MILL ENGINEERS EXPRESS THANKS OF CONVENTION

Resolutions of appreciation and thanks for the reception and entertainment of the mill engineers during their convention were passed this morning by the five members of the committee in general charge of arrangements. The resolutions are as follows:

On behalf of the mill engineers of Hawaii, convened in their first annual convention, be it resolved:

First, that the mill engineers of Hawaii wish to extend to the citizens of Honolulu their sincere appreciation of the kindness and courtesies extended to them during their stay in Honolulu.

Second, that we extend to the engineering firms, Honolulu Iron Works Co. and Catton, Neill & Co., Ltd., and the von Hamm-Young Co., Ltd., our thanks for their liberal spirit and for the entertainment they afforded us.

Third, that we extend our thanks to Admiral Moore for his kindness in placing at our disposal the haval tug Navajo for the purpose of taking the trip to Pearl Harbor on Sunday last.

Fourth, that we extend our thanks to the officers of the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company, the Hawaiian Electric Company, Ltd., and the Honolulu Rapid Transit & Land Co. for their interest in our organization and the courtesies extended and for the privilege of viewing and inspecting our various plants, which proved very pleasing and instructive.

Fifth, that we are greatly indebted to the Commercial Club of Honolulu and the various other clubs and organizations of the city for the entertainment afforded us.

Sixth, that the thanks of the mill engineers are extended to the press of Honolulu for their many courtesies, particularly for affording us space for the publicity given our various meetings.

NEW TURKISH BATTLESHIP IS OF POWERFUL TYPE

S.S. Reshadieh, Built in England, Resembles King George V. Class

[By Latest Mail] BARROW-IN-FURNESS, Eng. — A new Turkish battleship was recently completed at Barrow by Messrs. Vickers, Ltd. This battleship, the Reshadieh, is the first vessel to be built for the Turkish navy since 1885, and is one of the most powerful in existence.

Provisional contracts for the Reshadieh and another vessel of the same type were placed with a British syndicate in May, 1911, and confirmed three months later. The Reshadieh was laid down at Barrow on Dec. 6, 1911, and the other vessel at Elswick early in 1912. Since then the Balkan war has taken place and it is not certain that Turkey will be able to take over the vessel, in which case it will, probably, become part of the British fleet.

The Reshadieh resembles the battleships of the King George V. class, except that it has a more powerful secondary battery. Her displacement is 23,000 tons, length 325 feet, beam 91 feet and draught 23 feet. She is fitted with Parsons turbines of 31,000 horsepower, supplied with steam from Babcock & Wilcox boilers, the turbines being arranged on four shafts. Coal and oil are both used for fuel, and her speed is 21 knots. The main belt, for protective purposes, of 12-inch thickness, rises nearly to the main deck. At the end it tapers to a thickness of six inches. From the top of this to the main deck there is a belt of nine-inch thickness, and from this to the upper decks a third belt of eight-inch thickness stretches from the second to the fourth bar-better.

The armament, as stated, includes a much stronger secondary battery than in the case of the battleships of the King George V. class. This battery has 16 six-inch guns in armored casemates. Eight can fire on either broadside and six ahead or astern. The King George V. class mount four-inch guns in this battery, and although six-inch guns are used for the secondary batteries in the later Iron Duke class of battleships, only 12 of this size are mounted. The armament of the Reshadieh was approved by an ordinance commission presided over by Commander Kahli Bey.

By an act of the last legislature, known as Act 80, a merchant cannot obtain a business license until he has a certificate from the board of health stating that his place is in a sanitary condition. This, in a way, takes the question of sanitary regulation out of the hands of the supervisors, and renders their orders of no effect against contrary orders of the board of health in sanitary matters. This law, while it has not been given a long test in point of time, is being regarded with disfavor by several of the supervisors, and it was said this morning that the city fathers are considering repealing all sanitary ordinances.

However, that may be, it remains a fact that the fish merchants cannot get a business license until the board of health issues them a sanitary permit, and that their doing business now is unlawful and only countenanced because it is believed by Col. McCarthy that they are acting in good faith in their "cleaning up," and that the delay in that work is due more to the board of health than to them.

McCarthy Changes His Mind. The board of health, in directing the changes to be made in the markets, states that unless they are made within 30 days, which is to say, by November 15, the markets will be closed.

Col. McCarthy stated this morning that he will not be a party to any act which will result in a hardship upon the dealers. A few days ago he had said that if the places were not cleaned up at once, he would have the merchants arrested. But since he has gone into the matter more thoroughly, he says he is convinced that the merchants are willing to do the right thing if given a chance and if told specifically what to do and what not to do.

In Col. McCarthy's statement, which follows, he takes up the eight improvements called for by the board separately and comments on them.

Statement of Treasurer. His statement follows: The board of health as such did not take any definite action on the subject of the fish markets until October 16, 1913. It is true that on July 7, 1913, a committee consisting of Dr. J. T. Swainson, J. J. Mielstien and C. Charlock made a report on the condition of the markets, at the same time recommending that certain things be done. A copy of this report was sent to the board of health, board of supervisors, A. L. C. Atkinson, C. F. Chillingworth and E. H. F. Wolter, but there does not appear to have been any definite action taken thereon; that is, it was not an action of the board of health, but simply a recommendation of the city and county physician, the building inspector and the chief inspector of the board of health. Up to the middle of October the markets were supposed to be conducted under the city and county ordinances.

Now the board of supervisors, acting on the report and having investigated conditions at the markets, recommended the board of health to grant the sanitary permits as required by act 80, laws of 1913, so as to enable the stall keepers to get their city and county licenses. This the board of health refused to do and October 16 adopted the resolution already published.

The contention of the market people, that they did not know what the board of health wanted them to do, is fully borne out by the facts above mentioned. Now take the resolution of October 16 and analyze it:

1. Manufacture and sale of fish cakes, etc. This rule is simple and anybody can understand it.

2. The abolishment of wooden tubs, gratings, ice boxes, barrels, etc., and substitution of "proper sanitary fixtures of some impervious material."

There is quite a difference of opinion regarding the latter part of this regulation. Some want to have concrete, others enamelledware, while others suggest galvanized iron.

3. The closing of the market by whom to decide which is proper.

4. That market ends of the market be torn out.

While the market owners may not approve of this, they understand what is wanted.

5. That all lean-tos and built-in areas be abolished.

They cannot agree in regard to built-in areas.

6. Remodeling sewer facilities. This order is so vague that it is hard to put it in practice.

7. Keeping of live fowls be prohibited is easily understood.

8. Office of fish inspector to be moved. This office is in one of the markets. What bearing has it on the other two?

9. Toilet facilities. One of the markets has had erected a brick building some distance from the market and has installed sanitary fixtures. Do they have to reconstruct it?

Damaged Enough. After a recent railway collision in the midlands, a Scotsman was extracted from the wreckage by a companion who had escaped unharmed.

"Never mind, Sandy," his rescuer remarked, "it's nothing serious, and you'll get damages for it."

"Damages?" roared Sandy. "Have I no had enough of them? It's repairs I'm seeking the noo!"—London Tit-Bits.

TRIBUTE PAID GOOD DEEDS OF ROSE DAVISON

males and human beings, and that a committee of seven be appointed to raise an amount not to exceed $1500 for this purpose. And it is further resolved, that this committee have complete power in erecting this memorial so that it may comply with the sanitary regulations of the board of agriculture and forestry.

The foregoing resolution, presented by Gerritt P. Wilder, was unanimously adopted by the members of the Hawaii Humane Society at the annual meeting of that organization in the market pavilion of the Young hotel this morning. With its fulfillment a glowing tribute will be paid to the late Rose C. Davison and the work which she accomplished for the territory during the four years which she served as special officer of the society. Mrs. L. L. McCandless, as chairman of a special committee appointed to gather data concerning the memorial, was the first to bring the question before the meeting. Several places for its location were brought up; namely, Palace square, the waterfront, Thomas square, Union square, and the intersection of King street and Kalakaua avenue, but nothing definite was decided upon. The members of the society were in favor of having the memorial in the form of a drinking fountain for both animals and human beings, to be built of native stone and granite. The adoption of Wilder's resolution placed the entire matter in the hands of a committee, appointed as follows: Mrs. L. L. McCandless, chairman; Mrs. George Potter, Miss Wilhelmina Tenney, Gerritt P. Wilder, George R. Carter, Miss Helen Wilder and E. A. P. Newcomb.

This committee will probably raise the funds for the memorial by private subscription, and it is anticipated that little trouble will be had to meet this end. Miss Davison's work was territory-wide and she was known and loved by both the influential and the lowly, for her undertakings dealt not only with animals, but with little children. Gerritt P. Wilder informed the society that in erecting this fountain it would have to adhere strictly to certain sanitary regulations, mainly regarding horses. The territorial veterinarian should be informed at once of the project, he said, in order that his sanction might be secured before any plans were made. Such a fountain, if not properly equipped for permanent sanitation, might aid in the spread of glanders among horses, he concluded, and the territorial veterinarian has been working for the prevention of this for some time. Several designs of drinking fountains were presented, but none chosen. It is possible that a local architect will be engaged to draw up plans, and a report of the findings of the special committee will be presented at the next meeting of the society.

ANOTHER "PRECEDENT" GONE

Opponents of Mr. Pinkham are now hoping against hope that his nomination for governor will be defeated on the floor of the senate.

When Pinkham was nominated by the president, these opponents, hearing that Senator John Sharp Williams and Senator James K. Vardaman had announced their hostility, immediately proceeded to tell the community that the opposition of two such formidable congressmen was enough to secure an indefinite postponement of action by the senate committee on Pacific Islands and Porto Rico. They talked of "senatorial courtesy."

As the days went past and no meeting of the committee was held, the Pinkham opposition plucked up courage. They believed his nomination was being delayed until it could be killed. As a matter of fact, the senate itself has been unable to secure a quorum for the transaction of business, for reasons that naturally had nothing to do with Pinkham's nomination or the nomination of anyone else.

As soon as a quorum of the senate committee could be secured, the Pinkham nomination was approved and reported out favorably. "Senatorial courtesy" had failed. Opposition had failed. If there was ever any such binding precedent to favor the wishes of obstructionist senators as opponents of Pinkham here proclaimed, Wilson had smashed that precedent as he has smashed others.

There is no reason to suppose that the Pinkham nomination will be defeated on the floor of the senate. Nothing but underhand work of some kind can now prevent him from being governor of Hawaii. And Hawaii is glad of it.

ON THE WRONG TRACK

Dr. Archer Irwin of Hilo is a public-spirited citizen whose record in the last legislature shows that he is a man of independent and forceful thought. But Dr. Irwin, scenting a plot to foist commission government on the island of Hawaii, has swung off on an entirely illogical tack in a letter which would discredit the present investigation of Hawaii county affairs.

He is quoted as saying in a letter to the Hilo Tribune:

The history of the who's business lends strength and color to the suspicion in the minds of some, that the whole system was a carefully devised scheme to discredit the electorate and hasten a military commission form of government.

The investigation of Hawaii county finances and the determined stand that a very large number of residents of that county took in seeing that the investigation was undertaken, furnish the best possible argument against government by a military commission.

The people of Hawaii are showing ability to handle their own affairs. Even though the expert workers on the probe commission come from other counties, the real force, the moral force behind the investigation, is furnished by Hawaii county itself. It has not shrunk from every measure, however distasteful, however unfortunate, that will clear up the sordid mess of graft.

Except in case of the gravest military emergency and then but temporarily, government by military commission will come to Hawaii only when the people of Hawaii, the voters of the territory, show themselves unable properly to administer the laws, to safeguard life and property and to assure honest and efficient government. That Hawaii can take hold of such a situation as existed on the Big Island and clean it up is conclusive, unanswerable proof of the self-governing ability of the people of this territory.

When the electorate and the public officials become so careless and slothful that they will allow graft and incompetence to go untried and unchecked—then and then only is there reason for military government in these islands.

RENEY'S JUMP

Apparently there are a good many old-time Republicans in Washington city who are trying to reconcile themselves to the thought of a 1916 national ticket headed by Theodore Roosevelt.

The New York police have arrested two men and a woman at Camden, N. J., whom they believe to be the auto bandits responsible for the theft of $1,000,000 worth of cars and equipment.

The Washington Star believes that the lines of demarcation between the Republican and Progressive parties, never clearly defined at the best, are becoming more and more tangled and obscure. The Star prints the news that Francis J. Heney, the fire-eating Californian, has jumped back into the Republican ranks and plans to run for the United States senate as a Republican. The Star says:

Every time a politician of Heney's prominence makes a move involving Roosevelt, the issue becomes more and more clouded. Republicans in Washington are bent on an amalgamation of some sort, but they are not willing to accept Roosevelt as a leader. However, if the people should demand Roosevelt, there is no telling what the leaders would do. As an Illinois Republican said today:

"I'm not for Roosevelt as a Republican unless the people of the United States clamor for him—and if the people set their minds on having him, then all the professional politicians in the world could not stop him."

Progressives in Congress who have made their beds and must therefore lie in them are worried because they really don't know where Roosevelt stands. The Progressives who came to Congress last election seem to have the smallest chance of any one to get back into the Republican party, because as politicians in a new movement they burned their bridges behind them. There are one or two, like Lafferty of Oregon, who have one foot in each party, and may find a way to wriggle back again, but the out-and-out Progressives who have declared against amalgamation, will probably make a bold stand for a Progressive party again.

Republicans believe that they will have a much larger representation in the next house. Some go so far as to claim a majority. That is regarded, however, as a pretty large claim.

This comment from a newspaper of the Star's type indicates the uncertainty that exists among Republican and Progressive national leaders as to future action. Possibly Frank Munsey's scheme for a merger, laughed at a few months ago, will yet bring the two parties together, or at least unite the progressives of all parties as against the conservatives.

AN ILLUSTRATION

Among the quirks in local governmental systems that need straightening out very badly is that of the division of authority in sanitary matters. The clash of territorial and municipal jurisdiction is powerfully illustrated in the controversy over the Oriental fishmarkets. The health committee of the board of supervisors decided that permits should be issued, upon which the city treasurer could proceed to collect the license money. The board of health, after inspecting the markets, decided against the issuance of permits until a number of improvements should be made. The city treasurer is between the devil and the deep-sea; the markets continue to offend not only taste but smell; and much time and good temper is wasted. The situation would be ridiculous were it not serious. Sanitary observance is not to be trifled with. This game of battledore-and-shuttlecock is all very well in its way, but it produces little satisfaction in the end. The Oriental merchants are hardly to be blamed for not obeying orders when the men who give the orders cannot agree. Serving two masters is difficult.

The Star-Bulletin desires to draw attention to an able and scholarly paper on "Judicial Control of Legislation," by Prof. M. M. Scott, published in another part of today's issue. With the subject uppermost in the minds of many thinking statesmen, jurists and students of political and social affairs, the wealth of authoritative information contained in Professor Scott's paper is invaluable.

When the Bishop estate trustees decide to erect a million-dollar building here in the immediate future, there is given to the whole territory tangible evidence that farseeing businessmen have unshakable confidence in the enduring prosperity of these islands.

The morning paper's bandwagon cartoon today hardly jibes with its statement of yesterday that Pinkham enthusiasm is scant. There must have been an overnight revelation.

Mrs. Pankhurst will call on the president only if invited. That affords Mr. Wilson a possible avenue of escape.

Fair play is asked for the Mexican rebels. Including a clear road.

This Red-and-Blue warfare is certainly exciting—on paper.

PROGRESS IN SUGAR MAKING.

Editor Honolulu Star-Bulletin, Sir: The mill engineers' convention is undoubtedly a new departure and a move in the right direction, and cannot fail of achieving beneficial results.

But first I should like to congratulate these young men on the progress and improvement that they have made, for there is no denying the fact that while we old engineers blazed the way, and had many problems to solve that they know not of, and made many improvements and arrived at some degree of perfection, they nevertheless have surpassed us in many ways and taken a decided step in advance.

For instance, in the study of the fine-roller mill and its various strains and thrusts that it is subjected to, and in the setting of the rollers, etc., the maceration and the general efficiency, they have arrived at a broader knowledge and a better understanding of the possibilities of this machine, and in consequence should get better results.

The idea of sending out questions to all the foremost engineers of the country was good, and brought out much useful and valuable information.

Among other things, one young man claimed to have extracted 73.3 per cent of juice of the cane with a nine-roller mill, and it would be highly interesting to know under what condition of setting of the mill, speed of rollers, etc., he made this wonderful achievement.

Furnaces and boiler setting was exhaustively discussed and strange to say that many engineers still prefer the old tandem boilers, or what was called the Hind setting of boilers.

Much useful information was brought out in regard to the various types of furnaces and steam boilers, but very little was said of the quantity of air to be used per pound of fuel, a factor which I have found of the utmost importance in arriving at the perfect combustion of the fuel.

Very little is being said about chemical control, which was at one time such an important question.

If time or space would permit I should like to touch upon some of the other important questions, but I would like to say that this convention is of the utmost importance, for it is evident much useful knowledge will be learned that will aid largely in solving the many engineering problems, and incidentally, the financial question.

If I might make a suggestion, it is that more attention be given to labor saving problems or devices and in the saving of labor.

Yours very truly,
GEO. OSBORNE.

THE LONDON EXHIBIT.

Editor Honolulu Star-Bulletin,

Sir: I have read with some interest the report in your issue of the 17th of September of a meeting called for the purpose of considering what steps should be taken regarding the representation of your islands at the Cotton, Fibers and other tropical agricultural products exhibition and the Fourth International Rubber Exhibition, both of which, I may say, are to be held at the one time in the several buildings of the Royal Agricultural Hall, London, and in which nearly every producing country in the world will be exhibiting.

The report says: "W. P. Thomas has been in correspondence with the managing director, on behalf of the Thomas corporation. Having been informed by Mr. Manders that the serving of pineapples at the exhibition would not be practicable, the Thomas company had decided not to send an exhibit. At the same time the company would not hold out from any association action that might be taken."

I think that Mr. Thomas must have mis-read my letter; he, and other producing company or companies, can certainly serve samples of pineapples in the same way as many countries will be doing with theirs, Brazilian tea and coffee for instance. What Mr. Thomas suggested was selling tasting samples to the public at a few cents per sample, and to this I replied as follows:

"The exhibition is being organized for the benefit of trade and commerce with the producing countries, and the consumers, not only of England but of Europe and the far distant countries of the world.

"Many British and foreign countries have already arranged to exhibit, as well as many private producers, as all products of the soil may be exhibited. I would like to emphasize the fact that the exhibition will be a serious one at which the producers, manufacturers, dealers and others from all parts of the world will gather to exchange ideas and take part in the International Congress of Tropical Agriculture. If you wish to find wholesale buyers for your products in England, Europe and other countries, you could not do better than have an exhibit, and get into direct touch with them.

"As regards selling samples at a few cents each, I might say that I doubt the wisdom of this, as such things are not done at exhibitions of this class; we do not appeal to the ordinary public, and have nothing of an amusement character. Practically only those who are interested in the production, manufacture and sale, the trade press, etc., would be met with at this exhibition. If you wish to secure publicity in England and elsewhere for your brand of goods, it would never be accomplished here through any exhibition that had large attendances of the ordinary public. That class of people do not care about the "brand," what they want is something that they can get cheap at exhibitions; consequently the people you would come into contact with, while they would sample, it would be with the object of testing the goods as probable buyers.

"If you wish to get further publicity for your brands you might issue special invitations to the trade, press, large dealers, heads of stores, exporters, etc., and have a talk about your goods which you would have nicely laid out for them to inspect and sample if they wished. You would in this way achieve some tangible good for yourself, but never by trying to sell at a small sum per sample; a concern that does this is never looked upon in this country as of much importance. I can help you in many ways if it is the trade you wish to get into touch with."

Surely this was good, sound business advice, and I think that Mr. Thomas and others will see the matter in the same light. It is the trader, the importer, seller and retailer, all of whom we encourage, who will visit the exhibition, and it is the latter class who recommends brands of products, tea, coffee, pineapples, etc., to the consumers.

We do not get the great mass of the public at an exhibition of this kind; they are no use for it, but we get the serious business man of the whole of Europe and far distant countries, and as Mr. Thomas will not sell to the retail traders, he wishes to get into touch with the big buyers, and so do all producers; the retailers will do the pushing of the brands if they are good.

In many amusement fairs, on race tracks, etc., pineapples are sold by the plate; the people do not know the brand; they know that they are pineapples and if they taste good, that satisfies them, but the man who sells wholesale, and the one who retails, will not sell a brand long if the quality is not up to the mark.

In giving Mr. Thomas advice, the same as I would do to any probable exhibitor, it was so that he could do good business at the least possible expense. If Mr. Thomas, or other packers, wish to have the public sample the pines or other products, they can make a serious exhibit at this exhibition as suggested, and also show at some of the other exhibitions which are largely of an amusement character, meet the general public and sell what we call tasting samples. Besides paying for space, at most of these last named exhibitions, they have to give from 25 per cent to 30 per cent to the exhibition people. At the exhibitions I organize we charge only for space, and do everything possible to bring the right class of people together, those who are interested in the products shown.

An exhibition such as this brings before the press, investor, trader and traveler, etc., the resources of the producing countries, and they see the actual products grown from the soil. I am, yours truly,
A. STAINES MANDERS.

LITTLE INTERVIEWS

—CHAS. CHILLINGWORTH: It looks like the Carnival this year will be very successful.

—R. R. HIND: The mill engineers' convention has been a very successful one and Honolulu has shown great interest in the sessions.

—JOHN WRAY: I regret that the printer made a mistake in the program for "Billy" as I hate to be compelled to advise the audience that the performance is over.

—ADMIRAL MOORE: When I came here in 1888, escorting David Kalakaua, Honolulu harbor was a small port with little commerce. There is a great difference now.

—JOEL COHEN: Well, the World's Fair Stock Company's season is over. Some weeks we made money and others we were not so fortunate. However, I should worry!

—ED TOWSE: They may say "Exit Wyoming, enter Tennessee" all they want to; the fact remains that Wyoming is still alive and we'll welcome the Tennessee district attorney when he arrives.

—FERDINAND MUNIER: Mrs. Munier and myself have had a delightful honeymoon in Honolulu and the visit will remain ever one of the most pleasant in the memories of each of us.

—MARSTON CAMPBELL: The work of the late Prof. Alexander in mapmaking and surveying should never be forgotten here. It was marvellous. He has made many of the present city lines possible.

—MAYOR FERN: The petitioners who asked the supervisors to close the Kuku dance-hall were right, if I don't make a mistake. When a place like that keeps you awake at night it ought to be closed. Man's gotta sleep.

—VIRGINIA BRISSAC: I have had a delightful time in Honolulu, in fact I dearly love to make a trip here; it is just like returning home. I shall be glad when it is time to come again as I think this the most ideal city in the world.

—A. L. C. ATKINSON: There is only one objection I have to seeing the Paki building put up—that is the trees. I helped to plant the trees along Bishop street and have fondly watched them grow to substantial treeshood.

—A. E. LARIMER: If the Association of Merchants' Association and the Chamber of Commerce, an immediate start on a central employment bureau for Honolulu is assured.

—JAY A. URICE: A lot of the fellows are interested in the language classes which are being started at the Y. M. C. A. Experienced instructors are teaching German and Spanish, and more classes will be installed, as the occasion demands.

—GLENN E. JACKSON: It seems to me that the policeman stationed at Hotel and Alahea streets about 4:30 o'clock in the morning would take steps to prevent a certain horde of boys from indulging in unseemly chatter which prevents the inmates of the Y. M. C. A. dormitory from securing sleep after that hour. I understand that the police have been notified of this nuisance, but I notice that it still continues.

Raymond Hitchcock, the actor, and his wife, were injured in an automobile accident on Long Island. The injuries were not serious.

SOCIETY

D. A. R. Meeting. A very pleasant meeting of the Daughters of the American Revolution was held on Monday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Theodore Richards on Lunaliilo street. Beside the reading of the minutes and one or two little business details of the club, a most interesting program was rendered. A number of papers on patriotic songs and their composers were read. Mrs. Pascoe dealing with Samuel S. Smith and "America," Miss Abbie Dow on Francis Scott Key and "The Star Spangled Banner," and Miss Armstrong on Julia Ward Howe and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." Miss Marsh of St. Andrew's Cathedral gave the story of "Hall Columbia" and "Yankee Doodle." Patriotic music was interspersed between the reading of these papers.

A delightful number was the rendition of two poetic selections: "An Ode to Emerson," and one of Sir Walter Scott's patriotic poems, by Miss Lemon of Kamehameha School. Printed schedules for the coming year were then given out and a social hour followed. The next meeting of the D. A. R. will be held on November 24 at the home of Mrs. C. H. Atherton on King street.

Kunialu Sale. The members of the Kunialu Rowing Club are not willing that the staunch little organization—the only woman's rowing club to have survived the test of time—shall go under at the whisper of hard times. Reminiscences have been exchanged of the days when the club was first started and the first girls worked and saved to build a house and buy boats. Loyal to the Kunialu traditions, the present members have resolved to replenish the diminished treasury in the same way that it was originally built up. One of their first efforts will be a delicatessen sale to be held on November 8. All manner of good things to eat will be sold from substantial boiled hams and home-made pies to frivolous lumps of divinity fudge and salted almonds.

Hul Nalu Dance. The masquerade ball to be given by the Hul Nalu Club on Saturday evening at the Outrigger Club is being greatly anticipated, not only by those active in swimming circles but by members of the smart set who excel in the tango. In the Australian crowd, The Princess Kalamianale has consented to be patroness as well as Mrs. Eben Low, Mrs. Pierre Jones and Mrs. J. T. Stackler. Some of the costumes that are being prepared are highly original as well as beautiful, some of the disguises being almost impenetrable. A large attendance and corresponding good time is expected.

Mr. and Mrs. William Francis Gardner, who have been spending their "treacle moon" on Hawaii, returned to Honolulu last week per the Mauna Kea. They will make their residence on Punahou St.

The ladies of the King's Daughters' Circle will hold their sale of home-cooked delicacies on November 15. The proceeds of the sale will go toward the Old Ladies' Home, which is supported by the circle.

Miss Helen Macfarlane was a departing passenger on the Sierra last Saturday.

INDIGESTION, GAS OR SICK, SOUR STOMACH

Time!!—"Pape's Diapepsin" makes your upset, bloated stomach feel fine in five minutes

"Really does" put bad stomachs in order—"really does" overcome indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, heartburn and sourness in five minutes—that—just that—makes Pape's Diapepsin the largest selling stomach regulator in the world. If what you eat ferments into stubborn lumps, you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food and acid; head is dizzy and aches; breath foul; tongue coated; your insides filled with bile and indigestible waste, remember the moment "Pape's Diapepsin" comes in contact with the stomach—all such distress vanishes. It's truly astonishing—almost marvelous, and the joy is its harmlessness. A large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin will give you a hundred dollars worth of satisfaction or your druggist hands you your money back.

It's worth its weight in gold to men and women who can't get their stomachs regulated. It belongs in your home—should always be kept handy in case of a sick, sour, upset stomach during the day or night. It's the quickest, surest and most harmless stomach doctor in the world—advertisement.

CARUSI PROGRAM THE OFFERING AT YOUNG HOTEL

Local Talent Aids Harpist in Recital Under Auspices of Morning Music Club

Madame Inez Carusi held the limelight at the recital under the auspices of the Morning Music Club at the Young Hotel pavilion last night, playing her own selections on the piano and harp, singing her own selections, and whistling one of them when members of the Morning Music Club were not forthcoming to entertain with song; besides which several compositions of Madame Carusi were rendered vocally and instrumentally by local talent. It was a Carusi evening.

Among the local persons who aided Madame Carusi in the program of music and who handled their selections most acceptably were: George A. Brown, Mrs. Chas. Hall, Mrs. E. C. Howard, Arthur F. Wall, Dr. S. D. Barnes, Mrs. A. B. Ingalls, Geo. A. Andrus, Mr. Slattery and the Ad Club quartet.

"Romance," one of Madame Carusi's compositions, was ably handled by Mr. Brown, assisted by Mesdames Hall and Howard and Mr. Wall. Mr. Brown's deep bass voice was heard to good advantage in this selection which, undoubtedly, was the most entertaining offering of the evening. Mrs. Hall rendered "The Falconer" very acceptably and Mr. Andrus extended himself in a most difficult selection, "O, Hurki!"

Dr. Barnes and Mr. Slattery, each aided by the other members of the Ad Club quartet, were very acceptable in compositions by Madame Carusi, while Mrs. Ingalls showed splendid talent and technique with the violin.

Madame Carusi rendered a number of solos on the harp, accompanied the vocalists at the piano and blended the music of the harp with the violin of Mrs. Ingalls. She sang several Gaelic melodies, accompanying herself on the harp, and whistling a "Lullaby" upon it being announced that the club members who were to sing the composition were not on hand. But three of the 11 offerings of the program and several encores were by composers other than Madame Carusi.

A number of the leading musicians and music lovers of Honolulu were in attendance and were most generous in their applause of the various numbers.

The program, in its entirety, was as follows: A Tramp in the Camp..... Carusi Mr. Slattery and the Ad Club Quartet.

Ave Maria..... Bach-Guonod Mrs. A. B. Ingalls and Madame Carusi

Harp Selections— a. Reverie..... Arranged by Carusi b. Dans du Sylph..... Chatterton Madame Carusi

MISS SADIE MURRAY ANNOUNCES ENGAGEMENT

[By Latest Mail] SAN FRANCISCO.—At a tea given yesterday afternoon at the home of her parents at the Presidio, Miss Sadie Murray announced her engagement to Lieut. H. Conger Pratt, 1st cavalry, United States army. The announcement has been expected for some time, although Miss Murray, who is a charming and clever girl, has been the recipient of much attention from the bachelors at the post and in the local smart set. She is the daughter of Gen. and Mrs. Arthur Murray and a sister of Mrs. Ord Preston of Washington and Lieut. Maxwell Murray, who is also stationed at the Presidio. It was at her debut in Washington that she first met her fiance, who was then an aide at the White House. Lieutenant Pratt is the son of Mrs. H. Conger Pratt of Washington, and is at present stationed at the Presidio as aide to General Murray. The wedding will take place some time before the holidays, and it is a matter of rejoicing among her friends that her new life will not take her away from San Francisco. About fifty friends called at the Murray home yesterday to hear the news and to voice their congratulations over a cup of tea. Miss Murray and her brother were assisted in receiving by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Maxwell Murray, Miss Leslie Page, and Miss Augusta Fouts.

HAS TWO WIVES BUT STILL IS NOT BIGAMIST

[By Latest Mail] GENEVA.—A wealthy Geneva manufacturer has just found himself with two legal wives, two different families and two separate establishments. And the legal authorities, instead of prosecuting him for bigamy, are trying to aid him. The first wife, after attempting to set fire to her house, was found to be insane, and placed in the local lunatic asylum some years ago, and later was declared by the medical experts to be hopelessly insane. On the strength of the medical certificate, the husband obtained a divorce six years ago and married again. He has two children by each wife. Recently the medical experts declared that the first wife had recovered, and she was discharged as sane. The ground of divorce was "incurable insanity" but, as the woman is now legally sane, it is believed that the divorce does not hold good.

A. P. TAYLOR GUEST OF HIS CO-WORKERS

Albert P. Taylor, for the past 15 years a member of the staff of The Advertiser, who leaves for the mainland in the Siberia Saturday, accompanied by Mrs. Taylor, to take the position of manager of the branch of the Hawaii Promotion Committee in San Francisco, was the guest of honor at a dinner at the Rathskeller last evening, the hosts being members of the editorial and business staff of the morning paper. The dinner was arranged so that all the members of the reportorial staff, except one, could be present, the absent member, wirelessing his aloha from the thick of the army maneuvers at Schofield.

The dinner was a jolly affair, and a fitting aloha to one who has given the news to the Honolulu public for so long a time. Taylor has ever been a booster for Hawaii, but he goes to a position which will better fit him to work for the interests of the territory at large. Following the dinner, C. S. Crane made an appropriate speech and presented Taylor with a handsomely engraved gold watch, and a letter from Lorrin A. Thurston, now on the mainland, which read as follows: Mr. Albert P. Taylor, City.

Friend Taylor: I desire to express my gratification that your energy, discretion and thorough knowledge of Hawaiian conditions have been recognized by your appointment as the representative at San Francisco, of the commission having charge of the Hawaiian exhibit at the 1915 fair.

On behalf of the Hawaiian Gazette Company, Limited, I desire to further say that your faithful and untiring work on The Advertiser, and otherwise on behalf of the company's interests, during the past 15 years has been highly appreciated by the company and its officers. We shall miss you and if at any time the fates again send you this way will be glad to welcome you back to The Advertiser family.

Meanwhile, as a slight token of the appreciation in which you are held by this company, and to help you "Watch Hawaii Grow," I take pleasure in handing you herewith a Howard watch, suitably inscribed. Yours with Aloha, L. A. THURSTON, President Hawaiian Gazette Co., Ltd., Publishers of the Pacific Commercial Advertiser.

The following was inscribed on the watch: A. P. Taylor from Pacific Commercial Advertiser 1899-1913.

In Appreciation of Faithful Service Besides the guest of honor, those present were C. S. Crane, R. O. Matheson, J. F. Haley, H. G. Lowrey, D. L. MacKaye, G. F. Alfonso and J. Walter Doyle.

SAY, HOW DO YOU PRONOUNCE 'BOSTON'?

[By Latest Mail] BOSTON—How do you pronounce "Boston"? The women of the Progressive party, Mrs. Alice E. M. Tillingham, Miss Stackpole, secretary of that organization, and others all say "Bawston."

President Emeritus Elliot of Harvard says "Boston" with the "o" short.

Bishop Lawrence says "Bawston," as does Dean Rousmaniere of St. Paul's cathedral.

Several politicians in their recent speeches pronounce it "Bosting."

What do you say?

The Century Dictionary spells the pronunciation as "Bos-ton," as does the Standard in the main volume, but the latter in a supplement asserts the name of the Bay State capital, as well as that of a similarly designated town in England, and Rev. Thomas Boston, a Scotch divine (1676-1732) should be pronounced as though spelled "Bos-tun."

BRITISH LABOR LEADER FAVORS SIX-HOUR DAY

[By Latest Mail] PARIS, France—In a recent article in the Journal des Debats, a new and interesting argument is advanced in favor of the channel tunnel scheme. The writer declares that the race in the matter of naval armaments between England and Germany is largely rendered inevitable by the fact that England has so small an army, it being clear that once her navy was put out of action the conquest of the country would immediately follow. This, he declares, is a "gigantic bait to German ambition."

If, however, he says, the invader knew that he would find on his arrival in England an army adequate in size to oppose him, everything would be changed. The premium put upon naval hegemony would lose a large part of its value. England, he says, cannot secure this advantage without adopting a system of compulsory service, except in one way; and that is by rendering it possible for a French army to come to her assistance.

This, he claims, would be the immediate result of the construction of a channel tunnel. Another effect of the tunnel would, in his opinion, be to discourage naval competition by depriving it of its principal stakes. England, by ceasing to present the weakness of an insular power, would thus, the writer considers, have at last taken the sole effective measure to check in Europe the folly of naval armaments.

NO RICH PERSON CAN ESCAPE INCOME TAX

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Uncle Sam's wealthy citizens who live abroad cannot escape the new income tax by renouncing their citizenship, according to Representative Cordell Hull of Tennessee, author of the income tax section of the tariff bill. He said: "I estimate that there are thousands of taxable American citizens in Paris alone from whom we can collect revenue. They may take out citizenship papers in a foreign country, but we can still collect on their incomes from the property they own in America."

PREDICTS ADDITIONS TO KNOWLEDGE OF RADIUM

[By Latest Mail] LONDON—Mrs. Curie, the discoverer of radium, who attended the meetings of the British association at Birmingham, spent much of her time in England with Dr. Rutherford, professor of physics, at Liverpool university. This is explained by the fact that Dr. Rutherford has been carrying on certain experiments in radio-activity from which Mrs. Curie expects great things. In this connection she said recently: "Dr. Rutherford is the one man living who promises to confer some inestimable boon on mankind as the result of my discovery of radium. I would advise England to watch him. His work in radio-activity has surprised me. Great developments are likely to transpire shortly, to which the discovery of radium was only preliminary."

It is rumored in England that the destruction of the steamship Volturo was the result of a plot laid by rival companies.

SUPERVISORS, IN BUSY SESSION, DISPATCH BIG AMOUNT OF BUSINESS

Water Supply Will Be Cared for Until Rains—Pavement for King Street

Taking up various questions, from dance halls to clerk hire, authorizing a contract to be made with the Hawaiian Electric Company to supply current to light the city until the Nuuanu reservoirs are replenished by rains, the supervisors sat down to an important meeting last night and before it was over they had accomplished several things.

King street from Liliha to River street will be probably paved. A report of the road committee directed the city and county engineers to prepare data on the cost of such a project, and it was stated that it had notified the Rapid Transit Company to secure sufficient blocks for the paving of its part of the street.

George H. Carter sent a communication to the mayor, read at the meeting, asking by what authority the board made donation appropriations, such as the one to Leah's Home. It is understood that the mayor has replied to this letter stating that by an amendment to the municipal act, the supervisors are given the right to make such appropriations when in their judgment it is deemed necessary.

The following is a summary of the meeting:

Report from ways and means committee recommending that matter of employing additional clerk for auditor be referred to mayor for consideration and recommendations. Adopted.

Report from electric lights committee relating to shortage of water in Nuuanu Valley, making it, says the report, impossible to operate the city electric plant. The report adds, in the way of a recommendation: "that the superintendent of the electric light department be authorized to negotiate with the Hawaiian Electric Company to furnish the necessary current to light the city until such time as we have sufficient rain to replenish the Nuuanu reservoirs. Adopted.

Communication from Geo. R. Carter asking information as to items in city and county disbursements under head of donations. Filed.

Report from roads committee recommending that permission be given to cut down dead trees on Koko Head and Twelfth avenues. Adopted.

Report from roads committee recommending that man be employed at $5 a day to number houses in Auwalolimu district. Adopted.

Report from sheriff on arrests and convictions for September—arrests, 715; convictions, 411. Filed.

Report from roads committee calling attention to necessity of paving King street from River to Liliha streets and asking for estimate of engineer as to cost of work. Adopted.

From Ponerao Pahua, asking dance hall permit for Walpahu. Referred to police committee.

Request for dance license from Moore for dance October 25. Granted.

Request from Pacific Rehearsal Lodge for dance permit for October 30. Granted.

Report from road committee recommending that matter of lines of street be put in hands of engineer. Adopted.

Petition from residents on Bishop lane against Notley's hall. Police Committee.

Communication from Mayor Fern recommending that auditor be given assistant clerk at $75 a month. Adopted.

Supervisor Petrie offered resolution for establishment of grace and sidewalk lines in Auwalolimu tract. Passed first reading.

You couldn't fool Him, Oh No!

He had drank coffee for years. Coffee didn't hurt him.

But the Bump Came

Many a man is pretty sure that while coffee may hurt others it don't hurt him—till the bump comes.

But when headache, frazzled nerves, an irritable heart, indigestion and sleeplessness begin to "get him," he's apt to look around for a reason.

The reason is plain when a change is made from coffee to

POSTUM

This pleasant table drink much resembles real Java coffee in flavor, but is free from "caffeine" (the drug in coffee) or any other harmful substance.

Postum, made from choice Northern wheat and the juice of Southern sugar cane, has put many former coffee drinkers on the Road to Wellville.

"There's a Reason"

COMES A TIME When Coffee Shows What It Has Been Doing

"Of late years coffee has disagreed with me," writes a friend from Home, N. Y.

"Its lightest punishment being to make me 'loggy' and dizzy, and it seemed to thicken up my blood.

"The heaviest was when it upset my stomach completely, destroying my appetite and making me nervous and irritable, and sent me to my bed. After one of these attacks, in which I nearly lost my life, I concluded to quit the coffee and try Postum.

"It went right to the spot! I found it not only a most palatable and refreshing beverage, but a food as well.

"All my ailments, the 'loginess' and dizziness, the unsatisfactory condition of my blood, my nervousness and irritability disappeared in short order and my sorely afflicted stomach began quickly to recover. I began to build and have steadily continued until now. Have a good appetite and am rejoicing in sound health which I owe to the use of Postum.

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pinks. "There's a reason."

WAKEFIELD SAYS ACTION NEEDED ON HARBOR WORK

reference to Honolulu and the Panama canal, with which he gave some striking figures. He illustrated his talk with references to a large map of the harbor.
Commissioner Wakefield said in part:
"Wharves, Their Relation to Trade."
"Good wharves are as vital to the economics of the territory as good roads. The wharf system of the territory is the vehicle for moving approximately 1 1/2 million tons of freight annually. The facilities provided to handle this tonnage economically directly affects every person in the country purchasing either the necessities or luxuries of life; and consequently is of vital interest to all classes of people."
"To provide the present wharf system large sums have been spent out of the general revenues secured from general taxation. In addition to this there has been spent from the various bond issues from 1903 to 1913 the sum of $1,245,764.11."
"Funds to cover cost of wharf operations and their maintenance are provided by legislative appropriations. All income derived from the wharf system is paid into the general funds of the territory. The best that can be said of this system is that it is hoary and helpless."
"The income is derived from one source only, namely 'ship owners.' Consignees or consignors pay nothing towards the operating and maintenance of wharves for their use and convenience, except that they may contribute through general taxation."
"We have two distinct bodies using our wharves for profit, ship owners and merchant consignees or consignors; the value of good wharves is as great to one party as to the other. If ship owners cannot handle their cargoes over good wharves, their pockets are immediately affected, if merchant consignors or consignees cannot take or give delivery of their merchandise over good wharves their pockets are immediately 'touched' too; our laws provide for a charge to the ship owner but the merchant is handed a 'manawahi.'"
"This condition is distinctly Hawaiian. There are very few, if any, ports in the world other than our own, where the merchant consignors or consignees does not pay a tonnage toll on his merchandise passing over wharves, and foots his general tax bill at the same time."
"Honolulu port charges have been the subject of some discussion; as a matter of fact the only two charges that are out of line with commercial ports the world over are water and pilotage. The charge assessed against shipping for water is a public crime. The only apology for it is that the extortion pays for the upkeep of the sewers of the city, his matter was placed by the board of harbor commissioners two years ago before the superintendent of public works, the Chamber of Commerce and the Merchants' Association. The result of these efforts was a reduction in price to shipping from $2.50 to $2 per thousand gallons. The price is still so exorbitant that unless some radical reduction in cost of water is arranged for at an early date a drastic remedy will have to be invoked, and in the application of this remedy we shall ask for your support."
"The revision of pilotage charges is now under consideration by a committee of the board of harbor commissioners. Pilotage fees at present for large vessels of the type of the S. S. Mongolia or the S. S. Tenyo Maru are really low. The present flat rate of $60 for inward or outward pilotage of steamers irrespective of size lets the large boats down easy but works a hardship on the smaller craft; while the pilotage charge of 5c per net registered ton on sailing vessels raises their rate out of all proportion to that charged to steamers, and entirely too high for the services rendered. A good basis of charges will undoubtedly be reached by the harbor commission committee now studying the question and an adjustment will be made at an early date that will be satisfactory to all shipping interests."
"At present there is no wharf in the territory outside of Honolulu harbor that an ocean going steamer can tie up to for the discharge or receiving of cargo. This condition will shortly be remedied at Hilo, where a good wharf is nearing completion that will accommodate two ocean going steamers at one time."
"The harbor commissioners will have available after the next bond issue has been completed $150,000 for the construction of a wharf at Lahaina, Maui. The purpose of this wharf is to accommodate ocean going steamers and will be a great aid in the development of business on the Lahaina side of Maui."
"To handle the freighting of island products with economy and dispatch, wharves at which ocean going steamers can work will have to be provided in Kona, Kahului, Lahaina and Nawiliwili. This is no work for the distant future but will have to be dealt with in the immediate present. If the farmers of the territory are to rise tariff protection on their products, it is certainly up to the merchants of the territory to provide 'protection' to the 'farmer's expense account' and give him economical and ample facilities to handle his products from his fields to his markets."
"This proposition will take public money, but can public funds be used in any other direction to give as sure and beneficial a return to all classes of people? And no project is more worthy of the 'boosting' of the Ad Club. Stretch your capabilities of boost to the limit on this project and help strengthen the bands that will keep Hawaii permanently prosperous. Panama Canal Traffic via Honolulu.

"This is one of the most interesting and perplexing problems in front of us. How quickly will Panama canal traffic develop into providing business for our own port? Naturally it is a question of economies to ship owners. Situated as we are geographically in relation to the Isthmus of Panama, we can only expect shipping that is bound to or from the orient to Honolulu as a port of call. And for this trade we have two serious competitors."
"First—The established trade route from the east coast ports of America, and of European ports via the Suez Canal."
"Second—Panama traffic via San Francisco, or Pacific coast ports to the orient."
"With the first condition it is purely a question of economies to the ship owner. Will and can the Panama route offer sufficient inducements that ship owners will abandon the Suez canal and the trade established en route to use the new canal."
"Take three large Oriental ports, Hongkong, Manila, Yokohama. The distance in nautical miles from:
"New York to Hongkong via Suez is 11,469; via Panama 11,415.
"New York to Manila via Suez is 1,644; via Panama, 1,379.
"New York to Yokohama via Suez is 13,040; via Panama 9,835."
"The gain in distance via Panama to the northern Oriental ports is considerable, but with the southern ports there is no appreciable difference. The question then is, which route offers the best trading opportunities, and facilities for securing the essential supplies, 'fuel' and water, cheaply and expeditiously. The Suez route appears to possess a considerable advantage over the Panama route for trading purposes."
"Steamers running through Panama bound for Europe or the eastern coast American ports to the Orient would either leave their home ports fully loaded, and proceed via Honolulu from Panama, or if leaving their home ports partially loaded would proceed from Panama via Pacific Coast ports to secure additional, or a complete cargo for the Orient; this is the result of trading conditions. We have practically no cargoes to offer to vessels bound for the Orient, while all the Pacific Coast ports have a variety of freights to offer."
"At the present time it appears that the steamer traffic we can expect to see in our harbor from Panama will be bound for the Orient fully laden. This traffic probably will not be large at the outset, but we can look for its increase and development with the rapidly changing conditions in China."
"With the return of steamer traffic from the Orient the conditions change, the territory has Eastbound freights to offer, and with the serious change in the situation of our main industry, it will be of great value to that, and all our other industries to open up real competitive conditions in the freight markets."
"Many men do not realize the enormous sums of money paid out annually by the farmers and merchants of this territory in the purchase of transportation for their products, and their merchandise; but you can readily figure what a cut of 25c per ton in freight would mean to sugar producers alone; with changing conditions these opportunities to secure better freight rates will be eagerly welcomed, and taken advantage of by all purchasers of goods."
"Panama shipping business is sure to develop into a substantial trade for this port, and it is fortunate for us that the development will probably be a gradual one; if it proves otherwise we shall be caught badly prepared to deal with it."
"Every effort must be made to use wisely and as quickly as possible the $50,000 allotted out of the loan funds by the last Legislature for Honolulu wharf improvements. This sum is much too small to accomplish the necessary work in sight; but this club and all the commercial bodies in the territory will have to work shoulder to shoulder to secure from the next legislature ample funds to provide good and spacious wharf facilities for ocean-going steamers, not only in Honolulu harbor, but also for Hawaii, Maui and Kauai ports."

COMPANY THAT DAMMED NILE IS DISSOLVED

[By Latest Mail]

LONDON—The passing away of one of the greatest contracting firms in the world, John Aird & Co., is announced for next year. The firm, which dammed the Nile and carried out other great works throughout the world, will cease to exist next September, by which time all outstanding contracts will have been completed.
The decision to go out of business has been taken by the present Sir John Aird, who succeeded his father in 1911 and inherited from him a fortune of $5,000,000. The reason given is that while the risks of contracting are as great as they ever were, the profits are not nearly so large as they were some 20 or 30 years ago. Great plants will be distributed and a staff of engineers and workmen, who are said to have no superiors, will be seeking new positions as a result of the action.
John Aird & Co. was started in 1848 by John Aird, a Scottish mason, who came to London from Ross-shire and after following his trade for several years was appointed superintendent of the Phoenix Gas Company at Greenwich. There he learned the bus-

Tommy—Papa, a river is fed by small streams, isn't it?
Papa—Yes, my son.
Tommy—Then I s'pose that is what makes its mouth water.

The forests of Norway are mostly in private or municipal ownership, the nation owning 28.5 per cent of the total forest area. The national forests of the United States occupy only about 20 per cent of the total forest area of the country.

Uncomfortably aware of the fact that he had on a ready-made suit, he lost the nerve to approach the rich widow he had been corresponding with through a matrimonial agency. So he postponed until he had a proper fitting suit made by Geo. A. Martin, The Tailor in the Wally Bldg. And she fell for him like a duck—advertisement.
