HAWAII GIVES CONGRESSMEN GLAD WELCOME

With Regret Several Members Leave Main Party at Hilo For Honolulu

BY LAURENCE REDINGTON
 (Star-Bulletin Staff Correspondent with the Congressional Party.)

HILO, May 10.—The congressional party that has been bound together by the fellowship of six days' island travel, came to a parting of the ways in the Crescent City today, and many were the regrets on both sides when a score or more boarded the Kilauea for Honolulu. Several hundred miles of motor travel and the close companionship of shipboard and hotel life had welded the party into one big company of friends. The bars of formality had been dropped and mainlanders and residents had come into a comradeship that was proving of mutual value.

Those who returned to Honolulu today did so with regret, and only for reasons of business or health. Several are sailing for the Philippines on the transport, and one or two left slightly under the weather as the result of the strenuous traveling of the past week. Several of the congressmen who are members of the committees which have to do with naval and military matters and appropriations felt that they should give more time to the study of Oahu's defense projects, and regretfully gave up the Kauai trip for that reason.

Those of the party who sailed for

CONGRESSMAN LANGLEY AND MRS. LANGLEY COME FROM KENTUCKY IN HASTE

Called to Kentucky by the serious illness of their son, Congressman and Mrs. J. W. Langley of Kentucky did not give up entirely their trip to Hawaii with the congressional party. They arrived on the Wilhelmnia this morning and will be here for some of the island visit, anyway.

Congressman Langley is an able and forceful member of the lower house and expects during his short visit here to look into island conditions personally as thoroughly as he is able to do. It is hoped he can extend his visit in order to include a trip to the island of Hawaii and the volcano.

Congressman and Mrs. Langley will go to Kauai tonight and join the party there.

ADMIRAL BENSON NOW AT HEAD OF BUREAU IN NAVY

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless]

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 11.—Capt. William Shepherd Benson today assumed his duties as chief of the new bureau of operations in the navy department and simultaneously acceded to the rank of rear-admiral. He has been commandant of the League Island navy yard until advanced to the new billet created by Congress, for which he was chosen by Secretary of the Navy Daniels a few days ago. He has had a great deal of sea service. Rear-admiral Fiske retires today as aid to operations and goes on the staff of the war college at Newport.

Admiral Benson is one of the most popular men in the navy and has been elevated over a number of officers who are his seniors. His selection two weeks ago was a big surprise. Admiral Fletcher is said to have been the first choice of Secretary Daniels, but Fletcher, it is understood, was unwilling to give up command of the Atlantic fleet.

William L. Byrd, former Governor of Oklahoma, died, aged 72.

STATEHOOD NOW IS UNWISE, IN BELIEF OF SMOOT

Senator From Utah Comments on Population Problems—Declares for Sugar Tariff

"If I, an American citizen, had all my holdings in these islands; if I loved Hawaii as you do; if I expected my children to live here in this garden spot, even then I would say it would be extremely unwise for Hawaii to have statehood granted at this time."

These were the earnest words of United States Senator Reed Smoot uttered in the true sincerity of one who has come to love Hawaii and her people. The occasion was the luncheon given by the Commercial Club in its rooms today. Beside 200 members there were present the speaker, Senators Cummins and Overman and Congressman Austin. Governor Piggam and former Governor Frear sat at the table with Senator Smoot. Fred C. Smith, president of the club, presided.

"I would far rather trust the officials appointed by Washington than to allow statehood and find in a quarter of a century the fairest of American soil controlled by a foreign people," said the senator who almost in the same breath expressed the knowledge that such an attitude may be unpopular with certain classes.

Senator Smoot spoke with the eloquence of conviction. He carried his listeners beyond the present to a time when men sent to congress would have the courage to vote according to their judgment. Men passing out after luncheon had different words of praise for the speaker of the day than is the custom. Instead of commenting upon certain statements made, the general expression was:

"Isn't he sincere and at the same time perfectly frank?"

"A talk like that puts a man right with the business world."

A meeting of Hawaiian business men would be unusual now if the sug-

CANNON LAUDS RACE-FUSION IN HAWAII; HARDWICK FOR "PEACE IF WITH HONOR"

Congressional Party Speakers at Meetings on Hawaii Voice Emphatic Sentiments—Hilo Federal Building Stone Laid—Meeting Held at National Guard Armory Is Enthusiastic

BY HALLETT E. ABEND
 (Star-Bulletin Staff Correspondent with the Congressional Party. — By Mutual Wireless.)

HILO, May 11.—Joseph G. Cannon, former speaker of the house and veteran legislator of them all, has become a convert to the theory of race-fusion in Hawaii. Yesterday afternoon he made a speech to the school children on Honoumou, representatives of seven races of insular America. Standing on the platform of the observation train Mr. Cannon expressed his faith in the loyalty of the people of Hawaii.

"They try to scare us on the mainland with talk of the Japanese menace," said the speaker. "This is nothing but stuff and nonsense. Hawaiian, Japanese, Chinese—I care not what you are, for I know you will fight for the flag as loyally as will my grandchildren should the need arise."

The children waved the Stars and Stripes and sang the Star Spangled Banner as the train pulled out. Mr. Cannon was much affected and tears streamed down his cheeks as the train carried the party from the youthful patriots of Hawaii's great "melting pot."

Fifteen hundred citizens of Hilo attended a rousing meeting at the armory last night. Senators Hardwick of Georgia and Martine of New Jersey, Representative Mann of Illinois and Delegate Prince Kuhio were the speakers from the visiting party, while A. G. Curtis, A. Louissou and Rev. Laughton were the local speakers.

Referring to the European situation and the Lusitania crisis, Senator Hardwick said: "Peace with honor if possible should be the watchword of the United States. If we can not have peace with honor, then we are ready to uphold the flag."

At 11 o'clock this morning the cornerstone of the new federal building at Hilo was laid with appropriate ceremonies, Speaker Cannon officiating. Representative Burnett of Alabama, who had a narrow escape from serious injury in an auto accident Saturday, and who has been carrying one arm in a sling ever since, made a telling speech.

Before the cornerstone ceremonies the party visited points of interest in the Hilo district by auto. This afternoon there will be a garden party at the Seaside Club, to be followed by a visit to the breakwater and Kuhio wharf. This evening there will be a public reception and dance at the Hilo armory. Tomorrow morning the steamer leaves for Kauai.

VESSELS WITH CONTRABAND LIABLE UNDER WAR RULES; U. S. CABINET HOLDS MEETING

CRISIS MAY PREVENT VISIT OF ATLANTIC FLEET TO SAN FRANCISCO AND OF DIVISION TO HAWAII—ITALY EXPECTED TO BREAK WITH TEUTON NATIONS IN FEW DAYS—UNCONFIRMED RUMOR GERMANY AND AUSTRIA HAVE ALREADY DECLARED WAR ON THE ITALIANS

[Associated Press Cable]
 WASHINGTON, D. C., May 11.—German has notified the United States that the German submarines have been instructed not to harm neutrals not engaged in hostile acts.

Germany will pay damages for neutral vessels in the war-zone which are damaged. Neutrals carrying contraband will be dealt with according to the rules of warfare. If accidentally damaged Germany will pay damages for ships without resort to court.

Germany justifies the use of submarines on the ground that England is threatening to starve Germany.

The cabinet today discussed Dr. Dernburg's utterances at Cleveland justifying the torpedoing of the Lusitania.

[Associated Press Service by Federal Wireless]
 WASHINGTON, D. C., May 11.—President Wilson's speech at Philadelphia last night, in which he asserted that America's example should be one of peace, was not a declaration of national policy in regard to the sinking of the Lusitania and the loss of American lives in the disaster, he made it plain today.

Senator Stone of Missouri, chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations, held a conference with the president just previous to a long and important cabinet meeting. After the conference, the senator made it plain that he is opposed to war.

In this conference Senator Stone discussed the Lusitania incident. Afterwards he said that he is "for peace with honor." He declared his belief that the United States should take a firm stand but commented, "I am opposed to war."

PRESIDENT AMPLIFIES HIS ADDRESS
 Discussing with interviewers his Philadelphia speech, the president said today that the speech was not a declaration of policy upon the Lusitania incident, and that he was not thinking of anything special but of his audience, composed mostly of newly-naturalized Americans.

He used the expression that he was thinking of the "Cain" which "some people are trying to raise."
 A decision as to his policy will soon be made, with all of the elements in mind relating to the affair and the American situation. The president made it emphatically clear today that he was expressing a personal attitude in his speech last night and not referring to a specific case.

CABINET IN LONG SESSION
 The cabinet went into session today with the members showing in their attitudes the serious import of the situation, and was in session for three hours. The demeanor of all the members after the meeting was grave and reserved.

Secretary of the Navy Daniels was questioned after the conference as to whether the Atlantic fleet would be sent through the Panama canal in July, according to the plan outlined for several months. "I can't discuss it," replied Mr. Daniels.

War Between Italy and Teuton Allies Believed Now Question of a Few Days

GENEVA, Italy, May 11.—War between Italy and the central nations of Europe—the Teuton Allies—is regarded in Rome as almost unavoidable.

It is reported that there is only a slender chance for agreement between Italy and the Powers, the friction having become so great. Material preparations for the outbreak of conflict are being rushed in Italy and the political opposition to such a move has virtually ceased.

TROOPS OF RIVAL COUNTRIES MASSING
 GENEVA, Switzerland, May 11.—Italian officers and men up to the age of 34 have been ordered home from Switzerland and told to report at once to their regiments.

Austrian and Bavarian regiments are concentrating in the Tyrol region and along the Italian frontier.

It is now believed that Italy's participation in the war is a question of days.

The Austrian frontier has been visited by representatives of the Associated Press and there it is universally felt that Italy's entry into the war is a question of hours only.

PARIS, France, May 11.—It is rumored here that Germany and Austria have already declared war on Italy, but the rumor is unconfirmed.

PARIS, France, May 11.—A German aeroplane has dropped bombs in the suburbs of St. Denis, six being wounded and buildings damaged.

German artillery has bombarded Bergues, southeast of Dunkirk, 12 civilians being killed and 11 wounded.

Volcano Is Spectacular, Performing For Benefit of Visitors — News of Lusitania Incident Creates Concern — Hilo Ready With Hospitality

Honolulu on the Kilauea this afternoon were Senator and Mrs. Ollie James, Representative and Mrs. Austin and Miss Austin, Miss Mary Mattis, Mrs. Knowland, Representative and Mrs. C. Brumbaugh, Representative C. B. Slomp and Miss Slomp, Representative and Mrs. J. J. Rogers, Representative and Mrs. Swager Sherley, Representative and Mrs. Scott Ferris, Representative and Mrs. W. J. Cary, Master Cary, Representative and Mrs. D. R. Anthony, Representative and Mrs. M. F. Conry, R. W. Breckons, F. E. Lord, F. E. Thompson, Mrs. F. L. Parker, Mrs. J. S. Davenport, Laurence Redington and W. O. Smith.

Those who leave this afternoon were not entirely done out of the chance to see the country adjacent to Hilo, several auto parties being organized to take in Rainbow Falls, the natural bridge, and other points of interest. The main party made the railroad trip to Paulo, in a special observation train. Tonight there will be a public meeting in the Hilo armory, at which members of the party and prominent local men are scheduled to speak.

Kilauea Shows Off.

While all were much interested in the volcano of Kilauea, making at least one trip to the crater, there were several among the congressmen and their families who were absolutely fascinated by the display of living fire, and who spent hours at a time gazing into the pit, making three and four trips from the Volcano house so as to see the fire-lake at all times of the day and night, and under all conditions.

Although the lava lake is well below the 500 foot level, it is quite active just now, and the party arrived at a fortunate time. All day Sunday there was enough wind from the right quarter to clear the crater of smoke at frequent intervals, and give an unobstructed view of the fire. Many of the visitors were far from easy while standing near the edge of the crater, and breathed very audible sighs of relief when the fumes of their autos crunched on solid roads again.

Ollie James Disappears. Senator Ollie James of Kentucky, the hottest member of the congressional party, thought that he had been handed a through ticket to the center of the earth during one of his visits to the pit Sunday.

Senator James was standing a few yards back from the rim just after a good look at the lake of fire, when the lava crust gave way under his weight and he dropped several feet with a crash and the accompaniment of ripping cloth. The senator from Kentucky was convinced that he would never see his beloved blue grass again, and could hardly realize that he was still in the land of the living when his friends heaved him to the surface again. Senator James has come out in favor of steel platforms near the rim of the crater, where weighty observations can be made in perfect safety.

Strenuous Trip Saturday. After the strenuous 100-mile auto trip from Napoosop to the Volcano house Saturday, the entire party was glad that there was no extensive traveling to be done Sunday. Nearly everyone made at least one trip to the crater, although many had gone over Saturday evening to get the night effect of the fire lake. A good many walked to the tree mounds and the sulphur beds, and spent a pleasant day generally, with no set program to follow.

AEROPLANE MAIL ROUTE FOR HAWAII IS IDEA ADVANCED

Congressman Austin Will Confer With Postmaster-general as to Possibilities For an Aerial Mail Service in Islands

An aerial mail route, with one-day service between Oahu, Maui, Hawaii and Kauai. That is one project that is to be considered as the result of the present inter-island tour of the congressional party. Powerful hydroaeroplanes could make the flight from Honolulu to Hilo under three hours, touching on Maui, while another sky run could be inaugurated between Honolulu and the Garden Island, if the Oahu-Maui-Hawaii venture proved a success.

Representative R. W. Austin of Tennessee, who left the party at Hilo yesterday and arrived on the Kilauea this morning, is the originator of the flying mail idea, and he intends to interest other members of the party in the venture, and confer with the postmaster-general as soon as he returns to Washington.

"I believe that the people of the outlying islands are entitled to a more frequent mail service," said Representative Austin. "I realize that the passenger and freight traffic between the islands isn't heavy enough to justify a daily steamer run, but that's no reason why the resident of Hilo, for instance, should be cut out of his morning paper, for in this age of aeroplane development, a 200-mile flight is nothing out of the ordinary. A short while ago the postmaster-general was very anxious to establish an aerial mail line in continental United States, but there, with fast and frequent train service, it seemed like a waste of money. Here it is a very different matter, and I shall certainly give it my attention as soon as I return."

"The wireless is a great convenience and a satisfactory means of communications and general entertainment. About a third of the party had arrived and were seated at little tables on the lawn enjoying home-made dainties to the limit, when a wireless addressed to Secretary Thayer came and was at once read by the latter. It stated that a special session of congress had been called to consider the Lusitania matter, and indicated that war was a possibility of the immediate future.

This caused a deal of speculation among the visitors, who could hardly credit the news. Several congressmen sent messages to the president, asking for the situation in detail, and there was a general feeling of anxiety and suspense. By the time the party reached the Volcano house, however, the Star-Bulletin had wirelessed the facts to that point for the information of the party, and the news posted on the bulletin board was the cause of general relief.

Representative M. F. Conry and Mrs. Conry of New York and Representative John L. Burnett of Alabama had a narrow escape from serious injury when the car in which they were riding overturned on one of the hair-pin turns on the road crossing the old lava flow. This bit of road is very poor and overgrown in places, and it is believed that something went wrong with the steering gear, running the car into and up the bank at one of the turns. The bank crumbled away under the weight, and the car slowly turned turtle, giving the occupants time to get clear. It was only a few minutes that the car was on the lava wall along the road that prevented an instant upset and the almost sure plucking of the passengers beneath the wreckage. Representative Burnett is carrying his arm in a sling as a result of the accident, while Mr. and Mrs. Conry, who return to Honolulu today, are badly shaken up.

"I feel some pain," said Mr. Conry after the accident, "but I can tell you it's the pleasantest pain I ever had in my life. I'm mighty glad to be able to feel anything at all after our experience."

The three were taken into other cars, and the party proceeded with very little delay or confusion. The Conry-Burnett car was well in the rear of the line, and it was not generally known that there had been a smash-up until after the party reached the Volcano house.

SOME MEMBERS OF PARTY JOIN AT THE VOLCANO

Four members of the congressional party, who had remained in Honolulu until Saturday afternoon, rejoined the main body of visitors at the Volcano house Sunday at noon, after crossing to Hilo on the Kilauea. The four were Representative and Mrs. R. W. Austin of Tennessee, Miss Mattis of Champaign, Ill., Miss Knowland of Alameda, California, A. P. Taylor of Honolulu made a fifth member of the party. At Hilo on Sunday morning they were joined by Representative and Mrs. Clement Brumbaugh of Ohio, who until that time had stayed on the Mauna Kea while Mrs. Brumbaugh was recovering from a slight attack of ptomaine poisoning.

"Body-Covering" will be the subject of the "How to Keep Well" lecture by Dr. W. C. Hobby in the Y. M. C. A. at 8 o'clock tonight. Dr. Hobby will tell of the various functions of the skin, how to bathe properly and how to avoid common infections. The lecture series grows more and more popular each succeeding week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Aona, who left for Hilo last Saturday, will return to Honolulu in the Kilauea on Saturday.

'HOUSE OF FIRE' AWES VISITORS WITH SPLENDORS

Great Body of Lava Shows Five Centers of Activity on Sunday Evening

CONGRESSMEN AMAZED AT GORGEOUS DISPLAY

Wind Blows Away Smoke and View to Bottom Unusually Clear

By HALLETT E. ABEND (Staff Correspondent with the Congressional Party.)

VOLCANO HOUSE, Hawaii, May 10. — Halemauau put forth special efforts Sunday evening, after making only an indifferent display Saturday, and fully justified to the congressmen its name as the "House of Everlasting Fire."

Just before dusk the molten lake in the great pit showed signs of unusual activity, and by the time Kilauea was shrouded in dusk and drifting mist the great crater presented a more spectacular scene than at any time since the period of activity of December of last year.

The great heaving body of lava, much of which had been comparatively cool and dark colored on Saturday and most of Sunday, began to heave and pitch at about 5:30 in the evening. Then a distinct current set in from south to north, breaking up the dark patches into innumerable islands afloat in a sea of fire—fire that turned from red to orange and from orange to a yellow-white brilliancy as the dark came on.

This phenomenon was followed by the appearance of first one, then two, then another and another and another boiling cauldron, until there were five distinct centers of immense activity, where the almost white-hot lava boiled and spouted. There were great eruptions of the fiery liquid which threw the searing spray high onto the walls of the pit, from the depths of which came a constant sound not unlike a heavy surf breaking on the coral reefs. View is superb.

Fortunately for the congressional visitors the wind was from the north, and the sulphur fumes were all blown away from the best vantage points, leaving an unobstructed view of the bottom of the crater.

Many of the territory's distinguished guests had seen the crater Saturday evening, and had not intended to make a second night visit, but chauffeurs returning to Volcano House soon spread the news of unprecedented activity at the pit and automobile after automobile brought loads of the visitors over for a second sight.

It was not a noisy crowd that stood silhouetted at the edge of the cliff, darkly outlined against the rosy-red background of drifting mist. Parties came scrambling across the broken lava beds singing and jesting, but were awed to silence when they reached the crater's brim. Silently they sat or stood, some of them for several hours, watching the ever-changing shift and play of the lake of fire, and silently they rode back to the Volcano House through mist and drifting rain.

Late Sunday evening a handful of the congressional party gathered in the music room, where old-fashioned hymns were sung, while others gathered in the sun room or on the porches, to look off across the lava fields to where, three miles away, the "House of Everlasting Fire" cast its lurid reflection on the low-hanging clouds.

U. S. GOVERNMENT MAY TAKE OVER VOLCANO STUDY

Visit of Congressional Party to Kilauea Brings Out Discussion of Plan

CONGRESSMEN GIVEN INTERESTING LECTURE

Prof. Jaggar, Noted Observer, Talks on Hawaiian Craters and Their Activities

By HALLETT E. ABEND (Staff Correspondent with the Congressional Party.)

VOLCANO HOUSE, Hawaii, May 9. — The project of having the federal government take over the observation station at Kilauea, now conducted by Prof. Thomas A. Jaggar, and maintained by private subscription from Honolulu residents, aided by a grant from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, has received a big boost.

Representative Swager A. Sherley of Kentucky, member of the house appropriations committee, has openly expressed himself as in favor of such a move by the national government, and has investigated with immense interest and appreciation the work that has been going on at Kilauea.

The attitude taken by several members of the congressional party is that Uncle Sam has "gone in" for volcanoes and earthquakes rather extensively, having the Aleutian Islands, Hawaii, Porto Rico, the Panama Canal and the Philippines.

At present no government in the world is adequately financing the study of volcanoes and seismology, for though the Italian government maintains an observatory at the crater of Vesuvius the institution has neither adequate quarters nor fitting support, the annual appropriation being only 1800 francs.

At present about $7000 a year is being expended on the research work at Kilauea, but a minimum of from $15,000 to $20,000 could be used to advantage—a sum that would be easily obtainable if the federal government would finance the work.

Dr. Jaggar Lectures to Party. The intense interest of the members of the congressional party in the big show place of Hawaii, the crater of Kilauea, was manifested this afternoon when the office of the Volcano House was packed to capacity by those eager to listen to a lecture on the volcano by Dr. Jaggar, who has been carrying on scientific observations at the pit for three years.

Not only was the office crowded, but those anxious to listen to the talk packed the adjoining writing room, halls, the dining room doors, the porch and all the windows of the rooms to which Prof. Jaggar's voice would carry.

"The Hawaiian islands," said the speaker, "are parts of the greatest and most interesting lines of relief on the globe. They are the emerging crests of a submerged mountain chain 1800 miles long, a mountain chain entirely volcanic in origin.

Mauna Kea is probably the greatest mountain in the world, for it dwarfs Mount Everest. Mauna Kea, which stands 13,000 feet above sea level, is in reality 37,000 feet high, for it rises abruptly from the floor of the sea 24,000 feet below tide level."

The Hawaiian islands have four active volcanoes, in a scientific sense, which includes as active all mountains giving signs of having erupted within the last 200 years. These four peaks are Kilauea, Haleakala, Mauna Loa and Hualalai. Mauna Loa and Kilauea, said Dr. Jaggar, are the greatest lava volcanoes in the world, as distinct from the more violent eruptive mountains which explode and throw off great quantities of cinders.

On motion of Senator Martine a vote of thanks was tendered to the speaker when he had concluded his address. Mauna Loa to Erupt Again.

All volcanic signs point to another violent eruption of Mauna Loa—an eruption similar to those in 1894 and later years which were characterized by enormous lava flows.

That is the opinion of Dr. Jaggar, who has spent the last three years studying the volcanic phenomena on the island of Hawaii.

"Of course there is no way of foretelling just how soon Mauna Loa will resume activity," says Prof. Jaggar. "It may be six months and it may be six years, but all signs point to an eruption within the next three years."

This conclusion has been reached after a scientific investigation of the activities of Kilauea and Mauna Loa, which has led to the opinion that there is some sympathy between the two, in that activity by the latter is always preceded by a marked activity in Kilauea, and then a subsidence. Kilauea is now undoubtedly beginning a period of activity, after which one of Mauna Loa's periodical eruptions and copious lava flows may be confidently expected.

JAIL-BREAK PLOT NIPPED; LOCAL DETECTIVES CAPTURE ARCH-SPIRIT

Filipino Who Planned to Help
Liberate Countryman Now
Back In Prison

What the police believe was a well-planned plot for a wholesale jail delivery was last night nipped in the bud when Captain of Detectives McDuffie, Sgt. Kellett and several other officers caught Espinosa, a Filipino, in a trap set for him near an isolated spot along the line of the Oahu Railway in Kalihi.

The police learned some days ago that a Filipino had escaped from the territorial prison had, with the aid of confederates, laid plans to liberate several countrymen. Most of the details in the scheme for liberty had been carried out. The leaders had not reckoned upon a possible informer.

Captain McDuffie disguised three city detectives in prison garb. They represented Filipinos and by pre-arrangement met Espinosa near the new territorial penitentiary and seized him. McDuffie and his men were not away. The Filipino struggled to gain his liberty. He has been confined to the prison to complete his three-year sentence for burglary.

Notices were served between the Stern Furniture Co., plaintiff, and A. C. Roth, defendant, and Pacific Fibre Co., garnishee, granting the defendant further time up to and including June 7, 1915, to answer or otherwise plead in an action for debt brought by the plaintiff.

The attorneys for the Honolulu Athletic Park, Ltd., today filed a praecipe in circuit court requesting H. N. Kahalepuna, clerk in Judge Stuart's division, to prepare for the plaintiff, filing in the supreme court on appeal, certain copies of 15 pleas in the case of the park against H. G. Lowry and the members of the Venice baseball team.

The funeral of Mrs. Jerusha Marie Peterson was held yesterday afternoon from Central Union church with Dr. Doremus Scudder officiating. The annual meeting of the women's auxiliary to missions and also that of the women's guild of St. Clement's, is being held in the parish house this afternoon. The auxiliary meeting begins at 2:30, the guild meeting at 3:30. For both organizations there will be election of officers and other business of importance to transact.

While pleasantly enjoying the scenes of Hawaii and exchanging aloha with the residents of the islands, Senator J. E. Martine of New Jersey is said to have a ring of political enemies plotting his defeat at the polls next year. The senator is a Democrat and the candidate for his job as senior lawmaker is a Republican.

Senator Smoot advised the millmen to lay aside the profits of these seasons as the European war, when finally concluded, will bring on the keenest competition in business the world has ever experienced. He explained that the retired soldiers would be put into the manufacturing plants of Europe and the American market would be flooded with European goods, as the United States will then be the only nation with the money to buy such products.

Although the speaker did not say outright that the sugar tariff was beginning to be unpopular in Congress, he said:

"Laws passed by Congress are of necessity matters of compromise and it often happens that certain measures are passed which are contrary to the opinion of the majority and which do not express the sentiment of the individual congressmen and senators."

He spoke of the harassing of business and low the pendulum of public opinion is swinging back from its dangerous condemnation of business promoters. It has been the popular sentiment in the past few years to berate every man who had acquired more than 30 cents in a commercial way. The senator sees a change coming.

Senator Smoot began his excellent talk with appreciation of the hospitality of Hawaii. He said that only good could come from the visit to the congressmen and senators to these islands, which have been misunderstood in Congress. He also assured his hearers that each and every one of the visitors was taking back with him a new point of view with which to govern his support of measures affecting the islands. Hawaii has new defendants and is bound to receive more recognition in the national Congress, he said, and closed with the following sentiment:

"Godspeed to the people of Hawaii. May they be blessed with health, happiness and prosperity forever. In this I but echo the voice of the entire congressional party visiting you now."

ar question were not discussed. Senator Smoot spoke freely on the subject and said in part:

"In the past it has always been and shall continue to be my policy to stand for protection to the sugar industry. I want to see that wonderful industry of your islands, for which there is no substitute, preserved and protected from competition. I have tried to find a product which you could grow successfully and am now convinced that your commercial salvation does indeed lie in the sugar."

THE GERMAN NOTE ON THE LUSITANIA.

Germany's formal expression of sympathy at the loss of the Americans in the torpedoed Lusitania contains no intimation that the government regrets the deed of its submarine.

Unofficially, the belief was expressed in Washington yesterday that the United States would expect at least formal apology, specifically to include the Lusitania incident, and such reparation as Germany can make for the Americans whose neutral lives were sacrificed on the red altar of war. This first communication of Germany since the Lusitania vanished beneath the waves last Friday is in no sense an apology nor does it offer what Americans could consider adequate reparation. The message Ambassador von Bernstorff was instructed to communicate to the American state department says:

The German government desires to express its deepest sympathy for the loss of the lives in the Lusitania. The responsibility rests, however, with the British government. Through its plan of starving civilians in Germany, Germany was forced to retaliatory measures.

In spite of the German offer to stop the submarine warfare in case the starvation plan was given up, British merchant vessels have been armed and repeatedly tried to ram the submarines, so search was impossible.

Therefore this case cannot be treated as that of an ordinary merchant vessel.

It is admitted that the Lusitania had previously carried war material. On her last voyage the Lusitania carried 5400 cases of ammunition and the rest of the cargo was chiefly contraband.

If England, after repeated official warnings, considered herself able to declare that the boat ran no risk, England assumed the responsibility for human life. Germany, despite heartfelt sympathy at the loss of Americans, cannot but regret that the Americans felt more inclined to trust to English promises rather than to heed German warnings.

It is probably significant that the German note contains no expression of regret at the sinking of the Lusitania, the word "regret" being used only in this phrase: "Germany cannot but regret that the Americans felt more inclined to trust to English promises rather than to heed German warnings."

In the brief note there is not the slightest acknowledgment that Germany has erred, not the least hint that officially the government does not indorse the sinking of the Lusitania and its attendant drowning of neutrals and non-combatants. There is not the slightest assurance that Germany is not prepared to repeat the torpedoing upon any and every British passenger vessel her submarines can reach.

The real significance of Germany's note is that Americans must regard the sinking of the Lusitania as a part of Germany's authorized plan of war, not an individual instance where a submarine commander overstepped his orders or went beyond German policy. When the now-famous German proclamation of a "war-zone" around the British isles was issued three months ago, Germany justified her plan of a submarine war by the statement that the British "program of starvation" forced her to retaliatory measures. It will be recalled that America scarce credited Germany with the intention to sink merchant vessels by the wholesale. They were soon forced to credit the Teutons not only with the intention but with the deed.

On February 11, shortly after the German proclamation was issued, an Associated Press despatch from Washington said this:

"The state department has warned Germany with emphasis that the destruction of any American vessel within the newly-prescribed war-zone will cause serious complications."

With what unconcern Germany viewed this warning was soon shown. Four days later the despatches chronicled that "the Montag Zeitung of Berlin in an editorial today asks what harm America can do Germany if it comes to a showdown on the recent warning by the U. S. against submarine attack on American ships. 'America has no army. Its fleet dare not approach nearer than does England's. America's threats are too ridiculous for Germany to take them seriously,' says the paper."

That is undoubtedly the view Germany takes now. Her note through Ambassador von Bernstorff is more courteous but it contains nothing that can possibly be construed as an apology.

Such being the case, America must regard the sinking of the Lusitania as typical of what Americans are to expect if they travel in waters Germany chooses to declare embraced in a "war-zone." They are not safe under their own flag, as was shown when the Germans torpedoed the steamer Gulfport off the Scilly Isles. They are not safe on a passenger vessel of another nation. The "preservation of vital interests" by a belligerent demands their sacrifice.

Against this theory of war Americans will raise their voices in horrified protest, but what to do about it is another matter. Had it not been for the months of terrible bloodshed and destruction since August, 1914, the United States would be much more inclined to conflict. Those months have pretty thoroughly dispelled any liking for the fabled "pomp and panoply" of war. They have opened the nation's eyes to its hideous waste and misery, beyond all power of victory to repair. The man or the newspaper that howls for war now as men and newspapers howled before the Spanish-American outbreak would get little hearing. It is a time for sober, steadfast thought, for deliberate reflection, for heartfelt prayer. What is the nation's duty? Every true-blue American holds a common bond of sympathy with the president and his advisers who are devoting sleepless days and nights to the greatest crisis since the Civil War.

THE HAMPERING FACT.

A wise politician—one of the kind who indulges in confidential whispers and always gets his tips from high authority—dropped in yesterday to say that this whole Kapiolani park luanu business was due to the fact that the mayor is a Republican and the sheriff a Democrat.

"You see the police department wants to put the mayor in a hole because he's a Republican, so they start this about keeping all the soldiers out of the park while the mayor's luanu is going on," he explained behind his hand. "The mayor just asked that order be preserved, and they did the rest."

His explanation is certainly ingenious but its credibility is impaired by the patent fact that it's too clever. We don't believe it of the police.

WHAT PUBLICITY DOES.

The manager of the Belgian Relief Fund declares, now that the gifts have passed the million dollar mark, that fully three-fourths of that record sum for a foreign charity was contributed as the direct result of newspaper advertising. This statement by Mr. Edward B. Lyman of New York is another striking testimony to the value of publicity. There is no department of human affairs in this day of printer's ink and almost instantaneous intercommunication between the ends of the earth that is not dependent upon the distribution of facts about itself for its prosperity. The Chapman-Alexander meetings in Boston a few years ago owed much of their success to the publicity given them by newspapers, and the evangelists acknowledged the fact. It has been so with the "Billy" Sunday campaign just closed in Philadelphia. Publicity markets the merchant's wares, promotes the statesman's politics, opens pocket-books to the needs of distress, procures students for schools, recruits for the army and navy, and "fans" for the "bleachers" at the ball parks. It is the raw material of opinion and conviction. Businessmen understand this and philanthropists and religious workers appreciate it more and more.—Boston Herald.

The War Relief Committee in Hawaii from the first worked in cooperation with the newspapers, and as a result Hawaii leads the whole United States in the amount of per capita contribution to the relief funds.

There are but three more nights in the Bevan Grand Opera Company's engagement here and they should produce audiences at the Bijou theater in better proportion to the fine musical offerings given by the visiting song-birds. The Bevan company in the face of discouragingly small houses has held to a high operative standard and the principals, chorus, conductor and orchestra never allow their performances to grow careless or lacking in energy because the audiences are small.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon is laying the foundation stone for the Hilo federal building. With this experience to guide him, why not ask the genial statesman from Danville, Ill., to choose the Honolulu site?

The Kilauea National Park project deserves to go through. It ought to go through, now that a large number of congressmen have canvassed the plans personally.

It might be suggested that if Congress should be called into extra session, the few scattering members left on the mainland ought to come to Hawaii.

Why not include the Pacific ocean in the "war-zone"?

"Opium Jack" McGrath is still on the free list.

JUDGE STUART FOR SUPREME BENCH, REPORT

Chief Justice Robertson, Back From Mainland, Declines to Discuss Rumored Changes

Dame Rumor today reports that the appointment of Judge T. B. Stuart of the third division to the supreme bench, and the appointment of Attorney Joseph Lightfoot as third judge are likely to be the changes made in the circuit court upon the retirement of Chief Justice A. G. M. Robertson on May 15.

This is according to a report which made the rounds in court circles this morning following the return of Judge Robertson from a six weeks' visit to California. Mrs. Robertson accompanied the chief justice.

As to judgeships, possible appointments or the likelihood of his remaining on the bench, Judge Robertson was non-committal. When informed of the report regarding Judge Stuart and Mr. Lightfoot, he smiled. He would say nothing.

"I am going out of office on the 15th of this month," he said. Then he dismissed the interview.

While on the mainland Judge Robertson did not go to Washington, D. C. He remained in San Francisco the greater part of the time, seeing the exposition and visiting friends.

BARON KATO'S ATTITUDE.

Honolulu, Hawaii, May 10, 1915. Editor Honolulu Star-Bulletin.

Sir: In your issue of May 8 I noticed an article entitled "Japan Baffled." In that article, I think you inadvertently do an injustice to the temperament of the present minister of foreign affairs, Baron Kato. You say "Kato's policy has had altogether too much of iron and too little of the milk of kindness in it to suit either the world or the calm thinkers of his own country." The writer of this article has been intimate with Kato from his young college days. As a young man he was calm, thoughtful, sedate and conciliatory. He is far from a jingo. Although a young man as compared with Japanese "elder" statesmen, he has had more political experience than, perhaps, any other man in the empire. He was ambassador to England for four years, and was recalled to go into the cabinet at home but remained in the cabinet but a short time and was appointed ambassador to England a second time.

While in the cabinet the first time, he was so moderate and conciliatory that the opposition charged him with being subversive in his diplomacy.

About a year ago, I was entertained at dinner at his house. After dinner, we got into a corner, together with the late lamented H. W. Dennison and talked over domestic and foreign matters until late in the evening. I told him I wished to talk and ask him questions and he could either answer or not as he saw fitting. I felt at liberty to do this because of being an old instructor of his. He answered, and commented upon all the questions that I put to him concerning the Japanese internal and external policy. I questioned him about the taxes paid by foreigners in the old open ports as being merely nominal. They pay a nominal "ground rent" and nothing on improvements great or small on this ground. The Japanese government loses hundreds of thousands of dollars every year by this arrangement. It is a legacy from the old open ports domicile of foreigners. I found in Yokohama buildings that cost from one to two hundred thousand dollars without contributing one cent to the government either local or national. This is the rule in all the old open ports, to wit: Yokohama, Kobe, Nagasaki and Hakodate. I asked him why such injustice was permitted in Japan.

He answered that the question had been submitted to The Hague and it was decided against them. Further questioning, I asked him why the Japanese government did not denounce such an unjust arrangement. He answered that the Japanese did not denounce either the treaties or Hague awards. He said their government had had already enough troubles in their diplomatic intercourse and they did not wish any more. Questioning him about the California land matter, he said that that was a mere pimple on Japanese foreign relations and would cure itself in time, if let alone, as most small diplomatic questions would do.

He, moreover, said that there was not a cloud on the diplomatic sky of Japan and he had no reason to suppose that any would occur in the near future.

He further ventured the remark that what Japan wanted was external quietude and internal readjustments and economic development, so that the burden of taxation which was very heavy could be lightened from the producing classes. He made the impression on me as really the strong, sane, and moderate man of the cabinet. Unquestionably, Okuma is a great balance wheel to all of the more restless and vigorous elements of the Japanese population. His memory and experience are prodigious. He is both a statesman and philosopher, as well as a pronounced man of peace. As to the Chinese "claims" I have little to say because I know little about them. I am strongly inclined to the belief that many of these so-called "claims" are nothing more than readjustments of old questions arising out of the results of the war with Russia, particularly in Manchuria, and new readjustments arising out of the taking of the German possession of Kiauchau. I hope and believe when we shall know the real status of the affair, now happily settled, we shall be better able to form a true judgment of Japanese action toward China.

M. M. SOTT.

Walter Turnbull was elected chief of the Choctaw Indians by a mass convention in session at Durant, Okla., succeeding Victor M. Locke. Eleven crippled children, on their way to a school in Cleveland, were injured, three fatally, when their bus was struck by a street car.

CONSOLIDATED TAKES APPEAL ON INJUNCTION

Non-Technical Decision By Judge Stuart Evokes Further Action Against Hughes et al.

The Consolidated Amusement Company, through its attorney, J. A. Magdon, today noted an interlocutory appeal to the supreme court from a decision handed down by Circuit Judge T. B. Stuart in the company's suit for injunction against W. R. Hughes, Henry Bredhoff, manager of the Popular theater, and the Variety Film Exchange. The motive of the injunction was to prevent the showing of "Three Weeks" at the Popular theater.

Judge Stuart's decision in the suit is couched in plain-spoken language. It is in part as follows:

"I think the Organic Act as well as the common law covers the proposition and that the plaintiff is not entitled to this remedy by injunction—you may think I am wrong—and you may go up on an interlocutory appeal and in a few days' time you can have this matter settled by the supreme court."

"The order is, that the injunction is denied and the case dismissed as to the Variety Film Exchange Company and Henry Bredhoff; and the injunction is denied as to Hughes—there may be reasons for enjoining him, and I will not order the dismissal of the bill, but simply say it is denied, as to Hughes, and give you an interlocutory appeal from the order."

In the bill for injunction it is alleged that Hughes entered into a three-year contract with the Consolidated Amusement Company, one of the clauses being that within three years from the date of signing the contract Hughes was to engage a no theatrical enterprises. It is further alleged that Hughes brought the film

TAXPAYERS SLOW; OVER MILLION IS DUE THIS WEEK

Unless Paid By Saturday Night Large Assessments Will Be Delinquent

Approximately $1,350,000 in taxes will be due Saturday night to the territory, unless paid before that time, according to the estimate of the territorial tax assessor. This amount represents the unpaid remainder of the 1915 first half taxes, both property and poll.

The total 1915 tax has been estimated at about $3,400,000, or about $1,700,000 for each of the two block payments. Of the first half taxes about $350,000 has been paid. The balance, or about $1,350,000, must be paid by Saturday or become delinquent and subject to the usual penalty.

"Nearly everybody waits until the last minute to pay his taxes," Treasurer McCarthy said today, "and it appears as if many would prefer to delay payment of their taxes until the last few days even if they have to stand in line in the assessor's office to await their turns. I believe a good part of what is due the territory Saturday will be paid in before that time."

Already the line is beginning to form in the assessor's office where taxpayers get their statements and it is believed that commencing Thursday and continuing Friday and Saturday the line will extend to the outside doors.

"Three Weeks" to Honolulu and that the Popular theater secured it from him, and that Hughes thus committed a breach of contract with the Consolidated.

The French cabinet decided that war orphans should be cared for by the state.

EXPECT ASAMA TO VISIT HERE GOING TO JAPAN

Honolulu Japanese are looking forward to the arrival off harbor of the first-class cruiser Asama which plied up on a reef off the Mexican coast February 1 and was floated yesterday after three months of salvage efforts. The Japanese government spent a huge sum to recover the wrecked cruiser. It was feared that the ship would be a total loss although the crew was saved by two large fishing sampans.

The Asama is now being towed to San Francisco, from which point she will proceed to the Japanese naval base Yokosuka, passing through Honolulu as a port of call. When the Asama foundered on the reef she was cruising northward from Chilean waters from patrol duty in search of the German fleet which was later sunk by the British off the Falkland islands. The cruiser was launched in 1899. The tonnage is 9885 and the horsepower 18,248. The Asama's speed is 21 knots in fair weather. She carries eight and six-inch guns in her main battery.

The incident of the Asama wreck and salvage will be memorable for the rumors prevalent on the mainland at the time that the Japanese were establishing a naval base in Turtle Bay, under the pretext of salvaging the cruiser.

KAMEHAMEHA NOTES

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence) KAMEHAMEHA, May 10.—The cadet battalion is preparing for its annual inspection, which will take place on the school grounds next Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock. An officer detailed by the war department will inspect the battalion. Cadet Maj. Frank Shipman and his staff officers have been busy working out extended order problems. Lieut. Booth has been paying close attention to the work of the various companies of late and will have the cadets in first-class shape by Tuesday.

Both in athletics and other school activities the seniors are about finishing their share of the good work towards the school. There are 15 out of 22 members in the glee club. The baseball team is composed of seven seniors. There is much interest being shown in the race for the roll of honor this year. There are three candidates who are making a hard race for the highest honor of the school. The cadets have picked E. Fountain, W. Mahikoa and A. W. Wright as among the winners.

The Kamehameha Glee Club, which is to perform at the Opera House on Saturday evening, is putting in its last few days of hard work and will be ready to give a first-class show. Many of the college stunts will be given by the members at this time. The students are anxious to see the show themselves, but as the tickets are being sold at a fast rate it is probable that a second show will be given at the school some time during the latter part of the month.

The alumni reunion will take place on the school campus this year instead of at the boys' dining hall, as a larger crowd is expected to turn out this year than heretofore. Rev. Akiko Akana has been appointed by the Alumni Association to meet with the school authorities to make arrangements for the occasion. The date for the reunion has been set for Saturday evening, June 5.

The senior girls and boys were invited to the alumnae dance last Saturday evening and had a good time. A club from the manual school furnished the music for the occasion.

FILIPINO GOES TO REEF FOR A MONTH FOR PENAL OFFENSE

Benito Campo, cutter in a stone quarry, was sentenced to spend a month at Oahu prison, and incidentally pay the costs of the case, after being found guilty of a statutory offense by a jury in federal court this morning. J. H. Drew was foreman of the jury.

Attorney Joseph Lightfoot, appointed counsel for the defendant, waxed eloquent in his argument to the jury. He dealt at length on the testimony of two witnesses who styled themselves "cooks at Iwilei." At times he engaged in brief verbal tilts with District Attorney Jeff McCann.

"And when Mr. McCann stood alone in this community for justice, I stood back of him," declared Mr. Lightfoot. The jury was out five minutes.

LAKEVIEW NO. 2 TO OPEN SECOND MELON IN JUNE

Also Secures Leases of Eighty Acres More of Proved Oil Land

In a circular to stockholders announcing the second dividend of 2 cents a share on June 15—the first having been paid on April 15—the directors of Lakeview No. 2 Oil Company give the further information that the company has secured leases on 80 acres of additional oil property. There is one lease of 40 acres from the South Midway Oil Company, being southeast quarter of southwest quarter of section 34, 32-24, and property that was rented in June last for sumpage of Lakeview No. 2's oil from the gusher. It contains two drilled wells, which it is expected can be made to produce at little expense, also two derricks, a large amount of drilling machinery, equipment, power, tankage and pipe lines.

The second property is a 40-acre lease belonging to the Extension Oil Company in the same section as the first. It is bounded on the south by the Kern Trading & Oil Company (Southern Pacific railroad) and National Pacific Oil Company, both of which have good wells. There is no well on the lease, but the company has taken over a derrick and drilling machinery.

"By the acquisition of these two leases," the circular says, "the company is now in possession of 120 acres of absolutely proved oil land, and has secured the use, for 50 years to come, of sump holes already constructed, capable of holding over a million barrels of oil."

It is stated that in March the company delivered 140,000 barrels of oil, being the greatest amount delivered in any month since the outbreak of the European war. April delivery was estimated at about half of March, the falling off being due to inability of pipe line companies to receive and to weather conditions. "Apparently the general California oil situation is improving," the circular states. "More oil is moving throughout the field, and with the coming on of hot weather we have every confidence that a large amount of our oil will be handled by the pipe line companies."

Lakeview No. 2 is the company of whose stock the late J. O. Lutted sold a large amount in this territory, and it is believed retained a great deal for himself up to his death.

SHIPPING & WATERFRONT NEWS

TRAINING VESSEL NO DIVING NOW NEWPORT IS IN THE PACIFIC

The New York state training ship Newport has passed from the Atlantic to the Pacific before the Matson steamer Wilhelmina left the coast for Honolulu.

The Newport, to spend six days in a cruise in Hawaiian waters, will arrive at Honolulu about July 11. The vessel started out on a 16,000-mile cruise with 103 amateur tars. It passed through Panama canal on May 4, and was to proceed to Southern California before the beginning of the longest leg of the journey to Hawaii.

The training ship visited St. Thomas, Danish West Indies, and the youthful mariners spent some time at Cristobal and Balboa. F. S. McMurray, superintendent of the New York state nautical school, is in command of the vessel. New York and Massachusetts are the only states in the Union to maintain a training school for officers to fit themselves for service in the merchant marine. The Newport has never visited Honolulu. The cruise last year included a visit to European and Asiatic waters.

NIELSEN HAS THRILLING AND DANGEROUS EXPERIENCE IN AFTERNOON SUBMERSION

There was no diving to the sunken submarine F-4 this morning and there will be none this afternoon. Possibly a diver will be sent down tomorrow, but this will depend on what progress has been made with the lines to the stern of the boat, and the general progress of the salvage work.

As the F-4 now lies she is keeled far over on her side, two heavy wire cables, with chain inserts 90 feet in length, being passed safely around the bow in good holding positions. The line around the stern is insecure and at present an attempt is being made to get it in a better position. It was at first planned to send a diver down with a reeling line, but this plan has been discarded as the report made by Diver Nielsen indicates that the stern is clearer than was thought, and that it will be possible to drag a chain and wire under the after part of the boat.

Nielsen had a thrilling and dangerous time under water yesterday. The line which had been sent down for him to pass under the propeller shaft and then attached to his lifeline to be drawn to the surface, fouled him and after an unsuccessful attempt to get clear he was forced to cut the line. Nielsen worked for 35 minutes on the bottom and was two hours and 20 minutes coming up. He was put into the recompression chamber, from which he was taken in apparently good shape, considering his strenuous exertions.

This morning two experienced divers from the Maryland are being instructed in the use of the compressed air system by Chief Gunner Stillson. One of the Maryland's sailing launches is fitted up with compressed air flasks and the diving this morning was from that in about 15 fathoms. Gunner H. Jorgensen and R. L. Rueling, gunners' mate first-class, are the two who are being initiated into the new diving system.

A bluejackets' landing drill was held this morning from the Maryland, three companies fully equipped being put ashore for drill and inspection. The force was organized in three companies, two as infantry and one as artillery with a field piece and two Coits. Lieut. H. E. Kays commanded the battalion, which formed on the dock, was inspected inside the Honolulu naval station, and later drilled in the city streets, marching as far as Palace square.

OPAL IS UNLUCKY STONE FOR BAKER

Harry Meyers, a former officer in the Matson Navigation Company, well known to travelers in the steamer Lurline and Wilhelmina, may return to sea duty as purser in the Oceanic liner Ventura to take the place of F. V. F. Baker, who has been held on the Coast charged with complicity in the smuggling of $18,000 worth of diamonds and precious stones.

Baker's arrest at San Francisco was brought about, it is said, by his endeavor to return to Mrs. B. J. Francis of Sydney, N. S. W., an uncut opal valued at $10,000.

Before the Matson steamer Wilhelmina sailed for Honolulu it was rumored that Meyers had been offered the position. Since leaving the Matson service he has been employed on shore for more than two years.

Purser Baker, who has visited Honolulu for four years as an officer in the Oceanic line, was arrested by Special Agent W. H. Tidwell as an accomplice of Mrs. Francis. He was to have a hearing in the superior court at Los Angeles.

Baker is the son of a minister who went to the Samoan Islands more than 50 years ago. The father settled on an island, where he afterward became known as "King" Baker. During his life he was presented with a seal by Bismarck, and became a warm personal friend of the late King Edward of England.

Baker, ignorant of the fact that Mrs. Francis was under arrest, sent the opal to Mrs. Francis' room. At that moment she was being questioned by federal officials. Baker's arrest followed.

Tidwell said Baker had confessed to him that while crossing the Pacific Mrs. Francis agreed to pay him $25 if he would smuggle the smaller gems and the giant opal ashore for her, which, he says, he did. The customs officials think that she invented her story in her efforts to protect Baker.

The jewels were secreted by the woman in a clever manner, and one new to the customs sleuths. She sewed 12 flat packages in her skirt lining, placed in dresses. In each were a number of stones. Other bags were sewed in a fur rug that she always kept about her.

The seized goods were 165 fine black opals, 1 opal necklace, 38 faceted opals, 40 sapphires, 6 diamonds and 63 ounces of rough white cliffs.

MANY FOR NAVY TO LAND AT HONOLULU

To land at Honolulu from the United States army transport Thomas tomorrow are many enlisted men for the branches of the navy.

Capt. Michael Healy, veteran in the transpacific service, is in command of the troopship which left San Francisco with more than 300 passengers for Hawaii.

The Thomas will be discharged of freight and supplies to the local army quartermaster department.

A late wireless states Col. L. W. V. Kennon is senior officer while Capt. F. L. Mensen of the 9th infantry is in command of troops.

The Thomas left the coast with a total of 900 passengers in the several classes.

WILHELMINA WAS GIVEN MAIL IN OCEAN

A mid-ocean post office, one of many maritime jokes hoary with age, has become a reality as far as the Matson Navigation Company is concerned.

The steamer Wilhelmina was halted midway from San Francisco to Honolulu to transfer several sacks of mail to the liner Matsonia, then steaming to the Pacific coast. The proceeding delayed the two vessels less than an hour. The sea was said to be as calm as the proverbial millpond while a boat plied between the steamers bearing an interchange of correspondence and greetings.

Capt. Peter Johnson reported fine weather for the Wilhelmina. It was berthed at Pier 15 early this morning, where 76 cabin and 16 steerage passengers and 402 sacks of late mail were landed. The Wilhelmina will discharge 3358 tons of freight before steaming to Hilo. It carried a dozen automobiles for island ports.

A number of people prominent in mainland and island affairs took part in a pleasing series of entertainments and deck sports planned by Purser "Bob" Menary, Dr. H. de B. Macaulay and other officers.

ISLAND ARRIVALS

Arrivals from island ports today included the steamer Mauna Loa from Kona and Kau with 8000 sacks of sugar, 1230 sacks of coffee and a large quantity of island products and sundries. Officers reported much rain along the windward part of the island. Fine weather was met in the channel.

The Kilauea, with several members of the congressional party, reached port from Hilo with a small cargo. Purser Thompson reported smooth seas and light winds.

The steamer Waialea brought a record shipment of sheep for the season when 78 head were landed this morning. The steamer gathered cargo at Hawaii ports.

Officers in the steamer Helene reported good weather while the vessel loaded 12,000 sacks of sugar for delivery at Honolulu. The Helene returned with 76 head of cattle.

BEVANI COMPANY CLOSING OPERA SEASON WITH A FEAST OF MUSIC

"Martha" was the offering of the Bevani Grand Opera Company at the Bijou theater last night—incidentally there are but three more nights left of the engagement of this sterling company of singers—and everybody was well satisfied. Upon the premier of this popular opera, last Wednesday evening, the Bevani artists gave the Italian version while the audience was expecting, in conformity with the program, to hear the English, or longer version. The latter was presented last night and, while the smashing finish so dear to the hearts of the Italian singers was not possible, the audience in its unstinted applause displayed its pleasure.

As the season nears its close the Bevani artists appear to increase in popularity. Noticeable increase in the attendance adds to the enjoyment of the work of the artists by the audience and also to the work of the artists by the artists themselves.

Better interpretations of the great operas are promised for the last three performances but it would hardly seem possible that much improvement can be shown. Even the orchestra, composed mostly of local talent, has shown itself equal to the hardest music and at the close of the season is in splendid shape for operatic work.

Tonight the offering will be "Carmen," probably the most popular of all grand operas to the American. Tomorrow night is billed for "Gems From the Operas," while the closing performance, Thursday night, will be "The Barber of Seville."

"Carmen" was given by the Bevani company last Saturday night and proved a big success. Madame Vergeri and Sanborne scored heavily upon that occasion as did Signor Giocacchini and Sacchetti. These artists can be relied upon to repeat at tonight's performance.

"Gems From the Operas" will tend to bring in review all of the several Bevani stars who have become prime favorites. Each will appear in that selection in which he or she has scored the most distinct success and the selection has been left largely to the public of Honolulu. Suggestions were welcomed and where none are made the plaudits of the audience in the past will be taken as the request for the favorite number.

Tickets for each of the closing bills may be secured at the Bijou box office now.

CASPER RECITAL PLEASES CRITICS IN BIG AUDIENCE

George Casper's violin recital took place last night in Bishop hall of Punahou Academy before a large and appreciative audience. Mr. Casper and his assistants exelling themselves in their efforts to produce a musical evening of high standard. Casper displayed good bowing and excellent technique, as only one who had given much time and study to the art could do.

The first number on the program, "Sonata 1," by Handel, was well interpreted by the violinist and played with wonderful expression. Then came other movements by the same master. The first was a difficult one and the second a complete rest from the heavier piece.

"None but the Lonely Heart," one of Tschakowsky's masterpieces, was sung by Mrs. Betty Brown, contralto, who displayed good tone and a very rich, melodious voice. This brought the encore, to which she responded with "To a Baby," by Clarke. "Minuet," by Casper, was played by the artist himself in true style. This was followed by two favorites, "Melodie," by Ole Bull, and "Waltz," by Hummel. The fourth number was a "Caprice" for two violins, by Wieniawski, played by John Gifford and George Casper. Then "Concerto in D Minor," a difficult and melodious composition, which made a big hit with the audience, was given. Mr. Gifford played well with Casper. Though he has not had as much experience as the older player, there is personal charm in his playing, which is attained only by real violinists. For encore they played the "Second Movement" by Bach. Mrs. Betty Brown sang Brahms' "Cradle Song" and for encore "Somewhere a Voice Is Calling," and Casper finished with "Fantasie Brillante," a difficult selection which he played with great mastery.

Mrs. L. Tenney Peck and Miss Edith Gattfield, the accompanists, again emphasized the value to Honolulu musical performances of having accompanists of taste, ability and experience.

Why Such Crowds at Ye Liberty? Best Pictures at 16-20-30 Cents, Of Course!

BIG-FEATURE BILL AT YE LIBERTY

Laura Sawyer has established a reputation in Honolulu as a finished actress in crook plays through her appearance at Ye Liberty theater in "Chelsea 75" and its companion film, "An Hour Before Dawn." She has now annexed another laurel by her clever handling of heavy drama, drama of a type that is the result of the great European war. This latter accomplishment was made last night, also at Ye Liberty, when this clever actress appeared in the initial offering of Dyrreda Art Features, "One of Millions."

Probably "One of Millions" will shortly become a hackneyed subject for the photoplay. According to the herald of the play, "war" is spelled in letters of blood across the ladder of life. A young peasant is torn away from his bride of an hour and forced to join the colors, as the conflict is raging on the outskirts of his own village. At the command of the general the troops charge to action over the body of the youth before the sun has set upon his wedding day.

The young bride and the boy's mother seek out the body after nightfall and the mind of the young girl snaps when she realizes what has happened. A doctor gives the grief-stricken mother a vial with instructions to give the girl three drops as a sleeping potion, warning her that there will mean death. While the mother is preparing the medicine she hears the tramp of feet and finds herself the enforced hostess of the general who ordered the charge over the body of her boy.

The poisonous fluid that had been intended to aid the young girl is emptied into the general's wine and as the latter writhes in the agony of death the mother tells him of her vengeance. She then fires the house and seeks forgiveness in its flames.

"One of Millions" is a strong drama, considerably inclined to the morbid but withal one that holds the auditor spellbound.

"The Exploits of Elaine," one of the best serials ever filmed, was introduced at Ye Liberty theater last night. This serial will be shown each Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evening and gives promise of out-distancing the "Million Dollar Mystery" in popularity.

WAR FILMS FOLLOW 'THREE WEEKS'

The American mind and soul may feel revulsion at the basic principle of the story of Elinor Glyn's "Three Weeks," which is being shown in moving picture form at the Popular theater this week, and yet on the other hand there is also the appeal of "All the world loves a lover."

The American cannot conceive the written law of old oligarchies and monarchies and kingdoms that royalty must wed royalty to insure security of crowns. He cannot conceive that youth must marry old age to perpetuate a reigning line. He can conceive, however, where royal youth may be forced into distasteful wedlock to satisfy ambitious stress—and then break over the traces.

Undoubtedly that is why "Three Weeks" has not been cast out of the mails, the libraries, off the stage and off the movie screens, despite the many attempts by purists to do so. "Three Weeks" is not without its sordidness and its repugnance. Elinor Glyn did not intend that it should be. It is a profound lesson story of the enforced royal matches of monarchical countries.

That it does teach its lesson—though the lesson is not in the least of profit to Americans except as information regarding a world which most Americans know nothing of—yet it remains that "Three Weeks" is proving a big drawing card at the Popular. The picture will be shown for the remainder of the week and will be followed next week by a feature film of war scenes in Europe "showing the German side" and indorsed by the kaiser."

SCULLY TRIAL COMMENCES IN FEDERAL COURT

Motion By Prosecution to Continue Matter is Denied By Judge C. F. Clemons

Judge Charles F. Clemons this afternoon denied a motion by the prosecution to further continue the trial in federal court of John T. Scully. The jury is being selected and probably will be completed today.

The National Surety Company has furnished bond for Scully in the sum of $1500. He will be released from federal custody some time this afternoon.

The John T. Scully case in federal court was brought to a temporary standstill this morning when District Attorney Jeff McCarn announced suddenly that a "material witness" in the person of Ah Tim, a Chinese, left for China in the last Korea.

Although set for next Friday, the Scully case was up for trial today. The jury was to report at 10:30 o'clock. From all appearances both the defense and prosecution were prepared at 10:15 o'clock to go ahead with the case. At 10:20 a recess was taken and at 10:30 Mr. McCarn announced the flight of his witness. He said he had just learned of Ah Tim's departure.

Then there followed a long argument between counsel. Attorney C. H. McBride for the defense argued that it was out of order for the prosecution to call a case before the set date, and then delay it again because a witness was absent. McCarn said that it was upon the request of the defense that the case was called earlier.

McCarn explained that he had good proof to the effect that his witness had only gone to China on a business trip, and would return immediately, probably in the next steamer. McBride, however, declared this was not a proper showing that the witness would return in time.

The charge against Scully in the indictment is, in effect, as follows:

That Scully "did lawfully, knowingly and feloniously receive, buy, sell, transport and conceal and facilitate the purchase, sale, receipt, transportation and concealment of smoking opium or opium prepared for smoking theretofore imported and brought into the United from some country to the grand jurors unknown."

Rumors to the effect that Scully would withdraw his plea of not guilty and enter one of guilt to the indictment were shattered today when the defense signified an eagerness to go ahead with the trial.

Scully is still in jail, his bondsmen having recently surrendered him to the custody of the marshal. He said today that sometime this afternoon he expected to secure new bondsmen.

NEW RULES WILL GIVE COMMISSION FURTHER POWERS

At Present Civil Service Board Can Take No Action on Mayor's Luau Affair

Lorrin Andrews, chairman of the civil service commission, today was appointed by the commission a committee of one to prepare amendments to the rules and regulations governing the board which will give it power to try any policeman or fireman against whom any citizen makes a complaint. This action was taken at a meeting at noon, following the reading of and discussion on a resolution passed by the supervisors requesting the civil service commission to make an investigation of the affair between soldiers and police at the mayor's luau.

It was explained at the meeting that at the present time the commission has no power to try cases except when appealed from a decision by the sheriff, neither has it authority to bring a charge. The act which created the board, however, provides that the commission may make rules and regulations governing offices and officers, and the only time the board has been called upon to act was when there was an appeal.

It was the consensus of opinion that the board has no authority to comply with the request of the supervisors, but the preparation of amendments, and their adoption, is expected to give the commission a wider scope in dealing with matters such as the mayor's luau incident.

JAPANO-CHINESE TREATY WILL BE IN FULL DETAIL

(Special to Nippon Jiji)
TOKIO, Japan, May 10.—The new treaty between Japan and China under the conditions set in the demands accepted by China as expressed in the ultimatum is rapidly taking shape in the hands of the conferring diplomats in Peking. All previous troubles in Manchuria and Mongolia will be settled by the treaty. Great detail and explicit statements will be characteristic of the new agreements to avoid misinterpretations in the future. The lease of Port Arthur from China will be extended 99 years. The Chinese government will proclaim to the world that no more concessions can be made to a foreign power either along the Chinese coast or on any of the islands. The treaty is progressing smoothly and it is hoped that Japanese-Chinese relations will be established that will insure peace and mutual protection in the Orient.

OFFICER COMES TO GET PRETTY CHINESE GIRL

Chen Shee, the pretty Chinese girl charged with embezzlement of $300 from a San Francisco firm and taken from the Pacific Mail liner Siberia about two weeks ago, may offer stubborn resistance to returning to the coast to face trial. Detective Sergeant McGrayan arrived today in the Matson steamer Wilhelmina to get the little Oriental.

The coast officer came to the islands armed with what he believed to be necessary papers to insure the return of the woman. He visited Governor Pinkham soon after his arrival. Before leaving San Francisco McGrayan had been provided with documents for the extradition of the prisoner.

The woman is alleged to have used money belonging to a prominent Chinese company. She took passage in the Siberia and when arrested here by Captain of Detectives McDuffie was accompanied by a Chinese youth. The couple were plentifully supplied with money and more than $2000 in jewelry was found in the possession of the woman.

Detective McGrayan hopes to return to the coast with his prisoner the early part of next week.
