KUHIO MAKES HIS "ANNOUNCEMENT"

Delegate Kuhio chose last Wednesday as the date for his announcement of candidacy to succeed himself as delegate in Congress, he at that time giving out the following vague and indefinite statement as his "coming out" pronunciamento:

"To the Electors of the Territory of Hawaii:

"Gentlemen:—The time seems now opportune in which to express to you my sincere appreciation of the confidence which you have reposed in me in the past, as evidenced by six successive elections, as your representative in the federal congress at Washington.

"During my long service in that body, as your representative, it has ever been my aim to consult your wishes and to advance and promote the interests of Hawaii. In this effort I have not always succeeded to the extent of my desires, despite the sincerity of my wishes and endeavors. But on the whole, I believe I fairly lay claim to at least a measure of success [illegible] ds to the lot of a re[illegible] in that house.

"Unfortunately and unexpectedly I was obliged to temporarily abandon my duties at Washington during the winter last past, and upon the advice of my physician, to seek a milder climate in the hope of a speedy restoration of my health, which had been there suddenly and unexpectedly affected. A sojourn of several weeks at Paso Robles, in California, was disappointing in its effects, and I was further obliged, upon medical advice, to return to sunny Hawaii, where our own incomparable climate has, happily, so far restored my health, that I may hope to return to Washington in the near future if the present session of congress shall be prolonged.

"Since my return to Hawaii, I have been urged by many loyal friends who have supported me in the past, to again permit my name to go before the electors as a candidate for re-election to congress in November next, and after mature deliberation I have consented to become such candidate.

"Believing as I do, that the best interests of this Territory require that it be represented in congress by a Republican, and further believing that my experience in congress during nearly twelve years last past may be fruitful of good results in my endeavors to further promote the interests of Hawaii at the nation's capital, I hereby respectfully announce myself as a candidate for your suffrages at the ensuing election; and I promise, if you again honor me with your confidence, that my best endeavors shall be exerted in your behalf.

"Very respectfully, your obedient servant.

"J. KALANIANAOLE,

"Delegate in congress from Hawaii.

THE LUNCHEON SESSION OF CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Forty-seven members of the Kauai Chamber of Commerce and guests foregathered at the Fairview Hotel, in Lihue, at 1 o'clock last Thursday afternoon for the Chamber's first luncheon-session, the meeting having a pleasant and profitable continuance for two hours, when adjournment was taken to the annual gathering, which will be held in Lihue on August 15.

The banquet table had been arranged in the shape of the letter L, the working officers (President, secretary and treasurer) having seats at the angle. The table had been tastefully decorated with floral schemes, while potted plants adorned the room at various points. When the luncheon was about half through, President Rohrig arose, neatly welcomed members and their guests and stated the objects of the luncheon-session, which he characterized as an experiment.

The minutes out of the way, a number of communications were read, and a call was made for proposals of names for membership. The following were proposed:

By W.H. Grote, E.Mahn; by L. D. Timmons, J. H. Moragne; by Judge Hofgaard, T. Blackstad; by J. I. Silva, Geo. A. Gonsalves and C. H. Alspaugh; by H. H. Brodie, Wm. Ebeling, H. N. Browne, G. F. Rankin, J. H. Bole, D K. Hayselden and M. J. Carvalho; by Chas. A. Rice, Albert Horner and Rev. Chas. D. Milliken; by G. Hansen, A. G. Hime and W. Danford; by E. H. W. Broadbent, Mr. Tracey; by Th. Brandt, F. Cox; by A. D. Hills, J. C. Dort; by J. K. Cockett, P. A. Romane; by W. D. McBryde, E. Cropp, Louis Conradt, James K. Kula, Henry Blake, A. G. Kaulukou J. M. Kaneakua, S. Ozaki and R. W. T. Purvis. Total, 27.

There was some discussion as to whether the names should be acted on separately, finally resulting in a motion by Mr. Lydgate that all of the names be elected to membership. This carried by unanimous vote.

On suggestion of Mr. Lydgate, which was put into the form of a motion and carried, no dues will be collected from new members for the unexpired period to August 15, the end of the Chamber's year.

The Promotion and Transportation committees reported progress on their work in hand.

J. M. Lydgate gave notice of his intention to introduce certain amendments to the rules and by-laws, to be acted upon at the annual meeting in August, on which account President Rohrig gave notice that a special meeting would immediately precede the annual session in order that the proposed amendments might receive the consideration prescribed by the rules.

Mr. Broadbent moved that arrangements for the annual meeting be left to the directors. Mr. W. H. Rice amended to the effect that in view of the large amount of important business to come up, it not be a luncheon session. The motion as amended carried.

AFTER ESTRAY COWS

Mr. Broadbent vigorously assailed the present condition of things which permitted live stock to roam at will on the public highways, and urged the passage of resolutions condemning the situation.

Mr. Coney stated that this matter was threshed out by the Legislature, resulting in a law which applied differently to different islands. The Legislature had left it open, however, so that the various counties could enact such regulations, as might best suit their own peculiar conditions. In his opinion it was up to the supervisors to pass such ordinances as would cover the matter.

Mr. McBryde recited the trials and tribulations of the supervisors over this cattle ordinance matter. The county attorney had worked himself almost to the limit on it, but had not yet evolved a tangible, workable scheme. The speaker wished to say that the supervisors desired an expression from the Chamber of Commerce on the question, in order that they might feel certain public sentiment was behind them in whatever might be done.

W. H. Rice, Jr., speaking as head of the police department, stated that he was ready to enforce a law in regard to estrays, but he had been instructed by the legal arm of the government that there was no adequate law. His hands were tied. He was anxious to go ahead, but could not take action without law behind him.

By general consent, a recess was taken for five minutes in order to give Mr. S. E. Hannestad (appointed as a committee of one) time in which to draft a suitable resolution. Mr. Hannestad reported the following, which was adopted by unanimous vote:

RESOLVED: That the Kauai Chamber of Commerce urge upon the Board of Supervisors of the County of Kauai the desirability and necessity of more stringent laws with regard to estrays upon the government roads;

RESOLVED, further: That the Kauai Chamber of Commerce request the said Board of Supervisors to pass an ordinance prohibiting the allowing of estrays upon the public highways;

RESOLVED, also: That a copy of this resolution be present-

KAWAIHAUS WIN AFTER HARD FIGHT

Every inch of the Kawaihau-Makaweli baseball game, on the grounds of the latter team, Sunday afternoon, was hotly contested. Some costly errors were made, while both sides went ballooning at different times, running up the score; but in spite of that the game kept the rooters in a fever of excitement.

The crowd was a large one, the weather excellent and the game was played in unusually short time. D. W. Dean was umpire and Harold Morgan official scorer.

There were several features of the game, one of the more important being a two-bagger by Joe Fassoth in the second inning, which scored two Makaweli men at a clip, and started a muddle whicl gave four runs for the inning. A second feature was the heavy batting of the Kawaihaus in the sixth inning, which, coupled with the confusion of the Makawelis, gave them seven runs in that frame. A third feature was a strike for a complete home run, made by Ambrosio in the seventh inning.

On account of lack of space, the full details of the game cannot be given in this issue; but it may be said that, despite the high score, the contest was one of the best of the present ser[illegible]

MCBRYDE VS. KILAUEA

The McBryde-Kilauea game, played at Kilauea, was probably the tightest of the two contests. In the eighth inning the score was tied-to 3; but in the ninth the McBrydes succeeded in getting two men over the plate. The score by innings was as follows:

Holy Ghost Festival

A Holy Ghost Festival will be held on the grounds of the Catholic church in Eleele Saturday evening. Music by the Homestead band. Everybody welcome.

BENEFIT CONCERT A GREAT SUCCESS

The benefit concert given in Lihue Social Hall Saturday evening for the assistance of the Hawaiian churches in sending their delegates to the convention on Maui was a distinct success from every point of view. The total sum of $281 was netted, the expenses of the affair having been provided for privately by friends.

It is to be regretted that space forbids a detailed account of the many excellent features, the concert being one of the most enjoyable ever attempted locally. The solos by Mrs. Mary Agnes Rice, violin contributions of Mrs. Putman, the singing of Miss Louise Day, Miss Dora Pieler, Mrs. Louise Sheldon, Miss Hannah Jacobson, and the "judicial chorus", composed of Judges Dickey, Pole, Kapahee, Puuiki and Kawai, were far above the average in point of excellence and drew forth rounds of applause. The singing by the quartettes and choruses, as well as the music of the Lihue Glee Club, also assisted much in rounding out the success of the program.

STRANGE DOUBLE ROAD ACCIDENT

To narrowly escape death in the same place and same way on succeeding days was the unusual experience of Mrs. E. O. Thurtell, of Lihue, Sunday and yesterday. She was being driven home from the Makaweli baseball game in H. S. Padgett's car Sunday, when run into by a truck at the point where the Koloa Sugar Company's tramway is being laid along the road, the Padgett's car being smashed.

Returning to Makaweli, Mrs. Thurtell yesterday morning secured her own car, which had been left at Bertram's garage, Waimea, for minor repairs, and started again for Lihue. At identically the same spot one of the big passenger trucks suddenly wheeled around the corner and brushed along the side of her machine before it could be stopped, missing wrecking it by a hair's breadth.

Hon. Chas. A. Rice, of Kauai, who has announced his candidacy to succeed Delegate Kuhio in Washington.

Hawaii's Delegate

Contrary to the judgment, wishes, advice and anticipations of some of his best friends at Honolulu, and of each of the islands - men with no other objects in view than his own good and the promotion of Hawaii's welfare at home and at Washington - Delegate Jonah Kalaniana-ole has personally announced himself as a candidate for re - election to Congress. He intimates that he will run as a Republican, but advances no platform and makes no promises, save to say that if elected for the seventh time "my best endeavors shall be exerted in your behalf."

A very general and generous sentiment (entirely favorable) is aroused by any appeal that Prince Kuhio may make to the people of these islands. A feeling of extra ordinary sympathy, the outgrowth, perhaps, of the unique position he holds in the community as the last of the Hawaiian aliis - exists; and there is a universal desire to favor him and, if you will, yield to his peculiar, or natural, as the case may be, vanities. Thus, probably few, especially among the native Hawaiians and old - timers of the white citizenship, would deny his appeal for [illegible] at the polls without [illegible] sings of sincere, and pardonable, regret.

But the crude business phase of the proposition has of late become so prominent and vital that sentiment, however deep - rooted, genuine and justified by circumstances, pales into insignificance before it. This sentiment is a fine thing at home; it must and should be given fullest swing within its rightful province. But in Washington unusual ability, diplomacy and constant vigilance and activity are the qualities that become the real factors that make for usefulness and success; and official representation there is shorn bare of sentiment of every class and character.

Conditions at Washington change in rapid, kaleidoscopic order. A man in official life must be "on the job" and alert every minute of the time. The friends of one session in Congress, and in committees, are in the political scrap-heap the next year, and new friendships must be formed and new wires rapidly and intelligently laid for each recurring session. Conditions change; thought changes; plans of manipulation and maneuvering for legislative advantages are seldom the same two years in succession.

During the first years of Kuhio's work in Washington he displayed a satisfactory measure of activity, fair diplomacy and considerable ability. It may be stated in this connection that he was fortunate, at that period, in having a large number of colleagues in Congress who had visited Hawaii and to that additional extent felt a personal interest in legislation affecting the welfare of the Territory. Moreover, the administration itself was particularly friendly to the Islands, while public sentiment seemed to be on the side of considerate treatment of the new, baby Territory. Quite a good deal was accomplished for Hawaii then, and Delegate Kuhio and his able secretary were undoubtedly entitled to all the praise they received therefor. As a testimonial of that appreciation, Kuhio was returned again and again to Washington as the official representative of this Territory.

More than two years ago friends of the Delegate observed (with deep regret, it may be truly said) that his old - time zeal and activity had materially lessened. It developed that he was in an uncertain state of health, due, it was felt by his friends, in a large measure, to the rigors of the climate at Washington. However, the electors of the Islands gratified his desire to be returned to Washington for another term. The results are a matter of recent history and common notoriety.

What is to be said of the future if Kuhio is again sent to Congress? Will he be able to "brace up" and give to Hawaii the service which is of so much importance, and which is becoming more difficult and problematical as the responsibilities of our great country multiply in various parts of the world? Matters have gone from bad to worse. There is no gainsaying that proposition. The most ardent admirer and staunchest friend of Delegate Kuhio must admit it. Is there a hope that a change may occur? Can Kuhio "come back?"

It might be possible, but we doubt it. Surveying the situation from every view - point, it seems to us that he has "taken the count" and that his day of usefulness in Washington is done.

Delegate Kuhio states himself that his health improves upon his return to Hawaii. Then, for his own sake, also, let him stop at home. Here in Hawaii he will receive the full measure of that respect and aloha which belongs to him, and will have every opportunity of serving his people and his country in a worthy manner, and in a larger degree, perhaps, than he has ever been able to do at Washington.

So general and deep - rooted has the opinion become in the Islands that a change at Washington is not only desirable but necessary that it is now very doubtful that Kuhio could be elected again even if nominated. Oahu turned him down in the last election and would probably go to greater lengths this year; while the saving majorities of the outside islands would, almost without doubt, be greatly reduced. Thus, as a result of the appearance of Kuhio in the field as the party's nominee, students of the situation agree that there would be grave danger of the delegateship being lost to the Republicans altogether.

It is, therefore, a serious problem which confronts the Republican party of the Islands - one which must be handled along business lines and in a business - like way.

What is to be done? The ailment is recognized - what is the cure? What is Hawaii to do to save herself at Washington? How is the Republican party of Hawaii to hold the seat in Congress which has been its own for so many years?

There has appeared in the field as a competitor in the Republican primaries for the nomination a son of Kauai - Hon. Chas. A. Rice; a man of marked ability, standing, vigor and possessed of the numerous other qualities so essential to success at Washington.

The way out of the difficulty is thus made clear.

THE PASSAGE by the Chamber of Commerce, by unanimous vote, of a resolution calling upon the Board of Supervisors for an ordinance which will keep estray animals from the public highways should indicate to the county authorities that there is a very strong public sentiment on this matter. The suggestion by one member that "politics" was at the bottom of failures of such a measure in the past may or not be correct, but if true there is good promise that it may become a boomerang. Undoubtedly that part of the sentiment which has found any open expression at all is in favor of an ordinance which will clear the highways of estray animals. We would like to hear from the other side on this matter, if there be any other side

WE AGREE to repeat that Kauai has no place in its political necessities or plans for the so-called Progressive Party. We are quite willing over here to take our chances with the two recognized national parties, and are too busy to listen to either cranks or political soreheads with personal axes to grind.

MR. PROGRESSIVE CARTER has sent out cards to the school teachers of the Territory, asking their support of his campaign. Just watch our Kauai school ma' ams climb into the Progressive band wagon! D-e-e-lighted? Nit!

"THE DEMOCRATIC organization is going to oppose the appointment of mainlanders to office in Hawaii," is an interesting announcement made by the Honolulu newspapers. Is this the same "Democratic Organization" that endorsed Mr. "Soapbox" Barron for the office of postmaster?

THE WRITER of that famous anonymous letter to Governor Pinkham might just as well have signed his name to it, and it would have looked and been much better. He is wrong in several of his contentions, and could be easily set right were his identity known.

WHEN THE official announcement of a candidate for public office has to take the form of apologies for short-comings covering a period of fourteen years, is it not high time for intelligent voters to look around for a man who has something more to offer than apologies?

TENNIS CLUB TO HAVE NEW SERIES

At a meeting of the Lihue Tennis Club held last Wednesday evening it was decided to begin a series of games with outside clubs of Kauai, the date of the beginning of the series to be arranged by the executive committee and the Kilaueas to be the first club played.

The games will be men's singles, and if all the clubs of the island take a hand the tournament will last several weeks.

The attendance at the meeting was quite large and much interest was manifested in the discussion.

TO CONFER WITH FRIENDS IN CITY

Senator Chas. A. Rice sailed Saturday afternoon for Honolulu to confer with friends regarding the launching of his campaign for nomination as a candidate for delegate to Congress. He may return tomorrow but that will depend largely upon the amount of work he has found it necessary to do at the capital in the matter.

Senator Rice is, in general, opposed to the practice of paid runners for campaign purposes; and inasmuch as considerable objection was raised in the last campaign to the system, it may be that all parties will agree to eliminate it this year.

It is not the intention of the Senator to open a headquarters at Honolulu for the present, but he will do so later on, when his plan of campaign is more definitely shaped out.

A SHOWER GIVEN FOR MISS HASTIE

One of the nicest affairs of the week was the shower given by Mrs. Morse, of the Eleele Highlands, in honor of Miss Mable Hastie, who is soon to be a bride. The invited guests assembled on the broad lanais, which were daintily decorated with banana leaves and ferns, and spent the afternoon in sewing. Later, all were called to the dining room where a clothes line hung and from it many, mysterious packages. Miss Hastie was asked to gather in the "wash" which proved to be dainty bits of linen and cut-glass. After the "wash" was gathered in, refreshments of salad, sandwiches, tea, cake and sherbeat were served.

Among those who enjoyed Mrs. Morse's hospitality were: Mrs. Brown, Misses Mengler, Miss Mary Bryant, Mrs Roendahl, Mrs. Deas, Mrs. Silva, Mrs. Pillar, Miss de Lackner, Miss Blue, Miss Eva Hastie, Miss Janet Hastie, Miss Grace Ing, Miss Maile Hastie, Miss Anita Brown, Miss Esther Ing, Mrs. Alexander, Mrs. Hastie, Miss Marion Hastie, Mrs. Rath, Miss Ella Rath and the guest of honor, Miss Mable Hastie.

Honolulu,
June 14th., 1914.

EDITOR GARDEN ISLAND:

During my recent visit on Kauai many persons asked concerning the present status of the proposed cannery to be located at or near Kapaa, and I have concluded that a short statement covering the conditions surrounding our enterprise from the beginning might not be out of place at this time To be able to give a comprehensive idea of the situation as it has developed from time to time it is necessary to go back to the time when we first began negotiating with the Government for the land we later secured, and on which we have planted pineapples, and for a site for a factory.

At that time we were informed by the Government that a tract of land had been reserved by it for a cannery which would be turned over to any company willing to erect a cannery for the accommodation of the homesteaders then located on the land of Kapaa. This site, we were informed, was located just mauka of the lower Kapaa reservoir, and at the time it was set aside the Government had in view only the homesteaders then on the land at Kapaa. As the lands at Waipouli and Olehena were soon to be opened to settlers and would also require a cannery, it was thought by the officials that the site reserved was perhaps not suitably located to accommodate both series of homesteads, and that if we desired we could locate another site on Government lands near or in the village of Kapaa, and that upon being notified of its location it would be turned over to us.

The first site brought to our attention in Kapaa was near the old wharf and then, as now, used for baseball purposes. The people of Kapaa objected to this location, first because, they wished to continue to use it for ball games and, second, they thought the odors from the factory might become disagreeable to those residing in the village.

We then took up the consideration of the tract lying on the Lihue side of the village - especially was it considered from the transportation point of view - and decided to apply for a certain area.

We found the Government willing that we should occupy that tract and proceeded to have a survey and an appraisment made, but they insisted at the same time that one of the conditions of the sale should be that the company should obligate itself to fill in the swamp which was within the boundaries of the tract and also to construct a stone drain leading from the swamp above the Government road to the sea and to drain the said swamp. This condition would have entailed an expenditure of from $12,000 to $14,000.00

As this filling and draining had nothing to do with canning pineapples, we declined to accept the condition and asked permission to locate on a portion of the land still remaining on the Lihue side of the village.

We found the Government willing to meet our wishes and they had the new tract surveyed and appraised. The price placed upon it by the appraisers, although not as low as we had been led to believe it would be, was acceptable to us, but when the proposition was submitted to the Land Board, the price was raised by them by about $40.00 per acre. About this time we began to realize that we need no longer hope for the generous treatment at the hands of the Government that we have been led to expect, and decided that before accepting the appraisment of the Land Board we would look into other phases connected with the enterprise and more particularly those with which the Government had to do. For instance: The government had assured us that railroad facilities would be provided by the Makee Sugar Co., upon the payment to them of a reasonable freight rate, that the Government had an agreement with this company under which the said facilities were to be provided, etc. Upon looking into this agreement, however, it was found that the Makee Sugar Co., was not obligated under its contract to deliver pines or anything else to the factory. Their obligation was to deliver produce from the Waipouli and Olehena homestead to Kapaa, Kealia or Anahola and supplies from any of the latter points to the homestead tract.

As the last site was about one mile from Kapaa and required an extention of the railroad to reach it, the Makee Sugar Co., when asked to put this in, quite properly insisted that before they could undertake to do it the company should first enter into a contract with them under bonds, to supply them with a certain amount of freight for a definite number of years, and at an agreed rate. As our ocmpany do not control the land on which the pines or other produce is to be grown we could not meet this requirement. I wish to state that our company has no criticism to make of the attitude of the Makee Sugar Co., as the demand they made was quite within their rights, from a business point of view, but our company, as noted above, was not in a position to comply with it. To date nothing further has been done in securing a site, but we are, working in conjunction with the Government and the settlers, still trying to amicably adjust the difficulties confronting the enterprise, and we all sincerely hope that within a short time some plan will be evolved by which these may be overcome.

In conclusion, I wish to state that there are many places in the Kawaihau district where a factory might be located, but there are also many things which first must have caretul consideration in connection with any site which might be selected to insure the most economical working of the whole enterprise. We will not only have to meet and overcome the difficulties incident to all new development, but also keen competition from the factories already established where the cost of manufacturing is down to a minimum and selling arrangement well organized, and last but not least, a steady declining market. Hence it behooves us, if the enterprise is to be a success, to see to it that every point, which may help to keep down expenses be thoroughly looked into or disaster will follow.

Yours truly,
A. Horner.

AUTO ALMOST GOES OVER PRECIPICE

A five seater automobile, driven by an Okinawa, had an unusual accident on the hill on the Lihue side of the Kalaheo school site some nights ago. The machine negotiated the curve in front of the school and had started up the hill when a cow appeared directly in front. The driver attempted to swerve out to the right, and in doing so his machine stopped on the very edge of the precipice.

The cow was struck and the machine was damaged to the extent that it went "dead" and had to be dragged from its perilous position by hand. It stopped by the roadside all night and was removed next day.

The blame for the accident was entirely upon the bovine species of auto devils. Cows frequent the roads in that immediate locality and bad accidents have been narrowly missed several times lately there. No one was hurt.

Consul Ratard Dead

News has arrived here of the death at his home in Paris of M. Jules Ratard, at one time consul for France at Honolulu. The wife of deceased is a sister of Mrs. I. G. Blackman, of Honolulu, and R. W. T. Purvis, of Lihue.

PINKHAM WILL SELL NEW BONDS IN BABY SIZES

Residents of the islands with savings to invest in securities may have an opportunity soon to buy territorial bonds, which will be issued in denominations ranging from $100 to $500, with interest at four per cent, and the date of maturity 30 years distant

For the first time in the history of the territory such bonds may be bought here direct from the government, sold to the purchaser over the counter as a merchant sells his goods. Many thousand dollars of these bonds may be thus disposed of.

Governor Pinkham stated this morning that this plan is under way. He seemed to be in favor of it and confident that it would succeed here. President Wilson is to be asked to authorize the issuance of $1,430,000 of territorial bonds, but it is now thought that only about half this amount will be actually issued, at the present time at least. The balance could be put out later without requiring the approval of the president. It is planned to sell the smaller denominations here, the largest ones in New York.

Governor Pinkham is now in favor of carrying out the bond project. Now that the gross assessed values for 1914 have been secured, he is ready to [illegible] the approval of the president for the [illegible]. The values this year are $160,000,000 as against $176,000,000 last year, a falling off of $16 000,000 in place of $40,000,000 or $50,000,000 as estimated some time ago. That the decrease is not greater is pointed to as a strong evidence of the fundamentally sound condition of the territory. The present bonded indebtedness of the islands is $6,844,000.

Much Rain On Maui

According to information furnished the News, the rainfall in the Makawao district during the month of May has been extraordinarily heavy. The rain gauge at the Haleakala Ranch recorded 8.25 inches while the average for this station for a period of 30 years has been but a fraction over 2 inches for the month, At Kailiili, farther up the mountain, over 24 inches of rain fell during the month. MR. CARTER WANTS A CONGRESSMAN

"If the people of Hawaii had the right of representation, instead of the privilege of sending a delegate to Washington, the United States senators would no longer say that we have no right to appear before the committees, and that, when we do appear, we are only there by courtesy."—George R. Carter, chairman Progressive party in Hawaii.

That the Progressive party of Hawaii is seriously considering making a request to congress that it amend the organic act to the extent that the delegateship be done away with and, instead, the territory be allowed an actual representative with the power to vote, was the statement made in Honolulu by George R. Carter, chairman of the Progressive party.

"Surely there can be no better way of demonstrating to 90,000,000 people on the mainland that Hawaii is not a possession than the furthering of such a project as this,' said Mr. Carter. "That is, instead, of having a delegate we have a representative with the right to vote,"

"The matter of Hawaii securing statehood involves a new principle," said Mr. Carter. "From the fact that Hawaii was not a part of the continent, the organic act gave us greater power than any other newly organized territory ever had. Hence it looked as if Congress intended that our present form of government should be more or less permanent. It was members of the local progressive party who suggested that, pending the securing of statehood, the party should request Congress to give the actual representative with the right to vote a power than was demanded by every [illegible] into the union.

"Our committee also is looking into the legal aspect of the question, this to be made clear before the final announcement of the platform is made.

"For the past 14 years the people on the mainland have been laboring under a misapprehension as regards Hawaii's actual position. Because we came into the Union at the time of the Spanish war, the impression prevails that the Stars and Stripes are only 'loaned to Hawaii,' and that privileges we enjoy are only temporary.

"If the people of Hawaii had the right of representation, the senators would no longer say that we have no longer to appear before their committees and then we were by there courtesy."

THAT ANONYMOUS LETTER IN FULL

Readers of THE GARDEN ISLAND will recall the mention a week or two ago of an anonymous letter received by Governor Pinkham from Kauai, which the executive consigned to the waste basket and would not give out for publication in full. The editor of this paper has received the following, which (whether authentic or not) is funny enough for almost anybody to read—and put in a waste basket:

("An exact copy of the letter sent to the governor. You see you missed your guess as far as the contents are concerned.)

"Dear Governor.

"Pardon me for interupting your busy life, but I have a favor to ask of you and its not for a job for my self or a friend either, but we would like you to help us get a dentist on Kauai. We want one badly and have been trying for a long time to get one but—and that but is what we want you to remove. Now there is a board of dental examiners in Honolulu we think are the cause of all our trouble. I will not put on paper what is thought of the board, it might not look well.

"Now, once in a while there is a dentist comes over here, but the less said of that the better, perhaps you can read it between the lines if you are a good mind reader.

"Now we want a dentist, not a tooth butcher. We want a dentist with a conscience. We want the diamond when we pay for a diamond filling. We want somebody that will make right a bad job, and we don't want one to come over here for a few weeks and then leave to live a life in luxury on the spoils in some other part of the world.

"[illegible] 21,000 people on this island. We get toothache once in a while, and our children get toothache and we have no one to help us but the Dr. who then relieves us by taking out the tooth we will need in the future. Now that board of dental examiners may not let us have a dentist to compel us to come to Honolulu, but some of us on this island don't have sugar stock but have a child or two, some have a dozen, and we can't afford to come to Honolulu everytime we get the toothache; but since the inter-island has developed a desire to get rich and so is charging us about 7 cents a mile to take us across the wet place between here and Honolulu.

"The board of dental examiners may be all right in there place, but where is that place? They may examine new & up to date dentists and this new dentist be so far and away above this board they don't know what he is talking about and so they cross him off.

"The Kauai Chamber of Commerce has tried to get a dentist and other ways have been tried, and yet no dentist. Now, we want this board of examiners put out of business or let them have a dentist come over here. There is no question but this dental field is a regular bonanza, circumstances substantiate that. Some of us have lived in the States and know what dental prices are or should be.

"Now, we trust you will help us; if you can't, we are going to have a request for a dentist sent to the president of the U. S. A., have it signed by everyone on Kauai who has teeth and can write their name. We will let the president know why we have no dentist & perhaps he can help us by sending some one out here to take the place of that board. It seems President Wilson thinks we have no real men out here. Perhaps he is right.

"One more thing, dear Governor, that is the school question in these islands, please, oh, please take out this system of today that belongs to the dark ages and help install one of the 19th. century, if we can't have [illegible] the 20th. but we would like to have a more modern one. Please help make it more human, much goes on few know about, clean out the house.

"Don't let us have President Wilson know we can't even find a school teacher out here, one justly so called.

"A voice from Kauai."

FOR DANCING

A good design to be used for remodeling a young girl's evening gown of pink messaline and shadow lace is the design above. The double ruffles of lace or net which form the modified minaret tunic transform the plain skirt of messaline into one of the most up-to-date lines. Let over lengths may be used to make the deep girdle which is wrapped about the figure from waist to bust line and held on the left side by a garland of roses. The blouse may be of net or shadow lace as desired, and the sleeve edge and neck are edged with tiny tassels. If net is chosen for bodice and tunic these tassels edge the latter also. A girdle end passes beneath the tunic and hangs at the left side. It is finished with fringe and little silk flowers.

TANOMOSHI TO BE GIVEN HARD RAP

Japanese Merchants Of Honolulu Hard After Common Banking Practice

The Japanese Merchants' Association, of Honolulu has decided to take a firm stand against "Tanomoshi," the scheme of loaning and borrowing money, which flourishes in all the Japanese labor camps of Kauai. There seems to be a wide difference of opinion on Kauai in regard to "Tanomoshi", some of the leading plantation men expressing the opinion that it is not a bad thing, while others affirm with equal positiveness and that it is the curse of the laborers. It is claimed that the downfall of more than one Japanese merchant of Kauai has come as a direct result of "Tanomoshi", while scores of so-called bondsmen have been obliged to flee from the island on account of it, leaving numerous creditors behind. The following concerning the practice of "Tanomoshi" has appeared in one of the Honolulu papers:

"Through a resolution passed at a special meeting Saturday afternoon, the local Japanese Merchants' Association intends taking early and strenuous steps toward wiping out a so-called lottery known as "Tanomoshiko," which is said to have been practiced in the territory for the past 20 years, and which has become more flourishing since the introduction here of the "picture bride" traffic. It is intimated that the members of the Japanese organization intend to invite the cooperation of the Chamber of Commerce of Honolulu in furthering the project.

"'Tanomoshiko' probably is not a lottery in the true sence of the word, but is lassed by the Japanese as a game of chance. It consists of a hui of 12 or more persons who pay to the conductor a sum of money each month, generally $10. The members of the hui then have the privilege of borrowing from the general fund, there being various methods of paying back the money and remitting interest. The system is claimed to be a money-maker for the conductor and for those who contribute to the fund but who do not borrow. While the Japanese Merchants' Association makes no mention of the system being corrupt, it claims that it is a process which is dangerous to the general Japanese business community and therefore plans to wipe it out as far as possible.

"According to the Hawaii Hochi, the organization intends making a thorough investigation of the system, finding out how extensively it exsists and just what wholesale and retail merchants are members of the various huis, if there are any. Reports will then be compiled and distributed for the information of the Nipponese community. It is said that a boycott probably will be placed on those merchants found to be connected with any of the systems. The Japanese organization also intends to arouse the interest of the Chamber of Commerce of Honolulu in the matter, it is said.

"Local Japanese business men infer that plantation laborers form the majority of those who are members of these huis. It is also said that these systems of loaning money have been carried on in the territory for more than 20 years, and that business has been flourishing since the coming of the first party of "picture brides."

WHY "D. K." DOUBLY OBSERVES JUNE 11

Everybody knows D. K. Hayselden, the big, jolly "stone wall" of the Makaweli football team and one of the Hawaiian Sugar Company's most important field men. But how many know what "D. K." stand for and what the words mean?

Hayselden was born on Kamehameha Day—June 11—no, not last year, and, yet, not so far back either. His father and mother were leading figures in governmental affairs in those days, and when Hayselden, Jr., arrived the late King Kalakaua volunteered to name him. The offer was accepted. The King gave the youngster his own name (David) for the first, which accounts for the "D." For a second name the King gave the name "Kanaeaupuni", that being one of Kamehameha's names, or titles, and meaning "The Ruler of a Nation." There the "K" comes in, making the initials "D. K."

So young Hayselden has always "celebrated" Kamehameha Day as a matter of peculiar, personal interest, as well as for its original significance; and last Thursday entertained his friends at Makaweli in honor of the double event.

STAR-BULLETIN SIDESTEPS KUHIO

Declines To Support Delegate For A Seventh Term In Congress

The day of the formal announcement by Delegate Kuhio that he would stand again as a candidate to succeed himself in Congress, the Honolulu Star-Bulletin came out with the following flat-footed refusal to support his candidacy:

"Delegate Kalanianaole's authorized announcement today of his intention to run again will cause no surprise among the politically well-informed. The Delegate's intention has been known for some time.

"He has now announced himself as a candidate for reelection, though it is perhaps significant that he does not declare himself definitely as seeking the Republican nomination nor does he pledge himself to abide by the result of the primaries. The rumor is apparently well-grounded that Kuhio declined the advice of Republican friends who urged him to include such pledges in his announcement. The form in which Kuhio's statement is made will immediately be taken in not a few quarters as evidence that he is leaving the way open to abandon the party if all does not go to his liking. That this may be doing him an injustice will not prevent such suspicions from arising.

A NEGATIVE APPEAL

"As to the announcement itself, it carries no statement of issues, no vigorous appeal to Republican achievement. It is not a strong document nor one that reveals a grasp of the necessities of the situation. It does not stir enthusiasm for the fight on behalf of the prosperity of this Territory such as the next Delegate to Congress must be prepared to make.

"It cannot be denied that the Delegate's last year and a half in office has added nothing to his record or his reputation. His announcement gives the explanation that he has been handicapped by illness, but to the Territory at large it has seemed that there were other reasons. It will be hard for him to explain satisfactorily what has appeared to be apathy and indifference to the course of public measures important to this Territory. There is an unmistakable feeling everywhere that Hawaii's representative has not given his best service and also an unmistakable feeling that if re-elected he will be in no better position to give those services to the people and the interests of Hawaii. He has found it necessary to remain away from Washington for long periods because of a physical disability, and there is no assurance that during the next two years he will not again have to be absent from his post at critical times.

DETRIMENT TO PROGRESS

"The position of Delegate to Washington demands now as never before a man who can be 'on the job' all the time and who will keep in touch with Hawaii's needs and voice them in Washington. During the last year and a half it has become increasingly apparent that the Delegate's usefulness in Washington was lessening, and was practically over. Whether or not this is due to circumstances over which he has no control, it is nevertheless very apparent and a detriment to the progress of Hawaii. We believe the Delegate would have made a wiser choice had he decided not to run for office again, thus leaving the Republican party free to get behind the candidacy of a man on whom all could unite. But the Delegate has made up his mind to seek renomination and reelection, and the voters of the Territory must now make up their minds.

"The Star-Bulletin finds itself unable to support the Delegate for renomination or reelection.

NOTHING PERSONAL

"The position of this paper is taken on no personal grounds. The situation is perfectly obvious. The Delegate's repeated and long-continued absences from Washington have been harmful to Hawaii's interests and exasperating to those who are working hard for Hawaii's prosperity.

"He is out of step with the progress of Hawaii, and through his later actions has alienated those who have stood by him in six successive elections. Even what influence he has gathered from his years at the capital has been nullified, so far as Hawaii's general interests are concerned, by his indifference, lack of foresight and contemptuous attitude toward those who have borne with him.

"The Star-Bulletin feels now strongly that the times demand as Hawaii's representative in congress a man who can give more continuous and energetic service than Kuhio's candidacy promises or his flaccid statement suggest as possible."

THE ADVERTISER IS AGAINST KUHIO

Speaking of the announcement by Kuhio of his intention to run again for the office of delegate in Congress, the P. C. Advertiser, Honolulu, said editorially:

KUHIO'S CANDIDACY

Prince Kuhio has at last formally announced that he will be a candidate, at the coming primary election, for the office of Delegate to Washington.

The fact stares the community in the face that the Delegate has been absent from his post of duty at Washington, for the past two years, with the exception of brief intervals.

He pleads ill health as the reason.

He shows no indication of ill health now. Why does he not return to his post?

There was no claim of ill health while the Tariff Bill was before the house of representatives last spring, involving the financial life of this whole community, with Kuhio in "the incomparable climate of sunny Hawaii."

There was no suggestion of ill health during the last regular session of congress, during which the Delegate was conspicuous by his absence.

The long and short of the situation is, that the people of Hawaii have stood by the Delegate; but he has not stood by the people of Hawaii.

It appears to the man on the street that Prince Kuhio has lost all interest in the office of Delegate, except the salary and mileage end of it.

Hawaii has been in desperate need, recently, of intelligent, persistent and active representation at Washington. It has lacked all three.

It needs it now, and it will need it next year. Is there any reason to expect that it will get it, if Kuhio is again elected as delegate to congress?

The Advertiser believes that Hawaii needs a strong, virile, original thinker, as Delegate at Washington, who will stay "everlastingly at the job," and who will never quit until the last [illegible] would be heart and soul a protectionist in principal (not for sugar only), and know how to defend the faith that is in him.

With the highest appreciation of the kindly and genial personal qualities of the Prince, The Advertiser regrets that he has not seen his way clear to accept the honors which the Territory has heaped upon him, as his fair share, and support some other good man as the representative of Hawaii at the coming election.

LUNCHEON SESSION

ed to the Board of Supervisors at its next regular meeting.

Under the head of "Good of the Chamber", J. M. Lydgate took as his subject the Biblical quotation: "Speak unto the children of Israel that they go forward".

Mr. Lydgate's address in full will appear in next week's paper.

Mr. C. A. Rice apologized for introducing the subject of politics into the meeting, but wished to ask the privilege of addressing the Chamber as a body after the business of the annual meeting in August, and would state in advance that his talk would be upon the political questions of the day. The request was granted, by unanimous consent.

Mr. H. H. Brodie responded to the request for information concerning the status of the Kauai high school and the outlook for a new table start in September. He recited the difficulties encountered by himself as one of the committeemen, and urged that there be stronger community support, particularly in the matter of providing living accommodations for pupils at Lihue.

Attention was here called to the Nawiliwili harbor folder gotten out by the Honolulu Ad Club, a copy of which had been presented to each member present, after which the secretary read that famous anonymous letter to Governor Pinkham, which is published in full elsewhere in this issue.

After thanking the members and their friends for attending in such number, the President again called attention to the annual session in August and the meeting adjourned.

Prof. Waiau's orchestra supplied excellent music on the lanai during the luncheon and at intervals of the meeting; while a corp of neatly gowned Japanese girls, in addition to the regular dining room force, completed a most excellent service. Refreshments were served prior to the luncheon in the card room, and cigars were passed around at the beginning of the social part of the session. The meeting throughout was pleasingly informal, a motion passing right at the start to throw off coats, the members and their friends appearing in their shirt sleeves at the tables.

Our ice cream, at the Lihue Store's soda fountain, is made from fresh cream from the Honolulu Dairymen's Association. Try it. You will like it. Or, better still, take a carton home with you. Adv.

Closing Of Schools
