UNGROUND NERVOUSNESS.

There is a quiet freely expressed fear that one section of the situation threatens to become unwieldy. This is the "reef" contingent. About 300 persons have been arrested since the trouble began. The authorities had a care to take up as suspects only those against whom evidence was secured. In the course of events a very large number of these individuals will be condemned to penal servitude. This is where the alarm has wedged itself into the proposition. It is pointed out that the prisoners are not of an ordinary class. Besides having brains to scheme inside, they have in many instances influential connections and powerful friends outside. True to the letter, political prisoners and hostages of war are more troublesome to any country than riot or pestilence. But THE STAR does not share the nervousness here indicated. That such a circumstance as has arisen prevails, is to be deeply deplored. That many men who under usual conditions are good citizens now occupy prison cells, is a matter of keen regret. However, the Government that was strong enough to thwart designs of conspirators is probably powerful enough to manage jails containing extraordinary prisoners.

LIBERAL regulations adopted by the police department remove most of the restraint of martial law.

THOSE who do not need the pay received for services to the Republic are again reminded that various Relief Funds need relief.

A second installment of Bret Harte's "Sheriff of Siskiyew" is printed to-day. Another literary feat is resumption of the "Bill Nye" letters.

KNOWLEDGE of the fact that the cases of all but one of the leading rebels are now in the hands of President Dole has considerably relieved public tension.

INCENDIARISM is about as bad rebellion. It is gratifying to see the authorities exerting themselves to the utmost to hunt out those who would set fire to a house.

THERE is no end of surmises as to the trial of Liliuokalani. The cunning conspirators and the ordinary rebels blame Sam Nowlin. He blames the ex-Queen. Who will she blame?

THE special election to fill the vacancy in the legislative house will not be called for some time yet. There is little or no talk at present of the special session of the assembly.

CITIZENS writing abroad should have a care to make it well understood that there is no disorder in Hawaii. Under the rule of the Republic life and property are as safe here as any place in the world.

THAT is a very pertinent inquiry addressed to Minister Willis by P. C. Jones. Does an American who in a foreign land stands up for freedom and justice against mob attack, forfeit his citizenship rights? There are hundreds asking the same question that Mr. Jones puts.

Two years ago this week—Thursday, January 31—the American flag was hoisted in Hawaii. After eight weeks it was ordered down by Grover Cleveland, President of the United States. His action was against the will of the dominant element there as well as being opposed to the sentiment and wishes of the people of the States.

THE second edition STAR war book is now in print. It will consist entirely of original matter. It will be what was contemplated when a publication was first announced. By the pressure of demand we were compelled to hurriedly supply a book. It answered the immediate purposes. The second edition will be offered as a standard.

Timely Topics.

January 28, 1895.

A copy of the Honolulu Japanese Harburi on our desk contains the somewhat startling intelligence that the Japanese laborers who left one of the adjacent plantations at the beginning of the recent trouble did so with the intention of taking up arms against the Government. In commenting upon the subject the Harburi says editorially: "That as the country in no way belonged to the subjects of the Japanese Empire they showed a decided inclination toward the side in desiring to take part in the fight. We can hardly credit the story and are rather inclined to the opinion that it savors of an American campaign document. But assuming that there is at least a semblance of truth in the statement, the Government has a stronger foe than it has yet had to combat; stronger at least from a numerical point of view, and different from the last in the sense that the people are more scattered and their methods of warfare would be different. This result aimed at would not be the same because it would probably be their intention to assume control of the territory in the name of their Emperor. In such case the Government would have among its allies citizens of every other nationality residing here. Every one knows that two years ago there was a great deal of talk about the intentions of Japan and a great deal of speculation as to the outcome of the trouble if the Japanese flag should be hoisted over the islands. Japan had no intention then of interfering in the affairs of Hawaii and probably has less intention today. In the first place the location is against it, and outside of the laborers and a couple of hundred merchants Japan has no particular interests here. To read newspapers and to listen to the utterances of some people one would suppose Hawaii to be a very rich golden nugget rather than a "pear ripe for plucking" and that every government in the universe was ready to lay hands upon it. When Hawaii loses its sovereignty it will be through a treaty with the Government which the people, through their representatives, may select. In the United States opinions are divided as to the advisability of the scheme; England does not consider the matter at all because it recognizes America's claim owing to its geographical position as well as the interests represented; Japan couldn't take the islands if it wanted because both England and the United States would each have metaphorically speaking, chips on their shoulders that would have to be knocked off. Its success in the war with China might tempt it to seek other worlds to conquer, but if the Japanese look in the cause of their success they would find that it was owing simply to intercourse with more enlightened, and accepting instructions in warfare from more progressive people. It is hardly possible they would care to engage in a war with the races who have "shown them the way." Hawaii will retain its independence until the American eagle can be persuaded to take it under its wing. It may be a long time yet. The Alaska business was not settled in a day and every one who reads knows the outcome of the San Domingo business. So far as the people here are concerned there are fewer obstacles in the way of annexation today than there was six months ago, six months hence there will be still less. The wrinkles on the brow of the country are being gradually smoothed out, the principal objections exist in the United States and until a majority of the Senate can see the wisdom of adding to the already large territory of the United States annexation will not be an assured fact. Haviland China will command your attention this week more than anything in the store, the assortment is larger, the designs prettier and the prices more in accordance with the times than ever before. We buy direct from the factory at Limoge, France, and have the choice of patterns in everything we buy, you could not get prettier pieces if you went into every shop in the United States; you could not get them as cheap there as you can with us on account of the duty. This week we show very handsome boudoir sets of 11 pieces decorated as delicately and perfectly as anything in the China line can be. No dressing case is complete nowadays without a Haviland boudoir set—the price don't stand in the way—$4.50 makes it easy for any one to buy. Next comes the Solitaire sets of seven pieces—the very thing needed when you want a cup of tea brought into your bedroom. These sets are on trays and contain seven pieces, the one with marguerite or chrysanthemum pattern will probably win you when you learn that they cost only $4.50 per set, they're beautiful for a China closet. The piece de resistance, if we may be permitted to use the term, is probably the dinner set with gold decorations which you may see in one of our windows. For genuine beauty, chasteness, harmony and all that sort of thing, the white and gold is the best. If you knew the price of the 150 pieces it wouldn't frighten you—come in and examine the goods. Let us leave fine articles for the time being and look at things less expensive but none the less useful. Take fish scalers for a quarter, you can not get anything half so good for the money, nor for double the price, when it comes to that. We've lots of useful things in the store, many of them probably just what you want.

NATIONAL CANE SHREDDER.

Patented under the laws of the Hawaiian Republic.

One of these Shredders has recently been installed at the mill of the Paahau Plantation Company, Hamakua, Hawaii, and Mr. Andrew Moore, the manager, writes concerning it:

PAHAU PLANTATION CO., HAMAKUA, JUNE 10, 1895.

W. G. IRWIN & CO., LTD., HONOLULU: GENTLEMEN—The mill has been running during the past two weeks, with the National Cane Shredder lately installed, giving the most satisfactory results.

Our mill consists of three sets of two rollers, 22 in. dia. by 22 in. long, the shredder discs being 5 ft. 7 in. long, driven by an automatic engine 11 in. dia. cylinder by 14 in. stroke.

The Ratoon cane being milled as well as the first cane to be having been subjected to a severe drought during the whole period of its growth, and growing on land with a trade wind exposure. Our experience with the Shredder, particularly with above cane, proves it to be just what our mills required, the shredded cane being better prepared to have its juice extracted than formerly after passing through the first mill.

The first mill is now allowed to open 3/16 in. instead of 1/8 in. as formerly, so that the trash now leaves the first mill, better ground, than it formerly did the second, and this without the old time grinding, choking, and straining of the machinery.

Behind the first and second mills we apply hot water, the quantity for the past 12 days, as per statement attached, has averaged 35 per cent. on the total juice from the cane.

The trash from the last mill is cut up much finer than before the Shredder was applied, much of it resembling saw dust, it contains as per statement 20 per cent. of moisture and makes good fuel, the juice from the last mill stands 5 degree Brix, so that the moisture in the juice is 5 per cent. sugar solution.

Two rollers make steam much easier than before, now care has to be taken to keep them from blowing off, whereas before great care was necessary to keep the steam from going too low when the Pan was on.

By the use of the Shredder we have dispensed with six men, formerly necessary to distribute the cane on the carrier, feed the first mill, and throw back the long pieces.

The Shredder Machinery is a good substantial job, and should cause little or no trouble, as it is subjected to but light strains. You will see that by applying the Shredder, our work in all departments has been very materially improved—obtaining a better extraction at less expense than formerly. The great improvement in our steam, causes much satisfaction to those engaged in the Mill.

Yours Respectfully, A. MOORE.

Plans, specifications and prices of these Shredders may be had on application to
