THE BLACK LIST.

The morning paper withdraws its "Black List" and apologizes for it at the rate of knots. It eats enough humble pie to derange the digestive machinery of an ostrich. It winces and whines and twists and backs water after the fashion of the clique for which it speaks. For a standing rebuke to stultification it turns as complete a somersault as a skilled acrobat. With its boasted courage it trembles under merited rebuke and shrieks for quarter under the lash. It stands not upon the order of its going, but jumps desperately for a haven of shelter from the storm of public opinion. It has learned that the bulk of the community does not approve of bulldozing, of intimidation, of bluffing, of "Black Listing." It has learned that in this country now, under the changed conditions, every man has a right to hold such views as he chooses and when in public position to express his opinions publicly without fear or hindrance. This was a wholesome lesson. It was a beneficial incident, for it will have not a little effect in breaking the conceit of the contracted ring that wants to damn and suppress and summarily oust any opposition to its oft-times peculiar ideas. There will be no more "Black Listing," though the one maintained for a day will live forever an insult to the gentlemen whose names were thus sought to be dragged down, and an insult to the Senate of the Republic.

"Though forty Black Lists might be published," says the morning paper, "we know of no Senators or Representatives whose opinions would be swerved thereby." Why, then, was this "Black List" published? If it had not the purpose of swerving the opinions of the men who make legislation; if it was not intended as either a direct or indirect influence upon them, it had no purpose whatever. What a humiliating, involving confession to make. How supinely weak, uncertain and irresponsible is such method and how wholly unworthy. Its authors should hide diminished heads and retire from ground that they show inability—utter inability—to hold by fair, open means. Again, if the purpose of the "Black List," the roll of dishonor, was not to swerve opinion, then it had no purpose.

KAILUANI.

When the subject was broached at the special session of the Legislature, this paper placed itself on record as favoring an allowance to Kailuani. Before the stand was taken the matter was carefully considered. And as the THE STAR does not blow hot and cold or veer with the wind, it now urges again that a settlement be made by the Government upon the young lady who was but a few years ago the prospective ruler of this land and whose life has been spent in receiving an education to fit her for an exalted and responsible position in Hawaii. For this step there are reasons politic and reasons concrete. Through no fault of Kailuani herself, she has been removed from the line of succession to the Crown of Hawaii. The monarchy has disappeared. With it went the good and bad, worthy and unworthy. Final judgment has not been passed upon all who were touched. But the verdict is at hand so far as it may relate to Kailuani. There was first made for her an effort in behalf of what were considered her rights. This failed. Since that time the young lady has not posed in the attitude of a claimant. She has quietly resided abroad and so far as could be observed has accepted the situation. This becomes, then, an affair that cannot be held down to the basis of dollars and cents. The allowance should be promptly made out of consideration for the young lady herself, her native and hale friends, and as an act of ordinary justice which the Republic owes to itself to perform and which cannot but rebound to its credit. This offering, made in the proper spirit, should serve as another olive branch in the great wreath of common interest destined at no very remote day to enclose and unite and hold in close communion all the true friends of Hawaii, all those believing that harmony is better for a nation than bickering.

For the first week the Legislature has done very well.

The statement that J. B. Castle has nothing to do with the policy of the Advertiser is funny enough to serve as a gag in the coming minstrel show.

To FRIENDS of Hawaii in the United States it may be remarked that "All's Well" down here. Political wrangling, somewhat on the American plan, is in full blast, but otherwise the condition is that of peace and prosperity in full measure. A pair of two-bit conspirators from San Francisco have been kicked out of jail and out of Court chiefly because they were believed to be crazy.

W.W. DIMOND'S

There is no between season in Hawaii, no time when ice is not needed. Nor is there a day in the year when the pleasures and profits in a good refrigerator are not appreciated and realized.

A box lined with zinc is not a refrigerator; it takes more than that. There have been refrigerators and ice boxes advertised here for years. And they have been all sorts. Ours is of the good sort—The Gurney Improved. You've heard of it, everybody has.

People in the United States consider it the best; so do we and for that reason we will offer it to you. They are made in hard wood and are lined with zinc and mineral wool—the greatest known non-conductor of heat.

The Gurney Improved has another good feature. It is cleanable and without trouble. The lining and shelves are joined so that they may be lifted out as one piece and scrubbed. The work can be done in the kitchen and one does not have to crawl part way into the box to obtain good results.

We have so much faith in the Gurney Improved that we are satisfied to put it in competition with any refrigerator made. We are willing to put it by the side of any other refrigerator, have it filled with the same kind of ice and under the same conditions and let a committee say which refrigerator uses the most ice and which has the lowest temperature.

This challenge is for any one who wants to try conclusions with us on refrigerators. The Gurney Improved is better finished but we sell them at a lower price than some people do common refrigerators. Store open Saturday evenings.

Mr. W. W. Dimond

Grape Juice

For twenty Years Dr. Welch of Vineland, N. J., has made the preparing of unfermented grape juice a study. His product has an astonishing large sale in the U. S. It is the very best made, containing more grape sugar than other. It is not insipid, but retains that delicious fresh grape flavor, wholly lacking in other kinds of grape juice.

We have made the price right. We sell you Welch's grape juice at the same retail price asked in Vineland. Full quarts, 75c; pints, 50c; and half pints, 25c. Get it of

A Unique Experience.

The Philadelphia Record tells the following interesting story: That veteran but still charming actress, Mrs. John Drew, recently had an experience that was as unique as it was pleasant. She was playing in a southern town and accepted an invitation to attend a reception. Her business urged her to be sure to keep her engagement, because an old gentleman is to be there who was present at her first performance on any stage and remembers it distinctly, though he was only 3 years old at the time. She refused to let his name, and Mrs. Drew says she thought of nothing else for three days, even dreaming of the old gentleman. Finally the day came, and at the door of the house she drew encountered her old friend, Joseph Jefferson, who said to her: "Just fancy, I am to meet an old lady here today who says she met the first time I ever appeared on the stage. I'm quite excited over it. When they get inside, the hostess confessed that she had tried her little ruse in order to get both the artists to attend, and Jefferson admitted that Mrs. Drew had attended his first appearance on any stage."

A Chinaman's Coffin.

The first ambition of every Chinaman is to have a splendid coffin. A poor man will starve himself for years to have one. It is always received with great ceremony on its arrival at the home and is regarded as the most valuable piece of furniture in the establishment. It is kept in the place of honor. No one is ever buried till there is ready money enough in the house to do so without the family running into debt. There are many strange customs connected with the funeral rites. One of these is the burning at the tomb of paper horses, idols, umbrellas and clothes. These are supposed to be necessary and useful to the man when he gets to heaven. By being buried they undergo some material reconstruction and meet him there.—Chicago Herald.

THE TALL SILK HAT.

IT COSTS A SMALL FORTUNE FOR A FELLOW TO DRESS UP TO ONE.

A Few Notes on This Deadly Head Covering in General, With a Word About Judge Crabtree's First One in Particular.

"You look sad," observed Major Dodge to his partner as the latter stayed in the attic.

"I am always sad after dropping in at the attic," answered Judge Crabtree.

"Still," said the major, "I have stood among those heartrending scenes, the floor all over with the tears of the weeping and me, and been comparatively unharmed."

"You may make light of this thing if you want to," returned the judge, "but I insist that there is to me something infinitely sad in seeing a young man buying his first silk hat, with a smile on his face and the proud first of youthful bravado twinkling in his eye."

"I will remember," went on Judge Crabtree, "how I myself first looked the way you do now, and it was a sad thing to me, when I went out, faintly catching the stealthy footfalls of the Goddess of Fame close behind me."

"I was at this time passionately interested in a young woman who afterward became my wife, and it was a sad thing to me, when I went out, faintly catching the stealthy footfalls of the Goddess of Fame close behind me."

"The corners of the handkerchief fluttered about in the wind, and an 18-month-old baby which a woman was holding in her lap near by called 'Driman' every time she caught sight of me."
