FRESH PINES TO GO TO MAINLAND IN CARLOAD LOTS

Marketing Division Will Aid Cooperative Movement of Homesteaders on Oahu and Boost Sale of Their Fruit

PLAN TO KEEP AGENTS AT COAST AND CHICAGO

Expectation is That Shipments Will Run From 20 to 50 Carloads Each Week After Middle of August—Will Run Ten Tons to Each Car

Homesteaders on Oahu who are growing pineapples, or who are puzzling over the proposition of marketing their fruit, may now cease worrying. The Territorial Market Division will soon come to their assistance.

Within two months the division expects to be able to market the majority of pineapples grown by small homesteaders on Oahu which are not already contracted for.

So says A. T. Longley, superintendent of the marketing division. He pointed out today that it is not only the efforts of the division, but the cooperation of the small homesteaders that will make this project possible.

When the work of the division begins to run smoothly; when an office in charge of a competent man is established in San Francisco, and when the Oahu homesteaders, acting in cooperation with the division, send a man to Chicago to open up a market in the Middle West and in the East, the division expects to be able to ship to the mainland from 20 to 50 carloads of fresh pineapples each week. Each carload will average about 10 tons of boxed fruit.

This all means, of course, when the division sets a man in San Francisco, explained Mr. Longley. "We expect to have a man there July 1 to handle all pineapple shipments. Next week the division expects to ship a carload, 10 tons, of the fruit to the coast."

W. A. Anderson, former manager of the Nahuiku Rubber Company, is now doing some preliminary work for the division on the coast. He is working up markets in San Diego and Los Angeles. The orders now in the hands of the division for a carload of fruit will be filled with pineapples grown by small homesteaders at Palolo, Aiea, Wahiawa and Waimea.

"The proposition is to market all the pines we can on the Pacific coast through the San Francisco agency," Mr. Longley continued. "We also will endeavor to make a contract with some large produce firm of national reputation to handle large quantities of the fruit—from 20 to 50 carloads a week—to be sold in Chicago, New York and in the Central West generally."

"We expect to send a man from here to Chicago to let the contract, which will be handled on a commission basis. Such a contract was made five or six years ago, but due to the high price of canned pineapples the proposition fell through. It did not pay to send the fresh fruit to the mainland."

"As it is now there are no funds available to send a man from here to Chicago to look into the proposition and make a contract. This, however, probably will be arranged by the home-

THREW NO STOOL AT LITTLE BOY, CHUCK HOO SAYS

After the prosecution had rested, Chuck Hoo, charged with first degree murder, took the witness stand in his own defense in Circuit Judge Ashford's court this morning, and declared that he did not throw a stool at Yuen, the nine-year-old Chinese boy who died at the Queen's hospital.

On the day of the affair, Chuck Hoo testified, he placed the stool in the doorway of his store. He was working in the store, he said, when he heard a boy crying. He went out and saw Yuen lying on the ground. The defendant testified the boy had fallen over the stool.

The case has been continued until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

EXTRA PROFITS ON SUGAR ISSUES TOTAL $240,000

With Regular Dividends, Bring Disbursements of Three Companies for June to $325,000

Extra dividends have been declared on three more sugar stocks listed on the Honolulu stock exchange, on Ewa Plantation, Hawaiian Agricultural and Onomea Sugar, which, in addition to their regular June dividends, bring disbursements to their stockholders for this month to the huge total of $325,000, of which $240,000 represents extra dividends and $85,000 the regular profits.

Ewa Plantation directors have declared the regular 1 per cent monthly dividend of $50,000, and an extra dividend of 2 per cent, or $100,000, making $150,000 for that company's shareholders for June.

Hawaiian Agricultural stock is to have the usual monthly dividend of 1 per cent, or $200,000, and in addition thereto an extra 4 per cent, or $80,000, making a total of $100,000 payable June 20.

Onomea Sugar stockholders will receive $1 per share profits on June 20, made up of the usual 1 per cent dividend, which totals $15,000, and an additional 4 per cent, which calls for $60,000 more, making Onomea's disbursements this month $75,000.

HAWAII'S BUILDING O. K. IS VERDICT OF EFFINGER

John Effinger, member of the Hawaii fair commission, who arrived in San Francisco on June 8, made an inspection of the Hawaii building at the Panama-Pacific exposition, with a view to determining whether the adverse criticisms by islanders of the building and contents were justified. Mr. Effinger has written the Promotion Committee as follows:

"There is no truth in the statements about the Hawaii building not being thoroughly up to date in every way. I have inspected the building and I am certain that you would be pleased if you were here to see the place."

MRS. ATCHERLEY LOSES HISTORIC FIGHT FOR LAND

Famous Case Which Goes Back to 1843 Finally Settled By U. S. Supreme Court After One Favorable Decision

CABLEGRAM SAYS EARLIER DECISION NOW REVERSED

Judge Robertson's Opinion and Attorney Withington's Arguments are Believed to Have Moved Tribunal to Unusual Finding—Second Appeal on Allied Case But Points Were Virtually the Same in Both

A famous legal fight with its roots far back in Hawaiian history; interwoven with the names of kings, princes, chiefs and chiefesses, was settled, probably forever, by the supreme court of the United States yesterday.

By the decision, news of which has been received in a private cablegram, Lewers & Cooke win possession of property at Queen and Punchbowl streets valued at $40,000 or more, and Mrs. Mary Atcherley, wife of the Dr. Atcherley who figured in a somewhat spectacular career here, loses her fourteen-year fight for the land.

Of equal interest with the historic features of the case is the fact that the supreme court of the United States has virtually reversed itself upon the showing made from the supreme court of Hawaii and by Attorney D. E. Withington, who went to Washington to argue the case. To win a reversal of a United States supreme court opinion is a victory for clarity and force of argument not often obtained.

The "Atcherley case," as it is generally known, is one of the most complicated, both as to points of law and custom involved and as to the maze of legal documents growing out of the long fight, in the history of the local courts. It really began when Kalua, a high chief who died in 1843 or 1844, gave to David Kalakaua, afterward king of Hawaii, the land at what is now Queen and Punchbowl streets. Under the custom of those early days, the boy David was an adopted son of the chiefess Kuniu.

Mrs. Atcherley claimed title through David Kalakaua and in June, 1901, began action against the Kapioalani estate to recover possession of the land. This started a long and keenly-contested fight, as shown by the mass of legal documents on file at the supreme court—equity bills, injunctions, appeals, opinions, findings of fact and 57 other varieties of formidable papers.

Lewers & Cooke became a party to the legal fight because the Kapioalani estate conveyed to the company the major portion of the land in dispute.

In July, 1901, Mrs. Atcherley filed a suit for ejectment against the Kapioalani estate and at that time asked $40,000 damages. The property has since increased considerably in value.

On March 5, 1908, the supreme court held that Lewers & Cooke had no title to the land, and again on March

NAMES OF THREE SUPERVISORS ON CHARTER LISTS

Arnold, Logan and Ahia Want to Take a Hand in Big Convention in September

Three members of the board of supervisors have filed nominating petitions as candidates at the special charter election to be held in Honolulu July 6 for the election of 64 delegates to the charter convention to be held in September. They are Supervisors C. N. Arnold, Daniel Logan and W. Ahia.

H. Stuart Johnson, a local engineer, was another to file. The purpose of the convention is to prepare and draft a new charter for Honolulu, one that broadens the scope of the city governmental bodies. This proposed charter will then be submitted at the 1917 legislature for consideration.

Fifty-four candidates had filed up to noon today, but one of these, A. K. Vierra, withdrew because Supervisor Effinger declared he would fight any attempt by members of the engineer's department or other city employees to draw their regular pay while sitting for 60 days or less in the charter convention as delegates.

The law allows 64 delegates to the convention and it is expected that at least 11 candidates will file before the county clerk's office closes tonight at midnight. Clerk Kaluaokalani has decided to keep his office open until that hour because of the fact that nominations must be filed tonight.

The following filed late yesterday and this morning: H. Stuart Johnson, W. Ahia, A. L. C. Atkinson, C. Holoua, A. F. Clark, Daniel Logan, E. Towse, M. Akmoa, F. J. Testa, W. D. Speckmann, D. M. Kue, Chang Chee, E. H. S. Morino, Jr., and Samuel Liffie.

CONDEMN RESOLUTION ADOPTED AT THEATER

Declare Sun Yat Sen Planned to Lead Japanese Army Into Heart of China's Territory

Declaring that the headquarters of the Chinese revolutionists, headed by Sun Yat Sen, are to be moved from Japan to the United States, and that the former provisional president planned deliberately to lead Japanese hosts into China, create disturbances and so end the "Young Republic," the Chinese Chamber of Commerce, the Constitutional Society, and the Kwok On Society, the Chinese Constitutional Society and the Kwok On Society unqualifiedly condemn the activities in Honolulu of the Chinese Nationalists, headed by Col. Gen. D. J. Wudan.

The resolutions condemning Yuan Shih-Kai passed by the Nationalists at a huge mass meeting held at the Chinese Theatre, and published in the Star-Bulletin on June 2, are deplored, and are branded as reflecting the sentiments of only a small minority of the Chinese residents of the Hawaiian Islands.

The following communication from the Chinese Chamber of Commerce, the Constitutional Society, and the Kwok On Society, embodies joint resolutions passed by those bodies:

"Editor Honolulu Star-Bulletin: 'Sir: We, the Chung Wah Shang Wei (the Chinese Chamber of Commerce), the Hin Chan Tang (Chinese Constitutional Society), and Kwok On Society, representing the majority of the Chinese residents in the Territory of Hawaii Islands, respectfully beg to call the attention of the public to the facts set forth in the following lines which we consider it is important to lay before the world.

"Those resolutions published in the Star-Bulletin of June 2, 1915, assuming the name of the representatives of the Chinese people in the Territory of Hawaii to urge Chinese to defy Japan and oust President Yuan, are the work of a young revolutionist, blindly supported by a few people of the Chinese Nationalist party in Honolulu. We, the representatives of the

HOLDING WATER OF TERRITORY IN RESERVOIR

Kilauea Plantation Company Blocks Channel and Refuses to Pay, Says Cartwright

The Kilauea Plantation Company has captured the territory's water, is holding it captive in a reservoir, and refuses to either pay for it or allow it to run in its natural channel, according to the report of Bruce Cartwright, Jr., a member of the land board, to that body this afternoon.

The Kapaia government reservation on Kaula is said to be an elegant water shed, and the stream from this reservation, which comprises nearly 1500 acres, is so diverted that it runs into a reservoir built and owned by the Kilauea Plantation Company on its own land, according to the report.

The supreme court has recently made a decision that where water flows from lands owned by "A" through lands owned by "B" the latter has prior rights to the water, but "A" is privileged to use as much water as he actually needs for irrigation and other like uses. But there lies the problem which the land board is facing. The plantation company is not using the water. It does not deny that the water is the property of the territory, and intimates that the territory is privileged to take the water any time it cares to come after it, according to the information.

But, the question is, how is the territory going to get it? The territory cannot pipe it uphill, and it cannot run it through the plantation, for if it does, under the decision of the supreme court, the plantation can use whatever amount of it is needed, and it is reported that the plantation can handle it all. So with the territory it is a case of "heads the plantation wins, tails the territory loses."

Anyhow Commissioner Brown wants the matter to come before the supreme court so that the land board can be governed accordingly. The other commissioners want the plantation company to allow the water to run in its natural channel, which plan Mr. Brown agrees to.

LONDON, England, June 15.—That the Cunard liner Lusitania, sunk by a German submarine, was unarmed and had never been fitted out as a transport was the declaration of Sir Edward Carson, the new British attorney-general, in addressing the court at the opening of the board of trade inquiry into the loss of the British steamer.

Sir Edward said he is able to give a complete denial to the contention of Germany that the Lusitania was armed and carrying guns, thus serving as an auxiliary to the navy. The hearings are being held partly in secret.

BOARD REBELS FROM GAG RULE OF MAYOR LANE

Logan and Hollinger Refuse to Let Executive Stifle Discussion of Rathburn Matter

"The Rebellion of the Board" is not a motion picture for Sunday exhibition, or any other exhibition. It is what is happening in the ranks of the supervisors of Honolulu, and it first evidenced itself in organization at last night's meeting.

The board is rebelling against the antics of Mayor Lane and the alleged resort to the "gag" by Mayor Lane when opponents of the executive's favored legislation arise to speak at board meetings. Logan and Hollinger led the rebellion last night.

It appears on the surface to bear a resemblance to the fight made on "Uncle Joe" Cannon just before the veteran speaker of the house of representatives was defeated a few years ago. Cannon was accused of enforcing the "gag" rule.

A few days ago 126 citizens of the Koolauloa district filed a petition with the board in Hawaiian complaining against Road Overseer Rathburn, one of the appointees of City Engineer Whitehouse, who is one of the appointees of Mayor Lane. This petition charged, among other things, that Rathburn is violating the statutes in regard to certain methods of getting compensation. The mayor removed the petition before it came before the board, had it translated into English, and had a translated copy given to Rathburn.

But the translation was never put before the board. The original petition, without any accompanying translation, was filed again with the board, or rather returned to the board's clerk by Mayor Lane. Without being read or without any motion being made, Mayor Lane referred the matter to the roads committee of which Robert Shiple, who was appointed by the mayor, is chairman.

When the roads committee reported that it would hold a hearing June 17, Hollinger demanded that the board be informed what the petition contained. He objected to the mayor referring the matter to the committee without the board first being apprised of the contents of the petition.

"Why didn't you object when the petition came up?" demanded the mayor.

"You wouldn't give me any chance," answered Hollinger, "I tried to object but you shut me up."

"You bet," chimed in Larsen, "this matter was slipped over us here. We are public servants, Mr. Mayor, the same as you, and we demand to know what comes before this board. I am with Mr. Hollinger." Hollinger again attempted to speak.

"The chair rules you out of order, the question is—" interrupted the mayor again and again, but Hollinger refused to be "gagged."

"I think it is about time that this board had a permanent set of rules to take the place of the temporary ones which now govern it," said Hollinger. "I have a right to talk on any matter that comes before the board."

"The question is—" again interrupted the mayor.

"I appeal from the ruling of the chair," insisted Hollinger.

"To appeal from the ruling of the chair," said the mayor, "you must have the unanimous consent of the board." Arnold jumped to his feet.

"Mr. Mayor," he said, "I move that unanimous consent be given Mr. Hollinger to discuss this matter."

The board sided in with Hollinger and the "gag" did not work this time. "It's time to take this matter into our own hands, and have our own set of rules," added Larsen.

24, 1914, another phase of the matter having been presented, a final decree was handed down, holding against Lewers & Cooke, the company thereupon appealing to the supreme court of the United States. In 1911 the U. S. supreme court rendered a decision affirming the decree of the Hawaiian tribunal.

The next important development in the case was an allied matter in which virtually the same issues and points of law were involved. Mrs. Atcherley was still fighting the Kapilani estate. The estate wanted an injunction against an action at law and to declare a trust. Mrs. Atcherley about this time having been adjudged a bankrupt. This phase of the fight also went through the local court and up to the supreme court of the United States as the case of the Kapilani estate vs. Mary H. Atcherley.

Judge Robertson, chief justice of the local bench, wrote the majority opinion in the Hawaiian supreme court decision, an opinion concurred in by the associate justices with the exception that Justice Perry dissented in part. In this opinion, Judge Robertson, in a closely but clearly reasoned statement held that the supreme court of Hawaii in the Lewers & Cooke case had materially erred. Without criticizing the supreme court of the United States he reiterated his belief that the local court had made a mistake and, left it to the United States court to take action if it should agree with his sentiments.

At one point he said: "I should feel inclined to depart from the ruling made in the Lewers & Cooke case were we not bound by it because of its having been affirmed by the United States supreme court."

The main question involved, as explained by an attorney this morning, was the legality of the guardianship of Kalakaua, and hence the validity of his title to the land given him by the chiefess Kaula. This was complicated by the fact that Kinimaka, the Hawaiian who became Kalakaua's guardian, had held the property as trustee and his dealings with it, it was claimed, had clouded the title. In the Lewers & Cooke case the court had held that the land commissions awarded to Kinimaka, after considerable controversy, was binding as against Kalakaua. This opinion it was to which Judge Robertson dissented in the later case.

The later argument thus centered around the question whether the "testamentary guardianship" of Kalakaua by Kinimaka was a legal guardianship.

In the argument before the supreme court at Washington several weeks ago, Attorney Withington was able to bring before the courts a strong showing as to the legality of the guardianship as well as to the trusteeship of Kinimaka. With the Robertson opinion holding that the Hawaiian court erred in the Lewers & Cooke decision, the United States court upheld the Kapilani estate as against Mrs. Atcherley.

Now the presumption is that Lewers & Cooke will be confirmed in their possession of the land so long a subject of dispute. The effect of the latest decision is that Mrs. Atcherley cannot eject the occupants of the premises, having lost her fight against the Kapilani estate.

Attorney Lyle A. Dickey, now circuit judge on Kauai, is Mrs. Atcherley's attorney. He went to Washington several weeks ago to argue the case. Castle & Withington and local attorneys in various stages of the legal fight have represented the other side.

A special hearing of the petition for naturalization of Alexander Kenwith Alexander, a native of England, is being held in federal court this afternoon. Mr. Alexander's witnesses are Jay A. Urice and Glenn E. Jackson of the Y. M. C. A.

WORCESTER HAS SPECIAL MESSAGE TO BUSINESSMEN

Honoluluans, and especially those interested in the Oriental holdings of the United States, look forward to the arrival of Dean C. Worcester on the Mongolia on Friday and to his lectures upon the Philippines.

Besides the lectures "Wild Tribes of the Philippines" and "The Filipinos" to be delivered by Mr. Worcester at the University Club in the evenings of June 21 and 24, he will address the Commercial Club on the subject "Commercial Possibilities of the Philippines." The Commercial Club will honor the speaker with a luncheon Wednesday, June 23.

Mr. Worcester writes that he has a special message for all businessmen in Hawaii who are interested in the island's affairs. He will deliver his lectures in Honolulu without compensation, saying that the past hospitality of Honolulu's people on his voyages to and from the Orient makes him a debtor to the people here. The admission charges for the lectures will be 50 cents. The entire proceeds are to go to the Leahi Home.

DAVIES ESTATE WORTH NEARLY HALF MILLION

The estate of Harry Linver Davies, late of Honolulu, is valued at about $480,000, according to an order appointing an ancillary administrator, with will and codicil attached, which was filed in circuit court today. F. M. Swansy has been appointed ancillary administrator under bond in the sum of $500,000.

Mr. Davies' estate consists largely of stocks and bonds in Hawaiian corporations. He held 1616 shares in T. H. Davies & Company, Ltd., valued at $161,600. In the order the heirs are named as follows: Barbara Chidderoy Davies, widow, and infant son aged about 4 years; Theophilus Clive Davies, brother; George Frederick Davies, brother; Rev. Arthur Whitcliffe Davies, brother; Theophilus Maxwell Davies, brother; Alice Marian Warner, sister, and Violet Mary Young, sister.

MARYLAND STAYS HERE TO GET FRIDAY MAIL

The cruiser Maryland will sail Friday for San Francisco, orders having been received yesterday afternoon by cable. The orders require that the cruiser sail before the 19th, and the present intention of Capt. Kittelle is to wait for the mail boat Friday, sailing as soon as the Mongolia gets in with the Coast mail.

The Maryland is due in San Francisco about the 25th, and will probably remain there until after July 4. She will then return to Honolulu, conveying two of the K class submarines. The tender Rainbow will probably convey the other two K boats that are coming here for station.

CHARGES CRUELTY IN SUIT AGAINST ANGUS

Alleging extreme cruelty, Grace C. Angus has filed in circuit court a suit for divorce against A. B. Angus, district deputy supreme chancellor of the local Knights of Pythias. In the complaint Mrs. Angus alleges cruelty was inflicted to the extent of "often beating and abusing her and threatening to kill her."

On June 6, Angus attacked his wife and attempted to stab her with a pair of scissors, says the complaint. Attached to the suit is an order for service on Mr. Angus, who left for the mainland on the Lurline last Tuesday.

The federal authorities today arrested Charles R. Collins, a fireman on the steamer Wilhelmina, and a resident of Honolulu, on a statutory charge. The defendant has been released on bond in the sum of $500.

SPECIAL SHIPPING PLENTY OF ROOM FOR TOURISTS TO HAWAII

Trans-pacific steamship companies now operating to the islands do not anticipate difficulty in taking care of all passenger traffic offered between San Francisco and Honolulu," says Donald H. Gilmore, of the passenger department of C. Brewer & Company, representing the Oceanic line, who has just returned from the coast.

"I canvassed the San Francisco situation very thoroughly during the several weeks I spent on the coast. The San Francisco agents for three principal steamship lines are far from being swamped by applications for transportation to Hawaii, and the passenger business by the transcontinental railroads has fallen far short of the mark set for it earlier in the season," added Gilmore.

Captain E. P. Olsen, master of the schooner Beulah, brought the lumber-laden vessel into port this morning, 19 days from San Francisco. The Beulah left the coast May 28 with 427,000 feet of redwood to the order of Allen & Robinson of this city. The schooner met with fine weather and a favorable wind.

BRITISH TOMMY WILL WAIT LONG FOR HIS LETTER

Missive From Detroit, Designed for Man in Trenches, is Sent to Honolulu

The postal authorities have a reputation for resourcefulness, and there have been many instances where letters with cryptic superscriptions have been correctly delivered, but there must be one or two prize "boneheads" sandwiched in with the bright young clerks, judging by a letter which was received this morning at army headquarters.

This letter was posted in Detroit, and a British soldier may be wondering why it hasn't reached him. It is addressed as follows:

Mr. Duncan McFayden, Private No. 14890—Hut No. 4 A Coy. 2d Glasgow Bat. Gaites Camp, H. L. I.

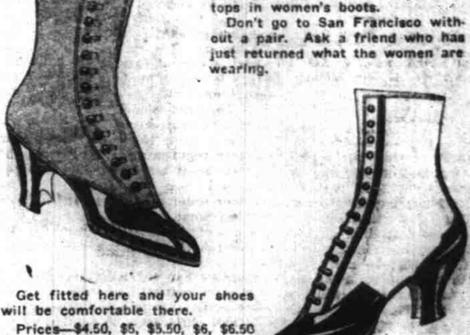

Presumably the Detroit letter clerk took a squint at the tower right hand corner of the envelope, and managed to get Hawaiian islands out of "H. L. I." Possibly he thought, the L was silent, as in war. At any rate he sacked it for Honolulu, and Private McFayden won't get his letter until the British consul, to whom it will probably be turned over, can re-forward it.

F. S.—To save the curious mental agony and sleepless nights, it may be remarked that H. L. I. stands for Highland Light Infantry.

Charlie Dow Tells of Steamer That Warned Sailing Ship Being Sunk Off Falmouth

Up till a few days ago Mrs. Sarah Dow of Honolulu felt great anxiety about the safety of her son Charlie, who was one of the crew of the British ship Falkirk that sailed from Astoria, Oregon, November 27 last and had never been reported since.

Advised to consult the Guide shipping agency here, she was informed that the latest entry in the S. F. Guide was still of the Falkirk's sailing, no report of the vessel's being spoken or touching anywhere appearing. Short after this cruel disappointment, the Guide people telephoned to Mrs. Dow that the Falkirk had arrived at Cork, Ireland.

By a mail the following week she received a postcard from her son which was yesterday followed by a long letter, filled with interesting matter. The Falkirk arrived at the transatlantic port after a voyage of a few days less than six months, about the only discomforts experienced besides the tedium of slowness having been war alarms picked up from an ill-fated steamer, one that met the doom against which she had warned the windjammer.

Beautifully clear weather was had in rounding Cape Horn, the picturesque islands and channels being in full view. This was on Washington's birthday, and just a little later than the rounding of the Horn by the doomed American ship W. P. Frye.

In about 20 degrees south latitude in the Atlantic, the Falkirk fell in with the British tramp steamer Alfalfa, from which she obtained needed provisions and the first war news since leaving Astoria. It included accounts of the naval battles of the North Sea and the Falkland islands. The steamer people warned the Falkirk not to go to Falmouth for orders, owing to the submarine blockade, but to make for Queenstown instead. Yet the Alfalfa herself was sunk in trying to enter Falmouth, all hands going down with her and only a few being picked up out of the water.

Young Dow tells of an Argentine bark lying at Queenstown, from which a German crew had been removed, which was offering ten pounds, or $50 each to sailors who would ship for a voyage to Copenhagen, with passage paid back to London if desired. Dow and some shipmates offered to drive the perils of torpedo and mine for fifteen pounds, or $75, but had not received an answer when the letter was written.

'NON-COMS' SEE RELIEF IN NEW COLONIAL ORDER

"Top" Sergeants Will Not Lose Their Grade in Transferring to Continental United States

The army on Oahu has but one topic of conversation today—the new foreign service policy for non-commissioned officers.

As announced in the Star-Bulletin yesterday, the war department has decided to place all non-coms above the grade of corporal on a foreign service roster, and to transfer them at the expiration of a three-year tour here, with no loss in rank, to organizations in continental United States.

Coming right on top of the official announcement that the 24th Infantry was to be relieved in the Philippines by the 27th Infantry next September, the foreign service roster for non-coms is puzzling. The relief of the 24th Infantry would indicate that the colonial policy in the Philippines was to be discontinued, while the order relating to the non-commissioned officers contradicts this supposition.

While it is freely admitted that the colonial policy works a great hardship on non-commissioned officers, who heretofore had to either stay forever with their regiment or enlist in some other outfit as a private, there is considerable difference of opinion as to how the new policy will work out. For post, regimental, battalion and squadron non-commissioned staff officers, and for line sergeants, there seems to be no hitch in the system, but for first sergeants—that's the poser.

According to the new order, first sergeants are transferred as such, and cannot be "busted" for six months after joining their new companies. Now the position of a first sergeant is peculiar. He is half officer and half enlisted man, being the intermediary not only between the captain and the company, but also between the company and the captain. His efficiency depends largely on his knowledge of the men and the non-coms of the company, and his understanding of the captain's methods and system. He is the company commander's personal appointee, and it is a question how the military machinery will work when he is "wished on" some new captain with a strange organization.

On the other hand, there are many army men who contend that as certain peculiar qualifications are required of a good first sergeant, he could make good with any outfit, and that familiarity with the personnel is a very small factor of efficiency.

As applied directly to Hawaii the new order will mean the keeping at department headquarters of two separate service rosters, one for line sergeants and first sergeants, and the other for battalion, regimental and post non-commissioned staff officers. Applications for transfer must be made two months in advance. All this means a large addition to the paper work, and opens the way for endless complications. However, everyone is agreed that the non-commissioned officers are getting only justice, and hope is expressed that the system will work out well.

majority of the Chinese residents in these islands, would never approve of such unlawful actions to be proclaimed in our name. And we consider that such a mass meeting as was gathered in the Chinese theater on Sunday a week was a false step and was in our clear conscience quite uncalled for.

"Some explanation here seems necessary to show the secret of the action taken by the people of that party. When war was on the verge of breaking out between China and Japan, plans were being matured in Japan by Sun Yat Sen and his adherents to lead our enemy into the interior of China and to create disturbances thus to end the Young Republic for that party's revenge.

"Had this dream been realized, Sun Yat Sen's crime toward our countrymen would never be pardonable. Fortunately enough they came to nought! As our Government had used its best brain to avert the war. When the ultimatum was about to be accepted (that means no war), the people of that party began to feel disappointed. Suddenly they turned to attack not only President Yuan but also the Japanese up to the present, as their leader shall lose his nest in Japan.

"These people, we understand, will soon gather themselves in the United States. Our Government ought to have its eyes wide open and see that the brewage of revolution would be shifted to America. This, however, is the business of the Chinese Government and not ours.

"What we want to declare now is that we Chinese, the majority of the Chinese residents in this Territory, have taken no part in the actions of the revolutionist party and do not and would not agree with their ideas which work only for the destruction of the stability of the Chinese Republic.

"We are law-abiding people wherever we are, and our relations with our Government cannot be dissolved. We are sensible that notwithstanding we are free and independent, we have no right, no need to overthrow the present Government of China which has been already recognized by the friendly Powers. At any rate we do not like to be dragged into the maelstrom of crime against our will. We are,

"Yours respectfully,

BRITAIN'S LESSON.

The peace-at-any-price advocates, who oppose persistently if not consistently all preparation for possible war, are getting some pretty stiff object-lesson these days in Great Britain's troubles.

It is no secret that the upheaval in the British cabinet which resulted in a coalition body was largely brought about by the difficulties England experienced in getting her "war-machine" under way. Here is an extract from an article in the Chicago Tribune showing something of the situation:

Lord Kitchener has issued a warning to laborers who hold up military supplies. He has since appointed a committee to find men to provide the additional labor necessary to get out the needed supplies. While many of the rises in foodstuffs and other articles are undoubtedly due to war conditions, others are considered to be the result of manipulation. The government is trying to find the persons responsible. As is usual when large quantities of supplies are bought in a hurry there have been found to be cases of graft. In the meanwhile, the public is getting heartily tired of both the manufacturers and the laborers quarreling over the spoils of war profits. The people are rapidly reaching the point where they will support the government in any kind of compulsion it may see fit to use on both. All this results in that after ten months of war, Great Britain has only just started to organize her industrial output in such a way as to keep her armies equipped and to give them the supplies which they need to carry on a campaign. This point is far from being reached yet. In other words, the typical American and British system of refusing to prepare for war until war comes and then trying to get what is necessary on the principle of "never mind the price, we have got to have it and have it immediately," has resulted in the usual waste and usual inefficiency.

The United States has had plenty of examples of inefficiency and waste in war-time. Lack of foresight and preparation was the cause. It is only common-sense to make provision for the future. The millennium is a long way off and meanwhile it may be necessary to fight to preserve this country just as it was necessary in 1776 and 1860.

THE MANGO.

The mango season is again upon us. Its coming is heralded by the reports from the hospitals, where over-venturesome youngsters who frisk carelessly about in the mango trees in search of the ripening fruit are carried for repairs. Its presence is betokened by these same youngsters and hundreds like them walking along the streets sunk to the eyes in fruity enjoyment. Heedless of the havoc that may be wreaked on tender young stomachs by green mango, they eat their fill and somehow seem to survive and keep their keen young appetites for the time when the golden lobes of liquid sweetness are ripe for absorption. Absorption is the word. The mango, as everybody but the veriest malihini knows, is neither bitten nor chewed. It is absorbed, by external as well as internal routes. There are several ways of eating mango, but all of them presuppose solitude and a recklessness as to clothes. When the mango is at the zenith of its succulent maturity, it should be eaten in a bath-tub or a ten-acre lot. For removing post-prandial evidence, the finger-bowl is valuable, but the garden-hose more efficient. But the mango is above its drawbacks and disadvantages—nay, its juicy bombardment helps make up the zest of deglutitions.

An unfailling reminder of the mango season is genial Gerrit P. Wilder, who raises mangoes de luxe and, what is more, gives them away to his friends. The newspapermen annually are beneficiaries of his fructiferous generosity. The "Greeks bearing gifts" have nothing on Mr. Wilder bearing mangoes. When you see him around town with a kindly gleam in his eye and a mysterious covered basket or package in his hand, you know that he is on his way to a newspaper office on glad mission bent. He is one who likes to grow things to give away. And the Wilder mango and the Wilder hibiscus are horticultural monuments more lasting than bronze or brass.

Where is the poet in Hawaii who will enshrine the mango in imperishable song? Verily it furnishes the juice for the melting-pot of the mid-Pacific. We had a made-to-order "Onion Day" not long ago but the mango needs no forced claims to notice. Its friends and patrons laud it as a matter of taste, not of duty or of smell. Still, it seems to us that the Promotion Committee is overlooking a bet. Now that the Nebraskan grape-juice has been retired from President Wilson's cabinet, why not put forward the innumerable claims to recognition of the Hawaiian mango-juice?

Here's some good news for Dr. Cook when he arrives in Hawaii: Crocker Land, "discovered" by Rear-admiral Peary nine months ago, is only a mirage.

LORD NORTHCLIFFE'S SERVICE.

The opinion expressed in these columns that Lord Northcliffe's attacks on the British cabinet had borne much fruit, even though he himself has been made the target for criticism, is voiced strongly in an issue of the San Francisco Examiner just from the mainland. The Examiner says:

Any effort, however, to destroy Northcliffe's hold on the British public is foredoomed to defeat. His patriotism has been too often demonstrated; his public spirit has been manifested on too many notable occasions for memory of it to be obliterated by an outburst of war-time hysteria. Indeed, in the very issue which has been raised against him, his course has in the main been right and his purpose wholly commendable. Most of his recommendations have been accepted, and even his criticism of Kitchener is privately approved by many of those who publicly condemn it. That it met with some measure of approval is indicated by the fact that to Lloyd-George, probably the most efficient man in the cabinet, has now been assigned a most important part of the duty hitherto devolving upon Lord Kitchener—namely, the provision and forwarding of munitions of war.

Naturally papers that are rivals of the Times and the Daily Mail are making the most of the anti-Northcliffe outcry. Meanwhile the cabinet has been reorganized on national instead of party lines and the whole nation has awakened to the necessity of furnishing the British troops in the field with more munitions.

THE HAPPY MEDIUM.

Congressman Kent of California is usually credited with being an out-and-out free-trader but in a recent speech before the Commonwealth Club, San Francisco, he said: "I'm for a compromise between free trade and the everlasting doctrine of enrichment by self-taxation." He added that he did not believe in "bootstrap aviation."

TWO ATTITUDES.

Harper's Weekly thus contrasts the attitudes of Ex-President Roosevelt and Ex-President Taft upon the Lusitania incident and President Wilson's note:

"Mr. Taft, who was presumed to be out of touch and sympathy with current thought and ideals, stood revealed as one in whom a white fire of high patriotism had burned away all prejudices and partisanship. Mr. Roosevelt was shown to us as an opportunist eager for personal advantage, whose hasty, reckless and dangerous comments on a world-tragedy came but as a capsheaf to a mean policy of continued nagging."

This opinion coincides with that of a great many of the daily papers of the country. It is to be doubted if Col. Roosevelt has gained any following by his vehement assertions concerning America's duty.

Persons who complain that American newspapers print incomplete and frequently biased war news should bear in mind that American newspapers can print only such news as they can get—and that war stories are bound to be one-sided and biased, no matter where they come from. The newspapers never manufacture despatches. They can print only the stuff they get. And they can get, at present, only what British military censors permit to be sent. —San Francisco Examiner.

Presidential boomlets are on the wing. U. S. Senator William Alden Smith of Michigan announces his candidacy for the 1916 Republican nomination in a double-page article in his paper, the Grand Rapids Herald.

It looks as if Greece and Rumania were dancing around in the road watching the bigger boys fight and looking for a chance to wallop the loser.

Ex-Secretary Bryan is going to announce a way to end the war. It might be tried first on Mexico.

Americans with the travel idea needn't worry about submarines on the route to Hawaii.

Switzerland is making almost as much fuss right now as the hole in a doughnut.

The next "authoritative book" should be "The Truth About the Dardanelles."

Could Mr. Bryan have been working under the "undated resignation" system?

To the Sultan it probably is beginning to sound like Gallopoli.

Somehow the country hasn't busted up since Mr. Lansing took hold.

EVERY ORGAN IN NECK SEVERED; SKIN NOT CUT

Several enlisted men from Fort Shafter, called by Deputy Sheriff Asch, readily identified the man who met death under the wheels of a freight train in the Oahu Railway yards yesterday, as Pvt. Edward Leber, a member of the hospital corps at Fort Shafter.

His associates say that Leber had been absent from duty at the post for four days. Police inquiry among railway-employees brought the information that Leber had been loitering about the yards since daylight Monday. He seemed to be dazed, as if under the influence of liquor. The soldier had been ordered off the premises several times.

Deputy Sheriff Asch was told that Leber deliberately lay down on the track near the roundhouse in the path of a freight train. The cars were moving slowly. Before the engine could be stopped the front wheel of the forward car passed over the neck and body of the man.

An inquest will be held at 7 o'clock this evening.

A postmortem examination of the remains was held at the morgue this morning by Dr. N. B. Emerson, Dr. A. N. Sinclair and Capt. W. R. Davis, surgeon, Medical Corps, U. S. A. It was found that while practically every organ in the neck had been severed, including the spinal column, the skin of the neck was only bruised.

LITTLE INTERVIEWS

—SUPERVISOR ARNOLD: I think it is about time for the promised additions to the fire department to materialize. The department is badly in need of equipment.

—OLIVER C. SCOTT: The opportunity to present the island tour in a favorable light was not lost while I visited the Pacific Coast. I had a host of inquiries about the islands, specially from people in the central part of California.

—W. R. FARRINGTON: The Ad Club extends a general invitation to those interested in the charter election to be present at the lunch tomorrow and hear what the charter enthusiasts have to say. There are no factions in the Ad Club and the lunch is only 50 cents. Incidentally as summer is approaching the bell will ring at 1 o'clock sharp.

FIDDLE UP! FIDDLE UP!

In the gloaming, oh my darling, When the lights are dim and low; And the flick'ring shadows falling Softly come and softly go.

It is then we hear sweet (?) music From our neighbor's violin; Raping, grating sounds of torment Sharp at seven do begin.

He's a genius, no denying, Kubelik has naught on him! For persistency in playing Tuneful ditties, full of vim.

We are told by Willie Shakespeare Music hath the power to charm; Be this true I wish to heaven, It could paralyze an arm!

Days of yore—men turned their vigor Into something worthy—good; Helping wife in the garden, Cutting grass or sawing wood.

Nothing doing with our neighbor Coming home from his day's work— Grabs his fiddle, starts in bowing, His dear violin he can't shirk.

Some night I shall lose my temper, Shriek and scream and yell and shout; Buy a trombone or a zobo, Play like mad and drown him out. —By "A Tormented Soul."

MORE TUBERCULOSIS THAN IN MAY OF 1914

Seventy-eight cases of tuberculosis were registered in the territory last month, which is an increase of 24 over a like period in 1914, according to the May report of the anti-tuberculosis bureau of the board of health, issued today. Of these cases 38 were in Honolulu.

The cases registered on the different islands were: Oahu, 43; Hawaii, 21; Maui, 9, and Kauai, 7. On Oahu there were 12 deaths from the disease, 11 being in Honolulu. Eleven deaths were registered on Hawaii, seven on Maui and four on Kauai. Of the total number of cases last month 39.5

per cent were under supervision as against 29.7 per cent in April. Five suspects left the territory. Three patients were apparently cured.

SHIPPING & WATERFRONT NEWS

SAILS SOUTH TO AVOID ROUGH WEATHER

The Matson Navigation liner Manoa easily proved its exceptional steaming qualities on a voyage from the coast completed today in which the vessel made a marked detour by taking a southerly course to avoid rough weather and berthed at Honolulu on schedule early this morning.

The Manoa left San Francisco on the afternoon of June 8, with 56 cabin passengers, 3370 tons of freight for Honolulu and 469 tons cargo for delivery at Kahului. Capt. Henry Weeden reported strong gales and heavy seas the first 24 hours after leaving port.

The Manoa will steam to Kahului and Kuanapali tomorrow evening. It will load sugar and molasses for discharge at Pacific coast refineries.

Honolulu shipping men gladly welcomed J. W. Jory, a former chief officer in the American-Hawaiian steamer Honolulu, to the exclusive membership of the "Come-Back Club." Jory is now chief mate in the Manoa. He served on several steamers in the American-Hawaiian service during the four years he has been away from the islands. Chief Officer Jory takes the position vacated by Captain Madsen who left the Manoa to become deputy harbormaster at Honolulu. The Manoa landed 71 sacks of mail.

HARBOR NOTES

Returning from an extended visit to the San Francisco fair, Federal Customs Examiner Mark Well was a passenger in the Oceanic liner Sonoma.

Taking about 3200 tons of sugar supplied at several island ports, the Matson steamer Hilonan is expected to depart from Hilo for San Francisco today.

A large mail, the first to go out for a week, was despatched to the mainland in the Pacific Mail liner Korea this morning. The vessel was well booked with passengers on leaving the port.

At the rate sugar was supplied to the American Hawaiian freighter Kenukian, now completing cargo at Hilo, that vessel was expected to steam to New York by way of the Panama canal today. The Kenukian will carry 11,500 tons of product to the east coast.

The Oceanic liner Sonoma from San Francisco made a long stay at Honolulu yesterday. The vessel steamed to Sydney by the way of Pago Pago at 9 o'clock last night, taking a score of passengers in the several classes from this port. The Sonoma discharged 20 tons of cold storage cargo.

The Matson steamer Enterprise, with several thousand tons of general cargo, steamed into Hilo harbor Sunday afternoon to remain there until the last of the week. The vessel will take a full cargo of sugar transhipped from steamers in the Inter-Island coasting service. The Enterprise is expected to steam to San Francisco Saturday evening.

Completing a passage from Port Blakeley in 27 days, the schooner Blakeley with 860,000 feet of lumber has been brought to a berth inside the harbor. Captain W. H. Meyers reported better weather conditions than that which fell to the lot of lumber-laden vessels which have recently visited Honolulu. The Blakeley will be given a prompt despatch to the Sound.

The Japanese freighter Kunajiri Maru, now at the Inter-island coal wharf to discharge 5000 tons of fuel brought from Japan, carries more than a score of cadets who are receiving their initial training on a Pacific cruise. The Kunajiri Maru will steam to Makatea and Ocean islands to load phosphates after completing discharge of cargo at Honolulu. The vessel formerly belonged to the Russian government and was a prize in the late war.

FIRE FIGHTERS ON

COAL SHIP ARE WINNING

The persistent fight made against the encroachment of fire in the hold of the French bark Françoise d'Amboise, was today rewarded when after an inspection of the ship, it was found that no further heat or gas had developed in the forward or after hold of the bark.

Stevordores are at work unloading coal carried in the middle compartment where it was discovered considerable smoke and flame had developed during the last 24 hours. As fast as the burning coal is removed, it is taken to vacant ground near the railway wharves to cool. It is estimated that about 1200 tons of fuel remain in the several compartments.

Work on the bark will be suspended this evening. The temperature of the holds will be taken and should no further fire be noted, the coal removed from the ship since it has been in port may be returned.

The length of time the vessel may be detained here has not been determined.

WANTS HONOLULU TO GIVE UP PARK CANDY BUSINESS

Hollinger Declares Injunction Threatened; Where Do Nickels From Telephone Go?

An investigation into the methods of conducting the city's concessions at Kapiolani park, which are under the supervision of Superintendent John Wise, was started at the meeting of the supervisors last night by the introduction of a resolution by Supervisor Hollinger directing the auditor to examine the system at Kapiolani park and to report his findings to the official board. This resolution was adopted.

Hollinger then introduced a resolution directing the auditor to advertise for bids for the renting of the city's refreshment and candy stand at the park to private concessionaires. At the same time, Hollinger moved that the resolution be laid on the table, and Larsen seconded it. On a vote the resolution was tabled.

"Now, then," said Hollinger after the vote, "I am going to tell you one reason why I introduced this resolution. It is this: I introduced it partly to save this board from an injunction which is going to be brought against it if the city continues to operate this stand. It is against the law for the city to engage in any business for profit."

"There is another thing I want to call the attention of the board to," he added, "and that is concerning the telephone at the park. The city is paying for this telephone and some one has caused a nickel-in-the-slot attachment to be put on it. I want to know about that."

Supervisor Ahia came to the front. "The city is not making any money on it," Ahia replied.

"Then I want to know who is getting this money," retorted Hollinger.

"There is no profit in it," answered Ahia.

"There isn't, eh?" demanded Hollinger. "Well, the city is paying for this phone and the public has the right to use it. Now I want to see this nickel-in-the-slot jigger taken off that telephone right away."

Ahia did not reply to this.

MEMO'S OF MEETING OF CITY SUPERVISORS

The salary of Purchasing Agent Hott's assistant was fixed at $75 a month last night.

Deputy Sheriff Asch was given 35 days' vacation on full pay by the supervisors last night.

Juvenile Judge Whitney reminded the board in a letter read last night that the juvenile court is still in need of an automobile.

Police Surgeon Emerson reported to the board of supervisors last night that Dr. W. L. Moore will substitute for him while Emerson is on the mainland.

George E. Irvine has declined to sit as a member of the board of plumbing examiners in as much as he never was notified of his appointment and therefore wouldn't sit as a member.

Supervisor Hollinger introduced a resolution last night asking the city attorney to draft an ordinance to charge tramp steamers for services of the fire department and water used to extinguish fires on those ships when the department is called.

After much discussion the supervisors voted last night to construct the Waimea road and bridge on day labor. The lowest bid by the contractors was $30,000 and the supervisors figure the city engineer can do the job almost as well for about $22,000.

Morning on CHANGE

Oncomer, which three weeks ago was offered at 24 with no takers, today sold at 36, on the announcement of another extra dividend on the stock. Ewa, too, is up more than two points, an extra dividend having been declared on that stock, and Hawaiian Agricultural is also to partake of extra profits. Pioneer is still going up, as is McIbryde, but Honolulu Brewing & Malting has dropped a full point since last Tuesday. All sugar issues, in the face of the enormous dividends being paid, are steady, and many are advancing under pressure of buying orders.

J. Wesley Thompson Poses as Maker of Mysteries to Order

When it comes to furnishing mysteries, J. Wesley Thompson, assistant U. S. district attorney, has the ordinary magician or exponent of legerdemain "backed off the map," as the slang experts have it. Perhaps Mr. Thompson does it unconsciously, but the mystery is there just the same. Yesterday the federal grand jury had a meeting. It was a special session. At 9 o'clock the members, 18 in number, silently filed into their room across from the marshal's office. After them went J. Wesley Thompson. Under one arm was a law book. In one hand he carried a sheaf of legal-looking papers.

No one outside of a selected few knows in detail what the grand jury investigated. Rumors as to what was done are already afloat, however. If any witnesses were before the tribunal, they gained an entrance to the jury room by means of the fire escape in the rear of the building. Messenger Benivides, getting bailiff, went on guard outside the door. In a few moments Mr. Thompson slipped out of the door. He looked around and then approached Benivides. A whispered conversation ensued. Benivides went into the marshal's office. He returned with a key with which he locked the door leading into the grand jury room.

Now there are three ways to get into the grand jury room. One is from a door leading into the main hall. Another is through a door which leads into Mr. Thompson's office. The third is through the back windows, which open on to the fire escape. Mr. Thompson was determined that not a sound should come from the jury room. The door leading into his office was closed. Then he had the bailiff close the transoms of the grand jury room and also those of his own office. For two hours and 10 minutes Mr. Thompson was closeted with the grand jurors. Now and then he would rap on the door to be let out. Then he would hastily make his way to the office of his stenographer, remain there a moment and return to the grand jury room. On one occasion he called his chief, Jeff McCarn, to consult with the grand jury.

In the matter of secrecy, Mr. Thompson went even further. Usually when the grand jury is in session the newspapers can obtain a list of the persons subpoenaed as witnesses. But not yesterday. The officials on the second floor of the federal building were mum. Even Mr. Thompson, after it was all over and the air of mystery thinned, declined to tell on what date the jury will meet again.

When 11:10 o'clock came the door was unlocked and the jurymen filed out as silently as they had gone in.

Mr. Thompson went to his office. No, he wouldn't talk for publication. There was nothing regarding the work of the grand jury which he could legitimately give the newspaper. He would talk about the weather here and the high cost of living in Nashville, Tennessee, but the subject "Grand Jury" was taboo.

LARSEN INSISTS CITY POLICE ARE NOT EFFICIENT

Supervisor Larsen charges that the police department is demoralized, and that if the police want to stamp out che-fa games in this city the gambling pastime would be put out of commission within 24 hours. The statement was made at the meeting of the supervisors last night.

"A che-fa game couldn't run 24 hours in Honolulu if the police did their duty," said Larsen.

The outburst followed the reading of communications between the mayor and the sheriff, the former asking that che-fa be stamped out, and the latter replying that the police were doing all within their power, but that the che-fa players have become wily and resort to all sorts of tricks to outdo the police.

Larsen said that if the police would resort to "all sorts of tricks" too they might be able to go the che-fa bankers "one better."
