

Portuguese Stung By Steven's Scheme

Expert Says California Land Is No Good—Laborers Wanted—Not Farmers—30 or 40 Maui Portuguese Want Money Back.

In spite of the fact that the Portuguese consul in San Francisco has apparently endorsed the proposition, definite information is now at hand which shows that the scheme of O. A. Steven to induce Portuguese of the Islands to immigrate to California, was even worse than suspected here. It will be remembered that Steven toured the Islands some six months or more ago, and backed by flamboyant advertising created considerable interest among the Portuguese residents in his colonization plan. Ten-acre tracts of lands near Rotterdam and Amsterdam, California, were offered by Steven at $125 per acre. The land was supposed to be good for general garden farming. On the strength of his representations it is understood that between 30 and 40 Maui Portuguese paid Steven from $25 to $50 on the price of the land. How many from other parts of the Territory were also taken in, is not known.

As the result of an editorial in the Maui News, expressing doubt concerning the wisdom of residents of Hawaii seeking to benefit themselves as farmers in California, even under most favorable conditions, the California state commission of Immigration and Housing started an investigation, the results of which thoroughly discredited Steven's scheme. The following from a letter of the executive officer of the commission shows what he thinks of the matter:

"We had a soil expert, who is an agent of the University of California Division of Agricultural Extension, and of the United States Department of Agriculture, make a survey of the land to which Mr. O. A. Steven is bringing Portuguese settlers from the Hawaiian Islands. We understand that quite a number of Portuguese families have already been brought to this country by Mr. Steven and settled upon this land. You will note that the report of this expert is anything but encouraging. You will note that the agent of the land company himself explains that it is not the intention that these people should make a living on the land. Quite obviously, the intention is to import labor to be used in the several projects referred to in Mr. Bryant's letter. We have a letter from the agent of the land company to the same effect, although he claims that the land is such that the people could make a success upon it from an agricultural point of view. However,

"With regard to statements which his statements seem to be rather contradictory. There have been made by other Portuguese, and which have been published in the Hawaiian Islands by Mr. Steven, to the effect that they have been very successful in farming in this region, we would state that these statements refer to land not very far distant near the town of Atwater. There seems to be a better streak of land through there and many Portuguese have been very successful.

"We are furnishing you with this information so that you may be able to give accurate reports to any persons making inquiries or to do whatever you can to prevent these people from being deluded into the belief that they are coming to a wonderful agricultural colony.

Very truly yours,
(Signed) GEORGE L. BELL,
Attorney and Executive Officer.

My dear Sir:
I made an examination of the land around Rotterdam and Amsterdam which you heard was being put upon the market by the Crocker-Hoffman people with the view of securing Portuguese immigrants to colonize the same.

As far as we could find out, the Crocker-Hoffman people are not making an effort at all to colonize the land around Rotterdam, but I think they are figuring on placing some Portuguese immigrants upon the land around Amsterdam. I think the general plan is to sell each family ten acres of land for $100.00 an acre and give them three years to make the first payment in and ten years to pay the balance. This land is under the

Maunaolu Seminary Girls Make Showing

Closing Exercises Of Popular Institution Bespeak High Character Of Instruction—Pleasant Dance Closes Day

Saturday morning, June 3rd, the closing exercises of Maunaolu Seminary took place in Baldwin Hall, between the hours of ten and twelve.

Among the many present, were noted five of the Seminary's trustees and a delegation of twenty-five Lahaina students.

The interior of the hall was most effectively decorated with pretty leis of ferns mingled with Shasta daisies, and the program of events both rhetorical and musical was an attractive one and excellently rendered by the girl students.

The interesting scheme of entertainment following along modern educational lines of current events and geography centered upon the Panama Pacific Exposition and reflected much credit upon the school geography teacher, Mrs. Havens.

The selection of songs also was especially pleasing and the girls' singing harmonious and pure in tone, was a compliment to their training by the music teacher, Miss Clark.

The Delsartian drill by the Primary Department was most graceful and much appreciated by the audience.

The following was the program of entertainment:

Professional—Maunaolu Song.
Scripture Reading—Psalm 148.
Prayer.

Hundreds Attend Farewell Dance To C. G. Whites

Save for the feeling of regret which everyone felt at the imminent departure of the guests of honor from Maui, the dance at the Paia Community House, last Tuesday evening as a farewell to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence G. White, was a most pleasant and successful affair. It was long past midnight when the last of the fourteen dance numbers had been played, and Home, Sweet Home reminded the reluctant dancers that farewells must be said.

The dance was given by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rice, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Baldwin, Dr. and Mrs. W. D. Baldwin, and Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Sloggett, all close personal friends of the Whites, and the 200 or more guests who came from all parts of Maui for the occasion, were accorded a most hearty welcome. Mr. and Mrs. White also assisted in receiving. During the evening Rev. A. Craig Bowdish, in a happily-inspired little address expressed the community feeling of sadness in the parting with friends who have meant so much to all of Maui, and voiced the general hope that the parting may be but an revoir. Mr. White spoke very briefly in reply, being obviously deeply affected.

The Whites expect to leave for the coast in a few weeks, having sold their property in Haiku, and also their beach home. They will possibly divide their time between Berkeley and Cleveland, in the latter of which places Mr. White has important business interests.

Governor To Attend Opening County Fair

Writes Letter Expressing His Approval Of Big Undertaking And His Hopes Of Being Present

Unless something intervenes to prevent, which is not at present apparent, Governor Pinkham will be on hand to officially open the First Maui County Fair, on Thanksgiving Day next. This information is contained in a letter received by Secretary Garcia from the Governor. The letter is as follows:

Honolulu, May 31, 1916.
J. Garcia, Esq.,
Secretary, Maui County Fair
Committee,
Wailuku, Maui,
Sir:

Your kind invitation that I visit and take part in the public exercises at the First Maui County Fair is received and accepted in so far as I may anticipate a date so far in the future.

I think the idea is an excellent one, for the occasion will be divorced from anything that does not savor of the soundest mutual public interest. Maui has more than enough for all, and it is the duty of the Government to curb selfishness and unbecoming haste so that benefits may be effectually and completely established.

The rules of good sound private business need to be adopted and enforced in civic business. If so adopted and enforced, the results will show in lasting, substantial work and sound public finance.

To work for unity of purpose and unity of action among the citizens of Maui and to outline such public necessities as can be fostered by the Territorial Government will be the impulse that actuates my visit.

Respectfully,
(Signed) LUCIUS E. PINKHAM,
Governor of Hawaii.

Basket Ball Team Has High Hopes

Will Play Palama Settlement Girls Tomorrow—Return Games June 20, 21, and 22 In Wailuku

The Alexander Settlement basket ball team will leave this evening for Honolulu where it will play the first game of a series to be played with the Palama Settlement team. The team is much stronger than in any previous year, and has strong hopes of wiping out the defeat of last year.

A series of return games will be played at the Gymnasium in Wailuku, on June 20, 21, and 22. The three games will be played unless the first two are won by the same team in which case the third will be omitted. A dance will, however, be the feature of the evening of the 23rd in any event. As it will cost the local team about $100 to pay the expenses of the visitors, tickets are to be sold for 50 cents for each game, or $1.00 for the series, by which it is hoped to break even.

The personnel of the local team is as follows: Mary Hoffman and Ella Bal, forwards; Katie Adams, batting center; Helen Adams, side center; Gladys Hart and Mary Hart, guards; Constance Rosa, substitute. Miss Mary Hart is captain of the team, and Mrs. Arthur Betts accompanies the jolly party to Honolulu as chaperone.

Big Holy Ghost Feast To Be Held At Paia

The feast of the Holy Ghost is to be celebrated as usual with much eclat at the Kuaui Catholic Church, Paia, on Saturday and Sunday, June 17 and 18. Following the coronation of the queen on Saturday evening, and a grand professional, a display of fireworks such as Maui has never seen has been planned.

There will also be a band concert. On Sunday morning High Mass will be celebrated at 10:30 o'clock and later a free luncheon will be served.

Mrs. James Shaw is to have general charge of the luncheon, which insures its success. The following committee is handling the other features: Manuel Nunes, Jr., chairman; J. M. Feiteira, vice-chairman; John M. Medeiros, secretary-treasurer; C. S. Capellas and J. F. Souza.

CLAUDINE TO BE HELD
A letter from Raymond C. Brown, secretary of the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce, brings the information that through the efforts of this body, the Inter-Island company and the post-office department have consented to hold the Claudine in Honolulu until 10:30 o'clock on next Monday evening in order that Maui people may be enabled to witness the big pageant.

New Army Poloists Add To Uncertainty

Great Interest In Tomorrow's Game In Honolulu—Maui Four Will Make Good Showing

Great interest is being shown in Honolulu over the polo game which takes place tomorrow afternoon on the Kapiolani Park field between the Maui team and the All-Army team of Oahu. The Maui team will be known in the game as the 3rd Infantry National Guard team, and it is made up as follows: Capt. A. W. Collins, No. 1; Private S. A. Baldwin, No. 2; Maj. F. F. Baldwin, No. 3; and Capt. H. W. Rice, back. The Maui ponies were sent down last Saturday and are said to be in fine fettle for the game.

The Schofield stick swingers undoubtedly form the strongest combination of army players that has ever been brought together on Oahu.

Governor's Cup
Governor Pinkham has offered a splendid challenge cup for the event, which must be won twice to become the permanent property of either side. Brigadier-General Johnson has put up four individual cups to be won outright by the players of the winning team.

Two of the Army players are well known on local fields. They are Lieutenant Haverkamp of the Fourth Cavalry, who will play No. 1, and Lieutenant Beard of the First Field Artillery, who is slated for No. 2. The new comers are Lieutenant Herr, Fourth Cavalry, No. 3; and Lieutenant Hoyle, the crack artillery back. Herr played with the fast Eleventh Cavalry team, while Hoyle was well known with the Sixth Field Artillery team, which won the army championship in 1912. Lieutenant Beard was also a member of the championship organization that year. The team aggregates seven goals, Haverkamp being rated at one, and the other three players at two goals handicap each.

Plans For Big Church Carnival Shaping Up

Plans are progressing most favorably for the big carnival to be given July 3rd and 4th. The big show will be located at the Wailuku baseball grounds. The ladies making up the bazaar committee have made up a large list of booths, all of which will be novel and interesting. A baby booth, pawnshop, Turkish booth, and "Rebecca at the Well", are among some of the novelties.

The Hawaiian Committee is going to stage a real Hawaiian village. Every item will be typically Hawaiian, and those patronizing the luau will be treated to a real good old-fashioned cabaret while they eat. This will be one occasion where some Hawaiian specialties such as calabashes, mats, quilts, etc, may be obtained at reasonable prices. The grounds will be beautifully decorated, and the illumination committee will have a large string of lights besides clusters. A dance pavilion will be erected, for those who care for dancing. The entertainment committee is rehearsing a vaudeville extravaganza, which in itself will be well worth the price of admission. A Country Store and Portuguese booths will be other features of the big show, to say nothing of the band concerts, and fire-works.

Thomas Dunn of Kahului, chairman of the advertising committee, is having elaborate posters made up, which will help to give publicity to the whole affair.

Many See Submarines In Action Off Lahaina

The battle practice of the four K class submarines off Lahaina during the past week have afforded much interest for many Maui residents. A large number of persons from central Maui drove over to the Lahaina side last Sunday where they witnessed a number of very interesting maneuvers during both morning and afternoon. Most of the work of the under-sea fighters was done close off shore, and the spectators had no difficulty in seeing all that was going on. The accuracy with which the boats were able to discharge their torpedo at the moving target, towed by the tender Alert, was the subject of much wonder.

While the boats were off port, Major W. H. Young, of Lahaina had the unique experience of making an under-sea trip in one of the boats during a practice.

The work of the little craft is said to have been very satisfactory, and they left for their Honolulu base last evening. Members of the crews report that the trip was exceedingly unpleasant, and most of the boys were very seasick in crossing the channels.

CHICAGO, June 7—"We want Teddy", was battle-cry of thousands here today. Peace negotiations which were in progress all yesterday and last night between leaders of Republican and Progressive parties, was lost sight of today, and virtually abandoned after early morning for business of organizing the convention. Republican delegates, 985 in number, fill every seat of huge Coliseum. Scene is orderly. Over in the progressive gathering the demonstration for Roosevelt is enormous.

CROCKETT, Cal. June 7—George Ross, manager of the Californian-Hawaiian sugar refinery here, left for a conference with union president J. J. Foley, of the International longshoremen's union, for striking stevedores to return to work at Crockett. He says "We are now paying a higher scale than the union demands."

LONDON, June 7—Teutons unable to block Slav drive. Taken by surprise by unexpected Russian attack on Galician front. Austrians and Germans lose 25,000 prisoners, but make no effort to check sudden thrust. King George regrets death of Kitchener. Immediately upon hearing of the disaster, the king left Windsor palace where he was resting, returning to Buckingham Palace. The King issued commands that England will mourn Kitchener. Officers in army will wear mourning with uniforms for one week. Mystery still surrounds the sinking of the cruiser Hampshire. JACKSON, Miss., June 7—Gale killed many in this state. Twister sweeps through state leaving dead and injured in wake.

LONDON, June 6—British naval experts believe 10,000-ton cruiser Hampshire, sunk off Orkney Islands, with Lord Kitchener and staff on board, was destroyed by striking a mine. They say that the speed of the cruiser renders it improbable that she was torpedoed. Furthermore the sea was too rough, which would make work of submarine uncertain. Lord Kitchener was enroute to Petrograd on an important military mission similar to that which he made to France and Italy. Allies had great confidence in Kitchener's judgement and his visits to other allied countries is supposed to have had important results in co-ordinating the work of the entente powers. The fact that he is known to have been on his way to Russia brings up the supposition that he was to have advised with Russian army chiefs. News of his death was the first intimation the public had of his mission. Kitchener's staff included Hugh Oberine, ex-consul of embassy at Petrograd; O. A. Fitzgerald, Kitchener's private military secretary; Brig. Gen. Ellershaw; and Sir Frederick Donaldson. Patrols are searching for bodies and possible survivors. Some bodies and capsized boats have been found. Shores of islands being searched but little hope of finding any alive. Meeting of British war council called. Sir. Wm. B. EXPLOITING THE PORTUGUESE

O. A. Steven's colonization enterprise among the Portuguese of this Territory, turns out to have been nothing but a labor recruiting scheme in disguise. The warning given by the Maui News at the time, which was taken up by the California State Commission on Immigration and Housing, and thoroughly investigated, has resulted in a number of striking facts being brought out. First, the 10-acre tracts of California land, which were to make the oppressed Portuguese of Hawaii independent, are declared to be of very poor soil. Second, the price of $100 per acre (Steven seems to have boosted the price to $125) is too much. It could not be made to earn the $6 interest and $3 water rent, the University of California expert says. Third, the men who own the land did not expect the Portuguese to be able to make a living from their "homesteads," but expected to use the men and boys as laborers on the other work, while the women and children might be able to help out with a little gardening. Fourth, while the land was supposed to have water for irrigation, only a portion of it might use such water on account of the lay of the land, and the water supply cannot be depended upon after June in any event. Finally, Steven's interest seems to have been solely that of a labor agent. He is not bothering now about the Portuguese for whom he had so much sympathy and aloha for a few months ago, but has transferred his attention to the Filipinos of the Islands instead. Incidentally he has not returned the $25 or $50 which he collected as first payment on the California lands.

An unexplained feature of the affair, is the apparent full endorsement of the Portuguese consul in San Francisco. The impression is very strong among local Portuguese that this official recommended the Steven scheme almost without reservation. It was this attitude of the San Francisco consul, moreover, that caused the local Portuguese consul not to interfere in what he really felt to be a questionable proposition.

As the Maui News stated before there are good lands in California. But unless a man has at least a few thousand dollars to spend for house, and horses and other live stock, and to live upon for a year until he can get some return from the soil, his chance of making a success are not very bright. Most of the men recruited by Steven have no such resources for the simple reason that men with sufficient capital are slow to make radical changes. It is fortunate therefore that the real conditions in connection with the Steven scheme have been learned before many families have gone further than to make their first payments, which is a small loss compared with what they certainly would have sustained had they gone to California.

WANTED—A RENAISSANCE IN HAWAIIAN ART

One of the features of the Maui County Fair on which a good deal of effort is to be expended is the section devoted to Hawaiian arts and crafts. It is to be hoped that the Fair may have some influence in reviving an interest in this class of handiwork. This is particularly true of the art of lauhala weaving. The demand for this work is steadily increasing. A few years ago it was easy to buy lauhala floor mats of almost any size or quality, and in almost any quantity, in the shops of Honolulu. Today they are hard to find, and the price is excessive. The same is true of the artistically woven fans, and to some extent to hats. The younger Hawaiians appear to have little interest in the industry, evidently thinking it something beneath them, and the older natives are fast passing away. To the contrary, however, it should be considered as a valuable heritage, for the product is one that commands a market on its useful qualities, and not merely as an ornament or curiosity. Some of the schools of the territory are wisely encouraging their pupils to perfect in this remunerative accomplishment, but others appear to have taken the attitude that it is something that does not set well with "culture," and are therefore ignoring it in favor of various forms of needlework, which may be all right as dainty accomplishments, but which at best are mighty poor mediums for keeping the poi bowl filled.

Superintendent of Schools Kinney is authority for the statement that there is at the present time but one living kapa maker in the whole territory. She works but a portion of her time, and makes an excellent living. But with her passing will pass also one of the arts of ancient Hawaii, never to be revived again. This is not likely to be so in the case of woven work, which will almost certainly be taken up by other nationalities on account of the profits which it must always afford to the workers. The pity of it is that the native Hawaiians, whose birthright it is, should be willing to sacrifice it for a cheap substitute, just as they are everywhere sacrificing their own inimitably beautiful music for cheap rag-time and coon songs.

THE HYPHEN QUESTION AGAIN

Martin Grune, the Honolulu hyphenated citizen who told the national guard examining board that he would refuse to fight against Germany, should war between the two countries ever occur, is to be commended for his courage. It would have been comparatively easy, and very much less embarrassing to have lied about the matter. Aside from this display of honesty, however, there is not much that can be said for Grune. It is not clear how he ever became an American citizen, but it is perfectly clear now that he should never have become one.

It is this sort of misguided feeling of disloyalty to the land of their adoption, or evidence of conditional allegiance on the part of a few German-American citizens, that has awakened the resentment of real Americans. Is it really asking too much of a man who comes to America of his own free will, and presumably because he finds conditions more to his liking than in the land of his birth, that he be willing to bear his share of burden, of a citizen even to fighting against his native land if necessary? Or rather would it not be the decent thing for the man who finds he cannot do this, to re-affirm his allegiance to his mother country and place himself at the disposal of that land? Our foreign born citizens should not forget that the American nation came into being, and continues to this day, to the fact the American colonists felt it a patriotic duty to fight against their mother country on two separate occasions.

There is a good deal of mush-talk being engaged in just now over Duke Kahanamoku's accepting an offer of $250 per week on a 3-year vaudeville contract, and thereby becoming a professional swimmer. He would have been a fool to have thought of declining such an offer. Amateur athletics may be all right for rich men, but there isn't much in it for the man who needs the money that his special kind of ability makes it possible for him to earn. A great baseball player isn't any less great when he becomes a professional, nor is any other athlete less great because a certain association refuses to recognize his existence. A world championship title isn't especially satisfactory to the holder if he knows some other man can beat him at his own game.

A private is to be allowed to play in a polo game with officers! Such bally bad form—don't you know!

Crocker-Hoffman Land and Water Company's ditch so that most of the land around Amsterdam can be irrigated as long as the water lasts through this system which I understand is only until some time in June. They expect to charge these people six per cent interest on the amount they are expecting to receive for the land. This would make six dollars per year interest and the water tax runs somewhere between two and three dollars, so it would make a total of about $9.00 per year per acre that these people would have to pay upon this land.
Looking at this matter purely from an agricultural point of view, this land is not worth this money nor could one afford to pay $9.00 per acre per year for this land with the view of making the land pay this amount. The land, in general is rather rolling and all of it cannot be irrigated owing to the fact that some of it is higher than the canal. It is very sandy and overlaid with a hardpan from two to four feet, sometimes probably a little deeper. It is the type of soil that a person who knew California agriculture would not pick for general farming. It might be adapted to almonds or some crop of this nature, but not to raising of general farm and truck crops.

In talking this matter over with Mr. Lage, Local General Manager of the Crocker-Hoffman Land Company, he explains it by saying that they are not selling these people this land with the idea that they make a living from the land, but they are simply selling it to them as a homestead and at the same time so that the women and children will be able to raise a little garden material and cut down living expenses somewhat. It is Mr. Lage's plan that the men and boys shall secure labor in the nearby country. I think he figures that the Yosemite Valley Railroad can use 100 or so of the men; that the Crocker-Hoffman Company can probably use somewhere near the same number and that the Yosemite Valley Lumber Company can use almost an unlimited number and it is his plan that the men and boys shall work out as suggested above and gradually pay out on the land.

The land around Rotterdam is of reddish clay type, containing some gravel and in places overlaid with hardpan two to four feet. It is of the type of soil that we consider fairly well adapted to olives and will grow figs and almonds fairly successfully where the climatic conditions are favorable for these crops. However, it is not adapted for general farming and could not be recommended for growing general farm crops or truck crops. If you should have any further inquiries regarding the matter, I will be glad to consider them with you.

Yours very sincerely,
(Signed) V. C. BRYANT,
Maui Representative Back
About 15 Portuguese of Puunene who have paid Steven the first payment of $25, and in some instances a second $25, on the land, took the advice of the Portuguese vice-consul for Maui, Enos Vincent, and engaged a representative in California to look at the land, and into the conditions under which it had been sold. This representative, whose name is Soldado dos Santos, arrived on Maui about a week ago and his report is said to be entire accord with the opinion of the California expert, except that it is more denunciatory. It will be impossible, he declares, for a Portuguese family from Hawaii to make a living on the 10 acres of land which it would receive.

Want Their Money Back
An effort may be made to recover from Steven or the company he represented, the money which has been advanced as a result of Steven's misrepresentation, and there is some talk of trying to prosecute him for fraud. Whether or not this can be done successfully is perhaps doubtful. Steven is said to have given receipts for the money taken by him, signed by an official of the company in California. He gave them nothing else, however, except a letter of introduction to the Coast company, which stated that the bearer would be conducted to the land in question upon arrival in San Francisco.

Steven is said to have dropped his Portuguese colonization propaganda, having secured what he could in advance payments, and to be now engaged in a plan to recruit Filipinos in the Territory for work in the Imperial Valley, Southern California. The California papers have recently credited the busy Steven with statements to the effect that he purposes in conjunction with General Harrison Gray Otis, testing the Territorial anti-labor recruiting law, following which he will bring to California hundreds of the "peon" Filipinos of Hawaii, who are now in virtual bondage to the sugar plantations.

AT THE THEATERS

ORPHEUM AND LYCEUM CIRCUIT

Attractions galore is the word from the management of these theatres. Foremost amongst them will be the first appearance of the Vaughan-Lyttell Comedy Dramatic Company of sixteen people and several car loads of scenery. Another big vaudeville bunch arriving on the Ventura from Australia, and the Russian Royal Quintette are also booked for a concert tour of Maui.

Opening at the Kahului Lyceum on Friday will be the relieving comedy, Maverick Brander, owner of grazing herds on the Texas plains, does not care to enter politics. However his wife and charming daughter, Miss Bossy, long for the delights of social life in the National Capitol and they elect husband and father to Congress.

When the Brander family arrives in Washington, they are victimized and ridiculed right and left. They have many and varied adventures and the most terrible experience to pretty Miss Bossy is when she comes to believe that the dashing Captain Bright is ashamed of her.

An "investigating committee" arrives from Texas to investigate Brander's official record. What then occurs brings Miss Bossy and Captain Bright to satisfactory understanding and causes the Branders to become leaders in the social and official life of Washington, D. C.

DR. RAMEAU.—Pierre Rameau, the son of a poor gate tender, becomes, through a natural aptitude for the medical profession, the foremost physician and surgeon in Paris.

Conchita, his wife, dies leaving an infant daughter.

Rameau is inconsolable. Many years later he discovers, among his wife's letters evidence proving that she had been unfaithful, that Pamela, whom he had reared from childhood to budding womanhood, is not his child. The shock almost unbalances his mind. He drives the girl from his home and refuses to go to her even when she is thought to be dying.

His best friend, Dr. Talivanne, almost drags him to her bedside. As he enters the room the girl stretches out her arms to him. Rameau is conquered. His hate for the innocent child is dissipated by the sight of her suffering. Like a fiend he labors to save her from death, bringing all his skill and science to bear and in the end he is successful. Pamela is saved for a life of happiness.

"THE REFORM CANDIDATE"—Finding that the mayoralty campaign is turning against him, Frank Grandell, who heads the "reform" ticket which is trying to smash "Boss" Hoke's political machine, sends his lieutenants to pry into Hoke's private life in the hope of unearthing some damaging scandal. Their curiosity aroused by the mysterious parentage of May Hoke, the adopted daughter of the politician, they corner "Looney Jim," a halfwitted fellow, whose devotion the "Boss" has won through kindness, but he dies before they can extract the secret. Grandell then offers the "Boss" $15,000 for his support and he, determined to crush his enemy, accepts the money and then defies the "reformer" to enforce the bargain. Meanwhile Grandell's wife, whom the "Boss" has for years worshipped from afar, comes to prevent her husband's nefarious intrigue, and while there discovers that her longlost baby is in reality the adopted daughter of the "Boss."

The approaching wedding of May with young Benton, the mayoralty candidate opposing her father, paves the way for the latter's retirement from the field. All animosity is laid aside and "Boss" Hoke and the Grandells meet in harmony through their mutual interest in May.

"THE IMMIGRANT"—Valeska Suratt appears in the Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play Company production, "The Immigrant," in which she will make her debut as a star on the Paramount Program.

Miss Suratt appears in "The Immigrant" as a young peasant woman from a foreign land who comes to America and fights and wins her way into success. Considerable of the story happens on the transcontinental liner aboard which Masha (Miss Suratt) and her countrymen and countrywomen are seen as steerage passengers.

Marion Fairfax who wrote "The Immigrant" has developed a strong, virile drama, full of sympathetic appeal.

Among those who appear in support of Miss Suratt are Thomas Meighan, Theodore Roberts, Hal Clements, Ernest Joy, Bob Fleming, Jane Wolf and Mrs. Lewis McCord.

THE LYTEL-VAUGHAN PLAYERS

Belasco and Mayer of the Alcazar Theatre, San Francisco, have the honor to announce for a season at the Maui theatres, a special season of the well known American stars, Bert Lytell and Evelyn Vaughan, supported by their own company of players, opening on Tuesday, June 20th, at the Kahului Lyceum.

The Lytell-Vaughan Players come to Maui direct from a successful season at the Bijou Theatre, Honolulu. Of all the stars who have ever appeared in the California metropolis none have found the warm spot in the affections of San Francisco theatregoers held by these two favorites. Mr. Lytell and Miss Vaughan are bringing complete productions of a number of the most recent New York successes, all new to

This Division makes an annual distribution of new and rare plants and seeds which have first been tested out in our trial grounds and the grown as a field crop to prove their adaptability and worth. Each year a variety test is made of some special crop. WEEKLY MARKET LETTER

With the opening of the retail department at the marketing division the demand for fresh island eggs and butter has increased.

The market is fairly well supplied with vegetables with the exception of cabbage, sweet corn and sweet potatoes which are bringing exceedingly good prices. During the week there has been an unusually large quantity of Island cantaloupes come into the market from Oahu, bringing very good prices. New Island Irish potatoes are in great demand and receipts are light.

From now on the division should be able to dispose of much larger quantities of Island products of all kinds. The retail sales of the past two days have been very encouraging. People who have been in the habit of ordering their vegetables and meats over the phone and having them delivered are now coming to the market in person and carrying home their purchases with them. In this way they get better merchandise at lower prices.

A. T. LONGLEY,
Marketing Superintendent.

Energy in the Sun.

(At the distance of the earth from it (93,000,000 miles), the heat energy yearly expended by the sun is as great in amount as would be produced by the burning of sixty-six globes of the best anthracite coal, each as heavy as the earth, or 5,346 such globes, each equal in weight to the moon. But the greater part of this energy is, as far as we can see, expended upon empty space because, except where a planetary body is interposed in the path of the rays, there is nothing for them to act upon. Only about two-thousand-millionth of the sun's radiant energy is intercepted by the earth and only about one two-hundred-and-twenty-five-millionth by all the planets together. This makes the sun look like a gigantic spendthrift, but if he did not radiate in every direction he would not be seen from distant space; he would not be a star among the stars, and who can say that what he expends to make himself known and to maintain his rank in the universe, is not as well spent as the gratuities that he flings to his planets.—Garrett P. Serviss in Spokane Review.

How to Win.
This is an age of specialization, my boy, and the only men who succeed in a big way are those who pick out some particular line of work and live with it until they get to know more about it than most other fellows. Concentration, consistent and persistent effort in one direction is the surest road to success. You'll never win in a big way—except accidentally—if you scatter your energies. The best steam engine in the world would race itself to ruin without its governor. Keep your mind on your job, specialize in your particular business and try to know as much about it as the man who created it, and, barring misfortune, you'll make more out of that knowledge than you will out of any chance success outside of your business.—Maurice Switzer in Leslie's.

Some German Taxes.
Among the curious taxes imposed in Germany on various objects are those on baby carriages, where the amount is 40 cents each and $1.50 tax on caged nightingales, of which there have not been any for many years, and tourists for whom the hotel keeper is taxed 2 1/2 cents, which is added to the bill.

He Had the Bill.
Tom (in restaurant)—Excuse me, old man, but would you mind paying my check? I haven't anything but a forty dollar bill. Jack—A forty dollar bill! Why, I never heard of a bill of that denomination. Tom—Here it is—a bill from my tailor!—Chicago News.

STORIES OF LISZT

How the Famous Master Played to a Hidden Audience.

A SURPRISE AT THE FINISH.

For a Moment it Filled the Hostess and Company With Dismay, but Proved a Case of All's Well That Ends Well—A Snub For a Tactless Baroness.

Liszt resented people counting on his playing. When Baroness K. inveigled him into promising to take tea with her, because he knew her father, she, on his accepting, invited a lot of friends, holding out hopes that Liszt would play. She pushed the piano into the middle of the room—no one could have possibly failed to see it.

Every one was on the qui vive when Liszt arrived and breathless with anticipation. Liszt, who had had many surprises of this sort, I imagine, saw the situation at a glance. After several people had been presented to him, Liszt, with his most captivating smile, said to the hostess:

"Madam, where is your piano?" and looked all about for the instrument though it was within an inch of his nose.

"Oh, monseigneur! Would you, really...?" advancing toward the piano, triumphantly. "You are too kind, I never should have dared to ask you." And, waving her hand toward it. "Here is the piano!"

"Ah, yes," said Liszt, who dearly loves a joke, "I wished to put my hat on it."

Very crestfallen, but still undaunted, the tactless baroness cried, "But, monseigneur, you will not refuse, if only to play a scale—merely to touch the piano!"

But Liszt, as unkind as she was tactless, answered, coldly: "Madam, I never play my scales in the afternoon," and turned his back on her and talked with Madam Helbig.

On another occasion Liszt wrote to me that he would bring some of his songs to try over at 5 o'clock. I inclose his letter. What a chance, thought I, for me to give pleasure to some of my friends who I knew were longing to see him. Although he had said entre nous in his letter, and I knew that he really wanted to look through the songs alone with me, I could not resist the temptation—though it was such rank disobedience—and said to them:

"Liszt is coming to me at 5 o'clock. If you would like to hear him, and consent to be hidden behind a door, I will invite you."

They all accepted with rapture and were assembled in the little salon before the time appointed. The door was left open and a large screen placed before it.

Johan fetched Liszt in our carriage, as he always does. I received him and the book of "Lieder," which he brought with him. (Only Johan and Nina were present.) He opened the book at "Comment dis-je?" one of his most beautiful songs, which has an exquisite but very difficult accompaniment. He played with fairy fingers, and we went over it several times. I could see the screen swerving and waving about, but Liszt's back was turned, so he could not see it.

After we had finished tea was served, and then he said, "Have you heard my 'Rigoletto'?"

"Yes," I said, and added, "but not by you."

"Well," he said, "I will play it for you. Your piano is much better than the one I have. It is a pleasure to play on it."

The screen, now alive with emotion, almost tipped over. After "Rigoletto" he played "Les Soirees de Venise," and this time the screen actually did topple over and exposed to view the group of badly frightened ladies huddled behind it. I shuddered to think how the master would take this horrible treachery.

He took it better than I expected—in fact, he laughed outright. The ladies came forward and were presented to him and were delighted. I am sure that Liszt was, too; at any rate, he laughed so much at my ruse and contrition that the tears rolled down his cheeks. He wiped them away with his pocket handkerchief, which had an embroidered P. L. in the corner. This he left behind and I kept it as a souvenir.—Mme. de Hegermann-Lindencrone in Harper's Magazine.

Behind the Times.
Speeder—Think of it! Here's this old earth making one rotation in twenty-four hours, the same as it did 6,000 years ago.
Jinks—Well, what of it?
"Great Scott, man! Can't we devise some way to speed her up a little?"—Life.

Either.
You can't judge a man by his actions. The fellow who deliberately walks in front of a quick moving auto may be a perfectly proper object of sympathy, and then again he may be a professional damage seeker.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

By the Foot.
"Growing? Why, every time I get home from a trip I find that that baby of mine has grown another foot."
"Ge! She'll look like a centipede pretty soon."—Houston Post.

MRS. JOHN FASSOTH A LUNCHEON HOSTESS.

Last Saturday Mrs. John Fassoth gave one of the prettiest luncheons in a long time. The table was exquisitely decorated and reflected great credit on the ability of the hostess. A miniature tree graced the table center and from its tiny branches grew a nut, one for each guest, and upon opening the nuts dainty Madiera handkerchiefs were exposed to view and a story called "Nuts to Crack."

Blue maline was most artistically arranged in a cloud effect on the table, while at each guest place reposed a corsage bouquet of violets and sweet peas and lace fern. At the close of the afternoon prizes were awarded, first, Mrs. Frank E. Blake, a very handsome hand-embroidered cushion top; Mrs. St. C. Sayres, a silver deposit perfume bottle; Mrs. Renton Hind, a silver smelling salts bottle.

Mrs. Fassoth leaves Honolulu the end of June to go to Maui, where Mr. Fassoth is manager of Kipahulu plantation. For a number of years before going to Maui, Mr. Fassoth was manager of the Waimea, Kauai, sugar plantation.

Mrs. Fassoth's guests were Mrs. Frank E. Blake, Mrs. Ambrose Wirtz, Madame Sayres, Mrs. Conant, Mrs. Coombs, Mrs. Herbert Petrie, Mrs. T.

Church, Mrs. Renton Hind, and Mrs. Carl du Roi.—Star Bulletin.

CHORAL CLUB TO HAVE A JINKS

Following the two big operatic successes of the Choral Club, that bustling musical organization is now preparing for an evening of frivolity, which it is pleased to call a "jinks." Just what this will consist of is something of a mystery, but the members are having a lot of fun in rehearsing the various stunts, and the affair is likely to prove entirely worth while. It will be given at the Pain Community House on Saturday, June 17.

FRIENDS OF KAUAI TEACHERS MAKE VIGOROUS PROTEST

Failure of the board of public instruction to reappoint Henry C. Brown and Mrs. Brown as principal and teacher respectively of the Waimea, Kauai, school has stirred up something of a hornet's nest on the Garden Island, according to reports. Several petitions are said to be in circulation asking for the reinstatement of the Browns. "The best interests of the department," is the only explanation which has been offered by the school board. Miss Etta Lee was appointed to succeed as principal of the Waimea school.

LIVES MAUI IDEA.

The Iao Valley flood on Maui has resulted in the creation of a permanent fund of $5,000 at Wailuku for emergency use in event of disaster of any large consequence on that island. The idea is an excellent one and might well be adopted also by Kauai. We are liable to floods in our valleys, destructive fires in our towns or other disasters which might leave numbers of people in need of immediate assistance. It would then be that such a fund would come in handy.—Garden Island.

Old Time Gas Charges.

The price of gas in the early part of the last century is shown by a schedule of charges issued by the Liverpool Gaslight company in the year 1817. Instead of so much per cubic foot being levied, each individual burner was charged for, and the price varied according to the hour at which the light was to be extinguished. Thus for using one No. 1 Argand burner up till 8 p. m. $3 per annum had to be paid. For the right to keep it alight until 9 $3 18s. was the figure, while those roistering blades who sat up till 10, 11 or 12 had to disburse $4 16s., $5 12s. and $6 8s. respectively. Imagine the gas bill at a house where ten or twelve burners are flaring away until the small hours if such a method of taxation were in force nowadays!—Liv-

THE SEA OF LOT.

Ridge of Sodom and Its Fetid but Clear Blue Waters.

It is in the southeastern part of Palestine where the famous Dead sea lies. In the Old Testament it was known as the Sea of the Plain or Salt sea, but it is known today by the Arabs as the Sea of Lot. Its surface, which is lower than any other body of water, is 1,292 feet below the level of the Mediterranean.

The Dead sea is fed by the river Jordan from the north, but has no outlet, depending entirely upon evaporation. A portion of the sea is surrounded by cliffs which are destitute of vegetation. On the south shore is the ridge of rock salt, seven miles long and 300 feet high, known as the ridge of Sodom. Lava beds, sulphur and volcanic slag prove the existence of volcanic agencies at some period. The lake still casts up pieces of asphalt when the environs of the Dead sea are visited by earthquake.

Its proportion of saline matter is so great that it contains more than eight times as much as the ocean, and while it is exceedingly fetid, yet its water is as blue as that of the Mediterranean, and to the bath it is very refreshing, and owing to its specific gravity it is difficult to sink. Nothing living exists within the waters of the Dead sea.—Buffalo Express.

JOHN STOWE'S REWARD.

The Beggar Historian Got Royal Permission to Solicit Alms.

James I. on March 8, 1903, granted letters patent under the great seal to John Stowe, London's great historian, authorizing him to beg. The letters patent of James I. authorized Stowe to collect the voluntary contributions of the people. The letter recites that:

"Whereas, Our loving subject, John Stowe, a very aged and worthy member of our city of London, this five and forty years hath to his great charge and with neglect of his ordinary means of maintenance, for the general good as well of posterity as of the present age, compiled and published diverse necessary books and chronicles, and therefore we, in recompense of his labors and for the encouragement to the like, have in our royal inclination been pleased to grant letters patent under our great seal of England, dated March 8, 1903, thereby authorizing him to collect among our loving subjects their voluntary contributions and kind gratuities."

John Stowe died on April 5, 1905, and was buried in the parish church of St. Andrew Undershaft, where his monument, erected by his widow, is still to be seen.—London Stray Stories.

A Journalist Bought Suez.

The journalist is often the man behind the statesman, but he seldom gets the credit. Who was it that induced Mr. Disraeli to buy the Suez canal shares which have proved so abundantly good an investment, with dividends that are represented not only by money, though even from that point of view it is the best investment that a state has ever made? Fleet street knows and honors the name of Mr. Frederick Greenwood both for that reason and for many another. But how many outside the world of journalism realize that but for Mr. Greenwood the Suez canal shares would probably have been purchased by a rival continental power? The question was one among those put in a "general intelligence" examination paper a little time back at a certain school. Only one boy was able to answer it correctly, and he was the son of the prime minister.—London Chronicle.

Discordant Thoughts.

In wandering through your mental pleasure grounds, whenever you come upon an ugly intruder of a thought which might bloom into some poisonous emotion, such as fear, envy, hate, worry, remorse, anger and the like, there is only one right way to treat it, writes Robert H. Schaubler in the Atlantic. Pull it up like a weed, drop it upon the rubbish heap as promptly as if it were a stinging nettle and let some harmonious thought grow in its place. There is no more reckless consumer of all kinds of exuberance than the discordant thought, and weeding it out saves such an astonishing amount of energy which would otherwise be expended in vain. It is the garden of joy that with it in hand every man may be his own Burbank.

His Alibi.

"If you are innocent," said a lawyer to his client, an old dandy, who was charged with stealing a ham, "we ought to be able to prove an alibi." "I don't specs we kin," the dandy replied doubtfully. "At what time was the ham stolen?" " 'Bout 'tween erlock, day say." "Well, where were you between 11 o'clock and midnight—in bed?" "No, sah. I was hidin' de ham,"—Philadelphia Ledger.

Eagerly Communicative.

"A man ought not to have any secrets from his wife." "Secrets!" exclaimed Mr. Meekton. "I spend hours trying to make an impression on Henrietta by thinking up something to tell her that she doesn't know."—Washington Star.

THE MENACING SEA

It Threatens to Some Day Engulf New York and Boston.

OUR EASTERN COAST SINKING.

In Time, Thousands of Years, Perhaps, the Atlantic Ocean, According to Geologists, Will Flow Over the Cities That Now Tower Above Its Shores.

Government geological experts have calculated that New York, Boston, Philadelphia and all the other cities along the Atlantic coast will eventually sink beneath the ocean. They have observed that there has been a steady sinking of the whole coast, and they say that it is going on at the present moment.

Geologists have long recognized the fact that the Atlantic coast line was much farther out than it is now. There is a line from 100 to 300 miles off the present coast at which the water suddenly gets deeper. Out to that distance the water is generally about 300 feet deep. Then it plunges suddenly and becomes ten times as far to the ocean's bottom. The men of the coast survey have traced this line throughout the length of our coast line and find it similar all along. The geologists say that the continent once reached out that far and that there was the coast line, but a gradual decline through the ages has caused that line to retreat, until now it is where we know it.

From a geological standpoint this has happened in comparatively recent times. It has all been done since the glacial period. This brings it into the present period and makes the action new. In fact it is positively known to be going on now.

There is an ancient sill in the Charlestown navy yard at Boston with regard to which there is definite information as to its elevation. It was put in place seventy years ago; its elevation was given with relation to mean, high and low tide, and also with reference to surrounding landmarks. With relation to the tide this sill has sunk seven-tenths of a foot. With relation to the landmarks it has the same position, a positive proof that Boston harbor and the city about it have sunk seven-tenths of a foot into the sea in the last seventy years.

The original mouth of the Hudson river is now 200 miles out to sea. The ships follow its old channel in leaving port even now. It is not known how long ago it was when the mouth of the river was not far out in the ocean. But it is almost a certainty that when a similar time has elapsed the present city will be an equal distance from the then land.

Similarly will Boston be submerged. Baltimore will disappear at about the same time and great portions of Washington. The great Mississippi is bringing down great deposits to raise its delta and counterbalance the decline. So low is New Orleans that it will be one of the first cities to sink below the sea level and be a municipality high walled against the enemy, the sea. Galveston has already felt the encroachment of the waters and has been forced to build itself a sea wall.

The geological survey makes topographical maps. On these lines are run at given elevations. For instance, a line may be run about Manhattan Island at a level twenty feet above the water at the Battery. It would submerge the customs house and extend up Broadway nearly to Wall street. From the east it would invade the financial district almost to Nassau street. It would overflow half the land between the city hall and the East river. Further up it would submerge a narrower strip, but its intrusion would create great havoc.

A fifty foot rise of water would wipe Manhattan Island out entirely. Of course, if these depressions came on very gradually the water fronts would be diked against their intrusions. In this way New York city might be saved from destruction for a very long time. It will inevitably become a city surrounded by a high levee, against which the ocean will beat with an ever increasing advantage. It might perpetuate itself by artificial means, but in the end it will be put in an impossible position. The waters will follow over the flats of New Jersey and of Long Island.

They will even beat back through the Delaware and the Chesapeake and get beyond the city and cut off communication with the main part of the land. Finally, New York will find itself a city down in a well far out from the mainland. Gradually the people who dwell in it will desert it and repair to the then mainland. The waters will eventually lap away the great walls that have been built to keep out the sea and will tumble in among the skyscrapers.—W. A. Du Puy's "Uncle Sam, Wonder Worker."

Presence of Mind.

Only the other day a great steel beam was being brought up to a giddy height by hoisting apparatus. As it passed a girder on which several men were at work the beam turned just enough to push one of them off, says Harper's Weekly. The man seized the beam and was swung far over the street. His weight gradually moved down the end of the girder to which he clung, and in a few moments he would have been thrown off, when a fellow workman sprang for the other end, thus balancing it, and together they were lowered to the ground.

Their opening play will be Willard Mack's latest New York success, "Kick In," and it will be followed in the dramatic line, by such late successes as "Under Cover," "The Yellow Ticket," etc., and farce successes of the calibre of "The Seven Keys, To Baldpate."

Prominent in the company are E. D. Hales, who first came to America ten years ago as Robert Mantell's leading man; Alexis Luce, who divided the leading role with Dustin Farnum in the "Littlest Rebel;" Henry Shumer, an old time San Francisco favorite; Phillips Tead, one of the best liked comedians from Broadway; Jane Darwell, an actress of exceptional ability; George Knowlton, a remarkably clever character woman; Mae Thorne, a sweet little ingenue; Ernest Van Pelt, Jessie Shouler, William Amstell, and Chas. Edler, players of the very first water.

A complete production for each play is carried by the company, the same having been prepared for the Alcazar Theatre, San Francisco, and the regular scale of Alcazar prices will prevail, namely: 25 cents to $1.00. It is a long time since a company of the standard of the Lytell-Vaughan Players has appeared in the Islands and Maui is to be congratulated on securing this high class offering. The women of the company will display wardrobes that will contain the very latest decrees of dame fashion. Trunk loads of beautiful gowns being brought over for the coming engagement.

Exhibits Wanted For Commercial Museum

Alexander Hume Ford has written the Maui News concerning the proposed Pan-Pacific exposition to be held in Honolulu in 1917 or 1918. He wants exhibits of industries for a preliminary commercial museum which he is now busy preparing, and he would like to hear from anybody on the matter. He says:

"Messrs. Castle and Cooke have been kind enough to give us the floor space above their offices at Fort & Merchant Streets, as headquarters for boosting the Exposition. At present I am establishing a Pan Pacific Commercial Museum there. If there are any industries on the island of Maui, either Hawaiian, Chinese, Japanese, Portuguese or American, that we can boost by having samples, etc., in the museum, will you help us to get them? "Make any suggestions that you like and we will do all we can to promote things on the Valley Isle."

DR. AIKEN COMING TO WAILUKU

Dr. George S. Aiken, the well known Kahului dentist, is soon to take up his residence in Wailuku. He plans to erect a handsome home on the lot he recently purchased on High street between the Wailuku Union Church and the school, and expects to begin work on the structure within the next month or two. He has a number of locations in view for his office, which will probably be on Main street, and for this he has plans which will make it one of the most up-to-date dental laboratories in the whole territory. He expects to close his office in Kahului, but will still maintain his office in Paia.

On account of a change in the curriculum there were no graduates in the academic department, but the principal, Miss Heuser, presented a diploma to Miss Helen Sniffon as a graduate from the sewing and dressmaking department.

In the sewing room of the school there was exhibited an elaborate display of fine needlework, tatting, embroidery and crochet, each girl being credited with a sample of her handiwork. In other rooms there was to be seen an excellent showing of written work, and maps of water-color. After the exercises a luau was served in the girls' lanai playhouse and more than a hundred guests thoroughly enjoyed the feast of deliciously cooked Hawaiian viands.

During the afternoon dancing on the lanai was indulged in by the older girls and the Lahainalua students.

BOTTOM DROPS OUT OF KILAUEA

Hilo, June 6.—After a period of exceptional activity, the volcano of Kilauea pit suddenly emptied itself yesterday, the lava dropping a thousand feet. The falling of the mallo and the remarkable display of fire is declared to have exceeded anything at the crater for twenty years or more. Prof. Jaggard expects the pit to soon fill again, and to possibly rise to an unusually high level.
