

THE SENATE AND THE GOVERNOR

WASHLADIES SAFE; POLICE MUST BEHAVE; SPLIT BILL DEFERRED

SIXTY BILLS SO FAR Tabled in the House out of 213—NO EXPENSES DURING LAST WEEK—JAPANESE ADMIRAL IS MODEST—SPEAKER ORDERS CLERK TO READ HIS OWN MINUTES—EIGHT NEW LAWS—SMOOTH SESSION.

Long's bill for $25 license for laundries, drying or cleaning establishments, passed third reading in the House this morning, by 18 to 10, the ten opposing on the ground that it would be a hardship, inasmuch as the gentle lady who takes in washing for a few gentlemen or others, to add to her modest exchequer, with the capital of a bar of brown soap, could never afford to dig up $25. But the eighteen seemed to feel that, inasmuch as the present law required a tax of $25, and the present law had never persecuted the private washlady, the new bill would not likely cause hardship.

Makekau's H. B. 192, relating to police, providing penalties for officers failing to enforce fishing laws, passed third reading.

Kawewehi's bill to split Hawaii into two counties goes over till tomorrow for third reading.

FORTY-SIXTH DAY. Morning Session.

"The Chair will inform the House," said Speaker Holstein at the opening of this morning's session, "that since the stenographer has prepared no notes of the proceedings of Saturday, and the clerk having been notified by the Chair to himself prepare the minutes, the clerk will now read the minutes of the proceedings of Saturday."

Whereupon Clerk Woodward proceeded to read the full detailed minutes of Saturday's session, prepared by himself. This occupied twenty minutes, during which time there were numerous pilgrimages to the platform, where members, one by one, perched for a moment besides the Speaker for consultation or otherwise, such members representing both sides of the argument over the question of extra pay for the stenographer, though there was nothing to show that this was the subject in conference.

Sheldon moved that the minutes be adopted and it was so ordered, without a murmur.

"The Clerk," ordered the Speaker will furnish carbon copies of the minutes to the Journal committee, to the assistant clerk of the Journal committee, and to the Secretary of the Territory."

LICHI RETURNS THANKS.

Admiral Ijichi's reply to the House's resolution of welcome to the recently visiting Japanese squadron, sent through the Japanese Consul General and Governor Frear, was read in the House. The Admiral deeply appreciated the House memorial; he could not, however, admit all the good things that had therein been contained concerning himself, but as to the appreciation of international friendliness, the noble welcome, etc., he would take it to be a pleasure and a duty to report to his home government how well he and his squadron had been received here and what great evidence there was of friendship between the peoples of Japan and America.

APPRECIATION APPRECIATED.
From Pukou, Molokai, there came a communication thanking the House for the beautifully engrossed resolution anent the decease of Kahaulelio, late assistant clerk of the House, "not because he had gone to rest, but because of his conscientious labors for the House."

NUUANU DAM REPORT.
Sheldon entered the report of the special committee of which he is chairman, on Nuuanu dam. After explaining that delay in reporting was caused by rainy weather and inability to visit the dam and secure proper data in rainy weather, the report, as published elsewhere, finds work on the dam to be satisfactory.

212 BILLS ENTERED.

Speaker Holstein announced that up to and including the session of Saturday last, the forty-fifth day, there had been 212 bills introduced in the House, of which sixty had been tabled, fourteen had been indefinitely postponed, fifty-five had been sent to the governor, forty had become law, and six had been vetoed. There was no difference in House expenses since last reported, a week ago.

SECOND PAGE.

On special order of the day the House bill to amend Revised Laws, in relation to stamp duties, passed second reading, the bill bringing counties and the City and County of Honolulu, or other government departments, into the provisions.

SAVE THE WASHERWOMEN.
Long's bill for a $25 a year tax on laundries, drying and cleaning establishments, was up for third reading.

Sheldon wanted to know if this bill was to take in women who, not having a regularly established laundry, nevertheless might be taking in a little washing to help things along. If such a washlady was to be taxed $25 a year by way of license, as a laundry, it would be a hardship and an injustice and therefore Sheldon was against it. Cohen also opposed the bill on similar grounds. Alfonso knew that all the capital required by a washerwoman was a bar of soap and a $25 tax would be an outrage. There he moved inde-

SENATE AND CONFIRMATIONS

THE UPPER HOUSE OF THE LEGISLATURE IN DEMOCRATIC CONTROL—WHAT MEMBERS OF THE MAJORITY HAVE TO SAY OF THEIR REASONS FOR NOT CONFIRMING HEMENWAY—J. S. GILMAN MENTIONED FOR TREASURER OF TERRITORY.

The matter of confirmation of the Governor's nominations is to come up in the Senate again tomorrow. The senators are waiting with considerable expectancy to learn what attitude the governor will take regarding the rejection of Hemenway and Campbell. It is said that those who voted to reject them are prepared to hold up the salary appropriations for attorney general and Treasurer, until they hear from the executive with some new names.

It is now stated that there were in fact ten votes available against Hemenway and that nine were intended as against him when the roll was called. Baker, who voted to confirm, made a mistake when his name was called, having intended to vote the other way, but as there was a majority for rejection he did not correct himself. According to current political talk, the nine or ten who downed Hemenway are ready to support a plan to considerably raise the attorney general's salary with a view to having the department placed in charge of some one of the older "big" men of the local bar, with the understanding that he shall devote himself exclusively to the work.

Hemenway's being turned down is said to have been largely due to occurrences since the session began. The failure of the Abe indictment was brought against his department, and the senators also charged him with some deficiencies in bills drawn for the present session. "The purchasing agent bill, which was so defective that we are being compelled to repeal it in part, was attorney general's department work," said one senator. Another member of the upper house has had a kick coming because the attorney general, he says, told him to go to his lawyer when he wanted aid in drafting a bill.

The members of the majority, which is practically a Democratic majority, of the Democratic leaders this session, say that they have no candidates for the offices. "The reasons for our action were good and sufficient," said one of them, "and if the governor wants to know what they were he can easily find out."

The defeat of Campbell was expected but that of Hemenway came as a surprise, as well as a disappointment to some of the caucus majority who had to vote against him. It is learned that Superintendent of Public Instruction would be having a nice fight on his hands, but for the fact that he is not up for confirmation at this session. Babbitt's term does not expire for a year or so yet. Members from the other islands would much like to camp on his trail, and they are backed, it is said, by a flood of kicks from teachers charging favoritism in salaries, etc. "Babbitt would lose by a bigger vote than Campbell's ten to five if he were up for confirmation," said one Senator.

The name of J. S. Gilman has been talked of for treasurer. It is thought that he would be confirmed. One of the members of the majority when asked said he had heard the name mentioned and thought it would carry. Others had not heard of it and didn't want to express an opinion.

SENATE CAUTIOUS ON THREE BILLS

This morning the Senate put on the brakes in the cases of three important bills to avoid running into the washout of hasty legislation. The first was the depository bill, the second the insanity commission bill and the third the railroads eminent domain bill. All were deferred for further deliberation. For some time the bill devoting the revenue of the water and sewer works of Honolulu to payment of interest and principal on the public indebtedness so far as incurred on account of said works and to extension and improvement thereof looked for a while to be in jeopardy, but it was pulled through its third reading with an amendment making ten per cent of the gross revenue payable on the indebtedness account before the Superintendent of Public Works can use any of the money for extensions or improvements. The show bill from the House passed second reading with an amendment that will enable the authorities to prevent exhibitions of crime in moving pictures.

THE SENATE.

FORTY-SIXTH DAY.
Coelho presented a petition from the Leper Settlement, saying he would endorse it after translation.

Moore presented a report from the committee of ways and means on House bill relating to show houses, recommending an amendment the effect of which would prohibit the exhibition of any picture of anything which, if actually done, would be an infraction of the laws of Hawaii.

Knudsen presented a report of the judiciary committee on Senate bill to authorize the issuing of land patents for certain church sites, recommending its passage. President Smith suggested that the phrase "the available facts" should be substituted for "all it was carried and the report, with the bill so amended, was adopted.

The same committee recommended passage of House concurrent resolution to request the Delegate to Congress to urge the passage of the bill granting to Queen Liliuokalani $250,000 as compensation for loss of crown lands. Adopted.

The same committee recommend the passage, with amendments submitted, of House bill to safeguard the taking of property by railroad companies under the power of eminent domain. Laid on table to be considered with the bill.

Brown presented a petition with fifteen signatures for an appropriation to build a road through the Honoumulehu.

ORDER OF THE DAY.

Senate bill to regulate the examination of candidates for the practice of pharmacy passed third reading 13-9.

KENAKE FOR POSTMASTER

Louis Kenake, former assistant postmaster of Honolulu, is said to be a candidate for Postmaster, at the expiration of the term of Postmaster Pratt. Kenake is now in California in the postal service, having left here when he failed to get the postmaster-ship before Pratt's reappointment has been considerably delayed, and there are reports from Washington of plitika in the way of his getting another term, as a result largely of the Stayton matter.

DOUBLE MINUTES

From present indications there will be two sets of minutes ready to be read in the House of Representatives tomorrow morning.

The Speaker has ordered Clerk Woodward to prepare the minutes from his own notes, which Woodward did this morning and which he will continue to do, not having to be a stenographer to take the full report of daily sessions.

On the other hand Stenographer Lloyd will have transcription of his shorthand minutes ready for tomorrow's reading, although he had none this day and, as far as known, his minutes may be ignored by the House. All this is a result of the defeated resolution to have Lloyd paid extra per folio for transcribing notes for which he is already paid $10 per day. Rumor has it that Lloyd will draw no more pay this session.

NUUANU DAM FOUND TO BE ALL RIGHT

That Nuuanu dam work has been and is being carried on in the most satisfactory manner, is the unanimous verdict of the special committee of the House of Representatives of which Sheldon is chairman, which reported today as follows, their report being adopted:

A great part of the committee's time was spent in securing and preparing data. It was the intention that, as soon as the necessary data were secured to proceed to the dam, ad make a personal inspection of the work, but owing to the heavy and frequent rains, during the greater part of the past month, your committee were unable to make the visit, hence the delay in filing this our report.

"In the course of our investigation, information was given to your committee, that the Nuuanu dam had suffered a break during January last, between Stations 10 and 12, which the Superintendent of Public Works admitted to be true.

"After several waits for a suitable day to make the proposed visit, a start was finally made on the 2nd instant.

"Immediately upon our arrival, we were taken to the scene of the accident, but found that the damaged por-

IN HAWAII, WALKING AROUND THE WORLD

G. W. KRISZ—ERICK WELEN.

There's a Marathon race with a vengeance, a race against time, and for six thousand dollars.

Gilbert W. Kriesz, Dutch and Erick Welen, Scandinavian, on a walking trip around the world, arrived in Honolulu on Saturday as stowaways aboard the American barkentine Irmgard, Captain Christiansen, from San Francisco.

They started from Denver, Colorado, at 10 a. m., of January 5, last, and must be back in Denver by January 5, 1912, in other words they must complete the circle of the globe in three years. They are not permitted, by the terms of the wager, to pay their way, nor may they beg. They make their living selling picture post-cards of themselves in walking costume. They started without money.

Their journey lies from here to Japan, through Japan, China, Hindustan, British India, Persia, Turkey, Austria, Germany, Holland, Scandinavia, Belgium, France, England, to New York and across from New York to Denver again.

Otto Floto, Sporting Editor of the Denver Post, started them off. They walked to Frisco and there stowed away aboard the Irmgard. When they were discovered to be aboard they were, naturally, put to work, and good sailors they proved to be.

Each carries a book in which the signatures of prominent officials along the way are recorded as evidence of the walkers' accomplishments.

Kriesz has been around the world before, having made it in four years and three months, starting from Hamburg, going through Russia and Siberia and China, across the Behing straits and down through Alaska to the States, and so across the Atlantic back to Germany.

In Peking he was shot by Boxers and for a time believed he would quit walking this earth for a while.

The world-walkers will leave this city for Japan as soon as convenient.

WHY SPEAKER CANNON WON OUT

(Special Correspondence.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 2.—The republican insurgents in the House of Representatives, and their allies, the democrats, lost their fight for revision of the House rules for two reasons: they lacked intelligent leadership, and they had no practical plan of revision to propose. Had they been led by some master hand, and had they offered to the House some tangible, sensible modification of the old rules, they would have carried the day, for it was demonstrated that they had the vote to defeat the Cannon forces. But when they muddled affairs, and stirred up strife in their own camp, and when Fitzgerald of the York, a democrat believer in revision, came forward with a definite plan for revising the rules, the democrats divided, and enough of them joined with the Cannon forces to utterly rout the insurgent band and the bulk of their democratic cohorts, and the old leaders sustained a substantial victory.

The very fact that the revisionists had won their fight, and then threw away their victory, was strong evidence that the men leading the clamor against Cannon were incompetent to undertake to revise the rules. And the situation which they themselves brought about was ample justification for republicans who stood by Cannon and his leaders. The insurgents were for riot and disorder, and had they carried the day, the House of Representatives would have become a mob; disorder and riot would have been rampant, and business, instead of being facilitated, would have been hindered. The anti-Cannon men were not equal to the job they had undertaken.

When the real attitude of the allied forces was shown up in the debate on the rules, it was found that the republican insurgents were clamoring to take from the Speaker the right to appoint the House committees, but were willing to have committees made up by a special committee of 15, chosen by Champ Clark, the minority leader. Clark, of course, had chosen a "packed" committee which he could dominate. Thus, it became known, that the insurgents were really trying to transfer to the minority leader the right to make committee assignments in the House—a most unheard-of thing in parliamentary procedure.

The scheme would have been had enough under any circumstances, but the fight showed up Champ Clark, the minority leader, in very poor light. Clark came out of that fight with less credit than any other man who participated. He demonstrated his own utter lack of fitness for party leadership, for he himself, in the midst of the struggle, created a breach in the democratic line-up, which resulted in giving the Cannon forces more than enough support to defeat the insurgent movement. Clark not only snubbed, but insulted the brightest man on the democratic side of the House, and that insult was resented by all of Fitzgerald's friends. Had Clark been even a reasonably shrewd leader he would not have divided his own forces in the midst of a contest.

But Clark made other tactical breaks. He declared that the republican insurgents had entered into a hide-bound agreement to act solidly with the democrats first, last and all the time. When cross-questioned on this point, he reiterated his statement. That admission placed the republican insurgents on the plane with the democrats—in effect, made them democrats. It was more than they could stand, and "Gussie" Gardner, one of their leaders, was forced to deny Clark's statement, and to assert that the agreement did not extend beyond the fight on the rules. When Gardner made this fling, he drove other democrats to the support of Fitzgerald.

While Champ Clark, the minority leader, was ostensibly the leader of the combined movement against the old House rules, "Gussie" Gardner of Massachusetts was looked upon as leader of the little insurgent band. "Gussie" Gardner is about as well equipped to lead any movement as any man addressed by his colleagues as "Gussie." He is all that the name "Gussie" implies, and his name is really "Augustus."

What Gardner don't know about the House rules, and what he don't know about leading an insurgent band would fill a very large volume. He is perhaps competent to lead a cotillion or conduct a debate in a sewing circle of maiden ladies, but in a fight with trained men, he is hopeless—impossible.

The very fact that the insurgents and the democrats combined had a majority of 4 in the entire House, and had used this majority to vote down the old rules, was reason enough why they should have proposed and adopted new rules. But when the crisis came, they had no new rules to propose; they had nothing to propose except delay, and they made a mess in proposing even that. They declared time was necessary to study the rules, prior to revising them. Yet every sane man knows that 99 out of every 100 rules, the evolution of centuries of legislative practice, needs no revision, and the changes demanded could have been embodied in not more than six new rules. If these men, protesting against the old rules, had formulated six intelligent new rules, as substitutes for those old rules which were considered objectionable, and had submitted their programme in definite form, they could have won out. But they did not have the ordinary intelligence to prepare for their fight, and naturally they were defeated. It did not require six months of study to formulate half a dozen rules to cure the alleged evils complained of; there was absolutely no necessity for investigating the great body of the rules, which are the rules of all legislative bodies; there was merely a crying need for half a dozen plain, effective amendments to the old Reed rules, and any man striving honestly for a revision of the rules should have been able to have suggested half-dozen changes.

But not one of them had a plan to suggest—not one but Fitzgerald and in view of the peculiar situation in the House, his changes were adopted, and the main body of the opposition was broken. The old rules could not have been adopted without change; their adoption was voted down by a majority of four. And this same majority would have voted in rules drawn by the insurgents, had any been presented.

All of which merely goes to show the type of dubs who have raised the hue and cry against the Cannon forces in the House of Representatives. They wanted something different, but not a man among them knew just what he wanted.

"PALS" TONIGHT AT THE ORPHEUM

After two days of rest the members of the Elleford Company are anxiously awaiting their opening at the Orpheum tonight. Each member of the organization seems to take an individual interest in seeing that "Pals" the comedy drama proves a big hit. They are all delighted with their parts and are desirous of showing theatre goers that Mr. Elleford has surpassed all of his previous efforts to please, in this organization. In "Pals" you have more laughs than in the ordinary farce, a powerful dramatic story devoid of rough melodramatic features but containing several powerful climaxes. One feature is the pretty stage settings for each act. Between acts the wonderful Osborn children will introduce an entirely new specialty that will be in the nature of a surprise to their friends. It is entitled "Play Ball," and is a caricature on the national game. They will introduce several clever dancing and singing features. These youngsters have just returned from the east where they have been taking dancing lessons from Avilene the foremost instructor in America. During the action of the play several singing turns will be introduced. The sale of seats indicate a packed house. "Pals" is the bill for tonight and tomorrow night and on Wednesday the offering is "The American Girl" featuring the Osborn children. Seats are now on sale for the entire weeks' engagement.

ALOHA-LAND

"Hawaii land of joy and peace,
God's paradise amidst the sea;
My thoughts of thee will never cease,
Wherever I may chance to be.

Hawaii 'land of dreams and love,
I know her charms, her voice I hear;
From Mauna Kea's height above,
'Tarry not long, I love thee dear."

"Aloha-land" that isle so dear,
Surrounded by a peaceful sea;
In all my travels far or near,
'I hear that cry, 'come back to me."

The ship sails on, the wind is free,
The land I love is just ahead;
Tomorrow morn, my ship will be,
Anchored secure, past Diamond Head.

My days of wandering are o'er,
For many years I've sailed the sea;
I'm home at last, I'll sail no more,
'Hawaii Nei, 'land dear to me."

YOU WANT The News First.

You Want Your Ads Read

Here Is Some Advice—

Honolulu more than any other city in the World, is a place where the Evening Paper gets the news first. The clock here is over two hours behind the clock at San Francisco, four hours behind New York and ten to eleven hours behind the clocks in the European capitals.

This means that when The Star is going to press The Day Is Closed in Washington, Chicago, New York and Europe and almost over in San Francisco. The news of the day is here for The Star.

Under modern conditions it takes practically no time to prepare and transmit news and The Star gets every evening the cable dispatches giving

The News Of All the World

For the Day Just Ended

Here are some of the features that go to make the evening paper the predominating factor in an advertising campaign:

It is delivered at the home each night when the whole family has plenty of time to read it.

It is carried home by the business man when his day's work is done and it stays there. A morning paper is usually carried down town by the head of the family and hurriedly read.

The evening paper is not read hurriedly, but thoroughly, so that all the advertisements receive their share of attention.

It presents the store news a little ahead, giving the prospective purchaser time to plan a shopping tour for the next morning.

The evening paper presents the news the day it happens. The morning paper the day after.

The evening paper presents the news first. The morning paper merely elaborates it.

The evening paper prints daylight news. The morning paper takes what is left.

TAFT, BRECKONS, THWING, AND SELF GOVERNMENT.

The fact as to Taft and Hawaii is, as we have predicted more than once would be the case, that, so far as he from having, as the Advertiser puts it "small use for the people of Hawaii," he is going to listen more than anyone in power has ever done before, to the people of Hawaii. His whole record and character as a statesman shows insistence, under all circumstances, to the doctrine which Bryan tried to make into a campaign cry,—"Let the people rule." The Breckons decision is made the text of the following remark in the Advertiser:

The real meaning of it all is that the Taft administration has small use for the people of Hawaii and intends, as far as practicable, to run this place as a colony, distributing its Federal offices among favorite Senators in the good old partisan way. It would not surprise me an atom to see the President recommend the reorganization of Hawaii, Porto Rico, Guam, Tutuila and possibly the Philippines into a colonial establishment to be ruled by a Department of Insular Affairs, all its officers being appointed from Washington.

The fact is that in spite of all the failures of Philippine legislative and municipal government, Taft continues to write messages and letters in favor of letting the "people rule" even in the Philippines. His policy as to Hawaii will be to listen to the electorate more than this has ever been done before. Of course it is evident that Taft would have considerable support from here if he attempted to disfranchise the voters and institute a government by commission,—even if the commissioners were carpet baggers, so long as they disfranchised the electorate.

It is somewhat strange to read that the Breckons decision shows that Taft has "small use for the people" of Hawaii. If the people of Hawaii were on the Thwing side of the controversy they concealed it with remarkable success. How does a decision against the Thwing charges tend to show that the President has "small use for the people" of Hawaii? Might it not be cited to show exactly the opposite?

CARNEGIE'S PEACE PLAN.

Carnegie's proposal, briefly cabled here some time ago, that Great Britain and America co-operate by treaties agreeing to that Great Britain should protect American Pacific possessions and American protect British Atlantic possessions, was based, it appears by detailed reports, to some extent on the Anglo-Japanese treaty of alliance. In a letter to the New York Tribune, answering editorial criticisms of the plan, Carnegie developed it as follows:

Suppose that Britain and America, the two English-speaking branches of the race, were to agree that the United States would protect the possessions of Great Britain on the North Atlantic, including the West Indies, and that Britain would defend the American coast on the Pacific and the Philippines and Hawaii.

In the case of one of those powers going to war, the guarantee of the other, as far as the territory stated is concerned, would preserve it from attack, and the nation knowing this would be relieved from anxiety to this extent. Therefore, instead of two fleets, one in the Pacific and one in the Atlantic, we should require only the Atlantic fleet. If Britain went to war she could rest assured that what America had guaranteed to defend would give her no concern and she could therefore concentrate her fleets. Surely this is obvious.

Vague talk of war between nations should always be carefully sifted. What nations can go to war at sea? War between France and Britain or between France and America is so highly improbable that this may be dismissed as not within the range of probabilities. Russia is a negligible quantity; she has no navy. Italian and Austrian navies need cause no anxiety. There remains but one other nation in all Europe, Germany, which will have a great navy in due time, although not as soon as expected; but if Germany were at war with Britain, certainly she would never attack any British possessions that would compel her also to deal simultaneously with the American navy in addition, nor if she were at war with America would she think of touching American possessions in the Pacific which Britain had guaranteed against attack. So that, Mr. Editor, if Britain and America have such a treaty as Japan and Britain have, improved, no doubt, in some particulars, especially in requiring that an offer of arbitration should be made to an adversary and refused before the other party was bound to aid, we might expect that even naval commanders would admit that we could cease increasing our navy, and the cause of peaceful arbitration as the only Christian means of adjusting international disputes would be greatly advanced.

TARIFF AND BUSINESS.

Henry Clews, in his financial circular of March 20, has the following remarks on tariff revision and national finances:

Now that the tariff bill has been actually introduced a sense of relief is felt in the stock market. The changes in schedules, while more in the direction of tariff reform than were expected, are in no sense radical or disturbing. The bill as announced can only be as a line of battle, or a starting point for fresh discussion and changes. All the forces for and against revision are now drawn up clearly divided, and from now on the tariff struggle must continue with increased warmth until a conclusion is reached. The opinion is general that such changes as may be made in the proposed bill will be in the direction of advances rather than reductions. In other words, the measure proposed is a minimum schedule. It is predicted that the steel schedule, the most important of all, will be advanced, and it is noticed that the cotton, wool and silk schedules have been treated with great leniency. A very important element in the new bill is its revenue-producing qualities; there being serious question as to whether these will prove as great as anticipated. Under normal conditions, and as business improves, customs revenues should increase; in fact, they are already beginning to show improvement, and the Treasury outlook is less gloomy than one or two months ago. The great increase of Federal expenses, however, continues unabated, and there is little or no chance of their diminution. The proposal, therefore, to issue Treasury certificates and additional quantities of Government bonds would have the effect of further inflation in an already over-expanded currency system. The ultimate effect of this proposal would consequently be to largely stimulate gold exports and weaken our financial strength. This feature has not received the attention to which it is entitled, since it is an element of danger that should not be lost to view.

Mr. Clews says that, "generally speaking, trade is exceedingly dull, largely owing to tariff agitation, but partly owing to the fact that the process of readjustment rendered necessary by the panic, but forcibly held in check in 1908, is now asserting itself. A few industries have partly accommodated themselves to new conditions, yet even they are feeling a depression sympathetic with other industries which have not yet so adjusted themselves." Discussing certain industries in this connection, Mr. Clews utters a suspicion that The Star expressed editorially in commenting on a cable item, when he says: "A number of reductions have already been announced in the iron and steel trade, although there is a suspicion that these announcements are made at this time with a view of influencing tariff legislation."

In conclusion Mr. Clews gives the following somewhat optimistic forecast of business:

The outlook is for a quiet market with moderate fluctuations either way. A steady undertone prevails and recuperative forces are quietly at work to a degree that later on should be reflected in renewed improvement. Our great bankers, our great merchants and our great manufacturers are not disturbed over the future. They are content to let matters rest and permit recovery to take a natural and slow but safe course. Very soon the sap will begin to rise, and that is not the time for taking gloomy views. When the tariff question is settled business will certainly become more active, and orders which have been held back for months will be placed for execution. The lowering of prices and wages will also in due season be a stimulus to renewed enterprise. Much will depend upon the crop outlook, and up to date this is not so unfavorable as at one time expected. Large crops will be earnestly desired.

Senate bill for the maintenance, extension and improvements of Honolulu water and sewer works on third reading was deferred owing to the absence of the introducer, Chairman Fairchild of the ways and means committee.

House bill to provide for the deposit of public money in banks of the Territory came up for third reading. Moore had been thinking since the second reading deposit of more than fifty per cent of the funds should not be authorized. He moved an amendment accordingly. His reason was that, in a time of stringency, the banks might want to hold on to the money and if the Territory could not get its money on demand it would have to register its warrants.

President Smith appeared to favor the idea, saying that in a time of stringency it might be impossible for the Territory to sell the territorial, municipal or industrial bonds held as security for deposits.

Knudsen thought it would be a mistake to tie up fifty per cent of public funds in the treasury. It might even produce the panic to which reference was made. He thought it an unwise amendment.

Moore thought it was the people whom they represented, rather than the financiers, which should be protected.

Fairchild would like to have more time to consider the point raised. It was a mistake to suppose that there was no danger of a panic here when the recent one occurred on the mainland. Only heroic action on the part of the bankers avoided serious trouble. They were pretty close to the buz saw. He moved that the bill be deferred until tomorrow. Carried.

The Honolulu water and sewer works will come up again. Makekau moved an amendment to strike out "the extension and improvement." He did not think it right to give the power to one man, the Superintendent of Public Works, to construct new water works whenever he pleased. Out of the revenue he could dig a new well out at Waikiki or buy Charlie Booth's water rights in Manoa valley.

Moore thought the member from Hawaii misconstrued the intent of the bill. It first provided for paying interest on the debt incurred for Honolulu water works, then for the principle and lastly for improvement and extension. And why not? There was a lake out at Kaimuki as big as the reservoir itself caused by the leakage of 250,000 gallons a day.

McCarthy agreed with the mover of the amendment. If the bill passed in its present form, its ostensible purpose of forming a sinking fund would get nothing. The whole net revenue would go to building improvements and extensions. It would be better to turn the water works over to Honolulu and let it handle the revenue and make the necessary extension.

Chillingworth called attention to the fact that the amendment would forbid the showing of a holdup scene on a moving picture screen. "Or a drunken man," the president observed.

Baker thought the $2.50 a day fee too high for the country towns. He moved the fee be $5 for Honolulu.

Fairchild said the fee for picture shows was reduced from $5 to $2.50 in Honolulu because amusements were sometimes scarce and the views were educative.

McCarthy would like to see the annual fee for moving picture shows $200 instead of $500 as in the bill, and $2.50 a day for casual shows of the kind.

The bill as amended by the committee passed.

House bill to further safeguard the taking of property by railroad companies under the power of eminent domain was read a second time with amendments submitted by the judiciary committee.

Knudsen did not think the repealing of other laws should be done without care. It seemed to him the bill was for a specific purpose and should not conflict with the general railroad law.

Fairchild saw an opening for a holdup in the provision for appraisers. It set no time limit on their meeting. He was bitten in this way in California, the appraisers having done nothing for four years.

An amendment to make the time not less than 30 nor more than 90 days was proposed, and the bill re-committed to the judiciary committee.

Supt. of Education Babbitt by letter invited the Senators to a view of the school exhibit for the Alaska-Yukon Exposition at the shooting gallery on Wednesday and Thursday between 8 and 10 a. m.

Knudsen and Makekau joined in a majority report on House bill providing for the appointment of jailors by the sheriffs, recommending its passage with certain amendments. Chillingworth made a minority report against the bill, saying that the care of prisoners should be kept out of politics.

Recess from 12:05 to 2 p. m.

Maurice Kyle, editor of a weekly paper published at Winnetka, Ill., has been missing from his home since February 27. He had $500 in his possession the day he disappeared.

McCarthy would like to see the annual fee for moving picture shows $200 instead of $500 as in the bill, and $2.50 a day for casual shows of the kind.

The bill as amended by the committee passed.

The dam had been repaired. The Superintendent of Public Works who had been invited to accompany the committee, explained that prior to the refilling of the damaged portion with earth, he had caused a reinforced concrete structure to be constructed at this point, running 15 feet each way from the center of the water way tunnel and firmly imbedded in the earth fill, making this section of the dam more secure and solid.

"The statement made by the Superintendent of Public Works in this regard, has been verified by the evidence of J. Kamaha, an employee stationed at the dam, who personally attended to the construction work on the concrete structure.

"In the matter of the $132,000 appropriated by the legislature of 1907, for the completion of Nuuanu dam and reservoir No. 4, we find that the sum of $54,515.96, so far, has been expended, leaving a balance to January 31st, 1909 of $77,484.04.

"And your committee discovered that $1,791.20 had been drawn from the appropriation made specific for the completion of Nuuanu dam and reservoir No. 4, and expended on a pipe line from Reservoir No. 4, to the electric light station, a work entirely out of that called for in this appropriation.

"In reply to our request for an explanation, the Superintendent of Public Works stated that the expense incurred by him on this pipe line was a necessary one. In order that the water conserved at the Nuuanu dam may be utilized in the residential and other parts of the city, this water must first be carried to reservoir No. 1 (electric light station) and thence to the main pipe supplying water to the city of Honolulu.

"The entire work performed on this pipe line, being done within the vicinity and in connection with the completion of a certain important section of the dam construction, brings this expense within the meaning and intent of appropriations made for specific purposes.

"After careful inspection of the ground, the witnesses examined and of the work so far done on the Nuuanu Dam, your committee is of the unanimous opinion, that the work has been and is being carried on in a most satisfactory manner."

Long thought it well to let the chairman of the finance committee say something on the subject.

The Supreme Court of the Territory handed down an interesting opinion this morning in the Bierce vs. Hutchins case, Judge Wilder dissenting from the majority opinion. The syllabus reads as follows:

The plaintiff in a replevin action having alleged in its declaration and replevin bond the actual value of the property replevined to be $15,000, and the defendant in that action having given a return bond in double the amount reciting the valuation as attested, subsequent amendments whereby the plaintiff increased the valuation to $22,000 and recovered alternative judgment for that amount are a variation of the risk of the sureties on the return bond and discharge them from liability.

SUNDAY LUNCHEON SEEMS SIGNIFICANT

Political, social or otherwise, there was enjoyed a luncheon yesterday that would seem to be significant, the results of which may soon be noticeable.

At the Young street residence of Chester and Walter Doyle there was spread a repast of which chowder was the main dish. Covers were laid for a dozen, and ten attended.

Those present besides the hosts were Senators Woods and Robinson, Representative Douthitt, Ex-Senator Lynch of California, Internal Revenue Collector Drake, Victor Hurd, Jack Doyle and Republican County Committeeman Frank Kruger.

Senators Chillingworth and Quinn were unavoidably detained.

THE ART

The Art Theater is starting out on an era of prosperity. Mrs. Bailey, who returned on the Alameda Friday brought two of the latest type of moving picture machines and one of these will be put to the test tonight.

"Anthony and Cleopatra" a rare film, will be the special attraction and a full house is expected to see the wonderful improvement in the picture machine.

MAKE THE ATTEMPT.

Doctors prescribe all sorts of remedies for that feeling of exhaustion but none of them will accomplish the results obtained by visiting Haleiwa for a day or two. You can go down in an auto or by train and either way the trip is pleasant. The hotel under the management of Mr. Bidgood is kept as a hotel should be. It is not a dry house nor is it ever flooded.

Impure blood covers the skin with eczema, rashes, pimples, pustules, salt-rheum, boils, carbuncles, and other sores. These simply tell of something bad down deep in the blood itself. Ointments, washes, powders and cosmetics will not reach the evil. You must take out all impurities from the system with

MARATHON IS CAUSING TALK

Everybody is talking Marathon and interest in the coming race is reaching high pitch. There is a great desire on the part of the public to find out just what kind of long-distance runners there are in Hawaii, and to find out if there is anyone likely to make it warm for the Marathon runners on the mainland.

This point could not be settled in the race to Haleiwa but in the race on Sunday everything will be favor of the runners and they will be under observation during the entire contest. Of the time made on Sunday next there will be no possibility of dispute.

The favorites are all plugging along in good shape and the dark horses are also doing well. It looks as if very good time would be accomplished by the winner of Sunday's race. Training will go on hot and heavy this week and the track will be kept warm right up to Saturday.

Some of the officials have already been chosen. They are Senators Moore, Chillingworth and Walter Drake. C. G. Bartlett, an enthusiastic pedestrian, will act as clerk of the course.

Jack Scully has not yet selected the other officials but he will do so as soon as possible. He is making an effort to secure the services of well-known local sportsmen for every official position.

The sale of tickets started on Saturday and was very satisfactory to the promoter. It looks as if the entire reserved seating would be sold out long before the day of the race.

The management wishes it understood that every possible arrangement for the comfort of ladies attending the race will be made.

SEA DEVIL IN MARKET

An enormous sea-devil, a member of the ray family, and known by the native name of hihimannu, was brought to the fishmarket by Japanese fishermen early on Saturday morning.

It took four men to lift the great fish which weighed in the neighborhood of 500 pounds.

The measurements were as follows: Across, 7 feet 10 inches; from tip of tail to mouth, 6 feet; from tip of tail to end of ear-like extension, 6 feet 5 inches; tip of tail to beginning of dorsal fin, 2 feet 8 inches; tip of tail to end of dorsal fin, 3 feet 1 1/2 inches.

The fish was probably Mobua Japonica, more or less common in these waters and sections of which are frequently seen on the fishmarket slabs, exposed for food.

The color of the specimen in question was dark gray on the dorsal surface, ventral surface whitish and skin generally rough. The ear-like extensions were tinted with blue on the inside, as was the mouth which was large and apparently toothless.

The fish evidently got its food by scooping it into its cavernous mouth with the flippers extending from the sides of its head.

Mobula Japonica is one of the largest of all rays and among the largest of all fishes.

To this family belong the sting rays found in these and most warm seas. They have a long, jagged spine on their muscular tail, which is capable of inflicting a severe and even dangerous wound.

The specimen mentioned was purchased by Professor Thompson, the famous flax colorist, who is busily engaged in making a cast of the monster.

THE AFTERNOON SESSIONS

THE SENATE

THE HILO PROTEST.

The following letter from the Shippers' Wharf Committee of Hilo was received and filed:

April 8, 1909.
Hon. W. O. Smith, President of the Senate, Honolulu, T. H.

Dear Sir:—We have just learned from the newspaper files that the House of Representatives has failed to make any appropriation for Hilo Sanitation, leaving same to be cared for by the County. This may be all right for Honolulu, but it will only increase our troubles here, because our sanitation is altogether in the hands of our appointed Board of Health officials. The arrangement as made by the House of Representatives would therefore tend to duplicate our officials unnecessarily. The present arrangement, which leaves the Board of Health paramount, is all right, and we would most respectfully request the Senate, through you, to put all our health and sanitation officials back under the Board of Health, where they belong.

This request has already been made to the House, but evidently they did not understand that our chief Sanitary Inspector and his assistants are in charge of our Quarantine, Rat and Mosquito work, and of the general sanitation of the County.

We enclose several copies of this communication for the use of your conference committee and for the newspapers, if you see fit to use them.

Very truly,
E. N. HOLMES,
Chairman.

Attest:
R. T. GUARD,
Secretary.

FROM HAWAII SUPERVISORS,
John K. Kai, Clerk of the County of Hawaii, transmitted the following resolution of the Board of Supervisors thereof:

"Be it resolved by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Hawaii that the Supt. of Public Works is hereby requested to turn over all moneys that he may have in his hands to the credit of North Hilo district to the Treasurer of the County of Hawaii and the same be placed to the credit of the above named district, and

"Be it further resolved that a copy of this resolution be sent to the President of the Senate and to the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Legislature of 1909."

NEW BILL.

Coelho introduced a bill to provide for the reimbursement of the Territory for the cost of the Kula pipeline. He desired it to go with the loan bill, etc., deferred until Tuesday. It was in accordance with McCarthy's suggestion that the county should pay for the work.

Fairchild presented a report of the ways and means committee recommending the passage of Senate bill to cause all revenue from the Honolulu water and sewer works to be deposited and constitute a special fund to be applied from time to time by the Superintendent, with the approval of the Governor, to the expenses of maintenance and operation of said works; the payment of interest upon

Several of the yachts were out yesterday getting ready for the activities of the coming season.

The sea fleas are being built and some of these pretty little toys will soon be ready for launching.

The regatta committee will meet tomorrow night and decide whether there shall be any races this season or if the yachtsmen will take a year's lay-off as the major league baseballists appear to be in favor of doing.

A rifle shooting match between the House and Senate took place on Saturday and resulted in a victory for the House. The winners averaged 38 to the losers' thirty-two.

How many of those who eat bread know that it contains a certain proportion of alcohol? The alcohol is generated by the process of fermentation---by the yeast.

Cranks there have been who would eat only unleavened bread because of this fact.

The same process applies to beer. There is just the natural fermentation that develops the saccharine element in the grain and makes it more palatable and digestible. The barley malt is a food of the highest order, the hops a tonic; and there is just the right amount of alcohol to mildly stimulate the system and aid digestion.

If you will drink beer you will be the healthier for it.

In Honolulu its important that you drink PRIMO the beer that's brewed to suit the climate.

YOU CAN'T TELL by the appearance of milk whether or not it is pure. It may be rich and reasonably clean, but unless the BACTERIA have been DESTROYED it is not safe.

is trustworthy. It has been cooled to stop bacteria development, the water taken out, and the rich remaining product immediately sterilized.

If you have an idea that tinned milk isn't just as delightful to the taste as fresh milk it's because you have in mind the old-fashioned condensed milks. Try CARNATION for cooking, for tea or coffee, on berries. It's delicious.

BUFFALO, New York, April 12.—Niagara Falls has completely dried up for the second time in its history. The river of the falls has frozen solid and the water has been backed up to such an extent that serious floods have resulted, with damage done to the extent of a million dollars.

Once before this year the mighty Niagara practically dried up, although a few rivulets cascaded over the cliff and prevented the statement being made that the great cataract was "dry." Describing the conditions at the Falls, Orrin E. Dunlap, in the Scientific American, said that on February 14, 15, and 16, 1909, an east wind blew up Lake Erie and drove the water far back up the lake, greatly reducing the amount which it was possible for the lake to discharge into the Niagara river channel. This condition lasted for a longer period than ever before known; and the failure of Lake Erie to discharge its accustomed flow into the river channel, combined with great fields of ice previously carried down toward the Falls and left to settle on bars and rocks, resulted in Niagara's experiencing what will long be recalled as a truly remarkable spectacle. The ice above Goat Island on the New York side of the river shut off the water supply of the American channel between Goat Island and the New York mainland. This rendered the channel, usually the scene of a frightful battling and tossing of chaotic waters, practically dry. As little or no water passed through the channel, the American Fall with its precipice face 1000 feet wide was also left dry.

Except for a few struggling rivulets here and there, none were of sufficient quantity to prevent men from walking across the channel from the mainland to Goat Island in rubber boots. Others crossed the channel above the Goat Island bridge, and from Goat Island to the mainland, making their way upstream toward the power intakes. The Horseshoe Fall has its quantity reduced by half and this when it was catching all the water diverted from the American channel. Down in the gorge below the Falls, rocks were bare which had never appeared above the surface before.

In 1848, on March 29 of that year, it is recorded that a somewhat similar condition existed at Niagara. On March 22, 1903, crowds hurried to the river to see the American channel dry, while the American Fall was in very similar condition to what it was during the few days in February this year. The power companies on both sides of the river were hampered by the dry spell."

WORTH MOUNTAINS OF GOLD

During Change of Life, says Mrs. Chas. Barclay

Graniteville, Vt.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms, and I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved worth mountains of gold to me, as it restored my health and strength. I never forget to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me during this trying period. Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my trouble public so you may publish this letter."—Mrs. CHAS. BARCLAY, R.F.D., Graniteville, Vt.

No other medicine for woman's ills has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine we know of has such a record of cures of female ills as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For more than 30 years it has been curing female complaints such as inflammation, ulceration, local weaknesses, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration, and it is unequalled for carrying women safely through the period of change of life. It costs but little to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and, as Mrs. Barclay says, it is "worth mountains of gold" to suffering women.

PASSENGERS.
 Arrives.
 Per U. S. A. T. Thomas, from San Francisco, April 12, for Honolulu—Captain W. H. H. Chapman, Lieut. Henry du R. Phelan, wife and 4 children, Lt. G. C. Howen, Mrs. J. B. White, Miss Virginia White, Albert G. Fisher, Henry Lofinson.

FAST TRIP OF THOMAS

TRANSPORT TAKING TWELFTH CAVALRY TO MANILA—PASSENGERS FOR HONOLULU.

The United States Army transport Thomas, Captain Lyman in command, arrived early this morning, docking at the naval wharf at about 9:30. She will remain in port till Tuesday night at least, though it is not expected that she will sail from here before Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock. The delay in sailing is caused mainly by the fact that she will take on 1500 tons of coal while here. She will discharge 53 tons of freight, consisting of general supplies for the local army posts.

Several arrivals for this city came in by the Thomas among whom are Captain W. H. H. Chapman, Lieut. H. du R. Phelan, accompanied by his wife and four children, Mrs. J. B. White and daughter, relatives of Constructing Quartermaster Captain Castner and Lieut. George C. Bowen. The latter is with the Twentieth Infantry, stationed at Fort Shafter and has been away on a trip to the Coast.

The Thomas carries through with her the Twelfth Cavalry, the first of a number of regiments which will pass through here bound for the Philippines. Col. Dodd is in command. The regimental band is on board and gave a concert this morning shortly after the arrival of the transport at the Naval wharf.

Among the through passengers on the Thomas is Captain A. J. Dougherty, accompanied by his wife and three children. Mrs. Dougherty was formerly Miss Afong, of this city, and the members of her family greeted her on the vessel as soon as she arrived. Captain Dougherty was stationed as military governor at Santiago, Cuba, till the American troops left that island and is now bound for Manila, to join his regiment.

The Thomas reports fine weather all the way down and made a very fast run from San Francisco. According to the regular schedule she would not be due in this port till tomorrow morning. She brought down two days mail.

HOUDLETTE ON CORONADO

The barkentine Coronado, Captain Houdlette, arrived from San Francisco this morning. For the first three days out she was practically becalmed, hardly making headway, then striking light winds and coming through in sixteen days. For the last couple of days out the barkentine ran into heavy swells.

The Coronado's cargo consists of a little over 1000 tons of general merchandise, though a large part of her hold is filled with 800 bales of hay. She will load here with sugar, taking 22,000 sacks to the Coast on her return trip.

Captain Houdlette will be welcomed to Honolulu by very many friends. He has been away from this city since the laying off of the Sierra, of which he was commander, and has been in rather ill health. With the lighter work on board the Coronado he expects to regain his health completely and be ready for the more strenuous work on the steamers. A number of the old timers on the front were at the dock to greet him when the Coronado was towed in by the Intrepid.

The only passenger on board was William Douthitt, connected with the U. S. postal service and stationed in San Francisco. He is a brother of Attorney E. A. Douthitt, of this city, and is making his fourth trip to Honolulu. He expects to remain here for several weeks, having come down for his health.

YUKON WORK ON EXHIBITION.
 Beginning with the members' "First View" this evening and ending with a "Public View" on Saturday evening, the exhibition of the Kiloahana Art League will be open for five days. Then most of the exhibition is to be packed and shipped to the Yukon Expedition with twice as much work already shown at recent exhibitions or not yet ready contributions. The members invite the public to attend tomorrow from nine to five and each day until Sunday, also Thursday and Saturday evenings, from 7:30 to 9 o'clock.

PARK THEATER.
 Tonight the Park open air theatre will put in an exceptionally fine program. Geo. Milne will sing a new song and the popular favorites the Milnette Sisters will appear in new songs. That these little girls has won the heart of the Park audience is demonstrated by the cordial way in which these are received nightly. All in all the Park affords more amusement than any theatre in town for the price.

POLLARDS MAKE FINE OPENING

The Pollards' first appearance at the Opera House on Saturday night was a conspicuous success. The young actors did themselves more than justice and the crowded house applauded every time there was a possible chance to do so.

The "Charity Ball" was an ambitious piece for the newly graduated Lilliputians to undertake, but it was by no means above them and they gave a really finished performance. Eva Moore, as Anne Gruger, the heroine, surprised and delighted even her closest friends by the charming interpretation of her role. She proved conclusively that she is an actress of the very highest ability and will some day make a name in roles such as she plays in the "Charity Ball."

Alfred Goulding as John Van Buren, the kindly clergyman whose erring brother is prevented from wronging a woman through his intervention, plays the part powerfully. It is a difficult part for any actor to undertake but, young as he is, Alfred Goulding acquitted himself nobly. He is particularly brilliant in the scene between himself and his brother Dick Van Buren.

Indignation at the wicked wilfulness of his brother who insists on following out a course of action which only a villain could plan, gets the better of him, he denounces his brother wildly and a struggle ensues. They are interrupted by the entrance of their blind mother, played wonderfully by Lilly Bull, and then John Van Buren is overcome with shame at his own loss of temper and at his brother's baseness.

It is a touching scene when the blind woman calls to her sons separately to kiss her goodnight and recalls incidents of their innocent childhood. We are led to suppose that the brother dies and the play ends happily with wedding bells for John Van Buren and Anne Gruger, who has secretly loved him all the time.

Comedy relief in the play is provided by a youthful love affair very cleverly by Toddie McNamara and Ada Ely. The latter is one of the sweetest soubrettes that ever tripped on a stage and the happy ending to the inextinguishable quaff in the last act is as charmingly done as one could wish to see.

The musical interpolations were very well received. Eva Moore with her "Ma Cherie" lullaby song in the first act made a very decided hit while all the other numbers were encored vigorously.

There is no doubt that the Pollards' incursion into the realms of the "legitimate" is a success and the production of the other plays that they expect to put on will be looked forward to eagerly by legal theater-goers. The "Charity Ball" will be played this afternoon and evening. "Checkers" will be produced on Thursday night and will be played Saturday afternoon and evening as well.

 The volcanoes of Hawaii have been a subject of study by Professor C. H. Hitchcock, formerly of Dartmouth College, N. H., but now with his family making a home in Honolulu. A better acquaintance with Mauna Loa and Kilauea, the world's most wonderful craters, is to be expected from the book soon to be issued giving the results of this investigation.—Newark News.
