JAPANESE SQUADRON ARRIVES

REAR ADMIRAL TOMIOKA.

Rear Admiral Tomioka is in command of the fleet of the Japanese training vessels which arrived today. He was appointed principal of the Japanese Naval Academy just prior to the Japanese-Russian war. He is thoroughly conversant with the English and French languages and possesses a comprehensive knowledge of naval affairs. He is considered one of the ablest naval instructors of Japan. Admiral Tomioka recently succeeded Admiral Shimamura.

JAPANESE TRAINING SQUADRON.

The picture of the vessel by itself is the Matsushima, the flagship of the fleet. In the upper cut the side of the vessel shown is that of the Itakushima with the Hashidate following her. The picture was taken by Lieutenant-Commander Naruse on November 3, 1906 as the vessels were observing the Emperor's birthday.

Welcomed by several thousand Japanese ashore and some half hundred sampans, gaily decorated, in the channel and at the channel's mouth, the Japanese training squadron of three vessels, expected here from the Orient since Saturday last, arrived this forenoon, docking at the naval wharves during the noon hour.

The flagship, the Matsushima, as she entered the harbor at 12:15 p. m. fired a national salute of 21 guns and 21 guns answered from the naval station saluting batteries. Then the flagship saluted Admiral Very with 13 guns and the station guns responded, gun for gun, saluting Rear Admiral Tomioka who is in charge of the squadron.

Early in the forenoon the squadron was sighted, the vessels in line, scooting up from the westward. Before they could be seen a wireless message was received from Admiral Tomioka, at the naval station, addressed to Admiral Very, as follows:

"Admiral Tomioka, commanding the Japanese training squadron, sends best regards to Admiral Very. We expect to arrive there about noon."

This was received at 10:10 o'clock this morning by Wireless Operator Branch. Admiral Very at once sent the following reply message:

"Admiral Very welcomes Admiral Tomioka and his squadron to Honolulu and to the Naval Station where there is a wharf for each ship."

Officers of the flagship state that the squadron managed to keep together all the way from the Orient in spite of heavy weather. But for unfavorable sea and winds the vessels would have arrived here Saturday. From this port they will go to Fiji, New Zealand, Queensland, Batavia, the South Sea Islands, Singapore and so return to Japan. In all there are about 160 cadets in the squadron who graduated last December. They are now on a lengthy cruise.

The officers smilingly refer to the San Francisco trouble as nothing serious.

HOBRON BOOSTING FOR YACHT RACE

EXAMINER HAS A STORY OF HOW HOBRON IS BOOSTING FOR TRANS-PACIFIC RACE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 13.—T. W. Hobron, ex-commodore of the Hawaii Yacht Club, is in the city and is enthusiastic over the prospects of another ocean yacht race from this Coast to the islands.

The race of last year, which was won by the schooner Lurline, owned and sailed by Commodore Sinclair of the South Coast Yacht Club, was held under the auspices of the Honolulu yachtsmen and proved a success, but the enthusiasts are looking forward to a much better race next time.

The event will be held in 1908 and will be handled by the South Coast Yacht Club of Los Angeles, which is preparing to send out circulars to every yacht organization in the United States, and by giving plenty of time expects that a number of Eastern yachts will be brought here for the contest and that several boats will be built for the purpose of entering the race.

Last year's competitors will all be available again. The Lurline will start unless her owner decides to proceed

PRINCESS THERESA APPEARS AS PORTIA

SAYS SHE BOUGHT PROPERTY FOR $800 BUT THE DEED DOES NOT SEEM TO BE O. K.

Princess Theresa Wilcox the head of one of the pa-u rider combinations, appeared in a new role this morning before Judge Lindsay. The charming lady acted the part of Portia. She defended her own case.

It was in the case of L. A. Dickey vs. W. H. Cummins et al to determine about the sale of some property. Theresa claimed to have bought a piece of property from W. H. Cummins in Palama for $800. But the evidence that was introduced on behalf of Cummins tended to show that the deed had been a forgery. The signature of Cummins was alleged to be a forgery, as was the signature of W. H. Peterson as the notary public before whom the deed had been acknowledged. Theresa said she could not understand it, at all. The case is still on trial.

IROQUOIS FOR MARE ISLAND. The United States tug Iroquois, Captain Carter, left at 1 o'clock this afternoon for San Francisco. She goes to Mare Island for an overhauling. About ten days will be occupied on the trip. Captain Carter hopes to have the Iroquois back here within two months.

The Gavels Will Fall Tomorrow

LEGISLATORS ALL ARRIVE AND WILL BE READY FOR WORK TOMORROW—CONVENES TODAY.

At 10 o'clock tomorrow morning two gavels will fall and the fourth legislature of the Territory of Hawaii will come to order. The wielders of the gavels will be, in the Senate, Senator R. H. Makekahu of the First Senatorial District, and in the House, Representative Charles Akan of the First Representative District. In the past it has been the custom that the legislators elected from the first districts who shall obtain the highest number of votes shall be the temporary presiding officer of the two bodies of the legislature, and in accordance with this rule the former named gentlemen will call the bodies of which they are members to order.

The Senate will meet in the Secretary's office and the House in the Throne room. This afternoon at 5 o'clock a caucus will be held at which the members of the legislature are all expected to be present and at that meeting will be framed up the plans for the legislature. Committees will be talked over and the appointees of the bodies decided upon.

SHE'S MARRIED NOW

I am married, papa, married
To a darling Japanese,
He's bow-legged from his ankles
To his lovely lumpy knees,
His eyes are set at angles
And his nose is on askew,
But I know if "Teddy" will approve
'Twill be all right with you.
O, I'm sure he loves me dearly,
For he told some Nippon men
That he'd never, never sell me
Under fifteen hundred Yen.
All our Occidental customs
I've abandoned, Papa dear,
For the Oriental culture
That we used to think so queer.
I can swig a quart of Saki,
Rice and pork eat with a stick,
Hobble out in clogs or sandals
In a style that's really slick
Though my lovely silk kimono
Leaves my limbs a little bare,
'Tis the garb of dear old Nippon,
So I really do not care,
And I'd sooner, papa darling,
Be a "Geisha" in Japan
Than to wed some scurvy white man
Under your parental ban.

Weekly Weather Bulletin

For the Week Ended February 16, 1907. Honolulu, T. H., Feb. 18, 1907. GENERAL SUMMARY.

The greatest amounts of rainfall during the week occurred generally on Hawaii, in the Koolau, Hamakua, Waialua and Lahaina districts of aul, in the northern portion of the Koolau-poko district of Oahu, and in southeastern Molokai. Ewa, Oahu, reported no rainfall.

In the Hamakua, Hilo, Puna, central portion of the Kau, and the Kohala districts of Hawaii, the total amount for the week ranged from 2.93 to 8.78 inches, except at two stations in the last named district. In the remaining sections of Hawaii, and at the excepted stations in the Kohala districts the amounts ranged from .17 inch to 2.75 inches. On Maui the total for the week ranged from 1.53 to 6.89 inches; on Oahu from 0 to .85 inch, except in the northern portion of the Koolau-poko district, where they were from 2.64 to 3.71 inches; on Kauai from .15 inch to 1.37 inches, and on Molokai from .46 inch to 2.86 inches.

At stations having a record of ten or more years the rainfall was above the average for the week at all stations on Hawaii, excepting—.93 inch at Waimea and .74 inch at Pahala. In the remaining portions of the Kau district slight excesses occurred, while in the remainder of the Kohala district they ranged from +2.43 to +3.67 inches. In the Kona, Puna, Hamakua, and central and northern portion of the Hilo districts, the excesses ranged from +1.16 to +6.86 inches, and in the southern portion of the Hilo district from +.51 to +.67 inch. At stations on Oahu deficiencies ranging from -.85 inch to -1.59 inches occurred, except +1.42 inches at Maunawili Ranch. Deficiencies of less than -1.00 inch were reported from Kauai stations.

The rainfall exceeded in amount that of the preceding week in the Puna, Hilo, Hamakua and generally in the Kohala districts of Hawaii, and in the Koolau, Hamakua and Hamakua-poko districts of Maui, and was less in amount on Oahu, and in the Kau and Kona districts of Hawaii, and the Kula, Waialua and Kona districts of Maui.

The following excessively heavy rains occurred: Hawaii—Kohala Mission, 12th, 3.25 inches; Laupahoehoe, 10th, 2.6; Pauaiaho, 10th, 6.49; Hakalau, 11th, 8.68; Pepeekeo, 10th, 2.25 and 11th, 2.76; Papaikou, 10th, 3.56; Kapoho, 11th, 2.63; Maui—11th, 2.96, and Nabiki, 12th, 3.77.

The following table shows the weekly averages of temperature and rainfall for the principal islands and for the group:

Table with 3 columns: Island, Temperature, Rainfall. Hawaii: 69.2 deg, 3.89 ins. Maui: 71.7 deg, 3.28 ins. Oahu: 70.2 deg, 0.60 ins. Kauai: 70.2 deg, 0.60 ins. Molokai: 70.6 deg, 1.66 ins.

Entire group: 70.4 deg, 2.79 ins.

At the local office of the U. S. Weather Bureau in Honolulu the barometer was above the normal throughout the week, and generally clear weather obtained. The maximum temperature was 80 deg., the minimum 64 deg., and the mean 72.6 deg., 1.5 deg. above the normal for the week, and 2 deg. higher than last week's. The mean relative humidity was 67.4 per cent; the prevailing wind direction E, with an average hourly velocity of 8.5 miles, and the total rainfall was .12 inch, .430 inches below the normal, and 4.85 less than during the preceding week.

TUESDAY.....FEBRUARY 19, 1907

It Is Still Indeterminate

It is evident from the coast files received by the America Mau that the plan of using the immigration bill as an appliance for settling the Japanese question was an after-thought, and in some respects a last resource. It is clear that at the time the President sent for Mayor Schmitz and the members of the San Francisco school board he had no definite proposal to set before them other than an appeal to them to yield their position on the school question because it would make it so much easier for him to bring about a restoration of good feeling with Japan.

But no matter how willing the California delegation might have been, either to oblige the President, or as a patriotic duty, to yield to his wishes, it could hardly do so in the face of the strong expression of sentiment from California, not to do so. It is said that the Mayor and his party were in receipt of three and four hundred telegrams a day urging them to stand firm and not to yield on the school question or in their determination that there should be some means of freeing the Pacific coast from the influx of Japanese.

It seems likely that the journey of Mayor Schmitz and his party would have been without avail, had not Chairman Bennett of the House Committee on Immigration suggested to the President the possibility of that measure being used as the means of settling the trouble. The bill which is one that has been in process of incubation for a long time had been finally sidetracked because of a deadlock between the two houses on account of the educational clause. It was, so to speak, on the legislative scrap heap, from whence it was brought for the purpose of making it useful for this particular purpose.

The coast files end with the thirteenth, and it was only on the twelfth of February that the utility of the immigration bill was discovered by the President through the suggestion of Chairman Bennett. The exact amendment to it necessary to make it serve this stop-gap purpose, was at that time not thoroughly understood, so that in this respect the files do not throw much more light on the exact provisions of the new enactment, than the cables have done. In the newspapers of February 13 it is stated that it was proposed to amend the immigration bill so as to prevent the immigration of oriental coolies from the Philippines and Hawaii into the United States.

How Much Sugar We Eat

Most interesting statistics of the sugar consumption of the United States have lately been compiled by the department of Commerce and Labor. From this it seems that the average citizen of the United States has consumed one-half his own weight in sugar in the year just ended. The quantity of sugar brought into the United States in 1906, plus that produced at home, minus the quantity exported, amounts to nearly 64 billion pounds, and if we divide into this enormous total the number of people in the United States we get an average consumption of 67 pounds per capita.

One-fifth of this enormous total of 64 billion pounds of sugar was produced at home, another one-fifth was brought from our own islands, and the remaining three-fifths from foreign countries, these statements being of course in round terms. The actual quantity of sugar imported from foreign countries, including the Philippines, during the year, as shown by the reports of the Bureau of Statistics, just completed, was 3,864,665,661 pounds; the quantity brought from Hawaii and Porto Rico was 1,281,384,046 pounds; the quantity produced in the United States is estimated for the year at 1,304,600,000 pounds, and the quantity exported was 25,731,407 pounds.

More than nine-tenths of the sugar imported from foreign countries and all of that brought from our own islands was produced from cane and less than one-tenth from beets. Of the production in the United States a little less than one-half was from cane and a little more than one-half from beets. Of the 64 billion pounds of sugar consumed in the United States last year, 53 billions was produced from cane and about 1 billion pounds from beets. This is in marked contrast with conditions in Europe, where by far the larger proportion of the sugar consumed is produced from beets.

The quantity of beet sugar consumed in the United States varies greatly. The quantity brought in from foreign countries (chiefly Germany) was, in 1906, in round terms 375 million pounds, but in 1905, only a year earlier, the total was but 50 million pounds, while in 1904 it was 225 million pounds. The quantity supplied by home production is steadily increasing, having been but 185 million pounds in the year 1900 and in 1906 672 millions, having in that year for the first time exceeded the production of cane sugar in the United States. The cane sugar produced in the United States in 1900 was 390 million pounds and in 1906 600 millions. Thus beet sugar production increased 260 per cent from 1900 to 1906, while cane sugar production increased but 54 per cent, these figures being based upon the latest estimates of the 1906 production.

Rapid as the increase in sugar production in the United States has been in recent years, it has not by any means kept pace with the increased consumption. The consumption in 1896 was 4,390,592,640 pounds, and in 1906, 6,415,389,120 pounds the increase in consumption in the ten years being 2,024,816,480 pounds. The production in 1896 was 647,635,520 pounds, and in 1906, 1,304,607,360 pounds, an increase of 656,971,840 pounds. The increased consumption in the ten-year period was 2,025 million pounds and the increase in consumption from 1896 to 1906 was more than three times as great as the increase in home production. The share which domestic sugar formed of the total consumption in the United States was, according to the Bureau of Statistics of the Department of Commerce and Labor, in 1906, 20 1/2 per cent; in 1905, 21.9 per cent; in 1895, 19.4 per cent, and in 1880, 16 per cent. Prior to the civil war domestic sugar formed more than one-half of the total amount consumed in the United States, having been in 1855, 57 per cent, and in 1845, 73 per cent, though at that time the quantity consumed per capita was far less than at present, having been in 1845, 20 pounds; in 1855 and in 1860, 30 pounds; in 1870, 35 pounds; in 1880, 43 pounds, and in 1890, 53 pounds; in 1900, 65 pounds, and in 1906, 76 pounds per capita.

Of the imports of sugar that from Porto Rico and the Hawaiian Islands entered free of duty, that from the Philippine Islands at 25 per cent below the regular rates of duty, and that from Cuba, under the reciprocity treaty, at 20 per cent below the regular rates of duty.

This is a great day for the Japanese cooks and yardboys. Incidentally also, it is a great day for their employers.

The Japanese fleet is here. Now if those two regiments of Japanese soldiers were called out in organization, there might be both a naval and a military display.

Without doubt the Governor presented a topic for widespread discussion when he announced his willingness to have his daughter marry a Japanese.

The settlement of the Japanese question by the passage of the immigration bill yesterday, makes possible all the heartier welcome of the visiting Japanese naval squadron.

The most conspicuous characteristic of the newspaper reports of the Thaw trial is that all the newspapers seem to be trying to have a new picture of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw every day.

Tomorrow begins our regular biennial anniversary of oratory.

While seats and desks and other conveniences are being arranged for the members of the two houses of the legislature let us hope that seats, at least, will be provided for the third house, under the trees on the lawn.

The evidence hardly justifies the accusation that last night's meeting of the Japanese was at the instance and instigation of the Japanese hotel keepers. If they had been back of the affair the attendance would have been a great deal bigger than it was. With nearly 4,500 Japanese arrivals since the first of the year, a considerable proportion of whom are still in Honolulu, together with the thousands of Japanese resident here, the Hotel Keepers ought to have been able to get up a gathering of more than 500 people which was as many as there was at any one time at the meeting last night.

ANDREW BROWN PASSES AWAY

WELL KNOWN CITIZEN DIED THIS MORNING—LEAVES WIFE BUT NO CHILDREN.

Andrew Brown, a well known citizen of this city died at his home at an early hour this morning. His illness has extended over the past two years and his death came as a welcome relief from his suffering.

Mr. Brown was one of the best known residents of the Territory he having resided in the islands for a period of nearly thirty years. For a number of years he was at the head of the copper-smithing department of the Honolulu Iron Works, leaving that position to become the superintendent of water works under the provisional government. A position which he held until about two years ago when he resigned. Since that time he has been confined by illness to his home the greater portion of the time. He was a member of the committee of safety during the days of the revolution and also a member of the advisory council of the Provisional government.

Mr. Brown leaves a wife in this city, but no children.

Death was caused by multiple neuritis. Dr. Hodgins was the attending physician.

Mr. Brown was born in Scotland and was about 55 years of age. He died at 4 a. m. The funeral will be held tomorrow.

Miss Mary A. Case had her first rehearsal this morning for the concert to be given early in March.

HAWAII JAPS MAROONED HERE

Already the new immigration law shutting out Japanese laborers from the mainland of the United States has gone into effect. Evidently President Roosevelt signed the act yesterday or today, making it a law for Governor Carter today received cable directions from Secretary of State Root, directing him to notify the Japanese in these islands that the new law is effective.

THE JAPANESE SQUADRON ARRIVES

IMANISHI ABOARD S. S. AMERICA MARU

MANAGER OF NEW YORK BRANCH OF YOKOHAMA SPECIE BANK PASSING THROUGH WITH WIFE.

With few passengers going through to the Orient and seven stopping over here, the T. K. S. S. America Maru Captain Philip Going, arrived early this morning from San Francisco, having left there February 15, docking on the town side of the Haeckfeld wharf at 3 o'clock. She sails for the Orient at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.
She is ahead of time and not in a hurry to depart. One hundred and fifty tons of coal are being taken aboard here.

Prominent among the through passengers are Mr. and Mrs. K. J. Imanishi Imanishi. Mr. Imanishi was formerly manager of the Yokohama Specie bank branch here and is now manager of the New York branch. He and his wife are going to Yokohama for a six months vacation. The lady is a sister of Mr. Ozawa of this city, the immigration agent of the Planters' Association. She was a protégée of Mrs. Bickerton and was born and educated here. In New York she is thought a great deal of, being quite prominent in society and a leader in thought and culture. While here today the Imanishis will be entertained by the Japanese Merchants' Association.

The America Maru enjoyed a most pleasant trip, having a fair wind nearly all the way from the coast.

WHAT THEOSOPHISTS GENERALLY BELIEVE

A SORT OF DOCTRINAL ADDRESS BY THOMAS PRIME TO ALOHA LODGE LAST NIGHT.

A very interesting address was given by Thomas Prime to the Alexander Young Hotel last night. His topic was theosophy, and he addressed a large gathering of members of the Oahu Lodge of the society. He said that three great truths were taught by theosophy.
1.—God exists, and He is good. He is the great life-giver who dwells within us and without us, is undying and eternally beneficent. He is not heard, nor seen, nor touched, yet is perceived by the man who desires perception.
2.—Man is immortal, and his future is one whose glory and splendor have no limit.
3.—A Divine law of absolute justice rules the world, so that each man is in truth, his own judge, the dispenser of glory or gloom to himself, the decreer of his life, his reward, his punishment.

Dances have taken place at the Palace, or the Paris Tea Garden. The Irwin home is splendidly adapted for entertaining, and the bathroom, on a lower floor, offered ample space for the dancers, the music and noise of the young people being far removed from their elders, gathered at the bridge tables in the great drawing-room upstairs. Miss Irwin was a charming hostess, and received her guests with a graceful charm of manner. An elaborate supper was served at midnight.

Shirtwaists

SERIAL STORY NO. 2

Most nice shirtwaists worn in this country are thin and delicate, with lace insertions. It is hard to find a laundry with reasonable prices that does satisfactory work on shirtwaists. Very often the waist is returned not properly starched and the lace is ironed flat and folded over at the edges and all sealed down with starch. This makes a beautiful hand-worked waist look like an old fifty cent stock waist. The Hartman Steam Laundry employs Hawaiian women to starch and iron all shirtwaists by hand. These girls do nothing else. We see to it that they do them the way you want them. Our prices for shirtwaists are from 20 to 60 cents each. Phone for our wagon to call.
