LABORING ON PRINCIPLES

CONVENTION DELEGATES HAVE A PLATFORM.

Firm for Annexation of the Islands—How the Convention Will Organize—The Delegates Who will Participate.

The delegates who were chosen to the American Union Party convention have been burning midnight oil in the preparation of the platform of principles which will be presented for adoption at the convention tomorrow evening. The platform as now arranged is short and applies solely to Island affairs.

One of the strongest planks in the platform will pledge the party to annexation first, last and all the time. The convention will convene in the American League hall at 7:30 o'clock on Wednesday evening. J. A. Kennedy, chairman of the Central committee, will call the meeting to order. A temporary committee will then be chosen, and a committee on credentials and one on organization will be selected. After these committees have made their reports, the convention will be permanently organized, and a chairman chosen.

The adoption of a platform will be the first business of the convention. Following this will be the selection of legislative candidates.

It is the determination of the delegates to finish their business tomorrow, even should it require an all night session to accomplish this. The delegates who will participate in the convention, are:

NEW ISLAND STEAMER.

The new steamer Upolu, which has been completed for R. R. Hind, was to leave San Francisco for the Islands on September 10th or 11th. The vessel is a pretty and well built little craft, 93 feet in length, 18 feet beam and with engines of 150 horse power. Her cost was about $20,000. She will run between the ports of the districts of Kohala and Kona on the Island of Kowai in connection with the trips of the regular schooners John G. North and Muriel running between San Francisco and Honolulu.

Senator Murray has called a meeting of the American League for this evening. It is the purpose of the present officers to reorganize the League, and instill new life into it. There are now about 160 active members. Mr. Murray will retire from the presidency. He will favor the selection of a strong man as his successor. Secretary Fogarty will also probably retire.

THE VETERAN SENATOR FROM ALABAMA ARRIVES

Four Members of the House of Representatives Visit Hawaii.

WILL MAKE A THOROUGH STUDY OF THE SITUATION.

Event Will Be of Immense Value to the Annexation Cause.

United States Senator John T. Morgan, the distinguished chairman of the Foreign Relations committee, and probably the staunchest friend of annexation in Washington, arrived on the city, visiting and informing himself on island affairs. Congressman A. S. Berry, J. G. Cannon, H. C. Loudenslager and J. A. Tawney also came down on the Australia rather unexpectedly, in search of information bearing on the annexation question. They will only remain a week, returning to the coast by the Australia.

In spite of his three and seventy years Senator Morgan has stood his long journey remarkably well, and arrives here in the best of health and spirits. All along the line of his journey through the United States, Senator

HON. JOHN T. MORGAN, The Veteran Senator for the State of Alabama.

Morgan has repeatedly told the newspaper men that his visit to Hawaii would be purely a personal one, and of not the slightest official or political significance. Senator Quay was to have been his companion on the journey, but wrote, at the eleventh hour, that the state of his health would not permit him to take such a long journey at the present time. He may come later, however, particularly if his physician orders him on a sea voyage.

Senator Morgan met the newspaper men very cordially this morning, and readily granted an interview.

"Really," he said, "I have nothing of a definite nature to say to the newspapers now, as I must first have an opportunity to study the situation from a new point of view. You may say that I am predisposed in favor of annexation. I have been an annexationist practically for thirty years, ever since the question has been agitated.

"My attention was first directed to these islands through their civilization by the missionaries and their development in a commercial way. Their importance in relation to our own growing commerce came to me later, and it grows upon me the more I study the question. These Islands are, today the center almost of our western empire, and much nearer to us in every way than our outlying Alaskan possessions. Aside from their commercial value, their importance to us as a naval station to guard and protect our rapidly growing commerce on the Pacific, is, I think, a matter for thoughtful consideration.

"During my stay in Honolulu I hope to secure such data as will enable me to act in the matter intelligently. It has never been my good fortune to meet any natives, and I desire very much to meet and converse with them. We are not disposed to do anything that will bring pain or degradation upon them because of our superior strength. All these things must be considered in dealing with so important a question."

In an interview published in the San Francisco Chronicle, Senator Morgan is quoted as saying:

"I am sure that there will be no difficulty, so far as the annexation treaty with Hawaii is concerned in arriving at a prompt settlement of the minor details of that question. The ma-take up before its regular session next December. For this reason alone I see no possible demand for an extra session and I therefore consider an extra session not even a mere probability."

The four Congressmen who have come to see Hawaii through their own glasses, have been on a special mission on the Coast in connection with the launching of the new war vessel, built in San Francisco. The Islands were not in their original programme, but having reached San Francisco, they concluded to come on and take a look at things for themselves. All are very conservative in discussing the matter, but as Colonel Berry, who stands six feet five inches and is the life of the party, remarked this morning, "from the drift of the conversation in the cabin last night he would judge that it was a good deal of an annexation party." Senator Morgan is quoted as saying that it would not take much to make everyone of the party strong annexationists.

Congressman Berry hails from Kentucky. He is an active member of the lower house and a member of the House committee on Rivers and Harbors. When an interview was sought with him this morning, he fairly peppered the interviewer with questions as to the resources of the Islands. He thought tobacco would grow here, and prove a valuable product; asked where he could secure some good native coffee, and wanted the location of a restaurant where he could get native food cooked in native style.

Congressman Cannon of Illinois is Chairman of the House committee on Appropriations. He remarked to a friend that he had for years been cutting down the appropriation for Pearl Harbor, in the Hawaiian Islands, and he wants to see something of the harbor and the coaling station.

Congressman Loudenslager, of New Jersey, is one of the most active members of the House committee on Naval Affairs and the Hawaiian situation accordingly interested him in a large way.

Congressman Tawney of West Virginia is on the House Ways and Means committee and since that committee will be called upon to make an active interest in Hawaiian affairs in the near future, he is desirous of learning

HE CRIES "HOUSE AFIRE!" REID-HALSTEAD NUPTIALS

WILL OCCUR AT ST. ANDREW'S TONIGHT.

The Couple Will Go to the Peninsula on Their Honeymoon—Will Make Their Home at Waialua.

A quiet, unassuming wedding, which will be beautiful for its simplicity alone, will take place at St. Andrew's cathedral, at 8 o'clock this evening.

Miss Bernice Halstead and Dr. Reginald H. Reid are the contracting parties.

The ceremony will be performed by Rev. Alex. Mackintosh. Miss Emily Halstead, a sister of the prospective bride, will be the maid of honor, and James Judd, son of Chief Justice Judd, will be best man. The ushers will be Charles Weight, acting Norwegian consul, and A. St. Mm. Mackintosh of the Foreign office.

During the ceremony Wray Taylor will preside at the organ. After the church ceremony Dr. Reid and his bride will leave for the Peninsula on a special train leaving the city at 10 o'clock. They will remain at the Peninsula place for a fortnight or so before returning to Waialua, where they will take up their residence.

Miss Halstead's wedding gown is of white satin covered with white silk net, wreaths of orange blossoms come from the shoulders and meet in front. The bride will carry white roses and maiden hair.

Miss Emily Halstead will be dressed in white organdie trimmed with Maltese lace. She will wear blue ribbons and will carry a bunch of maiden hair.

Miss Halstead is the third daughter of Robert Halstead, the well known sugar planter of Waialua. Her many friends in Honolulu and in the Islands will wish her happiness in her new home. Miss Halstead has received many handsome presents.

Dr. Reid is the Government physician for the Waialua district, and also physician for the Waialua sugar plantation. He hails from Detroit, Mich., from whence he came over two years ago.

No invitations have been issued for the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Halstead will send out announcement cards this week.

MR. MONROE'S PLANS. Rev. James M. Monroe, who has just retired from the ministry of the Christian church, hopes to be able to leave for the States on the Moana. His family will accompany him. They will go direct to Indiana, where Mrs. Monroe's mother is quite ill. Mr. Monroe has received no call as yet and he will make no plans until he reaches Indiana.

TO LEAVE FOR AMERICA. The Pekin Will Carry Away Quite a List From Here.

The City of Peking will sail for San Francisco tonight. She will carry about fifteen passengers from this port.

Dr. H. N. Hoyt, who has been supplying the Central Union pulpit during Rev. D. P. Birnie's absence in Japan, will return to his home in Sacramento. He has been highly delighted with his visit in Honolulu.

Mrs. E. M. Hatch, wife of the Hawaiian minister resident at Washington, is returning to the States for the winter. Minister Hatch will leave later on.

Miss Annie H. Parke is going to California for a visit of two or three months.

Dr. Stephen D. Brooks, of the United States Marine Hospital service, accompanied by Mrs. Brooks, is returning to Boston, from a tour of China and Japan. Dr. Brooks looked into the quarantine conditions in the Orient for Uncle Sam. He was accompanied on his travels by Dr. F. R. Day representing the Hawaiian government.

C. M. Pepper, a prominent newspaper correspondent who has been doing the Islands, will return to New York. Mr. Pepper will be accompanied by his family.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Wilcox of Kauai will go to the States on a visit to friends.

Other passengers are T. A. Taylor, Mrs. V. Johnston and F. E. Brown.

Awarded Highest Honors—World's Fair, Gold Medal—Midwinter Fair.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER MOST PERFECT MADE.

A fine Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Aluminate, Alum or any other adulterant.

In all the great Hotels, the leading Grocers and the houses, Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder holds its supremacy.

25 Years the Standard. LEWIS & CO., Agents, Honolulu, H. I.

There is no question in my mind about the truth of the first statement that Hawaii may at once ratify the treaty. Why not? The Senate can get together and readily dispose of the treaty.

"As to the statement that the United States Congress would be called to meet two months in advance of the usual date, I have reason to know that there is no truth in it. The treaty will be finally ratified by our Senate when taken up by that body."

COMING PETITIONS. There is a Royalist petition out for signature. If it has as much success as the Royalist "mass" meeting of a few days ago, it will not advance the cause very materially. However, it is not very difficult to get petitions signed. There was once a petition got up for a bridge between Lahaia and Lualaba, which is only some nine miles across the sea, and that was signed very largely and came into the House in a very imposing roll. But one doubts if such a useless thing as the return of Royalty will get even what the bridge did, unless the women and school children are taken. Of those you can find plenty of signatures for the asking.

On the same principle it required skill and patience to extract from cod liver oil its curative and flesh-building properties, leaving out the bad odor and nauseous, disgusting taste. In WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION, this is done. It is made from Pure Cod Liver Oil, extracted by us from fresh cod livers, combined with Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry Bark. Search the world over and you will find nothing so pleasant and effective. Children who protest with cries and struggles against "that nasty cod liver oil," and other nauseous medicines, take the preparation as they would take common syrup. So much for its superficial qualities. As a remedy there is life and health in every dose. For Nervous Mothers, Invalids and Convalescents, it meets every want. It expels disease germs from the blood on modern scientific principles. Twice pounds in weight have been gained from a single bottle. Taken before meals it gives you an appetite and makes your food do you good. For Anemia, Scrophula, Rheumatism, Bowel Complaints, Blood Impurities, etc., it has no rival; its merit is wholly its own. It is not a trifling relic of the Medical Dark Ages. It was made to cure and it sells because it cures. You cannot be disappointed in it. Sold by all chemists.

WHAT SAILOR MEN TALK OF

THE AUSTRALIA AND CITY OF PEKING ARRIVE. Purser John Grube Exonerated—Aloha Ready to Sail—Gossip of a Day on the Front.

The City of Peking sails for San Francisco at 9 p. m. The Babcock, bound here from Baltimore, was spoken in 39 N. 44 W., on the 3rd inst.

The bark Alden Besse, Captain Potter, sailed from San Francisco for this port on the 5th. The Mauna Ala is confidently expected from the Coast this afternoon. She is now out 15 days.

The schooner Aloha will sail for San Francisco at 2 o'clock this afternoon, with 1000 tons of sugar. The S. S. Castle has hauled over to the Irngard wharf, where she will discharge general cargo.

The Comas is taking enough coal to fill her bunkers full, preparatory to her long voyage to England. Captain Loenzen, the pilot, is still laid up from the effects of the accident he had recently while driving.

Ground was broken this morning for the new Inter Island Steamship Company's building, on Queen street. The Glade is still taking in rock ballast, and in the meantime preparing for sea. She will probably sail before the end of the week.

The Helene will not sail until this afternoon on account of the United States mail. She has an enormous load of freight, including a big deck load of lumber.

The Robert Lewers and Kikikat are discharging their lumber cargoes rapidly, and the coal dock is piled high with lumber. The Lewers will be out about the first of next week.

The Peking was reported at 7:45 this morning, but the Australia did not loom up on the horizon until 9:49 o'clock, when Diamond Head Charley discovered her off Waimanalo.

The Mauna Loa arrived from Hawaii and Maui ports at noon, with the following cargo: 7240 bags sugar, 254 coffee, 40 awa, 65 hides, 25 head of cattle and 100 packages of sundries.

The S. S. Australia, Houdlette, arrived this morning from San Francisco, soon after noon, with 81 passengers, 32 bags of mail and a big cargo of freight. Fine weather was experienced during the entire trip.

Second Engineer Winwrath of the Mikahala plead guilty to having opium in his possession before Judge Wilcox, and was fined $150. The case against John Grube, the purser, was not pressed by the marshal, as it was clearly shown that Grube had no interest in the contraband drug.

The P. M. S. S. City of Peking arrived from Yokohama about 10 o'clock this morning with 350 tons of freight, and over 400 Chinese and Japanese on board. On account of sickness on board, a semi-quarantine was enforced there. Newspaper men were barred from going aboard, but hotel runners, employees of agents and the like were permitted to go aboard, mingle with the passengers and then return to mingle with the crowd on the dock.

HONOLULU, July 23, 1897. T. J. KING, agent; Spaulding-Robbins Disc Plow, Honolulu.

Dear Sir: I have one of your TWO DISC PLOWS at work on my ranch at Waialae, and am pleased to report that it gives me the fullest satisfaction.

In two days, with four Hawaiian mules, I can do as much work with your implement as I can do in seven days when using eight mules or twelve oxen, with a mould board plow, and the pulverization is much better when using the disc.

In the rocky ground your plow either rolls over the rocks or cuts through them, and we find it unnecessary to sharpen the discs, which occur perfectly and were set at such an angle that friction with the earth makes them self-sharpeners. I am, dear sir, yours very truly. PAUL R. ISENBERG.

 The cleanest, brightest safest and really in the long run, the cheapest and best light for use in the family residence, is the incandescent electric light. Safe; nothing could be safer. A few days ago a prominent gentleman of Honolulu came rushing down to the office of the Electric Company and said:
 "Give me figures for wiring my house, and I want it done at once; no more lamps for me.
 Last night a lamp tipped over and it came so near setting fire to the house and burning my children and I take no more risks."
 This is the sentiment of quite a number in the past few weeks, who have ordered their houses fitted with the perfect light.
 Just think it over and make up your mind that you want the best and safest light; send for the Hawaiian Electric Company and tell them what you want.
 We have a complete stock of everything in this line and have just received a lot of the very latest designs in chandeliers.

ANTI-ANNEXATION TALK

THE LUSO'S VIEWS UPON THE PRESENT SITUATION.

Translation of Articles in the Portuguese Paper Which is Trying to Switch the Colony Off the Right Track.

The following translation of an article from the Lusos is given as showing the attitude of that paper and the desperate efforts it is making to turn the Portuguese colony against annexation. The arguments are on the face of them fallacious and The Star is given to understand from competent Portuguese authority that they have little or no weight with the bulk of the Portuguese, who thoroughly believe in annexation. The article is as follows, and is headed:

ALREADY WE KNOW THEM.

Some of our countrymen appear surprised at the attitude of this journal with relation to the annexation of Hawaii, and not only our attitude but also that of different members of the colony, who like us, during the last four years have studied the situation and arrived at the same conclusion. Knowing this fact, the foreigners most interested, have latterly employed different means to convince some of our countrymen not only by arguments, but by representations less worthy of gentlemen. As to that number of incautious countrymen who do not comprehend the situation, we merely remind them that the persons who technically fight for annexation without any conditions which may assure to us the privileges to which we have a right, are the same who caused some of our innocent fellow countrymen to be thirty days behind the bars of a jail after the Emma street riot.

The question is simple and if they were sincere in their promises, they ought to answer it without circumlocution—what is the reason that in the Treaty of Annexation which has just been ratified by the Senate of Hawaii, the condition is not reversed, that the Hawaiians, Portuguese and other European voters shall obtain the same privileges as any other American citizens?

If perchance, the annexation should be consummated, which we doubt, the Portuguese colony as a political factor ceases to exist, because in the foreign press, both here and in the United States, it has been indicated with sufficient clearness that they fear the influence of the Portuguese vote in case this privilege should be conceded to them.

Independence and a good government of Hawaii means prosperity for the colony, but annexation without the privileges which we speak of means Ruin!

Commenting upon the meeting of the Senate, the Lusos said:
 As we previously gave notice, the Senate of the Republic of Hawaii was convened on the 8th inst., and in consequence of the death of Mr. G. Rhodes former member and president of the Legislature, adjourned to the next day and in this session in less than the short space of two hours was unanimously ratified the convention which cedes Hawaii to the United States, not only with all the mercantile property with doubtful title, but also tying up the privileges which about 5000 voters of the Portuguese colony enjoy and have enjoyed, and which can only be recovered if the Congress of the United States from a sense of justice and equity shall concede to us the privileges to which we have a right. The session was closed on the 10th day, to be convened again next March in the regular session.

SUCCEED AT LAST.

After Two Attempts the Assassins Killed Their Man.

Senor J. Idiarte Borda, President of Uruguay, who was assassinated recently at Montevideo had been elected for the term extending from March, 1894, to 1898. The fête at which he was assassinated was being held in celebration of the independence of Uruguay, which was achieved on August 25, 1825.

At the time of Senor Borda's election he belonged to the official party, and was elected by a very narrow majority. The people, it was said, were sadly disappointed at the result, but order and quiet were maintained. The leading papers of Uruguay deplored the election of Senor Borda and declared that it marked a reaction in the country's progress.

Later President Borda issued a proclamation to the effect that his administration would conduct the business of the state in the interest of the entire nation, and that he would invite the assistance of all political parties to that end. This proclamation made a very favorable impression.

An attempt was made to assassinate the president on the afternoon of April 21 last. The President escaped without injury, and the criminal was captured. On that occasion the president accompanied by his aid, Lieutenant Colonel Turrene, had been horse-back riding. Just as he dismounted in front of the Government palace a youth approached him and drew a pistol. Before the trigger could be pulled Lieutenant Colonel Turrene struck the arm of the would be assassin and the ball passed over the president's head.

Another attempt to assassinate him was made on May 20th, when he received a bomb sent to him from La Plata, Argentine. It was in a box and so arranged that it would explode when opened. Fortunately suspicion was aroused and the box was turned over to the police and destroyed.

SENATOR MORGAN.

Senator Morgan, who has arrived here today, makes a visit to the Islands partly for the sake of change of scene and rest, and partly to inform himself as to the conditions obtaining here. The Senator is thoroughly acquainted with Hawaiian affairs and besides meeting many representative Hawaiians in Washington has read everything there is to read upon the Islands.

For years the Senator has taken an interest in this group and he is a most staunch advocate of annexation. The strategic importance of the Islands he thoroughly realizes and firmly endorses Captain Mahan's views that for the furtherance of the national prestige the United States should advance her frontier line and make of Pearl Harbor an outpost of Western power in the Pacific.

However thoroughly a man may have studied a country, actual contact with the people, actual sight of the material progress, strengthen the opinion already formed. And we may feel assured that Senator Morgan's visit here will enable his keen, well trained and experienced intellect to value accurately the elements of which this community is composed, to recognize the dangers to which it is and may be exposed, and to foresee how necessary a protecting hand is to this little bulwark of Western and Christian civilization in the vast ocean which rolls between two naturally antagonistic continents.

DON'T LOSE HEART.

It is ever darker before dawn, and the next two months will probably be the most trying that the supporters of annexation will have to go through. It does seem such a long time to wait for decisive action. But it was far longer to wait when Congress adjourned. The condition of mind that some of us get into is something similar to that of people towards the end of a long voyage, the last few hours before reaching port seem to draw out into days instead of hours. And this draws on a state of weariness in some mental constitutions and almost apathy in others. And here and there will come a doubt as to whether the weary voyage ever will be ended, whether in our case all the work, all the anxiety is to be crowned with success or not. It will be crowned with success, of that there is no doubt, but one is not surprised at the spirit of weariness appearing among some. The constant attacks of open foes, the more insidious attacks of those who appear as friends, but who ever take a gloomy view of the future, will sap the faith of the weaker vessels, but there are strong, enthusiastic ones, besides, whom no waiting will daunt, who know that success is there before us, and who look for it with stronger faith now than ever they did in their lives.

The enormous stride which annexation took in June, when it went out of theoretical politics into practical politics, is hardly yet realized by some. The strong position which President McKinley then took, is one that pledges annexation to us, and the pledge is a positive one. At the outset of his career as President, with large questions relating to internal administration, with an important financial question before him, and with all the chances of four unknown and possibly eight unknown years before him, President McKinley deliberately pledged himself, his administration and his party to annexation. No such move was made in any haste, or carelessly, or without thought. The prestige of an administration will demand that it should be carried through, the honor of the personnel of both the cabinet and the party is involved in carrying it through, and carried it will be.

As day follows day, the McKinley administration is gaining strength. It was at the outset thoroughly believed in by a majority, it was not believed in by a large minority. What the party promised has come to pass. Prosperity has cast its vivifying beams over the length and breadth of the land, and no eph-meral prosperity, but one that is assured for years to come. The people see that they narrowly escaped a great danger last November and they are thankful for it, and the large minority who did not believe is dwindling down into the minority of merely chronic growlers.

With the halo of success around it, the friends of the administration in December ask the Senate to ratify the Annexation Treaty. The strength of the request is double in December what it was in June. The Administration, or rather President McKinley, appears not as a theoretic statesman, but as one whose theories have been practically tried and been found absolutely correct. What the President has done, what he considers a sound foreign policy, will commend itself now more than ever.

Those who have talked here that delay in ratifying the treaty was its death blow, talked without taking into consideration the logic of events. The chances of the treaty passing the Senate are far better now than they were in June. This from the side of the United States. From the side of Hawaii, the more thoroughly the situation here is studied, the more convinced will the Senators be that annexation and nothing but annexation can save this little spot of earth. People come here opposed to annexation, through lack of proper knowledge, and they return to the United States ardent annexationists.

There is no need then for anyone to be down-hearted. In spite of all gloomy vaticinations annexation will come, and will give to all classes here peace and prosperity, will give all an opportunity of building up happy homes in assured safety, knowing that no turn of circumstances could then ever occur which would sweep them out of existence by the menacing and yellow tide of Asiaticism. Annexation will come.

If the Hawaiians can get together a meeting on the 18th Senator Morgan will have an excellent opportunity of addressing them and, as the San Francisco Chronicle says, "they can hear from him that they will have more independence and safety under American than they ever had under Hawaiian law, more employment and therefore more money; that the value of their little farms will be increased and the danger of their submergency as a race under the yellow flood of Asia will be averted. The Kanaka gathering may be at once changed into a ratification meeting."

PACIFIC CABLE.

The British Line Will Soon be Carried Out.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 6.—The following named telegraph magnates held a closed meeting today in Vancouver today in connection with the proposed cable line from Vancouver to Australia: George G. Ward, vice president and general manager of the Commercial Cable company; S. S. Dickinson, superintendent of the company at Canso, Nova Scotia, where the Canadian Pacific line connects with the Atlantic cable; R. V. Dey, secretary to President John W. Mackey; J. Wilson, Pacific coast superintendent of the Canadian Pacific telegraphs; L. W. Storror, superintendent of the Pacific coast telegraphs. After the meeting no news of a direct nature could be obtained regarding the business transacted, but the statements were freely made that inside information obtained warranted the announcement that a Canadian Pacific cable from Vancouver to Australia would be an assured fact at a comparatively early date, and that the present meeting had to do with some very important preliminary arrangements in which Millionaire John W. Mackey is to take a very prominent part.

Mr. Storror stated that his company would, of course, handle the Pacific cable work at this end, and that he, with others, would inspect the proposed landing stages in British Columbia at once. The entire party will leave for Victoria tomorrow. It is said that some of the members will be passengers on the outgoing Australian boat for Honolulu. Many other indications that the long proposed British scheme is about to materialize are now promised to occur in quick succession.

TRIPLE ALLIANCE.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—The Post's Paris correspondent, commenting upon an article in Eclair, by M. Greville-Beche, member of the chamber of deputies from the Island of Guadeloupe, West Indies, advocating a Franco-Russo-American alliance against the common enemy, England, says: The writer shows plainly what help America would give the double alliance, but is not equally clear as to the benefit that America would derive.

MAY BE BASE BALL.

WHAT IS IT?

The Russell Staple Puller and Wire Splicer.

The Russell Staple Puller and Wire Splicer is a drop forge tool, made of black diamond tool steel, and embraces six tools in one; weight, about a pound, and can be carried in the hip pocket with ease.

The six tools are as follows:

1. Double staple puller, nails, etc.
2. Double wire cutter.
3. Double hammer, non-breakable.
4. Good wire splicer, for any kind of wire, barbed wire included.
5. Good pair pincers, with long leverage.

Good monkey wrench, for plows, machines, etc.

The leading fence companies throughout the middle and western States have adopted this tool for use in putting up their fences, and recommend it as the best tool of its kind in use.

It is one of those tools that while used in wire fence work, yet might be called a "household article," as everyone that has used it claim they cannot afford to be without it around the house, barn and farm.

If other dealers tell you that they have something that will do as well and is cheaper, don't have it. Why? Because no one or two tools are as cheap as six.

Novelty Week.

The smokeless stove, on which water is boiled in our show window, has been a great attraction for several days to students in philosophy. The Jewel is a good stove, anyway.

The special subject for the people this week is not stoves. That subject is a daily one. This week you will have novelties of all sorts.

This is the season when the hens go on strike and the price of eggs goes skyward. Hens want a little encouragement now and then, and the best thing known to science is green bones. But they must be cut up fine. We have the best green bone cutter in the world.

Another novelty is the soap saver, made of re-tinned wire, basket shaped, with long handles. This is the best soap known, and we have three sizes. They are cheaper than dirt and much more beautifying.

Dripless tea and coffee strainers are new and very serviceable. There's a cut-off attachment which prevents coffee or tea from dripping on the table cloth after the cup is filled. Very cheap, these, and pretty, too.

A six-knife Victor meat chopper for a quarter seems like a dream, but it isn't. We sell them at that price, and we sell the holdfast dust pan—the best you ever saw.

SENATOR MORGAN'S VISIT

all there is to be learned by personal inquiry and investigation. President C. L. Wright of the Wilder Steamship Company and C. B. Ripley were fellow passengers of Senator Morgan and the Congressmen, and imparted a great deal of information to them. Mr. Wright will take the Congressmen up to Maui and Hawaii on the Claudine this evening to give them as much insight as possible into the extent of the island territory, the development of its resources and the character of its inhabitants. The party will probably be absent from Honolulu for five days.

SKETCH OF SENATOR MORGAN.
Senator Morgan was born at Athens, Tenn., on June 20, 1824. He received an academic education chiefly in Alabama, to which state he migrated when but nine years old, and where he has since resided. He took up the study of law and he was admitted to the bar in 1845 and practiced until his admission to the United States senate. In 1860 he was a presidential elector for the state of Alabama at large and cast his vote for Breckenridge and Lane. The following years found him a delegate from Dallas county to the state convention which passed the ordinance of secession.

Senator Morgan joined the Confederate army in May of 1861, as a private in Company I, Cahaba Rifles, and when that company was assigned to the Fifth Alabama Regiment, under Colonel Robert E. Rhodes, he was elected major, and afterwards lieutenant colonel of that regiment; was commissioned in 1862 as colonel and raised the Fifty-first Alabama Regiment; was appointed brigadier general in 1863, and assigned to a brigade in Virginia, but resigned to join his regiment, whose colonel had been killed in battle. Later in 1863 he was again appointed brigadier general and was assigned to an Alabama brigade that included his regiment.

After the war Senator Morgan resumed the practice of law at Salem, Ala. He was chosen a presidential elector for his State at large in 1876, and voted for Tilden and Hendricks. He was elected to the United States Senate as a Democrat, to succeed Geo. Goldthwaite, Democrat. He took his seat on March 5, 1877; was re-elected in 1882, in 1888 and again in 1894. His term of service will expire on March 3, 1901, at which time, should he live, he will be 77 years of age.

HIS CONGRESSIONAL RECORD.
Senator Morgan has represented the State of Alabama in the upper house of Congress for twenty years. While not a great orator the vigor and trenchant character of his speeches have won him a name throughout the country. And the firm attitude which on many occasions he has taken on questions of foreign policy, as a member, and more especially as chairman of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, has given him an international reputation. Senator Morgan is more particularly noted for his very broad and even assertive Americanism, not in the narrow and local acceptance of the term, but in its widest and greatest sense. As such, though a Democrat, and a southern Democrat at that, he was a thorn in the side of Cleveland's administrations, especially the last. His advocacy of a determined attitude toward Spain and his almost passionate appeals in favor of the intervention of the United States in behalf of the Cuban patriots, have stirred the blood of all true Americans. Morgan has also been a partisan of the annexation of Hawaii, and in every instance in which the Monroe doctrine has come up he has been a fervent advocate of its application by this Government. For that reason he has as many friends in the Republican ranks, as in those of his own party, and perhaps even more. In fact it was he who in 1893 in debating the repeal of the Sherman law, gave the designation of "cuckoo" to Cleveland's followers, which has stuck to them ever since. His language on that occasion is well worth quoting, as it has become a part of history, and furnishes a good example of the rough eloquence of the man. He said: "The trumpet had sounded, the forces were marshaled, the clock had struck at the White House, and the cuckoos here all put their heads out of the boxes and responded to inform us of the time of day."

Mr. Morgan's principal speeches have been on the force bill, the repeal of the Sherman law, the Nicaragua canal bill, the Behring sea difficulty, the debts of the Pacific railroads to the Government, and more especially on the Cuban question, on which his voice has been heard time and again in rare persistency. In stature Senator Morgan is small and spare and is the possessor of keen blue eyes and a firm mouth.

Tells the Story.
All advertisements of Hood's Sarsaparilla, like Hood's Sarsaparilla itself, are honest. We have never deceived the public, and this with its superlative medicinal merit, is why the people have abiding confidence in it, and buy Hood's Sarsaparilla almost to the exclusion of all others.

Customers Want Hood's.
"We order Hood's Sarsaparilla in large quantities and it is the only blood purifier which a druggist can buy in large quantities without risk. It is selling very rapidly and customers who buy it once are sure to call for Hood's the next time. We believe Hood's Sarsaparilla must possess true merit in order to retain its popularity. Its sales exceed all similar preparations and its praises are often heard." L. SOMMER & SON, Springfield, Illinois. Thousands of druggists say the same.

SIAM'S MODERN MONARCH

LETTER OF GOOD ADVICE TO HIS SONS.

King Chulalongkorn Shows Himself in the Light of an Up-to-Date Man of the World.

The following letter has been published by the Strasburg Post. It is said to be the translation of a letter of advice from the King of Siam to his sons, when they were sent to Europe to be educated. The letter which exhibits a broad minded monarch, of a very up-to-date character, is as follows:

"Unless you possess qualities which distinguish you before others, it is best, while traveling abroad, to act as if you belonged among the common people. You must not brag of the fact that you are royal princes, nor allow your attendants to do so. The expenses of your education I defray out of my private purse, not at the expense of the state. It is much better that I should spend my money thus, than that I should leave you a fortune, for your education is of lasting value, and you cannot be robbed of it. I consider it as the most valuable inheritance, and will give the same good education even to the least developed of my sons.

"Were I to take the money from the public treasury, the people could justly say that some of my sons are not worth it, and that I am wasteful. But even my private fortune, in a certain sense, belongs to the State. It is given your father to exercise charity as well as to defray the expenses of his household. The money spent on your education will, indirectly, be of value to the state. You must remember always that your father is not bound to place you in influential positions because you happen to be royal princes. Important positions demand special abilities, therefore you must study earnestly and faithfully, so that you may of value to your country and to the world.

"If you think that princes have nothing to do but to enjoy themselves, you lower yourselves to the level of animals, who are born, eat, sleep and die. Do not fancy that you may insult others with impunity, and that you will not be punished because you are my sons. Your father does not intend his sons to have a chance to act arbitrarily. You will be punished if you do wrong. The fact that your father is a king will not save you. Be careful with your money. You may not waste it, thinking you are royal princes and the sons of kings. Do not return with debts; they will not be paid without question and you will be punished. Remember it is not as easy to earn money as it is to spend it. The money spent on your education is part of what your father receives in consideration of his work done in caring for the welfare of his people. Such money must be spent for useful purposes only."

The Nation, Berlin, says: "King Chulalongkorn is forty-four years old, and a true reformer, almost a revolutionary on the throne. One of his first acts as king was the abolition of hereditary slavery. In his court ceremonial he abolished the custom of the courtiers to throw themselves at the feet of the sovereign. In 1874 he curtailed his own power by the creation of a cabinet. No wonder that such a ruler gained the respect of even a democratic republic, Switzerland having received and entertained him with much pleasure during his visit to Europe. It is very characteristic that he will not interfere with the European tutors of his sons, as this would destroy the teachers' authority. He was deeply moved by the grand panorama of the Alps, which he contemplated from the Wengern Alps. 'I wish,' he said, 'the Queen were here. I know what she would do; she would stay a long time to pick flowers.'"

ON ACONAGA'S SUMMIT.

A dispatch from Buenos Ayres, dated May 15, 1897, states that another member of the Fitzgerald expedition, Mr. Stewart Vines, has reached the summit of Aconagua. It is said to be the highest mountain in the Western Hemisphere. This makes the second person who has ever made the ascent, the first being Zurbriggen, a Swiss guide, also a member of the Fitzgerald expedition, who made the ascent on January 14 of the present year. Mr. Vines reports having made several geological discoveries of great importance. Mr. Fitzgerald, the head of the expedition, is now preparing to make the ascent.

"My boy came home from school one day with his hand badly lacerated and bleeding, and suffering great pain," says Mr. E. J. Schall, with Meyer Bros. Drug Company of St. Louis, Mo. "I dressed the wound, and applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm freely. All pain ceased, and in a remarkably short time it healed without leaving a scar. For wounds, sprains, swellings and rheumatism I know of no medicine or prescription equal to it. I consider it a household remedy." For sale by all druggists and dealers. Benson, Smith & Co., wholesale agents for the Hawaiian Islands.

NOT ON THE TICKET.

A sensation was sprung at the Central Committee headquarters yesterday afternoon by the announcement that there had been an omission in the ticket filed and consequently the entire ticket would be illegal. After working everybody up to fever heat the member making this announcement stated that the omission consisted in the failure to include Rainier Beer on the list of candidates for popular favor. Rainier Beer, however, does not need to be on any ticket, as it was long ago voted to be the best beer made on the coast. Criterion Saloon. Telephone 780.

FEAST OF THE MOON.

"I am going to the band at the lakes, Dick," said I to my chum after breakfast one day last March. He nodded, but made no remark.

Sorrow cannot endure forever, but the death of the girl to whom he was engaged, through a boating accident at Henley, had left two strange marks on his character when the cloud had otherwise lifted at last.

Well, I went down to the beachhouse and taking a canoe paddled under the lee of an island to read Tennyson's "Idylls" and to dream and listen to the string band of the—th regiment, then quartered with others at Rangoon.

"I say, old chap," he began with suppressed excitement, "I've had the most extraordinary visitor this afternoon—a fakir of sorts—who told me things of my past life that I thought nobody knew."

"I laughed. "Been tapping your bearer, I expect." And the moment after I regretted the remark, when Dick in a low voice, almost a whisper, said: "He described her, what she wore that day, how she died," and then after a pause, "He said she would be waiting for me tomorrow night—the Burman's feast of the moon—by the sacred tank."

Delicately as I could I tried to eradicate from his usually practical, cynical mind the unreasoning faith in the supernatural which the fakir seemed to have implanted there.

"At any rate, I am going to this sacred tank. I have found out where it is."

Next day he showed signs of a bad night and was strangely preoccupied, but as the day wore on he pulled himself together.

"If you don't wish to be alone, of course I will come," I said, and so it was settled.

"Darling, wait one moment. I am coming; I am here" (walking a few steps forward). And then, "My God, there it is again!" (Turning to me) "Don't you hear it?" And he hummed the opening bars of the adagio movement.

I heard nothing but the distant ringing of the gongs, but suddenly I caught the sobbing cadence of that lovely piece of harmony; but it seemed an echo only, or, if you can conceive it, a rendering of the passage in a huge bell jar from which the air had been exhausted; magically clear, divinely sweet and sad, but so faint that the ear could just catch it and no more.

Dick stood like a statue, intently listening, with a strained, lost look on his face. I took him gently by the arm and he suffered me to lead him away, like a sleepwalker.

The following day he was down with a bad go of fever. I was with him most of the day and went to his quarters as soon as I had finished my dinner. They were empty. His bearer was in the godowns, and when I summoned and interrogated him he only looked dazed. I cursed him in P. I sent him off with it, and myself rushed out with my own boy in quest of the absentee.

High and low I hunted, but found no clew. Then I returned, weary and dispirited, to the club, where I found Curtis, the D. S. P., awaiting me and any reports from the surrounding police thanas.

Suddenly an idea struck me; why had not earlier I know not. "Come," I said, and Curtis and I, taking a girl as soon as we could get one, drove to the sacred tank.

It must have been 5 in the morning when we came upon him. He was lying on his face, one hand outstretched, just where the vision must have appeared the night before. We raised him gently. He was quite dead, with the mysterious smile of those who have solved the great secret frozen on his lips.

We got him down to the girl as best we could and started back to Rangoon. As we passed the barracks by the Gold pagoda the band was practicing.

With a shock I recognized the piece; it was the adagio again. Involuntarily I looked at the dead man, expecting him to start, to speak. But the music of the immortals had hushed for him the harmonies of earth.—Ludgate.

FEAST OF THE MOON.

"I am going to the band at the lakes, Dick," said I to my chum after breakfast one day last March. He nodded, but made no remark. I had known him for some years now—ever since his great trouble—and we were staying at the Pugu club, loitering away our time in Rangoon after a long shooting tour in the Straits.

Sorrow cannot endure forever, but the death of the girl to whom he was engaged, through a boating accident at Henley, had left two strange marks on his character when the cloud had otherwise lifted at last.
