THE WAR IN ECUADOR IS SHUT OFF

LYLE THINKS PONTOON DOCK ABOUT RIGHT

Honolulu seems to be in a fair way to get an up-to-date and fairly large dock. It will be a floating pontoon dock and capable of carrying vessels as big as the Wilhelmina.

Alex. Lyle, as recently mentioned in The Star, went to the Mainland to see what could be obtained for Honolulu, as the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company has in view the replacing of the little marine railway with an up-to-date dock.

Mr. Lyle has submitted his report, but so far nothing has been done. He states that he saw some docks over there that would suit the conditions here in a thorough manner. The best of them all he thought was the pontoon floating dock. This can be lengthened as trade warrants it, and it is fairly cheap to maintain.

The question of maintaining the Dewey dock, which was towed to Manila some years ago, was gone into by Mr. Lyle, and he learned that the expense for painting it alone would be prohibitive. The amount was so great that it had to be left out of his calculations altogether.

The dock that he recommends would seem to be capable of meeting all requirements here for many years to come. Of course, if an experienced man like Mr. Lyle says that it would be suitable here, that is sufficient for all concerned, for he knows what he is talking about. This dock could be placed in the Bishop slip, and the coal wharf shifted elsewhere. This is looked upon as an excellent site, as there is plenty of deep water there, and it would not be necessary to do much dredging.

The class of dock that Mr. Lyle has suggested would be simple in its operations. Built as its name indicates, on a number of pontoons, it is capable of being lengthened from time to time without any expense beyond the price of the pontoons, and with very little trouble. Then there are other advantages in it being so movable. The weight of the iron and steel work is sufficient to sink it, and then when the vessel is in position, electric pumps can eject the water very rapidly, and bring the dock to the surface again.

Ships are kept in position on this dock with keel blocks, this being the latest method of holding them upright. The Sierra, the Lurline, the Wilhelmina and of course any of the Inter-Island boats could be floated on it. It is believed that a certain amount of repair work could even be executed on the Siberia or the Korea if the vessel had not to be lifted right out of the water.

When the dock will be ordered no one can say yet, as the matter has not been definitely settled by the directors of the Inter-Island company.

Attorney Prosser Roasts Belt Road Commission in Court

No decision will be rendered immediately in the case of John H. Wilson versus the belt road commission, Judge Whitney deeming the matter too important for him to decide without careful consideration.

Argument in the case was concluded at 12:05 today when R. B. Anderson, representing the plaintiff, finished his closing address. M. F. Prosser opened for the plaintiff at 8:30 this morning, he taking up the facts in the case and leaving the questions of law to Mr. Anderson, who followed him.

Prosser severely scored the commissioners for exercising authority not vested in them. He claimed that they had no right to throw out Wilson's bid, and declared emphatically that they made no attempt to find out whether or not Wilson was a responsible bidder, ignoring the facts they had to bar out his responsibility and seeking only for facts detrimental to him. He claimed that Marston Campbell acted only as the tool of Andrew Adams and that Adams carefully ignored all the evidence that might have been collected in Wilson's favor, seeking only for statements that might be taken as reflecting on the contractor's ability and responsibility. The commissioners were determined that Wilson should not have the contract and they went outside their authority in awarding it to the Lord-Young company. Moreover, they were decidedly unfair to Wilson in turning him down without giving him a hearing.

Anderson, continuing the argument, dwelt at length on the contention that the commissioners were acting in a judicial capacity and that no board sitting in that capacity had a right to make a decision against a bidder without giving him a chance to present his side. Anderson cited numerous authorities in support of that and the other contentions he made. Prosser's and Anderson's opening argument lasted (Continued on page four.)

Probably Campaign Lies

Another scare-head Bulletin cable, probably instigated by Kuhllo, declares that the President wants Frear investigated and will send a commissioner here to do it. The Interior Department denied the commissioner story some days ago and sent Governor Frear a copy of Kuhllo's further charges for him to answer if he desired. It is unlikely that anything drastic will be done or threatened before getting that reply. One observes that the Bulletin correspondent gives no authority for what he attributes to the President, quotes nobody and does not know the name of the alleged commissioner. It is safe, in the light of no corresponding advices from the Associated Press, to regard the Bulletin's almost daily scares from Washington as the inventions of Kuhllo and Ashford, for campaign purposes.

ALL SET FOR A GRAND RECEPTION TO THE TOURISTS

The tourists by the Cleveland will need more than two days in which to take in all that is being arranged for them. Everywhere there is something being done to make their stay in this city a pleasant one, and it is safe to say that more sightseeing will be crammed into two days than has ever been the case before.

The Promotion Committee has received a wireless message in response to one sent by Mr. Wood notifying them that the Hawaiian night would be repeated tomorrow evening in the Opera House. In this message it was stated that the passengers were eagerly looking forward to the Hawaiian concert. Tickets would not be sold on board, but arrangements could be made to ascertain how many would immediately after practice had been granted. It was mentioned that the party could board at the quarantine station.

Mr. Wood is looking forward to a big time tomorrow. The rooms of the Promotion Committee will be at the disposal of the visitors. They will find all writing materials at their command and there will be a big distribution of literature. The latest picture of Kilauea will be inserted in the big folders in place of a view of the city of Honolulu. These folders will be distributed on board, as well as available to all who care to take them at the rooms of the association.

RUSSIAN FELL FROM SCAFFOLD

A Russian named Bereckoff fell from a scaffolding on the Executive building where he was working, this morning, and landed on his back ten feet below.

A call was turned in for the fast wagon and Bereckoff was taken to the Queen's hospital where his back was found to be badly bruised. His injuries, however, are not considered serious.

TWO ANGRY MEN

There were two very angry men in Honolulu this morning, and it was not safe for a newspaper man to go near either of them.

One was Captain Gregory of the Kinau, and the other was George H. Voris of the naval station. Captain Gregory resented very much the elaborate account that told of his mishap with the Bishop slip. His wrath was nothing though compared to that of George H. Voris, a report of whose grievance is given elsewhere.

This afternoon the Hawaii Promotion Committee will decide between Bouine's moving pictures of Hawaiian scenes and the hula koi dance in the program for the entertainment of the Cleveland excursionists.

HAWAII BEHIND MAINLAND IN NEW SANITARY WRINKLES

When will Honolulu become thoroughly sanitary, and in a practical manner?

The cities on the mainland have for a long time been using paper towels and drinking cups that are thoroughly safe. Alex. Lyle, who recently returned from the mainland, stated this morning that it was a revelation to him to see the way each person had a cup to himself or herself at the public drinking fountains.

All the drinker had to do was to press a button, and a cup was ready. The drink was taken out of the cup, and then it was crumpled up and thrown in a receptacle placed for the

"MISSING MAN" WHO NEVER KNEW HE HAD BEEN LOST

One man, at least, read the morning paper this morning with interest. George H. Voris was a very annoyed man when he gleaned from the paper that he was missing, and he made his way into town as soon as possible.

Voris dropped into the Board of Health dispensary about 9 o'clock and relieved himself of the following:

"Well, wouldn't it jar you, to be reported as missing, when you only went out for a breath of fresh air with an old college chum? Why, I have been out with Beasley at the Makapuu lighthouse for a few days. We had a dandy time and I feel great.

"Say, that story about a man seeing me stretched out dying on the road was a peach. Say, I never had a better sleep in my life than that one.

INQUIRY FROM COAST ABOUT WILD RUMOR OF A MUTINY

Someone has evidently been slandering the U. S. S. California in San Francisco, for an inquiry was received here asking for full particulars about a "mutiny" on the Pacific fleet's flagship. Admiral Thomas, when communicated with, expressed indignation at the report, and denied it right away. This morning it appealed to him in a humorous way, and he was more amused at it than anything else, especially as the California is a very happy ship and has an excellent class of men.

Admiral Thomas and Captain Harlow laughed good naturedly over the inquiry. They mentioned that practically every man on the ship had been rated so high that they left the vessel when they wanted to. All they had to do was to put their names in the book used for this purpose. They thus had almost the same privilege in this regard as the officers, the only exception being that the officers did not have to put their names down. That showed conclusively that the men were all right.

At the time the inquiry was made, though, Admiral Thomas was not able to see the matter in a humorous way. Although he knows that his ship is a happy one in every respect, he did not want a mis-statement, however absurd, (Continued on page four.)

HILO RAILROAD COMPANY ACCEPTS THE REGULATIONS

The Hilo Railroad Company held a meeting yesterday and informed the Harbor board that the agreement and regulations as submitted to them are satisfactory and that the company will sign them with one exception. This is

CITY ENGINEER SURE OF CONTROL

Final passage of the ordinance giving the city and county engineer full control of the road department is a foregone conclusion, it having passed second reading at a meeting of the Board of Supervisors today. There is that until the warehouse is constructed on the wharf the demurrage charge of 25 cents per ton on sugar be omitted. The Harbor board concedes the justice of this and, in fact, included it in the original draft of the regulations submitted weeks ago.

The recently established legal department of the Board of Health is losing no time to justify its existence. Yesterday two property owners on Kalaheka avenue were notified to abate nuisances on their property or suffer consequences.

This morning Judge Lymer, who, incidentally, is being rapidly trained in the delights and duties of a sanitary inspector, was taken by Dr. McCoy to see some particularly obnoxious places. The chief of the legal department found such foul and appalling insanitary conditions to exist in the first two or three places visited that a brief adjournment was taken to his office to get out pre-emptory notices to the owners and agents of the property, demanding that the premises visited

THE EMIL SCOTT PROSECUTION IS BROUGHT UP STANDING

Judge Humphreys, representing Emil Scott, who is on trial in the Federal court charged with having committed assault on board the ship R. C. Slade, sprang one on the prosecution this morning that may end the trial suddenly and result in the discharge of the defendant without any testimony whatever being offered.

A jury to try the case was selected yesterday and the Government started to put on its evidence this morning. Humphreys objected to any evidence being heard, on the ground that the indictment was faulty. It did not, he said, show that the vessel on which the assault is alleged to have been committed, is owned in whole by citizens or a corporation of the United States, as is required by law.

The point raised was an interesting one, and one that Judge Dole thought he would prefer to have argued. The jury was, accordingly, excused until 2 o'clock and a recess was taken until 11:30, at which time the attorneys appeared and argued the point at issue. No decision, however, was rendered, the judge stating that he would decide the matter when court convened for the afternoon session.

THE KAPAA HOMESTEADERS PETITIONING FOR ROADS

Superintendent of Public Works Marston Campbell this morning stated that he had received a petition from the homesteaders at Kapa. They want roads in their districts and, although the Superintendent would like to grant the petition, the Land Commissioner reports that there is only about one hundred dollars of the special fund available. As that amount would not go far in the making of (Continued on Page Eight.)

Honolulu standard time is 10 hours 30 minutes slower than Greenwich time, being that of the meridian of 167 degrees 30 min. The time while blows at 1:30 p. m., which is the same as Greenwich 9 hours 0 minutes. The sun and moon are for local time for the whole group.

At eight o'clock last night the Wilhelmina was 453 miles from port, experiencing fresh southwest winds that had stirred up a rough sea. Captain Johnson added that he would be off port tomorrow morning.

The Wilhelmina was due at daylight today. The storm must be a lot greater than is indicated in the message, for even with a comparatively slow vessel like the Wilhelmina a day's delay in reaching port, in a six day run, is a long one.

There would not seem to be anything particularly slow about the time accomplished. On Saturday night at eight o'clock, according to a wireless message published in the morning paper, she was 1068 miles away from Honolulu. Two nights later she was 453 miles away from port, having covered 615 miles in two days, approximately 307 miles a day, while her regular steaming rate is about 350 miles a day.

There are 102 in the cabins, fifteen in the stowage, 420 sacks of mail and ninety Well's Fargo express packages.

The Canadian-Australian steamer Marama left Suva, Fiji, on time yesterday. She is on her way to Vancouver via Honolulu. She will be here next Tuesday morning at about ten o'clock. W. DOLLAR LOOKING OVER PHILIPPINES

HONOLULU, P. I., December 11.—The coast guard cutter Luzon, Captain Kitts commanding, dropped anchor in the Straits Monday afternoon, late, and came up the river Tuesday morning.

There was an interesting party aboard the Luzon, and the visit of one of the gentlemen who compose same may result in much good to these islands. Reference is had to Mr. Dollar, the head of the Dollar line of steamers, who is carefully investigating shipping conditions and possibilities in the Philippine Islands, with a view to extending his system to include this country, or the institution of a separate inter-island service to be handled by some of his vessels.

Manila officialdom has known for some time that Dollar was looking Philippine-wards, and every opportunity is being given the gentleman to thoroughly investigate the islands, their natural resources, commercial importance and the wonderful strides which have been taken in agricultural development since American occupation.

Mr. Dollar is the guest of Mr. Frank P. Helm, director of navigation, on this trip, and Messrs. Chas. Norton and Chas. Derham of Manila are with the party.

Several localities in Negros were visited before arriving at this port, and from here the party goes by rail to Capiz, where the Luzon will meet them, observing the intervening country between Iloilo and that town, en route.

The party will again board their vessel at Capiz and proceed to other sections of the archipelago.

Mr. Dollar expressed himself as being very favorably impressed with what he had seen, and while he is not jumping at conclusions, and is not taking anything for granted, being more or less of a Missourian in this respect, it is confidently believed that he is rapidly deciding, if, in fact, he has not already so decided, to enter the Philippine field with a portion of his fleet of vessels.

for almost daily now. The Nuanu had some rough weather in the early part of her journey, and had to put into the Falkland Islands for repairs. Although no further word has been received from her, it is expected that she has been repaired and is now on her way again.

The Prometheus may be expected soon from Ocean Island with a load of phosphates. She is consigned to Theo. H. Davies & Co. So far no word has been received that she is on her way, but it is assumed that she is, and will show up unexpectedly in the near future.

The Harpalion will start soon from West Hartlepool on her way to Honolulu. She will call at Gibraltar, where she will take on a number of immigrants for Hawaii. So far no mention has been made of her expected sailing date. It is surmised that she will come along some time in March.

JOHN TOOK A CHANCE.

The regularity of mail steamers has become so established now that chances are taken occasionally that they will be in port on the date due. This was the case in regard to the Wilhelmina. She was due this morning from San Francisco, but owing to the rough weather she will not be here until tomorrow morning. The Guide gives her as being at the Matson wharf, and having arrived on January 23.

In all probability a number of immigrants who arrived here by the Wilhelmina some weeks ago will leave for Portugal and Spain, owing to their physical unfitness.

The intention of the Territorial immigration officials at present is to let the immigrants home by way of Canada, leaving here in the Marama next Tuesday. To do this, however, permission will have to be first obtained from the Canadian government at Ottawa. An interpreter and a guard will accompany the batch. These officials will join the Harpalion at Gibraltar and return here with the immigrants coming in that steamer.

Vessels in Wireless Touch.

The Wireless office is in touch with the Wilhelmina, due here tomorrow morning from San Francisco, and the Cleveland due here tomorrow morning from Yokohama.

HOME BANKS SAVE MILLIONS

LONDON, January 4.—"It is estimated that my home savings bank has put the world £60,000,000 ($200,000,000) to the good," states C. O. Burns, pioneer of the home safe, in commenting on the decision of the government to extend to the invention its official patronage. "Five millions of these safes are in use in various countries. It is the best existing barometer of the thrift of nations."

"America has 1,000,000 of these banks, though the Americans are not famed for good husbandry. Hungary is the thriftiest nation in the world, and next to Hungary come Italy, Switzerland and Germany. While England, as a whole, does not stand high in the list of money savers, Manchester is probably the thriftiest city in Europe. There are 27,000 home banks in that town. In five years they have saved above £137,000 ($685,000), the average amount of each deposit being £1 16s ($8.60). The extraordinary savings in Manchester are due largely to the fact that labor there is plentiful and regular."

"Next to Manchester is Sheffield, with 4000 banks. Provincial towns are always thrifter than towns like London. The vast facilities for amusement in the capitals dissipate savings. In the small town of Trondheim, in the northern part of Norway, the great majority of the citizens put every spare shilling in the bank. Troubadours would be appalled at the providence of the Londoners and so would the citizens of Punta Arenas, the most southerly town of civilization, where there are home banks everywhere."

Mr. Burns invented the bank while living in Seattle, Wash. He used to place his spare coppers in an old letter box. When he had saved $40 he pried the box open with a pair of fire irons and made short work of the fortune. The he invented a safe, which, he says, would defy a pickax.

THE JUBILEE PLUNGER DEAD

In the presence of only a few officials, including the British consul, an eccentric Englishman, known all over the world a few years back as "the Jubilee Plunger," was quietly buried at Geneva about a month ago.

Few people were aware of the identity of the man who for years past has been confined in a home there. His name was "E. Benzon," and he was forty-six when he died.

Benzon obtained world-wide notoriety during the Jubilee year of the late Queen Victoria by gambling away a fortune of $1,250,000.

Of the generations of foolish young men of the last half century who dissipated large fortunes a few years after coming of age Benzon was the most foolish. He was always ready to risk large sums on the wildest gambling chances, but it was by backing horses and betting on pigeon shooting that he squandered the greater part of his fortune, though the gambling clubs that flourished in London in the 'eighties helped to reduce his bank balance. For a year he was the talk of all Britain.

When his fortune had gone the trustees of his father, who was a wealthy merchant, took his affairs in hand, and made him an allowance of about $2000 a year.

Hoao and De Mello Are Matched to Box Twelve Round Bout

Ben de Mello, the "Hilo Lion," and Jimmy Hoao, the local champion, were last night matched to box twelve rounds for a local promoter at a theater yet to be named, on Saturday night, February 10.

The men will box for 50 per cent of the gross receipts. The boxers' end to be divided as may be agreed upon by them. Hoao wants to box 75 and 25 per cent, but it is probable that the arrangement will be on a 65 and 35 per cent basis.

The bout will be at catchweights, and clean-break rules will govern. A referee mutually satisfactory to the boxers will be chosen.

It will be de Mello's first battle in Honolulu, and the local fans are keen on seeing him in action, particularly his countrymen, for there is no doubt that he is the best Portuguese boxer that the islands have ever developed.

De Mello wants to box Hoao and then tackle Gilmore. He is so confident that he can earn the latter match that he has arranged to stay in Honolulu pending its decision. De Mello will train in Hilo and will probably have Kupa for a sparring partner. Kupa, it will be remembered, defeated George Ingle in Hilo. The Portuguese scrapper will come to Honolulu a week before the contest and will go his last week's training in town. Handy training quarters will be arranged and the public will be invited to see him in action.

The contest will be at catchweights, which will mean that the men will size up practically on even terms as far as avoirdupois is concerned. Jim Hoao will train in private as usual, his headquarters being well-equipped with all necessary training appliances. He always keeps himself in fair shape and will be as fit as a fiddle by the time the gong calls the men into action on the fateful night.

Hoao is too well known here for hiring methods to need any elaborate description. His recent battle with George Gilmore is still fresh in the memory of local ring-goers. Suffice it to say that he is perhaps the best middleweight that has ever been developed in Hawaii. Quick as a cat and game as a pebble, with a good stiff punch in either mit, Hoao is the kind of boxer that the public delights to see in action.

De Mello has been in the fight game for some time, and has been improving right along. He fought two good bouts with clever George Ingle, and though he lost the decision in each, he showed gameness, hitting ability and a total disregard for punishment. In his last fight in Hilo he knocked out two men the same night in the same ring, and in big time at that. He is a rugged fighter and should give Hoao an almighty interesting argument.

INTEREST IN BOWLING INCREASES AS EACH LEAGUE GAME IS PLAYED

A large crowd saw the Honolulu defeat the Stragglers in the Y. M. C. A. bowling tournament last night.

The Honolulu took two out of the three games. J. Winne of the Honolulu took high score for the game, 193; also high average, 173.

Edgecomb and Wisdom broke even on the high score for the losers with 181. Wisdom also had high average for his team, 181.

The game was an exciting one. Most of the players of the teams are averaging around 175 in practise but the strain seemed to tell on them when it came to a real game, or else the goat was making its rounds.

Tonight the Laeti Club will play the Brunswick-Balke experts. Last night's scores:

Exercise and Health

By GUSTAV BIORKMAN, M. G. It has long been known that many diseases have their origin in a sluggish circulation of the blood. Health can only exist while there is a perfect circulation in every part of the physical system.

There is one great agent in the building and repairing of the body and that is the circulation of the blood. The blood stream is responsible for all building and cleansing of the body, for diseased or healthy tissue. If this is true, then any means that will influence the rapidity of the circulation, whether it be mental or physical, should be considered as a valuable means of cure.

Considering the fact that man is built on the longitudinal plan and nevertheless has to stand and progress upon one end of its long axis, the poor fellow is doing all right in spite of such a handicap.

The dangers of this position are that the so-called civilized man of the present time is forced to stand or sit almost erect on the long axis of his body all day and often until late at night, thus causing a gradual compression of the spine, sometimes interfering with the necessary elasticity of the whole backbone and thereby laying the cornerstone for curvatures and other abnormal conditions of the spine. The blood is allowed to congeal and frequently to actually stagnate in the venous cavities and other vessels in the pelvis, as well as the portal system, not to speak of the venous cavities in the brain and spinal cord, varicose veins in the legs, etc.

How can a person with weak abdominal muscles and a curved and stiffened spine, who has to sit in a stooped position for hours and hours, avoid suffering from portal and pelvic congestion?

There is no other cure for these troubles than to remove all the many different causes. Increase the tone of the abdominal muscles and limber up the spinal column, and the blood will circulate free and rapidly.

The brains, nerves, muscles, skin, etc., will no longer be robbed of the life-giving blood, which in a healthy body should flow freely to all its different parts.

The difference between arterial and venous blood is indeed very remarkable. One is a stream of life, carrying oxygen and vitality to every part of the body—the other may be a stream of destruction if the waste and impurities it carries are not eliminated at the right places and at the right time.

Abdominal and other trunk exercises have always proved of great value in overcoming the tendency to venous congestion in the portal region.

Abdominal and spinal exercises, with deep breathing, if correctly executed, will not only greatly assist in emptying the above mentioned veins, but also increase the elimination of carbon-dioxide as well as other waste products. The blood will in this way quickly become purified and enabled to carry the life-giving oxygen and other necessities to fill the living cells of the body, provided the big pump—the heart—is intact and in working order and the arteries and arterioles elastic enough to force the life-giving fluid onward.

All the circulating fluids of the body are subject to the sympathetic nervous system in the following way: All the activities of the body, except those of a chemical nature, are tubular. Bile, blood, air, food, sweat, gastric juices, lymph and saliva, all flow through tubes, and the flow is controlled by the involuntary muscles which constitute one or several of the coats of the tubes in the body. By the action of these involuntary muscles we perspire, we breathe, our hearts beat, and food is carried through the stomach and intestines. And what makes muscles move? Nerve stimulus. The cerebro-spinal nerve influence the voluntary muscles, but the involuntary muscles are controlled by the great sympathetic nerves.

The sympathetic nerves then are the brains that control circulation, perspiration, digestion, elimination, and all the functions of the physical organism. The sub-conscious mind acts through these great nerves to influence vital action.

If we are living in an ideal spiritual atmosphere, surrounded by the most favorable climate, as well as social conditions, our bodies would naturally grow up to a perfect state. But, having become crippled by conventions, deformed by perverted social, as well as religious customs, and superstitions, necessity demands scientific physical training.

This temple of ours—often out of shape—and ready to collapse, must be rebuilt and renovated according to the plan of perfect harmony. If we examine an average individual, we often find stooped shoulders, collapsed chest, pendant abdomen and other unbecoming and injurious malformations and positions. The wrong sitting habit, lack of proper physical exercises, have gradually deformed the majority of people into a race of semi-invalids and physical wrecks.

Too much brain work has, so to speak, retired the human being to the cranium, and as a result our physical activities, the building and restoring processes of life have become disturbed.

A few minutes of physical exercise convince us that we have already begun to lose the control of our body—heed the lesson, and do not surrender without resistance to the stealthy approach of decrepitude and untimely death!

CHILLINGWORTH MADE GOOD START IN YOUNG BILLIARD TOURNAMENT

The Young Hotel billiard tournament opened most auspiciously last night. The tournament is being played on a specially renovated table in the Young billiard room and the public are invited to witness the games.

The entrants are J. H. Hertsche, Rufus Robertson, W. Lucas, M. S. Hamman, C. F. Chillingworth, J. L. Coke and Ernest Kaal.

All the entrants play from scratch with the exception of Lucas, who has to play sixty-five points against his opponent's 87½.

A handsome cup has been put up by Manager Hertsche for the winner of the tournament, and a suitable prize will be provided for the runner-up.

Games will be played on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings, commencing at 8 o'clock, and each player will play one game with each of the other entrants, this arrangement calling for forty-two matches.

The standing of the players will be

Charles Barron has taken in hand the job of securing entries for the athletic events to be contested at the field day for the benefit of the Naval Relief Society at the Athletic Park next Sunday. The events will be 100 yards, 220 yards, 440 yards, 880 yards, mile run and mile walk. There may also be a mile relay race.

Sam Hop announces that on account of the big crowd expected to be present at the Chinese New Year sports on February 17, he may pull off the events at the Athletic Park instead of at the Boys' Field.

Sailor Farren was on the track at the Athletic Park yesterday afternoon. He is in fine trim right now and will beat the local half mile record next time out to a certainty.

Nisel Jackson ran a mile in 9:09 time at the Athletic Park yesterday afternoon and then walked a mile to excellent style. He says that he is out to win the mile walk at the Athletic Park on Sunday and that he expects to break the long-standing local record.

There is a new mile runner in town who will be seen in this event next Sunday at the Athletic Park. He is an Italian, and Jackson declares that he is a very dark horse. We shall see.

Dick Sullivan, chairman of the Hawaiian track team committee, is trying to obtain the use of the Boys' Field for training purposes. The Hawaiian intend to enter a strong team in the Floral Parade meet and will have a big practice squad.

CHINA AND HISTORICAL PARALLELS.

Of course Dr. Sun Yat Sen has not betrayed his cause, nor has Dr. Wu Ting Fang. But the provisional republic of China is in the hands of the army and the purely military view of politics, in the days of the Praetorian Guard, down through the times of Cromwell and Washington to the period of the Latin American republics, is widely and vitally different from the views of publicists and statesmen. Imperial Rome came to fear and be misled by its Praetorians; Cromwell became so apprehensive of his army that he was compelled to assent to many things that his civic wisdom disputed, including the execution of Charles I; a part of Washington's army desired that he accept royal and hereditary state; and only the other day in a South American republic the army declared a president without a hearing from the people and in defiance of the organic law. As a general thing in these southern military "republics" no civilian is long permitted to be president despite the fact that the chief magistracy of a constitutional government is essentially a civil function.

One who understands China at all can see that the situation for the so-called republic is precarious for lack of basis in civil polity. The republic is not a civil growth but a military usurpation. Men of the class that likes slaughter and pillage have got together with arms in their hands to overthrow the existing government. They have been glad to set up a government of their own and put it in any hands that would not make them forego slaughter and pillage as an occupation. They do not understand constitutions; least of all do they appreciate armistices against which they are now growling and which they regard as devices of strategic value to a half-beaten enemy. Naturally they look upon parleying with the Manchus as treason. It is useless to tell them that negotiation may enable the republic to establish itself without more bloodshed. But blood is what the army wants and it will have blood or know the reason why. Negotiators who stand in the way are regarded, if on their side, as traitors; if on the other side they are sized up as cunning enemies who are trying to undo by palaver what has been achieved against them with the sword.

It is only a republic like ours whose institutions rest upon civil conviction and loyalty, and which does not yield to the army or give an armed force the direction of its affairs that can hope to last. If the colonial revolution had not had its roots deep in civil life; if its leader had not been a statesman as well as a soldier; if the architects of the republic had not been patriots, the military conspiracy to make America a kingdom might have succeeded. In England it made the office of Lord Protector hereditary and so overawed the people that, after the restoration, it was long before England would stand for an army at all or even fortify its coasts. And our own national antipathy to a large standing army dates from that time. But there is no steady influence in China. There the whole substance of the revolution is military, and we already see, in the resignation of Wu Ting Fang and in the charges which Sun Yat Sen so haltingly receives, how superior in power is the sword to the cabinet. Can settled civil institutions come of such conditions? Can one gather grapes of thorns and figs of thistles?

KUHIO AND PENDING BILLS.

Kuhio's return to his hammock and his sylvan, which is now assured, leaves Hawaii's bills hanging in mid-air. The Delegate's secretary, Mr. McClellan, can draw up papers in proper form, argue bills through committees, drum up support for them and prompt the Delegate as to what to do about them in the House, but he cannot occupy Kuhio's seat in his absence and attend to the final routine. There he is barred by the rules. The question thus arises whether Hawaii is to stay unrepresented in Congress during the remainder of this long session and the bills go by default, or whether Julius Kahn or some other friendly Congressman has consented or will consent to look after them and put them through while Kuhio comes home to promote his cheap personal policies and to draw his Congressional pay under false pretences.

The most important measures on the file are the Fairchild Land bill and the Kilauea National Park bill. Both of them call for close watchfulness, which Secretary McClellan will, of course, give, but the danger is in the House where any outsider who is expected to care for them may have so much work in his own district to attend to that he cannot spare time for Hawaii at a critical moment. But all this risk Delegate Kuhio (k) deliberately takes so that he may be here to direct from his hammock that disturbance in our local politics which he is making, partly at the instance of his own prejudices against an honest white governor and partly to help his Democratic bosom friends play their own party game.

In any state of the Union such conduct on the part of a Representative would not be tolerated. A Senator, even, would not dare desert his post as Kuhio commonly does on the slightest pretext, to say nothing of a pretext which aims at the destruction of his own party. But in the low estate of our politics Kuhio appears to be a law unto himself and people have come to stand it term after term rather than raise what some timorous citizens regard as an issue of race politics. But we guess they are about through.

THE LIGHTED TORCH IN HAWAII.

It was the plan of Bishop Berkeley of old to found a university in the Bermudas by which the beams of learning might be flashed into the abyssal woods of the new-found continent. It is true the good Bishop's dream was never realized, for the pioneers of the continent itself brought learning into the American forests and, as soon as they could do so, established there the schools of higher culture which are natural to the race. Steadily the plan grew, and as Anglo-Saxon civilization pressed westward, its way was marked by the belfry of the school as well as by the spire of the church and, in turn, the seminary, the college and the university became enduring landmarks. Eventually the Pacific coast was reached, and amid thousands of new founded schools, colleges grew and finally the greater institutions of learning. But before this came about the torch was lighted in these Pacific Bermudas and now the island beacons which Bishop Berkeley dreamed of planting so far away are blazing brightly. Years before California had a single secular school, Hawaii had founded educational centers to which the sons of coast pioneers hastened; and one of these, Oahu College, is probably the oldest institution of learning, except Lahainaluna and Santa Clara College, west of the Rockies. And now the cornerstone of a college of still more significance has been laid here which contains the germ of a university such as old Bishop Berkeley hoped, three hundred years ago, would be an intellectual lighthouse in the Atlantic but which may be trusted to perform a similar mission here. We mean the College of Hawaii.

The College of Hawaii is young but it has stability and an inviting field. One may venture to predict that the time is not far distant when it will unite with Oahu College, as the higher department, to which its chosen site is nearly contiguous physically, and bring the standard of instruction here to as complete a university basis as the most reasonable friends of higher instruction could desire. Already the College of Hawaii offers a sound course of higher study, and one can get a well-rounded education at its hands. But in the end it will be as worthy of instructing, not only the island youth, but young men and women from the mainland, as are some of the overseas institutions of learning to which our own young people have flocked.

And so the corner-stone laying yesterday was an event in the history of our insular civilization and one in which the sisterhood of American colleges and universities has reason to take interest and pride.

Walt Mason The Poet Philosopher

Ah, breakfast is a cheerful meal, with sausage sizzling from the pan, and when I've eaten it I feel a nobler and a better man! The sausage basely is maligned by jesters lost in mental fogs, who SAUSAGE cannot lift the sordid mind from thoughts of vagrant cats and dogs. Where'er I view the smoking link of sausage, flanking buckwheat piles, I float on pleasant dreams and think of snowy pigs in verdant isles. The pigs from which the sausage came were surely washed in sparkling rills; each wore a garland on its frame, and fed on dates and daffodils. Each pig was nurtured on delights and breathed a soft and scented air; 'twas killed with sacrificial rites, and ground and stuffed by damsels fair. And Araby the blest was raked for spices pure, without alloy; and when at last 'twas linked or caked, I ate it with a whoop of joy. I have no heart to sing the rose, the lily or pomegranate sweet; the smell of sausage hits my nose, and you'll excuse me while I eat.

account at the port of entry for smuggled goods. Even then a fine might prove unjust to him, for often smuggling is so deftly done that Custom House officers, skilled in the work of detection, are fooled. But when a captain has nothing to do with the contents of the cargo, so long as they are not known to be explosive or contagious, and could be stied for searching a passenger, what is the justice of holding him responsible in court because somebody unknown to him brought uncertified opium ashore from his ship or used one of its many places of concealment for hiding it? The captain is not obliged to answer for smuggled silks, diamonds, liquor or tobacco, so why for opium? A law or rule holding him responsible is clearly unjust and, if enforced, would demoralize the shipping business.

LITTLE INTERVIEWS

A. F. COOKE—I appreciate and commend Mr. Bonine's manly stand on the hula question.

H. VAN GIESEN—The best way to get the voters registered is to stir up the party organizations on the matter.

H. T. MILLS—The Frear-Kuhio fight is now on for a finish. There will be a struggle for control of the next convention.

E. BUFFANDEAU—It is the duty of officers to induce their employes to register as voters, and to do it without delay and avoid the rush.

W. T. POPE—The excavation work done by the boys at the Waialea school will lessen the price of the contract to erect the new buildings.

JOHN MARTIN—Professor Bonine deserves the confidence of good people by taking the stand he has against having hula dances with his picture show.

JAMES D. DOUGHERTY—If all the business houses and homes which have flagpoles fly the national colors in the morning when the Cleveland arrives, it will be a pretty sight and help offset the impression made by the Chinese revolutionary flags.

CHANG CHAU—Talk of Dr. Sun retiring in favor of Yuan Shih Kai is buncombe. It is a matter of stallings. To get Yuan out of the game is the diplomacy of the Republicans. Without him the Manchus will lack a leader, which is just what we want.

J. F. C. ABEL—I am sorry "The Wranglers" club is not in existence today. It was always hard to keep up anything like that in Honolulu, and it is harder now than ever with all the picture shows and that sort of thing. Even the lodges show the difference. Where once they were full, now they often cannot get a quorum.

RAY B. REEDY—They found some tomatoes infected on my place and, although it was only where they were broken that the insect got in, I have pulled them all up. I have nothing at all left growing. Yet in my neighborhood there is a place with empty tins scattered around and stagnant water to be found all the time.

BAD NUISANCES

(Continued from Page One.) from which myriads of mosquitoes swarmed when the wooden cover was removed, and the water in the basin was found filled with wrigglers in all stages of development. It was stated that the catch basin at present served no earthly purpose other than to breed mosquitoes, and the owner has been ordered to fill it up without delay.

"Many Ordinances Violated." In the rear of the Excelsior bakery it was found that about every health ordinance ever enacted was being violated. Tin cans and other partially filled receptacles were found to contain plenty of wrigglers. A wretched filthy catch basin is at one corner of the house and has become so clogged up with grease and filth that the tenant found it necessary to break a part of it in order to allow it to overflow. There are also on this property a cracked and rolling cement floor not properly curbed, a lean-to which violates the ordinances, and stables constructed close to a fence and not the prescribed distance therefrom.

"If we only had one or two cases of plague in the city," said Dr. McCoy, "we should lose no time in tearing these premises apart. There wouldn't be much left when we got through."

Kick About Junk Pile. Jacob Rosenberg's junk piles on property belonging to the Queen Emma estate, on Halekaula and Richards streets, were also inspected. There is an enormous amount of junk stored here, with many containers filled or partly filled with water, in which mosquito larvae are breeding by millions. The Board of Health has several times notified Rosenberg to dispose of this junk or effectively cover it. He has failed to pay any attention to their notifications. The legal department is again notifying him, for the last time, either to clear the stuff away, roof it within ten days, or be haled into court.

John Wilson, who is the owner of a vacant house at 419 Queen street, will also be given three days in which to remedy insanitary conditions found in a wash house back of the dwelling at this number. The catch basin in this wash house was found to be alive with larvae of mosquitoes. Mr. Wilson has been ordered to screen this basin effectively or have the whole structure abolished.

A taro patch belonging to, or leased by, John Kee, near the Oahu cemetery, was found to contain plenty of mosquito larvae. Mr. Kee has been ordered to stock the patch with fish, drain it, or adopt such means as he sees fit to cause it to cease to be a breeding place for mosquitoes.

Sagging Gutters. In addition to orders being sent out to abolish these nuisances, many will be notified this afternoon to remedy or remove sagging roof gutters. Among these are the C. M. Cooke Estate, owning property at 198 and 110 Bethel street; W. R. Castle, agent of the premises at 1023 and 1051 Nuuanu street; W. R. Castle, agent of the premises at 12 King street; Bishop Trust Co., agents for the property at 15 and 17 Hotel street; Fred Harrison, owner of the premises at 88 South King street; S. M. Damon, owner of property at 1066 Fort street; and J. Alfred Magoon, agent for premises occupied by the Imperial Bar.

The circular letters prepared by Judge Lymer are still being distributed by employees of the Board of Health. It is hoped that, by tonight or tomorrow at least, every household in the city will have received at least one of them.

WILD RUMOR

Sea Exercises Further Postponed. Admiral Southernland has resolved to postpone any further attempt to leave port until next week. The West Virginia and the Colorado were to leave port yesterday to hold boat drills and other exercises outside the harbor. The quarterdeck awnings were removed and other preparations had been made, but the high wind decided Admiral Southernland to wait for a favorable time. He will not leave port now until next week.

There was some disappointment on the vessels this morning at the delay in the Wilhelmina's arrival, as all are naturally anxious to obtain some of that mail contained in the 430 sacks aboard.

Drydock Progress. The work of tightening up the wood-work around the first section of the drydock at Pearl Harbor has gone along well, and it is believed that it is now practically watertight. An attempt will be made to pump the water out tomorrow morning. This will be a gradual affair, and the bottom of the dock will be watched very carefully by divers to see that everything is in order.

Lieut. Garler, who has charge of this work, does not anticipate that there will be any hitch in the process, feeling sure that the way the floor of the dock has been nailed down will be a success.

for two hours and a half.

Deputy Attorney General Sutton began his argument for the defense at 11:20 and concluded at 11:55. He devoted most of his time to replying to the arguments advanced by counsel for the other side, contending that they were faulty throughout. He took the ground that the commissioners acted strictly within their rights in awarding the contract as they did.

R. B. Anderson consumed about ten minutes in his closing argument, in which he replied to some of the contentions of the attorney for the government.

At the conclusion of the argument Judge Whitney stated that he did not want to be too hasty in deciding so important a case, but that he would render his decision as expeditiously as possible.

FRANK LEWIS WAS STUBBORN

In the police court this morning Frank Lewis pleaded not guilty to a charge of violating a county automobile ordinance and his case went over. Officer Abreu was stationed at the corner of Fort and King streets yesterday afternoon when Lewis came down Fort street and turned in a Wai kiki direction into King street.

He made a wrong turn and Abreu told him to go back and make the turn properly. Lewis went back and again turned wrongly. Abreu told him to make the turn a third time, but Lewis refused to stop, whereupon Abreu followed the car, boared it and took Lewis to the station.

Lewis told the officer that if he wanted to tell him anything he should do so privately and not bawl out to him on the street.

Section 9 of County Ordinance No. 2, says that motors making a turn must go to the right and beyond the center of the street intersected before turning. This is in order to protect those who are observing the rule of the road by keeping to the right of the street into which the automobile is going to turn.

GRAND RECEPTION

The fact that this is one of the largest and finest buildings owned by the Y. M. C. A. should be of interest, and the fact that it is the largest and finest of its kind for any city of the size of Honolulu is even more interesting. The fact, also, that it was built with local money, by local contractors, from designs by a local architect, ought to be of interest.

The boat that bears the Hawaiian Promotion committee party to the Cleveland will leave the foot of Fort street at 7 o'clock tomorrow morning. This should give those who are going out plenty of time before the boat starts in, and save the time in tossing about before pratique is granted.

MR. SUPER MAY CHANGE POSITION

The directors of the Y. M. C. A. will meet tomorrow afternoon at 12:30 o'clock to discuss whether an assistant secretary will be appointed, and whether Mr. Super may take up the position of executive secretary of the Christian Extension Movement.

The work of the Y. M. C. A. has grown so rapidly that another secretary is needed, and this matter will be decided by the directors. The new man will have the title of assistant secretary, if the appointment is made. The matter of deciding whether Mr. Super shall assist the Christian Extension Movement will also be taken up. There might be discussion on this, as it is possible that some of the directors may feel that Mr. Super cannot be spared from his important duties with the Y. M. C. A. These are keeping him very busy these times. Mr. Super is looking forward to meeting a lot of the Mainland workers on the Cleveland tomorrow, as he feels sure that so big a crowd is sure to yield up a number of Y. M. C. A. supporters.

LYMER REGIME IN FULL SWING

Deputy Attorney General Lymer is firmly established in his headquarters at the legal department of the Board of Health. He has, as secretary, H. R. Jordan, an old newspaperman, who has a knowledge of what really constitutes a story.

Ever since Mr. Lymer took hold of the proposition, he has expressed himself as ready to battle it out to a finish on any legal matter that may come up through the mosquito campaign.

In regard to prosecutions Lymer is making no difference between the highest in the land and the lowest. Notices will be served on all persons who fail to abate nuisances and, already, F. M. Swanzey and S. G. Wilder have been dealt with.

Dr. McCoy this morning issued orders, through his inspectors, that no mosquito wrigglers were in future to be destroyed by the campaign force. The only thing the inspectors have to do now is to report the matter to the legal department of the Board of Health, which organization will at once serve notice that the nuisance must be abated. Failing this, action will be taken at once through the police court.

HEALTH LAWS AT LAST COMPLETED

Secretary Mott-Smith has at last completed his long task of compiling and annotating the Public Health Laws of Hawaii. He has been engaged for nearly two years on the work, and the task has been a very hard one. The references and changes have run into thousands of notes, and the completed manuscript shows that the greatest care has been taken of the work.

The manuscript was handed over to President Pratt of the Board of Health this morning and in the future the laws, embodied under one cover, will be the basis of all operations of the Board of Health.

Heretofore, the health laws have been scattered all through books relating to the different departments of the public service. In future all the data will be included in one book that will be easy to refer to. The indexing has been brought up to date, and the work is a credit to the secretary of the territory.

SARAWAK A FORMIDABLE PRODUCER OF CRUDE RUBBER

U. S. Consul Orlando H. Baker, Sandakan, British North Borneo; Sarawak, a country of 50,000 square miles, lying between North Borneo and Dutch Borneo, has about 500,000 inhabitants. The Chinese are an important element of the population, but semi-civilized native tribes form the vast majority. There was an import business during 1910 amounting to $5,619,610 gold and exports aggregated $5,950,577, a total foreign trade of $11,570,187.

Among the most important products of Sarawak are certain gums from which a very good rubber is manufactured. The following amounts in piculs of 133 1/3 pounds passed through the custom house during the year 1911: Gutta jauskar, 6507; gutta jelu-tong, 106,873; gutta-percha, 1651; India rubber, 2605; plantation rubber, 161; a total of 117,797 piculs, or 15,706,266 pounds.

A concession granted in March, 1909, to a company capitalized at $9,733,000 gold and organized to develop the rubber industry of Sarawak, does not confer a monopoly of the business, but protects the native who gather the gutta from the forests in their right to obtain the highest price possible for their produce. The Rajah of Sarawak is opposed to every sort of monopoly. Clause 7 of the concession reads: "The raw gutta shall be offered for sale to the company at a price equal to the market price prevailing in Singapore at the time of such offer."

Rubber Factories.
It is also ordered, for the information of the sellers, that a bulletin giving the prevailing price of gutta and crude rubber in Singapore shall be kept exposed where everyone may see it. The concession, therefore, seems to grant only an option on the purchase, at Singapore prices, of all the crude rubber gathered or produced in Sarawak and the right to establish and operate factories for refining it.

One plant, equipped with machinery of special design, is already erected and in operation at Goebilt, near the mouth of the Sarawak river. Its extreme capacity for treating crude gutta and rubber is 10,000 pounds per day. A plant with a daily capacity of 30,000 pounds is being built at Karimon. It is not to be supposed that machinery can continue to run during the whole year at its extreme capacity, but it is thought safe to estimate the combined annual capacity of both plants at 20,000 pounds per day, and 300 days to the year, giving an annual product of 6,000,000 pounds of refined rubber. The two plants combined are thought to form the largest up-to-date rubber factory in the world.

The work of planting Para rubber trees advances in Sarawak as well as in other parts of Boreno, but cultivated rubber forms only a small part of the rubber exported, there being few plantation trees old enough to be tapped. The sale of rubber from the Goebilt works is given at 1,250,000 pounds during fifteen months' operation.

CLEAN CULTURE WAS DISCUSSED

There was a meeting in Governor Frear's office this morning and at it the committee in charge of the geographic names of points on the Island of Kauai, submitted their report. The committee went into the matter of correct Hawaiian names for localities and the result was forwarded by steamer to Washington today.

Expert Weinland, who is in Honolulu looking into the fruit fly matter, was a caller on the Governor this morning. The matter of clean culture, more especially of the banana plantations, was discussed. It is possible that an entomologist will be brought from the mainland to work on the scheme to establish clean culture.

Under the new law of California the importation of fruit that may be infested with scale or any other disease that at present is in the state, can be barred out. The old law only provided for the blocking of fruit attacked by pests that were not already in California.

The experts all unite in saying that the clean culture campaign is the only way to prevent the pineapple and banana trade being finally injured.

ESCAPES ARE ENJOYING LIFE

Rodrigues, Chun Duck Soon and John Lua, escaped convicts, are all doing pretty well, thank you, judging from reports to hand.

Rodrigues is still out Ewa way. He writes a friend that the climate of that district suits him admirably and that he expects to make his home there permanently.

Deputy Sheriff Fernandez, who was in town yesterday, reports that Rodrigues was seen yesterday morning at the mouth of Halawa Gulch. He doffed his fedora courteously to the officer en passant. Fernandez states that Rodrigues looks remarkably well and that the care-free life of the open evidently agrees with him.

Rodrigues is keeping in funds by breaking into Japanese and Porto Rican houses and commandeering whatever of value there may be lying handy.

John Lua and Chun Duck Soon seem to prefer the town with its varied attractions to the somewhat hazy life of the country.

Lua is a confirmed moving picture fiend and it is more than probable that this is what is responsible for his continued presence in the community's midst.

Last night Lua is reported to have demanded money from a Portuguese girl in the neighborhood of Kapiolani Park and to have obtained it. Another report is to the effect that, taking advantage of the fine tide yesterday afternoon, Lua indulged in a swim at the county baths.

The police, however, are inclined to discredit the latter report.

STOCKS INACTIVE AND LESS FIRM

The stock market is very quiet this week, stocks being fully as inactive today as they were yesterday and a trifle less firm.

McBryde fell off another eighth today, selling at 8 1/2%. Two hundred and sixty-five shares changed hands at that figure, one block of five shares selling also at 8 1/2%.

Ewa was a trifle stronger today, the quotation being 35. One hundred and thirty-five shares were sold.

Hawaiian Commercial remained at 43, but there was little trading in the stock, only twenty-five shares changing hands.

Wailua dropped again to 124, but the only sale recorded was that of a block of ten shares.

Pioneer also dropped back, a block of ten shares selling at 237 as against 238.50 for the last previous sale.

Oahu remained unchanged at 31.6 1/2, but only nineteen shares were sold.

Olaa sold at 6.25, 149 shares being disposed of. A block of sixteen shares of Tanjong Olok Rubber sold at 40.75.

The only other sale recorded was that of $5000 Kohala Ditch Company six per cent bonds at par.

MEETING OF THE GUIDES.
A meeting of those who will act as guides to the Cleveland tourists tomorrow was held this morning at the public service rooms and Mr. Clinton G. Ballentyne outlined the plan he had in view for the entertainment and instruction of the five hundred who will see the city from sightseeing cars.

Mr. R. H. Trent, A. F. Cooke, Emil Berndt, Ed. Dekum, Lyle Dickey, C. M. Dickey, Lorrin A. Andrews, T. F. Sedgwick, W. A. Bryan, and W. L. Howard will each be introduced to a car full of people, and each will act as guide and informer to one of the car-loads of Cleveland passengers. The literature of sightseeing in Honolulu was gone over and each one of the entertainment committee selected one of the first folders gotten out several years ago by the Territorial Transportation Committee, at the suggestion of W. E. Stitt of the Canadian Pacific Railway, as the best local guide. This booklet gives the list of every important thing to be seen on the line of each of the car lines, and the conductors will enlarge, giving local history all along the route.

After three hours' of sightseeing from the cars the tourists will be landed at the Aquarium, and from there visit the Outrigger club, and have lunch at the Moana Hotel.

PINAFORE REHEARSAL TONIGHT.
There will be a rehearsal of Pinafore tonight at the Kiloiana Art League rooms, Beretania street. A start will be made punctually at half-past seven, and all those concerned are requested to be there by that time.

E. G

SOCIETY

OVER THE TEACUPS. By Meg Negley.

It is a very real thing to you, if pounding and hammering get on your nerves, so that you feel that you will fly to pieces. It may seem foolish to other people, but it is very serious to you.

It is also a very real grievance to you if a window rattles in the night so that you cannot sleep. Every slightest thump and bang makes you fairly leap from bed; and the longer it continues, the worse you get. Repetition doesn't dull your senses to it; rather, they become more and more alert.

It is very true, too, that some people drive you nearly distracted. You would go out of you away a mile to avoid meeting Mrs. Jones, she gets on your nerves so. It may be silly to others. But to you, it is a very sad fact.

Many people are suffering in just such ways. What is to be done about it? Can they not get beyond the reach of such irritations? If they cannot, they are at the mercy of a very cruel world. They are more powerless than a fly in the face of a hurricane. For the world is full of noises and unpleasant people,—if we see things in this way.

And this really is the gist of the matter. If we want to prevent things from getting on our nerves, we will have to change our viewpoint toward them. We may do certain physical things that will help. We may get more exercise and more fresh air, and eat less stimulating and more nourishing food,—and all these will build us up physically, and aid us to resist the effects of these irritants. But these are not enough; and sometimes, they are of no avail. The surest cure in these cases is a mental remedy. If we will change our mental attitude toward them, they are powerless.

It is a well-known fact that if we are intensely absorbed in something, we can sit in a room and hear nothing that is going on. Our consciousness does not take cognizance of the sensations of sound. Often, if deeply interested in a book or some work, we do not hear any one speaking to us. So we can close our ears mentally, if we wish to.

And this is what we should do, if irritating sounds intrude. We should think upon something that will absorb all our attention. Whatever interests us most, we should deliberately turn our mind upon. If we have thought we could invent something, then and there invent it. If we have wanted to travel, plan the journey we desire to take. If we want a new dress, design it. Before we know it, the irritating sounds will have faded from our consciousness, or have become but a soothing undertone.

In regard to the people who irritate us, we need to get a bigger outlook. They get on our nerves because they differ from us. They do not dress according to our standards, or they express views that "rile" us, or they have some mannerism that is objectionable. But we should try to see that the whole of the cosmos is not summed up in us; that they have a right to their different outlook on life; that perhaps even, they could give us some points, if we were not so narrow and opinionated. The cure for people who get on our nerves is really a broadened sympathy and a more tolerant attitude. And this in reality is helpful to ourselves, and will bring us more enjoyment in life.

And as a simple, practical aid when nerves are tense, or sleeplessness has us in its thrall, try rhythmic breathing. If persisted in, this will gradually soothe excited nerves and bring sleep. Take the breath in for a certain number of heart-beats, hold it for half the number, exhale for the full number, and hold it again for the half number, before beginning the process over again. If this is practised for a little while, a soothing feeling of rest and quiet steals over the whole body, nerves relax, and before we know it, we are asleep.

SOCIAL NEWS OF THE DAY.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Gurry, Sr., will give a dinner complimentary to Miss Withrow on Saturday night.

Mrs. George Wallace is a guest of the George H. Robertson family on Bingham and Artesian streets.

Mrs. Wooten, wife of Major Wooten of Fort de Russy, has issued invitations for cards at her home next Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Abrams celebrated their tenth wedding anniversary on last Sunday at the peninsula.

Mrs. E. H. Blanchard will give a theater party next Monday night.

Mrs. Dorby, mother of Dr. Dorby, will entertain with an informal dinner party on Friday afternoon. Mrs. Bush will be the guest of honor on the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Marston Campbell are giving a dinner on Thursday night.

Captain and Mrs. Benjamin H. Watkins of the Second Infantry lines of Lohela, who were week-end guests at the Young Hotel, have returned to the garrison.

Mrs. George H. Robertson and daughter Sybil, are expected on the Wilhelmina. They return after a delightful trip to the Coast, where they were the recipients of much social attention.

A pleasant impromptu affair was the little party last night in which Mrs. Bodge of the Hawaiian Hotel entertained two tables of bridge.

Mr. and Mrs. George F. Bush expect to leave on the Wilhelmina on the 23rd of this month for the Coast. Mr. Bush has business in New York and will be accompanied by his wife.

THE THEATERS

Crowds at the Empire.
Grounding the wire which connected the "Gilman Four" and Jones, Grant and Debeard with Wise and Milton is, perhaps, responsible for the excellent performance given by those teams at the Empire Theater last night to an audience that packed the place from footlights to main entrance.

The program included a pleasant diversion by McGee and Reece, clever exponents of foot education. Their dancing is always good and never tires. The colored members of the company now at the Empire do things of a rather different and more exuberant character. In "buck and wing" their dancing approaches more closely the southern idea of those intricate steps, and "buck and wing" is essentially southern in character.

There was no program by which the audience might distinguish the dancer, but the chubby faced mulatto, whose dancing delighted thousands at the Bijou last week continued in high favor last night. She was accorded liberal applause from the moment of her initial bow.

The work of the "Gilman Four" kept the audience in high feather throughout the act. "The Tramp" of the quartet is far above the average comedian in makeup and acting of characters which he essays. To the layman it would appear that he is worthy a position in a first-class musical comedy company. Others of the "four" are clever in every respect.

The Empire program of motion pictures added to the excellent vaudeville features is one of the best at the show houses this week.

HULA OR NO HULA

CONCERT WILL BE GOOD
Even the last row of the Opera House is a good position in which to hear the Kaul singers. Scarcely a note was lost by those who stood in the rear of the auditorium Saturday night, so that those who wish to hear the sweet songs of Hawaii excellently rendered should consult Mr. Douthitt at the Promotion rooms as to seats.

A movement is on foot to eliminate the Hawaiian dance from the program, the final decision being left to the Promotion Committee this afternoon. If it is a question of showing pictures of the volcano or allowing the Cleveland tourists to witness the hula, the latter will undoubtedly have to go. The rumor that the "Turkey Trot" and "Texas Tommy" dances are to be substituted is denied.

The song program for tomorrow night will be the best in the Kaul repertoire and many new Hawaiian numbers will be rendered. It will be satisfactory to everyone who loves harmony.

PROF. VON ARX MYSTIFIES LARGE AUDIENCE

Before a crowded house at the Orpheum last night Prof. Von Arx demonstrated his cleverness as a sleight-of-hand artist and proved the old adage, "The quickness of the hand deceives the eye." His work all through was very good and in his new illusions had the audience guessing.

The juggling act by Murphy, the eccentric comedian, was also very good and musical Reeves came in for his share of applause by his rendition of "The Garden of Harmony." The show all through was very interesting and furnished two hours of entertaining. Tonight the magician will change some of his acts, and toward the latter part of his engagement he will expose a good many of his tricks.

HUGHES COMPANY WELL RECEIVED

The Hughes Musical Comedy Company received a hearty welcome at the Bijou last night when they appeared in the "Jolly Widow" a snappy one-act musical comedy replete with singing and dancing specialties. Madame Lloyd, who replaces Miss Edwards as leading lady, proved quite an acquisition to the company and her beautiful soprano voice filled the large theater. A singer of her calibre is seldom seen in musical comedies.

The same program will be repeated tonight and tomorrow night and will give way on Thursday night to musical comedy new to Honolulu. On that night a number of new specialties will also be introduced.

Mr. and Mrs. Hedeman gave a sumptuous dinner on Saturday night complimentary to Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Bush, who leave on the next Wilhelmina for the Mainland. Roses and violets were tastefully used in adorning the table, which was graced with the following friends: Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Bush, Mr. and Mrs. Marston Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Young, Dr. Hedeman, Mr. Burchinal, Mr. Howard Hedeman and Mr. and Mrs. Hedeman.

The dinner given by Mr. John F. Colburn at his residence on Kinau street last evening was a Hawaiian dinner, served in European style. The grounds were prettily decorated with Japanese lanterns and the lanai, on which the dinner was served, was screened with big Hawaiian flags. Hawaiian girls played musical instruments during the dinner, at which twenty-four people sat. Among the guests were Admiral and Mrs. Cowles, Miss Cowles, Admiral and Mrs. Thomas, Dr. and Mrs. Johnstone, Commander Warren J. Terhune, Carlos Long, Miss Whiting, Mr. B. F. Dillingham, Captain and Mrs. Marix, and Mrs. C. W. Ashford. After dinner dancing occupied the younger members of the party.

The Service Bridge Club met yesterday with Mr. Wooten of Fort de Russy and spent the afternoon with the usual rubbers of bridge. The prizes on this occasion were dainty pieces of Canton linen elaborately embroidered. Those fortunate in securing prizes were Mrs. Johnston, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Willis and Mrs. Roy Francis Smith. After the distribution of prizes dainty refreshments were served. The members of the Service Bridge Club are Mrs. Barker, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Case, Miss Case, Mrs. Cowles, Mrs. Irwin, Mrs. Gaylor, Mrs. Kingsbury, Mrs. Marix, Mrs. Preston, Mrs. Putnam, Miss Stephens, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Walker, Mrs. Willis, Mrs. Tuttle and Mrs. Turner.

COMING BACK FROM PHILIPPINE CONSTABULARY

Army Notes Which Have An Interest to Hawaii--Changes of Detail--Navy Intelligence

A transfer of United States army officers or rather of two officers exchanging, with the War Department's consent, their regiment and detail, has been consummated which will give the Second Infantry stationed at the Lilehua reservation an active member.

One of the three Majors of this infantry regiment was Major Harry H. Bandholtz. Major Bandholtz, as he is rated in the roster of the army, is now and has been for the past few years acting chief of the Philippine Constabulary with the rank of brigadier general, and stationed at Manila.

In the language of the Philippine Constabulary roster, General Bandholtz was detailed from the line of the "regulars," as assistant chief to the first commander of the Constabulary military organization, several years ago when he succeeded Henry T. Allen, then a captain in the United States army, detailed to the Constabulary and holding the rank which General Bandholtz now holds.

General Allen proved himself to be a fine organizer of troops, and a good executive officer, for he set a high and good pace for the Filipino soldiery in the early days of American occupation, which record General Bandholtz has ably maintained.

General Allen on resigning his detail commission of the Philippine island troops, reverted back to his old file in the regular army as a captain. Since reaching his majority, Major Allen has been selected for duty in the office of the chief of staff, War Department, Washington, D. C., where he is now rendering valuable service.

General Bandholtz is in Manila as chief of the Philippine Constabulary while his name is second in the list of majors and he is technically supposed to be serving with his battalion at Schofield Barracks.

As a result of a recent transfer the Second Infantry has gained a fine member in the person of Major Ernesto V. Smith, U. S. A., and General Bandholtz will go on the Infantry list, unassigned.

Major Smith has been assigned for duty with his regiment and is expected over from the coast on the February transport. He will assume command of the Second Battalion, stationed at Schofield Barracks on reaching here next month.

Having completed a detail in the pay department of the army, Major Smith was stationed here for some months as chief paymaster immediately following the departure of Major Beecher B. Ray, paymaster, who was unexpectedly called to the mainland.

Major Smith made many friends during his brief tour of service here who are anticipating pleasure in having him again one of the Department of Hawaii's members.

Off On Hunting Trip.
Captain Clifford Game, U. S. A., depot quartermaster, and Senator Albert F. Judd were passengers on the S. S. Kilauea today for Kona and Kauai ports. Senator Judd and Captain Game are going for a hunting trip on the island of Molokai and anticipate returning to Honolulu on Sunday morning, January 28. Captain Clifford C. Carter was going but was detained at the last moment.

Lilehua Officers' Mess.
The officers' mess of the Second Infantry recently held their annual election of officers and for a board of governors at their club house at Schofield Barracks.

The result of the election held was that Captain Peter E. Marquart was made president, Captain A. J. Harris vice-president, with Lieutenant William G. Ball as secretary and treasurer.

For a board of governors, Chaplain Alfred A. Pruden, Captain Benjamin H. Watkins, Captain George E. Kump and Lieutenant Joseph C. Kay will serve for this year.

At this meeting of the regimental officers' club it was also voted to expend a certain amount of money in brightening up the club rooms with fresh paint, and some new pictures are also to be added to make a more homelike and attractive atmosphere for the clubhouse.

Invalided Back.
Captain C. A. Brand, U. S. N., of the U. S. S. Glacier, had to be relieved of this command and invalided back to San Francisco recently.

Captain Brand made a brave fight against illness but finally had to surrender and he carried bodily aboard the departing ship.

Go For Instruction.
A cablegram was received at Department headquarters from the War Department, Washington, D. C., on Saturday officially ordering the following army officers, to leave Honolulu on the next transport about the 4th of February.

Captain Charles S. Haight and Lieutenant Thomas H. Cunningham, both of the Fifth Cavalry; Lieutenant Franklin O. Jackson and Lieutenant Philip J. Lauber of the Second Infantry, and Lieutenant Bernard R. Peyton, First Field Artillery, are the detail for a three month's tour of duty at the military schools, Presidio of Monterey, California.

The Transports.
Captain Clifford Game, in command of the United States army transportation service for the Department of Hawaii, has received cable advices to the effect that the U. S. A. T. Thomas, which left Manila, Philippine Islands, on the 14th of this month, arrived in due time at the regular Japanese port, leaving Nagasaki, Japan, on the 21st for Honolulu.

There has been a confusion of dates as to just when the Thomas did leave Manila coming this way, the 14th coming on Sunday. The trip for fumigation of the troop and steamer list of passengers was made on the regular date to Mariveles, so that the Sunday regulation governing the sailing of U. S. A. transports for a long journey was strictly observed as well as making the schedule time.

It is officially announced that there will be ample accommodations for all first-class passengers booked to leave here on the February troopship going to San Francisco.

The Thomas is expected to reach here on route to the coast about the 4th of next month from the Philippine Islands via Nagasaki.

The U. S. A. T. Dix which left this port early in December, arrived at Seattle on December 13, not the 30th as has been reported.

The Dix is laid up indefinitely at Seattle, Washington, undergoing repairs, being under the immediate command of Colonel William H. Miller, chief quartermaster, Department of the Columbia, U. S. A.

Major McClure's Papers.
Noting that the German military organization has the corps as the basis while the Japanese, recent victors in a gigantic struggle, achieved success by means of armies organized directly from divisions, Major N. F. McClure, U. S. A., 5th U. S. Cav., finds an explanation for the difference in the means of transportation of the two armies, so says the Army and Navy Journal. The Germans expect to fight where they can move their troops primarily by rail and secondarily over the broad, smooth highways of Central Europe, also contemplating the supplying of their forces in large measure by rail, while the Japanese expect to move their armies over the villainous roads and broken terrain of Korea, Manchuria and possibly the Philippines. The division is a unit better fitted than the corps for operation in such a country. Moreover it can hardly be said that the Japanese fully solved the problem of supply in the last war and for this reason came very near losing. The difference between the Japanese and the German systems is not so great as appears at first sight, for the Japanese division with its Kobi reserve brigade, numbers more than 20,000 men. Asking whether the division is not better suited than the corps as the basis unit in all the theaters of war in which our armies are likely to operate in the next quarter of a century, Major McClure, writing in the January-February Journal of the M. S. L., answers in favor of the division, with the qualification that the division should be strong and recruited to its full strength. "It may be truthfully said that the properly proportioned infantry division is the most finished of army organization that has been evolved from the experience of modern war. It is the masterpiece from the workshop of the military organizer. It is both an administrative and a tactical unit. It has all the essentials to make it a complete military machine." In the campaign in Italy in 1796 Napoleon had an army of four divisions giving a total of 40,000 men, but when he became First Consul he adopted the corps organization, each corps being composed of two or more divisions. His normal corps from Marengo to Waterloo was about three infantry divisions, to which was usually added a cavalry division, a total of 22,000 men, 4,500 horses, forty to fifty guns and about 500 wagons. With his usual sagacity and judgment of men, he varied these corps in size in accordance with the abilities of the commanders. The organization of the Confederate Army in the Gettysburg campaign illustrated Von Clausewitz's rule that there is nothing harder to handle than an army composed of three parts unless it is one composed of two parts. CORNERSTONE OF PERMANENT COLLEGE BUILDING IS LAID

With the faculty and students of the College of Hawaii were assembled the pupils of the Mid-Pacific Institute, whose buildings are in near view of the spot, to witness the laying of the cornerstone of the Territorial college's first permanent building at Manoa. Many leading educationists and friends of education added to the assembly.

Judge Henry E. Cooper, president of the board of regents, delivered the opening address. W. R. Farrington, former member of the board of education and chairman of the late school commission, gave a historical sketch of the college.

Then the usual deposits of records, copies of the daily papers etc., were placed in the cornerstone, when the cavity was sealed and the stone well and truly laid.

Judge Cooper said we ought to be truly grateful that we live in an age when so much is being accomplished toward true perfection. In conclusion he said:

"There are many more and possibly still greater developments to come in the years that are to follow, and whether or not the building shall be the home of newly-discovered wonders, we lay this foundation knowing that we are taking part in an undertaking that means much for those that are to come after us."

Mr. Farrington related the history of the college, describing the efforts to get the necessary appropriations from the legislature, the start a few years later with two students and four teachers and subsequent growth to an institution with a faculty of fourteen instructors and 200 special and enrolled students. Among general remarks the speaker said:

"We have learned in the few years of college existence that there is a field for the college; there is work here to be done and Hawaii's young men and young women soon to be numbered in the hundreds where we now count them in tens, are waiting for the opportunities of a college education, only possible for them through a local institution. They cannot afford to go to the mainland colleges. They have the brains, the ability, the ambition. The College of Hawaii places them on an equality with their fellow countrymen of the United States."

President John W. Gilmore delivered the address of the day. He spoke of the differing conditions of environment which would cause variations from the courses of instruction and methods pursued by mainland colleges. Among other sentiments the president uttered were the following:

"Of the permanence of this institution I shall not speak at length. Suffice it to say that no nation, state or community ever has or ever will get along progressively without institutions dedicated to the searching for truth and promulgation of knowledge. As this institution is dedicated to these objects so will its permanency be guaranteed."

"It may require fifty, seventy-five or even a hundred years to consummate these plans, but even though it may be a long time it cannot be doubted that a working plan is a good thing and it is a good purpose to adhere to a working plan."

Francis W. Damon, the veteran educator of Chinese in Honolulu, apostrophized the college and its mission and, pointing to the big brown structures that house the Mid-Pacific Institute and to its uniformed students who were present, pledged the support of that great institution to the work and welfare of the College of Hawaii. There were many boys and girls of the Mid-Pacific Institute there, Mr. Damon said, who would some day be aspirants for scholarships in this college.

Mr. Damon called for three cheers for the College of Hawaii, bringing a stirring response from the Institute boys, others of the dispersing assembly heartily joining in.

Continually detaching bodies of troops from his corps for special missions because of this awkward organization. Except in the campaigns of 1864 and 1865 the corps in the Federal army of the Potomac was no larger than our present division. Von Clausewitz also recommends that in armies of less than 80,000 men, the corps organization be dispensed with. He argues that the greater number of units up to a certain limit, the more flexible the command will be. A detailed comparison is made by the essayist of the composition of the infantry division in the armies of the United States, Germany and Japan. The paper is to be continued.

Major McClure is commanding the Third Squadron, Fifth Cavalry stationed at Schofield Barracks, and his learned discourse of comparison between two great armies will be of interest, locally here where the major has served with his regiment about a year and a half.

The additional paper promised by Major McClure will be looked for with pleasant anticipation.

NAVY MATTERS.
Naval and marine items of interest to the service and out of the service, from Army and Navy Journal, December 30:

The crew of the U. S. S. North Dakota gave their first annual ball at Terrace Garden, New York city, December 29, and a large crowd attended. Capt. Henry B. Wilson led the grand march with Miss Ida Gilbert, a friend of Q. M. Henry J. Williams. The quartermaster followed his captain in the march with Mrs. Edward H. Campbell, wife of the lieutenant commander of the battleship.

Announcement was made December 29 that a smoker for the crews of the battleships at the navy yard, New York, will be given in the Grand Central Palace Saturday night, December 30. This is the event that was originally planned for December 26. The entertainment is in the nature of a holiday celebration, and funds for it have been obtained by subscription under the auspices of the navy reception committee. There will be several vaudeville and athletic features, the latter including boxing exhibitions.

Ensign Richard C. Sauley, U. S. N., attached to the Kansas, was placed on trial before a general court-martial at Norfolk, Va., December 25. Capt. John C. Quinby, commanding the receiving ship Franklin, is president of the court. Capt. W. A. Pickering, U. S. M. C., and Lieut. W. K. Wortman, U. S. N., are counsel for Ensign Sauley. Ensign Sauley is charged with failing to notify the commandant of the Norfolk navy yard of all the repairs necessary on the torpedoboot Bliddle while he was in command. It is also alleged that he willfully disobeyed his superior officer in failing to proceed to the collier Sterling to get coal when ordered to do so. Ensign Sauley had been ordered to hold his ship in readiness for duty, and it is said was therefore supposed to have all necessary repairs arranged for promptly.

ANOTHER CUT JAP DYING

Detective Harry Lake has been investigating the recent stabbing of a Japanese at Aiea by Lum Yung. He reports that Iwamoto and Sugiharo, two of the three men stabbed, are still in the hospital at Aiea and that the former may not recover. He was stabbed in the lobe of the right lung.

Sugiharo is suffering from a stab in the back.

G. Oki, the third man stabbed, died in the Japanese hospital in Honolulu last Thursday.

Lake states that Lum Yung sought refuge in a house to escape from the Japanese who were pursuing him, and that once inside a room he picked up a carving knife and waited for his assailants to come along.

The inquest on Oki was commenced last night, but was adjourned till Monday to allow of the presence of at least one of the Japanese now in the hospital at Aiea.

THE EXAMINATION OF INSPECTORS

At 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon the written examination of the inspectors of the Board of Health will be held at the College of Hawaii. A batch of questions has been arranged by the examiners. The subjects covered are those in which the inspectors have been instructed for some months past.

Dr. Pratt said this morning that he expected his staff to make a good showing. Twenty inspectors and about a dozen applicants for positions will be examined.

Twenty-five questions have been prepared, and the candidates will be expected to obtain a satisfactory number of credits. The inspecting board will be as follows: Plumbing Inspector Michelstein, Assistant City Physician Moore, Professor A. R. Keller and Dr. McCoy.

On Thursday the oral part of the examination will be held, and at it the members of the Board of Health are to be present to ask questions. The examiners will, of course, have charge of the examination, and determine if the men are suitable for the positions they hold.

The examiners will not know whose paper they are passing upon. They will each go over the answers and allot the number of marks that they think the paper calls for. Then the four percentages will be averaged and the twenty-five averages will give the paper its total percentage.

THE SHEEP DISEASE ON LANAI ISLAND

From Dr. Norgaard's report: Appended to this report will be found the correspondence pertaining to an outbreak of disease among the sheep on the Island of Lanai, where the assistant Territorial veterinarian is now temporarily located. The deputy Territorial veterinarian from Maui is also on the island, the two co-operating in an effort to reach some definite conclusion as to the nature of the epidemic which has carried off a great number of animals. From the description forwarded by the manager of the Lanai ranch it would seem that, ever since another epidemic among the sheep was investigated during the latter part of last year, a full report of which will be found in the annual report of this division for 1910, the sheep have continued to die in greater or less numbers and at varying periods of intervals. Dr. Fitzgerald from Maui was first directed to investigate and report on the present outbreak, he being inclined to believe that the mortality was due to musty manie grass, for which diagnosis there is ample support. The manager, however, leans toward a theory of an infectious disease, and even though I have been unable to find in the evidence submitted any reasonable grounds on which to base the diagnosis it was decided that so long as the sheep continued to die it would be better to make a bacteriological and microscopic investigation, and with the consent of the president of the board, Dr. Case was instructed to equip himself with a complete outfit for this work and is, as stated, now looking into the matter. Dr. Fitzgerald conducting the field work and Dr. Case the laboratory work. Until the results of this investigation have been received and further worked up, it would seem better not to express any opinion on the subject, even though much could be said on the probable cause of the many deaths. Most of this is contained, however, in the correspondence submitted herewith.—Forester.

The committee of the local lodge of Elks appointed to look after the Elks' party that is aboard the steamer Cleveland received a wireless yesterday in response to the one of greeting that they sent last Friday. The message was from Dr. Floyd, one of the traveling Elks, and stated that there are 25 Elks, accompanied by 25 ladies, on board the Cleveland.

The local lodge has made elaborate preparations to see that their visiting brethren have a good time when they land in Honolulu. The committee, which consists of A. E. Murphy, James Dougherty, J. Morton Riggs, W. W. Harris, A. Gartley, E. H. Paris, Dr. C. B. Cooper, S. A. Walker and George H. Angus, has already arranged to have eighteen automobiles at the wharf when the Cleveland arrives. A part of the committee will go out in a launch to meet the steamer and will carry their leis and badges for each member of the party. To the badge is appended a bronze bar bearing the coat of arms of Hawaii, which the visitors will retain as a souvenir of the occasion.

Arrived at the wharf, the visitors will be placed in automobiles and taken at once to Elks' Headquarters to rest up a bit. After that they will be taken in charge again by the committee and taken out to see the city. They will visit every place of interest, from Diamond Head to Moanalua, and will also be taken to the Park. Lunch will be served them at the Country Club.

FINGERS HIT WITH SLEDGE

Putamase, a Japanese employe of the Standard Dressing Company, is in the hospital nursing four smashed digits.

He was working yesterday afternoon on the pile-driver with a countryman named Y. Saka. The latter was wielding a sledge-hammer and in some unaccountable way miscued and landed the iron hard on Putamase's hand.

Putamase expresses relief that the hammer didn't hit his head instead of his hand.

Saka's views on the matter are represented by the words "too bad."

WORK PERFORMED BY MOSQUITO FORCE--A REPORT ON GUTTERS

An analysis of the reports of sanitary inspectors showing the work done since November 9, 1911, when the mosquito campaign was started, to the 13th of the present month, shows that a total of 309,574 inspections were made. These inspections include house gutters, street gutters, standing water, cesspools, privy vaults, holes and low places, catch basins, leaky fixtures, basins and other plants, swamps, ponds, troughs, tanks, tubs and other receptacles, tin cans, bottles, etc., water barrels, and vacant houses.

During the first month of the work about twelve miles of ditches were dug, and 8000 holes filled in trees. A total of 26,129 banana and other plants were inspected, and 205,590 tin cans and bottles were collected.

Much Inspection.

Since the beginning of the work, 11,829 house gutters, 14,960 cesspools, privy vaults and catch basins, and 2,133 water barrels were inspected; mosquito larvae were found in many of these places. Up to the 13th of January the employees of the Board of Health had filled with cement 10,342 holes in trees.

According to the reports, about 250,000 tin cans and bottles have been collected, which does not include the much larger number gathered up by individual householders. Many of these tin cans and bottles still remain along the sides of the roads and streets in the outlying districts, and unless they are soon gathered up by the garbage department the work already done in collecting and piling them in heaps will have to be done over again, as they are already becoming scattered and are still in condition to furnish breeding places for mosquito larvae.

Acting Surgeon General Writes.

FIRST PICTURE OF THE DURBAR TO REACH AMERICA--KING GREETES MUTINY VETERANS

KING TALKING TO INDIAN MUTINY VETERANS
COPYRIGHT 1912 BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

DELHI, January 3.--The veterans of the Indian mutiny of 1856 who were present at the durbar received special consideration from King George. They were lined up and instead of reviewing them the English king passed along the line, shaking hands with each grizzled warrior and addressing a few words to them. Each of the men had gone through a perilsous campaign in India years before the present emperor of this land was born. The veterans fully appreciated the honor.

DEVELOPMENT OF THE PHILIPPINES

Among pending legislation affecting the Philippines is a bill providing for an increase in the amount of land that may be homesteaded in these islands from sixteen hectares (39.5 acres) to fifty hectares (123.5 acres) and in the amount of land that may be sold to an individual from sixteen hectares to 500 hectares (1,235.5 acres). This bill also authorizes the giving of free title to those persons who have occupied lands not exceeding fifty hectares in extent for five years and cultivated them for three years prior to filing petition for title. As there are some 60,000,000 acres of public lands in the Philippines (20,000,000 acres of which are classed as agricultural lands), the proposed limit seems to be fully warranted by the extent of the public domain awaiting disposition and will not affect the area of such lands that may be sold to a corporation or association, 1024 hectares (2,530.3 acres).

Other pending legislation would increase the limit of bonded indebtedness for public works, which is now $5,000,000. This maximum was reached through three issues of bonds, the proceeds of which have been expended in important public improvements. The bonded indebtedness of the Philippine Government at present is as follows:

HOW CONSUMPTIVE BANDIT ROBBED OREGON EXPRESS MAIL

SAN FRANCISCO, January 8.--Through the information given by Charles J. Rhein, the mail clerk held up on board the Oregon Express Friday morning, and who arrived here yesterday with Robert H. Warner, his assistant, more accurate descriptions of the lone bandit who rifled the mail sacks before the train reached Redding, were secured and have been sent broadcast by the Postoffice inspectors. Regarding the hold-up itself, Rhein added little detail to the story he had already told and that told by Warner and Peter Heinrich, who arrived here the day before.

The most noticeable thing about the lone bandit according to Rhein and the men held up with him, was the coolness of the robber. Unlike the stage villain who holds up a passenger train, the Oregon Express robber did not point his revolver at the victims in the car. He did not take any chance of a quick rush toward him and a chance of being disarmed and captured. Instead, the big revolver he carried in his right hand, he held close to his hip with the muzzle pointed toward the floor and a little in front of him.

Prepared For a Rush.

In that way he was more prepared for any rush that might be made at him. He handled the weapon, Rhein declares, like a man used to handling a revolver, and his manner convinced the men with whom he was dealing more than anything else of his ability to carry out the robbery as he had planned it.

Rhein declared at the Postoffice building yesterday, where he made his report upon arriving here, that the man who held him and his two companions up in the mail car, was undoubtedly a consumptive, although the pallor of the man and his general emaciated appearance might have been caused by the use of drugs.

The bandit's hands had the appearance of having been exposed to the weather, although they were not unusually tanned. His voice was low, yet distinct, having a certain gentleness about it that every one of the men in the car noticed. His mouth has a peculiar droop at each corner. Although the bandit had occasion to talk considerably in giving his orders while in the mail car, at no time did he use vulgarity or profanity.

Description of Bandit.

His speech gave the men in the car the impression that he was a man of some education. He wore to overcoat when he entered the car, and a decided droop of his shoulders was noticeable.

The bandit wore a light colored soft felt hat with a flat top and a narrow straight brim, which he had pulled down over his eyes.

Rhein says he was forced by the robber to look away during the time that the mail was being rifled, and at no time did he see the bandit take a piece of mail. Warner noticed just before the train pulled into Redding that the robber took from his pocket an open-faced gold watch, which he wore with a fob. Rhein says the man did not wear a white collar, as he was first described, but wore a light soft shirt, with a dark four-in-hand necktie.

CALIFORNIA OUT FOR $25,000,000 COTTON TRADE OF THE ORIENT

SAN FRANCISCO, January 8.--With only a comparatively short time left before the opening of the Panama canal, California--and San Francisco in particular--will soon be engaged in competition with the Gulf states and ports for one of the richest industrial prizes in the possession of the United States.

It is nothing less than the $25,000,000 cotton trade of the Orient! and to win this involves the setting out and seeding of vast acreages in the Imperial, San Joaquin and Sacramento valleys for the raising of such cotton as the Imperial valley has already demonstrated California can grow, and which, in the opinion of experts, is far superior in quality to the cotton raised in the Southern states.

The Chamber of Commerce of this city is to be one of the leaders in the struggle for the capture and retention of this prize, and with it will be allied a score or more of the most influential civic organizations in California. The Orient has already come to the front in recognizing the superior quality of cotton grown in this state, and with the Chinese revolution nearing a probable termination, the Orient is going to demand more and more cotton from the United States annually, according to those familiar with the situation.

After Larger Contracts.

For this reason, efforts are to be made shortly to secure larger contracts for the California product, and that California may be able to satisfy the demands, a wide campaign of exploitation, intended to attract cotton growers to the state and thereby extend the cotton-field acreage, will soon be started. The bane of cotton-growing in the South is frost, the faintest nip of freezing weather stopping the development.

This phase of cotton-raising is not existent in the California valleys, and that is one of the reasons why the average production of cotton per acre in California is practically double that of the Southern states, and one of the reasons why California is beginning to loom up as the most attractive region for the cotton-grower.

In the Imperial valley, where thousands of acres of cotton blossom and bloom, the gross proceeds per acre on cotton alone have been $65. To this the value of 1000 pounds of cotton seed at $15 a ton is added, making the satisfactory return of approximately $70, which, less the cost of production, equaling $30 an acre, leaves a net profit of $40 an acre.

These few figures give an idea of the possibilities of the cotton industry in the state.

Demand on the Increase.

"If we are going to win this $25,000,000 prize for California, we will have to make more rapid strides in the development of the industry before the opening of the canal," said Julius W. Raphael, who has made a study of cotton growing statistics. "The Orient is now using cotton of the value of $25,000,000 annually and is going to demand more. Of this amount, $13,000,000 worth is shipped from the South via the Hill lines to Seattle and from Seattle to the Orient via the Hill steamship lines."

"From San Francisco, $12,000,000 worth has been shipped in 1909, cotton to the amount of 5,700,000 bales was shipped from Galveston and New Orleans, the two Gulf ports. With the opening of the canal, there will be nothing to prevent the establishment of steamship lines between the Gulf ports and the Orient via the canal, and in the event that such lines are established, there would be no necessity of touching at this port after 1915. California will have to fight for the Orient's trade, but she has everything in her favor in the struggle."

A Superior Cotton.

"Our Imperial valley cotton has

There is always a waiting list of those who wish to enjoy the week-end excursions, and for that reason another sightseeing car seating twelve will be fitted up. The trip next Sunday will be to Hanama Bay, Koko Head and Mokuapu Light. The old Hawaiian caves containing native hieroglyphics will be visited, as well as the apouting horn that sends a keener sixty feet into the air. Some of the party will utilize the beaches where the finest surfing waves in the islands pour in, others will go lamshelling, others explore the crater and some make a trip to Rabbit Island. Both autobuses and tallyho will be in commission to take care of the excursionists. The Public Service will provide the lunch, and the cost of the day will be $2.50. The excursions are becoming more and more popular as the tourists are now giving the Public Service good advice as to how the should be conducted and just what the tourist wishes to see.

THE BALTIMORE PURCHASE OF HAWAIIAN SUGAR FACTORS

BALTIMORE, December 22.--After an examination of conditions surrounding all the Atlantic and Gulf cities, announcement was made today that the Sugar Factors Co., Limited, of the Territory of Hawaii has purchased about twenty-five acres of riverfront land near the city, and it is likely that a sugar refinery will be located there by the concern. The statement:

"The Sugar Factors Co., Limited, of the Territory of Hawaii, has purchased about twenty-five acres of the Wagner Point riverfront property in Anne Arundel County, which is suitable as a sugar refinery site. The owners of the property do not know when they will build a refinery on this property.

"Hawaiian plantations which produced 425,000 long tons in 1911 shipped and sold their raw sugar through the Sugar Factors Co., Limited; about 136,000 tons of this were sold to the California & Hawaiian Sugar Refining Co.'s refinery on San Francisco Bay. The remainder, 288,000 long tons, were sold to Atlantic Coast refiners. The total production of the islands in 1911 was 506,000 long tons. The Hawaiian planters are independent of any refining interest in the United States.

"This site was selected after an exhaustive examination of all the Atlantic and Gulf cities as the proper and most suitable point for distributing their sugar, should circumstances ever permit this."

The Americans who are interested in the project are New Yorkers and include William G. Cooke of No. 82 Wall street, E. D. Douglass, Charles S. Wilson and John Hamburg. The deal was put through during the past several weeks by a Baltimore attorney.

It is understood here that work will not be begun until it has been definitely ascertained whether Congress will place sugar on the free list. The projectors of the enterprise apprehend that in view of the popular outcry against the high cost of living the tariff may be removed from the necessities of life, in which event sugar would be included. As Hawaiian sugars now come in free the company doing business in that country can compete with those nearby, the differences in the cost of transportation being met by the duty imposed. With the tariff removed it would make a decided difference in the cost at the point of delivery and break up competition.

The Hawaiian company now sells the raw product brought East to the trust. If the plans do not miscarry then this will be refined and distributed from the proposed refinery near Baltimore, just as the far Western states are supplied from that already established on San Francisco Bay. It is calculated that the cost of shipment can be halved when the Panama Canal is completed.

APPEAL STAYS COURT ORDER

A bond of $4000 was filed in the circuit court yesterday by Albert Horner for himself and Kukaiau plantation that all diligence will be exercised in prosecuting the appeal from the decision of Judge Cooper that the annual meeting of the stockholders of the corporation must be held at once. The meeting, according to the decision, was to have been held at four o'clock yesterday afternoon, but the filing of the bond obviated the necessity of doing this. The case is now on appeal to the supreme court.

A new slant was given to the matter yesterday by the acquisition by Robert Horner of all the holdings of several of his relatives in J. M. Horner & Co. This gives Robert Horner twenty-eighty (20-28) of an undivided half interest in Kukaiau Mill, Albert Horner holding the remaining eight twenty-eights. Robert Horner now has 1262 shares out of a total of 2400. The other half interest is owned by Theo. H. Davies & Co.

MINISTER SAYS IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

SAN JOSE, January 7.--Rev. John S. Troxell, a former San Francisco minister, who is now pastor of the Centella Methodist Church at Second and Reed streets here, is a firm believer in advertising, and to this end has had church cards printed bearing his name and offering to officiate at weddings and funerals and otherwise help anyone in need of his services.

Among other things, the cards say that "the pastor is always available for any service a minister can render." Mr. Troxell hopes to get some of the wedding services which the Judges have been performing.

new extensions and branches recently authorized.

Northern Lines.—The Dagupan and San Fernando extension is nearly completed and is in full commercial operation to Aringay. The branch of the main line from Paniquit to Tayug has been extended to Bued and Rosales, and there is but little more construction necessary to complete this line and put it in operation its entire length.

Southern Lines.—The line south from Manila to Cavite and Naic is complete to Calibuyo, and construction is progressing well. The line is open to commercial operations to Cavite and in construction operation as far as built. The Manila-Batangas line has been completed and is in full commercial operation. The extension from Batangas northwest to Buanan is in progress. A branch is being built from Calamba to Santa Cruz, Magdalena, and Pansanjan. This line is complete to Manual, nearly to Magdalena, and a considerable portion of this mileage is in operation. This line should be completed in the near future.

Another branch from the Batangas road is to extend from Luta to Luceña. This line has been completed to Macapungon near San Pablo. A further extension has been authorized from Luceña southeast to connect with the line in Camarines Sur and Albay from Nueva Caceres to Lagoney, Albay, Legaspi, and Tabaco. This connecting link has been surveyed its entire length and a route recommended with alternate routes for portions of the distance, but has not yet been definitely located and approved. It will be about 137 miles in length and connect with the line in the southern provinces about seven miles north of Nueva Caceres.

Panay.—The trunk line across the island from Iloilo to Capiz was completed and placed in construction operation on August 28, 1910. Little additional track laying has been done since except on sidings, and the work this year has been confined to improvement of the right of way by ballasting, strengthening embankments, completing stations, and replacing temporary bridges with permanent structures. The line is nearly seventy-three miles in length, and is now in full commercial operation.

Cebu.—The mileage of railroad in operation on this island at the close of the fiscal year 1910 was nearly sixty miles, and no additional mileage was constructed during the fiscal year just past.

Negros.—Railroad building on this island is still in abeyance, and no definite time for beginning operations has been fixed.

In addition to the nineteen Filipino students who were in attendance at various institutions of learning in the United States during the past year, there were allowed to remain in self-supporting positions two as civil engineers, one as textile engineer, one as electrical engineer, one as mechanical engineer, one as architect, one medical student remained an additional year at his own expense, and one student was employed as clerk in the Bureau of Insular Affairs. The courses pursued were as follows: Architecture, one; arts and science, two; civil engineering, five; elementary, 1; paper making, 1; forestry, 1; mechanical engineering, two; medicine, three; teaching, three.

PNEUMONIA.

You are probably aware that pneumonia always results from a cold, but you never heard of a cold resulting in pneumonia when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy was used. Why take the risk when this remedy may be had for a trifle. For sale by all dealers. Beason, Smith & Co., agents for Hawaii.

acting under verbal authority of Mr. F. E. Thompson, have the honor to submit the following report and recommendations on gutters and downspouts for the city of Honolulu:

"An examination of some of the existing buildings reveals a more or less unsatisfactory condition; it was found that many gutters oftentimes slope from outlets in place of to them. This is caused in many respects by settlement of the building or defective supports under the gutters between the outlets. Some gutters were found with false bottoms; these are the most dangerous for breeding mosquitoes, for the reason that holes develop in all gutters in time and the water runs through to the false bottom and forms an ideal culture receptacle.

"Gutters and downspouts from the awnings over sidewalks have been under discussion for several years in technical circles as well as in the courts, and no satisfactory or uniform system has been adopted.

"It has been found that in some cases small holes have been punched in the bottom of gutters, which is a detriment to the gutters and is not permanently effective or even temporarily, but rather a detriment, as small leaves find lodgment in these holes which assists in damming up the water, thereby affording a larger body of water for mosquito propagation. In some cases downspouts are carried to sanitary sewers; this is extremely bad practice and should be prohibited quickly.

"In view of the foregoing the following remedy is offered for your consideration, which it is thought will bring about the desired results:

"(A) The existing gutters may be remedied at a very slight expense by having the low places in the gutters leveled up and the center point between the outlets carried to sufficient height above grade (i. e., one inch in sixteen feet) with asphaltum and proper flux.

"(B) In case of leaking or decayed gutters these should be renewed or properly repaired as outlined below for new gutters.

"(C) Where leaders are connected to sanitary sewers, these should be disconnected and allowed to waste on the ground or preferably connect them to storm drains.

"(D) Gutters and leaders should be constructed of some durable or lasting sheet metal suitable for this climate and all outlets in gutters should have wire basket strainers at the junction with gutters. Galvanized iron, sheet copper, Muntz metal, are all excellent materials for the construction of gutters; Muntz metal is probably the best for use here.

"(E) All gutters should be supplied in no case be less than one inch in sixteen feet.

"(F) The leaders from the gutters should never be spaced over sixteen feet on centers and should be of the same capacity as the gutters and supplied with bracket strainer as above indicated.

"(G) The future construction of false bottom gutters should be prohibited.

"(H) All gutters should be supplied with overflow pipes at ends and angles.

"(I) Where awnings over sidewalks have gutters these should have down spouts or leaders spaced as above indicated, and carried back to the building then down the side of the building and out under the sidewalk to street gutter.

"It is quite necessary in order to maintain the effect intended by the architect's design to have the tops of gutters as near a level plane as possible, otherwise they will appear out of proportion; to meet this demand and at the same time take care of the water reaching the gutters, it is believed the sixteen feet spacing of the leaders will prove satisfactory.

"Gutters should be cleaned at regular intervals as may be necessary to keep them clear and allow free flow of water. It is thought that the cleaning of gutters is quite as necessary and important as garbage removal.

"This board has been informed by the County Attorney that an ordinance may be passed by the Board of Supervisors covering any needed regulation by authority conferred by last legislature and it is thought by this board that if continuous good results are desired, some such action should be taken.

Very respectfully,

"E. W. QUINN, "J. H. CRAIG, "J. L. YOUNG."

CANAL REGULATION WILL BE CONSIDERED AT ONCE. WASHINGTON, January 7.—Legislative machinery to provide for operation of the Panama canal and control of the canal zone will be started Tuesday, when the House Committee on Interstate Commerce will hold its first hearings and other preliminary work as basis of the bill which will be reported out of the House later in the session.

Chairman Adamson and his committee have just returned from a trip to Panama, where they conferred with Chief Engineer Goethals and other officials who are working to put the great Isthmian ditch into active operation by January 1, 1915, and perhaps, as they say, a year earlier.

The question of the treatment to be accorded American shipping, whether to give craft flying the American flag preferential rates, including free passage through the canal and whether to vest wide discretion in the President as to the amount of tolls or to make specific legislative provisions for the rates will be fought out in the committee.

Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Pinecater Sales Company, Limited, will take place on Saturday, January 27, 1912, at the hour of 3 o'clock p. m. of said day, at the office of the company, at No. 1263 Miller street, Honolulu.

THE GREAT CONTEST EXPLAINED

The object of this contest is, of course, to increase the circulation of THE GREATER STAR. Having developed the STAR during the past year until it is now the Biggest, Newsiest, Best Edited newspaper ever printed in Honolulu, the management has determined that every reader of the English language in the Territory shall become acquainted with it. In offering $3000 in prizes (by far the most generous prizes ever offered in any subscription campaign in Hawaii) the STAR expects to get its return in the next year or two in the increased influence it will have attained, and the superior advertising value which its columns will have owing to its great circulation. This is all there is to it.

Our contestants have been nominated by friends, or sent their own names to the CONTEST MANAGER. Every subscription, whether old or new, which they get for any period of time, entitles the one turning in the subscription and money represented by it, to a certain fixed number of votes. At the end of the contest the candidate having the greatest number of votes will get the $750 CASH---the Grand First Prize.

Daily ballot slips printed each day in the Star, count for single votes when cut out, properly filled in, and turned in to the CONTEST DEPARTMENT. Some of the candidates have accumulated a surprising number of votes from these ballots, but of course the big scores are to be made from subscriptions.

Here is the way the subscriptions count in votes---

SUSPENSE OF CONTEST
GROWING MORE TENSE

Four days more and the big contest ends!

The excitement of the Star's Great $3000 Prize Contest has about reached the fever heat. Not only are all the contestants who have been working since October 21st, keenly keyed up as to the outcome of the big race, but the public of the Territory generally is watching for the outcome with much interest.

Tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock the last double count period ends, and as a result most of the workers are giving their very best efforts towards boosting their scores as much as possible before that time. Many of the friends of contestants are calling at the Contest office and turning in heavy counts for favorites in the big race.

Last Chance of Outside Islands.
 Candidates from the islands other than Oahu will have to get their final votes in by the mails which reach Honolulu tomorrow morning, unless, as may be possible in one or two instances, there is a special mail from some points. Thus the work of these candidates is practically ended by the time this appears in type. All of the recent mails have brought substantial increases of votes for almost all of the workers, and some surprises are not unlikely by tomorrow's mails.

The standing of the contestants will be published in full in Wednesday's Star, after which the list will not again be made public until the contest closes on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock.

Closing of Contest.
 Immediately at 8 o'clock on Saturday evening a board of judges, whose names will be announced previously, will proceed to examine the final returns and will announce the result and the names of the prize winners immediately they have concluded this work. Contestants may be present in person or by representative at this time. It should not be a very long task to make the final count, inasmuch as the count has been kept up as fast as votes have been turned in, and certificates issued accordingly, which show the standing of the candidates at the time of issue of each certificate. There have been absolutely no disagreements thus far concerning the count, and the judges' duty will thus be comparatively easy.

Work is better for most people than most people are for work.

ARTHUR HENRY WINKLEY.
 One of the youngest contestants in the Star's big contest. He has made a splendid record and now holds seventh place from the head of the list. He is the son of H. G. Winkley, and a resident of Kaimuki.

RIPENING PINEAPPLES.

A ride through miles of ripening pineapples is one of the pleasures of many of the tourists who come to the islands. The Oahu Railway Company, with its hotel connections at Haleiwa, has made an inspection of the fruit possible at a cost of ten dollars. The little journey, includes accommodations and meals at Haleiwa, a good night's rest and a delightful drive during the day to the pineapple district, passing within view of the great Schofield Barracks military reservation, and returning to Honolulu the second day in time for dinner. Particulars may be had at the King street station.

A LIFE SAVER.

No physician can prescribe a better preparation for coughs and colds than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and no physician can substantiate such a large number of claims for life saving as does this remedy. A bottle of it in the home when needed is worth many times its cost. It may be given to a child as well as to an adult as it contains no narcotic. For sale by all dealers. PARIS, France, January 23.—Reports from Nanking declare that Doctor Wu Ting Fang, former ambassador to the United States from China, has resigned his post with the revolutionary government, following serious charges of treachery. There are serious dissensions in the ranks of the revolutionary soldiers. The reports come to the ministry of war and are believed authentic.

Troops Restive.

NANKING, China, January 23.—Serious charges of treachery against Doctor Sun Yat Sen and Doctor Wu Ting Fang have been filed here by the soldiers of the republican party. Wu Ting Fang, when he learned of their existence, grew intensely indignant and after considering the matter declared that his usefulness to the revolutionary cause ended when suspicions of his motives were entertained, and sent in his resignation to all his offices to the president, Sun Yat Sen.

Doctor Sun himself has not escaped these attacks. He is also accused of having acted treacherously to the republican cause in extending the armistice, granted to the Imperialists some weeks ago. The charges assert that the extension of the armistice was granted Yuan Shih-Kai with the intention of giving the Manchus time in which to recover from their reverses at revolutionary hands.

While that was the seat of the trouble the active cause of the outbreak of discontent on the part of the republican forces here and in the immediate vicinity of the city is the presence in Doctor Sun Yat Sen's cabinet of two Japanese advisers. In their formal complaint presented yesterday the soldiers declare that the Japanese government has been hostile to republican movement, and that the two friends of Doctor Sun's are not cabinet officials at all, but agents of the Mikado.

In a statement made here late last night Doctor Sun declared that he is still confident of the ultimate success of the movement he is heading. In speaking of the armistice granted to the Imperialists, the president said that it had been renewed only after Yuan Shih-Kai had assured him that the Manchus had formally accepted the terms offered them by the revolutionists, and that if he finds that he has been deceived in this he will resume hostilities.

PEKING, January 23.—It became known late last night that the premier, Yuan Shih-Kai has finally decided to form a new government of his own. It is understood that the prime minister has been considering the step for some days and the events of the last twenty-four hours have forced his hand.

The efforts of the premier to consummate the abdication of the Emperor have failed utterly, leaving him in a most perplexing situation. It is thought here that this fact, in connection with the developments in Nanking, decided him on his latest move.

SAN FRANCISCO, January 23.—Captain Morton, commander of the Pacific Mail liner Mongolia, yesterday paid to Collector Stratton the amount of the fine assessed against him because of opium seized aboard his ship and declared contraband. The fine was a nominal one of one hundred dollars, made important because of the announcement of the collector that the Mongolia would be held in port until the fine was paid. The Pacific Mail Company threatened to bring suit to force the issuance of the clearance papers and announced its intention of suing for heavy damages if the ship were delayed beyond the advertised time for sailing.

NEW YORK, January 23.—At a monster meeting addressed by Senator La Follette last night, Gifford Pinchot, persona friend of Theodore Roosevelt and of Senator La Follette, presided. The crowd was enormous and Senator La Follette made an address along his customary lines.

WASHINGTON, January 23.—Pleading for relief from unnecessary publicity, the president of the Steel Trust yesterday declared that if the corporation is forced to give the details of the cost of production in all instances it would mean the ruin of the business. He said that with such information the foreign competitors would be able to underbid the American manufacturer. And worse than that, such knowledge would act ruinously on the foreign trade of the United States Steel Corporation and other steel manufacturers.

been recognized as superior in quality to that of the South. Imperial valley has also demonstrated that it can produce cotton in commercial quantities, and so has the San Joaquin and so will the Sacramento valley. The industry needs exploitation and it needs more acreage. We must find a way to capture the market for the state and thus keep this annual $25,000,000 within the California borders. We will have to do this before the canal is completed and we will have to act immediately. What is good for one part of the state will be good for all.

"In 1913 the United States produced 10,650,961 bales of cotton. The cotton consumption of the world for 1910 was 15,940,000 bales. California should give more serious thought to its cotton producing districts and the production of cotton in the raw and manufactured products. An idea for the cotton manufacturing industry may be gained from the fact that in 1910 the number of spindles in operation was as follows: Great Britain, 56,000,000; Continent, 40,000,000; United States, 28,636,000; East Indies, 6,100,000. The total amounted to 133,736,000. With the general consumption of cotton increasing annually, and with the settlement of the revolution in China, the Orient will demand more importations of the material. Cotton is a staple and there is no reason why California should not be able to supply the entire Oriental market."

MERGER OF OIL AND PAINT IN THE NORTH

PORTLAND, (Or.), January 7.—A gigantic merger of paint and oil establishments on the Pacific Coast involving an outlay of approximately $20,000,000 and covering factories and stores in every large city from San Diego to Seattle, is being formed by large interests, believed to be backed by the Standard Oil Company, according to information obtained yesterday.

Cities vitally concerned in the great merger now being worked out, presumably by the Standard Oil interests, are San Diego, San Francisco, Sacramento, Portland, Tacoma and Seattle. Representatives of the large paint and oil establishments along the Pacific Coast have been called to New York and certain changes that have followed lead those in the business to declare that the Standard interests are already taking certain concerns.
