Galveston Cut Off From Mainland—Hurricane Isolates Austin, San Antonio, Houston and Beaumont

FEARS FELT HERE FOR SAFETY OF U. S. TROOPS

Many Soldiers Garrisoned at Texas City, Where Inrushing Seas May Cause Disaster—Gale Reported To Be Subsiding

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless] DALLAS, Texas, Aug. 17.—The great storm raging on the Gulf coast is doing much damage, but so far no casualties in the menaced cities and towns have been reported.

Galveston's connecting link with the mainland, the big causeway built after the disaster of a number of years ago, snapped last night when the battering of the waves tore away 100 feet of the heavy construction.

Together with the wind and waves from the Gulf of Mexico, further furious rains have fallen. Five feet of rainwater is reported in the streets of Galveston.

Austin, San Antonio, Houston and Beaumont have been isolated by the storm, which has torn down telephone and telegraph wires.

The transport McClellan broke from her moorings and drifted half a mile seaward but is believed to be safe.

Local army officers are considerably worried over the possibility of disaster at Texas City, where many thousand U. S. soldiers are quartered. The post is exposed to the fury of the storm and disaster is feared.

Late reports today say that the hurricane is dying out.

The transport Buford was due to sail shortly from Galveston with troops for the Philippines, passing through the Panama Canal and touching here. It is considered doubtful now if she can sail as proposed.

Texas City is only four feet above sea-level. It is about 12 miles from Galveston. In the big storm of 1900 the mainland near Galveston was flooded, and it is believed by army officers here who have been at Galveston and Texas City that the post is probably under water now, there being five feet of water in Galveston.

JOHN D. SPRECKELS HERE WITH PARTY ON HIS YACHT VENETIA

John D. Spreckels

John D. Spreckels' handsome yacht, the Venetia, slipped smoothly into the harbor this morning from Hilo and anchored in the stream. A merry party of Honolulu people—friends and acquaintances of the California capitalist, and society folk—went out to board the Venetia and then began a busy round of entertainment which will give Mr. Spreckels and his party scant leisure time during their brief stay here.

It has been rumored that the son of Claus Spreckels, the sugar king whose history is indissolubly tied up with that of Hawaiian industry, would have an eye open for business while he is here, particularly the steamship business, inasmuch as he is head of the Oceanic Steamship Company and head of various sugar and sugar refining companies. However, his friends and business associates deny that he is here on any business whatever. They say the trip is for pleasure only. But even at that it is probable that he will to some extent look into business conditions as he goes along and may have some announcement to make as to the future of the Oceanic company as it concerns Hawaii.

Officer and general director of nearly 20 large corporations, whose interests embrace everything from hotels to railroads and steamship lines, Mr. Spreckels found himself tired by his many and varied labors and has taken this extended trip as a measure towards a complete mental and physical relaxation. He will be in Honolulu for a short stay only. The yacht will leave soon for the island of Kauai.

Richard Ivers of Brewer & Company, who left this city for a trip to the mainland early in June, returned with Mr. Spreckels in his yacht. Mr. Ivers' trip was also one of pleasure. He spent all of his time on the Pacific coast, partly in the Canadian Rockies, where he enjoyed the hunting and magnificent scenery of this region and partly on a tour along the Sierra Nevada mountains through California.

He stayed only a short time in San Francisco to see the wonders of the Panama-Pacific exposition as he desired to spend most of his vacation in the country.

In conversation this morning Mr. Ivers indicated his belief that free sugar will go into effect on May 1 of next year, as provided in the Wilson-Underwood tariff bill, and that Hawaii must expect the deleterious effects of free trade on its dominant industry.

Ranging 225 feet from bowsprit to stern, and every foot designed for commodious grace, with no suggestion of the clumsy freight carrier, the beautiful steam yacht Venetia perfectly fills her reputation as one of the grandest boats on the Pacific. Built to combine the two difficult ideals of speed and comfort, the Venetia runs in easy lines from the uptilted schooner bow to the serviceable

ENGINEERS AND MACHINE GUN CO. JOHNSON'S PLAN

These, in Addition to Cavalry, Will Bring National Guard Up to High Standard

BUSINESS MEN OFFER TO FINANCE SCHEME

No Thirteenth Company Will Be Formed, But Men Can Enlist and Be Detailed at Choice

A machine gun company will soon be added to the 1st Infantry, National Guard of Hawaii, if tentative plans of Col. Samuel Johnson, the adjutant general, work out according to present prospects. The local guard is fortunate in that it has most of the material and equipment on hand for the formation of this special unit, and that the men can be enrolled and equipped immediately.

Another plan of the new adjutant general for increase of the guard, which promises to be productive of results in the near future, is a pioneer company of engineers, which the war department is very anxious to have added to the organized militia of the territory.

Before leaving for Hawaii last Saturday Col. Johnson interested a number of prominent business men in the proposed machine gun organization, and secured the promise of their hearty support and cooperation, even to the extent of financing the new organization at their own expense if federal funds were not immediately available.

Charles R. Forbes, superintendent of public works, has taken over the organization of the engineer company, and already has received many applications from those who are anxious to enroll.

According to war department ruling, the machine gun outfit cannot be recruited as a separate unit, to form a thirteenth company of the regiment, but must be composed of men detailed from the companies of the regiment. However, these men can be enlisted and assigned to companies of the 1st Infantry with the distinct understanding that they be assigned to the provisional machine gun company.

The company by regulation, is commanded by the regimental commissary.

HOPE TO RAISE F-4 TO SURFACE BY SEPTEMBER 1

Heavy Swell and Stiff Breeze Prevent Mooring of Additional Buoys Today

Owing to a heavy swell and a stiff breeze, Naval Constructor J. A. Furer and his men were not able to finish anchoring the two remaining mooring buoys over the F-4 today. Operations were concerned mainly with completing rigging up the dredge Reclamation, which will be attached to the buoys tomorrow morning if the sea is then calm enough.

While neither Mr. Furer nor Lieut. K. B. Crittenden would make any definite statement as to when the submarine will be actually raised to the surface, September 1 is given as an approximate date. So many unexpected things may happen between now and then, or unfavorable weather may occur again to delay the work, that it is impossible to estimate accurately the date.

That the submarine's condition, even when raised, will be such that not any evidences of the cause of the disaster can be obtained from it is the belief of the Army and Navy Journal. In an article concerning the F-4 the publication says: "Very little hope is entertained by the naval authorities that the recovered submarine will contain any evidences which will enable an accurate determination of the causes of the disaster."

WASHINGTON NOT BIT SURPRISED AT SUGAR PROBE

Coming of Commission to Hawaii Is in Line With Move to Retain or Replace Duty

CONGRESS EXPECTED TO ACT IN DECEMBER

Retention of Duty, if Decided Upon, Will Be Solely for Revenue, and Not for Protection

By C. S. ALBERT.
(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)
WASHINGTON, August 4.—The announcement that a force of four special agents will thoroughly investigate the sugar industry of Hawaii did not create the slightest degree of surprise among those here who have followed events since the enactment of the Underwood-Simmons tariff law.

The impression has been steadily growing for many months that the situation would be carefully canvassed from every angle in order that a decision might be reached concerning the possible restoration of sugar to its former protective duties. It has been equally well understood that if such action were taken it would be based altogether on the necessity for raising revenue, and not on the theory of affording protection to the industry.

A report on sugar conditions must be submitted to Congress before May 1, 1916, when that article automatically goes on the free list. If found necessary to enact remedial legislation and prevent sugar from being entirely placed on the free list it is desired to have it undertaken by the Congress which assembles December 6. The idea would be to have the briefest possible interval elapse before the restoration of sugar to the dutiable list, with a corresponding aid in the matter of raising revenue.

The plan to make a three months' study of conditions in Hawaii may be somewhat modified and a shorter period allowed for that purpose. The inquiry must be extended to the sugar industry in Cuba, Porto Rico. It is proposed to perform this portion of the task after the commission returns from Hawaii. Chief Special Agent Frank J. Sheridan is in charge of the party now at the Hawaiian Islands.

Under the law creating the cost of production division of the commerce bureau which contemplated investigations for the benefit of Congress in framing tariff legislation, only dutiable articles can be investigated, and the sugar inquiry must, therefore, be concluded before May 1 of next year.

The division has completed and will publish shortly reports on women's mail underwear, cotton hosiery and knit goods, and reports are being prepared on men's shirts, collars and cuffs and men's ready-to-wear garments. Preliminary work is in progress on men's hats and cotton gloves. These inquiries will furnish a full report on the dry goods schedule of the tariff.

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless] DENVER, Colo., Aug. 17.—Bitter warfare between mining operators and miners in the Colorado fields was indicated today when the supreme court issued a writ of prohibition barring Granby Hillier from presiding at the trials of miners and strikers accused of inciting disorders. The writ was issued at the request of the mine workers. It is alleged that Hillier was once an attorney for the companies. The supreme court also granted a supersedeas in the case of John R. Lawson, the United Mine Workers official, convicted of criminal conspiracy. The case will be brought before the court on its merits.

SLATON BRANDS FRANK LYNCHING AS COWARDS' ACT

Georgia's Fearless Former Governor Declares Mob Should Hang—Body of Jew Prisoner Found on Tree Early Today, Near Mary Phagan's Former Home

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless] SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., August 17.—"The lynching of Frank was the act of cowards and an outrage upon Georgia," declared Former Governor Slaton today. It was Slaton who commuted Frank's death sentence to life imprisonment a few days before leaving the executive chair.

"All engaged in this lynching should hang," declares Slaton, who is visiting the exposition. "Good citizens everywhere will condemn the act."

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless] ATLANTA, Ga., August 17.—Late today the body of Leo Frank was brought here. It is understood it will be sent to his former home in Brooklyn, where his parents are living, and buried there.

In an address before the Civic League later in the day, ex-Governor Slaton said:

"It is better for Leo Frank to have been lynched than executed. One attacks the body, the other the soul. The outcome of the case is the result of the exalted position of woman in the heart of the Georgian."

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless] MARIETTA, Georgia, August 17.—The body of Leo M. Frank, lynched early this morning by the masked band of 25 men which took him from the prison farm at Milledgeville last night, was found at 8:30 this morning hanging to a tree near a road.

He had been hung within sight of the former home of Mary Phagan, the factory girl of whose murder he was convicted under circumstances that aroused country-wide notice.

Frank had been brought 100 miles from the prison farm, taken in an auto at high speed. It is learned that a portion of the crowd wished to mutilate the body.

OUTLYING FORTS THERE AND AT NOVOGEORGIEVSK ARE TAKEN UNDER HEAVY CANNONADING—WASHINGTON AND BERLIN REACHING AGREEMENT ON PAYMENT FOR SINKING OF SHIP W. P. FRYE

[Associated Press Service by Federal Wireless] SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 17.—Congressmen Curry, Kahn and Hayes of the California delegation plan to ask the house naval affairs committee to approve appropriations for 50 submarines for Pacific coast defense.

LONDON, Eng., Aug. 17.—One of the most serious sea losses of the war has been suffered by Great Britain in attempting to send reinforcements for the troops which have landed at Gallipoli peninsula to aid the attack on the Dardanelles. The transport Royal Edward, carrying soldiers to the Dardanelles, was sunk by a submarine in the Aegean sea last Saturday. One thousand men were lost.

HONOLULU WILL BE ONE OF FEW SUNDAY SERIES

Noted Revivalist Tells Rev. A. A. Ebersole He Plans Few Campaigns Next Year

"I made a special trip to San Diego, and called on 'Billy' Sunday there," said Rev. A. A. Ebersole, associate pastor of the Central Union church, this morning while waiting for the Matsuno, on which he and Mrs. Ebersole were passengers to dock.

"Sunday said to me: 'Well, Ebersole, you tell them I'm coming as soon as I can arrange it for next summer. I am only going to hold campaigns in a few cities in the coming year, this fall at Omaha, about mid-winter in Syracuse, and later at Baltimore. I may not take more than those three, and if I do it will leave me free to come to Honolulu early next summer.'

This is the word brought back by Rev. Mr. Ebersole, who called on Rev. William A. Sunday to convey to him the offer of the Honolulu Inter-Church Federation to come here for an evangelistic campaign.

From his interview with the famous revivalist, Rev. Mr. Ebersole is confident that the spring of 1916 will see Mr. Sunday here, holding meetings similar to those which have resulted in hundreds of thousands of conversions in every city in which he has appeared.

Most of his vacation was passed in Colorado by Rev. Mr. Ebersole, who stayed at Denver and Colorado Springs for nearly two months. He had planned a trip north to Rev. Mr. Sunday's summer home in the Hood River valley, Oregon, but on learning that the evangelist was in San Diego made a special trip there to interview him and present the Honolulu Inter-Church Federation's offer.

Rev. Mr. Ebersole said the noted revivalist spoke at union revival services held in the San Francisco tabernacle a month ago. "We will keep in correspondence with Rev. Mr. Sunday," said the Honolulu minister, "and will know later in the year whether he will be able to come, and when."

JOHN McCANDLESS ARDENT ADVOCATE OF BILLY SUNDAY?

Well-known Honolulu Said to Have Sat on Platform With Revivalist at 'Frisco

News filtered in here today from Honolulu passengers on the Matsuno, to the effect that John A. McCandless, has become an ardent advocate of "Billy" Sunday, the world famous evangelist, whose preaching has converted thousands, and whose pithy acrobatics have delighted or disgusted thousands more.

According to a friend, Mr. McCandless even became so friendly with Rev. Mr. Sunday at San Francisco that when "Billy" preached in the San Francisco tabernacle, during the recent union evangelistic services in the exposition city, Mr. McCandless was on the platform. He is said to have joined the ranks of those Honoluluans who want Mr. Sunday to come here and "revive" Honolulu.

Tonight he will preach at the Japanese Methodist church at South King street, and tomorrow will leave for Hilo on the Mauna Kea. He expects to return to Honolulu next Tuesday, and will sail for the United States on the steamship Korea, August 21. Kanamori is said to be one of the most eloquent speakers in the Japanese tongue.

NINETY MEN HEAR C. K. AT TELL OF CHINESE ACHIEVEMENT HERE

Pan-Pacific Luncheon at Y. M. C. A. Gymnasium Marked by Important Announcements

It was Chinese day at the Pan-Pacific luncheon held today and a crowd of men, 90 in number, met in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium to listen to the chief speaker, C. K. Ai, tell of the work that the Chinese have done in the upbuilding of Hawaii.

Owing to the need of more room, through the constantly increasing attendance at the luncheons, the gymnasium will hereafter be used instead of Cooke Hall, which has been found too small to accommodate all those who come.

Alexander Hume Ford presided as chairman and in his usual pleasant and clever way introduced the speakers.

Mr. Ai said, in part:

"It may not be a had idea for me to take you back to the early historical days when the islands were barely known to the outside world. While the American war of independence was going on there were some very interesting dramas enacted right here in the isles of the Pacific. Vancouver, in his Book of Voyages, related that in the year 1789, a Captain Metcalf had sailed from Macao, China, with a crew of 10 Americans and 45 Chinese on the schooner Eleanor. This vessel was said to have called at the islands of Hawaii and Maui. Although no records can be found to substantiate the claim it was commonly believed that a good number of these 45 Chinese, if not all, had taken up their residence in the islands. What helped to strengthen this belief was that the schooner Eleanor would not have enough jobs to go around even to one-third of the 45 Chinese. Further, when Vancouver himself returned to the islands in 1791, or thereabouts, he found Chinese settlers already here and that commercial relations had been established between these islands and China.

At the home of Betsy Ross in Philadelphia, where the first American flag was made, a descendant of Betsy Ross has presented to the Pan-American Union the first Pan-American flag, the flag of the two Americas. Let us have a Pan-Pacific flag—a flag for all the people of the Pacific.

For the Civic Convention I am to appoint a five-minute speaker for each of our great Pacific races, a speaker who in five minutes will tell briefly what the people of his nationality can and will do to make these islands a better place to live in. On that committee it is a pleasure to name as five-minute speakers for: Hawaii, Prince Kuhio; China, C. K. Ai; Japan, Y. Soegi; Latin-America, M. C. Pacheco; Australia, A. T. Henderson; Korea, Dr. S. Rhee; and as delegates: Pan-Pacific, A. H. Ford; Canada, J. W. Wadman; Washington-Oregon, R. E. Lambert; South America, T. F. Sedgwick; California, A. L. Mackay; New Zealand, A. C. Linnemann.

"Some day we are to have a flag of Pacific unity and that flag must be made up of parts. First let us know each other's flags. With your permission I will appoint Tuesday, September 21, as Flag Day, when the representatives of each Pacific state and country and colony will be expected to present us with the flag of its land and in furtherance of this plan I will appoint the following as a committee on flags and Flag Day: Canada, Rev. W. P. Fry; Washington, F. Carter; Oregon, Ed Dekun; California, G. W. R. King; Pan-America, Jack Gomes; New Zealand, C. F. Maxwell; Australia, J. W. Bains; Philippines, L. M. de Jesus; China, Consul Woonhan Tsang; Japan, Consul-General H. Arita; Korea, Dr. Syngman Rhee; Hawaii, Col. Curtis Lanika.

"I would suggest a uniform size of five by seven feet for the flags and that the committee enlist the aid of the ladies and arrange appropriate ceremonies for the presentation of the flags. Perhaps the women of each Pacific state and nation may consent to appear for that occasion in national dress, bearing their flags, and the chairman may make presentation in brief three-minute expressions of sentiment. The flags will be raised about these walls and carried with us to the fourth Civic Convention."

Following Mr. Ai's speech which was given with hearty applause, Lloyd R. Kilham, who returned this morning from the coast, and who has charge of the Oriental department of the Y. M. C. A. work here, was asked to say a few words.

Mr. Kilham told briefly of his visit to the states, and of meeting several Chinese boys there from Hawaii, all of whom, he said, are making good. At the University of Missouri are three boys, one of whom is a son of Mr. Ai.

R. E. Lambert told of the work of the Pan-American club of North and South America, which includes 21 republics, and which is much like the Pan-Pacific club in its aims and workings. Mr. Lambert prophesied that the local club would in time come to have as great a standing among nations as the Pan-American club now has.

The luncheon next Tuesday will be given over to speeches from the Portuguese, who will tell of their part in the life of the territory.

NO CHANCE FOR PINE MARKET IN EAST JUST NOW

A. T. Longley, Market Superintendent of Florida Fruit Too Great

The fact that the Pacific Mail Steamship Company shortly will take its ships off the Pacific, and that the Oceanic Steamship Company expects to take the Sierra off the Honolulu-San Francisco run has sadly handicapped the plan of the territorial marketing division to ship fresh Hawaiian pineapples to the mainland, according to Superintendent A. T. Longley, who returned from the coast today.

In addition to this information, Mr. Longley told the Star-Bulletin that, after a thorough investigation of conditions, he has found it practically impossible to open in the East this year a market for Hawaiian pines. The competition of the pineapples grown in Florida, he says, is too strong.

Mr. Longley's trip to the coast was primarily for the purpose of serving the officials of transpacific steamship companies with a view to having them put additional ventilators on their vessels which would permit the shipping of a greater quantity of fresh pineapples from Honolulu to the mainland. These interviews were had, he said today, but the outcome was not very successful.

The Pacific Mail officials informed Mr. Longley that they would give the division all the space required on their vessels and would arrange the placing of freight from the Orient so that this space would be ready when the vessels arrived in Honolulu. The news that the Pacific Mail would go out of business, however, put an end to any plans in that direction.

The Oceanic people offered the division space for 100 tons of pines a steamer, meaning the Sierra, but that it could not promise anything on the vessels stopping at Honolulu on their way to the mainland from Australia. Mr. Longley learned in San Francisco that the Sierra probably will be taken off the Honolulu-San Francisco run and placed in service between San Francisco and Australia.

The Matson line promised the division more space for pineapple shipments, but declined to give aid to the extent of installing additional ventilators. The company offered to give space for 300 tons, or 9000 cases, of fresh pineapples each month.

"Summing the whole thing up," Mr. Longley said today, "we will have to limit to 300 tons a month. That is but a mere drop in the bucket. Next year, if the pineapple crop shows an increase, we will have to have more space for shipments."

After spending several days in San Francisco, Mr. Longley proceeded to Chicago, where he expected to open a market for the fresh pineapples grown by the small farmers on Oahu which are not contracted for at the canneries.

While in the eastern city he conferred with several commission men. He found that it is impossible to open a market at this time of the year, but believes, as he said today, that from the first of February until the middle of April there will be a demand for choice fruits, and that Honolulu will be able to ship pineapples there in carload lots and sell them at a paying price. Large shipments of Florida pines are being made to Chicago, and the fruit is very popular, he said.

Mr. Longley explained that on the Pacific coast about four times as many pines are being used as before the first of July. They are meeting with a good demand in spite of the fact that California fruits are plentiful and cheap.

"The present plan of the division is to ship every pine where we can find a market which will bring the producer a profit, no matter how small," Mr. Longley continued. "Of course, we cannot expect to market all the fruit available this year and while we are making every effort to find a market for all the pines for which we can get transportation, no doubt a great many will have to be lost. I didn't look into the demand for canned pineapple, but every restaurant to which I went had Hawaiian pineapple, canned, on the menu."

"During the pineapple season in Chicago that city receives several carloads each day from Florida. Very few are received from Porto Rico. The season starts about the first of April and continues until the end of the year. As to the Cuban pines, one shipper told me that he had hundreds of tons of the fruit in Cuba which were rotting for the want of a market.

"So, for the time being, the division will not be able to do anything in Chicago."

On his way back to the coast, Mr. Longley stopped at Salt Lake City, where, he says, there are prospects of a good market. He saw some Hawaiian pineapples there which were selling for 12 1/2 cents a pound. Mr. Longley says he thinks the local division could ship them there at prices which would make them sell at about six cents a pound.

Speaking of the Hawaiian exhibit at the exposition in San Francisco, Mr. Longley said that it "had the crowd," but that "there should be something more for the people to see." He says that the aquarium without a doubt is the biggest and most popular attraction and that when he was there visitors lined the tanks three and four deep.

PECCOLAR WILL CASE INTERESTS LOCAL RESIDENT

John Keith's Bequest of $50,000 to Mrs. Edith Spreckels May Be Involved

A sensational will case story, with an angle which touches a bequest of $50,000 to Mrs. Edith Huntington Spreckels, now in Honolulu, has come here from San Francisco.

The story is that told by a Mrs. Louise Thomson in Los Angeles. Briefly, it is that she is the daughter of the late John Keith, a wealthy mining man, and suddenly she has appeared from the unknown to claim his half-million dollar estate.

The story she tells to explain her long absence from the scene of Keith's later life is one of the most curious in court annals.

Thirty odd years ago, according to Mrs. Thomson's narrative of her broken life, John Keith and his daughter, Louise, were shipwrecked off the Alaska coast. They were separated. Passengers clung to ice packs. John Keith saw on a floe a girl whom he thought was his daughter and saw her disappear into the sea.

He believed her dead. She was rescued. An Esquimaux found her unconscious and took her to his igloo. And there, in an Esquimaux village the girl Louise, who was Mrs. Thomson, lived for 16 years, and almost forgot her race.

At the end of that period Mrs. Thomson said she was found by white trappers and recognized. She was returned to her old home in British Columbia, only to find her husband was married again and with a family of five children. Her father had not been heard of.

Heartbroken she returned to the Esquimaux village to live out her life. Then, in 1912, Mrs. Sarah J. Tedford, an aunt or sister-in-law, sent for her. Since that time she has been with Mrs. Tedford and it was not, she says, until she saw a notice of the death of John Keith in the newspapers that she knew her father had survived the wreck in Alaska.

The San Francisco Chronicle says that John Keith's will left $50,000 to his brothers and sisters. Mrs. Edith Huntington Spreckels was bequeathed $50,000, and Mrs. Willard C. Chamberlain $25,000 and a house. The University of California had a claim for $145,000 and it was because of dispute over that claim that postponement of the probating of the will was granted.

Keith, it is said, never mentioned that he had a daughter. Only one paragraph in the will indicates that the testator had any thought of a contest. He wrote:

"Anyone contesting and successfully breaking this will shall be allowed $5—no more."

No mention was made of any child in the will, and this the lawyers say makes it possible for a child, who can prove that Keith was her father, to take the entire fortune.

Mrs. Thomson's story was immediately contradicted by relatives of Keith, among them Luke Davis, a nephew, and Amos Keith, a brother. They say Keith never went to Alaska at all.

Concerning the disposition of the estate, the Chronicle of August 11, says:

"The only distribution of the estate made so far was the presentation under the provisions of Keith's will of a limousine to Mrs. Willard C. Chamberlain and an auto to Charles McCord, who was Keith's chauffeur. Further distribution of the estate will be held up probably by protest on August 23 of Mrs. Thomson and Mrs. Tedford."

"It was said yesterday that Mrs. Edith Huntington Spreckels, who was bequeathed $50,000 by Keith, had sold her legacy to Morris Wind of the Eagle Tannery. Mrs. Spreckels is said to have withdrawn her petition for a distribution of the estate."

MAJOR LANE MAKES INSPECTION, AND FINDS PLAN FEASIBLE—WOULD SAVE CITY MONEY

Late yesterday Mayor Lane inspected the police station building and following the inspection he announced today that he believes that the station house will accommodate two extra stories wherein the mayor plans to locate the city executive offices.

"The foundation, I am told, is plenty strong to support two more floors," said Mayor Lane today, "and if so it appears to me that the city can save a lot of money by putting the city hall on top of the police station. Not only would it save the cost of a building site but it would save the expense of laying a foundation."

If the extra stories are erected on top of the police station, an elevator would be included in the plans. The present building is two stories in height. The mayor will make another trip of inspection today or tomorrow with Building Inspector Freitas and the latter will be asked to furnish an estimate of the cost of erecting the two extra stories.

Heartbroken she returned to the Esquimaux village to live out her life. Then, in 1912, Mrs. Sarah J. Tedford, an aunt or sister-in-law, sent for her. EMDEN OFFICER FREED FROM JAIL BY REVOLUTION?

That Herr Lauterbach, formerly second officer of the cruiser Emden, who passed through Honolulu on Tuesday of last week on the Mongolia bound for the coast, was freed from his British prison at Singapore by a native revolution, is the news that came down from Berlin on August 1, and printed in mainland papers as having been given out from the wireless station at Sayville, Long Island.

Says the Berlin despatch:

"There has been a further revolutionary outbreak at Singapore. Here the rioters liberated a number of German, Austrian and Hungarian prisoners of war and certain interned civilians and helped them leave India."

"Among the persons so liberated is the second officer of the German cruiser Emden, Herr Lauterbach, who has arrived at Batavia."

TUESDAY - - - - - AUGUST 17, 1915.

DANGEROUS GROUND.

The Honolulu Chamber of Commerce meets tomorrow to discuss the question of steamship passenger service between Hawaii and the mainland.

There is a proposal that the coastwise shipping law be so amended as to allow foreign vessels to carry passengers between Hawaii and the mainland.

There is a compromise proposal that the coastwise law amendment reduce the fine on foreign vessels so carrying passengers, from $200 to $25, the theory of the proponents being that this will induce the foreign ships to enter the local passenger trade.

The situation has arisen because of temporary congestion of passenger traffic and because of the announced suspension of Pacific Mail service. It is a serious situation. No one denies that. But is it a situation for Americans to meet by throwing local trade open to the competition of foreign subsidized lines?

How will Hawaii be regarded in Congress if we ask for suspension of the coastwise law? How will it affect the basic principle of political economy for which Hawaii stands—the principle of protection for American industry?

An illuminating answer to these questions may be found in the Congressional Record for February 1, 1915. On that day the United States senate was in discussion of the so-called ship purchase bill. In the course of that discussion, comments were made, arguments set forth, facts laid down, which bear directly on the subject to be discussed by Honolulu's businessmen tomorrow.

Senator Gallinger, that old Republican war-horse, a strong influence in his party, made the principal speech of the day—a masterly speech. Early in his address he quoted from a report of the Boston Chamber of Commerce. In part the report says:

Trade with Hawaii is and has been since 1900 American coastwise trade, in which none but American vessels may lawfully participate. The inclusion of Hawaii among foreign ports in foreign trade is without a shadow of excuse; all interested in the American merchant marine will rightfully regard it as an ugly menace.

Later in his speech Senator Gallinger said: At the last session of Congress a bold attempt was made to put foreign ships into the coastwise trade of the United States. We had a lengthy discussion of it. If I ever contributed anything to a discussion that was worthy of remembrance, I flatter myself that what I said on that subject was worthy of consideration. When the vote was taken it was defeated by two to one in this body.

In the last edition of this bill it is boldly said that the vessels that are to be constructed—and most of them will be constructed in foreign shipyards, probably—are to be allowed to trade with Hawaii, which has always been considered a coastwise port. So that, defeated in the broad purpose, it is attempted under the guise of a bill of this kind to get the same result to a limited extent, beyond question with the belief and hope that if this bill goes through Congress the next attempt to put foreign ships into our coastwise trade and destroy our shipyards and our American shipping industry will be successful.

Honolulu businessmen may well wonder, if opposition of this sort was voiced to American government-owned ships in the coastwise trade, what the opposition would be to opening the gates to foreign ships!

Shortly afterwards Senator Gallinger commented that "we have an abundance of ships in the coastwise trade because we have protected them from competition with cheaper-built and cheaper-navigated foreign ships. The consequence is that we have a coastwise fleet that is not only the admiration of our country but the admiration of the world."

The senator's direct references to the analogy between protection on industry and on shipping came after he had pointed out in detail where foreign shipowners, through subsidies and cheap labor, have a tremendous advantage over the American shipowner in overseas competition. He pointed out how the coastwise trade has been given legitimate protection and the immense development under that protection. He said:

The American protective tariff . . . equalizes conditions and gives fair play to American manufacturers and their employees. There is no such compensation to the American shipowner, who is compelled to carry on his business, if it is overseas business, on conditions of free trade, or of worse than free trade if his British or other foreign competitor is in receipt of a subsidy from his government.

And again he observed: The magnificent development of American coastwise shipping, which is five times the coastwise shipping of any other nation and larger than the whole merchant fleet of Germany or any other nation except Great Britain, shows of what American shipowners, builders and seamen are capable when given a fair and equal opportunity. There have been fair and equal conditions in this coastwise trade. American shipowners have been able to construct their ships and employ their crews on an even basis, without the handicap of competition with the low wage scale and meaner living conditions of Europe and Japan. And there has been no further and overwhelming handicap from European and Japanese subsidies and bounties.

Throughout his speech, which occupied several hours, Senator Gallinger's remarks were frequently approved by leading Republicans.

The Star-Bulletin quotes at this length from a congressional debate for one single purpose—to show how any attempt to amend the coastwise law in the interests of foreign competition is going to be looked upon by the staunch friends of protection in Congress—and the staunch friends of Hawaii in the sugar tariff fight. Of course the argument will be made that what is now proposed in Honolulu is merely an amendment to the coastwise law regarding passengers and does not affect the freighting business, which is by far the larger factor. But this distinction will not be given much consideration in Congress. The attitude of leading Republicans there, as Senator Gallinger pointed out, is overwhelmingly against any "entering wedge" which would open the coastwise trade to foreign competition.

Senator Gallinger also brings clearly to the surface the analogy between protection on shipping and protection on industry—tariff. That analogy is bound to be brought up if Hawaii asks for suspension of the coastwise law, or modification of the law—and pointed out to Hawaii's disadvantage.

The Star-Bulletin has already said that the compromise plan offers certain beneficial possibilities, but that it should be the last and not the first resort for Hawaii. There are other possibilities which involve no doubtful, dangerous, inconsistent fight in favor of foreign competition. Our first resort should be to the American companies. What will they do for Hawaii? Is this passenger congestion so serious that they cannot overcome it?

A suggestion has been made that the American-Hawaiian company be approached and asked to establish some passenger accommodations on their ships for a triangular coast-Hawaii run. If the sugar men of Hawaii would join in proposing such an arrangement—providing the Matson or the Oceanic companies do not feel able to expand their passenger facilities—the American-Hawaiian company would have to listen, for its prosperity is largely built up on Hawaiian sugar freightage.

Honolulu businessmen should pause ere talking suspension of the coastwise law, or deciding upon a compromise which necessitates modification of that law. It is trenching upon dangerous ground.

THE MURDER OF FRANK

Leo M. Frank has been foully, cold-bloodedly murdered by a Georgia mob. The members of that mob hid their moral cowardice under masks, and numbers gave them courage to take Frank from the prison farm and hang him. The shameful history of this case has come to a climax. The men who lynched Frank should be tried for murder, but the spirit which encouraged them will balk any such procedure. Georgia has blotted the page of American justice with a dark and bloody plot.

Paunah street Democrats can't understand why Attorney-general Gregory recommended Judges Robertson and Whitney for reappointment, nor why President Wilson reappointed them. The Paunah street Democrats can't see why merit should be a qualification for public office.

Murder is getting as common in Hawaii as embezzlement.

Mr. McCann's friends insist that he will return to Hawaii but are not so sure now that it is going to be as chief justice.

German powder plant in Pennsylvania has been blown up. Not, however, by one of Erich Muentner-Holt's bombs.

Britain and France to Italy and Russia: "Why don't you hurry up and do something with those Germans."

President Yuan Shih-Kai is going to end that presidential term controversy by making himself emperor.

Like the proverbial prophet, Hawaii's fair building is not without honor save in its own country.

Cheap water furnished to ships will in the long run be money saved and invested for Honolulu.

HARRY T. LAKE, detective with the city and county attorney's office, has returned to work after a vacation of two weeks.

R. L. HALSEY, inspector in charge of the local federal immigration station, expects to return to Honolulu August 31. He has been attending the International Immigration Congress at San Francisco.

LESLIE G. NIBLACK, editor and publisher of the Leader of Guthrie, Oakland, will sail on the Manoa this afternoon after spending a week in the islands. He is charmed with Hawaii and hopes to make another visit here before many years. "I want to say, as a newspaperman, that the two Honolulu dailies are remarkable in the completeness with which they cover the local and foreign field and the up-to-dateness of their news presentation," he comments. "I appreciate that the newspapers can do it only at a heavy financial burden, too. They certainly are a credit to Hawaii. And, also, let me say that the street-car system here is about the best in all-around service that I have seen. The roads are generally good, but the boulevard to Waikiki could stand an improvement." Mr. Niblack is a relative of Capt. Niblack, U. S. N., former commandant here, now commanding the U. S. S. Michigan.

Little News

S. W. ROBLEY: I am to leave tomorrow for a 10 day vacation at Kaneohe and other points on the windward side of the island. During my absence the boys' extension club will be closed. They will open again on September 1, with general organization for the work of the winter season.

LESLIE G. NIBLACK (Oklahoma): I leave Honolulu a good booster for the islands. It looks to me as if your principal crops are sugar and tourists and the tourist crop is capable of much more development in the future than is your sugar.

W. A. BOWEN: A piano is greatly needed in the little church at Hana, Maui. If anyone wishes to send a second-hand piano, or money enough to buy a new one, the gift would be greatly appreciated. Rev. and Mrs. George E. Lake are in charge at Hana.

J. D. LEVENSON: Mayor Lane has graciously promised the Ad Club the Royal Hawaiian band for our contingent of the Kauai convention to be held September 26 and 27. "Sonny" Cunha, our "musical little mascot," will also accompany us. There'll certainly be a fine time for all who accompany us. That's all.

Frank Campos came here on April 28, 1907, and Gabriel arrived July 20, 1909.

IRWIN BEQUEST TO CHARITY IS FINALLY PAID

Twenty-five thousand dollars, less the California inheritance tax of $2500, has been received by the Associated Charities of Honolulu from the estate of William G. Irwin, late of San Francisco. At a meeting of the board of directors of the association yesterday, it was voted to set the fund aside as a capital investment and devote the income, which will amount to $1100 or $1200 annually, to the payment of a manager's salary. When the will of Mr. Irwin was probated it was found that $25,000 had been bequeathed to the "United Charities of Hawaii" and a like amount to the "United Charities of San Francisco." As there were no organizations in existence under these names, it was construed to mean that the money was meant for the Associated Charities of Honolulu and the Associated Charities of San Francisco. Little or no trouble was experienced in straightening out these matters. The board of directors passed a resolution yesterday, of thanks to Mrs. Irwin and her late husband, who have been generous in their assistance to the needy in Hawaii. An interesting talk on the work of the Men's Industrial of the Pittsburgh Association for the Improvement of the Poor was given by Miss Martha L. Root, an American magazine writer, who has been visiting in Hawaii.

THE BEST THING FOR DYSPEPSIA

Why Pepsin, Pancreatin, Etc., So Frequently Fail.

An international specialist whose articles on stomach trouble have been printed in nearly every language, recently stated that to treat the average case of stomach trouble, indigestion, dyspepsia, etc., by doctoring the stomach, killing the pain with opiates, or by the use of artificial aids to digestion such as pepsin and pancreatin, was just as foolish and useless as to attempt to put out a fire by throwing water on the smoke, instead of the fire. He claims, and facts seem to justify his claim, that nearly nine-tenths of all stomach trouble is due to acidity and food fermentation; and that the only way in which to secure permanent relief is to get rid of the cause, i. e., to neutralize the acid and stop the fermentation. For this purpose he strongly recommends the plan now generally adopted throughout Europe of taking a teaspoonful of ordinary bisulphated magnesia in a little water immediately after eating or whenever pain is felt. This immediately neutralizes the acid, stops the fermentation and permits the stomach to do its work in a normal manner and thus by removing the cause, enables nature to quickly restore the inflamed stomach lining to a perfectly healthy natural condition. For the convenience of travelers it may be noted that most druggists are now able to supply bisulphated magnesia in 5 grain tablets, 2 or 3 of which will almost instantly relieve the most violent attacks of indigestion. HAWAII IS ONLY ISLAND TO SEND HEAVY REPORT

Reports of many cases of tuberculosis have been received for the first half of August from Honolulu, and from the island of Hawaii, according to the anti-tuberculosis bureau of the board of health. The other islands are not reporting many cases, and deaths from the disease in all districts are light, as far as is known. Clinics at the office of the bureau in the board of health this week have not yielded as many suspects as previously. These clinics, which are held Tuesday and Thursday mornings are for the purpose of examining only persons known to have been exposed to the disease from another member of the family. Fifty per cent of the families examined in this manner last year showed a spread of the infection outside of the original case. Three families were examined this week, one suspect being listed. To this was added two suspects reported from the tenements where the bureau's agents are carrying on other work.

SUNDAY MOVIES COME UP AGAIN AT LAHAINA

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence) WAILUKU, Aug. 14.—That the question of having Sunday motion pictures on Maui is not dead yet is evidenced by the fact that George Freeland of the Pioneer Hotel has again petitioned the Maui board of supervisors for permission to show at Lahaina on Sunday evening. He claims that he has given free shows just to get a consensus of opinion on the matter, and that 1150 people attended the first Sunday he opened, and the next Sunday a still larger crowd. A public hearing has been held on the board of supervisors for

L. & N. RAILWAY GLAD TO BOOST TRIP TO HAWAII

George W. P. Hunt, governor of the state of Arizona, has written another letter to A. P. Taylor, assistant secretary of the Hawaii Promotion Committee, following the information sent him by Mr. Taylor in regard to the change made in the date for Pineapple Day. "As the time for this annual observance in futurance of one of Hawaii's greatest gifts draws near, I hope to assist, so far as is possible, in securing favorable publicity for the day in this state," writes Governor Hunt. Mr. Taylor also received a letter this morning from the Louisville and Nashville Railway Company, together with their Passenger Bulletin for August. The bulletin contains two articles on Hawaii, and a picture of the Judiciary building. The articles deal with Hawaii as a resort for tourists who are shut off from European travel by the war, and with the Hawaii exhibit at the Panama-Pacific exposition. The company expresses the desire to cooperate in every possible way in the advertising of Hawaiian Pineapple Day upon the dining car menus of November 10.

NEWSIES RUN TO ANDERSON WITH ALL THEIR WOES

When in trouble, tell it to John C. Anderson. This applies to small boys, especially newspaper sellers, and they are "telling it to Johnny" every day. Yesterday a Portuguese youngster ran into the Judiciary building and headed for Anderson's office. He was crying. "Johnny" put his arm about the boy's shoulder and demanded to know what the matter was. "Two, 'free fellas play inside mud," explained the injured one. "One fella go for 'trow mud on me. I make for give plenty lick, but the odder fellas 'trow me down in tar. One fella give me good punch on back. Hurt like anything." He explained further that the "odder fellas" had run away. Anderson told the boy to return to his office today. "I'll have those other fellows here tomorrow," he said. And he will, too.

PIONEER IN NEW KIND OF TEACHING TALKS ON MAUI

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence) WAILUKU, Aug. 14.—At the Alexander House Settlement last evening a representative audience gathered to listen to Mrs. Anna Howell Wilcox, supervisor of continuation classes in New York City under the Board of Education. Mrs. Wilcox is one of the most entertaining speakers that ever visited Maui, and her audience wished she had given more than one hour to her topic. She was the pioneer in continuation classes in the shops and department stores of New York. One hour a day is usually devoted to the work of teaching English to the employees, and the demand has grown now so that the department is greatly increased during the past year, and will still more increase this coming year.

PLAN PHONE TO SUMMIT OF MAUI'S GREAT PEAK

Worth O. Aiken, recently elected as the Maui member of the Hawaii Promotion Committee under the new form of organization, has written to Assistant Secretary Albert P. Mr. Aiken says that the bunks, mattresses, and other conveniences for the Haleakala rest house have arrived and will be taken up at once to the mountain. The house itself is now practically complete.

ULTIMATUM SENT MAIL EXCHANGED ZEPPELIN BOMBS TO REFUGEE VESSELS IN MID-OCEAN SATURDAY HIT VESSEL IN THAMES

The board of harbor commissioners, at a special meeting held late yesterday, issued an ultimatum to the German refugee ships now tied up at local wharves. The ultimatum calls for the removal of the steamers from the harbor before August 31. Failure to do so will result in the commissioners taxing the vessels at the regular tonnage rates.

At present these ships are allowed to tie up to the piers at a rate of $10 a day each. This is much less than it would cost for coal burned if the ships anchored outside the harbor, it is said. Under the tonnage tax, the steamers would be required to pay from $70 to $100 a day as long as they remained in the harbor, Commissioner McCarthy said.

The special meeting was called by Chairman Charles R. Forbes upon receipt of a letter from Hackfeld & Company, agents for the steamers.

At the request of Hackfeld & Company, the commissioners two weeks ago granted the agency two weeks which to decide upon some plan for the removal of the steamers from the harbor. This period expires today, and the letter from Hackfeld & Company requested that an additional stay of two weeks, until August 31, be granted.

After some discussion Commissioner C. J. McCarthy introduced a resolution to the effect that the steamers will be allowed to remain in the harbor until August 31 at the present rate of $10 a day each, and that if the vessels are still tied up at the piers on September 1, the tonnage tax will apply to each steamer.

When these steamers came into the harbor it was agreed by those in charge of them that they would move the ships outside the harbor on 12 hours' notice," said Colonel McCarthy, "and now they say they can't move them because they state that a sufficient amount of coal cannot be secured.

"They'll have to be moved outside the harbor, that's all," declared Chairman Forbes.

Commissioner E. E. Dodge seconded Commissioner McCarthy's resolution and it passed on a unanimous vote. Secretary Church and Commissioner Wakefield were not present at the meeting.

The first of these refugee ships came in a year ago. Since then they have been a constant source of trouble for the harbor master and the harbor commission. The harbor is now congested so that at times steamers have to undergo delay while other vessels are tied up at the wharves. Two of the refugee ships are at Pier 7, another at the naval wharf, two at the Hackfeld wharf and another is anchored outside the harbor.

With every stateroom filled, the Matsun liner Matsunia docked at Pier 15 at 7:30 o'clock this morning, bringing numerous prominent Honoluluans home from the mainland. The boat landed 224 cabin passengers and 23 steerage, also 21 automobiles and 5123 tons of general cargo.

"Had a millpond of a sea all the way over," was the way Capt. Charles Peterson gave his account of the trip. An interesting feature of the trip was the exchange of mail between the Wilhelmnia and the Matsunia Saturday morning, the Wilhelmnia taking mail from the Matsunia for the mainland. The Matsun is the only line having this feature for passengers' convenience, according to Dr. O. B. Spaulding, the ship's surgeon.

The liner brought 360 sacks of mail from the mainland. Her cargo is a general one, consisting of merchandise, cement, groceries, hardware and various lines of goods.

How it feels to have a Zeppelin bomb explode only a few feet from one's stateroom, is described in a copy of the Hongkong Daily Press sent the Star-Bulletin by Purser J. P. Bourne of the Shinyo Maru, which left Honolulu this morning for San Francisco.

The Hongkong paper prints a letter from Mrs. G. W. Burton of that city who was a passenger on the N. Y. K. steamer Yassaki Maru, the target for the German bomb in question, while the ship was lying at anchor in the Thames river, at London. The Yassaki Maru is a sister-ship of the Takata Maru, which called at this port two weeks ago. The letter follows:

"Before going any further I must tell you of a very narrow shave we had at the Victoria Docks. After having been through a very anxious trip from Marseilles we quite thought that all our troubles were at an end, and went to bed peacefully on Friday evening.

"At two o'clock in the morning we were awakened by a tremendous crash and quite thought our last moment had come. I clutched the infant and rushed out into the passage, where several of the passengers had collected, and we all stood there in pitch darkness expecting another crash at any moment.

"It appears that a Zeppelin had kindly dropped bombs on either side of our ship. Several windows were smashed, and in the second class a cabin was badly damaged, a shot going clean through. Fortunately the occupants had left that very evening.

"I can't begin to tell you what an awful shock it was for us, and how thankful we felt when the daylight came and we felt fairly safe.

"The pilot told us that we had only just escaped a submarine attack. Well, we were thoroughly well prepared for one-life boats absolutely ready, provisions in the boats and our life belts quite handy."

tions to the company's plant and prop-

HARBOR NOTES

Officers of the T. K. K. steamer
Shinyo Maru report that Chinese shippers are boycotting Japanese steamer lines wherever possible.

The Pacific Mail liner Persia, bringing the next mail from the Orient, is due to reach Honolulu a week from today. The boat left Yokohama Friday.

The Manon is due to sail from the railroad wharf about 4 o'clock this afternoon with 70 cabin passengers and a big freight cargo for San Francisco.

The case of the American schooner
Haleyon against the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company went to trial in Hilo yesterday morning with Judge Sanford B. Dole of the local federal court presiding. Foster Davis, of the local office is acting as clerk and Oliver Soares as stenographer.
The trial probably will last a week.

More vessels were seen on this trip than in many months, according to Capt. Charles Peterson of the Matsun steamer Matsunia, which came in at Pier 15 from San Francisco at 7:30 o'clock this morning. "We passed five steamers and three sailing vessels between San Francisco and Honolulu," remarked the commander.

Two voyages of the British freighter or Lowther Castle will pay for the boat, according to Capt. Howe of the vessel, sailing today for Vladivostok with barbed wire and bridge iron for the Russian army. Of the boat's 6843 tons of cargo, 5000 tons are of ordi-ary, old-fashioned barbed wire, such as that on which countless boys have torn their trousers. The wire will be used in trench entanglements.

MIKAHALA LIFTS AUTO FROM HARBOR BOTTOM

Captain Naopala of the steamer Mi-kahala succeeded yesterday in lifting
J. H. Kawasui's Ford touring car from the water along Pier 12, into which it fell Sunday after backing off the pier.

A big boom was swung from the side of the Mikahala, and by careful maneuvering the ship was placed directly alongside the sunken auto.
Then a diver descended and attached slings to the heavy parts of the car.
After this the donkey engine was set to work, and the car was soon out of water and on the wharf. The entire operations were carried out in less than an hour.

More than score of new
AUTOS COME ON MATRONIA

Honolulu's prosperity was again demonstrated this morning, when the Matsun liner Matsunia brought 31 automobiles in her hold, all consigned to local motor car dealers, and destined for purchasers who are awaiting them eagerly.

Among the number was an automobile-bearse for H. H. Williams, a local undertaker. It was unloaded today with the other motor vehicles, and when all were assembled on Pier 15 the wharf looked as if an automobile show was about to be held.

SHINYO MARU LEAVES
THIRD OF HER CARGO
AT HONOLULU DOCKS

With nearly two millions and a half dollars' worth of cargo and express master on board, the T. K. K. liner Shinyo Maru sailed at 9 o'clock this morning from Alakea wharf for San Francisco, after her stay here yesterday afternoon and last night.

Of the cargo, raw silk on board is worth $1,100,000, and gold shipments for San Francisco banks total another million. The cargo is worth enough to make the liner a veritable "treasure ship."

Before leaving the Shinyo discharged
2400 tons of her 7072-ton cargo here.
The Honolulu portion of this was as follows: Thirty bales matting, 1307 bales gunnies, 15,244 bags rice,
85 cases porcelain and curios, 2026 packages wet goods, 132 packages of plants and seeds, 702 bags beans, 353 casks sake, 1 case silk goods, 2 cases cigars, 4 parcels, 2928 packages merchandise, 55 bags mail.

NEW FEATURE ON POPULAR BILL
Beginning tonight "Beulah," a photo-play of the American novel of the same name by Augusta J. Evans, will be the feature at the Popular theater during the ensuing week, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday afternoons. Henry B. Walthal and Miss Joyce Moore will appear in the leading characters.
"Beulah" is a story of Louisiana, and around the title is woven a story of love and sacrifice. Through six reels the romance unfolds the pathetic story of Beulah, telling of her sorrows, her struggles and her ultimate triumph. Of course, in the end Beulah becomes the wife of her sweetheart and thus is recompensed for all the misery she had passed through.
Photography of a high order and scenes that are typical of Louisiana help to make "Beulah" attractive. Walthal and Miss Moore are supported by an excellent cast.

'MAN OF IRON' IS EMPIRE LEAD
Harry Millard, one of the American stage stars and author of a story of pioneer life in the western states, plays the leading role in the two-part photo-play "The Man of Iron," which is to be seen at the Empire theater today. The play has been produced by Robert G. Nolan. The cast contains well-known artists including A. J. Hollister, Henry Hallem and Frederick Haskins. Robert Conness will make his initial appearance in this city in a leading role in "Dickson's Diamond." It is adapted from the famous Felix Boyd series, a product of Scott Campbell's facile pen. The plot deals with a cleverly devised mystery.
A clever comedy is shown in the delineation of "The Servant Problem." The Empire theater program will close with the drama "Lolo, the Rat." It is a story founded on city tenderloin life.

MELBA CONCERT TALKING-MOVIES
FIRST OF TOUR END WEDNESDAY

When Madame Melba, the famous Australian prima donna, appears in the first of her two recitals to be given in the Hawaiian Opera House next Saturday evening, she will formally inaugurate her coming American tour. Incidentally the occasion will mark the first appearance of the celebrated diva in Honolulu.
Madame Melba will spend five days in this city. She arrives from Australia on the Matura Friday, and sails on the Matsonia the following Wednesday for San Francisco where she begins her continental tour. Because of the limited capacity of the Opera House, two recitals were arranged and according to the present demand for tickets the dual event will register the high water mark in the annals of musical affairs in this city.
The sale of tickets was opened at the Messenger Service office in Union street Saturday, when the receipts for the day reached an unprecedented amount.

SACHS' MANAGER GETS NEW GOODS
John Lennox, manager of Sachs, returned in the Matsonia this morning from an extended business trip throughout the states.
While away Mr. Lennox made extensive purchases for the coming season. This new fall merchandise is arriving and embodies the latest word in the lines carried in this popular store.
A HEALTHY, HAPPY WIFE is the greatest inspiration a man can have and the life of the family, yet how many homes in this fair land are blighted by the ill health of wife and mother!
It may be backaches, headaches, the tortures of a displacement, or some ailment peculiar to her sex which makes life a burden. Every woman in this condition should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, to restore her to health and happiness.
ADV.

OIL FIELD PLAY IS MAKING GOOD
"Sunshine Molly," the feature offering at the Liberty theater, is just that—sunshine. Thrown in are a number of exciting incidents that are natural in the vast oil-fields of California—which are ably depicted in this picture—including an oil fire, which is a magnificent spectacle and an artistic piece of photography. The title role is handled by Lois Weber. "Bull" Forest, in the hands of Phillips Smalley, is well handled, while Herbert Standing makes a most admirable "Pat O'Brien."
"A tense, gripping drama of the oil-fields," is the claim made for it by Bosworth, Incorporated, the producer. It is hardly that but it is an exceedingly good picture, telling an enjoyable story.
The "New Exploits of Elaine," which are appearing each Saturday in the Star-Bulletin, give promise of an improvement even over the late Elaine run.

HOW HE MADE UP FOR IT.
Charles Lamb, so well remembered for the personal charm and wit revealed in his famous essays, was not equally noted for his punctuality. He was very irregular in his attendance at the East India office, where he worked for many years and was one day called to account by his chief.
"You arrive very late, Mr. Lamb," "Yes," replied Lamb, with a smile, "but remember how early I leave."

FRUIT PEST AND COTTON'S ENEMY MUST FACE WAR

Dr. O. L. Howard Will Investigate Best Methods of Eradicating Them From Hawaii

Here to study the habits and life-history of the pink cotton-boll worm and the Mediterranean fruit fly, and to see what has been done so that a more effective fight may be made against these pests, particularly the pink worm, Dr. L. O. Howard, chief of the U. S. Bureau of Entomology, arrived this morning on the Matsunia to stay a week.

"I do not think there is much danger of bringing the pink boll worm into the United States from Hawaii," said the doctor. "It is doing a great deal of damage to cotton crops in Egypt and India, but we have been able to keep it out of the states so far. Hawaii is the nearest it has been able to come to the mainland, and we want to confine it here."

"About the only way this bad cotton pest could get to the mainland from Hawaii would be in samples of Hawaiian cotton, and the recent ruling providing that no samples shall be accepted for shipment to the states until examined and passed by an inspector should keep it out."

"I am coming here to study the pink boll worm because this is the nearest place to find it from the mainland. We don't rely on the Egyptian investigations of the pest's life and habits, and we have been carrying on independent investigations here. When they are completed, we will have a much more efficient means of knowing what methods to use best to eradicate the worm from the islands, and the Mediterranean fly as well."

Dr. Howard was accompanied here by E. M. Ehrhorn, superintendent of the Honolulu entomological experiment station, and O. H. Swesey, acting entomologist, both of whom have been on the mainland. Dr. Howard will be here only until August 25. He says the local station has done good work in research lines concerning the fruit fly and pink boll worm.

Former Classmates Soon To Work Side by Side For City

Upper left, A. M. Brown, city and county attorney. Upper right, Albert M. Cristy, first deputy. Lower picture, William T. Carden, second deputy.

Classmates will be reunited when Albert M. Cristy, first deputy city and county attorney, takes office September 1 and joins William T. Carden, second deputy, who assumed his new duties yesterday morning.

Mr. Carden and Mr. Cristy were classmates at Yale Law School. Mr. Carden was found early today sitting in the swivel chair recently vacated by William Lymer, with several open law books in front of him. He is a native Honolulu, and after being graduated from McKinley High School he attended the University of California and later the Harvard law school.

The Cristy and Carden appointments came shortly after A. M. Brown, formerly a deputy under retiring City and County Attorney John Cathcart, was appointed Mr. Cathcart's successor.

WEEK REQUIRED TO MAKE JOURNEY ACROSS GERMANY

Mrs. Charles Bon Tells of Railroads Being Congested With Troop and Supply Trains

"Germany thinks she is sure to win. No other thought seems to have entered the minds of the German people," said Mrs. Charles Bon today, while standing on the Matsunia's deck, on her return from a voyage around the world lasting nearly two years.

Mrs. Bon came back to Honolulu this morning after having been away a year and eight months, her children, Jesse and Johnson, accompanying her on the trip, which before it ended proved to be both exciting and perilous.

"When war was declared we were in Switzerland," remarked Mrs. Bon. "We were war-bound there nearly two months, and were able to leave finally, thanks to the good efforts of the American consul in Zurich, who secured passports for us."

"It took us a week to make the railroad trip from Lake Constance to Flushing, Holland—a journey which ordinarily requires only 3 hours. The trains and war supplies using all the railroads were the cause of the delay."

That the German people, when she left last fall, were very confident of victory, was stated by Mrs. Bon. "They think they're sure to win," she said. "How they feel now I do not know, but then they were extremely positive that victory would soon be theirs," she stated.

From Holland Mrs. Bon and her children went to London, and from there sailed for New York. They left here by way of Yokohama, landing in Naples, and were in Switzerland when war flamed out all around them.

"It seems good to be home again," said Mrs. Bon. She was met outside the harbor by her nephew Donald Gilmore, assistant passenger agent of Brewer & Company.

BOARD IS LIKELY TO APPROPRIATE CASH FOR WALKS

At a meeting of the board of supervisors tonight it is expected that a resolution will be introduced to appropriate sufficient money to construct sidewalks and curbing in front of all the city property within the fire limits. This will be in conformance with a resolution which passed the supervisors at the last meeting ordering all property owners to curb and build sidewalks in front of their property within the fire limits.

The resolution will include the city property on River street from Kukui to the waterfront and the old fish-market at the foot of Alakea street. The city also will construct sidewalks and curbing at the Central Grammar school.

It is expected that Mayor Lane will introduce his new rules of procedure for the board at tonight's meeting, which will probably be followed by a lively debate.

The city engineer will have resolutions introduced to appropriate money to buy several pieces of expensive road machinery. According to his plan, there will be no competition in the purchase, a Knox outfit being specified.

The body will lie in state at the Boyd residence, 1644 Kalakaua avenue, tonight. It is requested that members of the Order of Kamehameha, of which Mr. Boyd was a prominent member, be at the family residence and also attend the funeral tomorrow.

Mr. Boyd was 57 years of age and was prominent in the old days of the kingdom. He was chamberlain and aid-de-camp to King Kalakaua with the rank of colonel. In company with Queen Liliuokalani, he attended the Diamond Jubilee of Queen Victoria at London. He was superintendent of public works under President Sanford B. Dole.

Late homegoers were treated to the sight of an impromptu parade at Broadway and Fulton streets, New York, when policemen rounded up unlicensed peddlers in the vicinity, formed them in line, and marched them to the station.

MEXICAN RAIDERS RUSH U. S. PATROL TROOP IN DARKNESS; ONE IS KILLED

Feeling Running Strong in Texas; Poses Search for Marauders

HEAVY FIGHTING AROUND NOGALES

Americans in Capital Reported in Desperate Straits From Hunger

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless]

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 17.—Under cover of darkness, one hundred Mexican irregulars forded the Rio Grande last night, near Mercedes, Texas, surrounded twenty-one troops of the United States First Cavalry doing border patrol duty, killed one, wounded two, and escaped. They are still at large.

Popular feeling in Texas is so high that it will be difficult to prevent a retaliatory raid into Mexico by armed civilians.

Reinforcements of troops from Mercedes and posers of armed citizens from the surrounding country are searching for them, and there is fear that they may lay in ambush for one of the parties and cut it down. The boundary at Nogales is again closed. Heavy fighting was in progress all yesterday between General Maytorena, Villa's lieutenant, and General Calles, Carranza's lieutenant, five miles south of Nogales, and there were skirmish raids almost up to the boundaries of the city.

Villistas Eaten. Maytorena was decisively defeated and barely escaped capture. He lost a hundred killed and many wounded and General Calles is expected to push after him into the city itself.

Americans Starving. From Mexico City, C. B. Parker of the American embassy staff, telegraphs to the state department that the paralysis of business there and the scarcity of provisions have brought great suffering among Americans, many of whom have been reduced to absolute destitution. Assistance is being doled out to 120 of the colony, who have asked for transportation to the United States.

Carranza at Vera Cruz is willing at least to receive the appeal for peace of the Panama Pan-American congress, whatever answer to it he may make. He has notified the state department that he will not obstruct delivery of the proposals formulated.

EMBRYO ARMY OF BUSINESSMEN NOT CRACK SHOTS

More Misses Than Hits Registered by Citizen Soldiers at Plattsburg Camp

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless]

PLATTSBURG, New York, August 17.—The twelve hundred business and professional men in the army training camp here are having their first experiences on the range with the army rifle and the red flag, the waving of which indicates that the target has been missed completely, is having very general use.

Few of the citizen soldiers, it is shown, have any knowledge at all of the handling of the modern rifle. Many do not know how to aim and some had to be instructed in the way to hold the firearm to the shoulder.

Mayor Mitchell is one of the conspicuous exceptions. Yesterday he missed a good score over the two hundred and four hundred yard ranges.

An increase of 20 per cent in the wages of his employees was announced by the Hercules Powder Co.

IN WAR ARENA ALLIES TO DECLARE COTTON CONTRABAND

LONDON, Aug. 17.—Through the American embassy here Washington was unofficially notified today that the Allies intend shortly, as foreshadowed in recent declarations of Lord Robert Cecil, under secretary of state for foreign affairs, to declare cotton absolute contraband of war.

The government takes the step reluctantly, under heavy pressure both within and without parliament, as a practical admission that in no other way can cotton be prevented from reaching the German factories of explosives.

Lloyd-George, the minister of munitions, estimates that Germany is expending 250,000 shells a day, and many other British authorities declare that without cotton also some have been unable to continue the war.

The question is one of enormous difficulties, admitted Lord Robert. "Very troublesome international questions are raised. You have to consider not only this country and Germany, but also the great producing countries like America and the neutral consuming countries like Norway, Sweden and Denmark, and you have to try to devise a policy which will respect the rights of neutrals and yet safeguard our interests and inflict as much injury as possible on Germany."

SERBS BATTER DOWN AUSTRIAN DEFENSE WORKS. PARIS, France, Aug. 17.—Serbian batteries yesterday brought to an end the Austrian attempts to complete defense works at Dobera, on the Danube, according to official despatches received here from Nish. The Serbians brought their guns into action first against the Austrian batteries established at St. Archeve, silencing them. The partially completed defenses of Dobera were next attacked and destroyed.

MUCH ROAD WORK NOW BEING DONE ON MAUI

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence) WAHUKU, Aug. 14.—Roads are once more the topic of present comment and discussion on the Valley Isle. The grading of the Makawao road leading to Maluhia at the Makawao corners has been completed and it is much easier traveling in that direction than formerly.

On Thursday the board of supervisors ordered the macadamizing of more than a mile on the Makawao-Pala road, beginning near the residence of D. C. Lindsay and continuing to a point about opposite the Fred Baldwin memorial home. Twenty-five hundred dollars a month is the estimate that the board will allow for this work.

In Kula there has been a vast improvement in the roads because of the relocation of two bad stretches at Pulehu and Kealahou. The change has done away with two of the worst grades in Kula. It is now hoped that this road will be the basis of the new Haleakala summit road, as the grade will be much easier than by way of Olanda as was first contemplated. The expectation is that the convict gang will begin on the summit road after the present Maui roads are put into shape.

KEEP OFFICIALS PUZZLED BY CHANGING NAMES AND AGES

Spanish Youths First Adopt Family Name of Mother, Then Change to American Custom

"Among the great variety of interesting things that we find in the issue of certificates to people of various races," says Edwin Farmer, inspector at the federal immigration station, "are the incidents that happen through confusion over the names and ages of the Spanish."

"It seems," says Mr. Farmer, "that the Spanish have a way all their own in naming their children. A son, instead of taking his father's name for his own last name, must take the name of his mother's family. Thus a boy whose father's name is Juan Cervera, and whose mother's name is Estela Espada or something similar, will find his own name to be Castro Cervera Espada.

"The young Spanish lads are not here long before they discover that the American method of nomenclature is different from their own, and soon they begin changing their names around to suit the general custom. Juan Cervera Espada accordingly becomes Juan Espada Cervera, and when some years later he makes up his mind to go to the mainland and applies to this office for a certificate our troubles commence. We look through all the files of Cerveras we can find for years back, and finally discover it is not Cervera but Espada that we want.

"Another interesting thing concerning the Spanish," continued Mr. Farmer, "is in the way they change their ages. Some of the Spanish immigrants who come here to work on the plantations evidently believe that a 12 or 14 year old boy will get better wages if he is said to be a few years older, and so the age is given as 15 or 16.

"When, after a few years the family decides to leave the islands and go to the states, the boy comes to the office and gives his age as younger than it really is in order to get half fare on the boat.

"You can readily see," says Mr. Farmer, "what a wonderful revelation we find in looking over our old records in regard to the case. We always give the age as it was given by the parents, unless good proof is shown why it should be otherwise."

Pietro Fiore, 75 years old, was killed by falling from the sixth floor of his home in New York.

CHAPTER LXI. SALES ADVERTISING COOPERATION.

Quite often the trouble with advertising is a lack of cooperation on the part of the sales organization. Many failures can be traced to that cause. For if a sales organization does not hitch up to a publicity campaign, the advertising may flunk.

Still, there is danger that the sales organization may overestimate the ability of the advertising to move goods. In the old days when national advertising first began to have its fling, salesmen would exhibit great big sheets, one side of which might show the front pages of a number of magazines and thus prove the immensity of combined circulation, while on the other side there would be pictures of the ads which were to be run.

The salesman would spread this great big sheet out in front of the dealer and tell him that this meant a landslide of demand. The dealer would not know. He might be overcome by the mystery of this thing called national advertising and agree with the salesman. Thus, he might put on his shelf a lot more goods than he ought to.

As a result, if these were packaged goods, they would soon get musty. People would not want packages that looked dirty. Thus, in that way the force of the advertising that was done would be negated. And the dealer, mad at those shop-worn goods on his shelves, would be rate advertising because of his disappointment.

That abuse of advertising on the part of the sales force is now pretty nearly a thing of the past. The American dealer today can pretty well estimate how much demand there is going to be on the basis of a certain advertising proposition. Anyway, he knows that most of the goods which are advertised in this national way, can easily be got from his jobber. Consequently, he puts in but little stock. He can get additional goods so quickly that he need not pile up his shelves with stock. To overcome this tendency, by which the dealer buys sparingly, some manufacturers have abused advertising in another way. Their salesman goes to a dealer and says, "We are going to run this advertising campaign this fall. You had better stock up." When the dealer answers, "Well, I'll take half a dozen and if they go fast, I can get a gross of them within a day from my jobber," the salesman says: "Well, if you will buy a gross from me now, I will put in an extra dozen free."

That is called a "free deal." The purpose is to make the dealer fill his shelves so that he will put all his might into getting rid of your goods and in that way exercise a positive cooperation. But, as a rule, this turns out the opposite way. The dealer forgets that he got an extra dozen by buying a large quantity. He remembers that he has all those goods on his shelves and that they lose in value every minute they grow dirtier and staler. Therefore, he forms a prejudice. He is apt to get sick of your goods and close them out at a reduced price. Then, in the future, he will try to sell your competitor's brand instead of yours.

According to certain investigations, it would seem that the dealer's cooperation is vital. Some statistics show he is in control. Based on a large number of cases in Chicago, it was found that in 55 cases out of 100, the dealer was relied upon to decide what brand of a certain kind of goods the consumer would buy. This power of the dealer to turn the desire from one brand to another has largely influenced the trend of advertising thought. It has caused many manufacturers to localize their advertising in the newspapers, and to put their publicity over the local dealer's name.

A dealer's co-operation can be made sure of if you connect his name with your localized advertising. Also, you can use such advertising as a means to increase the efficiency of your sales organization in their work with the dealers. For instance, if you have a soap to put on the market, instead of spending $50,000 in a national weekly, and $20,000 in a general magazine or so, you can develop the New England States, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, this year and take care of the other states as convenient.

In this eastern section, you have 50,000,000 people. You can divide your appropriation among those 50,000,000 people and find how many inches of copy you can afford to run in the best newspaper in every town in which you can get a dealer. Your salesman can go to Mr. Jones of Lockport and say, "We are going to run these ads in the Lockport Union-Sun. We think that they will sell you 300 cakes of our new soap and also bring other trade into your store. We will put your name under this advertising and will tell the Lockport public that our new soap can be had here." Mr. Jones will order some soap. He will not try to change the minds of those who come in for that soap, because he has publicly announced that he keeps it and thus he has, at least passively, recommended its quality. So you are sure then, at least, that you will not have Mr. Jones' antagonism. You are also sure that Lockport people will know where to get your soap. Moreover, you may feel fairly certain that Mr. Jones will continue to cooperate as long as your soap satisfies his trade.

Hurricane Lashes Waters of Gulf to Fury, and Vessels Go Down at Moorings

CITIZENS HUDDLED IN BUSINESS PART OF CITY

Railroads Are Cut Off, and Many Left to Fate; Refugees at Houston

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless]

HOUSTON, Texas, August 17.—Galveston is cut off from the world. The last telephone and telegraph wires went out last night and the fate of the city, under the furious assault of a tropical hurricane, is unknown.

The United States army transport Buford, stationed at Galveston, flashed ed a wireless through the storm to Brownsville that the waters of the gulf, piled up before the pressure of the wind, had risen ten feet and that several vessels had been capsized at their moorings.

Terrible Losses Certain. It is certain that there has been loss of life and heavy property damage, but on what scale there is no means of estimating. Just before the wires failed, it was reported that the citizens had taken refuge in the business district, on the highest ground they could find, and that they were facing their peril bravely, in the belief that it was not serious.

A general exodus from the city began yesterday and thousands of refugees are now quartered here. The trains were unable to accommodate the unexpected crush of traffic and when the last train pulled out hundreds were kneeling in the railway station, praying.

GEORGIAN DRAG LEO FRANK FROM JAIL TO DEATH

Masked Band Break Into Penitentiary, Subdue Warden, and Hang Prisoner

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless]

ATLANTA, Georgia, August 17.—The body of Leo Frank who was abducted last night by an armed and masked band, is reported to have been found hanging from a tree, within five miles of the state penitentiary at Milledgeville. He had been lynched.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Georgia, August 17.—Twenty-five masked and armed men overpowered the warden of the state penitentiary here last night and delivered Leo Frank from jail. Whether he is now in the hands of friends or already has been lynched by his enemies is unknown.

Prior to the attack on Warden Smith last night, the telephone wires connecting the jail with the outside world were cut. After the warden had been bound, his keys were taken from him and Frank was released from his cell.

Closely surrounded by his masked guards, he was carried to an automobile waiting outside the prison grounds and rushed away into the night in the general direction of Easton.

LAWS THAT HURT HAWAII BLAMED TO IGNORANCE

"Hawaii and her problems are not understood in the East as well as they should be, and Congress would probably never have acted in certain matters of legislation that have cut the territory so deeply."

This is a statement made by the editors of the Economic World, a widely read publication on economic and political matters, in a recent letter to A. P. Taylor, assistant secretary of the Hawaii Promotion Committee.

The editors have written to Mr. Taylor, asking him to send them an article giving concrete knowledge on the economic position of Hawaii and the problems that face the islands. They state that they will be glad to render all the service possible in the matter of giving publicity to the islands in these matters.

Mr. Taylor's article will deal especially with the conscription law and the tariff problem. It will be published together with an article of the same sort from Governor Strong of Alaska.

GREAT PROSPERITY PREDICTED FOR U. S.

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless]

DULUTH, Minnesota, August 17.—That a wave of prosperity will soon sweep the country and that the United States is on the eve of good business conditions from coast to coast was predicted by many of the speakers yesterday at the convention of the National Association of Mercantile Agencies, at which are present as delegates many of the leading business experts of the union. The speakers agreed that the conditions for business throughout the country are better today than at any time during the past three years.

BOAT CLUB CREWS HARD AT WORK FOR REGATTA DAY EVENTS, SEPTEMBER 19

Old-time Rivals, Healan and Myrtles, and Newly-entered Honolulu Yacht Club Will Be Represented in Various Features—Novelties To Be Introduced

Featuring more novelties and laughable events than ever before in addition to the usual races of the day, plans are well under way for Regatta Day, September 19. With the entry of the Honolulu Yacht Club in probably all the barge events, and possibly the pair oar races, the competition promises to be sharper and more exciting than ever. Each of the three competing clubs, the familiar rivals, the Healan and Myrtle clubs, and the newly-entered Honolulu Yacht Club, is straining every nerve to carry off the first honors of the day and each afternoon large crowds turn out for practice at each boathouse. From 45 to 50 men appear daily at the Healan Club alone.

In order to enliven the day the Regatta committee, consisting of Ray Rietow, chairman; E. J. Hardesty and W. L. Hopper, is planning a series of ludicrous events, such as tub races, duck races and others of like interest, it being the purpose of the committee to intersperse these through the more serious events so as to make excitement and laughter go hand in hand.

No effort is being spared by officers of the Hawaiian Rowing Association to fill the big day with amusement from morning to night. To furnish a keener incentive for competition in the freshman six-oared barge race, E. J. Hardesty yesterday morning secured through Mr. J. Cooper, manager of The Clarion, the offer of a beautiful hammered silver trophy to be known as the Clarion cup. In addition to this the usual cups and medals will be awarded to successful competitors in other events.

Uncle Sam will be represented in a cutter race in which the crews of the submarine flotilla and the naval tug Navajo will take part, and if the cruiser Maryland is in port at that time she will undoubtedly send her contingent.

Other details of the day are still undetermined, but there will probably be several steamer boat races. The attempt was made to bring the Kunalu women's club into several of the events and the club seriously considered the offer, but unfortunately many members are at present in the states and the Kunalu Club finds itself too depleted to offer an adequate representation. In the future, however, some arrangement may be made, and it is not improbable that Regatta Day will be graced by the presence of the eternal feminine.

The day will doubtless be concluded by the usual dance in the roof garden of the Young Hotel.

For the last twenty years Regatta Day has been a unique and fascinating feature of each season of sport, and with a long history of success behind them it is the endeavor of each succeeding group of officers of the Hawaiian Rowing Association to outdo all precedent. The present officers, J. N. Phillips, president; George Crozier, vice-president, and Ray Rietow, secretary-treasurer, are enthusiastic over the prospects for this season.

HARVEST HOME FESTIVITIES ON MAUI ECLIPSED ALL FORMER SUCCESSES

Sporting Events, With Oahu Contending, Brings Much Rivalry

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)

WAILUKU, Aug. 16.—Saturday was a day not soon to be forgotten by Maui people. The Harvest Home festivities, made possible through the generosity of the management and members of the staff of the Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Company, eclipsed anything ever given in former years. All Maui was present, and a large number of guests from Oahu. A friendly, cordial spirit prevailed through all the fun and frolic of the day's sports.

Tennis matches began promptly after breakfast, and kept up through the early hours of the afternoon. The match was exceedingly close and the score as officially kept was as follows:

CANDIDATES FOR MYRTLE SHELLS TRAINING HARD

With four six-oar barges, three pair-oared, and a group of from 35 to 40 bunksies turning out each afternoon for practice, the prospects of the Myrtle Club for distinguishing itself on Regatta Day appear bright.

Although hampered by the absence of any large proportion of veterans, the members of the club are training with a grim determination and eyes fixed upon results. Captain Crozier states that only three of last year's senior crew are rowing this season, while two of last year's freshmen have been brought up to fill vacancies in this barge. The same condition exists in the junior crew.

The crews of the pair oars which are at present competing are, in the senior class, Oas and W. Anderson vs. Carter and Parker, and in the junior Kahanamoku and Boyd vs. A. Anderson and Wilhelm.

HILO MEN WILL FINISH TRYOUT ON HAWAII RANGE

Members of the Hilo company of the National Guard who have qualified for the final competition for places on the rifle team that will go to Florida next month, will not have to come to Honolulu for the five-day period originally ordered. They will fire on the Hilo range next Saturday and Sunday under the supervision of disinterested officers who will be sent from here.

Correspondence between Capt. J. D. Easton, Company M, and Lieut.-col. W. R. Riley, the team captain, developed the fact that none of the Hilo men could get away from business to attend the trial shoot at Honolulu. It was a case of eliminating the Hilo contenders altogether without a trial, or allowing them to fire the same course as that fired by the local organizations on the Hilo range, and Col. Samuel Johnson, the adjutant general, decided on the latter action before he left for Hawaii last Saturday.

Col. Johnson and Col. Riley talked the matter over prior to the departure of the former, and it was decided that Col. Riley personally take charge of the Hilo competition as range officer, and that another officer be sent from here to supervise the marking in the pits. They will leave here in the Matsonia Thursday evening, and will return in the Mauna Kea early Tuesday morning of next week.

Sunday the 15 men composing the provisional team practised at the Fort Shafter range under the supervision of Col. Riley, team captain, and Capt. A. W. Neely, the team coach. New special star gauged rifles, manufactured by the ordnance department specially for the national match, were issued to team members yesterday, and most of the day was given to targeting the new arms at the differ-

BASEBALL SQUAD OF U. OF C. WILL COME TO HAWAII

Chicago Team Has Arranged for Many Games and a Long Trip Throughout Japan

The baseball team of the University of Chicago left the eastern city on August 2 for a five months trip to play with universities in Japan, covering some 25,000 miles on its tour. The journey is undertaken at the invitation of the Waseda University in Tokio, though games are scheduled with Keio and Meiji. A series of three games with each institution is planned. The return will be made through China and the Philippine islands.

On the way to the coast a number of semi-professional games have been arranged. The schedule includes contests at St. Paul, Mandan, N. D., Missoula, Mon., Spokane, Portland, Chehalis, Sacramento and San Francisco. The Chicago nine hopes to get games with Leland Stanford, Jr., and California and has issued challenges. It will spend eight days around San Francisco, sailing on the Mongolia August 25. Ten days will be spent in Hawaii and here some games with members of the Oahu league are to be played. The Maroons will again embark September 11, arriving in Yokohama about 10 days later. The team is due in Tokio September 21 and on the 25th the first game of the Waseda series is scheduled.

Several of last spring's regulars were compelled to give up the trip because they are needed for football this fall. The team as it sets out is composed of Capt. L. W. Gray, outfielder; N. Hart, catcher; E. Cole, second base; F. McConnell, shortstop; E. Cavin, third base; F. Carlton, outfielder; R. George, first base; E. Kizmillier, outfielder; H. Rudolph, utility man; J. Wiedman, utility man; P. Des Jardien, pitcher.

The nine is in charge of Coach O. H. Page and a faculty representative.

BULLFIGHTS OF MADRID ARE NOW NIGHTLY EVENTS

(Associated Press)

MADRID, Spain.—The first bullfight here held at night, which was held over on July 3, proved such a success that it is believed the custom will be generally adopted throughout Spain, especially during the warmest portion of the summer. The novelty of the first night bullfight attracted such a crowd that the immense stadium was filled to suffocation for there was not a breath of air stirring, and this largely defeated the purpose of the new idea, which was to escape the intense heat of the day.

The spectacle, however, was a complete success save for the lack of that gleaming brightness and dead shade which the Castilian sun alone can produce. Hundreds of arc lights made the arena so brilliant that there appeared to be no added risk to the bullfighters themselves from any unfamiliar shadow.

The Spanish comic papers are amusing themselves and the people with all sorts of droll conceptions of what may become of some of the historic terms and customs for so many centuries bound up with Spain's national sport. It is suggested, for example, that in place of calling the "bleachers" of the ring the "sun seats," these cheaper places be termed "moon seats." Instead, too, of the custom of throwing at the feet of a skilful torador hats, canes, cushions and handkerchiefs, as tokens of the approval of the crowd, it is hinted that, at the night bullfights, pocket electric lamps and the incandescent globes that light the terraced rows of the stadium seats may come to be employed for this purpose—to the discomfort of the banderilleros and toradores.

'TRIS' SPEAKER AFTER $8000 WORTH OF HITS

Persons who profess to be on the inside declare that the astonishing return to batting form of "Tris" Speaker, who in two weeks climbed from .278 to .315, is due to the fact that he fears there will be a decided cut in his salary next season if he does not shine as one of the American League's clouting stars. His contract, which calls for one of the largest salaries ever paid in baseball, provides that "Tris" shall receive $16,000 salary and a bonus of $2500 for three years of service. It terminates at the close of the 1915 playing season. If Speaker does not finish with a batting average of at least .300 it is said that the management of the Red Sox has informed him that his next contract will call for a one-half cut.

ent ranges. Shooting conditions were exceptionally good yesterday, and Capt. Neely expressed himself as well pleased with the general outlook for the Florida trip.

Chinese Team On Mainland Making Winning Record

Alfred Yap Writes Interestingly of Some of Travelers' Recent Contests—Now Playing Near New York

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)

NEW YORK, N. Y., Aug. 17.—The Traveling Chinese baseball team is setting a good record this summer. In the latter part of June the team played several hard games, winning the majority and losing a few by close scores.

The boys from Hawaii are making their headquarters in New York now and playing in or near the city.

Here is a brief account of some of the team's doings late in June against teams whose reputations are well known in Hawaii:

June 21.—All went to the Chinese Sunday school excursion up at Mt. Mansfield. Had a very good time. There was lots of fun in the lake, rowing especially.

June 22.—Went shopping and sight-seeing and took in the big league game, Phillies vs. Giants, score 1 to 1.

June 23.—Went shopping and sight-seeing again.

June 24.—Went shopping and sight-seeing again.

June 25.—Went shopping again; left New York at 8 p. m., on the Manhattan line for Schenectady; was a beautiful ride up the Hudson. Our boat's searchlight was in action and caught many couples spooning, without any warning beforehand.

June 26.—General Electric at Schenectady, N. Y.; lost to G. E. team 7 to 4; had the game sewed up in the early frame but lost it soon after they tied us in the fifth. A few errors coupled with opportune hitting won the game for the General Electric. A very good crowd attended the game, but would have been bigger had it not rained at noon.

Chinese, hits . . . 1 1 1 0 2 6 0 2 1—8
Runs . . . 0 3 0 0 0 0 1 0 4—4
G. E., hits . . . 1 1 0 0 3 3 0 1 X—2
Runs . . . 0 0 0 0 3 3 0 1 X—0
Battery—Chinese, Chin and Mark; G. E., Martin and Beaver.

June 27.—Bushwick at Ridgewood, Brooklyn, N. Y.; lost to Bushwicks 1 to 0 in a six-inning affair. The game was called off an account of rain. It would have been a tie game had second baseman Chin not erred on a grounder in the first inning, which let in the only run of the game. We outlit them with four hits to their 2. One was a triple by Ayau, a double by Duffy, Lai and a single apiece, by Mark and Apai. The rain came in torrents in the middle of the sixth inning and so the game had to be called off.

Runs . . . 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—0
Bushwick, hits . . . 0 1 1 0 0 X—2
Runs . . . 1 0 0 0 X—0
Batteries—Chinese, Apau and Mark; Bushwick, Hardy and Hohman.

June 28.—Amherst at Amherst, Mass. After defeating some of the best eastern college teams, like Yale, Williams, Holy Cross and Dartmouth the strong Amherst nine fell before us to the tune of 6 to 2. Heavy and opportune hitting and fine base running in the early stage gave us a five-run lead over the fast collegians.

DISCARDED COAST LEAGUE PLAYERS STAR IN MAJORS

Douglass, Schneider, Kantlehner and Others Are Graduated From the West

How is it that ball players who have been termed not classy enough for the Pacific Coast League can play like stars in the Northwestern League circuit, and when drafted by major league clubs, show up well and gain places in the big brush. There are several such cases.

First, there is Phil Douglass, who couldn't last more than seven innings when twirling for San Francisco, and was shipped up to the Northwest circuit. He made good with a jump up there, and was drafted by Cincinnati. Herzog sold him to the Brooklyn Dodgers, and on his first start for the team, he pitched a beautiful game, which went 16 innings.

Pat Eastley didn't have enough class to warrant him a job in the Coast League. He went to Seattle and has been pitching such great ball that Connie Mack has purchased him for the 1916 season.

Joe Wagner was used at second base for San Francisco in 1912, but developed into a "lemon." He went to the Northwest League, played sensational ball and was drafted by the Cincy Reds. He has been playing good ball for that team, and is still drawing pay checks from Garry Herrmann.

Cards Drop Catcher Burns.

Eddie Burns, at present catching wonderful ball for the Phillies, was never a star until he became a member of Tacoma Club of the Northwestern League. Eddie was drafted by the Cardinals, was shipped to Montreal, and purchased by the Philadelphia club, and has been catching great ball since.

Irv Kantlehner, the San Jose youngster, never showed enough promise to gain a place on any of the Coast League clubs, and he went up to the Northwest circuit. Irv won several straight games and was drafted by the Pittsburg Pirates. He is now one of the best young pitchers in the National League.

None of the Coast League managers could see Pete Schneider or Carl Mays now with the Cincinnati Reds and Boston Red Sox teams, respectively. Coast League managers were content with signing players with reputations like Liefeld, Overall, Geyer, Powell, Musser, and were too busy to look around the local section for tossers. Both Mays and Schneider are pitching like phenoms in the majors.

HOPE DUKE WILL SWIM AT OPENING OF Y. M. C. A. POOL

An effort will be made to secure Duke Kahanamoku for a series of exhibition stunts at the opening of the new swimming pool at the Young Men's Christian Association which will take place some time during the first week in September.

Work on the tank is progressing steadily under the supervision of the contractors, and it will be but a few days now until the big concrete basin takes on a very decidedly natorial appearance.

One of the big diving platforms has already been erected on the side of the pool, and one other platform and a diving board are in course of construction. The platforms are to be made of bar steel, and the highest one will be 15 feet above the surface of the water.

Fresh water will be supplied to the pool from the big artesian well that is capable of sending forth 1,000,000 gallons a day, though it is not probable that any such amount will ever be needed at one time.

On all sides of the tank, about five feet from the top, a foot rest has been placed in the cement, providing a stopping place for tired swimmers.

Money for the pool fund has been coming in rather slowly during the last few days. So far this week only about $20 has been collected. The total amount collected up to date approximates $1550.

MEIJI BASEBALL TEAM NOW HERE IS ONE OF SPEEDIEST TEAMS IN JAPAN

For Second Time in History of College, Its Ballplayers Are Invading the United States—Met by Large Throng of Local Japanese

A large throng of Japanese waiting at the dock as the Shinyo Maru drew in yesterday afternoon, burst into enthusiastic applause when the baseball team from Meiji University, Tokio, gave its college yells from the deck of the steamer. The visitors were met at the dock by a reception committee of four headed by M. Kurokawa and conducted to the city and later to its quarters at the Mochizuki Club.

After a season of almost unbroken success at home, the Oriental ball-players expect to make a record for themselves in their series of games with the local teams. Baseball was introduced in Meiji college six years ago and almost immediately the inclination rose to first rank among the exponents of the sport in Japan. On several occasions they have been champions of the islands, and have always furnished keen competition for their two closest rivals, the universities of Waseda and Keio. This is the second time they have undertaken an invasion of foreign territory, as last year they sent a strong aggregation to Seattle, the personnel of the team being almost identical with this one.

Meiji College is the oldest university in Japan and is steadily growing in size and importance. It confines its attention chiefly to the liberal arts and gives no courses in the sciences. Under the tuition of 60 faculty members the university furnishes instruction in administration, practice, politics, law, literature, the languages, and similar subjects to over 1000 students.

Baseball was introduced 23 years ago in Japan and since that time has steadily increased in popularity on the islands. Although it cannot yet hardly be called the national pastime, still not a year goes by without adding hundreds and thousands of enthusiastic fans to the supporters of the game. Practically all of the institutions of learning in Japan support large baseball squads, and the keenest rivalry has grown up among them much after the fashion of the competitive spirit which exists in the various groups of American colleges.

From time to time representative amateur teams from the United States make the trip to the Orient in order to compete with the Japanese teams, and as these in turn make corresponding visits to the states, the result has been a spread of good feeling between the two nations, and as a side issue many of the customs of the American universities, such as rooting at games, have been introduced across the seas.

The ability which the Japanese have exhibited during the past fifty years in mastering both the theory and practice of the mechanical arts of foreign nations is equalled by their adeptness in picking up the fine points

ANOTHER CHAMP IS UNEARTHED IN AUSTRALIA

The defeat of Eddie McGoorty in Australia the other day is the biggest upset the boxing game in this country has had in years. McGoorty was knocked out in the 17th round of a 20-round match with Les Darcey, the Australian middleweight, who is evidently a world's champion.

Mick King, middleweight champion of Australia, surrendered his title to Darcey in a recent match and now Darcey has whipped one of the greatest men in the 158-pound class America boasted of. McGoorty was rated as good a boxer as Mike Gibbons. In fact it was largely between these two who was rightfully entitled to the American championship.

Darcey will come to America soon and if he does it will mean that Mike Gibbons will have to tackle him.

Work in the coal mines in and around Pittsburg, Kansas, is very poor. Since the great European war started the demand for coal has been reduced more than half, and the mines working only half time and the wages of 20,000 men cut to a bare living.

GOLF PLAY AUG. 19 ON NATIONAL LINKS

The program for the annual invitation tournament of the National Golf Links of America, to be played on Aug. 19, 20 and 21, makes provision for three sixteens and an equal number of beaten eights. All of Thursday, Aug. 19, will be devoted to the 18-hole qualifying rounds, so that all of the subsequent match rounds on Friday and Saturday, Aug. 20 and 21, including the finals, will be at 18 holes.

Unable to swim when he fell in the water, Philip Rosenberg, 24, was saved from drowning at Yorkville, Pa., by his 10-year old sister who reached him with a boat.

HUNGARY SEES SHE HAS NO CHANCE TO GAIN, ALL TO LOSE

Talk of Separate Peace, and Split From Austria is Growing Now at Budapest

There seems to be a slow but steadily growing movement in Hungary, more than a fervent desire and more than a human longing for the advent of peace, writes the Budapest correspondent of the Christian Science Monitor of Boston. It has been understood throughout the war that Hungary is the weakest point of the central empires from a political point of view, for although her army is the most valiant and heroic in that part of the theater of war and the Hungarian nation is strong in unity and national feeling, yet there was always a germ of revolt and disaffection among the people with regard to the common aims of the Germanic empires, which somehow or other did not coincide with the national aims and aspirations of Hungary.

It is not the least surprising to see Hungary awakening to the knowledge of what she ought to have known before the war, that in this immense struggle she has nothing to gain and everything to lose. She is the weakest point of the empires because, as time goes on, she will find out that it was all a mistake on her part; she has never been in danger; her territory was never threatened, and is only threatened now because of her connection with the Austrian empire.

She begins to understand that the Slav peril is only threatening the Austro-Hungarian empire as a whole, never Hungary herself; that neither Russia nor Serbia entertain any territorial aspirations toward Hungary, and that the fateful hour that might arrive for Austria might just as well be a happy hour for the kingdom of Hungary.

Germany, as well as Austria knows very well that Hungary has nothing to gain and much to lose, and they have tried every means of keeping up Hungarian enthusiasm and Hungarian courage, for the fate of dualism and the fate of Austria depend upon this. They could keep up this courage and this enthusiasm for nine months, but today we can see systematic propaganda going on in the Hungarian press, from which we may conclude that Hungary is already beginning to see things clearly and though there is no definite sound as yet, no clear conception of what and how it is to be done, yet some unmistakably significant allusions appear, even in government organs, some of the desire for peace and eyes cast to the effect that the present condition of affairs cannot continue any longer. How long will it last yet, it is being asked, and when will our suffering cease?

It would be difficult to define, within the limits of a newspaper article, how and in what way this faint Hungarian longing for peace could develop into something more material, yet it is most reassuring that these sounds of peace are not incidental and sentimental expressions of those mostly affected, but that they emanate from higher and responsible sources.

When we understand that the Hungarian press is entirely in the hands and under the strict control of government authorities, and that nothing in the nature of any political bias could appear without the consent and approval of government censorship or higher authorities, we soon realize that these utterances, in the Hungarian press cannot appear but with the full consent of the Hungarian government.

I know of papers writing leading articles on the subject, having worked on their staff for many years, where every one of the leading articles, even in peace time, has to be passed for approval to the government press bureau, or where the editor has to ask the government authorities daily as to the opinion his leading article is to convey. Thus I can arrive at no other conclusion than that, in the present circumstances, when censorship is so strict, especially in matters relating to the political aspects of the war, no such articles could appear without the approval of the political authorities.

Separate Peace.

How Hungary could conclude a separate peace or conclude a peace in common with Austria, leaving Germany to her fate, is a question which political thinkers have discussed at length, yet it presents immense and almost unsurpassable difficulties.

We may say that Hungary, being an independent state with a separate control, government and constitution, could begin peace negotiations with her enemies without the consent of her allies, for her allies would not be in a position to prevent such a movement on her part, either diplomatically or by force. She could, simply by threatening to sue for peace, compel Austria to join her in this attempt to secure a separate peace, and by such a movement receive as much of the territory of Austria as would be lost in case of utter defeat. She could compel Austria to join her, for Austria without Hungary could no longer face the invaders, and would at the same time sacrifice the idea of dualism which means the breaking up of the Hapsburg monarchy, and Germany would not be in a position to prevent the monarchy from taking such a step.

How all this will work out or whether the significance of these Hungarian desires for peace is sufficient to justify us in thinking that something is brewing in that part of the world, remains to be seen, but that there is a movement, and that there is a distinct indication that the first step in the direction of peace will come from Hungary, is more than probable. One fact is evident, that political Hungary is the weakest point of the central empires, and that her people will not have moral strength enough to continue the struggle once they see no national aim, no greater issues to tempt them further.

HARNESS RIVER MURRAY TO MAKE FINE WATERWAY

[Associated Press]
ADELAIDE, South Australia.—What is hailed as inaugurating a new and important era in the industrial development of the Australian Commonwealth was the laying at Blanchetown on the river Murray, June 5, of the foundation stone of the first lock of a great system of locks and weirs, which will harness this great waterway to the better use of the Australian people. The system, together with the water storages at Lake Victoria and Cumbernook, will provide for irrigation on a huge scale as well as the use of the Murray waterway for trade and commerce.

What the Nile is to Egypt, and the Mississippi is to the United States the Murray river system is one of the longest navigable rivers in the world, at times for more than 3000 miles.

For something like half a century the control of its waters has been a vexed question in the politics of the three states most vitally concerned—New South Wales, Victoria and South Australia—and because successive governments have been unable to agree upon a basis of settlement of riparian rights, the potential wealth of the river has been allowed to pour itself unchecked into the sea—a gigantic waste in a continent where the chief desideratum is water. The ceremonies at Blanchetown therefore signalled a historic event. When carried to completion, the project will open up about 1,500,000 acres for cultivation and it is estimated will bring in an additional population of from 500,000 to 750,000 persons.

The cost will be about $21,000,000. Some idea of the extent of the scheme may be gathered from the fact that in South Australia, the Lake Victoria reservoirs can be made to store 22,000,000,000 cubic feet of water.

"U" BOAT CAPTURED.

A telegram from Rome relates the following story, which appears in the "tribuna":
A French destroyer, having boarded a large sailing ship in the Aegean Sea, found that it belonged to a Balkan State and was supplying a German submarine with naphtha and benzine. The French commander thereupon dressed up some of his sailors in the clothes of the crew of the sailing ship, and armed them. The sailing ship's crew were disembarked and the commander went on board with his disguised men.

Having learned of the direction of the German submarine, he started off, and shortly afterwards the enemy vessel approached and asked for the oil supplies. Immediately machine guns appeared over the ship's side, and the German commander and his men, covered by the rifles of the French buccanniers, had no alternative but to surrender. The crew were ordered on board the sailing ship and thence taken to Malta. A prize crew took possession of the submarine.—Central News.
