HIS PROPERTY DEEDED AWAY

"CO-OPERATIVE HOME" CONCERN CLAIMS THE ESTATE OF THE LATE ADOLPH KUNST—DEED EXECUTED SHORTLY BEFORE THE OLD MAN'S DEATH AND WITNESSED BY NOTARY SILVA WHOSE LICENSE IS NOW REVOKED.

From what occurred in Judge Gear's court this morning it is obvious that the will of the late Adolph Kunst, who was locally known as Oom Paul, owing to his striking resemblance to the late Boer leader, is not going to be admitted to probate without a contest. The principal part of the estate consists of a Kaukano leasehold valued at $1725, a judgment against one Pratzing for $225 and a mortgage on property of Otto Ludlow's for $100. Application for letters of administration was made by Edward Knust, son of the deceased, but a protest was entered by Lyle A. Dickley, an attorney for E. P. R. Strauch. He contended that the letters of administration should not be issued on the ground that his client held trust deed for all of the property mentioned. The trust deed was executed on April 6th, a few weeks before the death of Knust. It was acknowledged it appears in the presence of P. Silva, then a notary public.

It was shown that there was some other personal property of small value other than that enumerated and letters of administration to Edward Knust were issued on this. The other property will be the cause of a contest between Knust and Strauch. It may be noted that Strauch was the manager of the defunct Home Purchasing Association and that Silva, the notary public in whose presence the trust deed was acknowledged, is the man whose commission was recently revoked owing to certain transactions with which he and the association were connected.

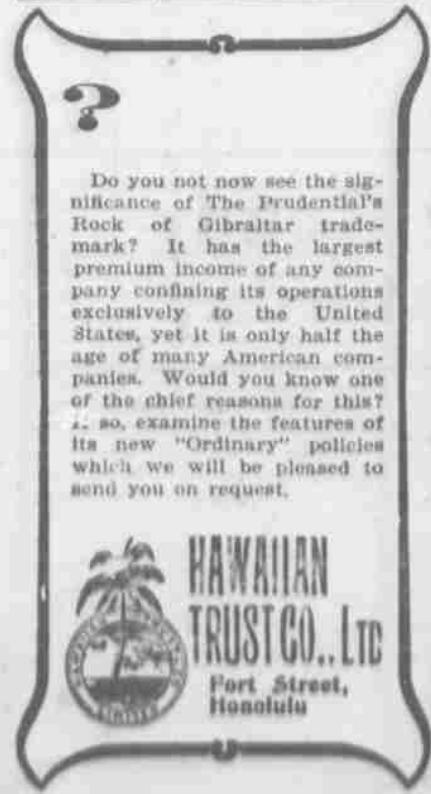

ODA CHARGED WITH MURDER

HAYWOOD IS INVESTIGATING

HILO JAPANESE IS ACCUSED BY CORONER'S JURY IN THE CASE OF MASAJIRO.

The evidence and verdict in the case of Sugai Masajiro, who was killed at Hilo this month by Oda Takashiro, another Jap, has been received by the high sheriff. Oda claimed he had been drunk and did not remember the circumstances of the row with the other man. Sugai was stabbed in the back with a pen knife by Oda on August 2, and died August 7. A verdict to the effect that the deceased had come to his death from the knife-wound inflicted by Oda, was returned by the coroner's jury.

THE TWO GENERALS

General Kuropatkin and Field Marshal Oyama, the commanders in chief of the two great armies which are contending at Liaoyang, are both experienced soldiers. The Russian has won a score of decorations on the field of battle and has been Russia's minister of war. Among his decorations is that of the Order of the Rising Sun, from Japan. Marshal Oyama was the Japanese commander in the successful campaign by which Port Arthur was taken from the Chinese.

AMERICA WILL IMPROVE MANILA

IMPROVEMENTS ON AN EXTENSIVE SCALE IN THE CAPITAL CITY OF THE PHILIPPINES—OVER SIX MILLIONS TO BE SPENT ON WATER WORKS, A SEWER SYSTEM AND BEAUTIFYING THE CITY, UNDER THE BUREAU OF INSULAR AFFAIRS.

WASHINGTON, August 7.—Under the direction of this Government more than $6,000,000 is to be expended in improving and beautifying the city of Manila. Final arrangements for the expenditure of this amount have just been concluded between Major J. F. Case, engineer for the city of Manila, who has been in Washington in consultation with Secretary Taft and Colonel Edwards, chief of the Bureau of Insular Affairs. Work will begin immediately on a water works system to cost $4,000,000 and a sewer system to cost $2,000,000. Congress has made it possible for the Philippine Government to issue sufficient bonds to construct water and sewer systems. Bonds will probably not be issued before January 1st.

Daniel H. Burnham, the Chicago landscape gardener, will go to Manila in a short time to inspect the city and will report plans for its beautification, which is to be accomplished at a cost of $2,000,000 or more. The esteros or open waterways are to be straightened and freed of all sewage and parks are to be laid out. The walled city is to be preserved and put in first-class sanitary condition.

UNCLE SAM'S WEATHER REPORT

TODAY THE LAST DAY OF THE TERRITORIAL WEATHER SERVICE—FEDERAL REPORTS BEGIN TOMORROW, INCLUDING OBSERVATIONS EVERY TWO HOURS AND AN ACCURATE RECORD OF THE WIND VELOCITY.

At eight o'clock tomorrow morning Observer Ashley will take the first weather observations from the makai roof of the Alexander Young Hotel, where instruments have been placed. Observations will be taken every two hours thereafter, and a very complete report will be made up by the observer, to be issued at noon every day. The daily reports will appear in The Star, taking the place of those which the Territorial weather bureau has so long supplied.

Another feature of the station work is the issuance of a monthly bulletin, on the last of each month, giving the records of past years for the month about to follow. A complete statement showing September average, and maximum and minimum records for 20 years past was issued yesterday. These statements form a basis for prognostications.

Records of wind velocity are to be a feature of the report. The velocity of records which are of high value to Observer Ashley in making up his reports. One feature of interest in connection with the change will be the differences between the two records of temperatures. It is thought by many that Ashley's reports from the Young building, where the instrument,

BITTING SENDS A COMPLAINT

THE CASE OF THE LEGAL DOCUMENTS MISSING IN THE FUNOKOCHI CASE.

Attorney General Andrews this morning received a letter from Attorney C. C. Bitting, who is counsel for Funokoshi, objecting to the manner in which the morning paper refers to the case as it seems to cast an aspersion on him.

"I am not responsible for what the papers say," said the Attorney General, "but I have never intimated in any way whatever that the counsel for the defense had obtained the missing papers. All I said was that the prosecution was clearly not to blame for the loss of the papers as it was the defense and not the prosecution that had them sent here from Hilo."

OPIUM PROBABLY FROM HOBRON.

Detective McDuffie secured evidence today in the pulverized opium case, which justified him in charging the native man was larceny. At the Hobron Drug Store, it was learned that about two pounds of the stuff had been stolen from the stock of the store. Three witnesses to whom the native defendant is alleged to have sold pulverized opium have been found by the police.

WEDNESDAY..... SEPTEMBER 1, 1904

It is admitted on all sides that the great Louisiana Purchase Exposition, now attracting hundreds of thousands of people to St. Louis, is one of the greatest educational factors of the generation. It, therefore, becomes the duty of all who read this to provide for themselves and for those near and dear to them an authentic and instructive pictorial and descriptive record and remembrance of the great event which is the century's crowning achievement. Such a record and remembrance is afforded in that superb educational series, "The Forest City" World's Fair Art Portfolios, which consists of 480 magnificent photographic reproductions of views taken by the official photographer of the Exposition especially for "The Forest City" series; the description being written by Walter B. Stevens, the distinguished journalist who was chosen to be Secretary of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition. It will thus be seen that the "Forest City" series is official and authentic in every regard. The photographs, of course, will make a quick appeal to the young, and they will thus be prompted to read the interesting descriptions, which will afford an immense amount of useful knowledge about their own country and the world at large. Since, therefore, the "Forest City" series is so important an adjunct to home education, and since it can be so easily secured, we again beg to state that it becomes a double duty of about everyone to see that the parts are obtained as issued and that the complete work be placed in the home for future possession and study.

Momentous Days
In Liaoyang

Nearly four times the entire population of the Hawaiian Islands, men, women, and children, yesterday began a struggle to the death on Liaoyang peninsula. Two great armies of men numbering seventy thousand more than all the people of San Francisco in the last census are in the terrible conflict. This immense gathering of men would cover the space of the entire island of Oahu leaving each man only moderate room for movements even if the island were flattened out and use made of its inaccessible mountain areas. The armies are spread out over battle fronts that almost equal the length of our island. With the men, on both sides, are hundreds of the most destructive weapons known to science. There are untold tons of explosives and missiles, thousands of trained horses and hundreds of thousands of small arms of the finest make. It is a spectacle to make the world stand still, and it is one which furnishes a striking and dreadful illustration of the fact that it is upon war that the human race still exerts its greatest efforts.

In no other enterprise but the destruction of fellowmen of a hostile race, does a people ever muster such energy, such science and skill, as Russia and Japan within a short six months have brought into play between Port Arthur and Mukden. The cost of a day's fighting such as that at Liaoyang is thousands of lives and millions of dollars to both sides. Guns costing thousands of dollars are sacrificed without a thought of anything so unimportant as expense. Even whole regiments of men whose every life may be laid down at cost to the national welfare that cannot be estimated, not to speak of the hundreds of thousands of dollars they represent, as a government investment, are thrown into the scale, if needed, with not a thought except that they must serve for the one overshadowing purpose of winning. No art of peace commands men's lives and efforts like this. After twenty years of Christianity and in spite of all civilization has done, notwithstanding peace societies and arbitration policies, the fact remains that upon war and the purposes of war, the people of the whole world are still devoting the best that is in them, and the rewards of success in war are the greatest the nations can give.

For General Kuropatkin and Oyama, the battle is a climax of a period of the most inconceivable anxiety and activity. To command armies whose battle fronts extend for thirty miles, to maneuver and counter maneuver, meet attacks and give them, to pursue throughout the deadly intricacies of a tremendous battle the strategic plans which it is hoped mean success for country and self, to shoulder the responsibility of scores of attacks which mean untold loss of life and which may be errors, the responsibility of having chosen the position and laid down the gauge of battle sending thousands of one's fellowship to death—all this requires nerves of iron and brains that no difficulties can confuse. It constitutes an experience such as falls to the lot of few mortals. While the world watches in breathless interest, General Kuropatkin for Russia and Marshal Oyama for Japan are taking up, one the glory of a victory that means national salvation and the other the burden of defeat that means tremendous national humiliation and disaster.

Meanwhile, as the guns are booming and the two armies are contending with ferocity not exceeded by any of the contending hosts of more barbarous days, the presses of the peace societies are still feebly running, though they make a scarcely audible sound and are a mere item, almost lost even among the nations which, like the United States, are at peace but are nevertheless spending all their taxpayers can or will stand on preparations for war. The fighting will continue perhaps for days. Then when all the slaughtering is over and one side or the other has gone down in defeat, civilization will suddenly reassess itself, the victors will join with vanquished in ministering to the wounded and burying the dead they have together laid low, the victorious army possibly shouldering a task of caring for wounded and prisoners which will itself be a very serious national burden absorbing much military strength. This is what is called "civilized" warfare, and it is certainly a queer contradiction.

P. C. Jones has made an able and striking reply to the statement of Governor Carter and Dr. Cooper that annexation has not proved a commercial success to the islands. As an answer to some of the Mainland enemies of annexation, such as the Springfield Republican, which have been awakened to editorial comments that might be described as "I told you so,"—witness the lengthy comment from the Springfield paper published several days ago in The Star,—the statements of P. C. Jones show conclusively that as compared to the possibilities of commercial failure without annexation, annexation has indeed been a tremendous success. The balance in favor of the islands as against Cuba is so large as that it needs no discussion: The fact that without either annexation or a continued reciprocity treaty we should have had to pay $52,000,000 to get our sugar to the American market needs only to be stated. There is no doubt that the reciprocity treaty was in the gravest danger. So, even those who hold that annexation has not been a success, may well be invited to contemplate what a failure lack of annexation would have been.

In addition to the overspeculation in stocks and to the natural depression following a fall in sugar, much of the local "hard times" have been caused by competition of Asiatics in lines of labor and business for which they were not brought here. The labor unions know only too well that the Japanese have sent white mechanics back to the Mainland, and retail storekeepers all know how serious is the competition of small Japanese establishments. This state of affairs, tending to reduce the white population of the islands,—the population which spends its earnings here,—is a natural contributing cause of depression, added to the overspeculation pointed out by Mr. Jones. Annexation was not the cause of either of these. Annexation, however, was directly the cause of Hawaii's loss of a labor supply, and probably many of the planters will agree with Governor Carter that in this way it did a share in causing the commercial depression of the past few years.

But consideration must always be given to the other alternative. We must compare what is to what might have been and not merely to what we would wish for. As compared to the condition of Hawaii in the control of the Japanese, who are today a clear overwhelming majority of all the island population, conditions in the Territory are a cause for general congratulation. If we can settle the good lands we have with Americans who make homes instead of Asiatics who send earnings to homes in a foreign land, if while holding our own in the great sugar industry we can get from island soils the best there is in other tropical products to supply the Mainland, and if we can do some successful tourist promotion work, there are plenty of good times ahead. At any rate, amid the gloom of complainers and the resounding clangs of the "knockers," the following words of the governor's critic are refreshing: "Let us brace up, fellow citizens and show our countrymen that Hawaii intends no longer to sit down and whine and ask to be 'wetnursed' by Uncle Sam, but that we propose to show to those of the mainland that we ask no favors beyond those which all enjoy, and by diligence in business and being faithful to our duties as American citizens, we will secure Statehood."

"I thank God that we have annexation and that I am an American citizen."

The average population per square mile of the United States is 26.6, not 22. Hawaii's average is 23.9 and California's is 9.5. The island of Hawaii with no large city, has 11, which is more than California with San Francisco, Los Angeles and Oakland and twenty other cities of from five to thirty thousand population thrown in. The figures are from the census of 1900. Still, if ten or twenty acres of cultivable land in the Hawaiian Islands in productive capacity are equal to a hundred acres on the mainland, we have room for plenty of people, if we can only show them what to produce and what to do with their product.

The war has so overshadowed the British Tibet expedition that little attention has been devoted to events in Tibet which would otherwise have aroused the interest of the whole world. For the first time the Forbidden City is opened to civilized people. It was the last of the dark places to remain closed. Colonel Younghusband and the members of his command will have wonderful tales to tell when they return.

The new weather bureau service starts tomorrow. At eight o'clock in the morning Observer Ashby will take the first observations and from then on

HE OBEYED THE POPE

MONSIGNOR LE NORDEZ

In the center of the fight between the French Government and the Vatican has been Monsignor Le Nordez, Bishop of Dijon. At first he refused to obey the mandate of Pope Pius, calling him to Rome. He finally left Paris secretly and the French Government has now stopped his salary. He is one of the French prelates whose resignation, requested by Pius X and resisted by M. Delcasse, has caused the rupture between France and the Vatican. He has now retired to a monastery for meditation.

LAHAINA TO GET A NEW LIGHT

Lieutenant Slattery will leave on the steamer Likelihi tonight for Lahaina where he goes for the purpose of deciding on plans for establishing a new light at that place. The present light at Lahaina is inadequate and no one, short of an expert, can find the light. It is proposed to replace it with a lantern of high power similar to the other lights being established about the islands. A new tower will be erected for the new light so that the light will be twice as high as the present one. The new tower will be a wooden structure and will be nearly 60 feet in height.

Lieutenant Slattery has been directed to prepare plans and specifications for the installation of the new light. The new tower will be located near the present light. Lieutenant Slattery expects to return to Honolulu this week.

RUSSIAN SPY IN SEATTLE

SEATTLE, August 9.—Russian spies are in Seattle keeping tab on the cargo now being stowed away in the hold of the Boston Steamship Company's big freighter Tremont. At least this is the firm belief of the longshoremen who are loading the vessel. They claim that one of the Czar's secret service men has been at the Tremont's dock constantly ever since the vessel began loading for the purpose of keeping his government informed as to any possible contraband shipments.

So strong is the faith of the horny-handed freight handlers in their theory that the officers of the vessel have come to take more than passing interest in the story.

The Tremont will sail for Japan, China and the Philippines within a few days. Her cargo of 14,500 tons will be of the usual character, consisting of flour, canned meats, hay, machinery, tobacco and cigarettes, etc. The agents of the company state that the spies are wasting their time in inspecting it.

When the vessel began loading her officers became aware of the fact that one stranger, in particular, was deeply interested in the proceedings. The appearance of the man was ordinary enough. The only peculiar thing about him was that he never took his left hand out of his coat pocket. It was at first thought that the man's hand was injured, for, as the longshoremen declared, he had been seen to "scratch his left ear with his right hand."

Yesterday, however, the man, who had been sitting on a large dry goods box, was seen to swing himself down with the greatest ease, and in doing so sustained the whole weight of his body with the supposedly injured arm. In thus disclosing his left hand it was seen that the member was disfigured by a long scar, which had evidently been caused by an old wound.

This fact led to a closer watch being placed on the stranger, and it was further noticed that he was at times joined by another stranger, after which the two would talk together earnestly. After an apparently careless conversation, the men would separate. We with the scar would then leave the dock for a while, but always returning, each time to a different part of the wharf.

Another story is told by a number of the longshoremen to the effect that a strange man attempted to secure work with the longshoremen's gang engaged in loading the Tremont. The man stated that his appearance did not indicate that he was very familiar with longshoremen's work, as his hands were, to all appearances, soft and unscarred by labor. The man gave his name as Thomas Johnson. On being told that he could not get work without first joining the union, he immediately signified his willingness to do so.

The longshoremen have often joked about the Russian spies, but they state that it is their firm belief that this man was one of them, for, on being closely questioned, he exhibited a sudden desire to quit the company. The men did not say that he particularly resembled the usual type of a Russian, saying that he looked more like a German.

A few hours later the man who called himself Johnson was seen in company with the one with the disfigured hand.

Early this morning the man with the scar was again seen about the dock. The longshoremen did not see any trace of Johnson, nor in fact has he, to their knowledge, been around the docks today.

In view of the incident the officers of the Tremont will exercise extreme vigilance while the vessel is en route, in spite of the fact that the Russian fleet is reported to be still in the vicinity of Vladivostok.

THE ACTRESS CHARGED WITH KILLING CAESAR YOUNG IS DEMANDING HER LIBERTY NOW.

NEW YORK, August 11.—Imprisonment for life on the charge of murder in the first degree without a trial. That is the logical result of the acting district attorney's position in the Nan Randolph case.

This was the statement made this afternoon by Henry G. Unger of the firm of Levy & Unger, counsel for Miss Randolph, charged with the murder of Caesar Young, who he was informed that the acting district attorney did not intend to put Miss Randolph on trial till Mr. and Mrs. J. Morgan Smith, her brother-in-law and sister, had returned and surrendered themselves at the district attorney's office. Today Mr. Unger prepared a motion to be presented to Presiding Judge Newburger in Part I of the Court of General Sessions, asking that Miss Randolph be given her liberty on her own recognizance pending the trial of the case, on the ground that a full term of court has elapsed.

Zamloch continues from an apparently inexhaustible repertoire to change his program at the Orpheum where he receives much popular favor. Good houses turn out to see his wizardry nightly and are rewarded with two hours of fun and entertainment which never drags for an instant and contains much that gives thought for many an hour as to the solution of how he accomplishes seemingly impossible things.

Reserved seat may be obtained daily at the Bergstrom Music Company from 9 to 5:30 and patrons may rely on the program being altered every evening.

MIKAHALA ARRIVED TODAY.

The steamer Mikahala arrived this morning from her regular run to Kauai ports. She brought only 1,300 bags of sugar back, as nearly every plantation on Kauai is cleaned out. The steamer went out to the ship Erskine M. Phelps this morning and towed that big vessel into the harbor. The tug Fearless was absent, having left yesterday afternoon for Kahului with the schooner Marcon in tow.

IROQUOIS IS GOING TO MIDWAY

VESSEL WILL BE DISPATCHED ABOUT SEPTEMBER 10 ON SPECIAL TRIP WITH SUPPLIES.

The U. S. S. Iroquois will be dispatched about September 10 to Midway. Admiral Terry has received orders by cable to send the vessel out. She will take supplies for the marine guard now stationed on the island. The supplies will arrive here by the first transport from San Francisco about September 9 and be transported aboard the Iroquois. The transport is probably too rushed to stop at Midway with the supplies. The Iroquois will go direct to Midway and return immediately after she puts out the supplies for the marines.

LOCAL SUPPLY IS NEARLY EXHAUSTED AND CABLE ORDERS ARE SENT FOR MORE.

Honolulu has another gasoline mine and this morning a cable order for more gasoline was sent by the Pacific Hardware Company, which has about all there is in town. The next to arrive here will be on the Nevada, due September 6. There are about 150 cases to get along with until then.

Efforts have been made to get hold of all the stock and secure a corner by Chinese who saw a good speculation in sight but the Pacific Hardware company is refusing to make any large sales. It is thought that the stock on hand will be enough to supply the regular users and no sale for the purpose of getting a corner and raising prices will be allowed.

Have Police Unearthed Unexpected Smuggling

NATIVE ARRESTED ON A CHARGE OF SELLING AN UNUSUAL VARIETY OF OPIUM LAST NIGHT—SAID TO HAVE SOLD IT DURING THE LAST TWO YEARS AT RIDICULOUSLY LOW PRICES.

Quite a peculiar case was unearthed yesterday by Detective McDuffie. Joe Makea, a native man living at Kalihii Camp, is alleged to have been engaged in the business of selling powdered opium to Chinese and others who desired this drug. The fellow had been conducting his operations for the last two years, it was claimed. He sold the drug at a ridiculously low price, giving in many instances for a dollar what would from a drug store cost ten dollars.

The drug was not the cooked or common variety as the old familiar "dope" that was formerly smuggled into these islands, but was rather an unusual kind of preparation. The drug marketed by Makea was the kind found only in hospitals and some drug stores.

The question which the police are trying to ascertain is how Makea came by such quantities of the powdered variety of opium. Inquiry has been made of various hospitals and other places about the city that would be apt to have the stuff in stock, but none of them appear to have been robbed of any of the drug. There is a possibility that the police may have gotten trace of an unsuspected ring of smugglers.

Last night McDuffie and Officer Al. On sent a Chinese to Makea's place with orders to purchase $8 worth of the drug. Makea said that he did not have enough opium on hand to supply the amount but said he would secure it the following day. McDuffie decided to take the native man into custody last night and did so.
