FLEET WILL PROBABLY STAY

WASHINGTON AUTHORITIES EXPECT WARSHIPS TO REMAIN IN THE PACIFIC—WALTER G. SMITH'S VIEWS OF MAINLAND CONDITIONS AS SEEN FROM VIEWPOINT OF A CITIZEN OF HAWAII.

"Among men high in authority in Washington and throughout the East it is the impression that the Atlantic fleet which will start for the Pacific the middle of next month will never as a fleet leave the Pacific and that this transfer of naval force will result in the construction of a fleet for the Atlantic.

"It is the Army and Navy sentiment in Washington that these islands should be heavily fortified, as a protection to the Pacific Coast, and there is much significant action in this direction.

"I was convinced in Washington that they know more there about the Japanese situation here than we ourselves in Hawaii know.

"Japanese exclusion is not thought of as a practical measure.

"The East will no longer be led by the Pacific Coast in immigration matters. A member of the New York Supreme Bench told me that New York State alone can take a million domestic and field workers such as they in New York consider the Japanese to be. The East wants labor that cannot be supplied by immigration from Europe.

"Everywhere I heard that unless Roosevelt consents to modify his present policy not a man whom he would have considered as his successor will have a chance of election and there will be no money for Taft or any other whom Roosevelt may desire.

"The South is for Hughes rather than Bryan for President. America is learning how to handle money panics and Wall street will no longer be able to throw the country into financial gloom.

"The East is well supplied with Hawaii promotion literature. I was flooded with letters from men who wish to know of Hawaii's agricultural possibilities."—From interview with Walter G. Smith, Editor Advertiser.

Walter Gifford Smith, editor of the Pacific Commercial Advertiser of this city, this morning in the S. S. Alameda returned home from a rest and vacation of two months or so which took him to a number of the principal cities of the East including Boston, New York, Norfolk and the Jamestown Exposition, Richmond and Washington. He returns much benefited to resume his editorial duties within a week or two. Interviewed by a representative of The Star at his rooms in the Young this morning, Editor Smith had much to say of vital interest to Honolulu people and Hawaii in general.

"While in Washington," said the Honolulu newspaper man, "I met a large number of prominent men and those high in authority, most of those who happened to be in the city. Ernest G. Walker (the Advertiser's Washington correspondent) accompanied me a part of the time. There is very general interest there in the Japanese situation as it affects Hawaii and in conversation with the Adjutant General I was impressed with the fact that they are more thoroughly acquainted there with conditions here than we are in Hawaii.

"In Washington and elsewhere in the East it is the impression that the great Atlantic fleet, which has been ordered to the Pacific, will in all probability remain in the Pacific, that at least it will never leave the Pacific as a fleet there may be transfers of individual vessels, boats from the Atlantic being sent to the Pacific and ships from the western ocean being sent to the East, but once in the Pacific the ships which are to leave the Atlantic next month will remain and a new fleet will be constructed for Atlantic waters. With a large force of men-of-war in the Atlantic, Easterners are not impressed with the necessity of an increase of the navy, but once let the main floating fighting force be sent to the Pacific from the Atlantic and not only will the necessity of the presence of a big fleet in the Pacific be appreciated, but there will be a demand, which will probably be supplied, for an equal or greater force in the Atlantic. Such is the sentiment in Washington and Hawaii may expect to see much of the vessels of the navy.

"In talking with men of the army and navy and others in prominent positions I gathered it as their conviction

WORLD'S GREATEST YACHT BUILDER

NAT G. HERRESHOFF.

Experience has demonstrated that the world's greatest builder of speedy yachts is Nat G. Herreshoff, who has for many years held the America's cup in this country by his construction of yachts that were unbeatable by the speediest of British competitors.

His designs are generally wide departures from anything hitherto used and he has been able to get the high est rate of speed from the vessels of his construction with the minimum of weight for size.

If Sir Thomas Lipton revises his challenge for the America's cup so that the New York Club, the present holder of the trophy, may accept it, it is very probable that Mr. Herreshoff will be delegated to construct a boat to fight again for the championship of the sea.

GOVERNOR IS GOING

Secretary Wood of the Chamber of Commerce sent a cable this morning to the Secretary of the Trans-Mississippi Commercial Congress that will meet at Muskogee, Oklahoma Territory, from November 19 to 22, that Governor Frear would be present during the convention and would address the convention on the Pearl Harbor matter. Secretary Wood is very busy collecting data for the Governor on Pearl Harbor. The Governor will deliver his address on one of the days during the convention, and will urge the Congress to take some action on a matter that is not only of interest to the people of Hawaii, but to the whole of the United States. Governor Frear will leave on the Alameda Wednesday, and will stop off at Muskogee during the three days' convention. A committee from the Chamber called on Governor Frear yesterday to ask him if he would consent to speak before the convention. At first he did not know if he would be able to spare the time, but finally decided to take the time to present the important matter before the Congress.

A DEADLOCK IS ON

COLONEL SPALDING AND THE ADMINISTRATION DO NOT AGREE REGARDING KAPAA LANDS—THE COLONEL RETURNS ON THE ALAMEDA AND AT ONCE TAKES UP A MUCH DISCUSSED QUESTION OF REVENUES.

Col. Z. S. Spaulding, owner of the Makee Sugar Company, the plantation of which is largely on leased government land at Kapaa, and other districts of Kauai, the leases on which have now expired, arrived on the Alameda this morning from the Coast where he has been for a number of weeks. He repaired at once to Secretary Mott-Smith's office on the arrival of the vessel and with his manager, George H. Fairchild, was in conference with the Secretary all forenoon.

The matter of renewing the lapsed leases, or arranging a trade with the Territory for land which Spaulding owns, has given place for the time being to one of the collection of rental from taro, rice and other lands other than cane lands, which is at present subleased by the company. By arrangement with the Governor, Spaulding was allowed to retain possession of the leased land in order to harvest on certain growing crops of cane, but the Government holds that it did not give him authority to obtain the revenue from the other kinds of lands within the boundary.

There are some 200 acres of rice land alone, in the district of Kapaa, while the entire site of the town of Kapaa is on government land. The revenue in the six months elapsed since the leases expired, from these sublet lands has amounted to several thousands of dollars, and will bring in much in the next six months.

Spaulding contends that until such time as he can get his cane off the land, everything else in the way of money in sight should go into his pocket just the same as it did before the lapse of the leases.

The meeting this morning appeared to be of a rather strenuous character, and apparently a decided deadlock is of the leased land in order to harvest on.

WILL GET THE MONEY

ANOTHER MAINLAND FINANCIER WHO THINKS HAWAII'S PROSPECTS ARE VERY GOOD.

"Honolulu may want Pearl Harbor very badly, but she does not want it half as much as the United States does," was the answer G. W. Fishburn, President of the First National Bank of San Diego, made this morning when he was asked what he thought about Pearl Harbor. "I think that Congress will make the appropriations this year," he said. "The people on the mainland realize how helpless Hawaii is, and the time will come when this country will have to be protected. I think this year all the appropriations for the work at Pearl Harbor, as well as the necessary money for the fortifications, will be made by Congress. Hawaii is one of the greatest countries in the world as regards climate and other things, but she needs protection. I hope that Congress will do the right thing this year, and I think every one on the mainland does also.

"This is my second trip to Hawaii, and I am glad to be back here again. When you ask about the coming elections in San Francisco, all I can say is, I hope Mr. Taylor will be elected. I am a Republican by choice, but this time I want Taylor to be elected. Most of the representative men in San Francisco want the same thing. After the election I think confidence will be restored, business will pick up, and the rebuilding of the city will go on faster than ever. The work done in the last year has been remarkable, and I think it will even go on faster than it has in the last year, when the election is over.

"Regarding the money condition of affairs on the mainland I think the ideas and views of Mr. C. M. Cooke regarding the situation cover the whole thing. I do not think that the policy that has been carried on by Mr. Roosevelt has had anything to do with it. He simply opened the doors and said gentlemen look in and see what you can. As regarding a third term, I sincerely hope that he will reconsider his ideas about the matter and will consent to accept the nomination. The country has never needed him in the past, as much as they will need him in the next four years. He is a wonderful man and in my opinion there is no other man like him in the country today. The same feeling is being expressed all over the country, and if he is nominated by acclamation I trust he will accept the nomination. If he does he will be elected by even a larger majority than in his first election.

"Regarding the steamship question here, I think that you need here some concentrated effort to have one or two first-class passenger ships on the run between here and the coast under our own flag and not under any foreign flag. We do not want any suspension of the coast-wise shipping laws. What we want is American ships under our own flag. There has been a good deal of talk in San Diego about a new line, and I would not be at all surprised if capital could be secured there. People would come here if they could only be certain about getting back. But until something definite is done, Honolulu will never get the people that want to visit here."

FREAR'S MISSION

THE GOVERNOR HAS A NUMBER OF IMPORTANT MATTERS TO TAKE UP IN WASHINGTON.

Governor Frear will leave for Washington on the Alameda next Wednesday. If circumstances warrant it, he expects to remain in the East until the latter part of December.

The Governor had quite a long list of matters relating to the Territory which he wishes to bring before the proper executive officers of the Federal Government, as well as some things which he would like to see presented to the coming session of Congress. He also wishes to talk with the President and Secretary of the Interior on Hawaiian matters generally, and by personal intercourse bring them as much as possible into touch with Hawaiian affairs.

There are a large number of things which relate to the Territorial executive office, which Governor Frear wishes to bring to the attention of the proper officials in Washington. For example the Hawaiian Postal Savings Bank adjustment, the settlement of which the Federal Government has not yet completed, there being still some 245 depositors of the old institution which have not yet been paid

WILFLEY AND TAFT

REPORT THAT THE SHANGHAI JUDGE IS IN A VERY TIGHT POSITION.

SHANGHAI, October 4.—Retribution has overtaken Lebbeus R. Wilfley, United States Judge for China, and his usefulness here is over. He has hurried to Japan to meet Taft in an endeavor to save himself from dismissal. The entire community of Shanghai is hostile to him on account of various unfortunate statements he has made from the bench or in public meetings.

Before he left Shanghai he said to his diminished circle of intimates that he had assurances he would be appointed Secretary of Finance and Justice on the Philippine Commission. It is hoped here that he will get his position as he has seriously injured the prestige of Americans in the Far East.

Obstructing Sidewalks

Laws in force in most cities require those who are engaged in building operations which necessitate the obstruction or tearing up of a sidewalk to provide some temporary sidewalk accommodations for the public. If there is no existing statute or ordinance here under which local contractors can be similarly compelled to provide sidewalks, the county supervisors had better pass an ordinance at once. On Merchant street opposite the police station a building has been in course of construction for many weeks, and the sidewalk has been impassable. The public simply has to walk out in the middle of the street, which is at present decidedly muddy. The law should require that a contractor who finds it necessary to obstruct a sidewalk provide a temporary walk at least half of the width of the sidewalk so obstructed.

Wireless Across Ocean

Marconi's success with the wireless appears to have been complete. He has "made good" his promises, and transmitted long messages across the Atlantic. He is now maintaining a daily service at the rate of ten cents a word, across the ocean,—over a greater distance than from Honolulu to San Francisco,—and apparently the service is reliable and of course it is rapid. Experience will show how it is to effect the cable companies, but if Marconi's claims continue to be borne out by his achievements, as they have been so far, his system is certain to replace cable systems to a very large extent.

The cable companies have steadily gone ahead with their plans of extension in the face of wireless developments claiming all the time that the wireless system could never be improved so that it would be reliable enough, and secret enough, to replace the wire method of transmitting messages. As far as reliability is concerned, Marconi has apparently won the battle, but in the matter of secrecy he still has an apparently hopeless issue. The "tapping" of wireless message is a feature of the service wherever wireless is issued. Every message sent out may be received by every instrument within range. This fact is enough to reserve for the hidden undersea wires a large part of the world's oceanic telegraphic business.

Conserving Natural Wealth

Gifford Pinchot, who was here during the developmental period of the local forestry policy which has been generally recognized as a matter of vast commercial importance, has become a prominent national figure as a result of a few words by spoken by the wondrously active Mr. Roosevelt, who said in his recent Memphis speech that conserving the national resources was the gravest problem now before the American people. The matter is one in which, again, the little government of Hawaii can claim, as in a number of others, to be in advance of the nation. Up to a few years ago, it must be admitted, there was not very much method or science in our handling of this question, but Hawaii now has, thanks largely to Mr. Pinchot, a system of forestry and scientific watching of agricultural interests of which we may well proud. The reports made from time to time by Forester Hosmer, and the care with which their recommendations are carried out, will mean much to the future of the islands.

Pinchot declares that at the present rate the forests of the United States will be exhausted in about thirty-three years.—a statement which seems almost incredible in view of the vastness of the forest areas of the mainland. But the rate of destruction is tremendous. Thanks to a vigorous policy of the past few years millions of acres of reserves are being kept intact, and the comments upon President Roosevelt's calling attention to the subject indicate that the entire American portion of the continent will soon be scientifically looked after in this respect. In Hawaii, if such a policy had obtained years ago, the potential wealth of some districts would be vastly greater than it is now. Proper care of the forests of Lanai, such as they were, would, it is generally believed, have preserved the fertility of that island so that it would have been unnecessary to turn it over to private ownership because under the conditions of public neglect it was becoming a second Kahoolawe.

"Watering" A Fine Art

If the insurance investigations, the Standard Oil scandals and other similar revelations had not made the public more or less callous in such matters, the facts disclosed in the New York city traction merger would cause a great national sensation. It appears to be about the best sample yet given of "frenzied finance," but the public is getting tired of the subject. The method used by the financiers at the head of the Metropolitan system was purchase by the Metropolitan Securities of the Wall & Cortlandt Street Ferries Railway Company, a concern consisting simply of a franchise and nothing else. For this valuable property $965,000 in cash was paid, but the seller actually received only $250,000, the remainder of this sum being handled in the form of checks for $100,000 or a little more to other parties identified with the management, who now claim that they received these amounts in payment for a personal indebtedness on the part of their fellow-director, the late W. C. Whitney, who had negotiated the arrangement. Explanations to this effect have been forthcoming from some of the parties involved, but there are expectations that the law may be invoked to bring about restitution or punishment.

Incidentally, President Roosevelt has found time to arrive at the highly important decision that there are no wolves in Newfoundland.

The Manchuria arriving yesterday had 110 cabin passengers for Honolulu. It would seem that calling at Honolulu pays pretty well.

FILIPINOS COMING

AN IMMIGRATION MOVEMENT IN THE PHILIPPINES WHICH MAY DEVELOP.

MANILA, October 5.—Eight more men, accompanied by two women and three children, are to be the latest addition to the colony of Filipinos engaged in farming in the Hawaiian Islands.

The group of emigrants arrived in Manila on the Elcano on her last trip from Vigan, from which place the majority of the people come. Nicolas Viorge, a bright young fellow, is in charge of these Hucnos and he comes with a letter from the sugar planters agent at Vigan recommending him for the position of interpreter on account of his exceptional knowledge of English. Should these prospective colonists find their new home satisfactory and congenial, it is likely that Viorge may be returned to Vigan to look for more recruits as he is a young man of considerable influence in his home town, and his personal explanation of the wonders to be found in and around Honolulu may do a great deal to induce his friends to join the colony. George J. Wagoner, who is in charge of the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' affairs in Manila, expects to find passage for these men on the first steamer leaving for Honolulu.

THAT THIRD TERM

"Dye think he wants a third term?" said Mr. Hennessy.
"I do not," said Mr. Dooley.
"But he's a good deal like Hogan. I wanted him to stay an' keep me comp'ny wan night."
"I've got to go," says he. "It's just as well," says I. "Dorsey says he's comin' around at ten to throw ye out," says I. "Thin I'll stay," says Hogan. As th' matter stands at prisint in 'only people that can illet him are those that are again him."
—F. J. Dunne.

"FINNEGAN"

"Finnigan the Millionaire" was given at the Opera House last night to a crowded house, and it was the general sentiment of all present that those in the cast deserved high credit for their performance. The play is a three-act farce comedy, with some good lines and lively situations, and the local Lodge of Elks, under whose auspices it was given, has reason to be proud of the manner in which it was presented.

M. J. Hooley, in the leading role, made a fine impression, and he was very cleverly supported. In make-up, bearing and dialect "Jack" Bergstrom was a very fine stage Dutchman and well deserved the burst of applause which was given him, and Mr. Reincke as the "Count de Morney" would certainly have been a credit to a company of professionals.

As Mrs. Finnigan, Mrs. McLennan, was very good, and Miss Bell made a very attractive "Katy" Miss McLain also sustained her part splendidly and Messrs. Arnold and Black deserve praise for their impersonations. Throughout the three acts, there were none of the "breaks" so often noticeable in amateur productions, and the entire cast are to be credited with bringing out all there is in the play.

"Finnigan the Millionaire" will be repeated at the Opera House tomorrow evening. Between the acts last night the Misses Margaret and Helen Center gave some very pretty and close dancing and singing, and they will repeat their act. The house should be crowded again for tomorrow evening.

FLEET WILL STAY BUT FEW MONTHS

NO PLANS YET TO KEEP THE BATTLESHIPS ON THE PACIFIC COAST.

WASHINGTON, October 24.—Scarcely any skeptic is now so confirmed in his disbelief as to maintain that the battleships will not go to the Pacific Coast, but as to how long they will stay there—that will depend wholly on Congress.

Preparations for the sailing of the fleet are working out as smoothly as could be expected and no delays need be apprehended. Five of the torpedo flotilla have already reached Norfolk and will remain there until ordered to sail for the Pacific.

that these islands or at least Oahu, which means Honolulu and Pearl Harbor, would be heavily fortified and there is much significant action to this end.

"The East will no longer be led by the Pacific coast in matters of immigration and in Washington Japanese exclusion is not considered a practical question.

"The East is clamoring for labor. They have a great labor problem to solve. In New York State labor is wanted on the farms and domestic labor is most difficult to secure.

"I was talking to a member of the Supreme Bench of New York State and he informed me, discussing the labor question, that New York State alone was ready to take a million domestic field workers such as they in New York believe the Japanese to be.

"The East is well supplied with Hawaii promotion literature. This work has been handled well and thoroughly. At hotels and railroad and steamship offices I always found literature concerning Hawaii and I was much surprised that so much was known concerning these islands.

"When I was interviewed in San Francisco it was stated that I was making a trip for small farmers. This was not so, but as a result I was flooded with letters from men who wished to know concerning agricultural possibilities here.

"In New York I met Manager White of the Bartholdi Hotel who was out here in 1887. He used to conduct the Copley Square house in Boston, a resort that was very popular with Hawaiians.

"I met a painter, Cooke, who is anxious to come to the islands to paint our scenery. He was traveling with an Italian, the Prince Del Sargo.

Smith was thus enabled to gather much of the sentiment expressed. Most of the men who grasped Hughes' hand promised to vote for him and they seemed to mean it.

"The South, they told me," continued Smith, "is for Hughes as against Bryan Everywhere I heard the remark 'Watch out for Hughes!' Roosevelt's policy is blamed a great deal for the present financial troubles and unless Roosevelt modifies his policy no one whom he may favor as his successor is likely to stand much of a chance for election to the Presidency, they say.

"The sentiment, North and South, seems to be that the better element of the North and the better element of the South will join on future issues. The time is passing when the Northern Republican, as one expressed it, will work with the chicken-thief element of the South and the Southern Democrat will work with the Tammany heeler of the North."

Smith enjoyed a visit to Richmond and found it rather a laud town. He asked at the Hotel Jefferson for a room and a bath. The clerk turned pale and requested the editor not to speak so loud, for if the manager heard him he would be much shocked at a request for a bath.

In regard to the financial situation, Smith said: "It was beginning to get acute when I left, but America is getting to know how to handle panics and Wall street will not be able to throw the whole country into gloom because of a panic among gamblers.

Editor Smith was in Brooklyn, New York, at the time the seismograph at Washington recorded a terrific earthquake supposed to be about 5,500 miles to the southwest, as reported in New York papers and, thinking the direction indicated might take in these islands, he communicated with the New York Herald office to learn of Hawaii, being reassured upon learning that Honolulu was still on the map.

RENT TRUST CO

THE NEW ASSISTANT

CHARLES E. KLUEGEL TO SUCCEED HOWLAND IN THE PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

Charles E. Kluegel will be the new Assistant Superintendent of Public Works.

The place was offered him by Marston Campbell, the new head of the Department, on Wednesday, and this morning an answering cable was received accepting the place.

Mr. Kluegel, who has been on the Coast for some months where he has been looking after a job of work, is expected to start back for Honolulu on the transport Buford, which leaves San Francisco on the 5th inst., and should arrive here on the 13th or 14th. J. Haswings Howland's old office will be ready for him on his arrival, and Superintendent Campbell expects to be able to keep him busy for a while when he does come.

The new Superintendent, who took charge of the office in the Capitol this morning, was on hand bright and early getting himself adjusted to the new place, learning how to use the various pushbuttons, telephones, etc. It isn't his first work in the Public Works Department, he having once filled the place of Assistant Superintendent, and he stated that he really feels quite at home in the place. He was much pleased upon receiving the cable of acceptance from his new appointee, Mr. Kluegel, of whom he is a warm personal friend.

"I have known Mr. Kluegel for upwards of twenty years," he said, "and I was anxious to get him with me because I know him, and his ability. He will be a valuable addition to the office and to the Territory."

Mr. Kluegel has a high reputation as an engineer in the Territory. He came here originally when the Oahu Railway was to be built, and he played an important part in that work. Since that time he had made his home here, although he had had his work on the Coast recently which has kept him away for a number of months.

Superintendent Campbell said this morning that it would take him a few days to get things well in hand, but that he expects to push all work which is under way as diligently as possible. The Nuuanu Dam will receive his earliest attention. "It's a pretty big thing," said he, "and I can't say just how soon actual work will begin or under what conditions, for I haven't had time to more than look at the surface of it as yet. The thing has to be gone at as though it were an entirely new job—specifications drawn, etc. But you may be sure there will be no time lost."

Mr. Campbell was called on by some officials of the Territorial government this morning, as well as by quite a number of his personal friends, who wished to congratulate him on his appointment, and some of them to offer him a little free advice.

In the matter of his office force, which is quite large, Superintendent Campbell stated that he has not had time to look in yet and therefore cannot say whether or not he expects to make any changes or not. It is rather surmised by some of the persons about the Capitol that there will be sooner or later, at least a minor shakeup in the department, and possibly a readjustment of some of the methods of the office.

One of the first visitors to the Superintendent's office this morning was A. W. Wilson, contractor, who came to inform the department that he would begin next Monday in carrying out his contract in building the Makiki road which will connect with the Tantalus road.

ALAMEDA COMES IN GOOD TIME

THE LINER SHOWS UP AS USUAL OFF KOKO HEAD AS THE SUN RISES.

Making the run in the splendid time of five days, seventeen hours and forty minutes, the Oceanic steamship Alameda, Captain Dowdell, arrived off Diamond Head this morning at 6 o'clock from San Francisco and docked at the Oceanic wharf at 7:25 o'clock. She brought two day's later mail, 91 sacks; 35 cabin passengers, a score or so in the steerage and about 1,400 tons of general cargo, including a lot of fruit.

Since quarantine regulations require that seven days must be consumed between San Francisco and this port, the Alameda flies the yellow flag and her steerage passengers and members of her crew, except officers, will not be allowed to come ashore until the seven days have expired.

Surgeon J. F. Minor of the Alameda has left the vessel and his place is taken by G. W. Clark who was formerly surgeon of the S. S. Ventura. Mrs. A. H. Thurlow, wife of the Alameda's chief steward, was a passenger for Honolulu.

J. M. Fuller is a commercial traveler for wall paper. He goes on to the Orient after spending a week or so here. J. E. Jardine is secretary of the Los Angeles Fruit Packers' Association and is here on business connected with the trade. Mark W. Levy and M. H. W. Levy are San Francisco capitalists. H. W. Tappan is a member of the editorial staff of the Los Angeles Times.

The Alameda sails next Wednesday for San Francisco.

BOOZE CASES

Frank Grau, who has been convicted over 15 times for his intemperate habits, was given thirty days. John Richards, who was fined by Deputy Sheriff Jarrett laying on the sidewalk last night during the severe rain storm, was given 10 days to straighten up. Munroe, who interfered with Officer Ryder when he arrested Brady Clemens last Friday, had sentence suspended in his case for thirteen months. He promised the court that he would not be seen there again. Judge Andrade told him that it would be a very wise move on his part.

WILFLEY'S PILIKIA

THE SHANGHAI JUDGE IS A TROUBLE-MAKER FOR ROOSEVELT AND TAFT.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 18—More trouble for President Roosevelt and his Cabinet, and particularly for the perspiring and peripatetic Taft. The trouble is going on to Washington, and there is a hint that it will worry the Administration as much as the Rev. Dr. Buehard worried Blaine.

The cause of the woe is the Hon. Leobens R. Wilfley, Judge of the United States Court of the Orient, located at Shanghai and drawing $8,000 a year gold, or 16,000 yen or Mexican, who is charged with having gone out of his way to criticize the Roman Catholic Church in one of his decisions from the bench. Wilfley is a pet and an appointee of Taft, and he has set an Orient aflame with passions and almost provoked a religious war.

Lorin Andrews, who was Attorney-General for Hawaii under both Governors Dole and Carter, but who is now practicing law at Shanghai, is on the way to Washington to file charges against Judge Wilfley, and he expects to kick up the very old mischief of a mass.

At its last session Congress created the position of United States Judge for the Orient, and attached the nice little salary of $8,000 a year to the place. Leobens R. Wilfley had been out in the Philippines with Taft. In fact, he had been Attorney-General for the islands during part of the time Taft was Governor-General. So Taft secured him the appointment as Judge at Shanghai.

Evidently Wilfley is a trouble-breeder. He hasn't been long in office before he stirred up the Americans who practice before the Oriental Court. They were not competent to try cases before him. Then, having stirred up the lawyers to his heart's content, he started in to stir up all the other Americans and Europeans in the Orient.

He has succeeded beyond his fondest hopes. The charges against Judge Wilfley fly thick and fast. The China "Gazette" and the Shanghai "Mercury" have been full of them. He was accused of all manner of undesirable practices, and his enemies grew in number and ferocity.

And then in a decision, he started the religious trouble. From the bench he criticized the work and standing of the Catholic Church in the Orient. His words were those of an extreme opponent of the Church of Rome.

At once there was a flame, and the sectarian discussions grew in intensity the more Judge Wilfley's decision was discussed. Naturally, the Catholics were very much incensed. They joined with the other enemies of Wilfley in denouncing his habits and methods, and united in pronouncing him a narrow bigot, utterly unfit for such a post of honor.

The charges against Wilfley took form in short order. They were sworn to in the affidavits of leading citizens. The evidence was piled up. Then Attorney Andrews was commissioned to carry the charges to Washington. He came over on the Manchuria and is on his way to present his evidence to President Roosevelt. On his way through he said:

"My affidavits show the unfitness of Judge Wilfley for a judicial office. I do not want to touch upon the religious matter, though I do not suppose the Administration would care to be burdened with it at the time of a presidential campaign. Judge Wilfley seriously and unnecessarily reflected on the Catholic Church in one of his decisions, but we hope to have him removed on other grounds, and I believe our evidence is sufficient to do so."

And so it is that trouble is on the way to Washington.
