Correspondence Between Masters' Association And Inter-Island is Made Public—Counsel For Men Makes Statement

Members of the Masters and Mates Association of Honolulu will take no steps against President Kennedy or the Inter-Island Company. In other words we are not going to carry the matter to court. We are trying to live up to the terms of the contract.

DEVELOPMENTS TODAY

Association of masters and pilots stands ready to strike if Inter-Island discharges captain. Correspondence between association and Inter-Island made public. Inter-Island company declines to discuss situation. Pivot of strike sentiment appears to be proposed discharge of Capt. W. F. Thompson and bringing "logs" by company of steamboatmen from mainland.

That alleged unjust treatment of captains of the Inter-Island fleet by President Kennedy has aroused the most intense hostility to him in the ranks of the local Harbor of the Association of Masters, Mates and Pilots, is evidenced not alone by a statement made for the Star-Bulletin this morning but also by a series of letters from the officials of the Harbor to Mr. Kennedy and the Inter-Island directors, some of which are printed below. In spite of this, however, it was positively stated this morning that the captains are determined to let the company officials take the first step in the conflict they assert is coming. According to Judge A. S. Humphreys, attorney for the Harbor, the captains "are not going to carry the fight to the company." Mr. Kennedy, president of the company, refused again to make any statement for publication, saying that "there is nothing to say."

Judge Humphreys, although confined to bed, made a formal statement for this paper, in behalf of the association. He said: "The captains have been and still are determined to live up to the terms of the contract made with the Inter-Island company after their successful fight for their rights last summer. They acted then in good faith and they are still acting in good faith. I have advised them to be particularly careful against doing anything that could in any way be construed as a violation of the letter and spirit of that agreement. It is the wish of all to keep the good opinion of this com-

TWO HAWAII WHARVES RUINED BY STORMS

[Special Star-Bulletin Wireless] HILO, Hawaii, Jan. 24.—According to news received here today, the big storm of the last two days has practically ruined the Mahukona wharf? Last night heavy seas washed away the retaining wall and a large part of the wharf itself. The landing at Kawaihae is also badly damaged. It will be impossible to use either now for freight or passengers.

Cleveland tourist news will be found today on pages 1, 3, 7 and 11. The Cleveland will take mail for the Coast, sailing tomorrow morning. Mail for the Cleveland will close at 9 o'clock tonight. Three hundred and seventy globe-girdling passengers of the steamship Cleveland sat down to luncheon at the Moana hotel shortly after noon today, and in the restful atmosphere of cooling breezes, well appointed and well decorated tables, and good viands, tried to segregate their kaleidoscopic impressions of Honolulu and environs, gained in a whirl of sightseeing from trolley cars and motors. Less than a score of the ship's passengers were absent from the noon repast arranged for by the Hamburg-American Co. to vary the routine of shipboard fare, and of these most of the absentees were lunching with friends in the city, or had elected to make a flying circuit of the island. Before 8 o'clock this morning the big liner began to empty of passengers, many of whom boarded the special cars lined up to receive their loads of sightseers, and take them for a run over all the trackage of a fair idea of the city, getting a sight of Nuuanu valley, Manoa valley, Puna

MEN AND RELIGION CAMPAIGN BEGINS

Leaders Strike Note of Vigorous Crusade from the Start

With addresses in various parts of the city by both leaders, and with the men's noon massmeeting in Cooke hall, Y. M. C. A. building, the Men and Religion Forward Movement campaign here was formally opened this morning by Fred B. Smith, of New York, and Raymond Robins, of Chicago, who, in company with the National Association quartet, arrived in Honolulu yesterday afternoon to conduct the week of work in this city. From the moment of their landing the leaders in this movement have struck the note of a vigorous and practical crusade of religion in everyday life. Raymond Robins, the social service expert, has dealt with facts of commerce, industry and social clashes from the beginning, and the talks he is giving at the "institutes" are along the civic betterment lines that Honolulu is trying to follow. Fred B. Smith, heralded as America's greatest speaker to men, has gripped the imagination of local men from the time he stepped from the boat. A remarkable address at the Commercial club banquet last night was followed by remarkable talks today. The mass meeting at noon was perhaps the most important event of the morning, and was attended by about forty of the leading business men of the city. Following a short song service, the quartet sang several selections, after which Mr. Smith was introduced by Secretary L. R. Killam. Be-

E. V. DEBS ARRESTED

[Associated Press Cable] TERRACE HAUTE, Indiana, Jan. 24.—Eugene V. Debs, candidate for the presidency of the United States on the Socialist ticket, was arrested here this morning by United States officers charged with having obstructed justice. It is alleged by the government that Mr. Debs encouraged witnesses in the case against the Appeal to Reason, the Socialist paper printed in Kansas, to leave the jurisdiction of the court. The accused in the case are charged with having printed obscenities in the columns of the paper.

FEDERAL JUDGE DYING

ASSASSIN OF PASHA LAUDED

Enver Bey, Man Who Shot Down Nazim Elevated to Chief of Staff—Becomes Popular Idol

[Associated Press Cable] CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 24.—War

The city is in the hands of victors. Murder is done openly on the main thoroughfares and no one lifts a hand to prevent. The man who yesterday shot down and killed Nazim Pasha, chief of staff, today occupies the place of the man he slew, and more than that, is a popular hero, whose appearance on the streets or in public is the signal for salvos of applause from the war-crazed populace. Almost immediately after his murder of Nazim Pasha, whom he shot without warning, Enver Bey was sent for by the sultan and the grand council of ministers. He was then elevated to the post of chief of staff, a position which he held until he fell. All of the powers of the sultan were placed in the hands of his murderer and the situation took again the deadly peril to the peace of Europe it lost for a time in the hands of Nazim Pasha. In the Yildiz Kiosk, where the sultan has been living since the opening of the peace conference in London, the news of the murder of Nazim Pasha was received with marked approval, and it has been hinted that Enver Bey acted with the foreknowledge of his master, or at least with the knowledge of the grand council. Upon his assumption of the authority of chief of staff, he at once proceeded to enforce the police regulations and a result several hundred arrests have been made and it is said that there may be expected at any time. The foreign residents of the city have been ordered to keep to their quarters and if possible to their houses and in the main this order has been obeyed. Reports received here this morning that the Great Powers have ordered warships rushed here as speedily as possible caused a fresh outbreak that was quelled with difficulty, for no Europeans have been injured in the rioting. It is regarded in well-informed circles here as certain that the Turkish delegates to the peace conference in London will be recalled at once and that the conference will be abandoned and preparations for war rushed forward with all possible haste.

ALLIES PREPARING

LONDON, Jan. 24.—Reports from Constantinople reaching here destroy all hope of immediate peace, and the delegates of the allies are already preparing for the realty they deem inevitable. With one accord they announced today that they expect an immediate resumption of hostilities within the week, if not before. Dispatches from Germany tell of a panic on the Bourse, which is reported to have broken violently on receipt of dispatches from Constantinople this morning and last night. Other dispatches from the different chancelleries announce the abandoning of all hope of peace and the acceptance of the inevitable war, with preparations to meet eventualities.

WOMEN WIN SUFFRAGE 'GO'

CARSON, Nevada, Jan. 24.—The first round of the final fight for woman's suffrage was won by the women here today when the lower house of the state legislature passed a bill granting the right to vote to the women of the state. It is believed certain that the senate will concur and that the governor will sign the bill as soon as it comes before him.

SLIDE BLOCKS RAILROAD

SEATTLE, Jan. 24.—Reports from Wellington, in the Cascade Mountains, tell of a mile-wide slide in the mountains that has completely blocked the tracks of the Great Northern railroad and will take at least a week to clear away. No one is reported injured.

This is a common complaint in our harbor, vessels of your company are not supplied with a thoroughly competent crew of seamen, a fact that we have called your attention to and one that will sooner or later result in further financial loss to your company and perhaps disaster as well, also the deterioration of some of your vessels through age, which makes it practically impossible for the masters to maintain the standard established in the past.

We feel that masters are being blamed for incompetency, when in our opinion the blame should be placed elsewhere, namely, the system your company employs in supplying crews to your vessels.

It is commonly reported that all the good men, men that have been trained in the past to perform good work, have nearly all left your employ, so that now we are receiving in their places Japanese, Porto Ricans, in fact anything to make up our complement of a crew. Efficiency is most flagrantly disregarded.

Such a dissatisfaction. Many of the mates in your employ, particularly the new officers, who are not accustomed to this class of seamanship, are becoming dissatisfied with the work as they realize that it is impossible to accomplish good work with that class of men.

It is logical to suppose that these men will spread the report of unsatisfactory conditions prevailing here which will tend to deter others from accepting employment in the harbor trade.

Such are the conditions under which each and every master in your employ is situated, but we assure you that if you furnish this harbor with some evidence of Captain Thompson's neglect, together with a copy of the complaints, as mentioned in your letter, we can earnestly hope that you will treat the matter in unbiased consideration and will appoint a committee of masters, competent to judge these matters, to investigate the same.

Captain Thompson has an enviable record as a skillful and successful master in the coastwise trade and his officers have testified that he has not been lacking in sound judgment while master of the 'Nihau' since last March.

Most earnestly hoping that you will readily submit the evidence requested, we remain, dear sir,

Very truly yours,
FRANK C. POOR,
Secretary, Honolulu Harbor No. 54, Kennedy Stands Firm.

Honolulu, T. H., Nov. 11, 1912.
Honolulu Harbor No. 54, Honolulu, Hawaii.

Gentlemen: We have your letter of Nov. 5, 1912, relative to Captain W. F. Thompson and stating among other things that no member of the harbor will take command of the S. S. Nihau until just cause for Captain Thompson's discharge has been received.

Captain Thompson was placed in charge of the S. S. Nihau as master on March 5 of the present year. Since that date we have received a number of complaints from various of our patrons which upon investigation show that Captain Thompson has not exercised that sound judgment which is necessary to the proper conduct of your business.

The lack of judgment has already entailed financial loss both to himself and our patrons. We are responsible to our patrons for the manner in which we perform the services requested of us, and we cannot avoid that responsibility even if we desired to do so. We therefore must exercise our own judgment in regard to the selection or retention in our employ of our representatives. Truly yours, (Signed) J. A. KENNEDY, President, Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company, Ltd.

Capt. Thompson Defended. Honolulu, T. H., Dec. 2, 1912. Messrs. Inter-Island Steam Navigation Co., Ltd., P. O. Box 408, Honolulu, T. H.

Dear Sirs: Your reply to my inquiry as to the cause of Captain W. F. Thompson's dismissal from the steamer Nihau has been duly received and its contents carefully noted.

Your assertions regarding my lack of sound judgment in discharge of the company's business, resulting in financial loss to the company and its patrons, we consider as being very broad in their nature, inasmuch as you do not mention any specific instance or combination of events with which we may confront him for direct answer and explanation.

We have never disputed your rights in the selection or retention of your employes, and would not have entered this protest if Captain Thompson had been given a substantial reason for his dismissal.

Captain Thompson states to us under oath, that "when I asked Mr. Kennedy for the reason of my discharge he informed me that there were several, or at least there were several complaints about me from plantation managers; he also said that I was too old and couldn't do the work that I need to."

Injustice is Alleged. We feel that a great injustice is being done to Captain Thompson through your listening to complaints from landmen, who in our opinion are not competent to judge of a licensed officer's ability, any more than a layman is capable of judging a doctor's ability, or any other professional man, and in many instances these complainants are wilfully prejudiced against the master because he will not navigate his vessel to suit their views.

Captain Thompson is ignorant of his accusers, as Mr. Kennedy has refused to divulge their names, we would therefore most respectfully request that, if you have any knowledge where his duty, or has been lacking in judgment in caring for your interest, that you furnish this Harbor with some evidence of this neglect, also a copy of the complaints as mentioned in your letter, with the names of the persons whom you say have investigated Captain Thompson and found him lacking in judgment, etc.

Complaint is Made. In response to Mr. Kennedy's statement that "He couldn't do the work that he used to," he does not deny, for the reason that your steamers are not supplied with the quality of seamen, which they had in former years,

SONOMA WILL CARRY MAILS

Approaching Honolulu at a rate of over thirteen knots an hour the Oceanic liner Sonoma is now predicted to arrive inside the harbor late Saturday night.

Arrangements were completed today whereby the Sonoma is to be given the large accumulation of mail destined for the mainland, that has been awaiting transportation here for some days past, caused by the break in steamship schedules.

The Sonoma will be given pratique at the wharf. The Federal medical officers will board the vessel on her arrival at the Oceanic wharf. No delay in the removal of two hundred tons Australian cargo will be necessary. The vessel is to take on a considerable quantity of coal, as well as lines of provisions, which it is believed may be running rather short.

C. Brewer & Co. hope to dispatch the liner for San Francisco at noon Sunday. It is believed that the Sonoma, now proceeding at her present rate of speed, will reach San Francisco on or about the same time as the excursion steamer Cleveland, scheduled to sail at 7 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Work on Salvator Nearing Completion. The finishing touches to the alterations and repairs to the American schooner Salvator is nearing completion and that vessel is expected to be hauled from the local wharf tomorrow morning.

The Salvator has been fitted with a large section of new keel. Much other work was done, made necessary through the schooner grinding on the reef, at the time of her arrival from the Sound. The Salvator is to be hauled to an anchorage outside the harbor there to await the signing on of a crew.

China Coaled and Departed. Taking on six hundred and fifty tons coal during the brief stay at Honolulu, the Pacific Mail liner China steamed away from the Ewa berth at 10 o'clock this morning for Japan and China ports. The China carried a number of Asiatic steamer passengers from Honolulu. The vessel left but a small amount of mainland cargo.

IMPORTANT CHANGES IN NEXT WORLD TOUR. According to Representative Vogelvang, a number of important changes will be made in the itinerary of the tour planned for 1914. The new itinerary, for next year, will have a starting date on January 21, arriving at Colon, January 30, and Honolulu February 12. But with San Francisco included Honolulu will not be reached until February 20.

Mr. Vogelvang had made out a partial itinerary for the new westward trips, to start in January, 1914, the route being from New York to Kingston, to Colon, through the Panama Canal and thence straight across the Pacific to Honolulu and then on westward to New York over the old route, with the exception of Calcutta, which has been cut out entirely on account of the difficulty raised by the action of the Hooghly River.

The cablegram received by Mr. Vogelvang, however, advised that the itinerary should include San Francisco and Mr. Vogelvang has now included the city of the Golden Gate, which will make a difference of a few days in the trip.

Eighty-four tons of opium were seized on board the American-Hawaiian steamer Arizonan at San Francisco.

OFFICERS TRAIL MATSON STEAMER

Opium in large quantities is believed by the Federal authorities at the port of Honolulu, as aboard the Matson Navigation liner Wilhelmina and with that object in view, an unusually rigid inspection of the vessel, together with personal effects of passengers and crew has followed, the arrival of the steamer on last Tuesday morning.

A corps of Federal customs inspectors have been called on by Collector Williams to accompany the Wilhelmina to Hilo. The liner is to sail for the Hawaii port at five o'clock this evening taking a half a dozen men bearing the authority of Uncle Sam, to keep a careful watch over all freight discharged from this vessel.

The local authorities received a plain tip from the coast regarding the Wilhelmina is now certain. It is remembered that with the arrival of the liner at Hilo, all personal effects, hand baggage and trunks, the property of passengers, were subject to a general inspection. That baggage of travelers from the coast to the islands, should meet with this reception was pronounced an entirely new and rather unpleasant wrinkle.

Then came the inspection of the ship and a persistent search for contraband, pursued by a delegation of twenty men from the customs and night staff of inspectors and watchmen.

The Wilhelmina has been subject to far more scrutiny than any liner to reach this port in many months. Day and night during the stay of the vessel at the wharf, watchmen have swarmed her decks.

The removal of freight from the vessel has been subject to continuous surveillance of Customs officers, in more than one instance, packages have been opened and the contents examined.

It is admitted however that none of the much sought opium has so far been discovered.

There was a rumor circulated over the waterfront yesterday to the effect that customs officers had discovered a number of tins of prepared opium concealed in a crate of coast oranges. While no positive denial to this story was forthcoming, the report remained unverified.

The Wilhelmina is scheduled to depart for the big island at five o'clock this evening and completing the discharge of mainland freight will return to Honolulu at an early hour Monday morning.

The vessel will receive no sugar at the Hawaii port.

community, and if a fight comes to us we shall be all the stronger for the backing of public opinion, that we shall be certain to receive if we keep it.

"That is not to be construed however, to mean that we are going to sit down and take whatever the present administration of the company cares to give us. A man is food if he sits idly by and allows another to sharpen a knife for his own throat, especially after he has received due warning from the other that the blade is intended for his throat. We regard the bringing of these six men from New York to Honolulu, and their retention on waiting orders at a salary of $110 per month as a distinct warning, a threat, which we cannot afford to ignore. We are not going to ignore it, either."

Speaking of the action of President Kennedy in bringing the newcomers down from the coast, Judge Humphreys said:

"Mr. Kennedy has acted in this matter, as he has done largely because of pride. He returned from the coast last August to find that the captains had defeated the company. That made him mad and he has done the rest to get even. If he thinks though that he is going to win easily, or that the community is going to stand by and allow him to upset the traffic of the territory in order to feed a personal grudge, he is mistaken." He belongs unfortunately to that class, risen from the ranks, which forgets the source from which it sprung and spurns people belonging to the class.

The following correspondence between the association, formally known as Honolulu Harbor, No. 54, American Association of Masters, Mates and Pilots, and the Inter-Island officials, was made public yesterday afternoon.

The first letter is from the association to President Kennedy, declaring that if Capt. Thompson were removed from command of the steamer Nihau, no member of the association would take the vessel out. President Kennedy stood firm and the association thereupon wrote two lengthy letters to the Inter-Island, setting forth the position of the men fully and frankly. The Inter-Island directors, in reply, wrote to the association under date of Dec. 27, upholding President Kennedy's course.

It was stated last night that in the three weeks since then matters have been coming closer and closer to an open break between the Inter-Island and its men. Capt. Thompson still commands the Nihau, says the association, but the move of Mr. Kennedy in bringing men from the coast is taken as a forecast of summary action when he gets men on the ground who can take the places of present mates and later become themselves masters.

The correspondence made public is as follows:

Honolulu, T. H., Nov. 5, 1912.

Mr. J. A. Kennedy, President, Inter-Island Steam Navigation Co., Ltd., Honolulu, T. H.

Dear Sir: We beg to notify you that the summary dismissal of Captain W. F. Thompson of the steamer Nihau has been brought to the attention of this harbor, and we desire to state that if you wish to dispatch that vessel today, Captain Thompson must be let out, as no other member will accept the position until just cause for Captain Thompson's discharge has been received, which we will be pleased to consider at a future meeting. Very truly yours, (Signed) FRANK C. POOR, Secretary, Honolulu Harbor No. 54, Kennedy Stands Firm.

Capt. Thompson Defended. Honolulu, T. H., Dec. 2, 1912. Messrs. Inter-Island Steam Navigation Co., Ltd., P. O. Box 408, Honolulu, T. H.

Dear Sirs: Your reply to my inquiry as to the cause of Captain W. F. Thompson's dismissal from the steamer Nihau has been duly received and its contents carefully noted.

Your assertions regarding my lack of sound judgment in discharge of the company's business, resulting in financial loss to the company and its patrons, we consider as being very broad in their nature, inasmuch as you do not mention any specific instance or combination of events with which we may confront him for direct answer and explanation.

We have never disputed your rights in the selection or retention of your employes, and would not have entered this protest if Captain Thompson had been given a substantial reason for his dismissal.

Captain Thompson states to us under oath, that "when I asked Mr. Kennedy for the reason of my discharge he informed me that there were several, or at least there were several complaints about me from plantation managers; he also said that I was too old and couldn't do the work that I need to."

Injustice is Alleged. We feel that a great injustice is being done to Captain Thompson through your listening to complaints from landmen, who in our opinion are not competent to judge of a licensed officer's ability, any more than a layman is capable of judging a doctor's ability, or any other professional man, and in many instances these complainants are wilfully prejudiced against the master because he will not navigate his vessel to suit their views.

Complaint is Made. In response to Mr. Kennedy's statement that "He couldn't do the work that he used to," he does not deny, for the reason that your steamers are not supplied with the quality of seamen, which they had in former years, he voluntarily raised the pay of the men, the occasion being about three years ago, when this harbor found it necessary to demand the master's vacation. He then raised the pay of the mates $5 per month. In this connection we may observe that the vacation referred to had been in vogue for a number of years, but had been cut off by Mr. Kennedy, thus forcing us into a fight to reclaim that which had been taken from us, and which was, implicitly at least, a part of our contract of employment.

The record of our men for ability and efficiency is not excused anywhere. The peculiar conditions existing in these waters, the nature of the landings and the work performed require a high degree of skill and watchfulness; and never in the history of steamboating in these waters has a life been lost at sea, and only upon a few occasions have any serious accidents happened at our most dangerous landings, and then, such accidents were caused by boatmen, and not by any of your licensed officers.

Although fully understanding the power we might wield, we have never in our history abused it, or tried to use it in any manner, except during the recent trouble, when we were compelled in self-defense to resort to all of our power and resources to secure what we conceived to be our just rights.

We may state that at the outset of the recent trouble between us, it was not the intention of this Harbor to introduce a new wage schedule, as our minutes will show that we advocated a new schedule to take effect the first of next year, and that we intended to give your company ample notice thereof, and invite it to send us suggestions with respect thereto.

It is our purpose to be fair with you, at all times, but we feel, and do not hesitate to say to you, that it will be a constant source of friction, and danger to our members, and will still further intensify the bitter feeling unnecessarily created in the past by Mr. Kennedy, if he (or Mr. Shesdy) persists in preferring or attempting to discriminate unfairly against any of them.

Mr. Shesdy is a new man in your employments with, but, slight acquaintance with the masters and mates, and his repeated remark, made in a spirit of vainglory, that he will fire this or that man, as it may please his whims or caprices, can only serve to kindle a smouldering fire and make it necessary for this Harbor to adopt measures of protection against him or any others similarly afflicted.

Our reason for this communication, at this time, is the remark made by Mr. Kennedy that "he intends to get" certain of our men for the part they played in the recent trouble between the company and our men. One of the masters was recently ordered discharged by Mr. Kennedy, and when requested to give a reason for this order stated that the master was too old. Another master upon interviewing Mr. Kennedy was also told that it was to be his policy to replace the older employees with younger men.

At a special meeting of this association, called to consider the matter, it was decided that this Harbor would not permit such an injustice to take place, and Mr. Kennedy was so informed.

Another matter brought to the attention of this Harbor, and still further illustrating Mr. Kennedy's feeling toward our members, is that fact that he has issued an order that when vessels arriving on Sunday with a cargo of sugar to be discharged that day, in the American-Hawaiian ships (the overtime being paid by the latter company), the masters and mates shall be replaced by the stevedores, who are to draw the overtime pay, thus depriving the officers of your vessels of the overtime pay they are justly entitled to. This action on the part of Mr. Kennedy can only be attributed to personal feeling, or ill will, as the overtime being paid by the American-Hawaiian people, entails no expense on our company.

Again we call your attention to the fact that masters or officers who are detained at home, sick for a day or two, are having their pay docked.

This niggardly policy is not pursued elsewhere in the territory and we confidently believe that it will fail to receive your approval.

Trusting that the matters covered by this communication may have your fair consideration, and that we may assure you that this harbor will give timely advice thereof, we remain, gentlemen,

Yours respectfully,
HONOLULU HARBOR, No. 54, FRANK C. POOR, Secretary.

Honolulu, T. H., Dec. 27, 1912. Honolulu Harbor No. 54, Honolulu, T. H.

Gentlemen:—Having given consideration to your letter of the 2nd inst. to the Directors of this Company, the Board has directed me to write you in reply as follows:

The Directors are satisfied that in his dealings with the Company's employes, Mr. Kennedy has not indulged in discrimination except to recognize efficiency and service.

Having already given fair consideration to the facts involved in connection with Captain Thompson's case, and Captain Thompson having in fact been given substantial instances of default on his part, the Directors feel that further comment is unnecessary.

It has been and will continue to be the policy of this Company and of the officers to be fair in all relations with employes, recognizing merit and efficiency on the one hand and discharging or correcting those falling short of it on the other, giving fair consideration to complaints of those who may deem themselves aggrieved, and in all cases taking such action as the Directors shall deem just. The Directors cannot avoid, nor permit others to assume, the responsibility which rests upon the Company in connection with its employes and their selection, retention and discipline.

Yours respectfully,
(Signed) NORMAN GEDDE, Secretary, Inter-Island Steam Nav. Co., Ltd.

CLEVELAND 'HOWLER' PROVED A SCREAM. Cleveland tourists long have occasion to look back with delight at the efforts of a corps of officers and passengers in their efforts to amuse, with the assistance of the occasional publication of the "Cleveland Howler."

That the "Howler" was capable of creating a large sized disturbance, was generally conceded this morning, when copies of the satirized little sheet were produced. With a staff comprising the youth and flower of the Cleveland, and numbering such distinguished personages as "Skipper" Kler, Fred Kruse, drawing upon the front of learning over which presides Major Jones, the paper struggled through three months existence, with credit to its staff, Messrs. Lindsay, Cameron and Millican, a trio of live ones on board the vessel admirably served in the capacity of newboys. They disposed of their wares with a dash and abandon that compelled more than one reluctant two bit piece to part from a tourist pocket book. The department for first aid to the loveless, proved a winner for a heavy of forty eligible widows and a score of others who are alleged to have fallen a willing victim to Cupid's wiles.

At the suggestion of the Howler, a new game was introduced in the several tournaments, namely tug of war drinks.

In noting weather conditions on board, the Howler glibly refers to weather as sunny after a while, with a frisky barometer and a thermometer registering black and white.

"Antipodes Day" On The Cleveland--Women In Exciting Deck Race

hou district, Fort Shafter, and Moanahina gardens, and of course Kapiolani Park and Waikiki Beach, which marked the finish of the trip. A number of the Cleveland's passengers, however, hired motor cars for themselves, and did their sightseeing as the spirit moved, regardless of schedule, while still others accepted the generous hospitality of the local Shriners, who formed a flying squadron of motors to entertain members of the order and their families. By 8:30 the Cleveland was deserted, for while practically every one of the passengers were ashore enjoying themselves, a large portion of the crew also secured liberty, for a "look see" at the city.

As the trolley cars, comfortably filled but not crowded, rumbled off on their long circuit, a megaphone orator on each commenced a running description of the sights and landmarks that flashed by. Some of these amateur ballyhoos, many of whom had performed a similar service for the promotion committee during the last visit of the big round-the-world cruiser, had their line of talk down very fine, and their lectures were of considerable interest. Even the best posted, however, were stumped by some of the questions asked by inquisitive passengers.

Luncheon Enjoyable. The first carloads of pleasure seekers arrived at the Moana shortly after 11:30, and soon after that the dining room of the hotel began to fill with hungry sightseers, who found that the half day ashore had only whetted the keen edge of their sea appetites.

Five long tables, extending the entire length of the big room, provided for 320 guests at a sitting. Luncheon had been ordered for 370, but the fifty odd late comers took the places vacated by those who went into luncheon immediately on arrival. A menu containing many Hawaiian specialties was expediently served. The Moana chef outdid himself, and the force of stewards and waiters from the ship did the serving. The regular guests of the hotel took their luncheon in the drawing room and adjacent screened lanai, which was fitted up as a temporary dining room. Most of them enjoyed the change, and there was no inconvenience to regular patrons from the influx of transients.

Following was the menu served to the Cleveland luncheoners: Papaya cocktail, mallet in t-leaves, paprika schnitzel, Hawaiian fruit salad, pineapple sherbert, served in whole pineapples scooped out. After lunch a number of the guests elected to go for a swim, and after a suitable digestive period, spent in keen enjoyment of just doing nothing for a time, tackled the surf, many of them experimenting with surf boards. Dinner to Captain. This evening at the Moana Hotel Mr. and Mrs. Hansen, of the great shoe manufacturing firm of that name, are to give a dinner in honor of Captain Kier of the Cleveland. The host and hostess are passengers on the voyage, and wish to show their appreciation of the pleasant cruise, and to cement friendships made aboard ship. Covers will be laid for eighty, and red will be the color scheme of the decorations. In fact, Manager Thiele of the Moana has almost cleaned the city of poinsettias and carnations in order to attractively decorate the hotel in honor of the visitors.

CLEVELANDERS SEE MACHINERY IN MOTION Cleveland excursionists witnessed the giant engines in the liner at work during two days set aside for inspection, on the voyage from Yokohama to Honolulu. On Monday and Tuesday afternoons of this week, a general in-itation was extended through Captain Kier and C. Vogelzang, the first opportunity that the four hundred passengers had of gaining admission to the engineering room on the entire trip around the world. The occasion was one that brought out a general demand for the privilege.

The personally-conducted trips to the engineering room were under the direction of Chief Engineer Chris Stehr and his able and courteous corps of assistants. From 2 to 4 each afternoon parties of twenty or more travelers were safely conducted through the labyrinth of clanging pistons and plunging steel. The host of details connected with the motive power in the Cleveland were clearly explained, with the result that a profitable afternoon was spent by those fortunate in accepting the invitation and hospitality of the engineering staff in the Cleveland.

As the tourists emerged from the engineering room they were further entertained at an elaborate luncheon. These pleasurable tours over the ship are admirably arranged down to the slightest detail. Events of this sort are always looked forward to by the passengers with much eager anticipation.

CUPID HELD FORTH IN SHIP SHAFT ALLEY

There are few places on board the gigantic Cleveland considered sacred by Little Dan Cupid.

The little God of love was routed out in some of the most unexpected nooks and corners in the big liner.

It was while a party of travelers were being shown about the engine room in the bowels of the Cleveland that Chief Engineer Chris Stehr, and several of his assistants, came to that portion of the vessel, which harbors the heavy steel shaft, that causes the propeller to revolve on its mission of propulsion.

What is known as the "Shaft Alley" is a large covered passage, with ample room to permit the entrance of one or more persons whose business might be to effect clean and oil or repair the piece of machinery.

Chief Stehr had occasion to open one of the heavy iron doors with a view of permitting inquisitive visitors a glimpse of the huge revolving piece of steel, when much to his astonishment he interrupted the love-making of a youth and maid who throughout the latter portion of the voyage had begun to display alarming signs of becoming enamored in Cupid's meshes.

The young people, were much chastened at the disclosure of their hiding place. When questioned, they were forced to admit that for some time they had resorted to the unfrequented shaft alley as a desirable place to bill and coo. In this declaration, however, the engineering staff failed to coincide, and following the discovery of the loving twain, an order was posted forbidding further clandestine meetings of passengers in that particular section of the Cleveland.

OFFICERS WILL VIEW VOLCANO

The volcano of Kilauea will prove a mecca for some of the officers connected with the Cleveland. Secretary H. E. Wood of the Hawaii Promotion committee succeeded last evening in securing the promise that L. Welckum, a valued member of the publicity and advertising department of the Hamburg-American line, who accompanies the Cleveland parties on round-the-world tours, would stop over at Honolulu, with a view of taking passage in the Matson Navigation liner Wilhelmina this evening for Hilo and the volcano.

Mr. Welckum will represent General Representative C. Vogelzang in making the side trip to Hawaii and the natural wonder. While away Mr. Welckum is expected to make a careful investigation of transportation facilities offered on the big island, for the handling of a large party of excursionists. Mr. Welckum will be extended every courtesy by the promotion agent, Manager Wright, of the Volcano stables, who will see that the Hamburg-American representative has ample opportunity of viewing Kilauea at its best.

Representative Vogelzang was reluctant last evening to offer a definite announcement concerning the company's policy as regards diverting the Cleveland to Hilo, for the purpose of giving the round-the-world tourists a chance to view Pele's abode at close range. It is possible that following a conference between Messrs. Wood, Wright and Vogelzang, some arrangement may be perfected whereby the volcano will be included in the list of show-places of the globe, to be visited by Hamburg-American tourists.

Cleveland passengers enjoyed the delightful experience of later "seeing themselves as other see them," when Besumont presented the finished pictures on a screen in the spacious saloon of the Cleveland. Specially interesting were the bits of animated presentation secured in historic Egypt, the trip by rail to Cairo, the inspection of the pyramids, teeming with interest and mystery. Today the pleasing prospect of famous Waikiki beach has been captured by the Cleveland official photographers. In company with representatives, the Cleveland crew were given every opportunity of utilizing their labors under the most favorable conditions. Thousands of bits of memory have been reproduced by aid of the photographer's art during the trip. ## NO FALSE PRETENSES

"We are not here with any rocksure method of evangelization; we are here to work with you, to show you, if we can, something of the definite method that has succeeded elsewhere in vitalizing men and religion in a community. We are not here to organize any new society. We are here to talk over with you your problems and to tell you of the new conception of a common meeting ground for social work and for religious work."

Thus frankly Fred B. Smith sets forth the mission of the Men and Religion Forward Movement in Honolulu. The opening of the campaign last night, at an introductory dinner at the Commercial club, gave Honolulu an impression of Mr. Smith and Raymond Robins quite different from the shouting evangelists with which this city has been familiar. Honolulu has already seen and done a good deal along the line of social welfare work and of religion that touches the man in the factory as well as the man in the pew. Yet Messrs. Smith and Robins will find a tremendous task in their short week here. There is plenty of room for community extension work on the plantations. And the men are here to do it.

KEEP UP THE WORK FOR PEACE.

In the plan of organization proposed for the Greater Honolulu Chamber of Commerce there is one omission, which, we believe, needs but to be brought to the attention of those who are in charge of the preliminary work to be remedied. There is no committee on international peace and arbitration in the list as made public earlier in the week and published in this paper.

There is a committee on arbitration, but a reading of that part of the by-laws referring to the duties of the committees shows that the arbitration body provided is for the purpose of settling local disputes in trade and industry.

Now there is hardly a chamber of commerce in a city of any size on the mainland, it is safe to say, which has not a committee on international peace and arbitration. In fact, the increasing attention that commercial bodies are turning to this great subject is one of the features of chamber of commerce work nowadays. The success of the Lake Mohonk conferences attests that fact.

The present Honolulu Chamber of Commerce has an active and useful committee on precisely this subject. Last year the committee conducted a strong campaign by offering prizes to pupils in local schools for the best essays on international peace. Again this year the committee is offering prizes, the announcement of the 1913 contest having been made some two weeks ago.

The peace committee of the local chamber has developed its work through the youth and scholarship of Hawaii, and intelligent and broad-minded work it is. It would be a pity if the new chamber, founded on broad, progressive lines, should not recognize the importance of continuing its membership in the nation-wide cause of international peace by continuing its constructive work to enlighten the minds of men on the cost and waste of war and the possibility of settling international disputes by reason and judgment rather than by fire and the sword.

HAWAII AND THE LITERACY TEST

Hawaii is not very likely to secure an exception for this territory to the provisions of whatever immigration bill passes Congress at this session or the next. A cablegram from the Star-Bulletin's Washington correspondent last Friday brought the news that the Burnett bill had been reported out of conference and that Hawaii is not excepted from the operations of the "literacy test." There is a good prospect that the Burnett bill will pass Congress, since it has already passed the house and now has come out of conference.

Mail advices received yesterday indicate that there was little disagreement in the conference committee, and it is reasonable to suppose that the senate will accept the report and that the Burnett bill will be passed.

For nearly twenty years attempts have been made to incorporate a literacy test in the immigration law, and at various times both of the great national parties have declared themselves in favor of such a course. Moreover, the test is not a new proposition to Congress. In the Fifty-fourth Congress the house by a vote of 195 to 20 passed such a measure, the senate passed it by a vote of 52 to 10 and only the veto of President Cleveland prevented the measure from becoming a law. The Fifty-sixth senate passed a literacy-test law and the Fifty-seventh house took similar action. No literacy-test provision has ever been defeated in Congress. Usually the bills have not become law because of the interposition of more pressing legislation.

It is quite clear, then, that there is little hope of any blockade of the Burnett bill so far as sentiment in Congress is concerned. If there is time, the present Congress will probably perfect the Burnett bill, and if not, the Sixty-third Congress is practically sure to pass either this or another similar measure.

As for securing an exception for Hawaii, that is a matter of much doubt, according to the best information obtainable here. The Star-Bulletin is informed upon excellent authority that Congressmen Burnett has expressed the opinion that Hawaii is not carrying on its territorial immigration plans in good faith. He believes, it is said, that the importation of Filipinos here by the planters is not good public policy and, while recognizing the board of immigration's efforts to secure Europeans, is considerably stirred by the simultaneous influx of Filipinos. There is no use looking to Burnett for help in getting Hawaii excepted from the provisions of his bill. Furthermore, now that the bill has been reported out of conference, the chances of any change are greatly diminished.

So Hawaii ought to be making up its mind to accept some kind of a literacy test and get immigrants here who can pass that test. According to the agreement reached in conference, the literacy clause approved is that of the Burnett bill, which requires ability to read but not to write. The Burnett bill does not differ materially from a provision in the Dillingham bill providing for an educational test, except that the Dillingham bill provides that the immigrant should be required to read not less than twenty nor more than twenty-five words of the constitution of the United States before being admitted, while the Burnett bill does not require the immigrant to read so many words of the constitution of the United States, with the terms, meaning, and expressions with which the immigrant is unfamiliar, but only requires that the immigrant read from thirty to forty words "in ordinary use printed in plain type" in some language or dialect which the immigrant himself has the right to select.

Hawaii has recently sent its commissioner of immigration, Dr. Victor S. Clark, on an extensive tour of Europe and he has collected considerable data bearing on the subject of literacy among various aliens who are available or will be available as immigrants to Hawaii. Instead of sitting down and bemoaning our fate, the territory should be getting ready to hunt immigrants who can pass the literacy test.

Senator Borah's attack on Secretary Fisher is quite easily understood. His fight is the fight between the aggressive westerners who wish to turn over to state control the national forests, water-power and other natural resources, and the more conservative middle westerners and easterners who insist that the federal government should take and keep these resources under its protecting wing. It is this fight which is now rending the ranks of the conservationists. Fisher insists on the paternal right of the federal government. Remembering the raids on water, timber and coal-lands by the great corporations which have operated in the past twenty years, we are rather inclined to think Fisher's right.

Rumor hath it that there is some dissatisfaction with the membership fees and dues involved in the Greater Honolulu Chamber of Commerce plan. If such is the case, the dissatisfied ones ought to let their feelings be known in no uncertain way. The time to remedy mistakes is before the organization is perfected. So far, the dissatisfaction has not been set forth.

The morning paper still insists on stirring up politics in the National Guard. What the guard needs most is a chance to develop its organization, and this chance will be given for the first time in many years when the new armory is completed.

Superintendent Bishop is a man the territory can ill-afford to lose from public service. That's one of the reasons why the government couldn't keep him.

The mountain went at last to Nazim.

WAS IT ROWDYISM?

Editor Honolulu Star-Bulletin. Sir:—There was a great outrage committed last night at the Alakea wharf, which, to say the least, was disgraceful. This disgraceful scene was brought about by a lot of men charging the people on the dock, manhandling them and pushing, pulling and shoving them about in a most brutal manner. This was done without any warning to move on, or to make passage for the passengers of the Cleveland.

There was one well-dressed man in particular who seemed to single out old men and pushed them about in a most brutal and insulting manner. As these men were entirely out of the way it looked very much as if it was done for spite or malice or as an intended insult.

It is to be hoped that this disgraceful affair will be investigated, and that the management will in future either prevent so many people going on the dock, or prevent their employes treating people as if they were a lot of criminals. Yours truly, OBSERVER.

HINTS OF FIGHT AT MERCHANTS' ELECTION

Executive officers of the Merchants' Association have not yet been elected by the board of directors, and will not be until Monday afternoon. A meeting of the newly elected directors was held at the annual meeting of the association yesterday. R. H. Trent, chairman of the nominating committee, presiding. Two of the directors were absent.

A motion was made to proceed with the election of officers, but an amendment to defer the election until Monday, owing to the absences just mentioned, was carried by a vote of four to three. The meeting adjourned until three o'clock Monday afternoon.

This postponement would indicate a possibility of a contest over officers as keen as that over directors which yesterday necessitated three ballots to settle. If such should develop, though, it will probably be centered on the vice presidency, as the presidency appears to be a foregone conclusion for Charles Bon, both by right of promotion from the vice presidency and by virtue of the strong lead given him in the election of directors, in which he received an almost unanimous vote while most of the others only won by a close shave. It was indeed the recognition of the principle of promotion in his case which gave him the preponderating vote.

This principle being in the way of becoming established in the association this year, contradistinguished to the clean sweep made of the directorate with executive officers last year, the office of vice president becomes invested with more than casual importance, as involving the succession to the presidency as well as the function of presiding in the absence of the president.

Hence the interest in the election of officers which yesterday caused its postponement until a full meeting could be obtained.

CALIFENE DEMONSTRATION AT MAY & CO. TOMORROW

Starting at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning Mrs. West of San Francisco will demonstrate at the store of Henry May & Co. the Fort street grocers, the wonderful properties of "Califene," the new shortening. Henry May & Co. hope that all their patrons will call during Mrs. West's demonstration, for it will be of great interest, proving not only the economical value of "Califene" but its superiority in every way over all other shortenings. Mrs. West will show that in making cakes that would require 3-4 of a cup of butter, two tablespoonsful of "Califene" is all that is used, and the cakes are far more delicious than when made with butter. Mrs. West wants the ladies of Honolulu to taste her cakes and doughnuts, and she will gladly advise them regarding cooking where shortening is used. In her demonstrations Mrs. West uses a Perfection oil stove and also electricity.

ANOTHER BOND ISSUE LOOMS AHEAD

Building of Territorial Jail Must Wait Awhile, Says Gov. Frear

Another territorial bond issue may be floated next fall for further public improvements in the islands, and until the next issue is made, providing a new loan fund, the construction of the proposed new Oahu prison probably will be held in abeyance. Such was the statement of Governor Frear today.

In all, the new penitentiary is expected to cost approximately $150,000, one-half of this amount going toward the purchase of the ground needed as a part of the new site. This half is to be raised from the sale of the present jail site. The other half has been authorized, an act of the legislature of two years ago providing an appropriation of $75,000 for the necessary new buildings.

The money for this appropriation must come from the loan fund. "The pressing needs of other public improvements, on this and the other islands has practically exhausted the last loan fund," said the governor today, "and leaves nothing for the new prison. For that reason its construction probably will be held up until another bond issue is made. Of course, the walls and some of the smaller buildings may be built by prison labor, but the administration building probably will be constructed by contract. The land to be acquired is undergoing the process of condemnation now, and this matter may be settled some time next month.

"The final plans for the prison have been completed and were approved this morning at a conference between Superintendent H. K. Bishop, Architect Ripley and myself."

Asked if the construction of the prison is likely to be delayed indefinitely, the governor replied: "Not indefinitely, except that the actual date for beginning work is not now determined. It will begin just as soon as the next bond issue is sold."

"How long is that likely to delay the work?"

"The bond issue may be floated next fall," he answered.

announced in The Star-Bulletin yesterday.

Mr. Whittemore was a candidate for city engineer, but the majority of the board of supervisors stood pat and retained L. M. Whitehouse. Mr. Whittemore has the active backing of G. J. Waller and others. As evidence of his qualifications for handling the larger territorial job, it is pointed out that not only is he a practical engineer with a lifetime of success in the work, but is also equipped with the necessary executive ability.

The talk of his candidacy this morning also brought in the possibility that if Mr. Waller were appointed governor to succeed Frear, Whittemore would likely be his choice as head of the public works department.

There will be a meeting tonight of the chairmen of the Carnival and Floral Parade committees at half-past seven, in the office of the merchants' association, Young Hotel building. # 'THE CITY' BEST BISHOP QUILTS OFFERING TO DATE

FEBRUARY 15

If Clyde Fitch had dropped into the Bijou Theatre last night, and witnessed the production of his masterly three-act drama, "The City," by the World's Fair Stock Co., he would likely have had but few suggestions for change, and adverse criticisms would have been fewer still.

The City is the best thing that the company has done to date in Honolulu. It is a strong play, well acted and well produced, and from curtain to curtain, a small, but receptive audience was held tightly in the grip of lines, action and deep underlying problems pictured on the stage.

"The City" is essentially a drama of real things. It appeals to every individual member of the audience in one way or another, and the man, or woman either, who can sit through the play unmoved, is certainly the exception. There is a big moral: to "The City," and yet the preaching is so cleverly done that it is only when one makes a mental review of the story that the lesson in its full meaning becomes apparent. Usually plays with a Purpose, spelled with the upper case P, are highly unpleasant to sit through. If well done, they wrack the sensibilities to a point where playing becomes a torture; if poorly done they become laughable exaggeration. Not so with "The City." Its moral is there, and its purpose is apparent, but both are so cleverly interwoven with Mr. Fitch's story that the result is by excellent interpretation given by the local players, that it makes the evening enjoyable.

Miss Virginia Brissac, as Cicely Rand, who is shot to death by her half brother, who has married her in ignorance of the relationship, does not have a very heavy part. In fact, the women characters are all subordinates to the men in the play. However, the role gives Miss Brissac the chance to appear at her most charming. And she certainly made a well-behaved corpse. No message about the stage when she was shot, a fall into a convenient chair being gracefully accomplished.

Howard Nugent, as Rand Sr., the misbehaved father whose sins are eventually visited upon the children, shares the honors with James Dillon, as Rand Jr., who carries out his "father's methods" which consist of skating on very thin ice, but to whom the murder of his sister and a peek of trouble besides, brings the true light.

Following his conference yesterday morning with the governor and F. Klamp, a director of the new Waialae Water Company, and his decision to quit the territorial office for the private job, Superintendent H. K. Bishop, of the department of public works, handed in his resignation to the chief executive yesterday afternoon. It was accepted, to take effect February 15. No announcement of the selection of his successor was made by Governor Fitch today.

Mr. Bishop goes to the new concern as chief engineer and will have entire charge and responsibility of the huge task of cutting the big Koolau tunnel and arranging the entire proposed irrigation system which that company has been organized to handle. As an engineering expert Bishop already has become enthusiastic over the project and is eager to attack the problems which will have to be solved. He says irrigation is one of his hobbies and anticipates a pleasant time working out the intricate details of this enterprise.

He has begun cleaning up the unfinished business now lying in the public works department, and as a part of this labor leaves this afternoon on the Wilhelmina for Hilo, to attend to a number of affairs at that port. He will return on the Wilhelmina Monday morning.

Croquettes, when fried in deep fat, should stand in a warm place for half an hour before frying. This will make them brown more quickly.

If you have a job which is troublesome to iron, baste the plaits in before it is washed, then iron and remove the threads. Use fine thread.

John Wray plays the part of Hancock the dope fiend who, as the illegitimate son of old Rand, is wished on the young Rand by the dying father, and as the secretary of Rand Jr., gets an opportunity to make love to Sister Cicely and pry into his patron's shady transactions. He warns up to the part as the play develops, being far better in the second act than on his first appearance. It is a difficult part and on the whole Mr. Wray handles it intelligently.

KUHIO TURNS ALL OVER TO JOHN COLBURN

Jonah Kuhio Kalaniano'ole has placed all his worldly affairs absolutely in the hands of John F. Colburn, through a full power of attorney of the California casitor type.

The instrument was executed in San Francisco on January 16, 1913, before Charles Edelman, a notary public whose position is certified by H. I. Mulcrevy, county clerk of the city and county of San Francisco.

In the prolix diction of that sort of thing, Prince Kuhio authorizes Mr. Colburn to receive all moneys payable or belonging to him, to enforce the collection thereof by legal process, to buy and sell land and all other kinds of property, to transact all and every kind of business, and to sign, seal, execute and deliver deeds, leases, covenants, agreements, mortgages, etc. The whole thing is clinched thus:

"Giving and granting unto my said attorney full power and authority to do and perform all and every act and thing whatsoever requisite and necessary to be done in and about the premises as I might or could do if personally present, with full power of substitution or revocation, hereby ratifying and confirming all that my said attorney shall lawfully do or cause to be done by authority of these presents."

RIFLED EXPRESS; 18 MONTHS

Charged with having rifled packages consigned through the Wells-Fargo Express Company, and found guilty when arraigned at district court this morning, Judge Monsarrat imposed a sentence of eighteen months' imprisonment upon H. B. Lai, a former employe of the company.

The charge upon which the young man was tried was that of larceny in the second degree. He was tried on six counts, and in each instance drew a sentence of three months.

For some time the express company is said to have missed articles sent in care of the company. An investigation is said to have brought to light the guilt of Lai. The police state that some of the plunder has been recovered.

TEAL COMPANY WILL OPEN ENGAGEMENT ON MONDAY

LILY SUTHERLAND, soubrette with the Raymond Teal Musical Comedy company

The popular favorites, the Raymond Teal Musical Comedy Company, will open a three weeks' engagement at the Popular theater Monday, Jan. 27. This company reports a most successful trip in the Orient. They will present all new bills. The opening bill will be "My Friend from Australia." Two shows nightly, 7 and 9 o'clock. Prices, 10, 20 and 30 cents.

KAALI TO PERFORM AGAIN TONIGHT

For the entertainment of those who could not get into the Opera House last night Ernest Kani, and his organization of Hawaiian troubadours will repeat the concert at the Empire Theatre tonight beginning at eight o'clock. Seats are now on sale at the rooms of the promotion committee and at the box office in the theater on Hotel Street. The program in admirably the best ever given by the organization and in spite of the fact that the Cleveland did not arrive, and the passengers were therefore debarred from hearing the music and witnessing the fascinating a'ala dance, the opera house was packed to capacity. The same program, omitting the play, will be presented tonight and it is safe to say no better form of entertainment will be afforded the visitors for they will have an opportunity to see Hawaiians as they really are "on their native heath." Admission will be 35, 50 and 75 cents.

THREE BALLOTS NEEDED TO DECIDE MERCHANTS' ELECTION

Charles Bon, M. M. Johnson, T. M. Church, George G. Guild, O. C. Swain, George A. Brown, J. F. Soper, O. A. Bierbach and J. D. Dougherty were elected directors of the Honolulu Merchants' association for the ensuing year at the annual meeting yesterday afternoon. His in a close ballot from among eighteen candidates. It took three ballots to accomplish the result, the bylaws requiring a majority of all the votes cast to elect. With thirty-two voting, the following were elected on the first ballot: Bon 29, Johnson 25, Church 22, Guild 22, Swain 20, Brown 18 and Soper 17. Bierbach and Farrington tied with 15 each, or one short of a majority. The rest of the field ran on the second ballot, but only Bierbach was elected with a vote of 18. W. R. Farrington being next high man with 14. The latter with all the rest individually withdrew before the third ballot, but Dougherty and Farrington's declarations were not accepted, and Dougherty was elected with 18 votes.

Of those elected, seven—Bon, Johnson, Church, Swain, Brown, Soper and Dougherty—were named by the nominating committee and only two—Guild and Bierbach—by other members, while Guild was on the original ticket of the committee but withdrew and was renominated by a member when it had been decided to receive additional names before the committee reported.

Prior to the election annual reports, written and oral, were received. Mr. Church reported orally for the public improvements committee, telling of its dealing with water rates for shipping, its recommendation of the water meter system for the town and of fire protection for documents in the judicial building. In the past few weeks the committee had been working in conjunction with committees of the Chamber of Commerce on desirable legislation, having jointly employed C. R. Hemenway as attorney to draft measures.

Mr. Swift read a report he had previously given at a monthly meeting from the committee on trade and finance. Secretary Lennox read a report from Mr. Angus, chairman of the downtown committee, relating its work in providing entertainments. Treasurer Johnson read a financial statement.

POISONOUS TABLETS ARE DANGEROUS

In every household you will find among the toilet necessities some sort of a germicide, in the form of either a tablet solution or powder. Many of these antiseptic preparations contain poisons. The value of an absolutely harmless antiseptic powder, as compared with a poisonous tablet or solution, is apparent to every one, and that is one reason why physicians everywhere have strongly recommended Tyree's Antiseptic Powder. Dissolves instantly in water, and when used as a douche is unexcelled. A 25-cent package makes two gallons of standard solution. Sold by druggists everywhere. Send for booklet and free sample.

ISENBERG GETS BIG OFFER ON CANADA LANDS

Paul Isenberg has received an offer of $100,000 for his interest in coal property in the province of Alberta, Canada, so large that he is going to accept it.

He has been summoned to the Coast, the message saying his presence there is necessary.

"It is an offer from an English syndicate," said Mr. Isenberg by wire from his Waialae residence this afternoon. An amount being mentioned to him which rumor down town stated he had been offered, he said he would rather not mention the figure just now but he added:

"It is such a tremendous price that I could hardly refuse it."
Mr. Isenberg stated that he would leave for the Coast in the Mongolia on Tuesday.
Rumor puts the offer to Mr. Isenberg in seven figures. He owns a three-fifths interest in the property in question.

'CLEVELANDERS' DELIGHTED WITH THEIR RECEPTION AT HONOLULU

"Hawaii has got the right spirit. Throughout the entire voyage, we were never tendered a better reception than the one at Honolulu," was the statement made by hundreds of the Cleveland passengers last evening as a bevy of pretty Hawaiian girls clambered aboard the big liner from the promotion committee's launch and decorated each of the three hundred and eighty-eight tourists with leis, the symbol of Hawaiian welcome.

With Mayor Fern at the wheel of the little launch, the promotion committee party left the wharf at the foot of Fort street as soon as the smoke of the world cruising liner was visible over quarantine island. On the roof of the cabin were piled nearly four hundred beautiful leis, the gift of the promotion committee to the tourists. For nearly an hour the little launch cruised around the big liner before being discovered by the passengers, who immediately rushed to the rail eager to catch their first glimpse of what they expected, perhaps, to be an out-rigger canoe filled with Hawaiian girls dressed in grass skirts. Joyful greetings were exchanged back and forth, and then the girls broke into "Aloha Oe" and other Hawaiian melodies which brought bursts of applause from those who crowded the decks of the big liner.

When the signal was finally given that the Cleveland had withstood successfully the rigid inspection of the doctors and the custom house officials, the girls, headed by Mayor Fern, his secretary, H. P. Wood, and others of the party, clambered up the gang-plank armed with myriads of leis, and were received with shouts of welcome by the tourists. As it luckily happened, the greater number of passengers retreated to the dining saloon immediately after inspection, and it was here that the Hawaiian girls passed among them, placing a beautiful lei around the neck of each.

"Are they made of real flowers?" asked one of the ladies, as she took the lei from around her neck and admitted it as only one who is fond of flowers can. "Does not seem possible," are they all made of real flowers?" When she was informed that all of the real Hawaiian leis are made of genuine flowers, she immediately insisted on having a "real" carnation lei, which was given her. By good luck, the number of leis which had been brought out was sufficient to go more than around, and, of course, there were many who were eager to have more than one. When the girls had finished their distribution, they were heartily applauded and thanked by the passengers, and from that time on Honolulu commenced to gain even more favor in the minds of the tourists.

Mayor Fern was presented to the captain of the vessel and then to the passengers, as was Secretary Wood, of the promotion committee and the rest of the party. Following this, until the time the Cleveland docked at Alakea wharf, the party was entertained at dinner by the officers.

"The dining service on the Cleveland is certainly fine," said one of the

ODD FELLOWSHIP PROGRESSES FAST

During the past month the officers in the various branches of Odd Fellowship have been installed by the District Deputy Grand Sire, Harry T. Holman, P. G. F. C. P., accompanied by the district deputy grand officers.

The officers of the various lodges installed are:

Polynesian Encampment No. 1—Chief patriarch, R. A. Woodward; senior warden, M. W. Tschudi; junior warden, R. Cheatham; scribe, L. L. La Pierre; treasurer, F. W. Wood.

Excelsior Lodge No. 1—Noble grand, A. H. Myhre, vice grand, A. G. Horn; secretary, L. L. La Pierre, P. G.; treasurer, E. A. Jacobson, P. G.

Harmony Lodge No. 3—Noble grand, R. Cheatham; vice grand, C. H. Brown; secretary, F. Smith, P. G.; treasurer, J. Bicknell.

Pacific Rebekah Lodge No. 1—Noble grand, Little Chalmers; vice grand, Frances Richards; secretary, Edith Nichols; treasurer, Annie Bidingger, P. N. G.

Olive Rebekah Lodge No. 2—Noble grand, Janet Dewar; vice grand, Alice Sanson; secretary, Susan Lando; treasurer, Rose Lando; P. N. G.

Odd Fellowship Grows Fast.

Odd Fellowship during the last year, as reported by the grand sire, has increased by 41,437 members; 5,809 have taken higher degrees as embodied in the encampment, while the Rebekah lodges gained 20,502 members. The total membership of the I. O. O. F. was 2,980,894. The total receipts for the year were $18,303,210.86; funds paid out for relief were $5,854,371.04; the I. O. O. F. have invested funds $63,331,213.87.

The order in these islands is in a most flourishing condition. The two subordinate lodges, Excelsior No. 1 and Harmony No. 3, each have nearly 150 members, with receipts of about $2,500 each, while each has paid out nearly $1800 in sick benefits in the past year.

Pacific Rebekah Lodge No. 1 and Olive Rebekah No. 2 are each active lodges with a membership of 151 and 102 respectively; both lodges have a well organized, well drilled degree team which confers the degrees in a manner that will bear comparison to any Rebekah degree team in the order.

HONOLULU'S RESPONSIBILITY DRIVEN HOME BY SPEAKERS

Powerful pleas for practicality and red-blood in latter-day religion were made last night by Fred B. Smith, Raymond Robins and E. W. Peck at the dinner at the Commercial club which launched the active week's work of the Men and Religion Campaigners here.

One hundred and forty men prominent in business or professional or official life here, sat down at the tables and for two hours listened to addresses from the three visitors that went straight to the hearts of those who heard them. It was an unusual assemblage and an unusual program. Among those who gathered for the opening of the campaign were Governor Frear, Bishop Restarick, Bishop Harris, a noted Methodist traveling on the China; Dr. Doremus Scudder, J. F. Cooke, president of the planters' association; and prominent men of all businesses and callings. Many Japanese, including editors of the Japanese papers, attended the dinner, and a number of Chinese also were present.

Without tricks of oratory or flourish of adjectives, but with great earnestness that amounted at times to vehemence, Messrs. Smith and Robins spoke to the men gathered before them. Mr. Robins, a noted social welfare worker and for many years one who has led the fight for better conditions in one of Chicago's worst slums, spoke briefly along the lines in which his work falls. He sketched the growth of the necessity for social control as well as individualistic control, declaring that the challenge of modern times is for a religion that will mean something to the man in the blast-furnace and the woman at the sweatshop sewing-machine as well as the man of the so-called upper classes.

Touching briefly upon various elements that go to make communities better places in which to live, he declared that a rotten police system is a menace to all, that politics must rise above the purely partisan level, and that industries must pay a decent living wage.

"You must have a minimum wage standard so regulated that the women who toil will not be driven by economic pressure into the pitfalls of vice and crime," he declared. He dwelt on the great social forces at work in modern industry and society, announcing that he would go more into details in the various institutes and meetings at which he will speak.

Fred B. Smith's message was simple and powerful. He began by saying that it was a miracle that he and Robins are now at work together. He declared that once he had adhered to the doctrine that the only way to save souls was the individual method, "to go out and save one man at a time, like taking a few people off a ship while the ship is sinking," as he succinctly put it. And then he told how religious leaders are beginning to realize that the work is greater than this method can accomplish; that social forces must be regulated, that churches must be vitalized, stirred up, fired by new enthusiasm and definite practical work.

Mr. Smith did not mince words in declaring that too many churches nowadays are the victims of dry-rot, that they need red blood and fire, and yet he stopped long enough to pay anything but a flattering tribute to what he calls "volcanic evangelization." He made it quite plain that he does not believe in the itinerant evangelists as the men who do the greatest work in saving souls.

"It is the people who live in a community, who stay there, who do the work—you people in Honolulu who must do the work here!" he shouted.

"This is a serious hour in Christianity," he asserted, and went on to say that the churches must wake to the fact that they are not holding the men, that they are not keeping up with the rest of the world in forward strides. But he tempered this a moment later by declaring that the churches are already waking to the necessity for action.

Declaring that the crusade must be one with "fight in it," Mr. Smith asserted amid loud applause, "The saloon must go; you've got to get rid of the saloon! The white slavery business must be driven from your midst! The inequalities of society which make men think they have not a fair chance in life have got to stop! It was in this direct fashion that he drove his points home.

E. W. Peck, the basso of the excellent male quartet which accompanied Smith and Robins, and who is an expert in community extension work, spoke on that subject. He asked those present to come to the institutes, where he will explain it more in detail.

L. Tenney Peck, chairman of the general committee here in charge of the movement, presided at the meeting. Bishop Restarick asked grace and Dr. Scudder the benediction. During the evening the National Association quartet, consisting of Paul J. Gilbert tenor, P. H. Metcalf second tenor, C. M. Keeler baritone, and E. W. Peck bass, sang several selections which were appropriate and very well rendered.

GREAT RELIGIOUS CRUSADERS

FRED B. SMITH, of New York city, evangelist, organizer and leader.

RAYMOND ROBINS, of Chicago, social service expert of splendid ability and reputation.

MEN AND RELIGION CAMPAIGN BEGINS

purpose of the Men and Religion campaign, telling of the great success, which it has met on the mainland, and also how 1564 cities, both large and small, took up the work and gave it their undivided attention. He went on to tell of the great plan which was formulated whereby the movement was to be carried to a wider field, including the Orient and other foreign countries, and also Honolulu.

In his address, Mr. Smith took as his subject "What Think You of Christ?" and spoke, in part, as follows:

"You will remember the incident which happened near the close of Jesus' life when he was burdened with the powers which were determined to destroy him. The people came from Rome and asked him questions with the intention of attempting to ensnare him so that the powers at Rome could then deal with him. They asked him questions concerning the taxes at the time, and he was asked whether or not the Jews should pay tribute to Caesar, and Christ asked them to bring him a coin. When he noticed that the inscription of the coin was that of the Caesars, he said: 'When under Caesar, pay tribute to Caesar, but when under God, pay tribute to God.' The people went back to their city defeated and finally hired a lawyer, and Christ said to the lawyer: 'What think you of Christ?' And the lawyer went away defeated. 'This I consider as the most important question which any man will ever have to answer from the cradle to the grave. Any man that will come out and say like a man that his religion is made, Fred B. Smith speaking before the students of Oahu college, and Raymond Robins speaking at the McKinley high school. Mr. Smith took up the question of education, urging the students to make as much as possible of their studies of history, mathematics, etc. "Character," he said, "is the most essential thing which accompanies education. The men who run the government are not only well educated but they are men of high moral character. There have been some brutes in history, but these men have never as yet been set down as being well educated."

Mr. Robins, in his talk before the students of the high school, brought out the fact that the generation in which we now live is the most interesting and the most different of any that has gone before. "This is the time of a new strain of individual and social life," he said, "and new laws, such as the law of co-operation, are fast coming to light during the present time." He then went on to illustrate these things from experiences which he had in the north when 2000 people started for the gold fields, and only 1500 of these reached their destination. The cause of this, he said, was because the things on the inside of a man are bigger than the things on the outside, and it took nerve and courage to face the hardships and the cold. It was in this part of the country that the time of the gold rush that the first real laws of co-operation were learned. It took two people to travel on the trail; one to break the path in the snow and the other to drive the dogs. It took two men to run a mine, one to turn the windlass and haul out the dirt, and the other to go below and dig, and it was only those with the greatest amount of efficiency who withstood the trial.

The second meeting of the morning was held in Cooke Hall at which time about thirty ministers and mission workers of the city were present. After a few numbers by the quartet, Mr. Robins and Mr. Smith both made short speeches in which those present were urged to inspire their congregations with the need of the campaign in Honolulu in order that the churches might be put on a firmer working basis and some of the social evils remedied. The ministers were especially urged by both the speakers to get in touch with the men of their congregations who were especially interested in some particular phase of work, such as boys' work, community extension, etc. This meeting was considered by Mr. Smith to be one of the most important of the entire campaign, as it gives the leaders a chance to get in touch with those who are directly connected with the local campaign.

At half-past eleven o'clock Mr. Robins, accompanied by the quartet went to the O. R. and L. snops where a meeting was held for half an hour, during which time the quartet sang. The four o'clock institutes will begin this afternoon, the one by Mr. Smith on church problems will be held in the Cde. Fellows' Hall, and the other, by Mr. Robins, on social service problems to be held in the makai pavilion of the Young Hotel. There will be no lectures taken at either of these institutes, and all the men of the city are invited to be present.

Fernando Dequillo and Delphin Jacinto, indicted for assault and battery with a deadly weapon, were arraigned before Judge Robinson this morning and permitted to reserve plea until Monday morning.

Kim Soo Yuen, indicted for assault and battery with a deadly weapon, was arraigned this morning; entered a plea of not guilty and was given counsel, Attorney Alexander G. Larnach being appointed to defend him.

Declaration of intention to become a citizen of the United States was filed in federal court today by Joaquim Almeida, a native of Portugal.

BIG LINER DISPLAYS DECORATIVE BUNTING

The Cleveland was "dressed" for the occasion this morning. As soon as dawn appeared, Captain Kier ordered out a general and lavish display of bunting, including flags and streamers of all nationalities.

The big steamship when moored at the Alakea wharf presented a gala appearance.

Last night as the fleet of launches bearing Federal quarantine, Customs and immigration officers to the big liner, approached the Cleveland, lights streamed from hundreds of port holes. The immense outline of the vessel was much admired by the party of

SOLDIERS BARRED

against the uniform of the United States, more flagrant even than the conditions which called forth Kipling's rhymed defense of the British soldier, "Tommy Atkins" has been reported to the army authorities in connection with the landing of the steamship Cleveland last night. Soldiers in uniform were shoved aside by the police on guard at the entrance of the Alakea dock, and denied admittance to the upper gallery leading to the steamer's side, while men in civilian clothes were allowed to pass freely and without question to and from the gangway to the street. No explanation was given by the police for this discrimination, although several soldiers tried more than once to pass up the stairway, to get friends whom they believed were on the ship. Complaint of Long Standing.

That soldiers in uniform—and both enlisted men and officers serving in Hawaii are denied the alternative of wearing civilian clothes at any time—are treated with scant courtesy in public places, no matter how exemplary their behavior, is a complaint that has been made so many times of late that it is believed army authorities will take it up for definite action. The situation here is likened to that which developed on the east coast several years ago, when sailors in uniform were excluded from public dance halls at Newport, R. I., and Admiral Higinson, backed by President Roosevelt, made an issue of the proper respect due to the uniform, and forced the proprietors of amusement places to accord sailors and soldiers the same privileges and courtesies extended to other well-behaved patrons.

Last night's incident has caused no small stir in service circles here, and coming so soon after the attack on the soldiers made by Professor Parley
