GOVERNOR TELLS LEGISLATORS ABOUT MOST URGENT NEEDS

National Government Collects Vast Sums in Income Taxes Which Results In Decreased Territorial Income; Schools, Teachers' Salaries and Restriction or Regulation of Foreign Language Schools Other Important Points in Message.

Twenty-five subjects for legislation or investigation preliminary to legislation to be enacted at the regular session are treated by Governor C. J. McCarthy in his message to the special session of the legislature which convened at the Capitol Wednesday. Of outstasding importance are finances, which he deals with at the outset of his message, schools, teachers' salaries, the foreign language schaal problem and wharves, under which subject is included the loan fund appropriation for the Kahului project.

Revenue Under Estimates

Taking up the subject of territorial finances the Governor says:

"Appropriations made by the last legislature together with continuing appropriations from previous sessions amounted to $6,467,161.25. For the information of the last legislature the treasurer estimated that the revenue of the Territory for the period ending June 30, 1921, would be $4,157,497.24, to which should be added $675,000, the latter being the amount expected through the increase of the special income tax from 1 per cent to 2 per cent. In this estimate it was supposed that $2,900,000 would be raised during the biennial period by the regular and special income taxes, which for a single year should give $1,450,000, but, as a matter of fact, the total revenue from these sources for the first year ending June 30, 1920, amounted to only $1,051,537.97.

"It seems strange considering the high price of sugar and pineapples that the territorial income tax should have been less than the estimate but the reason for this is that Section 1308 of our Income Tax Law allows a deduction from income of all government taxes.

"When our Income Tax Law passed in 1901 it was not anticipated that the United States congress would ever pass an income tax law.

"Because of the deduction allowed by the territorial law, many plantations paid such large federal taxes for the year 1919 that there was nothing left for the Territory. The Federal income tax law allows a deduction for all government taxes except income taxes.

Amendment Proposed

"This Territory requires more money and I believe that the best method of obtaining part of the additional income is to amend Section 1308 by adding on line 12 after the word taxes the words except income taxes. This would put our income tax law on the same basis as that of the United States and those of the separate states of the Union.

"Tax payers of Hawaii, during the year ending June 30, 1920, paid to the United States government in income taxes the large sum of $12,000,000. On all of this the Territory lost the tax. I am reliably informed that for the year ending June 30, 1921, the tax payers of this Territory will pay to the United States government approximately $40,000,000. Under last year's federal tax the Territory lost approximately $480,000 and for the coming year, if the estimate is correct, will lose $1,600,000.

Budget System Changes

Taking up the subject of schools, he says:

"Under the present system the board of estimates meets in Honolulu in the month of December of each year, not later than the 15th of the month, to frame the school budget. This budget is handed to the governor who presents it to the legislature without any alterations. The legislature if it sees fit may make any amendments necessary. Up to the present time the legislature has only amended the budget by adding items; it has never taken any away. The budget is passed by the legislature about the month of April, but does not go into effect until the following January and runs for a period of two years.

New Needs Arise

"In framing the budget the board of estimates takes into consideration everything that it believes the department will require for the next two years. But so great a time elapses before the expiration of the new budget that many needs arise meanwhile which could not be foreseen at the time of its passage, thus making it necessary to amend the budget at each session of the legislature.

"In December of this year, for example, the budget committee may desire to erect school buildings in certain localities and before the end of the term budget it is possible that more buildings may be required in those places. Yet the board has no power to make the change without a special act of the legislature.

"It is suggested that Section 299, Revised Laws of Hawaii, 1915, be amended so that this budget will be framed by the committee of estimates for the following calendar year only and, if it receives the approval of the governor, the treasurer shall then be authorized to adjust the tax rate for the ensuing calendar year, in so far as is necessary to raise the amount required. As a result the board will be able to keep its estimates up to date and a much better system will obtain.

Deficiency Now Exists

The school budget adopted by the 1919 session of the legislature and the amount of money raised for the pay of teachers has been found insufficient and there will be presented to you a bill asking for the funds necessary to carry on the department properly for the next calendar year.

"From time to time it has been found that there have been unexpended balances in the school general fund, and in the fund for the pay of teachers and as the money is raised by direct taxation for the particular year, the auditor at the end of the year charges these balances to the suspense accounts.

"There will presented to you a bill providing that when these balances are known the treasurer shall be informed and he shall deduct them from the amount estimated for these appropriations for the ensuing year, so that there shall be raised by taxation the total amount necessary minus the unexpended balances.

Pay of Teachers

"Section 297, Revised Laws of Hawaii of 1915, provides a method by which the Department of Public Instruction shall frame a salary budget. The people who framed this act evidently gave the matter much study. However, during its passage through the legislature a proviso was put at the end of the section which practically nullifies the purpose of those who framed the act. Th's proviso stipulated that the pay of teachers shall be $45,000 per month plus $50 for every 35 pupils registered since 1911. This proviso was amended in 1917 by Act 60, increasing the basic sum to $73,500 and changing the allowance rate from $50 to $60. In 1919 this was further amended by Act 197 changing the basic amount to $118,000 and an additional allowance rate from $60 to $85. This proviso is absolutely wrong. Such a method does not properly handle the situation. Since meeting the first difficulties with this section in 1917, I have firmly believed that the proper solution is to eliminate the proviso.

"If the law is changed in this manner the pay of teachers can be properly regulated by the department of public instruction and there will be no necessity of taking up the time of the legislature at each session in making amendments.

"The number of pupils in the public schools has vastly increased since the first of July, 1911, when the present system was inaugurated. I have prepared a statement showing the cost of schools each year beginning with 1912 and including 1920, which will be found in the appendix.

"Bills have been prepared and will be submitted to you covering this proposed change."

Foreign Language Schools

Coming to the subject of foreign language schools which was considered by the last legislature, the bill finally failing of passage in the senate, he says:

"The United States of America, composed as it is of many races blended into a single nation, depends for its safetly and its very existence, upon the homogeneousness of these people. Its welfare can only be maintained by putting all these races through the same educative process, so that they will emerge as true Americans.

"If in this so-called melting process one race is given different treatment than the rest, trouble will ensue. The nation has already seen some trouble of this sort and invariably it has been found that the trouble makers were either foreigners or the children of foreigners educated in the language and customs of their forefathers without a proper conception of the American form of government and the principles for which America stands. Although they regarded America as a good place to make a living, they did not feel that the American government was their; they were still alien at heart; their every thought was for the government of their ancestors.

"To correct this serious evil, many states have adopted legislation forbidding the teaching of children below a certain age in any foreign language. Hawaii faces a similar problem, one that I trust may be solved by the legislature at this session. The issue must be met squarely and with determination to legislate for the best interests of the Territory and the Nation.

"The taxpayers of the Territory contribute a very great amount of money for the education of its children, and in return should receive full assurance that this is being given on purely American lines.

"The bills which will be presented to you, in an effort to remedy the situation, have been prepared with care by persons who have given the subject earnest consideration. I trust that you will enact such legislation

Governor Is Urgent For Kahului Wharf

Tells Legislator It Is Absolutely Necessary and Asks Passage of Bill Enabling Issuance of Bonds That Are Already Spoken For.

Endorsement of the Kahului wharf project is given by Governor McCarthy in his message to the sepcial session of the legislature. He asserts the wharf is an absolute necessity and he strongly urges upon the legislators passage of the bill which is to be submitted to them for consideration.

Dealing with the Kahului wharf project the Governor says:

"The business of the port of Kahului has been growing for years; the United States government has expended large sums in improving the harbor but the port has no wharf at which deep sea going vessels may berth. The result is a constant loss of money in handling cargoes and in delay to vessels.

"In 1911 the board of harbor commissioners was ready to recommend an appropriation for the building of a suitable wharft at the port but would not make he recommendaions unless the Kahului Railroad Company surrendered the license it held to build a wharf there. This the Railroad Company has refused to do until lately. The board of harbor commissioners hsa recently had a survey made of the harbor and has prepared estimates on the cost of installing an up-to-date wharf.

"I have taken up the matter of selling the bonds and have received assurances in writing that if the legislature will pass an act appropriating the necessary funds the bonds will be purchased by parties interested in its construction.

"The wharf is absolutely necessary and I strongly urge upon you to pass the bill which I will submit for your consideration."

Young Engineer Lost On Ditch Trail

Robert A. Remington Thought to Have Been Drowned in Attempting to Swim Mule Accross Swollen Nailihaili Stream.

Robert A. Remington is believed to have met his death at Nailihaili Stream on the Ditch Trail last Monday evening. The body of the mule he had with him, its saddle and Remington's purse have been found but nothing seen of the young man, dead or alive.

Remington was a newcomer to the Islands, an engineer and a recent graduate from Stanford University. He was making the trip over the trail with James E. Stuart and a short time before Joel B. Cox, an engineer with the East Maui Irrigation Company had left them.

Stuart and Remington, it is said, were overtaken by dusk at the Nailihaili stream which was greatly swollen by recent rains. Cox had left them about two hours earlier. Stuart, recognizing the danger of attempting to ford the stream on their animals left his horse and Remington's mule with Remington and crossed the stream on a foot bridge below, telling his companion to release the animals when he, Stuart, signalled him from the other side of the stream and then to go down to the bridge and cross it, that he, Stuart, would catch the animals when they swam the stream. Stuart's horse crossed safely but the mule was swept away and it is thought Remington attempted to swim his mule across the stream instead of going down and crossing the foot bridge as advised. When Remington did not come across Stuart called to him and made such hunt as he could in the darkness, after which he proceeded out and gave the alarm.

Searchers have found no sign of the missing man. They came upon his mule's body with the saddle and the pocketbook quite a distance down on the side of the stream. Those experienced with the trail say that even if Remington was not lost with his mule and attempted to work his way out alone the chances were all against him since he did not know the trail and even one familiar with it would have difficulty in keeping to it in the deep darkness of Monday night.

Investigate Cruelty Charge.—Investigation into the alleged mistreatment of cattle shipped on an Inter-Island steamer from Hawaii last week was voted unanimously by the members of the Humane Society at the last regular meeting and a committee composed of Mrs. W. W. Thayer, Miss Lucy Ward and Miss Millie Rawlins was appointed to take up the matter and report at the next meeting. The committee will interview Dr. L. E. Case, veterinarian, who is said to have facts touching on the alleged suffering of cattle on the steamer.

Third Maui County Fair Will Show Balance of More Than $6,000 on the Right Side. Report Praises Spirit

With receipts of $17,685.02 it is estimated that the net profits of the Maui County Fair and Racing Association from the Third Maui County Fair will be somewhat in excess of $6,000. Some bills, including that of the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company had not been received and are to be deducted from the $9,169.80 which the fari committee now has on hand. The association expended $45,164.54 for improvements which can be added to the value of its property at Kahului.

Chief among the sources of revenue were admission $5855.35, entertainment (grand stand) $5933.80; concessions $2506.10 and space charges for commercial exhibits $2458.

The above figures were presented by Director Harold W. Rice to the members of the association at a meeting held Friday afternoon. Over his own protests a vote of thanks was extended to him for his ably efficient and successful management. He had previously said he would be willing to undertake the directorship again with the same support, cooperation and Maui spirit behind him and had attributed the success of the fair to those who worked with him. His report was not final as to finances but is the final report of the director and executive committee in other respects. The main report on the fair, to which was annexed the financial statement follows:

"To the Directors and Stockholders of the Maui County Fair & Racing Association.

"Gentlemen:—The cooperation of the people of Maui and their willingness to do extra work made our Third County Fair a success. With the additional experience gained, the fair next year should be more successful.

"We feel that the permanent improvements, which were the livestock building, Mr. Young's cottage, flower house, palm house, bleachers, concrete floor, and additional filling of grounds, and authorized by the association, are steps in the right direction toward making future fairs successful.

"The county very generously came to the aid of the committee and completed the road in fine shape. The spirit of cooperation shown by the chairman of the board of supervisors and all the county employees made smooth sailing for your committee in staging the fair. Sheriff Crowell is to be congratulated for his decorating ability. With an abundance of cocoanut leaves he was able to give the grounds quite a tropical appearance.

Army:

"General Morton very kindly sent over a baseball team, a monkey drill team, and five aeroplanes with their crew, or a total of 94 men. The army gave the additional pep that made our fair a success.

Agronomy:

"Mr. F. G. Krauss and his committee are to be congratulated on being able to secure such a fine exhibit after two dry years here. The fruit exhibit was very attractive and educational. We had no idea what a variety Mr. and Mrs. Case had up their sleeves for opening day.

"The board of forestry and agriculture had a very educational exhibit ture had a very educational exhibit was filled with splendid educational exhibits.

Cut Flower:

"Mr. James Lindsay gave our new flower building a grand christening. From the quality and number of flowers shown one would never have known that we had experienced such a dry year. The fine palms and potted plants were commented on by everyone.

Commercial Exhibits:

"The commercial exhibits were handled by Mr. J. J. Walsh in a very satisfactory and thoughtful manner. Mr. Walsh says that the visitors found the commercial section very satisfactory and the exhibitors also expressed themselves as being very well pleased. There was not room enough in this building to give space to all who desired it, in fact, seven of the exhibitors had a great deal less space than they really needed.

Educational:

"When Mr. Wells, who had the school exhibit in charge, asked to have all the balcony of the Territorial Building, I agreed, but did not see how it could be filled. I was therefore surprised at the amount of school work ready and in place on opening day. Mr. Wells and his committee have already inquired if they may not have a part of the main floor in addition next year.

Poultry and Domestic Animals:

"Mr. Y. Ting, as chairman of this committee, secured a wonderfully large and fine exhibit. This was the largest poultry show ever held in the Territory, in fact, I was told that there were about three times as many birds shown as at the territorial fairs. The exhibiting cages were borrowed and returned, and it will be necessary for this association to purchase this type of cage for the next fari.

Livestock:

"This committee was headed by Mr. L. K. Smith, who was able to give the people a show of stock in the barns that had never been seen in this Territory before. The method of showing cattle tied in a row makes it very easy for visitors to the barn to judge the quality of the sock shown. The purpose of this show should always be to educate the public to the realization that the scrub must go as the time will come when only pure bred sires will be allowed by law.

Boys and Girls' Pig Club:

"There were thirty-four pigs shown in this contest. I believe the children who went into this contest have gained experience that is worh while. I take pleasure in announcing that the shipment of these hogs to Honolulu established the world's record price of thirty-one cents per pound. The average earning of each contestant was $26 net.

Publicity:

"Mr. H. K. Duncan, chairman of this committee, was very ably assisted by Mr. Gray, and their plan of campaign got results. With a schedule of steamers arranged so that a boat would leave from Honolulu each night and a boat from Maui each night that Honolulu people could be accommodated with transportation, we would have had many more come over from town.

Athletics:

"Mr. J. Garcia and his committee worked out a program of baseball and soccer that kept the grandstand well filled both in the morning and afternoon, and added greatly to the success of the fair.

Entertainment:

"Mr. Childs had a very important part to play as chairman of this committee. I feel that I should have given Mr. Childs more support, but lacking a stage experience, I was at sea. The experience gained this year should be of great value next year.

Racing:

"The racing committee with Dr. Fitzgerald as chairman, arranged a program of racing each day that would have been a big attraction anywhere on the mainland to those interested in this sport.

Admissions:

"Mr. Joe Oliveira took charge of the admission in a very satisfactory manner. The reduced price at the gate worked out well. The attempt was made to give everyone their money's worth, and we hope that everyone who was at the fair this year will be a booster for next year's fair.

A fair should be held each year as then we would have a chart of agricultural and livestock progress and we will develop such enthusiasm that

Pauwela Pineapple Co. Reorganizes With Worth O. Aiken as Manager

Pauwela Pineapple Company is being reorganized, new mainland and Island capital is being put into it and it is understood that Worth O. Aiken will be its manager.

Wireless messages from C. D. Lufkin of the Bank of Maui and letters from Worth O. Aiken tell of the success of the undertaking to reorganize Maui's youngest pineapple canning company. Final success appears to have been reached at a meeting held on Monday, according to a despatch from Mr. Lufkin. His previous message had told of satisfactory progress being made and the probability that Aiken would be the manager.

Under the reorganization plan the controlling interest of the Western Canning Company, the Chinese concern, has been purchased by a hui composed of minority stockholders and interests local to Maui. The direction and government of the policies of the company will be on Maui and its head office, also, will be here. Additional capital will be secured and practically the original plans for the company will be carried out.

Writing of new capital coming in or of new powerful interests in the company Aiken named in his letter Mr. Newhall, representing the Newhall family, prominent in California business affairs and holding 150,000 acres of land in that state; George W. Wills Co., an English concern with branch offices in San Francisco, New York, Chicago and other mainland cities; Mr. Haslett, head of the Haslett Warehouse Company; Harry Hall of Harry Hall & Company, a large brokerage house, and R. E. Cotter, who has been secretary of the Pauwela company. The interests of the California Canning Company consisted of 1900 shares which gave it control of the old company.

It is said, also, that the par value of the stock will be made $20 a share instead of $100 and an opportunity to subscribe for shares will be given to Maui pineapple planters and other local people.

Fishing Party in Peril for Hours

Drift in Small Boat from off Maui to Kahoolawe When Engine Fails to Start in the Face of Approaching Storm.

Adrift in the open seas for 18 hours in a frail little boat, the engine of which would not start; a single oar all that was available for steering and propulsion; no water or food aboard; a storm coming up and no help in sight; this was the trying experience of Albert Kia and two young boys, Kalei Hart and Enos Lyons last Saturday night and Sunday. Word that the boat had drifted away was brought to Wailuku Sunday morning and throughout the day relatives and friends of the missing trio were in a state of grave alarm until word was received they had been found and all were safe.

Albert Kia and Mrs. Kia and the two boys went over to McGregor's landing after noon Saturday. Mrs. Kia was left ashore and the trio entered the boat and went to an anchorage for fishing with the anticipation of a fish dinner when they returned to shore. When darkness came on they were ready to return, shortly after seven, with enough fish for the dinner and then their troubles began.

Engine Balks Completely

Before raising the anchor Kia started then engine and then shut it off. The anchor was then lifted but when effort was made to start the engine again it failed to respond to their endeavors. They sought to anchor again but they were in deep water and drifting off from shore. For several hours they drifted with the wind blowing shoreward and a current carrying them out against it. Then the anchor caught and they lay down to sleep until daylight. But the anchor did not hold for long and they awakened to find themselves again adrift. From then on it was a battle to reach Kahoolawe's lee and safety and they made an anchorage under its shelter about two o'clock Sunday afternoon. For some time previously signs of the coming storm had increased.

When the party did not come ashore for dinner, Mrs. Kia became somewhat alarmed but she waited patiently as she could for morning when she walked to the lighthouse and telephoned an alarm to Sheriff Crowell who organized a party, went to the other side of the Island and secured a boat to go in search of the missing fishers. The rescue party came upon the missing boat and party about half an hour after the latter had found an anchorage. It was well on into Sunday night before they were safely home.

Perilous Trip Across

From daylight on Sunday, especially when signs of ugly weather became more numerous they struggled toward Kahoolawe with their efforts at sculling and they were all but exhausted when they reached a point where the anchor would hold. None are the worse for the experience.

Sheriff Finds Party

Speaking of his trip in search of the missing boat and its crew Sheriff Crowell says he requisitioned the first sampan he could find and got the services of Lono, one of the party that drifted from off Maui to off Kauai a few months since. There was the captain and engineer and a crew of two, the Sheriff and Lono and three others in the party.

Mrs. Kia told them where she had seen a light she believed to be the boat about 10:30 the preceding night and Lono named the spot where the boat should have drifted to if it started after 11 o'clock. Reaching that vicinity Lono said the boat must have started to drift earlier or later. First they cruised up to within sight of the McPhee ranch house and then turned back on the coast and finally came in sight of the boat at anchor.

"The fact that the sea was so smooth during the greater part of the time they were adrift is all that saved them," says the Sheriff.

Maui and Honolulu Companies Consider Consolidation Plan

Consolidation of Maui Garage & Transportation Company, Ltd., and the Newton Automobile Exchange, Ltd., of Honolulu, is contemplated. Newton and most of the directorate of his company came to Maui Saturday and Newton and an accountant for that company remained in Wailuku for several days.

Since the Maui Garage & Transportation Company organized less than three months ago, it has been representing the Newton concern on this Island or has been handling the cars for which the Honolulu concern is agent.

It is reported there are reasons which make a consolidation of the two companies of advantage to each of them and that negotiations thus far are highly favorable to the undertaking.

Will Trim Trees—Permission was given J. C. Blair of the Electric Company by the supervisors to do necessary tree trimming with cooperation of county forces but he was advised to see the committee of the Woman's Club relative to the work he says is necessary with the coming of the rainy season.

Action Deferred.—Two resolutions passed by the Civic Convention were before the board of supervisors Wednesday. One referred to territorial and federal aid in building roads to Kilauea, up Haleakala and to Waimea Canyon and the other to enforcement of the national prohibition laws. They will be further considered tomorrow.

Auto Club Suggests.—Suggestion that traffic officers assist in keeping streets and roads free from glass and obstructions, as to width of roads and that reconstruction of the pali road between Wailuku and Lahaina is the most important of prospective road improvements are included in recommendations made by the Tutomobile Club to the board of supervisors.

Armistice Sunday.—President Wilson has designated Sunday, November 14, as "Armistice Sunday." An executive order has been issued calling for the display at half mast of all flags at military posts, naval stations, on vessels and all buildings belonging to the United States, in memory of the men who gave their lives in the World War.

Eleven Indictments Found by Grand Jury

Two of the eleven indictments which were handed down by the grand jury Wednesday afternoon are against Ned Nicholas and two other indictments are for manslaughter charges resulting from deaths occasioned where persons were run down by automobiles. The first indictment against Nicholas is for manslaughter and the second for failure to stop and render aid to a person run down and injured by his car.

Some surprise was expressed that indictments were returned against Miss Fanny G. Bradford because of the death of Yoneka Ooka, run down by the defendant during fair week and of Polito Perez for the death of Masajiro Hayashi.

The persons indicted with the charges made against them are:

Ned Nicholas, manslaughter.

Francisco Megrone, statutory rape.

Masa Okamura, malicious conversion.

Joe Joseph, first degree burglary.

Florentina Ledesma, assault with deadly weapon.

Fernando Marcella, highway robbery.

Atong Akiona, second degree larceny.

Fanny G. Bradford, manslaughter.

Ned Nicholas, failure to render needed assistance to a person struck by his automobile.

The specific charge against Masa Okamura is the taking of an automobile belonging to Ralph Wilson. Okamura was one of the prisoners who escaped from the Wailuku jail in September and it is charged he took Wilson's automobile and drove it to Lahaina where he was taken by officers of the sheriff.

Three Years Old Child Is Drowned in Ditch

Three year old Ah Lin was drowned in the Spreckels ditch Monday and her body found in the plantation reservoir Wednesday afternoon. The drowned child was Hawaiian-Chinese, her mother being Hawaiian and now married to a Filipino.

The mother told the police that she was out with the child and when she stopped to talk to another woman the little one started toward the ditch. She called to it to return and resumed her conversation. Then she went across to a store and said the child was not out of her sight for ten minutes. Alarmed when she could not find her daugter she raised an alarm.

The ditch was running more than usually full by reason of the rains Sunday night and Monday morning.

Driving Albert Kia's car Waiwaiole rounded into High street as Dr. Yamashiro was approaching rather far to the left side of High street. The doctor's new car met the broadside of the Ford and sustained only a bent fender. The Ford was more seriously shaken up.

People Pay More For a Used Hupmobile

Right here, in your own town, you must have noticed that when a man sells his Hupmobile, he always gets a good price for it.
As a rule, he gets more, in proportion to first cost and the car's mileage, than many others command.
This might strike you as unusual—but it really isn't unusual.
People know that the quality of the Hupmobile is uncommonly good; that it is almost impossible to wear it out, except by the severest use; and that it is exceptionally economical, in both running and upkeep costs.
That is why owners hold their Hupmobiles high, and why buyers pay high prices for them without quibbling.

NICKETY NIP STORIES

By Miss A. W. Paul

Now Nickety Nip had to go and look at the boys himself this month, for as school was over for the summer they were not in the usual spots, but bye and bye he found them working away quite busily in a field, and he thought it was a mighty good way of spending a vacation, and as he knew that they ought not to be interrupted at their work, he skipped off again, and awaited until they were finished work for the day, when he got behind the fence and trotted along listening to what they were talking about.

Well, it was mostly of what they were going to get for supper, which is what most small boys of any nationality think quite a lot about, but after a while one of them began to sing, and Nickety thought it would be kind of nice if they learnt and understood a little song he heard the children singing once when he was down in the Philippines, and this was what it was.

Did you know mosquitoes bring
Other things besides their sting?
Sometimes when they bite, they leave you
With malaria or with fever.
So, dry up all your stagnant places—
Breeding places for all their races;
Keep your screen doors closed, and fling
Defiance to Sir Skeeter's sting!
Let your slogan through the summer
Be to kill this wicked hummer!

Then he thought as they seemed to like that one, he would give them another and this was:

Peter Pout, Peter Pout,
There's no fun when he's about,
No one likes to play with him,
For he always looks so grim.
Johnny Smile, Johnny Smile,
You can see his grin a mile,
Things are never dull or tame,
When our John's in the game.

And by the time they had listened to that one also they were at the end of the road, so Nickety scuttled away amongst the cane, but they knew who had been singing for them to march to, and called out "Allright Nickety, we like those songs, and please sing some more for us tomorrow night,' but Nickety wouldn't promise to do that, as he thought they ought not to have too many at one time or they would not be able to remember them all, but later on he has quite a lot to teach them.

Dear friend:

Our school garden Fence.

We have twenty-one boys, there are two Fifth Grade, three Fourth Grade, eight Third Grade and eight Second. Each boy has a banana plant.

Mr. W. A. Baldwin sent a man to plow the garden. We are making fence now. Each boy dug the hole and set his post.

The big boys cut down the trees. They cut the posts of plum trees. We will make our fence like oblong.

WHITE CIRCLE.

The story centers around one Frank Cassilis, a wanderer, who returns once a year to a spot on the bleak Scotch coast to fulfill his word of honor to his arch enemy, Northmour. On the occasion of one of these annual visits, Northmour lands in the night from a yacht with an old London banker who is escaping with the absconded funds of an Italian secret society. The banker's daughter, Clara, is the price of Northmour's assistance. Through saving the life of Clara from the quicksands that line the beach, Cassilis becomes involved in their adventure, and events finally turn out happily.

Maurice Tourneur's mastery of screen melodrama was never better demonstrated than in "The White Circle," which is an exciting and artistic production throughout.

WHAT HAPPENED TO JONES

"What Happened to Jones" comes as a delicious comedy tidbit.

Bryant Washburn's handling of the laughable George Broadhurst farce takes full advantage of the timely theme. Although Broadhurst wrote the success for the stage long before dryness became a national characteristic, the scenes of "bootlegging" are overwhelmingly true to present day conditions as reflected in the public press.

Bryant Washburn is quite funny in the part of "Jimmy" Jones who breezes through the story outwitting bootleggers, sheriffs, and exposing a fake reformer in a manner calculated to provoke hearty laughs.

MR. LOGAN, U. S. A.

In one of his scenes, Tom Mix was to rescue Kathleen Connors, his leading lady, from a ledge on a mountain side where she had fallen. Tying his latriat to the pommel of h's saddle, Mix let himself down to the ledge, a distance of 5 feet. Here he placed the rope around his waist and taking Miss Connors in his arms he called to his horse "Old Blue."

Obedient to his order, the horse started to pull and Tom Mix with his leading lady in his arms dangled up the side of the mountain. Below him was a sheer drop of several thousand feet. If Old Blue had stumbled or the rope had frayed as it was dragged over the rocks, this story would have been an obituary to Mr. Mix and Miss Connors, but as usual the Mix brand of luck held good.

THE CITY OF COMRADES

The star is seen as Frank Melbury, a member of the Down and Out club. While he is bemoaning his fate on a park bench a pal suggests that he should burglarize a house. Frank has been a victim of circumstances, and he only needs encouragement or rather a lift to make his mark in the world. He enters the house of Regina Barry, who is also bemoaning her fate because she cannot find a man who is "different."

Frank helps himself to the refrigerator, but his conscience forbids him to take the young lady's jewels. Naturally sse surprises him at his work and because he is "different" she refuses to turn him over to the police.

THE CLIMBERS.

Clyde Fitch's great story "The Climbers," with Corinne Griffith in the lead. It centers around Blanche Sterling, daughter of George Hunter, a gentleman of wealth. By force of circumstance she marries the wrong man. At the time she thinks she really loves Richard Sterling. Soon after the marriage Mr. Hunter is involved in financial ruin and dies. Sterling shows an open indifference to his wife and conducts a love affair with Julia Godesby. Things go from bad to worse. It dawns upon Blanche Sterling that she married the wrong man. Ned Warden, who was a suitor for Blanche Sterling's hand, proves to be a staunch friend throughout the difficulties and things move rapidly towards the big climax.

Paige Trucks Appear To Have Much Power

Two motor trucks, in appearance among the most powerful and strongly built that have as yet come to Maui, were received Saturday morning by the Maui Garage & Transportation Company, Ltd. They are two and a half ton Paige Motor trucks. One has already been sold to Coelho and will be used for hauling wood. It is said that when the trucks were taken off ship in Honolulu they were given a climbing test on a hill used to try out motor vehicles and went up on high on the initial trip.

According to James D. Lewis, Jr., sales manager for Maui Garage & Transportation Company, seviceability, endurance and economy of operation are the salient features of the Paige truck. In its construction particular care has been taken to make it stronger than the severest requirements of service demand. Whether the chassis be considered as a whole or the various units in its makeup critically examined, the unusual factors of safety everywhere apparent will be the outstanding impression.

Rugged durability is not only indicated by the external appearance of the truck, but is instantly evident upon an examination of its working parts. It is characterized by its rigid frame, four-speed transmission, armored radiator, drop-forged radius rods, over-size springs, reliable brake, and its general bigness.

Timken Detroit worm drive rear axles are used. Not only in the strength of the housings, but in the dimensions of the worms, gears, bearings, shafts and other parts, these axles are much larger than ordinary practice requires.

The motor is Continental, and is designed for extraordinary pulling power especially at low speeds. Bosch magneto, Stromberg carbureter, centrifugal type governor, centrifugal water pump and combination pump and splash oiling system make this power plant ideal. Throughout the motor is constructed to bear out the ruggedness of the chassis to which it is anchored.

The Paige truck is made in two models, or 2 1-2 and 3 1-2 tons capacity respectively.

Additional shipments are expected shortly.

Period of Quarantine For Dogs Is Cut Down

Members of the board of agriculture and forestry, at a meeting held last week, adopted an amendment to Rule 8 which provides that dogs arriving here from countries where rabies are known to exist shall be quarantined for 120 days, or may undergo treatment with a new serum introduced here recently and remain in quarantine for only 30 days after the completion of the treatment.

Prior to the amendment of Rule 8 it was required that dogs brought here should be quarantined for 120 days, no treatment being given. The rule as amended will be sent to the governor for his approval.

It is explained that the new serum is not like the old method of innoculation against rabies, as under the old method 30 doses were administered. Under the new treatment a mild form of rabies is set up in the animal. It is then watched closely for 30 days, and, if conditions are favorable responds at once.

Two Japanese Go Home For Each One Arriving

The Japanese consulate has received statistics from the foreign office of the Japanese government, according to the Nippu Jiji, which show that during the period intervening between April and July of this year 2247 Japanese returned to Japan from Hawaii, as against 949 who arrived in Hawaii from Japan, the excess of returns over arrivals for the period being 1298. The arrivals include re-immigrants, non-immigrants and picture brides.

Statistics for the month of August have been received, but they give only the returns from Hawaii, which total 529. Divided into months, the statistics are as follows:

April—Departures for Japan, 405; arrivals in Hawaii, 122.
May—Departures, 1052; arrivals, 129.
June—Departures, 392; arrivals, 470.
July—Departures, 398; arrivals, 228.
August—Departures, 529.

A Frank Statement Concerning the Present Lumber Situation.

F. C. Knapp, president of the Peninsula Lumber Company, in the Business Digest published by the United States National Bank of Portland, Ore., says:

"A frank statement of the present lumber situation makes anything but cheerful reading. The foreign market has dwindled to almost nothing because of unsettled financial conditions and belief that all commodity prices are due to come down. The domestic market is shattered for these and other reasons, including recent freight rate advances, which have worked a material hardship to the Pacific northwest. Undoubtedly these conditions both foreign and domestic, will continue during the balance of the year 1920.

"But the darkest hour's before the dawn." The great period of after-war building that the world has anticipated since the signing of the armistice has not yet actually begun. Meanwhile requirements for world construction are piling up every day. A cumulative demand must break some time.

"The vast extent of the building program proposed by the British Government for England alone will require an expenditure of approximately four billions of dollars.

"Referring to our domestic needs, carefully prepared statistics show an actual shortage today of 2,500,000 homes and 1000 hotels. The erection of these buildings will draw from the lumber manufacturers of the country the equivalent of the entire production of the mills of Oregon and Washington for a four-year period. Add ot the above the requirements for factory construction and for rehabilitation of the railroads, and you have a demand which will tax the capacity of the lumber manufacturer over an extended period. I believe we will enter this period of prosperity about January, 1921."

THANK YOU, GOVERNOR.

Maui's County Fair is held up by Governor McCarthy as a shining example of how things should be done in his message to the spesial session of the legislature while some unfavorable criticism of the Territorial Fair is evident in comparison. He even goes so far as to say that if the Territory cannot hold fairs the Maui way they had better be done away with.

Here's the tribute to Maui's fair as written by the Governor:

> "In carrying on the Territorial Fairs up to the present time large sums of money have had to be expended for temporary work and great losses have been experienced in trying to salvage the buildings and other property. From the fair commission could carry on the work.
> "The Maui Fair Association has worked in an entirely different manner; it has permanent grounds and permanent buildings that, once the buildings are installed and erected, are there to stay. The result is that the Maui Fair can be conducted on business principles.
> "The Territorial Fair should be handled in a similar manner and I have had a proposition suggested to me by the promoters of the Amusement Park that the Territory have buildings erected in the Amusement Park and, during the period of the fair, the fair commission lease the park with all the facilities belonging to the company. This appeals to me but I would suggest that the legislature look thoroughly into the matter so that at the regular session some definite action can be taken either to carry on the Territorial Fair on a permanent basis or do away with it entirely."

FOREIGN LANGUAGE SCHOOLS.

One of the really important subjects which will be considered at the special session of the legislature is the foreign language school, its suppression or its regulation. The subject was pretty well thrashed out at the last session of the legislature when the Japanese objected to either abolishment or to any regulation of the foreign language schools that meant anything. The bill passed the house and lost in the senate.

It is not necessary at this time to go deeply into the subject again in editorial comment. Proponents of the intended legislation assert that the Japanese language schools teach a code of ethics which is un-American, inculcate teachings which are antagonistic to American ideals and are a deterent to Americanization of children born in Hawaii of Japanese parents. Opponents to the legislation insist it would be an infringement upon the rights of residents if they be not permitted to learn the language of their parents. There is evidence aplenty that the matter taught will not be of any use to the students as American citizens and may be a deterrent to their advancement.

In a community where there is so large a Japanese population as in the Hawaiian Islands and which from geographic position and commercial tendencies is in such close contact with Japan there can be no doubt an acquaintance with the Japanese language is advantageous to persons of all nationalities. If it is good for the Japanese it is good for the haole and the Hawaiians. But the Japanese school is for the Japanese, and other children will not attend them even if they would be welcomed.

On the other hand the whole problem might be solved by introducing the Japanese language as an optional study in the public schools after a certain grade be reached. Then the department of public instruction could see that teachers were competent, could have control of the subject matter taught, the claim of the Japanese that they have a right to have their own children learn the language of their parents would be answered and other children would have an opportunity to acquire a language that might prove very useful to them. If the money now expended on Japanese schools by the Japanese be paid to the territorial school fund a course in Japanese for all would readily be furnished and a solution of the whole difficulty secured.

In any event the Japanese may expect that even though they be permitted to continue language schools it must be under Territorial regulation.

BUSY SESSION PROMISED.

In his message to the legislature which assembled in special session Wednesday Governor McCarthy has clearly set forth the immediate needs of the Territory which he considers most salient and important and has outlined enough legislation and investigation to keep the legislators busy for days and days to come. If tackled in a systematic and businesslike way, however, the special session need not be protracted. Undoubtedly there are matters which some persons will think are urgent enough to have mention in the message which have not been touched upon but it is to be remembered that the regular session is not many months away.

Outstanding in legislative needs is the securing of additional revenue and that subject is given first place in the message. The proposed remedy would tax corporations, firms and individuals not upon a net income but upon such net income plus the amount that is paid for federla income taxes. It may seem a hardship upon the taxpayer but, on the other hand, the Territory is not concerned with what the taxpayer has to pay to other government than itself. It will fall chiefly on the corporations and through them on the stockholders in decreased dividends.

Schools and teachers' salaries are next treated and it is admitted by practically every one that legislation on those subjects are essential.

As to wharves, three projects are mentioned and the Kahului wharf plan is given hearty support and passage of legislation to enable a bond issue is urged. Other matters are treated and in another part of this issue of Maui News will be found extracts from the message where it is of most interest to Maui residents and taxpayers and digested on other points.

While other legislation is not precluded by the message there is so much outlined and suggested in the message that most other subjects will be passed over by the legislators until the regular session. There is some Maui legislation which may be given attention including the proposals for free transportation of school children who live at a distance from schools, detention homes or homes for delinquents on this Island and the employment of a man and a woman truant or probation officers here. There is a mass of other legislation Maui would like to see pass which will probably have to wait.

LICENSING CHAUFFEURS.

Weaknesses in the ordinance for the licensing of chauffeurs on the Big Island were pointed out in an editorial in the Hilo Tribune last week. The same criticisms will apply to the Maui ordinance.

Under the present ordinance, here as on Hawaii, a purchaser of an automobile is granted a license to operate a certain make of machine but that does not prevent his or her operating another machine without having to prove ability to handle it. Per example: A Ford or some other car that is simple and easy to learn is purchased. The owner learns to operate it and passes an examination by the chauffeur license officer. Later a more expensive machine is purchased, larger, heavier, more complicated and more intricate in management. It is true that license reads that the holder of it can operate a Ford but he proceeds out upon the Island roads and town streets and other car operators and pedestrians are forthwith subjected to the danger of being come upon by a driver who is not competent to manage his machine, though he might run another machine well enough.

Maui News agrees with the Tribune that this is not right. A clause should be inserted in the ordinance governing the issuance of chauffeurs' licenses enabling the inspector to specify in the license exactly what make, or makes, of car the holder is entitled to drive. Only in the case of highly skilled and experienced drivers should a blanket license be issued permitting the holder to operate any type without restriction. It is not necessary or advisable to make more than a nominal extra charge.

There should be included also a clause penalizing any automobile driver found operating a machine which he is not licensed to operate.

The Optimistic Pessimist

Answering the query as to why a dead palm tree is allowed to stand in all unsightliness in front of the steps that lead to the pathway in front of the county building on High street, he explanation is simple. If the tree were removed there would be left a dangerous hole in the sidewalk.

One evening last week a Wailuku lady dimmed the lights of her car as she approached other cars and not one of the fourteen dimmed in return. Thus there is one driver out of fifteen, anyway, who is thoughtful of the safety and comfort of others. It's not a bad idea for others to try the same experiment and then the ratio will be still further increased.

And now comes the Army practising economy in men's clothing under a ruling of August 5, which says that officers and enlisted men are permitted to wear trousers when off duty. The are considered as being on duty whenever they are on the reservation where they are stationed. The coat is to be worn with the trousers at all times, which are to be of sufficient length to nearly touch the ground at the heel. But why the coat? Perhaps the next administraion will alter the ruling so as not to shock one's modesty.

Court records, some of which may be of interest and value, are reported to be stored in the attic of the jail and other records to have been thrown promiscuously in boxes and to be in a bad state of preservation. Blame for the condition is not placed upon the present judge or court officers but upon those of the past but the condition is one which the county should seek to remedy. Valuable rights are dependent upon preservation of old records and undoubtedly the court will welcome county cooperation in an effort to have them properly cared for. Whether such work is the duty of the county or court officers is of no consequence so far as the public is concerned.

Hilo papers tell of consideration by the Hawaii board of supervisors of a resolution asking for territorial and federal aid in building roads to and through the "Kilauea National Park." Where do you get that "Kilauea National Park" stuff? Once more it must be mentioned that there is a Hawaii National Park, not all on the Big Island and the "Kilauea Park" is a home made label.

With the Alert Boy Scouts of Maui

(Contributed by W. H. Hutton)

The Boy Scouts of America is founded on the same principle, the same theory, on which the United States is based. It is that of the inherent goodness of human nature. That principle may be right or it may be wrong but no man can accomplish anything that is worth doing in human life who does not believe in it. The leaders are a body of men who have faith that boys can be made better than boys habitually are, and I am sure that any one who has to do with boys or youths cannot fail to realize the possibilities that underlie the ordinary boy or young man.

The heroism of the boy and the idealism that are latent in every good, normal boy or normal young man we sometimes fail to see until we are brought into a crisis, and then it is to them that we naturally turn, and then they will never disappoint us.

The real difficulty in life with young men and with boys, consists in bringing out those qualities when there is no natural crisis to evoke them. What we are striving to do in the Scout movement is to teach the boys and young men to live up to their own possibilities.

There are three things about the Boy Scout movement that are of particular interest.

Nature's Laws Unchangable

Wailuku is neither a city nor a country town, but has some of the characteristics of both. Unfortunately the boy leans towards the life of the pavement, is continually on the streets rather than in the hills, he fails to learn the lessons taught by the country. By that I mean being brought up against the inexorable laws of nature, which have a discipline for the boy which almost nothing else will replace. The boy who lives in the country and tries to work against the laws of nature in the animal and vegetable world very soon finds himself a failure, and gets an education which he will not soon forget.

The boy who went to sea and tried to beat a boat out in a calm against a tide found that he had made a mistake; and the boy who did not know the diverence between a slip-noose and a bow-line found himself greatly handicapped.

In the city we get very little of that. In the city we deal mostly with other men and boys, and they are different than the inexorable laws of nature.

The ordinary boy has a feeling that if one is smart enough he need not know very much about anything. The Scout movement is teaching them the sort of thing which the boy in the country or at the seaside learned for himself.

Seeking the Forbidden

The important thing is that the boy is learning that there is something worth living for in life besides the attempt to discover something or other which he ought not to do. The attempt of the ordinary hoodlum to find out something which is forbidden and therefor he wants to commit, is one of the most useless things and most helpless attempts to pursue than can possibly be found. Find out what a boy wants to do and then forbid it. For instance, forbid a boy to sit on your fence. The boys find it very easy to discover things that are forbidden, and then do them, with no end of slight friction.

The Scout movement has taught the boys that there is something in life worth doing besides what is forbidden. They are learning that self-discipline and cooperation with others brings a great deal more pleasure and opens the door to opportunity in a way that mere pleasure seeking will never do.

A third thing which it brings to the boy is the sort of chivalry that is the salt of civilization. It is the thing, perhaps, which we can have in our daily intercourse with one another which elevates and ennobles and sweetens life.

This is what Scouting is going to do for the Maui boy, and to accomplish this high standard we need the help of the best men it is possible to get. What is your answer to this call of your country? Who will volunteer for this great service? Get in touch with headquarters at Wailuku and enroll at once.

WITH THE TROOPS

Lahaina.

In Mr. C. L. Baker, the welfare worker at Lahaina, the commissioner has made a valuable find for Scouting. Mr. Bowker is more than an Eagle Scout, as he has many Merit badges to his credit having put in a great many years in Scouting, not only as a Scout but as an official. He has served as Scoutmaster, Commissioner and Executive. It is needless to say this means a big uplift not only to Lahaina but to the whole Island of Maui.

Men of real Scout experience are hard to find and when we are so fortunate as to get hold of a man of this caliber we are going to use him to the limit. Look out for the Lahaina Scouts, boys, they are sure to make things hum. In all probability at least three troops will be organized at Lahaina.

Puunene.

A live wire bunch that has made a record as garden producers, means that they will show up in the foreground in real Scouting. There is a splendid opportunity for a live wire troop here and from the looks of the material now on hand Puunene is going to be heard from, and that in no uncertain way.

Paia.

Your Commissioner will not soon forget the sight that greeted him on entering the splendid tennis court at the Paia Mill on Friday night. A brightly lighted court, with grand stand and bleachers occupied with spectators. A fine troop of Scouts going through military drill, and a small group of "awkwards" over in one corner sweating over the intricate mazes of mixed right and left legs. Then all squatted down on the paving under the bright electric lights for a talk on Real Scouting by the Commissioner, then a demonstration on knot tying. After the meeting a jolly game of indoor baseball with Leland C. Lewis, physical director of Alexander House, officiating as umpire.

Paia is fortunate in having two lively men as Scoutmasters and a number of energetic young graduates from Kam School as drill masters. We are expecting great things from Paia.

Wailuku No. 1.

If you think Scouting does not hold the interest of a gang of live wriggling chatter-boxes, just drop in and see this bunch of greenhorns tie knots. After a short talk on what real scouting stands for, the boys all gathered in a circle and on being presented with a piece of rope four feet long, took their first lesson in whipping and then knot-tying. Say, that is some nifty bunch, for at the end of the class period every boy present could tie an over-hand knot, two half hitches, square or reef knot, fisherman's knot, timber-hitch, sheep-shank and clove-hitch. This troop is bound to be heard from.

Wailuku No. 3.

Wailuku No. 3 is hard at reorganizing. This is a fine troop of older boys and will take up special work under the direction of the Commissioner so as to act as special instructors of new troops. The way they tackled the knot tying work on Wednesday night showed what they were made of. Fourteen boys in charge of Assistant Scoutmaster A. T. Kam were present and will form the nucleus of the new troop. There will be an important meeting next Wednesday night. All boys over 14 years of age interested in Scouting are invited to attend the meeting at 7 p. m., at the Alexander House Kindergarten building.

BOY SCOUTS

who want to advance in scouting have to show ability to earn and to save their earnings. You cannot advance from second to first class till you have a savings account and from first class on till you increase it. This is to encourage thrift and independence and we are here to help you save and increase your savings.

Maui Foresters will build their new home in Kahului by day labor and Ed Walsh will be superintendent of construction. This is the decision which has been reached by the trustees.

When bids for the construction of the Foresters' building were opened it appeared the lowest bidder was about 50 per cent higher than the estimate of costs and for a time there was something like consternation. At first it was thought that the plans would have to be redrafted, bids sought again and a considerably delay entailed. Besides the plans were satisfactory and the trustees did not see how they well could be changed and still meet demands and requirements. Then satisfactory arrangements for financing and building by day's work instead of under contract were made and now building is to start in the very near future.

Here is shown the drawing of the front elevation according to the plans of H. L. Kerr, Honolulu architect, who was retained by the Foresters to draft the plans and specifications. On the ground boor, it will be noted, are store rooms which will be rented and the entrance way to the stairs which lead to the lodge rooms. The interior arrangements have already been desribed by Maui News.

Governor to Quit His Office in June

Executive of Territory Will Then Go To Washington as Representative Of Chamber of Commerce of Honolulu; Is Report.

Governor Charles J. McCarthy will tender his resignation to President Harding on March 4, effective June 1, and it is expected he will thereafter be the representative of the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce in Washington at a salary of $15,000. Relative to his resignation the Governor is quoted as saying:

"My reason for setting the date of my resignation at June 1 is because the legislature will be in session on March 4 and I do not think it fair for me to leave the governor's office while the legislators are at work. It would be like swapping horses while crossing a stream. If I set the date at June 1, this will give Senator Harding ample opportunity for choosing my successor.

"I believe that the territorial administration should be in the hands of those who are of the same political faith as the administration at Washingon, and I am offering my resignation on March 4 in line with that belief.

"During my incumbency as governor I have endeavored to give my services unselfishly to the best interests of the Territory. I have received material assistance and cooperation from all who have worked with me, and I will leave the governor's chair with deep appreciation for those who have made my term of office pleasant and productive."

Honolulu newspapers say that the committee of the chamber of commerce which has the task of selecting a successor to George McK. McClellan has determined upon Governor McCarthy and that his appointment will be put up to the membership of the chamber. They also say that it is regarded as a foregone conclusion that he will accept.

Woman's Guild Bazaar Produces Goodly Sum

Approximately $960 was raised at the bazaar of the Woman's Guild of the Church of the Good Shepherd in the Territorial building at Kahului last Friday evening. A well arranged and well carried out program of entertainment with dancing following later on in the evening after attractive articles in pretty booths had been sold made the affair a social as well as a financial success.

Before the opening number of the program was announced the chairs on the center of the auditorium floor were well filled and some had found places in the gallery. To the left were the fancy work and needle work booth, another booth where novelties were sold and tables which were laden with delicious home made candy. Just in front of the stage were sold bread, cake, jellies and other good things to eat. In the balcony refreshments were served and there also were the fortune tellers.

The program consisted of instrumental and vocal musical numbers, dances by children and recitations and readings. H. W. Baldwin and Mrs. H. A. Baldwin sang solos and a duet, F. N. Lufkin rendered a cello solo, and Miss Wilcox's little dancers especially pleased.

After the entertainment the goods at the booths were disposed of in remarkably short order and then followed the dance which lasted on to midnight.

Hawaiian Electric Co. Confirms First Report

Officials advices in writing to the effect that Hawaiian Electric Company does not care at this time to enter business on Maui has reached R. A. Wadsworth from the company. They came in answer to the request he made that the company put in writing what F. E. Blake had told him while in Maui at fair time.

Mrs. Wadsworth, as chairman of the committee which has the lighting situation under consideration, is not resting idly. He said Wednesday that while he had nothing to give out at the present time he hoped to save something for the public in the course of a week.

Improvement of Fair Grounds Will Go On

Control of the grounds and buildings of the Maui County Fair and Racing Association at Kahului will be in the hands of a committee of three with William Walsh as charman, he to name the other two members of the committee. This was decided upon at the meeting of the Association last Friday afternoon. There remains a considerable amount of grading and other work to be done.

Equipment of the territorial building with chairs and a piano was considered and favored at the meeting. The matter of a swimming pool and tennis courts came in for some discussion and it was advised by Director Rice that the convict labor be held at the grounds as long as possible to assist in the grading work, digging for the pool and putting in the courts.

It is probable that some enterainment of sports and a dance in the evening will be arranged for New Year's day. What form the entertainment will take will be determined by the Athletic Committee of which J. Garcia is chairman. That committee wants work done within the track for the diamond and a football field. There is also some objection to the location of the traps for the shooters. Ball players say it interferes with going after difficult fouls.

Four new members were elected, F. A. Hawkins, M. R. Pereira, F. Hohlweg and William Ledward.

Another meeting will probably be held in about a month at which the final financial report of the fair and the exact financial status of the Association can be reported.

ENFORCEMENT OF SPEED PROVISIONS IS SOUGHT

Strict enforcement of such provisions of the traffic ordinance as relate to speed of cars in towns and in the neighborhood of schools is asked by the board of supervisors under a resolution passed Wednesday afternoon, introduced by Supervisors Fleming and seconded by Supervisor Drummond. The sheriff is asked to employ all means at his disposal for the holding of drivers within the provided speeds.

Supervisor Fleming said that in Lahaina the regulations were constantly being violated and he had been told the same conditions prevailed in other as will be absolutely effective and yet create as little friction as possible in carrying out the desire of the citizens of the Territory. But we must guarantee the training of our children as true Americans."

New Wharf Needs

Dealing with wharves the governor goes to considerable detail in regard to appropriations for the Nawiliwili project and subsequent developments and quotes Col. Flagler as opposing any appropriations for Hanamaulu harbor, favoring Nawiliwili and as saying that unless speedy action be taken he would recommend that federal appropriations lapse.

His reference and recommendations relative to Kahului wharf are covered in another article in this issue and he recommends an investigation as to feasibility of a wharf for Kawaihae and a report be submitted to the regular session.

Provision for continuing topographical survey, for which he allotted $25,000 from the contingent fund this year, is recommended and as to a geological survey he advises preparation for legislation at the regular session and asks that a concurrent resolution be passed asking the national government to make a thorough survey of the waters of the Pacific in the immediate vicinity of the Hawaiian Islands.

Attention is called to sanitary conditions at Waipahu, Oahu, which, he says are a menace to the health of the people of the Islands.

Amendments to the law to permit of dental clinics in the schools and to the Honolulu Frontage Tax Law are asked. The Honolulu Rapid Transit Company's proposed franchise and the Territorial Fair are touched upon. As to the latter he makes some comments on the way the territorial institution has been conducted in comparison to the Maui Fair which are highly complimentary to the latter. He asks that investigation be had so that at the regular session action be taken so that the fair can be carried on a definite basis or else abolished.

Purchase of Washington place by the government is briefly dwelt upon and coming to the Girls' Industrial School he asks an investigation of a proposed new site preparatory to legislation at the regular session. Some amendment to the statute providing a home for the feeble minded he sees as necessary. Redress for Mrs. Myra Heuer, a pension for the widow of George W. R. King and preservation of committee records are the closing items of his message.

County Bond Floating

As to steps which will make easier floating bond issues by the counties and need of slight amendment to the loan fund law he said:

"The method of issuing county bonds differs slightly from that for territorial bon"

"In the lat r case, the treasurer with the approval of the governor is authorized to sell bonds at private sale provided he receives a price equal to that of the latest public sale. The counties feel that they should have this same privilege and have prepared an act covering the situation. This bill is presented to you for your consideration."

Loan Fund Appropriations

"It has been the custom for the legislature at different sessions in the past to create lon bills providing for public improvements.

"As no money could be expended in the preparation of the plans for these improvements and as delays have been experienced in selling the bonds, the department of public works has had difficulty in retaining its staff of engineers. I have had an act prepared providing for a revolving fund from wsich the cost of preparing plans for public improvements can be expended, to be reimbursed from loan funds as the bonds are sold."

Basket Ball Series to Be Started Next Week

With five teams in a senior league and eight in a junior basket ball championships' series will be started a week from today, November 19. Games will be played in the Territorial Building at Kahului, Wailuku Gym and Lahaina Armory.

The schedule is being arranged by Messrs. Lewis, Puck, Humphries, Bro. Stephen, McDonald; these to work out certain rules of the game and the standard of play. Mr. L. C. Lewis, Mr. C. L. Bowker, Mr. McCluskey and Mr. M[illegible] were chosen as referees and umpires, Mr. Lewis and Mr. Bowker being the regular officials, while the names of McCluskey and Moir were chosen tentatively. Mr. W. F. Crockett Jr., is to be scorer.

The teams for the senior league are: Maui Drug Co.; Wailuku Athletic Club; Lahaina Athletic Club; Wailuku Sugar Co.; Puunene-Kahului team.

The junior teams entered are: Wailuku Athletic Club; Maui High; Lahaina Athletic Club; the Alerts, the Lahainaluna School; Kahului Juniors; Amateur Athletic Club, the Puuneno Juniors.

Tug of War Teams Will Meet Again on Sunday

Tug of war teams of Lahaina and Wailuku will pull to a finish at Lahaina next Sunday afternoon, beginning at 3 o'clock for possession of the cup which was offered for competition at the fair. A misunderstanding which prevented the teams meeting sooner has been settled. Sunday they will hang to the rope until one or the other has taken 18 inches of hemp through the palms of its opponents or pulled them off cleats.

At the first meeting Wailuku won, gaining 18 inches from Lahaina after 43 minutes, with two minutes of time left. Lahaina took the second tug, getting the drop on Wailuku, losing its advantage by two inches, regaining what was lost and having a bare half inch of advantage the last minute.

In some way the impression went to Lahaina that its team had twice been on Wailuku and there appeared no reason for a third meeting. When the true situation was explained Lahaina was ready for the match and it has been arranged for Sunday.

University of Pennsylvania is losing two or its track stars, Eby and Maxam who have announced their intention to leave college.

Puunene Soccer Team Wins Championship Cup

Puunene is soccer champion for 1920 and gets the cup offered for the championship by A. W. Collins. After coming up from behind and catching the Wailuku Gym team, taking an exhibition game from that team at the fair, Puunene added still aonther victory to its string by taking the championship game last Saturday.

From the outset of the game Puunene showed strong, scored twice in the first half and kept the ball in Wailuku territory practirally the whole of the period. The second half Puunene merely tried to hold its opponent safe at it was a case of playing the ball up and down the field with no scores by either.

Sport Brevities

Harvard and Princeton have repeated their gridiron performance of last year and tied in their championship game.

To send America's Olympic team to Belgium and bring them home has cost $145,563.11, it is reported.

Kam's football team has come back with a vengeance in the Honolulu school championship. It beat Punahou Saturday and is now second in the race with two victories and one defeat. The Micks have won twice, are unbeaten and lead the league.

Hawaii's swimmers are back from the Olympics with 59 medals won during their journeys. They were given a hearty welcome on reaching Honolulu.

Eight national league teams with New York, Boston and Chicago have formed a new baseball league, the twelfth club to be named later. The other five American league teams refused to reply to an ultimatus sent them. Ban Johnson says his league will fill the vacancies and the prospects are for a hot baseball war.

Tommy Milton broke the world's 100-mile dirt track record at Phoenix, Ariz., in a three-cornered race with Gaston Chevrolet and Omar Taft. He covered the distance in 1 hour 24 minutes 2-5 second. Milton clipped more than five full minutes from the record made by Eddie Hearne over the same course in 1919. Hearne's time for the 100-miles was 1 hour 29 minutes 9 seconds. Milton's best mile was 47 seconds.

Competition Among Maui Schools Keen

When the committee that was getting together the school exhibits for the fair asked for the whole of the balcony of the Territorial building there were others than Director Rice who thought they were too ambitious. On The Other Islands

Want Lands Opened—Petitions have been sent to the governor asking for completion of construction of the road to Waiau Ill. The house lots are wanted generally for suburban residences to Hilo.

Dr. Young Resigns—Dr. E. N. Young of Lihue, Kauai, has handed in his resignation as plantation physician to the board of health, to take effect on December 31. He will leave to join his family at their old home in Southern California.

Big Island Autos.—The total registration of motor cars for the Island of Hawaii is reported at 2,404, with every prospect of the number being increased every day until the end of the year. The registration officers are kept busy issuing licenses, number plates and permits.

Favors County Work.—Chairman Samuel Kauhana, of the board of supervisors, is greatly in favor of building roads with county employees, and under the supervision of the county road overseers. He says that in every instance where the county has constructed either asphalt-macadam or concrete roads, the jobs have been have been most satisfactorily carried out and at less expense than by any other method of doing the work.

Club For Laupahoehoe.—A new club house is being built in Laupahoehoe, Hawaii, which is to cost $15,000. It is going up at Laupahoehoe proper, on the beach by the surf, and with an outlook to the ocean, much like that of the Hilo Yach Club. The club is the result of a corporation, however, and not of a membership organization. It is intended to answer the needs of the community, with private rooms for residents and a few for tourists. It is not built for speculation, nor will it be conducted for profit, but as a community asset.

Army Work on Oahu.—The Hawaiian department of the army is assembling large quentities of building material at Luke Field and is planning to proceed immediately with extensive improvements. The plans include also construction work at Forts Ruger and Kamehameha. The total expenditure will be $1,300,000.

Water A Plenty.—W. A. Wall, superintendent of water works of Honolulu, estimates the present flow of water from the recently found Palolo Valley supply at 2,300,000 and believes it can be increased to 5,000,000. It is said the flow will be sufficient to supply all of Kaimuki.

Japanese and Homesteads.—To determine whether Japanese parents of American born children are entitled to take up homestead lands for such minor children, Attorney General Harry Irwin will bring an action in the courts. In some respects the problem is not dissimilar to the California alien land holding problem.

Water Shortage Relieved.—Sunday's rain has relieved danger of water shortage for the year in Honolulu is the report of Honolulu papers. It is expected by another year the water supply will have been sufficiently increased so that a repetition of this year's menace can be avoided even if there again be a deficiency in rainfall.

More Waiakea Lots.—Reports of the appraisers on value of 33 lots in and adjacent to Waiakea has been sent from Hilo to Honolulu. The lots range from 20 acres in the Villa Franca tract to 40 in the Young tract and in upper Waiakea they contain 79 acres of which 15 are said to be good cane land and the balance forest.

Market Plan Delayed.—Action on the proposed municipal market for Hilo has gone over to December 15. Sentiment seems to be for the building of a market unit by unit. The delay is to promot the project to come under next year's budget.

Clinic For Children.—Hawaii's supervisors have given the chairman of the board power to take up the matter of establishing a medical and dental clinic for Big Island school children.

Oahu Employees Discharged.—H. G. Danford, head bookkeeper, David K. Wilson, store keeper and a luna named Craft have been discharged by Oahu Sugar Company. It is said the cause was that the three circulated a petition that in lieu of the bonus scale recently adopted skilled labor employes should receive a bonus of 50 per cent on their salaries. It is also said that being "higher ups" all the skilled employees approached by them signed.

Will Double Capital.—Stockholders of Catton, Neill & Company last week voted to increase the capital stock of the company from $625,000 to $1,250,000, the proceeds being used to take care of the branch foundry which the company will open in the Philippines.

Trans-Pacific Flight—David R. Davis of the Davis Douglas Company, Los Angeles, informed the Hawaii Tourist Bureau shortly before his departure for the mainland that some time next summer he expects to make a non-stop airplane flight from Honolulu to Los Angeles.

Waikiki Dredging.—Work in the Waikiki district is to be started immediately by the suction dredger Dillingham, which was moved today from the Kewalo basin. It will dredge in front of the public baths and be used in filling work in Kapiolani park above the polo field, where there is a swampy section.

After Rapid Transit.—On recommendation of the roads committee report which was adopted by the Honolulu board of supervisors, Frederick Ohrt, city engineer, has been instructed to order the Honolulu Rapid Transit & Land Company, to "place their tracks to the grade of the finished crown of the road on King street, between Pawaa Lane and McCully street," and also to order this company "to lay a permanent pavement between their tracks and one foot on each side on the same section." The city attorney's department was directed to take whatever steps may be necessary to see that Ohrt's orders are carried out by the traction company.

Forms Haole Branch.—An honorary chapter of the Daughters and Sons of Hawaiian Warriors was established in Honolulu last week as a mark of recognition for the achievement of haole in Hawaii in religion or science or anything tending toward the advancement of the races of the islands. Several Honolulans were initiated at the first meeting at the home of Mrs. Albert P. Taflor, premier of the order. Those initiated were Mrs. Julie Swanzy, Gerrit P. Wilder, Mrs. Gerrit P. Wilder, Miss Ethel Damon, Miss Jane Winne, Alfred L. Castle, W. F. Dillingham, Mrs. W. F. Dillingham, Dr. H. T. Hollman, Mrs. H. T. Hollmann, A. P. Taylor.

"In conclusion, I wish to express my appreciation of the good work done by Mr. Young."

For Annual Fair

It was the clearly evidenced view of the members that a fair should be held next year and each year thereafter, in short, that the fair must be a permanent and annual Maui institution because of its educational value and social tendenceis.

President Frank Baldwin spoke of the probability of an appropriation coming from the legislature to make up for the large excess of costs for the Territorial Building over what the association had intended, the building having been constructed according to territorial plans, and said a debt the size of the one outstanding was in no sense alarming when the value of the property was taken into consideration.

Lighting System Explained

J. C. Blair explained the present lighting arrangements and their costs, and showed how cheaply the illumination during the fair was arranged. He made recommendations for further improvements and underground wiring and told of the assistance rendered by W. L. Frazee, superintendent of the electrical department of the City and County of Honolulu, to whom a vote of thanks was next passed. Another vote of thanks was extended to R. A. Wadsworth for his assistance in arranging for the display of fruits and flowers in ice.

In order to carry the outstanding indebtedness the fair officials were authorized to borrow on the associations credit and property to the extent necessary up to $30,000.
