NEW YORK, N. Y., Oct. 11.—The Philadelphia club of the American League is the new world's baseball champion.

By a score of 3 to 1, the brilliant playing Athletics defeated New York today in the final game of the greatest diamond series ever staged, administering to the Giants an emphatic defeat not only in the closing contest but in the series. The Athletics have won four games to one for McGraw's men.

Christy Mathewson, wisest of pitchers, and Eddie Plank, Connie Mack's great southpaw, were pitted against each other today, and the Athletics outpitched the Giant.

By winning today's game and the world's series, the Athletics set a new record in baseball, giving to the American League its fourth consecutive world's championship, a new record for either league. The Athletics won in 1910 and 1911, the Boston Americans in 1912 and Athletics again in 1913.

Each player in the world's series makes a small fortune. The total amount to be divided among the players of the two teams is $135,163, of which each member of the Athletics will get $3,244 and each member of the Giants $2,152. The games in New York have drawn immense crowds. Bad weather has kept down the attendance in Philadelphia.

The pitching of the veteran Plank today made him the hero of the series, even in view of the wonderful batting and fielding of other members of the team or the great all-around work of Catcher Schang.

Plank's mull of an easy pop-fly when a sure double play was in sight allowed New York to make the only run for the Giants. After the game a crowd of Philadelphia enthusiasts rushed out on the field, picked Plank up bodily, and carried him off the field on their shoulders.

Several other members of the victorious team were carried off in triumph. The scene at the Polo grounds was a remarkable one when the game was over.

Experts agree that the superior hitting of the Athletics and better pitching won the series. They hold that the pitchers of the two teams generally showed equal form, but that the Athletics far exceeded expectations in their hitting power, securing safeties even off the best pitching the Giants could produce.

The brilliance of the Philadelphia infield was shown today when Collins, Barry and McInnis twice performed marvellous double plays, knocking down seemingly safe hits and converting them into outs.

No extra-base hits were made today. Each pitcher got one strikeout.

[Note.—It was first reported by cable this morning that Bender pitched for Philadelphia, but later reports give Plank as the pitcher.]

New Process It Is Believed Will Revolutionize Sugar Industry and Reduce Cost

After years of close study and exhaustive experiments, at last to come forward with a process for the production of white sugar direct from cane juice without the expensive bone-char refining methods, after having his process elaborately discussed in leading sugar journals of the country, and after the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association, under whose directions the experiments were conducted on the Ewa plantation, has given the process its vigorous endorsement, E. E. Battelle, a chemist formerly with the Waiuku plantation, will launch a corporation within a few days, which is taken to mean a revolutionization of the cane sugar industry, here and elsewhere, and eventually the elimination of the refiner in connection with it.

Giffard & Roth, brokers, are directing the incorporation of the company, which is to be capitalized at $300,000 with shares at one dollar each.

Some uncertainty exists as to the liner Volturno. According to the latest shipping guide available, the Volturno is a steamer of the Canadian Northern Royal line, of 2,222 tons, and sailed from New York for Rotterdam on September 11, and would thus be on her return trip to New York, as to the cable dispatches. On the other hand, a vessel of this small size would hardly be carrying 700 passengers, and local shipping men this morning expressed the belief that the vessel meant is the Volturno of the French line, or Compagnie Generale Transatlantique. The photograph above on the left is therefore believed to be correct, but this is not entirely certain. Recent schedules of New York sailing and arrival dates do not mention the Volturno. Evidently she is in the immigrant-carrying trade.

BRIGADIER-GENERAL MACOMB REVIEWS 3000 MEN IN FIELD

Leilehua Plains Covered with Troops Whose Fitness as Soldiers Is Passed Upon by Commander of the 1st Hawaiian Brigade

BY LAURENCE REDINGTON
(Star-Bulletin Staff Correspondent with the 1st Hawaiian Brigade)
SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, Oct. 11.—Three thousand men, in full field equipment, passed in review before Brigadier-general M. M. Macomb, commanding the 1st Hawaiian Brigade, this morning, moving in perfect formation across the level, springy plain of Leilehua. The brigade commander, his staff, and the department inspector and his assistant viewed the long line of marching men, swinging by the reviewing point in company front, the band of each regiment playing. Then, when the last company of the last regiment had passed, the brigade was drawn up for inspection, and General Macomb went through the lines of his command, passing from company to company, and carefully noting the fitness of his men to take the field.

VOLTURNO LOST IN MID-ATLANTIC

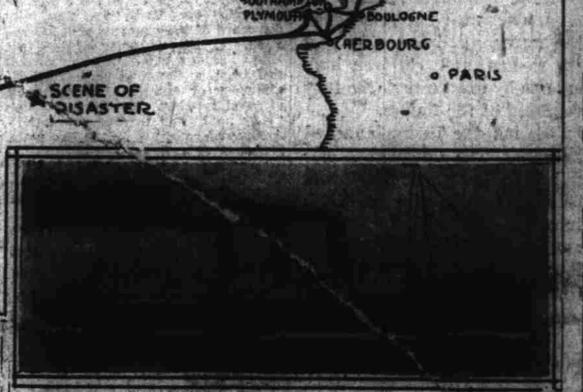

RESCUERS HELPLESS IN STORM

Ten Liners Stand by Flaming Vessel, Gale Smashing Lifeboats — Tragedy Happened Last Thursday Night — Meager Details Reach Wales of Disaster Sensational as That of the Titanic

(Associated Press Cable)
FISHGUARD, Wales, Oct. 11.—A story of disaster at sea as shocking as that of the lost Titanic and in some respects more sensational, was told to the world today when wireless messages from transatlantic liners this morning carried the news of a fire in mid-ocean that has destroyed the liner Volturno and brought death to 136 passengers.

The latest figures give 136 lost and 521 saved. This probably includes officers and crew as well as passengers.

No tragedy of the sea surpasses that of the Volturno in its details of desperate battle against fire, wind and wave, of the cruel death of nearly a fourth of those aboard, and of the final rescue of the remainder, accomplished yesterday morning by ten ocean liners under appallingly dangerous conditions. And as in the Titanic disaster, it was the "S. O. S." wireless call, speeding out from the stricken vessel, that brought assistance from half a score of steamers which abandoned their course and matched their swiftness against the swiftness with which the flames cut down the Volturno.

DETAILS ARE MEAGER

How the fire broke out on the Volturno has not yet been told in the comparatively meager details that reached Fishguard this morning. She was on her way from Rotterdam to New York crowded with immigrants. All that is known of the early part of the tragedy is that last Thursday evening the Cunard liner Carmania, on the run between New York, Boston and Liverpool, heard the frantic wireless call from the Volturno and answered.

The Carmania, a crack passenger-steamer of 20,000 tons, was then at latitude 48 degrees 25 minutes north and longitude 34 degrees 33 minutes west. Her wireless operator caught the "S. O. S." flung far over the sea in the hope of reaching some vessel nearby.

"ON FIRE!"

"On fire!" signaled the wireless from the Volturno, and her operator flashed the information that she was 78 miles distant, out of the Carmania's course.

Then began the race with death. The speedy Carmania turned and went at top speed to the Volturno, making 20 knots an hour in the teeth of a terrific gale and through heavy seas.

When the Carmania reached the stricken Volturno, the forequarters of the latter vessel were afire, the flames, whipped by the wind, already consuming the forepart of the vessel and eating steadily aft.

BARON MAKINO SAYS JAPAN NOW NEUTRAL

(Special cable to the Nippo Jiji).
TOKIO, Japan, October 11.—Baron Makino, minister of foreign affairs, has made public his opinion regarding the Chinese embargo, saying that the Japanese government proposes to maintain the integrity of the Chinese Republic and to promote the welfare of the Far East. "All the powers are in favor of this policy of the Japanese," he says, "and therefore the government will ask no special assistance in carrying out these plans. The recent trouble at Nanking, China, between the federals and the revolutionists has been cleared up, and our government intends maintaining strict neutrality between these two factions. China has begun to understand the good will of the Japanese government, so that the relations between both countries should be amicable."

been put out of commission some hours before. The fury of the storm had baffled all attempts to lower life-boats, and in those attempts a number of lives are reported to have been lost.

RESCUE EFFORTS VAIN

Four life-boats in succession were smashed against the sides of the vessel while officers and members of the crew made desperate efforts to launch them. Then the efforts were given up.

Even after the Carmania arrived on the scene, she could do nothing for hours, so great was the storm. Reckless of the danger, volunteers to man the life-boats leaped forward on the Carmania's decks, but their dauntless courage was futile. The biggest lifeboat carried by the Cunarder was lowered and then manned by a crack crew, and then began a two hours' battle to reach the side of the flaming steamer only two hundred yards away. But the battle was fruitless. At the end of two hours the life-boat abandoned the attempt, after every oar but three had been smashed.

Then the captain of the Cunarder, displaying coolness and seamanship of the highest order, made an attempt at rescue in another direction. Maneuvering the Carmania within 100 yards of the Volturino's stern, he ordered a line passed between the two steamers, intending to bring the Volturino's people across the line. But again the high seas and gale baffled his efforts.

LINERS STAND BY HELPLESS

Meanwhile the calls for help sent out earlier by the Volturino's wireless, repeated again and again by the operator of the Carmania, had brought other steamers rushing to the scene. Within four hours ten vessels arrived and formed a great circle around the flaming Volturino. Like the Carmania, they were helpless in the storm, and thousands of passengers, lining the decks of the big transatlantic liners, saw, with horror-stricken eyes the Volturino rolling with the waves, settling deeper and deeper, and with the band of men, women and children huddled in the stern losing members one by one through the fury of the storm or the steady encroaching of the flames.

Toward dawn the storm abated and the liners launched their lifeboats and hurried to the ship. The Carmania, her life-boat equipment already crippled, got out another boat and saved 11 passengers, the French liner La Touraine saved 40, the Atlantic Transport liner Minneapolis saved 30, the freighter Hapahannock 19, the Russian-American liner Czar 102, the Narragansett 29, the Leyland liner Devonian 59, the Red Star liner Kronland 90, the North German Lloyd liner Grosser Kurfuener 105, the Seydlitz 36.

NO AMERICANS LOST

The passengers on the Volturino were chiefly steersmen. It is believed that all of them are Americans.

The steersmen, officers and crew had been abandoned. She was seen as the other vessels steamed toward her. It is believed she is a total loss.

SAN FRANCISCO FADS POPULAR IN HONOLULU

Even now with October well under way, our Honolulu hostess is a bit reluctant about beginning the season's entertaining. The warm weather continues and a loose hokoku on a sandy beach is still tempting to the average person. But with the arrival of the new fall styles and delicious display of smart frocks in town, comes the subtle call of the social whirl. For one must have some place to wear these pretty gowns—the boudoir of the beach not filling the requirements of a burnt orange motif frock or a creation of pink chiffon and fur. My lady is therefore revolving great plans in her pretty head pondering over her calling list, and trying out the cook in many speculative ways. The next few weeks will surely divulge the results of all these cogitations—and if a lively season does not follow upon the first drop of the thermometer, there certainly has been a great miscalculation among those who know. In San Francisco the "day dancette" (as they mispell the French word) is the fad of the hour. No hostess is happy unless she has at least two up on her program of entertainment for the season. Whether or not these afternoon dances will be as popular in Honolulu where even in winter there is a suggestion of the torrid zone in the air, remains to be seen. Mrs. Francis Mills Swanzy gave a highly successful affair of the kind during the summer, followed closely by an equally delightful one when Mr. and Mrs. Rentiers entertained the officers of the New Zealand. Various warships in port for a week or so have often entertained in this manner. The fad will probably come to stay, for what San Francisco does we also must do. Preserving that lofty disregard of the elements that is such a part of the character of the true Honolulu, we will "rag it as we go" and whether the time be four in the afternoon or four in the morning is of small moment. The Chronicle says "Why not?" and further quotes Mrs. Ambrose Madison Willis in her social Rubaiyat of a Bud:

"Waste not your hours in definite Pursuit
Of anything but Pleasure. Up and Down the hill, let the wind blow,
The bird of Time is on the Wing,

HONGKONG MARU MET TAIL OF TWISTER

In sailing from Yokohama, Japan, October 7, the Toyo Kisen Kaisha liner Hongkong Maru is reported to have crossed the path followed by a graceful little yacht-like steamship encountering gales and seas for two or four hours that tried the patience of her crew of navigators.

With 331 passengers in the several classes, the Hongkong Maru reached a berth at Richarda street wharf this morning, and during the time spent at this port, the vessel will be discharged of 373 tons of oriental cargo. It is the intention to dispatch the liner for San Francisco at five o'clock this evening.

The Japanese steamer called at Manila on the outward trip, remaining in the Philippines for six hours. At this port, 118 Filipinos took passage to Hawaii. The through list includes 14 cabin and 11 second class passengers.

In bucking heavy seas after leaving Japan, the liner met with a small amount of damage to several ventilators stationed on the forward deck. The Hongkong Maru is officered entirely with Japanese, Captain Togo having been for years identified with the Central and South American service.

The vessel is carrying about two thousand tons of Chinese and Japanese freight in transit for San Francisco.

WIRELESS EYE SEES THINGS AT NIGHT
A wireless photographic instrument, which works only at night, and which reflects on a mirror a moving picture of all that is going on in a radius of several miles, is the latest invention which is interesting naval officials at Mare Island.

The instrument is extremely delicate and receives its impressions from a web of wires erected on a tall mast. For this reason it may be peculiarly adaptable to ships, making impossible night collisions, accidents because of fog or running aground of icebergs. It is the invention of S. Spits of Vallejo and will be exhibited in Oakland soon, under the direction of W. E. Rode and M. C. Blum, who have taken out twenty-seven patents.

"The navigator of a ship equipped with such a machine could see on the darkest night the surface of the earth for miles about," said Blum; "could observe the approach of other ships or the proximity of rocks or shoals or icebergs. An army corps could see the scouts of an enemy creeping forward to spy out their location long before the scouts themselves had found what they were seeking. The machine is useless in the daylight, as the web of wires on the top of the staff registers only the sky's rays.

"When Secretary of the Navy Daniels was at Mare Island recently he was informed of the existence of the apparatus by officers at the Navy Yard. He immediately sent word to Spits, asking him to bring the machine to Washington for inspection by the experts of the Navy Department."

During a recent test of the instrument at Vallejo, in the darkest period of the night, the observers saw on the mirror reflected the picture of the entire district to a distance of two miles, saw the ships on the river, the railway trains passing up and down the valley, the people on the streets of the city, even the sentries pacing their beats on the island.

Spits was formerly a wireless expert in the employ of the government at Mare Island.

'SEPTEMBER MORN' NOT BARRED IN THE LOCAL POSTOFFICE
Residents of Honolulu may dispatch through the mails to their hearts' content postal cards bearing a reproduction of the painting of "September Morn" according to a statement made by Postmaster Pratt this morning.

Acting United States District Attorney Benjamin McKinley has advised the postal authorities that post cards of "September Morn" should not be admissible to the mails, but as yet the local postmaster has received no instructions to bar them unless they are unenclosed.

The picture, discreetly shrouded in an envelope, may pass through the mails—so may all the cartoons which have been published in reference to the subject. No complaints were lodged against "September Morn" by the general public, but the postal inspectors applied to McKinley for his opinion on the subject and under the advice of the attorney, who is a bachelor, all the postals of this picture will be confiscated and sent later to the dead letter office.

THREE HUNDRED ORIENTALS IN KOREA

When the Pacific Mail liner Korea comes to a berth at Alakea wharf, on Monday morning, 317 Asiatic steerage passengers will land at the port, according to a wireless message received at the agency of H. Hackfeld & Company today.

The Korea sailed from Yokohama two days behind schedule. It is understood that the vessel was delayed at one of the Japanese ports because of an unusual amount of freight offered for transit across the Pacific. The Korea is to be given a quick dispatch to San Francisco and it is possible that she will sail for the coast at five o'clock in the evening. The liner will bring 750 tons of oriental freight for the islands. H. Hackfeld & Company announce that the steamer has accommodation for 125 additional first class passengers. About fifty persons have been booked for the mainland in this vessel.

Mexican Loaded with Many Pines.
The American Hawaiian freight steamer will carry approximately 40,000 cases of preserved pines in sailing from Hilo, the last port of call for San Francisco, and thence to Salina Cruz. The vessel is expected to sail from Honolulu for the regular island ports on Sunday evening. The total cargo to be forwarded from the islands will amount to about 5000 tons.

Inter-island Arrivals.
Purser Phillips of the inter-island steamer Mauna Kea reported some fine weather on the homeward voyage from Hilo. The vessel brought a full-sized list of cabin and deck passengers. The incoming cargo included vegetables, tea, 200 head of sheep, 500 cases of lumber, 200 cases of sundries, and 215 packages of sundries.

The Noear from Kauai ports brought 1716 sacks of paddy, 463 sacks of rice, 215 sacks of bran, a quantity of empties, 20 sacks of potatoes and sundries. Weather off the coast of Kauai was pronounced as exceedingly rough. With the largest shipment of paving blocks from Hawaii received here in months, the steamer Kauai from Hilo and ports brought $1,536 blocks, 4760 feet of lumber and a quantity of junk.

The steamer Likiepka from Kealia, with sugar-milling machinery in need of repair, is an arrival today.

Sparks From the Wireless.
The following wireless message has been received by the agents, from the Oceanic S. S. Co.'s S. S. Sierra, bound from San Francisco for Honolulu, T. H.:

8 p. m., Oct. 10.—137 cabin passengers for Honolulu, 45 steerage passengers for Honolulu, 2 sacks of mail for Honolulu, 2000 tons of general cargo for Honolulu, 112 packages of express matter. Will arrive off port early Monday morning, Oct. 13, 1913.

Racing Time by Windjammer.
When the speedy four-masted schooner Erik arrived at San Francisco from Valparaiso recently, Captain Gronwald exhibited a log which would be the envy of skippers in command of many of the regular passenger steamers plying along the coast a few days before the vessel arrived, favorable winds continued for 24 hours and the schooner riddled along at the rate of 14 knots. The actual distance was 236 knots.

MANY FLOCKING TO ISLANDS IN SIERRA

The tide of tourist travel to the Hawaiian islands has turned, judging from the heavy list of passengers reported as nearing Honolulu in the Oceanic liner Sierra. For some weeks, vessels departing from this port have carried away more people than those numbered among the arrivals in incoming steamers.

With 157 cabin and 45 steerage passengers, the Sierra, expected to reach a berth at the Oceanic wharf at an early hour on Monday morning, will establish a record for the season. It has been a number of months since the Sierra has carried a list of travelers approaching this total.

The Sierra will be discharged of 3059 tons of mainland merchandise, including supplies for local importers as well as the U. S. quartermaster department. The vessel is to remain here for the week, sailing for San Francisco at noon on Saturday, October 18.

The Oceanic vessel was not given the mainland mail, which is understood will arrive here in the Japanese steamer Tenyo Maru. There are but two sacks of correspondence aboard the Sierra.

Olaa Reports Much Sugar.
Olaa plantation on Hawaii comes to the front with a large amount of sugar awaiting shipment to the coast. Purser Phillips of the steamer Mauna Kea reported the following consignments: Olaa 25,900, Hamakua Mill 258, Punaluu 1648, Honouapoo 4822 sacks.

POSTMASTER GIVING INSTRUCTIONS IN ADDRESSING MAIL

Postmaster Pratt, under instructions from the postmaster general by the last mail, is sending out cards showing model of form of address. The purpose of the postoffice department in giving out these cards to the public is that the immense amount of mail received at the dead letter office, and which last year reached a total of more than thirteen million pieces, a large proportion of which could not be delivered because of carelessness in writing the address, may be reduced. The postmaster expresses the hope that the public will adopt this method of address on all classes of mail.

JUDGE PERRY WOULD COLLECT FROM PETERSON

Asking for an injunction restraining Attorney C. F. Peterson, William Kawaia and Chun Kim Sut from disposing in any way of the $750 awarded Peterson in circuit court last week, until his own claim is satisfied, Antonio Perry, associate justice of the supreme court today filed a petition in circuit court.

Just prior to the filing of this petition an execution was served on the attorney, seeking to levy on any moneys or property to satisfy the claim, but the execution was returned by Deputy Sheriff Patrick Gleason as wholly unsatisfied.

The present case is the outgrowth of a suit won by Kawaia in Judge Cooper's court a week ago. Peterson, who had served as counsel for Chun Kim Sut, the Chinese held last year on a charge of infanticide claimed $750 for his services. He had assigned the claim to Kawaia, and the latter filed an affidavit yesterday stating that the assignment was made to him on December 11, 1912.

Directly after the Kawaia suit was decided the associate justice filed a demand for an accounting by Peterson. Perry holds a judgment against the attorney which he says amounts now to $2543.25. In the petition filed by Perry today he avers that his judgment was awarded on December 7, or four days before Peterson assigned his claim to Kawaia.

In his petition asking for the restraining order, Perry also alleges that Peterson assigned his claim to Kawaia without any satisfactory consideration in exchange, and in the instruction that the money was to be paid to Peterson's creditors as he, Peterson, should direct.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

Meandun Hall is opened to the public today.

The monthly meeting of Kapahulu Improvement Club has been postponed for one week from tomorrow afternoon.

The auction of several Pearl City lots at James F. Morgan & Company, noticed for today, was postponed until next week.

The final round in the Manoa cup tournament will be played tomorrow morning at the Country Club. The first draw will be held at 9 o'clock.

Joe Lopez today was appointed by Circuit Judge Whitney as guardian of William, Peter, Helen, Thomas, Augustus, Madalina and Julia Vinnaca, to serve without bond.

Harry E. Lai entered a plea of guilty to six charges of burglary in the second degree and sentence was suspended for thirteen months by Circuit Judge Robinson.

Theodore Richards has charge of the music at the service at Oahu prison tomorrow morning at eleven o'clock. The service will be conducted by John Martin, and Vaughan MacCauley will speak.

At the meeting of the Promotion Committee yesterday afternoon, the secretary was authorized to dispatch a wireless message to Chairman Fred L. Waldron wishing him a pleasant passage and a safe return on his tour around the world.

The members of the Hebrew Military Association of Hawaii have issued invitations urging all persons of the Jewish faith to attend the services in observance of the Day of Atonement, which are being held in San Antonio Hall, Vineyard street, having begun at 9 o'clock this morning.

In observance of Yom Kippur, or the Day of Atonement, a large majority of the Jewish population of Honolulu gathered in San Antonio Hall at 7 o'clock last evening. The service was continued at 9 o'clock this morning and will continue until 7 o'clock tonight, the day being one of praying and fasting for all orthodox Jews.

LOCAL LODGE OF ELKS WILL INITIATE ACTORS AT SUNDAY MEETING

For the first time in the history of the local lodge of Elks, a meeting is to be held on Sunday evening, and the one tomorrow evening at the hall on King street will be of double importance because of the fact that several persons are to be initiated into the secrets of the organization, including three members of the World's Fair Stock Company. Those who will receive the initiation are Frank J. McQuade, Raymond J. O'Brien, M. D. Maloney, A. J. Theall, J. E. Dillon and J. G. Wray. The initiation is being held tomorrow evening because it is the only night-off which may be secured by the theatrical men to "ride the goat."

CRITICISMS OF CAMP CASTNER ARE EXPLAINED

Why Complaints Are Made and Reasons Why Post Is Built As It Is

Stories from Schofield Barracks criticizing Camp Castner and its buildings on the ground of exorbitant expenditure for inadequate results have met with emphatic denials by army engineers and builders, and more recently with investigations that reveal a state of affairs entirely different from what would seem to be the case from the many "kicks" and complaints that undoubtedly are emanating from the big post on the plateau.

Stimmed down to a few words, the trouble at Castner seems to be that following the designs of army officials in Washington, and forced to erect buildings that will be at once permanent and cheap, the local army men have built a semi-concentrated type of post that arranges the houses closely together, and that sacrifices beauty of exterior finish to utility for all-around use.

No one can call the Castner officers' quarters beautiful; no one can even call them pretty. They are built of concrete, rather bare of exterior, nor do the windows and doors add much of comeliness to the general appearance. The porches, with their heavy concrete pillars, only add to the general air of unadorned austerity.

Complaints have been frequent at Castner, since the officers and their families moved in. Some of these complaints are entirely logical and most if not all of them are entirely natural. The post does not strike the observer as attractive, in fact it is just the reverse just now, before the walks and lawns are completed, and before the plants are growing along the streets and alleys. The camp site is still bare; everything is in the raw, with material just beginning to be cleared away. But the builders have a scheme for landscape gardening that looks as if it might redeem the appearance of the entire post.

Coming down to the officers' quarters themselves, where the principal criticisms seem to be, complaints have been made, and even have gotten into the service papers of the mainland, that the houses are uninhabitable. A visit to Camp Castner and inspection of a number of the houses shows that such a statement is very far from the facts. The houses are inhabitable, and are above the grade of most houses in Honolulu occupied by people in any except the weather walks of the city. The rooms are not large, but they are not small; they approximate a medium, and while it is somewhat warmer at Castner than further up toward the mountain, it is cooler than in the majority of Honolulu homes, and the winds give good ventilation. The rooms, closets, bath-rooms, etc. are as well arranged as in other houses of approximately the same cost. A set of double officers' quarters at Castner costs $10,000, and, considering the type of house that is built at the post, the money seems to have stretched farther than it generally does in expenditures for government work.

Of Permanent Type. A large part of the cost of these houses has gone into making them permanent. They are at Castner to stay. The walls and floors are of strongly reinforced concrete, the roofs are tiled. There is nothing of the flimsy construction usually associated with the tropics. The builders were ordered from Washington to make these quarters of a durable type, and they did it and did it well. But there are drawbacks in matters of detail. These drawbacks are just the kind that upset domestic arrangements and irritate in a score of petty ways. And, having to contend with these drawbacks constantly, it is not to be wondered at that officers' wives at Castner make some sharp complaints.

They point out little things that might be remedied—or might have been remedied—such as the absence of window-sashings, the inconvenient arrangement of windows. Say "Too Crowded." An inspection of the post and a talk with Castner people reveals that the most generally-felt, or at least the most generally-voiced grievance, is with the type of post itself. The army designers back in Washington chose to make this post compact, small, concentrated. The buildings are close together, arranged in a horse-shoe shape, with the officers' quarters around each side and the street in the center.

Complaints are made that the quarters are too close for comfort and for privacy. It is true that they are close, but the fact is that they are no closer than the majority of city homes. But, in the vast expanse of land on which Schofield Barracks is situated the Castner buildings, with almost limitless ground around them, certainly at first sight seem rather closely packed.

But there is a reason for this, and like everything else at Castner, that reason originated at Washington. It was felt, according to those in a position to know, that it would be great economy in building and later in populating the camp to make it a compact set of buildings. Thousands of dollars were saved in streets, sidewalks, pipe-lines, and other exterior features.

What Builders Had To Do. As a matter of fact, the Star-Bulletin is informed by Honolulu builders and contractors who have no interest whatever in Castner or the army construction work, the building of Castner is an achievement of which the entire army should be proud. More has been done with less money than

ALOHA PLANNED FOR CHINESE BALL-PLAYERS

The members of the All-Chinese baseball team, returning to Honolulu after a successful season on the mainland, will be tendered a royal welcome when they arrive in the Sierra Monday morning. Plans for their reception, which have been in the making during the past week, were completed this morning, and, according to the present arrangements, the baseballers will be honored for a day at least.

A delegation of members of the Honolulu Ad Club will greet the players at the dock, in company with the Chinese consul and a committee of local Chinese business men. The team will then be placed in automobiles and given a ride through the principal streets, just to show the boys that the city has changed but little since their departure more than six months ago. Following this, they will be the guests of the Chinese consul at a party at his residence in Sheridan street. The Ad Club will entertain the players in the evening.

In order to complete their share of the greeting, the local Chinese merchants will give an elaborate Chinese banquet for the members of the team some time next week, but the exact date has not been set as yet. The All-Chinese team has made a wonderful record during the season just completed and their welcome home is but a slight token of the appreciation shown for the splendid manner in which they have conducted themselves throughout, and have spared no efforts in doing their share toward placing Hawaii more prominently in the eyes of the traveling public as a summer and a winter resort.

Police Notes

A horse attached to a delivery wagon having become frightened, E. K. Chung, the driver, was thrown to the ground and suffered minor injuries. He was given attention at the hospital.

Charged with street begging, Polos, an aged Hawaiian, was placed under arrest today. He is alleged to have been an inmate of Lunalilo home, to which institution he will be returned.

Ozawa, a Japanese, alleged by the police as having attempted to bribe an officer with a view of securing a license to drive a delivery wagon, was found not guilty when arraigned before District Magistrate Monsarrat this morning. Attorney Rawlins proved to the court's satisfaction that in the payment of $10 by the Japanese no attempt to bribe a public official was intended.

Two military prisoners under sentence at Schofield Barracks, made a successful break for liberty last Thursday and were recaptured by Harbor Officer Carter yesterday, the men being found on a vacant lot in the rear of a pineapple cannery at Iwili. The men turned over to the military authorities this morning gave their names as J. L. Conley of Company H, 1st Infantry, and Private Gebas of Company L, 1st Infantry.

David Miller, an enlisted man, was placed under arrest at Lihalehua yesterday afternoon by Deputy U. S. Marshal David Sherwood, on a warrant accusing him of selling liquor without paying the special tax levied by the federal government. He will then be given a preliminary hearing at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon before U. S. Commissioner George A. Davis.

on almost any other post on Oahu, it is asserted. One contractor in Honolulu, Mr. J. L. Young, former army engineer and experienced in all kinds of construction work, says that Major B. F. Cheatham, quartermaster, and his associates are doing work on a figure that a private contractor could not afford to do.

"They are doing it so cheap that a private contractor could not meet their present figure and make a reasonable profit," is the statement made by Mr. Young.

Other Honolulu builders pay as high tributes to the handling of the Castner work. Even those who join in the criticism of the type of building used say that everything has been done that can be done to make the camp well-built.

Organization Built Up. Several improvements have been made in the "shooting" of the concrete from the "concrete gun," by which even better work is done than was done at Fort Ruger, where the system was given its first local trials. Months of hard work have been spent by Major Cheatham and his associates in developing a working organization, and they have it now. The army men have spent many days and nights in scheming and planning how to build these houses and keep within the sum allotted them, and it was only recently, they admit, that they were absolutely sure they could finish Castner as they agreed to do.

As matters now stand, the camp is practically complete, and certainly it is not "uninhabitable." When everything is done, the grass in, trees growing, flowers blooming and the water-system finished so that there is plenty of water, Castner will be a very different place. It will not be a collection of mansions, but it will be an army post built to meet the ideas of men in Washington, built for certain military efficiency plans—and built to stay.

THE CLARION

GIRL IS VICTIM OF ACCIDENT AT Y.M.C.A.

The first accident to be recorded by the Young Men's Christian Association occurred in the games hall of that institution yesterday afternoon when Inga Larson, 15 years old, a pupil of the Central Grammar school, was struck in the forehead by a baseball bat which flew from the hands of one of the boys as he struck at an indoor ball. The girl was removed to the Queen's Hospital, where the wound was attended to, she being taken to her home during the evening. She was reported to be resting easily this morning.

The accident happened during the annual open-house of the Y. M. C. A. to the Central Grammar pupils. A lively game of indoor baseball had begun in the games hall between the girls and the boys, and one of the latter, striking at a ball, let go the bat, which sailed across the hall and struck Miss Larson. First aid was immediately applied by the secretary in charge and the girl taken to the hospital.

An interesting game of baseball will be played at Mollili Field at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning between the two teams of the "Benzine" League. These teams, representing the Auto Livery stars and the Oahu Auto Stand cracker, will battle for championship honors. Following is the lineup of the Auto Livery: V. Freitas, c; A. Machado, p; J. Hughes, 1b; A. Kalana, 2b; B. French, 3b; J. Riney, ss; J. Cummings, cf; S. Peters, lf; E. Cummings, rf; C. Lopez, mascot. Substitutes: Jim Quinn, Manuel Reis and Tom Quinn.

Do not grudge to pick out treasures from an earthen pot.—Herbert.

THE VOLTURNO AND THE TITANIC

The tragedy of the Volturno offers marked contrast to that of the Titanic.

In both there was great loss of life, but it was from no lack of effort that 130 souls were lost on the Volturno. The power of wind and sea was against the rescuers.

Help came to the Volturno from all directions. Ten steamers raced at top speed in response to the wireless call for help. Only the grimest irony of fate kept those vessels from covering the sea with life-boats the moment the scene was reached.

The grave struggle of those aboard the Carmania to drive a life-boat to the survivors huddled on the stern of the burning ship, the cool nerve with which the Carmania's captain took his big steamer within a hundred yards of the other in an effort to pass a line across the wild waters, constitute deeds of heroism that will live as live the deeds of many on the sinking Titanic.

When, within fifteen or twenty minutes after the steamship Titanic struck an iceberg, causing her to sink, the collision taking place fourteen minutes before midnight ship's time, or at 10:13 New York time, Sunday night, April 15, 1912, the wireless cry for assistance spread over the surrounding waste of waters, it was the Carpathia, sister ship of the Carmania, which promptly responded, reaching the locality of the disaster after the palatial leviathan had gone to the bottom, but in time to rescue from life-boats 1517 souls out of the 2223 that had sailed from Queenstown, Ireland, in the doomed ship, on the previous Thursday afternoon.

There were eight steamships in the vicinity of the Titanic when the catastrophe happened, ranging in distances from 512 to 19 miles away. The nearest was the Californian of the Leyland line, which not only got the wireless call but saw rockets going up from the distressed vessel—some of the Californian's crew having even seen the side lights of a large vessel going at full speed just before the accident—yet that steamship did nothing more than to display a powerful Morse lamp. "In our opinion such conduct," says the U. S. senate investigating committee in its report on the disaster, "whether arising from indifference or gross carelessness, is most reprehensible, and places upon the commander of the Californian a grave responsibility.

However, the Californian, which was westbound like the Titanic and in a northerly direction from her at the time, reached the scene about eight o'clock in the morning and made an exhaustive search for a boat that the captain of the Carpathia had informed him was thought missing. It appeared that the operator in the Californian had joined in conversation with the Titanic, along with other steamers, regarding ice of which the Titanic had been warned by the Amerika as being in the former's track, and heard the Titanic talking to Cape Race, Newfoundland, up to within a few minutes of the time of the accident, when he put the phones up, took off his clothes and turned in.

"Had assistance been promptly proffered," again says the senate committee, "or had the wireless operator of the Californian remained a few moments longer at his post on Sunday evening, that ship might have had the proud distinction of rescuing the lives of the passengers and crew of the Titanic." The committee awarded "great praise" to Captain Rostron of the Carpathia for his conduct. The Carpathia was fifty-eight miles from the Titanic when she received the call for assistance.

GOOD ROADS AND BOND-ISSUES

The subject of bonding states and counties for road improvements came strongly to the front during the recent civic convention here, with the proposal for a million-dollar bond issue. Of unusual interest therefore is a year-book just issued by the American Highway Association on behalf of good roads, containing some remarkable figures on road bond obligations assumed up to December 31, 1912, by states, counties and townships. Here are some extracts:

State bonds authorized $136,878,000
County and township bonds outstanding 155,633,955

County and township bonds voted in 1912 28,149,508

This valuable volume also details the progress of road-building, the road laws, and the methods of working (whether by convict or free labor) in all states.

The mileage of improved roads is brought down to December, 1911. The total mileage of public roads is placed at 2,222,248, and the total of improved roads at 224,485; which makes the total percentage of roads improved 10.1 per cent. This is an increase of 22,603 miles of public roads and 34,008 miles of improved roads since 1909 when the percentage of roads improved was 8.66.

This compendium of information on all road matters will aid every commercial organization whose officials are interested in the good roads campaign. It indicates that Hawaii will merely be in the procession if bond-issues are devoted to road-building. Providing Hawaii can finance the plan in a businesslike way, the bonded obligations may be assumed, the principle being recognized as right.

SEATTLE'S WAY

Seattle, after a number of auto accidents due to negligence on the part of the drivers, has revoked all chauffeur's permits held by boys less than 18 years of age, and will issue no more. It was proved that irresponsible youths driving heedlessly through the streets caused a large proportion of accidents, some of them not serious and most not fatal, but the sum of them showing that boys are not to be entrusted with the safety of crowded streets.

Republican leaders will hold their first important meeting since the campaign next Monday night. Delegate Kuhio will have an opportunity to say at that time whether or not he wishes to run again on the Republican ticket for delegate.

No statements were necessary to attest the accuracy of the Star-Bulletin's published interview with Delegate Kuhio. Kuhio stands by what he said, and this paper published the interview as he gave it.

McDuffie's friends aver there will be something stirring when the "big fellow" gets back and has a chance to give his side of the gambling-raid story.

"Gambling Lid Tightly Closed," says a morning headline. Yes, but what's going on underneath? That's the interesting question.

Huerta is getting bold again. About time for him to issue another 24-hour ultimatum—and then take it back.

The only mistake Jim Coke made was in not being born in the sunny South.

Jefferson McCarn sounds like a good old Southern name, anyway.

Presumably the next district attorney for Hawaii is a Democrat.

What a dull old world it will seem after the world's series is over.

Kuhio's reply to Carter contains elements for future controversy.

Seems to be the open season for open letters.

Exit Wyoming, enter Tennessee!

Col. Ball stays in Missouri.

Personal Mention

B. F. DILLINGHAM is back from a business trip to Hawaii, returning to the city in the Mauna Kea this morning.

JOHN HIND, the Hawaii plantation man, is a visitor to the city today, having arrived this morning in the steamer Mauna Kea.

C. A. BROWN was numbered among the passengers returning to Honolulu from Maui ports this morning in the steamer Mauna Kea.

MISS MARY SEWALL was appointed head nurse of the Queen's hospital this morning. Miss Sewall has been a member of the staff since March, 1912.

GEORGE S. RAYMOND, inspector general of the public schools of the territory, leaves for the Big Island this afternoon, where he will spend three weeks inspecting the government institutions there.

FRED C. SMITH, general passenger agent of the Oahu Railway and Land Co., will leave for the mainland next month to attend the annual convention of passengers. He believes that he may be able to secure Honolulu as the next meeting place of the gathering.

MRS. LOTTIE COZIER, a prominent singer of Salt Lake City, is a visitor in the islands for an indefinite stay, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Eliene Cozier. They are leaving for Hilo this afternoon and will return to Honolulu later. Mrs. Cozier is a lyric soprano and was given a testimonial concert in her home city just before leaving for Hawaii. The accounts of the concert speak glowingly of her ability, and it is hoped she will have an opportunity to appear in concert here.

ATTORNEY GENERAL W. W. THAYER, Superintendent Caldwell, of the public works department and the members of the territorial board of health, leave this afternoon for Hilo, where on Monday the preliminary steps will be taken toward the reclamation of the fissary land in that city. Afterward Superintendent Caldwell will make a tour of the Big Island. The attorney general will stop at Maui on the return trip to revise some pleadings in a number of ancient fisheries cases, which have been pending since 1902.

LITTLE INTERVIEWS

—COL. CHAR. J. MCCARTHY: What is all this fuss about Miss Pankhurst being the guest of the Ad Club? I am glad to know that she is sensible enough to stop off here and is not in such a rush to see her poor vote-beaten mother that she cannot see Honoluluans.

—C. W. ASHFORD: Old Huerta has the right idea of a republic. If President Wilson had arrested the members of the senate and house, corraling them at the point of the bayonet, at the opening of the present congress, his entire program might have been completed by this time.

—MAYOR FERN: There is some doubt in my mind whether I should let Miss Sylvia Pankhurst land here. I don't wish to be put in the position of one discouraging tourist travel here, yet here are a few special considerations involved in this case which should not be overlooked. However, I'll smoke it over.

—P. L. WEAVER: It seems to me this discussion of whether or not Miss Pankhurst should be allowed to land here is not well taken in point of law. She may be a very charming young lady for all we actually know. At any rate, she has been invited to the Ad Club show, and that in itself should act as a recommendation for the young lady. The law does not encourage judging a person by the gossip concerning him, or, as in this case, by the acts of the person's mother.

LATE CAR SERVICE ARRANGED FOR THE VENETIAN CARNIVAL

For the benefit of those attending the Venetian carnival at the Outrigger Club tonight, there will be four extra Rapid Transit cars run later than the regular schedule. The four extra cars will leave the Moana hotel at 12:15, one going to Manoa Valley, one to Nuuanu Valley, one to the Fort Shafter end of King street, and one to Kaimuki.

'THRILLING ADVENTURE' CALLED JOKE

Residents of Peninsula in Arms Over Report of Sharks in Pearl Harbor Waters

Protests are being voiced by residents down the Peninsula following a story published yesterday morning regarding a "thrilling experience" of Tom Gunn, Chinese aviator, and a lady passenger. In the story referred to the lady in question is made to say: "All I feared was for the safety of Mr. Gunn. I could almost see the sharks around him and I feared he would be eaten by them." The story, elsewhere, says "They had been in the air for more than an hour before he alighted in Pearl Harbor."

These quotations have raised the ire of residents of the vicinity in which the "thrilling experience" is alleged to have occurred, while the entire story they regard and characterize as a "canard pure and simple."

A prominent resident of this section called at the office of the Star-Bulletin this morning and stated that he spoke for a number of other residents when he voiced a protest against what he termed "lies" being told regarding the presence of sharks in the waters referred to. "I have watched this aviator a number of times," he said, "and so have many other persons in that neighborhood and I have yet to hear of his ever getting his boat out of the water. That is not an airship it is a water boat. At least that is all the aviator has proved it to be. As to his being in the air for an hour, that is a huge joke. However, that is not the point that is interesting us. Provided he is able to get publicity for doing something he does not do we have no complaint to make but we do protest and protest vigorously against any stories of the water being shark infested. There is fine bathing in that vicinity and such stories will tend to drive bathers away and to scare the residents from entering the water. The entire story is pure fiction and absurd, excepting for the fact that the report of sharks in the water is injurious."

SAYS MAILS SHOULD HAVE RIGHT OF WAY ON WRONG SIDE OF STREET

That automobiles and other vehicles engaged in the collection of the mails from the various street boxes should be given the right-of-way in all cases, but that civility on the part of the employees toward the public should be shown at all times, was the statement made this morning by Postmaster Pratt, who will make a personal investigation of the scene caused by Collector Silva at Fort and King streets yesterday. Silva, it is said, was driving his automobile on the wrong side of the street, and as he approached the corner another vehicle turned toward him on the right side. A car closed by threatened to frighten the horses of the second vehicle, and an accident was barely avoided.

GRAND JURY WILL MEET NEXT MONDAY AT 10 A.M.

The federal grand jury has been summoned to convene at 10 o'clock next Monday. U. S. District Attorney R. W. Breckons had expected to return to Hilo to resume the county graft investigation and prosecutions there, but he will now remain in Honolulu for at least another week to aid in the local grand jury work.

BIG FALLS ADDED ATTRACTION FOR TOURISTS

Alaka Falls, a sheet of water, cascading a distance of 450 feet, located within sight of Honouliuli, on the coast of Hawaii, and 16 miles from Hilo, has come into its own as a superior attraction for tourists, who are now including the big island in their sight-seeing itinerary.

Frequent and General Manager Kennedy, of the Inter-Island, has received large-sized photographs, and a fund of interesting data concerning the huge waterfall, heretofore remaining in obscurity, which will now be placed on the tourist map to an extent that it should become the mecca for mainlanders. While on a recent business trip to Hawaii, President Kennedy completed arrangements whereby the wonderful spectacle is made accessible to all those inclined to view its grandeur at close range. A daily stage will carry the visitor to the water's edge. With the arrival of the steamer Mauna Kea this morning, a number of pictures, suitable for exhibition purposes, were received.

Several boxes of apples, the gift of Frank Cooke, of Kaimuki, were consumed at the Kakaako Mission last evening when more than 300 girls and boys gathered to participate in the monthly social which has become a feature of the institution. The social was under the auspices of the Boys and Girls Club and the Temperance Legion, and a literary and musical program was rendered.

PORTUGUESE HEAR ADDRESS BY ARMY MAN

Lieut. Lu's A. d'Oliveira Franco, of the division of the Portuguese army stationed on the island of Timor, and who has been visiting in Hawaii during the past three weeks, gave an interesting address in Lusitania Hall Thursday evening which was attended by a large majority of the local Portuguese population. Franco told of the vast colonies which still remain under the standard of Portugal, commenting at first upon the Portuguese discoveries of the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries.

The island of Timor, he said, offers great opportunities for agriculture, the soil being fertile and having access to abundant water supply. The conditions at present are favorable to the development of the Portuguese colony there, and the government offers excellent opportunities to the farmer and the laborer. There are no heavy taxes to pay and the climate is healthy. Lieutenant Franco will leave for San Francisco on the next Korea, and will return to his station at Timor within six months.

Funeral services of Charles R. De ment, who died in this city Wednesday following a prolonged illness, were held on the afternoon of the same day, the remains being cremated and interred in the Nuuanu cemetery. De ment, who was connected with Lovejoy and Company and the Honolulu Brewing and Malting Company, was well known throughout the islands, having come to Honolulu in the early thirties. He had been in poor health for the past five years.

WILSON'S CHOICE A SOUTHERNER

veteran Democrat and prominent in Tennessee politics.

Friends in the Cabinet.

An explanation of McCarn's selection may be in the fact that Attorney General McReynolds is a former Tennessean, having practiced law in Nashville for many years. Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, moreover, practiced law in Tennessee for some years, so that McCarn undoubtedly has good friends in the cabinet.

The selection of McCarn comes as a genuine surprise to Hawaii. While events for some weeks past have pointed to the fact that Senator Coke probably would not be named, it was not known that the Tennessean was even under consideration. John H. Wilson, the Democratic national committeeman for Hawaii, has been reported on good authority as working in the interests of an attorney of Portland, Oregon.

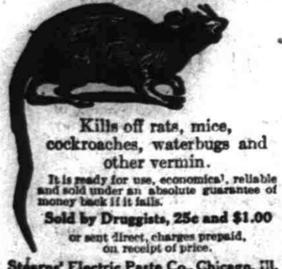

Senator Coke said this morning that the selection of another will give him no heartburnings.

"I have felt for some time that I was not likely to be named," he said, "and but for the insistence of my friends would not have been a candidate at all. I have offered to withdraw, but as I had received practically unanimous endorsement in Hawaii, felt that I should not do so as long as my supporters asked me to remain in the race."

It was pointed out that McCarn's name has not yet been sent to the senate, and that the appointment is therefore not yet definite, but those who heard the news this morning generally agreed that McCarn's name will probably be submitted to the senate at an early date.

A proposition for further advertising Hawaii was presented at the meeting of the Promotion Committee yesterday afternoon by Arthur Street, special representative of the Sunset Magazine. The members of the committee, however, deem it inadvisable to enter into such an agreement at this time as the plans for the fall and winter advertising have been completed and all available funds apportioned.

The garrison of the island will be divided into an attacking and a defending force, but just what disposition or division of the troops is to be made is not yet announced.

Brigadier General Funston, department commander, motored to Schofield this morning, accompanied by Major Conklin, chief of staff, and Lieutenant Colonel Reynolds, sanitary inspector of the department.

Leliehua plain is today a vast camp of men under arms. Three regiments of infantry, with sanitary troops and transportation, composing the 1st Hawaiian Brigade, are under canvas between the Jones ranch house and Castner, and this sea of tentage, wedged in between the new infantry post and the old cantonments, makes Schofield Barracks look like the home of a full division.

ARBOR AND CONSERVATION DAY. The practice, now widespread on the mainland, of setting aside one day each year as Arbor Day, began in Hawaii eight years ago. Since then, here as well as elsewhere, the larger movement for the conservation and development of all natural resources, of which Arbor Day represents only one phase, has made great progress.

Accordingly, I hereby designate Friday, the 14th day of November, 1913, as Arbor and Conservation Day for the Territory of Hawaii and recommend that on that day appropriate exercises be held in all the schools of the territory and that a part of the day be devoted to the planting of trees and shrubs.

STAR-BULLETIN $.75 PER MONTH

PROMISED FOR THE PLAYHOUSES

Miss Helen Dean, who is appearing with the World's Fair Stock Company at the Opera House.

OPERA HOUSE

With tonight's performance "The Deep Purple" will follow other parts of the repertoire of the World's Fair Stock Company and be laid away on the shelf. Like the rest of Paul Armstrong's dramas, this one has found favor with the local audiences. The handling of the piece by members of the stock company has brought them much praise and won them the confidence of Honolulu theatergoers.

Miss Bresse in the role of Frisco Kate, has excelled herself. The good qualities of a woman who has gone through many trials and who is forced through circumstances to allow the blackmailers and other crooks to use her home as a rendezvous are emphasized by the talented actress.

Those who have not seen "The Deep Purple" will do well if they avail themselves of the opportunity tonight. It is a play instructive to those who have had no experience with characters of the underworld as it brings out the fat-lives they are forced to live.

POPULAR THEATER

The presentation of the 2-reel feature film, "Big Rock's Last Stand," a Bison Indian subject, brought forth round after round of applause from the younger generation last night, and very considerably interested the older folks as well. It was very well acted, with that attention to consistent detail that makes the Bison outdoor photoplays so well-known all over the world. There were four other pictures that, divided as they were into drama, comedy and heart interest, supported in the style the leading feature.

This afternoon is Students' Day—three shows, the first starting at 11.30, the second at 1 o'clock, and the third at 2.30. Admission to every student, irrespective of age, is only 5 cents. The main feature will be the screening of a dramatization of that famous poem, "The Raven."

Tonight will be feature night. "The Four-footed Hero," a 2-reel feature, will be shown by special request. In addition, three other 2-reel features will be shown—"The Raven," "Big Rock's Last Stand," and "Shamus O'Brien." All these films have been featured singly—tonight is the chance to see them all for one low price of admission.

BIJOU THEATER

Monte Carter will present today and tonight for the last time "Izzy the King" at the Bijou theater. This bill has crowded the Bijou all the latter half of this week and it is one continual laugh from start to finish. Mr. Carter, as Izzy the mistaken king, has his troubles and also swallows a dynamite pill. An enjoyable feature of this show is the splendid musical selections.

Carter will offer a new show Monday entitled "Lulu," a pretty and snappy musical comedy, with 50 laughs a minute. The cast is exceptionally large for this show and every part is important and will be well acted.

The Dancing Chicks will appear to advantage and will wear some pretty costumes in their various dance numbers. Two shows, one given nightly and a matinee on Saturdays.

BALLPLAYERS ACCEPT HOSPITALITY OF HONOLULU AD CLUB MEMBERS

All-Hawaiian and All-Chinese Teams Will Attend at Opera House Monday Evening—Madame Carusi Will Be Heard in Selections on the Harp—Message Expected from Miss Sylvia Pankhurst

On Board Sierra, at Sea, Oct. 10.
Mr. Curtis, Honolulu Ad Club:
Invitation accepted, thanks.
LAI TIN.
On Board Sierra, at Sea, Oct. 10.
Kind invitation accepted.
DESHA.

The above messages flashed through space by wireless were received this morning by Chairman George B. Curtis of the committee on invitations for the benefit performance of "Going Some" to be given under the auspices of the Honolulu Ad Club Monday evening, and mean that the members of the All-Hawaiian and All-Chinese baseball teams, who will arrive home Monday morning will occupy boxes at the Opera House and join in the big time that is promised by the Ad Club.

Word is anxiously awaited by Chairman Harry L. Strange of the committee on surtax and militantism, of the time of arrival of the Korea in which Miss Sylvia Pankhurst is reported to be a passenger. Further wireless messages have been sent, to the Englishwoman and it is expected that a reply may arrive tonight. In any event Strange is figuring that the militant will deliver an address while here and will avail herself of the opportunity offered by the Ad Club which will permit her to speak for 10 minutes between the acts of "Going Some."

That there is a probability that the report that Miss Pankhurst is on board the Korea is correct is borne out by an article appearing elsewhere in this issue, which is to the effect that her mother is expected to arrive in New York city about October 18, when she will campaign the East and Middle West on behalf of the cause for which she has suffered imprisonment a number of times.

Madame Carusi, a harpist of considerable talent and a composer of a number of excellent selections for that beautiful instrument, has consented to appear at the Ad Club benefit and render a number of selections. Those who have had the pleasure of hearing Madame Carusi play are of the opinion that but few equal her in ability and her compositions are said to rank well with those of the most widely known writers of harpsichord music. This addition to the regular performance will be but one of a great many arranged by the Ad Club for Monday evening, when the performance starts at 7.30.

VON WOELLWARTH PLANS FIGHT TO PROVE HONESTY

German Claiming Noble Birth and Title of Baron Sends Home for Documents

Declaring that he is the victim of circumstances and that he will fight until he establishes his reputation in Honolulu as an honest and honorable man, George Curt von Woellwarth today made a sworn statement to the Star-Bulletin asserting that his title of "baron" is genuine and that in due time he will prove it.

Under the guard of a deputy sheriff, von Woellwarth was today allowed to leave the county jail, where he is held for alleged financial irregularities in which "n.a.t." checks are involved. He had the following communication to the Star-Bulletin attested by a notary public:

Honolulu, T. H., October 10th, 1913.
Editor Honolulu Star-Bulletin.

Sir: Since in connection with the case respecting charges against me for which I am held in custody awaiting trial, articles have appeared in the Honolulu papers of untrue nature, and therefore doubtless have public opinion aroused against me and tended towards marking me as an adventurer or criminal, I issue herewith the following statement for publication:

As far as the case against me is concerned, I state herewith that I am a victim of circumstances. I never defrauded or intended to defraud anyone with whom I have had either private or business dealings. The project I intended to carry out in Honolulu of establishing and building a riding academy was on strictly legal and honorable business principles, and I entered into this dealing on the strength of information received from Germany, that a certain amount of money was coming to me and due me here at the First National Bank, sufficiently large enough to carry out my project. In due time I shall bring, through legal documents, not only the proof of the above statement, but also shall prove to that effect that I am, without the least bit of a doubt, the person I am represented to be, and herewith put to naught the numerous false statements which have been made, concerning my personality.

Certain matters in connection with family affairs, no doubt, have been the cause of the delay in that the money in question did not arrive as stated in the address I received. However, I am in communication on this subject with the authorities in Germany. I do not intend to go into any further particulars about this matter at present than to state that I am the beneficiary of an inheritance from one of the oldest nobles of Germany to a much larger amount than I was to receive at the First National bank, in cash and securities, outside of real estate of a vast area and value, which is partly situated in the kingdom of Wurtemberg and partly in the Rhineland in Prussia.

Through relatives I have been kept out of my rights for years, which caused court proceedings, appeals with decisions in my favor. Breaches of trust and even perjury on account of the fortune involved were done by some members of the family in order to gain their own ends unjustly and thereby virtually rob me of my fortune. All this was done while I was in foreign countries, and only in order to cover the gambling debts of a certain member of the family who holds at the present time a very important and high position in the German government, but also to enable him to keep up his tremendous cost of high life.

If I had been dealt with rightly and honorably from my relatives, since they enjoyed that which was legally mine and under agreement the first installment being due at the time would have held to our family traditions, to keep silent and save the guilty party from ruin. But since my rights and dues have been withheld from me, which caused the trouble I am in now, and marked me here in the eyes of the public in general as an adventurer or criminal, I deem it necessary in order to save my honor and character to expose the acts and facts of the entire persons involved in the matter, and this I will duly announce through the papers as soon as I am in possession of all legal documents.

As regards my personality, I beseech that I was formerly officer in the German army (cavalry). On account of my marriage to a lady of humble parentage, to which my entire family was strongly opposed, and for which marriage I could not obtain the consent of the emperor, I had to resign from the army. After leaving the army, I left with my wife for France, where we lived for some time privately in Paris. It was in Paris where I first took up and followed the profession as riding master. In that city as well as in London, England, and in New York, U. S. I have been connected with the most fashionable riding academies for a number of years as head riding master and have met in the capacity with the greatest success. In Columbus, Ohio, I was chosen judge of the horse show in 1909. As regards my capability in this respect as well as in my profession, not only the sporting papers, but the entire papers of New York and other cities where I have taught the art of horsemanship, have highly commended me, and on these occasions my name, title and former connection with the German army when an officer in same have been sufficiently aired, which alone proves that I am not an adventurer.

All names of persons involved I withhold in the interest of my case

HILLO NOTES

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence]

HILO, Oct. 10.—Dressed only in underclothes, the body of a drowned man, which is still unidentified, was pulled from the Waialua stream yesterday morning, while a crowd of about one hundred people who were at the post office for the mail from the Mauna Kea were onlookers. The man's face and other portions of his body were so badly marred that it was almost impossible to tell the race of the man, although Dr. Stow, the county physician, says that the body is that of an Oriental, but even he is undecided as to whether it is that of a Korean, Japanese or Chinese.

The police are just as mystified as to whether the man was a suicide, the victim of foul play, or an accident. They were inclined to think it probably was an accidental death of a fisherman, until it was pointed out how the man was clothed.

At a meeting of the directors of the Hilo board of trade, held last Tuesday afternoon, the principal thing discussed was the membership applications of the following 18 persons and firms: G. W. Giffard, Dr. E. L. Hutchinson, S. Hata, T. Machida, Zimmerman, B. P. Schoen, C. Brewer & Co., J. M. Gouvea, Japanese Merchants' Association, Lal Hip, Olaa Sugar Company, Jas. Low, Joe Vierra, Honolulu Ad Club, George Willifong, N. C. Willifong, Dr. Schoening and Alvah Scott.

D. E. Metzger expressed surprise when told that the Lord-Young Company was to finish the breakwater work, although he said that he believed the report was probably true. H. L. Truslow, who has been in regarding my defense, but will give same out in due time.

Respectfully yours,

NEW WARSHIP TO BE BUILT AT BROOKLYN YARD

[By Latest Mail] NEW YORK—Plans for battleship No. 39, a new United States super-dreadnought, which is to be built at the Brooklyn navy yard, have been completed and first steps for her construction have been taken. This warship will have a displacement of more than 31,000 tons and will be the most powerful first line battleship of her type.

The ship will be named after one of the states, probably North Carolina or New Mexico. She will carry a main battery of 12 fourteen-inch guns. The secondary battery will be made up of 22 five-inch guns. The battleship will be 608 feet long, with a breadth amidships of 97.5 feet and a depth of 28.10 feet.

E. E. BATTELLE TO LAUNCH LARGE CORPORATION TO HANDLE PROCESS

Local Chemist Has Process That Is Expected To Revolutionize Sugar Industry

Especially at this time, when the sugar tariff has suffered a 25 per cent reduction, and to be entirely removed later, is the process patented by Battelle declared doubly fortunate. But in plain words it undertakes to put white sugar on the market at a price far better than can be done by the refiner. It aims to cut him out of business. Figures are given below to show exactly how much cheaper the plantation, by use of the process, can produce white sugar than the refiner.

E. E. BATTELLE.

"By assuming that the severest competition resulted in the placing of Battelle process sugar on the market and the refiners cut their prices down to actual cost in this fight for the 'survival of the fittest,' very interesting data becomes apparent. 'Adding to the returns of one ton of sugar (the refiner's cost of raw material) the additional estimated costs to produce white sugar by this new method, these results are obtained:

Table showing returns from one ton raw sugar, including costs for lime, operation, and taxes, comparing Battelle's process with the refiner's.

Table showing the refiner's cost for raw material, factory, market, etc., and the total cost to the consumer, comparing Battelle's process.

Table showing the cost of the cold carbonation process, including lime, carbonation, and containers, comparing Battelle's process.

The increased cost for the cold carbonation process over that of the defecation process is taken from the International Sugar Journal of January, 1912, and February, 1912. Geerlings, in the citation, gives this figure at $1.60 per short ton of sugar and De Haan gives it at $1.50, while the average of these figures has been used in the foregoing. Their results are based on actual commercial operations in Java.

The allowance of $5 per ton of molasses may be too low a figure for what is actually obtained on the Louisiana and Java markets, but this will be more than offset by the recovery of a larger amount of sugar by the Battelle process with a well equipped factory on a commercial scale than could be obtained with the small inadequate equipment at Ewa, and, also, the actual cost operation of the Battelle

EXPERIENCE OF MOTHERHOOD

Advice to Expectant Mothers

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Of course nearly every woman nowadays has medical treatment at such times, but many approach the experience with an organism unfitted for the trial of strength, and when it is over her system has received a shock from which it is hard to recover.

There is nothing more charming than a happy and healthy mother of children, and indeed child-birth under the right conditions need be no hazard to health or beauty. The unexplainable thing is that, with all the evidence of shattered nerves and broken health resulting from an unprepared condition, and with ample time in which to prepare, women will persist in going blindly to the trial.

Every woman at this time should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy and strong.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

It's astonishing how possession will decrease the value of most things.

Table showing the value of possessions before and after use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

From the foregoing it is evident, then, that if the refiner sold his granulated sugar at actual cost in competition with the plantation made white sugar by the Battelle process and the latter sugar brought the same price, the producer of these sugars would make in addition to his usual profit on raws, $7.38 with $3 lime, $6.33 with $5 lime and $5.35 with $8 lime. It is to be noted that the plantation white sugar producer is able also to concede $5 per ton differential under the refiner's actual cost and still have a greater profit from these sugars than is made from the production of raw sugar and molasses as is the practice under present conditions. He surely will not stand to lose any of the profits now derived from his raw sugar even in the event of a prolonged depression of white granulated sugar prices and the outcome can only be one way.

From these facts it is certain that Battelle process produces 103 tons white sugar Defecation-sulphitation process produces 93.3 tons white sugar

Table showing the gains from the Battelle process, including returns from Battelle sugar and Def-sul sugar, and increased factory costs.

Table showing the gains from the Java cold carbonation process, including returns from Battelle sugar and Cold carbonation sugar, and increased factory costs.

The increased cost for the cold carbonation process over that of the defecation process is taken from the International Sugar Journal of January, 1912, and February, 1912. Geerlings, in the citation, gives this figure at $1.60 per short ton of sugar and De Haan gives it at $1.50, while the average of these figures has been used in the foregoing. Their results are based on actual commercial operations in Java.

This is a gain of $5.11 over the defecation-sulphitation process, a gain of $5.65 over the Java cold carbonation process and an average of $5.38 gain in profit by the use of the Battelle process over and above the other two processes in question; at least $5.28 a short ton profit in addition to the profit now made in producing white sugar by the other processes—whatever that profit may be.

The allowance of $5 per ton of molasses may be too low a figure for what is actually obtained on the Louisiana and Java markets, but this will be more than offset by the recovery of a larger amount of sugar by the Battelle process with a well equipped factory on a commercial scale than could be obtained with the small inadequate equipment at Ewa, and, also, the actual cost operation of the Battelle process will be lower on a commercial scale than are the estimates based on the small plant. The allowance of $183.00 for 30 1-2 tons of molasses produced by the molasses producing processes, added to the average gain of $501.72 extra profit by the Battelle process, gives $684.72 divided by 30 1-2 tons molasses or $22.45 per short ton of low grade molasses produced. In other words sugar cane molasses has a value of $22.45 per short ton when treated by the Steffen process. This value corresponds very closely, when the cheaper method of producing lime by the rotary kiln is considered, with the contention of the sugar beet people that beet molasses is worth about $20 when applied to the lime-separation process.

This process—a product of Hawaii—places the cane sugar people in precisely the same position to produce white granulated sugar as the beet people, and it seems reasonable to say that if the American beet-sugar industry will survive a protracted period of free sugar, then, too, the continental cane sugar producers are able to do the same. The ultimate effect of free sugar in the United States can only be speculation at this time, but it is evident, from the above figures, that this new process of white sugar manufacture will be an important factor in deciding the fate of at least a part of the home cane industry. Would Increase Profit. Dr. Norris, in making his report of the experiments, sums up his experiments with the following conclusions: "The Battelle process can be worked on a manufacturing scale to produce either raw or white sugar, with or without the addition of lime saccharate process for the recovery of sugar in the waste molasses. "The recovery of sugar by this process, worked without the molasses treatment, is so much less than by the defecation process as to make it unprofitable for manufacturing either raw or white sugar. "The increased recovery of sugar, as calculated from the results obtained, through the application of lime saccharate process on the waste molasses, is such as to indicate a substantial increase in the profit of the manufacturing of white sugar direct, new company is under way now.

TRIPLE TIE POSSIBLE TOMORROW

Positions in Oahu League Hold Out Opportunity for Some Grand Ball-Playing

Tomorrow's games in the Oahu League series will end the second relay of the league games and the possibility of a triple tie is very evident.

"Handsome" Tye Lawson will again officiate on the mound for the Coast League, with Parese's kinsman, Scott, opposing him for the Portuenses.

In the second game, Moriyama will do the honors for the Japanese and provided the Japs can withhold the tendency to throw the ball around, the Asahis should give the Stars a hard rub.

For the Stars, "McGraw" Notley has pinned his faith on pitcher Willis to bring home the bacon, and backed by a hard-hitting combination, Willis should be able to tide over the hard place.

MONDAY'S MATCHES IN TENNIS TOURNAMENT

4:00 p. m.—Puris vs. Schmutsler. 4:45 p. m.—Puris vs. Oss. Worrall vs. Larimer.

The third round in the Y. M. C. A. tennis tournament will be finished Monday afternoon with the three matches scheduled above.

Schmutsler won his right to play in the semi-finals which begin Tuesday, when he won a close contest from Lieberman yesterday, 6-4, 6-4.

Ricker and Edgewood completed their match which had been stopped by darkness on the previous day, Ricker winning 4-6, 6-3, 6-5.

The fastest tennis of the afternoon was shown when Puris and Cross played their deciding set which resulted in a victory for Puris, the final score standing 6-4, 7-5, 6-4.

It is probably that the singles will be completed by Thursday of next week. Monday, October 14, is the date set for the opening of the doubles matches.

HARRISON RECEPTION COMMITTEE CONTAINED MEMBER WITH RECORD

(By Latest Mail) MANILA, P. I.—Senor Osmea, leader of the Filipino Native Assembly, appointed Simeon Villa a member of the committee which welcomed Francis Burton Harrison, newly appointed governor-general of the Philippines.

Senor Villa, when he was a major in the insurgent army, is charged, among other things, with having locked a gun and a friar in the same room. The most revolting story of his career in the army is that of the manner in which he tortured to death a lieutenant in the United States army who had fallen into his hands. Senor Villa, according to that charge, deprived his prisoner of food and water, and when the lieutenant begged for something to eat, pieces of his own flesh were cut away and offered to him by Senor Villa's orders. When the insurrection was nearly suppressed, Senor Villa fled to Japan and remained there until the amnesty bill, making him immune from punishment for past offenses, had been passed. His accomplices, however, were sentenced by the courts.

HIT OR MISS IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

CATCHER MEYERS OF THE GIANTS A GOOD INDIAN

Since the world's series opened, or to be more exact, since the day of the second game, in Philadelphia, when he split a finger during practice, we have heard a good deal of "Chief" Meyers. That is, we have heard about him in a negative way—what he would have done for the Giant shtimmen had he been able to receive their shots and slants. It's a great pity that the big backstop was laid out, for he is some catcher in spite of his lack of speed on the paths, and his hitting makes up for a lot of this. Although by no means a dead Indian, Meyers is generally considered a good Indian.

John Meyers is another one of those Big League ball players who causes the assembled spectators at a game to put their hands up to their mouths and give an imitation of a warwhoop which sounds like a lot of Knights of Columbus on an outing when it is getting late. This signals the crowd is hep that Meyers is an Indian. He is also generally known as the "Chief."

The "Chief" has been in the National League since 1908, yet, through the compiling of a careful record, it has been proved that he has never gone to the bat without some spectator giving a warwhoop. The chances seem to be that he never will.

His real name is not Meyers, but Torres, John getting tired of that soon after leaving the reservation and looking around for a useful cognomen worn pretty generally by prosperous Americans.

John Torres used to be a raisin picker out in Fresno, Cal., but he did not like the job and later moved down into New Mexico, where he got taken on as a government interpreter and played ball on the side. The story down there is that he did more ball playing than interpreting.

One day a representative of Dartmouth college got a look at the mission furniture architecture of Meyers, was taken with it, and concluded he would fill a cavity left in the football team through the unfortunate graduation of a star. He took Meyers back to Dartmouth to get an education, but somebody found out the "Chief" had once accepted money for playing baseball, so they kept him off the football eleven, and, after about a year, the education idea went all to pieces.

Meyers began his real education with the Harrisburg club of the Tri-State League, but they did not offer him another engagement after the first season, so he moved out west to Butte, Mont., where the manager of that team happened to be short of a catcher. The new boss wrote to the Harrisburg manager to inquire about Meyers' possibilities.

"He hits all right, but he'll never make a catcher," came the answer. This is the word which has always been passed along with the "Chief," even when McGraw bought him in 1908 from the St. Paul club of the American association.

"Yet I am still sucking," said Meyers recently, "so I must have something." The Indian came to the Giants in the spring of 1909, and has done the bulk of the catching almost ever since. He has always been a vicious hitter and nearly drove some of the pitchers out of the league in the early months of his first season until they discovered that a ball on the inside was harder for him to connect with than those served elsewhere. However, he is still making out fairly well and takes his batting nourishment regularly.

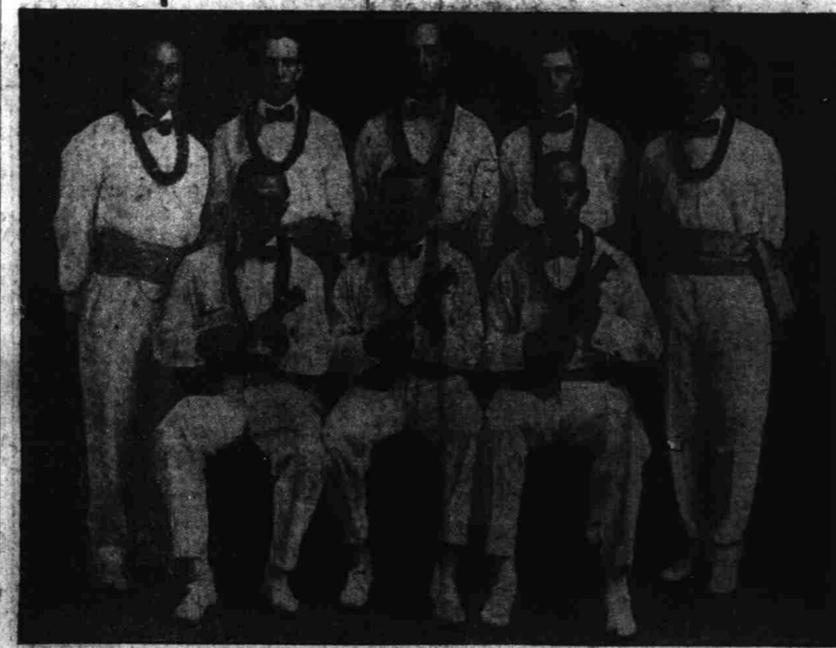

Meyers, at present, is rated to be one of the best catchers in the National League. His single fault is his lack of speed on his feet, but he throws well, is always in the game, and can stand any amount of physical strength. But when he runs—you imagine he is marking time. Meyers once went into vaudeville, and proved conclusively that, as an actor, he is a great ball player. He has promised never to do it again. He is 28 years old and very much married.

LOWREY AND CASTLE TAKE MOANA FINALS

Allan Lowrey and Al Castle captured the Moana Tennis Club men's doubles, last night, by defeating R. A. Cooke and W. P. Roth, 6-1 and 8-6. A large throng of tennis enthusiasts was out for the final game of the 1913 championship season, each set of contestants having a goodly share of supporters among the audience. Following the close of play, William R. Castle presented the trophies of the tournament to the winners, Roth and Cooke leading in three times three cheers for their conquerors.

They'll be With Us Again Monday

The All-Chinese and All-Hawaiian baseball teams, that have been on tour of the mainland for months past, with a brilliant record of games won, will arrive here on the liner Sierra Monday morning. Plans are being made to give both aggregations a royal welcome home, and undoubtedly a large crowd will be at the Oceanic Dock to say aloha, in spite of the early hour.

The All-Hawaiian team made good on the stage as well as on the diamond, giving a number of concerts throughout the Middle West. The above picture shows some of the players in stage costume. Reading from left to right, the men in the picture are: Standing—Himaka, H. Chillingworth, E. Desha, Cushingam, Lota. Seated—W. Desha, W. Williams, A. Desha. Chillingworth returned several weeks ago, the picture being taken just before he left the team.

Each of these teams has accepted the invitation of the Honolulu Ad Club to be the guests of that organization at the Opera House Monday night, wireless messages having been received this morning.

HIGHS AND TOWNIES IN FIRST GAME

LIONEL BRASH Speedy Back-fielder of the High School

With the strongest line-up that could be culled from the ranks of those former football stars who have deserted school for work, the Townies are going into their game with the High School on Alexander Field this afternoon with a determination to bring home the cured pork. And there is going to be something doing. The fans were not over-pleased with the one-sided game last week, and the fellows who are going to do the work today realize that they have got to put up something in the way of a good contest or else football in Honolulu is liable to receive a knock-out.

After four weeks of hard training, both the Highs and the Townies will take the field in good condition. It is their first appearance in local gridiron circles this season, and every indication points that the contest will be well worth the 25 cents admission. The High School will have several of last year's players in the field, while three or four new men have added strength to the line-up. As for the Townies, every man has had past experience, and the manner in which they have perfected their team work, and their signals, will depend largely upon whether or not they play a winning game.

The game should be fast from start to finish, and will start promptly at 3 o'clock.

Following is the line-up of the Townies: C. Tinker, r. e.; J. Holt, l. e.; B.

In his message to Ouimet the oil king says: "I congratulate you upon your American victory. I admire your ideas upon temperance." JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER.

HILO SPORTING NOTES

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence) HILO, Oct. 10.—In the nine innings game played at Laupahoehoe on Sunday last the Railroad baseball team defeated the local nine by twelve to three, after having all the better of a slugging match, in which no less than twenty-nine hits were made. As usual, the pitching and hitting of Kamau, backed by the stick work of May, Botelho and Afflaque, cinched the game.

On Sunday next the Railroaders will play the von Hamm-Youngs on the Mooheau park and, on the following Sunday, Laptown will visit Hilo in search of revenge.

Hilo Boy Scouts, Troop 2, held a tennis doubles championship for the troop last Saturday on the Vickers courts. The team composed of Geo. Vickers and Abram Gurney carried off the honors winning the final game from Ever Holmes and Milton McNICOLL, 6-4, 6-4.

For the first time during this season of the Hilo baseball league, a team got huffed at the decision of the umpire and threw up the game. This happened last Sunday in the seventh inning of the game between the C. A. C.'s and the J. A. C.'s, the Chinese being given the game as the score stood six to one in their favor. In the other game, the Hawaiiis won from the druggists by a nine to six score.

ARBITRATORS HOLD DECISION ON THE PROTEST

The board of arbitration of the Oahu Baseball League met at A. L. Castle's office yesterday afternoon and heard evidence on the Star-Coast Defense protest. No decision was arrived at, the board believing the case of enough consequence to require further consideration and looking up of authorities.

A final decision is to be made, however, before the games tomorrow, the board meeting tomorrow morning to settle the question. It is thought now that at least one or two counts of the Notley protest will be thrown out, questions of judgment being involved upon which no appeal can be taken. In the first count, however, the Stars seem to have made out a strong case and, though a protest of any game is to be regretted, it looks as if the Notley men are entitled to the benefit of a play-over.

ALL HOPE GONE Helpful Truths Every Man, Young, Old, and Middle-aged, Should Know About Himself.

THE WONDERFUL PERSIAN NERVE ESSENCE.

Nothing can be more sad or trying than to see life slowly but surely ebbing away. It is a distress to the beholder as well as the victim. And yet to see thousands of such victims every day—weak, pallid, nervous men, who seem to have lost all interest in life and to have given up all hopes of being cured. Numerous causes lead to the decline of vitality. It is by no means unusual to see a man apparently full of health and vigor suddenly begin to decline without knowing why. The family doctor to whom he applies cannot tell the reason for the sudden change, and treats him for malaria, liver trouble, catarrh, or what not. He tries various medicines without relief. His life is slowly but perceptibly ebbing away.

BACK TO HEALTH.

Such cases excite our profound sympathy, because we know just what the trouble is. We extend to each one of these suffering men the right hand of fellowship, and ask the privilege of leading them back to health and happiness with our wonderful discovery—Persian Nerve Essence. It is meant to cure just what they are afflicted with, and will do it in every case without fail.

What is life without health? Perhaps there are men fortunate enough to read our grand message, who are contemplating marriage, but who are all run down. Such men will receive invaluable benefit from Persian Nerve Essence, which will restore their health and manly vigor in a very short time.

Persian Nerve Essence has brought happiness into thousands of homes and made marriage possible to men who had tried hundreds of other remedies without receiving any benefit. Just think what a little box of Persian Nerve Essence will do. Think of the untold happiness, the strength, the vigor and manhood that is chemically combined in our laboratory and put into those little pills, and which immediately act upon the system and produce their beneficent effects. Nothing in all medical science is so wonderful in its effects upon the human system as these little Oriental tablets known as Persian Nerve Essence.

A NEW MAN.

It brings the flush of health to the pale, wasted cheek, and imbues every step with bounding elasticity. It will bring back the fire and brilliancy to the lustreless eye and electrify the whole being. It acts upon the delicate tissues and builds up the shrunken parts. It makes a new man, fit to take his place in the world as a husband and as a father.

Persian Nerve Essence is a medicine that has restored the manhood and vigor to thousands of men—young, old and middle-aged. It positively cures all cases of nervousness, sleeplessness, impotency, wasting of parts, lost vigor, wakefulness, neurasthenia, dependency and nervous prostration. Get a box and become a new man.

One box will do you a great deal of good, but six will completely cure you. Persian Nerve Essence comes in a convenient tablet form, and it is carefully compounded from purely vegetable ingredients, and contains no mercury or other injurious drugs. You will not be disappointed with Persian Nerve Essence, in fact, we give an

ABSOLUTE GUARANTEE

Six boxes will make a permanent cure or the money will be refunded. The proprietors, The Brown Export Co., 95-07 Liberty St., New York, N. Y. Send us earnestly any sufferer to give Persian Nerve Essence a good fair trial at their risk. Don't delay, commence now—to-day—and be a well man. For sale by all chemists.

OFFICIALLY, the first world's series in the history of baseball was played in October, 1884, when the Providence club of the National League defeated the Metropolitan of New York, champions of the American Association, for the coveted rag. There was a contest for the world's championship long before that, however, and the first world's pennant was won by a Canadian club, representing Hamilton, Ont. It was in September, 1865, that this pioneer world's series was pulled off. The big tournament was held in Detroit, where the game, then in its infancy, had gained a certain hold. Many wealthy men of Tiger-town were ardent fans, and they backed the scheme with their coin. The teams entered in the tournament were all amateur aggregations, as professional baseball had not yet been born. The cities represented were Detroit, Cleveland, Chicago, Buffalo, Albany, Boston, Philadelphia, New York, Brooklyn, Pittsburgh, Montreal, Quebec, Toronto and Hamilton. The latter city entered a club called the Unknowns, and they grabbed the rag after a stars' chase. Under the rules adopted for the series, each game was to consist of three innings, and each team was to play 42 games. The tournament lasted six days, and was a continuous performance from morning to night. The finish was close and exciting. In the final contest the Hamilton Unknowns were pitted against the Buffalo Reds. The club from the Ontario city needed that game to win the pennant. Under the rules in vogue at the tournament, the team winning two of the three innings got the game. The Reds and the Unknowns each won an inning, and Buffalo got six runs in their half of the third round. Hamilton then went to bat and had scored three runs when a player named La Rue faced the pitcher. He smashed the pill over the fence, but while rounding first he sprained his ankle. While the Buffalo fielders were searching for the ball a doctor bandaged La Rue's foot. As one doctor retarded the side, it seemed to be all over for Hamilton. After having his injured member attended to, however, La Rue bobbed around his bases and got home a few seconds before the ball. The Unknowns then hammered out three more runs and won the game and the first world's championship. Canada again came to the front in 1877, when the London, Ont. Telemachs won the first pennant in the pioneer international league, beating out Pittsboro, Columbia, Evan, Rochester, Manchester, N. H., and Guelph, Ont. Buffalo entered the league the following year and capped the flag.

Efforts are to be made to retain for another year two baseball clubs in Portland, Oregon. At a special meeting of the directors of the Northwestern League held in Seattle recently, a committee was appointed to take up the question with officials of the Pacific Coast League, who recently ruled that lesser leagues may not enter Pacific Coast League territory. The members of the committee are President Fielder Jones of the Northwestern League, D. E. Dugdale, Seattle; F. C. Farr, Spokane, and Joe McGlinn, Tacoma. They will request that the Portland club of the Northwestern League be permitted to remain in Portland for another year.

This year's pennant was won by Vancouver.

Probably the sporting public likes to be bunked by the big guns of the diamond, and it will be a keen disappointment to many fans not to absorb through the medium of their paper the wise observations approposely made by big league stars. The recent ruling that players will not be allowed to write for the newspapers, but will have to attend strictly to the business of playing ball, is really a protection to the public, for very little of the stuff appearing under distinguished names is actually written by owners of those names.

Ban Johnson is right in taking the position that this is an imposition on the public. He has accomplished much in different lines of endeavor, but to prevent well-known players from picking up easy money through the use of their name is rather difficult.

The St. Louis Sporting News, through its editor, Mr. Obenshain, expresses the opinion that if ball players must be "authors" the job should be done right. Mr. Obenshain would make 'em prepare an affidavit that they really compiled the language to which their names are signed. Here is his idea:

We would like to jump into the breach with a suggestion. It is that any story purporting to have been written by a player shall be led off with an affidavit to that effect, and that no story not accompanied by an affidavit shall be permitted publication. Absence of the affidavit will be admission that the story is a fake which will confound the perpetrator on its face.

And think what an interesting lead to a fairly account of the world's series the sort of an affidavit would be: "This is to certify that the following was written by me without no aid or coaching by no other party. Signed Thomas Jones, his (X) mark."

DR. WEYMOUTH WAS OLD MAUI REC-TOR IN ENGLISH-SPEAKING CHURCH

Had Been Physician and Pastor and Was Veteran of Civil War

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence] LAHAINA, Maui, Oct. 8.—In the death of Rev. Albert Blodgett Weymouth, M. D., the island of Maui loses one of its oldest and most respected citizens. Being seventy-four years of age, and for twelve years a resident of Lahaina, six of which he was rector of the Church of the Holy Innocents, Dr. Weymouth was the oldest in years and in service of the English speaking ministers of this island.

Last Saturday, Dr. Weymouth visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Gannon, and said he was not feeling as well as usual. His friends urged him to stay and so he spent Saturday night with them. Sunday morning he did not regain his strength.

His absence from church on Sunday was the first indication of his real weakness, although his friends had recently noticed that he had not seemed quite as strong as usual. Dr. Burt was called, and on Monday his condition was more serious than that of Sunday. In the afternoon he spoke of a little distress in his side. Other than this slight discomfort he was simply weak and worn out. It was from the weakness of old age that he died at nine o'clock Monday night. With no relatives other than a distant cousin, Dr. Weymouth passed his last days among friends. He was conscious to within an hour of his death, and gave Rev. John Knox Bodet, rector of the Church of the Holy Innocents, and Mrs. Gannon, his last wishes concerning his burial. Every wish even to the choice of hymns was carefully carried out.

Monitors for Veterans.

The funeral services were held this afternoon at three with the reading of Scripture by Rev. J. K. Bodet and prayer by Rev. R. B. Dodge at the house. The body was then borne to the church by the following pall bearers: John E. Gannon, Arthur Waal, George Freeland, Charles B. Cockett, Alfred N. Hayselden and Richard Hoee. Here the service was conducted by Rev. J. K. Bodet. The hymns were Dr. Weymouth's favorites, which he dearly loved, two of which he tried to repeat on Monday: "Ten Thousand Times Ten Thousand," "Angels of Jesus," "He leadeth me." The procession formed outside of the church with Company L leading. After the hearse came the choir, Revs. Bodet, Bowditch and Dodge, the Masons, forty in number, with George Wright as Marshall, and the vestrymen of the Church of the Good Shepherd, where Dr. Weymouth had supplied for several months during the absence of the minister. The long line of the procession was made up of people from all parts of Maui, and many from Lahaina.

At the grave, Rev. J. K. Bodet gave the short committal service, which was followed by the full Masonic burial service read by Master Wren W. Westcoat, and other officers of Maui lodge. At the close of this service, all the people joined in singing "Abide with Me." Company L then fired a volley and sounded taps in honor of the deceased, who was a soldier in the civil war.

Albert Blodgett Weymouth was born in Chelsea, Mass., March 18, 1839, and was the only child of Dr. Aurelius L. and Mary Anstis Weymouth. He was a direct descendant of Captain George Weymouth, who sailed from Dartmouth in Devonshire and made discoveries on the coast of Maine in 1605, and set up a cross on the island of Monhegan.

Dr. Weymouth received his education first in the grammar and high schools of Medford, Mass. He spent four years in the Boston Latin school where he prepared for Harvard university, which graduated him with the degree of bachelor of arts and which later honored him with the degree of master of arts. He received the degree of master of arts also from Acadia university in Nova Scotia. Both New York university and Bowdoin college honored him with the title of M. D. He was a member of the historical societies of Maine and Wisconsin, and for several years a Fellow of the Horticultural Society of London, England. He began his practice of medicine in Boston and vicinity, where he was a physician for over fifteen years. He was also engaged in journalistic work in Boston. In October, 1887, he moved to California, and was on the staff of a Los Angeles daily paper for several years.

Service in the Church.

His work in the church began in 1893, when he was appointed lay reader. For 14 months he was a city missionary in San Francisco. In 1896 he was admitted to holy orders in Los Angeles by Bishop Johnson. In this same city he was on duty at the pro-cathedral, again in Vernon and in Orange.

In the year 1900 Dr. Weymouth arrived in Honolulu and from that date was associated with the church in Hawaii. For two months after his arrival he assisted at St. Andrew's cathedral. The next year, on February 19, he arrived at Lahaina, where he began his work at the Church of the Holy Innocents. The next year he was honored with the appointment as canon of St. Andrew's. This office he resigned in 1907, because of ill health. The year before, he gave up his direct responsibility as priest in charge of the Lahaina church. With assistance from a cousin he was now able to fulfill a long cherished desire to visit the Holy Land. In 1906 he took this trip and continued the journey around the world.

Dr. Weymouth was a careful student and an incessant reader. He was much interested in Masonry, and wherever he resided was regarded as an authority by members of that fraternity. He was a Knight Templar and a thirty-second degree Mason in the Scottish Rite. He was a student of occult mysteries and psychic research. He had recently contributed several articles to the Journal of the Society for Psychical Research and also to Light, a weekly paper in London, England.

TWO-SPEED AXLE IS COMING SOON; ON CADILLACS

"In these days of innovations and quick transitions," says a recent editorial in "The Automobile," one of the authorities of the industry, "it is questionable if the two-speed axle, now that it has been announced by the Cadillac Company, will not be taken up with avidity. The two-speed axle is more needed today than ever before, first because cars are being made heavier and motors milder, and second because fuel consumption is being given more consideration than ever before.

"There is need for greater fuel economy, as many cars are entirely too extravagant on fuel. The reduction in motor dimensions tends to reduce the fuel consumption, but the added weights place a handicap on it. The two-speed axle used in conjunction with a three or four-speed gearbox will give all the speed variations that present road conditions demand.

"The two-speed axle is most necessary in level, as well as in hilly countries, and it is particularly necessary where there is much driving in cities and also in the open country. Hosts of cars are driven 90 per cent of the time in the city; others 90 per cent of the time in the open; and both have the same gear ratio. With city driving at 15 miles per hour and country driving around 25 or 30 miles per hour, it is certain that in both cases the motor cannot be operating within its range of maximum efficiency. If its efficiency range suits the city field, then it does not suit the country situation so well, and vice versa. The two-speed axle meets these requirements and gives each owner direct drive. Not only will the motor have a longer life, but the wear and strain on all of the other parts of the car will be correspondingly reduced.

"For hilly countries there is ample necessity for two direct drives, as afforded by the two-speed axle. In many states there is entirely too much second-speed work on hills which is made necessary by the bad approaches and the frequent rough bridge where the ascent begins. Some drivers will rush the rough approach and the rough bridge at the expense of tires and the car in general, many prefer to practically slow down and make the hill on second or perhaps low.

"The value of the two-speed axle becomes more apparent also because of the more general use of high-speed, smaller-sized motors. With these motors it is essential to keep the speed well up on the hills as, if it drops, low gear will have to be brought into use, the two-speed axle will offer double opportunity in such work.

"In level country touring the two-speed axle will give relatively high touring speeds with a small motor without continuous high racing."

PIERCE-ARROW BUILDS SOUND-PROOF HOUSE

There are two things automobile engineering departments are striving for—silence and its resultant high mechanical efficiency. Silence with durability is obtained only by the most careful designing and fitting of every piece of material.

The Pierce-Arrow Motor Car Company has even gone so far to obtain absolute silence in their transmission as to build a sound proof house of glass on their transmission assembly floor for testing out all their transmissions.

After the different parts that go to make up the transmission case are ready for the car, they have to pass this last test for silence. The conditions of this test are made to conform as nearly as possible to the actual conditions of a car on the road. An electric motor takes the place of the regular motor and a rear axle working against pressure produces resistance equal to that of a car actually running on the road. If noise is found by this inspector in the glass house the transmission goes back for correction and continues to go back until it receives his O. K. for absolute silence.

SUGAR MILL ENGINEERS ARE READY FOR ANNUAL MEETING

Pertinent Questions Will Be Answered by Members of Association

A convention of the sugar mill engineers is to be held in Honolulu October 20 and 21 under the auspices of the Hawaiian Engineering Association.

It is intended to make these meetings annual affairs and the committee in charge of the meeting expects a large attendance. It has been felt for some time that it would be of great benefit to the engineers located on the other islands if they could be brought together once a year to discuss the different phases of their work connected with the mill end of the sugar industry.

The planters regularly hold a meeting once a year under the auspices of the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association, when topics dealing with all branches of the sugar industry are brought up and discussed, and the idea has, therefore, been conceived by the Hawaiian Engineering Association to hold similar annual meetings for the mill engineers.

A series of 50 questions has been prepared and mailed to all the mill engineers, ten questions being under each of the following headings:

Mill, Boilers and Furnaces, Clarifiers and Evaporators, Vacuum Pans and Sugar Room, Labor Saving Devices, and General Questions.

Each of the committee men has one of these headings in charge and after the questions have been received they will be tabulated and presented in the form of a paper by the different committee men. A general discussion will then follow, all of which will be incorporated as proceedings of the meeting in a publication printed by the Hawaiian Engineering Association.

The questions are as follows:

Questions on Milling.

1. Will offsetting the hydraulic stracks under the mill equalize the strain on the top roller?
2. What is your opinion of high roller speed versus low roller speed?
3. What number of rolls do you consider necessary to obtain the best all-around results? Is there a limit to the extraction of sucrose in the cane, all things being considered?
4. What type of housing do you consider the most efficient, economical and convenient?
5. Do you favor any particular grade of iron and pitch of grooving for your rollers?

What has been your experience with rollers of different diameters housed together and how do you arrange them?

7. What is the most effective method of applying maceration water? Do you prefer any particular temperature?

8. Do you work on the basis of a constantly increasing pressure from first to last mill or vice versa?

9. On what theory do you work in reducing the moisture of bagasse?

10. Do you believe in raising the heel of a returner bar so that its surface is practically concentric with the top roll, or should there be a constantly increasing opening from toe to heel?

Questions on Boilers and Furnaces.

1. What type of boiler and setting do you consider most efficient and economical?

2. Do you believe in the use of reducing valves or in one set of boilers at low pressure for boiling house work and another at high pressure for power purposes?

3. What is the best method of preventing scale formation?

4. Do you consider the burning of waste molasses as supplementary fuel of any great benefit?

5. What is the face value of bagasse to you?

6. What, in your opinion, is the proper amount of bagasse to burn per square foot of grate area?

7. Will the same furnace do for all kinds of bagasse?

8. How can a high furnace temperature and a low stack temperature be best maintained?

9. Have you found differences in the fuel qualities of bagasse derived from different varieties of cane of same fiber content?

10. What is your opinion of bagasse driers?

Questions on Clarifiers and Evaporators.

1. Have you any preference among the various systems of clarification and why?

2. What do you think of Pre-Evaporators?

3. What do you consider to be the best method to prevent entrainment?

4. What is your opinion regarding the juice inlets on a Standard Evaporator?

5. Is it more economical to have central condensation?

6. What is the best method of cleaning evaporator tubes?

7. What type of evaporator do you consider the most efficient and economical?

8. At the end of a week's run, which effect is the dirtiest? (State in this connection whether your effect is double, triple or quadruple).

9. What do you think of providing an extra cell to be cut in, say, at the middle of the week, and to replace that cell which is inclined, on account of being dirty, to hold back the mill?

10. Do you believe in "double pressing" of filtrates or is steaming and washing sufficient?

Questions on Vacuum Pans and Sugar Room.

1. Do you believe in each pan having its own condenser and pump, or is it advisable to operate all the pans on a central system?

2. Have you any opinion in regard to proportioning pans with reference to a definite heating surface and size of vapor pipes?

3. What is the best method of elevating "seed grain" to the pan floor and introducing it to the pan?

4. Are you in favor of coil or calandria pans?

5. What do you consider to be the best type of conveyor under centrifugals for handling high and low grade sugars?

6. Do you think that low grades dry as well in 40-in. machines as in 50-in. machines? or do you think that larger size should be used on shipping sugars and the smaller on low grades?

7. Do you prefer suspended spindle machines or machines with a bearing at the bottom?

8. Do you prefer the belt drive machine to the water driven or electric motor driven?

9. Do you believe in the use of a stirrer in the "mixer" to maintain the masecuite at a uniform density?

10. Are you of the opinion that crystallizers tend to increase sucrose recovery from masecutes or do they merely reduce the quantity of masecutes on hand?

Labor Saving Devices and General Questions.

1. Describe fully any devices or methods, of your own design or otherwise, which have been the means of saving time and money in the mill under your direction as engineer in charge.

2. What effect have labor saving devices on your men?

3. Do you believe in introducing devices in the factory which, while not reducing the number of men employed, lightens their labor?

4. Do you think the weekly reports from the experiment station should contain more information of interest to mill engineers?

5. The following have been suggested for insertion in the mill reports: (a) Kind of cane ground.

(b) Tons cane per lineal foot of roll per hour.

(c) Surface speed of rolls on first and last mills.

(d) Percentage of juice extraction (Can you suggest others?).

6. What is your opinion of bag sewers and markers as labor saving devices?

7. Do you believe in electrification of sugar mill machinery?

8. Have you any choice between reciprocity and centrifugal pumps?

MARKET SHOWS FAVORABLE SIGNS WITH PRICES STEADY, TRADING GOOD

Sugar Stocks Change Hands and Figures Fail to Drop with Buying and Selling

The stock and bond market showed a good many favorable signs this week. The dealing was spread out over more stocks than for some weeks previous, and the trading was about evenly divided among the six days under review.

As a rule the prices of sugar stocks did not change during the week. The selling of Hawaiian Commercial, Oahu Sugar—the three largest—dealt most heavily in—did not force their prices down.

If the real estate market several sales were made and several are under way. There is a distinct improvement in that market, the demand for business and residential property fast becoming stronger, say the real property dealers.

The 1232 shares sold during the 6-day period ending Friday brought proceeds amounting to $15,697.75. More stock was disposed of this week than last, and the market showed buoyancy. The number of shares changing hands was 1012 as against 1232 for the corresponding period last week.

The chief sellers were Oia, Oahu Sugar, Hawaiian Commercial and H. B. & M. None of the sugar stocks changed hands during the week, but in the case of H. B. & M. steady increases throughout the period are noted. First selling at 21, then 21.25, then 21.37 1/2, the stock closed Friday at 21.50. Oia stayed at 125; Oahu Sugar at 12.25; Hawaiian Commercial at 25.75. Two hundred and seven shares of the latter stock changed hands; 305 of Oahu; 150 of H. B. & M.; 207 Hawaiian Commercial, and 445 Oia.

Several hundred shares of Honolulu Consolidated Oil were bought Thursday afternoon at 1.95, a fractional gain over its last sale. It is reported on the street that bids are being made for the stock at the same figure but that none of it is to be had at the price given. Reports were circulated, and given publication this week, that Honolulu Consolidated had a large concealed indebtedness. But this report has been met with emphatic denials.

The indebtedness referred to in the report was for land obtained, or to be obtained from the original locators by the company. It has been pointed out that the company has merely an option on the property, with the right to develop it if it wishes, and pay for what land it obtains a patent on at a certain and fixed price.

Ewa lost a half point during the week. Four sales were made transferring 30 shares, the first 20 of which changed hands at 16.50, the balance disposed of Friday, at 16. In other stocks dealt in the price remained the same during the week.

Six shares of Mutual Telephone brought 18.25 shares of Hilo Com. 3.25, 25 Piles went at 35.50, 50 Hawaiian Sugar at 27.75; five Hutchinson at 13.20 Onomea at 21.50, five McBryde at 2, and 9 Pahang Rubber at 12.50.

The federal game laws are the subject of a bulletin of the U. S. department of agriculture which has just reached here. It is called "A Summary of the Provisions Relating to Seasons, Export, Sale Limits and Licenses." It also gives the game law legislation of the states.

Two sets of bids were opened this week in the office of the city and county clerk. The first was for the construction of the bridge over the Paoua stream at Port street. Five tenders were received. Lord Young put in the lowest bid at $2525; Picanco & Co. bid $4670; F. B. Egan, $2832; Pacific Engineering Co., $2785; Honolulu Planning Mill, $3965.

The second tenders called for the completion of the belt road of the Heeia section. Only one bid was received, which came from John A. Wilson, for $5322.46.

W. A. Anderson, the representative of the federal experiment station in the Nahaiku district, is in the city. He has reported to Dr. E. F. Wilcox, the agent in charge of the federal experiment station, that the experiments to grow rosehips between the rubber tree rows is meeting with success. He also has reported the rubber trees to be in fine condition.

"Moses was the great lawyer," said the student. "Yes. And a wonderful part of his work was the way he managed to put so many great laws into effect without the assistance of a lobby."

Mrs. Alfred Eames, one of the prettiest brides of the season.

A WINSOME bride was Carrie McLean when she was married to Alfred Eames. And such a pretty wedding—well appreciated by the two hundred or more guests who filled Central Union church. The decorations were in yellow and green. The altar was banked with ferns and palms while on either side were tall jardiniere of yellow Japanese lilies. First inklings of the approaching bridal party came when Mr. A. B. Ingalls rendered a beautiful program on the organ, his selections including Prelude and Fugue in E major by Bach, Pigrin's chorus from Tannhauser by Wagner, Grand chorus by Lemaire, two melodies by Balzac, and Gantlene (from eleventh organ sonata) by Rheinberger. Promptly at 3:30 o'clock the strains of Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus were heard and the wedding party entered. The three gaily bridesmaids were gowned in crepe meteor in shades of yellow. Miss Laura Atherton, who came first, wore the palest lemon color. Miss Sara Pratt, second in line, wore a more vivid shade, while Miss Ruth Anderson was in the deepest gold color. In their hair they wore allures of yellow tulle. In effective contrast, they carried clusters of long-stemmed red roses mingled with yellow tulle. Miss Helen McLean, who served her sister as maid of honor, was charmingly tricked in blue crepe meteor with embellishments of lace and rhinestones. She carried a silver basket filled with the rich red roses and maidenhair fern. The gifts of the bride to her attendants were dainty gold pins, "friendship circles" matching stickpins, the groom's gift to the ushers.

The bride, who entered upon the arm of her father, Mr. James Louzada McLean, wore a beautiful gown of heavy white satin made with a draped skirt and a full rounded train caught in two places with orange blossoms. The bodice was of exquisite point lace. The long tulle veil was fastened in place with a dainty cap about the head made from a new old lace handkerchief—Miss McLean making the fifth bride to wear this lovely head covering. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley, her only ornament being a platinum necklace set with diamonds and pearls, the gift of the groom.

Mrs. James McLean, the mother of the bride, was attired in a handsome frock of pale orchid-colored charreuse with a bodice of Maltese lace. Attending the groom as best man was his brother, Mr. Francis Eames, while Messrs. Watson Ballentyne, Edmund Hedemann and Allan Reuton served as ushers. The Rev. H. P. Jacks read the impressive Presbyterian service which made them man and wife.

Following the ceremony, the bridal party and a few intimate friends motored to Manaiwaia, the Pali home of Mr. and Mrs. McLean, where a supper was served. The house was lavishly decorated with yellow chrysanthemums, ferns and palms. The bridal table was adorned with Cecile Brethner roses and lilies of the valley, the elfin buds nodding to the fairy bells through a lacework of maidenhair fern. Kaaia's musicians sang throughout the supper—a tempting affair by the way, of many toothsome courses. After the repeat the tunes took a morrier turn and the remainder of the evening was devoted to dancing. During some especially enchanting waltz, the bride and groom slipped away for the Peninsula, where they are spending their honeymoon. The bride's going-away suit was of dark blue with embellishments of yellow velvet. A smart little traveling hat matched the costume. Just before leaving, the bride threw her bouquet, which was caught by Miss Laura Atherton.

Mr. and Mrs. Eames will spend a month at the Peninsula, after which they will divide their time between Honolulu and Waialua. Mr. Eames is connected with the Eames Pineapple Co. and is widely known throughout the younger set of the islands. Mrs. Eames is a most attractive young lady, her piquant beauty and charming personality making her a great favorite. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James L. McLean, are prominent kamaainas of Hawaii.

the guest devoted the time to bridge. Among those present were Prince and Princess J. K. Kalamianole, Col. Sam Parker, Dr. and Mrs. A. Hodgins, Mrs. Carl Wideman, Miss Bernice Cooke, Miss Mary Low, Mrs. Gussie Schmidt, Mr. Evans, Mr. Friedman, Mr. J. Dunbar, Mr. W. R. Rich and Mr. C. A. Brown.

Mrs. Gurrey's Tea.
 Mrs. A. R. Gurrey was hostess at an informal sewing tea last Saturday given at her pretty bungalow at Diamond Head in honor of Mrs. Royal D. Mead and her little daughter, who have recently returned from Washington. Those invited to meet Mrs. Mead were Mrs. J. M. Atherton, Mrs. Charles Atherton, Mrs. E. E. Paxton, Mrs. L. L. McCandless, Mrs. George Straub, Mrs. C. G. Bockus, Miss Violet Atherton, Mrs. John Guard, Mrs. Laura Atherton and Miss Florence Gurrey. Tea was enjoyed under the hau trees, underneath which a beautiful palm-enclosed room has been recently arranged.

Mrs. Rentler's Bridge.
 Mrs. E. W. Colley, who was so extensively entertained prior to her departure on Wednesday's Wilhelmnia, was the guest-of-honor at an informal bridge-tea given by Mrs. J. B. Rentler on Tuesday. The prizes—exquisite Irish lace doilies—were won by Mrs. H. P. Wickman, Mrs. E. C. Hayelden and Mrs. Jean Staley.

Morning Bridge Club.
 A departure from the regular bridge party and one that is very much in vogue in Manila and other Oriental countries, is the Morning Bridge Club, which will take up the leisure hours of one forenoon a week for those who belong. There are only two tables of players and so far everything has been conducted in a most informal manner. Those who belong to this club—which is unique in Honolulu at least—are Mrs. F. B. Cheatham, Mrs. Richard Cutts, Mrs. M. M. Macomb, Mrs. William Wooten, Mrs. J. T. Myers, Mrs. Ernest Gayler, Mrs. G. F. Jamerson and Mrs. M. Lenihan.

Major and Mrs. Myers' Dinner.
 Among the dinners that are being given this evening before the Carnival is that at which Major and Mrs. J. T. Myers are hosts. Those present will be Mr. and Mrs. Herman Focke, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Stackable, Capt. and Mrs. Richard Cutts, Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Cooper and Mr. Tarn McGrew.

Capt. and Mrs. Hicks' Dinner.
 Capt. and Mrs. G. Hicks entertained charmingly at dinner last Thursday at their home at Fort Ruger. A pretty color-scheme of pink and green was used in the decorations. Those present were Capt. and Mrs. F. Phisterer, Mrs. Phisterer, Sr., Col. W. Rafferty and Capt. and Mrs. J. Johnston.

Reception at Central Union.
 A large and very enjoyable reception was given Thursday night by the Woman's Auxiliary Guild of Central Union church in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Doremus Souder and Dr. and Mrs. Ferguson of Mills College. The reception rooms were beautifully decorated with palms, ferns and feathery headed pink asters. A delicious supper was served in the parish house, in the receiving line with Dr. and Mrs. Scuddey and Dr. and Mrs. Ferguson were Mrs. Henry Waterhouse, Mrs. W. W. Hall, and Mrs. John Erdman. Other ladies who assisted were Mrs. Charlotte Hall, Miss Margaret Lishman, Mrs. J. A. Gilman and Mrs. A. L. Andrews.

Dinners on Board the U. S. S. Galveston.
 Although in port for only a few days, the officers of the U. S. S. Galveston were lavish in their hospitality—in true navy style. Among the various dinners was one at which Capt. and Mrs. Leigh entertained for Admiral and Mrs. C. B. T. Moore, Dr. and Mrs. E. Trotter, Major W. Penn and Capt. and Mrs. Massee. On the same evening the wardroom officers were hosts for Dr. and Mrs. Dunmar, Dr. and Mrs. W. Kerr and Lieut. and Mrs. G. F. Humbert. The table was attractively decorated with red African daisies.

Pol Supper.
 Mrs. E. K. Booth and Mrs. Harvey Murray were hostesses at a very attractive pol supper on Tuesday in honor of the Prince and Princess Kalamianole and Col. Sam Parker, at the home of Mrs. Murray in Nuuanu valley. The house was beautifully decorated with clumps of long-stemmed yellow ginger and ferns, even the tables having their sweet smelling burden of flowers. After supper

the guest devoted the time to bridge. Among those present were Prince and Princess J. K. Kalamianole, Col. Sam Parker, Dr. and Mrs. A. Hodgins, Mrs. Carl Wideman, Miss Bernice Cooke, Miss Mary Low, Mrs. Gussie Schmidt, Mr. Evans, Mr. Friedman, Mr. J. Dunbar, Mr. W. R. Rich and Mr. C. A. Brown.

Venetian Carnival to Open at 7:30.
 To costume or not to costume has been the absorbing question of the last few days for those intending to take in the Venetian carnival this evening. Dominoes of all hues and styles are under way, and Pierrots, columbines and every conceivable disguise is being evolved. Of course the committee members and those taking part are wearing more elaborate costumes, some of them being really beautiful in their silks and satins while others again have their charm in their quaint peasant simplicity. Mrs. Richard Ivers, the president of the Free Kindergarten and Children's Aid Association, has modeled a costume from one of Titian's pictures, "La Belle Duchesse of Urbino," and will represent a grande dame of the sixteenth century. Mrs. Gerrit Wilder, vice-president and also chairman of the publication committee, will also represent a Venetian lady, her gown being taken from a picture by Paul Veronese. Her dress will be of pink and blue satin with ornaments of gold and silver. She will wear the high head dress of that century.

THINGS BRIDAL have surely been the order of this week, and not to have been connected in some way with a wedding is to have been quite cut of it. Delightful in every aspect was the marriage on Wednesday evening of Miss Clara May Thomas to Mr. William Francis Gaynor. The ceremony was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Thomas, on Punahou street, and was followed by a reception and supper. The house was a bower of pink and white blossoms, ferns, palms and bamboo. Even the vines growing about the lanai were sprigged with pink hibiscus, while bows upon bows of exquisite roses and chrysanthemums filled every corner and crevice of the interior. At one end of the drawing room was erected an arbor of ferns, and vines. From the top of this was suspended a beautiful wedding bell of fluffy white asters, caught with a huge lover's knot of tulle. Here the double ring service was read, Rev. R. E. Smith of the Methodist Church performing the ceremony. The bride was given away by her father, Mr. W. B. Thomas, while Mrs. Will Thomas attended the groom as best man.

The bride was charming in her wedding gown of ivory colored charmeuse draped in the prevailing mode and trimmed with real lace and pearls. Her soft tulle veil was fastened on her head in the cap effect of lilacs of the valley and ornaments of pearls and real lace. She carried a cluster bouquet of white roses and lilacs of the valley. Her only jewel was an exquisite diamond pendant, the gift of the groom.

Mrs. Thomas, her mother, was handsome in a gown of black chiffon, flilly lace over white charmeuse with a corsage piece of deep red roses. Miss Bess Kentner, who was maid of honor, wore a charming frock of pink charmeuse, draped with broad edged chiffon and embellished with real lace and rhinestones. She carried an old fashioned bouquet of pink roses, tied with ribbons of tulle and satin.

Little Miss Lillian Shelton, the ring-bearer, wore a dainty lingerie frock with a wide pink sash and pink bow in her hair. She carried two long stemmed American Beauty roses, in which the rings were concealed. Sweet music first heralded the bride's approach, Mrs. Chester Hamm singing that exquisite fantasy, "The Rosary," by Nevin. Lohegrin's Bridal Chorus was charmingly rendered by Miss Marilla Smith and Mr. Ralph Quarles on the piano and violin. During the reception, which followed the ceremony, Mr. Hubert Jones sang "Be-cause," by Guy d'Ardelet, and a number of other selections. The "merrie companie" then repaired to a huge marquee which had been erected in the large tree-inclosed garden. This was gaily lighted with electric bulbs, and decorated with palms, ferns and bows of pink bougainvillea. Dainty set tables were arranged here and a delicious repast served. The bride then cut the wedding cake, each guest anxiously searching his piece for the ring or thimble or other momentous symbols concealed in its fruity midst. The octet when thrown, was caught by Miss Miriam Clark—which proclaims her to be the next bride.

The young couple escaped later in the evening, but not in time to avoid being heartily pelted with rice and confetti. As they left, a string of firecrackers attached to the automobile was touched off, leaving a noisy trail of sparks behind it. This is a Chinese custom to frighten off any evil spirits who might wish to molest the departing persons. Mr. and Mrs. Gaynor will spend their honeymoon at the volcano and on the other islands. Upon their return they will reside on Punahou street. Mr. Gaynor is a prominent young business man of Honolulu who has made many friends in the few years he has lived in the islands. His bride is a graduate of the University of California and very popular both on the coast and in Honolulu circles.

Doyle-Tinker Wedding.
 St. Augustine's chapel at Waikiki was the scene of a very pretty wedding last Wednesday morning when Miss Madeline Doyle became the bride of Lieut. Clarence L. Tinker of the 25th U. S. Infantry. The wedding was individual in all its appointments, even the fact that it occurred at ten o'clock in the morning being a departure from the conventions of Honolulu. The little church was prettily decorated with palms, ferns and tropical foliage. The altar rail was ablaze with dainty pink hibiscus and oleanders, while the altar itself was banked with maiden hair ferns.

Mrs. William Francis Gaynor, wedded this week.

The bride was given away by her mother, Mrs. Katherine C. Doyle. Her gown of cream colored satin charmeuse was made without a train—fitting a morning ceremony. A beautiful overdress of Brussels lace was draped over the bodice and skirt. She wore a tulle veil fastened at her head in a Breton, with orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of white roses and lilacs of the valley. The bridesmaids, Miss Mary Quinn and Miss Genevieve Tinker, were attractively gowned in lavender crepe meteor, draped and caught here and there with shadow lace. Hats of lavender maline trimmed with pink roses buda finished the costume. They carried cluster bouquets of pink Bernice Teaster roses.

Lieut. Tinker was attended by Lieut. O. H. Saunders as best man. Lieut. V. V. Enyart serving in the capacity of usher. After a few words of advice and congratulation, Father Valentin read the marriage rite and celebrated the nuptial mass. During the ceremony, beautiful melodies were played on the organ by Mr. A. R. Cunha, ending with the triumphant strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march.

The bridal party then motored to the Maecdonald, where a breakfast was served at one large table. Pink asters were used lavishly in the decorations of both house and table, augmented with ferns and vines and bridal tulle. A delicious repast was served and the wedding cake cut with all its attending solemnity. The bridal bouquet was thrown and caught by Miss Tinker. Afterwards the bride and groom escaped to spend a few days in some mysterious place unknown to the rest of the world. After a short honeymoon, Lieut. and Mrs. Tinker will reside at Schofield Barracks.

Among those present at the wedding were Col. and Mrs. L. W. V. Kennen, Capt. and Mrs. David L. Stone, Lieut. and Mrs. William A. Gattoe, Mrs. Arthur B. Owens, Mrs. Clifford Game, Mrs. A. J. Gignoux, Mrs. Andrew Brewin, Miss Elsie Gignoux, Miss Isabel Phillips, Mrs. Alexander Lyle, Mrs. Ernest Podmore, Miss Emilie Eleanor Owens, Mlle. de la Moelars and others.

Regimental Tea.
 Mrs. Benjamin Watkins, whose charming hospitality is so well known in both service and town circles, was hostess at an informal regimental tea yesterday afternoon at her Fort Shafter home. The guests, most of whom comprised the army "widows," whose husbands have gone "a-biking," had tea on the lanai in the old-fashioned way, while the 2nd infantry band serenaded on the parade ground without. Among those present were Capt. and Mrs. E. K. Massee, Capt. and Mrs. A. B. Owens, Miss Emilie Eleanor Owens, Lieut. and Mrs. W. Kay, Capt. and Mrs. W. Trotter, Mr. W. Hopkins of San Francisco, Mrs. Otto Rosenbaum, Mrs. Paul Malone, Mrs. E. V. Smith, Mrs. Walter Johnson, Mrs. E. Booth, Mrs. R. Lester, Mrs. M. Lenihan, Miss Maud Martin, Mrs. L. O. Mathews, Mrs. Frederick Cook, Mrs. Crockett, Mrs. Sharp, Mrs. F. French, Mrs. Harris, Lieut. Robert Calder and Capt. and Mrs. Watkins. Assisting Mrs. Watkins at the tea table were Mrs. E. V. Smith, Mrs. Kay and Mrs. Johnson.

Sigma Chi Luncheon.
 A representative meeting of the members of the Sigma Chi fraternity in this territory was held at the University Club at luncheon last Saturday. Those present were Lieut. Col. Archibald Campbell, John Effinger, Dr. W. C. Hobdy, Guy H. Gere, George K. Larrison, John Howard Ellis, James S. Morgan and Mark H. Slosson. The purpose of the meeting was to take preliminary steps in forming a Honolulu alumni chapter, as there are about fifteen members of the fraternity at present residing in the islands.

Capt. and Mrs. Hinkle's Dinner.
 A very pretty dinner was given at Fort Ruger last Saturday when Capt. and Mrs. F. Hinkle entertained for Col. W. Rafferty, Capt. and Mrs. Frederick Phisterer, Mrs. Phisterer, Sr., Capt. and Mrs. George Hicks, Dr. and Mrs. C. Baker. The table was attractively decorated with pink asters and pink shaded lights. After dinner the party attended the Fort Ruger bridge club at the home of Lieut. and Mrs. G. F. Humbert.

Society Personals

Honolulu has lost and gained a bride this week, which makes the score partly even, anyway. Mrs. Edward B. Watson (Luna Lauke) sailed with her husband on Wednesday's Wilhelmina. They will make their home in Boston, which means that Honolulu will see but little of the beautiful Lorna in the future. The Mongolla this week brought back Mr. and Mrs. William B. Lymer, who have been spending a delightful honeymoon in the States. They have traveled in East and West, with Canada thrown in, but are thoroughly delighted to return to their home in Honolulu. As Miss Calie Lucas, Mrs. Lymer was a most popular maid and her friends are already devising ways in which to entertain the returned bride.

Mrs. Francis Gay has been hostess for a jolly little house party at her home on Kaula, the members of which—Major and Mrs. E. Timberlake, Capt. and Mrs. John Thomas and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chillingworth—returned on the Kinau this week. The days were delightfully spent at the Gay's mountain home, hunting, fishing, hiking around the mountain trails, with informal picnics, lunches and dinners scattered in between. The week ended with a motor ride around the island and at luncheon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Wilcox.

Such a lamentation in the younger set over the departure of Genevieve and Christiana Bradley on Wednesday. These attractive young girls come from Visalia, California, and have been visiting their sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Watson. During their visit to the islands they have been extensively entertained.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Edmunds, who were so popular during their long sojourn in Honolulu in the earlier part of the year, are located in Southern California, which they love from its resemblance to Hawaii. They are genuinely in love with the islands and are already dreaming of the time when they can make them another visit.

Mrs. Charles Chillingworth returned on Wednesday from Kaula after a delightful two weeks spent with the Francis Gays at their mountain home. Immediately upon her return Mrs. Chillingworth was plunged into preparations for the carnival, so her friends have seen little of her.

The first meeting of the College Club for the next fiscal year will be held at the Pleasanton on Tuesday, Oct. 14. A business meeting at 4 o'clock will be followed by a reception to Mrs. William S. Thomas and Miss Boster. Mrs. Thomas will be the speaker of the day.

Tuesday night Mr. Laurence Redington was the host at dinner given at the Country Club. His guests were Major and Mrs. E. V. Smith, Lieutenant and Mrs. F. E. Jackson, Lieutenant and Mrs. C. K. Lyman, General Funston and Lieutenant W. G. Ball.

Mrs. J. T. Myers is slowly recovering from the effects of her accident on Monday. A streetcar ran into her carriage, capsizing the vehicle in a manner that might have been fatal had it not been for the presence of mind of the driver.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Colley left the islands permanently on the Wilhelmina Wednesday to the great regret of their friends. They will make their future home in New York, where Mr. Colley is connected with the cable company.

Little Miss Katherine Warren is celebrating her third birthday on Wednesday of next week, and having gotten to be such a big girl, is giving a party. She will entertain twenty other little girls and their mothers.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Wilson entertained informally at luncheon on Tuesday at their home on Makiki. The affair was for a number of Mr. Wilson's business associates who sailed on the Wilhelmina the following day.

Mrs. Frederick Barker is spending several weeks at Schofield Barracks while Lieut. Barker is off on his regimental hike. Mrs. Barker will be the house-guest of Lieut. and Mrs. M. C. Mitchell of the 1st infantry.

Miss Ruth Rae Riley of Portland, Oregon arrived on the last Sonoma, and will spend the winter months with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Riley, of 277 Vineyard street.

Mrs. E. C. Waterhouse and two little daughters, Amy and Gwendolen, were returning passengers on the Mongolla this week after a year and a half spent in England.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. de Bretteville entertained informally at dinner on Thursday night at the Pleasanton. Their table was attractively decorated with red exorials.

Mrs. George Wallace and children from Waialua are spending a fortnight in town, as the house guests of Mrs. George Robertson on Birmingham street.

A special car will leave the Moana Hotel tonight after the Carnival at 12:15. It will continue along King street and as far as Fort Shafter.

A farewell dinner was tendered Mr. Julius Unger on Monday at the Pleasanton, followed by a theater party and supper at the Pleasanton.

Mrs. Arthur Wilder, who has been quite ill in the Queen's hospital, is now entirely recovered; her friends are glad to hear.

Mrs. C. C. Kennedy of Hilo returned on the Makura Tuesday after an extended trip in Australia and New Zealand.

Miss Anne Newbegin is the house guest of her sister, Mrs. T. V. King, and will remain with her for some months.

The annual delicatessen sale of the St. Andrew's guild will be held on the day preceding Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Carden were kamaaina to return from the mainland on the Mongolla this week.

Mrs. Robert McEldowney was hostess at an informal luncheon on Thursday.

A DAINTY TOILET ARTICLE.

Every woman who desires to keep up her attractive appearance, while at theater, attending receptions, when shopping, while traveling and on all occasions should carry in her purse a booklet of Gouraud's Oriental Beauty Leaves. This is a dainty little booklet of exquisitely perfumed powdered leaves which are easily removed and applied to the skin. It is invaluable when the face becomes moist and flushed and is far superior to a powder puff as it does not spill and soil the clothes.

It removes dirt, soot and grease from the face, imparting a cool delicate bloom to the complexion. Put up in white and pink and sent anywhere on receipt of ten cents in stamps or coin. F. T. Hopkins, 37 Great Jones St., New York.

WHAT DRAGONS ARE AWAITING THE MODERN SAINT GEORGE?

Social Service Is Expression of Modern Religious Ideals, Says Paul Super

Following is the first of a series of articles on "Social Service" which Paul Super, general secretary of the Honolulu Young Men's Christian Association, will contribute to the church page of the Star-Bulletin. These articles will be published weekly, each dealing with some important phase of the work both in these islands and elsewhere.

Men's religious convictions have always expressed themselves in at least two ways: first, in the building of buildings, and second, in the doing of deeds. Take the matter of buildings and consider the Greek religious ideal. The gods were no better than the men; they had the same base passions and they gave them the same expression. With a religious ideal that was low and earthly, the architecture in which it embodied itself was low and earthly. The Greek temple was broad and squat, beautiful enough, symmetrical and harmonious, but of the earth, earthly.

Now skip a few centuries and look at the religious ideal of the Middle Ages. The people of the day worshipped a God that was away up in the heavens; He was a pure and holy God and their conception of Him was lofty in the extreme. And how did this conception of God affect architecture? It expressed itself in the lofty, aspiring towers of Gothic architecture. Its material equivalent were the steeples, spires, flying buttresses and lofty naves, clearstories and arches of the cathedrals of the Middle Ages.

And what about today? Today we worship a God no less lofty and noble than a God of the Middle Ages, but one who is very much here on earth and intensely interested in men, and the architectural expression of this ideal—the ideal of God among men and interested in their welfare—is seen in the buildings we are building; namely, the institutional church, the Y. M. C. A., the social settlements and the welfare house. That is, the modern expression of religious ideals is intensively practical, and the name we give this practical expression is Social Service.

Now, let us retrace along another path and see where we arrive. The first energies of the Christian religion were expended in the formulation of creeds—an intellectual expression characterized by the division of forms of worship and ritual—and emotional expression. Now we all know that the human mind functions along these lines. It has its intellectual emotions and volitional activities, and it is therefore to be expected that religious fervor, having devoted itself to the formulation of creeds and the development of ritual, should now seek its volitional expression, and such we find to be the case. The religious man of today, the characteristic man of the period, is much more interested in practical forms of service. Then, he is either a creed or ritual. Following this line of thought, we come to the same place that our previous path directed us—the fact that the characteristic religious expression of today is social service.

Right here it is necessary to say that we have reference only to the characteristic or dominant note in religion. There are men today whose religion is chiefly intellectual, and there are others to whom religion is largely a matter of feeling. Likewise, in all the parts of the church there have been men filled with high ideals of science. But this is true. The motive that moves men to the greatest extent in the religious activities of 1913 has a bearing on practical things, and social service is the name we give these activities. Of course, men still formulate creeds; the thinking mind naturally tends to put its thoughts in systematic form. And men develop ritual and follow forms because the emotional side of our nature is still strong and will continue so. But we are living in an evolutionary age, and the man who "does things" is our hero.

Perhaps 10 years ago I heard the famous Mayor Beardsley of Kansas City say these words: "No man's life has amounted to very much until he has united to some great cause." In politics this does not mean the mere thinking out of a platform; in religion it does not mean the mere recitation of creed. The religious equivalent of this is that salvation depends on a whole lot more on deeds than on creeds and that it is because of what he didn't do than because of what he didn't believe. This does not mean that I underestimate belief. It does mean, though, that we have wasted a whole lot of energy trying to prop up some things not worth propping up, and that this energy might be better expended in tearing down tenement houses, giving babies clean milk, getting the working man a fair share of what he earns, and seeing, as Dr. Bosworth once said, "that every man has an equal chance at the good things of life."

If social service is the way in which the modern man is going to express his religion, what are some of the social service tasks that claim his attention? What is the dragon that awaits the modern St. George? A consideration of some of these

SUNDAY SCHOOL MEETING FOR CENTRAL UNION

In accordance with the yearly custom the teachers and leaders of the Sunday schools of the various churches of the city will hold a rally in the Central Union church parish house during the week beginning November 2. The plans for the meeting have been but partially completed, and those interested predict a number of reports which will set forth the manner in which the Sunday schools of Honolulu have broadened their scope of activities during the past year.

The afternoon and evening of Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday will be given over to the meetings, the time for the afternoon sessions being from 4:30 until 5:30 o'clock, and the evening sessions from 7:30 until 8:30 o'clock. Among the many subjects to be discussed will be those relating to child study, Bible study, principles of teaching, and methods of improving the Sunday school.

Those who will speak at the meetings are C. T. Pitts, Miss Florence Yarrow, Rev. J. P. Erdman, Dr. Doremus Scudder, P. L. Horne, Rev. J. L. Hopwood, Rev. W. B. Oleson, Rev. F. S. Scudder, Theodore Richards, Miss Ida Macdonald, Mrs. May Wilcox, Rev. A. Akana, Mrs. L. T. Marshall and Rev. H. P. Judd.

'WHAT IS THE Y.M.C.A.?' IS DAILY QUESTION

In spite of the great growth of the Young Men's Christian Association during recent years, there are still many who do not understand its aims and purposes. Today being the second anniversary of the dedication of the new building of the local association, it is an appropriate time to issue the following interpretation by C. K. Ober, field secretary of the international Y. M. C. A. in New York city. The interpretation follows:
An Opportunity.

The Y. M. C. A.—It is a high-grade, low-cost young men's club—Christian but not sectarian.
It is an athletic organization that does not use men to promote athletics but uses athletics to develop men.
It is a night school for young men who work by day.
It is a home for young men away from home.
It helps young men not only to help themselves, but to help the other fellow.

It is a place for a young man to find friends and to make himself a friend to the man that needs friends.
It has no creed, but is controlled by representatives of churches. This keeps it a Christian organization, but prevents it from becoming another church.

It has united in its management members of those churches which, though differing in creed, have found by experience that they can join without controversy or friction in the doing of religious work. This enables it to teach the Bible and to make practical use of Christian forces in helping young men.

Its fellowship, club rooms, gymnasium, baths, classes and all other practical advantages are open to all young men, of all faiths or of no faith.

It is not an experiment, but is the survivor of many experiments. While other young men's organizations, social, athletic, educational, ethical and even religious, have failed, this has succeeded and is now in successful operation in over eight thousand places in North America and throughout the world.

It is a high-class, far-sighted investment in the greatest undeveloped resource in the world—young men.

It is a wise and economical enlistment of young men themselves in the work of their own development.

It is a philanthropic and also self-interested provision of an all-around opportunity for young men.

It provides a gymnasium; the young men use it, and put increased health and vitality into their day's work.

It provides a night school; the young men join it, and gain and keep the higher places waiting for skilled labor and efficiency.

It provides the gospel; the young men practice it, and the community cuts down expenses for asylums, courts and jails.

It provides and organizes the time of men; the best and busiest in the community; the young men respond to it and develop latent powers of character and service.

It invests money; it gets manhood. It invests sympathy; it gets friendships.

It invests small sacrifices; it gets abundant and deathless dividends.
It invests time and things that might otherwise perish; it gets character that continues and perpetuates itself in vital and constructive forces, for the moral and spiritual uplift of the world.

Its investments are human; its dividends are divine.
A Spiritual Force.

It is not the building, but something that built it.
It is not the membership, but something that wins it.

It is not the organization, but something that organizes;
It is not the achievement, but something that achieves;
It is not any thing on earth, but a spirit on earth that lifts things heavenward.

It is a spirit of brotherhood, uniting men of faith in fellowship, and service.
It is a spirit of sacrifice, preferring rather to "fall to the ground and die" than to "abide by itself alone."

It is a spirit of unity, giving a new evidence and releasing a new energy of Christianity;
It is a spirit of conquest, contending for the kingdom of Christ unlimited.

It is the spirit of youth with the dew and freshness of the morning;
It is the spirit of manhood, pressing forward with the midday heat and burden;
It is the spirit of Christ, with his deathless life and his unquenchable enthusiasm;

It is the spirit of association, the youth, the man, the Christ, in undiscourageable and irresistible co-operation.
By the grace of God it is what it is and by the grace of God one may possess and be possessed by its spirit.

The FEDERAL

The Truck Triumphant

By a country-wide test of three years, by the verdict of a Thousand Owners, The Federal is the first Motor Truck to establish as a scientific principle of commerce — Economical Transportation.

For three years we have collected the data and proof of a Thousand Federals in Operation, the Advice and Evidence of a Thousand Federal Owners. For three years we have been satisfying ourselves that in the Federal we have a truck as nearly flawless, infallible and indestructible as brains, business conscience and manufacturing ideals can make it. Today we know.

Detroit is the City Motor-wise. There are one hundred and thirty-two Federals in operation in Detroit — as many as any other two makes combined.

TWENTY FEDERAL TRUCKS have been sold in and around Honolulu during the year 1913. These Trucks are being used daily in all branches of service.

Write us for the names and evidence of Federal Owners. We can solve your problems as we have solved theirs.

The Federal is today recognized as the Standard of Truck Efficiency, Truck Reliability and Truck Economy.

CUB REPORTER BECOMES AN ADVENTURER--ALMOST

The presses had stopped and the last papers were hastily wrapped and placed in the carriers' bags; a pall of silence hung over the office. Upstairs the City Room was deserted save for the presence of the City Editor and the Cub Reporter, who were busily engaged in poring over papers which they had culled from the big pile of exchanges arriving that morning. At intervals the clip, clip of the City Editor's shears broke the silence; as for the Cub, he read on in peace, slowly inhaling the smoke from a brown paper cigarette.

With a frown on his brow, and fingering a lengthy clipping set off by a Gothic Head and a two column picture, the City Editor swung around in his chair and called to the Cub, "Willie," he said. "I have a clipping in my hand which says that the Countess von Vinegar Atts left for this metropolis on a brief sojourn, and according to my way of reckoning, she has been here at least three days. Someone should have seen her before this, for her elopement with the Count was an affair which became of world-wide interest. Now, she is doubtlessly staying at the Hotel Hozelfesser, and if you drop around there this afternoon you might be able to secure an interview. Ask her about the latest Parisian styles, etc., and grab a picture. Get the story in the first thing in the morning, and we'll run it with a layout."

The Cub covered up his typewriter, put on his coat and stuffed his pockets with copy paper. He left the office and made for the hotel, intending to go at once to the office and inquire for the Countess. As he passed along the corridor, he glanced into the parlor of the hostelry and noticed a tall angular lady in a shimmering green attire sitting near the window vigorously fanning herself. The Cub stopped and gazed. This, he thought, might be the Countess. However, he decided to take a chance. Removing his cap, he advanced and with a low bow addressed the person.

"Beg pardon," he said, "but might this be the Countess von Vinegar Atts?"

With a cry of surprise the lady jumped to her feet and backed away from the Cub, and stared long and lingeringly at him before she spoke, vigorously applying the fan to the white. "Ho, varlet," she cried, "wouldst approach me without first announcing yourself from yon portal?" Then she seated herself in the chair, still keeping her eye on the Cub. "Yes, I am the Countess," she said at last. "How may I serve you, sir?" The Cub started; he didn't like the looks of the Countess, and he felt more like making a hasty departure than sitting through an interview. However, he determined to stick it out. And the Countess continued to stare.

"I represent the evening Blatterer," began the Cub, "and I would like an interview and also a picture. You see—"

"Oh, you represent the newspaper," warbled the Countess. "Do you like the work?"

"It's tolerable," said the Cub. Then he received the surprise of his young life. The countess reached over and took both of his hands in hers and, drawing nearer, whispered to him: "Why do you work, young and handsome stranger? I am a lonesome widow. Will you not fly with me to my chateau on the Rhine where you may spend the rest of your days browsing amidst the luxuries which it affords? Oh, consent, consent, for I cannot live without you. I have money; I have everything. I will make you the Duke de Kaktiac." Then, before the Cub could resist, she threw her arms about his neck and kissed him, laying her head on his shoulder.

and murmuring love passages from Shakespeare and Keats. Thus they remained. Then the Cub commenced to do some tall thinking. If the countess was in earnest, here was the chance of his lifetime. He could become a duke, she had told him; a duke like unto the editor of Sloppy Buckets. He would live in a chateau on the Rhine and, perhaps, wear a golden crown and smoke tailor-made cigarettes. He could cease forever to live the life of a newspaper man. And, above all, it would make a good story for his paper. He gazed down at the head on his shoulder. Well, she wasn't much of a looker for a fact. But she had made him an offer which now swept over him like a glad surprise. The countess looked up.

"Ah," she cried, "you will consent? You will fly with me to France or to Sunny Italy?" The Cub thought again.

"Yes," he told her. "I will consent." Then followed another glad-borne scene.

A footfall was heard in the hall, and a burly man dressed in blue uniform and wearing a military cap entered. He wore a revolver strapped to his side and a brown paper cigarette dangled from his lip. He advanced and bowed low before the woman. The Cub arose to his feet, secretly resenting this intrusion.

"Oh, there you are, Countess," saith the man. "Isn't it about time that your highness was returning to the castle? The carriage awaits without and the banquet is served at 6 o'clock. Come along, Countess."

Without a word, the countess threw on her cloak and stepped to the Cub's side, kissing him lightly on the cheek. "We shall meet again soon," she said. "And now I must go." And she left the room on the arm of the man in uniform.

For a moment the Cub was too dazed to speak. He was incensed to think that the little tete-a-tete had been broken thusly. Why, he thought, had that man in uniform come? Who was that man in uniform, anyway? A bellboy, lounging in the hall, attracted his attention. The Cub called to him.

"Who was that man who just escorted the lady out of the hotel?" he asked. The boy looked at him and smiled.

"Oh, that was one of the wardens from the bug house," he answered, "and the woman was Dutch Liz, who thinks she is a Countess. She gets out occasionally, but I guess you're not the foist guy what's fell fer her line of chatter."

Dazed and startled, the Cub made his way to the hotel office. "Is the Countess von Vinegar Atts stopping here?" he asked the clerk.

"She was staying here, but she left two days ago," answered that individual. Then he looked hastily around and summoned a bellboy.

"Bring some water, Pete, this gentleman's fainted," he said.

HONOLULU Y. M. C. A. HAS BEEN TWO YEARS IN NEW BUILDING

Two years ago today Bishop Henry Bond Restrick dedicated the Young Men's Christian Association building to "the intellectual, physical, moral, spiritual and social welfare of men." Since then wonderful progress has been made by the association along every line of its efforts. Previously established activities have grown in size and efficiency; new activities and new departments have been added, and the note of progress has been the prominent one.

When the association moved from the old building into the new one, its ranks recorded 770 men and boys. With the opening of the new structure the number began to grow at once, and today it is twice as large and more, the last report showing 1593 men and boys. The growth in its membership is expressive of the increased service which the association has been able to render the community. So practical is its work that many of the local corporations have realized that it is to their benefit to keep the association in vigorous condition, and a number of the large local firms subscribe annually to the work of the institution.

The service which the Y. M. C. A. renders is an all-around service. It takes the lonesome, homesick young man, puts him among congenial friends, and provides him with the proper means to spend his leisure time. It takes the boy who is qualified for no more remunerative service than that of an office boy or a wagon driver, gives him the elements of an English education, puts him through an industrial or an engineering course, and makes a $4 a day man out of him instead of a $1.50 a day laborer, and enriches the community to just this extent. The association thus qualifies this person to marry and to establish a home, and adds to the community one more social unit—a self-sustaining home.

For the young man who bends over a desk during the day, or is confined in a stuffy office, it furnishes vigorous and body-building exercise in specially constructed rooms with high ceilings, large windows, and plenty of fresh air. For the man soiled with the dust and grease of the day's work, hot baths are available at a cost almost too small to be mentioned.

Businessmen leave their work at 4 o'clock and are refreshed and invigorated for another day's work by exercise especially adapted to their needs under the direction of a competent physical director. The weak man, as well as the poor man is served, and those who delight in the electric bath or the Swedish massage can get them in connection with their exercise.

Then there are the boys, schoolboys and working boys. Both these groups have needs and the association's comprehensive program includes in its scope plans for ministering to the body, mind and spirit of both the working boy and the student. With its vacation school, its night school, numerous Bible classes, gymnasium classes, hikes, contests, game and socials, the leisure time of the boy is filled with profitable activities, and in this environment he grows up to manhood with ideals of service for others as well as a personal character for himself.

A city is full of temptations, and these especially assail young and growing men. The more lively and vigorous a man is, the redder the blood that flows in his veins, the keener his mind and the more vigorous his body, the more open he is to temptation. The association guards him against the temptations of city life in two ways—first, it occupies his time in safe and wholesome ways, and secondly it establishes him in Bible classes, virile religious meetings and other character-building activities, and encourages him to develop his energies, to the development of the best that is in him, and the welfare of other young men.

The big building at Hotel and Alaika has been in use two years today. It cost $240,000. It is worth every cent it cost and is without question a community asset.

The Sierra will be a welcome arrival Monday morning as she brings a fine shipment of fresh California fruit and vegetables and Puritan butter to the leading grocery firm of Henry May & Co. Customers, please phone 1271 early.—advertisement.

Where Pins Go

FOR many years the world has been baffled by the problem of where the pins go that are earned out in millions and millions by the pin factories.

But now the problem has been solved at last. A Paris scientist, Dr. Xavier, has been experimenting on pins, hairpins and needles by the simple process of washing a few. He states that they mysteriously disappear into thin air by changing into ferrous oxide, a brownish rust that soon blows away in dust.

An ordinary hairpin took only 154 days to disappear. A steel rib lasted just under thirteen months. A common pin took eighteen months to vanish. A polished steel needle defied the ravages of the atmosphere longest, taking two and a half years to disappear.

So the reason why the world is not so fast deep in the pins it buys is not, as it seems, exactly the same which makes an iron surface scale off when exposed for a long time to the atmosphere without the protection of paint.

HOW DO YOU SLEEP?

MANY people have had nights because they find great difficulty in "dropping off." They lie awake and toss for hours and make themselves so uncomfortable that they are thoroughly worn out before sleep comes to their rescue.

If this is one of your little habits you should not try to conquer it by going to bed at a certain hour with the intention of making yourself sleep. Sleep is a thing that won't be forced. It needs coaxing if it is to come at all. If you have an early supper it is a very good plan to drink a glass of hot milk and eat a few biscuits the last thing before you get into bed. Though you don't know it, hunger may be the trouble that is making you restless. A light little meal will not give you indigestion, particularly if you sip the milk slowly, reading a book at the same time.

Another excellent way of coaxing sleep is rather a queer one. Just before getting into bed you should wash your feet in very cold water and dry them briskly with a rough towel. This causes the blood to rush into them with such force that it is drawn away from your head and your overactive brain has a chance of keeping quiet for a little while.

Reading in bed is often very soothing, but if you indulge in this luxury you must have a book rest which will hold the book up before your face. It is very bad for your eyesight to read when you are lying on your side with a book propped up against the bed rail or the wall.

An apple eaten the last thing at night is a very good thing for insomnia. Take it to bed with you and eat it after the light is out.

If you are so tired that you become restless and the bed feels uncomfortable try what you can do by relaxing all your muscles.

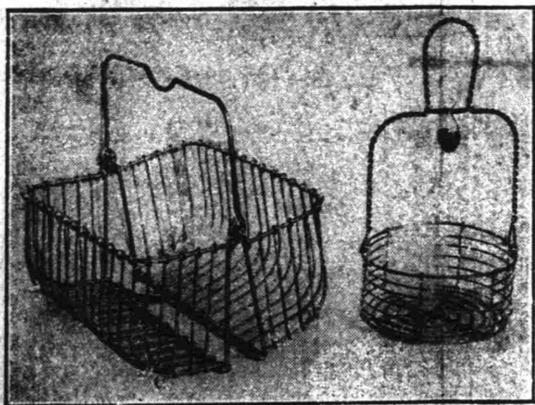

Do not be in a hurry about this "letting go" of yourself, but try to relax by degrees—first your head and then your neck, and so on until you reach your toes. It is not very easy to fall limp at first because it is a business which needs a great deal of concentration, but it completely takes your mind off other things.

When you are thoroughly relaxed all over you will find that you are lying perfectly at ease on the bed, with a sense of blissful comfort which soon settles into the even greater comfort of sleep.

BLACK LAMP SHADES.

WE are still enamored of that touch of black for giving distinction to the decoration of our rooms, and the latest idea is the black lamp shade. This is oblong in shape and is made of black satin or chiffon velvet very closely pleated. If placed in a rather secluded corner of the room it gives a gloomy, almost eerie, note that is most effective, but the rest of the room must be lighted in the usual way. Another beautiful lamp shade is made of plaited black nylon finished with a fringe of black beads, and yet another is composed of a close trelliswork of black set beads lined with a single fold of black chiffon and having a long fringe of delicate cut jet beads.

Aids to the Housewife

EGG BASKET AND CORN BOILER.

TWO wire baskets to aid the housewife are illustrated. The basket to the left is used for boiling corn without risk of a bad burn when immersing the vegetable in boiling water. The basket divides in the middle so that when the vegetable is cooked the touch of a lever at the handle opens it and the corn is on the platter without further trouble. The other basket is for boiling eggs. The hourglass at the handle tells the busy housewife when her eggs are boiled, and they may be then lifted out of the water.

COAT EFFECT IN COSTUMES

JUDGING from the number of velvet and velvet models seen so far this fall, it is evident that ple fabric pointing sharply over the hips is suggestive of directors' coat lines. The front of the velvet bodice opens wide to reveal an inner bodice of creamy chiffon over silver tulle, a color combination which harmonizes beautifully with the terra cotta tone of the velvet and the embroidery motif.

FRONK OF TERRA COTTA VELVET

ric are here for another season's popularity. The delightful frock pictured is of terra cotta velvet. The simple made bodice with knee tunic is a very good thing for insomnia. Take it to bed with you and eat it after the light is out.

A Word to Mothers

NOW that the school term has begun the question of the growing child's diet looms up again. The school years form one of the most important epochs in the lives of children, as regards adequate nutrition. Parents are apt to overlook this fact more from ignorance than from willful neglect.

Food during the school days should be abundant and should contain sufficient protein, vitamins, sugars and inorganic salts to meet the demands of rapid growth for all the constituents of a perfect food.

It is a common joke for parents to laugh at the enormous appetites of their growing girls and boys and to limit the supply of certain foods needed at this time. Children are often allowed to go to school with only light breakfasts, sometimes with none at all. Then come cold lunches at noon. All this is extremely harmful. A child should never be set at any task before breakfast. If it rises early and the meal hour is late it should have a bowl of hot milk, a cup of cocoa and a roll before beginning any work.

Of course the ideal dinner hour for the child is noon, but when this is impossible a hot luncheon should be arranged for. Supper should comprise very easily digested foods, and pastry, cheese and meats are better omitted. Meat soups are good. Baked potatoes, stewed fruits and eggs in various ways are excellent for the evening meal.

Growing children should have plenty of milk, and they should be given to understand that when hungry they can always have glasses of milk for the asking. Fresh fish, eggs and bacon are all wholesome foods for children, and meat, as a rule, may be given them twice a day. Large, healthy boys require a good proportion of meat in their dietaries.

Popular Colors of the Autumn

THE girl with golden glints in her hair and a good complexion has nothing to fear from the popular colors of the autumn, for among the most attractive are copper tints, varying from light copper to chandler and mordora, which is a warmer tone with a deep gold cast. And these colors, in combination with harmonizing tones, are possible for every woman.

Another popular color is the new Baked green, named for the Russian scenic artist, Kitty Gordon, the actress, has also been honored in the same way, one of the rich, deep greens, a green as limpid as creme de menthe, being its name.

Blue has lost none of its prestige, and some authorities think that the new blue shades should receive first place rather than the copper colors. Of the blue, the latest is a shade deeper than the peacock blue, which is a great favorite; also the corbeau. The soft blues on the natter and Dutch order are much liked, and a very dark blue helps to supply the demand for somber colorings.

The red shades vary widely. There is a very vivid red that is being used sparingly for accessories on costumes, but the majority of the reds are of the dress of wine order and soft brick tones.

For evening wraps the garnet red is in great demand. There is also a purple with lots of red in it, a shade resembling the fuchsia.

Browns should not be overlooked in this list of new colors, for all of the couturiers have made much of them this season, the tobacco and Havana browns being the favorites. A soft, pretty rose that is often combined with these brown tones.

For street wear the dark rich shades, the teta de negre, a deep taupe and a blue that is almost black are the fashionable colors. Another new color is called heather, a lovely grayish lavender that is particularly pretty in silky textiles. And everywhere there are to be found quantities of silver used for trimmings, and all silver lace is thought to be more chic than gold lace.

PROMINENCE OF BUCKLES

THE prominence of buckles is important. They range from metal to rosebuds, and all the various varieties are really very pleasing. It is probably the insistence of the Louis XV. style that has brought about the wearing of these gaudy ornaments by women, because in his day there was a vast amount of them used, more especially by men than by women.

The first intimation that the fashionable world had that they were to be popular was in their appearance on slippers. When they first arrived as a finish to pumps they brought down upon them quite a good deal of criticism.

Conservative women said that never would they wear such conspicuous things on their feet in the street, and they were not quite sure that they were advisable even for evening, as they made the foot look larger.

This wave of disapproval lasted only for a few moments, and soon the very women who criticized the buckles were appearing abroad with them on patent leather slippers. Such is the way custom has of making devoted followers. Good taste, however, like good manners, remains the same, although it is influenced by the changing times, and those who dress really well have never been able to satisfy themselves that an afternoon slipper intended for the house or a carriage is the proper thing for the pavement. There are too many kinds of shoes for all occasions that are good looking, comfortable and smart for any woman to think that she must wear a high heeled patent leather one at the wrong hour.

TO RESTORE TIN AND ZINC. TINWARE may be restored by rubbing briskly and until dry with a cloth dipped in common washing soda, then apply a stiff paste formed of whitening, water and ammonia. Be sure to wipe off all powder before putting away.

Clean zinc with soap and warm water and dry; then rub carefully with a cloth dipped in turpentine or kerosene.

THE VANISHING POINT. WITH no silks in the skirts this fall it is to be presumed that dresses will be a slump in the curise silk post-coat market.

PIQUE SHIRTS.

THE newest shirts to wear with the sponge shirts are those in pique. The new pique is only a distant relative to the stiff pique of other years, as it is delightfully soft and supple. The shirt is masculine in cut, with the exception of the neck, which is invariably finished with one of the becoming rolled collars which owe their origin to the days of Mary Stuart. The correct finishing touches are added when a sash of plaid ribbon and a cravat to match are adjusted. No matter how severe the skirt and shirt waist may be, the sash is sure to give the feminine touch.

ASBESTOS VALUABLE IN HOME

Asbestos can be of great service in the home. It has the peculiarity that it resists the passage of heat. You know how readily a silver spoon becomes heated when you put it into hot dish water, and you recall how quickly an aluminum sauceron becomes hot all over when set above the fire. Both of these metals are good conductors of heat. Iron is also a fair conductor of heat. Asbestos is valuable for the contrary reason, because it is a non-conductor of heat.

A second quality of asbestos that fits it for household use is that it is not combustible. It looks as if it would burn in a blaze, but it does not. Suppose you have a fire and a thing that you wish to keep from burning. Separate them with asbestos. The housekeeper as cook can lay a sheet of asbestos over gas burner and place a kettle of jam upon it. The heat will be so modified as to lessen the opportunity for scorching of the food. If the bread in the oven is in danger of burning black upon the bottom, the cook can slip a sheet of asbestos beneath the pan. If the heat is too intense above the loaf the protector is laid over it. The modern fireless cooker, designed to hold heat within a box, may be lined with sheet asbestos to resist the escape of the heat from the inclosed buckets of hot food.

Baking day does not monopolize the asbestos, for Tuesday sees an asbestos iron rest to protect the cover of the ironing board from scorching. An ingenious housekeeper covered a large iron with asbestos, attached a handle to what had been the bottom and inverted it over the iron being heated upon the gas stove. The result was that less gas was required, for all of its heat was conserved for the iron and not wasted in heating the kitchen. The style of flat irons with removable handles depends for its special efficiency upon asbestos linings for the detachable outer shell.

The housekeeper may place round asbestos mats upon the dining table under the hot serving dishes to protect the polished table top beneath from being marred by heat. Better still, she can buy or make a large sheet of asbestos to lay beneath the table cloth. These can be purchased made to order to fit the table exactly. Their cost is several dollars, varying with the size and with the quality of the binding and covering. Sheet asbestos can be had cheaply at the hardware stores, and a clever and economical housekeeper can contrive a non-conducting asbestos cloth for herself.

As a matter of fire protection asbestos is invaluable. Tacked to the ceiling above the furnace, it guards the floor above from overheating or igniting should the furnace become defective. Where coal heating stoves and ranges are used and must be set near a wall it is best to have an asbestos covered board set behind them. When a stovepipe passes through a ceiling to warm a bedroom above (a common thing in old-fashioned houses) a sheeting of asbestos should encircle it wherever it would touch combustible surfaces.

If you have a hot air furnace the plumber will probably paste one thin layer of asbestos around the pipes to conserve their heat. A thick layer or two separate layers will prevent heat wasting even more efficiently.

One thrifty householder, who is chary of all unnecessary expense, pasted asbestos thickly all over the outside of his furnace proper. He had never seen this done before, yet tried the experiment, and reports enthusiastically that the saving in his coal bills of one year made it worth while. Formerly he had been wasting heat on the cellar air. A man who followed his example had the asbestos bound to the furnace cylinder with wire hoops instead of paste.

Another valuable place to paste asbestos is over the hot water tank. Water can thus be kept at a higher temperature. It is most serviceable in seasons of the year when the furnace is not needed to warm the house. A hot fire of kindling wood in the furnace in the morning will heat a tank full of water. For the entire day the water will keep warm, as the thick asbestos coating will serve to keep the heat already generated.

RECIPES TRIED AND FOUND VERY SUCCESSFUL BY WOMEN OF HONOLULU

[Twelve Recipes recommended by Mrs. A. Hocking]

APRICOT ICE.

(For one gallon.)

- 1 can of apricots
 - 5 oranges
 - 2 lemons
 - 4 cups of sugar
 - 4 cups of water
 - 4 cups of cream
 - Whites of 4 eggs.
- The apricots, oranges and lemons are forced through a sieve. Then boil the sugar and water to a syrup and allow to cool. Mix the fruit and syrup and add the stiffly-beaten whites of the eggs. After this starts to freeze, add the cream and freeze until almost solid. Remove the dasher and pack well. Most delicious.

STRAWBERRY BAVAROIS

- Yolks of 3 eggs (beaten)
 - 3 tablespoons powdered sugar
 - 1 tablespoon gelatine (soaked in 1-2 cup cold water).
- Mix well and add 1-2 pint (1 cup) of milk that has come to a boil. When above mixture is fairly cool, add 1 pint whipped cream.
- Take 3 cups of strawberries. Put one cup in mixture.
- Pour into molds and put on ice until it hardens. Balance of berries mix with about 4 tablespoons of granulated sugar. Mash and squeeze through a cloth for the sauce.

TEA MUFFINS.

- 1 tablespoon butter.
 - 1/2 cup sugar.
 - 1 cup milk.
 - 2 cups flour.
 - 2 teaspoons baking powder.
 - 1/4 teaspoon of salt.
 - 1 egg.
- Rub butter and sugar together. Add egg, milk and sift in flour, baking powder and salt. Bake in moderate oven.

GINGER-MINT DRINK.

- Juice of six oranges and four lemons.
- Add a cup of sugar and a dozen sprigs of green mint. Let this soak for an hour. Put a tablespoon or more of this mixture into a small lemonade

- glass, fill the remainder with cold ginger ale, stir well and serve. Do not add ginger ale until just before serving, as it will get flat and lose its bite.

NUT SANDWICHES

- (Enough for four dozen.)
 - 1-2 lb. seeded raisins
 - 1-4 lb. chopped walnuts
- Put through the meat-grinder and moisten. Spread between buttered slices of bread.

SOUR CREAM FILLING (Caramel).

- 1 cup sour cream.
 - 1 tablespoon sugar.
 - 1 cup granulated sugar.
 - 1 cup chopped walnuts.
 - White of one egg.
- Mix the cream, salt and sugar and boil until it will thread on a spoon. Then pour into the well-beaten white of the egg. Beat until fairly stiff, add the nuts and spread between layers. If used to frost the top of the cake, twice this amount will have to be made.

DELICATE CAKE.

- 1/2 cup butter.
 - 1 1/2 cups of sugar.
 - 2-3 (scant) cup of milk.
 - 2 cups of flour.
 - 2 eggs.
 - 1 1/2 teaspoons making powder.
 - 1 teaspoon of vanilla.
- Bake in layers in a moderate oven.

TOMATO JELLY.

- 1 envelope Knox's gelatine soaked in 1 cup cold water.
 - 1 quart tin of tomatoes.
 - 1/2 onion (chopped).
 - 2 tablespoons vinegar.
 - 2 tablespoons salt.
 - 2 tablespoons sugar.
 - 2 teaspoon powdered cloves.
 - Dash of cinnamon.
 - Dash of nutmeg.
 - 1/2 teaspoon mustard.
 - 1 teaspoon Worcestershire.
 - Dash of tobacco and cayenne.
- Boil tomatoes, onion, salt and sugar about fifteen minutes. Force through a sieve, add seasoning, spices and vinegar. Then the gelatine (when mixture is still hot). Put in molds to harden.

BOILED MAYONNAISE.

- Yolks of 3 eggs.
 - 1/2 teaspoon of salt.
 - 1/2 teaspoon of sugar.
 - 1 flat teaspoon of dry mustard.
 - Dash of cayenne oil.
 - 3 tablespoons of oil.
 - 3 tablespoons of vinegar.
 - 3 tablespoons of cream.
- Pour all the ingredients into a bowl. Beat well and put in top of kettle to steam. Stir until thick. Remove from the stove and let cool. Especially good to people who like well seasoned food.

TOMATO BISQUE SOUP.

- 1 quart tinned tomatoes.
- 1 small onion (chopped).
- Cook 20 minutes and rub through a sieve. Put back on stove to keep hot. Meantime boil 1 quart (in double

BUYING HOME FOOD BY WEIGHT

The recommendation made by W. S. Haskell, superintendent of weights and measures in the District of Columbia, to the commissioner of the district, that foodstuffs should be bought by weight instead of measure, is one that deserves the attention of every housewife. Mr. Haskell believes that this plan adopted, a step of importance will have been taken toward solving the problems of the high cost of living. New York state, in the passage of the Brooks bill, has hit the evil of short or poor weights most effectively. Other states are taking up the matter. In New Jersey, provision is made by law what bushels of certain commodities must weigh.

Should the District of Columbia decide to act on Mr. Haskell's proposal, the effect for uniformity would be felt throughout the country. The idea is to give no opportunity for any variation of weight. What might be legal weight for a bushel of potatoes, say in one state, would perhaps not be legal weight in another. It is said that a bushel of potatoes, or turnips, may weigh anywhere from 42 to 60 pounds, according to how they are packed.

Another commodity which is said to vary greatly in its weight by the bushel, according to how it is packed, is dried peaches. Mr. Haskell is responsible for the statement that a bushel of dried peaches may weigh anywhere from 28 to 40 pounds and yet is still another commodity that is claimed, varies in weight from 50 to 85 pounds in a bushel.

With a uniform law as to weights and measures, the housewife would know just how much of any particular foodstuff she is getting when making purchases. Today when buying a dozen eggs, she may get in real egg value, anywhere from a pound to a pound and a half, according to the size of the eggs. On the other hand, if she bought eggs by the pound, the number would vary, according to their size, and she would be getting in food value what she paid for, namely, a pound of eggs.

Tomatoes during the winter months are sold usually by weight; but if this is the fairer way of buying them in winter, when the price is high, why is it not just as fair in summer, when the supply of fruit and vegetables is plentiful? Peaches, pears, apples, peppers, onions, beans—these, too, if sold by weight in small quantities, would enable a person to estimate more correctly their real cost.

FIFTY-CENTS-A-WEEK DIET

Publication of the bill of fare of a girl who in pursuit of an education in music lived for twenty weeks at a cost not exceeding 50 cents a week has renewed public interest in the perennial questions as to the cost of living and the amount of food required for the maintenance of health.

Upon these as upon all other issues doctors disagree. Some learned men say more people die of overeating than from overdrinking. Others just as learned hold that without abundance of rich food there can be no vigor of thought or action. To persons of these opposing views the fare of the 50-cent-a-week diet is already a matter of contention.

We shall never have an exact agreed-upon diet for any large number of people. Health and vigor depend more upon the quality of the food than upon the quantity. With both men and women there is a tendency to eat foods lacking in nutritive value. Young women sometimes for economy's sake make lunches on stuffs that are hardly foods at all. Men sometimes try to make a glass of beer and a sandwich serve them. Each criticizes the other; and rightly, too, for both are equally foolish.

Koko Head Marconi Wireless Plant Rising Steadily

Out on the slopes and levels back of Koko Head a strange forest is rising day by day. It is the forest of masts that will mark the great Marconi wireless part of a connecting link on Oahu in the chain that is to reach around the world and establish lighting communication between far countries.

This third mast went up fast. Two are complete. The problem of the Marconi construction here is the problem of getting the material on the ground. The erection work is easy, say the men on the job. Engineer Slaughter says that even green men can do it, as they work in a chamber that prevents any fear of distance from the ground, this turretlike chamber rising as the masts rise.

The steel masts come from the McMyler Interstate company, of Cleveland, Ohio, and as there are a number of Marconi plants going up at a number of mainland points, the Cleveland firm is rushed to its capacity to keep the rapidly-developing demand supplied.

The pictures above show the various stages of mast erection. Under favorable conditions, a 300-foot mast can be erected in four days, with guys complete. One photograph above shows a concrete foundation for a mast being set in the midst of a fish-pond. This is only one of the minor difficulties that the Marconi engineers and the construction company men surmount every day.

ESSAD PASHA WOULD BE PRINCE OF ALL OF THE ALBANIAN RACE

Picturesque Character Willing To Take Up Government of Countrymen

If the Albanians wish Essad to be their Prince—Essad, the most picturesque and the most conspicuous of Balkan personalities just now—he may, opines the London Spectator, be a figure for a long time to come. Europe, in the diplomatic sense of that geographical expression, may prefer a royalty from one of the established dynasties, but Europe will not have her way in the end if Essad Pasha can decide the point. And what if Essad himself were to found an enduring dynasty? Even that, says the London periodical, would not be so wonderful as the founding of the present Swedish dynasty by the private soldier of the French revolution, Bernadotte.

Essad is, indeed, an Albanian of the purest water. His family, the Topanias, of Tirana, near Durazzo, is one of the richest and most powerful in the country. Its history is the typical history of feudal robber chiefs such as we read of in medieval chronicles. Essad himself was from the first educated for the army. He did his service in many garrisons of Macedonia and Anatolia. Next he became commander of the gendarmerie at Constantinople. He took a distinguished part in the campaign of 1897 against Greece, and received from the Sultan the title of Pasha. So great was his personal and family influence in the political world at Constantinople that Abdul Hamid never dared lay his hands on him for the murder of his agent. He only transferred him to Yanina to command the local gendarmerie, and even conferred upon him the rank of a general. It was while there that Essad first embraced the doctrines of the Young Turks.

Essad Pasha, whom newspaper readers will remember as the hero of Scutari, expressed last month his intention of working in agreement with the Italian government for "a satisfactory and definite solution" of the question in which his interest is so personal. Wild Primitive Man. A wild, imperious, primitive character, like most Ghegs, but not intractable and in many ways even fascinating is this Essad Pasha as described by the London daily. He had to avenge his brother because there was the law of the mountains, the great canon of blood feud bequeathed to all posterity by Lek Ducagin, the lawgiver of the time of Scanderbeg. But then Essad has also from his youth on an ardent Albanian patriot, proud of his race, and its history, and an early advocate of the Pan-Albanian national idea, and even of the Latin script, for the sake of which he quarreled with the Young Turks and became their deadly enemy. For with these men of primitive instincts everything assumes an exaggerated character. What Renan once remarked of the Semitic genius applies also to the Albanian; he too, thinks and acts in antitheses. He does not say, "I love Isaac better than Esau." He says, "I love Isaac; I hate Esau." Both their hatred and love are great, and just as they will not spare their enemy so they will not spare themselves for the man or the idea they love. is Pure Albanian. Essad is about 50 years of age, and his high forehead, Roman nose, and straight and sharp look betray the warrior race to which he belongs. A peculiarity of his features is the fixed immobility of his right eye, giving the impression that he is constantly taking aim with his Mauser. Let us think what we are going to say before saying what we think.

LIVES 40 DAYS UNDER DRIPPING WATER PIPE

[By Latest Mail] KANKAKEE, Ill.—John Robertson died in the State Hospital for the Insane here today as a result of hiding 40 days and nights in an abandoned room in the basement of the institution, without food and with only source of water supply the drippings from a rusty pipe near the ceiling. Workmen entering the room to make repairs two weeks ago, saw Robertson lying in a corner, but believed the object to be a bundle of clothing. Several hours elapsed before they found it was a man. Robertson, who was near death from starvation, had arranged his body in such a manner that drops of water, which fell from the pipe only at intervals of nearly an hour, entered his open mouth. He was taken to a hospital and revived.

Robertson, who was a patient in the institution, never was able to recall how he had effected entrance to the room, which had been locked securely. But he related a remarkable story of how he kept life in his body by waiting hour after hour, day and night, for the drops of water from the rusty pipe to fall into his mouth. Exhausted, Tears Drip. The patient recalled that he first became so exhausted from hunger that he could not walk. As he lay on the floor of the damp, dark cellar, he was seized with a terrible thirst and after suffering intensely, probably for days, his ears caught the sound of the fall of a drop of water.

Crawling about the cellar, and growing weaker every moment, the man finally came upon a small pool of water in one corner of the room. Feverishly lapping this up, he attempted to arrange his body so that the drops of water would fall into his mouth. He composed himself and waited with his mouth open.

Finally a drop of water fell, but it hit the man on the shoulder, and he wearily eased his body to a position which he calculated was the right one. Then ensued another wait of nearly 60 minutes. He again was doomed to disappointment. When the drop descended again it struck him on the cheek. Patiently, he arranged his body a third time, and he described to the hospital attendants his joy when the third drop entered his mouth. Lay Quiet Three Weeks. Robertson did not move from that time until he was removed from the cellar. How long he lay there under the pipe never will be known, but it must have been three weeks. He declared before he died that he had learned to sleep with his mouth open in order that he might not miss a single drop of the fluid which kept life in him.

Robertson disappeared from a field in which he was working July 31. He was admitted to the hospital from Ohio in 1898, was regarded as a harmless patient, and allowed to do outside work. He disappeared from the field during the day, but his absence was not noticed until the roll call at night.

A search of the buildings of the institution was made, and when Robertson was not found, the police of Chicago and Kankakee were notified. When several days' search brought no trace of the missing man, the attendants believed he had wandered to some remote part of the State.

FALLING HAIR MEANS DANDRUFF IS ACTIVE

Save your Hair! Get a 25-cent bottle of Dandefine right now—Also stops itching scalp. Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scourge. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Dandefine tonight—now—anytime—will surely save your hair. Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Dandefine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance; an incomparable gloss and softness, but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp. advertisement.

BALLOU GOES INTO DETAIL ON PRODUCTION AND MARKETING OF HAWAIIAN SUGAR CROP

SENATE LOBBY PROBES QUESTION HIM CLOSELY ON ANTI-FREE SUGAR CAMPAIGN WORK

[This is the fourteenth installment of the testimony given by Hawaiian sugar men before the senate lobby probe committee as to the activities of local sugar interests in opposing the new tariff bill. Attorney S. M. Ballou of the Sugar Planters' Association is being questioned. The testimony is being printed from week to week.]

Senator Reed. In the last year the company has paid you your salary here?

Mr. Ballou. Yes.

Senator Reed. And your expenses, which are $15,000 more?

Mr. Ballou. Yes.

Senator Reed. So that there have been expended here $64,900?

Mr. Ballou. Yes.

Senator Reed. By your people direct?

Mr. Ballou. Yes.

Senator Reed. Have your people not contributed otherwise than in this way?

Mr. Ballou. No, sir; not to my knowledge—contributed to what?

Senator Reed. To the sugar campaign.

Mr. Ballou. No; I do not think so.

Senator Reed. By the sugar campaign I mean to embrace anything that they have done in the way of trying to enlighten the public or to maintain a campaign.

Mr. Ballou. I said not to my knowledge. The expenses of Gov. Carter and things of that kind are paid, but nothing has been paid through my hands of which I have any knowledge.

Senator Reed. Do you pay the rent of the office, or does the company pay that in addition?

Mr. Ballou. That is the one expense that the company pays, $30 per month.

Senator Reed. How about the stenographer?

Mr. Ballou. I have to pay my own stenographer's expense.

Senator Reed. Do they pay for postage?

Mr. Ballou. No.

Senator Reed. Do these items include your printing bill?

Mr. Ballou. Yes.

Senator Reed. In raising this fund, preparing for this campaign, was there an assessment made upon the members of your association?

Mr. Ballou. I do not know, except as I have heard Gov. Carter testify here this morning. I have been in Washington and the money is coming from Hawaii. I understood Gov. Carter to say that it was assessed to every stockholder. Just what he meant by that, I do not know, and I never inquired.

Senator Reed. I will ask you if there was not an assessment made of a certain number of cents per ton on all the producers who are members of your association?

Mr. Ballou. I do not know, sir. I will state of course that the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association has large funds raised in somewhat that manner. That is, this campaign is only one thing. As I say, their experiment station has cost them nearly $100,000 a year for the past three years.

Senator Nelson. Where is that experiment station?

Mr. Ballou. In Honolulu. They have the control of large funds in that way, and to answer your question directly, I do not know whether any special assessment was levied by the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association for the expenses of this campaign in Washington. I do not believe that there was. I think that the money came in the usual way and was expended for this purpose.

Senator Reed. Are you prepared to say that some sort of central authority or organization did not make an assessment upon the beet-sugar factories of this country, and the Louisiana cane producers and the Hawaiian producers of substantially 10 cents a ton, and notify your people of that fact?

Mr. Ballou. I cannot answer that for either the beet-sugar people or the Louisiana people. No such assessment was ever levied on the Hawaiian sugar people in any way, shape, or manner by any central organization, that is any organization except our own Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association, raising the funds in their own manner. No inner council, no organization containing any beet men or Louisiana sugar men or Porto Rico men has ever assessed a cent against the Hawaiian sugar people for expenses of this campaign.

Senator Reed. So that we will not misunderstand each other about the matter of terms, I do not mean a legal assessment.

Mr. Ballou. I understand that.

Senator Reed. I do not mean an assessment that they had a right to enforce, but were your people notified that they were expected to contribute an amount of money based upon their tonnage produced.

Mr. Ballou. No, sir; they were not notified in any way, shape, or manner by any outside person.

Senator Reed. Requested?

Mr. Ballou. You mean by somebody outside of Hawaii?

Senator Reed. Yes.

Mr. Ballou. My answer is no; emphatically.

Senator Reed. Was there anybody inside of Hawaii who made a request of that kind upon the sugar producers?

Mr. Ballou. Except the Hawaiian sugar planters themselves.

Senator Reed. Did they make an assessment or send out a notice requesting contributions based upon tonnage?

Mr. Ballou. No, sir.

Senator Reed. They have a central fund?

Mr. Ballou. They have a central fund which I presume is raised about that way, by regular assessment upon tonnage.

Senator Reed. Do you know how much money they generally carry in that fund?

Mr. Ballou. No; I do not.

Senator Reed. Do you have any idea of the amount?

Mr. Ballou. No; except, as I say, a general idea of their expenses and expenditures.

Senator Reed. Do you know whether they have regularly collected about 10 cents a ton from their members annually?

Mr. Ballou. I do not know. I have no idea. I know they have expended hundreds of thousands of dollars in experimenting in the direct manufacture of white sugar in Hawaii. That is one of their activities.

Senator Nelson. White sugar, you say?

Mr. Ballou. Yes; direct white sugar.

Senator Reed. How do they create this central fund?

Mr. Ballou. Their own money is raised from different corporations by some species of assessment with which I am not familiar.

Senator Reed. Is it based upon tonnage?

Mr. Ballou. I presume it is based upon tonnage.

Senator Reed. Do you know who would know how they raise that money?

Mr. Ballou. I am not quite sure whether Mr. Mead would know or not. I will ask him, if you will permit.

Senator Reed. I suppose he will be on the stand?

Mr. Ballou. Very well. It does not make any difference. I assume that they raise their general fund for all these purposes by assessment, and I should imagine, without any direct knowledge on the subject, that that assessment was based upon tonnage; but as I understood your question it was whether or not any general fund involving other people than Hawaiian planters, any outside authority, involving the beet people or the Louisiana people, assessing the Hawaiian sugar planters so much per ton for special expenses of this campaign, and I say so, that I know that no such assessment as you have described was ever levied.

Senator Reed. I think we understand each other, but I desire that we shall. It has been stated in one of the newspapers—

Mr. Ballou. Yes; I saw the article.

Senator Reed. I think the New York World?

Mr. Ballou. Yes.

Senator Reed. That 10 cents a ton had been assessed against all of the sugar producers who were in associations, and that that money had been gathered together as a fund, or at least such as has been obtained.

Mr. Ballou. Yes.

Senator Reed. Now, regardless of how it came to be assessed, whether it was through an organization or simply by somebody writing letters to them, I want to know whether any such thing as that ever was done, to your knowledge?

Mr. Ballou. No. That story was absolutely false, as far as Hawaii was concerned. I cannot answer for any other people.

Senator Reed. You do not know how much money your people actually did have in the central fund?

Mr. Ballou. No; but, as I say, I know they must carry pretty large amounts.

Senator Reed. What do you mean by large amounts?

Mr. Ballou. I imagine they maintain a balance of $50,000 to $100,000, say, $100,000 at all times. When I think of their experiment station, and when I think of the white sugar process, and when I think of the rewards that they have offered of $20,000 at a time for labor-saving devices and other matters concerned in it, I know that they must expend large sums of money, and I should imagine they keep a fund in the neighborhood of $100,000. That is merely a guess.

Senator Reed. Do you agree with Gov. Carter that they would be fully warranted in expending $800,000 to defeat this bill?

Mr. Ballou. I think so; yes.

Senator Reed. They would not care much how it was spent?

Mr. Ballou. I think they would care a great deal how it was spent. I think they would want to know that they were getting full value for their money, and as far as the question involves any illegitimate way I certainly think they would care a great deal about how it was expended.

Senator Reed. Do they in addition to yourself keep any other regular salaried man in this country?

Mr. Ballou. Mr. Trenor, of New York, is under retainer. I think it is a regular salary, to look after immigration matters more particularly. I may not have mentioned him. He has been down here in this campaign.

Senator Reed. How long was he here?

Mr. Ballou. Oh, I do not know. He has been here off and on. He goes back to New York. He comes down, and he stays for a week or ten days at a time.

Senator Reed. Has he been taking any part in the publicity campaign?

Mr. Ballou. A very minor part. Practically none.

Senator Reed. Simply looks after immigration?

Mr. Ballou. Yes.

Senator Reed. Nothing else?

Mr. Ballou. Nothing else.

Senator Reed. There is no other man now engaged in creating public sentiment or in going about the country and meeting other sugar men and in that way forwarding this movement that you call the campaign for a protective tariff on sugar—nominated that for want of a name?

Mr. Ballou. No.

Senator Reed. Do you know anything about the moneys that have been expended by the other sugar people of your own knowledge?

Mr. Ballou. No.

Senator Reed. Or by direct information from other representatives?

Mr. Ballou. No; I do not.

Senator Reed. In round numbers, your people have expended $65,000?

Mr. Ballou. You have added to that my regular salary and expenses, which go on, campaign or no campaign.

Senator Reed. Yes; but your time has been largely devoted to this matter for the last year.

Mr. Ballou. Yes.

Senator Nelson. $50,000, outside of your expenses?

Mr. Ballou. Yes.

The Chairman. I notice here a bulletin, which I got through the mails, in which I am asked to please give my most serious attention and earnest consideration to it, and this seems to be an account of a great meeting held in Honolulu. Was that issued and distributed in this country?

Mr. Ballou. I would have to see it before I answered that question.

The Chairman. Very well; examine it.

Mr. Ballou. That was part of Gov. Carter's home campaign before he came here. It describes the mass meeting at the Alexander Young hotel and states that ex-Gov. Geo. R. Carter will leave on the next steamer direct for Washington to continue the fight, etc.

The Chairman. And that contains resolutions and statistics of all kinds?

Mr. Ballou. Yes.

The Chairman. Was that distributed pretty largely in this country?

Mr. Ballou. I have no knowledge of how far that was distributed.

The Chairman. Was that printed in Honolulu?

Mr. Ballou. Yes.

The Chairman. That makes something else, then, besides these others, I suppose that was distributed in this country. I got a copy of it.

Senator Reed. Oh, I utterly forgot to ask you about these other gentlemen who came here from New York, and who have associated with you. What about their compensation while they are here?

Mr. Ballou. I do not think any of them received any extra compensation. Mr. Mead is a regular employe of the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association.

Senator Reed. Located at New York?

Mr. Ballou. No; his regular office is in Honolulu. He undoubtedly would turn in his expense bills, but, as far as I know, he receives no extra compensation.

Senator Reed. You do not know what his expenses are?

Mr. Ballou. I do not know just how much they pay him, whether they pay him what he is worth or not.

Senator Reed. How long has he been here?

Mr. Ballou. Oh, a couple of months. He came in April.

Senator Reed. Then, there is Mr. Tanton. Where does he live?

Mr. Ballou. In Honolulu. He is the assistant manager of Alexander & Baldwin (Ltd.). I am sure that the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association do not pay him any compensation or any expenses. His time is contributed by his corporation, Alexander & Baldwin, and they unquestionably will pay his expenses.

Senator Reed. You do not know whether he is spending any money or not?

Mr. Ballou. Except for personal expenses?

Senator Reed. Yes.

Mr. Ballou. I am quite sure I would have heard of it if he were, as I am in daily contact with him, and I am in his confidence.

Senator Reed. Who else?

Mr. Ballou. Mr. Baldwin came here from Cleveland.

Senator Reed. Do you know whether he expended any money?

Mr. Ballou. I am absolutely sure that he has not, except for his expenses.

Senator Reed. Was he on a regular salary?

Mr. Ballou. No.

Senator Nelson. He is one of the owners.

Mr. Ballou. He is not under salary from anybody.

Senator Reed. I thought he was an attorney?

Mr. Ballou. He is; but he is under salary from none.

Senator Reed. As to these other men, you do not know whether they have expended any money or not, but your impression is that they have not been put to any expense except the ordinary hotel and traveling expenses?

Mr. Ballou. I could almost testify to that under oath, because I am in their confidence, and I meet them every day, discussing matters, and if they had made any disbursements of the kind to which you refer, outside of their personal expenses, I am sure that I would have known of it.

The Chairman. Is there not a man named Smith?

Mr. Ballou. Yes.

The Chairman. He is a statistician and editor?

Mr. Ballou. No; he is an editor and lecturer. He is not a statistician. He was an editor and he is now a lecturer. He is under salary from the Hawaii Promotion Committee. He simply advertises Hawaii as an attraction for tourists, and his time was contributed by that committee. He was ordered to report to Gov. Carter, and do anything that Gov. Carter might ask him to do.

Senator Reed. You do not know whether he has disbursed any moneys?

Mr. Ballou. I am quite sure that he has not.

Senator Reed. I think that is all.

Senator Nelson. Mr. Ballou, you have described here fully about this publicity campaign that you have been carrying on. Will you please state, and in your own way, fully, why you have carried on this campaign—why you and the people of Hawaii have carried on this publicity campaign?

Mr. Ballou. Because when I first came here I heard the testimony before the Hardwick committee and I learned that the free-sugar sentiment of this country had been entirely created, or at least agitated, by the campaign carried on at the expense of the Federal Sugar Refining Co., and as Gov. Carter said this morning, and I will further state that Senator Williams told me that the only mistake that we made was that we allowed Mr. Lowry to get a two years' start of us.

Senator Nelson. What is your own belief and faith as to the effect of free sugar on that industry in Hawaii?

Mr. Ballou. It will be the ruination of that industry. There may be a few plantations that by economy may be able to survive, but no plantation last year produced sugar at the cost of sugar now in New York, without the duty. So under present conditions and present practice there is not a single plantation in Hawaii that could make a profit. If they could reduce their expenses, or if the prices went up, some of them might, but it would be practical annihilation of the sugar industry in the Hawaiian islands.

Senator Nelson. Then, as I understand you, you and the people of Hawaii are carrying on this campaign as a matter of self-preservation of the main and principal industry of your islands?

Mr. Ballou. Yes.

Senator Nelson. And for no other purpose?

Mr. Ballou. That is it, exactly.

Senator Nelson. Have any of you, so far as you know, made any corrupt use of any money?

Mr. Ballou. No. I am certain of that. I am certain that no corrupt use of money has been made.

Senator Nelson. It has been confined to this work that you have described here before the committee?

Mr. Ballou. Yes.

Senator Nelson. Wholly?

Mr. Ballou. Yes.

Senator Nelson. And your purpose has been to counteract the sentiment for free sugar that was started by the other side?

Mr. Ballou. Yes.

Senator Nelson. And you have done it simply for self-preservation—to protect your own industry in the islands?

Mr. Ballou. Yes.

Senator Nelson. And you have no other motives?

Mr. Ballou. No.

The Chairman. Was it intended to influence Senators?

Mr. Ballou. Yes; we hoped to inform and influence them.

Senator Reed. You did not mean to make your statement so broad as to say that the free-sugar sentiment of this country has been all created by the Federal Sugar Refining Co.?

Mr. Ballou. Yes. I heard Mr. Lowry boast that he and he single handed practically—

Senator Reed. Oh, let me be fair.

Mr. Ballou. I beg your pardon.

Senator Reed. Do you mean to say that there was not any free-sugar sentiment in this country, and that there would not have been if it had not been for Mr. Lowry?

Mr. Ballou. I said it had been agitated by him. I did not quite catch the force of the word "created." I heard him testify—

Senator Reed. We know that Mr. Lowry did testify that they had embarked on a campaign of that kind. I just wanted to know whether you wanted to make your statement in answer to Senator Nelson so broad as to say that Mr. Lowry had created all the free-sugar sentiment there is in this country.

Mr. Ballou. He certainly agitated it. Let me make my statement in answer to yours. I heard Mr. Lowry testify that when he started this campaign he asked for contributions from importers of sugar in order to carry it on, and that they all told him that he was running his head against a stone wall in endeavoring to start the campaign, and the only one that did contribute was the Federal Sugar Refining Co.

Senator Reed. I know all about that.

Mr. Ballou. That is, as to the existence of the sentiment at that time in the opinion of those people who would benefit by the propaganda.

Senator Reed. But the Democratic party has stood for free sugar some 15 or 16 years ago?

Mr. Ballou. I do not so understand it, no, sir.

Senator Reed. And there had actually been a free-sugar bill passed once?

Mr. Ballou. Not by the Democratic party. The Republican party passed a free-sugar bill, and the Democratic party put it back on the outtable list at 40 per cent ad valorem, with a differential of one-eighth of a cent on refined sugar.

Senator Reed. You heard this testimony before the Hardwick committee just about two years ago?

Mr. Ballou. Yes.

Senator Reed. Do you mean to say there was not a free-sugar sentiment in this country believed in by tens and hundreds of thousands of people, millions of people?

Mr. Ballou. I can only give my opinion upon that subject. My frank opinion is that there was not until Mr. Lowry began his campaign.

Senator Reed. You came here only about two years ago?

Mr. Ballou. That is the time I have been on the mainland.

Senator Reed. I do not want to give Mr. Lowry the credit of controlling public opinion in this country.

Mr. Ballou. I do. I want to give him lots of credit.

Senator Reed. At least I do not want to give him the credit for controlling mine, and I have been for a low tariff on everything as long as I can remember, and I did not know Mr. Lowry existed until about 10 days ago. That is all.

Senator Cummins. Mr. Ballou, how much of the sugar from Cuba comes here under consignment to what you have called the Sugar Trust?

Mr. Ballou. I am not at all sure on that figure. I think some of it does, but I think it is only a small portion. That is, my idea of what I know about the sugar business is that some of the Cuban plantations have certain financial relations or else through their stockholders with the trusts, and some with the National, whereby they practically have to sell their sugar to those corporations, but I think the total would be small as regards the entire island of Cuba.

Senator Cummins. How much of the sugar produced in Cuba is sold before it leaves Cuba?

Mr. Ballou. That I could not state; but, of course, every day you can see in Willett & Gray's Statistical that the Federal or Arbuckle's brought sugar, we will say now, for July delivery. That sugar is sold in Cuba before it starts, but nevertheless it is sold at the market price.

Senator Cummins. You described a somewhat fierce competition for consignments of sugar in New York.

Mr. Ballou. I do not know how fierce it is.

Senator Cummins. What I want to know is, as far as your knowledge extends, how much of the sugar that actually comes from Cuba is sold before it leaves Cuba?

Mr. Ballou. That I do not know. Do you include in that future delivery? No matter whether you do or not, I could not answer that question intelligently. Mr. Lowry could tell you.

Senator Cummins. You were an attendant on the hearings of the Hardwick investigation?

Mr. Ballou. Yes. I heard every one and that question was not asked.

Senator Cummins. That subject was not developed?

Mr. Ballou. No.

Senator Cummins. The general question of whether there was competition in the buying of raw sugar from Cuba was carefully inquired into?

Mr. Ballou. Yes.

Senator Cummins. And then there was some peculiar way of fixing the price in New York that I did not begin to understand, but I have been informed that a very large part of the sugar that comes here from Cuba was really sold before it was transported.

Mr. Ballou. A great deal of sugar is bought for future delivery, but that is bought under substantially the same conditions as it would be if a steamer were lying for orders outside of the Delaware Breakwater. If a man thinks the market is going up he will buy for future delivery and if the seller thinks it is going down he will sell for future delivery.

Senator Cummins. These people go to Cuba very largely and buy their raw sugar there?

Mr. Ballou. I think not. I do not think a large proportion of Cuban sugar is bought in Cuba. I think the largest part of it is bought by transactions in New York.

Senator Cummins. Is there any record to show how much of the sugar that comes to New York is the property of those who produce it in Cuba?

Mr. Ballou. No; there is not.

Senator Cummins. And how much of it that comes to New York is the property of the refiners?

Mr. Ballou. There is no such record.

Senator Cummins. Which takes it and melts it?

Mr. Ballou. There is no such record. I have heard the refiners testify that their corporations own no plantations in Cuba. On the other hand, of course, I know that Edwin S. Atkins, who is a stockholder and who is the acting head of the American Sugar Refining Co., is also interested in the Cuban-American Sugar Co. in Cuba and controls its plantations. Just how intimate the connection is between the Cuban-American Sugar Co. and the American Sugar Refining Co. on account of Mr. Atkins being the controlling stockholder in the Cuban company and a stockholder and the acting head of the American Sugar Refining Co., I have no means of finding out, nor was that directly inquired into in the Hardwick hearings.

Senator Cummins. You do not believe that the price of raw sugar is largely controlled by the American Sugar Refining Co.?

Mr. Ballou. No; if I did, we would not sell our sugar on such contracts as we have. That shows that we must think the market price is fairly established.

Senator Cummins. I observed you had that kind of an arrangement with the company, but if it is true that the price of raw sugar is very largely determined by the action of the American Sugar Refining Co.—

Mr. Ballou. Then our contract would be a poor one.

Senator Cummins. And you would think that you were rather in the hands of the trust?

Mr. Ballou. Our contract would be a poor one.

Senator Cummins. In order to get it into the record, when did Hawaii become a part of the United States?

Mr. Ballou. In 1898. The flag was raised in August of that year.

Senator Cummins. What was the production of raw sugar in Hawaii at that time?

Mr. Ballou. May I refer to the Hardwick hearings, where a table was inserted which would give me that correctly?

Senator Cummins. Yes; but can you not recall, about it? If you have those hearings handy I would be glad to have you refer to them.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

What is Castoria?

CASTORIA is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Purgative, Drops and Soothing Syrup. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance (Narcotics stupefy). Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhea and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

The signature of Dr. J. C. Fletcher is on every wrapper of genuine Castoria. Physicians Recommend Castoria.

"My patients invariably praise the action of your Castoria." W. W. Turner, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.

"I use your Castoria and advise its use in all families where there are children." J. W. Dumas, M. D., Chicago, Ill.

"During my medical practice I know of several cases where your Castoria was prescribed and used with good results." E. H. Morrison, M. D., St. Louis, Mo.

"Your Castoria is certainly the greatest remedy the children I know of. I know no other purgative preparation which is its equal." B. S. Schwartz, M. D., Kansas City, Mo.

"I use your Castoria as a purgative in the case of children for years past with most happy effect, and fully endorse it as a safe remedy." E. D. Barron, M. D., Philadelphia, Pa.

Mr. Ballou. I have them here. These four volumes I have here are the hearings before the Hardwick investigating committee. I refer to page 267. On that there is a table. The production for Hawaii is given. In 1898, which was the year of annexation, the crop was approximately 250,000 long tons.

Senator Cummins. And what was it last year?

Senator Nelson. Five hundred and thirty thousand long tons.

Mr. Ballou. Yes; and our estimate for this year is 500,000 tons.

Senator Cummins. And your production has practically doubled in the period the islands have been a part of the United States?

Mr. Ballou. Yes.

Senator Cummins. How much of the production in 1898 was owned and controlled by the Spreckels family?

Mr. Ballou. That I do not know. Mr. C. A. Spreckels himself sold out that large Hawaii Commercial and Sugar Co. during that very year.

Senator Nelson. Was that the old man?

Mr. Ballou. No; this was the son. The old man had left Hawaii at that time. I know that in 1898 Mr. C. A. Spreckels owned that big plantation, which he sold out that year.

Senator Cummins. Do you know what the production of that plantation was at that time?

Mr. Ballou. No; but I should estimate it at 15,000 to 20,000 tons.

Senator Cummins. Had Mr. Spreckels an interest in other plantations at that time?

Mr. Ballou. Mr. C. A. Spreckels, or any Spreckels? I think there was some interest in 1898. I think there were still a number of Spreckels' interests that were gradually sold out about that time. Following annexation the Spreckels family in general disposed of their holdings in Hawaii until only a very few of them were left.

Senator Cummins. Were you at the Baltimore convention?

Mr. Ballou. Yes. You were speaking of Mr. Lowry?

Mr. Ballou. Yes.

Senator Cummins. As having conducted a campaign for free sugar?

Mr. Ballou. Yes.

Senator Cummins. Do you know when he began his campaign?

Mr. Ballou. Yes; from his own testimony he began it in 1899.

Senator Cummins. Will you describe in a general way how it has been carried on?

Mr. Ballou. It has been carried on largely by sending out printed petitions containing the statement—and I think two of them are in the record—that tariff on sugar is a tax of 3 cents a pound, and equivalent to a 30 per cent ad valorem tax, and that this high tax is not justified.

Senator Cummins. Oh, I am not asking you the arguments he used, but what methods did he employ?

Mr. Ballou. By sending out those petitions to be signed and sent back to the Congressman. I wanted to bring out the point that the petition itself contained an argument which would appeal to the consumer. That is to say, it contained the statement that the tariff was a tax of 3 cents a pound.

Senator Nelson. Is this one of his circulars which I show you?

Mr. Ballou. This is not the one I am testifying about. Those were printed on yellow paper, and were perforated at the edges, so that they could be torn off in bunches. This one you hand me, to the best of my belief, is one of his later productions.

Senator Nelson. It is one of his, however?

Mr. Ballou. To the best of my belief. Besides that, he sent out circulars very largely and extensively. A copy of the first circular which he sent out very widely is reprinted in the Hardwick hearings.

That the grades of that portion of Kapahulu Road, in the District of Honolulu, City and County of Honolulu, Territory of Hawaii, lying between Waialae Road and Kanaina Avenue, as hereinafter set forth, are established in reference to a datum plane being mean tide at said District of Honolulu and being located as follows, to-wit:

A bench mark at the foot of pillar at the left entrance of the Judiciary Building in said District of Honolulu, is 16.5 feet above said datum plane. Said grades are above said datum plane, the distance specified on a map which is on file in the office of the City and County Engineer, and is marked Grade Map No. 5.

Section 2. The sidewalk lines of said Kapahulu Road, which are also the curb lines, shall be parallel with and 14 feet from the following described center line, except as noted on Grade Map No. 5.

Commencing at a point in the center of Kapahulu Road, which is by true azimuth 11° 48' 30" distant 14 feet from a monument which marks the intersection of the center line of Kapahulu Road with the South side of Waialae Road, said monument being by Co-ordinates as referred to the Government Triangulation Survey Station, Mauumae, 1155.4 feet North and 1190.7 feet West;

Thence running as follows by true azimuths 11° 48' 30"—1,793.3 feet to Hobson Avenue;

Thence 9° 20"—960.1 feet to Waiman Avenue;

Thence 354° 26"—1306.0 feet to Campbell Avenue;

Thence 29° 12"—1720.0 feet to Kanaina Avenue; of which with the grade elevations are more perfectly shown on the above mentioned Grade Map No. 5, which is hereby made a part of this ordinance.

Introduced by LESTER PETRIE, Supervisor. Honolulu, H. T., September 29, 1913.

Approved this 9th day of October, A. D. 1913. JOSEPH J. FERN, Mayor. Oct. 9, 10, 11, 13, 14.

NOTICE.

All those holding water privileges, supplied from the Nuuanu Valley system, are hereby notified that due to weather conditions and drought the visible supply of water in Nuuanu valley is extremely low, and irrigation is strictly prohibited until further notice.

All privileges found irrigating will be subject to immediate shut off without further notice, and water will not be turned on again until all charges are paid.

The Nuuanu Valley gravity system includes: Nuuanu Valley, Alewa Heights and Puunui down to and including the main side of School Street from Inaane Asylum Road to Luso Street; Puncbowli District, including Luso Street from School to Lunallo Streets; Lunallo Street from Luso to Victoria; Victoria from Lunallo Street to Thurston Avenue; Thurston Avenue, from Victoria to Wilder Avenue; and all the district North of Wilder Avenue and West of Makiki Street.

(Signed) J. W. CALDWELL, Superintendent of Public Works. Honolulu, October 8, 1913. 5670-51.

NOTICE.

Payment of Water Rates.

All persons holding water privileges under meter rates are hereby notified that the water rates for the quarter ending September 30, 1913, are due and payable on October 16, 1913. Upon failure to pay such water rates within fifteen (15) days thereafter, an additional charge of 10 per cent will be made.

All privileges upon which rates remain unpaid on October 31, 1913, will be shut off forthwith. Rates are payable at the office of the Honolulu Water Works, Capitol Building.

J. W. CALDWELL, Superintendent of Public Works, Bureau of Honolulu Water Works, Honolulu, T. H., October 3, 1913. 5666-101.

SEALED TENDERS.

Sealed tenders will be received up to 12 m., on the 13th day of October, 1913, at the Office of the Clerk of the City and County of Honolulu, Room 8, McIntyre Building, for furnishing all material, tools and labor necessary to deliver 100,000 lava rock blocks, like the sample in the Engineer's office, along the Pell road, on the Koolau side, between the top of the Pell and a point 4,000 feet from the top.

Plans, specifications and form of proposal may be had upon application and a deposit of Ten Dollars ($10.00) at the City and County Clerk's office. The Board of Supervisors reserves the right to reject any or all tenders and to waive all defects.

SHIPPER WILL PAY CANAL TOLLS

"San Francisco and Vancouver, B. C., are the only ports benefited by the new U. S. coastwise shipping law. The coastwise shipping law is all wrong."—Opinion of F. Bauseman, Seattle.

Of particular importance to Vancouver waterfront and steamship interests, says the Vancouver Sun, is the recently expressed opinion after a European tour, of Mr. Frederick Bauseman, of Seattle, who is a member of the firm of Bauseman & Kelleher, and takes a deep interest in matters commercial and maritime.

Mr. Bauseman says emphatically: "The coastwise shipping law is all wrong, and so is the proposition of making foreign ships pay a toll while our own ships go through free. It is a fine thing for the New York and San Francisco shipowner, as it only tightens their hold and forces people to use their ships. What would people say if there should be a law enacted providing a penalty for shipping goods over the Canadian Pacific railway? There would be a big roar of protest. Yet that is just what this toll question amounts to, as the cost is bound to fall on the shipper. It is all right to provide a toll for ships bound to the Orient, but those carrying cargoes for Pacific coast points should go through free, or on the same terms as American vessels. It is not right that importers should be charged two taxes, one for bringing an article into the country, and another for getting it through the Panama canal.

"The coastwise shipping law providing that foreign ships can not engage in coastwise trade is a great detriment to Seattle and will keep many foreign ships from our harbor, which otherwise would come here. San Francisco and Vancouver, B. C., are the cities benefited by this law, which looks so good at first glance. A steamship line is not going to take a small shipment for Seattle, and make the run in here, unless they can take another cargo from here. A boat running to San Francisco, for instance, and from there to Vancouver, would have no object in coming to Seattle, it can carry no cargo from San Francisco to this port, nor can it take goods from here, except to some foreign port.
