawing rooms, dining room and library, can be thrown into one large room—rooms are so spacious that a large assemblage of guests can be entertained, without any discomfort. Large jardinières containing American Beauty roses were placed on inlaid tables cabinets and tabourets. Tall vases containing these long stemmed flowers, were placed promiscuously and advantageously through the rooms. Numerous cozy corners were arranged for the convenience of the young people. The large bow window was curtained with strands of smilax, caught here and there with roses, producing a much desired effect as the large tropical moon shed its rays, through the long French windows opening on to the north veranda. Mrs. McCandless was attired in a beautiful imported gown of white satin, with an over dress of black chintilly lace, diamonds were worn with this costume. Mrs. Hepburn was a picture in white chiffon satin, heavily embroidered in a conventional design, touches of real lace were used in the upper adornment of this beautiful gown. She carried a large bouquet of American Beauty roses—which by the way is this young matrons favorite flower. Elaborate refreshments were served during the evening by dainty Japanese maids, in silk kimonos and bright colored obi. A cooling punch was served in the dining room which room was elaborated decorated in scarlet exorials and tropical verdure. Among this brilliant assemblage many beautiful gowns were observed, Mrs. Walter Frear, wife of the Governor of this Territory, was clad in a lace robe over white satin, with garnitures of silver, Mrs. Frederick Ramsey, wife of Captain Ramsey of the U. S. Marine Corps, looked stunning in an apricot satin, cut in the latest mode, with touches of gold, this was one of the most beautiful gowns seen on this occasion. Mrs. Lawrence Judd was clad in white satin, with gold ornaments; Miss Vera Damon was a picture in Nile green chiffon over satin of a deep shade, the tunic was embroidered in silver; Mrs. Low's, wife of Captain Low of the Marine Corps, gown was of black spangled net; Mrs. George Cleveland Bowens toilettes was of pink satin trimmed with cloth of gold, the over dress was trimmed with gold, this gown was extremely becoming and Mrs. Bowen presented a picture of liveliness; Mrs. Charles Atherton was clad in blue satin; Mrs. Charles Bryant Cooper looked regal in a Paris gown of real lace over pale yellow satin; Miss Alice Cooper looked extremely well in a blue satin, the corsage was trimmed with gold; Mrs. Clarence Cooke wore an imported gown, which was extremely becoming to her brunette type of beauty; Mrs. Alonzo Gartley wore white lace over pink satin; Mrs. John Strayer McGrew looked regal in satin, a superb necklace and brooch of diamonds were worn with this creation; Mrs. Putnam of Kaula, wore a beautiful frock of white lace with garnitures of pale blue; Mrs. Edward I. Spalding was much admired in amber satin; Mrs. R. R. Reidford wore a stunning gown of white peau de crepe heavily embroidered; Miss Irma Ballentyne looked girlish and pretty in corn colored satin; Mrs. Marston Campbell's gown of real lace was much admired; Mrs. Harry Wilder who is an extremely beautiful woman looked charming in pale pink, with a tunic heavily embroidered; many other beautiful frocks were worn at this event.

Mrs. Corwin P. Rees entertained in honor of the Service women Friday afternoon. This function was one of the most beautiful ever given in Honolulu. Sixteen covers encircled the large table, which was decorated in pink and lavender. A tall brass vase filled with double pink oleanders formed the center piece. At each corner of the table was fancy baskets filled with fragrant purple violets, the handles of which were tied with broad satin ribbon, which helped to carry out the color scheme of pink and violet. The place cards were in monogram, and all the favors and bonbons were in pink and green. After luncheon Mrs. Low sang several solos, which were appreciated by her hostess and guests. Among those who enjoyed Mrs. Rees' hospitality were Mrs. Long, Mrs. Low, Mrs. Arthur Marix, Mrs. Frank Ho-

On their arrival an enjoyable musical program, consisting of piano, vocal and violin solos, trios and duets, was rendered. This was a well arranged program, consisting of nineteen numbers, and was enthusiastically enjoyed by the guests. After this musical treat small tables were placed in the drawing and dining rooms and luncheon was served. The former room was lavishly decorated with rare varieties of hibiscus blossoms shading from a delicate salmon pink to deeper tones of pink. The choicest varieties of these flowers were from Admiral and Mrs. Corwin P. Rees' gardens on Kalakaua Ave. The small tables at which the guests were seated and the dining room were also ornamented in pink combined with smilax and tropical palms.

Society

The only folks for whom I care,
In this world of deceiving,
Are those who even doubt sometimes,
That seeing is believing.
—Carrie Jacobs-Bond.

Mrs. Carrie Jacobs-Bond in Germany.

An interesting incident happened recently in Germany. Miss Wadman, daughter of the Reverend and Mrs. Wadman of this city, was in a music-ist shop in Berlin. Miss Wadman is studying music in that city; she is well known in Honolulu society circles and is a very beautiful young girl. As she was sitting there, a tall, stately woman came in and sat near her, awaiting her turn. This woman said to Miss Wadman "Are you an American?" She replied "Yes." The next question was "Where is your home?" At the answer, "Honolulu," this gracious woman leaned forward and took Miss Wadman by the hand and said "I have just come from there. I am on a trip around the world, and have found no place as beautiful as Honolulu." The two women grew reminiscent and chatted over the beauties and attractions of the Paradise of the Pacific, growing more enthusiastic and having a greater longing for the place as they conversed. Mrs. Carrie Jacobs-Bond is well known in Honolulu. She is a talented composer and musician, and her concerts given while here, would hardly admit standing room. While in Honolulu she was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Tenney.

Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Durston were passengers on the Mauna Kea and will visit relatives on Hawaii. This young couple were recently married; the latter is a daughter of Mr. Wood of the Promotion Committee.

The following announcement has been received: Dr. and Mrs. William Parker Headen announce the marriage of their daughter, Mary Alice to Lieutenant Lauren Sidney Willis, United States Marine Corps, on Saturday, September the seventeenth, one thousand nine hundred and ten, Honolulu, Hawaii.

Miss Jessie Kennedy and her charming mother will arrive here on the incoming Wilhelmina. Their home friends will give them a hearty welcome.

Miss Thelma Murphy was the hostess at a daintily appointed birthday dinner on Friday evening. The Chesney, and Messrs. Alexander Anderson, Ivan Graham, Marston Campbell, Francis Cooper, Blakeley McStocker, Reynold McGrew, William Onderkirk, Alan Renton and Francis Smith.

Musicate at Moana Hotel.

Honolulu music lovers are looking forward with keen interest to the song recital to be given by Mrs. Stephen Norton Bobo next Thursday evening, October twenty-seventh in the concert room of the Moana Hotel. Mrs. Bobo will be assisted by Mrs. Sidney Ballou, at the piano. Mr. George Brown, in two solo numbers and Dr. Carl Ramus, cellist.

Those who were fortunate enough to hear the excellent rendition of the "Persian Garden," this past summer, will enjoy hearing again some of the solos given by Mrs. Bobo and Mr. Brown—while those who have not heard it will have an opportunity to listen to a part of this beautiful song recital.

Another interesting feature will be some selections on the "Welta Mignon." This is new in Honolulu, and the opportunity to hear the reproductions of solos of eminent pianists will be a pleasurable one. Dr. Ramus will assist Mrs. Bobo in two cello obbligatos.

Among the long list of well known composers on the program. The total public will be interested to note the names of two of our own musicians—Mrs. Mary Dillingham Frear and Mr. Edgar A. P. Newcomb. Mrs. Bobo will sing two of Mrs. Frear's songs "Peace" and "Life"—the words of both by Edward Rowland Sill, and "In the Great House" by Mr. Newcomb.

Among other numbers "Connata tu le payo" from the opera "Mignon," the "Slave Song" by Del Riego and Schubert's dainty "Wohin" will be of great interest.

The whole program has been carefully selected to show to best advantage the qualities of Mrs. Bobo's voice, a rich contralto, dramatic in its intensity, and yet lyric in quality. It is always heard with the greatest enjoyment, and a true artist, the singer is never disappointing to her audiences. Honolulu has been fortunate in possessing such an artist for so long a time—and her generous assistance at all times toward things musical has been warmly appreciated. She leaves on the second of November for the East and her departure will be keenly regretted.

The recital promises to be of social as well as artistic interest and the following well known women are acting as patronesses: Mesdames Walter

SAFETY DEVICES TO COST FIVE MILLION

Standards Agreed on for Railroad Cars After Thirty Years.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 7.—

Definite standards of safety appliances to be attached to railway cars and locomotives have been agreed upon after nearly a third of a century of effort. It is estimated that the proposed changes in equipment will cost the railroads about $2,500,000.

The agreement was reached by a committee of experts appointed last week by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The agreement reached is unanimous, as to all equipment to be constructed in the future, except the placing of four sill steps on non-projecting end box cars. That matter will have to be determined by the commission.

GREAT MEET OF AVIATORS

(Associated Press Cable.)
NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—The great aviation meet in the history of the world will open tomorrow under the auspices of the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, where the most famous birdmen of Europe and America will compete for the honors of the air. The prizes aggregate $73,000, which is by far the largest sum ever offered to competing aviators.

It is expected that all of the foremost American flyers will participate in the elimination contests. Hamilton will guide his 115-horsepower aeroplane for the elimination contests, and there will be several Wright machines entered.

ROOSEVELT TALKS FOR SENATOR LODGE

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—Ex-President Roosevelt tonight made a sensational campaign speech in which he supported Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, who is running for reelection in 1911. Declaring that Lodge's defeat would be a calamity to the nation, Roosevelt jumped back to the "regular" column, for Lodge is not only famous as a standpatter and a member of the Altrich clique, but is also disliked because of his aristocratic tendencies.

Lodge is chairman of the committee on Philippines of the Senate and is a member of the committees on immigration, foreign relations, and finance, besides others. He played a prominent part in the national Republican conventions of 1900, 1904 and 1908.

MISSOURI PACIFIC WILL FIGHT STRIKE

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 21.—Two carloads of strikers are quartered in the city tonight prepared to commence work on the lines of the Missouri Pacific railway, which has experienced a strike of many of its employees. They were recruited in Chicago and their presence is taken as indicating a determination on the part of the railroad to fight the strikers to the limit.

The Goose Girl

By HAROLD MACGRATH

Copyright, 1909 by the Bobbs-Merrill Company

"Come, let us go for your clock," he said, rising. "I am an old fool."

Gretchen had gone home with her clock, but still Herr Ludwig, as the mountaineer called himself, tarried in the dim and dusty shop.

"I've a watch I should like you to look over," he said to the clockmaker. The clock maker literally pounced upon it. "Where did you get a watch like this?" he demanded suspiciously.

"It is mine. You will find my name engraved inside the back lid."

The clock maker pried open the case, adjusted his glass and dropped it, shaking with terror.

"So this is the end," the amazed watchmaker gasped. "Of all my labors, to me and to what little I have left!"

"Fiddlesticks! I am here for no purpose recording you, comrade. Your secret is as dead as it ever was."

"Gott! For seventeen, eighteen years I have traveled hither and thither, always on some false clue. Never a band of gypsies I heard of that I did not seek them out. Nothing, nothing! You will never know what I have gone through, and uselessly, to prove my innocence. What benefit to me would have been a crime like that of which I was accused? Was I not high in honor and wealth? What benefit to me, I say—all my estates confiscated, my wife dead of shame?"

"But why the clocks?" in wonder.

"It was a pastime of mine when I was a boy. I used to be tinkering

THE CLOCK MENDER PRIED OPEN THE CASE.

among all the clocks in the house. The grand duke has a wonderful Frisian clock. One day it fell out of order, and the court jeweler could do nothing with it. I was summoned—! No one recognized me, I have changed so. I had begun to give up hope when the gypsy I was seeking was seen by one of my agents. He alone knows the secret. And I am waiting, waiting. But you believe, Ludwig?"

"Carl, you are innocent of it all. Come to Jugendheilt."

"No, Ludwig: this is my country, however unjustly it has treated me."

"Yes, yes. But if your gypsy falls you?"

"Still I shall remain. I am only sixty-eight, yet no one would believe me under eighty. There were letters found in my desk, all forgeries. I fled to Paris. I wrote Herbeck once while there. He believed that I was innocent."

"He keeps a steady hand on the duke."

"But you—what are you doing in Dreilberg in this guise?"

"Well, once upon a time there lived a king. He was young. He had an uncle who watched over him and his affairs. This prince regent had an idea regarding the future welfare of this nephew. He would bring him up to be a man, well educated, broad minded and clean lived. The lad grew up clean in mind, strong in body, liberal in spirit. In his palace few saw anything of him after his fifteenth year. He went into the world under an assumed name. By and by he came home quietly. In one month he was to be crowned. And now what do you think? He must have one more adventure, just one. And one morning his uncle found him gone. Ah! The prince regent set it going that his majesty had gone a hunting in the forests. Then the prince regent put on some old clothes and went a venturing himself."

"And the end?"

"God knows," said Ludwig.

"And fetuous fool that this uncle was. He tried to marry off his nephew."

"I understand. But if you are dis covered here you will be harshly dealt with."

The other shrugged and picked up his watch. "Can I be of material assistance? No? Proud old imbecile!" said the mountaineer kindly. "You have been deeply wronged, but some day you will be right. I myself shall see what can be done with the duke."

"He will never be brought to reason unless in dubitable evidence of my innocence confronts him. The place once occupied by my name is obliterated. I have given the best of my heart and of my brain to Ehrenstein—for this! I am innocent."

"I believe you, Carl. Remember, Jugendheilt will always welcome you. I must be going."

"PROUD OLD IMBECILE!"

Carmichael walked his horse. This morning he had ridden out almost to the frontier and was now on his return.

No longer did Carmichael take the south pass for his morning ride. That was the favored going of her highness, and he avoided her now. In truth, he dared not meet her now. It would have been out of wisdom. She was to marry the king of Jugendheilt; it was in the order of things that he ride alone.

The road to Elsen began about six miles north of the base of the Dreilberg mountain. It swerved to the east. As Carmichael reached the fork he heard the faroff mutter of hoofs. Coming along the road from Elsen were a trio of riders. Carmichael laughed weakly. Should he mount and be off before she made the turn? He waited.

She came in full flight, rosy, radiant, as lovely as Diana. With a short nod of her head she signaled for the two soldiers to fall back.

The two were embarrassed.

The little cavalcade directed its course toward the city.

"You have not been chiding of late," he said.

Then she had smiled him. Carl had heard her heart expanded.

"I have indeed the same as usual, but in truth, only I have taken this road for a change."

"Ah!" She patted the gilt-tipped neck of her mare. So he had purposely tried to avoid her? Why? She stole a shy glance at him. Why were not lines modeled in his form? All the kings she had met had something the matter with them—crooked legs, weak eyes, bald, young or old, and daft over gambling tables and open dancers. And the one man among them all—at least she had been informed that the king of Jugendheilt was all of a man—had politely declined.

"I am guilty of less majesty," he suggested.

"I shall not lock you up," she said, and added under her breath, "as my good father would like to. Besides," she continued aloud, "I rather like to set the court by the ears. Ah, but I shall lead some king a merry life!" with a wicked gleam in her eyes.

"Frederick of Jugendheilt?"

"Is it true that you have not heard yet? I have declined the honor."

"Your highness?"

"This, of course, is as yet a state secret, and my reason for telling you is not a princess's, but a woman's. Solve it if you can."

Carmichael fumbled the reins blindly. "They say that he is a handsome young man."

"What has that to do with it? The interest he takes in his kingdom is positively negative. There will be only one king in Jugendheilt, and that will be the prince regent."

"They were silent for a few minutes. Finally the ambassador spoke.

"I have some news for your highness. I am about to ask for my recall."

The color on her cheeks paled a shade lighter.

"Is not this sudden?" she asked.

"I am essentially a man of action, your highness. I am growing dull and stupid amid these charming pleasures. I am wicked enough to wish for war."

"There is a woman?" she cried.

"Oh, yes!" recklessly.

"Then go to her, my friend; go to her." And she waved her crop over his head as in benediction.

He did not speak, but caught up the reins firmly. She did most of the talking brightly and gaily, but his ears were dull for the undercurrent passed by him. He was thinking deeply of her.

sitting on the parapet. He would have recognized that square form anywhere.

"Your highness, do you see that man yonder on the parapet? We fought in the same cavalry. He is covered with scars. Not one man in a thousand would have gone through what he did and lived."

"Is he an American?"

"By adoption. May I present him?" It will be the joy of his life."

"Certainly. Brave men interest me."

Grumbach rose, thinking that the riders were going to pass him. But his friend Carmichael stopped his horse.

"Herr Grumbach," said Carmichael, "her serene highness desires me to present you."

Hans was stricken dumb.

She patted him with a number of questions—how many battles they had fought in, how many times they had been wounded.

Her highness' mare grew restive and began pawing the road. She reined in quickly. As she did so something yellow flashed downward to the ground. Grumbach hastened forward.

"My locket," said her highness anxiously.

"It is not broken, highness," said Grumbach. Then he handed it to her gravely.

"Thank you!" Her highness put the locket into a small purse which she carried in her belt, touched the mare, and sped up the road. Carmichael following.

Grumbach returned to the parapet. "Gott!" he murmured.

His face was as livid as the scar on his head.

"GOTT!" HE MURMURED.

CHAPTER XI. THE WRONG MAN.

HERBECK dropped his quill, and there was a dream in his eyes. He sat there motionless, rapt. And thus the duke found him. He held a letter in his hand and tossed it to Herbeck.

"I shall throw 10,000 men across the frontier tonight."

"War again?"

"Read that. It is the second anonymous communication I have received within a week. As the first was truthful, there is no reason to believe this one to be false."

Herbeck was genuinely started.

"What do you say to that?" triumphantly.

"This—let them go quietly back to Jugendheilt."

"No!" blazed the duke.

"Are we rich enough for war?"

"What the devil is my army for if not to uphold my dignity, Herbeck?"

"Rather let me reason. This is some prank. They would never dare enter Dreilberg for aught else."

"I have seen this writing before," said Herbeck.

The duke struck the bell violently.

"Summon the chief of police," he said to the secretary.

"Will your highness leave the matter in my hands?" asked the chancellor.

"Herbeck, in some things you are weak."

"And in others I am strong," smiled the chancellor. "I am weak when there is talk of war, I am strong when peace is in the balance."

"Is it possible, Herbeck, that you do not appreciate the magnitude of the situation?"

"It is precisely because I do that I wish to move slowly. Wait. Let the police find out why they are here. There will be time enough then to declare war. They have never seen her highness. Who knows?"

"Ah! But they have violated the treaty."

"That depends upon whether their presence here is or is not a menace to the state. If they are here on private concerns which in no wise touch Ehrenstein it would be foolhardy to declare war."

"What do you advise?" wearily.

"Wait. In a day or so arrest them under the pretext that you believe them to be spies. If this invasion is harmless and they declare themselves the matter can be adjusted in this wise: Ignore their declaration and confine them a day or two in the city prison, then publish the news broadcast. Having themselves broken the letter if not the spirit of the treaty, they will not dare declare war. Every court in Europe will laugh."

The duke laughed. "You are right, Herbeck. Ah, here is the chief."

Herbeck read the letter in part to the chief, who jotted down the words, repeating aloud in a kind of mutter: "A mountaineer, a vintner, a carter, a butcher and a baker. You will give me their descriptions, your excellency?"

Herbeck read the postscript.

"But you didn't tell him who?"

"Why should he know?" said Herbeck, glancing shrewdly at the duke.

"His ignorance will be all the better for the plot."

"One is as big and powerful as a Carpathian bear. Look out," warned Herbeck.

"And he is?"

"The mountaineer."

"And the vintner?"

"Oh, he is a little fellow and hasn't grown his bite yet," said Herbeck dryly.

The duke laughed again.

"I thank you, Herbeck. You have neatly arranged a fine comedy. When the arrest is made, give it as much publicity as possible. Take a squad of soldiers. It will give it a military look."

"No, your highness," touching the papers which strewn his desk. "This will keep me busy well into the evening."

Herbeck instructed the chief.

"Begin with the mountaineer and the vintner; the others do not matter so much." Then Herbeck laughed. The chief raised his head. He had not heard his excellency laugh like that in many moons. "Report to me your progress. Good luck to you!" said Herbeck with a gesture of dismissal.

Her highness found the duke waiting in her apartments.

"Why, father," kissing him, "what brings you here?"

"A little idea I have in mind. He drew her down to the arm of the chair. "We all have our little day dreams."

"Who does not, father?" She slid her arm round his neck.

"Herr Carmichael is a fine fellow, brave, witty, shrewd. If all Americans are like him America will soon become a force in the world. I have taken a fancy to him, and you know what they say of your father—no formality with those whom he likes. Humanly I am right, but in the virtue of every-day events in court life I am wrong. Herbeck has spoken of it, the older women speak of it, and they all say—"

"What do I care what they say?" hotly. "Are you not the grand duke, and am I not your daughter?"

"You must ride no more with Herr Carmichael. It is neither wise nor safe."

"Father?"

He was up with his arms folding around her. "Child, it is only for your sake. Listen to me."

"You must be a princess. You must steel your heart against the invasion of love unless it comes from a state equal or superior to your own."

"Yes, father. I shall not ride with him any more."

"He a brave heart, and I shall engage to find a king for you."

"I don't want any playthings, father," with the old light touch, and then she looked him full in the eyes. "I promise to do nothing more to create comment if, on the other hand, you will promise to give me two years more of freedom."

The duke readily assented and shortly returned to his aunt rather pleased that there had been no scene—not that he had expected any.

Considerable activity was manifest in the police bureau the rest of that day.

To return to Carmichael, he had never before concerned himself with resignations. Up to this hour he had never resigned anything he had set his heart upon. So it was not an easy matter for him to compose a letter to the secretary of state resigning the post at Dreilberg. True, he added that he desired to be transferred to a seaport town, France or Italy preferred. The high altitude in Dreilberg had affected his heart. However, in case there was no other available post they would kindly appoint his successor at once. It took courage indeed to face the matter squarely and resolutely. That she was not going to marry the king of Jugendheilt did not alter his affairs in the least. It was all hopeless. He must go.

Some one was knocking on the door.

"A letter for your excellency," said the concierge.

"If Herr Carmichael would learn the secret of No. 40 Krumerweg let him attire himself as a vintner and be in the Krumerweg at 8 o'clock tonight."

This note was as welcome to the recipient as the flowers in the spring. An adventure? He was ready, now and always.

"I still need the costume of a vintneer's?"

"I am here for no purpose recording you, comrade. Your secret is as dead as it ever was."

"Gott! For seventeen, eighteen years I have traveled hither and thither, always on some false clue. Never a band of gypsies I heard of that I did not seek them out. Nothing, nothing! You will never know what I have gone through, and uselessly, to prove my innocence. What benefit to me would have been a crime like that of which I was accused? Was I not high in honor and wealth? What benefit to me, I say—all my estates confiscated, my wife dead of shame?"

"But why the clocks?" in wonder.

"It was a pastime of mine when I was a boy. I used to be tinkering among all the clocks in the house. The grand duke has a wonderful Frisian clock. One day it fell out of order, and the court jeweler could do nothing with it. I was summoned—! No one recognized me, I have changed so. I had begun to give up hope when the gypsy I was seeking was seen by one of my agents. He alone knows the secret. And I am waiting, waiting. But you believe, Ludwig?"

"Carl, you are innocent of it all. Come to Jugendheilt."

"No, Ludwig: this is my country, however unjustly it has treated me."

"Yes, yes. But if your gypsy falls you?"

"Still I shall remain. I am only sixty-eight, yet no one would believe me under eighty. There were letters found in my desk, all forgeries. I fled to Paris. I wrote Herbeck once while there. He believed that I was innocent."

"He keeps a steady hand on the duke."

"But you—what are you doing in Dreilberg in this guise?"

"Well, once upon a time there lived a king. He was young. He had an uncle who watched over him and his affairs. This prince regent had an idea regarding the future welfare of this nephew. He would bring him up to be a man, well educated, broad minded and clean lived. The lad grew up clean in mind, strong in body, liberal in spirit. In his palace few saw anything of him after his fifteenth year. He went into the world under an assumed name. By and by he came home quietly. In one month he was to be crowned. And now what do you think? He must have one more adventure, just one. And one morning his uncle found him gone. Ah! The prince regent set it going that his majesty had gone a hunting in the forests. Then the prince regent put on some old clothes and went a venturing himself."

"And the end?"

"God knows," said Ludwig.
