NICARAGUA YIELDS TO UNCLE SAM'S TROOPS!

RETURNING, JAILED AS SMUGGLER

Second Engineer of Mongolia Evades Law in Frisco but Is Nabbed Here

Evading arrest in San Francisco on a charge of opium smuggling by jumping the Mongolia on which he was second engineer, when she tied up at the docks there, Joseph Francis, wanted here in connection with the Cora-georgos and Chronos opium-smuggling cases, boldly returned to Honolulu on the Lurline yesterday and walked into the arms of officers detailed by the order of District Attorney Breckons to arrest him.

Francis, it is charged, was one of the ringleaders of a smuggling gang on board the Mongolia, which had its headquarters apparently in the engine-room of the big steamer, as Cora-georgos was an assistant engineer on the vessel.

Cora-georgos was arrested when the Mongolia was last here on her way to San Francisco with several hundred dollars' worth of opium in his possession. The connection of Francis was not known until after the steamer sailed, and it was learned then presumably through information furnished by some of those under arrest. The arrest of Francis in San Francisco was requested but the officers there failed to find him.

District Attorney Breckons then learned that he had left the Mongolia and was coming back to Honolulu on the Lurline and the officers were present when the Lurline docked.

Francis is still held in jail. His case is to be brought before the grand jury.

MOVE MADE TO FORCE SALOONS OFF ALAKEA ST.

Anti-Saloon League's Campaign Against Ryan License Has Definite Object

In a campaign to force all saloons off of Alakea street, George W. Paty, agent of the Anti-Saloon League, is making a hard fight to prevent the liquor license commission from authorizing the transfer of Paddy Ryan's saloon from its present location in the Occidental Hotel to a point across the street and a little further toward the waterfront.

The campaign came openly before the board yesterday with the filing of petitions for and against the transfer of the license. Ryan's license was renewed by the liquor commission last June and has nearly a year yet to run. He has bought a piece of property across the street and is asking that the license be transferred to the new location.

Both petitions are numerously signed, the petition against the transfer being the majority of property-owners in the immediate district, it is claimed by Mr. Paty, who has prepared a map to show that the big property owners close around the proposed location object to Ryan being given a saloon license there.

On the other hand, a petition was presented on behalf of Ryan, who was represented by his attorney, E. C. Peters. The petition is signed by more

BIG GUNS OF OAHU SUCCESS IN HARD TEST

Coast Artillery Does Some Remarkable Firing at Schofield Barracks

RESULTS PROVE THAT ORDNANCE IS EFFECTIVE

Powerful Batteries Now Ready To Do Good Work at Any Time

The defenses of Oahu have again been strengthened, and still another obstacle placed in the path of an invading enemy. For this morning the test firing of the big siege guns and howitzers that have lain idle since their arrival many months ago was successfully completed. There is now another powerful battery of 5-inch rifles and 7-inch ground howitzers, ready to pour a deadly hail of shell and shrapnel on hostile troops, and there are two companies of Coast Artillery now competent to do execution with the guns.

This morning's firing was done at Schofield Barracks, the range being across the plain at targets set on the slopes back of the post, that looked scarcely bigger than pin points from the battery. The gunnery of the Coast Artillerymen was remarkably good, considering the age of the pieces, the quality of the ammunition, and the fact that until two weeks ago neither officers nor men had ever had anything to do with this type of ordnance.

Had the fire been directed at a block house, a wall, or a body of men on the hillside, every one of the twelve shots fired this morning would have taken effect, for the "volcanos" of dust and rock from the solid shot erupted periodically from the wooden magazines while bursting shrapnel rained destruction on and around the targets.

Better Than Expected.

"I am more than satisfied with the shooting done by the two Fort Ruger companies," said Major E. J. Timberlake, district commander, who was an interested observer at today's practice and the one two weeks ago. "It is a surprise to me that the pieces themselves proved so accurate, and with newer powder I think the results would have been even better.

"These guns," continued the major, "belong to the Coast Artillery district, and are at Schofield only because we had no place to store them at Ruger. Also, there are better opportunities to

HUSBAND KILLED BY AUTO, WANTS $10,000 DAMAGES

An automobile fatality that occurred on May 16, 1910, near the entrance of Kamehameha School grounds, is the subject of a suit for $10,000 damages brought by the widow of the victim, Virginia de Mello Barboza, against the chauffeur of the machine, Edward Cluney, which is now on trial before Judge Cooper. Separate suits brought by five children of the deceased are pending, each calling for like damages.

E. C. Peters is attorney for the plaintiff in the case on trial, and W. T. Rawlins for the defendant. It is expected that the trial will take several days. The jury consists of Benjamin H. Zabian, Sam A. Green, Albert A. Hussey, Charles Butzke, Frank A. Batchelor, H. P. R. Glade, L. H. Underwood, Simeon K. Hao, Jr., Carl Rhodes, Charles F. Gilliland, Adolph F. Gerz and Charles S. Veight.

Cluney was tried and acquitted of manslaughter on account of the killing in question.

LATEST SONG HIT IN JAPAN TO BE SUNG BY CONSUL MORI

Diplomat To Entertain Kin-yo Club With Accompaniment on "Biwa"

Under the auspices of the Kin-yo Club, a Japanese literary organization, Japanese Acting Consul General Mori will entertain his associates in the Mochizuki Club this evening. Mr. Mori, who has been appointed Japanese Consul in Peru, and who will leave shortly for Japan, preparatory to sailing for his new post in South America, it is said, has consented to sing one of the best musical compositions that has ever been published in Japan.

Delegates Flock To Hilo For Big Trade Convention

[Special Star-Bulletin Wireless]

HILO, Sept. 26.—Honolulu's delegates to the conference of commercial bodies of the territory, held here under the auspices of the board of trade, have arrived and the conference promises to be a success. Four delegates have come from Maui, the visit of Secretary Fisher to the Valley Isle just at this time, setting the arrangements for its delegation to some extent.

Hilo is doing things up in fine style, the town throwing open its doors to receive the visitors.

Splendid spirit is shown by everyone, and much good for the territory should come from the convention.

FISHER'S TRIP IS PROVING STRENUOUS

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence]

HILO, Sept. 24.—Whatever the condition of affairs may be at Waohoulu, the score or more of homesteaders who appeared before Secretary of the Interior Fisher to tell their troubles Saturday afternoon freely declared that Governor Frear is not to be blamed. The fact that a number of applications for title to homesteads may have been held up, they charge to misinformation given him by the interests, which they openly asserted, are fighting them tooth and nail.

This was probably the most interesting development of the early part of the Secretary's tour of the Big Island. The statements of the homesteaders came as a surprise to the Governor, who, from the previous statements that had been made to the Secretary at his sessions in Honolulu, had good reason to suppose the homesteaders here were taking an active part in the accusations against him.

The situation is perhaps more acute in the Waiohina district than in any other part of the Islands as regards the feeling between the small sugar growers and the mill-owning plantations. It is here that the Thompson Settlement Association took its lands, and it is Manager Wolters of the Hutchinson plantation, at this place, who is accused of employing sharp methods to drive the settlers away.

Manager Wolters and Dr. Thompson, head of the association, both were witnesses at the hearing, which lasted nearly three hours, in the courthouse. Feeling Is Bitter.

The Secretary found the feeling very bitter on both sides. Many of the homesteaders informed him that came out two years ago still lies on their ground; that the Hutchinson mill is the only one which can handle it, but that Manager Wolters will permit the mill to stand idle before he will touch their crops. They assert they are tied hand and foot, and that Wolters, not satisfied with refusing to buy their crops, hampers them in every small way possible.

Manager Wolters, on the other hand, told the Secretary a tale of woe almost equally full of recrimination against the homesteaders. He told of the hundreds of small things done by them to injure the Hutchinson plantation's business. So far as can be ascertained, the hearing disclosed, more than anything else, a situation that has grown principally out of personal animosities.

Volcano Is Sullen.

It was a weary and somewhat sullen Kilauea that greeted Secretary of the Interior Fisher Sunday afternoon, when he and his party, including Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. Mott-Smith, drove over from the Volcano House a couple

MERGER FOR HONOLULU'S VAUDEVILLE

Liberty Interests and the Hon. Amusement Co. Sign Agreement

BIG CIRCUIT PLANNED TO INCLUDE ORIENT

No Houses To Be Closed; Policy of High-Grade Attractions Announced

Honolulu's leading vaudeville interests are to be consolidated at once. Formal arrangements for the merger of Ye Liberty theater and its interests with the Honolulu Amusement Company were completed at noon today, when an agreement was signed by representatives of both sides and preparations were made to file incorporation papers at once of the Consolidated Amusement Company.

The merger of these theatrical interests brings to a consummation negotiations that have extended over a considerable period. Dropped once before, the negotiations were lately renewed and a definite agreement was finally reached. Under the agreement, the Liberty and the Honolulu Amusement Company will each hold 50 per cent. of the capital stock and share alike in the financing of the new venture. The properties are not consolidated, the merger including, however, the management of all the properties by the one head. The properties are not put into the capital stock account, the stock being placed in the incorporation papers at $3000. All of the individual structures are leased to the consolidated company for a period of three years.

Robert R. McGreer, now manager of the Liberty, is to become general manager and treasurer of the new company and will have general supervision of the theaters. The officers will be as follows:

G. T. Chong, president; J. A. Magoon, vice president; J. H. Magoon, secretary; K. R. McGreer, treasurer and general manager.

No showhouses will be closed, it was stated today by Mr. McGreer. The present houses will be run along practically the same lines as at present, except that better attractions, says the new management, will be secured for all the theaters. The Liberty will undergo some improvements, particularly as to acoustics, and will be made a strictly high-class vaudeville house, and strong attractions are to be secured for all the houses. The Empire will feature first-run, expensive films.

Big Circuit Planned.

In connection with the consolidation of interests, the new company plans an ambitious circuit that will carry acts of the highest class from San Francisco to Manila. The new circuit is now in process of organization, with Shanghai, Hongkong and Manila to receive the attractions after they leave Honolulu. Should the plan be suc-

MADERO GIVEN TO OCT. 12; GEN. SCHUYLER ON THE JOB

Report Reaches Army Officers Here of Proposed Intervention

The United States through President Taft has given Madero until October 12 to either show that he can protect Americans, or resign. If he fails to do either, intervention with an armed force will follow at once.

This was the information received here yesterday by a high army officer from Washington, who vouched for its authenticity, inasmuch as he said its source could not be questioned. It was further stated that Senor Calero, the Mexican ambassador to the United States carried this stern message in person, leaving Washington hurriedly for Mexico City.

It is believed that if the United States intervenes in Mexico, Gen. W. S. Schuyler, commander of the Department of California, who was formerly colonel of the Fifth cavalry here, will command. Schuyler is now on the border in Arizona.

BERLIN, Sept. 12.—The official trial trip of the German battleship Kaiser, which was launched at the Imperial dockyard at Kiel in June, 1911, was made today. The warship's average speed under forced draft over a measured mile was 23.15 knots an hour.

REBEL GENERALS SURRENDER TO SOUTHERLAND: WILL BE EXILED

ADMIRAL W. H. H. SOUTHERLAND Who received surrender of generals.

POLICE JUDGE SETTLES MARITAL TROUBLES

"I do not believe that you really wanted to shoot your wife, and, furthermore, had no serious intention of carrying the threat into execution, so I will discharge you from custody of this Court," stated Police Magistrate Monsarrat from the bench this morning in passing judgment on the case wherein C. C. Souza was alleged by his better half to have employed ungentlemanly and threatening language in addressing his wife.

The Souzas aired their marital differences before a fair-sized gathering at the "Monsarrat Matinee." Souza, it is alleged, decided to change his abode and therefore gathered up his goods and chattels and sought a new home with his parents.

Judge Monsarrat passed out some wholesome advice to both husband and wife, with a view of a speedy reconciliation. There is a possibility that the warring factions in the house of Souza may be brought together in the interests of peace and harmony.

The police charged that C. C. Blevin, a soldier indulged too freely in the rather reprehensible pastime of striking promiscuously at passing Chinese and Japanese. The indicted

Plan Now To Send Men and Leaders In Revolt To Panama And Hold Them As Guarantee Against Further Outbreak

[Associated Press Cable]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 26.—General Mena, leader of the Nicaraguan revolution, with his entire army, has surrendered to Rear-Admiral W. H. Southerland, commanding the United States forces in the turbulent country.

A strong force of United States marines fought their way from Managua to Granada, a city besieged by the revolutionists as the key to the country. The marines relieved the city, the inhabitants of which were in the throes of starvation, and immediately began preparations for advancing actively against the rebels under orders from Taft to keep all lines of communication open. The revolution collapsed with the relief of Granada. It is understood that Admiral Southerland has authority to mete out punishment to the rebels, and that it is his intention to banish Mena and other leaders of the revolution to Panama where they will be held under the supervision of the United States government as hostages against any further attempts to force Zelayism on the Central American people.

Must Tell Where T. R. Got It

[Associated Press Cable]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 26.—Chairman Clapp of the Senate committee investigating the Roosevelt campaign fund contributions of 1908, has summoned J. P. Morgan, Ormsby McHarg, formerly connected with the Department of Justice; C. C. Tegashoff, private secretary to the late Edwin Harriman, and Loeb, Roosevelt's former secretary, to testify September 30.

Two Bull Moose Candidates

HEAD OF MORMON CHURCH URGES VOTES FOR TAFT

[Special Star-Bulletin Cable]

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Sept. 26.—The Mormon church and its machine came out strongly for Taft today, when Joseph F. Smith, its prophet, seer and revelator, came out in a signed statement, declaring that if the people should again call Taft to the presidential chair they would not be likely to regret their action.

JAIL FOR MEXICAN REBELS WHO CROSS INTO U. S.

CARTER GETS WANTED MAN

When accosted by Carter the man declared his name was Clarence Cooke and that he had been working on one of the island plantations until some days ago.

He had signed the articles of the schooner and was prepared to get away with the departure of that vessel for Grays Harbor.

Morris was placed under arrest, taken to the police station, where his identification was established, and later he was conveyed to Fort Shafter, where he was turned over to the military authorities.

In an opinion by Chief Justice Robertson, the supreme court has affirmed the decision of Judge Whitney dismissing the libel in divorce of Mildred Bruns against Henry C. Bruns, alleging extreme cruelty. It is found that "extreme cruelty" as a ground for divorce implies physical injury, either actual or apprehended, and that there was no evidence of such a thing in this case. Sulkiness and coolness on the part of the husband, causing the wife much unhappiness, was the burden of the complaint, but the court says, "A state of unhappiness involving mental suffering which is not such as to impair the health does not amount to extreme cruelty."

GEN. W. S. SCHUYLER May be called upon to intervene in Mexico.

DREDGE CALIFORNIA MAY LEAVE IN TOW OF BIG TUG HERCULES

The dredge California, which has been riding at the upper end of the harbor for some months, following the unsuccessful attempt to tow the craft to the Coast, will, it is expected, depart for Southern California in tow of the powerful sea-going tug Hercules.

The California was to have been sent to the mainland the early part of the year, and was twenty-four hours on the way, when, owing to rough weather encountered in Molokai channel, a number of seams opened in the bottom of the dredge, with the result that a hasty return to Honolulu was decided upon.

During the time that the California has remained at the Ewa end of the harbor much material has gone into its reconstruction. It is believed that the craft is now in every way seaworthy and fitted to stand the twenty to twenty-five-day trip across the Pacific.

The Hercules is expected here daily with a large pontoon in tow, intended for the United States navy at Pearl Harbor.

Inter-Island Sailings Tomorrow.

Two inter-island steamers have been placed on the berth for departure for Friday. The Kaula liner W. G. Hall will be held here pending some overhauling and the arrival of a coast mail in the Japanese liner, Nippon Maru. This vessel is to take a fair list of passengers and shipments of fertilizer, lumber and sundries for the regular ports on the Garden Island.

The Claudine will sail at 5 o'clock in the evening for the usual ports, on Maui and Hawaii, with Hilo as a terminal.

The inter-island steamer Kilaua, from Kona and Kau ports, bringing back Secretary Fisher and party, is due to arrive here early tomorrow morning.

Singapore's Wireless Station.

The wireless telegraph station that was opened at Colombo on July 22 is understood to be of low power and only able to meet the requirements of shipping, says an Australian paper. A larger station is to be erected in the Straits Settlements, which will be capable of communicating with the high power stations now being completed at Fremantle. This will form one of the links in the imperial chain to bind the British Empire.

Haunted Convict Ship.

The oldest ship in the world, the convict ship Success, has been sixty-six days in the Atlantic in a succession of gales, and her crew has had a terrible experience, according to the captain of the Cunard liner Franconia, with her.

They declare that the ship is haunted, and refuse to go below to the cells and dungeon decks.

Lurline Sails Friday for Kahului.

Cargo is being discharged from the Matson Navigation steamer Lurline in order that the vessel may get away for Kahului tomorrow evening. The Lurline has about seven hundred tons of freight for the Maui port, and is expected to return to Honolulu early Sunday morning. Little or no island products will be secured at Kahului.

Derelict Junk Menace to Navigation.

Officers of the Pacific Mail liner Korea were notified on leaving Hongkong of the presence of a derelict Chinese junk, a portion of the craft showing above the surface of the sea. The wreck was located directly in the path taken by liners in proceeding from Hongkong to Shanghai.

Many Shoals Now Charted.

During 1911 as many as 442 rocks and shoals dangerous to navigation were reported in various parts of the world. Of these 13 were discovered by vessels striking on them; 108 were reported by the admiralty surveying ships, and 8 by other ships.

Tanker Departs for the Coast.

The American oil tanker Wm. F. Herrin yesterday finished discharging 60,000 barrels of fuel oil and sailed for San Francisco shortly after 5 o'clock. This vessel represents one of the largest tank steamers to visit the port of Honolulu.

Noted Shipbuilder's Death.

William Hamilton, chairman of directors and founder of the firm of Messrs. William Hamilton & Co., shipbuilders, Port Glasgow, has died at his Arran residence in his seventy-fourth year.

Alaskan Sailing from Hilo for San Francisco.

The American-Hawaiian freighter Alaskan is scheduled to sail from Hilo for San Francisco direct this evening, according to advices received by C. P. Morse, general freight agent for the line. The Alaskan is to be supplied with 2500 tons sugar and about 40,000 cases of preserved pineapples. The Alaskan is to gather freight from San Francisco to fill out a complete cargo destined for Salina Cruz. The last large shipments of sugar and pineapples for 1912 have left the islands by previous departures of steamers for the states and the Isthmus.

Virginian to Land Livestock.

The American-Hawaiian S. S. Virginian, with special fittings for the transportation of livestock, is reported to be preparing to bring down a number of head of fine horses and mules for local importers. The Virginian sails from Puget Sound on October 4 and should arrive at Honolulu on the 13th.

Five thousand tons of general cargo—one of the largest shipments of freight from the East Coast of the United States—are expected to arrive here in this vessel, including west-bound cargoes Nos. 296, 297 and 298, leaving New York on August 12, 17 and 23, in the freighters, Georgian, Oregon and Texan.

The Virginian will, after discharging Honolulu cargo, proceed to Kahului and Hilo. The Virginian steams from Hilo to San Francisco and thence to Salina Cruz.

Japanese Coal for Hawaiian Islands.

According to late advices received by the local branch of the Merchants' Exchange, the Japanese freighter Unka Maru, Number 2, is reported to load coal at Moji, Japan, for the Hawaiian islands. The vessel and cargo are said to be consigned to the local agency of Hind, Rolph & Co. The coal will probably be delivered to Kaula or Hawaii ports.

Strathallan a Fixture for Australia.

A cargo of lumber will be supplied by the British freighter Strathallan, which is expected to sail from Honolulu this afternoon for Noyo, Calif. This vessel has been discharged of a consignment of Newcastle, N. S. W., coal, to the order of the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company. The Strathallan has been fixed for Australian ports.

Transport Sherman on Way to Islands.

With officers, troops and civilian passengers, the United States army transport Sherman, sailing from Manila for the mainland on September 16, is understood to have cleared from Nagasaki, Japan, on or about September 24th. This vessel is due to arrive at Honolulu on the way to San Francisco on October 4th.

Schooner Kona to Load for Australia.

The American schooner Kona, now discharging a shipment of lumber at Port Allen, is to proceed to Grays Harbor, there to take on a cargo of lumber destined for Sydney or Newcastle, N. S. W. The schooner has been fixed at fifty-five shillings. The Kona is expected to depart from the Kaula ports within a few days.

After completing the discharge of a shipment of nitrate from South American ports, the American bark Eudora will proceed to Puget Sound, there to load cargo for the United Kingdom. The bark is believed will sail from Honolulu by the first of the coming week.

The United States cruiser Maryland, with Secretary of State Knox as its distinguished passenger, is expected to arrive here on Sunday, according to late advices received at the local naval station. The Maryland sailed from Yokohama Sept. 21st.

The inter-island steamer Nihau has been placed on the berth to sail for Kaanapali, Lanai ports and Lahaina at 3 o'clock this afternoon, taking a general cargo and later mail.

Mail and a few lay-over passengers leaving Honolulu in the Pacific Mail liner Persia on September 18, arrived at San Francisco yesterday morning.

A big freight and shipments of lumber are due to arrive here from San Francisco and Puget Sound ports on Friday morning in the Matson Navigation steamship Hyades.

The Japanese liner Nippon Maru will bring the next mail from the mainland, the steamer to arrive here tomorrow morning, according to late wireless messages received at the agency of Castle & Cooke.

The Matson Navigation liner Wilhelm, sailing from San Francisco yesterday afternoon with a full list of passengers and a general cargo for Honolulu and Hilo, is due to arrive here early next Tuesday morning.

According to cables received at the local branch of the Merchants' Exchange, the Matson Navigation steamer Honolulu, leaving here last Wednesday, arrived at San Francisco shortly after the noon hour yesterday.

The Oceanic steamship Ventura, from San Francisco, with passengers and freight for Honolulu, Pago Pago and Sydney, is expected to arrive at this port early Monday morning. The Ventura is to be given prompt dispatch for the Colonies through the agency of C. Brewer & Co., sailing for Sydney at 5 o'clock in the evening.

BIG GUNS

fire them out here. They would be used in time of war to repel invaders, or in siege operations, should they ever occur here. Of course, at the present time, there are not enough companies of Coast Artillery in the district to man the mortars and the siege battery too, but it might be that the latter would prove more effective at certain times than the former, as they are mobile, and could be placed at the most advantageous point.

There was more significance and interest attaching to the tests this morning than appears on the surface, for, besides drilling the men, there was considerable doubt as to the effectiveness of the guns. General Macomb, the department commander, was an interested spectator, motorizing to Lelihe accompanied by his aide, Lieutenant Andrews, Captain W. H. Johnson of headquarters staff, and Captain Hannum of the Engineers. Major Timberlake and Captain J. S. Johnson, Coast Artillery, were also on hand.

Risky Work.
 Then, too, there was the element of risk in handling the ammunition, especially as both the siege and howitzer batteries are known as man killers, and have a bloody history behind the guns. These same siege pieces "ran amuck" a few years ago, one of the guns blowing out a breech block while a salute was being fired at Governor's Island, killing three men and injuring several more.

The howitzers have also done their share of damage, for at Fort Riley an accident happened which killed a corporal and three men. Soldiers are superstitious, and batteries with a bad name are regarded with awe and suspicion. The men who served the eight siege guns and four howitzers here had no way of knowing just which guns had the unsavory reputation, so they treated all alike with considerable suspicion and respect.

The range in today's firing was considerably longer than that used two weeks ago, the battery being moved to a point opposite the First Infantry camp, which increased the distance from 3500 to 4760 yards. As in the firing of the 10th Company, two shots were fired from each of the four siege guns and two howitzers, and the gunnery was a trifle more uniform today than in the initial test.

The field telephone was again brought into use, an observing party on the heights to one side of the targets being in communication with the battery at all times, and reporting the location of the shots as they fell. When all was in readiness, and the range finally reported as clear, the first cast iron shell screamed skywards and some 11 seconds later a huge cloud of dust showed where it had burst about 50 yards beyond, and to the right of the target aimed at. The next shot was only 25 yards over, and from that time on the shots dropped so closely around the targets that no living thing could have maintained the position, and any shelter or fortification would have been blown to atoms. The last shrapnel fired was reported as a base hit, meaning that the fuse was so perfectly cut, and the range so accurate, that it burst in just the position to shower its deadly contents against the vest base of the target, the ideal result for shrapnel fire.

Only One Bad Shot.
 There was only one poor shot of the entire twelve, the third fired from the howitzers bursting very short. It was so far off that the result was laid to defective powder. The second howitzer shot, which is to all intents and purposes a perfect hit.

It was the 15th company's turn to fire the big field pieces today at Schofield Barracks, and with the completion of the morning's work the entire Coast Artillery force of Oahu has been initiated into the mysteries of siege guns and howitzers. Today's firing is the wind-up to two weeks in the field for the coast defenders, who have now got a taste of inland soldiering, besides learning to handle the unfamiliar ordnance.

Lieutenant Harry Vaughan is in command of the 15th, the new company commander, Captain Carpenter, not having arrived in time to relieve Captain Carter. Lieutenant Vaughan has made a splendid showing with the

Y. M. C. A. OPENS FALL PROGRAM

The newcomers' club will hold its first meeting this year on Sunday afternoon. This club was organized last year and has proved to be one of the most popular ones in the association. Anderson's orchestra will play in the lobby from four until four forty-five and then the members of the club will hold a discussion in Cooke Hall, under the leadership of Ed Towse. The subject for the discussion will be the book by Robt. E. Suter, the famous Princeton tackle, entitled "The Principles of Jesus." At five-thirty the club will gather around one large table in the cafeteria for a fellowship dinner. Following the dinner various new men will be introduced to the club.

The banquet given by the association for the members of the employed boys department will be held in Cooke hall this evening at six o'clock. Following the dinner several practical talks will be given by Paul Super, A. E. Larimer, A. F. Loomis and W. J. Johnson, on the plans of the association for the coming year. Games of baseball and hand ball will be played between two different teams of the employed boys department, and a champion handball game will be played between the champion of the employed boys and the champion in the recent novice tournament.

Booklets describing the night school will be given out and all boys wishing to enroll for the coming term may do so.

The big stag open house social comes off tomorrow night, and elaborate plans have been made for the entertainment of the visitors. Kaal's Quintet will play throughout the evening and the visitors will be given a chance to inspect the building and see the main features in operation.

The senior base ball team of older men met yesterday to loosen up their glass arms and get in something like shape before the team from the students' department tomorrow night. Some of the men on the senior team have never played indoor base ball, but have had more or less experience in outdoor base ball. The senior team will line up as follows: Frank Becher, p; Mark Johnson, c; F. A. Edgesomb, 1b.; R. B. Rietow, 2b; George Angus, 3b.; E. W. Clark, ss.; A. H. Donders, 1f; James Holt, cf., and Clifton Tracy, 1f. The game will begin at eight-thirty.

There will also be a wrestling match between John Searle and R. A. Howes.

organization, and his second, Lieutenant Nichols, has also come in for a fair share of praise.

Ready-Made Camp.
 The company walked into a ready-made camp when they arrived at Schofield on the 17th of this month, the tents of the 10th, which took the initial turn at the field work, being left standing. But the men had to do the same pioneer work with the guns, for only half the pieces were assembled and fired by Captain Johnson's men. It has been no light task to mount four 5-inch siege guns and two 7-inch howitzers, for the guns have been stored for more than a year, and needed considerable tinkering to put them in condition.

Although the firing today, as in the test two weeks ago, was more of a test of materiel the men took a keen interest in the actual shooting, and watched the dust-puffs that marked the fall of the cast-iron shot, and the white cloud that told of bursting shrapnel, with close attention. To soldiers accustomed to the indirect fire of mortars, where the target is never in sight, it was a brand-new game to see the objective and the execution of the missile.

Both companies were allowed the same amount of ammunition, firing one shrapnel and one shell from each of the four siege guns, and the same from each of the howitzers.

Now that it's all over the big siege pieces will be put to bed again in the Schofield gun sheds, but they are now ready for use at any time, and what is still more to the point, there are soldiers trained to man them.

Officers and men of the Field Artillery watched the firing this morning with particular interest, for under the plan proposed for the re-organization of that arm of the service, contained in the recent report of the general staff, some field artillery regiments will have the smaller howitzers for their ordnance, and every soldier who wears the red is alive to the importance of the innovation.

FISHER'S TRIP

of hours after their arrival from Pahala.

Tired out from her brilliant, sustained celebration of the last two months, old Kilaua refused to perform for President Taft's personal representative, and lay in mystic, gray dignity at the extreme bottom of her crazy bed, some 500 feet down, shrouding herself in smoking, sulphurous clouds of steam which lit only into three sinister blazing eyes of fire that remain the only active conflagrations in the crater. While the party lingered at the crater's edge nearly three hours, this veil was never entirely lifted, though a faint sound of burning gases escaping was continuous, punctuated intermittently by dull explosions and roars as Old Reliable spewed out huge chunks of molten lava that she seemed to find impalpable.

Smoke Unusually Dense.
 Prof. T. A. Jaggar, in charge of the experiment station at the crater, said the smoke was unusually dense. But despite this handicap, the scene did not fail to impress the Secretary, who exhibited a keen interest in the history and all the features of the volcano.

Before going to the crater, Mr. Fisher visited the experiment station, where preparations are being made for a deep scientific study of volcanology and thousands of dollars already have been spent in the initial outlay of materials. He was attracted especially by the massive seismograph in the basement of the building—a wonderful instrument, big and heavy, yet recording the earth's movements with such delicate, minute accuracy that a man's weight, placed suddenly on the concrete floor near it, causes a vibration of more than an inch from the direct line. This was demonstrated by Prof. H. O. Wood, who has direct charge of this feature of the work, to the great delight of his visitors.

Prof. Jaggar explained to the Secretary that the study of Kilaua is considered more important in many ways than of any other known volcano, because it is always alive and displays all the primal characteristics found in a crater in actual eruption.

Secretary Fisher Busy.
 Since leaving Honolulu Secretary Fisher has been an extremely busy man—and so far Mrs. Fisher has followed his pace. He has lived up to his itinerary and has examined more than fifty witnesses in public hearings, at the same time visiting many places and making some study of conditions with his own eyes.

On its arrival at Kailua Saturday morning the party jumped into machines and rode out twelve miles to the spacious home of Mrs. Greenwald, where, after a hearty breakfast of country viands, the Secretary conducted a hearing of more than an hour's duration on the wide lanai. The citizens for miles around had heard of his coming, and he had no difficulty in finding witnesses, for they were present by the score.

His questioning was of a general nature, but the discussion finally centered around the problems of coffee growing, as this is the most important coffee growing district in the Territory. There was some talk concerning pineapple culture and tobacco raising. The latter, however, is still in the experimental stage, though the general opinion seemed to be that it will prove a successful crop. About thirty witnesses were examined.

The party left as soon as possible and made a run of about 60 miles, to Waiohinu, where the troubles of the Thompson Settlement Association and the Hutchinson plantation were discussed at length. Some twenty witnesses were called, among them District Judge Hazelton. This hearing was concluded at 7 o'clock Saturday evening. It had been intended that Mott-Smith, with his wife and Mrs. Fisher, should go on through from Kailua to Hilo without delay, but Manager Ogg of the Hawaiian Agricultural Company came down from Pahala and met the party at Waiohinu, inviting them to spend Saturday night at his home. This was accepted gratefully, as it broke the tedium of the long run across the Big Island. The Secretary and Mrs. Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Mott-Smith and Governor Frear rode up there, the others remaining at Pahala Sunday morning, where another brief hearing was held. Manager Ogg being the sole witness. General conditions in sugar cane growing, his experiments in aiding individual homesteaders, land leasing, etc., were discussed. Then Manager Ogg escorted the party to the Volcano House.

The Secretary is finding his itinerary a strenuous one, but declares he is enjoying every moment of it and that he will endeavor to live up to the program to the end. This must be adhered to if much testimony is to be taken at Honolulu before Secretary of State Knox's arrival brings the investigation to a close.

Delegate Kuhio and his attorney, C. W. Ashford, did not visit Kilaua, the Prince announcing directly after lunch here that he was called to Hilo on urgent business matters, and leaving immediately for that city by auto, accompanied by his counsel.

Down from Volcano.

Special Star-Bulletin Correspondent—Hilo, Sept. 23.—Leaving the Volcano House about 9 o'clock this morning the Fisher party journeyed leisurely down the 32-mile stretch of road to Hilo, arriving here at 11 o'clock. Enroute the Secretary stopped for a half hour's visit at the home of Mr. Furneaux, where he saw growing side by side almost every variety of tropical fruits, timber, flowers and vegetables, all in riotous profusion.

Mr. Furneaux at present cultivates only about half his holding of 180 acres. He first tried coffee, planting about thirty-two acres, but did not have much success with this crop, and at present is doing extensive gardening. He also has a considerable acreage of pineapples. He is experimenting with bananas, and has thirty-two different varieties of this fruit on his place, all of which he says are promising success as future commercial crops.

The sight of such luxuriant vegetation was a new one to the Secretary and to Mrs. Fisher, both showing a keen interest in the gorgeous floral colors and the innumerable varieties of vegetable life on exhibition. They plucked three ripe pineapples, the first they have ever seen growing, and were given the specimens, which they brought down to Hilo to eat with their luncheon today.

For the first twenty-five miles down the roads were found to be in excellent condition, but as the party approached the boundary between the Puna and Hilo districts, Gov. Frear, who was riding in the same car with Mr. Fisher, explained that the roads of the island are handled by districts and that those of Puna were kept up by the supervisors of that section, while a separate bunch of men control the station in the Hilo district. "You will observe a difference in the condition of the roads," he concluded.

The Secretary did. It was a forcible demonstration. Within a few

HAWAIIAN SUGAR SELLS HEAVILY
 A large amount of business was reported from between sessions on the stock exchange today, Hawaiian Sugar predominating with an aggregate of 418 shares unchanged at 42. This amount was in blocks respectively 100, 250, 55 and 13 shares. Oahu slumped three-quarters in sales of 260 shares in five blocks at 6 flat. Oahu Sugar held at 27.25 for 15, 5 and 20 shares. McBryde also held its own with 75 and 100 shares at 5. Wailua fell off three points in a sale of 50 shares at 120. Onomea shed a quarter point in a sale of 45 shares at 53.50. Ewa showed a like decline to 31 for 5 shares. Pioneer maintained the previous quotation of 33.25 for 10, 20 and 30 shares.

PLAN WORK FOR 'GYM' CLASSES
 Miss Tupper, physical director of the Y. W. C. A., has planned a very interesting course of indoor gymnastics for the coming year. Some of the features will be as follows, military marching, German calisthenics, Swedish gymnastics, indian-clubs swinging, wand drills, dumb bell work, 17th dancing, a variety of indoor games and apparatus work.

There will also be classes in basketball, swinging and tennis. The indoor work will all be done at the gymnasium in the Boston building, while the swimming class will be held at the Castle pool, Waikiki. The tennis class will be at the association courts next to the Homestead.

On the board Hawaiian Commercial dropped a quarter to 43 for 5 shares, the only other session sale being $500 Hilo 1901 sixes at 101-.

Other than sugar stocks reported were 50 O. R. & L. at 143.50, an advance of one point, and 35 Honolulu Brewing and Malting unchanged at 21.12 1/2.

SCHOFIELD MEN ON EDGE FOR BIG FIELD DAY TOMORROW

Entire Garrison Is Interested in the Program of Sports

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence] SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, Sept. 23. The quarterly Field Day of the entire garrison will take place tomorrow, the 27th on the reviewing grounds northeast of the First Infantry cantonment. All visitors will be welcome and ample accommodations to view the sports will be provided. The program will be a varied and interesting one and great rivalry is expected. These meetings coming at the end of each three months throughout the year serve to foster friendly feelings among the organizations composing the garrison and the list of candidates for places in the various events is large so that the winners represent the choice of a long string from each regiment.

The honors of the June meeting fell to the Second Infantry, but the coming one looks like a victory for the First Infantry, with the Fifth Cavalry the strongest contender. The Artillery battalion, though numerically weakest, is always to be counted on in any athletics and may prove the surprise when the totals are counted. Special events for the distinctive arms of the service are sandwiched in the mixed program to keep the troops, batteries or companies on the jump for individual honors.

Substantial cash prizes are awarded by the various Post Exchanges and a novel feature of the awarding of prizes is the designated officer handing out the shekels within a minute after the conclusion of the race or other contest.

POLITICAL NEWS AND NOTES

Inability on the part of the Home Rulers to secure their political timber for different offices in the legislature and county, resulted in the disbandment of the Home Rule county convention, which was held last night in Notley hall.

With President and Vice President Notley and Kalauokalani, Sr., in the chair, the Home Rulers assembled last night to frame up their ticket for the coming campaign.

Unfortunately, however, out of about sixty people assembled the only available candidates for different offices were D. Kalauokalani, Sr., for senator; D. Kaona, for representative, and J. A. Baker and M. O. Makekau, for supervisors.

The executive committee, with Wm Mossman as chairman, was instructed to select other aspiring candidates for offices and report to the general assembly. Falling in this, the committee will, it is said, recommend to the Home Rule assembly for the endorsement of the Republican or Democratic candidates, who have been regularly nominated by their parties.

The Home Rule party, which has existed for many years, since the annexation of these islands to the United States, is gradually but surely falling off. But the leaders, true to their colors, are still holding on.

Notley stated yesterday that he was prepared to go out in the campaign as soon as he is able. It is expected that he will fire his first gun on Hawaii, from the top of Mauna Kea, and from there he will go to Maui, thence to Oahu and Kauai.

The new Democratic county central committee held its first meeting yesterday afternoon and took up the question of filling the vacancy on the ticket for the position of county clerk. Chairman Rivenburgh named a committee, with W. Kinslea as chairman, which will receive and discuss the applications of all would-be candidates and report by October 15.

A special committee was appointed to secure suitable headquarters and to take up the work of raising funds among the faithful to run the campaign.

J. M. Poepoe, Democratic candidate for the House from the Fifth District, is considered to have a strong following among the Hawaiians now, although a number of years ago he was in their bad graces through a 'stand he took while in the Legislature against what they thought were their interests. He is a lawyer and is well known and considered to have excellent qualifications for the position to which he aspires.

The Democratic leaders are of the opinion that Sumner Paxson, named for Representative from the Fourth District, will show himself one of the strongest men on the ticket. As the local agent of a sewing machine company, Paxson has a wide acquaintance among the Hawaiian women, who know him as 'Haole Miakini,' and it is believed this acquaintance will be of assistance to him.

Noa Aluli, who was beaten by Ambrose Wirtz for the nomination for the Senate by four votes, is not inclined to take his defeat gracefully. He insists that he was nominated, despite the convention to the contrary, but did not say whether he was going to run independently.

COMMISSIONERS TO CALL HERE

A party of distinguished Japanese, who were delegated by their government to assist in the final selection of a site for a Japanese exhibit at the Panama-Pacific exposition, is reported as traveling across the Pacific from San Francisco, as passengers in the Toyo Kisen Kaisha liner Nippon Maru.

A wireless message received yesterday at the agency of Castle & Cooke was to the effect that the party of commissioners is on board the Nippon Maru. The suggestion was made that the delegation be met by the Royal Hawaiian Band.

Local Japanese have taken up the matter of a proper reception and plans are now being completed whereby the Japanese will be accorded a welcome to Honolulu befitting their rank and station.

The Nippon Maru is due to arrive off quarantine at or about 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

It is the present intention to dispatch the Nippon for the Orient at 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

CENTRAL CAFE OWNER IN BANKRUPTCY COURT

H. M. Asao, a Japanese restaurateur doing business under the name of Central Cafe, has made a bad business smash. In the schedules filed with his petition for bankruptcy in the Federal Court, his liabilities are placed at $3037.99 and his assets at only $600. Of the latter $100 represents personal effects claimed as exempt and $300 furniture, cooking utensils, crockery, glassware, etc., in the possession of the high sheriff after being seized under an execution out of the Honolulu District Court. Book debts due him constitute the remaining assets of $200. Taxes, $3.35, and wages due, $101, are among the liabilities, the remainder being debts due storekeepers, dairymen, etc., and money borrowed, the total unsecured GERMAN WARSHIP FAST, debts being $2933.61.

SUPERVISORS PASS ORDINANCE ON DANCE HALLS

At a meeting last night, the board of supervisors unanimously passed the dance hall ordinance by title on third reading. There was no debate. Those present with Mayor Fern were Amann, Arnold, Dwight, Krueger, Low and McClellan.

Cost of the garbage service in all branches for August, as reported by Superintendent Costa, was $2872.12, including $627.69 overhead charges, and the receipts were $1259.50, making the net cost $1612.62.

Major W. C. Neville, commanding the U. S. Marine Corps, wrote complaining of trash accumulating about the city incinerator and asking that some disposition be made of the stuff so as to stop the nuisance in the vicinity of the Marine barracks.

George A. Snow, secretary of the 20th International Irrigation Congress, wrote to remind the board that it had not appointed the five delegates to that body allotted to it, and enclosing a "suggestive interview" to "hand to your local paper." The congress meets Sept. 30 to October 3.

A circular was received from the Barrett Manufacturing Company, saying it was sent at the request of the Honolulu Iron Works, mentioning literature forwarded under separate cover relating to "Tarvia," a material for resurfacing old roads. The offer of a "small commission" in the circular caused a smile to circulate.

Resolutions appropriating $16,224, $6335 and $550 respectively for various improvements and repairs passed third reading.

On motion of Arnold, the clerk was directed to advertise for hire those specifications to be furnished by the chief.

Low called for an opinion from the attorney as to whether the Rapid Transit Company could be compelled by the board to raise the blocks between the tracks on Queen street to grade, or would it be necessary to make the demand through the superintendent of public works.

After Deputy Attorney Milverton had advised that the proceeding should be through the superintendent of public works, Arnold asked if the blocks had not been laid by the county and the cost paid to the county by the company.

Dwight and the mayor both answered that the work was done by the 1907-1908 county board of which both were members. The matter was referred to the road committee to have the wrong condition repaired.

"All these conditions have not only made the theatrical business here too expensive, with a consequent increase in what the public must pay, but also would not warrant managers in getting high-class attractions week after week.

"With the local situation straightened out and the big circuit to the East under way, the Consolidated Amusement Company starts out with the definite policy of bringing the very best attractions here that are on the road and will come. Personally, I would not stand for any other policy."

THE SALOON AND ITS NEIGHBORHOOD.

The question sent to the attorney-general by the liquor license commission involves more than a mere interpretation of law,—it involves the whole problem of regulation of saloons by the people of this and other Hawaiian communities.

The commission wishes a legal explanation of the term "holder" as used in the statutes under which a majority of property-holders can prevent a saloon from securing a license in their immediate neighborhood. The agent of the Anti-Saloon League says that "property-holder" means "property-owner", while the attorney for the license applicant argues that lessees or other tenants, as the residents on the affected property, are most vitally affected and therefore their attitude is to be consulted.

Regardless of the technical interpretation of the law, the fact that both the property-owners and temporary tenants are affected ought to be sufficient reason why both parties should be consulted. The tenants have a right to be heard. However, this factor at once comes in: were the temporary tenants to be given equal weight with the property-owners, the liquor interests might often be enabled to see that tenants were installed who would favor the saloon and thus force the saloon on a neighborhood where the property-owners were against it.

An interpretation of the law by the attorney-general should be supplemented by legislation that will safeguard the community against such an evil possibility. The citizens of the community should be able to know that opposition to a saloon in a certain location is bona-fide opposition and advocacy of a saloon in a certain location is bona-fide advocacy, not advocacy by dummy tenants colonized to secure one more foothold for the distribution of liquor.

JAPAN'S NAVY LOSS

The storm which swept Japan Monday night and yesterday has done more than take the lives of some thousands of people. It has damaged the formidable navy structure which Nippon is building up at the expense of a tax-ridden people.

Whether the damage to the navy is the loss of four battleships or of two torpedo-boat destroyers and two battleships has not been definitely determined, nor is it known certainly that the vessels are of the late and costly types. However, the blow is a very serious one at this time. Japan is carrying a national burden that strains her people to the utmost. One night of storm has given a disastrous set-back to a navy-building program that represents years of herculean effort. Man's little implements of war are puny indeed beside the strength of the elements loosed in all their fury.

FORTUNES UNDER PAINT

Students of art will be interested in the report that Frank Davey, formerly of this city, has just uncovered a $10,000 Murillo, and even though the value of the painting has probably been exaggerated, Davey's good luck brings to attention the large number of fine old masterpieces that have been brought to light in the past year or two. While many of these are examples of early work on the part of the painters of little worth except as indicating a developing technique and ideal, many others are almost priceless. Some of the best of the Velasquez portraits, for instance, have been found within the past few years.

The restoration of old paintings has grown to be almost a trade, and experts are now able to accomplish wonders. Paints badly torn, burned or so dirty as to be entirely indistinguishable have been cleaned up and repainted until they reproduced the original coloring and composition faithfully.

It is an axiom of art collectors that one will find treasure where he least expects it. Some of the greatest paintings now hung in the galleries of the world have been lost for decades, to be found in outhouses, moldy old furniture shops or in the hands of owners who had no idea of their worth. It is a good plan to examine carefully any old, dirty painting that comes into one's hands, and to use tepid water and a soap free from alkali, rubbing the water gingerly over the surface. After the picture is dried, brushed with chamois-skin and a light picture varnish applied, unsuspected beauties may stand forth. Several valuable paintings, however, have been ruined through the eagerness of amateurs to find out what lay beneath the encrusting dirt, and extreme care must be exercised.

On the other hand, if you are an American travelling in Europe and evince a desire to secure old paintings and show any indication of wealth, you will be pestered by an army of fakers, anyone of whom will swear he has a Rembrandt or a Raphael discovered in some obscure spot where it has rested for generations. Not a few ambitious collectors have been swindled with an ease and thoroughness that would do credit to a gold-brick expert.

NEW JERSEY PROGRESS

The victory of William Hughes, of Paterson, N. J., in the New Jersey primaries on Monday which determined the Democratic nomination for United States senator is as plain a victory of the people over the boss system as any American community has ever witnessed.

Backed by Gov. Wilson, Hughes, who is now a New Jersey congressman, has apparently carried every New Jersey county except one, while the "Wilson ticket" for state offices was uniformly successful.

Jim Smith, again repudiated by the people of New Jersey, is the boss that Wilson, the college president, went out to beat—and did beat. It was Wilson's fight against Smith and against Smith's system which put the collegian in line for the presidential nomination. It was Wilson's fight against Smith that gave New Jersey its present direct primary law. Wilson saw that the stronghold of the boss system in American politics is the convention. He saw that the dirtiest deals in politics are made possible by the convention. And he went at the root of the evil.

He wrote New Jersey's primary law, one of his supporters by the name of Geran introduced it, and Wilson put it through the state legislature. That law provides for the nomination of United States senators at the primaries. It provides also that every candidate for the state legislature, which elects the senators, shall file with his own nominating petition a statement declaring either that he will support the senatorial candidate who has the highest primary vote, or that he will not be bound by primary vote. Thus the voters know what to expect of their legislators when it comes to electing a United States senator.

Gov. Wilson's attack on the boss system brought upon his head the bitterest assault any prominent man in public life has known for five years past. But he beat the boss and he beat the system. Jim Smith's power in New Jersey is broken,—broken by a man who did not fear to point out the evils in his own party and to urge their correction.

The results in New Jersey ought to be an inspiration to any man, Republican or Democrat, who believes in the rule of all the people rather than in the rule of a few.

The talk of a non-partisan movement grows stronger. But most of the leading Democrats out for office are of the type that would deliver the city voters into the hands of a perfect machine. With Fern as mayor, Jarrett as sheriff, McClellan or Petrie as head of the police committee of the supervisors, McCarthy as treasurer and enough members of the board to insure a Democratic road boss, the chain would be complete. Such facts should make the non-partisans pause and consider. Undoubtedly there are good men on the Democratic ticket. Would they be outweighed by the inevitable machine organization, so that the efforts of the individually good men would be useless?

A bona-fide citizens' movement in politics does not use the names of prospective candidates without their authority and against their wishes. That's what the matter with the mythical "Committee of Fifty". Its action was nothing less than impertinence.

Perhaps the thirteen Taft delegates who left the California convention expect to exert their evil omen in the direction of Oyster Bay.

SUPERVISORS TURN DOWN AH LEONG'S NEW TENEMENT

James Rath's Arguments in Behalf of Palama School Sustained, as Well as That of Building Inspector Who Retused Permit

A lengthy forensic plea by J. Lightfoot, attorney for Ah Leong, made before the board of supervisors last night, was unavailing to procure the overturning of Building Inspector McIlverson's decision against the erection of a tenement on Liliha street, corner of King street. By unanimous vote of the six members the refusal of a permit by the inspector for such a structure was sustained. J. A. Rath, head worker of Palama Settlement, took part in the discussion and although he had not come particularly to fight the proposed tenement, he felt constrained to object to some of the attorney's arguments and conclusions of fact.

Mr. Lightfoot said he appeared on behalf of the petitioner of Ah Leong containing an appeal from the decision of the building inspector denying a permit to construct a tenement at Liliha street, corner of King street. The plan and specifications for the building had been approved by the board of health as to location. The permit was refused by the inspector on the ground that the building would be within 100 feet of a school, reference being to the kindergarten of Palama Settlement.

Argues for Tenement. It was contended by Lightfoot that the kindergarten in question was not a school within the meaning of the ordinance. At great length he argued that tenements in that particular section were a particular benefit to the working people, especially those toiling on the wharves who needed to live near their work. Employment was so irregular for waterfront workers that many of them could not afford to live in cottages at rentals of $8 to $20 a month. Tenement houses were a necessary, or a necessary evil if they put it that way. The corner of Liliha and King streets was in a tenement district, and the speaker considered it well that a tenement should exist there within the saving influence of Palama Settlement. An ordinance should be sensibly, not strictly construed, and it would be admitted that the Settlement kindergarten was not a school.

Deputy Attorney McIlverson, before replying to Mr. Lightfoot, desired to put some questions to Mr. Rath. The answers were in substance as follows: "We are conducting a kindergarten, which is listed in the board of education as a private school. On the mainland kindergartens are a part of the public school system. Teachers in the kindergartens are specially trained in different branches. There is an average attendance of 98 per day at the Palama kindergarten. We also conduct a night school with an average attendance of 60, composed of working boys from 15 or 16 to meet of 25 or 30." Cross-questioned by Mr. Lightfoot, he said some of the teachers in the night school are certified by the department of public instruction.

Rath Explains Stand. Mr. Rath then on his own behalf explained his position. Mr. Lightfoot's client, he remarked, was not acting for the benefit of the poor but in his own interest. It was a fact that 64 percent of the cases of tuberculosis and 85 per cent of the cases of eye disease in Honolulu came from the congested districts where tenement houses were. If the tenements were not doing the work of housing the poor satisfactorily, let the government do it as it does in other countries.

Mr. Lightfoot, replying, asked: "How do sensible boards of supervisors do—say to the people, 'You must not live here,' or say 'We must prevent the construction of tenements that do not comply with sanitary rules and regulations.' It was no worse to live in an insanitary tenement than it was to live in an insanitary palace."

Mr. McIlverson said it had everywhere been adjudicated that tenements were subject to regulation, as to sanitation and to location also. There was a class of people occupying tenements which should not be brought in contact with school children. There was no reason for the board to overrule the building inspector in this case unless it was to assume judicial functions. There were two grounds in the petition—first, that the kindergarten was not a school, and second, that the ordinance was unconstitutional. Both of these were points of law which the board could not determine.

Mr. Lightfoot said the ordinance could be modified, to which Mr. McIlverson replied that all the board could do was either to amend or repeal the ordinance.

Mr. McClellan, saying it was simply a question of law and if opponents of the ordinance wished to contest it let them take it to the Supreme Court, moved that the decision of the inspector be approved by the board. The motion carried unanimously on the ayes and noes being called.

LETTERS ON TIMELY TOPICS

THE MOTORCYCLE ACCIDENT. Editor Star-Bulletin.—Sir: Kindly allow me a few lines in your paper to correct the article headed "Child injured by motorcycle" which states that no blame is attached to those running the machine.

When I asked Mr. Saylor why he did not turn his machine aside, his answer was that he would run into the sidewalk and probably smash his machine so in order to save his machine which he did, he smashed his son.

According to Mr. Frazier the mail man and several other eye witnesses, Mr. Saylor was entirely to blame for the accident it was a case pure and simple of rank carelessness on his part.

And what is more, Mr. Editor, after my boy was knocked down and lay on the road unconscious the Rev. Saylor (a minister of the gospel) refused to carry him in the house, but stood arguing. Mr. Frazier and Mr. McCrackin carried the unconscious boy into the house.

Thanking you for this space, I remain, JOHN E. RICE, 2151 King Street.

(This paper made no assertion no blame attaches to those driving the machine. The Star-Bulletin distinctly stated in its report yesterday that witnesses of the accident said the riders were not to blame. Whether the riders were or were not to blame this paper has no means of knowing except by statements, and is glad to present all the facts in the case, which appears to warrant investigation, if the lad had been seriously injured.—Editor.)

IN THE WOMAN'S WORLD

PUNAHOU GIRLS' INITIATION IS STRENUOUS ONE

Novitiates Made to Dress in Rigidulous Costume and Vow Allegiance

It was last Tuesday morning. The Star-Bulletin reporter was looking for news and while waiting for a car at Pawaia Junction, a most unusually dressed girl appeared upon the scene. Her manner of dressing was so out of the ordinary that the spectators thought she was crazy. Her hair was done in six braids, and each was tied with bright colored ribbon, of a different shade and width. She wore a purple and a blue stocking and a white and a black shoe. On her ankles were huge, bright bows, one of red, the other black and yellow. Her clothes were wrong side out and the whole ensemble was topped off with a Sis Hopkins hat draped with long, yellow streamers. She carried a rose pink shawl. Naturally she was followed by a crowd of "newsies" who, like the reporter, thought that one of the inmates of the Asylum at Kalihi had escaped, or, what was more likely, the girl was giving a composite picture of the many goods in vogue. When she neared Oahu College, however, she was joined by another young maid similarly though not quite so atrociously garbed. Both of the young misses turned in at the college gate. Not knowing just what to do the reporter waited at the gate until another more sane-looking girl appeared and who, when questioned as to the cause of the strange apparitions, answered: "Oh, the freshman girls are to be initiated today and we seniors made them do all of this. This high and mighty personage of the upper class said that visitors were welcome at the school, but that the initiation was quite private and also secret. After pleading for some time the reporter was granted permission by this wise upper classman to look through the window during the initiation. Promptly at three-fifteen the freshmen lined up in front of the college and marched to Dole Hall, which, by the way, is one of the buildings in the Boarding Department. Some of the little maids had bells at the end of their wined braids, and a teacher afterwards remarked that bells were preferable to bells in a class room.

Then the senior girls started in with their initiation. The freshmen were first of all made to swear allegiance to the school and particularly the seniors. Two of the young ladies were made to box and the first cuffs was carried on with such earnestness that the participants had to be separated. The girls to whom sardine sandwiches were served at them with such gusto that initiators thought that they had selected them from the wrong plate. Some of the freshmen were blindfolded and made to remove, and put on their shoes and stockings. The whole affair was as entertaining to the victims as to the spectators at the window and although the seniors had made many plans for the overcoming of the freshmen, the members of the new class were so game that they were let off easy.

After the young students had gone through the "stunts" laid before them refreshments were served. As the ice was flavored with chocolate, the freshmen declared that they had been given the soft mud from the tank. These remarks so confounded the hostesses that they would have willingly substituted some other flavor or the real mud from the bottom of the swimming tank had they any opportunity for doing so.

Shortly before five o'clock the girls were released and sent home happy in the knowledge that they were full fledged freshmen. Initiation for the girls was over! Now the whole school is looking forward to the initiation of the freshmen boys, scheduled to take place on Friday afternoon. The boys will no doubt be pressed in some outlandish manner and, as is the custom, paraded around the school grounds and then introduced to the tank. On the following Friday the celebrated Freshman ducking will take place. The annual functions at the college may seem nonsensical to the outsider, but they not only try the mettle of the student but also instill in him or her a wholesome respect for authority, it is claimed.

PUNAHOU PRESENTED WITH MARBLE MASTERPIECE

Mr. and Mrs. A. Lewis, Jr., have presented to Punahou a copy in marble of "The Boy with the Thorn". This work of art is one of the most attractive, especially to young children, and this particular piece, made of white marble is especially beautiful. It has been placed in the Cooke Library.

All interested in the work are cordially invited to come and examine the apparatus.

MRS. JOHN MAHUKA DIES AT HER HOME

Mrs. John M. Mahuka died this morning at six-thirty o'clock at her home in Morris Lane, Palama. Funeral service will be held tomorrow afternoon at three-thirty from the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ on King street, Rev. E. J. Waller officiating.

MRS. INGALLS TO GIVE HER SEVENTH PUBLIC RECITAL

At the coming concert at the Empire Theater Monday, Sept. 29, many musical numbers of interest will be played and sung by these two artists, Mrs. Ingalls and Miss Callais.

Mrs. Ingalls is probably the only musician in Honolulu who has shown her constance growth and progress in her acts by giving an annual public recital. This will be her seventh one, and there are some of Honolulu's music-lovers who have heard them all, and will not miss hearing her this time, for it promises to be in every way the most mature and finished performance she has ever given. In the large cities it is customary for artists to present a program at least once a year, and Honolulu is to be congratulated upon having at least one artist, especially upon that most difficult of instruments, the violin, who is energetic enough to work up a program once a year.

Big Remnant Sale

THE closing out of Dress Goods which we commenced on the first of the present month, has resulted in a large accumulation of Short Ends. These are being measured up and marked for a final clearance, to begin on

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 1st

This will be the Greatest Remnant Sale we have ever held, and probably the last, as we will have no more Dress Materials (excepting white) when this stock is gone. The Remnants will consist of short ends of SILKS, WOOL GOODS, WHITE and COLORED WASH GOODS.

We require the room, and as soon as we can get to it we are going to make some extensive alterations in the store before showing our Holiday Line.

It will be a big saving to take advantage of this Great Remnant Sale, commencing at 8 o'clock next Tuesday morning.

In the case of M. S. Kim, on habeas corpus, the supreme court has decided that a district magistrate has the power in proper cases to impose cumulative sentences, and guilt has not to be proved when plea of guilty has been entered by the defendant. The defendant had pleaded guilty to five separate offenses, charged to have been committed on five separate days, involving both different persons and sums of money. At the expiration of his first sentence he applied for habeas corpus on the ground that the court did not have power to impose cumulative sentences.

Behind the fight to prevent Ryan from securing a transfer is the Anti-Saloon League's plan to free Alakea street from saloons altogether. Mr. Paty said this morning that while the organization has no complaints to make against Ryan as an individual, the league wishes to keep all saloons off this street.

"Alakea street is going to be like Fort street—one of the principal streets of access to and from the waterfront," he says, "and we believe that it should be made free of saloons. Our fight is not against Ryan. It is simply that if Ryan is given a new location in a building where he goes to considerable investment, he will be assured of some permanency there, and our object is to prevent this. It is easy to get a saloon into a location, but hard to get it out."

On the other hand, part of the commission believes that under the present laws and Ryan's present license, he should be given an opportunity to move to a better location, and to invest his money so that he will necessarily have to protect that investment by running his saloon on orderly lines.

The legal question was referred to the attorney general's department for early reply, and it is expected that when the board meets next Wednesday, the Ryan license will be settled.

Following are the signatures to petitions for and against the transfer of the license. On the petition for the transfer, several names were crossed out as the Anti-Saloon League said that the people who signed were outside of the district declared affected by the law.

commission wants to know whether the law declaring that a majority of "property-holders" against a license location shall prevent the issuance of a license, means owners of property or tenants or lessees. Mr. Paty argues that the property-owners are the ones to be first consulted. On the other hand, some of the commission intimate that a lessee or tenant has an equal right with an owner to be heard as to whether or not he wants a saloon in his neighborhood.

It is urged on behalf of Ryan that he is attempting to get into a location where he can conduct a first-class saloon with the most sanitary surroundings, that his record as a saloon man has been good enough to secure his license from the license commission, and that the majority of persons residing or doing business in the block have signed his petition.

These two petitions, one claiming a majority of actual property-owners (against Ryan), the other claiming a majority of people doing business in the block (for Ryan), were referred by the license commission to the attorney general for an opinion. The
