The following minute order, was promulgated today: "The minute order of July 29, as amended by the minute order of August 9, prescribing the class of cases at which the judges of this court shall preside for the remainder of this term, is hereby amended as follows:

MRS. MARY ATCHERLEY FIGHTS INJUNCTION

A motion to dissolve the temporary injunction in the case of Kapiolani Estate, Ltd., vs. Mary H. Atcherley was filed today by Lyle A. Dickey and E. M. Watson, attorneys for defendant.

Among the reasons given for dissolving the injunction are those:

1. Because the injunction bond of $3000 is inadequate, as the lapse of seven years has added to the time the defendant has been kept out of possession of the property, and the damages claimed in the ejectment suit enjoined have been increased by amendment of the complaint to $30,000.

2. Because the defendant has filed a sworn answer denying the material allegations in the bill for injunction.

3. Because upon a principle of law not decided in this cause by the Supreme Court a decree should be rendered for the defendant.

4. Because the Supreme Court of Hawaii has decided that Lewers & Cooke, Ltd., has no title to the premises referred to in the bill, etc.

M'CANDLESS ANSWERED

Lydia Moidehauer, one of the defendants in the suit of L. L. McCandless against W. R. Castle, trustee of the Williams estate, and others for an accounting, has filed an answer. Referring to the disputed deed she tells what it did convey and says it was not the intention of the grantors to convey any interest in the estate of Joshua R. Williams or in the trust estate held by Castle. She adds that the intent of the grantors was well known to McCandless and participated in by him and that, in equity and good conscience, he should be barred from claiming any interest in the trust fund or the income thereof by virtue of said conveyance.

ATKINSON GOES AFTER RUSSIANS

A. L. C. Atkinson, member and special agent of the Board of Immigration, will leave for Siberia in the steamer Siberia the first of the week.

"Jack" has procured from his banker a booklet showing the values in United States parity of rubles, roubles, etc., as a protection against overcharges and a convenience in totting up his expense vouchers.

"I will land at Yokohama," Mr. Atkinson said today, "and go by way of Tokio to Tsuruga, a seaport on the west coast of Japan, then across the Inland Sea to Vladivostok. From Vladivostok the journey by rail to Harbin is 800 miles.

"From Harbin I will probably go to the Amur country, where the agricultural people are. I expect to be back in Honolulu on October 22 by the return trip of the Siberia."

"What the Board of Immigration has decided to do is to get a trial list of fifty families. They will be tried out here to see what they can do. When we get them here we will keep tab on everyone of them, watching them carefully as to their modes of living and capability.

"I intend of course to examine each individual family as to its capability for agricultural work, and see that there is no criminal record in the background.

"I shall also examine into the transportation problem, because the fact that a man can leave here and come back within six weeks with labor is an important factor in the labor problem of Hawaii, providing the labor is suitable, but it is only agricultural laborers that are wanted.

"There is room in Hawaii for willing hands."

Have your typewriters, cash registers and adding machines repaired by the Office Supply Co. They have a complete repair department for this particular work which they guarantee.

Judge Woodruff will preside in the trial of new civil cases and of such civil cases as have already been filed but the trial of which has not yet been begun. Otherwise the said order will remain unchanged.

The court adjourned to August 31 at 10 o'clock a. m.

Fine Job Printing, Star Office.

HACKMEN ALLEGED DISCRIMINATION

STATE THAT THEY ARE KEPT OFF WHARVES THAT CHAUFFEURS ARE ALLOWED ON.

Some of the local hackmen have a grievance against Hack Inspector Scully. They say that he allows drivers of automobiles to solicit custom on the wharves of the Inter-Island S. N. Co., while keeping the drivers of hacks outside.

A well known local hackman told a Star man this morning that he and a fellow jehu were on the Mauna Kea wharf this morning, waiting for the arrival of the Hilo boat.

Hack Inspector Scully told them that they must get off the wharf as the steamship company didn't allow hackmen inside the gates. The jehus in question obeyed Mr. Scully but were surprised and pained to see several chauffeurs allowed to remain on the wharf and grab the baggage of passengers almost before they had disembarked from the steamer.

"Of course the steamship people have a right to allow only whom they please on their wharves," said one of the hackmen mentioned. "It strikes me as very unfair, however, that hackmen should be discriminated against in favor of the drivers of automobiles. What is sauce for the goose certainly should be sauce for the gander."

Merchants Have Important Discussion

COASTWISE SHIPPING PROPOSITION IS AGAIN BROUGHT UP WITH NO VERY DEFINITE RESULT—ENTERTAINMENT OF THE VISITING CONGRESSMEN IS DISCUSSED—MOTIVE TO URGE SUSPENSION OF COASTWISE LAWS IF SUBSIDY FAILS IS CARRIED

At a meeting of the Merchants' Association held at 11 o'clock this morning important action was taken in regard to the following topics: Attempt of Hilo to exact a license fee of Honolulu drummers; suspension of Coastwise shipping laws; entertainment of the visiting Congressmen and the death of Charles M. Cooke.

Present at the meeting were Vice-President W. F. Dillingham, chairman; Secretary E. A. Berndt, Zeno K. Myers, J. H. Hertsche, Cheatham, J. M. Riggs, General John H. Soper, E. H. Paris, C. C. von Hamm, Ed. Towse, George W. Smith, R. J. Buckley, Wakefield, Chas. Eakin, R. Lange and Mr. Catton.

Mr. Dillingham brought up the subject of the overhauling of drummers in Hilo and detailed the action thus far taken. Mr. Paris thought the opinion of Attorney Robertson complete and action not necessary until the Hilo authorities had made another move. But if the Hilo authorities insisted upon pressing the matter, a test case should at once be made. The speaker had heard that the Standard Oil and Hackfeld & Company had paid the fee demanded, which he regarded as unfortunate.

Mr. von Hamm stated that his representative had returned from Hilo this morning with the report that the matter was still held in abeyance. He agreed with Mr. Paris in regard to being prepared for a test case. On motion of George W. Smith the matter was referred to the Committee on Trade and Finance with power to make a test case in the event of the Hilo authorities forcing the issue.

Vice-President Dillingham reported that he had reappointed R. H. Trent and G. F. Bush as members of the Promotion Committee.

In a lengthy speech Mr. von Hamm urged some special entertainment for the Congressmen by the Merchants' Association. This he thought should take the form of a dinner at the Commercial, which would probably cost not much more than $500. He wanted to impress upon the party that there were two active commercial bodies, and he thought the Association should present in a direct way to them its views on the questions of transportation, ship subsidy and other things. What he wanted first was a ship subsidy, but in event of the failure at that point he would have the Association urge a temporary suspension of the coastwise shipping laws.

Mr. Paris agreed that the Association should attempt some special form of entertainment for the Congressmen. The Association had dealt through the Delegate with the Congressmen and should not retire into the background at this time. He moved to have the matter referred to the Committee on Publicity and Promotion, that committee to confer with the general entertainment committee, to the end that a dinner be arranged for at the Commercial Club. George W. Smith went over the history of the famous meeting at the Executive building at which Delegate Kuhio seemed to be the whole works in the matter of entertainment and endorsed the idea of a committee to act with the general committee. As for the shipping matter, he thought the matter of suspension of the coastwise laws should be submitted without argument. It was a dangerous thing to fool with. He moved that a committee of five be appointed to act with the general committee and to arrange for a dinner.

Mr. Dillingham disapproved anything that would look like a split between the commercial bodies in regard to the entertainment. He thought a luncheon at noon in place of a dinner would be the better scheme.

Mr. Riggs favored a dinner, as a luncheon would not give time for speechmaking and the real purposes of the affair.

General Soper thought it late in the day for the Merchants' Association to take independent action. He disapproved it anyhow. In fact, he wanted to see the day when there was no Merchants' Association and all the merchants working together in one body. He wanted suspension of the coastwise shipping laws and thought everybody should work for that and that alone. These promises of Schwein and others in the past had not amounted to a "d-n" and never would.

The motion to appoint a committee of five, the duties of which to be as above outlined, carried.

Mr. Cheatham moved that the committee urge suspension of the coastwise laws. Lost.

Mr. Towse moved that the persons addressing the Congressmen, whoever they may be, urge a subsidy first, and, failing in that, recommend temporary suspension of the coastwise laws. This carried.

The chair appointed the following on the committee: George W. Smith, C. C. von Hamm, G. F. Bush, E. H. Paris and General John H. Soper.

George W. Smith offered the resolution on the death of C. M. Cooke, elsewhere published, and the same was adopted unanimously.

It is made on honor and backed by a firm with a business reputation covering the past 70 years

What Should a Good Roof Do?

Protect from water, cold, heat, sparks and fumes—be laid with economy, and wear without expensive repair.

Unlike shingles, REX Flintkote ROOFING will not blaze up at the first spark—unlike slate, it will not yield to the gale of wind—unlike tar, it will not melt and run—unlike tin, it will not rust nor leak at the first chance.

Unlike them all—it may be laid by any ordinary workman—with a hammer—everything else needed is in the roll.

Unlike them all it is suitable for every kind of farm building.

We have it in stock, and heartily recommend this roofing to all who believe it is economy to pay a fair price for a superior article.

so much in her career. Mrs. Ingalls severed her connection with Oahu College faculty to resume her studies in Europe and left Honolulu on May 18th last. Mrs. Ingalls visited Montreal en route engaging passage on the S. S. Inlian thence to Glasgow. Scotland held much sight seeing and while there Edinburgh Castle, Scott's Monument, the Abbey and Palace of Holywood, and John Knox's house were visited. From Scotland Mrs. Ingalls journey-

The Man: This Russian Toque is the latest fashion, is it? Well, I guess the band of lunatics who create styles will have an aeroplane hat next.

There are two certain ladies that live near my domain. One of whom is up-to-date; the other one is plain. And the latter's always trying when her husband isn't nigh to get some little pointers from the other on the sly.

She peeps from out her window when her neighbor boards a car. And notes with delectation how neat her ankles are. Her wondrous flower garden hat, her petticoats of lace. And studies with just what shade of pink she touches up her face.

But when her husband asks her why she is not the same. Why she's not chic and stylish like the fashionable dame. She says "That you admire her, I think is very queer. "I wouldn't be a bit like her for anything, my dear!" —Eleanor Rivenburgh.

A WANDER-YEAR.

An interview with Miss Myrtle Dickson.

By ELLEN RIVENBURGH.

Undoubtedly the most fortunate member of Honolulu's younger set today, is Miss Myrtle Dickson, who has just returned from a European tour in company with her mother, Miss Dickson left Honolulu in June 1908, a mere school girl, and has returned as a charming maiden of seventeen, tall and graceful with sweet natural manners, and naive daintiness. The itinerary pursued was via Vancouver, Winnipeg, Fort William, Montreal and Greenock to the Orkney Islands where Miss Dickson's mother was born.

The winter was spent principally in Glasgow, and later, Edinburgh, London and Paris were included in their route of travel and sight seeing. As Miss Dickson had never before visited abroad it was interesting to hear her first impressions. "The Tower of London!" she exclaimed. "It is altogether too marvelous for me to attempt to describe. The exterior of the building alone is impressive, but who could narrate the precious relics it holds? Think of the regal coronation robes of England's Kings and Queens alone, flowing full length ermine trimmed, in rich purple and carmine velvet folds within a large glass casket that everyone may see! Think of that masterpiece of genius His Majesty the King's crown with its heavy filigree work containing or rather barely holding together every known gem—every size and shape of diamonds, pigeon blood rubies, sapphires and pearls; the prize trophies gained in England's various wars of all periods in the armory, quaintly arranged in the form of flowers all over the ceiling and walls where in the same compartment equestrian figures in armor sit silent and erect. It seemed so hard to realize the warriors were only in effigy so natural they seemed. And Wallace's collection of antiquities, rare old time-pieces, dainty bric-a-brac, furniture and lamps; St. Paul's and Westminster Abbey, who could describe them according to their worth? Buckingham Palace? Why it's a dingy looking building, not half so nice as our Executive Building here!"

"How did the Orkneys strike you," I asked. "They were quite a contrast to London, were they not?" "Oh quite, we visited at Ramsay, you know, one of the islands of the group, but all the others are practically the same. There are no trees at all on the whole island. There's only heather everywhere and of course the cereals that he people live on. It is very cold and bleak and lonely in that part of the world, and the coast is bare, rugged and rocky, with the combers from the open sea dashing against the cliffs. But there's excellent fishing and rabbit hunting. On several occasions we went fishing, and in less than an hour the bottom of the boat was completely covered with shining fellows. Why it is not considered at all uncommon to pull out five and six at a time all dangling on one line.

"The hills are covered with rabbits," continued Miss Dickson enthusiastically. "Many times while walking through the heather my foot slipped into a hole where some soft little bunny snugly lay. It's no trick at all to aim straight in that country. "What impressed you as most unusual in those far away islands?" I asked. "Well it seems funny to tell you, but I must be honest," laughed Miss Dickson. "What really amused me most was their refreshments. You see," she explained, "the people are all very poor, and instead of afternoon tea with biscuits or sandwiches each caller is offered tea and eggs. Queer combination isn't it? Yet like true hearted souls they feel hurt if their simple hospitality is refused. Why, I never in all my life ate so many eggs before!"

"The Lord of the Manor is the only person of wealth and social position and the peasants all live in little cottages of gray stone with thatched roofs like natives of the South Sea Islands.

"Now speaking of contrast," remarked Miss Dickson, "what do you think of Paris after that? It struck me so forcibly that all I seem to recollect of the gay Metropolis is one grand whirl. The streets were so clean, the shops so bewildering, the woman so chics the men so handsome, the general atmosphere so refined! It was like a dream. They have a good system for keeping the streets clean. The thoroughfares slope gently and ditches of clear water run continually on each side. When a breeze blows the refuse is swept automatically as it were into the water and carried away. I don't know where. But the avenues are immaculate.

"And I do so admire their artistic proclivities. In building, every inch of space is utilized, you will see some of the queerest shaped buildings in Paris and yet on each awkward ledge a statue is placed. It is a charming city to live in."

"What took your fancy most in Paris?"

"Well," said Miss Dickson, "that is rather difficult to answer. But the most impressive sight I think is the Tomb of Napoleon. Everything is so still. When we entered we felt the sacred hush of silence and looked down with reverence and awe. A holy light of blue and gold envelopes the tomb, and looking up we beheld the tattered fragments of flags of those whom the conqueror had vanquished in war. They too are very impressive most of them hanging in shreds.

"What did you think of the public life?" I asked. "Well I remarked to mother that plate glass must be quite expensive as so much merchandise was exhibited on the side walks. I think too that the husbands there must be much nicer to their wives. We saw many couples walking along with their hands clasped lovingly together. The men like to try stylish hats on their wives and I imagine from the appearance of the woman that they like to buy them too."

"What is the general appearance of Madame these days?" I inquired. Miss Dickson held up one finger and laughed.

"Just like that!" she replied. "Madame's heels are very high and her skirts are higher. She does not superfluous clothes, her gown is drawn still closer revealing her form very plainly; the men are wearing very long and pointed boots. On the other hand in Scotland there is little style and the people are rather slow. The ladies are still wearing jumpers, and the men are wearing 'sheath' pants."

"At Greenock we visited the prison and saw hundreds of half starved children at the daily meal of soup and bread which is furnished them free during the severity of the winter months. They were all in ragged clothes and bare feet, cold as it was, and many of the little girls struggled along carrying heavy babies.

"Then we went to Edinburgh which is a lovely city. Princess Street is bounded on the north by beautiful shops and on the south by beautiful parks."

"Did you visit Holyrood Palace while there?" I asked.

"Indeed I did. And there is Mary Stuart's bed just as it was in the days of yore, a big four poster with draperies of crimson and gold, and there is her little workbox just as she used it so many years ago! It brought the past very near to us as we stood there, looking at it self same things that she had looked upon, and it seemed almost sacrilegious at trespassing in the privacy of her apartments. Of course you know the story of Rizzio? A brass plate marks the blood stain on the spot where he fell at Mary's feet."

"I daresay you greatly regretted leaving the old world to return, did you not?"

"No indeed I didn't a bit!" exclaimed Miss Dickson. "It was very cold when we were up the St. Lawrence river on our return trip and we passed icebergs, oh such monsters like iridescent rainbows in the sun."

"And when we landed in dear old Honolulu again it had been raining a little and the wet warm air was filled with the delicious perfume of the tropics, you cannot know how homelike it looked to us, and really I've eaten pol ever since our return, and cannot seem to get enough."

"I shall always cherish the memory of my delightful trip," concluded this charming girl, "but there's no place like home after all, is there?"

An elaborate dance was given by Mrs. F. M. Swamy last Saturday evening in honor of her daughter Miss Nora Swamy. The decorations consisted of mountain greens, and ferns festooned artistically overhead. A bountiful buffet supper was served on the spacious lanai, where the guests strolled between dances to enjoy the refreshing cool mountain breezes of Manoa. A very novel idea was carried out in the form of a duplicate flower presented to each lady and gentleman upon arrival. The same kind of blossom designated the partners for the first dance and supper.

The guests included Miss Harriet Young, Miss Alice Hedemann, Miss Jessie Kennedy, Miss Irene Fisher, Miss Irma Ballentyne, Miss Marie Ballentyne, Miss Dorothy Wood, Miss Violet Damon, Miss Cordelia Gilman, Miss Nora Swamy, Miss Alice Cooper, Miss Alice Brown, Miss Harriet Hatch, Miss Spalding, Miss Alice Spalding, Miss Mayme Wadman, Miss Gemma Wadman, Miss Thompson, Messrs. Stanley Kennedy, Sherwood Lowrey, Fred Lowrey, Lathrop Withington, Austin Jones, Alfred Cooper, Kenneth Brown, Percy Cleghorn, Harold Castle, Gilchrist Hatch, Philip Marvel, Guy Macfarlane, Bob Thompson, Hedemann, Dr. Cloos, Lieuts. Rogers, Bowen, Jones, Houston and Kilgore.

The many friends of Mrs. A. B. Ingalls, a charming lady and talented violinist of Honolulu, will be glad to learn of the movements which mean ed to Liverpool, and Stratford-on-Avon, visiting Shakespeare's home and many other points of interest in that vicinity.

While in London, Mrs. Ingalls was fortunate in witnessing the first production of Charpentier's opera "Louise" in French. Besides being in itself a huge attraction, a unique fact concerning it is that never before has a London audience heard any opera in the French language.

After a short visit in London, Mrs. Ingalls crossed to France, and went at once to By a short distance from Paris where in the chateau de Rosa Bonheur she is at present the guest of the Klumpke family. It will be remembered that Rose Bonheur bequeathed her chateau and practically every portion of her fortune to her favorite pupil Miss Anna Klumpke. Other members of the latter's family have reached distinction in various walks of life, Dorothy Klumpke-Roberts, an astronomer, is carrying on to completion much work in this branch of science that her husband left unfinished at the time of his death and another of the family, a woman also, has gained an enviable reputation as a physician. Miss Jila Klumpke, the violinist is well and favorably known in Honolulu, having visited here with her friend Mrs. Ingalls about a year ago.

Mrs. Ingalls and Mrs. Klumpke have recently been auto-touring through the principal cathedral and chateau cities of France. Mrs. Ingalls has also commenced her violin work with Remy, a famous teacher of Paris and it is possible that she may not go to Berlin before January 1910.

In the meantime she may be the guest of Miss Klumpke or take up her residence in Paris, where she will be still closer to the influences of music and art.

Mrs. C. B. Cooper arrived in New York on August 4th last from Europe. Mrs. Cooper later joined her father and mother Dr. and Mrs. McGrew in San Francisco visiting there for a short time. The party is expected to return home on the "Manchuria."

Judge Perry and six members of his family took a round-the-island automobile trip on Thursday, stopping at Haleiwa for luncheon and a short rest.

A letter from Miss Anna Danford who accompanied Miss Krupp as her guest to the Orient some months ago, states that they are visiting in Mianoshita, Japan, where they will remain for about two months. They expect to visit China, spend Christmas in Manila, thence journeying through Australia and New Zealand, where they will be the guests of Miss Danford's sister Mrs. Kitzel. Miss Krupp plans to return with Miss Danford in April.

H. M. Queen Liliuokalani will hospitably throw open the doors of her residence Washington Place, on September the second from eleven to one. The reception is in honor of Her Majesty's seventy first birthday, and spe-

THE LOCAL POLITICAL SITUATION.

The Star has no disposition to retract a word of what it has said, more than once, in appreciation of the work which Delegate Kuhio has done for Hawaii in Washington. If he chooses now to retire from the position, it will be with a knowledge of a great deal of good accomplished by his efforts and a great credit won for his people, generally speaking. From a Republican standpoint the situation is a very serious one. Democratic gains here,—made mostly, we think, as a result of Republican errors and dissensions rather than on matters of principle or doctrine,—make it certain that the Republican party has a job on its hands to carry the next election. The Republican party has had some pretty heavy burdens to carry, and it staggered a bit last time before it finished the race. The coming election is in an off year, always Democracy's chance. Republicans who care for the success of their party may well take warning that they have a very serious fight on their hands.

No answer has yet been suggested to the question, 'Why should department heads of the Territorial government object to buying supplies from the lowest bidder?'

When John Smith & Company want to buy $5 worth of stationery, they follow Uncle Sam's plan and get bids all round. When Registrar Merriam tried to follow this same plan, he was given a quick call down by Treasurer Conkling. The call down came too late to stop the bids from coming in, but in time to stop Merriam from accepting the lowest bid.

WHERE ARE WE AT?

The Attorney General:—"The Departments are not bound by the six months' bids asked for by the Auditor."

The Treasurer:—"I am bound by the six months' bids and cannot buy supplies now from the lowest bidder."

The Board of Health:—"We have no bids on the six months' basis and call for our own,—when we feel like it. When we don't we buy without getting bids at all."

The Registrar of Public Accounts:—"I regret that my superior, the Treasurer, will not allow me to get bids when I want supplies, as I could save public money by so doing."

The above about represents the situation in the Capitol building today. What is an ordinary business man going to think about it? What does it mean? Who can explain it? Why is Treasurer Conkling making a fight against the lowest bidder? What sense or reason is there in such an attitude? If there was a doubt, why didn't he resolve it the other way and try to buy supplies as cheaply as he could? His subordinate, the Registrar, told him that public interests were best served by the bid system; a plain concrete case was before him in which public money might be saved, if he would allow it, by the bid system; the Attorney General wrote him in the course of an opinion that the Registrar's plan was carrying out the legislative desire,—not only that, the Attorney General clearly advised him that he need not spend the larger price but had a right at any time to accept any lowest bid. But he stuck to the higher figure. Why?

It is unfortunate that Mr. Conkling, at the start of his public career, should have been found so deficient in ordinary judgment and discretion. The business man's position is perfectly clear: There was a call for bids; business men thought it not bidding; the Attorney General agreed with them; therefore most of them did not bid; this fact, on the authority of the Territory's legal adviser, made the bids not competitive; ergo, as plainly as the proposition that water runs down hill, department heads with a sense of public duty were left free to buy as cheaply as they could. The Treasurer has decided and has instructed his subordinates, not to do so.

If this is not a correct statement of the situation, we invite correction and will cheerfully publish it.

The Territory of Hawaii has to jew teachers' down until it disgraces itself by paying some of them twenty-five or thirty dollars a month. But that doesn't seem to prevent department heads from paying more for supplies than they need to pay.

DEATH OF MR. COOKE.

(From the Maui News).

Yesterday morning's wireless brought the sad news of the death of one of Hawaii's best known and most respected citizens, Charles M. Cooke.

Mr. Cooke was born and raised in Hawaii, and for many years has stood in the front ranks of those who have taken an active part in shaping the business, social and religious destinies of the country. He was a leader in affairs financial, but never forgetful of the duties wealth owes to society. During the whole of his business life he has been a constant supporter of all religious and philanthropic interests throughout the Islands. He was a member of the Hawaiian Board, and of Central Union Church. A recent munificent endowment of $125,000 has given an opportunity to place the missionary enterprise of the Territory on a substantial basis, and the Cooke library of Punahou College, which supplies a long felt need, is another of the many evidences of Mr. Cooke's interest in public affairs.

In addition to his large business interests on Oahu, Kauai and Hawaii, Mr. Cooke was president of the First National Bank of Wailuku, of the Lahaina National Bank, and a director of the Wailuku Sugar Company; being also identified with numerous other enterprises in this county. No man of prominence in public life in Hawaii has been more active as well as useful in life.

Loved by all his intimate friends, as well as his family, and respected by all who knew him, Mr. Cooke will long be remembered in Hawaii not only as great in affairs financial but as one of the most generous supporters of all interests having to do with the religious, philanthropic and social life of Hawaii. He leaves a wife, five sons, and a daughter.

HILO SAYS HONOLULU KNOCKS

HILO, August 24.—The Tribune says: The Honolulu knocker is still at work, and as a result of the absolute falsehoods which he has been retailing, the number of tourists which came to see the Volcano last week was much reduced. Undisputable evidence of this fact was given last week to the Tribune from an excellent source, namely Mr. E. C. Bradley, the president of the Pacific Telephone Company, who with his wife is making a visit here.

"Yes, it is absolutely certain that the volcano trip is being strenuously knocked in Honolulu," said Mr. Bradley. "Those who are responsible for this are in the main hotel and boarding house keepers, it being quite evidently their intention to keep the tourist trade as much as possible right in Honolulu so that they may have the entire benefit therefrom themselves, instead of giving this island the share which would otherwise naturally come here. These people described the trip from Honolulu to Hilo in the Mauna Kea as being one of the worst trips in the world, one in which should be avoided if possible, and the trip from Glenwood to the Volcano was also described as being very rough. As a matter of fact, such effective work was done by these knockers that out of our party, consisting of sixteen persons, all of whom were exceedingly anxious to see the Volcano, Mrs. Bradley and myself were the only ones who dared to take the trip, all the others having been frightened away by nothing else than the warning given by the hotel people. It seems ridiculous that people should travel five or six thousand miles, or even more, to see the Islands, and should then leave them without seeing the most interesting feature which they had to offer the tourist.

"I can readily see that what Hilo needs more than anything else to succeed in the tourist business is a hotel, and I am told that you are now getting ready to have a hotel opened. In this regard I should like to say just one thing; do not make the mistake to make the hotel otherwise than a typically Hawaiian hotel, one which differs absolutely from what you find on the mainland. People come here to see things which are different from what they see at home. For instance, I am stopping at the Seaside Hotel in Honolulu, rather than in the other hotels. There I can have coconuts dropping down on my head, and that is a thing which cannot happen to me at home. In California they are making the mistake of making things as closely resembling those found in the East as possible; they plant eastern trees, and imitate the eastern architecture in their buildings. The Santa Fe Railroad is the only one which is doing much to preserve the typical characteristics of the country, by building all its stations in the mission style, and by having them surrounded with typical California vegetation. If you people want to please and attract the tourists you must have things as typically Hawaiian as you can."

Commercial News

BY L. D. TIMMONS

Despite the fact that the Stock Exchange has been closed, the past two days have been exceptionally lively ones on the streets. A number of sales were made yesterday and this has been an unusually good Saturday. One thing adding to the life of street business was the arrival of a batch of orders from the other islands by the S. S. Mauna Kea this morning. These were for stocks of properties in the neighborhood of the respective correspondents.

Sales of Waialua were made this morning at $114, which is to be regarded as an advance, as the most that could be figured for the market yesterday was $113. Offers of $114 were still made to the last today, with no stock in sight at that figure.

Ewa has been strong at $41.25, and a number of small sales have been made at that figure. Oahu has been equally strong at $32.25.

Correction: In yesterday's report of a sale of Honokaa, the figure was given as $19.75. It should have read $19.37 1/2. Pioneer has probably been the most active stock on the streets today, several sales having been made at $190. One of these sales was of 100 shares and the other of 200. This is a smart advance upon the last figures, and the stock closed the week very strong.

Honokaa has remained $19.37 1/2 today, with few or no offers.

Hawaiian Commercial is quiet—not weak. There have been offers in plenty of $34.00, but the only stock in sight is at $34.50. No sales are known of at this writing.

A large deal in Hawaiian Agricultural was reported this morning at $181.

No bond sales were heard of on the streets, although different issues were being sought all forenoon. Any good sixes are snapped up readily and fives are ranging above par.

A sale of considerable size of Olan stock was made this morning at 4 1/2 and the stock seems to be regarded as a good buy at that figure.

About 100 shares of Pineapple stock are reported to have changed hands since yesterday at $27.50. This is the same figure obtaining earlier in the week.

This week has been a quiet one in all lines of retail trade, as compared with like periods earlier in the summer. When compared with the same week of previous years, however, the advantage is largely on the side of the six days just closing. Standard dry goods houses, such as Jordan, Sachs and Ehlers have held their own in satisfactory shape, and the same may be said of Hall & Son, Diamond and other houses in their line of business. Houses quickly affected by the rise or fall of the business tide, however, have probably experienced the first, real 'depression' of the year. Wholesale business has been good, despite the fact that fall orders have not yet come in and the regular summer business is over. The banks have had their hands full. Transactions have not edged quality. The plantations of Oahu have been gradually parting with their strike breakers, but those coming into town seem to have no difficulty in obtaining work on the waterfront and elsewhere. It is feared, however, that the termination of the arrangement with the strike breakers on the plantations will set the small shop keepers back to the humdrum of the days before the trouble came on in the cane fields.

RESOLUTIONS.

At the meeting of the Merchants' Association held this morning the following resolutions on the death of Hon. C. M. Cooke were offered by Geo. W. Smith and unanimously adopted:

Whereas, there has been taken from our midst Charles M. Cooke,

And Whereas, the business interests which this Association represents, have by his death been deprived of one who for many years has been identified with the upbuilding of this community and who has rendered long and faithful service in our commercial development,

Therefore, be it resolved, that we the members of the Honolulu Merchants' Association, do hereby express our deep sorrow and tender to his wife and family our sincere sympathy.

SIBERIA MONDAY.

The Siberia, bearing the Congressional party and an overflow list of other passengers, will arrive during Monday. Although one of the largest vessels calling here, the Siberia has no wireless equipment and consequently her hour of arrival will not be known until she is sighted from Waimanalo. The members of the reception committee will go out to meet the steamer and the lei party will carry out their part of the program at the wharf.

TOBACCO MEN HERE.

William M. McQuaid, of the Kona Tobacco Company, arrived in the S. S. Mauna Kea this morning and is at the Young. He brings a most encouraging report of tobacco conditions in his section and says that the prospects for the future are of the very best.

COMMISSIONER WEINSTOCK.

Harris Weinstock, a prominent business man of Sacramento and San Francisco, who had been making a tour of Australia, Europe and the Orient for Governor Gillett, of California, in the interest of labor, was a guest of the Young last night, being a passenger for home by the Clyo Maru. He was met last evening by Secretary H. P. Wood of the Promotion Committee, and other citizens. Mr. Weinstock has made a very complete investigation of conditions in all the countries visited and will have a very interesting report to make to his superiors.

SUGAR TO TEHUANTEPEC.

The steamship Mexican, which is due to arrive today, will take 11,500 tons of sugar to the Tehuantepec railroad for transshipment to Philadelphia. From Honolulu the vessel will proceed to Kaaunapali, Kahului and Hilo.

ONOMEA'S SUGAR CROP.

Last Wednesday afternoon the Onomea mill finished its work for the present season, having produced 14,416.875 tons of sugar from the past crop. The decimal represents about six bags of sugar, so it is not entirely to be disregarded. The crop is regarded as a very satisfactory one, being well above the estimate, which was placed at about thirteen thousand tons. It is the second largest crop in the history of the Onomea Sugar Company, that of last year being the largest, when 17,006 tons were produced.

"As a matter of fact, we always exceed the estimates," said Manager Moir last week. "The reason for that lies in the fact that we have a number of Japanese contractors who have holdings runnings from a small fraction of an acre to two and three acres, and as it would be impossible to make anything like a correct estimate of the crop from these patches, we lump them all together, and estimate it at a lump figure, which is always well on the safe side. We finished grinding last Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, and the result was announced from the mill, blowing fourteen whistles and a toot, the latter being to rattle six odd bags."—Hilo Tribune.

MERCHANTS IN SESSION.

The Merchants' Association held its adjourned meeting at 11 o'clock this morning and took important action on the matters which had been deferred from last night. A full report of the session appears in another column.

GENERAL.

Norman K. Watkins, having returned from his vacation, has resumed the management of the Hawaiian Fertilizer Company. Clinton G. Owens, who has been acting manager in the absence of Mr. Watkins, has returned to the manufactory of the concern in Iwilei.

Owing to the death of C. M. Cooke the Bank of Hawaii was not regularly opened today. The Merchant street side door was kept open during banking hours, however, for the accommodations of patrons having urgent business.

NOTHING IN GRAFT TALK

Supervisor Aha, just before the Board adjourned last night, sprung a talk of "graft" on the meeting. At least he said people had asked him about the name of a dead man on the payroll for maintenance and repairs of school-houses using the ugly word to him in that connection.

J. O. Lukes, of the Hospital Corps, missed his footing on a narrow ledge while goat hunting last Thursday in the mountains near Kahana, falling to his death on the rocks three hundred feet below.

STOMACH CATARRH AND LAMENESS.

MR. NEAL M. NELSON.
Mr. Neal M. Nelson, 1700 Lincoln Ave., Alameda, Cal., writes:
"As I was a great sufferer with chronic catarrh in my stomach, and lameness in my back and limbs, I am pleased to say that after using four bottles of Peruna I feel perfectly well, and will never be without it in my home.
I advise everybody who has not used it to give it a trial and they will regain their health.
"After all other doctors have failed, I have been cured through Peruna, and next to God I owe my thanks to Dr. Hartman for being cured."
Indigestion Causes Rheumatism.
What connection is there between stomach catarrh and lameness?
There is a vital connection. Catarrh of the stomach deranges digestion, deranged digestion leads to the formation of acids in the stomach and bowels. These acid formations are absorbed into the blood and produce a rheumatic condition.
Peruna relieves the rheumatism only by relieving the indigestion, and thus cleansing the source of the blood impurities that lead up to lameness in the joints, neuralgia and rheumatism.
Mr. Frank Richter, 309 East 2nd St., Winona, Minn., says: "I take pleasure in recommending Peruna for catarrh of the stomach. I know what it is to be afflicted with this awful disease. Peruna cured me. For catarrh of the stomach it is unsurpassed."

Maui Will Welcome Asahi Ball Players

MAUI, Aug. 28.—It has been proven time and again in the past few years that the Japanese in this Territory have become lovers of the great American national game of baseball and that fact is again demonstrated by the Japanese enthusiasts of Central Maui. By today's Claudine the Asahi baseball team, composed entirely of Japanese students in the Honganji high school of Honolulu, will arrive and will play a series of games here. They are scheduled to play this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Kahului baseball park and will meet a nine composed of local Japanese players, captained by Suzuki, otherwise known as Wm. McGerrow, of Pauoene. Tomorrow morning the same teams will meet at Well's Park, Wailuku, at 10 o'clock and in the afternoon at 3:30 o'clock the Asahis will play the last game of the series with a team composed of Maui junior ball players. The general admission to these games will be 25 cents and an additional charge of 25 cents will be made for grand stand seats. The local Japanese are taking great interest in these games and will turn out en masse. Their patriotic spirit combined with the enthusiasm they have taken in the game is such that the price of admission will not be considered by them. There will, it is expected, be a large attendance of fans of other nationalities who will want to see the class of ball put up by the "sons of the Rising Sun." The Asahi baseball team is now playing in the Junior Oahu League and has made an excellent showing. In fact they are the leaders in their class, and are expected to surprise a great many of the local fans. Dr. Oyama, who is one of the leading Japanese baseball fans on Maui, will manage the local Japanese teams, and is doing everything possible for the success of the meet. He it was who took the initiative in bringing the team up from Honolulu, and hopes in the near future to have a Japanese team come here and compete with the All-Maui team. The doctor's work in promoting higher class of ball among the Japanese fans here is commendable and should receive the support of all local fans.

is an employe of H. Hackfeld & Co. Word was received from Tsukamoto, the Hilo runner, by the steamer Mauna Kea, that he preferred to do his training in Hilo and would arrive by the steamer Claudine next week. A number of Hilo Japanese are coming up for the race and to back their countryman.

Entries close on Wednesday, Sept. 1, and may be left at the Real Estate Exchange, opposite the Union Grill, or with H. M. Ayres. The prizes, which are $100, $50 and $25 are well worth running ten miles for and the chances are that the race will show up some runners of whom Hawaii may in the future have cause to be proud.

GUNNER MOIR LOSES AGAIN

A Reuter's message from London to Shanghai states that Young Johnson met and defeated Gunner Moir after five minutes of fighting.

Evidently Gunner Moir, as the heavy-weight champion of England, has seen his best days and is now on the downward path which eventually will lead to his retirement. Moir has suffered defeat at the hands and weighs 132 lbs. He was born on August 17th, 1879, so he is just short of thirty years old. It will be remembered that Tommy Burns beat Gunner Moir at the National sporting club on December 2nd, 1907, in a ten rounds match for the world's championship. A feature of the bout was the enlargement of the ring to 18 feet. Now Moir has suffered defeat at the hands of young Johnson, a new star who has recently come to the front.

SCHEDULE OF POLOISTS

The International polo tournament will start next Wednesday at Lihue when the Fifth Cavalry will play the Oahu team. On Saturday, September 11, the Maui team will play the Fifth Cavalry, at Lihue. On Wednesday, September 15, Oahu and Maui will play at Moanalua. On Friday, September 17, there will be a picked team match. Tickets for each game will be $1. There may be obtained at the sporting goods' stores, cigar stores or at any of the local newspaper offices.

TSUKAMOTO BY CLAUDINE HARRISON ON CRICKET

Interests in the great ten-mile running race to be pulled off at the Athletic Park a week from today, under the auspices of Joe Kubeys, is growing apace, and entries are coming in steadily. The two former are well known local athletes and have a fine chance of finishing in the money. Joe Macedo

LOVE WOULD RIDE BRONCHO

J. H. Love wishes it announced through the Star that he challenges any man in the Territory for a broncho-busting contest and can find backing for as much as $500.

Love is an experienced broncho buster and was at Cheyenne last Frontier Day when the Hawaiian cowboys carried off the honors.

He won the broncho-busting contest which took place as a preliminary to the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight at Carson City, Billy Woods of this city being present at the time.

Mr. Love's conditions are that there shall be no stirrup tie and that he and his opponent must ride free, straight up and down, whipping and spurring while on the jump.

Mr. Love is ready and willing to compete with anyone in the islands, neither nationality or colored barred, at any time. He is at present working at the Government corral, where he may be communicated with.

Answers to this challenge made to the Sporting Editor of the Star will receive immediate attention.

The Fort Ruger nine is playing the first game at the big league ball park this afternoon, their opponents being the N. G. H. team. The second game will be between the Punahou and the Kams.

There will be a four-round boxing contest at the Gem Theater tonight between McCullough and Henley, both of Fort Shafter.

MAUI PAPER ON CRICKET

MAUI, Aug. 28.—The cricket match between the visiting Honolulu teams and the home team at Kahului park last Wednesday ended in a decided victory for the visitors. After watching the game until the visitors had scored more than one hundred runs, whilst the home team had very much less than a half a hundred the Maui News reporter left in a very unorthodox mood. He was prepared to shout for the home team but the conditions were against making the enthusiastic demonstration desired, and he did not know enough of the game to see an opening for boosting the home team. However the visitors couldn't have won if they hadn't been such good fellows.

the clubs to consist of the H. C. C., Theo. Davies & Co., and Bishop & Co. As it would be impossible to get these clubs together for a long series of game it will probably be arranged for each club to meet the other twice during the season. Fred Harrison, an enthusiastic cricketer as there is in the Territory, arrived by the steamer Mauna Kea this morning from Hilo. He states that great interest was taken on the big island in the match between Oahu and Maui, and great disappointment was felt because the result was not wirelessly to Hilo. Arrangements are being made for a Married vs. Single game to be played in Hilo on Labor Day. Harrison states that the Hilo folks want the H. C. C. to send an eleven to Hilo for a game, and that they fancy that they can turn the trick on the visitors. They figure that as the Lilliputians beat a H. C. C. team and the Hilo players in turn beat the Lilliputians, the Hilo eleven should be able to win from the local aggregation of cricketers. All of which looks well enough on paper but has to be proved. Harrison states that amateur boxing contests have been started in Hilo and are drawing good crowds.

Mrs. Dening was a through passenger on the Nippon Maru from San Francisco. Dr. Carl Ramus, who was formerly head of the United States Marine Hospital Service at Honolulu, and left here to go to Ellis Island to do immigrant work, has been ordered to Honolulu, and will arrive here about the middle of September.

Mrs. Ogden Mills, the mother of Lady Grannard, has leased the home of Bulwer Lytton, and will entertain extensively in the British capital.—S. F. Bulletin. William M. Giffard of Honolulu who has been staying at the Fairmont hotel with his family, is now at Del Monte. His son, Harold, is an enthusiastic golfer, being a scratch player on the Honolulu links. The course and putting greens on the Hawaiian Islands remain green throughout the year. Harold Giffard may return to el Monte for the big golf tournament that begins the 28th.—Call.

Miss Dunlop, daughter of the late Bishop Dunlop of Arizona, a missionary to Honolulu, is spending her vacation in Long Beach and yesterday gave a very interesting talk to the Juniors of St. Andrew's class of St. Luke's Episcopal church, on her work and surroundings in Honolulu. Miss Dunlop's mother and sister are with her here.—S. F. Chronicle.

Rear Admiral Hollyday, U. S. N., is coming on the same boat as the Congressional party, to renew his inspection of the Pearl Harbor work. Senator C. H. Dickey and his son Lyle Dickey leave next week on a world tour. They will take in the Seattle Fair cross the continent, stopping for brief visits en route. They will pass through Europe, Suez Canal, India, China and Japan. Dr. and Mrs. Benjamin Brodie of Detroit who have been visiting California, left for Honolulu during the week for an indefinite stay. Mrs. Brodie was formerly Miss Ann Tallant, daughter of the late well known banker, J. D. Tallant. Her first husband was Austin C. Tubbs who died several years ago. She married Dr. Brodie last year in Washington, D. C. I am told Mrs. Brodie dislikes Detroit where Dr. Brodie is one of the leading and most prominent physicians; she longs for her old California home and friends and is trying to persuade Dr. Brodie to take up his residence here.—Town Talk.

cial honors are to be shown the members of the visiting Congressional party. The Hawaiian Band will play, and the various societies of men and women of Hawaii will turn out in a body to do homage to their ally. A novel feature of the reception are the Kahili bearers, who, attired in the Poolas or yellow feather capes will be in attendance, two stationed at the entrance, and four about the person of Her Majesty Queen Liliuokalani. The queen will be assisted in receiving by Prince and Princess Kahanaloa and Governor Cleghorn.

A party of ladies from the east lunched at Haleiwa on Wednesday after a delightful run over the Pail and around the island. They expressed themselves as being very much pleased with the spin and were considerably surprised and delighted with the men and service at Haleiwa. The party consisted of Mrs. and Miss Tanner, Washington, D. C.; Miss Howell, Miss K. W. Howell, and Miss Rupert of Uniontown, Pa.; and Miss Hogg of Pittsburg.

The "Bachelor's Bungalow" of the Pleasanton Hotel is nearing completion charmed with the scenery and the plications for accommodation in this cozy building the management is already preparing to double its capacity. About August 1910 the Pleasanton, and owing to the number of approval a hundred guests. During the past week Haleiwa has been filled to its utmost capacity, and many Honoluluans have been tempted out of town to enjoy the quiet of this charming spot. A great many Scotch people being registered it is needless to say that the links were kept busy, while many motoring parties have invaded the home-like place. After the long hilly stretches of dusty roads and lonely slopes, Haleiwa bursts unexpectedly upon one, and the grandeur of the open sea, the smooth winding river with its sampans, the long green slope of lawn, and the beauty of the cool corridors, and lanais, in fact the informality and hospitality of it all are most refreshing.

Tonight is the night of the dance there, whence Waialua people, townspeople and guests of the hotel will gather informally, to the strains of Hawaiian music. Many are planning to run down in their autos, intending to return by moonlight after the dance. All are invited to attend. Mrs. J. R. Pourie, wife of Captain Pourie, U. S. A., is enjoying an outing at Santa Cruz, where she has been entertained during the last few days and has been the complimented guest at a succession of luncheons and dinner parties. Mrs. Pourie will remain several days longer at Santa Cruz before going to Del Monte and other places in the southern part of the State, but her friends in town are trying to persuade her to return here for a brief visit before sailing early in September for Honolulu, where Captain Pourie is stationed.—Call.

Immediate steps are being taken by the navy officials to put the four cruisers, West Virginia, Maryland, California and South Dakota, in readiness so that these vessels may leave on Sunday for a cruise to Seattle. They will be one of the attractions of the Alaska-Yukon Exposition. The quartet of fighting ships will remain in the north until September 1, when they will return to San Francisco, coal and proceed to Honolulu and the Asiatic station with four other armored cruisers under the command of Admiral Uriel Sebree.—S. F. Bulletin. Dr. and Mrs. Moore returned to town Tuesday after a sojourn at Haleiwa. Mrs. Moore is much benefited by her stay in the country.

Mrs. Renton Hind of Kohala, and Miss Hall of San Francisco are stopping at the Pleasanton. These ladies intend to enter the tennis tournament for the championship next Saturday. The postponement of the wedding of Miss Nora Brewer and Edward Cudaby, which was to have been a pretentious affair at the Catholic church at San Mateo last Saturday, has caused much gossip in San Francisco society as to the possibility of the engagement having been broken. Miss Brewer once lived in Honolulu. The bridegroom-to-be is the Cudaby who was kidnapped several years ago by Pat Crowe.—Town Talk.

Talk about the tropics and dolce far niente; Talk about palm trees and ease! Murrur to me comes about the candy life of the favored few who dwell where Nature ever smiles and always did smile but smiles more broadly when the twang of the entrancing ukulele is added to the gentle music of the warm sun!

The Advertiser spoiled a good "Town Talk" by printing as a news item the story of Chester Doyle and the Bulletin in the "skates." This was unkind and thoughtless of the Tiser, for the affair was a general matter of town talk and it is not news for Doyle to play a joke, nor is there anything new about the Bulletin swallowing the bait.

be the favored method of announcing to the public that the old Palace, with all its associations and memories, is again a feature of San Francisco life.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin P. Brodie of Detroit, who have been stopping at Del Monte, sailed on the Korea for Honolulu. They were accompanied by Mrs. Brodie's two sons, Austin and George Tubbs.

The Pacific Mail Steamship Siberia is due to arrive here Monday morning. The vessel brings the visiting party of Congressmen who are to be entertained officially by the Territory.

A wedding of no small interest to Honoluluans took place in San Francisco when Miss Ethel Coope became the bride of Mackenzie Gordon.

Dr. J. S. McGrew of Honolulu, known throughout the Sandwich Islands as "The Father of Annexation," arrived this morning on the Pacific Mail steamer Siberia, accompanied by Mrs. McGrew.

The doctor is eighty-nine years of age and went to Hawaii over half a century ago. He was the first American to settle on the islands, and for forty-five years waged a battle for annexation which finally resulted in that celebrated historical event taking place at the outbreak of the Spanish war.

"But I feel like a boy again to get to the mainland," the venerable empire-builder declared as he stepped from the gangplank of the Siberia. "Oh, it is good to get home; home!"

Plans for the official opening of the Palace Hotel in November are already being formulated, and it promises to be one of the gala events of the season, aye, and of many seasons.

Among those present besides the host and the guests of honor, were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Purvis, Miss Purvis, Miss Dow, a guest of Mrs. Purvis, Mr. Stodart, of Eleele, Mr. and Mrs. Moier, Mr. and Mrs. Zoller, J. A. Silva and wife, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Jennings, Mr. Bole, D. L. Austin of T. H. Davies & Company, Mr. Ryder, the Superintendent of the Lualu Cannery and Henry Jaeger.—Garden Island.

It is becoming a fad these days for a great many Honolulu ladies to gather in groups for afternoon tea on the broad and spacious lanais of the Pleasanton Hotel.

"Mrs. W. O. Smith and Mrs. A. H. Smith returned today, after spending a week at Haleiwa.

passed, although things at present are quiet.

"The Japanese made a terrific blunder at the outset," he declared. "They thought when they went out that the public would support them, and in this they were badly mistaken. Then they sought to get aid through the newspapers and this only added to the resentment which was already felt. So they sneaked back to work, one by one, but they are only waiting an opportunity. Once they are assured of general public support they will strike again, and if they do they will carry the strike further than they have yet done."—S. F. Bulletin.

Another bride of the autumn will be Miss Lydia Gibbons, whose marriage with Gustave Schaefer of Honolulu will be an event of this month and will take place, in fact, Friday evening, August 27, at the First Presbyterian church in this city.

The bride elect is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Gibbons, and had not made her formal bow to society when her engagement to the prominent clubman of Honolulu was announced several months ago. The bride has selected green and white for the color scheme at her wedding, and it is said that the gowns and details of the decorations have an originality quite unusual in the chosen effect.

The bride will be attended by her sister, Mrs. J. Charles Green, as matron of honor, while Miss Constance Cummings will attend as bridesmaid and George Brown of Honolulu will act as best man.—Call.

A bathing party was given at his Lualu beach house, last Sunday, at which Mr. Walter McBryde was the host. It was in honor of Mrs. Jaeger, who is a sister of Mrs. S. C. Allen and of Miss Jaeger, her daughter. This was Mrs. Jaeger's first visit to the beach house, although she is closely connected with the interests of the neighborhood, and was also one of the promoters of Port Allen (Eleele Landing). Miss Jaeger was unfortunately unable to be present, being detained at Kukuila on account of sickness. She and her mother will soon return to Honolulu.

After the bath, the luncheon was held on the grass under the shade of the trees in the yard, and the pleasure of the guests was very much added to by the skill of Johnnie Kamanuwal at cooking the delicious Hawaiian dishes for which he is famous. While the feast was in progress some fine Hawaiian music was listened to, and afterwards a delightful dance was enjoyed on the lanai.

Charles F. Clemons of Honolulu H. T., who has been visiting in the valley for a number of days, is so well pleased that he has secured an option on a large orchard tract in the valley and will probably return to purchase the property.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Almy repaired to Haleiwa on Wednesday for their honeymoon. Both being enthusiastic motorists, many enjoyable trips around the other side of the island are anticipated. Mr. and Mrs. Almy expect to remain a week.

What Kind of GARTERS do you wear, Mister? If you wear knee drawers, let us sell you a pair of Boston Needraw or the new Paris Garters, either of which have the usual article beaten a mile.

ROAD WORK DISCUSSED

SUPERVISOR WILSON EXPLAINS BIG OVERDRAFT AND ASKS FOR A SPECIAL APPROPRIATION.

Important road matters came before the Board of Supervisors last night. A letter from Major McCree requesting the making and repairing of roads connecting Fort Ruger with the city highways, backed with a strong endorsement by Mayor Fern, was anticipated by a report of the road committee to a great extent and when read was referred to that committee.

Road Supervisor Wilson wrote explaining an overdraft of over $2,000 he had made on the July appropriation. He attributed it to extra expenditures for oil, school grounds curbing, new wagons, etc., to the amount of $3,746. A special appropriation was asked for, on the plea that all the road work possible should be done before wet weather set in. The letter was referred to the committee.

More petitions for street lights were received, J. B. Gibson addressing the Board in behalf of one for an arc light at King and Artesian streets. All were referred to the committee on that subject. Aylett quoted Electrician Frazer as predicting the possibility that the town might soon be plunged in darkness owing to the growing scarcity of water for the dynamos.

A report of the health committee allowing a charge of $2 a day for indigent patients admitted by Dr. Mackal to Kapiolani Maternity Home was adopted.

Mayor Fern's entertainment fund of $500 for the half-yearly period was drawn upon by resolution to the amount of $200 for His Honor's luau to the Congressional visitors.

Dr. Mackal was allowed a clerk and on his nomination A. St. C. Pihanga was appointed at $75 a month.

A new expense created by last Legislature bobbed up in a demand, which was ordered paid, of $15 from the Lunacy Commission, consisting of a fee of $5 each to Dr. W. L. Moore, Dr. J. R. Judd and Judge A. Lindsay, commissioners, for the examination of John Gorme de Silva.

Chief Engineer Charles Thurston reported the death from accident of a dark chestnut gelding called "Dick" at Palama fire station. The loss was referred to the proper committee with instructions to have the horse written off the inventory of Territorial property used by the municipality.

Bids for supplies for roads and bridges were opened, contracts being awarded to the lowest bidders.

The meeting adjourned to September 2 at 7:30. On that occasion bids for the Kalaunui section of the belt road will be opened.

NEGRESS TO JAIL FOR THIRTY DAYS

Friends of Mrs. Mollie Nash with sincerely regret her enforced absence from society during the next month. Mollie this morning went into retirement for thirty days, upon the obligatory invitation of Judge Andrade who prescribed a session of seclusion for the lady in the City and County institution vulgarly referred to as the jail.

It seems that Mollie took unto herself seven dollars which were the property of another lady. Another negress, out of the goodness of her heart, paid the seven to the lady from whom it was taken, and then went to Chief of Detectives Joe Leal and begged that her friend be liberated, inasmuch as the money had been returned.

But the police have wanted Mollie for some time, owing to this and other irregularities and, being found guilty in police court this morning, it was thought thirty days would help the negress to think better of her mode of living.

Mollie's husband called to see her this morning, expressing regret that she would have to go into retirement for so long a period and promising to remain sober while she is in jail.

SANE MEN ROASTED BY DELUDED DOCTOR

Dr. Atcherley yesterday afternoon and evening, before the lunacy commission, made statements which were identical with those made by people who believe him to be the victim of a has been "hanging round his house and of the "gang" which he still states consists of Chester Doye, Dr. Brinkerhoff, Dr. Wayson and County Attorney Cathcart, and declared that Doye has been "hanging around his house and throwing cocaine fits in the sewer." He accused everybody who has anything to do with leprosy treatment or his present detention in the insane asylum of being combined to do him injury.

Allowed to talk as he liked, Atcherley was the strongest witness as to his being a paranoiac. He wished to get a Kailhi receiving station inmate and an inmate of the asylum to testify, but the commission would not permit. His idea in asking for the lunatic to testify, he said, was to show the commission what is really a paranoiac, declaring that the desired witness is a paranoiac. County Attorney Cathcart was willing to admit, however, that the asylum inmate would testify as Atcherley said he would.

Dr. Peterson, superintendent of the insane asylum, testified that Atcherley still imagines he hears noises in the attic.

THE GUNS.

Twelve three-inch siege guns arrived by the S. S. Lurline.—Daily Paper.

In their olive-colored cases they are lying
On the wharf beneath the liner's towering side,
And they voice a solemn warning which disturbs the rainbow morning
And the painted peace of mountain and of tide.

To and fro pass wayfarers all flower-laden,
On the breeze is borne the music of a band,
And a benison of love is o'er everything above—
But the guns—how few who see and understand!

In the sides of old Leahi they'll be buried,
And the memory of their coming soon will cease,
Till there dawns a dreadful day when mankind goes forth to slay,
In these isles of sweet contentedness and peace.

PARADISE PARAGRAPHS

BY WILL SABIN.

"Please knock" was at one time not an uncommon legend on front doors. As electricity advanced civilization the portal admonition became "Please ring the bell." Later people came to be able to knock without specially inscribed encouragement and, also, progressed to the stage of being able to recognize an electric button without a label.

Knocking, however, is not the subject of this epistle; rather is a Bell to be the text; and the opening remarks are not inappropriate, for the Bell under discussion is something of an electric Bell, the simile being carried out even to the pressing of the button to get the desired response.

Edgar A. Poe, if he were here today and could meet Dr. Bell, or Professor Bell, Ph. D., would have to add a verse to his immortal poem, "The Bells." Poe managed to work in fire, wedding, funeral and sleigh bells, but he evidently forgot all about astral bells, such as Dr. Bell, or Professor Bell, Ph. D.

Several years ago, here, a certain cultured cult cultivated the occult under Bell's guidance at so much a cult, and now again is he here to take on a few "classes" of those who may imagine that he can let them into the innermost secrets of nature. There's some "class" to Bell, Professor Bell, Ph. D. which inspires the query: "What manner of man is this?"

To go back, this is not a roast but an attempt at a study, during which shall be told, without charge, some things for which information Dr. Bell might charge you tuition.

Dr. Bell, or Professor Bell, Ph. D., and then some, is a type. Without doubt he manages to say many things which are true, calling himself a disciple of truth. Therefore the truth, as another may see it, cannot harm him and may even help him. He is a type of an odd profession, an unhired teacher for pay, one who is not sought to be hired but is paid when he demands the price, sort of a semi-recognized instructor in patent truth, for a fee, and in a very broad and profitable field. It may be said that so is a clergyman a paid teacher, but herein lies the difference: A clergyman, following a specific doctrine, is limited to his certain prescribed orthodoxy and receives a stipulated salary, and his hearers, or pupils, if you prefer, get their spiritual food predigested, and the clergyman may be fired if he preaches anything to offend those who pay him; while Dr. Bell, or Professor Bell, Ph. D., is the type that labels nothing, identifies nothing, speaks in burning eloquence of beautiful generalities, attaches mystery to what should be simple truth, and theatrically kaleidoscopes the ideas of the ages before the indiscriminating eyes of the almost thinking thousands, that he may gather, what? Is he teaching because he must deliver a message to the world? Is he preaching because he feels called upon to give his fellow men some message to lead them to a happier method of living? Or is Dr. Bell, or Professor Bell, Ph. D., making a mere business of this so-called occultism?

Such a man as Dr. Bell, or Professor Bell, Ph. D., A. T. S. (And Then Some), fascinates his hearers where an ordinary clergyman would fail for the reason that he states certain facts that each individual feels that he recognizes, though he may seldom have thought of them. He is a thinker, to a considerable degree, but charges so much per thought. Thought, of course, is marketable, fetching the highest prices occasionally, but in the commerce of thought that is found in all dealings, the distinction between labor and graft. There must be a shadowland where labor and graft meet, but broad principles do not border on the shadow. A man writes thought for pay, he thinks and invents and, in the last analysis, all that is saleable or purchasable is thought in the concrete. Yet we have been told by them of old time, and there are many of us of this time who feel that if we have something good to tell our neighbor we should not ask him to give us gold for the information.

Now Bell was once a clergyman, and is supposed to have found out that he was "unconsciously hypnotic" to such an extent that he had the faculty of raising huge sums of money for the church for which he labored. Women stripped themselves of their jewels and flung the baubles at his feet under stress of his emotional eloquence and animal magnetism, wishing next day that they had their pretty playthings back. It occurred to Bell that he was not forever going to remain a mere collector of cash for churches when he was inspired to teach truth, or words to that effect. Why, then, did he not forever quit collecting and pass around the truth that inspired him, free? Perhaps the discovery that he was an unconscious hypnotic. Wise enough to remember the women who gave up their jewels and regretted the giving on the morning after, Bell realized that his system of purchasable philosophy must not be over emotional. It must last. To last it must be indefinite. It must not have a name. People are forever changing their brands, in everything, whereas if they have no brand in any one thing or idea they cannot very well change, though they may develop. Hence Bell's round-the-world success, meeting in parlors and polishing platitudes till the fact that the earth is inclined to be somewhat roundish becomes interpreted as a sacred fact that can be communicated only to the elect initiates in occultism—at so much per.

We pay a preacher, if we like, and, if we like, we may pay Dr. Bell, or Professor Bell, Ph. D., even as we pay an actor, a musician, an artist or even a grocer, but we want to know, sometimes, if we could not get the same goods without the cash deposit.

All this may strike the reader as very rambling and without particular point, but it is not pretended as a lecture, an essay, an article, a roast, a criticism, or any other predigested thought projection. It is alleged to be only food for thought.

Now here is the promised occultism for which, elsewhere, you might have to pay; though here it is stripped of mystic words, priestly postures, holy handclaps, eye actions, animal magnetism, unconscious hypnotism, and voice vaudeville, all of which actings are all right when they are the natural accompaniment of sincere expression, but all of which may hinder rather than help real thinking thought, when slapped in as ulterior theatricals.

1. Breathe.
2. Eat.
3. Sleep.
4. Think.
5. Act.
6. Love.
7. Live.

Now that would cost you something by the Bell system!

Probably it is too simple to satisfy. Let us expatiate: 1. Breathe all the time with thoroughness (corsets and cigarettes have to be dropped or at least properly regulated at the portal of true occultism). 2. Eat what you want when you want it (if you can get it). 3. Sleep when you are tired and until you are rested. 4. Think your own thoughts without fear of the opinions of others (opinions are not necessarily thought). 5. Act after thought, not on impulse or instinct without thought. 6. Love, well, just love; but be serious about it. It is not an amusement, but a religion, the universal religion of which we are all followers but in whose observance we are not all initiates. 7. Live! If you breathe, eat, sleep, think, act and love, you'll live. Any well regulated cow or cat can be your instructor (without charge and without unconscious hypnotism) in breathing, eating and sleeping. Thinking and acting distinguish the man from the animal, or ought to. When we come to loving loving in reality thoroughly excuses all the stories we ever read of angels, or paradise, and "living" explains all the theories of gods.

If this doesn't suit, gather your loose change and go sit cross-legged or cross-eyed before a large, impressive gentleman with engaging eyes and voluminous voice, who left several pounds of occult hair with the Young Hotel barber last time he was here, and who exudes elocution, perspires proverbs, sighs secret, whispers wizardry, murmurs mysticism, mumbles mystery, mutters mesmeric messages, manhandles emotions, outpreaches the preachers and "explains" everything.

The laborer is indeed worthy of his hire, but is the patent medicine peddler hired or is he not obtaining money under false pretenses? Inasmuch as Bell helps people to think he is indeed to be called blessed, for if they think enough they will sometime understand. But isn't Bell, Dr. Bell, or Professor Bell, Ph. D., something of a ringer?

SANITARY JOBS REPORTIONED

Last night the Board of Supervisors, on motion of Aylett, resolved to rescind the approval of the Mayor's appointees of sanitary officers. Cox and Logan voted against the resolution, on the grounds that the officials had all been satisfactorily performing their duties and that the Board's approval of the appointments was tantamount to regular appointments by the Board authorized by the new legislation.

Another resolution moved by Aylett made nominations, the nominees all being elected. Kane, seconded by Ahia, put up William Isaacs for fish inspector in opposition to Lot C. Lane, but Ahia voted for Lane who was elected in place of Williams, whom the Mayor had appointed in place of Lane, who had held over from the Board of Health service.

Thos. P. Cummins was elected a sanitary inspector in place of Durao, who had "queered" himself by complaining about his job.

An assistant fish inspector was appointed in the person of Albert Woodward, at $45 a month, on the representation of Chairman Aylett of the health committee that the office was necessary. When the Chinese marketmen paid for inspection there were two inspectors and Williams had been paying an assistant out of his own pocket.

These were the only changes, officials reappointed being: Dr. Bruce McV. Mackall, city and county physician; Dr. W. T. Monsarrat, meat inspector; J. H. Mielstein, plumbing inspector; J. Vivichaves, sanitary inspector; Louis K. Kane, morgue attendant.

Cox declined to vote on the appointments for the same reasons as he had voted against rescinding appointments, and was excused by unanimous consent.

While Cox's vote was pending a discussion broke out between Mayor Fern and Aylett in the course of which the Mayor declared he would have the action of the Board tested in the courts. Although out of order this debate was renewed at nearly every vote on a name, wasting a great deal of time over a matter already decided. On two occasions the Mayor declined to put the motion, smilingly requesting Logan to put the "one, two, three" process in action.

Motions were carried to make the appointments take effect on September 1 and that they be in lieu of the Mayor's appointments, the salaries to be unchanged.

CHINA CRITICIZES JAPAN'S ACTION

RELIVING ON HER MILITARY SUPERIORITY TO FORCE HER RAILWAY POLICIES IN MANCHURIA.

WASHINGTON, August 13.—That China is suffering from a plain violation of treaty stipulation on the part of Japan is the statement made in a memorandum furnished the State Department by the Chinese legation in regard to the issues arising out of the Antung-Mukden railway.

"It is a matter of surprise and regret, therefore that Japan, relying on her military and naval superiority," the memorandum says, "ventures to override reason and disregard the provisions of the Peking convention."

"It is manifest," the statement continues, "that the object of Japan in contending for the reconstruction of the line is not for commercial but for military and strategic reasons. China is already suffering much from the encroachments of the Japanese on her powers of sovereignty in the South Manchurian railway, in plain violation of treaty stipulation. With this lesson in mind, the imperial government was determined that questions of railway guards and military police should be discussed as soon as the negotiations commenced. If Japan had adopted a reasonable attitude, the negotiations would have been long concluded.

LAST RESPECTS TO C. M. COOKE

Public funeral services over the remains of the late Charles M. Cooke will be held at 3:30 tomorrow afternoon at Central Union church. Mrs. Bruce McV. Mackall will be the soloist, she having been summoned home by wireless for the funeral.

At the family services conducted by Rev. Dr. Scudder at the house yesterday, many of the intimate neighbors, business and church associates attended.

The Hawaiian band will be in attendance at Kawaiahao churchyard. The impasse must, therefore, be due to Japan's obstructive policy.

"The imperial government, convinced of its correct attitude, will resume negotiations with Japan in the same conciliatory spirit as before."

Bearing date of Peking, August 10, the memorandum reviews the recent negotiations and the statement is made that in the present dispute it is to be noted that the imperial government has shown throughout a conciliatory attitude. China has not declared the concession given to Japan for introducing improvements on the line of the Antung-Wukden railroad forfeited, in spite of the fact that the time limit for making them has expired. In the matters of widening the gauge China has also yielded, although the widening, China alleges, is uncalled for.

PROSPERITY HARBINGERS

WASHINGTON, August 10.—A cornucopia of prosperity seems to be tilting over the country, ready to pour down a golden stream of beneficence, judging from the trade and financial reports flashed from every section of the land. Nature and the republican party, by team work, are said to be pulling off a big stunt. But let it be understood that it is a distinct concession on the part of the republican party to headline nature at all, in this double turn.

Yesterday's government crop reports predicting bumper crops of grain and financiers who keep a finger upon the reasonably good crops of cotton, warmed the cockles of the heart of the pulse of trade. They foresaw big returns to the farmers, gratifying freight receipts for the railroads and a "rake-off" to all the middle men. Coincident with this good news came dispatch after dispatch telling of resumption of activity in manufacturing employment of labor and preparations for big business for the future. The settlement of the tariff agitation and the preservation of protection to American industries are claimed to be the causes of these happy conditions, and that is where the republican party steps to the front and bows to bouquets.

BIG ORDER FOR LOCOMOTIVES.

An order for $1,000,000 worth of locomotives from one railroad company was placed with a Philadelphia shop yesterday. That means, it is claimed, the taking on of more machinists and laborers. There are now 6,500 men in the shops, against 4,500 this time last year. The maximum of employes in these works is 17,000 in good times.

In one county alone in New Jersey—Essex county—2,000 additional workmen are to be taken on in one branch of industry—leather manufacturing, as direct result of the tariff legislation, it is announced. The leather makers have been running with limited forces up to this time.

From Chicago came the announcement of the placing yesterday of orders for over 50,000 tons of steel rails, and the Harriman lines are to buy 100,000. Lubricating iron is selling $10 above the low point of the year. The South Chicago rail mills of the steel trust are blocked ahead until December with orders and the Gary plant until October.

The Denver and Rio Grande Railway Company borrowed $5,000,000 from a bank in Holland to increase its facilities for handling the increased traffic on the Pacific coast. The Harriman lines have $50,000,000 in cash in the treasury, and the financial world is all agog to know what it will be spent for and where. Mr. Harriman, who is taking the waters at Bad Gastein, let drop some casual remark about his properties, and the natives made a pool to buy 3,000 shares of one of his railway stocks. Mr. Harriman recently placed an order for 105 locomotives about as offhand as you would order a pot roast for wash-day dinner.

SIGNIFICANT NEWS ITEMS.

Little dispatches such as this are pointers, too: "Passenger travel over the western railroads is now the heaviest in years, and it is doubtful if there ever was as much traffic as at this season. The business has increased to such an extent that the Blank railroad is running two trains a day through from Chicago and St. Louis to Seattle, and all are crowded to the limit."

The Pennsylvania railroad ordered 2,000 steel coke cars from one company and 600 from another. The Atchison ordered 130 new passenger cars from the Pullman company. All the car foundries are said to be increasing their forces, except one where there is a strike of 5,600 operatives over the open or closed shop question. Texas farmers have organized a "trust" to control the output of cotton and sustain prices. They claim to control 98 per cent of the Texas cotton crop, and with warehouses with a capacity of storing 2,500,000 bales of cotton, will try to hold the crop for better prices.

A FEW DARK SPOTS.

The foregoing are only random notes of the revival of prosperity and general business straws to show the direction of the trade winds for one day. There are other sides of the shield, of course. Here is something from the scene of the strike of the Pressed Steel Car workers:

"Today will mark four weeks since the strike of the 5,600 workmen began. * * * Today is eviction day, and the strikers have been ordered out of the company's houses, and a reinforcement of deputies has arrived at the scene overnight."

Only two little clouds appear on the business horizon, neither larger than a man's hand at present. One is the possibility of labor troubles over the open-shop contest, as mills start up, and the other a possible scarcity of money to move the enormous crops. Chicago predicts 3 per cent money by September 1. There will be, it is predicted, a renewal of demand for reform of the currency, and it will be accentuated, it is said, by the wonderful prosperity calling into service a nod of currency in excess of the capacity of the present currency system to meet the rising tide.

SOLD THE WORLD OVER.

"We have in stock many colic and diarrhoea medicines," says R. M. White a prominent merchant of Turtle Bayou, Tex., U. S. A., "but sell more of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy than of all others put together. For sale by all dealers, Benson, Smith & Co., agents for Hawaii."

1,452 Cars Asked For in Five Days

The highest compliment ever paid a new car followed our announcement to the trade. Every automobile dealer in America received practically the same day an announcement of the Hudson "20," giving complete specifications and a list of officers, engineers and directors of the Hudson Motor Car Company.

This announcement was received by dealers the 19th of May. During five days following we received 104 telegrams and long distance calls all containing requests for the agency for the Hudson "Twenty," and giving the number of cars wanted.

The grand total of the cars asked for in these telegrams and long distance calls was 1,452.

Scores of certified checks, were received from dealers in different parts of the country who wished, if possible, to bind territory at once.

In addition to telegrams, we received within ten days 1,873 letters from dealers, requesting territory in which to sell the Hudson "Twenty."

Of course we could not give an agency to every dealer who wanted it—in many instances several requests were from the same city. But the true significance of this wonderful response lies in the fact that 104 men who sent telegrams, and 1,873 who wrote letters are all actually in the automobile business. They are selling cars every day.

They judge a car from the over-critical standpoint of the man who has to sell them—the man who is going to invest his money and his business reputation.

They know where other cars are weak. They know why certain cars are hard to sell. Being experts they know from the specifications and appearance of the 1910 Hudson "Twenty" and from the reputation of the men behind it, that never before was a car offered which represented so much value for the money. They know that for the first time a car is being built to sell for less than $1,000 free from every objection heretofore raised against cars selling at or near this price. They know that never before has a car with so many high grade features been sold for $900.

Some Reasons why the Hudson "Twenty" has Created a Sensation

Three-quarter Elliptic Springs
Semi-elliptic in front, and three-quarter elliptic rear springs are the easiest riding under all conditions, faster and due to their peculiar actions, are the least liable to fracture. This is the spring suspension found on the Hudson "Twenty."

Sliding Gear Transmission
It has a sliding gear transmission, selective type, three speeds forward and reverse, such as you find on the Packard, Peerless, and other high grade cars.

50 Miles an Hour
Any Hudson "Twenty" will do fifty miles an hour. It has all the power you could ever

Long Stroke Motor
With a bore of 3½" and a stroke of 4½" it conforms to the most up-to-date foreign design, a long stroke motor.

Carburetor Specially Designed
The carburetor has been especially designed for the motor, insuring absolute control at all speeds.

Our allotment of these cars is limited and orders will be filled in rotation as received. Please call, telephone or write for further information.

have use for. It not only looks like the most expensive cars, but it acts like them too. It is strong, speedy, roomy and stylish.

The Ideal Car
The Hudson "Twenty" is the ideal car at the price. It leaves nothing to be desired.

Nothing experimental about it. Nothing untried.

The "Twenty" has been recognized by the Association of Licensed Automobile Manufacturers. It is the only four cylinder licensed car selling for less than $1,000.

New Forms Of Commission Government

Colorado Springs has adopted the commission form of government. The elective officers are to consist of a mayor and four councilmen, chosen from the city at large, and there is to be a division of the administrative powers of the city into five departments—waterways, finance, public safety, public works and property, presided over respectively by the mayor and four councilmen. All city employes are to be appointed by the mayor on recommendation of the heads of departments. It provides also for an absolute elimination of party politics; for adequate civil service rules; for the recall of any elective officers by special election on petition of 30 per cent of the voters; for initiative and referendum by 15 per cent of the voters, and for submission of all bond issues and franchise grants to popular vote. Other cities in Colorado, notably Grand Junction, are proceeding under the same law upon the authority of which this Colorado Springs charter has been adopted. In discussing the bill providing for government by commission the Coloradans went into the possible dangers as well as the prospective benefits of the new plans. It was generally agreed that a tendency toward extravagance is the most serious danger that threatens the new plan.

It is a single chamber, with a division of duties as well as of compensation. There seems to be a major and a minor branch. The latter is composed of six members elected at large for longer terms, with higher pay and larger authority and responsibility than the nine members who represent the wards. With the mayor to head them, these six aldermen will constitute a board of public works. The administrative service of the city is largely in their hands, and to this extent the commission idea seems to have been introduced.

The remarkable fact in the Concord case, is that the discussion of the bill granting to the city the new form of government was devoted largely to the danger of running into large salaries, continuous increases of the expense account, extravagance; particularly during the closing terms of incumbents or in cases in which incumbents intend to serve only a single term.

Why does the FRANKLIN win all the important economy contests and outclass all other automobiles in reliability trials, if it is not the most economical, most efficient and strongest automobile made?

1909 FRANKLIN RECORD CONTEST

HARRISBURG RELIABILITY AND ENDURANCE TEST.—Franklin Model D won the Governor's Trophy, the highest award of the contest. In this run the Franklin's nearest competitor had 96 points penalization.

NEW YORK AUTOMOBILE TRADE ASSOCIATION ONE-GALLON MILEAGE CONTEST.—The Franklin won its class prize, also grand prize, and established a world's economy record by carrying the greatest load the greatest distance on one gallon of gasoline.

PITTSBURG ENDURANCE RUN.—Franklin Model D was the only automobile to make the run of 450 miles without penalization, for repairs or adjustments.

WORCESTER RELIABILITY TRIAL.—Franklin Model D won the only perfect score. The technical examination after the contest eliminated thirteen contestants who had clean road scores.

CLEVELAND ENDURANCE AND ECONOMY CONTEST.—Franklin Model D won the highest award. It had a perfect road score and also the lowest gasoline consumption.

CHICAGO 1000-MILE RELIABILITY TEST.—Franklin Model D won a perfect score. The technical examination after the contest caused the penalization of many entrants.

BRETTON WOODS RELIABILITY RUN.—Franklin Model D won a perfect score. In this run it was the only 1909 stock model that was shipped direct from the factory to the contest route. It went through the 1600-mile grind without a single adjustment.

GLIDDEN TOUR.—Franklin Model D and Model H both won perfect scores. In this contest they were acknowledged to be the easiest-riding of all motor-cars, and they had no tire trouble.

All of which proves that an automobile constructed so that it rides easily is the best automobile mechanically and the most reliable, that great weight is not necessary for strength, that Franklin non-jarring construction and light weight mean comfort, economy and safety, that the Franklin air-cooled engine is without a rival for efficient work and staying power.

AALA GAMES PROMISING

The public will be greatly interested in the Riverside League ball games tomorrow afternoon at Aala Park, as the Chinese Athletic Association team will make its first bow to the fans.

There are several star players of the Dragonlets who have signed with the team and in the list is included no less a personage than En Sue, who is considered the best Chinese ball player who ever hit these islands.

The fans will be pleased to hear that this famous little athlete has given his consent to battle for the honor of his old country.

The first contest of the day will be a game between the Palamas and the Kewalos. Of course all the fans know that both of these teams have held championship honors in different leagues and this means that they know how to handle the horsehide. The Palamas have been greatly strengthened by the inclusion of several new stars, who will make their first appearance on the diamond in this game.

Kealoha, who is expected in the near future from the Crescent City, is to pitch in the second series. In the meantime Paaluh will be the twirling artist.

The Dragonlets are fancied to win from the Roadpounders. There is one Johnny Amoy, who will captain the nine and he is one of the best players that Dragonland can boast of. All wish him luck in heading the Dragon nine.

In the first game, the Dragonlets, now reorganized, will have Lal Pul, the Chinese cemon of the curve box. And then there is A. F. Yau, who is to do the mask. The rest of the team will be as strong as can be and they have a good chance to win from the Fort Shafter boys.

OAHU LEAGUE GAMES LOOK LIKE THE GOODS

ATHLETIC PARK GAMES; MARINES VS. BOERS; JAPS VS. DRAGONLETS.

Bill Espinda, usually and affectionately known as the King of Spain, on account of his extraordinary likeness to that royal gentleman, will pitch for the J. A. C. against the Dragonlets tomorrow.

This is something that should make all the fans sit up and take notice. Bill is one of the headiest and cleverest of the younger generation of ball twirlers. He is in the same class as George Clark, Jack Flores and the other well known Oahu League slabsters.

Long, rather slim, yet graceful in his actions, that Bill Espinda never gets rattled. He has never once been accused of going up in the air since he has been in the box, and as he is expected to do big things tomorrow, he will certainly be on his mettle.

Bill came back from Maui with the cricketing bunch and became greatly enthused when he was told how well the baseball players had done in the new game. He stated that sometime he would like to have a chance himself and see whether he could bowl a few bouncing curves the same way he sends them through the air.

The chief interest in the games tomorrow centers round the meeting of the Marines and Kalfhis. Their recent nineteen-inning game which went to a tie on account of darkness and is said to be the greatest ball game ever played in Honolulu, has kept the fans waiting for this next meeting.

George Clark will pitch for the Boers and Gibson for the Marines. Shephard, the husky Fifth Cavalry boy, will handle the big mitt for George and has promised to keep his temper, although the loss of it sure won the game for the Boers last Sunday.

Nobody knows who will catch for the Marines. This is a matter of keen interest to the fans and something to keep them guessing until they see the lineup on the field.

There was a meeting of the Oahu League last night at which it was agreed that the Marines might get a civilian catcher provided that he was not a big league player. It was hinted by the manager of the team that they had a good one in view but his name was not given for publication as he had not been signed up.

They need a good catcher for that man Gibson. He sends in some of the fiercest balls that were ever seen, at times, and is hard to hold on that account. On the other hand Gibson is very correct on signals and, when he nods to a signal for an outcurve, he does not come through with an incurve or dropdown and thus get his catcher mad.

The second game between the Dragonlets and Japs lacks no interest because it is certain that the game will be close and exciting. With the King of Spain in the box for one team and that great little Chinese pitcher Apau, for the other team, there will be a twirlers' battle.

Clever outfielding has been a great feature of the Athletic park games for some time and this has started considerable emulation. The fans may look out for running catches and keen outfielding in both games tomorrow.
