INTER-ISLAND TANGLE IS DEADLOCKED PRESIDENT TO ANSWER LATER

Masters And Mates Reserve Right "to Act as Seems Best Under Circumstances," Voiced by Attorneys For Association

Considering the reply of the Inter-Island company to its request for an answer by 1 o'clock today to its request for a conference, Honolulu Harbor No. 54, Masters, Mates and Pilots' association, is holding a meeting this afternoon, beginning at 3 o'clock. Indications point to an agreement by the association to the Inter-Island company's statement that it will take the matter up on Wednesday.

It is reported that the marine engineers' association will meet tonight and decide to stand by the masters and mates.

The Inter-Island company countered the move made by the Masters and Pilots' Association yesterday, at a meeting held this morning, and the results of which were given out by President Kennedy, this afternoon shortly after one o'clock. The company asks for more time in which to reply to the demands of the Harbor made by resolution yesterday afternoon. In turn the Harbor will hold a meeting at three o'clock this afternoon at which the reply of the company will be discussed, and whatever action deemed best under the circumstances, to quote one of the attorneys for the captains, will be taken by their body.

After citing the resolution, a copy of which will be found below and a letter from Attorney Ashford to the management of the company, the corporation in its reply says:

"Honolulu Harbor No. 54, cars of Messrs. A. T. Tulliet, M. Oness and O.

W. Olsson, Committee, and Messrs.

A. S. Humphreys and C. W. Ash-ford, Counsel,

"Honolulu, T. H.

Gentlemen:

"Your letter of January 27th, 1913, received after 9:30 a. m. today has been considered by us as carefully as was possible in the short period intervening between its receipt and the writing of this answer at 1 p. m. Accompanying the letter was your verbal statement, preferred through your attorneys to the effect that should your Harbor fail to receive an answer according to their demands by 2 o'clock, you would act as though your demands were refused.

"As soon as possible all available directors of our company were consulted. We were unable to confer with all of the directors, one of them being on the Island of Kauai and one being ill. Both of these gentlemen are not only directors but large stockholders. We feel that they should be present, if possible, at a meeting called for the determination of the very important questions covered in your communication. We feel further that the propositions contained in your letter are of great importance not only to the stockholders themselves, but to the public generally, that the short time allowed us by your verbal request is wholly insufficient to afford proper consideration thereof.

"A meeting of the Board of Directors has been called for Wednesday morning for discussion of the questions raised by your letter. As soon as the board acts, you will be notified of the position taken by it. Respectfully, Inter-Island Steam Navigation Co., Ltd., By James A. Kennedy, President; by Norman E. Gedge, Secretary.

Fear General Tie-up.

Developments in the embroilage between the masters and pilots of Local Harbor 54 and the Inter-Island Steam Navigation company pointed to a general tie-up of the service of the company. The captains filed with the

In Vienna, Berlin and Paris the socialists planned and carried out to effect monster demonstrations against theumption of war.

SHELDON THINKS GRANDNIECES TO UNVEIL THE MEMORIAL SHOULD ACT

William J. Sheldon, of Waimea, Kauai, veteran representative from the Garden Island, believes that the present controversy between the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company and the Masters, Mates and Pilots' Association is important enough to deserve legislative attention, and accordingly Mr. Sheldon plans to bring the matter up when the legislature meets next month.

Representative Sheldon is quoted by a man who returned from Kauai yesterday as saying that if the Inter-Island tries to put new men in as mates there is likely to be a marine disaster that will shock the territory. He holds that the men brought down from the coast have not enough experience in local waters.

According to reports from Kauai, Mr. Sheldon hopes to have the legislature take the matter up and if feasible pass a law that would prevent men unfamiliar with Hawaiian waters being put in responsible positions requiring them to navigate the steamers which ply in these waters.

It was pointed out this morning that the territory very likely has no power to pass such a law because of the federal regulations controlling inter-island and high-seas navigation.

SUGAR GRADUALLY SHADING DOWN

According to the following cablegram received by Alexander & Baldwin, Ltd., this afternoon, the basis for future arrivals of Hawaiian sugar in New York is a shade below the latest quotation of $4.45 to the planters: "Oregonian arrived today, basis 3.45, last half of Alaskan's cargo."

"American and Howell quote basis for refined at 4.45, Federal and Aruckle at 4.30.

"Raws in position to affect basis for Hawaiian arrivals are worth 3.42. Market steady."

NEW OFFICERS FOR MERCHANTS

Officers of the Merchants' association were elected by the directors this afternoon as follows: Charles Bon, president.

O. C. Swain, vice-president.

George G. Guild, secretary.

M. M. Johnson, treasurer.

The case of Kim Bong Choon, charged with conducting a gambling game was nolle prossed in Judge Robinson's court today.

company's management through their attorneys, C. W. Ashford and Judge A. S. Humphreys, an ultimatum, which called for a formal reply to their demands formulated at a meeting yesterday, calling for an agreement with the company, and pending a reply to this marked time until the hour set as a limit, 1 o'clock, in which the company's answer might be made.

At the offices of the company there was much apparent activity. A practically full board met and was in session for a long time, but it was late before Mr. Kennedy, president of the company, was enabled to make any announcement.

Congress Thanks Mr. S. M. Damon

The generosity of S. M. Damon in donating to the navy all the fresh water necessary for Pearl Harbor, has been officially recognized by congress. Admiral Stanford, chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks, who was here last summer, brought the matter before the house committee on naval affairs, with a previous appropriation for a water supply Civil Engineer Stanford said:

MORE THAN THOUSAND WOMEN HEAR RAYMOND ROBINS TALK

ROBINS TO TALK AT OPERA HOUSE TONIGHT

One of the most important meetings of the local Men and Religion

Campaign will be the one which is to be held in the Opera House this evening at eight o'clock, at which time Raymond Robins will deliver an address on some special phase of social service which will appeal to the business and professional men of Honolulu.

Taking as his text the "Social Consciousness of Christ," Raymond Robins delivered his message simply but powerfully. He read the second chapter of Luke and laid especial emphasis on the 19th verse. "But Mary kept these words and pondered them in her heart." He spoke of the close contact that Christ had with his fellow men and of the great work he accomplished through this association. One of the strongest points brought out by the speaker was the responsibility of the women in the Men and Religion movement that is going on all over the world. The women must help, he said, or the work will be of no value. Great stress was laid on the value of personal service. He said that understanding people only comes through close association. He spoke of his work in the Philippines.

The meeting will begin promptly at eight o'clock and will be presided over by Fred B. Smith.

SET DATE FOR THE RE-OPENING OF WAR

Allies In London Begin Drafting Note to Turkey Which Will Formally Sever the Diplomatic Relations Now Existing—Even With Utmost Haste Delays Will Stall Off Hostilities Until February Eleventh

[Associated Press Cable]
LONDON, Jan. 27.—War between the Turks and the Balkan allies is again certain. Authorities assert, however, that with the best wish in the world to fly at each other's throats, the belligerents will not be able to come to blows until February 11.

The allies here this morning began the drafting of the formal note dis-continuing the relations between the Balkan states and the Ottoman. Even with the utmost celerity, the diplomatic formalities can not be completed before the date stated above, as there are certain necessary delays in transmission of the document to the Powers. Dispatches from Constantinople announce that the Mussulman is rushing preparations for war as speedily as possible and expects to be in better trim for conflict than at any time since the beginning of his war with Italy.

HUNDREDS HELP TO CELEBRATE KAISER'S FIFTY-FOURTH BIRTHDAY

To the strains of "Der Wacht am Rhein," and other national and patriotic airs, given with fervent gusto by Herr Kappelmeister Berger and his band and in sparkling vintages imported direct from the Fatherland, about 500 business, professional and army and navy men of Honolulu pledged the health of Wilhelm II, Emperor of Germany and King of Prussia.

The scene at the German consulate, in the Hackfeld building, where Acting Consul George Rodiek received from 11:30 to 1 o'clock today in honor of the German emperor's fifty-fourth birthday was gay and festive and distinguished by the presence of virtually every representative business, professional and army man in the city, who came in such numbers that the apartments were literally packed to the door.

Virtually every department of the territorial government, headed by Governor Frear, was represented, while Mayor Fern and the members of the board of supervisors paid their respects at the city and county's official representatives.

The army officials, from all the forts appeared in white dress uniforms, the governor and foreign consuls came robed in diplomatic black and topped by silk plumes, but the businessmen, breaking away from their offices and stores for the noonday luncheon hour, wore the everyday business dress.

All were greeted at the door by the acting consul and beyond that point formality ceased. All were made at home, were fed on excellent sandwiches washed down with one of Germany's most famous light, bubbling wines. Throughout the hour and a half the consulate's guest-book was in demand, a long line extending almost to the door stood constantly awaiting the chance to sign, as a definite token of respect to the old war lord.

Colonel George K. McGale, acting department commandant army headquarters in the Younger short after 11:30, accompanied the following officers: Lieutenant Colonel Campbell, adjutant general; Lieutenant Colonel Raymond, medical corps; Major Joseph Frazier, Infantry; Major Cheatham, Cavalry and Captain Lister, quartermaster corps; Lieutenant Andrews, aide-de-camp to General Macomb, Colcom, commanding the fourth Cavalry and on hand to pay his respects.

Admiral Cowles, accompanied by Lieutenant Stevens and officers from the naval station, attended the reception as did Major Ne, commanding the marine battalions and his officers from Camp Very, or Timbrelake, commanding the army district of Oahu. Major Wood of the engineers, and Captain Taylor Port Kamehameha were also present.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

Secretary E. A. Mott-Smith has received from Washington his formal appointment as disbursing officer for distributing the $30,000 federal fund allowed to pay territorial legislative expenses during the approaching session of the law making body. He has executed the required bond of $20,000, which will be forwarded to Washington, and upon its approval by the Secretary of the Treasury Mott-Smith will be empowered to draw upon the legislative expense fund.

The papers in the new appeal of the Spreckels will case, from the circuit court have been filed in the territorial supreme court. The date for the argument has not been set yet.

The supreme court heard this morning in the suit of the New York Life Insurance Company against Henry C. Papai, deputy insurance commissioner to recover $2807.32, collected by that official. Decision on this suit was reserved in circuit court pending the higher tribunal's ruling in a legal technicality. Papai collected the 2 percent tax on the company's gross receipts in the territory during 1911 and declined to deduct for return premiums and reinsurance. Had he permitted this, the company claims it would not have been required to pay any of this tax, as the reinsurance more than covered the 2 percent tax.

R. W. Shingle has been appointed chairman of the floral Parade finance committee, in place of F. L. Waldron, resigned on account of departure for the coast on business.

The members of the National Association of the Men and Religion Forward Movement conducted the afternoon from three until four o'clock. The singing was very much a pleasure by the men as was the short address which was given by McNeil.

"It is my honest opinion if the tropical territories under American flag will take concerted action some future time, for a tariff on fee, revenue or protective, they will have a most excellent change of regaining that object."

"It is a well-known fact that Congress has been much wrought over the Brazilian valorization issue, and there has even been some in Congress of a retaliatory duty.

"If we have to pay hundred of millions to foreign countries for their products, it certainly would be wise policy for the United States to divert these millions to territories where the flag flies and build up a source of wealth that will redow to the blessing of the territories and the credit of the flag under which we have our existence."

"The coffee had its just due and received its fair share of portion, its development would be so great in the Hawaiian Islands that the total of its benefits to the people this territory would be commensurate with what sugar has done and is doing for Hawaii."

Just as the American German national colors were twin intermingled over the chair and around the pictures of User and Kaiserin, so were the English German tongues mingled che in the babbles of greetings, lighter and laughter. The rooms specially decorated for the occasion the colors of the two nations, green and other greenery relieving brighter hues.

The informality, the gaiety of the host and the gathering such a highly representative city Honolulu men made the occasion to be remembered.

The military paid its respects to the German Kaiser this morning the department commander and staff, besides many officers from him and the posts adjacent to the attending the reception. The gift white dress uniforms and gold enamel ornaments lent brilliancy to gathering.

Colonel George K. McGale, acting department commandant army headquarters in the Younger short after 11:30, accompanied the following officers: Lieutenant Colonel Campbell, adjutant general; Lieutenant Colonel Raymond, medical corps; Major Joseph Frazier, Infantry; Major Cheatham, Cavalry and Captain Lister, quartermaster corps; Lieutenant Andrews, aide-de-camp to General Macomb, Colcom, commanding the fourth Cavalry and on hand to pay his respects.

LIFE CRUSHED OUT

BY TONS OF METAL

Kanaka Kuahine, a labor at the Honolulu Iron Works, met a tragic end Saturday afternoon by being crushed through the falling of a staggering that supported many hundreds of tons of iron shafting.

He, with a fellow workman, was working around a pile of seven or eight iron bars weighing in the neighborhood of seven or eight hundred pounds apiece and through one accident a supporting block beneath them was kicked out. The who big pile toppled over at once and thudded area in which the workmen stood them as it in a trap. The second workman, Pau, escaped, but Kamaka was caught beneath the fall and horribly crushed, probably being killed instantly.

Each shaft is said to have weighed in the neighborhood of seven hundred pounds. The police took charge of the remains and Deputy Sheriff and Coroner Rose will call an inquest.

With but forty-seven passengers to arrive in the Matson Navigation steamer from San Francisco, would indicate that the available passenger accommodation exceeds the present demand. The Honolulu could easily have brought sixty cabin passengers.

Local shipping men do not anticipate any unusual demand upon passenger accommodation in trans-Pacific liners from San Francisco to the islands, during the present tourist season. So far liners have been arriving from the coast far from being crowded.

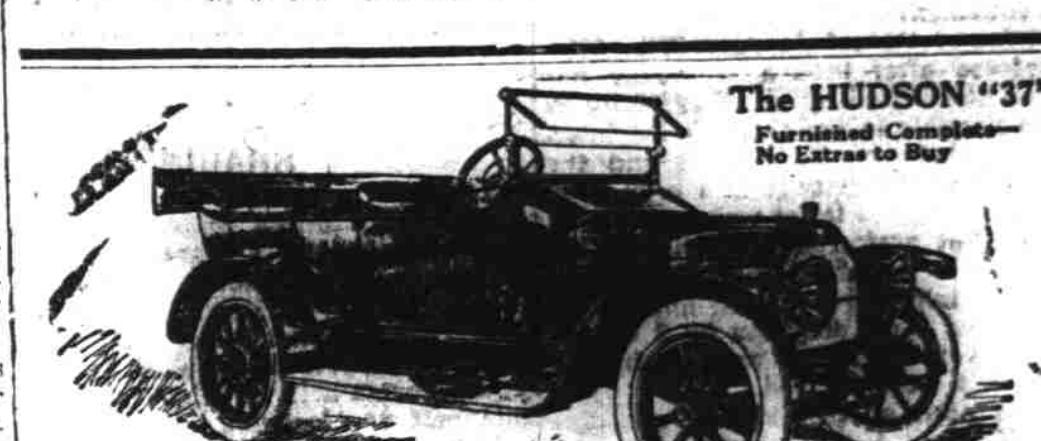

Sharp bidding characterized the early part of the sale, the Coyne Furniture Company and the O. R. & L. company competing for the possession of a desirable location only a short distance from the road running makai toward Iwilei, the railway company finally winning with a bid of $9,180, for a block of fifteen lots, the appraised value of which was $7,555.65.

The furniture company obtained three other lots, however, at a lower figure. Other purchasers were Loo Goon, J. F. C. Stoke and Minnie Malloy, one lot each, and Lee Chu and W. Hoogs, three lots each.

Ten o'clock Wednesday morning is the hour set for the departure of the Matson Navigation liner Wilhelmina for the coast. A fair list of passengers have been booked at the office of Castle and Cooke.

But this would be insufficient to assure hours of riding comfort, for a smooth, perfectly operating mechanism is also essential. A motor that pulls steadily without jerk and without vibration is just as important as are big wheels, resilient springs, ample tires, etc. That is another point that the engineers responsible for the New HUDSON have been able to incorporate in this car.

A long wheel base, long, flexible springs, twelve inch cushions, and high backs are some of the details that make this possible.

INTER-ISLAND

engaged in the case, took the initiative this morning and with the members of the special committee appointed by the Harbor yesterday, to confer with the officials of the company where he was told that the time limit set by the captains was too short, and that it would be impossible for him to have an agreement with said Harbor.

He carried with him its individual members, and those shall be members of said harbor, brief the resolution, printed. The letter reads:

January 27th, 1913
Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company
Honolulu.

"Gentlemen.—The undersigned, a committee appointed by the provisions outlined in said resolution passed at a meeting of Hon. Harbor No. 54 of the Order of American Masters, Mates and Pilots, indicates a disposition on the part of your company to enforce arbitrary dismissals from your employ, of members of said Harbor, without stating any cause for such dismissals. Our Harbor considers this matter of the utmost importance and urgency to its members. Wherefore we respectfully urge that no delay, other than such as shall be absolutely necessary in the premises, shall be permitted. Your prompt and serious attention to the matter in hand is therefore respectfully but urgently requested."

"Very respectfully,

A. TULLETT,
M. ONESS,
O. W. OLSSON, Committee.
A. S. HUMPHREYS,
C. W. ASHFORD,
Counsel for said Harbor."

Two o'clock Limit Set.

After a conference with Mr. Hemmings, the committee announced through Ashford that an answer to the request for a conference must be forthcoming by 1 o'clock and that a definite reply to the proposed agreement must be in the hands of the committee by 2 o'clock, as the harbor is to hold a meeting at 3 o'clock, when the answer must be submitted in order that that body might take what action is deemed necessary in the circumstances.

Mr. Ashford announced at noon that the failure of the company to reply by 1 o'clock to the request for a conference would be considered as tantamount to a definite refusal to treat at all, and would so be reported to the full meeting of the Harbor at 3 o'clock.

"And that means?" asked the reporter.

"Oh, that means that the Harbor will then be in a position to take any action deemed necessary in the circumstances. We have no program, save one of self-defense. If the company insists upon war we shall try to be ready for it. That is all."

Judge Humphreys concurred in all that Mr. Ashford said, and added that he believes the matter can be straightened out without much difficulty.

At the offices of the I. S. N. Company there were many signs of activity. Practically a full board of directors met and was in conference over the situation for most of the morning, but it was late before Mr. Kennedy was able to make his formal announcement of the decision reached.

Captain Defends Harbor.

Captain Tullett, head of the special committee of the harbor which waited upon the company this morning with the resolution passed yesterday, came to the defense of the association this morning in a spirited statement. He said:

"I want to contradict the story that has gone forth to the public that this association is attempting any arbitrary action, and I want to explain why it is that we have been forced to take the stand we have. Some years ago, when we were working 18 and 20 hours a day, sometimes without overtime, two of my officers, Messrs. Leslie and George E. Piltz, attacked that company in a meeting of the harbor and urged that the harbor proceed with an effort to get overtime. The pay system maintained by President Kennedy worked. The Harbor at last managed to get its own."

"Another thing this harbor, and indeed the whole association, is constantly at work for the benefit of navigation of the waters in the seas surrounding these islands. We are constantly caring for the lights and other aids to navigation, working hand in glove with the U. S. government officials in this matter. Our work is being done in the past recognized by the government at its true value. When president, Mr. Roosevelt, instructed officials of the government to co-operate with us. With such a record and with so much to lose, it is not likely that we would carelessly plunge into a conflict with the company. Our claims can all be proved. We have taken the public into our confidence and all we ask from it or from management of the Inter-Island, is fair deal."

"That we are afraid of trickery is the reason for our present attitude. I told Mr. Kennedy three years ago that he set us the example in trickery and is disingenuous in the extreme. The year was to the general effect that the action of the Harbor in supporting Captain Thompson against dismissal was taken to keep Captain Simerson out of a job. The absurdity of that will be seen when it is pointed out that one of the reasons given by Mr. Kennedy for the discharge of Captain Thompson was that he is getting old and that the company wants to put younger men in such posts." Captain Simerson is older than in point of service with the company and in years than Captain Thompson. The story was given out purely for the purpose of prejudicing the public against the Harbor and in favor of the company. As a matter of fact Captain Simerson is now in command of a larger and better ship than the Nithian, commanded by Captain Thompson, the Manua Kea. Also he is drawing a better salary. The Harbor did not try to bar him from this command, but was glad with him when he received it."

James Simerson Story

"I want to deny the absurd story that Captain Simerson, given to the public yesterday. To say the least is disingenuous in the extreme. The year was to the general effect that the action of the Harbor in supporting Captain Thompson against dismissal was taken to keep Captain Simerson out of a job. The absurdity of that will be seen when it is pointed out that one of the reasons given by Mr. Kennedy for the discharge of Captain Thompson was that he is getting old and that the company wants to put younger men in such posts." Captain Simerson is older than in point of service with the company and in years than Captain Thompson. The story was given out purely for the purpose of prejudicing the public against the Harbor and in favor of the company. As a matter of fact Captain Simerson is now in command of a larger and better ship than the Nithian, commanded by Captain Thompson, the Manua Kea. Also he is drawing a better salary. The Harbor did not try to bar him from this command, but was glad with him when he received it."

Captain Allman Talks.

Roger Allman, former master of the Pacific Mail liner China and who, since his arrival at Honolulu last Tuesday as a passenger in the Matson Navigation steamer Wilhelmina, has been much in the spotlight of publicity concerning the allegation that he is to take over the general superintendence of the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company, now makes emphatic denial that he has any intention whatever in joining forces with the local steamship company in any capacity.

It was charged that Captain Allman was engaged by President and General Manager James A. Kennedy, during the latter's visit to the Coast. It was then stated that Captain Allman was coming down to the islands to accept the position now held by Captain J. F. Haglund, and the former China skipper would draw a salary of $350 a month.

"There is absolutely nothing to it," they say that I am down here to go to work for the Inter-Island they are all entirely on the wrong track. I have no such intention," added the skipper, again retiring into the vale of mystery.

The nature of his mission to these islands Captain Allman at this time refuses to disclose.

"I am here for a purpose and not exactly for my health," he smilingly admitted.

It was suggested that inasmuch as the Captain has borne the title of Poet of the Pacific for some years, that he might have decided to take up his abode in these isles of the blest for the purpose of gathering inspiration for the muse, which at times sways the seafaring man to an extent that much creditable verse is sent broadcast over the land.

Captain Allman recently figured as a witness in an investigation of smuggling operations carried on by members of the official staff and crew of the liner China. Captain Allman insists that he left the Pacific Mail service of his own free will, however.

There are those here who believe that Captain Allman is now a visitor at Honolulu on business connected with the suppression of illegal importation of opium. With the genial skipper, however, silence is now golden.

The Harbor yesterday held a meeting at which a committee of three, headed by Captain Tullett, was appointed to confer with the officials of the company. Captain Tullett made arrangements with Vice-President McLean for a conference at ten o'clock this morning.

Among other things which the Harbor did at the meeting was to pass a resolution providing a mode of settling disputes in future. This plan will be taken up by the conferees this morning. The resolution read:

"Resolved, that a committee, consisting of three members of this Harbor, be appointed to confer, in connection with our legal advisers, with the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company, and endeavor to obtain from said company an agreement whereby no member of this Harbor shall be, against his will, dismissed from his employment by said company, unless: (1) by order of the United States inspectors, empowered to act in the premises; (2) the party sought to be dismissed shall admit the justice of his dismissal; (3) such dismissal shall be approved by arbitrators, one of whom shall be appointed under the sanction of this Harbor, one by said company, and the third in such manner as shall be provided in such proposed agreement; and that any suspension from duty, pending such approved dismissal, shall be upon full pay."

"The resolution we adopted shows the public that we want to be fair and square in this matter," said Captain Tullett, yesterday. "The Harbor has no intention of trying to dictate to the company as to whom they shall employ or discharge. In the last two years four captains have been dismissed and the Harbor made no objection, but in the case of Thompson, we do not believe that the company has right to discharge a man who has spent twenty years in its service without giving reasons for the dismissal. If the company has good reasons for its action why doesn't it make them public? The Harbor is not afraid to have them published, and neither is Captain Thompson."

Position Set Forth.

Honolulu Harbor No. 54 yesterday set forth its position still more fully in a letter written to the morning paper, which said:

Editor, Pacific Commercial Advertiser, City.

Dear Sir:—If you will kindly allow us space in the columns of your paper, we will attempt to respond to your editorial appearing in the issue of January 25th, which starts out as though intended to be fair, quoting the vital interest of the general public which neither the company or the men can afford to ignore, and, after advising the public not to decide off-hand without hearing both sides, in the very next paragraph, we are practically condemned by you.

Admitting for the sake of argument that our letter to Mr. Kennedy was couched in irritating language, his attitude towards us at all times has been worse than irritating, and, Mr. Editor, when you say that our calm assumption of the right to name our own committee to try our members, is almost enough to make the ordinary thinking man gasp, what have you to say in regard to the workingman, the man with a family to support, who has served this company for twenty odd years, without ever an inkling of complaint against him, who is summarily discharged by a vindictive manager, who refuses to give him a reason for his discharge? If we may be classed among thinking men, we would say that he, too, would gasp.

There is no conflict of ideas insofar as we are concerned. Captain Thompson has been ordered discharged, the reason for which he does not know to the present day, and when he was refused by the management to be given one, he appealed to us to obtain it for him. The only reasons given have already been published. Would it not have been sound business policy for Mr. Kennedy to have written Captain Thompson his dismissal, giving his reasons therefor and to have settled the matter right there and then? But no; our experience with Mr. Kennedy is this; he will never commit himself to writing if he can avoid it.

It is the same with all his dealings. In the event of something going wrong for instance, the minute Mr. Kennedy hears of it, he is off like a flash, gets into hiding until others have straightened matters out and then he is there for the "glory."

Our members, each and every one of them, have no desire to discomfit the public and it will be with profound and sincere regret if we are forced to participate in any action that will hamper the traffic or business of these islands.

As for publicity, we have already submitted our side of the case, readily and willingly, but how about the company? They have not only refused to publish their side, but have gone so far as to even refuse to discuss it.

Please bear in mind that the company has taken the initiative in this instance. Mr. Kennedy has gone about this piece of trickery like a demon in the dark and if it were not for our publicity in the matter, throwing him into the limelight, the unsuspecting public would have had no warning until his scheme was ready to be hatched and then our association would be held responsible.

We quite agree with you, Mr. Editor, in that compulsory arbitration frequently fails to settle satisfactorily, but compulsory publicity rarely does, and the sooner you bring the company to time on the publicity question, the sooner the public will be able to judge and express its unbiased opinion.

Respectfully yours,

PUBLICITY COMMITTEE OF
HONOLULU HARBOR No. 54.

SEVEN MILLIONS
IS ISENBERG'S
'KILLING'

Seven million dollars, for an investment of $125,000 inside of nine months is about as "nifty" a killing in finance as has ever been recorded. That is what Hon. Paul Isenberg of Honolulu and his associate, Dr. Reinhold Hoppe of Oakland, California, have landed in a little flyer in Canadian coal lands. And Mr. Isenberg, with whatever side partners he may have in Honolulu, is owner of three-fifths of the interests in the property referred to, the sale of which to an English syndicate he is going over in Mongolia to consummate.

"It was not for recreation that I went to the coast last year," said Mr. Isenberg this afternoon, "but to look into the prospects for investment in Canadian coal lands.

"Meeting Dr. Hoppe in Canada, I sent him up there to investigate, and on his return he sent for me at Los Angeles, where we talked the matter over. I decided to come down and consult with my friends about it, and I raised enough money to go ahead with the preliminary work.

"Then I returned to the coast and Dr. Hoppe went to Ottawa and had the leases signed over in my name. The leases are for twenty-one years, with an option of extension for another twenty-one years, at an annual rental of one dollar an acre, and a royalty of five cents a ton on the coal. There are eleven claims of 2560 acres each, making a total of 28,160 acres, and we have paid a year's rental in advance amounting to $28,000 and odd.

"I had no idea the business would be settled up in nine months, but thought it would take three or four years. Yes, we did intend to form a company, although personally I didn't want to go up there. The next thing was to send a surveyor up there who reported that there was visible one hundred and ten million (110,000,000) tons of the finest quality of coal, of which twenty million tons would be steam shovel work.

"As I have said, I had no idea we should close up the business so quickly, but it seems English capitalists knew all about it and have been following us."

"The lands are eighty miles from a railroad track, but there will be no trouble in getting in a railroad. We will have the franchise for it and the line will connect with two transcontinental lines—the Canadian Northern and the Grand Trunk Pacific—at Hinton, about 200 miles from Edmonton."

"And it will cost you, with preliminaries, how much?" was asked.

"One hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars."

"And you get seven million dollars for it?"

"Yes. And you may say I am the happiest man alive."

According to a late coast paper, these lands were a "chance discovery and acquisition," to develop which it was proposed to organize a company with at least $50,000,000 capitalization, the announcement having been made by Dr. Hoppe, who is over seventy years old and it was while on a visit of recuperation to Canada that he was informed of the vast deposits of coal in the interior, through reports by Indians and trappers. W. D. O'Brien of San Francisco was the engineer sent out to make the survey, having with him a corps of twenty engineers, and he was assisted by John McVicar of Edmonton, who made the survey for the connecting railroad.

A man who would have God's guidance must be willing to make spiritual things his main business.—H. C. Mabie.

THE DIGNITY OF THE UNIFORM

Discrimination against the soldier's uniform is not a matter that can or should be passed over lightly here or anywhere else. The Alakea wharf incident, of course, is not typical of the feelings of Honolulu citizens generally, but it was serious enough to deserve investigation by the civil as well as the military authorities. Sheriff Jarrett disclaims any responsibility so far as his department is concerned, and we agree that the sheriff is not the man to foster discrimination of this sort, but it is quite certain that guards at the wharf thought they had been authorized to keep soldiers out.

The morning paper seeks to belittle the incident and to argue that it should not be given public attention because that might stir up bitter feeling between the military and civilians. We hope there will be no repetition of the incident and trust that the Second Infantry realizes that what happened is not expressive of any general sentiment, but it might be remarked in passing that a good way to stir hostility is to belittle the insult offered the uniform and to try to hush the matter up. The Star-Bulletin took the matter up and brought it to public attention because this paper believed some explanation was due the men kept off the wharf. He who would not fight for the recognition of the uniform of his country must indeed have a half-hatched sense of patriotism.

As explanation of the incident, it is stated that last year soldiers went aboard the Cleveland and did not want to leave. Hence the orders this year against the soldiers. Whether last year's happenings will be regarded as sufficient cause for this year's orders is doubtful.

The entire matter has secured the effect of getting an expression of public sentiment as upholding the dignity of the uniform, and as this is the desirable result, the incident may be regarded as closed.

THE NATIONAL GUARD

Col. Jones makes a good point in urging the importance of the national guard here and asking the support of the businessmen in building up the organization.

When the new armory is ready and the guard has a chance to develop under favoring circumstances, the organization should be of very definite value to the community. The military character of the training gives physical strength and mental alertness to the guardsmen, and with the athletic and social facilities to be afforded in the new structure, the guard ought to have a strong influence for good on its members. The guard attracts many young men who for various reasons do not affiliate with the Y. M. C. A. or other bodies that stand for all-around growth. The discipline, the spirit of competition, the cleanliness of mind and of body developed by the national guard are definite and beneficial.

This does not take into account the military value of such an organization, which is taken for granted. The "community value" of the national guard may well be considered a potent reason for maintaining it, and Honolulu ought to give moral support to Col. Jones and his fellow-officers, as well as the war department, in their efforts to make the militia one of Honolulu's progressive factors of civic betterment.

ONE EXAMPLE

St. Joseph, Missouri, familiarly called "St. Joe" throughout the country, has "shown" the critics of affairs municipal what can be done by cooperation between the city and the city's big businesses. The railroads, interurban lines, factories and other business organizations got together to boom St. Joe. The city in 1900 adopted a new municipal charter, similar in some respects to the commission or short-ballot form of government. The city council is composed of five members, elected at large, the other elective officers being the mayor, treasurer, auditor and police judge. A thorough study of the best public school systems of the country was undertaken and the results carried out in St. Joe's schools.

St. Joe was once a little huddle of huts, the eastern terminus of the pony express. Now it is a large and important trade and commerce center. Its recent rapid growth may be traced directly to the spirit of intelligent cooperation between the citizens at large and the city officials.

THE THANKS OF A REPUBLIC

Its city government is run on business principles and that gives businessmen and corporations confidence enough to locate themselves and their plants in St. Joe.

THE MAN IN UNIFORM

Honolulu, T. H., Jan. 25, 1913.
Editor Honolulu Star-Bulletin.

Sir:—I would like to ask the public in general a question through the columns of your paper: Why is it that some of the civilian people treat the man in uniform with such contempt? Is it because he happens to wear a uniform, or have the people in Honolulu got an idea that the service consists of nothing else but the lowest characters possible? Do they think it impossible to find good, respectable men in the service? If they do, I would advise those people that think that way to go and visit some of the posts on this island, and I think they will change their minds to a great extent. The civilian people don't know the damage that is done to the service men when they are run down the lowest level and publicly insulted. I will give you an example of what happens.

How many men in the service are going to church every Sunday? Saturday night regular, and were trying to friends with the civilian people. Mr. Horne made his speech at the Edged Theater some time ago. How many men are going to church now? I am afraid you will find more of those same men going to sales than there are going to church.

I happen to be an enlisted man, being an enlisted man with enlisted men, I know what happens when a publicumps on the soldier without any reason.

If the public wants to do something for the enlisted man, all they have to do is quit kicking him. The old saying is: You can kick a dog just many times and then he will bite.

Hoping a civilian that is interested in the welfare of the enlisted men will kindly answer my questions through the Star-Bulletin. I am,

"PISTOL PROHIBITION"

The California legislature is considering a law that ought to be on the statute books of Hawaii,—namely, a measure restricting the sale and use of firearms. "Pistol prohibition", as the measure is known in several states where it has been tried, has the result of lessening crimes of violence involving the use of the revolver.

Texas had a somewhat unfortunate experience with this law. The legislature passed a bill restricting the sale of firearms and the dealers immediately began leasing the "guns" for a period of ninety-nine years, which is a sale to all intents and purposes. California therefore proposes to incorporate in the law of that state a provision against leasing guns except under the regulations for their sale. These would include making it unlawful for a dealer to sell a firearm of any kind without having the purchaser register his name, residence and the purpose for which the weapon is intended; the sale, moreover, to be made only upon a permit issued by the sheriff or other peace officer of the county.

Revolvers and pistols are used in a large percentage of the crimes in which shooting figures. The police are enabled to check up periodically on the people to whom the weapons are sold and not only is the detection of criminals rendered easier, but much crime is prevented.

This would be a good statute for Hawaii, and there is no reason why the next legislature should not pass the law.

It was gravely stated yesterday morning that the "general belief" is that Link McCandless "hasn't a chance in the world to secure the governorship." Somebody has evidently been taking a mental straw vote.

Children's playgrounds, properly supervised, are declared by Raymond Robins to be essential to the greatness of this or any other city. Good doctrine, that!

Finley J. Shepard seems about to share the fate of several other unenvied males. He will be known as Helen Gould's husband.

Strange that the express companies have already discovered what poor and expensive service the parcel post is giving!

Land Commissioner Tucker hopes he has settled the Waiakea land squabble. Another landmark of history gone!

That old gag about the stork doesn't go in these modern days. Now it's the parcel post that brings the baby.

Let's hope that the new supervisors will settle on a style of paving that will not be changed every other week.

And now they're even trying to take away from the governor the name of the street he lives on!

If there is anything else that can happen to Constantinople we don't know what it is.

The "national guard polities" is outside, not inside the guard. That's the trouble.

Here's to the Kaiser! We like his strenuous ways.

Uneasy lies the head that wears a Republican hat. The civilian people don't know the damage that is done to the service men when they are run down the lowest level and publicly insulted. I will give you an example of what happens.

LITTLE INTERVIEWS

PERSONALITIES

W. R. FARRINGTON — There's a big sermon in practical life for the boys of Honolulu in the way the Chinese-American baseball team plays the game. The boys are right on the job every minute, whether winning or losing. They get in tight places but don't lose their nerve. They can work uphill, and when there is an opening to pull out, they are in a position to make the most of it. If some of the boys of this town who are asleep at the switch want to know why others win out and they are left in the lurch, they can gain a few pointers by waking up long enough to watch the Chinese-Americans play baseball. It's a good lesson in live-wire gospel of efficiency.

SAYS RUSSIANS DO NOT LIKE THE WORK

Though finding his countrymen not badly treated and living in sanitary environs and with better wages than they received at home, Joseph J. Okowicz, director general of the Polish Emigration Association of Cracow, Austrian Poland, says he finds many of them not contended with general conditions which confront them in Hawaii. He returned yesterday from a tour over the island of Kauai, and will continue his inspection, visiting the other islands, during the next two months.

He says the Poles and Russians employed on the plantations at he found them on Kauai, protest against the high living cost. The wage is all right for the single men, but the expense for the married men keeps them pinched.

He says moreover, that most of them are equipped better for industrial labor than for the agricultural work, of which they know little, and that they find life not very pleasant among an entirely strange people because they are given no social life. The language is strange to them, and they are separated from their own kind.

They have little time for recreation they finds, and when they get that they have no way of using it. The result is that many take to drinking heavily.

Others plan to get back to the cities or to the mainland. The average wage, he says, is about $24 a month, and end a man with a family — difficulty in making this pay his expenses.

HUMEKU MAY RETAIN BADGE

Officer J. W. Humeku, member of the police department until yesterday morning, may be retained in the service following an inquiry into the events that led up to the discharge of the officer, to be conducted by Sheriff Jarrett.

Humeku is alleged to have placed a man under arrest charged with drunkenness, only to release him some hours later.

Humeku declares that the man was figured in the case which brought about his dismissal from the force is a watchman employed on the paving job along lower King street.

He found the watchman asleep and presumably somewhat under the influence of liquor. Humeku states that the watchman when apprehended pled for a little time in which to recover his senses, and that he would then be ready to resume his vigil over the obstructed thoroughfare.

MAINT PALACE CONGRESS THANKS OUTRIGGER CLUB 'COCETE GRAY' MR. S. M. DAMON ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

For some time since the famous old King was built, that imposing which has sheltered the terpsichorean since the overthrow of old Hawaiian monarchy, may receive a new exterior coat of paint the next few weeks.

It is intended, however, to envelope client structure with a disconcerting that kamaaina from the islands will get lost when they to Honolulu seeking the old park. The color "mutil" is to become gray, perhaps a little, but substantially the same as the building now has.

The intention to repaint the historic place is not definite, but the suggestion is seriously considered by A. Cato, first assistant superintendent public works, and who probably become acting superintendent's department upon H. K. Bishop retirement February 15. He is pre-estimates of the cost of repairing endeavoring to solve a number of problems that will confront pikeman when they take up the abhor.

The plan renewal of the exterior finish contemplated only as a part of the rail renovation, retaining and repair work now in progress, pertain to the building's occupation approaching territorial legal.

Wind, light and advancing age have wretched effect on the exterior aspect of the king's palace that can be seen in the aesthetic soul that shudders disgust. A careful inspection days ago disclosed the fact that building, from the outside, presents a variety of colors, chiselings of the concrete base. In fact to the exterior surface an elevation close at hand reveals lily ceilings over some of the lanai throughout, the walls of the noble are checkered, criss-crossed worked in weird design by stern hand, in innumerable cracks of stated size that tell the structure.

It is cracks that offer one of the obstacles which puzzle the assistant superintendent. He would like to putty up and smear them over to hide travages of time, treating the old as like a woman of age who would her years in masses of rouge powder. But like humans, he bound the building's honorable agent to be secreted. Putty can be used to fill the cracks, and the expensoid make a noticeable item, but sad of hiding them the filler will make the defects more noticeable. The paint laid over them turns darker hue than that on the surface. The age cannot be hidden.

It is only, since he has gone into the mud carefully, that Wheeler will attempt to putty up the cracks. He probably leave them exposed, as marks honorable old age, which kamaaina reveres and tourists admire.

SAN FRANCISCO MAN
LL BOOST HAWAII

Among the notable visitors to leave in the Monday tomorrow is Albert Kress, of Cattails & Co., San Francisco, broker and bankers, who is enthusiastic acknowledging what a cordial lot follows he has met in Honolulu in membership of the local stock exchange. That these are going to give a typical Honolulu sendoff at clock is assured, and it was said one "street", this morning that a wire had been sent to the Mongolian to give a few bottles on ice for the ocean.

Mr. Raischmeyer believes that the depression sugar is only temporary and that aathy reaction both in the market the commodity and that for sugar stocks will not be long delayed. He declares that on his return to the est he will be a booster not only for sugar interest of Hawaii but for the sending of tourists from both San Francisco and the East to the island.

At the annual meeting of the Outrigger Club which was held last Saturday afternoon in the Public Service Association rooms, officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

G. H. Tuttle, president; A. M. Nowell, vice president; J. A. Beaven, secretary; H. C. Campbell, treasurer; E. H. Ehrlhorn, chairman of the house committee; A. B. Kroll, captain; J. P. Cooke, Dr. Doremus Scudder, and Henry Giles, directors, and F. G. W. Cooper to the house committee. Only one change was made in the nominations submitted by the nomination committee which is composed of P. M. Pond, F. G. W. Cooper, and A. L. Mac-Kaye.

From the report of the treasurer, A. M. Nowell, the club was shown to be in excellent financial condition, having nearly $2000 in the bank at the present time, while many improvements have been made to the grounds of the club at Waikiki. For her work as assistant and acting treasurer, a special vote of thanks was passed for Mrs. C. Coonley.

A report which was received from A. H. Ford was to the effect that several large canoes would soon be on the grounds of the club through the courtesy of A. L. C. Atkinson, who has kept them for the club for the past few years. The matter of filling in the low lands on the grounds of the club was brought up at the meeting and it was decided to leave this to the discretion of the new board. It was also decided to anchor a large float out near the reef. The present membership of the club is now nearly 180, and on account of the want of accommodations at this time, a limit may be set at $300. The Women's Auxiliary Club now has 300 members with 75 on the waiting list.

ANOTHER HOSPITAL CASE YIELDS

Place—Good Samaritan's Hospital in Dawson City, Yukon Territory, Alaska.

Patient—G. A. Hatch, a business man of Dawson.

Case—Diabetes, believed to be incurable the world over.

Prognosis—Hopeless, not only because physicians consider it so but the condition of the patient was so extreme that death was believed to be far away.

A friend of Hatch's by the name of E. S. Strait, auctioneer of Dawson, heard about his plight and called upon him. Strait told Hatch that five years ago he was in the same fix and sent to California for Fulton's Diabetic Compound and recovered and to insure his health he keeps it on hand. He told Hatch that he would loan him some until more could be had from San Francisco. To the surprise of Dr. Cato, who has charge of the hospital, and the nurses, and his friends, Hatch made a recovery.

Instead of being in his grave as the Hospital authorities predicted, four months later found him on a visit to his old home in Portland, Maine.

JAMES GUILD CO.*FRED B. SMITH TALKS STRAIGHT FROM SHOULDER ON VICE AS IT IS

"If I thought that this Bible which I hold in my hand did not provide a hell for the ruiner of women, I would trample it beneath my feet and seek other than religious work," said Fred B. Smith, national leader of the Men and Religion Forward Movement, at the men's mass meeting held in the Bijou theater last evening which was attended by nearly 1800 persons. Choosing as his topic the Seventh Chapter of the Book of Proverbs, Mr. Smith spoke straight from the shoulder and pictured the progress of vice from youth to old age.

Intemperance, gambling, and immorality were the three divisions into which Mr. Smith separated his topic, not classing these as the three greatest sins, but of the most importance in the order given. "The ranks of the drunkards are filled from the army of those who think that they can take a drink and then leave liquor alone," he said with reference to the first division, "and show me any man in this audience who, if he gambles when he gets in distress, will not steal your pocketbook if you lay it down." Call Spade a Spade.

Mr. Smith handled the third division, that of impurity, with a directness that could not be helped, and never before has an audience been stirred to a greater degree than by his interpretation of the vice which the people of Honolulu have been trying to do away with. Without mincing matters, and going straight to the point, he gave a vivid description starting with the sexual vices of ignorant and innocent children and ending with the time when the disease-wrecked man goes to his grave. The matter of the two terrible diseases which result from impurity, and the accepted medical claim that they often recur after twenty years or more, was threshed out by the speaker, who said that seventy-five per cent of the cases of blindness could be traced from this source.

Mr. Smith pointed out that the sinner of girls was the worst of all criminals, and it was at this point that he brought out the fact that the Bible did provide an everlasting hell for these evil doers. Would Warn The Child.

"These impure thoughts and habits are not accomplished in weeks or days," he went on to say, "but they sometime cover a long period of years. I believe that much good could be accomplished along these lines if the parents would do away with the bar-over by John R. Galt, chairman of the social service committee of the local campaign. The National Association Quartet which has gained much favor in the eyes of the Honolulu people, will render several selections prior to the address of the evening.

The two institutes which are held this afternoon will be of unusual importance. Mr. Robins conducts one in the makai pavilion of the Young Hotel, beginning at half-past four o'clock, and takes up the question of boys' work. Mr. Smith's institute is held in the Odd Fellows' Hall at half-past four o'clock, and the subject of community extension is presented. This is a new and interesting phase of Christian work which appeals especially to men who believe that it is the mission of the church to go out among the highways and lanes and urges the people to come in. This plan of work contemplates meetings in shops, factories, military posts, etc., and especially Bible study groups in different parts of the city. E. W. Peck of the quartet, has some interesting things to say in this connection. All the men of the city who are interested in this line of work and think that it should be promoted, are asked to attend this institute. This phase of the work is distinctly a layman's work on account of the fact that the pastors of the churches of any city cannot begin to cover the ground, but where there is a policy of community extension, the work may be accomplished successfully.

Mr. Smith confined his remarks largely to the value of character in the everyday affairs of life. No matter how brilliant a man may be, he said, and no matter how capable he may be as concerns intellect, he will fail absolutely unless he has character. The speaker made a rather bold, yet true, statement when he said that very little was ever accomplished in this world by anyone who did not have character. Student after student fails because his character does not come up to the standard, he said. He urged the students to pay special attention to their studies, especially history, and at the same time to lay the foundation of a good, clean character. He urged athletics in the schools, and while this was going on he laid stress on the fact that character should be nailed down hard.

"I have made a study of schools for the past twelve years with the poorer people of Chicago. He works among the people so that he may know them. Here again he spoke of the 19th verse of Luke 2. Personal service is only made possible with pondering.

"The splendid work of Jane Adams, whom we all know and recognize, was not possible before the coming of the Galilean," said Mr. Robins. He also referred to Agnes Nestor, the little glove girl through whose efforts a shorter labor day was made possible. Here was a life that had considered the coming of Jesus Christ, he said. Mr. Robins brought up many points in connection with personal association. In his closing words he brought out the point that while industries were small and the employer and employee knew each other socially and the wives of men in these two positions were friends, there was no bad industrial conditions for the very nature of man prevented his making the conditions unbearable.

A larger audience of intellectual women has never filled Central Union church. With the exception of Mr. Robins, and half a dozen other men who sat in the gallery the congregation was composed entirely of women. Mrs. L. T. Peck president of the Y. W. C. A. presided at the meeting; others who sat on the rostrum were Mrs. Doremus Scudder, Mrs. Ebersole,

NATIONAL GUARD HEADS ASK SUPPORT

Col. Jones Urges Commercial Bodies to Encourage the Growth of Militia

Urging the business leaders and business men of Honolulu to encourage their young male employees to join the national guard, Adjutant General T. W. Jones, for the guard, in a letter to the Chamber of Commerce and the Merchants' Association, setting forth the prospects of the militia, the fact that it is a force for public welfare. The letters to the commercial bodies also refer to the desire of the war department to increase the strength of the organized militia in Hawaii.

Col. Jones' letter to the chamber of commerce says:

Gentlemen: Acknowledging the substantial support and encouragement of the Chamber of Commerce of Honolulu in the past, and especially during the biennial period of 1905-1907, when there was no legislative appropriation and the Chamber of Commerce donated $6000 for the maintenance of the National Guard, we now seek the continued moral support and encouragement of the Chamber of Commerce and its members in the important work of upbuilding the Guard so that it may become an important factor in the defense of this territory.

A contract has been signed for the erection of a National Guard armory in Honolulu, which in size and appointment will be a credit to the territory. In that armory for the enjoyment and betterment of the members of the guard will be a gymnasium, bowling alley, hand-ball court, billiard and pool room, reading room and a large social hall for dances and entertainments.

The desire of the war department to raise the standard of efficiency and increase the strength of the organized militia of this territory by the organization of new companies, is set forth in the report of the general staff of the United States army on "The Organization of the Land Forces of the United States."

In order to attain the object sought, it is necessary that the National Guard have the moral support and encouragement of the business men of this community and that the heads of firms make it known to their employees spoke for an hour, telling of his experiences in Alaska during the time of the gold rush. This afternoon at two o'clock E. W. Peck, of the quartet, spoke before the students of the Normal School, and the quartet sang several selections. At half-past twelve o'clock Fred B. Smith spoke at the Honolulu Iron Works, the meeting being attended by about fifty employees and officials. The quartet also sang at this meeting.
