Speak gently it is better far Your temper not to tax. Speak gently, once or twice, And then, wade in and get an ax.

In Minister Willis' instructions from his Government you will find written "An American citizen who during a revolution in a foreign country participated in any attempt of force of arms or violence to maintain or overthrow the existing Government, cannot claim that the Government of the United States shall protect him against the consequences of such act."

The people of Hawaii have an abiding faith in the friendship and affections of the United States.

VERY soon after martial law days are ended the "loser political union" movement which somehow slipped a cog two years ago, will be in full blast on every island.

By THE demise of the brilliant Lord Randolph Churchill the British forum loses a figure of signal power and ability. His fame was not confined to the expansive boundaries of the Empire, but had reached all quarters admiring political acumen.

WITH the extra correspondence, including mailing of papers and pictures, the Post Office is enjoying a genuine business boom. Business all along the line here is all right.

REPORTS on congressional proceedings coming to Hawaii from Australia are not always to be implicitly relied upon. The latest advices, however seem to have the flavor of likelihood. They are to the effect that the American law-makers decline to discuss annexation or the cable until further informed on the revolution.

IN THE light of events a repetition of a remark by Theo. H. Davis is not untimely. Said he: "The people of this country must get together." Mr. Davis was looking ahead with his keenest vision. The trouble has been the differing bodies could not see across the gulf between them.

IN THE judgment of this paper, opponents of the Republic have not yet made a political movement of an aggressive nature. This is an extremely happy and satisfactory circumstance. When a party or an administrative is forced to the defensive a weakness is at once apparent.

THE morning paper makes a weak attempt to ridicule the suggestion of an "Old Resident" that the services of the firemen during the rebellion merited recognition.

THE fact remains that these employees of the Government are poorly paid and that they did more than their duty during the troublous times. "Old Resident" happens to be a man whose opinion is always valuable and THE STAR believes he was never nearer correct than in this instance.

IN RESPONSE to an unofficial request the editor of THE STAR appeared before the military commission this morning. As a result of this interview the editor states that so far as he knows the publication concerning findings of the commission did not come from any member of that body.

THE Commission's question as to the source of information was not pressed. As one of the gentlemen remarked, it is well understood that no honorable newspaper man will disclose such a thing.
