BASE BALL. Preparing Now For a Season of League Playing. Efforts are being put forward to make this one of the most successful base ball years Honolulu has ever had. Two teams are now practically organized and prospects of a third are good. Harry Wilder has his team, composed chiefly of Crescent men. James Thompson is reorganizing the Hawaiians. The Kamehamehas have not yet decided to enter the league. It is understood that the faculty of the school object. In case they cannot be induced to enter a third team will be organized among surplus ball players.

MORE ARE TO LEAVE.

OTHER MARITAL LAW PRISONERS GET LIBERTY ON CONDITION.

Lewis J. Levey—M. C. Bailey—Captain McDowell and Others Are Yet to Come.

Lewis J. Levey, the auctioneer, M. C. Bailey, a clerk in Mr. Levey's office, were discharged from the prison this day on condition that they leave the country.

This evening Captain A. McDowell, Carriane (a Greek), and Arthur White will be given their freedom on the same conditions. Levey and Bailey will likely leave on the Australia. It is learned that McDowell and White are anxious to get away. Carriane will likely go with Camarinos.

Camarinos was liberated last evening and is winding up his affairs. He has a pineapple ranch near town and a fruit store on King street.

Lewis J. Levey has been here many years. His business place is at the corner of Queen and Fort. He was manager of the opera house. Mr. Bailey is comparatively a new comer.

Captain McDowell is a long time resident. He is the man who tried to raise the stranded Miowera from the reef.

Manuel Reis, the hackman, will remain in the country. He became ill while in prison.

Arthur White was at one time interested in a billiard hall here. It was White who shot Wood, the ball player for saying that he had sold a game to White.

Carriane, the Greek is the man captured by Zeigler's command on the Moillili road the day of the battle there. He had been at San Souci during the forenoon and was strongly suspected of having carried a message to the rebel camp.

WIRE IN KONA AND KAU. ORGANIZING A COMPANY TO CONSTRUCT A LINE.

Prospectus Issued by L. S. Aungst—The Field for Such a Business—Prospects.

L. S. Aungst, late of the Mutual Telephone Company, is out with a prospectus for the Kona-Kau Telephone and Telegraph Co., Ltd.

Every one here knows that Mr. Aungst is a careful, capable man, familiar with the business, and he will probably encounter but little difficulty in carrying out the enterprise. He says:

"It is proposed to form a Joint Stock Company under the Hawaiian statutes, for the purpose of establishing telephonic and telegraphic communication on the island of Hawaii, and more especially in the districts of North and South Kona and Kau, to rent telephones and electrical instruments of all descriptions and to do a general telephonic and telegraphic business."

"The several districts above mentioned have been thoroughly canvassed, with the object of ascertaining the number of subscribers that can be secured to an efficient telephonic system, and the residents and property holders, one and all, are earnest in their desire to lend support to a project that will place them in telephonic communication with their neighbors, the steamer landings and the other districts on the island."

A conservative estimate of the subscribers to be obtained at six dollars per month places the number at seventy, with very good prospects of an increase to at least eighty-five subscribers within two years from date.

It is proposed to incorporate the company with a capital stock of $12,000. The stock is to be divided into 480 shares of the par value of $25 per share.

NEW QUARTERS. Location of the Custom House Office to be Changed for the Better.

The middle wall of the present Custom House is being removed preparatory to converting it into a warehouse. During next month the Customs Bureau will move into the large building at the corner of Fort and Allen streets. The offices upstairs are now being fitted up. The place is commodious and the arrangement of it will be as perfect as could be desired. A wide stairway from Fort street has already been put in. All of the offices, including that of Appraiser, will be near together. The Collector-General's office will be right at the top of the stairs.

Lady Frederick Bruce, a prominent English woman, is one of the leaders in the vigorous warfare now being conducted against skirt dancing, which, it seems, is quite crowding out music as a form of entertainment in English country houses.

HONECK TO COMRADES.

THE "COMPANY A" CONSPIRACY SUSPECT WRITES A NOTE.

Wants a Speedy Trial—A Company and Sharpshooters Adopt the Famous Company D Resolution.

Company A, N. G. H. CAPTAIN PAUL SMITH: Please place my case before the comrades tonight and please try and have me tried at once. I am guilty I want to be disposed of at once—at day break following my sentence. With best regards to all the boys, I am,

PRIVATE HONECK. The above note of heroic hue and theatrical tenor, was read at a well attended meeting of Captain Smith's command Thursday evening. The boys listened and said very little. They all know Honeck well, as a good soldier and a fine shot and most of the boys like him. Twice while in the field Honeck was removed for reckless shooting about the camp. During the operations in Manoa valley he gained a reputation for bravery in the matter of a man who was shot.

A wants the man to have a hearing soon, to be punished if guilty and to be restored to good standing if innocent.

Company A followed the example of Company D in declaring itself on the subject of non-partisan office-holders. Applause followed the adoption of the following as the sentiment of the Company:

Resolved, That all those who were not members in good standing of some military company, or of the Citizens' Guard or of the police force prior to January 6, 1895, be not retained in Government employ.

This Committee was selected to confer and act with delegates from other organizations in the matter of presenting and urging the resolution. Sergeant Dushalsky, Corporal Carter, Private D. L. Naone, Sergeant Lecker, company clerk, re-enlisted and now enters upon his third term. The sergeant says he is "in it" till the end. Two natives enlisted last night. They are Kaanaana and Robert Kamaeana.

SHARPSHOOTERS. Thirty-seven members of Captain Kidwell's Company attended the meeting Thursday night. Private William Ross, who was badly injured in a road accident in the morning, was present, a trifle pale, but ready for action. Seven applications for enlistment were received. One of the candidates is a Wall, which will make five members of that family in that command. The three McCandless brothers are members as well as an independent McCandless, while three Emerson brothers answer to roll call.

The Sharpshooters adopted by unanimous vote the expression now called the "Company D resolution," it relates to lake-warm Government employes and is printed above in the account of Company A proceedings.

John A. McCandless, senator elect, J. S. Martin and A. W. Keech are the committee from the Sharpshooters.

Members said the organization did not desire to assume the attitude of threatening the Republic, but they were firm in the belief that a man who could not decide in two years to actively support the Government, was not entitled to place under the Government.

Prize Fight Tomorrow. The first pugilistic encounter of the new year will take place at Steiner's ice cream parlors tomorrow, commencing in the morning early and continuing late at night. A well-known citizen has been requested and has accepted the position of referee. There will be bottle-holders, attendants, etc. The participants will be Robert Fitzsimmons and Jim Hall. No entrance fee will be charged. Come early and avoid the rush.

SETTLED A DIFFICULTY. Inspector Nacayama Talks to Turbulent Laborers.

Mr. G. O. Nacayama returned from Makaweli by the Mikahala, where he had gone to settle a difficulty between the Japanese laborers and plantation people. Ever since the trouble on that plantation last summer, when its whole complement of laborers went out on strike, frequent mutterings have been heard. Last week, on some trivial account, several laborers refused to obey orders and another general walk-out seemed imminent. It was thought best that Mr. Nacayama should proceed to Makaweli without delay. The trouble was promptly adjusted and he left matters in that seemed to be perfect shape.

INCREASED BUSINESS. New Cars for the Oahu Railway—Extension Steels Coming.

J. A. Hughes, master carbuilder of the Oahu Railway, has completed nine flat cars. They are on the road. He is now constructing five 20-ton box cars. Rails for the Waianae extension of the road are expected every day. They will be brought from San Francisco in pond. The new cars are being put on in view of increased business.

MEXICAN CIGARS AT HOLLISTER & CO'S.

ST. LOUIS NEW THEATER.

COMPLETE AND COZY PLAY HOUSE AT THE COLLEGE.

Has Magnificent Scenery—Fully Equipped and Lighted—Large Auditorium—All Pleading.

By the work of a few weeks Artist Schloth, Carpenter Howard and Electrician Hoffmann have provided St. Louis College with a very neat theater. The play house is completely furnished and equipped and brilliantly lighted.

The stage is 22x20 feet, with commodious wings. Dressing rooms are up stairs and in the rear. The auditorium is 100x45 and has on more than one occasion seated an audience of over 1000. A reporter for THE STAR visited the place last evening. "Brother Frank," assistant principal, was an excellent guide. After inspecting the place the reporter interviewed the scenic artist, the carpenter and the electrician.

Mr. H. Schloth explained that he had provided the college opera house with a drop curtain, seven settings and the necessary "wings," "flats" and "flies."

The drop curtain is a very spirited production of the "Circus Maximus," copied from an engraving at King Brothers'. Here are portrayed with marvelous fidelity and fine finish, the color, action, detail and atmosphere of the stirring chariot race indelibly pictured in words by Gen. Lew Wallace in "Ben Hur." Mr. Schloth has hit with striking nicety every feature of the glorious contest. The wild dash of the maddened horses, the desperation of the drivers, the intense interest of the spectators are clearly shown. It is really a masterpiece.

The high standard established by the drop curtain is maintained through the scenery. Nearly all the other pieces are creations of Mr. Schloth's.

"Rock Pass," in the Pyrennes, for mountain grandeur, rivals Nunnally. It is morning and there is a suspicion of fog. In the distance is a snow clad mountain. There is a charming landscape. In the foreground are trees. It is harvest time and the leaves are turning. The center presents a corn field. In placing a farm house, then hills beyond, the perspective is excellent.

The garden scene is highly attractive. Here Mr. Schloth has accomplished some of his very best work. It is an Italian landscape. The grounds are those of a nobleman residing upon the Bay of Naples. The garden has trees, shrubbery, flower plots, statuary and fountains. An ornamental stairway, wide and solid, leads to a superb mansion. A bit of the placid water is shown and far away is a noble mountain.

A very good street scene has been supplied. This is called "A Modern Street." It has imposing commercial structures on either side and the location of a cathedral in the neighborhood is indicated by a tall steeple.

A "grand interior" discloses a setting with columnar walls. This is a fitting place for any pretentious assemblage. The "plain interior" is for the parlor of a mansion. Finally there is the typical kitchen, which may be the annex of a big establishment or the living room of working people. There have been provided such essential accessories as a well with "the old oaken bucket," traps, etc.

The smooth operation of every piece on the stage speaks for the ability of John Howard, the stage carpenter. Everything moves at the touch, is easily handled, "stays put" and will not get out of order. Mr. Howard has done his work well.

Theo. Hoffmann, Superintendent of the Hawaiian Electric Company, furnished the lighting outfit for the new theater. There are 104 incandescent lamps. For the entrance and at several points there are lights of thirty-two candle power. The rest are sixteen. The switch system is complete and simple. Every light in the place can be managed by the push of a button. The effects produced by the line of footlights and the high lights of the stage are all that could be desired. At night the place is brilliant.

Brother Bertram, principal of St. Louis, is absent on Hawaii. He, as well as all members of the faculty are immensely pleased with the new opera house. The theater is for the use of the institution only. Several entertainments are given annually. Considering that the college has over 500 students these concerts and literary and dramatic performances assume considerable magnitude.

SERGEANT MURRAY. Election of Officers By Squad 6, Citizens' Guard.

Squad 6 Citizens' Guard, met at the American League hall last night and elected its officers. T. B. Murray was chosen sergeant of the squad. Corporals were elected in the following order and rank: Charles Lind, first; Richard Davis, second; Theo. P. Severin, third; George Hawkins, fourth. After this sixty-two badges were distributed. Sixty-three men turned out in Squad 6 during the rebellion.

THE MODERN INVALID. Has tastes medicinally, in keeping with other luxuries. A remedy must be pleasantly acceptable in form, purely wholesome in composition, truly beneficial in effect and entirely free from every objectionable quality. If really ill he consults a physician; if compensated he uses the gentle family laxative Syrup of Figs.

DELIBERATING NOW.

MILITARY COMMISSION HAS BUT ONE CASE TODAY.

A Native And An A.M.—A Professional Argument—Arguments by Counsel.

The Military Commission resumed business at 9:30 a. m. today. Kaimimoku was the lone prisoner at the bar. The accused had no lawyer, desired none, and had no objection to any member of the Commission. The charge, misprision of treason, and Specifications 4 and 5, were read. The prisoner pled guilty to specifications and charge. He knew of the impending outbreak, but, while taking no active part in it himself, he did not impart his knowledge to the authorities. Kaimimoku lives at Iwilei, near the prison, and knew what was going on. On Sunday morning he rode out to Kaula and saw guns and men, and returned about 2 o'clock in the afternoon in time, if he had so desired, to inform the Marshal of what was going on.

The Judge-advocate stated that the accused bore a reputation for industry, but was somewhat of a revolutionist, having been a prominent figure in the Wilcox rebellion in 1886. The accused admitted all this to be a fact and waived a statement. The case was then submitted.

Late Thursday Kibi J. Mahoe, James Kanoho, Daniel Damien, H. K. Kanehe and Paha made statements. All claimed to have been deceived and made to go to Kaula.

Mock (w) witness for Alex. Paha, was called. Lived at Wataia. Accused was at witness' home from Sunday night to Wednesday.

In argument Mr. Kanehe made an earnest appeal for his client, setting forth that he was not guilty of treason.

Judge Advocate Robertson held that the evidence against all of the prisoners was complete and convincing. This story of being compelled to go to Kaula and to remain there had become stale. He recommended all to the mercy of the court except Daniel Damien whom he said was into it deeper than the others.

Captain Robertson reporting an empty calendar for today, the court was adjourned to 9:30 a. m. tomorrow. The commission then went into executive session. The cases of Hutchinson and the twenty-five natives tried yesterday are being disposed of.

GET NEW FURNITURE. FANCY ROLL TOP DESK FOR THE MARSHAL.

Deputy Brown Remembered Also—A Double Back Action surprise—Work of the Police.

Marshal Hitchcock stopped short and looked around when he entered his office door at 8:30 this morning. And well he might. The den of "The Holy Terror" had undergone a grand change during the night. The old, flat-top desk had disappeared, and a spanking folding-top of great size had taken its place. Electric lights hung down at the right place, and vases of flowers graced the top of the new desk. The old chair was gone and a new leather-backed, spring office chair was there. Framed on the wall were these words, engraved by Viggo Jacobson:

"The undersigned members of the Police Department of Honolulu, wishing to show their deep regard for Marshal E. G. Hitchcock, offer herewith these tokens of esteem:

"That they partake most of the character of utility makes them, we believe, appropriate to one whose example of tireless energy in the performance of arduous duties has appealed so closely and constantly to the subscribers."

This is signed by seventy-four officers and policemen, headed by Deputy A. M. Brown and William Larsen. The whole plan was laid and carried out by the officers, Marshal Hitchcock knowing nothing of it until this morning.

When the Marshal entered the general office leading to his own, he noticed an unusually large crowd standing around, but had not time to think what it meant before he was in the trap. On being invited to his seat by Deputy-Marshal Brown Mr. Hitchcock took occasion to express his gratitude to the donors.

Another thing: Deputy-Marshal Brown was foremost in the plot to surprise the Marshal. He helped to arrange everything and would frequently go to the window to see if "The Holy Terror" was coming. No man entered into the spirit of the thing more than he. When the desk, lights, chair, etc., were in place, Mr. Brown chanced to go into his own office. There he found his chair gone and a large one, like the new one to be given Mr. Hitchcock, in its place. Wrapped up in the surprise for the Marshal was the only thought that struck him was that the second chair belonged to the Marshal's list. "Where shall I put that chair that is in my office?" he asked Captain Parker just as the Marshal was seen coming down Merchant street. "That chair belongs just where it now is," said Captain Parker. Then, and not till then, it dawned upon Mr. Brown that he was a surprise surprised.

The Kenilworth loaded sugar at the Oceanic wharf this morning. She will take 62,000 bags of sugar from Honolulu to New York this trip.

The ship Hawaiian Isles, due from Newcastle about March 13th, will bring 3211 tons of coal, which is the largest single shipment ever made to this port.

Through some misunderstanding the Kilauca Hou sailed this morning for the Hamakua coast thirty-five minutes ahead of her advertised time. By this the mail was twenty minutes before the supposed time of leaving.

The Uncle John is unloading her cargo of lumber at the Allen Street wharf. The lumber is from Honolulu Bay. And by the way, this boat with its familiar family name, is not without a history. Every sailor in this part of the world knew "Uncle John" Vance of Humboldt, and also knows that the vessel now in port was named after him. Mr. Vance was called "Uncle John" by every tar that frequents the coast of California. His name is world-wide among the sailor class. "Uncle John" was immensely wealthy when he died. His assets totaled up over $6,000,000. Most of this fortune was made and invested in lumber. The barkentine Uncle John was a pet craft of his. Numbers of jokes are told on "Uncle John" in connection with this vessel. It is said that he would periodically board his sailors at the hotel in Humboldt and give the Uncle John a rest, sometimes for months no matter how busy the season.

Marine Engines For Land Service.

An interesting departure in engineering is the introduction of marine engines for land service. One of the great electric illuminating companies, it appears, has adopted them in its work, and estimating their economy in respect to space and power it is reported that the land engine takes up some ten times as much space as marine engines, and the marine quadruple expansion engine has ten times the heating surface of the land engine. Further, it new quadruple two crank expansion engine is twice as powerful as the triple expansion engine, and gets on with only 20 per cent less room and carries regularly 200 pounds of steam. The land engine carries only 50 or 70 pounds of steam and gets on with 100 per cent more space. It is made of malleable cast iron, while the quadruple expansion marine engine develops one horsepower out of 1 1/2 pounds of weight and requires from two to four times as much coal as the marine engine to produce the same power.—Age of Steel.

Wanted!! Absolutely Safe. When the agent was in the light, an effect porter in a south side hotel asked for half an hour's leave of absence one day in order that he might take his money out of a bank and put it in a safe place. It was granted, and at the end of the stipulated time he returned, looking immensely relieved.

"Well, Jacob," said his employer, "did you draw your money out?"

"I did, sir," replied Jacob.

"What bank was it?"

"It was in a safe place, sir."

"The money is in a safe place, sir?"

"I gave it to the old woman, sir."—Chicago Tribune.

A MOUNTAIN BRIGAND.

By ALFRED R. CALHOUN. (Copyright, 1894, by the Author.)

As they neared the camp they could see two guards patrolling the mountain.

"Surrender! Surrender! D— you are surrounded!"

"I'm again to parole 'em," he replied. "But I can't see how you can do that, as you say you are fighting on neither side," said Collins.

"Surrender! Surrender!" the able goods were packed on the animals—blankets, canvas, harness straps and iron tools.

From the time the attack was made till they were ready to move back into the mountains he might get word from the prisoners not to move from where they were till after sunrise.

"I felt like a thief, though I knew just why I was there," said Collins.

"At first I was kind of tickled that Molly McGee should take a fancy to me a stranger, but when I saw her running up the hill with the crowd and noticed that she was looking for me I felt kinder cold."

"I might have stood Molly in the line of duty," continued Collins, "but I noticed that some of the other fellows looked kinder jealous, and I knew that if she didn't let up on them they would lay for me, and I planned to play sick as soon as I got back to camp."
