

Haleakala Included In National Park

New Bill Before Congress Takes In 21,150 Acres Of Maui Mountain
Top—Congressmen Favor to Plan.

A fact of much interest and importance to Maui, though not generally known, is that in H. B. 9525, now before congress, Haleakala is included in the boundaries of the proposed Hawaii national park, for the establishment of which the measure would provide. On February 2 the House committee on public lands held a hearing on the bill, at which time Prof. Thomas A. Jaggar, Delegate Kalaniana'ole, Judge Ballou, and Secretary Desha spoke on behalf of the project at much length. So far as is known, the committee has not reported.

The original bill did not include Haleakala, but only the area on the Big Island including the craters of Kilauea and Mauna Loa. The present bill, introduced on January 20, takes in practically all of the upper slopes of Haleakala, and includes an area of 21,150 acres. According to the report of the hearing, the committee appeared to be very favorably disposed to the idea, and indicated that all it wanted to be assured on was the cost of upkeep to the federal government.

Lindsay and Collins Win H. A. Baldwin Cups

By winning three sets out of four, A. W. Collins and D. C. Lindsay, on Tuesday won the championship for the Paia Tennis Club over the Puunene Athletic Club, represented by William Walsh and J. B. Thomson. Incidentally they carried home the two handsome trophy cups offered two years ago by Col. H. A. Baldwin as this was the second time in succession that they won over the Puunenes.

The game was witnessed by a large crowd at the Puunene courts, and was full of excitement. The score was 6-3, 2-6, 6-3, 9-7.

DEATH OF W. G. SAFFERY.

William G. Saffery, a native of Maui, but for a number of years a resident of Honolulu, Hawaii, died at his home on Monday, February 21, after an illness of some weeks. He was 63 years of age, and is survived by a wife and two children.

The deceased was born in Ulupalakua, Maui, on February 14, 1853. Saffery was the son of Capt. Edmund Saffery, a sturdy British mariner who settled in Maui in the early days and married Walki, the mother of the deceased.

Saffery began as a cowboy on the Ulupalakua ranch. Later he became manager of the Haleakala ranch. In 1897, with his family, he settled in Hamakua. In his late life he spent much of his time farming on his home stead in Kapulena.

PLAINTIFF WINS EJECTMENT SUIT IN CIRCUIT COURT.

cupied most of Thursday in the second circuit court and was decided in favor of the plaintiff. It will probably be appealed to the supreme court. Fred W. Milverton, of Honolulu, represented the plaintiff, E. R. Bevin, appearing for the defendant. The property in question was sold on foreclosure of mortgage about two years ago, but the defendant is trying to show that the sale was not legally or equably made.

The trial of an ejectment suit of L. Weinzheimer vs. D. K. Kahauliello, occupied most of Thursday in the second circuit court and was decided in favor of the plaintiff. It will probably be appealed to the supreme court.

Joe Medeiros, of Moura & Company, had his right arm painfully crushed while testing an automobile engine. No bones were broken but he will be incapacitated for some days.

E. A. Douthitt and C. B. Hall, of Honolulu were visitors on Maui for several days this week.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Weinzheimer, of Lahaina, spent Thursday in Wailuku. They were registered at the Maui Hotel.

Papa's Objections Didn't Count Here

Russian Girl Is Backed By Mother
And Succeeds in Marrying Filipino of Her Choice.

When a girl wants to marry a man, paternal favor doesn't have very much weight, and particularly so when the girl is backed by her mother. At least this was so in the case of 16 year old Bessie Kozik, a comely Russian girl of Keahua, who was determined to marry Arsenio Abellana, a less comely Filipino, of Hamakua-poko. When the girl and her parents and her fiance appeared before Marriage License Agent Geo. Cummings, on Wednesday, it was clear that the father was not pleased with the match. He protested vigorously, and offered the Filipino $200 if he would leave the country without his daughter. The girl, however, was backed by her mother, who gave the necessary consent, and the license was issued in spite of Papa Kozik. The couple were later wed by the Rev. L. B. Kaumohelwa.

St. Patricks Tea To Be Given By High School

The pupils of the Maui High School are arranging to give their annual tea on Saturday Mar. 18. It is to be a "St. Patrick's" Tea and the program will contain a number of Irish selections. Members of the freshman class will give for a part of the program, a one act farce called "The Practical Joker". There will also be music by the High School orchestra and singing by the Glee Club, besides solos.

On account of the fact that in previous years the School building has proved too small to accommodate the attendance it has been decided to give the tea this year at the Paia Community House.

The school is divided into committees for the affair as follows: Program, seniors and juniors; Decoration, sophomores; Refreshment, freshmen; Finance, the entire school.

The proceeds from the tea are to be used to help defray the graduating expenses of the reception which is to be given to the graduating class in June.

Militarism To Be Avoided

Now, it is not desirable that the whole population be formed into a permanent militia. Such a policy of defense would invite militarism. However, if every able-bodied man would spend a small part of his time familiarizing himself with the rudiments of the science of war and training himself in the effective use of the more common weapons of modern warfare, the defense of the nation would be assured. Every citizen should find time for such training and should consider it his duty to be prepared.

So, in reviewing the duties of a citizen of the United States, we find that a man must be loyal, must have a fair education and must take a part in the work, the government and the defense of the nation. But the person who merely performs his prescribed duties, is following the path of least resistance, and is no true citizen, for he has no real concern for his country's well-being. The true American, on the other hand, is unselfish and is willing to sacrifice personal ambition in the performance of any act that involves the welfare of the State.

Herein lies the difference between the ordinary man and the true citizen, which is not one of wealth, power, influence or learning, so much as of patriotism and an unselfish devotion to one's country.

Sealed tenders have been called for by the public works department for the construction of about a mile of new road in the Kulaha district, crossing the east Kulaha gulch. A concrete bridge is also called for. The bids will be opened on March 20.

Scarcity Of Fruit May Cause Planting

Prospect of Better Prices For Pineapples Likely to Stimulate Operations in Haiku District.

The shortage of this season's pine apple pack, which it is estimated will be about one fourth less than last year, and the prospect next year and the year following will see even a greater falling off, has renewed the hope of Maui growers that prices will be materially improved. This prospect will probably stimulate planting in the Haiku district to a very considerable extent.

It is expected that a meeting of the homesteaders with the management of the Haiku Fruit and Packing Company will be held within a few days, at which time it is believed that the growers will be given some better assurance than they have had in the past that they will get a fair price for their product. Some form of a guarantee that they will receive not less than $15 per ton, will probably be asked by the farmers. The cannery at present is buying the larger part of its fruit, and it is understood was able to make a small profit on this, although the growers lost heavily. The disinclination of the growers to plant much in the past year, however, has caused the Haiku company to increase its own acreage by several hundred acres. A hui of homesteaders however, has recently planted about 50 acres, being financed in part in this by the cannery.

May Put Mauna Kea On Once a Week Run

Company Claims Business Does Not Justify Present Service — Hilo
People Patronize Big Boats.

It is reported on authority from Honolulu, that the Inter-Island steamer, Mauna Kea, will probably soon be put on a weekly schedule to Hilo instead of the semi-weekly one which she has maintained for several years. If this is done, the Saturday sailing up, and return past Lahaina Monday night will be cut out. Hilo people are making a big protest, but the company claims that the run is not a profitable one, and that Hilo people are given to patronizing the big vessels when opportunity offers, which is still further cutting into the business.

GOOD GROWING WEATHER.

Good, heavy rains this week in the Lahaina district, as well as on the windward side of the island, proved very timely and welcome. Planting in the Kulaha and Makawao districts had been considerably interfered with by the dry weather of the past three weeks. The season generally has been favorable, however, and the corn and other crops already planted are in very promising condition.

TWO GAMES OF POOR BALL.

Two loose and uninteresting games of ball were those played at the Wailuku park last Sunday. The Chinese were so late in arriving that but six innings of the first game were played, but in this brief time the score stood 15 to 5 in favor of the Chinese and against the Waikapus. In the second game the St. Anthony's defeated the Aahis by a score of 6 to 2.

Next Sunday's game will be between the Chinese and Saints, for the first event, and the Waikapus and Aahis will play second. A better brand of ball is expected.

Sending Filipinos To Coast.

According to the Honolulu papers, O. A. Steven, who recently conducted a campaign to sell land in California to local Portuguese, now has a scheme to send 3000 Filipino laborers from Hawaii to the Imperial Valley, California. By the last Great Northern, it is said, 35 Filipinos departed for the coast, presumably to spy out the promised land for their fellow-countrymen.

3rd Regiment Track Meet A Big Success

Some Good Individual Scores Made—
Capt. George Cumming's Company
Wins Honors Of Day.

The first annual athletic meet of the 3rd regiment, national guard of Hawaii, which was held at the Wailuku baseball park last Saturday, was a most encouraging success and aroused not only much enthusiasm among the men of the various companies, but also a great deal of interest among Maui folk generally.

The attendance was good, and the results were most satisfactory to both men and officers. Capt. Geo. Cummings' company, with 34 points to its credit, won the contest, Company M taking second place with 27 points. The other companies that made points were—Company H, 21; Machine Gun Company 16; Company I, 12; and the Puukoli Company, 3.

A. Robinson, of Company M, made the best individual score, totaling 25 points in all for his contingent. L. Sterling of Company H, made 20 points. Much credit for the success of the meet is due to Capt. Chillingworth athletic officer, who had the arrangement of the details of the day's events.

New Wireless Operator For Lahaina Station

B. E. Fenn, who for the past year has been wireless operator at the Lahaina station, was relieved on Wednesday by Charles Mulleitner, who has been in charge of the Mutual Company's station at Wahiawa, Oahu. Mr. Fenn has left the service of the local company to take a position in Honolulu with the Pacific Commercial Cable Company, and has already departed with his family. Mr. Mulleitner, who is one of the oldest employees of the Mutual company, has brought his wife and daughter with him and has gone to housekeeping in the cottage connected with the station.

Violinist To Play On Maui.

Maui is promised a real musical treat in the concert to be given this evening at Lahaina, and on Saturday evening at the Wailuku Orphanum by Mr. George Caspar, the Hungarian violinist, assisted by Mrs. J. C. Villiers as accompanist and Mr. H. Washburn Baldwin, as vocal soloist. The war in Europe, which upset his plans, is primarily responsible for the presence of Mr. Caspar in the Islands, and it is claimed by Honolulu musical critics that he is one of the very finest performers on the violin that has ever been heard in Hawaii. Several persons in Maui who have heard Mr. Caspar play are confident that his talents have not been overrated.

Many Visit Haleakala.

Sixteen persons in all spent the night in the Haleakala rest house last Sunday night. It is the largest crowd that the new house has yet been called upon to accommodate, and was made up of several different parties. Manager Field, of the Maui Hotel, who is also a member of the rest house committee, states that there has been a constant stream of visitors to the mountain for the past week or more, many of them being tourists.

MARRIED.

KELIHOI: LYONS—In Pearl City, Oahu, Feb. 20, 1916, Samuel Kelihoi and Mrs. Rosalie Enos Lyons, Rev. William Kamau, pastor of the Congregational Church of Ewa, officiating; witnesses—E. C. Watson and Ella Foster Hardy.

Mr. Jump of Los Angeles, says Hawaii has the best fishing in the world. In Kohala you can put a dollar's worth of fish inside your purse in the same space the dollar occupied.

BIG VERDUN BATTLE IS STILL UNDECIDED

French Have Succeeded In Holding Teuton Tide Back But Another Fierce Assault Has Begun— Submarines Again Active.

HONOLULU, March 3 — Circuit judges are between the devil and deep sea. Declare mills of God cannot grind without money for expenses. No person knows where that is coming from. Legislative relief improbable and Governor is uncertain.

An amended bill for the establishment of national parks in territory has been received. Report of house committee favorable to passage of measure. Reserve proposed is to include volcanoes of Kilauea, Haleakala, and Mauna Loa. Bill sets aside great acreage as a preserve. Text of letter written by Secretary Lane endorsing project, accompanies act.

WASHINGTON, March 3 — Opposition to policy of president doomed. Solons pledged to support of Wilson's stand. Gore resolution warning citizens off armed ships already beaten. Gore says Wilson said war between America and Germany might have a grateful effect of ending European strife by midsummer.

LONDON, March 3 — Merchantmen to use guns only when attacked. British admiralty makes public formal instructions to skippers. Five vessels sunk by Teuton deep sea raiders.

NEW YORK March 3 — German raider still at large. Rumor that mystery ship had been captured proved to be unfounded.

PARIS March 3 — Germans begin another fierce drive against Argonne front. Massed artillery at many places covers advance of Teutons around Verdun, which are repulsed easily by French. Losses of crown prince said to be enormous. From Woivre district and other points along battle line come reports of more futile attempts of Kaiser to destroy enemy.

LONDON March 3 — Lord Derby declares recruiting handicap ped by exemptions which various classes of working men may secure. He is disappointed in his campaign.

NEW YORK March 3 — Floating mine sank British torpedo boat destroyer. All officers and 70 members of crew perished.

LONDON, March 3 — Elizabeth, queen mother of Roumania known as Carmen Sylva, is dead. She was loved all over the world. Wrote poetry which charmed world.

TOKIO, March 3 — Announced that British minister to Peking will soon transfer to another post. Rumored Ambassador Green, British minister to Japan will be recalled, and China minister will succeed him in office.

HONOLULU, March 2 — Bond issue for city hall and roads is mayor's plan. City executive to lay financial problems before supervisors in important message. Publicity proposed to let voters know facts. Special session of legislature is called, it will be preceded by public meetings. Estimate of bond issue from $500,000 to $750,000.

All jury trials and grand jury forced to halt. Territorial courts aralyzed until July by exhaustion of funds on hand. Court officials ace jail if they aid financially. Supervisors cannot assist courts in excess of $14,500, the appropriation to cover period ending June 30. Only an act of the legislature can help, says Attorney Carden. Supervisors are powerless.

BUENOS AIRES, March 2 — Reported from Montevideo that wireless message was intercepted here which says British cruisers have captured German sea raider, either the Moeve or the Roon. Prize taken to Trinidad.

PARIS, March 2 — 130,000 Germans lost at Verdun. Battle now halted. Press and public mystified at cessation of fighting there.

LONDON, March 2 — Fort Zaux, on west front, bombarded and destroyed according to German reports. Germans concentrating force of 90,000 men at Busy, 16 miles east of Verdun.

WASHINGTON, March 2 — President Wilson reiterates stand upon travel issue. Challenges vote. Insists that American travel at sea shall be safeguarded. President told chairman of House committee he will not consent to any compromise on subject of armed ships and travel at sea. Would have foreigners understand, by vote of congress, that the country is not divided on this point.

LONDON, March 2 — German submarines busy. 5 vessels reported sunk. Three British smacks wrecked. Crews landed at Lowestoft. Italian steamer Eliz sunk. Russian steamer Alexander Wentzer sunk. 18 of crew drowned. 11 rescued.

ROME, March 2 — Italian government notifies the United States that Italian merchant vessels will continue defensively armed.

HONOLULU, March 2 — Negotiations under way for the purchase of Palmyra, is rumor. Chicago Girls' Club, represented by Miss Marie Holmes would buy island to make an Adamless Eden. Girls would establish home there.

Breckons' politics arouse opposition. Desire of Honolulu attorney to be a republican national committeeman stirs strife.

Recruiting plot fades into nothing.

WASHINGTON, March 2 — President Wilson wins in fight for travel right on high seas. Takes firm stand on question, refusing to go onwith negotiations until solons vote on resolution now pending. Refuses to accept note of confidence proffered. Congressmen opposed to his policy run to cover when they find he is going to carry his point with nation. President tells congressmen that unless they stop making moves which embarrass him he will stop negotiations with Germany.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2 — Funeral of late James C. McCandless will be held in Oakland today. Mr. and Mrs. John A. McCandless with his brother James and wife left for coast to attend the funeral.

SYRACUSE, March 2 — New York state democrats give Wilson their support. Chairman in keynote speech denounced republican fiscal policy as disastrous.

LONDON, March 2 — Verdun tells British economy only can win conflict. Minister of empire inaugurates campaign to induce people to conserve resources for great economic crisis sure to come.

Situation along west front continues quiet while Germans and the French are getting ready for another titanic struggle. British extend line and big guns belch.

THE INTER-ISLAND AND THE PUBLIC.

Maui as well as Hawaii will suffer seriously if the Inter-Island Company carries out its plan to put the Mauna Kea back on a once-a-week schedule. Hilo people are protesting but whether they will be able to accomplish anything at present is doubtful. Although the company is essentially a common carrier, and has a virtual monopoly of inter-island business, there is no tribunal that may be appealed to in such a case. But the argument that the week end run is not profitable is not unassailable, provided the business of the company taken as a whole, yields it a reasonable profit. This is a principle that has come to be accepted by courts and public service commissions. And in view of the three-quarters of a million dollars of surplus, paid in form of a stock dividend by the company last week, and the fact that its shares have been held at more than double their face value for a long time, it can scarcely plead that it is threatened with bankruptcy. The Inter-Island is in business to serve the public as well as to pay dividends. If the service is not right, the public has a very valid right to demand that it be made so.

LOOKING AFTER THE ANGLER'S COMFORT.

The Hawaii Tuna Club, which has just begun its second year of existence, should mean much to the Islands as a whole and great deal more to Maui in particular. For in the quiet waters on the lee side of this island game fishing is at its best. The devotees of light tackle fishing form a large group of mainland sportsmen and sportswomen, and they are beginning to learn of what Hawaii has to offer in way of their favored diversion. There is no question that they will, in a few years, form a very considerable colony in the Islands, and if Maui is willing to take a little trouble this island should be the center of this colony. Some attractive furnished beach cottages near Lahaina, which these tourists might rent, would probably help in this direction, and at the same time be an excellent investment. Of course we need some more wharves, but inasmuch as these fisher-folk are not afraid of the water, they are the ones least apt to be kept away on account of poor landings.

HALEAKALA A NATIONAL PARK.

Haleakala will be a part of the great national park system, if the bill now before congress becomes a law. It seems only a matter of time until Kilauea and Mauna Loa will be formed into such a park, and that Haleakala is now included in the same bill should be a matter of congratulation. The House committee which now has the bill under advisement, seems friendly, but wants to be sure that there is no private nigger in the wood-pile before it reports. It would seem to be entirely proper and timely for the Maui chamber of commerce to do what it may towards settling such doubts, for if our mountain becomes a national park, it will probably follow that most of our present problems concerning roads and trails and rest houses will be permanently solved.

The Honolulu chamber of commerce is again sounding the question,—“what can be done for the soldier”, and is asking the soldiers themselves to answer. Most of the replies indicate that the men would like to be treated like men, by civilians. How they can expect this when the army system is such that they can't get recognition from their own officers, except with qualifications, is difficult to see. For instance, the maid or matron who would make friends of soldiers, has her choice of officers or enlisted men but she can't mix the two socially, no matter how democratic her feelings. Of course, the system is decidedly un-American, and will continue to be one of the biggest stumbling blocks to making the army popular in the country,—which may not be an unmixed blessing.

AN ALL-MAUI UNDERTAKING.

If Maui is to have a county fair next fall, it must be a people's fair else it cannot be a success. But somebody must take the lead, and the chamber of commerce has most properly seen fit to call a meeting for tomorrow afternoon in order that the proposition may be discussed. The meeting is not just a gathering of the members—everybody who is interested and can do so, is expected to be present. The chamber does not propose to “run” the fair nor should any one group or organization be permitted to do so. What is needed is the hearty cooperation of all Maui, and then success is a foregone conclusion.

We do not recommend our board of supervisors to look to Honolulu for suggestions as to how to handle county finances. From this distance it appears that the Oahu board has wallowed in a mire of extravagance until it has become so involved that extrication is hopeless without aid. It is therefore howling for the Territory to pull it out of the financial slough through an extra session of the legislature. It isn't a pleasant prospect, and it certainly reflects no credit upon the metropolis of the Territory.

Private Labrooks was drunk. He attempted to enter a disreputable house in Honolulu. Private Henderson, on guard duty, placed him under arrest. Labrooks ran, and Henderson shot him in the neck. He will probably die. Henderson was probably obeying orders, and the man who issued the orders will probably not be brought to task—he was enforcing a system of discipline. Some systems of discipline hold human life as very cheap.

According to all reports Maui's princess in the floral parade in Honolulu, last week, was one of the most admired features of the big pageant. Miss Ellen Copp, mounted on Angus McPhee's magnificent pacer Denervo, with her corps of attendants, presented a most striking spectacle. It costs some little trouble and expense to be thus represented in Hawaii's great carnival, but there are few who feel that the labor and money are not well spent.

A dress rehearsal of the Queen Esther cantata is to be held this evening at the Community House. The performance, which is one of the most ambitious ever undertaken by amateur talent on Maui will take place on Saturday, March 11. Director Harry Washburn Baldwin and the members of the Choral Club deserve much credit for what they are accomplishing towards promoting music in the community.

NOTICE

The Special meeting of the Maui Chamber of Commerce which is to be held in the District Court-room, Wailuku, on Saturday, March 4 will convene at 1:30 P. M. and not 2 P. M. as heretofore announced.

Remember: 1:30 P. M.

Not only members, but ALL citizens interested in the proposition of holding a County Fair on Maui during the coming summer or fall are earnestly requested to attend and express their views.

THE BATTLE OF MARATHON.

And the Mound Under Which the Old Grecian Heroes Rest.

A great Grecian landmark is the Soros, the mound erected over the graves of 192 Athenians who fell in the battle of Marathon, Aug. 12, 490 B. C. The mound is about forty feet high and 300 yards in circumference. Underneath the mound lie the heroes who died in this most decisive victory which prevented the Persians from invading Europe.

The battle had hardly begun when the Persians in immensely superior force, doubtless ten to one, pulled themselves together and by sheer mass broke through the Greek center. But this had been calculated upon beforehand. Miltiades employed strategy, making his line weak at the center, and allowed the Persians to break in. Then, with his heavy masses at the ends, he ground the Persian wings to pieces and fell upon their center. The most stubborn fighting, apart from the battle at the ships, was probably at this spot, half a mile from the shore. Six thousand four hundred Persians lay on this plain and along the shore, while 192 men of Marathon lay wrapped in glory on the field.

It was long suspected that the heroes of Marathon were buried under the mound, but Mr. Stais, one of the Greek experts of antiquities, studying the plain, came to the conclusion that the surface of the soil had been raised by alluvial deposits eight to ten feet above the level of 490 B. C. In 1890 he drove a trench with a downward slant into the center of the mound and found the bones of the heroes with their weapons beside them.—Strand Magazine.

SINKING SHIPS.

If Completely Submerged They Must Go to the Bottom.

Answering a correspondent who writes: "I am very anxious to find out whether a ship will sink if the bottom of the ocean is at great depth or, at least, at such depth that the weight of the water would be greater than the weight of the ship. It is the opinion of many that at a certain depth the ship would remain suspended instead of sinking to the bottom. Please explain the exact truth of the matter," Edgar Lucien Larkin in the New York American says:

"Any mass that will entirely sink below the surface of the ocean will sink to the bottom of any sea or ocean on earth. This is because water is almost incompressible.

"Enormous pressure in hydraulic presses has been made upon distilled and also upon sea water, and the diminution of volume—that is, increase of density—is only 0.00044 for ocean water for each atmosphere, i. e., each addition of fifteen pounds to each square inch. Then water soaked wood would be increased in density by very nearly the same amount.

"Hence if all of the wood in a wooden ship sinks below the surface it must go to the bottom. The question of reaching the bottom of the ocean is decided for any kind of matter of any ship or boat by its behavior at the surface. If all of the material of the boat sinks at all below the surface, then it will fall to the bottom of any sea, there being such a slight increase in density of water at the bottom of the deepest ocean."

Height of Waves.

Among the most trustworthy scientific measurements of ocean waves are those of Lieutenant Paris of the French navy. The highest waves measured by him were in the Indian ocean between the Cape of Good Hope and the island of St. Paul. Thirty waves measured during a northwest gale there averaged twenty-nine and one-half feet in height, and six of them, following one another with beautiful regularity, were thirty-seven and one-half feet in height. Some still higher waves were seen, but not measured. In a moderate breeze the length of a wave was found to be about twenty-five times its height, but in a gale only eighteen times.—London Globe.

A Kind Wish For Mother.

The five-year-old found his mother looking a bit unhappy.

"Have you a pain, mummy?" he asked sympathetically. When she nodded he thought a minute and then exclaimed:

"I wish a fairy would come and turn your pain into a piece of cake." Then the small boy asserted himself over the angel child, adding, "And I would eat it."—New York Sun.

One of the Family.

Stranger—I notice your name is De Maryon. Are you related to the wealthy De Maryons of Belgravia?

Poor but respectable De Maryon—I am a—distant relative, sir.

"Indeed! How distant?"

"Well, sir, as distant as they can keep me!"

What Rules the World.

When Napoleon caused the names of his dead soldiers to be inscribed on the face of Pompey's pillar some one criticized the act as "a mere bit of imagination." "That is true," replied Napoleon, "but imagination rules the world."

Lost Precaution.

"Your suit, my dear, isn't seasonable."

WAY OF A TRAIN IN SPAIN.

Even the Expresses Creep Along as Though They Were Weary.

The train this morning is a correo (express), but everything is so new that you feel no more hurried than the train and rather enjoy its ways. It creeps into the station quietly and carefully, as if in fear that some hen might have laid one of those numerous fine Spanish eggs on the track and it might get broken in a too reckless approach. Sometimes—but this doesn't happen frequently—it slows up when near to one of the smallest of the multitudinous stations and sneaks by without stopping, as if ashamed or afraid.

When it does come to a standstill it listlessly slides back a bit and then slides forward a bit and then rights itself once more and then straightens up with a jerk, as if it were tired and its muscles not obedient to will. Then for a few moments every one cautiously waits to see what further it intends.

About the time it is thoroughly stopped some one pulls at the cord attached to the tongue of the station bell and gives three signals to let the passengers—and any one else who may be interested—know that the train has officially arrived, and a station employee calls out, "San Pablo, ocho minutos" meaning that there will be eight minutes of waiting.—Grant Showerman in Atlantic.

ROYAL ETIQUETTE IN JAPAN.

A Member of the Imperial Family Can Die Only in Tokyo.

Surely there never was a more grim journey made than that of the dowager empress of Japan when she came for the last time to Tokyo.

She had died in her palace in the country. But the Japanese hold that a member of the imperial family can die nowhere except in Tokyo. Therefore the dead empress, theoretically still alive, journeyed from her country place to the palace in Tokyo with all the ceremonial that attended her movements when living.

She traveled in the royal railway car and was driven through the streets to the palace in a court carriage with the blinds closely drawn. The ministers and high state officials who greeted her on her past arrivals in the capital were at the station as usual and showed in no way that on this occasion they were meeting the corpse of the empress.

Troops lined the streets and presented arms as she passed. Only the great crowds in the streets, standing in silence instead of loudly cheering, betrayed the fact that the imperial carriage contained a dead woman.—New York Sun.

Willing Himself Well.

An interesting example of a man willing himself well is that of "Original" Walker. The thing was the work of a moment. He had been reading Cicero's "De Oratore," and some passage suggested to him the expediency of making the improvement of his health his study. "I rose from my book," he writes, "stood bolt upright and determined to be well. In pursuance of my resolution I tried many extremes, was guilty of many absurdities and committed many errors amid the remonstrances and ridicule of those around me. I persevered, nevertheless, and it is now, I believe, full sixteen years since I have had any medical advice or taken any medicine or anything whatever by way of medicine."—London Chronicle.

Swam Too Long.

The attorneys for the prosecution and defense had been allowed fifteen minutes each to argue the case. The attorney for the defense had commenced his argument with an allusion to the swimming hole of his boyhood days. He told in flowery oratory of the balmy air, the singing birds, the joy of youth, the delights of the cool water. And in the midst of it he was interrupted by the drawing voice of the judge. "Come out, Chawncye," he said, "and put on your clothes. Your fifteen minutes are up."

New York's Public Schools.

Public education in New York city began with the founding of the Free School society in 1855. The society started in a small way, depending for a time upon public subscription. By an act of the legislature in 1842 the board of education was established. The Free School society continued to conduct its schools until 1853, when, by mutual consent, they were all taken over by the board.—New York American.

First Aid.

"A woman can be just as self-reliant and independent as a man," said Mrs. Flason defiantly.

"Mebbe she can, Louisa, mebbe she can," said her husband, "but not while she wears frocks that hook up the back!"—London Telegraph.

Seemed All Right.

"Mamma, why don't you want me to play with that Kuder boy?"

"Because, dear, I know the family. He hasn't good blood in him."

"Why, mamma, he's been vaccinated twice, and it wouldn't take either time."

Making Up.

"Going to the dansant tonight, Clarice?"

"I haven't made up my mind yet, Reg."

"For the love of Pete! Aren't you satisfied with what you do to your face?"—Gornell Widow.

TELEGRAPH NEWS OF THE WEEK

PARIS Feb. 29 — Losses of Germans at Verdun appalling. Reports from Verdun and elsewhere say 300,000 Teutons have perished. Attacks of Germans in masses against French trenches, gave French opportunity to mow down enemy in heaps, with artillery fire and machine guns. German prisoners taken on last day of fighting say French firing was hell on earth. Took 4 days to check Teuton drive.

WASHINGTON Feb. 29 — Rear Admiral Knight tells solons that navy is not ready for real service. Says it is but 50 per cent efficient.

In semi-official statement issued at state department, the position of the administration regarding submarine attacks upon armed merchantmen is made clear. Yankees must not travel on vessels armed for offensive. State department says citizens journey upon such craft at their own risk. Upholds right of ships to act on defensive.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 29 — For first time in the history of sugar cane planting of the Island of Cuba cargo of product has been brought into the city by rail.

ST. LOUIS Feb. 29 — Three killed and many injured when 5 cases of dynamite, stored in Maplewood sewer works exploded. More than 30 houses destroyed.

HONOLULU, February 28 — A water-gate for harbor is the plan of dry dock man. W. T. Donally will show plan and drawings for great water front structure.

WASHINGTON, February 28 — Repeal of free sugar clause progresses. House ways and means committee authorized favorable report on bill by unanimous vote. Bill will come up for vote in House on Thursday.

PARIS, February 28 — French are hurling back the German attack at Verdun, Paris bulletins declare. They think tide has changed with Allies gaining. Berlin says advances are continuous, and that the French reserves have been exhausted in fruitless effort to retake Fort Douaumont. The Meuse is cleared.

WASHINGTON, February 28 — In new note to Washington from Germany, the Teuton government says it has no intention of revoking any pledges given in the Lusitania case. Germany sees no reason for changing instructions given her submarine commanders with reference to armed merchantmen.

HONOLULU, February 28 — Capital stock of Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company has been increased to $3,000,000. Big melon is in form of stock dividend. Old officers reelected.

LONDON, February 28 — Russian steamer Petshanga sunk. 15 members of her crew saved. Dead of steamer Maloja, sunk yesterday, number 151, according to latest summary. Estimate of saved is 250. 55 are still unaccounted for. Among the rescued was a baby entirely unharmed.

HONOLULU, February 28 — Arrests here expose plot of British to enlist American soldiers for Allies. D. C. Randall and Stein accused of buying discharges for enlisted men and sending them to Europe. Many prominent local persons involved in conspiracy, say local authorities. Names not yet divulged. Letters and cablegrams show Randall was in conspiracy with some of high British officials in Washington. It is said that $200,000 has already been expended in Honolulu purchasing discharges. Marshal Smiddy promises a sensation when more arrests are made.

Dr. E. S. Goodhue, of Hawaii, starts Roosevelt boom on mainland. He is former secretary of the interior. He is recommended as delegate to the convention.

Mrs. Tom Burningham died suddenly at the Queen's hospital yesterday afternoon.

PARIS, February 28 — German drive loses force under blows of French. Reports from Verdun front most conflicting. Apparently Teutons are being held firmly by Joffre. Paris claims enemy is now driven back. Dispatches repeat statement that increased pressure on invaders is forcing them to withdraw from lines gained. Berlin dispatches continue to say French are not gaining any lost territory.

OTTAWA, February 28 — Cablegram to minister of militia here declares that French are now driving Germans back past forts of Douaumont.

BUFFALO, February 28 — Governor Whitman, in speech made on Saturday, pleads for compulsory military training for this country. Made plea for preparedness for peace.

LONDON, February 28 — Nearly all of passengers and crews of the P. & O. liner Maloja and a freighter, Empress of Fort William, sank in sight of Dover. The Maloja struck floating mine, and while giving assistance to the liner's passengers, the freighter struck another mine and went down.

SPOKANE, February 28 — A. Pike, aged 96, oldest Mason, died here Saturday night.

PANAMA, February 28 — Panama is not pleased with Goethal's late. Republic says Adamson bill will violate treaty between United States and Panama.

BERLIN, Feb. 26 — Germans advanced 3 miles from strong fortress. Terrific slaughter. Both sides making claims. Paris confident of checking tide. Rumor that French forces are to deliver counter attack at right moment.

LONDON, Feb. 26 — London predicts that principal result of German attack at Verdun will mean tremendous losses for attacking side.

LISBON, Feb. 26 — Premier Costa, of the chamber of deputies, says attempts have been made to damage 7 German and Austrian ships interned in Portuguese port, which the government had requisitioned. He says government is prepared.

BERLIN, Feb. 26 — Reports from Austrian press headquarters predict that Durazzo, Albania, will soon be captured by Germans. Announcement of capturing of Champ d'Neuville by Germans erroneous.

CORTONA, Italy, Feb. 26 — A military train was derailed here today. 9 killed, 50 injured.

LONDON, Feb. 26 — The British steamers Denady and Tunnel have been sunk and 7 of crews missing.

Heavy fighting is taking place at Ten Vitlis between Turks and Russians. Turks forced to retire. Were outnumbered.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 — Democrats hold action in check.

A Printed Letterhead

Adds distinction or "class" to your correspondence. It isn't only the business firm or professional man who now raises his correspondence above the mediocre through aid of the printer's art. Just your name and address in neat lettering at top or corner of the sheet will add an individual touch that at once raises your letter above the dead level of "ordinary". The additional cost per letter is trifling. But of course much depends on the printing.

The True American Citizen

By Herbert S. Wells.
(As mentioned in last week's Maui News, the first prize in the essay contest held by the Sons and Daughters of the American Revolution, was won by a Maui boy,—Herbert S. Wells of the senior class of the Maui High School. One of the two second prizes was won by Miss Virginia McConkey, and of the ten third prizes, three were also won by Maui High School students—Miss Irene Wells, Miss Constance Rose and Miss Annie Walker. Mr. Wells' essay was especially highly complimented by the judges and is well worth reading.)
In speaking of the true American citizen we are accustomed to call to mind the lives of such men as Washington, Franklin, Lincoln, Webster Grant and many others whose names have been preserved in history as patriots and lovers of their country. But we must remember that they were extraordinary men. It is not really necessary that one be unusually learned or gifted to be a good citizen; and indeed it is often the case that not all men of unusual accomplishments make fine citizens. We find that any man, no matter how poor or how humble he may be, who does his duty to his country, is he true citizen.
Now the duties of a citizen should be in proportion to the privileges he enjoys. Such being the case, we Americans are under greater obligation to our country than any other people, for we have distinct privileges that few other people possess.
Freedom Inherent Right
We have, first of all, the right to be free and to be happy. The enjoyment of this privilege involves a great deal, which may be expressed by saying that we are not slaves, but our own masters; and we are so protected, both individually and as a nation, that if we are not happy in our freedom, the blame must be laid, not to our government, but to ourselves.
Every American, too, with very few exceptions, has the right to take part in the nation's government. In fact, no other country grants this privilege so liberally to its subjects as does America. The whole government controlled by the people, personally and through their representatives. The importance of this privilege of the people cannot be overestimated, for it includes most of our minor privileges of everyday life, such as our right to worship as we please, to own land, and to make wills controlling the disposition of our estates, privileges, the restriction of which by a tyrannical government, would seem unbearable.
So we see that our privileges are very generous and far-reaching. Our duties then, must be many and important.
The first duty of any citizen is to be loyal. This applies whether a person be a native or a naturalized American; for anyone who lives in the enjoyment of our special privileges should be true to the country that grants them.
Another duty of the true citizen is to be educated. This does not necessarily mean to have the learning of a college professor but simply to possess sufficient education and enough general knowledge and common sense to enable one to realize his great privileges and perform his ordinary duties.
Thirdly, no citizen can better aid his country than by taking an active part in the work of the nation—by having some business or profession. The existence of so large a population in America depends primarily upon our agriculture, manufacture, and commerce, and those men are to be admired, whose efforts have made possible the rapid advances in these industries during the past few years.
Citizens Should Do Duty
We have already seen that the entire government is controlled by the people themselves. Now, in order that the government run smoothly, it is of prime importance that each citizen perform his allotted part in it. Every man has the right to vote, and this right should not be abused for it is more than a mere privilege, it is a sacred duty. Every vote should be cast with the honest purpose of helping to choose the very best public officials to administer the government. Again, it is the duty of those specially fitted for the work to be willing to serve the people, when called upon, either without recompense, as jurymen, witnesses, etc., in the administration of justice, or as regularly paid holders of public office.
An important duty of these public officers is to provide for the national defense. The great war in Europe has shown us that there can be no peace until democracy has triumphed over monarchy, and hence, that for many years to come, no nation can feel safe without adequate military protection. It is the policy of our government to provide this defense, and our country being rich and prosperous, there can be no lack of money to build all the battleships and other armaments necessary. But skilled men to use these tools are not so abundant. Our country does not require military service of its citizens, and as a result, we have nothing on which to rely in case of dire necessity, but a small standing army and militia.

TRICK OF THE FUNNEL.

Blowing Out a Light Through It Is Easy if You Know How.

To blow out a candle, using a funnel to blow through, seems a ridiculously easy thing to do. But ask any friend of yours to try it and see what happens. Ten to one he will try to blow through the cup so as to force his breath through the narrow neck of the funnel. As this is not an easy thing to do he will fatten mouth and nose in his endeavors, while trying to force his face into the small cup. Then he will reverse the funnel and blow into the neck, and when he does not succeed in extinguishing the light he will blow harder and harder and finally he will admit that he is beaten.

In blowing through the neck of the funnel he has directed the funnel directly at the light, so that the flame is exactly opposite to the place where the neck of funnel joins the cup. You, on taking the funnel from him, incline the funnel so that its upper edge is on a level with the light. You blow gently.
The light is extinguished at the first puff without any of the desperate effort which your friend put forth.

If you ponder a moment you will realize why you succeeded and why your friend failed. His breath on entering the cup or funnel spread in all directions, and the tiny current of air was dispersed upward and downward, so that, as he neatly leveled the center of the funnel at the flame, no current of air ever reached it.

You, on the contrary, hold the upper wall of the funnel on a level with the flame. The current of air started by your breath, on reaching the edge of the wall, streamed onward in the direction given it by the restraining wall and on reaching the flame snuffed it out.—Boston American.

BRINGING DOWN A PICTURE.

Henner Had a Way of Making the Louvre Officials See the Light.

It is a pity that Henner is dead. He had found an excellent means to force the conservators at the Louvre to bring down the pictures that he judged had been placed too high. He made use of this method in the case of "Susanne au Bain" ("Susanna at the Bath") of Tintoretto.

Twenty years ago this masterpiece was hung in the gallery four meters from the floor.

Henner was furious at this injustice.
But he did not permit his anger to appear. He contented himself with coming from time to time in the morning before the visitors were numerous in the halls and in the most courteous tone requesting the keepers to furnish him a large double ladder.

The keepers referred the matter to the conservators, saying that this ladder was asked by M. Henner, and they were impressed with the necessity of responding to the wish of the old master.

Then he placed the ladder before Su-zanna, mounted the steps slowly and,
when at the top, remained a quarter of an hour absorbed in the contemplation of the marvelous painting.

He then descended as phlegmatically and, with a fine smile, said in his Alsatian jargon: "Merçi pour l'effelle. Je suis tres content!" ("Thanks for the ladder. I am much pleased!")

He went through this maneuver half a dozen times at intervals.

At last the conservators understood.
They had "Susanne au Bain" unhooked and gave it a place of honor in the square salon, where it is now.—Cri de Paris.

Tax on Hats.

Not only have hats at various times been subject to taxation, but have even been made the subject of special laws. Thus in Henry VII's reign none was allowed to sell hats at a larger price than 20 pence or caps for more than 2s. 8d.

Some compensation, however, for this interference with free trade could be found in the fact that in 1571 on Sundays and holidays every one above seven years of age was required to wear a cap of wool of English make under penalty of 3 farthings' fine for every day's neglect.—London Chronicle.

The Rabbit's Danger Signal.

So long as it sits still the ordinary rabbit is almost indistinguishable in a field of bracken, stubble or dry grass, but as soon as it begins to run toward its burrow the white patch on its tail betrays it. This white patch, which at first seems like a failure of adaptation, has its special function—it acts as a danger signal to the young rabbits and shows them the way by which they can escape from the threatened danger.—London Mail.

Farthest North Cities.

Dawson, the Yukon capital, and Fairbanks, its near Alaskan neighbor, are, next to Hammerfest, in Norway,
the farthest north cities in the world, and at the latitudes of sixty-three and sixty-five have such comfortable apparatuses as electric lights, daily newspapers and pipe organs.

Not Like Him.

The Vicar—I'm surprised at you, Miggs. Why, look at me. I can go into the town without coming back intoxicated. Miggs—Yesh, sur. But Oi be so popular.—London Telegraph.

Too Vigorous.

"Why are you prejudiced against golf? You never saw a game."
"No; but I once heard part of one."

No Place For Ladies.

A famous foreign newspaper correspondent, a German, was stopping at a seaside hotel where the dining room helpers, following the New England custom, were nearly all college girls, working during vacation in order to keep themselves at school the rest of the year.

The spectacled young person who presided over the table where the German newspaper man ate was undoubtedly of excellent breeding, but she never seemed to remember whether the eggs were to be fried on one side or scrambled on both.

Finally, one evening after he had been served with a meal entirely different from the one he had ordered, the foreigner lost his temper and spoke rather sharply to the young woman.

"Easy there!" admonished his table mate, an American waiter. "She's a lady, you know, old man."

"But I do not want a lady," said the German plaintively. "I want a waiter!" -Saturday Evening Post.

That the interior of the earth is intensely hot is proved by the increase in temperature observed in deep mines and in even deeper borings. It is proved also by the emission of lava, which is nothing more than molten rock, from the craters of volcanoes.

The practical deep well borers, who find that their drills are softened by the heat of the lower strata, have not got the laugh on the theoretic savants. -Philadelphia Record.

SAVED HIS WILD GOATS.

Emperor Maximilian Was Lucky in Having a Wise Adviser.

Of the great Emperor Maximilian it is told that once when traveling far from home he wore so sad an expression that a courtier asked him what affairs of state could cause so much concern.

The astute person thus addressed immediately suggested a letter to the poet's wife, signed and sealed by the imperial hand and offering her the best silk dress that could be obtained if the emperor's wild goats were not touched during his absence.

Maximilian had a preserve of these animals in the Tyrol near the Aachen sea and has left on record some interesting notes and illustrations of the sport he enjoyed among them. One picture represents him in a boat on a lake assisting to catch an ibex in a large net, which may have been good fun, even if it were scarcely sportsmanlike.

END OF THE EARTH.

That Great Tragedy May Be 2,000,000 or 95,000,000 Years Away.

Scientists tell us that life on the earth began about 2,000,000 years ago. It has generally been accepted that life will last for 95,000,000 years.

Ninety-five million years is a fairly long time. None of us who are alive today need worry about what will take place 95,000,000 years hence.

But the French savants are altogether disturbing. Here comes one, M. Veronet, who says that the earth will permanently freeze within the next 2,000,000 years and that life will vanish. This is bringing the tragedy nearer home.

Veronet places mankind of today about midway between the beginning and the end. He computes that in the future life will exist as long as it has already existed. He specifies only one forty-eighth as long a life as those who have studied in the past.

There is only one consolation to be derived from the Veronet reckoning. As far as the influence of today is concerned 2,000,000 years is as good as 95,000,000. In either event those who are comfortably laboring today cannot expect to be lovingly remembered when the cataclysm of ice makes the earth a barren wilderness. -Cleveland Plain Dealer.

An Eye to the Future.

The late Wilson Barrett possessed a valuable old dresser who had the good fortune to be built on the same classic lines as Barrett himself, and accordingly inherited his master's cast-off clothes. One day something had upset Barrett at rehearsal, and he lost his temper. Every one stamped out of his way. He strode into his dressing room with flashing eyes, and so indignant did he feel that he inconspicuously dashed his hat with great violence into the corner of the apartment.

Francis Bacon.

The death of Francis Bacon was caused by his devotion to the cause of research and scientific investigation. During one of his excursions to the country he conceived the idea that animal substances may be preserved by means of snow. He procured a fowl and conducted the experiment himself. A severe cold was the result, and in his already enfeebled condition he was not able to withstand it and died of what we now know as bronchitis April 9, 1626, aged sixty-five, at the home of Lord Arundel. He was buried in St. Michael's church, St. Albans.

Innuendo.

"Is dem you all's chickens?" "Cobse dey's my all's chickens. Whose chickens did you s'pose dey was?" "I wasn' s'posin' nuffin about 'em. But I will say dat it's mighty lucky dat a chicken won't come a-runnin' an' a-waggin' its tail when its regular owner whistles, same as a dog." -Washington Star.

Settlement Work.

"Did you hear about Muggins taking up settlement work?" "Yes. He usually works his creditors for 50 cents on the dollar." -Town Topics.

One Redeeming Feature.

The fool men have a lot of faults. But, bless their hearts, they don't kiss each other when they meet on the street. -Cincinnati Enquirer.
