Kahulis are Victorious

After Eleven Inning Win from the Waikapus.

With a much improved team, but which can stand further improvements, the Kahului ball team defeated the Waikapus after eleven innings, by a score of 8 to 7.

The Kahulis scored seven runs in the fifth and sixth innings and the Waikapus tied the score in the seventh and eighth innings. In the eleventh inning the Kahulis scored the winning run.

H. Sylva of the Waikapus was batted all over, and in the fifth inning he changed places with Cummings, but did not last long there for in the next inning Cummings went back to the initial bag and Nowell stepped into the box, holding down the scoring to one run.

Ayau pitched the entire game for the Kahulis and did his work very well. The support he received was not what it should have been.

In the tenth inning with two hands gone and two men on bases, Viela made a long hit to left fielder, who made the prettiest catch of the day after a long run.

The first game resulted in favor of the Stars, who scored five runs to the Healanis' one.

Alo, the Healanis pitcher, had an off day and could not keep the Stars from hitting him.

The line up of the teams was as follows:

Healanis—Keanu, rf, Kaaiia, cf, Kaleo, 2b, Hussey, 3b, Meyer, ss, Waiwaiole, c, Alo, p, Krueger, lf, J. Smith, 1b.

Stars—Jno. Garcia, p, A. Garcia, ss, Bal, c, Bento, 3b, Kia, 2b, Jas. Hart, cf, Decker, rf, Kama, 1b, Oliveira, lf.

The game by innings was as follows:

| | | | | | | | | | |
|----------|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | 1 | 2 | 3 | 4 | 5 | 6 | 7 | 8 | 9 |
| Healanis | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| Stars | 1 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 |

The lineup of the second game was:

Kahului—Fernandez, c; Ayau, p, English, ss, Smythe, 2b, Morris, cf, Aikala, 3b, Nawai, lf, Ernest, 1b, Newton, rf.

Waikapus—F. Sylva, cf, Nowell, 2b, p, Cummings, c, p, Viela, 3b, V. Enos, lf, Dutro, ss, Cockett, 1b, J. Enos, rf, H. Sylva, p, c, 2b.

First Inning—Waikapus to bat. F. Sylva out fly to left. Nowell makes a two base hit. Viela hits safe to right and Nowell is out stealing home. W. Enos fans out.

Fernandez out fly to second. Ayau walks to first. English dies on foul tip and Ayau is caught out at first.

Second Inning—Dutro dies short to first. Cockett gets first on a hit (Continued on Page 6.)

Paia Loses First Game

Season Starts with Large Attendance.

The first game of the series to be played at Kahului park was won by the Wailuku team, which scored 4 runs to the Paia's 2.

The Paia team was certainly the favorites, before the game started, but did not show to advantage, especially in batting.

Rocha pitched the game and allowed several hits to be made off him. Captain Cummings of the Wailuku team was not sure of his lineup up to the time of starting the game, owing to several of the best players having to work Saturday afternoon.

The game was a fine one from start to finish. The Wailukus scored their four runs in as many innings while the Paia got their two runs on the error of first in the ninth inning. Had Cummings stopped that ball the Paia would have been shut out.

The lineups of the teams were as follows:

Paia—Roscerans, ss, Collins, 3b, Rocha, p, Krummhaar, 2b, Kauka, Hanooka, rf, Rice, 1b, Turner, c, Foster, cf, Taylor, Upton, lf.

Wailukus—Jas. Hart, cf, Kaleo, 2b, Cummings, 1b, Bal, c, Hussey, 3b, Kia, rf, Dutro, ss, J. Smith, lf, H. Meyer, p.

The Paia were first to bat.

First Inning—Roscerans went out short to first. Collins followed suit, third to first, as also did Rocha, short to first.

Hart died third to first. Kaleo made a 2 base hit and got to third on a passed ball. Cummings is safe on error of center and Kaleo scores. Bal hit to short and Cummings dies at second. Bal steals second and third but is caught out stealing home. Score 1 run.

Second Inning—Krummhaar flies out to second. Kauka, who weighs about 250 pounds, took first base being hit by a pitched ball, but was caught out stealing second. Rice flies out to first.

Hussey goes out on grounder to first and Kia dies second to first. Dutro makes nice hit to left garden and steals second. Attempts to steal third and is out.

Third Inning—Turner bunt out to catcher. Foster gets first on error of second and steals the second bag. Taylor fans and Roscerans dies on foul tip.

J. Smith and Meyer go out pitcher to first and Hart flies out to short.

Fourth Inning—Collins goes out on a grounder to first. Rocha is safe on bad throw of pitcher and reaches second. He got into an argument with the second baseman (Continued on Page 6.)

A Warm Meeting

Manager Wells Astonishes Precinct Club.

A good sized attendance was present at the meeting of the Republican precinct club of Wailuku last Friday evening to make nominations for the various offices of the club.

Chairman C. B. Wells opened the meeting while Secretary Schrader recorded the minutes.

Meetings of such a character are usually the most quiet and no one expected any thing out of the usual routine and all were astonished at the declarations of President C. B. Wells who has at all times been a staunch Republican and one of the ardent supporters of the party.

The principal reform he demanded was that each precinct should be the sole judge of the qualification and fitness of any one selected by the executive committee of the precinct for any local position.

He criticised in the strongest terms the action of the County Executive Committee for its endorsement of Kahaula for the office of county attorney.

He declared it was better for the community to go down to defeat while supporting clean honest men for office than it was to go to victory by endorsing and supporting dishonest men.

Mr. Wells stated at the meeting that he would not accept any position as an officer in the club for the reason that he was going away soon.

The nominations made were: H. B. Penhallow, W. E. Bal, D. H. Davis, C. B. Wells, and D. H. Case for President, Joseph F. Welsh and George Weight, Vice President, S. E. Kaine and A. Enos 2nd Vice President, L. M. Baldwin and C. D. Lufkin Treasurer, E. H. Rogers and E. H. Hart Secretary, George Cummings and W. F. Crockett Assistant Secretary, W. E. Bal, Charles Wilcox, W. T. Robinson, R. A. Wadsworth, H. B. Penhallow, W. A. McKay, D. H. Davis, A. Borja, G. B. Schrader, J. K. Kahookela, J. F. Welsh, J. N. K. Keola and James M. Kipakuhia Executive Committee, M. R. Pereira, W. E. Bal, and George Cummings, Moss Kauhimahu, George Maxwell for Judges of Election.

Edmund Hart had a ticket with but C. B. Wells, President Geo. Weight, Vice President and A. Enos 2nd Vice President E. H. Hart, Secretary and Geo. H. Cummings Asst. Secy., L. M. Baldwin, Treasurer, W. E. Bal, S. Keliinui, D. H. Davis, A. Borja Jr., G. B. Schrader, J. K. Kahookela, H. B. Penhallow, J. F. Welsh, J. N. K. Keola, and James M. Kipakuhia for the Executive Committee and Moss Kauhimahu, M. R. Pereira, and George Maxwell Judges of Election.

A. N. Cederlof signed the nominations for Hart and handed the same in. This was over ruled by the chair and an appeal was taken to the Territorial Executive Committee which decided adversely to the chair and ordered all of the names to stand as nominated.

The reason for the rejection of the nominations by the chair was that it was not proper for one person to nominate more than those to be voted for on one nomination.

All of the nominees are prominent men politically and would doubtless make good officers.

A Queer Love Affair

Lovers Live in the Forests Evade the Police.

Two Hawaiians after wandering around in the forest back of Hana for weeks living on love, wild taro and bananas, have at last delivered themselves into the hands of the law.

The Sheriff and the Police force have searched in vain for this runaway pair staying up nights and keeping a sharp lookout for a possible trace of their whereabouts.

Bright and early Monday morning the pair came down from the mountain and presented themselves before Mr. Silva who runs High Sheriff Henry's branch Hotel at Hana and asked for admittance.

This case will come up tomorrow. This makes the second attempt and the law will be lived up to.

Herman Bethe remembered his many friends in Wailuku on his return home to Hana, this week, by sending each one of them a package of shark's teeth extracted from the huge jaws of the shark that was killed by the natives at Hana a few weeks ago.

The teeth are beautiful specimens and those who were so fortunate as to secure same, cherish them very highly.

Oily Herman as he is now dubbed by his many friends here in Wailuku, contemplates running for the senate at the coming election as the nominee on the Republican ticket for the Hana District and it is to be expected that his friends will remember him at the Polls November 3rd 1908.

He will undoubtedly give Oily Bill White of Lahaina the run of his life at the coming November elections and it is to be expected that he will win out by an overwhelming majority if his weight and veracity count for something.

It took three boat loads to carry all of the gifts out to the Claudine from Hana, to the Fleet Committee; a large variety of fruit such as bananas, papayas, mangoes, pears, oranges, pineapples and the like. Judge Kakani and his worthy corps of assistants outdid themselves in carrying out instructions from headquarters and it is to be hoped that all of the perishable goods will be received by the fleet committee in good order.

Hana has a new Police officer. Sheriff Saffery of Wailuku has seen fit to discharge one Kaeo an officer of the Hana Police force for cause, and in his place he has commissioned J. M. Koko, the choice of the Hana executive committee of the Republican Precinct clubs, 9th Precinct. J. M. Koko was formerly the leader of the Home Rule forces of the Hana District, he joined the Republican ranks in December last and is now one of the party's strongest supporters.

Acquire Homesteads. The agreement between the government and the settler on public lands has at last been decided upon and is a vast improvement over the old agreement as it will make the taking up of public lands for speculative purposes less desirable and will be less irksome to the homesteader who is really in earnest in his desire to secure a home.

The following clauses are the most striking features of the new agreement form:

"Five per cent. of the purchase price is to be paid at date of agreement, the land having been sold at auction.

"In addition to the five per cent. paid as aforesaid, the purchaser shall pay to the commissioner five per cent. of the purchase price two years after the date of sale, and five per cent. of the purchase price at the end of each year thereafter until the entire purchase price shall have been paid; provided, however, that the purchaser may, if all covenants and conditions have been observed and performed up to that time, pay to the commissioner on any pay date not less than ten years after the date of sale any or all instalments then remaining unpaid.

"Unpaid instalments of the purchase price shall bear interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum from ten years after date of sale, payable annually by the purchaser to the commissioner on said pay dates;

"Ten years after the date of sale or at any time thereafter, if all the covenants and conditions have been observed and performed, of which observance and performance the purchaser shall make affirmative proof, the purchaser shall be entitled to a patent conveying said land in fee simple.

"The purchaser shall maintain his home and reside upon said land at least five years during the first ten years after the date of said sale and no period of less than six months of continuous residence at said home shall be held to be part of said five years.

From this it will be seen that so far the work is a decided improvement and the next step will be to provide for the survey and the appraisal of the lands and throw them open to settlement.

The land laws of the mainland provide that anyone may settle on unsurveyed land and improve the same and when the land is surveyed the settler has a certain number of years in which to file his homestead and will hold the same in spite of any subsequent claimants.

This can hardly be permitted here as it is in the interest of public policy to have a reasonable valuation of the land paid to the government for the same and if the prospective settler would make his home on land he sought previous to the survey and appraisal he might find the valuation beyond what he would be willing to give for the same and would lose his time and labor.

Under these circumstances we would suggest a speedy survey and appraisal that the many who are clamoring for homes may get them and the work of home building begun as soon as possible.

Would Restrict Immigration. Recent advices from the Philippines announce the request of the Filipino Chamber of Commerce for law forbidding immigration to Hawaii of the laborers there for fear of a complete ruin of the chief source of wealth to the Islands.

The petition of the Chamber of Commerce must strike the average American as one of the strangest requests ever made of a legislative body in American territory. Every man is supposed to be a free agent who may go where ever he wishes. As the plantations here offer a much better field for the laborer than the Philippines it seems to us but natural that the laborer should come and as those who have come are most satisfactory laborers others should follow their example and if the government of the Far East is just it should be glad of an improved condition of her people.

The efforts of the Chamber of Commerce to have a law enacted to prevent the free migration of her people is so unjust and is so opposed to the rights of every human being that it can hardly be believed that it is true that that request came from a body of business men in an American city.

To better his condition is the inalienable right of every person and as the conditions are far better here for the laborer than they are in the Philippines more of the laboring class should be encouraged to come.

Sunday Baseball. In spite of the determined efforts of many good people to prevent the playing of baseball on Sundays the game on that day is becoming more popular and the attendance larger.

This paper has repeatedly pointed out that the playing of the national game has done a great deal of good in this community and there are few here to dispute the statement.

The game is thoroughly enjoyed by a great many persons. It brings the people together and gives opportunity for a better understanding and closer ties of friendship and offers opportunity for a diversion from the routine of life that is irksome.

It diverts from places of drink persons who formerly imbibed too heavily and it is the cause of almost the entire breaking up of gambling among the whites and leading Hawaiians.

If baseball could be attended on week days as it is on Sundays it would be all the better but there are many who cannot get away from their work on those days and there are others who are too tired to do so after their work is done.

The game at Kahului last Saturday proves, however, that there are many who can spare the time and thoroughly enjoy the game there.

The more clean sport we have of this nature the better and those who can see the games on both days will be benefited and assist in bringing about a better understanding and closer ties of friendship than have hitherto existed.

In an editorial in a recent issue of the Evening Bulletin that paper has the following to say of the results of Sunday baseball in Honolulu:

"Mr. Dickey's acknowledgment of conversion to the Sunday-baseball idea should have a good effect on some of the citizens of Honolulu who are very much disposed to scorn the 'liberal' ideas of the Average Citizen."

"When Sunday baseball was first proposed the advocates of this healthful pastime on the Sabbath were put down by many of Mr. Dickey's associates as dangerous persons. They were considered BAD indeed, for they were proposing to desecrate the Sabbath day, and disturb the quiet of their fellow citizens."

"Now these Average Citizens were not bad; they were not intending to disturb anyone; they were not sinners."

"They were exercising their common sense and knowledge of human nature in dealing with exact conditions. They were just as honest, just as sincere as any of those by whom they were so harshly criticised. They are as good, perhaps better, citizens than some of their critics."

"We make reference to this, and call especial attention to the experience of Mr. Dickey, because there are other matters of public morals on which the Average Citizen of the city of Honolulu has been most bitterly assailed by the strict constructionists and high-tension or fanatical moralists."

"The Average Citizen is as certainly RIGHT in his attitude toward the more recent moral problems as he was on Sunday baseball."

"It is sometimes hard to determine which is the more deserving of criticism—the two or three fanatics and their scheming satellites who set out to reform everything and everybody in seven days, or the Average Citizens who know that the fanatics are wrong—injuring themselves and injuring the town—but still let them go on with their program of intolerance and outrageous conduct."

"The Average Citizen, assisted by the Bulletin, put the Sunday baseball project through, and those who cursed the combination for its evil work have come to praise it."

"Taking this for a text, let us remember that there is no set of persons that possesses monopoly of righteousness or community decency."

"The safest level for any city to follow is the sentiment of the Average Citizen, or, as San Francisco has put it, the Second-Best Citizen—the man who is respectable and self-respecting, who doesn't assume to sit in judgment on his fellow-men, but loves his home, his family, and wants to see them properly protected, who is liberal and decent."

"If the Average Citizen will take command of this town, as he should do, the conditions will be much more satisfactory to those who live here and those who may come. Today the fanatics hold very complete sway."

"Fanaticism is ruinous, and Honolulu has enjoyed a surfeit."

Today the game will be between the Kahului and Puunene teams. A fine game is expected as both teams have been in good form for weeks past.

It is said that W. Espinda, the crack Riverside League pitcher, will do the tossing for the Kahului and with their present lineup, the Puunenes will have to show baseball, if they want to win the game.

McPhee, the cowboy went to Honolulu this week to attend the wild west show to be given there. He was greatly disappointed in not being able to persuade the steamer people to take Maud but as the fame of Maud of Kahikini bids fair to equal the fame of Maud of the comic papers they demurred. The Hawaiians here call Maud the "Kahikini Devil" and from her traits it would seem that she has not been misnamed.

Woman Smokers Forbidden Saloon.

San Francisco, June 23.—"It is of slight importance, I assure you if the Pacific Mail Company does not permit women to smoke in the dining-saloon or in the drawing-room; but it seems strange that there should be such rigid rules on board ship, while in other parts of the world it is so common for women to enjoy a cigarette, you know."

Thus spoke the Baroness Kirchner Neukirchen of Vienna, who arrived Saturday as a passenger on board the big steamer Mongolia. With the Baroness, who herself is comely, is her cousin, Madam Schmeidel Thuri, a famous beauty of the Austrian capital, and in the early twenties.

The women are touring the world alone, and while here for a day are at the Fairmont. The Baroness is the wife of Baron Kirchner Neukirchen, an officer of the Austrian army, and Madam Thuri's husband is a millionaire mine owner in Europe.

The Baroness Kirchner Neukirchen referred to the experience of herself and cousin on the Mongolia. They embarked at Yokohama and after dinner, on the first night out of the Japanese port, the Baroness Kirchner Neukirchen and her pretty cousin drew forth jeweled cigarette cases and, selecting dainty Egyptians, nonchalantly lighted them and settled back. They were still at table and in animated conversation with those about them.

"Please, no smoke in dining saloon," said a Chinese waiter who leaned over the back of the Baroness chair. "Smoke smoke-loom," added the boy, with a grin.

The women tossed the cigarettes into the "small black" cups without a murmur. A minute later they withdrew and went up into the music room, where purple rings and wreaths soon decorated the atmosphere. The Chinese boy still followed them.

"No smoke in the music-loom," said the slant-eyed Nemesis. He was obeying orders that no Anglo-Saxon would have obeyed after a glance at the charming devotees of the weed.

They turned in mute surprise and sought to freeze their tormentor, but he smiled blandly and slipped away. Not a man passenger on the Mongolia but would have gladly kicked the poor Chinese.

In all the rest of the voyage not a cigarette was seen in the jeweled fingers of the fair Austrians. They tabooed the company of the sensitive ones and enjoyed many a smoke in their stateroom, and, sometimes, of an evening, at the rail.

The Baroness Kirchner Neukirchen said so yesterday, and the beautiful Madam Thuri said so, too, without the faintest coloring of her cheeks.

"We are accustomed to smoke whenever or wherever we feel like it," they said, "except, of course, in the dining saloon or drawing room of American steamers."

A FEW DEFINITIONS.

Many children are so crammed with everything that they really know nothing.

In proof of this, read these veritable specimens of definitions written by public school children:

"Stability is taking care of a stable."

"A mosquito is the child of black and white parents."

"Monastery is a place for Monsters."

"Tocsin is something to do with getting drunk."

"Expostuation is to have the small-pox."

"Cannibal is two brothers who killed each other in the Bible."

"Anatomy is the human body, which consists of three parts, the head, the chest and the stummick. The head contains the eyes and brains, if any. The chest contains the lungs and a piece of the liver. The stummick is devoted to the bowels of which there are five, a, e, i, o, u, and sometimes w and y."—Literary Digest.

Special Revenue Taxes Coming in.

Honolulu, July 9.—Collector of Internal Revenue W. F. Drake and his office force are engaged at this time in receiving the special taxes due at this period. All special internal revenue taxes are due, and licenses renewable July 1, and dealers have the month in which to pay them. They are coming in very rapidly, and the indications are that the receipts this year will be about the same as last year from this source. There are very few new applicants coming in and there are no indications that many will not be renewed.

There are two concerns that are contemplating the manufacture of sake. The Honolulu Brewing & Maltng Company is one, and the Japanese concern that is planning a sake brewery in Puna valley is the other. Both have made application to the Internal Revenue Department to know whether Judge De Haven's decision in the celebrated sake case involving the classification for customs purpose, declaring sake a wine, will affect the classification of the internal revenue department has always given it, as a beer, or not. The reply in both cases has been that it will not, that the department still holds the manufacture of sake is a brewing process and subject to the internal revenue laws regulating brewing.

A PRECAUTION.

"Doctor," said Mr. Anders, "sometimes my mind is a perfect blank, and my memory constantly fails me. I wish you would treat me."

"I will. But in view of the peculiar nature of the case, I want my fee in advance."

"Will my husband live, doctor?" "Well, madam, if he doesn't he's come mighty close to it."—Judge.

NO EXCEPTION.

The Maid—Do you believe it's unlucky to get married on a Friday?

The Abominable Bachelor—Certainly. Why should Friday be an exception?—"Black and White."

THE YOUNG IDEA.

The following are specimens of some absurd and amusing answers made by school boys and school girls in examination papers:

Iron is grown in large quantities for manufacturing purposes in Southern France.

Blood consists of two sorts of corkscrews—red corkscrews and white corkscrews.

Asked to explain what a but-tress is, one boy replied: "A woman who makes butter."

Teacher's dictation: "His chol-er rose to such a height that, passion well-nigh choked him." Pupil's reproduction: "His collar rose to such a height that fashion well-nigh choked him."

Gravity was discovered by Isaac Walton. It is chiefly noticeable in the autumn, when the apples are falling from the trees.

THE SPOOR.

"I'm gunning for railroads," announced the trust-buster.

"Then come with me," whispered the near-humorist. "I can show you some of their tracks."—"South-western's Book."

NEEDED MORE.

Knicker—There are plenty of books telling how to save life while waiting for the doctor.

Bocker.—Yes. What we need is one telling the young doctor how to save life while waiting for the patient.—"Harper's Bazaar."

Cleveland's Will Gives Widow Bulk of Estate

New York, July 2.—The will of Grover Cleveland has been filed with the Surrogate of Mercer County, New Jersey, and will be probated within ten days, when Mrs. Cleveland will come to Princeton from her mother's home in Tamworth, N. H. where she has been staying since the former president's death.

The amount of the estate could not be learned, but it was stated to-day that it was larger than hitherto supposed and would provide most comfortably for Mrs. Cleveland and the children.

Mr. Cleveland drew the will himself and arranged that the bulk of the property should go to his widow.

"I am tired of seeing that everlasting mackerel brought in for breakfast," grumbled a boarder, "and I intend to speak to the landlady about it." Some of his fellow-victims applauded, but most of them doubted his courage. The matter was under discussion when the landlady appeared. "Miss Prunella," began the bold boarder, "I was about to say in regard to the mackerel that we desire a change." "It's good mackerel," responded the landlady grimly, "and there will be no change." "Then, for heaven's sake," resumed the bold boarder, "order the girl to bring it in tail first for a while."

Mr. Bryan, speaking of his own political prospects, tells the following story: "There was once a cowboy whose bad habits prevented him from receiving an invitation to a ranchhouse dance. The fact that he was not invited made him angry, and on the night of the dance he put in an appearance. He was politely asked to leave, and he did so. After getting his courage up he entered the house a second time, and again he was asked to leave. He demurred and he was led out. Half an hour later he made his third appearance as an uninvited guest and he was thrown out of the door and into the yard. After he gathered his scattered senses he mumbled to himself: 'I know what's the matter with them in there. They don't want me.'"

"I am told that your husband plays billiards every night at the clubs—plays for money, too," said the anxious mother to her newly married daughter. "That's all right, mother," cheerfully responded the young wife. "He gives me all his winnings—"
"What? Do you—"
"And he always plays with Mr. Nextdoor." "What difference can that make?" "Mrs. Nextdoor makes her husband give her his winnings too, and she gives the money to me and I hand her what my husband won from hers, and so we both have about twice as much money as we could get out of them otherwise."

A Washington man, while visiting a friend's place in Virginia, became much interested in his experiments in fruit culture. One day the visitor was making the rounds of the place, being in charge of the friend's young daughter of ten, who acted as guide. "This tree seems to be loaded with apples," observed the Washington, indicating a particularly fine specimen. "Yes, sir," assented the little girl. "father says this is a good year for apples." "I am glad to hear that," said the visitor. "Are all your trees as full of apples as this one?" "No, sir," explained the girl, "only the apple trees."

Is Manual Training in Schools Worth While?

According to Mr. George Frederic Stratton, in Cassier's Magazine for June, the father, the taxpayer, and the employer of labor are asking, "What is it all for,—this manual training, with its expensive equipment, its special teachers, and its demands upon the boy's time?" and the question is growing insistent. The school authorities do not regard manual training as a preparation for an industrial career. As a school superintendent remarked at a recent meeting of the National Society for the Promotion of Industrial Education, "We are not teaching a trade; we are training the faculties of the children,—training the observation, the imagination, the will, etc." This view of the teachers is a subject of comment in a report of the Massachusetts Commission on Industrial and Technical Education:

The wide indifference to manual training as a school subject may be due to the narrow view which has prevailed among its chief advocates. It has been urged as a stimulus to other forms of intellectual effort,—a sort of mustard relish, an appetizer, to be conducted without any industrial end. It has been severed from real life as completely as have the other school activities. Thus it has come about that the overmastering influences of school traditions have brought into subordination both the drawing and the manual work.

This criticism of drawing, it may be said in passing, is only too well founded. It is an absolute necessity for the workman of today to be able to understand the detailed drawings of the work on which he may be engaged,—be it a locomotive, a railroad trestle, or a factory building. The only way in which he can acquire such understanding is through a course of strictly mechanical drawing; yet in a large majority of the schools in which manual training is taught the pupils are allowed to devote time which ought properly to be given to mechanical drawing to freehand ornamental work.

It is undoubtedly the fact that a great many instructors regard manual training in itself as a golden opportunity for the dissemination of a larger understanding and appreciation of art." This probably explains the rule, in force in most schools where manual training has been introduced into the eighth and ninth grades, which requires every pupil to give some time to the subject, even though he may be intended for a clergyman, a physician, or a lawyer.

Light is thrown on the status of manual training in the high-schools by a report of Prof. F. W. Balou, of the University of Cincinnati. He found that of 207 high-schools, 159 permitted students to elect the course, while forty-eight made it compulsory. Further, that forty-eight gave two hours a week to such work; 106 one and one-half hours; sixty-eight one hour; and only as little as twenty-five minutes (1).

There is at the present time, an increasing demand for bright, well-trained young mechanics, which cannot be supplied.

The railroad manager needs more trackage, more rolling stock, and larger yard facilities, are cannot secure them. . . . The men to build the locomotives and cars and to meet the rapidly increasing demands of all manufacturers are still in embryo. One of the largest contractors in New England, in a recent speech, said: "It is, in my opinion, useless to look for any relief from the manual-training systems in the public schools as at present conducted."

In so little estimation is the public-school manual-training course held by manufacturers that the manager of a large plant, where there are more than 200 apprentices, being asked if any time was credited to high-school pupils on his apprentice course, replied emphatically:

Not a day! How much could we allow them, in justice to the others? The total time they put in on a two years' course in the school is not over 160 hours,—just about equal to three weeks of our time, and it is doubtful to me if they have learned as much in that long drawn-out stretch of tuition as they would learn in three straight weeks in our shops.

In many of the cities the problem has been taken up by the boards of trade, and the business men have been called upon to make suggestions; but "so far, all is chaos." It is, moreover, proved by statistics that the high-schools do not furnish material for mechanics to a degree that makes manual training there worth while. It was found that of 2500 graduates who had been obliged to take manual training, only 6 per cent had taken up mechanical work.

The proposal has been made that appropriations should be made for post-graduate courses in manual training for grammar-school graduates. To this there is a serious obstacle.

Such thorough training cannot be given without the continual use of material; and unless a market can be found for the products, which is very doubtful, the expense of such material, added to the expense of furnishing tools and equipment and competent instructors, would be greater than municipalities would care to incur. It would undoubtedly arouse the antagonism of the taxpayers.

There are, however, two existing methods of industrial and technical education which have such excellent records of success that they seem to indicate a solution of the questions, "Who to train?" and "How to train?" These are the courses of the Young Men's Christian Association and the correspondence-school systems.

A study of the personnel of the young men who comprise the Young Men's Christian Association and the correspondence-school classes shows that they are almost without exception, young workers, already in their several trades.

They have gone direct from the grammar schools, and sometimes from the high-schools, into industrial occupations, and the desire to become better men has drawn them into the classes mentioned. Here, then, is the true material, and the finest of material. Young, bright, enthusiastic men. . . . devoting two or three evenings each week to real endeavor at self-improvement. Such boys and men are worth while.

The superintendent of a great machine shop says:

The best men I have are the few who have taken those evening or correspondence courses while working in here daily. . . . They have character, too! A man indifferent to his future and to his work won't study nights. These night students make good men and true,—every time!—The American Review of Reviews.

Loot of Old Moors is Unearthed in Portugal.

Lisbon, June 27.—Portugal is apparently rich in hidden treasure. Some months ago a buccaneers' hoard of gems, doubloons and pieces of eight was discovered in a cave on the seashore.

The latest treasure trove is at Sierra Daire, in the south, where an underground Moorish stronghold has been revealed, dating from the expulsion of the Moors from Europe in the middle ages.

The cavern is not only a treasure house but an armory and a catacomb. It contains great stores of gold and silver coins, quantities of ancient weapons—swords, scimitars and daggers, some of them richly jeweled—and hundreds of skeletons.

The Manchuria

Award Increased.

Honolulu, July 9.—Associate Justice Ballou occupied a place within the bar in Judge Dole's court yesterday morning. He did not appear as an attorney, but in a capacity such as might be analogous to that of a solicitor, in the English practice, "instructing" the barrister in the case, who on this occasion was B. L. Marx.

The proceeding was in the matter of the Manchuria case, which Judge Dole decided a few days ago. Marx, as proctor for the Pacific Cable Company, the owner of the cables, presented a motion for an amendment of the decision adding to the allowance for cost of stores and furnishings consumed in the heavy work of salvaging the Manchuria, $160.02 for water and $1473.75 for grapnel rope used.

Associate Justice Ballou, before he went on the bench, tried the case on behalf of the Restorer, and was intimately familiar with all the testimony and matters concerned in the case. The motion was presented by B. L. Marx, who was his partner at the time. From time to time while Mr. Marx was presenting the motion and the argument in support of it, Justice Ballou, who sat beside him, made suggestions to him.

C. H. Olson, representing the proctors for the Manchuria, opposed the motion.

Judge Dole granted the motion so far as to amend the decision by adding to the allowance made, $126 for water and $294.75 for grapnel rope, making a total allowance for provisions and stores consumed of $5,640.28.

The court then adjourned to Monday, July 13.

Good Prospects with Hawaiian Tobacco.

In an organ of the tobacco trade, John W. Merriam of New York City, who has been traveling for a tobacco firm says:

"Hawaii, our new possession, is really going to be a big acquisition to the cigar industry of the United States. They are going to raise some extremely good tobacco over there within the next few years. The government has been trying a lot of experiments. While there I went out to the experimental station, which is in charge of a commissioner. They have really grown a little exceptionally good tobacco over there. Of course it is all in an experimental stage as yet, and there is not enough tobacco to be worth while for anybody to buy or attempt to do anything with. They grew, perhaps, a few hundred pounds of tobacco, which was supplied as it was raised to a few cigar manufacturers who made up smokers from it."

"Hawaii is a growing country, and it is an extremely rich one. Land that was worth but from $2 to $3 an acre from three to five ago, is now worth from $200 to $300 an acre, so it is easy to see where real estate investors have done well."

"The best pineapples in the world are raised in the vicinity of Honolulu, and that industry is largely instrumental in the raising of land values. The range for development in Hawaii is vast."

Messenger Startles Governor's Staff.

The divinity that doth hedge a king of the head or a state makes slight impression upon the average small boy, especially if that boy happens to be making his living by delivering messages about the city. This was shown at the Executive building Monday morning, when a grimy urchin invaded the sanctum of Governor Frear and nearly brought about a fit on the part of the chief clerk.

The boy had a letter addressed to the chief clerk, but knew not where to take it, once he was upstairs in the Capitol. In the course of his hesitation he wandered the length of the hallway and out on to the front lanai. Peering around for someone to ask directions of, he espied Governor Frear, deep in some governmental problem, seated at his desk. The window was open and the messenger stepped, unnoted, into the presence.

The first intimation that the Governor had that anyone had entered the robin's-egg-blue chamber was when a grimy fist shot a letter under his nose and a voice shrilled in his ear: "Say, where kin I find that feller?"

Although suprised, the Governor direct the messenger to the door separating his sanctum from the office of the chief clerk, and the boy, hat jauntily stuck on the back of his head, emerged into the startled presence of the clerk and the office force of stenographers.

"Is dis for youse?" was the question that announced the messenger's business, laying the letter before the chief clerk. "Th' guy in dere width' whiskers sed to bring it out here."

And quite unconscious that there was anything out of the way, the boy took the signed receipt, stuck it into his pocket and whistled his way down the winding stairway.—Advertiser.

Why A. P. Taylor Quits Detective Force.

Honolulu, July 11.—The real reason for the resignation of A. P. Taylor as chief of detectives is now stated to be disagreement between him and Sheriff Iaukea in matters of policy in the department, among them being Taylor's disapproval of the strenuous Iwilei campaign which Iaukea, backed by the Ministerial Association, is expected to continue to wage.

In this connection also, there are various "graft" reports, though as far as is known there is nothing very definite to support them. Taylor has so far refrained from discussing his relations with his former chief. However, it is stated on good authority that there were disagreements, and that it was Iaukea's determination to back the Iwilei closing movement to the limit which ended in the resignation of Taylor.

In connection with the graft rumors, a note given by Iaukea on May 1, to one of the principal Japanese owners of Iwilei houses, is being talked of among not a few people as a very extraordinary proposition. It appears from reports of the note that the sheriff on Oahu borrowed $100 from this leader in the Iwilei business, just when the agitation for closing Iwilei was at its height. The indiscretion of such a move, to say the least, came as a starter to some of the sheriff's friends who heard of it.

The lender is said to have been one of the leaders in the old "Ten Dollar" Club, and has long been at the head of the red-light district business. The note, it is said, was paid when it became due.—Hawaiian Star.

Power of Deputy County Attorneys.

A test case on the rights of deputy county attorneys to appear as prosecuting attorneys before the courts is now before the Supreme Court. Every county attorney is by law a deputy of the Attorney General and eligible to appear for the Territory in the district and circuit courts, but the question that arises is as to the power of the ex-officio deputy attorney generals to further deputize this right to their assistants. Heretofore there has been no question of it. The test case is to determine the authority of Deputy County Attorney N. W. Aluli, of Hilo, who appeared as prosecuting attorney in the case of the Territory against Antone Lucas in the district court of South Hilo on February 3 last, to have so appeared, being referred to the Supreme Court for settlement.

In this case Lucas was charged with practicing medicine without a license and on conviction was fined $25. The attorney for the defense, Carl S. Smith, entered an objection to N. W. Aluli appearing as counsel for the plaintiff and demanded proof of his authority to act for the Territory. The objection was overruled and judgment entered, an appeal being taken on the grounds of the objection to the circuit court of the fourth circuit.

The affidavit of Carl Smith, filed in the circuit court, set forth that Attorney General Hemenway, in conversation had denied the right of N. W. Aluli to appear as either Attorney General or Deputy Attorney General. It was admitted in the affidavit that Aluli was the Deputy County Attorney of the County of Hawaii, but his right to appear for the Territory denied. There was no appearance for the Territory at the presentation of the defendant's bill of exceptions before the circuit court and a motion to have judgment entered by default was made. This motion was denied.

To Prove Theory On Birth of Sex.

New York, July 1.—With the approval of professors of chemistry, the encouragement of some of the leading physicians of the country and the backing of the government, Amin S. Jerwan of New York and Paris is going to make a practical demonstration to show that he can control the birth of sex.

While more than five hundred theories of various kinds have been advanced during the last century on this much disputed question, little real progress has been made toward solving the problem.

Mr. Jerwan, who lives at 145 West Twenty-second street, and has devoted twelve years to the sex problem, declares he has proved his power to control the sex in one hundred cases in New York, while his uncle, Dr. A. Saliby of Paris, has demonstrated his power five hundred times.

In an effort to prove his claim, Mr. Jerwan has arranged with the Department of Agriculture at Washington to carry on experiments in Springfield, Mass., on cattle, sheep, rabbits and dogs.

Mr. Jerwan had a long conference with Dr. George Leon Cutis to-day and a second with Marston Bogart, the president of chemistry in the University of Columbia. Both men were greatly interested in his statements, and said his theories seemed to be based on sound principles.

Fleet Arrives at Lahaina

Thursday morning the third squadron consisting of the battleships Louisiana flagship, Ohio, Missouri and Virginia under the command of Admiral Emory dropped anchor at Lahaina and immediately prepared to coal.

The reception committee called upon the Amiral upon arrival and received him and his men announcing the preparations that were made.

The men were given shore leave at 4 p. m. and brought two bear mascots, which are entertaining a great number of people especially the children on the streets.

There was a dance given to the officers last night and tonight the sailors will also trip the light fantastic.

The fleet as seen by the excursionists that took the steamer Mikahala from Lahaina Wednesday night for Molokai was the grandest sight ever witnessed in these islands.

At sunrise the fleet, sixteen abreast, was off Kalaupapa. They advanced to about one mile of the settlement then formed into four divisions and started north past the settlement. They then formed in single file, the third division turning to Lahaina and the others proceeding to Honolulu.

There were hundreds of unfortunate lepers on the beach waving flags and cheering, a most touching scene.

The steamer Mikahala with the excursionists sailed out to meet the fleet, which saluted and were responded to by the Mikahala. The fleet remained in sight of the settlement until 8:30 o'clock.

The squadron is scheduled to sail from Lahaina to Honolulu Sunday morning.

The gifts from the upcountry districts of Haiku and Makawao to the fleet Hookupu were: 268 cases of pineapples, 600 bunches of bananas, 500 watermelons, hundreds of coconuts and other fruits in great quantities. It is said that Maui has done better toward the hookupu than any other island and to the people of Haiku, Makawao, Hana, Waihee and Lahaina is due the credit for the greatest amount of gifts.
