HAWAII'S PROSPERITY IS TOLD IN DOLLARS SHERMAN DEFEATS COL. ROOSEVELT

HAWAII'S EXPORTS FOR YEAR OVER 46 MILLIONS

MORGAN URGES PUBLIC BODY CONSOLIDATION

Exports from Hawaii for the year ending June 30 amounted to $46,486,412, an increase of 15 per cent over the year preceding, and being almost double the imports for the year, which amounted to $25,134,247, according to a statement made by President Morgan of the Chamber of Commerce in his annual report presented at the annual meeting of the Chamber this afternoon.

President Morgan's report, prepared by Secretary H. P. Wood, covers more than twenty pages and discusses in detail the different commercial and agricultural conditions in the Territory.

He states that agricultural conditions are in the most satisfactory condition. Sugar still continues to be the leading crop, though it is doubtful if the output will exceed the last crop for many years to come.

Rice, which has been the second crop of the Territory, valued annually at $2,500,000, is giving place to pineapples, the output of the latter product increasing from 1000 cases in 1909 to 510,000 cases in the past season.

Coffee, tobacco, sisal, cotton and rubber are all discussed, the outlook for the latter as a strong article of export being good, as the first tapings will be made on thousands of trees within a few months.

Military and naval matters and the amount of money coming into the Territory through the improvements at Pearl Harbor are taken up. The improved steamship service and building operations are spoken of at length.

In regard to the 1915 exposition at San Francisco, it is urged that Honolulu throw its influence to that city, and as a Federal appropriation may be available, it is thought advisable to plan for a big exhibit for Hawaii at this exposition.

That the wharfs now controlled by the navy will revert to Honolulu as soon as the department moves to Pearl Harbor is believed, and comprehensive plans for further improvement of the harbor, as being one of the most important on the Pacific, are urged.

A feeling of congratulation is expressed over the referring of the prohibition question to the voters of

Most of the morning at the police court was taken up with a case in which a bowl of soup figured as the most interesting feature of the affair. A Chinese named Lan Chung was charged with having thrown hot soup over another Celestial who was working in the same restaurant.

Senator Charles Chillingworth appeared for the prosecution, and Attorney E. A. Douthit represented the defendant. The facts as brought out at the trial were that the defendant was chief cook at a restaurant on King street, and that the complaining witness was an assistant who was continually coming late to work.

Early this month the defendant, complainant and another man, were cooking side by side at a large stove. Some soup spilled on the right arm of the complainant, who was badly scalded.

From McCarthy

The prospects of a Democratic board of city and county supervisors for the coming term is not only exceedingly bright, but can be counted upon as almost a certainty," declared a prominent party leader this morning.

"Of course, W. H. McClellan, whom we considered a valuable member of the present board, will be returned to his office with a healthy majority. McClellan has made a good record as a municipal legislator, and he has the endorsement of his party."

I might add that McClellan will also draw a large number of Republican votes as he is considered a safe and conservative man.

"M. E. Silva will also be a candidate for membership to the board of supervisors. He will be the unanimous choice of the delegates to the in the Pacific.

The new Canadian-Australian liner Zealandia arrived this afternoon, the maiden voyage of her run between Vancouver and the Colonies.

The Zealandia docked at the Alakai street wharf and was visited during the afternoon by many Honoluluans. The Zealandia's reputation as a luxuriously equipped ocean traveler having preceded the new vessel to port.

The Zealandia will sail at 9 o'clock.

The Zealandia has incorporated in her construction a number of innovations not found in either the Makura or the Manuka. The vessel is between these steamers when it comes to size and tonnage.

As a product of the John Brown and Company shipyards of Clydebank, England, the Zealandia represents about as fine a type of combined passenger and freight carrier that has ever visited the port of Honolulu. That the steamer will prove a popular means of conveyance of people from Honolulu to Victoria and Vancouver goes without saying.

Before departing from England on her maiden voyage to Australia the vessel passed the highest rating granted by Lloyd's. She is listed as 100 A1 and has all the equipment and conveniences under the very exacting requirements demanded by the British Board of Trade.

The new steamer has a length of 410 feet; breadth 54½; depth, 34 feet.

Her tonnage is about 7000 gross registered. Accommodation is provided for 200 first-class passengers, 120 second-class passengers, and 126 third-class, and her crew numbers about 130.

ROBINSON ABSENT

Judge W. J. Robinson of the Circuit Court will be absent from the bench from Thursday until Monday morning. Judge Robinson has had no vacation for a long time, and he will spend these few days at the home of Judge Perry. Some of the cases on the calendar will be transferred to Judge Cooley and others will be continued. Tomorrow there are fifteen matters on the docket and court will open soon after 8 o'clock.

Kimura was cited to appear to show cause why he should not be disciplined for selling beer to minor and for selling liquor to a Korean while the latter was intoxicated.

Kimura replied through an interpreter. He stated that in the case of the minor it was nearly dark and the apartment was covered with dirt and grime and he certainly looked to be of age. This boy also told Fennell that he was twenty-one, but afterward said he was born in 1891.

In regard to the Korean, it was explained that he had a peculiar

Colonel Parker and Wall Will Study Conditions To Be Met With

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Colonel Roosevelt went to defeat at the hands of the Republican State committee today, when a vote was taken on the temporary chairmanship of the State convention.

The ex-President was defeated by no less a personage than Vice-President Sherman, and although there was a division to show the lineup of the committee members, the final action was unanimous.

The vote of the committee was twenty for Vice-President Sherman and thirteen for Colonel Roosevelt. After the result was announced, Prince Cupid also went along, but fishing and not railroad building is the incentive in his case.

Before his departure this morning Colonel Parker stated that he thought highly of the prospects of the proposed Kona road and that immediate action would be taken by the backers of the proposition as soon as Wall had made a report based upon the preliminary surveys.

The proposition is looked upon with considerable favor by the same men whose financial nerve resulted in the building of the Hamakua ditch, and if the surveys are satisfactory, as it is practically certain they will be, there is little likelihood that there will be much delay in beginning operations.

Colonel Parker and Surveyor Wall expect to be in Kona about three weeks.

amount of passenger business offered the three vessels operated on the Canadian-Australian line, there can be no great overcrowding on the Zealandia. The vessel is fitted with two and three-berth cabins for the accommodation of first class passengers. The rooms for use of the public are nicely arranged on the upper, shelter and promenade decks amidships. The staterooms are provided with every modern convenience. The berths are roomy and the vessel is peculiarly designed for voyaging through tropical waters. The system of ventilation in vogue leaves but little to be desired.

The second-class accommodation is on the upper and shelter decks. The dining saloon occupies the width of the vessel, and will seat 90 persons. The third-class accommodation is forward, on the main, upper, and shelter decks. There are four cargo holds. The vessel is fitted with two sets of quadruple expansion engines on the inverted direct-acting principle, designed for a pressure of 215 pounds steam, applied by seven multi-tubular boilers, arranged in one boiler-room, and worked under forced draught.

The vessel maintained an average speed of thirteen and one-half knots, using only five boilers, out of seven, and burned only sixty-three tons of coal per day. This was before reaching Melbourne. From Melbourne to Sydney, she made fourteen and one-tenth knots, using three boilers. Captain Free says the vessel is equal to a speed of sixteen and one-half knots, loaded, and to seventeen knots, half-loaded. The steamer is intended for the Canadian-Australian trade, in substitution for the Manuka, which is to go into the interstate and New Zealand trade.

An important innovation on the ship is the Marconi wireless apparatus. This was used freely and to great advantage throughout the voyage from England. Communication was maintained with England for some days, and when 1100 miles off Durban a message was sent to the postmaster-general of the South African Federation, and was duly acknowledged. When 450 miles southwest of Cape Town a message was received from the owners, through H. M. S. Challenger, giving some instructions, which were acted upon, and the time given to an hour of the Zealandia's arrival at Williamstown. Communication was also held between the Malwa and the White Star liner Suevic. After leaving Natal and Pernambuco mean time was given for three days, which was of considerable value in rating the ship's chronometers.

walk and that he was not drunk, but it was his peculiar walk that deceived onlookers.

McTighe was up for having whiskey which someone thought should have a "red label," according to the new law. He had this whiskey on July 21.

In replying, McTighe produced letters to show that this whiskey was not a blend contrary to law; it is a pure whiskey.

Kwong Chung Lung sold a flask of whiskey to one George Sumner. This was considered by the board to be selling in small quantities, which the sellers promised not to do.

In defense it was asked what a "small quantity" meant. It was explained that a small flask was considered selling in small quantities as one man could go around the corner and drink it alone.

Two bottles, one containing gin and the other wine, were presented as evidence in the case of the Kojima, who runs a place opposite the fish market. Kojima should not have sold in small quantities, and it was for this that he was on the carpet.

The defense was that the sale of gin and wine was made to one person. His instructions to his bartenders were that no less than five bottles of wine could be sold to one person. He thought that when gin and wine were sold together in both lots, it was all right.

R. J. Bushly at this point addressed the board, saying that he might be at fault for Kwong Chung Lung selling flasks. He had only mentioned that wine was not to be sold in small quantities. Now he had told them differently and they understood that no flasks could be sold.

"Mr. Wagner, the board understands that you have been your own best customer for some time," said Chairman Watkins to John Wagner admitted of the Mint Saloon. Wagner admitted that he had looked upon wine and spirits in considerable quantities. He promised that he would do better if the board would overlook the offense this time. After warning Wagner that he would lose his license if he continued to hang around his place drunk, he was dismissed.

Flora Harvey and G. W. Macey applied for a license to run the Kilohana Saloon, formerly conducted by the late Frank Harvey.

The defendant was arrested and charged with assault; he claimed that the soup was spilled through the man working next to him, jostling his arm just as the soup was in transit from the boiler to another pot.

The complaining witness swore that previously to the day of the alleged soup throwing, there was no trouble between the chief cook and himself. Judge Andrade found the defendant guilty and imposed a fine of $30 and costs. Attorney Douthitt at once noted an appeal and put up bonds for his clients appearance at the Circuit Court.

Douthitt was provoked about the decision and after the case was finished he stated that he would never try another case before the District Court, and that he would waive examination and demand a jury trial in future. Douthitt declared that the decision was a rank injustice, and that there was no doubt that the soup incident was nothing but an accident; however, the Judge thought different, and what he says goes—till reversed by the higher court.

REPORT OF GOV. FREAR

Is Progressing And Will Go To Washington September 5

Governor Walter F. Frear has been hard at work on his annual report for the past week and has devoted nearly all of his time to it since a week ago Saturday.

The report is due in Washington September 15, and the Governor hopes to have it on the mail leaving Honolulu on September 5.

More than half the subjects have already been covered for this year's report, and if the reports from departmental chiefs all are received within the next few days there will be no trouble in getting the report away to Washington on time.

Governor Frear stated that there was going to be an innovation in his report this year—that is, it would be less technical.

An effort is being made to have the report more in a narrative, so that a person who never saw Hawaii would be able to read it intelligently and not be faced with so many tables of figures which would mean nothing to him.

All but a few reports from subordinate officials have been received, and Governor Frear expects those overdue to be in his hands within the next week.

RECREATIONS

EXCELLENT VAUDEVILLE AT NEW ORPHEUM

The second week of vaudeville at the Orpheum started in with a good house. The members are all good and the afterpiece is very funny. Maud Rockwell sang "Waiting" in fine voice and responded to an encore with "The Last Rose of Summer." She wore another of those stunning gowns of shimmering cloth that you can hear clear back in the last row. Olga Stock looked charming in a natty linen suit and sang "Come Along Man," winning the usual applause with that rare voice of hers and those wonderful Stock dimples. Mabel Bunyan and Melville Gideon made another hit with their new songs. "I Want Some One to Flirt With me" was very well rendered by Miss Bunyan and Mr. Gideon played the "Barcarole" from "The Love Tales of Hoffmann" very artistically. They are becoming great favorites with the audiences. Little Maudie Stock looked charming in a delicious pink dress and sang "Will You Miss Me?" Her voice never disappoints, there is a timbre in it that is suited to sentimental songs and if the management would choke the choruses off when they come in with glaring dresses that destroy all the artistic effect, her song would go better. Laurel Atkins' "Harry Lauder" diversion was very rich and her dancing truly "canny." Carleton Chase sang "Put On Your Old Gray Bonnet," and sang it well, but when there are so many new pretty songs out why give us these old ones? Garrity, Stuart and Harris McQuire had parts in the afterpiece and acquitted themselves admirably. McQuire's "Honolulu Rag" made a hit in the first part and some of our nation's defenders on the vessels in port would tone down their effervescent spirits a bit, the audiences would enjoy the selections much better.

BROWN MAKES INVESTIGATION

E. C. Brown, chief of immigration service here, will make a thorough investigation of the Russian immigrants on Hawaii. He left this morning on the Mauna Kea, accompanied by Grune, the Russian interpreter.

Brown stated before leaving that it would take him about three weeks, or perhaps more, to cover all the plantations, where he intends to conduct the investigation. Interpreter Grune, a Russian, has already familiarized himself with plantation life.

THE PACIFIC Mail Intermediate steamer Asia from San Francisco by the way of Honolulu is reported to have arrived at Yokohama on last Saturday.

PLANTING TREES ON HAWAII

Plans For Large Tract Above Waimea About Completed

Plans for reforesting more than 300 acres of land above Waimea village, Hawaii, have been nearly completed by Forester Ralph Hosmer of the Bureau of Agriculture, and the planting of about 1200 trees per acre will commence after the first of the year.

Five thousand dollars from the conservation fund were appropriated for this work, and in addition A. W. Carter of Parker Ranch gave a like sum to carry on the work.

Forester Hosmer has been studying this reforesting plan for several months, and now the plans are about complete and the first plantings have been made in the nursery to have trees ready for setting out within a few months.

One hundred and fifty acres of the land to be turned into forest are owned by the government, and a like amount belongs to the Parker Ranch.

As to the trees which will eventually grow on the tract, definite plans have not been made as yet. To begin with, a large number of different species of eucalyptus will be set out, and it is this variety that is being put in the nursery now for the first planting on the tract.

The Bureau of Forestry is making plans for Arbor Day already, and trees for distribution and planting on the second Friday in November are being prepared.

Last year for Arbor Day planting there were distributed more than 60,000 trees, and the number this year will be nearly as large. It is estimated.

ARMY AND NAVY

DOWN WITH FAT, UP WITH BRAVES, OF ARMY OFFICERS

Washington, July 29.—Major-General Leonard Wood has his own ideas regarding the value of the famous Roosevelt physical test for army officers. The chief of staff is convinced that riding and walking tests should not be the same for all officers of all arms of the service and all grades. To modify the tests to suit climatic and other conditions at the various army posts, the General has determined to make the time, place and method of the tests a subject for the best judgment of the departmental commanders.

The regulations permit the commanders of posts to determine just what exercises are necessary to keep the officers in proper condition. Under the new plan it is expected that the exercise best adapted to each man will be followed. Officers who are overweight will be expected to reduce, and those who are under the normal will be expected to increase.

All general officers are excused from the annual test and physical examination. Department commanders will be required to conduct at least one riding test, but not as participants. The chief of staff will conduct the riding test for officers stationed in Washington.

Officers of the coast artillery may take the annual test either by riding or walking. One important change in the condition provides that officers shall take the riding test at their home posts as far as practicable and use their own mounts.

Seattle, July 30.—Paymaster's Clerk W. J. Garrity was arrested at the Puget Sound Navy Yard today, charged with stealing $2,000 from the safe of the cruiser Philadelphia, and is held prisoner on the ship. Last Monday when Garrity opened the safe he exclaimed dramatically that he had been robbed. Secret service men say that Garrity was the only man on the ship who had the combination of the safe. They also found that he had been living extravagantly and was deep in debt. He was promoted from yeoman to clerk three months ago, and at that time married a young woman of good family in Bremerton. Paymaster E. J. Wilton of the Philadelphia is responsible financially for the government's loss, and under the navy rules will be tried for neglect of duty.

The contract for transporting army supplies from Tacoma and Seattle to Manilla has been awarded to the Eme Funnel line, which is owned and operated by Messrs. A. Holt and company of Liverpool. The contract became effective July 1.

The company's bid was $3 a ton for general cargo, and $7 per thousand feet on lumber.

EIGHT HUNDRED tons of general cargo from San Francisco due to arrive at the port on Thursday morning by the Pacific Mail steamer Mongolia. The vessel was heard from through a wireless received at the agency of H. Hackfeld & Co.

DR. CRIPPEN CONFESSES

Says His Supposed Companion in Guilt Knows Nothing of Crime—Detectives Believe Him.

LONDON, August 4, 2 a. m.—The following confession, said to have been made by Dr. Hawley Harvey Crippen last Monday to Inspector Dew, has been called to the "Daily News."

"It is quite true," said the prisoner, "that I did kill my wife. But it is a mistake that I made in trying to hide. I should not have done it. I meant it for the best, though.

"I will not say anything of my wife's death until I return to England. Then I shall prove that though I killed my wife I am not a murderer. I make this confession in order to shield Miss Le Neve from suspicion. She, poor girl, knew absolutely nothing of my wife's disappearance except what I have told her."

jects.

Organization without harmony is what Uncle Joe Cannon attempted, and he is going down to defeat; glorious defeat but nevertheless certain.
That's the way with all men who start out in politics to organize and not harmonize.

Lloyd Griscom recently visited Roosevelt. Vice President Sherman has been given the preference by Griscom's committee. Can it be that Griscom, instead of carrying a peace message from Taft, called on Roosevelt to tell him that he ought not oppose the Vice President.

Just why the Republican committee wants charges preferred against its employee Andrews we don't know.
He has already made himself impossible as a factor for strengthening the Republican party. That should be charge enough if there were not others.

PROTECT LANDING PRIVILEGES OF THE PEOPLE.

Clearly the commission appointed under authority of the Legislature to investigate the wharves and landings of the Territory, is in favor of the public-owned wharf in the larger and more important ports.

On this matter the commission has followed the lines of the best thought in the United States, where the people have discovered all too late that by disposing of their waterfront to private corporations they have given the transportation companies the opportunity to grasp the public by the throat and demand tribute from the shippers for the use of and to pass over what should be their own property.

Under local conditions the smaller landings can be operated at less expense by private interests than by the government, but there is no question that the government and the people generally should be especially on guard against any surrender of public rights and public property controlling transportation outlets, into the hands of private interests.

One has only to read what the commission has to say of the conditions at Kahului to become convinced of that body's idea of what should not be repeated in other principal ports of Hawaii.

IMMIGRATION.

Whether the immigration question is to be met by a compromise or not, certain it is that this issue cannot be shunted off with the assertion that the party espousing it cannot carry the election.

A great deal of reckless talking has been done in connection with the immigration policy. But our fellow citizens should not forget that despite the threats that have been made, a great number of the voters of the Territory believe that continued activity along this line is a necessity of Hawaii's best progress.

ANDREWS AND THE REPUBLICAN ORGANIZATION.

The necessity for the elimination of Lorrin Andrews from the management of the Republican party requires no more serious and specific charge than his record in his own precinct.

Andrews continued in his present position means the defeat of the Republican party, because the party as a whole will merely duplicate on a broader scale the revolt that is on Manoa. Continuation of Andrews in office makes the Republican party sponsor for a brand of politics the voters will not support.

If Andrews was placed in the position of assistant secretary to do what he has been doing, then it means that the Republican organization is merely a medium for building up a system that can be bought and sold to serve the purposes of whoever puts up the money and delivered by whoever is in charge of the manipulation at headquarters.

Any party operating and conducted under such conditions deserves to go to defeat. The sooner the true character of such an institution is made manifest the better, because the honest average citizen has nothing but condemnation and eternal opposition for work and workers of this type.

As an officer or employee or whatever he may be of the Republican Central Committee, Andrews has made a complete failure in the capacity of one inspiring increased confidence in the organization on the part of the rank and file. We doubt that the widespread suspicion and distrust he has aroused has ever been equaled by any man at headquarters.

But the question of the hour is whether California is even yet thoroughly aroused, whether it has not become so much in the habit of being controlled by the railroads and the interests that it does not know how to break loose.

If California does eventually wake up, there is no doubt of the result.
The aggressive citizens of the Golden
West never do anything by halves.

It may be that Andrews will respond that he has been receiving money from Cohen or that Cohen is paying the runners whom he sends out, or he may deny that he knows Cohen or ever heard of him. In any case the public, and more especially the Republican voters, have a right to know on what theory and under what rule this sort of organization is going on. If Andrews and Cohen are the Republican party the voters want to know it.

One of the serious charges that is laid at the door of Andrews is that he has so conducted himself in the office to which he was appointed that he has brought about a deep-seated and threatening dissension in the Republican party.

Andrews continued in his present
position means the defeat of the Republican party, because the party as a whole will merely duplicate on a broader scale the revolt that is on

interests that it does not know how

If California does eventually wake
up, there is no doubt of the result.
The aggressive citizens of the Golden
West never do anything by halves.

Therefore, we recommend, if a new agreement can not be had reducing this tonnage tax at least 50 per cent.
on all items mentioned, that the Legislature take such action as may be necessary for the acquisition of this wharf by the Territory and extend the wharf so as to furnish docking facilties for all vessels coming to the port.—Wharf Commission Report.

From the foregoing comment on the Kahului wharf offered by the Commission on Wharves and Landings, it would appear that the investigators are very much on the side of protecting public interests by public ownership.

CALIFORNIA'S TEST.

Primaries held today in the State of California will show pretty conclusively whether the Insurgent spirit has thoroughly permeated the life of that great State.

Hiram Johnson for the Governor-ship and William Kent for Congress are the candidates about whom the hopes of the Insurgent forces have centered. They are both good men, exceptionally able men. They will represent the people and come as near to making a practice of the square deal in public life as it is possible to do.

But the question of the hour is
whether California is even yet thoroughly aroused, whether it has not become so much in the habit of being
controlled by the railroads and the
interests that it does not know how
to break loose.

If California does eventually wake

"This is an era of consolidation, and I most earnestly hope that immediate steps may be taken to place Honolulu in the line of progressive cities, and I would recommend at this time that a special committee be appointed by this Chamber to meet with a like committee from the Merchants' Association, with a view to effecting a consolidation of the two bodies. Should a union be brought about, as I hope and believe it may, immediate steps should be taken to secure a permanent home for Honolulu's greater Chamber of Commerce, where all the work that may devolve upon that body can be carried on conveniently and effectively.
The place should be made easily accessible to the public, particularly to the stranger, who may be seeking information. We already have the nucleus of a representative and attractive exhibit, which can be added to as opportunity offers.

Last year I submitted a plan for purchasing a central site and erecting a suitable building for the home of the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce. At that time several members expressed the opinion that the idea of a property to be owned by our Chamber was too premature, but matters of such import to the future growth and welfare of our city are never premature. I am more firmly convinced than ever of the great need in our community of a Chamber of Commerce building, and sincerely hope that such a building may be provided within the very near future.

The splendid support I have received during my different terms of office from the officers, trustees and members of the Chamber, it is needless to say, is most sincerely appreciated.

Respectfully submitted,

JAMES F. MORGAN,

President, Honolulu Chamber of Commerce.

LIHUE, Kauai, Aug. 13.—Mr. R. W.
T. Purvis, who has for years occupied the position of Clerk of the Circuit Court here, in addition to his many other duties, has sent in his resignation, to take effect September first.

He was first appointed to this place in January 1885, after having lived in Lihi for eighteen months and has held office ever since, with the exception of the years from 1899 to 1903. His parents and brothers and sisters then resided in Kealia, where his father was engaged in the business of raising sugar cane. It is understood that the new incumbent of the office will be Philip L. Rice.—Garden Isle.

Edward Woodward, ex-clerk of the ly appeared over the horizon as can-

Blecknell for nomination.

Dan Pahn, now assistant registrar of Kamehameha Schools will try to capture from Kalanakalani Jr., the County clerkship. He is being backed by his admirers, who seem to think that there is a chance of his nomina-

Woodward is considered an able the County clerk. He is at present working along the wharves, checking freight for the American-Hawaiian

Pahn is a graduate of Kamehameha struggle with Kalanakalani in a firm determination to snatch away the official pen of the county government.

purchased the dope.

Judge Humphries appeared for the accused and put up a good defense that was made possible by the fact that the informer had purchased to-

MARKET IS STEADY.

BUT STAGNANT

Cuba's Growing Crop Fully Up to Expectations—Java Plants an Extra Large Crop for Coming Year.

Willett & Gray's Sugar Trade Journal for July 28 reports on the raw sugar market as follows:

VISUAL SUPPLY.—Total stock of Europe and America, 1,852,886 tons against 1,911,982 tons last year at the same uneven date. The decrease of stock is 59,096 tons, against a decrease of 52,313 last week. Total stocks and afloats together show a visible of 2,033,886 tons, against 2,125,982 tons last year, or a decrease of 93,096 tons.

RAWS.—The 160,000 bags Centrifugals offering on the market at 3c. e. & f. basis, when we closed our last week's report, were promptly taken by refiners, leaving the market bare of offerings at this price, with 1-32c. to 1-16c. per lb. additional asked by sellers.

Following this, however, the refiners' strikes extended to three refineries during the week, causing all refiners to withdraw from the market as buyers and leaving sellers without any outlet for their sugar, so that at the close, and for some days past, the market quotation of 3c. e. & f. has been entirely nominal, and it is uncertain whether this quotation can be maintained when the market again opens. This depends more or less upon the length of the continuance of the strike as more fully explained under the head of "refined." In the meantime, sellers are not urging sales, and the market has a steady though stagnant look.

A June Java cargo of 6,600 tons has been sold to the United Kingdom at 13s. 4½d. c. i. f. equal to 4.62c. per lb., delivered United States, showing that the United Kingdom market for the Java crop is not likely to be occupied against by the United States.

The official figures of the Java crop just closed, printed elsewhere, give a total production of 1,200,610 tons. The plantings for the new Java crop were slightly larger than last year, but the weather has recently been unfavorable, and a rather smaller outturn than last year is now expected. In another table, given herewith, it will be seen that the exports from Java for the last three years have gone principally to British India, China, United States and Japan, with a considerable amount last year to Australia.

The Brazil crop turns out not quite USE Ivory Soap for dish washing and it will cost you perhaps, two cents a week more than if you used ordinary laundry soap.

But what does that amount to, as compared with the satisfaction that comes from scrupulously clean dishes; from the improved appearance of your hands; and from the knowledge that every ingredient of Ivory Soap is sweet and clean and pure?

Ivory Soap

as large as anticipated owing to recent heavy rains, but these rains have helped the growing of the next crop, which promises to be as large, if not larger, than last year.

The campaign in Natal has just started, and a large increase in production is expected over last year's crop.

From Demerara, we learn that the growing crop may possibly be less than last year.

Our cables during the week have reported favorably for the growing European beet crop. Mail advices also indicate that the weather improved somewhat throughout the greater part of Europe and that the roots are growing better. The tests in Germany show a heavier and richer beet than at the same time last year, but inferior to two years ago. Other countries, except France, agree closely with Germany. French reports are pessimistic and say that the roots are not growing as well as last year, but, in this connection, it must be remembered that France enjoyed better crop conditions last year than any country in Europe and produced a larger crop than for four years previously.

From Cuba, two centrals continue grinding against four last week and five last year, with receipts 4,000 tons, against 2,000 tons last year. We estimate the visible production to date, 1,722,000 tons, against 1,415,000 tons the same time last year. Adding the amount of sugar made later, 98,582 tons would mean a crop of 1,820,582 tons this year, so that 1,800,000 tons seems well assured.

Regarding the growing Cuba crop, our latest reports show that good rains have recently fallen in all parts of the Island, except Oriente province, and the growing crop is fully up to normal in most sections and planting of cane is still being carried on, all of which indicate another very large crop for Cuba next season.

The European market for beet sugar of old crop declined from 14s. 10½d. to 14s. 8½d. at the close, while new crop beet, after advancing to 14s. 2d., closed off to 14s. 6½d. The difference between prices of old crop and new crop beet is about ¾c. per lb., which difference must be closed up during the next sixty days. An indicating that the closing up will be mainly on the side of decline in old crop prices. It is interesting to compare the European figures of supplies given by us on Page 221 in our Journal of June 2, 1910, for May 1, 1910, with corresponding figures for July 1, 1910, which we print herewith, showing estimated stocks September 1, 1910, 525,806 tons, against 411,965 tons estimated May 1st. These increasing stock estimates of September are likely to continue by reason of increased imports from Java. The United Kingdom is not likely to call on Cuba for further supplies, thus leaving the United States stock, together with the Cuban stock, 527,886 tons, or say equivalent for requirements for melting in the United States into the first half of October, when new crop beet sugars become available.

The immediate future of our market revolves around the strike situation.

TACOMA will be the name of the new steamship for the Tacoma-Seattle route, to be built by the Puget Sound Navigation Company, provided the city will have its proposed municipal dock in readiness by May 1 next. Judge George Reid, Western counsel for the Northern Pacific Railway, is en route home from St. Paul, with the railway's proposition regarding the sale to the city of land wanted for the city docks.
