

AD CLUB TO WELCOME THE NEW GOVERNOR

Pinkham Accepts Invitation of President Farrington to Escort Him to His Home with the Mayor and Band

Swearing In Ceremony Will Be Administered Tomorrow

Plans Under Way for Reception and Ball Upon Arrival of Executive on Mongolia the 24th

PINKHAM, Washington: Ad Club requests honor receiving you upon arrival with the mayor and band and escorting you to your home. FARRINGTON, Honolulu: Invitation accepted. Arrive Mongolia.

PINKHAM, Mayor Fern will act as the host representing the city when Governor Pinkham arrives on the Mongolia the day before Christmas.

This action was taken at today's noon session of the Honolulu Ad Club and a special committee was appointed by President Farrington to look after the arrangements. Among the members of this committee are the Mayor, Fred C. Smith, John Effinger, J. A. M. Johnson, C. E. Frazer, A. W. van Valkenburg. It is sure to be a welcome Governor Pinkham's acceptance received by President Farrington this morning was passed to the executive committee of the Ad Club of Mr. van Valkenburg. Governor Pinkham was made an honorary member of the Ad Club.

Incumbent Governor Lucius E. Pinkham will take the oath of office at Washington tomorrow, qualifying for his position as chief executive of the territory, and will arrive at the Hotel Stewart, San Francisco, on Sunday, December 14. This is the news received in two cables from Washington sent by Governor Fern this morning to Attorney-General Thayer. The information also is given that he will depart for Honolulu on the steamer Mongolia, which sails from the coast December 18.

The first message to the attorney-general this morning stated the formality of qualifying would occur today, but the later cable corrected that. It is believed the original intention was that it should take place today but that affairs arising at the last moment caused the brief postponement. This makes it certain that the new governor and Territorial Secretary E. A. Mott-Smith will return to Hawaii together, arriving here the day before Christmas. Since Mr. Pinkham returns to Hawaii as its governor an inaugural ceremony will be unnecessary, but already plans are afoot for a ball and reception in his honor.

NEW BATTLE-CRUISER KIRISKIMA LAUNCHED

(Special Cable to the Japanese Chronicle). TOKIO, Japan, December 2.—The battle cruiser Kiriskima was launched today at the Mitsubishi shipyard at Nagasaki with appropriate ceremonies. The ship has a displacement of 27,500 tons and is equipped with turbine engines which are capable of developing 20,000 horsepower. It is 214 meters long, has a draught of 8.5 meters and will attain a speed of 30 knots per hour. The armament consists of eight 14-inch guns and 16 six-inch guns, there being besides these eight torpedo tubes.

A meeting of the board of harbor commissioners was held this morning in the rooms of the commission, Alaska wharf. Usual routine matters, consisting of the reading of communications and the presentation of the report of the engineer, formed the principal business. The meeting of the woman's board of missions is being held in Central Union church this afternoon, having convened at 2:30 o'clock. The topic for discussion is "The Ideal Missionary Society and How to Accomplish It," and there will be several speakers on the question. This is visitors' day with the board, and all women of the city who are interested in the work of the organization are requested to be present. There will be a musical program.

Woo Huan, Chinese Consul, Sees Bright Future For New Republic

Woo Huan, representative of the government of President Yuan Shih-Kai in the Hawaiian Islands, who assumed his new duties this morning, and his wife.

China Entering Upon New Era of Prosperity Under Leadership of Yuan Shih-Kai, He Says

Predicting a brilliant future for the new Republic of China under the administration of President Yuan Shih-Kai, Woo Huan, formerly a secretary in the department of foreign affairs at Peking and now consul for China in the Hawaiian Islands, this morning assumed his new duties with headquarters at the consulate on Sheridan street. The new consul, who is the first to occupy a foreign office under President Yuan's appointment, arrived in Honolulu in the "Teayo Maru" yesterday accompanied by Mrs. Woo and their four children, to take the place of former consul Chen Ching-cho. It was intimated at the consulate this morning that Mr. Woo's appointment does not necessarily mean that President Yuan Shih-Kai intends making a complete renovation of consular offices, but that several consuls will probably be called to return to Peking and others put in their places. Li Kwang Heng, the eleven consul, who has been in Honolulu for nearly three years, will remain here as assistant to Consul Woo, and Chen Ching Ho will not return to Peking until early in the spring. It is expected that the latter will remain with the government upon his return to China. When seen at the consulate this morning, Mr. Woo said that there was really very little to say for publication at this time regarding affairs in China, intimating that Ha-

PLANTERS MAKE DATE OF ANNUAL MEETING IN NOVEMBER OR DECEMBER

Interesting Reports Are Read and Discussed by Members of Association — Varieties of Cane Are Explained by W. W. Goodale — Yellow Caledonian Meets with High Praise

Before proceeding with the topic of discussion, the planters' association this morning put through an amendment to the charter, changing the time of annual meeting from "October or November" to "November or December." Secretary Smith explained the reason for the change, being that the fiscal year of the plantations ended September 30 and this left too short a time in which to prepare reports for the meeting. The amendment passed without debate or dissent. President Bishop called on W. W. Goodale to open the discussion on varieties of cane. He told of many varieties tried on Waialua of which Hawaii No. 109 looked the best, giving the greatest weight of cane per acre and the highest sucrose content of cane. A field of 300 acres of Rose Bamboo at 700 feet elevation, which had no water for nine months, making it practically unwatered cane, yielded six tons an acre in part and more than five tons for the rest. He gave a list of several varieties that he regarded as good. George F. Renton had nothing definite to say on seedlings at present, but in about a year something definite could be shown on Ewa. Discussing a number of varieties grown there he said one kind did well in certain soils and another kind in others. H. B. Penhallow spoke well of one of the Hawaii seedlings on Waialua plantation. L. Weitzelmeier found a "Hawaii variety good in some places at Lahaina, although the Lahaina was better in other locations. Mr. Meyers said Demerara had been planted on Kilanea for six or seven years and was preferred there. It was not affected by root-rot or efflu. Robert Hall found Hawaii 109 cane very promising on Nulli at the start, but it nearly all went to tassel and

GENERAL TRIAL OF FRONTAGE-TAX PLAN NOT LIKELY

Supervisors Talk of Applying Local Improvement System Inside Fire District

INSIST ON PETITIONS FROM OTHER SECTIONS

Not Satisfied with Expressions So Far Voiced in Favor of New Laws

Planning the city budget for the first six months of 1914, the board of supervisors are now discussing favorably a plan to apply the new frontage-tax system for street-improvement within the limited area of the "fire district."

This fire-district, as it is known, includes the main business section of the city, being a designated portion of the building-line operative within the area. It is a very small part of the city of Honolulu.

Outside this district, it is reported on good authority, the supervisors will take the attitude that the property owners must come forward with their petitions to secure the establishment of a district. In the first case, the supervisors will take what may be called an active attitude and in the second a passive attitude.

The board held a prolonged caucus last Sunday, going over the budget for the next six-months period. Local improvement matters came up for a good deal of discussion. It is stated that the board has practically no funds in sight for new street improvements, so that most of its appropriation from the general fund for roads and streets will be expended on maintenance. The appropriation for this is now estimated at approximately $12,000 a month, or $72,000 for the period. It is likely that the county will have to register warrants during several months in the early part of 1914, and as it will have no road-tax money, the prospect is not bright.

It was stated this morning for the opening of new streets unless the property-owners take the initiative with their petitions for improvement districts.

The fire-district, within which the supervisors expect to apply the frontage-tax system, is a sort of semi-circle including the business district and bounded by the waterfront on the lower side. It is as follows: Beginning at the foot of Richards street, 100 feet walkiki, running thence up to Beretania street and 100 feet mauka of Beretania; thence straight west to River street and 100 feet beyond River; thence down to the waterfront.

Several of the supervisors take the position that the majority of property owners of Honolulu have not shown themselves in favor of the local-improvement laws passed by the last legislature. They say that the attitude of the improvement clubs and the Central Improvement Committee, which indorsed the laws and urged the supervisors to apply them to all of the city, is not a representative expression of opinion.

No salary raises are likely to be made by the supervisors for the coming period. The protests at the raises of the board six months ago have hardly died down to echoes yet.

There is talk of abolishing the position of inspector of weights and measures, which was held by Officer Manuel Abreu, of the police department, when he was killed a few weeks ago. It is now held by Officer Swaden. The supervisors say that the inspector has collected practically nothing in the way of fees and some suggest that the supervisors authorize a three months' inspection each year and ask the sheriff to detail an officer during the remaining nine months to check up on the weights and measures in the city.

TRUSTED MAN BILKS FRIENDS AND SKIPS OUT

Walter Revell Victimizes Local Firms Who Helped Him Over Difficulties

CASHES BAD CHECKS AND SLIPS AWAY ON MONGOLIA

Men Upon Whom He Imposed Hold Meeting and Plan Summary Prosecution

Walter Revell, trusted employe of the Honolulu Iron Works, church-worker, Y. M. C. A. member, with the friendship and substantial assistance of many well known Honolulu men, is a fugitive from justice.

He slipped aboard the Pacific Mail liner Mongolia and sailed for San Francisco early Sunday morning, leaving behind him a trail of worthless checks, a number of angry men whom he is alleged to have defrauded and a number of other men whom he borrowed money on one pretext or another and whom he appears to have victimized completely.

Running down the trail of bad checks which were first detected yesterday with the opening of the banks, the men who generously tried to help Revell and were "stung" for their pains have already taken steps to secure his apprehension and return to Hawaii to face prosecution on at least five separate charges of gross cheat.

A hurried session of the territorial grand jury was called this morning to meet at 1:30 this afternoon, at which time City Attorney John W. Calhoun will present the charges against Revell. No doubt is expressed.

WASHINGTON, D. C., December 2.—President Wilson's message to the opening of the regular session of the sixty-third congress today dealt largely with the Mexican situation, and throughout his references to this situation the president made it plain that his administration will not stand for the Huerta government.

Referring to Mexican affairs, the message says: "There can be no certain prospect of peace until Huerta has surrendered his usurped authority, until it is understood that such pretended government will not and cannot be countenanced or dealt with by the United States. Huerta has forfeited the respect and moral support even of those willing to see him succeed. Little by little he has been completely isolated. We shall not believe, be obliged to alter our policy of watchful waiting, and when the end comes I hope to see order restored by the concerted action and energy of such leaders as prefer the liberty of their people to their own ambitions."

The president's message, taking up other matters of national importance, urges a more explicit and ample form for the Sherman anti-trust law. It urges also direct presidential primaries, and government-built and government-owned railways and terminals for Alaskan ports to open up the resources of the northern territory.

Secretary of the Treasury Presents Budget at Opening of Congress — Cavalry Post Estimate Is $154,000, with $170,000 for Naval Station Purposes — Hilo Postoffice Needs $25,000 for New Building

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 2.—Important appropriations for various federal projects for Hawaii, military and otherwise, are called for in the budget presented at the opening of Congress today by Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo and recommended by him to the Congress. Among the appropriations are the following: For Hilo postoffice, $25,000. For Honolulu quarantine station, $32,000. For aids to navigation, Hawaiian waters, as follows: Pearl Harbor, $50,000; lighthouse depot, Honolulu, $30,000; lighthouse, Kaula point, $15,000; Hilo, $19,000; Cape Kamakahi improvement, $24,000. For Pearl Harbor naval station, $170,000. For cavalry post, $154,000. For coast defenses, the Philippines and Hawaii being lumped, $931,350.

AUSTRALIAN SWIMMING MAN LOCAL VISITOR

W. W. Hill Says Standing Invitation Is Out for Hawaiian Water Experts to Visit

W. W. Hill, president of the Australian Swimming Union, football expert and general all-round sporting authority, arrived on the Honolulu this morning, accompanied by his wife and daughter. The party will leave for home on the Niagara Thursday. They are at the Moana hotel.

Hill made the trip from Australia to San Francisco specially to referee the annual Stanford-California rugby game, and while in the coast metropolis saw Duke Kahanamoku in action in the exhibition swims given at the Olympic Club tank. Hill was much impressed with the local swimmer's speed and renewed an invitation for a Hawaiian swimming team to go to Australia to take part in the championships events.

"There is always a standing invitation for the Hawaiian swimmers to come to Australia," said Hill this morning, "and we had hoped to get Kahanamoku and some of the other fast men down for the championships this year. However, as we hold them in January, it would be necessary for the local men to come along on the Niagara, and I suppose that would be rather short notice. It might be arranged for them to come down later in the season, in which case we could get up some special meets."

Hill was met at the dock by W. T. Rawlins, who is seeing to it that the Australian sportsman gets a chance to do some surfing and swimming during his brief stay. "If you want to see me this afternoon you'll have to come into the water, for that's where I expect to spend most of my time until the Niagara leaves," said Hill, as he left the city for Waikiki.

CREAMERY AT GLENWOOD'S CLOSED

Failure to Support Experimental Plant Causes Temporary Abandonment

It was announced from the local experiment station this morning that the creamery at Glenwood, Hawaii, which has been conducted by the government for some time past, has been closed down. The reason given was that the small farmer to dispose of creamery products has been closed down and the experiment for some time past has been a test and not an industrial one.

In the past the small farmer owning cows have been in the habit of selling their cream direct to the creamery, but it seems that the majority of them have now come to the conclusion that it is more profitable to make the butter themselves. On account of this many of the farmers have severed their connection with the concern, it is said, and the creamery has been closed down until interest again can be aroused in the industry and the discontinued cream brought back into the local market. Drawbacks have been seen in the holding the station of the small farmers, one being given out as the lack of suitable land. A short time ago it was decided to remove the dairy to Hilo in order that it might be in a more central location, but when the time came to get the building, it was said that there were not enough men on hand to force the thing through, the majority of the farmers preferring to make their own butter and other products at home. On account of this, the Glenwood's supply of cream diminished to such an extent that the cost from 11 to 15 cents per pound. As milk-butter, when the cream has been in the neighborhood of 15 cents, it is not profitable to make.

Those who are at the station, however, are discouraged, and some are considering another try. It is expected that before the next season the government will be able to establish a creamery at Hilo, at Glenwood, or at some other place. It is too far distant from the city, who have been in the habit of using the dairy with the station. Wilson will return to Honolulu tomorrow from a tour of the islands. It is expected that he will be well to make a stop at the station, and what may be done to increase the sale of cream in the territory. All hopes of saving the station have been abandoned.

(Special Cable to the Japanese Chronicle). TOKIO, Japan, December 2.—The torpedo destroyer Arisuyuki, which went aground at Nanso Bay day before yesterday, cannot be refloated and is steadily breaking up on the rocks. All hopes of saving the vessel have been abandoned.

WIND AND SEAS TWO STOWAWAYS DELAY STEAMER NIAGARA

Weather conditions to the north and east of the Hawaiian Islands are reported as such that vessels now en route to Honolulu are experiencing much difficulty in making time. The Canadian-Australian liner Niagara, sailing from Vancouver and Victoria on time, will be delayed in arrival at Honolulu for about twenty-four hours according to a wireless message received by T. H. Davies and Company today.

TRAVELED IN COLD STORAGE

Remaining for hours under lock and key in a temperature ranging between thirty and forty degrees, two travelers stepped from the Matson Navigation steamer Honolulu today, wearing decidedly pleased expressions as they breathed the balmy air of the semi-tropics and basked in the sunshine of the Paradise of the Pacific.

HARBOR NOTES

long passage is credited to the schooner H. D. Bendixon which sailing from Ahukini, Kaula, on October 28 arrived at Columbia river yesterday.

The steamer Kinuava having been cleaned and repainted while on the drydock has been sent to the row to await going into commission on an island route.

The Inter-Island steamer Kinau is next in line for the annual inspection and alteration. This vessel is due to return from Kaula ports on Saturday instead of Sunday morning.

With the completion of loading a supply of bunker coal the British steamer Strathness will proceed to Australia with a large shipment of lumber supplied at a Sound port.

The ship John Ena, one of the few remaining round-the-Horn boats, is reported to have sailed from Philadelphia for Honolulu on Sunday. The vessel comes to the islands to load sugar.

Laden with a large assortment of freight from the north Pacific coast the Matson Navigation steamer Hiloian has sailed from Seattle for Honolulu. This vessel should arrive here about Dec. 9.

Following the arrival of late mail from British Columbia, the schooner Florence Ward will be dispatched for Midway Island. This vessel is expected to get away the last of the week, taking a quantity of Christmas cheer to the residents of the little isolated cable station.

The Great Northern steamer Minnesota that went aground in Japanese waters and remained in a perilous position for several days, was refloated and arrived at Manila at the time that the Japanese steamer Tenyo Maru sailed from the Philippines for the China coast and Honolulu.

Despite the fact that the Tenyo Maru reached quarantine at noon yesterday, that vessel did not gain a berth at Richards street wharf until a few minutes before 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Unusual precautions were taken by local medical officers in the examination of the large number of Asiatics in the crew and traveling as stowage passengers in the vessel.

ed as to indictments on five charges now preferred. An effort will be made to have Revell arrested in San Francisco and brought to Honolulu within the next few days. After the indictments are returned, the apprehension and bringing back of Revell will be primarily in the hands of the attorney-general, in the absence of the governor and secretary from the territory.

A meeting of a number of those who have been the victims of Revell's check-passing activities was held this morning in the offices of the Trent Trust Company. The discussion brought out that the following firms are definitely known to have been defrauded: Lewers & Cooke, Trent Trust Company, Atherton Estate, C. J. Day & Co., A. B. Arleigh & Co., Hawaii Shoe Company.

Revell's apparent intention to live a clean and honorable life in Hawaii, his apparent efforts to make good in business and the wishes of local businessmen to help him along, made possible the bold way in which he finally imposed upon many of his best friends.

For instance, he bought lumber for a house from Lewers & Cooke, paying on the installment plan. Last Saturday he appeared at the store with a $30 check. He asked that $20 be applied on his bill and that he get $10 cash, and the firm allowed him to do so.

Easy Saturday Afternoon. Revell's check passing, so far as is known, was all done after banking hours on Saturday afternoon. He presented checks on the Bank of Hawaii at a number of places where he was known and trusted. Just how much cash he secured in this manner is not known, but it is believed to be at least $150. This amount, however, represents only a fraction of the amount for which he is involved in one way or another. His debts here are said to be in the neighborhood of $1200.

At the meeting this morning the following committee was appointed to see the prosecution of Revell: G. A. Brown, C. J. Day, O. C. Swain.

City Attorney Cathcart was made acquainted with the facts and at once took up the case with energy, making an examination of the bad checks and preparing to present the case to the grand jury this afternoon. It was found that some of the checks were dated ahead, showing that Revell was taking no chances on being nabbed before his steamer went out.

If indictments are returned, the attorney-general's office, already apprised of the facts in the case, is expected to take up the matter with the San Francisco authorities so that Revell can be held while papers go forward. His extradition is a matter of some legal discussion, but every effort will be made to have him returned to Hawaii. Attorney-general Thayer is at work on that end of the case while the city attorney is presenting the charges to the grand jury.

Bilked Individuals. Revell did not confine his activities to imposing upon firms. He is believed to have "stuck" a number of personal friends. In one case, at least, a man who befriended him is out $25 on a note. This man had lived in the Revell family and knew Revell intimately.

That young Revell has been contemplating this step for some months is now believed to be the case. He has a wife and two children. About three months ago the wife and children were sent to the coast. Little Revell, harassed by several debts which he had contracted and declared himself unable to pay, talked of going into bankruptcy. He told a clerk for one of the firms he passed a check on that he intended to collect his November salary last Saturday and then go into bankruptcy. Instead of going into bankruptcy he went into the depths of the liner Mongolia and got safely away for the coast.

An "Instalment Fiend." A personal acquaintance of Revell's said this morning that the young man had swamped himself by buying on the installment plan and that he had no discretion in the matter of personal business.

"He bought right and left on the installment plan—anything that would take his fancy," said this acquaintance. "He bought a motorcycle—a guitar—a phonograph—things like those, with hardly a thought as to how he could meet future payments. He seemed to have no responsibility in such things. Then he got into deep water and has skipped out."

It was learned this morning that the firms that he passed bad checks on had not been pressing him for

LOCAL AND GENERAL

The ladies of Sacred Heart church, Punahou, will meet in Dreier hall on Wednesday at 3 p. m.

The meeting of the members of the Hawaii Fair Commission, scheduled to have been held at 10 o'clock this morning, has been postponed until Thursday morning in the rooms of the Promotion Committee.

The Waterhouse Company was yesterday afternoon awarded the contract for furnishing the many departments of the judiciary building with steel furniture, and also for installing the same.

Hisaichi Eitaki, for the past year consul-general for Japan in the Hawaiian Islands and who has been recalled to Tokyo, made the statement this morning that, upon his arrival in his native country he will have the opportunity of celebrating the New Year after an absence of almost 20 years from Tokyo. Consul-general Eitaki, Mrs. Eitaki and their children have changed their date of departure, it is reported, and will leave for the Orient on the Nippon Maru December 17.

According to a wireless message sent from the Japanese cruiser, Isumo to Tokio and forwarded to Honolulu yesterday afternoon by cable, Captain Moriyma reports that his ship will reach this port December 6, probably in the morning, having been delayed one day through rough weather. The same cable, received by the Nippon Jiji, reports that Admiral Dewa has been appointed a member of the high military and naval council.

John Simon Wlecosky, private of Battery E, 1st Field Artillery, stationed at Schofield Barracks, has sent a petition to the governor asking that he be granted a change of surname. He wants to be known as John Simon Wiker, declaring his present cognomen exceedingly difficult to spell and a detriment to his advance as a citizen of his adopted country. Wlecosky is a naturalized citizen, his birthplace being Banart, Germany.

SUPERVISORS TO MEET AND DISCUSS NEW ROADS

Supervisors this evening will consider the bids for the long-desired Walkane road leading to the new wharf on the windward side of the island. Through the efforts of Supervisor Petrie, chairman of the roads committee, the city fathers agreed to call for tenders for this work.

Three bids have been submitted and opened, the lowest coming from John H. Wilson, $175. John V. Fernandez was next, his bid being $325, and Picanco & Company was third, offering to do the work for $384.90.

For months residents on the part of the island have been importuning the supervisors to construct this road to lead to the wharf. The wharf was built by the harbor commission with the understanding, made with the former board of supervisors, that this road be constructed. A resolution to that end was passed setting aside an appropriation for the work by the last board, but the plans were not carried out. The appropriation lapsed. It remained for Supervisor Petrie to introduce a new resolution.

Other bids to be considered tonight will be for the Waihawa road, covering a distance of 3335 feet. It is not likely that the report of the committee of the whole on the new milk ordinance will be made tonight. There is strong talk among the supervisors of doing away with the new measure entirely and allowing the old ordinance to remain on the books with a few possible amendments.

Morning on CHANGE

A gain of a half point in Ewa and a fraction of a point in Hawaiian Commercial were the encouraging features of the stock and bond market this morning. Both sales were made between boards. In Ewa ten shares changed hands at 13.50; and in the case of Hawaiian Commercial five shares were bought at 21.87 1/2. No sales were made during the session.

payment but had consistently tried to help him along. But his other debts held him back.

Revell came to Honolulu about three years ago and came under an assumed name, says one who knows him well. He had married on the coast and his wife later joined him here. He bore a consistently good reputation, it seems. For a while he lived at the Y. M. C. A. He attended the Methodist Church and was active in Epworth League work.

And about the last thing he did before skipping out for the coast was to pass a bad check for $10 at the Y. M. C. A.

MEMBERS OF 25TH APPLY FOR LICENSE AND PUZZLE CONKLING

Territorial Treasurer D. L. Conkling is puzzled by the problem placed before him by a number of soldiers of the 25th infantry, who, under the name of the United Mercantile Company, organized and incorporated at Seattle, Washington, have formally applied for registration as a social club. The officers of the company have tendered the fee of $116.88 as the tax from December 1 to June 30, 1914, for the privilege of supplying liquor to the members of the club.

Though the treasurer is not satisfied in his own mind as to the intent of the incorporators, there seems to be some doubt whether he can deny them the license if they can furnish sufficient proof that it is to be a bona fide social club for members only. It is understood the members already have obtained possession of a house in a residence district of Honolulu, and propose establishing the club there.

AD CLUB FOR WHITE UNIFORM

Ad Club members will do their level utmost to help things move in the enthusiasm of Carnival week.

Director Dougherty was the speaker at the session of the club today, outlining the scheme of the carnival week and pointing out where the Ad Club can be of real assistance.

The special committee of the club—Geo. R. Curtis, C. R. Frazer and H. L. Strang—made a report approving the scheme to have the parade straggled off and also recommending G. C. Helser for the work of whipping the Ad Club members into a white uniform body to be in the parade and also on hand to show strangers the way during the carnival week. Mr. Dougherty wants the Ad Club men to help and they have voted unanimously to do it though they have no funds in the treasury for this work. They will help with their service, which is the true Ad Club spirit.

More Charters for Transpacific

Word from San Francisco states that the Royal Mail line has taken four more British steamers on time charter for a round voyage across the Pacific to 46. 6d. They are the Craigball, Yennachar, Harpagus and Orterio. They will load at Japanese ports for Puget Sound and Portland and will return from either Tacoma and Portland with cargoes of grain and flour. The Royal Mail line has contracted with the Portland Flouring Mills Company for the handling of all their Oriental business. The Craigball is now enroute from Tacoma to Yokohama, the Yennachar is due at Yokohama, the Orterio is at Valparaiso, and the Harpagus at Java.

BATTELLE PROCESS IS COVERED IN DETAIL IN LENGTHY REPORT

"The work of testing the Battelle process was finally included in May of this year and a final report thereon was made by Dr. R. S. Norris, showing the following conclusions:

"1. The Battelle process can be worked on a manufacturing scale to produce either raw or white sugar, with or without the addition of the lime saccharate process for the recovery of sugar in the waste molasses.

"2. The recovery of sugar by this process, worked without the molasses treatment, is so much less than by the defecation process as to make it unprofitable for manufacturing either raw or white sugar.

"3. The increased recovery of sugar, as calculated from the results obtained, through the application of the lime saccharate process on the waste molasses, is such as to indicate a substantial increase in profit in the manufacture of white sugar direct, over that at present obtained in the manufacture of raw sugar by the defecation process.

"4. Notwithstanding the increased recovery of sugar from the waste molasses, the extra cost of manufacture by this process is such as to make it less profitable for the manufacture of raw sugar than is the defecation process.

"5. From observation made during the investigation the indications are that if the process were applied in the factories on these islands the results would in many cases be better both in the quality and quantity of sugar than could be obtained with the experiment plant at Ewa.

"A formal agreement has since been made between Mr. Battelle and the Guardian Trust Company, Limited, as trustee for this association, and recorded in the United States patent office, by the terms of which this association now holds the exclusive right, on a royalty basis, to use and license its members or others to use this process in the territory of Hawaii, and also to use and permit its general use in certain refineries in the United States. We have the further right to have the process used on any raw sugar or low grade products resulting from remelted raw sugars derived from juices of sugar cane grown in Hawaii in any other refineries owned or controlled by any Hawaiian plantation or plantations.

"The fight against the cane borer has been so successfully waged that the station has found it unnecessary to continue the distribution and breeding of the tachnid fly. This fly is so well established on all the islands that it will doubtless spread wherever its prey, the cane borer, is to be found. Should necessity arise (though this is considered improbable) we can readily obtain colonies from any one of the many plantations where it is now established. The pest now reposing the fullest confidence. Under his direction, and with the loyal support of the staff, our station has continued to maintain its high standard.

"The sugar industry of this country has suffered a severe blow from recent tariff legislation in Washington, and what the future has in store for us no man can foretell. It is evident that many economies will be forced upon us during the years to come, but your committee desires emphatically to record its conviction that that it would be extremely false economy should we in any way impair the efficiency of our experiment station, which has been of such untold value to our sugar industry in the past, and on which we shall need to rely more than ever perhaps in the future if we are to weather successfully the storms that seem to be ahead of us.

CHARGES AGAINST OFFICERS BELIEVED TO BE SPITEWORK

There is very little likelihood of Detectives Robert Holbron and A. Mendocia being suspended from the staff of special officers, in the opinion of Sheriff William Jarrett, who this morning stated that while certain parties had appeared before him and recited charges against both Holbron and Mendocia, he was looking into the matter, but saw no reason for ordering the retirement of the men.

It is the general opinion expressed at the police station that the allegations are trivial, and actuated by spite from a disgruntled outsider and a couple of disappointed members of the detective staff.

Holbron is charged with having appropriated a bicycle from a Japanese. The allegation is said to have been aired through the columns of a Japanese newspaper. According to Holbron he declares that the bike was his personal property, that it had been loaned to his brother, who in turn sent the machine into a Japanese repair shop. In passing the place some days ago Holbron states that he recognized the machine and demanded that it be restored to him. The Japanese at first demurred, though Holbron insisted on his right of possession and took the wheel with him when he returned to the police station, thinking it had been stolen from his brother, the Japanese being unable to give any satisfactory explanation of how he came into possession of the machine.

on Mr. Renton himself for information on that variety.

President Bishop recalled that the manager of Ewa had already said he wanted another year to give any definite report. He then announced the next subject.

Noel Deerr was called on to read the report of the committee on the manufacture of sugar.

Mr. Swanzy, referring to the portion about making alcohol out of the bagasse, asked if one of the difficulties was not the superintendence of revenue officers. He had noticed in Porto Rico they always had two revenue officers, which was quite an expense as they had to be maintained on the place.

Mr. Renton asked if there was a difference between bagasse that had been broken up and bagasse in large masses. During a breakdown in Ewa mill the extraction fell from 96 to 93 in three days and in that time the whole place was full of bagasse.

Mr. Deerr said the question was a mechanical one, relating to area of grate bars, etc. As great efficiency could be got from fine as from coarse bagasse.

John M. Ross told of a breakdown of nine weeks in Hakatau mill, when the extraction decreased from 95 to 92, and they had a hard time getting clear of the bagasse.

C. B. Wells, former manager of Wailuku plantation, was asked by the president to give the meeting the benefit of his experience, as to the practicability of plantations making their alcohol. He replied that, with the internal revenue tax and the competition, it was found on the coast that there was nothing in the manufacture of alcohol as a by-product. It would be a simple matter to turn the trash into alcohol, but difficult to find a market for it. There was more respect about the internal revenue rules than anything else he was acquainted with.

Says Alcohol Identical.

A. Gartley was informed by a wholesale liquor dealer last year that the wholesale price of alcohol was $1.32 and the revenue tax on it $1.10, which left a margin of but 22 cents for the manufacturer.

Mr. Wells said the wholesale liquor dealers would not use alcohol from molasses. A ruling under the pure food act, in President Taft's term, prohibited its use in making liquor.

Mr. Deerr declared that alcohol from molasses and alcohol from grain were identical, and the rule mentioned was based on prejudice. There was an open market on the plantations for alcohol as fuel for locomotives. Every pound of molasses they sent to the coast contained 43 cents' worth of potash, in an article the planters largely imported, hence every pound of molasses shipped meant a present of 43 cents to California.

Mr. Gartley, at the quest of Mr. Watt, gave some information on the construction of engines for burning alcohol, concluding with the opinion that the potash should be saved.

Mr. Peck said that in Europe molasses was made into alcohol and the potash in it recovered besides.

Mr. Agee said molasses was worth as much for stock feed as corn, or $15 or $20 a ton—not that it was worth that in the open market.

Field Well Covered.

W. W. Goodale then read the report of the committee on cultivation and fertilization on irrigated plantations.

There was no response to the call for remarks and the president observed that Mr. Goodale seemed to have said all that was known.

John T. Molt read the report of the committee on cultivation and fertilization on unirrigated plantations. A letter was appended from C. F. Eckart of Oahu on the spraying method of destroying weeds. Other papers were contributed to the report by John M. Ross of Hakalau, James Webster of Pepeeke and John Hind of Hawi; also a few hints on sugar cane agriculture in Porto Rico by Thomas H. Lougher.

Before declaring recess at 11:50 to 1:30, President Bishop asked the planters from the outside districts to see the meeting through. There was enough material for discussion to keep them going until Thursday. Tomorrow afternoon the association would visit the sub-station at Waipio.

O. H. Swezey, opening discussion on the report of the director of the experiment station, said there were only four plantations on which the tachnid fly, imported to combat the anomala beetle, was not reported. Answering the president he said it did not appear to exist in Kau district. Very few borers were now to be found on Wailua plantation, where the practice was adopted of paying for the collection of borers according to number. In the year ended June 30, 1912, there had been collected 27,000 cunces of the pest, and in the corresponding period ended this year the quantity was only 3740 ounces. The figures did not show very accurately the amount of reduction, because as the beetles became reduced children and others took less interest in the collection. However, there was difficulty in finding them at all now in some fields where formerly they were very plentiful. On Kahuku plantation conditions were somewhat similar to those on Wailua.

Manager Adams of Kahuku told of a 35-acre field on which the yields of both cane and sugar had greatly improved this year, although no beetles had been picked there for two years owing to decline of interest on the part of the pickers. The only dead cane was a little of the Lahaina variety on the outside of the fields. Of cane the yield was 85 tons, and of sugar nine and one-half tons, an acre.

Manager Meyers of Kilanea stated that the beetle was much less apparent than formerly. Cane coming into the mill showed up much better.

Manager Goodale of Wailua confirmed the statements of Entomologist Swezey about that plantation. He believed the proportion of borers had been greatly reduced. He had taken off one field this year which was clear of borers upon which the cane three years ago was fairly ridged.

Mr. Swanzy understood that Hana (Kaeleku) plantation had suffered great loss from the pest.

Experiments Explained.

Mr. Peck took up the subject of Lahaina cane deterioration mentioned in the report. Seed brought from Hilo estates that had encountered the trouble was experimented with, and fresh Lahaina seed had been sent from the station to Hilo. Results indicated that it was not a disease but some operation of soil which produced the deterioration. It might be chemical, bacteriological or mechanical conditions in the soil. Cane treated and untreated in experiment yielded like results. He called on Dr. Lyon to exhibit a stick of cane which had been stunted in early growth, the short and slender joints at the butt indicating near death, which had suddenly recovered and reached a normal growth of about eight feet in length. Proceeding, the speaker said that cane planted in virgin soil at Waipio sub-station was best, but cane planted in sterilized soil did nearly as well. In his opinion the recovery of the sickly cane was due to solution of the mineral and chemical constituents of the soil rather than to sterilization.

Dr. Lyon told of five experiments whereby sickly cane was restored. He concluded that it was not a fungus disease but some condition of soil. Planting of cane cuttings as seed was simply a prolonging of generation—perhaps Lahaina cane was therefore 500 or 800 years old. Changing from one set of conditions to another would probably restore a species to its ancestral vigor. No doubt the soil in some places was getting into a condition prejudicial to Lahaina cane.

Manager Bull of Oahu plantation asked why the deterioration began on the outside of a field—at a ditch, road or railroad. He had never known it to begin on the inside of a field.

Mr. Peck had never observed such a fact. He had found the worst places in the middle.

President Bishop thought Mr. Bull had referred to the original appearance of the deterioration.

Manager Renton of Ewa had experience like that reported on Oahu plantation, and thought the decadence appeared when the soil was either too wet or too dry.

As Mr. Bull had stated, it started from the outside—alongside a ditch where it was too wet, or alongside a railroad, where it was too dry. He had found just one thing that would overcome the trouble, and that was to change the soil. It was mentioned in the report as a "mystery," and there was something mysterious about it. In several places where they had planted Lahaina cane it was very inferior, in one instance the yield being only two tons an acre. Yet some Lahaina ratoons on Ewa were looking well, although perhaps not so good as the Demerara.

Secretary Smith asked how it was in the Hilo district that the Lahaina cane showed signs of going out. He had never noticed the conditions mentioned by Mr. Bull of starting on the outside—it was the same all over the field. It seemed to be root trouble. The cane might have a fine, long stalk but a little puff of wind would topple it over. Stooks of Yellow Caledonia would shoot up and tower over the Lahaina cane. He called Dr. Maxwell's attention to it, who advised him to harvest that cane, plow up the land, lime it and then plant it, which he did, but without any better results.

Dr. Lyon noticed in going over the fields at Waipahu that the bad places were at the ditches, generally about the third row inside. Generally the soil received better treatment on the borders of the ditches and close to the roads. There was a point of maximum exhilaration of the soil, which, if passed, will probably injure the plant. Soil, where it has received attention, will often be found to have reached the stage of maximum exhilaration, and when you go beyond that the cane is injured.

Mr. Bull asked if the seedlings of Lahaina cane were not free from the weakness in question. Mr. Agee had mentioned two varieties that seemed to be healthy.

James Gibb referred to conditions he had observed in Hilo as far back as 20 years ago. It was a matter of only a short time, in his opinion, when they would see the same conditions all over the islands as now existed on the two Oahu plantations under discussion. It was a general rule in agriculture that you have to change your crop in location—you cannot continue to plant one crop indefinitely. Abnormal conditions this year made it impossible to draw conclusions regarding cane growth. On Honolulu plantation in May there was a rainfall of six inches in 24 hours, which caused a recovery of growth like that shown in the stalk exhibited at the meeting. It made the cane on Honolulu plantation jump up very rapidly.

Mr. Agee thought they could confirm all that Mr. Gibb had said about the necessity of change of location. He was unable to give an opinion on the effect of rain, not having given the question consideration, but thought it improbable that the weather was responsible entirely for the recovery of the specimen shown.

Dr. Lyon said he did not mean to say that cane could be continuously propagated successfully on the same land. The reason why this practice was injurious was the accumulation of deleterious properties in the soil, producing fungus organisms, and the rule applied to other crops that cane. Other stalks in the experiments, although recovering under treatment, did not show such a great degree of growth as that shown. The speaker here read notes of observations of cane diseases he had made in Java, and, in answer to Mr. Adams, said deterioration took place in Java where they practiced rotation of crops.

Rotation of crops without the main prevent the disease," returned Mr. Adams.

Mr. Gartley asked if the Hilo planters had tried different varieties after the failure of Lahaina cane.

Manager Alex. Smith of Laupahoehoe said he had a small patch of Lahaina which was promising, in answer to Mr. Scott of Hilo, said that land at Anahola had been planted in cane continuously since 1849 and was today producing a fine crop. It was planted in Yellow Caledonia and yielding 4 1/2 tons of sugar to the acre. Yet he believed it was necessary to change the seed. Yellow Caledonia was not so productive now as a few years ago. At that time the whole district would have been bankrupt if they had not introduced Yellow Caledonia. He thought it a good thing to introduce new varieties on their lands. Prof. Stubbs had referred to Hawaii as a one-crop country, and as such they would be up against it if the single crop failed.

Manager Watt told of a Japanese who had got a poor result from Lahaina cane and, replanting with Yellow Caledonia, had a good crop. He had an experience at Paauhau some years ago of a recovery of cane like that exhibited at this meeting.

Manager Molt of Oonohoe, in answer to Mr. Gartley's question, told of having planted Rose Bamboos, which in three or four years got as bad as Lahaina, and then they tried Yellow Caledonia. They had never had any good results in going back to Lahaina after Yellow Caledonia, but had fairly good results from going back to Rose Bamboos. So far as he could see it had not so heavy a stalk, but was the best cane they had.

Secretary Smith asked how it was in Lahaina, the original home of that cane.

Manager Weinsheimer of Pioneer Mill replied, but owing to passing cars his remarks were almost inaudible. He was understood to say that Lahaina cane was still doing pretty well in the district whose name it bears. He gave results at widely different elevations and told of a low-lying field where the production of cane had been improved from 35 tons to 53 tons an acre.

Manager David Forbes of Waialeale argued that cane followed the natural law of nature as other crops, having a change of seed was a good thing as well as a change of soil for a native crop.

Reports to President. Former Gov. George K. Carter had changed the direction of letters by saying that what had greatly impressed him at the meeting was the wide field of operations carried on by the planters outside of Oahu. He was not aware, until looking over the printed reports, of the interest shown in such things as plantations and systems. He would suggest that copies of all the reports be sent to President Wilson and the secretary, and that the reports be read to the committee.

Dr. Lyon said he did not mean to say that cane could be continuously propagated successfully on the same land. The reason why this practice was injurious was the accumulation of deleterious properties in the soil, producing fungus organisms, and the rule applied to other crops that cane. Other stalks in the experiments, although recovering under treatment, did not show such a great degree of growth as that shown. The speaker here read notes of observations of cane diseases he had made in Java, and, in answer to Mr. Adams, said deterioration took place in Java where they practiced rotation of crops.

Rotation of crops without the main prevent the disease," returned Mr. Adams.

Bring the Mrs. in--

---during that Saturday afternoon or evening promenade, and let us show her some of those Phoenix Hose, that for price and quality, can't be beaten in this or any other city.

For the Mrs., the Phoenix Hose comes in twelve shades; for You, the Phoenix Sox come in eleven shades. She and You aren't wearing Phoenix, you ought to be!

Here's the big surprise: Phoenix Hose are only 75c the pair. Phoenix Sox only 50c the pair.

Liberty, Union, Charity, Temperance and Righteousness: These words have ever had a special charm for me since I first caught their meaning, though, like all the great words, they yield a thousand times more meaning the longer the things they stand for are pondered, even as the real America has been extending ever since Columbus sighted a tittle of its shores.—From Jasper Donahut's Story.

SPEAK OUT ON CITY IMPROVEMENT

The board of supervisors is now engaged in making up its budget for the next semi-annual period. The budget-making process is ordinarily accompanied by a good deal of secrecy as to detail, experience in the past having shown that the public gets little idea of what money the city is going to have and what it is going to spend until the caucusing is finished and the appropriation bill complete. Then it is about as easy to change it as to secure an amendment to the laws of the Meles and Persians.

The public is particularly interested in the funds set aside for road and street improvement. It is understood now that the supervisors find they will have practically no money in the general fund for new streets in the district of Honolulu or for roads anywhere. They will set aside, according to present plans, about $12,000 a month for roads and streets, but most of it will go to maintenance.

The supervisors are authoritatively reported to be coming to the conclusion that they will levy the frontage-tax system only in the fire-district area of Honolulu. Outside of that area, they will take the initiative of the property-owners upon petition, to get action from the board. Now the point is this:

The fullest expression of opinion from the public should be given to the supervisors while they are making up their budget; the wishes of the community on the subject of frontage-tax and local improvement should be voiced.

Are the people of Honolulu willing to accept application of the frontage-tax law only within the restricted fire-district area?

Since no large new street-improvements are likely to be begun during the next six months—owing to shortage in funds—it may be that the question of applying the frontage-tax system is not so important now as it will be during the fall of 1914. But it is important enough. There are several districts outside the fire-district which demand new streets at once; there are also districts not awake as yet to the need of the new improvements laws and yet needing the improvements; in such districts, with the present attitude of the supervisors, no real work is likely to be done. Yet there are the sections where the city authorities could take the initiative in planning an improvement district and cooperating with the progressive property-owners in putting it through.

Certainly, before making up their minds on the budget and the local-improvement policy for the first six months of 1914, the supervisors should hold a hearing for a more general expression of opinion than has yet been secured.

WITH THE NEW GOVERNOR

The Advertiser this morning says: Governor Pinkham will find the "get-together" movement in full swing, and the "boost" spirit predominating. The rank and file in Hawaii appreciate the fact that this territory is facing problems that only united action and unselfish cooperation can satisfactorily solve. President Wilson has selected Governor Pinkham to lead the people of the territory for the next four years, and the people of Hawaii accept his choice and will work to help him help Hawaii.

The point is stated exactly. There are great things to be done here in the next four years and to squabble and bicker over the governorship. L. E. Pinkham is the man who will be governor for four years, and with unselfish support from the people of Hawaii he will be a capable executive.

In this support the press of Hawaii may very properly take the lead. There is gratifying evidence that the press is with Mr. Pinkham.

JOIN HANDS FOR HONOLULU

The Merchants' Association will be called on next Thursday afternoon to decide whether or not it will join the progressive movement to organize the local commercial bodies in the Greater Chamber of Commerce.

For months past argument after argument has been presented in favor of the plan of amalgamation. Not a real argument has been presented against it. Yet there are members of the Merchants' Association determined to block the move.

The Star-Bulletin would not question the sincerity of the opposition to the merger plan; but its reasonableness is certainly open to question. All of the big arguments, all the progressive reasons, all the vital points, are in favor of the Greater Chamber of Commerce. All the trend of these days in Hawaii is toward unity of purpose made effective by unity of organization; toward concentration of forces to tackle and settle the big problems that Hawaii and Honolulu must face.

Why not start the New Year with the two commercial bodies no longer divided? Why not make the Greater Chamber the institution it should be—big, broad, powerful, devoted to the interests of the big fellow and the little fellow alike, organized, as the plans provide, so that it will be the directing force for the people of Honolulu?

Public-spirited men who realize the situation and the possibilities can take no other course than to vote for the amalgamation of the two bodies.

FOR TEACHERS, MOTHERS, FATHERS

At the Library of Hawaii there is being shown this week and next an exhibit of books for children that deserves a visit from all the teachers, mothers and fathers who can get to it. Once in the large room where the books are on exhibition, you are not likely to get away under an hour, for the display is of really remarkable interest and of timely value. Here you may find just the kind of book you want your pupil or your boy or girl to read, and there is a surprisingly wide range of subject-matter from which to choose. The exhibit is a proof of the very real public service performed quietly and unostentatiously by the library.

WILSON AND HIS NOMINATIONS

When politicians and reporters got to pestering Secretary of State Bryan about the appointment of H. M. Pindell, the Illinois editor, to the Russian ambassadorship, Mr. Bryan gave out a statement ending up thus:

"The president will not allow malicious representations to interfere with his right to nominate to the senate the best-qualified men within his choice for conspicuous and responsible positions."

Among the "conspicuous and responsible positions" may be mentioned the governorship of Hawaii. The application is obvious.

MR. CHEN CHING HO

The departure of His Excellency Chen Ching Ho, retiring Chinese consul to Hawaii, will be very generally regretted. During his comparatively short term of office here, Mr. Chen Ching Ho has made a large and cordial acquaintance, not only in the Chinese community, but among the Occidental residents. He has taken a keen interest in the progress of Chinese-Americans here along modern lines and has been a conspicuous friend of such movements as that of the Chinese national guard company and the participation of the young men of his race in outdoor athletics.

Those who read of "grave charges against McDuffie's lieutenants" will doubtless wait to see whether this is a new line in the attack on McDuffie.

Governor Pinkham will be met by the Honolulu Ad Club—and probably made a member before he leaves the wharf.

The new governor will arrive on Christmas Eve. Candidates for patronage are advised to have their stockings up.

The Malihini Christmas Tree is a worthy cause. It should be given very generous support in this community.

O'Shaughnessy has not been the same since he was hugged by Huerta.

Apparently the president doesn't think much of Mr. Huerta.

These Huertan week-ends remind one of Nero and Rome.

"Huerta Losing Grip." His portfolio is next.

Huerta, however, isn't confirmed yet.

Letters OF THE DAY

PUBLIC FUNDS SPENT FREELY.

Editor Honolulu Star Bulletin, Sir: How many people, I would like to ask, know or realize that we are confronted with one of the greatest crises that this country has ever known? Certainly the government officials do not or they would not be squandering money on automobiles, roads and many other things, nor would they be raising salaries right and left. Where, I would like to ask, are the funds to come from for all of these extra expenses? Do these men know that in place of the sugar industry paying 85 per cent of the taxes, we shall be lucky if they can pay 25 per cent of them in the future? What, I would like to ask, will happen then, and where is the money to be raised to make up this deficiency? As a matter of fact, there is no way and therefore it is evident that government expenses will have to be cut down.

Salaries will have to be cut in every department of public works and from the governor to the lowest official. The school teachers, and especially the principals and the supervising principals, will have to suffer, and the latter most likely cut out entirely.

At one time the superintendent of schools did all of this work of inspecting the schools and made no trouble of it at all.

This business of constantly building roads and then tearing them up again just for the purpose of finding work for men will have to come to a stop and good roads of some lasting qualities put down in their place.

Economy of the strictest kind will have to be practiced in every department of the government. All joy rides and the using of government automobiles for private use will have to be stopped, and waste of all kinds will have to be cut out.

Unless if this done, there is only one alternative and that is government by commission, and we don't want that.

Yours truly, X. Y. Z.

COMMISSION WILL HEAR ARGUMENTS FROM ATTORNEYS IN KELLETT CASE

he asked that he be allowed to proceed out of order.

The objection of Peters to this procedure led up to the suggestion of the commission as given above. Peters declared that the only proper way to present the case was to clear up one charge before going to another. Before passing on the point the commission conferred and the result of the conference was made known in its request for concluding arguments.

"I feel that we can attain our ends much better by the arguments we suggest. It must be borne in mind that whatever we do here in no wise affects any criminal phase of the case. This hearing has been long. We realize now the error we made in our rules and regulations in allowing a case to be heard in this way, and we do not mind saying that the rules and regulations will be amended to make a repetition of a hearing such as this unnecessary."

Rumors were current in the senate chamber, where the hearing is being held, this morning that Peters would move for a nonsuit when the case of the sheriff was finished. Whether or not he had such a plan in mind could not be learned from him. He declined to discuss the matter. However, the rumors managed to keep going, and when the commissioners filed out of the chamber for their conference the idea that a motion for a nonsuit would be entertained seemed uppermost in the minds of the small crowd assembled to hear the case.

Though the audience was small in number, it was the largest present since the first day of the hearing. It had been expected that D. L. Mackaye, a reporter on the Advertiser, would be called as a sheriff's witness on the embezzlement charges made by Olsen. Olsen having become "hostile" to Smith's side, and having absolutely denied any knowledge of the embezzling which Kellest is charged with, it was believed that the deputy attorney-general would call Mackaye to prove prior admissions made by Olsen. But this course was not followed. It seems now that if Mackaye is called at all it will be at the instance of Peters.

Sheriff Jarrett appeared at the hearing in the middle of the session. He has been ill for a number of days, his place being taken at the trial by Deputy Sheriff Rose.

The testimony of Olsen this morning revolved around his repudiated affidavit. He explained why he signed the instrument in this way:

"Mackaye said that Kellest was to blame for my suspension. He said that the Advertiser had got me my job back once, and that they could do it again.

"He said he could get me reinstated after I made the statement. The next day or day after, Mackaye told me to go back as if nothing had happened. I met Swaden and he also told me to go back to work.

"I met Mackaye at the police station by appointment and went with him to the office of Judge Humphreys. He said that he had already sent them to the Advertiser. We went to the Advertiser and got the affidavits and took them to the attorney general's office. There Mr. Thayer gave me one to read. He told me to read it. I just glanced over it. When I came to one page I happened to notice that it said McDuffie was getting graft money. I told Mackaye, 'Here, I said, 'This isn't right.' I said I didn't know anything about that. But he said it was all right—that it was explained farther on. So I signed the affidavit."

Olsen, who promises to figure conspicuously in the hearing from now on, resigned from the department soon after the return of Captain of Detectives McDuffie from the Orient.

One reason has always been given by Olsen for his part in the "investigation," which is represented by the affidavit he signed and swore to and later repudiated and the subsequent statement he made to Smith—that he was after Kellest, believing that Kellest was responsible for his suspension.

D. L. Mackaye, the reporter on the Advertiser, had informed him, he said, that Kellest was to blame for his suspension, and this same reporter, according to his statement, gave him to understand that by making an affidavit, such as the one he swore to, he would be reinstated. He was reinstated, being told by Mackaye, Olsen declares, to go back to work. A day or two later he was handed the affidavit in the office of the attorney-general, where he executed it.

It was the next day or the one following that—his mind is not clear as to the exact time—that he called on Smith, saying that what he had sworn to was false. He demanded the return of the instrument. His demand was complied with, Olsen says he took the affidavit to a Chinese restaurant and there destroyed it. Before giving him back the affidavit, however, Smith required him to give a statement on the facts in the original instrument which were still said to be true by Olsen. This statement was put in affidavit form, but never signed or sworn to. The attitude of Olsen toward this statement seems to be simply that it is made up of lies, lies which he concocted and stood behind at the time, hoping in that way to "get even" with Kellest. "I thought to myself, if Kellest is putting up a job on me I will put one up on him," he explained to the commission.

One of the most comfortable and handsome cars in the rent service in Honolulu is the new six-cylinder Packard owned by E. M. Wood, who occupies a stall in the Young Hotel auto stand. The car is fitted with the latest in the way of springs and tires; is a self-starter; full electric lighted. It is roomy, and seats seven passengers most comfy. This newest creation in the auto line is on duty day and night in the rent service, and is the ne plus ultra in which to make a tour of the island. The car is No. 319. Ask for it. --advertisement.

L. Ayau was the only one of the seven men indicted on gambling charges by the territorial grand jury yesterday to be arraigned today, the others being granted a reservation of plea until next Saturday morning at 9 o'clock. He entered a plea of not guilty. Attorney L. M. Straus appeared for the other six, who are Bert Bower, James Harrub, James Pierce, James Baker, Samuel MacMillan and Clement Akaka, and succeeded in having their bail set at $100.

The contract for supplying and installing steel furniture in the judiciary building was let by the Waterhouse Company today by Superintendent J. W. Caldwell of the public works department. This firm's figures, the lowest submitted, were $246,253 for the entire job, to be finished in 75 working days from today, or about March 1.

TWO MORE PETTY HAWAII GRAFTERS PAY THE PENALTY

William Williamson, member of the Hawaii Probe Commission, has received news from Hawaii that two more of those involved in the grafting cases and recently indicted have been given sentences.

The latest to whom justice has been meted out are ex-Supervisor J. Koomoa and Kahalekulu, each of whom was sentenced to six months in prison and a fine of $400 on conviction of conspiracy. Two others involved in the graft probe with Koomoa, Kaaipoa and Kaloulu, will come up later.

Koomoa was the man who was convicted of putting his friends on a road payroll when as a matter of fact they were doing politics for him during the last campaign.

All of these are Kona cases, the men being sentenced by Judge Matzaewman.

The United States imported fruits and nuts worth $30,000,000 in the last fiscal year, twice the quantity imported ten years ago.

CHILDREN'S BOOK DISPLAY IS HELD AT THE LIBRARY

"Books for Children" is the simple but expressive name of a remarkable exhibit that is being held at the Library of Hawaii this week and next under the supervision of the library staff. It is an exhibit of books for children of all ages and sizes—books of educational value, taste and wholesome effect.

In a large room on the second floor of the library building are a number of tables covered with groups, each group being distinctive as to subject matter and appealing to varieties of tastes. There are wonderful picture books for the little folks and books no less wonderful of make-up and illustration for the older youngsters. There are Bible stories and stories of saints, poetry, travel, fairy tales, books for boys, books for girls—a great number and yet each is chosen because it has a real value in the life of the child who reads it.

Here one may wander from the Palmer Cox Browne books, loved many years ago by grown-ups and little folks alike, to Kate Greenaway's illustrated stories, or Mother Goose with the most fascinating pictures by Arthur Rackham. Here are Andrew Lang's fairy books, Kipling's never-to-be-forgotten Jungle Book and Just-so stories. Here is Gulliver's Travels—a fairy-tale for children, a book of satire and philosophy for the elders. Here are such immortal stories as that of Jona of Arc; such whimsical stories as the Greenaway illustrated text of the Pied Piper of Hamelin.

And there's also a table of books that are shunned and condemned because of their bad effect on youngsters. Most of them are cheap, a few merely silly.

The majority of the children's books are unusually fine in make-up and illustration, with clear, bold type and pretty bindings.

The exhibit is not merely to look at. It has a distinct value. In a foreword to the helpful catalogue that the library has prepared for the exhibit, this is said:

To point the way to a few of these treasures is the purpose of the lists that are gathered here. The books are some of those that may be read again and again and for that reason are a welcome addition to the child's own library. A first place is given the picture books, the educational value of which can not be too greatly emphasized. These may be mines of pleasure and culture if attention is given to those that not only stimulate fancy but train the eye to an appreciation of color, harmony and line. These lead the way to the child's first classics, the fables and Mother Goose. Later come the fairy stories and wonder tales, whose mission is to cultivate the imagination, to prepare for the future understanding of classic literature, to develop the sense of beauty, to implant ideas of simple virtues, and last but not least, to give joy to children. With the "magic door" thus open, the boy finds his favorite story of adventure, and the girl her first glimpses of college life or of romance.

The lists of books here given are merely suggestive. Those who wish a guide into the larger realm of real child literature will find the way made easy and alluring by "The Finest Points" of Mr. W. T. Field, Mr. Macy's "Child Guide," and Miss Ocott's "Children's Reading." Together they seem to have anticipated the many questions that occur to those interested in and responsible for the training of the child's mind.

Second only to the choice of the book is the choice of the edition. Print, paper and binding, as well as pictures are to be considered. These lists include with the good editions at moderate cost some of the finer and more beautiful books.

This well sets forth the purpose of the exhibit, which is open from 2 to 5 o'clock every week-day this week and next. Miss Edna I. Allyn, librarian, and her staff are to be congratulated upon the interesting and valuable display they are making.

HAWAII HOCHI HAS PRAISE FOR PINKHAM

Delay after delay, being noisy about the objections against the nomination, the confirmation by the senate was a hard thing to be got, but at last on the day before yesterday, the nomination of Mr. L. E. Pinkham as governor of the territory was finally confirmed.

From the first, we knew of his personality as well as his ability, and had expected that the nomination would be confirmed sooner or later, and getting the report of the confirmation, we have no words to express the joy we have in our hearts. Looking from the standpoint of the territorial administration, Mr. Frear, the retiring governor had gone to the mainland, and Mr. Mott-Smith, the acting governor, has also gone to the mainland, and there have been some complaints of delayed administration. Suppose, unfortunately, Mr. Pinkham was not confirmed, and the new candidate is searched after, it would not be likely the governorship could be decided before the close of the session of Congress, which would lead another delay of the administration, and consequent losses to the territory; this is why we are glad of the confirmation of the nomination.

There have been diverse explanations of his personality as well as his ability, but as to our idea, such must be premature and hasty judgment, as we shall see his ability on his actual administration, while as to his personality, it could be admitted that there must have been some changes in the course of the past few years. And suppose that he has some defects, after his sitting on the governor's chair, the sense of responsibility shall lead him to be very careful, that need not to be feared, while as to his conduct versus Japanese some years ago, deliberate judgment makes us think that that was the result of his faithfulness to his duty.

Judging from his quick decision of things, clearness of his head, thorough knowledge of the territory of Hawaii, we think we could expect of him a good administration. Moreover, he belongs to the progressive party to which Mr. Lane, secretary of the Interior, also belongs, who has much weight in the central government, and thus we think that the proposals of Mr. Pinkham will be accepted in easy manner by the government, and the territory shall be benefited by them without doubt. However, we feel it prudent to say no further, as we have not yet seen his actual administration, and hope that the politicians who have direct power of the administration, the citizens and domiciles will help him with all their hearts to make him give us a successful administration, putting away their possible ill-feeling against him, since he has already become governor.

While we knew that there have been hot objections and opposition, we take them to be only the outcome of the anxiety for the welfare of the territory, and not from personal ill-feelings. If that was the case, after the confirmation, it will be mainly to help him in view of his success, refraining from any further opposition.

Hoping the men of Hawaii will show their liberality to the matter, we congratulate the confirmation of Mr. Pinkham as the governor of the territory, who is well trusted by the president.

In compliance with his last request, the ashes of Captain Andrew Rosehill, who passed away in Honolulu last week, were scattered to the winds on the high seas last night between Honolulu and Maui, Mrs. Peter Kaho-kuluna, a daughter of the deceased, performing the task while en route to her home on the Valley Island in the steamer Claudine. The silver urn which contained the ashes was also consigned to the sea.

A HUMBLE SUPPLICATION.

Backward, turn backward time in your flight,
Give us a girl with skirt so tight;
Give us a girl whose eyes, many or few,
Are not exposed by touch peek-a-boo;
Give us a girl no matter what age,
Who won't use the stage a vaudeville stage.
Give us a girl not too shy in view,
Dress her in akirts that can't shine through.
And give us the days as gone by,
With plenty of cloth step not to high;
Put turkey-trot capers, buttermilk-glides,
Hurdy-gurdy twists, wiggletail-glides,
And other such bungs all on the level
As products of helpiery by the devil,
And let us feast ourselves once more
On the pure sweet in of the days of yore.
Yes, time, turn back and grant our request
For God's richest bit, but not undressed.

FIFTEEN PUNAHOU MEN GIVEN THE 'O'

Prospects for a Classy Team Next Year Bright — W. T. Rawlins Offers Prize for Drop Kicking

Through their ability to play football 15 men of the first football squad of Oahu College, have been awarded their 'O' by the athletic council.

Of the 15 who made the first team, eight will be seen back at school next year, and in their football togs ready to uphold the standards of Panahou in what promises to be the hardest fought season for many years.

A quarter-back is one of the most important men on a football team and without a good man at that position a squad is at a great disadvantage.

Those who will not return to college for football next season are Captain Bill Inman, Allen Renton, Ernest Baldwin, James Hind, Candy Bond, George McInerney and Ralph Gray.

Madagascar fishermen sprinkle a poisonous substance on rivers and lakes which paralyze the fish and causes their bodies to rise, when they are caught by hand, and eaten without harming their captors.

The following were awarded their 'O': Inman, E. Baldwin, R. Baldwin, G. Quintal, K. Bond, D. Menober, A. Renton, K. Pong, G. Brown, L. Bertelmann, R. Gray, and G. McInerney.

Although about half of the team is not to return, there is a lot of promising material in the second team, and with other new recruits Coach Midkiff, who will again occupy the position of head coach, will be able to develop a strong and reliable team to uphold the Panahou colors in the 1914 championship race.

Since Harvard won her game from Yale through the ability of Brickley in tick goals and since Panahou won the Thanksgiving game for a member of the Panahou Alumni has decided that drop kicking is coming to be one of the most important parts of football.

SOLDIER TEAMS SHOULD GET A CHANCE TO PLAY

The committee charged with the task of providing a baseball feature for the Mid-Pacific Carnival has completed a schedule, and with six teams in the field 13 playing days are announced, from February 14 to March 7, inclusive.

While assured representation from Maui, Hawaii and Kauai speaks well for the persuasive energies of the committee—A. L. Castle, John P. Soper and David Desha—it is a matter for regret that the army is not represented in the championship contest.

Following is the provisional schedule: Saturday, Feb. 14—Punahou vs. Maui; Hawaii vs. Oahu. Sunday, Feb. 15—Asahi vs. Maui; Oahu vs. Kauai.

BREAKING INTO MAJOR LEAGUES MATTER OF LUCK

By CHRISTY MATHEWSON. (Star Pitcher for the New York Giants).

Many boys are scattered all over this country whose ambition is to break into the big leagues, and probably few know how it can be done. Getting into the big leagues is largely a matter of luck.

But, as I have said, getting into the big league is largely a matter of luck. Nearly all the great stars have come in through a lucky break.

Harry Pulliam, who was the secretary of the Louisville club, was also president of the National League when he killed himself, heard of Wagner on one of his trips to New York.

Honus has always been slow to make changes. He was getting a salary of about $125 a month with Passaic, I think.

That was a staggering answer to come from a ball player, but Pulliam finally induced Wagner to go to Louisville and wired Barney Dreyfuss about as follows:

Experts of the United States bureau of mines have perfected a fogs-making machine for distributing moisture through coal mines to precipitate the dust and prevent disastrous dust explosions.

"JOHN BARLEYCORN" IS THEME OF DR. SCUDDER

Dr. Doremus Scudder, in his reviews of current literature, has discussed a number of the strongest additions to recent fiction, but probably the strongest—but it is hardly fiction—is "John Barleycorn," from the pen of Jack London. This work was discussed by Dr. Scudder last Sunday as follows:

"Wine is a mocker, strong drink a braker. At the best, it biteth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder."
Jack London's latest book, "John Barleycorn," gives a fascinating picture of modern life and is a splendid exposition of America as the land of opportunity. It tells the story of the author's career. It is a common saying among the silk stocking aristocracy and the devotees of culture that the progress of democracy threatens to dead level the world. Impossible! The more you educate the multitudes,
the greater the number of differing in-dividualities you are training and the more bewilderingly complex, intricate, exciting and absorbingly attractive the life of society becomes. The books of the day show you that. Compare the opportunities of Thackeray's Bleak with the chances for adventure facing Owen Johnson's Bel-lender. Jack London's career would have been impossible 50 years ago.
The chances for achievement did not exist then as now. Newsboy, cannery hand, oyster pirate, barroom leafer, able seaman, jute mill employe, coal heaver, tramp, high school and college student, laundry man, Klondike gold hunter, story writer, globe trotter, literary lion, all within 20 years from birth—that is the record of a man who has seen life at many angles.

It is in the main a splendid story of man power. Irrepressible physical energy, resistless mental dynamite, indomitable will are the three characteristics which make each succeeding stage in his life notable. He wins out every where. The newsboy realizes his dream, gets his boat and masters the art of sailing; the oyster pirate earns in a few months the title
"prince" among his outlaw associates;
the coal heaver, though a mere struggling, does the work of two able-bodied men; the tramp exhausts the possibilities of road hitting in a few weeks,
the student completes two years'
work in four months and is turned out of one fitting school for doing too much and doing it well; the Klondike
outpacks his Indians; the writer simply storms the impregnable citadel of the most exclusive editors and gets his wares exhibited in the nation's blue-blooded journals; as a drinker he outdrinks every crowd he encounters. It is a thrilling tale of the will to achieve.

Is Melancholy Tragedy
The book gives altogether too meager a glimpse of winsome traits which makes one long to have a more intimate view of this loyal friend, been comrade and ideal lover. For if this sketch does anything, it reveals the homanness of Jack London, the tremendous grip of his kind upon him.
At times it has been all that has held him to life. To those who know him he must be strangely lovable.

But for all this, "John Barleycorn"
is one of the most melancholy tragedies that I have ever read. It is the story of a battle lost, a fight for a life with one of the great foes a man can ever measure his strength against and so far as the conflict is carried in this record it is a defeat. The man unconditionally surrenders.

Jack London began to drink at 5 years of age. He found beer enthroned in his home. Employed to carry it to his father at work on the farm he tasted a bit on the sly and never doing anything by halves, drank himself drunk, just escaping death by accident. The taste of the stuff was vile to him, "a dreadfully repugnant thing, more nauseous than physic."
It has remained so all his life. His latest word is "this physical loathing for alcohol I have never got over. But I have conquered it. To this day I re-conquer it every time I take a drink.
The palate never ceases to rebel."
From his first drink to his last, his body has not ceased to proclaim alcohol its sworn enemy.

His second drink was forced upon him by a group of carousing Italians.
They made him so drunk that the hardest margin saved him from being poisoned to death. From his newbaby days onward he was thrown in with men who drank. Though he detested the stuff, he says: "I drank because the men I was with drank and because my nature was such that I could not permit myself to be less of a man than other men at their favorite pastime." He loved adventure and the adventurous spirits he met drank.
When he left the company of drinkers
as he did in his two years at high school and college he did not touch a drop. When society opened its doors to him, a successful writer, he returned to his drinking because society used alcohol.

The Poor Man's Club
How was it that Jack London was so easily thrown in with drinkers?
The answer is summed up in one word
"The saloon." It was the poor man's club. As such his father frequented it and took him as a boy of 7. It so-lacked big with men. I knew mysterious and violent things. I was from the other side of life so far as concerned the young men I encouraged in the Y. M. C. A. I spoke another language, possessed a sadder and more terrible wisdom. (When I come to think it over, I realize, now, that I have never had a boyhood.) At any rate, the Y. M. C. A. young men were too juvenile for me, too unsophis-ticated. This I would not have minded, could they have helped me mentally. But I had got more out of the books than they. Their meager physical experiences, plus their meager intellectual experiences, made a negative sum so vast that it overbalanced their wholesome morality and healthful sports. In short I couldn't play with the pupils of a lower grade. All the clean, splendid young life that was theirs was denied me—thanks to my earlier tutelage under John Barleycorn.

Think of it, a boy of 17 too old for the healthful sports and clean splendid young life of the Y. M. C. A.—a man without a boyhood. Can you fancy what that means in this age when our manliest men, the noblest characters that we have are such and wield their wide influence because they have guessed the secret of carrying their boyhood with them clear through life? Never to have been a boy with the ideals that were real,
the visions that seemed graspable, the heroisms of the gang, the desperate crusades, the comradry, the chivalry and romance, was an eternal loss!
And all because drink had wrenched him from his normal boy career and made but a half man out of him, a forced, unhealthy, sickly growth.

For the second terrible curse which John Barleycorn foisted upon this brilliant mind was melancholy.
He gives it two names—the Long Sickness and the White Logic. It is a terrible, overmastering pessimism that darkens life and robs the human world of its worth. He ascribes the Long Sickness to his wide reading.
"Mine was no uncommon experience.
I had read too much positive science and lived too much positive life. In the eagerness of youth I had made the ancient mistake of pursuing Truth too relentlessly. I had torn her veils from her, and the sight was too terrible for me to bear. In brief, I lost my fine faith in pretty well everything except humanity, and the bar-manly I retained faith in was a very stark humanity indeed." Love for the people and love for a noble woman saved him from this deadly despondency. This period had been preceded by a season of mild drinking. It was followed by a steady use of intoxicants until finally the habit mastered him.

Suicide Follows Liqueur
Then came the White Logic—a second prolonged nightmare of blackness. "On my lovely ranch in the Valley of the Moon, brain soaked with many months of alcohol, I am oppressed by the cosmic sadness that has always been the heritage of man.
In vain do I gaze at the stars, I should be sad. Every creature comforts me mine. In my body are no aches and pains. Neither brain nor muscle is overworked. I have land, money, power, recognition from the world, a consciousness that I do my need of good in serving others, a mate whom I love, children that are of my own flesh. My life has indeed fallen in pleasant places. Not a hundred men in a million have been so lucky as I. Yet with all this vast good fortune, am I sad. And I am sad because John Barleycorn is with me."

Every physician knows this awful story of the pessimism induced by drink.
And it leads so often to suicide.
Way back in what should have been his boyhood, at sixteen, after a prodigious drunk I was tattered on board a sloop when I stumbled overboard. I had never been morbid.
Thoughts of suicide had never entered my head and now that they entered I thought it fine, a splendid culmination, a perfect winding off of my short but exciting career." Fortunately before he drowned that night
the water sobered him and when drink went, the idea of suicide went with it.
A second time with the Long Sickness the temptation came with more power. "One way only was uppermost in my thought—my revolver,
the crashing, eternal darkness of a bullet.
I grew afraid of my revolver. I feared
I might commit the act in my sleep and I was compelled to give my revolver to a friend who was willing to lose it for me where my subconscious hand might not find it."
Inciter of Crimes
On this point Jack London's experience with drinkers is this. "An absolute statistic of the percentage of suicides due to John Barleycorn would be appalling. In my opinion the best suggestion to kill myself (by drowning) came on the heels of a long carouse. The older, more morbid drinkers, more jaded with life
and more disillusioned, who kill themselves, do so usually after a long debauch, when their nerves and brains are thoroughly poison-soaked." He sums up his conclusion thus, "Yet succid, quick or slow, a sudden spill or a gradual oozing away through the years, is the price John Barleycorn exact. No friend of his ever escapes making the just due payment. . . .
John Barleycorn makes towards death. . . . He is a red-handed killer and he slays youth." "Another phase of the death road was that of the habitual drunkards who had a way of turning up their toes without apparent provocation. When they took sick, even with trifling afflictions that any ordinary man could pull through,
they just pegged out."

But there is something worse than death. It is loss of character, of moral power. "I learned another trait of John Barleycorn. He inhibits morality. Wrong conduct that it is impossible for one to do sober is done quite easily when one is not sober."
"John Barleycorn, by inhibiting morality, incited to crime." "Saloon-mates
I drank with, who were good fellows and harmless, sober, did most violent and lunatic things when they were drunk. And then the police gathered them in and they vanished from our
ken. Sometimes I visited them behind the bars and said good-bye ere they journeyed across the bay to put on the felon's stripes. And time and again I had the one explanation: 'If I hadn't been drunk I wouldn't a-done it.' And sometimes, under the spell of John Barleycorn, the most frightful things were done—things that shocked even my case-hardened soul."

Go to Oahu jail tonight and interview
more than one young man staring death in the face and you will find the terrible truth of Jack London's indictment.

The Way to Stop Drinking Why did he write this book? He tells us. He had gone to vote and cast his ballot for woman's suffrage to his wife's amazement for he had been opposed to franchise for women.
She asked "why?" He replied, "When the women get the ballot, they will vote for prohibition. It is the wives, and sisters, and mothers, and they only, who will drive the nails into the coffin of John Barleycorn." "Let there be no more poison-fighting by our youths. The way to stop drinking is to stop it. The way China stopped the general use of opium was by stopping the cultivation and importation of opium. We have with great success made a practice of not leaving arsenic and strychnine and typhoid and tuberculosis germs lying around for our children to be destroyed by."
Treat John Barleycorn the same way.
Stop him. Don't let him be around, licensed and legal, to pounce upon our youth. It is the healthy, normal boys, now born or being born, for whom I write.

Some of us have listened to the soul-stirring, conscience-arousing eloquence of John B. Gough, and we have been thrilled with the scorching words of John G. Woolley, we have joined the throng of cheering hundreds under the spell of Francis Murphy, all of them reformed drunkards.
The pleading of Frances Willard and Leonora Lake, as they voiced the agelong sorrow of womankind poisoned
by the foul contact of John Barleycorn, has gone straight to our hearts.
But the world has needed just such a story as Jack London's, the plea of the drinker who clings to his cups, to complete the appeal of humanity to the men of our generation to free the race from the most terrible scourge that has ever cursed it. Not a valid argument remains today to buttress
this fell enemy. "Tis a food," cried a scientist a score of years ago. But German scholarship arose and forever
nattered that lie with the new axiom
"Never a food always a poison."
"Useful in medical practice" has long been a fetish. But "other drugs give more reliable results" is the testimony of the highest authorities today. "Better be free than sober" is a catch-phrase that a Jack London would meet with the age-long experience of manhood. "To be sober is to be free

and to drink is to be a slave."
Disproportion.
"Is your party getting on all right?"
"Yes. All we've got to do is to correct one slight disproportion. We've got too many good speakers and not enough campaign fund contributors."

Proposes 'Neath Arc Light California Girl Is the Prize

Miss Lizette Pope, Former Ingenue, to Wed Harold Hunt, Wealthy Australian

[By Latest Mail]
 SAN FRANCISCO.—Another California girl has picked a prize in the matrimonial market of a foreign clime. Miss Lizette Pope of Taft, who returned from Australia on the Oceanic liner Sonoma, announced her engagement to Harold Hunt, a millionaire real estate operator of Melbourne. The wedding is to take place within a few weeks, when Miss Pope, after purchasing her trousseau here and breaking the news to her mother, will return to the Antipodes.

Miss Pope was the ingenue of the Hughes Musical Comedy Company, which left here in November, 1912, for a tour of China and Japan. In the Orient the young lady warded off all the knights who stormed the citadel of her heart, but was not so successful in the Antipodes, and didn't want to be when she met the man whom she is to wed.

It was all very romantic, Miss Pope admits. She first attracted the attention of her fiance by her skill as a "Texas Tommy" dancer, having introduced that popular method of woo-

THE PESSIMIST'S VIEW OF FORT APACHE.

(By an Army Man From L Troop, 4th Cavalry.)
 No doubt you've read poetry, prose and verse,
 And when you have finished you will say this is worse
 Than any you have in your past ever read,
 From the fact it's an epic of a place that's so dead.

To some it will sting and will not appear catchy,
 As the author attempts to depict Fort Apache,
 A quaint little army post, far out in the west,
 Where the cactus and horned toad surely fare best.

The chief occupation of those who live here
 Will be stated quite plainly, ere I close, I fear:
 Although there's no need for the W. C. T. U.,
 The contingent here always finds plenty to do.

You would naturally think, in a place of its size,
 Folks would be more congenial and not estranged,
 The unfortunate victims whom fate has placed here,
 Even though they live here year after year.

As you shall soon learn, they all don't agree,
 So fate hath ordained, that way let it be:
 And you will observe there are quite a few
 Whose motto is, "Paddle your own canoe."

The other's business most every one knows,
 Quite easily learned from the cut of their clothes,
 And to live incognito, like some people do,
 Is out of the question wearing the drab and blue.

The place is quite ancient in a number of ways,
 And to get in society seems to be all the craze;
 Boys exceed girls by a hundred to one,
 Could a place of abode be worse on the bum?

As girls are so few and so seldom are seen,
 The guy is quite lucky who cops out a queen,
 And to say who's who would be hard to tell,
 For each of the fair sex strives to be the belle.

In attempts to gain prestige, the boys butt around,
 And Jake, when wanted, can always be found;
 Such devoted attention as the girls here receive,
 You could never imagine and would not believe.

To such place as a theater you never can go,
 Not even so much as a crude picture show;
 And a place for amusement—there's none at all,
 Excepting a little old rural dance hall.

In the tumble-down dance hall they all sometimes meet,
 Which, for those so inclined, is no doubt quite a treat;
 And the popular dance is most always the stag,
 For to dance with a lady would be a game o' tag.

With scorn or pleasure you've read these lines,
 The motto portrayed here may puzzle your minds;
 It's a pessimist's view, and you may doubt if it's so,
 And unless you live here you never will know.

To elicit more plainly would be to obtrude,
 And for those whom the shoe fits there's no subterfuge;
 Should fate perchance place them in some one's else shoes,
 Some of their arrogance they surely would lose.

The soldiers, quite true, through no choice of their own,
 Are obliged to live here and call it their home
 Till such future time as their Uncle desires,
 When they will be sent where they need no more fires.

Man Likes to [be Comfortable

(Which Fact Gives Women a Christmas Opportunity!)

Smoking Jackets (House Coats) and Bath Robes are very often the solution of the Comfort Problem for Men—as these articles mean ease of body and peace of mind when man comes home from the office or the theatre, or when he has taken an especially cooling and refreshing bath and wants to "laze around" a little while before retiring.

A gift of this sort surely pleases—and for much longer than simply Christmas Day. Smoking Jackets from $7.50 to $15. Bath Robes from $5.00 to $15. (Waistcoats, fancy, ordinary and full dress, $1.50 to $10.)

GIRLS! GIRLS! TRY IT, BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR

Make it thick, glossy, wavy, luxuriant and remove dandruff—Real surprise for you.

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Danderine hair cleanse." Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any druggist or toilet counter, and just try it advertisement.

JEWISH VIEW OF CHURCH AND SOCIAL EVIL

Since the famous "abatement by rejection" bill failed to pass the senate at the last session of that body, there has been little said through the local press or pulp concerning the repressing of the social evil. Rabbi Rudolph I. Coffee, a member of the moral efficiency commission of Pittsburgh, has the following to say concerning the relations of the church to the social evil:

"Dr. Howard H. Kelly of Baltimore is reported in the newspapers as saying that the solution of the social evil rests with the church. This is absolutely true. With the churches welded together regardless of theological differences to wipe out this traffic, with a united clergy refusing to marry persons who cannot bring a certificate of good health, with the church scorning relationship with any and every moral leper, and with the pulp preaching the truths about prostitution and venereal disease as found in the Bible, such a wave of indignation would arise over this land as would sweep the men in this loathsome business from the society of decent people.

"Pittsburgh clergymen have made a splendid start in this direction. On January 13, by unanimous vote, the Ministerial Union pledged support to the bill which the Moral Efficiency Commission is urging for adoption by the legislature requiring the possession of a doctor's certificate before a marriage license will be granted. These ministers put aside doctrinal differences and stood together as being unwilling to join couples in bonds of unholly wedlock. The husbands who contract tuberculosis from wives, the wives who are infected with venereal disease from husbands, the army of babies born yearly either blind or degenerate, are a disgrace to our day. The pulp of Pittsburgh heartily supports our commission in demanding that these practices be stopped.

"Last month, the clergy of this city rendered another and equally valuable service to our community. In a previous article, I told of the efforts of the underworld to fight our body. They later prevailed upon a prostitute, Rose Gray, to sue two of the members of the commission for $50,000 for injury to her reputation (?). The details of the story were furnished the press by her attorney, and certain papers gave them full publicity with glaring headlines. Not a word was stated concerning the true facts, or what the commission had done to save the woman. Then the splendid social service committee of the Ministerial Union sent special letters with a correct statement of facts to over 450 clergymen in the city, requesting that the contents be read the following Sunday in church. This action completely nullified the newspaper publicity, and won warm friends for the commission, as many who had previously taken no interest in our work were made acquainted with our achievements.

"In large measure the success which has attended the work of the Moral Commission may be directly ascribed to the intelligent support of the Pittsburgh churches. When newspapers have falsified the issue, as above, the pulp has told the truth; when the press refuses to give space to the great educational work needed in this campaign, the church organizations have arranged for speakers from the commission, and no regard was given to religious affiliation. In fact, the social evil problem has gone more to better, under theological leaders than any other issue in this city. The church is awakening to the needs of the hour, and it can render a great service in this cause, if only it grasps the opportunity. The church must educate the people to the truth about this terrible black plague.

"The public schools, to their shame be it said, are closed to us. In Pittsburgh, and no doubt elsewhere, the schools are still giving the child a general, perhaps a vocational, training. But what avails all this if we do not teach the child how to live? We give our boys and girls a text book on physiology with absolutely no word about the sexual organs, just as though they were non-existent. We practically graduate our children from school in total ignorance of the fundamental laws about hygiene, save what they learn from chance acquaintances on the street. Since our educators will not have the children taught by competent persons that which is most essential for their well being, many ministers in Pittsburgh are providing instruction in sex hygiene in the Sunday School curriculum. I am not the only minister who insists that before a child is given a confirmation diploma from the congregation, the pupil must have received such information as a growing child should know concerning the care of the body.

"A fine evidence of the growth of public opinion is found in the formation of a club of boys, one of whose pledges is to remain continent till marriage. The old dictum of Galen that continence is dangerous has been relegated to the realm of antiquity. They promise to associate only with girls who insist on the single standard. When our growing children have such thoughts, the disorderly house loses its charms. For here is the crux of the whole matter. What avails all our labor when a prostitute shows a roll of $385 which represents her Christmas gifts from "friends." Many a working girl receives less for a whole year's labor. Education will certainly help our growing boys away from these houses of ill repute. "When a community is educated to certain needs, legislation is the next step. Many reformers to their sorrow reverse this process. Some people imagine that the social evil ceases the moment all houses are ordered closed. We know better now. Our commission avoided this error, and by gradual restriction of this evil, has been aiming at ultimate elimination. As a result, the city has fewer houses today than at any time in the last half century. We have stripped row reverse this process. Some people imagine that the social evil ceases the moment all houses are ordered closed. We know better now. Our commission avoided this error, and by gradual restriction of this evil, has been aiming at ultimate elimination. As a result, the city has fewer houses today than at any time in the last half century. We have stripped the houses of every allurement, that they might cease to be a paying proposition. Constructively the commission has taken strong ground that the unfit should be prevented from propagating their kind.

The high cost of living and related problems are attacked in a series of home economies lectures at the Teachers' Training College in Baltimore. The following are a few of the practical topics considered: What is the food requirement for one day for a young woman 17 to 20 years of age? A study of actual lunches that can be prepared for 3 cents and 5 cents. The value of pure food. How does the sanitation of the school affect the health and efficiency of the child? How can we as consumers in fluence economic and sanitary conditions by careful buying? Student insurance is a feature of German continuation school. For an insurance fee of 19 cents half year, the students in the schools for builders, for example, are insured against all accidents that may happen to them in the school room or on the way to and from school.

The annual Texas "turkey trot" parade took place at Garro, Tex., the governor heading the parade of 5000 live turkeys.
South Trimble, clerk of the house, furnished redressed turkeys from his own Kentucky farm for the Thanksgiving dinner of President Wilson and the members of the cabinet.

WOMEN DO NOT REST ENOUGH

REPOSE settles very gracefully upon a housewife. The other members of the family do not always come home with the spirit of helpfulness or cheerfulness, and when a woman finds it necessary to be the pacifier or the encourager it will be a time for her to call upon her reserve power of strength. She therefore needs to store up energy for the unexpected, because emergencies are the usual thing in the household.
If she does not plan for the unusual the unusual is likely to be the "straw that breaks the camel's back." Remember the Jamaican couplet:
Don't run too far 'til you get load o' lines,
For you run too far you will run two times.
The wise woman will not fall to take a few minutes rest several times a day during even her busiest times. Indeed, it is on just such a day that she most needs to practice the beneficial habit of relaxation. To relax, to let go the nerve, brain and muscle strain, for even sixty seconds, is a positive gain to the entire system. Complete rest and relaxation are most easily gained while lying down and unreservedly yielding the support of the body to the couch. Thus to spend five or ten minutes in the middle of the day would restore to many a worn and weary housewife the energy to accomplish more with less fatigue than is otherwise possible.

The foregoing suggestion is so remote from what many an industrious woman considers "her duty" as to seem to her like theoretical nonsense. Nevertheless it is body and brain saving common sense. Duty to oneself should lead a woman to take measures for saving her health and strength while there is still a fund to draw upon.
Rest periods of fifteen minutes during the day are much to be desired in the housekeeper's program, and they should be taken before she has become so weary that fifteen minutes' rest does not seem to count.
A hardworking professional man was asked how often he rested. He replied as often as he had fifteen minutes to spare. Women do not rest often enough before they are utterly exhausted. Sometimes it seems easier to continue working than to stop, because the first experiences in resting are most uncomfortable. One should be hot down after utter exhaustion. Moreover, young housekeepers full of life and energy are tempted to work beyond their strength without planning for the reserve necessary for later years.

Desserts For Children

DATE cream is a delicacy which most children appreciate. To make it, stone half a pound of dates, cover them with boiling water and leave in the water until cool. This soaking plumps the dates, but it is always worth while to pay a few cents more in order to obtain juicy dates in the package. Drain the dates when they are cool, dry them and chop them fine. Whip a cupful of cream and whip half a cupful of sugar and two egg whites. Fold the two together, sweeten to taste and flavor with vanilla and either to the cream or the date cream, and serve immediately.
Baked rhubarb is a wholesome spring delicacy. To prepare it wash and dry rhubarb stalks and pull off the tough shreds of skin. Cut them in two inch lengths into an earthen dish, scatter generously with sugar, add a couple of tablespoonfuls of water and cover with a plate. Set the dish in the oven and cook until it is tender. Add a little orange peel occasionally for variety and sometimes put a layer of raisins between two of rhubarb before baking.

Snow pudding made in the following way is especially delicate. Boil a cupful of water and thicken it with two scant tablespoonfuls of cornstarch rubbed smooth with a very little cold water. Add the juice of half a lemon and two tablespoonfuls of granulated sugar and then the whites of two eggs beaten to a stiff froth are added after the pudding is taken from the fire. Mold in small glasses and serve with orange sauce, made by boiling a cupful of water with half a cupful of sugar, half a tablespoonful of butter and the juice of half an orange, and thickening it with two teaspoonfuls—scant measure—of cornstarch rubbed smooth in a little cold water. When the sauce is removed from the fire add the stiffly beaten white of one egg and serve immediately.

GIRLS, HERE'S YOUR CHANCE TO POSE AS ANGELS

THE picturesque girl this summer is going to possess herself of a number of "really truly" Japanese parasols for use with her thin frocks. Under one of these sunshades a pretty face looks charming and a plain one acquires a certain attraction.
They are dark in color save for a semitransparent ring about two inches wide, which is seen near the top of the parasol. The light shining through this ring gives almost the effect of a halo about the head, so, girls, here's the chance to pose as the angel "he" says you are.
These Japanese parasols have another advantage. They are waterproof, so you may look picturesque whether the sun shines or the rain comes down in torrents.

Lawn parasols of Japanese paper are charming. They come eight, ten and twelve feet in diameter and are the finest things in the world to plant in the center of the lawn and then use as a kind of little tent to which you may carry comfortable cushions and your sewing or a book and establish yourself for a pleasant hour or two.
Children like nothing better than to play "tea party" or "house" under one of these artistic shelters, and their elders often follow suit.

TO REMOVE A PERSPIRATION STAIN.

LAY the stain over blotting paper and sponge with equal parts of alcohol and ether mixed. Rub dry; then touch lightly with household ammonia. If it leaves a blur, rub well with powdered French chalk on the wrong side.

TURKISH CIRCULAR BEADS.

THE Turkish circular bead chains, which are to be had at the largest oriental shops, are excellent to wear with the Bulgarian crapes and other materials of this lively tinting, which are especially for daytime wear. These chains are not for evening use at all.

Yoke Effect Again on Nightgowns

OF SHEER FINE CREPE DE CHINE.

THIS dainty gown is part of a four piece set included in a summer brides' trousseau. The gown is made of sheer white crepe de chine, pin tucked all round the high waist line. The yoke of Bohemian lace is especially graceful in its continuity with the short coquettish sleeve.
It is well in these days of shifting lingerie fashions not to buy too many specimens of any one garment at a time. It is always easy to replenish the wardrobe, and then one is sure of the latest mode.

Among the more recent novelties for the summer in lingerie are the all net unlined, shaped petticoats with underbodices matching. Some clever person has devised shoulder straps contrived from strings of pearls or of brilliants.
The most striking novelty in tinting to be found in the daffodil yellow lingerie. This is generally of chiffon rather than crepe de chine, and in combination with it are used French valenciennes lace, pure white in color. Even night robes are to be had in it that are perfectly stunning.

RECIPES FOR USE ON INDEPENDENCE DAY

Fourth of July Ice Cream.
HOPE of plenty ice cream is a novelty that will come in handy for the Fourth of July dinner. To make it cream two tablespoonfuls of butter and add gradually while beating constantly one-fourth cupful of powdered sugar and two tablespoonfuls of milk; then add half a cupful of flour and a half teaspoonful of vanilla. Spread thinly with a broad, long bladed knife on a buttered inverted dripping pan and bake in a slow oven until delicately browned. Cut in three and one-half inch squares and roll while warm in cornucopia shape. If the squares become too brittle to roll place in the oven to soften. Fill with ice cream and place on a paper doily in a dessert plate.

Orange Sherbet.
Peel one dozen juicy oranges. Cook the peel in plenty of water until tender; then drain. With a thin sharp knife remove the white inner skin from the outer peel and cut the latter into narrow strips or small squares. Dissolve about one-half pound of sugar in a pint of the orange, put in the pieces or strips of peel, boil slowly for one-quarter of an hour; then let it cool in the sirup. Cut six thin slices from the oranges, take out the seeds and lay the slices in a glass bowl. Press the remaining oranges into the bowl through a fine sieve, add two quarts of water and six bottles of molle wine, and, lastly, the orange sirup and enough of the cooked peel to give a flavor. Cover closely and set on a pall of ice until ready to serve. Add chopped ice to the glasses. This or any other sherbet may be served from a large bowl having a large block of ice in the center.

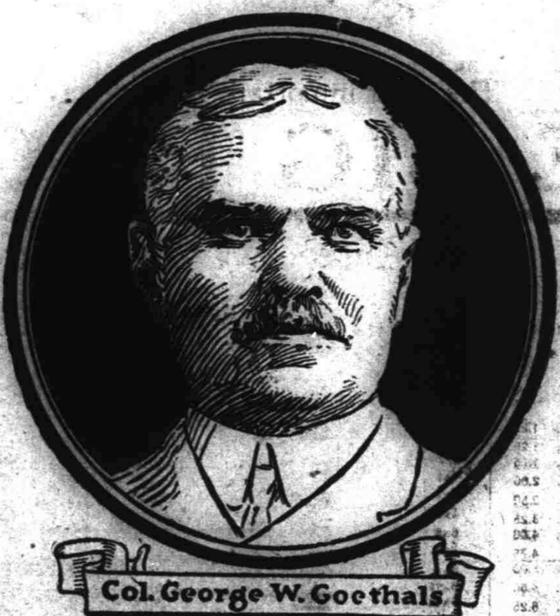

Cherry Sherbet.
Stone two pounds of fine cherries; then dissolve six ounces of sugar in one quart of water, bring the cherries to a boil in this and let them simmer until tender. Mash one pound of cherries and the cherry stones and boil with two quarts of water for twenty-five minutes; then press through a double cheese bag and sweeten. Let both cook. Put the cherries into a bowl; first, mix the cherry sirup with one glassful of maraschino if liked; then pour over the cherries. Cover tightly and set on ice. Serve very cold.

FOR A SLIGHT BURN.
PUT the part instantly in cold water or cover it with moistened baking powder, and then with a wet cloth. When the skin is destroyed the point to be attained is to exclude the air. Do this by covering the burn with sweet oil, cream, carron oil, lard or with flour spread thickly on a linen cloth or cotton batting. An excellent covering for burned surfaces is made by mixing common whiting (used in kitchens for polishing purposes) with sweet oil, olive, cottonseed or other oil, or even water, into a thick paste. With this the burn is carefully covered by means of a feather, taking care not to break the blister; then the whole part is covered with cotton cloth and kept clean and moist.

COLONEL GOETHALS FAILS TO SET DEFINITE DATE FOR CANAL OPENING

Chief Engineer of Commission Submits Report to Secretary Garrison — First Day of Actual Operation Depends Upon Treacherous Slides of Culebra Cut.

[Associated Press Dispatch]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—No definite date for the official opening of the Panama canal is set in the annual report of Col. George Goethals, chairman and chief engineer of the canal commission, which has just been submitted to Secretary Garrison. Neither is there any prediction of when the ships may first pass from ocean to ocean. The first day of the canal's actual operation still depends upon the treacherous slides of Culebra cut and how fast the dredges can keep the channels open.

"It has been the general belief that the effect of the water in the cut would tend to retard slides and experience below the Gatun locks fully justifies this belief," said Colonel Goethals. "On the other hand the geologist is of the opinion that the water may to some extent develop new slides. Again much also was made in 1909 over the seamy character of rock on the Isthmus, through which water flows quite rapidly, in consequence of which the question was raised that the lake might leak out through seams and crevices.

"If these things are liable to occur, the sooner the better, if the official opening of the canal is to occur January 1, 1915; for if water were not admitted this fall but were deferred until May 1, 1914, the full height could not be reached until October, 1914, leaving little time for the determination of these questions. These considerations led to the conclusion that the water should be turned into the cut at the earliest date practicable for getting the dredges to work on the slides.

"The present plans, therefore, are based upon the blowing up of Gamboa dike on October 10, its removal by dredges immediately thereafter, the transfer of two suction dredges and a ladder dredge to the Cucaracha slide, the smaller dipper dredges to work on the other slides until the full width of the channel is attained, and the passage of vessels through the canal as soon as channels of full depth and of sufficient width have been secured.

"Before boats can be passed it will be necessary to remove the Gamboa dike by dredges and to remove the slides as already outlined. The passage of commercial vessels is dependent, therefore, upon the time when proper channels can be dredged through the slides; should additional ones occur, they will necessarily advance the date when this will be accomplished."

The canal proper, exclusive of the approaches, the machine shops and warehouses and great ocean docks at either end, would have been completed during the last fiscal year, but for the extensive slides in the Culebra cut. And to deal with the great problems involved in the removal of the slides no effective way was found except the bodily displacement of vast hills.

"No treatment has proven effective for slides when once developed except that of excavating and hauling away material from the moving mass until the slide comes to rest or until the angle of repose for the particular material in motion is reached," said Colonel Goethals.

Last year it was predicted by geologists that the slides had been conquered and that little more activity could be expected because all the loose surface soil and stone had almost slid off, exposing great ridges of solid basalt rock which would act as barriers to further earth movements. Yet, when all was most promising and the canal excavations had gotten within 60 feet of the bottom of the cut on the east side, the rocks broke under the tremendous pressure and 2,000,000 cubic yards of material slid into and closed up the cut. Since then, the canal workers have been digging away that material and though there have been several slides, steady progress was made, for not only did giant dredges work on the face of the slides but powerful hydraulic monitors, such as were extensively used in hydraulic mining on the Pacific coast, would not affect the operation of the dredges and finally the measure was one of economy. It would have been possible, with the shovels, to have removed all of the slides by January 1, 1914, next, except the Cucaracha slide which could not have been entirely carried off before April, 1914.

The financial operations of the canal are told in big figures: The disbursing officer has paid out $20,524,705 on pay rolls alone. Congress so far has appropriated $349,505,223 for canal construction, of which $10,676,250 went for fortifications.

In great detail Colonel Goethals tells the story of the engineers' work during the last year and with particular satisfaction it is reported that the mechanism of the vast locks and dams was tested with perfect success. The gates at Gatun were swung in one minute and 51 seconds for each leaf. The heavy iron chains which are dependent upon to prevent an "injury" vessel from crashing into the locks were raised and lowered in ample time to meet any emergency, and demonstrated their ability to check or stop any vessel unless of very great size and moving at excessive speed. The locomotives which will tow the ships through the locks were tried out and proved their ability to easily handle the largest of vessels and the electric installation which will involve the use of a current of 41,000 volts pressure was completely successful.

Altogether the technical sections of the report seem to demonstrate the accuracy of Colonel Goethals' statement that practically nothing but the great slide at Cucaracha remains to prevent the successful operation of the canal.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURER WILL BE SPEAKER SUNDAY

For Her Christmas

There is a vast difference between the new and old ways of ironing

The new way takes much less time and it enables the operator to work in comfort, for since no hot stove is required, she can iron in the coolest spot in the house or on the porch.

The Westinghouse Electric Iron

is a scientific iron that confines the heat to the ironing surface, which remains uniformly hot throughout the entire ironing.

OVER-NIGHT FEDERAL WIRELESS To the Advertiser

Word received from the city of Chihuahua is to the effect that the federal troops are evacuating that city for fear of starvation, in case of a siege by the rebels, which is threatened.

Porfirio Diaz, at present in France, refused yesterday to discuss the report that he has been notified by President Huerta that the name of Diaz has been restored to the army roll, in anticipation of his return to assume command.

A semi-official announcement that an executive release would likely be ordered for all members of the Mexican cabinet recently arrested, is taken to indicate that Huerta is afraid that finding these members guilty of sedition and sentencing them to death would result in prompt action by the American government.

Dr. Hale, the envoy sent by President Wilson to Carranza, the leader of the Constitutionalists, returned to Washington yesterday. He refused to discuss his mission in advance of his conference with President Wilson.

Rear-admiral Robt. M. Doyle arrived in Seattle yesterday from the Norfolk navy yard, and will assume command of the Pacific reserve fleet, stationed at the Puget Sound navy yard, succeeding Rear-admiral Alfred Reynolds, who has been transferred to Washington for service on the naval examining board.

Former President Jose Zelaya of Nicaragua, for whom extradition papers on a charge of murder were asked for by President Diaz, through the state department, has agreed to return to Barcelona, Spain, from which port he came to the United States.

The Countess of Warwick today began her duties as editor of the "Woman's Page" of the London Daily Sketch. She means to avoid all controversial subjects, such as suffrage. The report is that the Warwick family is not prosperous.

The fight of the so-called book trust to maintain arbitrary sales of copyrighted books culminated yesterday in a decision from the United States supreme court against the trust. The main question at issue was whether or not the trust should have a copyright monopoly in the sale of school books.

A sensation has been the appearance in Paris, of Mme. Valentine De Saint Point, divorced wife of a member of the French cabinet, in undraped plastic poses before a select audience of literary and artistic lights in her studio, in the Champs de Mars quarter.

The battle to give the people of San Francisco a supply of pure water opened on the floor of the senate yesterday, when the chairman of public lands commission, presented the Hetch Hetchy bill as unfinished business. The bill was the first measure taken up by the new session of congress. Senator Meyers called the bill "a measure of extraordinary merit designed to meet a pressing emergency."

A bill providing for one cent letter postage was introduced yesterday by Representative rank of Georgia.

The Japanese battle cruiser Kiri-shima was launched yesterday at the Mitsui Bishi yards, Nagasaki, in the presence of many prominent naval officers. Her displacement is 27,500 tons; her turbines aggregate 70,000 horse-power. She carries twenty-four guns and eight torpedo tubes, and has a speed of twenty-eight knots.

Prince Alfonso, cousin of the King of Spain, accompanied by Colonel Vivien, yesterday flew from Tetuan, Morocco, to Arzila, over a route infested by Moors. While it was hovering over the enemies' position, the Moors shot at the aeroplane.

Dispatches from Constantinople report trouble between Turkey and Russia over the reported suicide in prison, at Constantinople, of Kavakli Mustapha, who was sentenced to death for the murder, last summer, of Scheffer Pasha, grand vizier and minister of war.

Imprisonment for personal guilt in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, and the adoption of some drastic amendments to the measure, was urged in congress yesterday in a bill introduced by Henry, of Texas.

The child labor law, which prohibits the employment of boys under sixteen years of age at dangerous occupations, was declared valid by a decision of the United States supreme court yesterday.

President Wilson yesterday had to abandon the idea of visiting the Panama Canal Zone during the holidays. He will take no vacation unless the senate passes the currency bill before Christmas. He will probably visit Panama, however, before the official opening of the canal in 1915.

Elaine Golding, of Bath Beach, New York, will sail for Panama on the Ancon today. Miss Golding expects to swim the Panama Canal.

She plans to take fifty hours to do the fifty miles, and says, if she has to she will swim it in thirty hours.
