NAVY GIVEN WIRELESS FOR OAHU

One of World's Most Powerful Plants to Cost $200,000 Is Authorized

Before the end of the present fiscal year Oahu is to have one of the six most powerful wireless stations in the world. It will be located at Pearl Harbor, and will be built and operated by the United States Navy. The cost of construction and equipment will be approximately $200,000.

As far back as last January it was announced that the Navy Department was planning a chain of wireless to link together its stations in the Pacific, and the Far East, and some months ago the Secretary of the Navy sent recommendations to congress covering this project. It was known at that time that Honolulu was included in the circuit, but up to now there has been no definite information as to whether or not the necessary funds were appropriated by the national legislators.

By yesterday's mail Admiral Cowles, commandant of the Honolulu naval station, received a communication from the Bureau of Steam Engineering, of the Navy Department, stating that the present naval appropriation act carried funds for the erection of six wireless stations and that one of these was to be erected on Oahu, designed primarily for inter-communication with similar stations at San Francisco, Guam, and Tutuila Samoa. The commandant is directed to submit a full report on an available site as soon as possible, as, according to the letter the station is to be built during the present fiscal year. The station is to be a 200 kilowatt one, and when it is taken into consideration that the present navy wireless in only 3 1/2 k. w. and that the Poulsen station now operating with San Francisco in only 20 k. w., the tremendous power of the proposed naval plant becomes apparent.

600-Foot Tower.
According to the plans announced by the Secretary of the Navy when the wireless chain was first proposed the Pearl Harbor station will cost $200,000. Originally only five such stations were projected, but it appears from the latest communication that six are to be built, making a total appropriation of $1,200,000 for the work. The local station will have a tower 600 feet in height, and day or night will be able to send out radiograms which will easily reach the San Francisco station, or the Philippines via Guam.

The public works officer will make the necessary investigations and surveys, but it is a foregone conclusion that the station will be located on some part of the Pearl Harbor naval reservation because the land is government-owned, and because conditions there have been pronounced first class for wireless by technical experts. Another strong reason for placing the station at Pearl Harbor

BENCH AND BAR PAY HIGH TRIBUTE TO MEMORY OF THE LATE JUDGE HARTWELL

FRANK E. THOMPSON

President of the Bar Association, who presented resolutions in memorial to Judge Hartwell before the justices of the supreme court assembled at the services this morning.

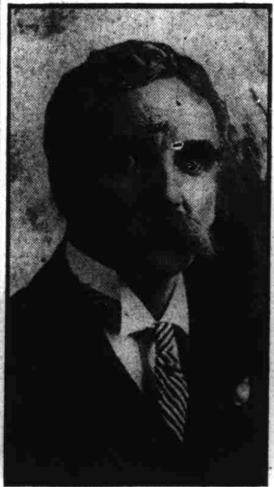

Solemn Services In Honor of Hero

Made impressive by the eulogies, sincerely spoken, of men who had been his associates more or less intimately during the period of nearly half a century that he lived in Hawaii, the memorial service honoring the late Judge A. S. Hartwell was held in the Senate chamber of the government building this morning, with the justices of the Supreme Court presiding.

Hawaii's bench and bar were represented by nearly 100 attorneys and judges, and eight of these arose to testify to the love and respect in which the memory of the departed jurist and Civil War veteran is held.

Among those present, in addition to the justices of the Supreme Court, were U. S. District Judges Dole and Clemens, Circuit Judge H. E. Cooper, Governor Frear and most of the Territorial officials, and a large number of Honolulu's prominent business men.

The tribute of the women of the Territory to the great jurist's memory was acknowledged by the presence also of Mrs. Frear, wife of the Governor; Mrs. J. W. Cathcart, and Mrs. Adams, wife of the prominent Chicago physician and mother of Mrs. Walter Dillingham.

BARS GO UP ON UNDESIRABLES FROM MANILA

Crooks Gathered in Police Net on Luzon; Must Go on to Mainland

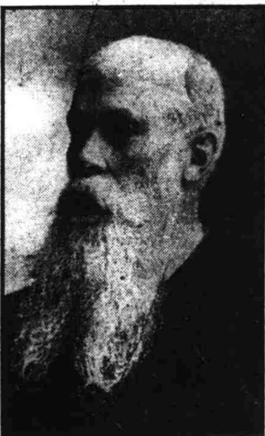

Listed as "indigent citizens" en route from the Philippine islands to the United States, a score of more Americans are traveling under close guard as steerage passengers in the United States Army Transport Logan. A brig jammed to capacity with convicts and others who are alleged to have committed crimes against the Federal or Insular governments, the Logan during her stay at Honolulu will be more than carefully guarded in order that several of the so-called "undesirables" are not given a chance to take French leave of the troops at this port.

DR. HAYNES CHARGED WITH IN-SUBORDINATION AND DISRESPECT TO DR. VANS AGNEW

Called Superior Ignorant and "VET" IS COURT-MARTIALED

Dr. Haynes Charged with insubordination and disrespect to Dr. Vans Agnew
[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondent] SCHOENFELD BARRACKS, Sept. 4.—The opening day's trial by court-martial of Dr. James R. Haynes, Fifth Cavalry, was devoted by the Judge Advocate to arraigning the accused, and making the preliminary developments for the prosecution's attack. The charge alleges conduct to the prejudice of good order and military discipline, and is supported by the specifications. Eight of these are based on an official letter written by Veterinarian Haynes to the Adjutant Fifth Cavalry on July 14th of this year. In this letter it is alleged that Dr. Haynes made free use of language deemed by the authorities to be chargeable as "insubordinate, disrespectful and subversive of discipline."
The objective of the strenuous language was Dr. Vans Agnew, who is Dr. Haynes' superior in army service. It is apparent that Vans Agnew ob-

JUDGE DOLE'S TRIBUTE TO JUDGE HARTWELL

"As a lawyer he possessed great resource, a dogged determination, and withal a stern, unquestioned integrity. His was a great reserve, yet he had a warm and tender heart; knew no fear of obstacles or dangers; bore many scars as a testimonial of his brave gallantry as a soldier, and lived an unblemished public and private life. Such men scarcely need eulogy. They are the true gentlemen."

FISHER NAMES MATTERS WHICH HE WILL PROBE

Comes to Investigate Homestead Question and Kuhio's Charges Only
Just before leaving the mainland for Hawaii, Secretary Fisher set forth his purpose in visiting the Hawaiian Islands as twofold. His aim, he said, was:
First—To investigate the administration of the homestead laws in the Territory of Hawaii; ascertain whether or the many complaints of mismanagement are well founded, and to secure data on which to recommend remedial legislation if that be necessary.
Second—To investigate charges made against the administration of Governor Walter Frear by Delegate Kalaniana'ole. He proposes to have the Governor and Delegate meet him

CALIFORNIA IN BULL MOOSE CAMP

Roosevelt Electors Win--Taft Men Threaten Court Proceedings--Republican Victory in Vermont

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 4.—Progressives in California have won a sweeping victory in the State primaries, according to the figures that have come in from yesterday's balloting. It appears that the entire State was swept by the Bull Moose forces. Roosevelt electors seem sure for the State. It was learned today that the Taft forces will contest the election in the courts because of the presence of the Roosevelt electors on the Republican ticket.

G. O. P. Majority Cut Into

BURLINGTON, Vt., Sept. 4.—For the first time in the history of Vermont, the State has failed to return a Republican majority in a general election, although giving a plurality. Fletcher, Republican candidate for Governor, has won, but the G. O. P. vote has been cut into. Howe, the Democratic candidate, received 19,472 votes, while Fletcher was given 25,072. Metzger, Progressive, ran third, getting 15,070 votes. The Progressives have been claiming the election.

Woman's Suffrage Is Loser

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 4.—Woman's suffrage lost heavily yesterday in the state-wide voting on amendments to the State constitution. The initiative and referendum were adopted.

Ocean Park is Burned Up

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 4.—Ocean Park, the famous amusement resort, was destroyed by fire this morning. Twelve people are missing and are believed to have been killed in the conflagration, the loss from which will reach $1,750,000.

Captain Josselyn Not To Retire From The Sea.

Captain W. L. Josselyn, the well-known navigator, who brought the bark Nuanu around the horn on what is believed to be his last voyage, has no intention of retiring from the sea according to statements made here. Captain Josselyn now contemplates leaving Honolulu on or about the middle of the coming week for the mainland. He proposes to return to his home near Boston, and will soon enter the merchant marine again as the love for a life at sea holds for him too many charms to be cast aside so easily for a more quiet existence on land.

There is no reason for a man of his age in retiring from the sea," declared the popular skipper, today. "I have several good offers and prospects in view upon my return to Boston and New York." Captain Josselyn admitted he might enter steam in place of a sailing craft if the opportunity offered.

Zealandia Will Not Be Crowded

Cheering news to those intending passengers who desire to depart from Honolulu for the North Pacific coast in the Canadian-Australian liner Zealandia has reached this port in a message filed at Suva, which states that the vessel, now enroute from Sydney, via Auckland and Fiji, will arrive here on next Tuesday with ample room for all applicants for cabin transportation to the coast. The Zealandia sailed from Suva yesterday. The vessel will be given a quick dispatch for Vancouver and Victoria. She will berth at the Alakea wharf where a small shipment of Australian products will be discharged.

Interisland Sailings Today.

A delegation of tourists who recently arrived at the port were included in the large list of passengers who departed for Hilo in the interisland flagship Mauna Kea this morning. The steamer carried a number who propose visiting the volcano. A fair shipment of freight was forwarded to the Pig Island in the Mauna Kea. The steamer Waiwale, with a full cargo of supplies and merchandise for Hawaii, was dispatched shortly after the noon hour today and will call at Honokaa and Kukuiahae before returning to Honolulu with a consignment of sugar, and a deck load of cattle.

Expansion Sailed For South Seas This Morning.

Shortly after seven o'clock this morning the American schooner Expansion sailed for Tahiti, and South American ports. This vessel has been under repairs at the port of Honolulu since the middle of August. During the stay here, the Expansion went on the local marine railway where injury to the bottom of the vessel was repaired. The vessel was recaulked and repainted and placed in first class trim for her voyage to the south seas. The Expansion will proceed to Tahiti, there to reload the cargo of lumber, which is destined for South America.

Makura May Bring Many Passengers.

According to advices received at the agency of T. H. Davies & Company, the Canadian Australian liner Makura is to sail from Victoria and Vancouver with a record list of cabin and second class passengers. That a goodly percentage of this list of travelers will stop off at Honolulu is predicted. The Makura is due to arrive here on or about next Wednesday morning. The vessel is to receive a prompt dispatch for Fiji, Auckland and Sydney.

Claudine Bucked Heavy Weather.

Bucking strong head winds, and heavy seas on the return voyage, the inter-island steamer Claudine is back from her regular run to Hawaii and the Maui ports. The voyage is characterized as exceedingly rough. The vessel brought 24 cords slab wood, 20 cords firewood, a quantity of empty bottles, 25 bales hides, 14 boxes and 204 packages sundries. A large list of cabin and deck passengers arrived in the vessel.

Steamer Hall Back With Sugar.

With sugar to the amount of 5304 sacks gathered at Kauai ports, the inter-island steamer W. G. Hall was an arrival at the port this morning. The Hall is reported to have met with rough weather, a strong easterly by north wind blowing during the greater part of the voyage. In addition to sugar, the vessel brought consignments of fruits and sundries.

Nuanu Taking On Ballast.

Destined for Puget Sound, or the Columbia river, the bark Nuanu has today received the first of the necessary ballast with which to trim ship. The Nuanu is expected will be dispatched for the west coast of the United States under the command of Captain Kitchen on or about the last of this week.

Hilonian Away for Port Allen This Evening.

The Matson Navigation freighter Hilonian will be dispatched for Port Allen and the regular island ports of call this evening. The vessel has much cargo and lumber for discharge at island ports before a shipment of sugar for San Francisco can be loaded aboard.

Hilonian Not Damaged Through Collision.

Little or no damage was done to the Matson Navigation steamer Hilonian, now at this port, through a collision with the freight steamer Edith, which occurred during a dense fog, while the vessel lay at Tacoma, taking on cargo destined for Honolulu. The steamer Edith is reported to have jammed the Hilonian at the fairway dock. The Hilonian is said to not have been harmed and the Edith backed off and slowly disappeared in the fog.

Oceanic Officials In The Ventura.

Vice President F. S. Samuels, and Attorney Mordette of the Oceanic steamship line are through passengers in the liner Ventura from Sydney, by the way of Pago Pago, which vessel is due to arrive at Honolulu early tomorrow morning. The Ventura was 610 miles off port at eight o'clock last night. According to a late wireless, the vessel has 19 cabin 11 second class and 5 steerage passengers. Seventy eight tons cargo is destined for landing at Honolulu. C. Brewer & Company the local agents expect to dispatch the Ventura for San Francisco at five o'clock in the evening.

Kibbing Reports on Hilo Shipping.

Purser Charles Kibbing, of the Inter-Island steamer Claudine reported the Matson Navigation steamer Enterprise, the American schooners A. F. Coates and the E. K. Wood at Hilo. These vessels are being discharged of cargoes of lumber and general merchandise, while the Matson steam Navigation steamer will be given a shipment of sugar before being dispatched for San Francisco. The schooner Robert R. Hind was reported at Kahului, where a consignment of lumber is being discharged.

Band Played as Lurline Sailed.

The Royal Hawaiian band played a pleasing serenade as the Matson Navigation steamer Lurline cleared her wharf for San Francisco last evening, talking 47 cabin and 14 steerage passengers. The Lurline sailed from Hackfeld wharf, with a cargo made up of extensive shipments of sugar, 32,000 cases of preserved pineapples and a quantity of sundries. The Lurline was given a later mail for the mainland.

PASSENGERS FIND TRANSPORT ROOMY

Passengers on the transport Logan have plenty of elbow room this trip, for besides the undesirable citizens who are being deported from the Philippines, there is only a handful of officers, casuals and discharges aboard. Major Elvin R. Seiber, a cavalry officer now with the Philippine Scouts, is the senior line officer aboard, and consequently in command. Following is the list of officers traveling to the states together with a number of men in each class: Maj. Elvin R. Seiber, Philippine Scouts, commanding; Maj. H. E. Ely, P. S., Capt. M. C. Butler, Capt. Charles C. Butt, Capt. Philip Powers, Chaplain S. M. Lutz, Lieutenants M. Demmen, P. S.; A. T. Rich, J. F. Leeper, W. F. Kershner, M. R. C.

Sick List: general prisoners, 35; casuals, line 6, staff corps and department's 9.

For discharge: Infantry, 4; 24th Infantry, 19; Cavalry, 17; Coast 12; Field Artillery, 11; Engineers, 3. Cabled orders received within the past few days have kept a number of Schofield officers on the jump, preparing to travel on short notice to the Coast on the Logan, to attend the School of Musketry at Monterey. The officers chosen are: Lieutenants G. C. Packer and Jesse M. Ladd, First Infantry; Lieutenants G. M. Holloran and Fred Cook, Second Infantry; Captain H. O. Willard and Lieutenant John Winter, Fifth Cavalry; Lieutenant Cook left in the August transport.

Captain Albert T. Faulkner, former of the First Field Artillery with station at Schofield Barracks but now on leave, has effected a transfer with Captain James H. Bryson of the Fourth Field Artillery. The latter officer is expected to join his new regiment here in the near future.

Sailing from Honolulu on August 25th the British steamship Saim Kilda is reported to have arrived at Noyo, Cal., on Monday.

ROSECRANS NOW A TOTAL LOSS

The Associated Oil tanker Rosecrans, which has made more or less regular voyages to Honolulu and Hawaiian ports for the past several years, has been totally destroyed through fire which on August 27th burned that vessel to the water's edge while lying at the wharf at Gaviota, where a shipment of fuel oil was being pumped into her tanks destined for Redondo.

Through an explosion the vessel took fire, Captain Johnson and his crew were at supper at the time and rushed into boats when they saw flames shooting up from the hatches. The Rosecrans, besides being one of the most ill-fated of the Associated Oil Company's tank fleet, was a ship of eventual history.

In the twenty-nine years that she sailed the sea her decks were marked by a number of sinister souvenirs. The last March 12 and two lives were lost, her crew came to the conclusion that she was hopelessly hoodooed.

It was aboard the Rosecrans that the man who informed upon the authors of the Phoenix Park murders in Dublin was slain when the steamer bore the name of the Methven Castle.

The Rosecrans saw service under the British and American flags, and was a transport for the United States Government during the Spanish-American war.

The Rosecrans was launched early in 1883 at Glasgow, Scotland. The vessel was acquired by the United States government at the outbreak of the Spanish-American war, and placed in the army transport service under the name of the Rosecrans, after General Rosecrans of Civil War fame.

FERN APPROVES POLITICAL MOVE BY SIGNING BILL

Mayor Fern yesterday afternoon signed the ordinance authorizing the board of supervisors to hire another clerk. This ordinance, which was opposed by local businessmen and a minority of three in the board of supervisors itself, is axiomatic the first step in the establishment of a municipal paper. The supervisors who jammed it through say they will try to get the next legislature to make provision for a municipal paper.

When asked this morning as to his reasons for signing the bill despite the opposition, Mayor Fern said that if the next board doesn't want the clerk, it can get rid of him, as it is not bound by the acts of the present board.

The majority of the board which insisted on the enactment of the measure has been openly charged with trying to secure an official publication as a political maneuver. Arnold, Low and Dwight voted against the ordinance and there was some hope that the mayor would veto it, as he expressed an opinion only a few days ago that the bill is "a bad thing" but he disposed of doubt as to his real attitude yesterday by signing the bill.

NAVY TO GET WIRELESS

is that power can be secured from the naval power plant now being installed. This will have a capacity of 2000 h.p., and the 270 h.p. represented by 200 kilowatts, can be given without any trouble.

New Law on Wireless. With the news that Oahu is to be one of the leaders of the world in wireless, comes a copy of a congressional act passed August 13, which regulates the operation of wireless by commercial companies. Under the new law, which becomes effective four months from date of passage, commercial concerns must not transmit messages during the first fifteen minutes of each hour, local time, where there is any conflict between them and the government stations.

In Honolulu at the present time there is an informal agreement giving the navy station half of each hour and the commercial concerns the other half, but this has not proved entirely satisfactory. Since the powerful Poulsen system was installed, the weaker navy plant has had considerable difficulty in getting messages through even when the former station was receiving, and has been put completely out of commission when the other outfit was sending messages. The act above referred to goes into the contingencies in detail, and is designed to prevent interference with government work. When the Pearl Harbor station is working, though, the navy will have the "superiority of fire," and will be able to work without fear of interruption from any other station or ship.

in this Territory by a single corporation. There is a possibility of the formation of a new sugar plantation by the companies named in a partnership like that of the Maui Agricultural Co., which handles the operations of five corporations on Maui.

Mr. Swanzy, attorney in fact of the grantor in these land deals, was asked today if the recording of the deeds signified the starting of a new plantation. He replied:

"The companies in question are thus far merely land companies. They have passed the first anniversary of their birth.

"As to the starting of a plantation, that depends on many things, such as the labor question, the price of sugar, and the Kaeleku plantation is already using some of the lands."

Hamao was one of the older Maui plantations, adjoining Hana plantation for several years past, Kaeleku Sugar Co.'s plantation. The ruins of Hamao sugar mill are still visible to the traveler along the Hana ocean front.

Distribution of Land. Mrs. Gribbaum's grant to Hamao Agricultural Co. comprises twelve distinct parcels and interests, aggregating 543.81 acres, and the price is $19,500.

To Kawaipapa Agricultural Co. 20 twenty-six parcels and interests aggregating 559.59 acres, 3 roads and 20 perches, the consideration being $11,100.

Hanao Agricultural Co.'s purchase comprises thirteen parcels and interests, containing a total of 944.93 acres, and the price is $18,500.

Honomaie Agricultural Co. has come seized of six parcels and interests, the largest being ten-twelfths of 1000 acres and the aggregate of all 831.25 acres, for a consideration of $17,200.

The total acreage passing in these deeds is a fraction over 2910 acres, and the total of prices is $58,000.

VOYAGE OF JUNK NINGPO ACROSS PACIFIC HAS BEEN ABANDONED

Following a succession of misfortunes, the attempt to sail the gallant old Chinese war junk Ningpo across the Pacific from Shanghai to Los Angeles, Calif., has been abandoned, according to the announcement made at Honolulu this morning on the arrival of the Toyo Kisen Kaisha liner Nippon Maru.

Officers in the Japanese steamer, which has completed a rather stormy passage from the China and Japan coasts state that the war junk Ningpo was obliged to put into Woosung, the river port, some sixteen miles down the Waungpo river from Shanghai.

At the time the Nippon Maru called at Woosung, the venerable junk was lying at the outer anchorage, much the worse for her series of encounters with the elements. An examination made at the instance of Captain Scurr, master of the Chinese craft, disclosed the fact that the Ningpo was in no condition to withstand the possible long passage prevailing heavy seas and strong gales throughout this season of the year off the China coast.

The refusal of the picked crew to further work the junk is declared this morning by officers in the Nippon Maru as the direct cause of the abandonment of a trip which is believed would have been fraught with much hardship if not loss of life.

From the moment that the junk left Shanghai and shaped a course for the Korean strait, with the mainmast three-quarters hoisted, she was compelled to beat, the strong tides precluding progress until, at daylight on the following morning, she found herself still alongside the Fairway buoy. Again the wind hauled to S.S.E. and with fine weather the junk once more stood out to sea, heading this time for Van Dieman's Strait. During that day a moderate swell commenced to roll in from the southeast, which increased toward nightfall when it was found that the fore and mainmasts were working dangerously at the chocks and the crew was obliged to take in the foresail and close reef the main in order to lessen the strain on the partners. As the night wore on the swell increased, though at no time was there a really heavy sea, and the ship, which had been straining badly, commenced to make water rapidly three feet having accumulated in the wells during eight hours. The chain sling which supports the mainmast at the mast head carried away owing to the ring having broken and the mainmast came down with a run, the heavy spar being overboard with part of the sail. Efforts were made to get the spar inboard again, but a number of the men still suffering from the effects of the motion and there being some danger of the spar holing the hull, it was deemed advisable to cut away the wreckage and the canvas was cut through at the third reef and the spar allowed to float away. While this was being done, the mizzenmast, on which no sail was set at the time, went by the board owing to the heavy rolling of the ship, carrying away with it the lee side of the taffrail.

Captain Scurr, the master of the junk, was to have taken his departure for Europe on a line to follow the Nippon Maru. It was freely stated at Shanghai that no further attempt would be made to sail the venerable craft across the Pacific following the declaration of crew and officers in the junk who approached Captain Scurr, insisting that he put back to Shanghai. An examination of the vessel was made when it was discovered that she was badly strained and making water rapidly; yielding to the inevitable, Captain Scurr decided to put back. The helm was put up and under a close reefed fore sail a course was shaped for the Fairway Buoy, where she arrived after working tides up to Woosung, was towed up to Shanghai by the Shun-yuen, arriving at her berth at Gang-tze-poo. Much sympathy will be accorded Captain Scurr, who has been successful, but in the circumstances it is admitted that the responsibility of 19 lives on a craft of such age is too great a risk when it is required to face the wild weather of the Pacific.

On arrival at Shanghai the crew were paid off to avoid needless expense to her owner and two watchmen placed on board while the owner was cabled to find out what he proposed to do with the craft.

HACK AND AUTO IN CRASH

According to a report made by Motorcycle Officer Chilton, Hack 141, owned by Ah Chuck, and Auto 918, A. P. McDonald driver, collided yesterday afternoon in King street, as a result of which both vehicles were damaged. Chilton reports that the auto skidded some distance. The auto is said to have been going westward on King street and the hack eastward when the accident happened, near Richards. Mr. McDonald declined to make a statement on the matter this afternoon.

The local marksmen will be pitted against six-man teams from the Mare Island and Bremerton barracks, and will also take part in the individual competition of the division.

TRIBUTE PAID HARTWELL

as friends of long personal acquaintance with Judge Hartwell. Following this a communication from Attorney R. P. Quarles, who was unable to be in the city, was read, and the service closed with a eulogy by Chief Justice Robertson, speaking from the Supreme Court.

Resolutions Adopted.

The following resolution, adopted by the Bar Association of Hawaii was read by President F. E. Thompson. "Whereas, on the 30th day of August, 1912, Alfred Steadman Hartwell, a member of the bar of the Territory and formerly an Associate Justice and recently the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, was removed from our midst by the hand of death; and

"Whereas, it is fitting that the Bar should place upon record an expression of its appreciation of the life and services to his country of our late brother; and

"Whereas, the Bar of Hawaii has during more than forty years last past, recognized the sterling worth and integrity of our lamented associate, who came to us after a distinguished career on the mainland, a native of Massachusetts, of the best blood of New England, he was generously educated at the great university of that commonwealth, his services to his country began during the turbulent period of the late Civil War in which he twice enlisted in the Union army where he served that cause with distinction and bravery, not pick his team until the last minute, the selection depending on the showing made by the men after their arrival.

Following are the men who will make the trip under Captain McDugal's command.

Corporals Leenyer and Austin; Privates Lynch, H. Martin, C. H. Martin, Gall, Seber, Andrews, Varnum and Fisher.

The marine team from here will shoot against the Bremerton and Mare Island teams, the course being 200, 300 and 500 yards, slow fire, and 25 and 50 yards with a pistol.

The division competition for individuals consists of 200, 300, 500 and 700 yards slow fire, 200, 300 and 500 yards rapid fire, and one skirmish run. This course is shot over twice, making about 200 shots in all per man.

While rapid promotion includes that of Brevet Brigadier-General for conspicuous gallantry in the field. After the close of the war, he entered the practice of his profession in his native State. Thereafter in the year 1868 he received an appointment by Kamehameha V as First Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the Hawaiian Kingdom, which office he assumed soon after his arrival here about September 30, 1868.

Under Three Kings. He served with ability and distinction under two sovereigns, Kamehameha V and Lunalilo, resigning to accept the office of Attorney General in the first cabinet of Kalakaua, upon the election of the latter monarch to the throne of Hawaii, February 12, 1874.

He served but a few months in that office, retiring with the rest of the cabinet in May of the same year, when he entered upon active practice at the Hawaiian Bar.

In 1876 he was again called to the cabinet as Attorney General, in which office he continued until July 3, 1878, when the cabinet of which he was a member retired.

Resuming private practice at the bar, Judge Hartwell continued actively in harness and won speedy recognition as a leader in his profession, so continuing until the summer of 1887.

He closed up his business in Hawaii and went abroad with his family, expecting to remain there; but like many another both before and since that date, he found the lure of Hawaii so strong as to draw him back to the land of his earlier adoption.

From the time of his return in the year 1885, he continued in active practice until his reappointment to the Supreme Bench in 1904 as Associate Justice, in which position he continued until August 15, 1907, when having been promoted to the Chief Justiceship he assumed the duties of that office, continuing therein until March, 1911, at which time, owing to advancing years and indifferently health he voluntarily resigned from the bench.

The interval since his retirement was spent largely in foreign travel interspersed with periods of residence at his home in the City of Honolulu, which he had grown to love so well, and Tribute of Associates. Whereas, it is the unanimous tribute of this Bar who have practiced in either association with, or in opposition to the late Judge Hartwell, of whose professional engagements have brought them into contact with him in his capacity as an Associate Justice or as Chief Justice of this Court, that he has ever borne himself in those relations with a quiet and unassuming dignity, unflinching courtesy, with a fine conception of the ethics of his profession and of his duties both to the Bar and to the Bench.

In his relation toward the younger and less experienced member of the profession Judge Hartwell especially shone as counsellor and as a friend, and many of those practicing at this rate acknowledge with pleasure and gratitude the benefits derived by them from association with him in his office as practitioner.

Therefore, Be It Resolved, that the Bar of Hawaii hereby gives expression to its sentiment of profound respect for the memory of him whose departure we mourn, and to its sense of the loss sustained not only by the Bench and Bar of Hawaii but by the Territory at large in the removal of one who throughout nearly half a century had given constant proof of his worth as a citizen, a lawyer and jurist; and

Be It Further Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the records of this Court.

Letter from Quarles. The following communication from R. P. Quarles was read by the Supreme Court clerk:

"Compelled to leave for Maui this morning, and unable to be present at the memorial exercises in honor of the late Chief Justice, Alfred S. Hartwell, I wish to add, in addition to the eulogies which will be delivered, a few lines, the only course possible for me to do so.

"I am glad that I knew Judge Hartwell. When I came to the Islands, in February, 1908, he was one of the few men that I met who seemed to feel an interest in me and in my welfare. The kindly words that I received from him touched a tender place in my heart and left an impression which is ineffaceable. I found him to be a scholarly gentleman, a sound lawyer, a jurist of high rank, and greatest of all, he impressed me as being one of nature's truest noblemen.

"The many decisions that he wrote which are reported in the Hawaiian Reports are the very best evidence of his ability as a jurist, and as so often happens, position, authority and power placed in his hands did not turn his head, make him arbitrary, or cause him to be hypercritical.

"Judge Hartwell took a commendable pride in the efficiency and reputation of the Bench of his Honorable Court. He wanted to see it in the fore-front so far as being an authority on great questions of law concerned. This pardonable pride, this intense interest in the success and good name of the courts of his country, is a trait which all judges should possess, tending as it does, to the elevation of the standards of Bench and Bar, and to the best interests of the people generally. I would like to say more, but these few, brief words will show the esteem in which I held him, the affection that I entertained for him. I am, indeed, glad that I knew him, and felt that he was my friend; glad that I had the opportunity to love and admire him."

Judge Dole spoke briefly of Judge Hartwell's record in the Islands achieved during his forty-four years' residence here. He said that when Hartwell came to the Supreme Court in 1868 as an Associate Justice that body was badly in need of new blood, as those already here were too busily engaged in private enterprises to give the court work the attention it needed. During Hartwell's three years' service he took up the brunt of the business, writing some fifty-five decisions, in addition to handling the multiplicity of details with which the court was encumbered. At that time the Supreme Court, Judge Dole said, was a trial court also, and Judge Hartwell's duties carried him to all parts of the Islands, hearing jury cases and settling civil and equity disputes.

"He must have been a very busy man," Judge Dole commented. "Yet in my experience at that time I was able to see that he was very capable. He was strict in court conduct; he never overlooked a good point in a case and seemed unerringly to pick out the material from the immaterial and inconsequential. He displayed unswerving integrity and promptness in all that he undertook." First Prosecution. Judge Dole said he remembered that Hartwell's first work as Attorney General under King Kalakaua was the prosecution of a number of Hawaiians for participation in the election riots that occurred at the time Kalakaua was chosen ruler of the Islands.

Hartwell's handling of that case impressed Judge Dole so forcibly and his final argument to the jury was so powerful that the speaker remembered the words of a portion of that masterly address, and quoted them. Most of the cases Hartwell prosecuted resulted in convictions.

Judge Dole said that when, a few months later, Hartwell resigned his office as Attorney General and went into private practice, he was quite timid. He frequently discussed his retirement with Dole, and displayed a strange lack of self confidence in his ability to make a livelihood as a private attorney. He wondered if he and his family would be able to live on an income of $1200 a year.

His first cases, Dole said, came in police court, and he prepared his arguments and evidence with as much attention to detail as though he were appearing before the Supreme Court. The masterful way in which he handled them immediately proved a great advertisement, and his practice developed so rapidly that he soon became known as one of the leading practitioners in the Islands.

Had Warm Heart. Judge Dole said that some persons had gained the impression Hartwell was cold and distant in his bearing toward his fellow men. "I think that idea was due to a want of knowledge of his character," said the speaker. "He had a great reserve, but underneath it all was a very warm and tender heart."

Attorney General Lindsay said he had known Hartwell twenty-five years, though he had enjoyed intimate personal acquaintance only for the last ten years. During that time he had learned of the great jurist's simplicity and sweetness of character.

Emphasizing by an anecdote from life the late judge's tenderness of heart, he told of a trip he and Judge Hartwell made several years ago to Chicago. It was shortly after the great San Francisco fire, and the city by the Golden Gate was still smoldering in ashes. On the car which he and Hartwell took out of Oakland was a poor German family that had lost everything in the fire. There were several small children. Hartwell purchased a quantity of fresh fruit and gave it to the children, later holding a conversation of several hours' duration with the aged father, chatting freely with him in the German language, with which Judge Hartwell appeared perfectly familiar.

"Hartwell possessed an utter lack of ostentation and false pride," said Lindsay. "He was an ideal father, a brave soldier, an honest and upright judge. Surely it can be said: 'Well done, thou good and faithful servant, enter into thy Kingdom.'"

Cathcart Revives Memory. City and County Attorney John W. Cathcart, who proved to be the orator of the day, recalled the fact that he had appeared before the Supreme Court once before to express the regret of the Bar Association at Judge Hartwell's retirement from the Supreme Court bench. He, like many others of the bar, had been intimately acquainted with the jurist, and like the others, had learned that beneath the reserve on the surface was a wealth of tender sentiment.

He asserted that in his declining years the judge frequently referred to the tempestuous, stirring days of his youth, and of how, in his visits with his intimate friends, he relived again the deeds of those times. At such times, he said, Judge Hartwell seemed reincarnated, as he lived it all over again, and said that his eyes lighted up with fires that none who had seen him on the bench ever knew had existed.

Cecil Brown, endorsing the resolution, remarked that he himself is now the oldest practicing attorney in the Territory, with the exception of Judge Dole. Briefly he spoke of his long friendship with Judge Hartwell, saying that every memory of the man was a pleasure which he would cherish as long as he lives. "He has left a character, reputation and general standing in the community of which his family and friends may always be proud," said Brown.

Death Personal Loss. "The news of his death came to me with a shock of personal loss," declared Attorney C. W. Ashford. "I knew him for thirty years. Shortly after my arrival here I was admitted to the bar to assist in his practice, and from the day I met him to the time when I did not enjoy the reflection of his respect and worth in the legal business that came to our firm."

His first knowledge of Hartwell's dogged determination, resourcefulness and worthy friendship came when Ashford sought admittance to the bar. A new law had been passed that ordinarily would have kept him from practicing for about five years. But Judge Hartwell, after trying several expedients that failed dismally, finally dug up an ancient act, so old that it had been forgotten, whereby a grant of letters to an attorney might be made permitting a newcomer to enter the law practice immediately. This was brought into use and Ashford was admitted to the bar six months after his arrival.

He said that Hartwell's dignity and apparent coldness was only the outer crust of a nature within that was filled with courtesy, kindness and deep sympathy that proved most wonderful to those who ventured to break through the outer reserve.

He said that Hartwell is the sixth Supreme Court justice of the Islands to die since he—Ashford—came to Hawaii. Four of the others were Austin, Preston, McCully, and Judd.

JUNE

By GEORGE FITCH

June, the peerless month of roses and romance, strawberries and straw hats, soft breezes and still softer conversation, is the most poetic month of the year. By June Nature has gotten over her waking up grunch and has gotten down to her job of upholding the world in flowers and vegetation. The world is handsomer in June than in any other month and the weather has more decent intervals.

In June, people fall in love with each other without effort and get married in the evening under floral bells in the presence of large companies of invited presents. June averages a wedding every 1 1/2 seconds. It isn't June weather, however, which makes its weddings, but the fact that it usually takes until June for the prospective bridegroom to recover from Christmas and save enough for his wedding trip.

June is also very prolific in commencements. In June thousands of eager young high school students and collegians graduate in loud, clear tones and hundreds of college towns sink into a comatose state for the next three months. Commencement is a very happy season for newly fledged graduates and also for the weary fathers who foot the college bills, for "commencement" means "Get-through-ment" for them.

June gives us our early spring vegetables, our cherries and presidential nominees and also our tornadoes and bugs. These are its greatest drawbacks. The June tornado is unusually fierce and carnivorous and the beautiful, hazy lazy June weather must be strained through screens before it is let into the house, in order to free it from its vast entomological deposits. In June the International Bugs' union holds a convention around every arc light and the friendly but undesirable June Bug enters many a peaceful home through the keyhole and gets so tangled up in daughter's golden hair that she has to take it off and beat it with a club to get rid of him.

In June the music of a million bird-mingles with the twitter of ten thousand lawn mowers and the swift, sultry swat of the folded newspaper as it caves in the ribs of the early summer fly. In June the woodland ants

CONKLING WIRES BOUND FOR HOME

Two cablegrams received by Governor Frear this morning from Territorial Treasurer Conkling carry the information that the official leave New York this afternoon for San Francisco enroute home.

The communication also states that $590,000 of the Territorial bonds have been delivered and the cash payments for them received. This, it is understood, means that the remainder of the $1,500,000 issue will not be delivered now, but handed over to the purchasers later, thus saving to the Territory the interest that would accrue on the bonds if they were delivered now.

About 115,000 of the sum now in Conkling's hands will be left in the East; $40,000 of this to pay interest on other bonds accruing this month, and $75,000 to redeem bonds which expire soon. The money for these two payments is already in the Territorial treasury here, but instead of sending it East it will be transferred to the loan fund, thus saving the expense of the extra monetary transfer between Honolulu and New York.

WILL BEGIN HEARING ON CASE OF SHIP OTERIC

Hearing of the case against James P. Findlay, T. Clive Davies and W. H. Baird, bondsmen for the ship Oteric, will begin in the U. S. district court tomorrow morning. The case arose early in the year when the Oteric brought immigrants to Honolulu that were not in proper physical condition to be landed. The government brought suit against the ship, the latter finally appealing from the lower to the supreme court. Meantime the Oteric was permitted to proceed on her way, the three men mentioned above appearing as her bondsmen. The suit was finally decided against the defendant, and now suit is brought against the bondsmen to compel them to pay the fine assessed the Oteric.

WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBER 4, 1912

We can reason down a man's theology, but we cannot reason down the like of a Christian man.—Alexander McKenzie.

It was well said of the late Judge Hartwell that he was a true gentleman. Gentle, yet a man in every sense of the word.

THE HIGH COST OF DRINKING

Of the various elements in the high cost of living from which the American people are now suffering, the "booze bill" is one of the heaviest and most unnecessary.

Men on moderate salaries who are habitual users of intoxicants would probably be the first to complain if their wives should each day spend a dollar or two dollars on wholly useless finery or needless expense.

The querulous complaints of thousands of men that the high cost of living eats up every cent they make has much of its origin in their own foolish extravagance in this matter of occasional drinking.

As to the nation's extravagance in this respect, here is a paragraph from a speech by Eugene W. Chafin, Prohibition candidate for president, which not one of the other presidential candidates, it is safe to say, will dare answer:

The liquor traffic takes considerably more than a hundred million bushels of grain each year to make liquor for the United States. Nearly a million men are engaged in making and distributing liquor. They support families of four millions more.

ADVANCE-NOTE ON THE TOURIST SEASON

Speaking of tourists, as we do from time to time in that cordial tone adopted by hotelkeepers and others, Honolulu is losing half the worth of a very tangible asset by failure to spend a little attention and money out at Waikiki beach.

Now this is not a new subject, but it deserves emphasis because next winter the bathing facilities will be even more inadequate than they were last season.

We have painted Waikiki's charms so often on those fascinating colored post-cards, we have sung of the beach and the water and the palms so often in verses to be mailed to friends on the chilly mainland, that we have neglected to provide bathhouses and bathing facilities of the kind that satisfy the tourist.

houses, keep competent attendants and free the beach of coral?

Of course it costs money. But it's worth while. Penny wise and pound foolish applies to Waikiki beach public bathing facilities very closely.

REGULATING THE DANCE-HALLS

Public demand has finally forced the "dance-hall ordinance" from the desk in the city hall where it had been conveniently pigeon-holed, whether by the chairman of the police committee, Murray, or the deputy city attorney cannot be definitely determined.

The ordinance came out last night in a much-changed form. The deputy city attorney holds that it would be unwise to put the enforcement of the ordinance in the hands of a special commission, pointing out legal difficulties, such as the fact that the board of supervisors has no right to delegate its powers to the commission.

In theory, this is doubtless right, and as a matter of municipal usance, the police department should regulate the dance-hall evil. But this community has no confidence that the police committee as at present constituted and the police department as it is now run would enforce the ordinance.

It has taken nearly two months to get the ordinance out of the pigeon-hole, and now it has been again referred to the deputy city attorney and the police committee, in whose hands it was neglected until an outraged public sentiment demanded action.

And if this is to be the experience of Honolulu men and women earnest in their desire to check the loathsome dance-hall evil, are they to be blamed for wishing a public commission to see that the paid officials do their duty?

ROOSEVELT AND SUFFRAGE

Some of the Star-Bulletin's readers may wonder why this paper has on several occasions expressed doubt as to Col. Roosevelt's sincerity in certain of his present campaign issues. A few weeks ago, the Colonel's sudden conversion to the cause of woman's suffrage was commented upon.

One of the colonel's avowed newspaper supporters, writing from Chicago at the time of the convention, is frank enough to tell just how the colonel's mind was wavering on the suffrage issue. The following quotation is from a newspaper dispatch which is too long for republication in full, but the whole tenor of which was favorable to Roosevelt:

"Col. Roosevelt did not make up his mind to endorse equal suffrage unqualifiedly until yesterday morning. In the early copies of his speech sent out in advance for publication he hedged in his utterances on the subject, but, after noting the interest of women here in his movement and talking with some of them, he made the flat announcement favoring votes for women.

Does anyone wish plainer evidence that Roosevelt adopted the suffrage issue as a vote-getter, not because of a steadfast conviction that women are entitled to the ballot?

Link McCandless asks with heat why it is that the Republican precincts of the Fourth district, such as Manoa, get all the street improvements asked for while the Democratic precincts in the Fifth get nothing. Link is slightly off in his premises. Manoa is even now complaining to the board of supervisors that not a dollar has been spent in road improvements there for a year and a half.

Mayor Fern has signed the ordinance authorizing the supervisors to employ another clerk, adding another salary—against the protest of local businessmen. The mayor's excuse is that the next board is not bound by the actions of this board and doesn't have to employ the clerk. We should hope not!

Senator Cummins is going to vote for Roosevelt although he is against the third party, a sacrifice of principles that ought to appeal to the Bull Moose people.

It is to be hoped that the new auto police patrol will not have to break any speed records.

LITTLE INTERVIEWS

SUPERVISOR ROBERTSON. No one may have a right to be a supervisor without a right to be a politician.

SHERIFF JAMES T. NOLAN of the police department, and I hope, the city with a new method of getting the lines assessed all those who are eligible to ride in the new harbor.

HARBOR OFFICER J. C. MURPHY. There are one or two fellows hanging around the transport boat who I have every reason to suspect are contemplating a getaway to the Coast in this vessel. Maybe they will and again maybe they won't.

ALEXANDER YOUNG. Many of the Australian ironwoods, "cottonwood" planted in Kapiolani Park by Captain Makee are showing signs of impending death. I fear they will all eventually die, and ascribe the cause to the stagnant water. It only there were money enough to make of Kapiolani Park that which it should be.

PALOLOIITE. This is the month during which an inspection of the city will be made for leaky faucets, and if any be found those responsible will be fined. A harbor captain told me that recently he had occasion to be on duty all night, moving about the harbor, and that during the quiet he could hear water running from about every supply tap on the coast.

OAHU ENJOYS SMALL BOOM

Great activity in small parcels on Oahu at an advance of one-eighth point is the feature of today's Stock Exchange sheet. The uniform price is 27.87 1/2, at which a total of 30 shares sold between boards and 20 on the board, an aggregate of 50 shares.

Lua still down an eighth point to 21.375 for 55 shares reported. There is no change in Paia at 215 for 10 shares, or in Hawaiian Commercial at 44.50 for three lots aggregating 60 shares. Waialua fell off a point in a sale of 10 shares on the board at 125.

O. R. & L. is unchanged at 141 for 20 shares. Inter-Island shows a profit gain in a sale of 5 shares at 294. Hilo Railroad common holds 7.75 for 50 shares in two equal lots, and Pineapple 44 for 10 shares. Three 5000 lots of Oha sixes sold unchanged at 997.50, while Hilo Extension stock fell a quarter point in a sale of $5000 at $94.50.

Compared with many recent days the securities market looks vigorous.

B. von Damm last night called at Kuhio head-quarters and chatted briefly with Wm. H. Crawford, Secretary Hakuole welcomed the visitor.

The Astor estate owns several of the New York gambling houses being investigated in connection with the Rosenthal murder.

When a man speaks of such a visit you may know he is a failure.

Killam To Give Impetus To Y. M. C. A. Religious Work

Secretary Super Gives Reasons for Engaging Assistant Well Qualified

Lloyd R. Killam, who comes to the city to take the position of assistant general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., will give his special attention to the religious work of the association. Three things, said Secretary Super, led to Mr. Killam's addition to the force, the first being the opportunity for religious work in the building on account of the large attendance at the Sunday classes and the number of men using the building.

McCANDLESS OFF ON TRIP

Link McCandless, who has been in the city for some time, is going on a trip to the Coast in this vessel. Maybe they will and again maybe they won't.

There are one or two fellows hanging around the transport boat who I have every reason to suspect are contemplating a getaway to the Coast in this vessel. Maybe they will and again maybe they won't.

Henry Cobb Adams, of Lananae has pledged himself, it is said today, to vote for Kuhio and Kaito only in the Republican territorial convention.

Adams, according to Clydes H. Jones, secretary of the precinct, who came to town this morning, has the confidence of the voters of Kaneohe. They believe that Adams will carry out the instruction of his precinct to vote for the Prince when the question of the delegateship is brought up.

The nominees for delegates to the county convention, held in Lananae, are Harold K. Gustaf, Frank Padua, Clydes H. Jones, John L. L. and Otto Lindberg. One of this number four people are wanted to represent the interests and welfare of the Kaneohe-Hea in the convention.

Jones said that L. L. L. is the weakest one in the combination politically, but the latter is determined to make a fight.

THE JAHALOM
Was a stone in the breast plate of the high priest. It was without price, and few but kings could possess one. The Greeks called it "Diamas."
We could call our diamonds anything—even "Jahaloms"—and sell them, because of their exquisite beauty. And each gem is personally selected, carefully graded, and plainly marked for what it is.
You are safe in buying here.

Statistics gathered by George W. Paty of the Anti-Saloon League show that the Territory of Hawaii spends more than $1,000,000 yearly for intoxicating liquors, and that the imports from San Francisco alone during 1911 totaled over half a million dollars. Mr. Paty secured his figures from the official journals of the breweries and distillers and presented them in a lecture he gave in the K. of P. Hall recently. He said in part:

"What do figures show in regard to Honolulu? According to the Pacific Wine and Spirits Review of San Francisco, the value of liquors shipped to Honolulu in 1911 was $529,855. This small Territory paid to San Francisco alone more than half a million dollars. The liquor shipped to Honolulu was more than twice as much as was shipped to any other country or port except New York. According to the Honolulu custom house report there was imported from foreign countries $225,688 worth of liquor in 1910. The value of beer manufactured in Honolulu was $100,050, according to the International Review. Value of fortified wines manufactured in the Territory was, according to the International Review, Dept., $43,593, and I am informed on good authority that about one-half of the wine manufactured in the Territory is sold before it is fortified, as there is no revenue tax on sweet wines.

"Spirits manufactured in the Territory on which revenue tax is paid amounts to $116,422. This does not include the rum distillery at Hilo, which, I am informed, manufactures about 75 gallons of rum a day, and was, at the time I got these figures, over four months ago, intending to double its plant.

"So it looks like this: Intoxicating liquors from San Francisco, 1911, $529,855; intoxicating liquors from foreign countries, 1910, $235,688; manufactured in Territory, $260,065. As these are wholesale prices, in order to approximate the price paid by the consumer let us add 50 per cent.—$512,854—and we have the total of $1,538,562."

FREAR FILLS VACANCIES ON SEVERAL BOARDS

With the exception of three appointments Governor Frear has finally filled all vacancies in Territorial offices and commissions. The three remaining vacancies are those left by the resignations of Marston Campbell, superintendent of public works; John H. Craig and Ollie Sorenson, of the Oahu liquor license commission.

The appointments just made are Arthur H. Rice, to succeed D. P. R. Isenberg on the board of agriculture and forestry; A. B. Lindsay to succeed Albert Horner on the Hawaii county board of license commissioners; R. A. Wadsworth to take the place of F. E. Harvey on the Maui loan fund commission; R. T. Guard and C. E. Wright to succeed Rufus A. Lyman on the Hawaii liquor license commission and Hawaii county board of prison inspectors respectively, and Robbins B. Anderson to succeed Hon. W. L. Whitney on the library board.

and thresh out their differences in his presence.

Secretary Fisher says his visit involves nothing whatever beyond the matters indicated. He will not cooperate in any manner with investigations being made by the Department of Justice.

The visit of Secretary Fisher, it is stated, is made at the direction of President Taft. Secretary Fisher favored the reappointment of Mr. Frear as Governor, believing that no inquiry was required. The President promised Delegate Kalaniana'ole that he would send a special commissioner to Hawaii and investigate all the charges preferred against the Governor, and insisted that Secretary Fisher make the trip in person.

This was acceptable to the Delegate, who believes the Secretary has an open mind and can be convinced if the complaints against Governor Frear are justified.

As originally planned, Secretary Fisher expected to be accompanied by his son, Arthur Fisher. The young man is a student at Harvard, and as his college duties had to be resumed this month, the time of the Secretary's visit made it impossible for his son to accompany him. It thus turns out that Herbert A. Meyer, private secretary to Mr. Fisher, will be the only other member of the party.

ANNA KLUMPKE, NOTED IN ART AND LETTERS, NOW IN HONOLULU

Companion of Rosa Bonheur Talks of Her Work and of Plans for Visit Here

By MIRIAM STACKER.

A truly wonderful member of a talented family is Miss Anna Klumpke, native daughter of the Golden West, distinguished in art and letters beyond the margin which few women strive to reach and fewer still do reach.

Miss Klumpke arrived here yesterday on the Wilhelmina. It is her first visit to Honolulu and within the short space of a few hours she had been in two automobiles visiting places of interest, was interviewed by a representative of the Star-Bulletin, caught a glimpse of the night blooming cereus and admired Torrey's portrait of Judge Dole.

Possessed of rare talent as a painter of portraits and as the companion and friend of the late Rosa Bonheur, and her biographer as well, this little woman, who speaks French with the true accent of the Parisienne, though American born, is one of the most distinguished women of the French capital. A guest at every reception, given by the nobility, if that term is to be used in speaking of the people of a Republic, with entrance to every salon and exhibition, and the holder of the Temple medal, received in 1889, she is almost without a peer in the world of art. And Honolulu has her for a visitor, and Prof. and Mrs. Ingalls as their guest.

Commiss Bonheur Biography. To Miss Klumpke the greatest achievement of her life is the completion of the biography of the great woman painter, Rosa Bonheur, written at the request of Miss Bonheur and as a legacy Miss Klumpke has a number of canvases the artist left behind and many valuable souvenirs. Of the paintings, she has ten of moderate size which she will exhibit during her short stay. The book, "Rosa Bonheur, Sa Vie Son Oeuvre," occupied the attention of the painter-author for six years.

"When I had finished the manuscript there came the selection of the illustrations, of which there are three hundred, and the work was finally printed by George Petit, the famous printer of France. Among the illustrations is, of course, 'The Horse Fair,' because it is one of the best known of her great pictures. But on this canvas would not consent to have this canvas referred to as her greatest work; she had another which she considered had greater value from an artistic sense. The owner of the 'Horse Fair,' M. Campard, was a dear friend of Miss Bonheur, and it was with him we were photographed on an occasion when we had our medals with us.

"Miss Bonheur is an example of the heights the woman of ability may attain through application. No woman artist commanded the attention she did throughout the world where she might be personally known or through notices which the press showered upon her. My relations with her were of the most intimate character and she looked upon me, I know, with the affection which comes from mother to daughter. She was a part of my life; as much, I believe, as I was a part of hers, so it was natural that at the end she should ask me to tell the world of her life and her works. I am prouder of my of the medals I have received than of the medals I have received as an artist. That work is a gift, originally and amplified through study and application; my position as biographer of the greatest woman painter the world ever knew came to me as a request from one who was next to mother in my affections and it was my pleasure to be able to comply."

Miss Klumpke has painted many portraits in Boston of the distinguished citizens of that city and of others throughout New England. She has the distinction enjoyed by few women artists, "Ex-ot de jure," or, in other words, of exhibiting one painting in the saloon without discussion by the committee. This is her's by right of the bronze medal awarded for an exhibited portrait in the Exhibition Universelle, which is equal to the third medal. She exhibited in Philadelphia in 1889 and was winner of the famous Temple medal for her subject "Women in the Wash House," which now hangs in the Philadelphia Museum of Art.

Has Ten Bonheurs Here. "Just where I will hold an exhibition in Honolulu has not been decided," said Miss Klumpke. "I have five of my own paintings and ten originals by Rosa Bonheur, one of them, 'In the Meadow,' being a rare gem. I have an unfinished canvas of Mrs. de Breteville in San Francisco which I shall finish when I return and should I receive any commissions here I will return and paint them. Just now, you will understand, I am on vacation and will not do much hard work. I love to talk of my work because I think it a great thing that a daughter of the Golden West should be called upon to put before the world the story of the life of a forsigner. And I want to say that the influence of America on the advance of women in all lines, both professionally and in business has its effect in the old world.

As to Suffrage.

"Am I a believer in woman suffrage? Yes and no. It depends upon the length you would have to go. I am opposed to women voting for State offices or for National ones. If her vote would make the schools better; if it would advance the cause of women, make her better in this world and if her vote would be in the interest of the purity of the ballot as applied to county affairs, I believe I could be won over. I am not, however, a suffragette in the fullest sense of the term as applied in London, for I believe it is not the mission of women to attack officials of government and break windows. The freedom of women and equal rights can come through more peaceable means."

"Miss Bonheur was of the opinion that women should not band themselves together for any purpose in order to be independent of men and with much of my life spent with her it is natural that I should feel the influence of her thoughts. Every woman has a career if she will but set out to make it and it is attainable whether she appear at the polls or attends strictly to her affairs. There is much in the world for woman to do. This is being shown in the ranks of scientists and in business every day. Perhaps the efforts of the more aggressive suffragettes has given woman an inkling of what may be accomplished; she has been shown the road and quickly, in this generation, takes it."

Miss Klumpke is one of four daughters who have achieved fame, one as a musician, another as an astronomer and still another as a physician. She has brought among her art works to be shown here a portrait of her father which is said to be an excellent sample of her excellent work.

RUSSIAN BRIDGE PARTY PINCHED

Fortune finally favored two Russian damsels who arraigned before Police Judge Monsarrat this morning upon a charge of being present where gambling was openly conducted, were released upon a promise that hereafter they would never again hover about in the vicinity where games of chance held forth unlawfully.

As a result of a raid made by Chief McDuffie and his assistants, a number of Russians were rounded up. One of them responded to roll call, this morning and a ten dollar deposit to insure his appearance, was forfeited. Four victims of the McDuffie vigilance were assessed fines of five dollars and the court costs.

The detective department swooped down upon a sextette of old timers in police annals this morning, who were engaged in an attempt to woe fickle fortune by the assistance of dice and good luck. McDuffie and his men placed under arrest a delegation of Hawaiians. One giving his name as Hamble, and being recognized by his Honor as one addicted to the habit of playing return engagements at police court.

"This is only the fourth time that I have been here," declared Hamble when cross questioned by the magistrate.

"You are fined $10 and costs," pronounced Judge Monsarrat. Four members in this party were assessed the nominal five dollars and costs.

It cost Ah Lum a fiver this morning for admitting that his back was permitted to remain at a place on the streets of Honolulu other than a regularly designated stand for such vehicles. The Chinese produced the coin and departed much saddened but a considerably wiser man.

Joe Alves declared on the stand today that he never administered a blow upon the person of his brother-in-law as alleged in the complaint. An inquiry into the case developed the fact that Alves was about correct in his denial to the allegations and he was discharged.

Yong Kong Yon, is the owner of the rig that went clattering down King street yesterday afternoon scattering disaster and consternation in its wake. This morning Judge Monsarrat levied tribute upon the Chinese to the tune of $10.

Furthermore, Yong Kong Yon faces an expense account amounting to nearly a hundred dollars as damages sustained by a number of vehicles, resulting from motor cycles to traffic this morning. The Chinese declared in court this morning that at such would be party without protest.

CALLED SUPERIOR

fore the court Haynes' fiery letter that was read in its entirety. There was an evident intention on the part of Captain Hopkins, who, with Captain Culler, is counsel for the defense, to show that there had been a possible "inspiration" for Haynes' epistle; but that inquiry was not pushed vigorously.

The second witness was Dr. Vans Agnew and his testimony referred chiefly to the "I-won't-tell-you" attitude of Dr. Haynes and brought out the details of the carrying away to the Mounalua polo field of certain veterinary instruments without Dr. Haynes complying with the orders that memorandum receipts be given therefor in such a case.

Minded Own Business. Two enlisted men who were present at the time Haynes was so short in his replies to his senior, corroborated Vans Agnew in his testimony; but one, Cavanaugh, though admitting that he was present on that occasion, said "I was attending to my own business," and was promptly excused.

Following this witness adjournment was taken in this case to await the arrival of Major McClure, the much-needed man in the Willyoung case.

MATHESON ASKS KUHIO FOR JOB

The following letter has just been made public:

"Honolulu, Hawaii, June 21, 1912. Hon. J. K. Kalaniana'ole, City.

"My Dear Kuhio:—I cabled you just prior to your leaving Washington, to this effect: 'Commercial bodies favorable me secretary provided favorable you,' which cable I followed by a letter, which you will probably have forwarded back here from Washington. I have been waiting, since you returned, to call on you and make an application in person for the position which Mr. McClellan will leave in October, but have not wanted to appear in any unseemly haste about it.

"Will you kindly look upon me as an applicant, and, if you have any idea that the application might be approved, will you let me know when it would be convenient for me to call and talk it over with you. If I am personally agreeable to you, I do not think I will have any particular trouble in getting the same backing from the commercial bodies as was given Mr. McClellan. I say this as a result of conversation with a few of the officers of the Chamber of Commerce and Merchants' Association.

"Trusting to hear from you soon, I am, yours very truly,

"R. O. MATHESON."

It was stated this morning at the Delegate's office that the letter has not been answered.

SUPERVISORS WANT CHANGES MADE IN DANCE-HALL BILL

Now Up to Police Committee and County Attorney to Draft Changes

After a public hearing last night, the Board of Supervisors deferred action on the ordinance to regulate dance houses. It was referred back to the police committee and the attorney's department, for the purpose of having inserted certain provisions advised by Miss Blascoer, the visiting social investigator.

At Mayor Fern's suggestion, when opening routine was over, the rules were suspended to allow the ladies and any others present to express their views on the ordinance. Mrs. May T. Wilcox, of the board of education, Miss Rose Davison, humane officer, Miss Wood, probation officer of the juvenile court, and Miss Blascoer were the ladies in attendance. G. T. Tuttle and one or two other gentlemen also appeared.

Supervisor Murray said the ordinance had been redrafted by the deputy city attorney. He would like to have his opinion read so that the ladies would understand why the ordinance was redrafted.

Legal Opinion Read. Deputy Attorney Milverton, in his opinion, pointed out that the board could not delegate its power of supervision to a commission, nor could it exact the payment of fees for revenue purposes. So the commission part was cut out and the dance hall fee made $10 instead of $100 as in the original bill.

Murray said the only criticism the bill had received was for the reduction of the license fee, but the legal opinion showed why it had been reduced. Miss Davison called on Miss Blascoer to speak on the bill, but proceeded herself to make some remarks. She urged that the age limit for admission of girls to dance halls should be sixteen instead of fifteen, and read from a report an account of a girl that had abandoned her home through the influences of a dance hall. In answer to Supervisor McClellan, she said that was the only objection she had to offer, but added that she would like to see a provision for the proper lighting of dance halls.

Miss Blascoer told of some provisions of the Kansas City regulations of such places. "Merely passing an ordinance will not have any effect," she said, "unless something is provided for supervision of dance halls." She had watched a Kakaako dance hall for two hours and observed several incidents that were far from proper. She suggested that the Board obtain the cooperation of some organization in the city for the purpose of supervision. There ought also to be specific regulations to enforce, such as forbidding admittance to anyone under the influence of liquor, etc.

Mr. Milverton, in answer to Murray, said that the regulations suggested should be in the ordinance. Murray then moved that further action be deferred until such provisions could be incorporated in the bill. This carried and the ladies then withdrew.

Back in Police Committee. Later in the evening, at the suggestion of Mr. Milverton, the ordinance was referred to the police committee and the attorney's office.

Other Matters Taken Up. A report of the ways and means committee was adopted containing a compromise for $35 to pay Mrs. Mabel H. Turrill's claim for valuable eggs added by blasting by a road gang.

The von Hamm-Young Co., Ltd., informed the Board that the police patrol wagon for which it had the contract arrived yesterday. Chairman Murray of the police committee invited the members to take a ride in the wagon at two o'clock this afternoon, which he hoped would be the only excursion any of them should ever take in that conveyance.

Mr. Milverton submitted an opinion on a request from the city and county physician for the passage of an ordinance granting greater powers to health inspectors and covering possible insanitary conditions. He referred to the large number of sanitary statutes, board of health regulations and municipal ordinances now in existence, and added that "it is hardly possible to imagine any insanitary conditions that could not be reached by existing ordinances, regulations and statutes."

NEW BARGE IS A FLYER

Healani oarsmen turned out in force yesterday afternoon, the magnet which drew everyone to the boat house being the new racing barge, built on the Coast by Alf Rogers, which arrived on the Wilhelmina yesterday morning. The new craft didn't touch Hawaiian waters yesterday for the slides and oarlocks were shipped in a separate case, which could not be taken in time to put the boat in commission. However, the barge itself was on exhibition, and was generally admired. It will probably be tried out by the Senior crew this afternoon.

The new barge is much lighter than the last boat that the Healani got from Rogers—the Kulumanni. It is about two inches shallower, and has a couple or three inches less beam, and is altogether much more of a racing craft than the one which the clubmen have been using. Many of the braces put in the Kulumanni have been left out of the craft, lightening it, but not weakening it, according to the builder.

When the Kulumanni was ordered, Rogers was told that the boat must be able to stand rough water, and he certainly turned out a seaworthy craft, but one that was rather too solid for the smooth stretch inside the harbor. It is only in rounding the spar buoy that local crews get anything like a sea, and the Healani have decided that they will do better with a lighter boat.

The new barge has not been christened as yet, but it is the consensus of opinion that the custom of giving the Healani boats Hawaiian names should be continued. Malolo, the native for flying fish, has been suggested as highly appropriate, and will probably be selected.

The Healani senior crew has been picked, and the men will pull together regularly from now until Regatta Day. The boat will be manned as follows: Grace, bow; Dick Sullivan, No. 2; Ed. Hedemann, No. 3; Fred Wichman, No. 4; Bowen, No. 5; Kroll, stroke. Haole Summer is giving Grace a run for the bow oar, and is still a possibility.

People who build castles in the air are never sure of their ground.

PALAMA SETTLEMENT COTTAGES NEAR COMPLETION

The cottages being erected by the Palama Settlement on Hotel street in the rear of the Castle Home are rapidly nearing completion, three being nearly ready for occupation. The funds to erect these cottages were donated by people of Honolulu who are interested in the work of the settlement.

The cottages are two stories and will accommodate two families. They consist of two rooms and a lanai each and an outside staircase will afford entrance to the upper story. Two purposes are in view for the erection of the cottages, one being to help along the movement to abolish tenements and the other to encourage the people who occupy the tenements to live in a more cleanly manner. Families who are in need of a better place in which to live may occupy these cottages as long as they comply with the rules which have been made by the settlement for the tenants.

PAIA UNION HAS NEW PASTOR NOW

Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence. WAILUKU, Sept. 3.—Last Saturday Lurline brought to Maui Rev. and Mrs. A. Craig Bowdish, who have come to the Paia Union Church, having left Hartford, in July, where they spent the last two years. They traveled slowly across the Continent, visiting friends and relatives along the way, and at Mitchell, South Dakota, their old home spent considerable time before touring farther westward to catch the Lurline bound for the Islands. Although arriving in Honolulu and on Maui at the end of the driest season for many years, still they have been pleasantly surprised with all the beauty of this Island Territory, and been greatly enjoying their few days here.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Atherton, entertained them in their delightful Nuanani Valley home. Upon their arrival here they were taken over portions of Central Maui and on Saturday afternoon made a hurried trip to the Paia Union Church with which they were very much pleased. They pronounced the audience room most attractive. The remarked especially upon the beautiful memorial windows that add so much to the building. At Sunnyside, the parsonage where they are to live, another happy surprise awaited them. The house placed among the old trees made a deep impression, and they immediately expressed their keen appreciation of the new furniture they found in the parsonage, which the people of the Church had generously supplied. The complete equipment of new kitchen utensils, the new stove and refrigerator, and a well stocked larder, all thoughtfully furnished by the people of the parish.

Makes Fine Impression. Mr. Bowdish preached his first sermon last Sunday morning. He made a fine appearance in the pulpit. He is tail and commanding, with excellent voice and a hearty way of speaking that pleased his large and attentive congregation. Sunday was certainly a very happy day for the new pastor and his wife and the Paia people. For many months the parish has been looking forward expectantly to the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Bowdish, who accepted the work on Maui by cable some months ago. The new comers have known many people who had acquaintances or friends here on the Islands, so they too have been looking forward with glad anticipations to the work here.

Mr. Bowdish has had three parishes, and has been highly successful as a preacher and pastor in each of them. He was ordained in the year 1901, and for the last few years previous to his taking up further study in Hartford was pastor of the flourishing church in Mitchell, South Dakota. This is a thriving city in that new state, and tried its best to become the capitol when the people merged from being a territory into one of the States of the Union. Mitchell is a University town and has great influence in the west.

This delightful parish Mr. Bowdish left two years ago to take up further study in the East. He had received his degree of Master of Arts at Yankton College, in 1897, and his degree of Bachelor of Divinity from Chicago in 1901. Like a great many other men, who have had a few years in teaching or in pastoral work, he desired to carry on his studies, and do further work leading to another degree. This is the course pursued by a large number of the most progressive men in the states, when they can get time for further work in institutions of the high rank. So Mr. Bowdish turned his attention to Hartford Theological Seminary, which is one of the leading institutions of America. Here he worked under the Seminary's most prominent men, who rank high in the theological world. In June of this year he won his third degree—that of Master of Sacred Theology—a degree that is regarded with great esteem in all the European universities. The thesis was "Glimpses of Personality as Seen in Some of Jesus' Typical Interviews." The value of such a thesis can be seen at a glance, for the field is almost entirely new—no work of note having been done in America along this line heretofore. Personality as a subject, is rather new too for psychologists. His thesis was most heartily welcomed by the faculty of the institution, and his work covering a period of two years has been spoken of in the highest terms of appreciation by his professors.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowdish were entertained by the Paia people on Sunday and moved into the parsonage at Sunnyside on Monday. All of their goods from the States arrived promptly, so that they will be pleasantly settled this week. On Friday evening a reception will be given them at the home of Mrs. Amelia Beckwith Hair at Hiamakapoko. As this is a public reception to which invitations have been extended to all the people of Central Maui, many will have an opportunity of meeting the new minister and his charming wife. Mr. Bowdish expects to take an active part in the work of the Maui Ministers' School, and in the many activities connected with the Church and missionary work of this island.

PROGRAM TO MARK END OF SUMMER WORK

The summer work of the Palama Settlement will end on Sept. 14, and Mr. Dana, head of the boys' department, has planned an interesting program for that day. In the morning there will be a basketball game between the senior girls and the junior boys, and also eight games of indoor and playground baseball. In the afternoon from 1 to 5 there will be a track meet and a number of prizes well worth working for will be awarded the winners.

The evening will be taken up with a band concert and moving pictures. If a woman doesn't want to be married it's a sign she is.

FOR DANDRUFF, FALLING HAIR OR ITCHY SCALP, 25 CENT "DANDERINE"

Save Your Hair! Danderine Destroys Dandruff and Stops Falling Hair at Once—Grows Hair, We Prove It

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, you must use Danderine, because nothing else accomplishes so much for the hair. Just one application of Knowlton's Danderine will double the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots flinch, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, don't hesitate, but get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made. We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually—why not now? A 25-cent bottle will truly amaze you.
