The War Stamp drive on Maui which began this week and continues until Saturday of next week, is making most gratifying progress, according to Director R. A. Wadsworth, though he fears that some districts will have to be carried over the top by others, unless more energy is displayed on the part of some of the committee workers.

This will not be the case, however, of Huelo, which has already nearly

Mixed Doubles Play Starts At Puanene

Seveneen Couples Enter For H. P. Baldwin Cups—C. C. Campbell And Mrs. Kunewa Eliminated In Preliminary Match

The closing last week of the entries for the mixed doubles tournament to be played on the Puanene courts, showed 17 couples in the big contest. The preliminary round has already started, the first match having been played last Saturday between A. C. Bowdish-Miss Stanley, and C. C. Campbell-Mrs. Kunewa, and won by the first named pair, 3-6, 7-5, 8-6.

Stormy weather has prevented the contemplated playing this week, but it will be on in full force as soon as conditions are a little more favorable. The play is for the H. P. Baldwin cups.

The list of entries and the way they will play the first round, follows:

A. C. Bowdish and Miss H. Stanley, Dr. G. S. Aiken and Miss E. Teal; J. McLaren and Miss H. West, R. Lillo and Miss A. Wodehouse; H. B. Penhallow and Miss M. Couch, C. Burns and Mrs. D. Wadsworth; W. A. Baldwin and Miss Nix, E. R. Bevins and Miss O. Villiers; Eddie Tam and Mrs. R. Paris, R. Rietow and Miss Joy Dow, W. Lougher and Mrs. E. R. Bevins, E. Deinert and Miss M. Myhand; W. O. Aiken and Mrs. W. A. Baldwin; F. P. Rosecrans and Miss M. Taylor; J. Watt and Miss Woodworth, D. C. Lindsay and Mrs. E. Deinert.

Inter-Island Air Mail Service Soon Is Reported

As yet no official action has been taken on the question of air mail service between the various islands of the Hawaiian group, but there is a strong possibility of mail being carried by the planes stationed here if these planes make inter-island flights according to the Star-Bulletin. Before Major Clark's ill-fated flight to Hawaii Postmaster MacAdam wrote to the department at Washington and received authority to permit the sending of mail by airplane at regular postage rates. Unfortunately this reply was received after the flight, but should another similar trip be made it is possible that mail may be carried.

Whether a regular route between Honolulu and Hilo will be established is as yet undetermined but it is quite possible that with the establishment of a large aero base here such a route may become a regular thing.

Through slipping on the wet road, yesterday, Harry Gesner fell and seriously cut his right forearm on the fender of his automobile. Half a dozen stitches were required to close the wound.

Maui And Molokai Damaged By Storm

Roofs Off, Wires Broken, Trees Uprooted On Lahaina Side—New Kahului Breakwater Damaged—Olowalu Company Has Heavy Loss

The gale which has been raging since Tuesday afternoon has done considerable damage on Maui, as well as on Honolulu and presumably on the other islands. Nothing however, has been yet heard from Hawaii or Kauai, due probably to the immobilization of communication facilities.

On this island the Lahaina district suffered the most from the storm. Trees were uprooted by hundreds in the town of Lahaina and in the country on both sides many roofs were blown off, and buildings of less substantial type blown down. The smoke stack on the Olowalu mill was blown down, and a considerable part of the roof and side wall sheering was carried out to sea. Part of the roof of the Lahaina wharf shed was blown off.

The Lahaina electric lighting system was put out of commission by falling trees and tangled wiring. The telephone lines between Lahaina and Wailuku have been down since Tuesday night and were not repaired until about 10 o'clock this morning. It is reported that the telephone poles and lines on practically the whole Lahaina side were swept down in one confused tangle.

Short circuited electric wires are said to have been responsible for fire which destroyed a cottage belonging to the Pioneer Mill Co., near the Lahaina hospital. Although a gale was blowing, it was possible to keep the fire from spreading to other buildings.

On this side of the island the chief damage suffered is in Kahului harbor where about 30 feet of the end of the uncompleted new breakwater was torn away. At noon today the sea is still very heavy, and Superintendent Walsh of the Kahului Railroad reports that the damage is still continuing.

Due to good luck, backed by some of the grittiest kind of work on the part of Superintendent Alex McNicoll's breakwater gang, the 100-ton crane on the breakwater was moved back to safety on Wednesday morning. It would otherwise be at the bottom of Kahului harbor now, and the work on the breakwater would have been delayed indefinitely for the reason that there is no other crane on the island available for the work or capable of lifting the big piece of machinery.

From 8 o'clock in the morning until noon, Superintendent Walsh, Superintendent McNicoll, and 12 to 14 work men worked at the end of the wave swept breakwater under unimaginable difficulties. Clinging to their lives every few seconds while waves higher than the top of the crane swept them with such force that 600 pound steel rails were torn from the ties to

Keep Your Liberty Bonds Says Chamber

In order to combat the sharks who are said to be working among the ignorant in the territory persuading them to sell their Liberty Bonds at low figure, the chamber of commerce yesterday afternoon appointed a committee consisting of J. C. Blair, J. B. Thomson, and D. C. Lindsay to inaugurate a campaign of education throughout Maui. The committee was also asked to take the matter up with commercial bodies, newspapers, and others on the other islands in order to discourage the selling of Liberty Bonds throughout the territory.

The chamber discussed the matter at considerable length yesterday, and opinion was unanimous that an effort should be made to protect the ignorant, and to encourage them to hold their bonds. The committee appointed will start advertising campaign in various languages. It will also try to get newspapers to refuse to accept advertising matter from persons seeking to buy Liberty Bonds through this means.

Wailuku Scratches Out Victory In Last Inning

The baseball game last Sunday between a Wailuku team and the Pala aggregation, was one of the most interesting from the standpoint of the spectators of any that has been played for a long time. At the end of the first half of the 9th inning the score stood 5 to 4 in favor of Pala. And then Wailuku came to bat and put two men across the plate winning the game by the score of 6 to 5.

There was some good team work in the game, and also some costly errors, these last being responsible for the last two winning runs.

Plantation Workers To Get 50% To Wage

Bonus Rate Not To Be Raised But Distributed Differently—If Present Sugar Price Continues Bonus Will Equal 90% Of Wages Next Year

Plantation laborers will receive each month of the coming bonus year their regular monthly pay with 50 percent added instead of regular wages plus one-third as was the policy of the planters this season. The bonus scale remains unchanged otherwise so that if the present price of sugar is maintained the laborer will receive about 20 percent more for the coming year than for the year that is just closed while each month his pay-envelope will contain nearly 15 percent more than it did this year. This is the recommendation made by the trustees of The Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association and which will undoubtedly be adopted by the plantations.

Smaller Plantations Oppose
The trustees resolution was not adopted without some opposition, it is reported by the Honolulu Advertiser, for the smaller and poorer plantations maintained that with the prevailing high prices of all that enters into the manufacture of sugar and with the continued high taxes that are expected to prevail there will be no margin of profit with a bonus that would, at present sugar prices, reach 90 percent of the wages for the year instead of 58 percent which was the distribution this year.

Under the policy at it prevailed this year the worker who has earned $30 in regular wages received $40 at the end of the month. Under the new arrangement the man whose regular wage would be $30 will receive $45. The balance of the bonus, the total of which cannot be known until the end of the bonus year as it depends on sugar price which may vary, will be paid as heretofore at the end of the bonus year as heretofore. If present prices shall prevail the annual payment will be 40 percent of the regular wage so that each man who received a regular wage of $30 plus 50 percent each month would be paid at the end of the bonus year $120 additional.

Planters believe this plan will meet the satisfaction of the laborers who have been seeking increase in pay and will end any agitation for higher wages or larger bonus claiming it has the effect of increasing the pay each month and the bonus to be paid at the end of the year, unless sugar prices drop, will be materially larger than it was this year.

Maui Ministers Hold Monthly Meeting

Yesterday at the Kaunamano Church in Wailuku there was a large attendance at the monthly meeting of the Central and West Maui ministers who are connected with the Hawaiian Board of Missions.

Rev. Albert S. Baker, M. D., Hawaiian Board agent from central Kona, who is a house guest of Rev. and Mrs. Rowland B. Dodge this week, was present and spoke of the work in Kona and particularly of the quarterly conference which he holds. Rev. E. E. Pleasant spoke upon the "Old Testament story of Elisha and the Heavenly Host and used it as illustrating the principle that a man must stand for the right even if he stands alone. Rev. A. C. Bowdish continued his study in the "Life of St. Paul and His Teachings." A committee of three discussed the sermon preached by Mr. Dodge. Miss Gertrude B. Judd spoke upon "Memory" and gave an interesting drill in memory work.

After the conference the people of the Kaunamano Church served luncheon in the building behind the church.

More Road Improvements In East Maui Planned

The Haiku Fruit & Packing Co., which under contract with the county has the responsibility of maintaining the roads east of Maliko gulch, has materials on hand for re-surfacing the meadum road through the Kulaha homesteads and will begin work as soon as the weather permits. A new 30-foot concrete bridge on this road has been practically completed. It is understood that the company also plans to buy the territorial bonds made available by last legislature for continuing the meadum of this road eastward on the line of the belt road.

In spite of the fact that the past year has been one of the wettest on record in east Maui, the roads in the district are in better condition generally than they have ever been. From the standpoint of the public the present plan of keeping up the roads has been highly satisfactory.

Maui Soldier Boys Will Soon Be Home

Camp Pike Training Camp Disbanded And Men Discharged—Alfred Wadsworth Writes He Will Spend Winter In Maine With Relatives

Maui boys who are serving in various branches of the army on the main land, and who were expecting to be sent to France up to the time the peace armistice was signed, may be expected to be arriving home most any time now. They will not come in a body, however, but will probably be furnished with transportation money and permitted to get back according to their own desires.

R. A. Wadsworth, of Wailuku, received a letter this week from his son Alfred, who left Honolulu about the middle of September for Camp Pike, Ark., to enter the officers' training school at that place, to effect that the training school work had already been broken up and the men given their discharges. He stated that he was about to start for Maine, his father's old home, where he expected to spend the winter with relatives.

Other Maui boys in the same camp with young Wadsworth are—James Hart, Dan Weight, William Phillips, Ralph Villiers, J. A. Bal, Sylvester W. Smythe, E. T. Gillen, and S. Haramoto.

Nothing has been heard from the officers and men in other parts of the mainland, but it is presumed that they also have, or soon will have their discharges and be coming home.

Kiddies Ask Santa Not To Bring Toys

Kahului Sunday School Votes To Give Cost Of Christmas Presents To Fund To Help Sufferers In Armenia And Syria—Send Letter

The Kahului Union Sunday School voted on last Sunday to send the following letter to Santa Claus:

Kahului, Maui, Dec. 1, 1918

Dear Santa: We, the pupils of Kahului Union Sunday School, wish to ask you not to bring us toys this year. We have learned about the need for food of the children in the Bible lands where Jesus was born, in Armenia and Syria. We are going to take an offering for them at our Christmas entertainment. We wish to give our toys too-or the cost of them. We think if you bring us candies and fruit that will be enough. So we have decided to ask you not to buy toys for us but to put the money in our offering for the children who need food so badly, which we know you will be glad to do.

We are glad that the time of your annual visit is so near and we will be more glad than ever to see you this year.

With aloha from your many friends,
The pupils of Kahului Union S. S.

Tore Down Fence Thrice But Court Discharges Him

In the case of the Territory vs. Joe Nunes, charged by Manuel Dutro with malicious injury in tearing down a fence at Kalua, Wailuku, Judge Burr on Monday held that the destroying of the fence had been done in the assertion of a supposed legal right, and as such the defendant could not be held. He was accordingly discharged and two other counts against him for like offenses dismissed, having destroyed the fence three times.

The fence in question was erected on a piece of land the title of which is disputed. It may require a civil suit to determine the ownership of the property.

Coroner's Jury Report Cause Of Death Unknown

A coroner's inquest was held last Saturday over the remains of Miyashiro Yekichi, the Japanese who disappeared from Camp 7, Kihel last June and whose skeleton was found in a gulch two weeks ago. The identity of the body was established by clothing which was still intact and by the gold fillings in the teeth. The jury returned a verdict of death from unknown causes.

The case was handled by Geo. H. Cummings, acting as coroner, and the jury was composed of—George Edwards, D. T. Carey, Manuel Dutro, L. D. Kaunohiwa, Joe Dorego, and Manuel Faustino.

NAVAL VESSEL NEARLY FOUNDERS IN BIG STORM
HONOLULU, December 5—A naval collier which sailed from this port for Vladivostok on Tuesday afternoon, returned to port late Wednesday afternoon with 10 feet of water in her hold, and her pumps racing at top speed to keep her afloat. The vessel ran into a terrific gale shortly after leaving islands and after bucking 30-foot waves, which badly damaged her upper works and sprung her seams, she was finally put about. The ship carried 200 passengers and very narrowly escaped sharing the fate of her sister ship Cyclops which disappeared in the Atlantic off South America last summer without leaving a trace.

STORM DAMAGE BEING REPAIRED
HONOLULU, December 5—The damage from the storm will run between quarter and half a million dollars. General Heard ordered out 500 soldiers yesterday to help clear up the wreckage about the city. The street car service is being resumed rapidly. Some districts are still without lights. No wireless messages have been received from Maui since yesterday afternoon, and no wireless was received from the coast today.

(The fact that the Lahaina station is damaged so that messages cannot be sent, although they can be received, accounts for Oahu's not hearing from Maui.—Ed.)

Maui Prominent In Army Post Society

Officers And Wives With Maui Guard Companies At Schofield Barracks Put In Busy Week Entertaining And Being Entertained

The following items from Honolulu papers tell of social events participated in by Maui's representatives in "officers' row" at Schofield Barracks last week.

Capt. and Mrs. William S. Chillingworth were hosts for an elaborate dinner party given on Friday evening before the masque ball of the 1st Hawaiian Infantry. The spacious rooms of the quarters were attractively arranged with native flowers and house palms. A large centerpiece of cut flowers ornamented the dining table around which were seated: Miss Margaret Hind of Honolulu, Miss Norma Ward, Miss Colorinda Lowe of Honolulu, Miss Irma Wodehouse, Lieut. Herbert Shipman, Lieut. Morgan, Lieut. George Willfong and the host and hostess.

After dinner the party motored to the upper post to attend the hop which was already in progress at the 1st Hawaiian Infantry pavilion.

On Friday afternoon, Mrs. William Hardy Hill was hostess for a charming afternoon bridge at her quarters in the 2nd Hawaiian Infantry cantonment. Three tables were arranged for the guests at which played: Mrs. Robert M. Lindsay, Mrs. Samuel P. Woods, Mrs. Eugene Ayres, Mrs. Carter, Mrs. James T. M. Pearson, Harry Hamilton Morehead, Mrs. William S. Chillingworth, Mrs. Clarence Mrs. Henry Lawrence White, Mrs. William Bibee, Mrs. James M. Johnson, Jr., Mrs. William Paty, Mrs. Frederick A. Gluud, Mrs. William Engle. The first prize, a lovely box of stationery and correspondence cards, was won by Mrs. William S. Chillingworth, with an unusually high bridge score.

At the conclusion of the playing delicious refreshments were enjoyed by the guests.

Mrs. Fletcher G. Sandborn spent Saturday and Sunday of last week at her home in the 2nd Hawaiian Infantry circle.

Col. and Mrs. Harry Hamilton Morehead, Lieut. and Mrs. George S. Raymond, Mr. and Mrs. Podmore of Honolulu, Mr. Matsen and Mrs. Peterson of Honolulu were the guests for afternoon tea on Saturday of Mrs. Frederick A. Gluud.

The 2nd Hawaiian Infantry Red Cross Circle held their weekly meeting on Tuesday morning at the work rooms in the 2nd Hawaiian Infantry cantonment. The ladies spent the morning making hospital shirts and starting new knitted garments. Those who assisted this week were: Mrs. Robert M. Lindsay, Mrs. Harry Hamilton Morehead, Mrs. William Chillingworth, Mrs. Philip N. Sing, Mrs. Sydney A. Smith, Mrs. William Paty, Mrs. George Y. Bennett, Mrs. Kanaholo, Mrs. William Bibee, Mrs. William K. Peters and Mrs. Christopher Cockett.

Mrs. William S. Chillingworth entertained with one table of bridge on Monday afternoon at her pleasant quarters in the 2nd Hawaiian Infantry cantonment. Those playing were Mrs. Robert M. Lindsay, Mrs. William Engle, Mrs. Clarence Carter and Mrs. Chillingworth. After many interesting rubbers the hostess poured tea for her guests.

Mrs. William Bibee was hostess for one table of bridge on Tuesday afternoon at her quarters in the 2nd Hawaiian Infantry circle. Those playing were Mrs. William Engle, Mrs. Caum, Mrs. William S. Chillingworth and Mrs. Bibee. At 4 o'clock light refreshments were served by the charming hostess.

On Saturday evening Lieut. and Mrs. William Carter were the dinner guests of Lieut. and Mrs. William Engle at their quarters in the 2nd Hawaiian Infantry cantonment. After a delicious dinner cards formed a pleasant diversion for the remaining hours of the evening.

Col. and Mrs. Harry Hamilton Morehead were host and hostess for an elaborate Thanksgiving dinner at their quarters in the 2nd Hawaiian Infantry circle. A large basket of pink and white sweet peas intermingled with maidenhair fern graced the dining table around which places were arranged for Lieut. and Mrs. George S. Raymond, Mrs. Caum, Lieut. Norman Caum and Col. and Mrs. Morehead. After dinner the party attended the football game.

Lieutenant and Mrs. William Engle had as their house guest for a few days last week Mrs. Helen Armstrong of Honolulu.

Doctor Misner was the informal supper guest on Sunday evening of Captain and Mrs. Carlyle N. Haines at their quarters in the new Field Artillery cantonment.

Lieutenant and Mrs. George S. Raymond were hosts on Sunday for a most enjoyable dinner given at the Second Hawaiian Infantry officers club house at Castner. Those who enjoyed this pleasant party as the guests of Lieutenant and Mrs. Raymond were: Captain and Mrs. Frederick A. Gluud, and Miss Grete Gluud.

Mrs. Robert M. Lindsay entertained on Tuesday afternoon with one table of bridge at her quarters in the Second Hawaiian Infantry cantonment. Those playing were: Mrs. William S. Chillingworth, Mrs. Clarence Carter, Mrs. William Engle and Mrs. Lindsay. After several interesting rubbers were played the guests enjoyed simple light refreshments.

Lieutenant George Raymond is ill at his quarters in the Third Engineer cantonment with a slight attack of influenza.

THE RED CROSS SHOP

(By the Red Cross Shop's Professional Press Agent.)

The Red Cross Shop is planning a gigantic sale for Saturday, December 14th, when the Shop will open at 8:30 a. m. and continue open throughout the day and evening, to give all an opportunity to share in the bargains.

Results for the actual three full working days of the Shop have been so good that it is hoped and believed that the coming sale, planned on a large scale, will show unusual returns. It might be mentioned here that all money collected is turned in to the local Red Cross Chapter on Maui, and not sent to Honolulu or elsewhere.

The coming sale, like all others, is of course dependent on the generous Maui public for donations. No fear is felt in this connection but that there will be plenty and to spare, especially at this season.

Although the shop will open for business at 8:30 a. m., the special feature of this sale, consisting of eatables, will take place at 11 o'clock. This is not arranged for the benefit of any one class of people; rather, for all who appreciate culinary triumphs.

Regard it in the light of a high-class city delicatessen, with luscious cakes, pies, roasted meats, fresh home-made bread, salads, baked beans, cookies, candies, jellies and jams, fruits, vegetables, etc. Come all of you epicures and buy your lunch and dinner of edibles prepared by the best cooks of Maui, and lay in a stock of jellies and jams, honey, cookies, etc., for future consumption. The prices will be surprisingly low, the quality of the very best, and as to toothsome, they will be second to none. Do not forget this food sale at 11 o'clock, Saturday, December 14th. It is hoped to offer the public at this time, laulau pig with sweet potatoes, and a baked ham. But we haven't the pig and we haven't the ham! Those of the Shop cannot remember what a ham looks like. Who will give us a pig, and a ham likewise? Sweet potatoes will be very welcome too.

In the dishes first enumerated above containing sugar, there is the opportunity for real self-denying generosity on the part of the donors. They may forego their share of sugar to prepare these things, which will be a real Christmas gift. Remember that the sugar allotment per person is now four pounds per person. If anyone will donate live fowls, there will be volunteers to cook them for the sale. All donations not perishable should be in the Shop Friday, and the perishable goods can be sent in before 9 o'clock Saturday morning. Of course, if we are fortunate in receiving a pig and a ham, we should have them Wednesday in order to prepare them for the sale. Now don't forget to help make this delicatessen or "good eats" sale a huge success. Let us work together with the spirit of the coming Christmas-tide in our hearts, remembering that it is for our beloved Red Cross. We are apt to think of the Red Cross as the great nurse-mother, tenderly caring for her wounded sons and starving little ones. For this work she might better be represented as the housewife mother, practical and thrifty, busy in the great national attic cleaning that she may utilize every bit of material and gain every cent of ready cash to provide for her children. This department may be less romantic than other branches of the Red Cross work, but it is undeniably fundamental, important and exceedingly useful and prolific in results.

For the Christmas trade the Shop needs toys, clothing, crockery, and anything else you have to spare. There is a violin for sale in the Shop. Does anyone want to make a Christmas gift of a violin to a musical friend? Then come in and see this one before it goes.

U.S.S. Monterey Crews Says Maui No Ka Oi

Mr. William Walsh, Vice-President, Maui Chamber of Commerce.

Dear Sir:

On behalf of the officers and crew of the Monterey, I thank the people of Maui for the enthusiastic welcome we have received in this port, and for the complete and happy entertainment afforded us. These days will be long remembered by all. If would please us to have this letter published in your daily news sheet, in order that all on Maui may know of our appreciation. Maui no ka oi.

Most sincerely
(Sgd.) A. A. GERCELON,
Commanding U.S.S. Monterey.

TERRIFIC STORM TIES UP BUSINESS ON OAHU

(Received by mail from Lahaina at noon today.)

HONOLULU, December 3—A terrific northeast gale which has continued all today, increasing in violence towards nightfall, has done much damage throughout the city. The storm probably reached its greatest violence about 6:30 o'clock when a wind velocity of nearly 70 miles per hour was recorded.

Algaroba and other trees are down by hundreds all over the island, and telephone communication and light power systems are prostrated. All street cars stopped running about 5 o'clock when power was turned off to guard against loss of life from tangled wires.

Many districts in the city are without light tonight.

At Pearl Harbor the big aerials of the wireless station are down and wireless communication with the coast is thus cut off.

Many trees in Kuhio Place, Waikiki, as well as the big flag pole there, were blown down.

Thousands of persons walked home last evening or stayed in downtown hotels on account of the stopping of street car service.

Property damage has not been estimated, but must be very heavy. The job of clearing away the hundreds of trees in the streets all over town, and of restoring broken wires will probably require several days.

F. W. Peacock Hears Brother Is Prisoner

Was Wounded And Carried Off Field By Huns—Had Been With Australians 3 1/2 Years—Other Brother One Of 9 Survivors

F. W. Peacock, of Faunene has just received word from his family in England announcing the distressing news that one of his two brothers in the British army was wounded and captured by the Germans on October 5. This was Lt. John Peacock, who went into the service 3 1/2 years ago with the Australians and has been in service continuously ever since.

He served first in Egypt and then on the Gallipoli peninsula. He had been home on a furlough and had rejoined his battalion but two days when his misfortune occurred. While leading a charge he was seen to fall, and although an effort was made to rescue him the machine gun fire of the Huns prevented. Later he was seen to be picked up by Germans and carried away on a stretcher. He waved his hand as he was going, so hope is felt that his injury is not serious and that he may be home again by this time.

Lt. Peacock had been wounded several times and had been decorated for bravery. His brother Arch. is also a lieutenant, but with the Canadian forces. He was a member of the famous "Princess Pat's" and was one of the 9 survivors of his company after the terrific engagement early in the war in which the Canadians were all but wiped out. This brother was wounded three times and has been decorated twice.

Both young soldiers rose from the ranks and have probably had as steady and long continued fighting as any men who took part in the war. Mr. Peacock's last information was written on October 24. He hopes daily to receive further information.

Bad Vegetable Pest Discovered On Maui

The California morning-glory, a bind-weed which has probably come to the Islands in shipments of hay or grass seeds, threatens to become a serious pest on Maui, according to advices received recently by James Lindsay, of Haiku territorial forester for Maui, from C. S. Judd, chief forester in Honolulu.

The menace was first discovered near Paia by Manager H. A. Baldwin, of the Maui Agricultural Co., who took prompt steps to eradicate it and it may be that he has succeeded as Mr. Lindsay has been unable to locate any specimens.

The plant, which was a well-known pest in England more than a century ago, is a twining vine which seems to thrive by being cut down, and it also grows from roots left in the ground. It chokes other plants on which it climbs for support. The only sure way to destroy it is to dig it up and burn it.

Mrs. Jane Mist Passes Away After Long Illness

Mrs. Jane Mist, a kamaaina resident of the Islands, and a sister of Alexander McKibbin and Mrs. S. H. Dowsett, of Makawao, died at her home in Honolulu last Saturday, afternoon, November 30, after an illness of several years. She was a native of Ireland, and was in her 79th year at the time of her death.

Mrs. Mist, was the daughter of the late Robt. McKibbin and came to the Islands from Belfast, Ireland with her family when she was 15 years of age. She married the late Capt. Henry Wentworth Mist, a British naval officer in 1863, and spent a number of years following her marriage in England, Canada, and other places where her husband was assigned for duty. They returned to the Islands in 1872. A number of children survive her. The funeral, which was largely attended, took place last Sunday from St. Andrews Cathedral.

Supreme Court Will Consider Maui Cases

Big Bunch Of Legal Business To Be Taken Up By Higher Tribunal Next Week In Honolulu — Maui Lawyers Will All Go

Maui will probably be bereft of legal talent next week owing to the fact that practically all the lawyers of the county are to be in Honolulu most of the week in connection with various cases coming up in the territorial supreme court.

Next week will be "Maui week" in the higher court, and some 10 cases from Maui which have been pending for several months or longer have been set for December 10 and succeeding dates. The following is Maui's part of the calendar for this month's business:

In the matter of the petition of Mary Ah Sam for support of her bastard child, motion by the Territory to dismiss bill of exceptions.

Territory of Hawaii vs. Alfred Fernandez, exceptions from circuit court, second circuit.

County of Maui vs. Mary de Rego, et al., error to circuit court, second circuit.

Territory of Hawaii vs. Sam Pupuhu exceptions from circuit court, second circuit.

In the matter of the petition of Mary Ah Sam for support of her bastard child. James Akina, plaintiff in error, error to circuit court, second circuit.

K. Akatsuka vs. W. A. McKay, error to circuit court, first circuit.

Catherine Machado vs. T. Mitamura, exceptions from circuit court, first circuit.

Peter Hollona, et al., vs. Kamai (w) also known and called Kamai Kila, et al., exceptions from circuit court, second circuit.

Keao Kahumuhumu Kamahalo vs. William J. Coelho, et al., appeal from circuit judge, first circuit.

C. D. Lufkin, trustee vs. Grand Hotel Company, Ltd., appeal from circuit judge, second circuit.

Territory of Hawaii vs. Alfred Alohi-kea, exceptions from circuit court, second circuit.

ISAAC COCKETT

Isaac Cockett of Kamehameha IV Road, Kailhi, died in Leahi Home Kaimuki, last Friday, Nov. 29, following an attack of apoplexy. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon, interment being in the Kailhiwaena Catholic Cemetery. Mr. Cockett, who was formerly in the liquor business in this city, was married, a native of Maui and 45 years old.

WILSON TELLS PLANS AND HOPES OF FUTURE

WASHINGTON, December 2—The President read his message before the joint session of congress today. It was an eloquent tribute for the fighters who won the war, and also for the industrial leaders who gave the nation splendid services and for the laborers whose work at home made victory possible.

The President expects a final peace treaty will be signed next spring. He urged the adoption of Secretary Lane's plans to provide work at home for returning soldiers through great reclamation projects; also the development of public works projects.

He admits that the future of the railroads is a great problem, and he has no solution to offer. He asks congress to help in framing legislation on the matter.

He urges a square deal for business when taxes are imposed, that as early as possible business concerns be informed what share of the taxation burden they must bear so that they can figure on reconstruction problems. The government's expenses will continue heavy during demobilization. He recommended heavy taxation of war profits, and urged America to help northern France and Belgium through priority shipments and otherwise in the restoration of their shattered industrial structure which makes them face immediate keen competition in the world's markets, and are thus heavily handicapped.

The President stated that he feels he must go to the peace conference because all belligerents have accepted the American principles and the ideals which he announced, and they reasonably desire his presence to assist in their interpretation and application. He feels that to carry out ideals for which Americans fought and died is his first duty, and he appreciates the heavy responsibility and earnestly asks and hopes for the united support of congress in the delicate task. "I am the servant of the nation," he said.

He promised to keep this country and congress fully in touch with progress so as full co-operation may be possible, through cable and wireless communication. Absolutely no censorship will be placed on peace discussion.

Mr. Wilson praised women's splendid war work and said congress should reward them by granting them equal political right of suffrage. He expects an immediate revival of a great industrial development.

He has no definite program for internal reconstruction, but counts on the native intelligence of the people and industrial leaders bringing about readjustment satisfactorily much faster than legislation could do.

He takes it for granted that congress will continue its naval program undertaken before we entered the war.

TWELVE MILLION TO BE SPENT AT SCHOFIELD

HONOLULU, December 3—The Star-Bulletin has a story from military sources to effect that the United States is to spend $12,000,000 in making Schofield Barracks one of the biggest forts in the world, housing over 20,000 troops.

HONOLULU, December 2—Federal Judge Vaughan believes that native born Japanese serving in the army can obtain American citizenship on same terms as other alien soldiers. A nationalization examiner is coming from San Francisco within 30 days. There are between 400 and 500 alien soldiers here entitled to apply for naturalization.

POLICEMAN SENTENCED TO 2 YEARS HARD LABOR

HONOLULU, December 1—Henry Eli former policeman who shot and wounded William Thomas in a crap game quarrel, was sentenced to not less than 2 years at hard labor by Judge Heen. Attorney Rawlins said the only defense was that the policeman was drunk. Heen said this was no excuse.

That Remarkable Remedy

B. B. C.

Endorsed by many leading physicians and people in public life.

B. B. C. is a marvelous reconstructive tonic. It infuses the system with the iron force of health and vitality of youth, building up the body stronger than sickness and disease, and that is all there is to it. If the body is strong and normal and the organs of it well regulated and performing their functions, there is no sickness. B. B. C. does that very thing—builds up your body and makes it stronger than the ailments that assail it and they are beaten and utterly routed, and health is the result. That's why rheumatism, blood impurities, sick headaches, nervous depressions, sleepless nights, anemic and run-down condition, billiousness, torpid liver, constipation, kidney and bladder ailments give way to an extended course of B. B. C. even in cases of long standing and the body vibrates with health. The extraordinary merit of B. B. C. is proved by the many prominent local people who have testified to that effect. B. B. C. is a bottled liquid, therefore far superior to tablet remedies which lose their strength and are often soiled in handling.

B. B. C. is sold by all druggists, plantation stores and dealers. $1.25 per bottle; 6 for $7. We pay shipping charges on all $7.00 cash orders. B. B. C. Headquarters, 161 King St., below Fish Market.

TUBERCULOSIS—A COMMUNITY CRIME

Lorrin A. Thurston, of Honolulu, in an address before the Honolulu Ad Club recently, on the subject of the tuberculosis plague in Hawaii, said:

"The present picayune policy of caring for a few cases, apparently as a sop to humanitarian sentiment, must be abandoned in favor of comprehensive treatment of the subject as a whole.

"If tuberculosis had been attacked, man fashion, as plague, cholera and yellow fever, if not entirely eradicated, it would have been reduced to a negligible quantity.

"The present slipshod method of treatment is mere trifling. Unless systematic and comprehensive measures to meet the situation are promptly adopted and persistently carried on, we will drift along until we wake up some fine morning to a realization of the fact that we have become one of the tuberculosis plague spots of the world."

Mr. Thurston referred more particularly to the spread of tuberculosis in Honolulu, but his statements apply in large part equally to Maui.

When you stop a moment to consider that dozens of cases of the disease are known on Maui, that there are certainly many other cases not located or diagnosed because of lack of necessary machinery, and remember that every one of these cases is a focus of contagion for healthy folk about them, doesn't it seem plain, downright criminal negligence on the part of the community that it will stand for such a situation?

The Kula Sanitarium has some 97 patients at the present time and is crowded to the doors. There were recently 72 other cases on the waiting list, and the Lord only knows how many others not on any list at all. If these were cases of leprosy, bubonic plague, cholera, or small-pox the whole island would be in an uproar. And yet all of these diseases put together are the less destructive.

If we are in ignorance of all this there would be some excuse; but the crime comes—a community crime, if you please, in which you and I and every other person with a vote or a voice shares—in that we know of these facts and know how to deal with them, and yet refuse to dig up the money necessary to effectively do it.

Tuberculosis could be stamped out of the Hawaiian Islands, and the money it would take to do it would be as a drop in a bucket to the costly policy which we are at present following.

The legislature meets in February. The chamber of commerce legislative committee is supposed to be in session now. The remedy is in our hands. What are we going to do about it?

CHECKING UP ON WASTE

The question has come up: How large should your Thrift coin be? For one week make a list of every single expenditure. Be honest with yourself. Put down the little as well as the big, the foolish as well as the wise, and be your own judge and jury. Submit the expense account to the audit of your own conscience. Check every item against these two questions: Could I have gone without? If I had would it have impaired my health or efficiency? Put the acknowledged waste in one column, the necessary expenditure in another. The sum of the first column divided by seven, will give you your daily Thrift coin. Honor it, and if it be a dollar or a penny, keep up that expense account.

Thirty men of moderate income recently made this experiment. The weekly total of acknowledged waste averaged $1.31 per man. This is at the rate of over $7,000,000.00 per year for the Nation.

An analysis of articles listed as acknowledged waste showed that more than two-thirds of them were purchased for the gratification of the appetites. If the men over there had pleased themselves and gratified their own desires instead of disciplining themselves, the agony and the menace of brutalized warfare would still hang as a cloud over our heads. However, they answered the call, and put all personal wants or emulations aside, and faced the music. Take the above into consideration and lend your money in the form of War Savings Stamps. The deficit is there. It is better to buy stamps than pay taxes.

WE MUST STILL SAVE FOOD

The signing of an armistice, even an agreement upon terms of lasting peace will not increase one ounce to the sadly depleted food supply. The release of millions of men from the ranks of the army cannot produce one more grain of wheat until the next harvest. Not a single meat animal will be grown in time to prevent disaster. If the American people are unwilling to make peace time sacrifices as great as have been made by them during the period of the war we may dissipate the blessings of peace before they have been fully realized. The ultimate salvation of the situation rests with America, and we must understand and be prepared to do our full duty in the gigantic task of feeding the world, until such time as it can feed itself.

WIRELESS SERVICE UNDER NAVAL CONTROL

The Honolulu Advertiser is leading an attack upon the government management of wireless and cable service. More strength to it. Perhaps the postoffice department could make a success of the job, if the government decides to remain in control, but the navy is constitutionally unfitted for dealing with the public. The condescending attitude of indifference to private business interests would have been intolerable under any other than war conditions. It is but fair to say that the men in charge of the Maui station at present have done their best under the restrictions under which they work, and have made many personal friends since they have been here. But the fact remains that all Maui would much prefer to see them working for the company that handled the service prior to the war than in their present capacity.

Austrians are reported to be anxious for the United States to annex their country. This may be complimentary to us but is certainly a damning commentary on the central European governments of the past. The sun is rapidly setting on the day in world history when any people will think of looking for somebody to rule them.

If the grown folk on Maui had anything like the "pep" of the school children Maui would have gone over the top in the War Stamp campaign months ago, instead of struggling for the top as she is doing now. Here's to the kids!

Maui took the lead in launching a determined War Savings Stamp drive on the first of the month, and Honolulu is now following suit. We predict that Maui will also take the lead in going over the top.

TEACHERS AND SALARIES

The teachers of Hawaii plan to ask the legislature for more pay. They should have it. In fact the schedule of salaries should be raised to a point where the Islands could command the highest grade of teachers in the profession.

The constantly heard complaint that Hawaii does not pay her teachers as well as mainland communities probably will not bear close examination. All things considered, teachers in this territory taken collectively, are probably higher paid than in most states. But that doesn't signify—teachers as a rule everywhere get much less than the importance of their work demands.

Hawaii should pay sufficient wages to command the best there is in the profession. As it is at present there are many who would fall far below such classification. Too many women are in charge of school rooms who have but a passing interest in their work; who look forward to getting married as an escape from what they consider necessary drudgery. Some of them may be otherwise qualified, but this attitude alone should be disqualifying.

Perhaps someday women and men will take up teaching as a life work, the same as any other of the learned professions, and not merely as a stepping stone to something else. But before that day comes the world will have to move forward a bit. For instance it will have to get a long ways away from the time when a school board would dream of discriminating against married women as teachers.

The Choice of Those Who Know

Manufacturers and leading motor car distributors recommend ZEROLENE. The majority of motorists use ZEROLENE. ZEROLENE reduces wear and gives more power because it keeps its lubricating body at cylinder heat. Gives less carbon because, being refined from selected California asphalt-base crude, it burns clean and goes out with exhaust.

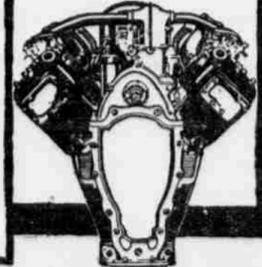

ZEROLENE is the correct oil for all types of automobile engines. It is the correct oil for your automobile. Get our lubrication chart showing the correct consistency for your car.

ZEROLENE
The Standard Oil for Motor Cars

Correct Lubrication for the "V"-Type Engine
This, the "V"-Type of automobile engine, like all internal combustion engines, requires an oil that holds its lubricating qualities at cylinder heat, burns clean in the combustion chambers and goes out with exhaust. Zerolene fills these requirements perfectly, because it is correctly refined from selected California asphalt-base crude.

Big War Stamp Drive Making Good On Maui

reached its quota of $3500, nor of Puunene, which in the first two or three days raised over $11,000 of its quota of $24,000.

W. F. Pogue, who has charge of the Huelo district, took 600 war savings stamps out with him on Monday, and the following day disposed of 518 of them, equivalent to $3590, face value among the 220 workers of the East Maui Irrigation Company. This district, by the way has consistently been one of the biggest buyers of war stamps on Maui for its size, absorbing regularly from $1000 to $1500 worth. Besides this the district was one of the best purchasers of Liberty Bonds on Maui.

The Hana district, which also has an allotment of but $3500, is causing the committee some worry. Owing to the distance and difficulty of getting there it is hard to get special workers on the ground, and reports from there indicate that there is a general lack of enthusiasm in the district. It does not seem to be realized there, as it is now realized in most other sections, that the buying of War Savings Stamps is not a gift of money to some charity but a gift edged investment that makes money for the investor—the same kind of investment, on a small scale, that banks and trust companies in normal times are only too glad to gobble up for their own benefit.

At a meeting of the skilled employees of the Hawaiian Commercial & Sugar Company, last Friday evening, practically every one agreed to take a good share of their bonus money in war stamps.

"Victory Kids" Make Good

Carl Rose's Victory Kids made a big hit in Wailuku last Saturday evening when they attracted a big crowd on Market street through their singing. A number of short speeches were made by speakers on the committee. Later the kids were taken to the Wailuku Orphan where they aroused much enthusiasm with their singing.

The bad weather this week has prevented the carrying out of the program to take the kids to Kahului, Puunene, Paia, and other points. The committee is unwilling that the children should take any chances of being made ill.

Most of the kids are from St. Anthony's school, though a few are from the Wailuku public school. For some reason the public school children have not come to the fore as the committee had hoped for. It is planned to take the bunch, together with speakers, to Lahaina some night next week to stir things up on West Maui. Needless to say the youngsters are crazy for the trip.

The transportation problem was solved by the donation of the light truck and trailer of the Hawaiian Commercial & Sugar Co., which was placed at the service of the committee by Manager Frank Baldwin. The vehicle was used by the Maui band in the Victory Parade. It can easily accommodate 30 or 40 children.

THE STORY OF A STRANGER IN OUR MIDST

(Contributed.)

The scene is laid in a mountain resort, far from civilization, yet within easy access by means of motor transportation. There is a long trail winding to this resort. Twenty human beings representing almost as many races were transported reaching this haven of Cooler Rest at dusk. The janitor was very busy removing an unwelcome visitor that had made its entrance during the very recent Kona storm. The manager made an attempt at lighting up, but without much success and took upon himself the burden of an occasional visit to the gas plant, because as long as the gas did not explode, it was necessary to throw light on the subject of the entertainment. The country being in a state of prohibition, John Barleycorn Medeiros provided soda water galore. Pascolito represented the people in the solemn occasion, politics having been adjourned. Pat Morlarity, the King's jester, alternated with the musicians. All of these human mortals, situated as they were far from humanity and civilization, clamored for food. The prophet Moses appeared on the horizon, and lo and behold, the words fell from his lips: "Thou art hungry, therefore thou shalt be fed." With cool breezes floating in the air, with tuneful melody from ordinary music boxes, with an air of restful quiet, a small group gathered about the green table for a very friendly game of peckenock, when lo and behold, an officer of the law, wearing a real badge, showing his authority, pounced down from the clouds, thru the ceiling, and landed on the Brink of the little party, gathered in the angelic party, and was on the point of leading them to a social hostelry close by, when the good Samaritan appeared on the scene and relieved the agony of those present by announcing that the so-called officer was not a real man, but a messenger sent from the heavens above to give the word that when being pinched they are to be taken to the Brink of (well, never mind) but that if released they would be taken above where peckenock games are plentiful, and where the races of the world meet on common ground.

The peace conference at this little resort lasted until the break of day, when the caravan began wending its trail back to civilization, where Distill coffee was served. On Sunday extreme quiet prevailed in all of the households to which they had gone, many looking for real solid comfort spots.

Pahoa Postmaster Embezzler?

W. J. Hall, for the past year postmaster at Pahoa, Hawaii, was arrested last Monday morning at Hilo on a U. S. commissioner's warrant charging him with the embezzlement of $1730 in money orders and war savings stamp funds.

Hall resigned his position a little over a week ago. A check revealed that his accounts were short approximately $1650 in money order funds and about $100 more was missing from the war savings stamp fund.

Gives $5000 in War Stamps

Allan Herbert of Honolulu celebrated the approach of his 90th birthday by opening the War Savings Stamps campaign today with a subscription of $5000 as an endowment fund for the Kapiolani maternity home, a thousand dollars' worth of the stamps being now held in the name of each of the trustees of the home.

Japanese Killed By Huge Shark

Tadaichi Miyamura, a young Japanese laborer at Papaikou plantation Hawaii, met a tragic death on Tuesday of last week when he went to fishing. While he was on a rock a huge wave came suddenly and the Japanese was carried away before those who were nearby at the time could rescue him. He cried from the water for help.

At this time a big shark appeared on the surface and tried to bite the Japanese. The Japanese fought desperately for a short while with the man eater but soon was carried down. Several Japanese sampans from Hilo were sent to the spot to search for his body but no trace has been found.

Lava Lake Falls Is Expected Up in February

A gigantic subsidence of the Halemauau pit of Kilauea volcano is reported from the Kilauea Observatory. The great cylinder of stiff lava, surmounted by rocky hills, yawning chasms and lava lakes, has sunk bodily 200 feet while the liquid lava in its midst has relatively risen and overflowed its banks. A spectacular rise is now predicted to occur in February, 1919.

Didn't Jump Into Kilauea Crater

Tokichi Tomiyama, who startled Hilo a few weeks ago by sending letters to friends saying he was about to end his life in Kilauea crater, has turned up in Hilo again, this time in charge of police officers. He was found in Waihoahu, Kau, Hawaii, where he had secreted himself. His pretense of suicide was merely to evade paying his debts, the police say.

He was captured at Mountain House the waterhead station for the Hutchinson plantation flume, about 3500 feet above sea level. He is being held at the Hilo police station for investigation.

Shipping Kuikui Nuts To Coast

A shipment of 75 bags of kuikui nuts has just been made by the Territorial Marketing Division to a San Francisco firm, which it is said plans to make a salad oil from them. The Japanese who gathered them were paid 1 cent a pound, or $20 per ton. It is hoped that there will be developed a profitable business in the nuts.

Oahu Declares Extra Dividend

The Oahu Sugar Company directors have announced an extra 3 percent dividend in addition to the regular 1 percent. It will be paid with the December payment.

The business of Gonsalves & Co., Ltd., has been taken over by Fred L. Waldron & Co. Ltd. This action followed the recent death of M. A. Gonsalves, the founder of the company and chief owner.

The Chinese of Honolulu are planning for a gigantic "Victory" parade on the night of December 14. It is said that it will eclipse anything ever before undertaken by Chinese in Hawaii.

Kauai, Man Loses Life In Allied Cause

Donald Campbell, an officer of the British Navy, who was born at Waima, Kauai, the son of Dr. Dougal Campbell, and a cousin of H. M. von Holt, of Honolulu, was drowned in the channel off the English coast, his body being washed ashore on the Belgian coast recently.

He was with a destroyer squadron, when one of the boats met with an accident. Another vessel was detached to act as convoy, but no news of a disaster was known until Donald Campbell's body was found.

No More Ships For Some Time

George McK. McClellan, the Honolulu chamber of commerce's representative in Washington, has advised the home office that it is not likely there will be much improvement in passenger transportation in the Pacific for some time. With the demands on tonnage greater than before the war ended he says, the government insists on putting every available ship into the service. After the soldiers in France are brought home, the Pacific may be able to get some ships.

Bishop's Bank To Incorporate

After 50 years of most successful operation as simply The Bishop Bank, as it is known throughout the islands and on the Coast, this well-known financial institution will become incorporated by January 1, 1919, as "The Bishop Company Limited," with a capital of $1,000,000 based on actual assets, and a surplus of $250,000.

The copartnership, as it is now, is practically owned by S. M. Damon, who is represented by A. W. T. Bottomley and E. Faxon Bishop. Stock in the new company will be issued at $125 a share. The Bishop Savings Bank will be within the control of the new company, the incorporation papers for which are now being prepared.

According to the minutes of the promotion committee, which for some reason were slow in coming to light, Duke Kahanamoku was helped by friends to reach San Francisco from Washington where he had left stranded by the desertion of his manager, Owen Merrick. At San Francisco Chairman Emil Berndt, of the promotion committee found the Hawaiian swimmer sick and penniless and advanced him $160 with which he was enabled to reach home.

Duke, on his arrival, had previously denied to the newspapers stories to the effect that he had been deserted in the East by Merrick.

Opening Coffee Lands In Kona

The Bishop Estate is going ahead with the development of its extensive lands in Hawaii, in the Kona district, where it is opening up a tract of small coffee farms of from six to ten acres and spending thousands of dollars on improvements in the way of roads and assistance for the tenants, most of whom are Koreans.

The tract which is being opened up consists of about 250 acres, or a little more, through which has been built about two and a half miles of main road, known as the Keauhou Road, from the name of the district, and about an additional mile of trails through some of the rougher country.

Prosecuting Delinquent Employers

Interest in business circles in Honolulu has been largely centered this week on the action by the Industrial Accident Board of Oahu in filing with the county attorney for prosecution the names of delinquent employers of labor, aggregating 550 possible law suits in prosecution for that number of alleged violations of the accident insurance law of the Territory. F. E. Steere as chairman of the board, filed the complaints, which have been referred to Deputy County Attorney Cristy for action.

College Of Hawaii To Lose Military Status

General J. W. Heard, U. S. A., department commander, last week received a cablegram from the war department advising him of forthcoming orders by mail demobilizing the students training corps at the College of Hawaii, containing 64 men, as of January 1.

Big Rain Cause Much Damage

Torrential rains on Oahu and on the island of Hawaii last week are responsible for much damage to roads and crops, according to reports. Much damage was suffered on the Oahu Railroad by washouts. A train on the Wahiawa branch went through a trestle, but fortunately no one was hurt. The road was tied up for over 48 hours. The rainfall on the south side of Oahu is said to have been the heaviest known in some localities.

On Hawaii considerable road damage is reported in various districts. The rains at Hilo were unusually heavy.

Plans To Reclaim Waikiki Beach

The territory, the promotion committee, the board of harbor commissioners, the Ad Club, and various other organizations, have launched a determined campaign to make Waikiki Beach a real beach for the people instead of a series of fenced-in reserves for private owners, as it is at present. The harbor board has planned a series of meetings to consider the subject. It is planned to acquire by condemnation all the private property on the beach and to construct a wide boulevard along the entire water front. It is likely that tangible recommendations will be ready to submit to the legislature in February. Work of reclaiming the Waikiki swamps is also rapidly taking shape, as well as plans for reclaiming a lot of the tide flats east of Honolulu harbor towards Waikiki.

Fifty-one French babies have been adopted by the people of Hilo and vicinity.

Harbor Lights Relighted

Lights marking the channel entrance to Honolulu harbor, which were extinguished at the beginning of the war, were relighted yesterday, according to notice sent out to mariners by the Lighthouse Service in Honolulu. The navy department has also raised the restriction regarding vessels entering and leaving the harbor between sunset and sunrise.

Japanese Engineer Killed Under Locomotive

Kobayashi, a Japanese engineer of a locomotive in use on the plantation tracks on Waimanalo was killed instantly Monday morning when he was run over by the engine which he was operating. He is said to have seen a dog on the track right in front of his engine and in an effort to bring the engine to a sudden stop, fell from the locomotive, meeting death under the wheels.

Hilo teachers, at their meeting last week, adopted a resolution that their pay should be raised 10 to 25 percent. They point out that ordinary field laborers get as much as some teachers are given under the present schedule.

The fact that the U. S. shipping board vessels now going to Hilo are not equipped with refrigeration, is causing consternation among merchants and householders. It is said that the added cost of bringing perishable foods through Honolulu will be very severely felt.

Spring Of Hot Water Cures Bathers

A hot spring has been discovered at Waiwaihae, Kona, Hawaii, according to the Kona Echo, a Japanese weekly published at Hilo.

The hot spring was discovered by S. Shigaki, teacher in the Japanese school in one of the Kona villages, who went fishing to Kawaihae and accidentally discovered the spring.

It is a small pool not far from the water's edge and at first he thought it was merely a puddle. Careful investigation revealed that it was a hot spring.

After returning to his village Shigaki told of his discovery to the neighbors and some went to the pool to bathe. Because of the mineral properties contained in the spring, some of the indisposed bathers were healed by this Kawaihae hot waters, the Kona Echo states.

Young American Soldier Who Writes Delightful Descriptive Letters To His Mother Of The Interesting Things He Sees And Experiences

A number of interesting letters from France have been handed to us by a lady whose son has been with the American forces over there for some months. We gladly publish them, together with a short introduction by herself.—Ed.

It has occurred to me that mothers who have boys in France, may be interested in these letters from my boy. The irregularity of mail from Europe, often causes a disappointment here to one who may, for that reason be glad to get these glimpses of the life, scenery, and places over there.

Then, too, there isn't a doubt in my mind that, at times, when the stars or moonlight, or sunsets talk "specially" to them, and the lonesome, home sick feeling comes, that all the sons, way off there, are saying to the mothers here, perhaps, boy-like, truly in their hearts, but nevertheless, saying it, just about what mine writes.

Am I, then, giving pleasure by sharing?

Some Where in France.

Dearest Mother:

I am counting the days until I can hear from you, but know it will be well into Oct. before you can answer my last—the mails take so long to go and come between Europe and California.

Throughout this sad anniversary time you are on my mind every minute and my dream of dreams is to look forward to the time I can go back to you and be your boy and a real comfort, something which I haven't been in the past. But please put my mistakes to my youth. * * * * *

This life here in France is bound to be good for a fellow. We all get lonesome and homesick, but then, we have lots of good jolly times together. There are some dandy fellows, whom I have made firm friends with, and we make the most of our hardships here for later, when we go up to the front, we'll probably have things much worse. But every night at sunset, I look over into that glorious glow in the west, and say: "she is right over there and she loves me, and she is the dearest one on earth to me, so I'm not going to dread the German shells."

I've been thinking so much of you, that I've made up a little rhyme and I'm going to send it. Don't laugh, I know how particular you are about feet, meter and everything.

It is you, just you, I'm loving
In that land across the sea;
Through the softness of the twilight,
You come stealing close to me.

I can almost feel your dearest lips,
I can see your tender eyes,
As they glow across the sunset
With a light that never dies."

N. B. This is my first poem. You are my theme. It may be bum, but I mean it all.

We have had much rainy weather lately but the last few days have been perfect and when the weather is fine, France is exquisite.

Friday, Costy and I went into—; It was Costy's birthday so we celebrated by taking a bath (!) and seeing the sights. We went to the Cathedral and the old chateau in which Louis XIV imprisoned his twin brother. We saw the chains, also the guide pointed out knicks made by the arrows, of the Normans. Of course we took his word for it all, and he took our francs. We had lunch at a cafe, very popular with the A. E. F. men. We had the most perfect tomato salad (and when I get home I'll show you how to make real French dressing) French fried potatoes and eggs fried. (The French word for eggs is, "oeufs" and the Yanks call it "woofs.") to say nothing of steak, and yards of French bread, etc. I ate so much that I became alarmed and Costy swore I had worms.

In the p. m. we visited a museum which is in a former royal palace; it used to be the home of Marie de Medici.

We walked thro' miles of wonderful sculptuary and paintings—I saw one original Raphael, one original Van Dyke, four Watteans, two Tenniers, an exquisite Jean Baptiste and a Titian not to mention countless other splendid paintings.

We "did" the town thoroughly and I used my "near French" at every opportunity. I really believe it is improving. I spend, all my spare moments with a grammar * * * * * The news of the magnificent American advance has simply thrilled everyone. The French people are wild with enthusiasm and we can't think or talk anything else. We expect them to go right on and take Metz and oh! if I were only at the front. I can hardly wait. We are to go soon. * * * * * The Capt. told me this morning that I am to be sent to the base hospital tomorrow, and I won't have a chance to write you for quite a while as I'll be very busy down there and won't get a minute to write letters. Only think! when I come back to you, I'll be a full fledged—

Oct. 1st, 1918,
France.

Dearest:

I have an hour, before mess call blows, and that I'll devote to you—, and let anyone dare interrupt—his name is "mud" * * * * *

Today I am 21 years old and there isn't a soul round who gives a hang whether I am or not, so it isn't much like a birthday. Not like some of those happy birthdays I had with you and Dad, and in the warmth and protection of your love; how little did I realize what hardships I'd be going through on my 21st, birthday. * * * * *

You see my thoughts are running to cozy warm places just now. You will understand when I tell you that I never have been so freezingly cold in my life. The cold here in France is positively penetrating it goes completely to one's bones. This a. m. I put on my heavy winter underwear, and I am still so cold I can hardly hold this pen. Somewhat of a change from California and Florida!

Cousin-Colonel Alden B—, wrote me the most cordial letter—a bit flattering considering his rank. He had been trying to locate me—looked in wrong regiment. He had a big car all to himself, on a trip over western France and had, arranged for me to go with him. Says he is coming down to see me again, soon. Hope he arrives in another "big car" and feels the need of company.

Oct. 6, 1918

Today we were thrilled with the news that Germany and Austria are asking Wilson for an armistice, and agreeing to restore Belgium, etc. etc. Anyway, the general opinion over here is that the war will be over by Xmas. How I hope so. It seems such a useless waste of thousands of young lives. I have been at Base Hospital for the last two weeks. While I was there, three trainloads of wounded came back from the front, with our boys, some of them fearfully shot to pieces with schrapnel etc. I had charge of a ward full of German prisoners. There were four officers. I got to know them well. They are more than content to be finished with their share of the war and the American food tastes so much better than what they've been getting. Too, they were almost paralyzed with joy at the sight of white bread. They have had none in Germany for four years.

I am looking eagerly now for a letter from you, for I have had about time to get your answer to my * * * * *

It is grape season here in France, and me, oh my! what wonderful luscious ones we have. Yesterday, a peasant brought her apron full of them.

Oct. 18, 1918,
France

Your letter arrived at last. You can never know how good it was, to get it. * * * * * The enclosures were most enjoyable; the little short-story I read at once, and it is charming. * * * * * all my dreams are anti-war dreams. When I'll be able to go back and be with you, your boy, your son and Dad's * * * * *

You speak of prices soaring at home. My dear, over here, they are sore-ing us. The French merchants are "stick-ing" the American soldiers, for all they are worth. The prevailing idea is that we are all multi-millionaires, and they charge us accordingly. In fact, they have two rates, of charge, one for the French trade, the others for the American. I hope sometime to slip in on the French side.

Wines, and champagnes, however, are absurdly cheap, especially the last. One can get the most exquisite old brands Veuve, Amiot, Veuve Sau mau, etc., for only 8 francs per qt. while in the States we have to haul forth 6 or 8 perfectly good "seeds" for the same brands.

* * * * * about my cough; it left me a long time ago. I now have the sniffles and as handkerchiefs are scarce, I use gauge bandages. I keep, myself full of Quinine and Aspirin, to ward off anything in the way of a bad cold. Auvaunt thou Flu!

* * * * * This a. m. we got the news that Lille, Donal and Metz have been taken by the Allies. The opinion of everyone over here is, that the war will be over before Xmas. I hope so, for I hate to see another N. Year of war start.

We are having a delicious warm spell and it is good to me for I was almost frappe. France, hereabouts, is glorious—the frost has turned the grape-vines and trees to crimson and gold; the poplars which line most of the French country roads, are shimmering silver, and when the sun sets, they take on the exquisite colors from the sky.

I am writing at an open window on the second story of our billet, which overlooks a field of grain. Peasant women are in it, gleaning. With their bright colored aprons, and wooden shoes, they remind one of Jean Millet's famous painting "The Gleaners."

Other worthy members of the pill-corns are trying to get my "goat" by singing that famous war song * * * * * but I'm not going to weaken.

* * * * * apart from those afore-mentioned sniffles, I am horribly healthy. My appetite would worry you.

In a Paris paper, the other day, I saw where Mrs. Taru McGrew was in Paris for a few days, from Nantes, where she has been doing most enthusiastic Red Cross war work.

This letter is assuming proportions, so, as dear old Anita G— used to say: "I'll wipe the tear from my lamp, and the goo off my chin, and tie the can to this chatter."

AT THE THEATERS

Mary Pickford in "M'Liss."
The screen version does not follow the stage play, and the comedy possibilities are developed to a greater degree. So insistent has the adaptor worked for the laugh she has not hesitated to put in considerable downright farce. Few of Mary Pickford's following will object to this, however. The story moves along in sprightly fashion, and it's a poor heart that will not rejoice at the innocent fun of the picture and the happy ending of the little heroine's romance. Marshall Neilan deserves praise for the excellence of his direction. Some of the comedy scenes are too much in the shadow, but the general result reproduces the locale of the Bret Harte country and the character she created.

The story of "M'Liss" is easy of comprehension, and her doings will enlist the sympathy of all good folk. She is the daughter of "Bummer" Smith, a dissipated but good natured old ne'er-do-well, who lets her swear like a trooper and run wild. "M'Liss" has no use for school until a handsome new school teacher comes to Red Gulch. She then washes her face and startles the pupils by walking into the school house and taking a seat on one of the benches. Continually up to her pranks, "M'Liss" gets any amount of fun out of life, and rides a horse like a cowboy. The serious interest is supplied by the murder of old man Smith, and the fastening of the crime on the school teacher. A fortune left by Smith's brother leads to the old man's death.

Wallace Reid in "Believe Me, Xantippe"
"Believe Me, Xantippe," is the favorite expression of George MacFarland, a young college chap, who bets $20,000 with two of his pals that he can commit a crime and not be caught by the police within a year. He forges the name of one of his pals, Sole, his two chums, expect to trap him by notifying the police to look out for a man who is always saying "Believe Me, Xantippe." MacFarland manages to elude arrest until the year is almost up. Then he meets a girl, and trouble starts at once.

Dolly Kamman, the daughter of Sheriff Kamman, of Colorado, is spending the night alone in her father's hunting lodge when MacFarland gets lost in the woods and drops in to get his bearings. Before he realized just what has happened, Dolly has identifi-

RED CROSS NOTES

Sixteen cases of Red Cross supplies were shipped from Maui branch, A. R. C., during the month of November. These cases contain:

Surgical dressings	75,657

Knitted articles	232
Refugee garments	95
Layettees	24
Total	76,748
Total valuation	$5,848.16.

Ride a cockhorse to the store called "Red Cross" That sells anything from a pin to a horse. Rings for your fingers and bells for your toes, And anything needed in notions or clothes.

"Old woman, old woman, old woman," "quoth I, "Oh, whither, oh whither so early to buy?" "To the Red Cross Shop," was the dame's reply. "Will you go back again?" "yes, by and by, To get another basketful of bargains." Pack up your troubles in your old knit bag The things for which you're yearning To keep the homes fires burning The Red Cross Shop will sell you for a smile.

ed him and made him a prisoner. From then on the complications are rapid and amusing, and Mac wins both the wager and the girl.

"A Fight For Millions"
The great waste spaces—the white snowfields of the Northwest—the wooded hills—the streams—the mountains—the wide, windswept outdoors. These are the scenes of the latest and greatest of Vitagraph's big-calibre serials—"A Fight For Millions."

It's a great, throbbing story, well told, of a hero that's all man and a heroine that's all woman—a chaptered screen tale with thrills and super-thrills following each other like watch-ticks—and the great, unexpected, lightning flash, Duncan-serial climaxes.

Action—real thrills that shame the ordinary serial "stunts"—scenes of danger and daring that the eye of the clicking camera has watched to reproduce as a tonic for jaded minds. It's the screen's biggest, main-top "greatest show on earth" that has but one fault—it comes to an end in fifteen episodes, and leaves you shouting for more.—Advt.

LAHAINA ITEMS

Mrs. W. L. Decoto's father, Mr. Townsend of Pasadena, her sister-in-law Mrs. Twonson, also of Pasadena and her cousin, Miss Gill of Iowa are spending the winter in Lahaina, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Decoto.

Mrs. Gossin and Miss Merriman of Baldwin House spent the Thanksgiving holidays with Mrs. H. P. Baldwin at Mahulu.

Mrs. A. C. Collins gave a delightful luncheon on Monday for Mrs. W. L. Decoto and her guests. Beautiful pink hibiscus in a cut glass dish made a most attractive centerpiece. Covers were laid for twelve, those present beside the hostess being Mrs. Decoto, Mrs. Townsend, Miss Gill, Mrs. David Fleming, Mrs. William Robertson, Mrs. J. E. Gannon, Mrs. Cora Gossin, Mrs. George Keeney, Miss Merriman and Mrs. C. A. MacDonnell.

Mrs. A. C. Collins had charge of the drive in Lahaina for the French orphans. Mr. Freeland, of the Pioneer Theater generously donated the proceeds of an evening's entertainment to the fund. The amount thus raised from the tickets and collection amounted to about seventy dollars. The students of the Lahainaluna School "adopted" an orphan as did several individuals, the amount collected by Mrs. Collins being over seven hundred dollars. Plans are now being discussed for a dance during the Christmas holidays to raise money for the Belgian orphans.

On Tuesday and Wednesday of this week Lahaina experienced the heaviest wind storm in a great many years. Trees were uprooted, telephone and light wires blown down, and at Lahainaluna several windows blown in and broken, as well as considerable damage done to the trees and gardens. On Wednesday morning one of the servant's cottages belonging to the Pioneer Mill Hospital was burned to the ground. The fire fortunately did not spread to the other buildings though a gale was blowing at the time.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Campbell of Punene, and Doctor and Mrs. George Alken of Wailuku were in Lahaina on Sunday, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Keeney and of Mr. Frank Lufkin.

The annual bazaar of the Church of the Holy Innocents will be held on Saturday, December seventh. People have grown to look forward eagerly to this sale each year, as there are always a great many useful and fancy articles to be had at extremely low prices.

Mrs. Frank Cockeroff spent Thanksgiving at Puuomalei, the guest of Mrs. Worth Alken.

Mrs. J. A. Wilson, formerly of Lahainaluna, but who has been visiting on the mainland for the last six months, writes that her health is improved and that she and the children hope to be back in Honolulu by Christmas. Mr. Wilson is with the firm of Theodore H. Davis, & Co.

Oahu United War Workers Apologize And Explain

On Wednesday, November 13, 1918, reports were made to the Oahu Committee of the United War Work Campaign that reports were being circulated on the waterfront that the United War Work funds were to be used to feed the Germans. Further reports of a similar character were received the following day, and the Committee was urged to send out speakers to counteract this statement, as it was seriously affecting the collection of the funds.

During Friday morning the Committee was informed from what appeared to be reliable sources that the above statement had been spread by a man named Finkbner. The matter looked so serious that the Committee decided to publicly denounce the report; this was done and the name of Finkbner was used. Mr. Charles F. Finkbner immediately published a denial, that he said nothing disloyal or un-American in connection with the Campaign. The Committee finds after very close investigation that Mr. Finkbner did not make any statement to injure the War Work fund, neither did he make use of any language that was anti-American or that could be considered disloyal.

The Committee desires to give this statement the widest publicity and apologize to Mr. Charles F. Finkbner for having connected his name with the statement referred to above. JAMES WAKEFIELD, Chairman, Oahu Committee United War Work Campaign.

EX-CROWN PRINCE MAKES LUDENDORF THE GOAT

OSTERLAND, Holland, December 4—Former crown prince, in an interview, declares that Ludendorff was the mainspring of German militarism, and that Hindenburg was but a figurehead, as was he himself. He claims that he advised against the war, at the outset and after the battle of the Marne advised seeking peace. He says he saw defeat in 1914. He declined to accept blame for Verdun defeat, saying he was not supported. He says he has not renounced his right to succession, but will be willing to become a common citizen of Germany if a republic is established, even to going to work in a factory if the fatherland will be benefitted.

HONOLULU, December 3—Thousands of shade and fruit trees are down all over the city as a result of yesterday's storm. There is also much damage reported to sugar cane on this island.

At Punahou, in the capitol grounds, and everywhere else where large trees were growing the scene this morning is one of wildest confusion and wreckage.

All telephone and telegraph wires, except those to Pearl Harbor, are down. The Oahu Railroad tracks were blocked in many places by poles, trees and wires over the tracks. Seven trains managed to chop their way into town at midnight.

Only one fatality has been reported thus far, that of a Japanese who was caught in a freshet in Manoa stream. Judge W. L. Whitney was caught under a falling kiawe tree while going from his house to the garage. He was extricated after half an hour, having sustained a broken leg and many bad bruises.

It is estimated that the damage on Oahu will run to at least a quarter of a million dollars, counting crop damage.

Wires being down, nothing has yet been heard from the windward side of the island, where it is feared damage has been heavy. A number of wooden buildings in the city were unroofed, and others partly wrecked by falling trees. Masses of trees are blocking many streets.

The weather bureau instruments recorded many gusts of wind of 60 miles velocity. The only previous storm of approaching violence was in December 31, 1906 when the wind blew 53 miles per hour. Press dispatches were brought to the city last night from the Koko Head wireless station by automobile, after much difficulty. GREAT CHINESE PITCHER DIES ON BATTLEFIELD HONOLULU, December 1—Casualty list reports Sgt. Apau Kau, 47 S. Beretania St. Honolulu killed in action. He was the greatest Chinese baseball pitcher the Islands have produced and he had made several tours on the mainland.

Maui And Molokai Damaged By Storm

which they were spiked and swept away, they risked their lives for hours. Time and again men were washed off into the raging water, to be rescued by their companions with much difficulty and danger, for a fierce undertow threatened always to carry the swimmers out to sea.

Injured Man Rescued Sam Kuoha, one of the workers, when carried away by a great breaker, was rendered unconscious by striking his head on a rock, and would certainly have drowned had not McNeill and another of the crew, with great heroism plunged in and kept him afloat until their companions could throw ropes to them and pull them back to comparative safety.

The crew had the greatest difficulty in keeping a track spiked down on which to move the crane, the wave constantly undoing their work, and it took 4 hours before it was accomplished.

The damage to the breakwater is similar to that which occurred during the building of the east side breakwater some years ago, and was due to the fact that the uncompleted structure was not prepared to resist the waves as it will be later.

Harbor Sheltered But the value of the breakwater was demonstrated in full in the present storm, for at no time was the harbor so rough as to prevent work on lighters in the harbor. The Claudine was unable both on Tuesday morning and again last evening to lie along side the wharf with only her usual lines for fastenings.

Ghips Have Trouble The Claudine arrived at Kahului on Tuesday morning as usual and started for Hana and Kipahulu at 8 o'clock. The storm was so severe by this time, however, that she was obliged to put about, off Paha. The entrance to Kahului was so rough that the captain was afraid to risk it, however, and instead went around to Lahaina where the sea was smooth. Thursday morning the vessel managed to make Kipahulu where she took on mail, but she was unable to land at Hana. She reached Kahului about 5 o'clock last evening and left shortly after for Honolulu, expecting to be back tomorrow morning on her regular time. The sea is still very rough, but is moderating slowly.

Mikahala This Morning The Mikahala did not leave Honolulu at all on Tuesday evening, owing to the storm, but got away yesterday, arriving at Lahaina this morning after a rough passage.

The Mauna Kea came up on her regular run on Wednesday but was several hours late owing to the storm. Fight To Save Olowalu Chimney The Olowalu plantation suffered serious damage from the storm according to reports from there today.

The big mill smoke stack crashed down despite strenuous effort, full of danger, to save it on the part of R. D. Watson, engineer, David W. Kinney, sugar boiler, and Eugene Hansberg, chemist and book-keeper. The carrying away of the roof cut the guy-wires on the windward side twice, and twice they were repaired after great effort, but in spite of this the stack went.

In falling it crushed the sugar warehouse. Olowalu had expected to start grinding about January 1, but this will be impossible as it will take considerable time to repair the damage.

William Goo, manager of the Olowalu store, had a very narrow escape when a big monkey-pod tree was blown down through the store. The building was much damaged.

Molokai Suffered Sheriff Crowell, who came up from Honolulu this morning by the Mikahala, and who stopped at Kaunakakai, reports that Molokai suffered in keeping with the rest of the islands, in trees blown down across the roads, telephone lines being broken, etc.
