

U. S. HEARS BRITAIN IS CAPTURING MANY SUBMARINES

HAWAII'S NEED REAL "GET TOGETHER," SAYS FARRINGTON OF WASHINGTON VISIT

Talks With Many Men in National Capital Convince Him Era of Mutual Good Will in Territory Would Be Definitely Helpful—Too Much "Knocking" Done—Territorial Administration Staunchly Supported

Hawaii could gain materially in its presentation of vital matters at Washington if the people of the territory gave less rein to personal antagonisms and in particular to persistent criticism of each other.

Such is the emphatic statement by W. R. Farrington, Hawaii newspaperman, after a visit to the national capital and talks with many men who are in close touch with government affairs.

He finds that the obvious disposition of the administration leaders is to work for the welfare of Hawaii, and concludes that if Honolulu citizens, for instance, were to get together in a determination to make rapid progress along modern municipal lines, Hawaiian matters as a whole would be advanced in Washington.

On the Train to Chicago, Sept. 17, 1915. If the Civic Convention, Ad Club, Chamber of Commerce or any plain citizen of Hawaii could establish an era of peace and good will, cooperation, a getting together for the general welfare of the people, they individually and severally would accomplish what the territory needs today more than any one thing.

This optimism my impression gained while in Washington. I have had a night to sleep over it and sift out the high lights of the crowded days.

I had fifteen minutes with the president in the White House. I had longer talks with Secretary Lane, Attorney General Gregory and Secretary Daniels.

I had a pleasant chat with Secretary McInnis and very brief talks on Secretary Lansing and Secretary Garrison. All except Secretary Lansing made special references to Hawaii in our conversations.

There is, however, comment in Washington quite unofficial and widespread, at Hawaii's lack of harmony.

One remark I heard thus unofficially may be mentioned—thus unofficially to prove every man in Hawaii some kind of a mascot on the testimony of his neighbor, who if he did not charge him with all the evils over committed damned him with faint praise.

Another unmistakable impression I gained from my visit and talks with many people. The administration is behind and has confidence in the men it has named for public office in Hawaii, and is earnest and honest in its desire to do that which shall be for the best development of Hawaii in working out the scheme of domestic advancement and national service that seems to be our mission in the Pacific.

Opportunity—If Hawaii Takes It. When I think of what we could accomplish for Hawaii and for the United States by simply forming the habit of not calling names, I wonder what we in the islands are fed on, anyway, that should give us the habit that has solidified into a permanent reputation for making faces at each other when matters of official patronage and policies are under consideration.

My call on the president was delightful, except for my natural diffidence taking control of me when a man walked into the blue room and announced "The President." It is curious what a feeling of awe creeps over one as he stands in the midst of those historic surroundings and is greeted by the one man selected to watch over the destinies of our hundred millions of people. Perhaps it gives an inkling of the sobering influence which the responsibility of office has had upon some of the wild radicals called to the highest office in the land.

If, as some have said, Mr. Wilson (Continued on page five)

FIGHT AGAINST WARD SYSTEM IS DETERMINED ON

Men Who Favor Progressive Charter Will Take Dispute to Convention Floor

HOPE OF COMPROMISE GIVEN UP LAST NIGHT

F. J. Green and Alfred Eames Will Lead Opposition to Andrews-Murray Plan

Mars, God of War, has come to sit down before the doors of the Charter Convention and wait for their next opening. In the meantime the hostile parties gather their forces for next week's fray.

After spending more than three weeks attempting to reach a basis of understanding, or effect some compromise which would give the city government, the delegates to Honolulu's Charter Convention have split into two distinct parties.

The Green-Eames adherents openly charge the Andrews-Murray crowd with trying to foist upon the city a retrogressive form of government with the old corrupt ward system and other features which recent mainland experience has proved undesirable.

Progressive delegates to the Charter Convention, after last night's meeting of the committee of 15, held a meeting at which it was decided to force the issue to the floor of the main convention and there make a fight for the abolition of the ward system, provision in the new charter for the short ballot, and for some charter which will embody the best points of both the Aclt and Research Club drafts.

A plan tentatively considered for fighting the recommendation of the committee of 15 on the technical parliamentary grounds that they were based on the Murray charter plan, which was presented to the committee and not to the full convention was definitely abandoned, and the decision was reached to make the fight square.

THINKS FREEMAN MAY SUPERVISE CONSTRUCTION

Lieut.-Comdr. Coming With K Submarines May Oversee Work at Pearl Harbor

At noon today Lieut. K. B. Crittenden, commanding the first submarine division here, said he had not yet received any wireless from Capt. Sumner E. W. Kittelle, commander of the U. S. cruiser Maryland, as to when the K submarines will start on their journey to this port under their own power.

"I notified Capt. Kittelle to inform me when the boats started," said Lieut. Crittenden. "As to this morning's press despatches stating that Lieut.-comdr. C. N. Freeman will command the submarines on their trip here, we don't know whether this means he will just bring them over, or will remain in command after they get here."

Lieut. Crittenden added that Lieut.-comdr. Freeman is scheduled for shore duty beginning in January, and that he may be coming over her to "have a look-see," as he expressed it, perhaps preliminary to being placed in charge of supervising construction of the big submarine base to be built at Pearl Harbor in the ensuing year.

"At the present time, Lieut.-comdr. Freeman is commander of the torpedo flotilla of the Pacific fleet," added Lieut. Crittenden. "This comprises all the torpedo boats and submarines of the Pacific fleet, including the first division, stationed here; the second, the H-1, H-2 and H-3, at San Francisco, and the third, the K-3, K-4, K-7 and K-8, coming here this month. There are also eight torpedo boat destroyers in the flotilla."

All the F submarines, the F-1, F-2 and F-3, are today floating in the water once more, anchored at the water dock, the F-2, the last of the three to be given temporary repairs, having come off the drydock late yesterday afternoon.

The under-sea raiders are now ready to start for Mare Island at any time as soon as the K boats arrive, and the Maryland, Iroquois and Nanshan have coaled and are ready to tow them to the mainland for the extensive repairs and alterations ordered by the navy department to make the boats more safe and more efficient.

BRITISH ATTACK CEASED, GERMAN CABLEGRAM SAYS

Official Despatch on Fighting in West Declares Allies' Offensive Not Gaining Results

The following cablegram from official German sources was received yesterday:

"German Army Headquarters, Oct. 1.—The English have tried no more attacks while German counterattacks in the north made further progress in spite of violent defense by the British. All the French attacks failed east of Saucourt, north of Neuville and in Champagne and northwest of Massiges, where the troops of different French divisions took part. The number of prisoners taken in Champagne increased to 104 officers and 7019 soldiers. A French position near Vauquois was damaged by successful mine blowing.

"French aviators bombarded Menin and Leffebert and killed eight French citizens."

"On the east front, Field Marshal von Hindenburg's army, west of Duernburg, near Grenden, stormed further enemy positions. Russian attacks east of Madzoff and in front of Smorgon and Wialnew broke down. 1360 Russians being taken. Prince Leopold's Bavarian army repulsed Russians who made attacks and took six officers and 494 soldiers, and six machine guns. General von Linsingen's army made progress in attacks.

"During September on the east front the Germans took prisoner 21 officers and 95,464 men, 37 cannon, 298 machine guns and one aeroplane."

FIVE YEARS AT HARD LABOR IS SENTENCE METED OUT TO NAKAI

Libert Nakai, convicted of second degree manslaughter, was sentenced to serve not less than five years at hard labor in Oahu prison by Circuit Judge Ashford today. Nakai's bond was fixed at $2000. This will remain pending action by the defense in perfecting an appeal to the supreme court from Judge Ashford's recent denial of a motion for a new trial for Nakai.

Judge Ashford referred to the defendant as being "another victim of John Barleycorn." He called attention to the fact that it was the first case of conviction during his incumbency for homicide committed with an automobile.

Heavy Guns Batter German Positions And Aviators Render Reinforcement of Troops Almost Impossible

(Associated Press Service by Federal Wireless)
LONDON, England, Oct. 2.—A telegram from Amsterdam announces that relations may be severed within a few hours between Austria-Hungary and Rumania by reason of the determination of the Teutonic Allies to send munitions to the Turks at once. An ultimatum has been sent from Vienna to Rumania, says the telegram, demanding that Rumania give free passage to munitions for the Turkish army.

Expert opinion here is that the dreadnought is still the most effective type of warship, though numerous submarines are planned for the American navy of the future.

RIVAL WIRELESS COMPANIES TO BE COMBINED SOON?

The syndicate representing the Marconi interests, recognizing no doubt what a formidable rival the Poulsen system must be in the future if it remained independent, has stepped in and made an offer, which apparently has been accepted.

"For the present Treasury restrictions prevent the formation of a subsidiary company and other financial arrangements for the consummation of this deal cannot be made, but after the conclusion of peace it may be looked upon as certain that the Poulsen system will be under the Marconi banner."

The present Treasury restrictions prevent the formation of a subsidiary company and other financial arrangements for the consummation of this deal cannot be made, but after the conclusion of peace it may be looked upon as certain that the Poulsen system will be under the Marconi banner."

Supplementing this special article, the World published the following confirmation by a Marconi official in New York:

"John Bostrom, vice-president and treasurer of the American Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company, said last night that the acquisition of the Poulsen system by the Marconi Company would close the last gap which remained to interfere with the company's absolute control of wireless throughout the world."

"The Poulsen system, as a whole, is known in connection with a system of the Marconi company. It has long been recognized as one of the most efficient methods of transmitting wireless messages. The Poulsen system is known as the 'continuous wave' which carries through interference in a remarkable manner. There has been much litigation abroad over what the Marconi Company claimed was infringement on its patents by the Poulsen Company. The Marconi tuning system has been used by the Poulsen Company for several years."

Local Managers' Comments.

Manager Nolley of the Federal Telegraph Company says that if any such deal has been made it is news to him.

"Furthermore, I do not believe the Federal Telegraph Company, which has bought the Poulsen rights for the United States, would sell them to the Marconi company," he said. "Before Beach Thompson died he had secured the rights. There was a long litigation in which the Marconi people opposed the Federal company. It was carried to the supreme court of the United States and the Federal Company won."

"I am inclined to think that the Marconi company has secured only the European rights and in any event, I do not know of any reason why this deal should affect the wireless industry."

Manager Hawk of the Marconi office, who says that the news of the deal's completion had not yet reached him, showed no surprise. In fact, he said that something of the sort had been expected. He says it has been understood that negotiations were on to combine the two now opposing interests and that the purchase by the Marconi syndicate is a logical development.

KEWALO DAMAGE CLAIMS TOTAL MORE THAN LEGISLATIVE FUND

Property Owners File Pleas for Sums Totalling $37,124; $32,112 Appropriated

Filing claim for a property damage amounting to $700 at 2:14 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Frank C. and Mary E. Betters brought to an end the long list of names of persons who maintain damage was done to property in Kewalo as a result of the Lord-Young fill. The offices closed at 4:30, making the last claim filed just 76 minutes before the books were closed by law.

According to the law, damage claims could be registered in the office of the superintendent of public works to and including the 1st day of October, and several people took advantage of the time offered, waiting until yesterday to file their complaints.

Now standing there is a list of names claiming sums which total $37,084.25 for property damaged. This is nearly $9000 greater than the appropriation of $32,124.88 allowed by the last legislature to the superintendent of public works for the purpose of reimbursing Lord-Young Engineering Company for losses sustained in attempting to carry out the terms of a contract entered into with the Territory of Hawaii for filling the unsalt-water lands in the Kewalo district.

Claims which have been filed in the office of the superintendent of public works cover almost everything. They are for fences, chicken houses, chickens, trees, lawns, shrubs, gardens, and so on. One of the claimants has asked for the sum of $500 to go toward the loss of a fish pond and fish therein from which his family derived sustenance.

Hustace-Peck Claim Large.

With a claim of $5478.50 the Hustace-Peck Company, Ltd., heads the list asking for reimbursement and the lowest amount asked is the modest sum of $18 by one Jennie Mahulu.

Detailed investigation by the public works office has been made of each portion of property alleged to have been damaged and a report is now in course of preparation for the consideration of the superintendent, who will give the report careful consideration, and make allowances according to his findings.

According to Act 163 which provides for the appropriation of reimbursement money, the superintendent shall retain from the amount available under this act such sum or sums as he shall deem necessary, to compensate any owner or occupants of any land, for damages for improper or incomplete fill and for damages for destruction of any property not repaired or restored.

"All such claims shall be in writing, shall set forth the nature and extent of the damage and the amount of compensation claimed therefor, shall be supported by the oath of affirmation of the claimant, and shall be filed as aforesaid on or before the first day of October, 1915."

CITY ENGINEER WANTS TO MOVE TRANSIT SWITCH

Plans to have one of the street car tracks on Kalakaua avenue moved over in that portion where the track branches off into a switch just beyond the duck ponds, are being given consideration in the office of the city engineer.

Though the matter has not yet been taken up formally with the Rapid Transit Company, Engineer Whitehouse believes that the changing of the switch is about the only method by which the parking can be continued along this section of road, a distance of 585 feet.

With the two tracks lying as they now do the parking if extended would run only three feet from them, which is considered too close. According to Rapid Transit officials the matter has not been brought to them officially, and until it has been thus brought nothing can be done in regard to changing the track.

"One or two supervisors have hinted to me," says Manager C. G. Ballentyne, "that a change would be a good thing in this section of track, but no map has been sent giving the plans, and until I get something of the sort to lay before my directors I can not say what we shall do."

Working on Kalakaua is now progressing well the workers making approximately 200 feet each day along the avenue. This includes digging and the laying of concrete curb.

Seventeen members of the faculty of the Y. M. C. A. night school were guests of the educational committee last evening at a banquet in Cooke hall. This was the first "get together" meeting of the year, and the plans were laid for a big school year. Prof. A. L. Andrews, chairman of the educational committee, presided and short talks were made by Prof. Andrews, Ed. Towse, W. C. Purer, R. E. Lambert, Paul Super, C. F. Loomis and Jay A. Urbe.

The case of Barney Turner, charged with having assaulted a woman on a government reservation, has been continued in federal court until moved on. Turner entered a plea of guilty this morning and was released on his own recognizance.

RAPID TRANSIT WILL RUN MOTOR BUSES TO FORT SHAFTER SOON

Plans by the Rapid Transit Company to extend their service in a jitney bus line to Fort Shafter look definite from yesterday when a trial bus was put on the run with results that promise the system in the near future. According to plans now under consideration, the bus will leave every 30 minutes from the end of the street car line, making stops at the various departments of the post. Transfers will be made on both cars and buses.

Rumor that a system might be run also to Fort Kamehameha was denied today by Manager C. G. Ballentyne of the Rapid Transit Company. "The run is too long," said Mr. Ballentyne, "and the traffic is too small to cause us to favor a project of that sort. We shall have but three of the buses on regularly, one being held in reserve. Speaking of the other two routes chosen, Waialae and Kalia valley, the manager says that he hopes they will prove very effective. In Kalia a 30-minute run is proposed, which will allow the buses a little less than 15 minutes each way. "This amount of time," says Mr. Ballentyne, "will take us somewhere a little beyond the concrete bridge in the valley."

CITIZENSHIP FOR KAHN DELAYED THREE MONTHS

When an alien applies for naturalization, the law requires that the names of his witnesses be posted in a conspicuous place in the federal building for 90 days.

Whether the name of a substitute witness should be posted for 90 days was determined in a decision handed down by Federal Judge Sanford E. Dole today. Judge Dole is of the opinion that such a posting is necessary according to the decision.

The question arose in the case of Jacob Kahn, a native of Russia, who applied for citizenship. At the last moment one of his witnesses was found to be unavailable and another witness was substituted. Mr. Kahn will now have to wait three months before his case will be given further hearing.

The funeral services of Bernard Lehman, who shot and killed himself near the Country Club last Tuesday, were held this afternoon from the Phoenix hall, Post and Beretania streets. The modern Order of Phoenix, of which Lehman was a member, had charge of the services. Interment was in the Nuuanu cemetery.

A suit for divorce—the first this month—was filed in circuit court today by Samuel Ramsay against Stella Ramsay. J. Wesley Thompson, former assistant district attorney, is representing the plaintiff.

ly for principles of good and efficient city government. The Andrews delegation stands for the ward system and a sharp division of legislative and executive powers in the city and county government. The other party wants a real short ballot primarily, and will make their fight a rather negative one, trying to beat down the ward system plan before they take up any constructive measures.

Both parties claim that they want to minimize politics in city affairs, but the first says that politics has to be recognized as a force. The second party holds that politics can be made a negligible quantity. Andrews claims that the ward system will give every section of the island representation in the county government. Green and other states that the ward system will represent nothing save the big handshake and the broad smile. "Always Stands Still."

Andrews claims that the system which he advocates will be open to change, that it looks forward to growth in the future. Green and James hold that the ward system looks neither backwards nor forwards, because politics always stands still.

Andrews' plan will be recommended by the committee of 15 in their majority report. "There is no doubt of this although the final action has not been taken by the committee. But the sub-committee of five is fairly representative of the opinion in the large committee, and its vote in the smaller body was four to one in favor of the ward system."

For a while the opponents of the ward system hoped to be able to throw out the idea on the grounds of technical parliamentary rules. But they have now made up their minds to fight the battle on the actual merits of the system.

Green has been working for days in collaboration with others preparing a minority report which is a sweeping attack upon the ward plan. This report will get to the floor of the convention as the minority report of the whole committee of 15. There may be a few changes, but the gist of the matter will be the same.

Based on Murray Plan. The plan which the committee of 15 favors is based upon the latest charter plan which was laid before them. The first plan was for the commission form of government, drawn into a charter for Honolulu by W. C. Achi. The second charter followed the city manager plan and was drawn up by the Municipal Research Club. The third plan, outlined by Harry Murray, is somewhat akin to the Achi plan, but differs in that it proposes the ward system for the election of supervisors. It also suggests the creation of the position of superintendent of city works, a position which under the new plan would have much of the significance of the city manager's office.

This is the plan upon which the sub-committee of five drew up its report which will be presented Monday night before the committee of 15. Green and his party say that the plan is a complete retrogression. Opposing this plan they establish themselves as the Progressive party in the Charter fight. The Andrews delegation, unquestionably conservative, has as its motto, "Change in Moderation."

The cry of the Conservative party is, "Trust the Will of the People!" The cry of the Progressives is "Modern Methods!" Upon this issue the combat will be joined. The Conservatives stick close to the idea that government must be carried on according to the old ideas of strict representation. The Progressives want a city government organized in the same manner that great corporations are organized. What Leading Fighters Say.

Lorrin Andrews says: "I want what the majority of the people want." M. C. Pacheo, chairman of the convention, says: "We must go slow. I think the old government was doing very well. We have got fairly tired of it. This is not the time for a sudden change." Charles Chillingworth says: "I am bitterly opposed to the idea of the election of magistrates. The idea that political prominence means legal efficiency is ludicrous. I shall fight this thing to the last ditch on the floor of the convention."

The election of magistrates is favored by the Murray plan, and the committee report derived from it. Francis J. Green says: "The real issue is the short ballot. How we can get the short ballot by electing the heads of departments as the advocates of Harry Murray and Andrews would do is beyond me."

The convention met last night and accepted the report of the finance committee, which reported that $700 was on hand and proposed a scheme whereby the $700 should be expended. The report was as follows: Assistant clerk, $250; typewriting, $100; translating, $100; stationary, $50; advertising, $60; and incidentals, $40.

The control of the expenditure of these sums in detail was given into the hands of the finance committee at their request. The report of Assistant Secretary Coelke showed that only $35.87 had been spent by the convention so far.

A. B. Castro moved that the convention receive the report of the committee of 15 not later than October 12. The motion carried.

Kong In Joo, a Korean indicted by the territorial grand jury on a charge of first degree burglary, will be arraigned in Circuit Judge Ashford's court at 9 o'clock next Monday morning.

BARBER WHO DRESSES QUEUES FOR WRESTLERS COMING TO HONOLULU

(Special Cable to Nippon Jiji.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2.—One of the barbers who has been employed by the Japanese wrestlers to look after their queues deserted the party in this city about two weeks ago. He turned up today and asked to be taken back to assist with the wrestlers. As he was previously known as John F. Mendicino, the Japanese manager, gave him another chance and he will arrive in Honolulu on the Chrys Maru.

The tonsorial artist and chief queue inspector who deserted in San Francisco has been greatly missed by the wrestlers. At the first performance in Honolulu Edoukora had his queue messed up and longed for his favorite artist, while said barber was hiking up and down Kearny street awaiting an opportunity to grab a few cents.

John F. Mendicino, charged with having violated the postal regulations, entered a plea of not guilty in federal court today. The case was continued until moved on.

We invite inspection of our large stock of HOWARD Watches

In higher railroad circles there is a very natural ambition to carry a HOWARD Watch.

It is well known that the HOWARD has a high standing among Railroad Officials and trainmen, as well as among prominent men in business, in the industries, the professions and official circles.

And it is often the man in the ranks, impelled by his self-respect, his professional spirit and his ambition for the better things of his calling, who saves to get a HOWARD.

A HOWARD Watch is always worth what you pay for it—$40 to $170 and the EDWARD HOWARD model at $350.

When you get ready to buy your HOWARD you will find an interesting assortment in this store to choose from.

PYREX

Glassware for Baking

The latest invention. A hit with housewives everywhere. No glass heretofore produced could withstand the sudden changes of temperature incident to baking. Glass is easy to clean and shows the slightest trace of dirt plainly if the cleaning has not been thorough. Glass does not flake or crack like many other kinds of ware.

Pyrex ware is for Quicker, Better, Cleaner, Cheaper Baking. It has been tested and approved by GOOD HOUSEKEEPING INSTITUTE. Made in Bakers, Custards, Pie Dishes, Bread Pans, Shredded Egg Pans, Casseroles, Etc.

It is now on display at

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE United States, in and for the Territory of Hawaii. In Bankruptcy, No. 301.

In the matter of Charles Girdler, a bankrupt. BANKRUPT'S PETITION FOR DISCHARGE. To the Honorable Sanford B. Dole, Judge of the District Court of the United States for the Territory of Hawaii:

Charles Girdler of Honolulu, City and County of Honolulu, Territory of Hawaii, respectfully represents that on the 14th day of November, 1914, last past, he was duly adjudged a bankrupt under the Acts of Congress relating to bankruptcy; that he has duly surrendered all his property and rights of property and has fully complied with all the requirements of said acts and of the orders of the court touching the bankruptcy law.

Wherefore, he prays that he may be decreed by the court to have a full discharge of all debts accruable against his estate under said bankruptcy acts, except such debts as are excepted by law from such discharge. (Signed) CHARLES GIRDLER, Bankrupt.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 1st day of October, A. D. 1915. (Seal) (Signed) F. L. DAVIS, Deputy Clerk, United States District Court, Territory of Hawaii.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE United States, in and for the Territory of Hawaii, In Bankruptcy, No. 301.

In the matter of Charles Girdler, a bankrupt. ORDER OF NOTICE OF BANKRUPT'S PETITION FOR DISCHARGE. On this 1st day of October, A. D. 1915, on reading the foregoing petition:

It is ordered by the court that a hearing be had upon the same on the 6th day of November, A. D. 1915, before said court at Honolulu, City and County of Honolulu, in said district, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, and that notice thereof be published in the "Honolulu Star-Bulletin," a newspaper printed in said district, and that all known creditors and other persons in interest may appear at said time and place and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of the said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered by the court that the clerk shall send by mail, to all known creditors, copies of said petition and this order, addressed to their places of residence as stated. Witness the Honorable Sanford B. Dole, Judge of said court and the seal thereof, at Honolulu, in said district, on the 1st day of October, A. D. 1915. (Seal) A. E. MURPHY, Clerk, U. S. W. R. FARRINGTON SHOWS NEED OF 'GET-TOGETHER' is cold and austere I failed to discern even a suggestion of that characteristic. He was as cordial and warm in his greeting as any man I met in my travels, not ten per cent so pompous as some officials I have encountered in Hawaii. I gained the impression that Mr. Wilson is unwavering in his loyalty to his friends and with all others who deal with him honestly, open-and-above-board style.

Administration Wants the Facts. I realize more than ever the sound judgment of Governor Pinkham when he has consistently and insistently asked the industrial and commercial leaders of Hawaii to furnish the officials of the government with bed rock facts in order that conclusions may be drawn from an independent review of facts rather than a wrangle over opinions.

I have gained the impression that the whole administration goes forward on the basis of mutual understanding and cooperation, backed by a steadfast loyalty and admiration for the leader of Hawaii and a substitute mutual understanding for continual antagonisms and petty bickering. I believe it will be properly tuned to get in touch with the present administration. I am not saying or recording anything new. Nevertheless, it is something that ought always to be uppermost in the minds of men sufficiently unselfish to think of their country first, and believe with the Ad Club that what is for the welfare of all is for the greatest good of the individual. Perhaps this reads like an attempt at a sermon. Let the reading run as it will, I am merely recording impressions gained from four days in Washington that were just as full, educational, informational and inspirational days as I have ever enjoyed.

C. S. Albert At His Post. Charles S. Albert, the Star-Bulletin's Washington correspondent, has, I am sure, no superior as a guide, counselor and friend. Mr. Albert is the head of the New York World's Washington Bureau. In the Star-Bulletin office, judging from the bright, snappy tone of his stuff, we have always thought of him as a young man. He is young. About 50 years young, I should say. He was one of the elder Pulitzer's standbys and the "boys" have kept him on the job, not even allowing him a vacation this hot summer. I had the great pleasure of meeting Mr. Ralph Pulitzer, who directs the New York World since his father's death. Here is a man, I should say, born to luxury, who enjoys hard work and is devoting his life to carrying on the work and developing the ideals of his remarkable father. Thoroughly democratic, he is on the job wherever the interests of his paper require him to be. The World is making a great news record in the present German crisis as it has in the days gone by. And the Washington end of it is in the hands of "our" Mr. Albert. I landed in Washington in the midst of the latest international crisis, but Mr. Albert seemed to have plenty of time, because he seems always ahead of his work, at the same time possessing that peculiar news instinct of knowing just when and where the next big news is to break. "On the job" at the right moment.

They tell a story at the National Press Club of the day when the bomb went off in the capitol building. Albert was on the job as usual and phoned up to the club that a bomb had exploded at the capitol. Correspondents at the card tables and in the reading rooms thought it impossible. After Albert had scooped the whole outfit they realized that Albert was no practical joker.

At the Press Club I met Mr. Erly, who inquired especially after Mr. Hollinger, Mr. Lord and Joe Breckons, all of whom have pleasant memories of their trip to the islands. There also I met Jack Desha, who had just arrived preparatory to getting things in shape for the coming session of Congress.

While waiting to see Secretary McAdoo we met Congressman Gordon Lee of Georgia, who had come to town presumably to look after the interests of his constituents. He was very cordial. The Hawaii trip is a very pleasant recollection with all of them. There are only one or two exceptions and no good can be accomplished by mentioning them.

Another enthusiastic friend of Hawaii is found in Mr. Myer, private secretary to Secretary Lane. He visited the islands as Secretary Fisher's private secretary. Though trouble—the usual Hawaii ailment—took Mr. Meyer to the islands he has only the most pleasant memories of his tour. I promised Mr. Meyer that the Ad Club or some other live organization would send on a large transparency of a scene in Hawaii to match up with these of mainland scenes that adorn the walls and windows of the secretary's anteroom.

Secretary Lane Deeply Interested in Hawaii. Let no one doubt Secretary Lane's interest in and support of the administration in Hawaii. He is one of the big men of the cabinet. He stands for efficiency and the best service that officials can give. He has not lacked numerous reminders that Hawaii is a small community, in which everyone knows all about his neighbors, and apparently records all the evil he can think of and sends it to Washington.

I mention this again because Hawaii during this administration is committing the unpardonable follies of the Republican administrations—picking its own interests downstairs by saying evil things of its own people. I confess that in days gone by, I have done more or less of it myself. But there comes a time in the affairs of communities as well as men when they should put aside acts and habits proved beyond a question to be worse than foolish. If the bickerers were fighting over some fundamental principle, the situation would be open to argument. But they are not. They are merely calling names over miserable affairs of personality or patronage. This accomplishes nothing but harm for Hawaii and arouses a combination of ridicule and disgust in Washington.

Another man who has studied the Hawaiian situation very thoroughly is Attorney-General Gregory. I had formed an opinion of Secretary Lane and had that opinion confirmed and intensified. Mr. Gregory was virgin field. The people may rest assured that the attorney-general is devoting a great amount of sincere study in his endeavor to recommend men for service in his department who shall be capable, honest and a credit to the country. It was a joy to listen to Mr. Gregory and note his grasp of the situation. I thanked and congratulated him on the appointments of Chief Justice Robertson and Judge Whitney. I gained from my talk that Mr. Gregory's sole and sincere aim is to do the square thing by the people of Hawaii and he hopes, expects I have no doubt, that the people of the islands will display the same spirit in their attitude toward officials. What more could you ask?

It is my judgment that Mr. Gregory has mighty little use for a chronic knocker, though I am sure he did not use that ugly word once during his conversation with me. Builders in Washington. These men in Washington are big men, builders, and they want to connect up with big men, builders. Secretary McAdoo wants to settle the Honolulu federal building site, and I should say hopes to clear it off the boards shortly after the return of Assistant Secretary Newton. I told him

I thought Honolulu was willing to accept the judgment of the department, so work was begun and the building started. Mr. McAdoo is dealing with the great problems of national income and expense. He didn't say what the intention is toward sugar. Our correspondent has his own opinions on this, which have been set forth to Star-Bulletin readers through his letters.

The definite factor of the whole situation is that the administration is seriously considering all present and possible practical sources of revenue that will competently meet the present extraordinary situation, always remembering that even before this letter reaches you we may have severed diplomatic relations with Germany and war be declared on us by that nation.

Foreign Relations a Factor. One of the experienced correspondents in Washington stated that he fully anticipates such a result within the next month. These are times when one man's guess is as good as another's. No man knows what a day may bring forth.

Yet in the midst of this crisis, Washington goes and comes as usual, unruffled, busy, calm and determined—as nearly ready as it is possible to be. As indicating the relative size of the places, and possibly the source of many of our troubles in Hawaii, the appointment by Governor Pinkham of an adjutant-general causes much more excitement up and down the streets of Honolulu than could be noticed at any time or anywhere in Washington the day that President Wilson through Secretary Lansing notified Germany that one thing and only one thing can be accepted from Germany in the Arabic case.

May it not be true that one of our faults in Hawaii is that we spend too much time minding other people's business, devote too much to the affairs of the government in Washington and not enough to—well, say our own city government.

"Get Together" Needed in Honolulu. I am confirmed in the belief that the mayor of Honolulu has the greatest opportunity of any public officer in Hawaii. If the people of our city could get together to conduct public business on lines of efficiency, of by and for the people, the perfection of this governmental unit would go 99 per cent of the way towards solving our problems in Washington. Why? Because the people would form the habit of working for the common good, instead of stopping every five minutes to haggle over a stone in the road, declared by one to be a boulder and by another a pebble. And whether it is or is not, is of not the slightest moment when men stop to think and express averagely sane thoughts.

Secretary Garrison, I should say from a brief talk, is one of the live wires of the cabinet. He has a regular Ad Club smile and a quick cheery way that was entirely unexpected. The newspapermen do not consider him much of a source for news on account of his judicial habits, but they like him. He has Hawaii very much in mind. Secretary Daniels is very anxious to visit the islands, but it seems that he cannot make the trip till some one puts out the fire in Europe. His memories of Hawaii center around Pearl Harbor. I should say that the dry-dock construction caused him as many sleepless nights as it did the contractors. He is a very pleasant gentleman to meet and gives one the impression of deep sincerity in his official undertakings. Of smaller stature than I had anticipated, probably because I thought he must be a tall man to stand at the head of that family of boys so frequently photographed. I think the country expects great results from the consulting board of inventors, which Secretary Daniels has called into being for the service of the nation. That was indeed an inspiration. News of Former Honoluluans.

I dropped in on Dr. L. E. Cofer, whose office is near the house of representatives office building. He is still an enthusiast on Hawaii and was pleased to hear of old friends and acquaintances. L. S. Cooney is in the service of the department of justice. He seems happily located and keeps up his interest in Hawaiian matters. Dr. Wilcox is with the department of agriculture. I had a very pleasant though not altogether successful conference with Dr. True and Dr. Evans, who was recently in Honolulu on experiment station and College of Hawaii matters. The department is very definite in its desire to retain direct control of its experiment station activities.

At this same conference I learned that the pineapple canners of Porto Rico are paying the pineapple growers $20 to $24 per ton for pines. This year. Now, "what do you know about that?"

SHIPPING & WATERFRONT NEWS

SAILORS MAY GET HOPE TO ARRANGE WEST COAST WILL PART OF WAGES SAME SCHEDULE MAKE BID FOR AT EACH PORT NEXT YEAR NEW TRADE

Circulars throwing further light on various sections of the Seamen's Act, which becomes effective November 4, and which the Pacific Mail alleges is the cause of its withdrawal from trans-Pacific trade, have just been received by Raymer Sharp, acting collector of customs, from the Department of Commerce, Bureau of Navigation.

Relative to allotments of seamen's wages, circular 259 states that the law forbids paying "any person for the shipment of seamen when payment is deducted or to be deducted, from a seaman's wages." This section puts the "crimps" out of business. Penalties for violation in 1916. Sailors' wages can be allotted on to next port, and no allotment will be valid unless signed and approved by the shipping commissioner.

The seamen's wages clause is explained in circular 260, which says, relative to final payment of wages, that the master or owner of American vessels making foreign voyages, or from Atlantic to Pacific ports, must pay his crew their wages within 24 hours after the cargo has been discharged. Wages equal to half the amount earned may be collected by the crew at every port where the vessel shall load or deliver cargo before the voyage is ended. Failure on the part of the master to comply with this demand shall release the seaman from his contract and he shall be entitled to full payment of the wages earned.

Hours of labor on shipboard are specified in circular 262. This states that the Seamen's Act provides that while in harbor, nine hours, inclusive of the anchor watch, shall constitute a day's work, and that seamen shall not be required to do any unnecessary work on Sundays, or New Year's day, Fourth of July, Labor day, Thanksgiving and Christmas. The law also requires, on all vessels above 100 tons gross, that sailors shall, while at sea, be divided into two watches, and firemen, officers and water tenders, in at least three.

THOUSANDS EAGER TO GET COPY OF A. & B. SHIPPING CALENDAR

Businessmen, shipping clerks, stevedores, office boys and plain, ordinary citizens stood in line yesterday and today in front of a telephone kiosk on the waterfront to receive Alexander & Baldwin's steamer day calendar for the last three months of the year.

Two thousand persons visited the distribution building yesterday, and today several hundred called to obtain copies of the much-desired publication, which gives the names and dates of all small steamers calling here from now until the close of the year. Circulation of the calendar has grown from a few hundred since the first issue, to almost 2000 every quarter. The calendar is useful not only to business firms wanting to know when their letters will come and go, but to small shippers, banana growers and exporters who depend on it to regulate their shipments.

Bringing a good-sized miscellaneous cargo from Hilo, the Manna Kea docked this morning. She brought 54 bundles of hides, 500 sacks of sugar, 200 bags of corn, two cows and calves and other cargo. Fresh winds and choppy seas were reported outbound, with strong trade winds on the return trip. The Manna Kea reported the schooner Prosper unloading lumber at the railroad wharf at Hilo.

For the purpose of obtaining a steamer schedule for next year the same as has been in effect throughout 1915, a steamer every 30 days in the sugar-planting season, and every 28 days in the off-season, C. P. Morse, general freight agent here for the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company, will leave next week for New York.

"I am going to combine business and pleasure," said Mr. Morse this morning. "I plan to leave here on the Mauna Kea Wednesday for Hilo, where I shall join the Texas and sail to San Francisco. After seeing the exposition I shall go on to New York by rail, and on arriving, will try to persuade the American-Hawaiian's main office to give us the same kind of a schedule we have had this year."

Mr. Morse plans to be gone two months. He says he does not doubt that he will be able to secure the steamer schedule he wants. "The company is under obligations to the islands," he said, "and will give it proper freight, steamer service, even though it could make more by using most of its ships in carrying war munitions across the Atlantic."

HARBOR NOTES

The Oceanic steamer Ventura is due from Australia Thursday, bound for the coast.

The Hyades is sailing for San Francisco today, having cleared from Hilo late Thursday.

En route here the schooner Sadie sailed from San Francisco yesterday. The boat arrived there September 23.

Strong winds and choppy seas returning to the port were reported today by the W. G. Hall, which arrived this morning from Kaula.

At 9 o'clock tomorrow morning the Matson steamer Enterprise will sail for Hilo, two hours after her arrival here from San Francisco. The boat has seven passengers for Hilo from the mainland.

Late this afternoon the Japanese freighter Kunaji Maru took on 500 tons of ballast at the railroad wharf after discharging her coal cargo. The boat will leave for Japan late today or tomorrow.

Bringing 5234 tons of coal for the Inter-Island, the British steamer Harewood sailed for San Francisco at 7:30 p. m. today. The cargo consists of 4000 tons of coal, 1000 tons of sugar, 200 tons of hides, 100 tons of other cargo, and 1000 tons of ballast.

News from the mainland states that the Inter-Island steamer owners of the Star Line have purchased several large steamers of the Inter-Island line. One of the latest ships, the Inter-Island called here September 5 for bunkers, en route to Vladivostok.

The Inter-Island steamer Waitia brought over 75 head of cattle from the Parker ranch, and rice, corn and sundries. The ship reported strong winds and a choppy sea outbound, and the weather and moderate seas coming in.

A small shipment of mail, 71 sacks, will arrive tomorrow morning on the Enterprise from San Francisco. Monday morning a big consignment will arrive on the Sonoma from the mainland. Next mail for the mainland goes Tuesday morning on the Tenyo Maru.

Wireless advices to Castle & Cooke this morning state that the Toyo Kisen Kaisha steamer Tenyo Maru will arrive at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon from Yokohama and the Orient. She has a total of 548 passengers on board, of whom there are 105 steamer passengers for Honolulu, including 32 Filipinos. Cargo for this port is 3532 tons.

Late this afternoon the British freighter Harewood was due to dock to unload her cargo of Australian coal, 5234 tons, for the Inter-Island. The boat will probably not sail until next Saturday, October 9. Her destination from here has not been learned by Brewer & Company, her agents, who expect a wireless in a few days advising them.

That the former Pacific Mail liners Korea and Siberia will have their present coal-burning boilers equipped to burn oil before being placed on the New York-Panama-San Francisco run with the Finland and Kroonland, is rumored in San Francisco. Both ships are now en route to Great Britain with cargoes.

Recent improvements made on his ship brake by the inventor, J. H. Hyde of Tacoma, have so bettered the invention that tests recently given in Washington by the navy department showed that a ship weighing 4900 tons can be stopped within 335 feet when steaming 17 knots an hour. The brake consists of steel plates fitted to the under-body of the ship and worked by deck engines controlled from the bridge or pilot house.

Blocked four days in the canal by slides in Culebra cut, the Half line steamer City of Bombay docked this morning at Pier 6, and was due to sail again late this afternoon for Vladivostok, with a general cargo. She took on 400 tons of bunker coal. The ship left New York August 29 and reported many other vessels tied up in Gatun lake because of the Culebra cut slide. As the freighter draws 26 1/2 feet she was one of the last boats to get through, as the slide was cleared.

For the purpose of reconnoitering the east coast ports of South America as trade possibilities for the Pacific coast, California's "acot ship," the Columbia, has sailed from San Francisco in the first attempt, according to newspapers of that city, to utilize the Panama canal to gain access to the eastern trade markets of South America.

The Columbia, owned by the W. E. Grace Company, is conveying a general cargo of California and north Pacific coast products on its trade-assembling voyage. Its varied cargo is really a collection of samples of what the Pacific coast of North America can grow and manufacture for South America.

The vessel is commanded by Capt. C. E. Allen and will make Santos, Brazil, its first port of call.

Trade conditions between California and Mexico and South America west coast ports have shown such sharp activity that the five flying steamship lines are overburdened in an effort to relieve the pressure the California South Seas Navigation Company, one of the lines, has acquired the steamer G. M. Clark, formerly under charter to the Olson-Mahoney Company, and has started it in the Mexican trade. Vessels for the trade are at a premium.

THINKS CANAL ZONE MIGHT MAKE MARKET FOR KAUAI PINE MEN

That there may be a market in the Canal Zone for pineapples grown by the home growers at Kapa, Kauai, is the summary of a letter which A. T. Longley, superintendent of the territorial marketing division, has written to L. D. Timmons, editor of the Garden Island at Hilo. As some of the big sugar plantations leave Port Allen direct for New York via the canal and make the trip to Hilo in about 16 days, Longley has pointed out that shipments of fresh pineapples might be made in this way. He does not know whether the fruit could be sold in the Canal Zone, but it is his idea to interest the Kauai Chamber of Commerce in looking into this possible new outlet for the fresh fruit.

MANOA TO DOCK EARLY ON TUESDAY MORNING

Eighty-five first-class passengers will arrive in Honolulu Tuesday morning at 7:30 o'clock, when the Matson steamer Manoa is due to dock at Pier 20 from San Francisco.

The steamer is bringing a good-sized shipment of mail, 1118 sacks. There are 8531 tons of cargo, including 47 automobiles.

For Kapa, the Manoa has 417 tons of cargo, and for Hanaula, 115 tons. The ship should arrive at port about 7:30, according to Castle & Cooke, Matson agents, who received a radio from the steamer this morning.

UNCLE SAM OFFERING CIVIL SERVICE JOBS

Good positions in government service will be given at once to those securing the highest averages at civil service examinations to be held in this city, October 15, to fill vacancies existing in a number of departments.

Two vacancies exist in the light-house service, and a position is also waiting the "big man" in the customs inspector examination, as F. M. McGrew's recent resignation leaves a vacancy there with no eligible list to fill it from. Salary $4 a day. A vacancy as stenographer and typewriter in the U. S. district attorney's office also exists, at $75 a month, and there is a similar vacancy in the naval police works office at Pearl Harbor, salary $4.80 a day.

Application blanks may be had from John W. Short, secretary of the civil service commission, or by applying at the office of A. E. Arledge, lighthouse inspector, 311 McCandless building. Applications will be received until 9 o'clock on the morning of October 15.

WOULD SHOW FILM TO WHOLE NATION

The Inside of the White Slave Traffic continues to draw good-sized audiences to the Hawaii theater. This film carries the endorsement of a number of the leading public welfare workers and educators of Honolulu and of the mainland, all of whom point out the fact that the lesson it teaches is one that everybody should know.

'STOP THIEF' WILL BE POPULAR BILL

Eugene Walter's masterpiece, "Paid in Full," is presented at the Popular theater twice today: at the matinee this afternoon and again this evening. The same feature will hold the screen Sunday and Monday evenings, and on Tuesday the famous Cohan-Harris farce, "Stop Thief!" will be introduced to the Honolulu public.

Breaking all records for attendance, the Raymond Teal Musical Comedy Company played to another packed house at the Bijou theater last night. That this clever company has made a hit in Honolulu is evidenced by the unanimous applause given last night, and the personal boost that satisfied theater patrons are passing out among their friends for Raymond Teal and his merry band of trouper.

SONNY CUNHA ENTERTAINS SHAFTER AERODROME PATRONS

For this evening the management of the Fort Shafter aerodrome announces Sonny Cunha as master of ceremonies, and preparations are being made to handle a record breaking crowd.

The special acts are: Bob Cunningham, in his monologue, "The German Settler," Billy Warren, the rapid fire comedian, Miss Edith Mellor, the cabaret singer, from Helnie's, Harry Clark, baritone, from the Orpheum circuit, etc.

Selection—The Rose of Algeria... Herbert Song—The Honolulu Rag, Van Alstyne... Finally—Tip Top Tipperary Mary... Carroll

Theatrical & Amusements

NEW MOVIE STAR SEEN AT EMPIRE

An exciting story of intrigue and adventure from the book of Anna Katherine Green, has been successfully filmed, as "From the Shadows." It will be presented as a headline attraction at the Empire theater at the noon hour matinee next week and this evening.

Clair McConaughy, a new artist on the silent stage, will make her initial appearance before Honoluluans in this striking dramatic offering. H. A. Barrios and Charles West take leading parts in the two-reel feature.

MR. HENPECK IS NEXT TEAL BILL

Breaking all records for attendance, the Raymond Teal Musical Comedy Company played to another packed house at the Bijou theater last night. That this clever company has made a hit in Honolulu is evidenced by the unanimous applause given last night, and the personal boost that satisfied theater patrons are passing out among their friends for Raymond Teal and his merry band of trouper.

A matinee for children was planned for this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, and on Saturday at this hour it is the intention of the Consolidated Amusement Company to give a show for the little ones with the popular prices of 15 and 25 cents.

For the last time during their Honolulu engagement, "The Time, The Place and the Girl," will be played tonight.

On Monday night the Raymond Teal Company will open with a new bill entitled, "Mr. Henpeck," a roaring musical farce comedy with Fritz Felder in the title role.

Professor Charles Ballet Wing, former head of the department of chemistry at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, died in Boston, aged 80 years.

Violin—Liebestraut (Kreutzer), Tambourin Chinois (Kreutzer).

Violin—Souvenir de Moscou (Wieniawski).

Probably the greatest calamity to the motion picture industry in history occurred last week. The great studio and laboratory of the Famous Players Company in New York burned to the ground, carrying with it $150,000 worth of motion picture costumes and personal effects belonging to famous stars, among the losers being Hazel Dawn, Mary Pickford, Marguerite Clark and John Barrymore.

Mr. Zukor, president of the Famous Players Corporation, stated that one of the films burned in the fire was almost priceless, "Bella Donna," in which Pauline Frederick starred, was destroyed, and was almost impossible to duplicate.

It was in the Florida Everglades, that most of the scenes were enacted, at a cost of many thousands of dollars. This fire will not interfere with the program at the Liberty theater, as all the films booked thus far are in circulation out of the San Francisco office.

A Saturday Evening Post contributor recently sought to expose the treachery of daredevil stunts in the "Diamond From the Sky" production. Samuel Hutchinson of the American Film Company, producer of this $500,000 serial, makes affidavit in denial, stating in part: "Never in this great business have I summoned double-cross men or other traitors been resorted to."

The photographs in truth itself representing the actual hair-raising scenes as they existed before the camera. The lives of the players have been repeatedly spared as it by miracle. The auto, passing in front of the swiftly moving train, mentioned in the "expose," was read. Mr. Cummings, the heroic driver, first appeared on the train engineer's horizon about a quarter of a mile from the crossing which formed the climax of the race.

The engine whistled its warning. Cummings gave the engineer the impression he would drive his auto over a nearby hill, branching off away from the crossing. The engineer, confident of Cummings' intentions, gave more steam. So did Cummings. Quick as a flash, the auto sped on to the track, crossed right under the headlight, scudded off the track, swerved, righted itself and went down the road off the scene. Actors who accomplish these death-defying scenes should not be subject to false criticisms.

Germany will take legal steps against all residents of Germany who do not voluntarily turn in all available metals not necessary for other than military purposes.

Many refugees are arriving at Trieste, Austria, having fled their homes in the path of the advancing Italian army.

Captain William F. Enders, corps of engineers, U. S. A., died on the steamer Alliance, en route to New York from Panama.

Victor Moore, the comedian, went to Chicago for a vacation. It was too slow for him. He could not stand the restful strain. Victor, after all his hard work in "Snobs" and "Chimnie Fadden," cut short his Chicago visit and hastened to California that he might execute some new pranks that originated in his ever-working brain while traveling. According to the time he made on his return trip, he is using first-aid methods to relieve his system of his bountiful supply of humor.

It is curious to note that when she has finished her latest production, Miss Pauline Frederick will have appeared in successes originally played by four of the foremost dramatic stars of the contemporary stage, respectively Viola Allen, Mme. Kullich, Mrs. Leslie Carter and Mme. Nazimova. Having just completed "Zaza," in which Mrs. Leslie Carter starred so successfully, Pauline Frederick is now beginning work in the Famous Players film production of "Bella Donna."

Blanche Sweet has retired for an extended vacation. This satisfied but popular star has been generous with her appearances in Honolulu, and we can but hope this sojourn will make her sadder and sweeter than ever.

Rome was not built in a day, but the Famous Players Film Company is building a motion picture city in Upper Manhattan, where Paramount pictures will be produced only one block from Broadway, in the metropolis.

In New Mexico, one of the finest diamonds in existence was found inside a meteor, now being exhibited in New York. This undoubtedly furnished an excellent foundation for the new serial story "The Diamond From the Sky," shown in motion pictures.

Blanche Sweet in "The Captive," will appear at the Liberty theater for the last time tonight, as will the opening episode of "The Diamond from the Sky," a prologue that should be missed by none who wishes to follow this thrilling serial.

The intimate story of the last Balkan wars as told in "The Captive," is of particular interest at this time when the Balkan states are once more on the verge of conflict. In the leading roles Blanche Sweet and House Peters are seen to excellent advantage. Peters has long been a favorite with followers of the camera stage, while Miss Sweet is now adding silent drama laurels to those previously won on the speaking stage.

"Niobe," the fanciful comedy by Harry and Edward A. Paulton, featuring the youthful star, Hazel Dawn, will be the Sunday evening offering at the Liberty, together with the twenty-third episode of "The Exploits of Elaine," the story of which appears elsewhere in this edition of the Star-Bulletin.

The population of Auburn, N. Y., is 37,952, according to the late census figures made public at Albany.

NO CLUE AS YET TO SUCCESSOR OF GENERAL CARTER

Likely No One Will Be Named Until After His Retirement on November 19

With the date of Maj-gen. W. H. Carter's retirement from the active list only a little more than a month away, the question of who will succeed to the command of the Hawaiian department is one of the chief topics of speculation among army men in Honolulu and vicinity.

No word was received this week from the war department giving any intimation as to the probable successor to the place filled so efficiently by the retiring commandant, who will automatically retire from the active list on November 19.

Persistent among the list of eligible officers discussed is heard the name of Brig-Gen. John J. Pershing, commanding the 8th Brigade, with headquarters at El Paso, Texas. Gen. Pershing is believed more likely to be chosen than Maj-Gen. Funston, commanding the Southern department, headquarters at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, who has also been mentioned.

In view of the fact that he now is finding plenty to do commanding the Southern department, a particularly important and strategic location in case of intervention in Mexico, his transfer here is thought unlikely.

"I haven't heard anything as yet concerning who my successor will be," was the word sent out by Maj-Gen. Carter this morning, when asked for a statement by a Star-Bulletin representative.

Army men here generally agree that the war department will not announce the name of Gen. Carter's successor until several weeks after he goes on the retired list. This, they believe, would be the proper thing for the department to do, as a mark of respect for the retiring commander who has performed his duties here so efficiently.

INDEPENDENCE DAYS WILL BE THEMES AT LUNCHEONS IN OCTOBER

The October luncheons of the Pan-Pacific Club will be a series celebrating Independence days and Coronation days of the great Pacific powers. To begin with, the first Tuesday in October is the Portuguese Independence day, and this luncheon has been turned over to the Portuguese Consul, Angelo da Cunha Pessoa, and his associates, who will take charge of the meeting and show the other races how the Portuguese celebrate their Independence day.

The following Tuesday, October 12, will be celebrated as the anniversary of the establishment of the Chinese Republic, a republic, by the way, which was established by a Honolulu, Dr. Sun Yat Sen. The Chinese consul, Tsang Woohuan, will arrange with his people for the proper celebration and adequate speeches. On October 19, L. G. Guillen, the Spanish consul, and T. F. Sedgwick, vice-consul for Spain, will take charge of the meeting, which comes somewhere near the anniversary of the discovery of America by Columbus. The Spanish consul will tell something of the duties of the consulate in Hawaii, and of the romance of Spain on the Pacific.

On October 26, H. Arita, the Japanese acting consul-general, has been invited with his people to celebrate at the Pan-Pacific luncheon, in honor of the coronation of the Emperor of Japan.

The luncheon will be held in the big gymnasium of the Y. M. C. A.

HONOLULU POLICEMEN MAY BE TAUGHT WHAT RIGHTS LAWS ALLOW

In order that the police force of Honolulu may be made more efficient a plan is on foot to start a school for policemen in which they may be taught all the essentials of their duty; when they should use force in an arrest; when they may enter premises without a warrant, and how they can be of help to other departments of the city government. The plan was concocted between Sheriff Rose and City Attorney A. M. Brown. One feature of the work will be the lectures which second deputy City Attorney Carden will make to different sections of the police force, who will be assembled to hear him at least twice a week.

GUARD BAND WILL HAVE BIG CROWD AT BALL TONIGHT

About 650 Tickets Sold For Event to Be Held at Armory; Receipts to Go to Band

With 650 tickets already sold of the original allotment of 800, the military ball to be given tonight in the armory by the 1st Infantry band, National Guard of Hawaii, will be one of the best attended held in the big hall this year.

Dancing will start at 8 o'clock, and music will be furnished by the band, under the direction of Chief Musician A. A. Feierisel. Decorations will be of a unique nature, consisting of the National Guard's field guns, two of which will be stationed at the door and two more at the sides of the bandstand, with other equipment of a military nature here and there to lend a martial appearance to the scene.

Much credit for the large sale of tickets is due, according to Chief Clerk J. K. Evans of National Guard headquarters, to the hard work put in on the affair by H. E. Westcott, chairman of the ball committee, who has striven diligently to advertise and boost the affair in every way possible.

There will be 16 dances on the program and four extras. The big hall will not be overcrowded should 800 couples attend, as last June, when a free dance was given in the armory, 1500 couples danced without overcrowding the floor.

Receipts from the ball will go toward a fund for maintenance and repair of the band's present instruments and purchase of more as the need arises. Col. Samuel I. Johnson, the adjutant-general, hopes to bring the band's membership which is now 20 to 40 men, and intends, if possible, to obtain a special appropriation for the additional instruments necessary. A number of good musicians are now in the guard who will join the band as soon as new instruments are provided.

HONOLULU LIKELY TO GET DECORATIONS OF BUILDING AT 'FRISCO

For the purpose of arriving at some decision concerning the disposal of the stately and other ornamental decorations in the Hawaii building at the Panama-Pacific exposition, a meeting of the Hawaii fair commission was held yesterday afternoon.

It was stated by John Effinger that the famous "Surf Riders" may be reproduced in bronze and placed on Kalakaua avenue, at Kapiolani park, or in the capitol grounds. No decision has been made for the disposal of the original piece. This city may also get some of the urns, stained glass windows and other interior decorations of the territorial building. The volcano pictures will probably be taken on to Washington by Professor J. A. Jagger, to be used in the campaign for a national park at Kilauea.

BOOK CONTAINS RECORD OF LAHAINA DROWNINGS

Containing all the details of the investigation carried on by the public utilities commission regarding the accident that occurred at Lahaina on the night of May 1, when a boat of the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company was overturned in the surf and two passengers were drowned, a book of nearly 140 pages is just off the press.

Besides the investigation conducted by the utilities commission there is also the record of its investigation made by the coroner's jury, together with all the letters from the Inter-Island Company regarding the accident, the letter from Inspector William Howe and to Inspector Thomas Heaney, letters from the sheriff of Maui county, and transcripts of all of the evidence.

Representatives of 200,000 coal miners, assembled at Wilkesbarre, Pa., urged the state to refuse further appropriations to the University of Pennsylvania, because of the dismissal of Professor Scott Nearing for his "socialistic views."

CARNIVAL FOR CHILDREN SET FOR NOVEMBER

The Outdoor Circle has set aside November 13 as a day which Honolulu's kiddies may rightly call their own. At a meeting of the circle yesterday, attended by 54 prominent local women, arrangements were made for a children's pageant and a score or more of other events which will feature November 13.

Mrs. Arthur Wall and Mrs. James D. Dougherty will have charge of the pageant, which will be held in the spacious grounds of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Atherton's residence at King and Ala-pai streets. Here will be held a "Carnival of Children." It will be unique and beautiful. There will be animated vegetables, flowers and animals. A pageant depicting the evolution of the doll from the time of grandmother until the present day, will delight the girls. A live pet show will interest the boys. Cats, puppies and dogs will vie for the "Blue Ribbon."

In addition to these attractions the circle will hold a delicatessen and basket sale. There will be ice cream, candy and punch for sale on the grounds. Japanese women will serve ceremonial tea. Tickets for the pageant shortly will be placed on sale. Mrs. L. A. Thurston and Mrs. A. E. Murphy will be in charge of the entire affair.

NATIONAL GUARD NOTES

The following graduates and ex-students of Kamehameha have signed up with the new Company K since the meeting held at the armory last Thursday evening: George McIntyre, Wilhelm Smith, Robert Lono, David Kahanamoku, Joseph Abu and William Nephau.

GOSSIP

"Nobody Home."

"Nobody home" is just about true when said of Honolulu society, for each steamer mainland-bound is taking away so many of the leaders in frivolous affairs that there is a decided lull in the set just at the beginning of the autumn season when elsewhere everything is so gay.

The Manchuria, making her last transpacific trip Tuesday, took among her passengers Mr. and Mrs. Harry Macfarlane, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thompson, Miss Harriet Lucas, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Castle and Mr. and Mrs. Edward White Sutton, all of whom are en route to the exposition.

Mr. and Mrs. Macfarlane, Miss Lucas, Mr. and Mrs. Sutton, Mr. and Mrs. Castle are going to spend their time in San Francisco and at other interesting places in California. The Frank Thompsons, however, are on their way to the East. After spending a fortnight or so there they plan to return to California, where they will be met by Dr. and Mrs. C. B. High, who are leaving Honolulu in the Manoa. The four will then take an auto tour of California.

Leaving the islands earlier in the summer was a large contingent of society folk; some of those who have been on the mainland for the past three or four months are expecting to return in October while others will remain away until after the winter season is over. Mr. and Mrs. George R. Carter, who left with their two daughters on the End, are planning to remain in the East until next June. The George Shermans, who have been on the mainland since June, have not decided just when they will return to sunny Hawaii. Mrs. Sherman has written her friends that she is enjoying the exposition immensely and that before coming home she and Mr. Sherman, with her daughter, Mrs. Herbert Dowsett, will visit in New York, where the Shermans have a beautiful home. Mrs. Dowsett went east a few weeks ago with her sister-in-law, Miss Alison Dowsett, who was returning to college.

Mrs. Charles Brownwell will remain in the East for three months. Mrs. Brownwell has entertained so extensively in Honolulu that her departure has created quite a lull in her circle.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Wilder, who left for the mainland in June, promising to return in a few weeks, are still enjoying their California trip. They have visited the San Diego exposition as well as the San Francisco one and are equally delighted with both. The Wilders are having such a delightful time that they are still undecided as to when they will return to their island home.

Mrs. E. D. Tenney and Miss Wilhelmina Tenney are still on the mainland enjoying the season there but it is expected that they will return to Honolulu within a very short time.

Dr. and Mrs. George Herbert, who have spent the summer motoring along the Pacific coast, have booked to return in the Manoa.

The girls in the younger set who have been "summering" in California say nothing of returning. They are having far too good a time, from their letters. Miss Blanche Soper, Miss Ruth Soper, Miss Pauline Schaefer and Miss Rose Herbert have all written of many delightful experiences they have had. They have all visited the exposition and enjoyed every minute of it, gaining education from the palaces and state and country exhibits and willing away quite a bit of time on the "Joy Zone."

Miss Ruth Anderson, who left for the coast early in the summer with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. R. W. Anderson, was heard from last in Los Angeles, where the Andersons have been visiting friends.

Miss Bella Lewyn of San Luis Obispo to Wed Mr. Clarence H. Olson. A secret kept from all but a very few of his intimate friends was given to a large circle today when Mr. Clarence H. Olson of the law firm of Holmes & Olson cabled to Honolulu the news that tomorrow he will be married to Miss Bella Lewyn of San Luis Obispo, California.

Miss Lewyn visited Honolulu some time ago with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mackintosh at their Waikiki cottage and it was here that she met the young attorney.

A few weeks ago hints of the romance reached Honolulu, but friends of the groom-to-be were so surprised as to be incredulous. When, however, Mr. Olson a short time ago sailed for the mainland on a vacation trip it was conjectured among those who shared the secret that he would return with a bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Olson will return to Honolulu on the Matsonia and will reside at the Pleasanton Hotel. Those who have met Miss Lewyn are entirely charmed, and a warm welcome is sure to await her both from the acquaintances she made here and from the extremely wide circle who claim friendship with Mr. Olson.

Kiddies' Carnival for November 13.

Big kiddies, small kiddies, all kinds of kiddies will reign supreme at the Outdoor Circle Carnival November 13. This is the latest edict issued by the women who are devoting so much time toward keeping Honolulu a paradise. Last year there was a children's bazaar given by the circle, and the proceeds netted from the affair were put into the treasury of the club and later used for the improvement work.

The carnival will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Atherton on King street and will include all sorts of entertainments for the youngsters. The children's pageant, which was one of the prettiest features of last year's entertainment, will be repeated, and for the boys there will be another ing members of the Congressional party, at least the young folks found him so, and they liked him almost as well as they did his pretty niece. He remarked once that, looking after pretty girls was not as easy as it appeared to be and that he hoped for the sake of his reputation as a chap-erone he would succeed in getting his two nieces back home "heart whole and fancy free." He didn't, but then nobody's sorry.

Ethestic Dancing the Fad. Classic dancing has gripped with a firm hand the fatter members of the younger set if the enlivened cards of the Y. W. C. A. are to be taken as a criterion. The young ladies have shown more than a passing interest in the new dance for more than a year and now many of them are planning to master the graceful terpsichorean art.

Rosmarie Zitz (Mrs. John Bolton) was the first to introduce ethestic dancing in Honolulu, and later exhibitions were given by Elsa Cross Howard, though at a number of private entertainments Miss Carol Low, who devoted two years of her time in the east studying the dances, gave exhibitions.

Recently Miss Nora Swanzy left for the mainland and during the winter will study various forms of the ethestic dancing in New York.

"At Home" at the Castle Home. About 150 guests visited the Castle Home yesterday and partook of dainties served by the young inmates. Miss Good and Fraulien Heuer received all those who are interested in the growth and advancement of the children in the home. Mrs. Schmutzler, assisted by Miss Winnifred Brown and Miss Adelaide Pratt, served tea, while the Misses Scott of Schofield Barracks served punch from a bowl heven of ice.

Yellow and green dominated in the decorations of the interior of the house, quantities of golden rod and vines being used to carry out the effect. A number of the older children served the guests while the younger ones celebrated the occasion with a party on one of the spacious lanais. Miss Good leaves for another part of the island for her vacation on Tuesday and expects to return next month. Commencing with the third Friday in November, the two ladies will be at home to friends on the third Friday of each month.

Two Concerts by Miss Phoebe Arleigh. Honolulu's music-loving people will be favored with an opportunity of hearing Miss Phoebe Arleigh in two harp concerts, one to be given on the evening of October 7, in the Charles R. Bishop hall, the other on the evening of October 15 at the same place. Mrs. Bruce McV. Mackall will be the assisting artist at the first concert.

The harp is most adaptable as an accompanying instrument, as it is sympathetic and warm in tone and blends with the voice perfectly.

Miss Pearl Sutherland will assist at the second concert, playing the piano part of three very interesting numbers written especially for harp and piano, a combination that is very beautiful.

Miss Arleigh, to whom falls the soloist part of the evening, will appear in a comprehensive and well balanced program. Notwithstanding the associations and traditions of the beautifully-toned harp, many connect it with the realm of the variety stage, among the curiosities of the musical world. On the contrary, it is one of the most difficult instruments to master, and once mastered one of the most widely appealing.

The program for the first concert is to be as follows:

- Harp:
 - Prelude Loukie
 - Au Village Loukie
 - Vocal:
 - Es muss ein Wunderbares sein..... Liszt
 - Syvelin Sinding
 - The Gift Mary Helen Brown
 - Harp:
 - Ferie Prelude et Dance.....Tournier
 - Vocal:
 - Si mes vers avaient des ailes. Hahn
 - Chanson Indonee.....Rimsky-Korsakow
 - Sennet d'amourThome
 - Harp:

Princess Kawanakoa Extensively Entertained at Geneva Lake, Wisconsin.

The Chicago Tribune of Sept. 20 says: "Princess Abigail Kawanakoa of Honolulu, who spent last week at Geneva Lake, Wisconsin, as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Tracey C. Drake, left on Saturday for the East accompanied by Mrs. Louis Murtle of Gunston Hall, Virginia. A number of interesting affairs have been given in honor of the princess, notably a tea and reception at Aloha lodge on Thursday at which Mrs. Drake and Mrs. Hattie were hostesses. A dinner on the same evening given by Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Mitchell at Seylon court and a dinner on Saturday evening at which Mr. and Mrs. J. T. F. Junken were hosts.

Two luncheons were given for her, one by Mrs. Louis T. Swift and another by Mrs. Simeon B. Chapin of New York at the latter's new summer place at Geneva.

This rather contradicts the announcement that the princess is soon to return to the islands.

House Party at Wahiawa.

Miss Florence Davis is to be hostess at a house party at the Davis country home at Wahiawa over this week-end. The party will motor over to the country on Saturday and return on Sunday evening. Among those invited are Miss Dorothy Walker, Miss Gladys Truitt, Miss Mae Walker, Miss Eunice White, Miss L. Woods, Miss Kathleen Walker, Miss Rachel Woods, Miss Mild Hawk, Miss Dot Hawk, Miss Kate Singlehurst, Miss Sophy Walker, Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Dow, Billy Noble, Gray Zabriskie, John O'Dowda, Ware Camp, Mr. Able, Ernest Podmore, Gordon Gibb, Alan Davis, Clarence White, Sam Carter, Fred Carter and John Gifford.

Dancing Instructor Coming.

Mrs. Lester, who pleased Honolulu people last April with her exhibition dances at the Alexander Young and Moana hotels, has taken passage on the Niagara which sails from Vancouver, September 25. She will be accompanied by Mr. Gordon Campbell, who at the present moment is in Chicago with the Vernon Castles. Honolulu will be able to see for the first time the "black and white trot," walk waltz, national one step and slow fox trot, besides numerous other dances. Mrs. Lester plans staying in Honolulu some months.

Lieut. and Mrs. Scanlan Entertain at Dinner Aboard U. S. S. Alert.

Lieut. and Mrs. F. W. Scanlan entertained delightfully at dinner aboard the U. S. S. Alert on Tuesday evening. A delicate arrangement of coral, paper roses and forget-me-nots formed an attractive centerpiece, and the cover of each guest was marked by a hand-painted place card. After dinner the guests enjoyed the bridge. There were present Lieut. and Mrs. Charles McCord, Lieut. and Mrs. H. R. Boguech, Lieut. and Mrs. Paul Bates, Miss Peggy Richards and Lieut. Smith.

Arrive From Honolulu.

Visitors from Honolulu who are planning to pass the winter in San Francisco are Mrs. J. H. Raymond and Harry Raymond, Miss Violet G. McKee and Miss Mamie G. Shrader. They arrived last week and have taken apartments at the Hotel Cecil in Post street, where they will be domiciled during the remainder of the season. —San Francisco Call.

McKinley High School Alumni Association to Entertain.

The McKinley High School Alumni Association has planned to give a birthday, Ensign Elroy Venderickot dance at the Outrigger Canoe Club on Mrs. Rosella B. Seibie, who has been visiting the exposition and entertaining hospitably for her Hawaii friends whom she met in the Golden Gate city.

Saturday, October 23, the proceeds of which will go toward building a tennis court on the school grounds.

Outdoor Circle Meeting. It being the first Saturday in the month, the members of the different branches of the Outdoor Circle met today at the home of their president, Mrs. F. J. Lowray, on Lunaillo street.

Engagement Announced in North Carolina.

Service society will be interested to learn of the announcement of the engagement of Miss Janice Hunt to Ensign Arthur Landis, U. S. N., which was announced recently. The Washington Post says of the engagement: "Mrs. W. H. Hunt entertained at a luncheon Wednesday at her home in Oxford, N. C., to announce the engagement of her daughter, Janice, to Ensign Arthur Landis, U. S. N. The marriage is to take place October 8. Miss Hunt is the only daughter of Mr. W. H. Hunt, one of Oxford's wealthiest men. She was educated at Raleigh, N. C., and Gunston Hall, Washington. Ensign Landis is the youngest son of Capt. A. Landis of Oxford, N. C., who served in the Confederate army."

Miss Catherine Lenihan a Hostess.

Miss Catherine Lenihan was hostess at an informal hop supper after the hop in the clubhouse at Fort Shafter on Friday evening. The affair was in honor of Miss Lucy Webb who is Miss Lenihan's house-guest and whose engagement to Lieut. Woodfin Jones of the 2nd Infantry was announced last Saturday. Among Miss Lenihan's guests were Miss Webb, Lieut. and Mrs. Carl Hardigg, Lieut. and Mrs. Douglas T. Greene, Lieut. and Mrs. R. G. Calder, Lieut. and Mrs. Paul R. Manchester, Lieut. C. L. Cohen, Lieut. Charles Lyman, Lieut. Albert Lyman and Lieut. Wiltzell.

Ensign A. S. Walton Complimented.

In honor of Ensign A. S. Walton's birthday, Ensign Elroy Venderickot dance at the Outrigger Canoe Club on Saturday night. The invitation of the Punahou school of music, which has been extended to all friends of the school, to the first of a series of Saturday evening recitals to be given in Bishop Hall is being appreciated by the music lovers. A number of parties have been arranged for the concert at which Mrs. M. E. Clark, Mr. French and Mr. Edwin Ideler will figure. Miss Clark, perhaps one of the best known pianists in the city, has been with Punahou for several years, and her work is known and appreciated throughout the city. Mr. T. A. French, who has been at the academy for a year, has promised some pleasing numbers. Mr. Ideler, the new violin master, who has won a name for himself both in America and abroad, now appears for the first time before a Honolulu audience. Mr. Ideler was a pupil of Tchaikoff and will play some of that master's compositions. The concert takes place at 8 o'clock this evening in Charles R. Bishop Hall on the campus.

Monday evening at the Pleasanton Hotel.

Red carnations and gold-embroidered were used artistically in decorations. Covers were laid for Ensign Walton, Dickson Nott, George Ruiz, Frederick Wichman and the host.

Dinner at Naval Station, Pearl Harbor.

Civil Engineer Charles W. Parke, public works officer of the naval station, Pearl Harbor, left on the Manchu for a brief trip to Washington, D. C. Mrs. Parke and her sister, Miss Frear, had dinner on Thursday evening for Miss Geraldine Bonah, daughter of Admiral and Mrs. Bonah, and Miss Margaret Gray, daughter of Captain Gray. Covers were laid for Miss Bonah, Miss Gray, Miss Frear, Mrs. Parke, Fitzmaster Gray, Lieut. Lando, Civil Engineer Bonah and Civil Engineer Smith, who acted as host at dinner.

President of Stock Exchange To Entertain at Dinner Tonight.

President E. G. Dunsberger of the Honolulu stock and bond exchange is entertaining at dinner this evening for the members of the exchange and alternates. In the center of the table an illuminated fish pond filled with lively gold fish will be set. Around this lake of fish the "shark" will partake of the delicacies furnished by the Pleasanton chef. They are Ensign Albert Afong, A. J. Campbell, Joseph Andrade, Cashman Carter, Samuel Walker, Harry Armitage, W. W. Chamberlain, E. G. Dunsberger, Walter Dunsberger, J. L. Fleming, Arthur H. Bies, J. R. Galt, "Hoby" Walker, H. P. Giffard, Charles G. Heiser, Jr., W. A. Love, W. H. Hoogs, Robert W. Shingle, E. M. Campbell, William Williamson, Guy H. Buttolph, Richard H. Trent and Ed. Tappan.

Saturday Night Concert at Punahou.

The invitation of the Punahou school of music, which has been extended to all friends of the school, to the first of a series of Saturday evening recitals to be given in Bishop Hall is being appreciated by the music lovers. A number of parties have been arranged for the concert at which Mrs. M. E. Clark, Mr. French and Mr. Edwin Ideler will figure. First Formal Wedding in New Christian Church is That of Alfred Lee and Miss Margaret Hill.

A pretty wedding was solemnized in the new Christian church on Wednesday evening when Mr. Alfred D. Lee and Miss Margaret Hill were joined in matrimony by the Rev. D. G. Peters, pastor of the church. The wedding was the first formal one to be held in the church.

Members of the Ladies Aid Society, of which the bride's mother is a member, decorated the church and had an informal reception for the couple after the ceremony.

Immense hanging baskets of fern, tall vases filled with white lilies and tied with graceful bows of white tulle marked the decorations in the auditorium, while in the church parson's branches of the pepper tree and gold-embroidered prevailed. About 250 guests were present at the wedding. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hill of this city.

Miss Marian Chapin, popular member of the younger set, who has been active socially this summer.

"Arcadia" Scene of Pretty Wedding Ceremony

Arcadia, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Frear, was never in more festive mood than on the morning of September the twenty-eighth when the green lawns and vine-hung trees welcomed from the early-docking steamer Wilhelmina Miss Jessamine J. Bowman, the bride-to-be of Mr. Albert M. Cristy, deputy county attorney.

Hidden within the open doors, a bevy of young people arrayed in white, intimate friends of the groom, gave a light hearty "aloha" to the attractive little stranger in her becoming blue gown and white-winged hat, and she soon seemed a "kamaaina" among them all. But that was as Mrs. Cristy, rather than as Miss Bowman, for in a very few minutes after her arrival, escorted by her host and hostess, she took her place before the flower-decked fireplace where the Rev. Mr. Eberole and Mr. Cristy, with his best man, Mr. F. A. Edgecombe, awaited her for the marriage ceremony. Miss Pearl Sutherland then played the Lohengrin bridal song before, and Mendelssohn's wedding march after, the short but beautiful service that made the young pair man and wife.

Aids from the white roses at the feet of the Venus of Milo, and the white water lilies gracing the breakfast table, the decoration of the drawing room and the adjoining dining room were simple but abundant arrangements of white jessamine, in honor of the bride's given name. These starry flowers on their long, graceful sprays of green, clustered about mirrors, lighted candles, and also the large open window, in which as in a frame, the bridal couple sat during the informal wedding breakfast following the ceremony.

After breakfast the bride cut her cake, the health of the happy pair was drunk, and the merry company, having been duly photographed, dispersed while the day was yet new.

The bride is formerly of Chicago. She was graduated in 1914 from the Sargent School of Physical Education at Cambridge, Mass. During the last few years she has spent her summers teaching at the Chicago playgrounds and has won marked success in this helpful field.

Mr. Cristy graduated in 1909 from Brown university and after teaching school in Massachusetts entered Harvard law school in the fall of 1911 and was graduated in 1914. He was appointed first deputy city and county attorney a few weeks ago. He is a member of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity.

Wedding in Washington

From Washington, D. C., comes the word of the marriage of one of the most popular of the eastern debutantes and a young officer of the United States navy. Members of the service set will be interested to read of the wedding:

"Miss Henrietta Fitch Married"

"Miss Henrietta Winslow Fitch, daughter of the late Naval Constructor Henry W. Fitch, and Lieut. Stephen Cheag Rowan, U. S. N., were married yesterday at Bay Head, N. J. The ceremony was performed in All Saints' church by the Rev. Montague Geer, vicar of old St. Paul's, New York, and a cousin of the bride.

Miss Alexandrine Fitch, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor, and the bridesmaid was Miss Carolyn Nash, daughter of Medical Director Francis S. Nash, U. S. N. The best man was Lieut. Walter T. Anderson, U. S. N., and the ushers were Lieut. Comdr. Adolphus Sinton, U. S. N., Capt. Thomas Holcomb, U. S. N. C., Capt. C. T. Jewell, U. S. N., and fourland Nicoll of New York.

Immediately following the ceremony there was a wedding breakfast at the cottage which Mrs. Fitch and her daughters have been occupying during the summer. Mrs. Fitch and her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pepper Gerhard of Overbrook, Pa., who also have a cottage at Bay Head, are entertaining a number of the out-of-town guests for the wedding. Lieut. Rowan, who is on duty in the navy department, will bring his bride to Washington, where she has lived since childhood, and where both she and her sisters made their debuts—Washington Post.

Mrs. Paul Super to Entertain Next Week

Mrs. Paul Super will entertain for the wives of the Y. M. C. A. secretaries on next Friday at her home in Manoa. The affair is expected to be a very pleasant one.

When We're All Wireless 'Phoning

Hello, Central; hello, Central; can't you see. Kindly hurry, kindly hurry, just for me. Please do get me San Francisco, Billy is his name, he's at the Golden Gate. Central, it's a shame for me to have to wait.

Please, long distance, do connect me. Get him on the wireless phone. "Hello, hello, trala-la-la-la" and through the rest of the song hummed a pretty little Honolulu maid the other morning after she had read of the accounts of science's newest accomplishment, the wireless telephone.

"Just think, in a little while I can call Billy up any time. It won't be half so lonesome even if he is in San Francisco," and so she continued to praise the invention. However, what she said was so true that more than one of the group of girls lounging about the breakfast room lost interest in whatever they happened to be doing and gazed dreamily-eyed through the window.

Everyone has shown more than a passing interest in the wireless telephone and the fact that Honolulu has so soon been put in communication with the mainland has been a delight to those who have made the islands their home always, and who waited breathlessly for the first telephone, who were overjoyed at the electric cars first, and later the automobile, the wireless and the various other things that have made Honolulu an up-to-the-minute city.

From a business standpoint the wireless telegraphy and cable have been sufficient to meet the needs of the people and every day numerous orders are sent to the mainland by means of the electric spark. The wireless telephone, however, will mean much from a personal standpoint, it will be very convenient to call on the phone daughters away at college or relatives traveling for amusement. And the younger folk, well, their expressions have registered "hey" for the partings after one of the "hurry up" island flirtations and courships will not seem half so bad if "Billy" or "Tommy" or whoever he happens to be called upon to visit. Mrs. Greason and Mrs. Rockwood are beautiful women and are well known both in California, where they lived formerly, and in the East. They are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Mason of Central boulevard, Sierra Madre.

A Los Angeles paper says: "Mrs. Walter S. Greason, after a three months' visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Madison of Central boulevard, left Thursday with her small daughter, Katherine, for New York city, where they will visit Lieut. Greason's parents. Mrs. Greason will spend a week or ten days here upon her return before sailing for Honolulu, November 5, where Lieut. Greason is now stationed."

Lieut. and Mrs. Alfred L. Rockwood are the guests of Mrs. Rockwood's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Mason on Central boulevard. Lieut. and Mrs. Rockwood sail for Honolulu in November, where they will be stationed the next three years. Mrs. Rockwood will be remembered here by many of her admirers as the charming Miss Katherine Mason of great popularity in the social circles of this place."

Mrs. Howard D. Bode to Return. A cablegram received this morning by Mrs. E. I. Spalding, mother of Mrs. Howard D. Bode, announced the fact that Mrs. Bode will arrive in Honolulu in the Matsonia. Lieut. Bode will come on the submarine K-4.

Mrs. J. Wesley Thompson, who has been away for some time, expects to return in the winter.

CALLING DAYS FOR HONOLULU

Mondays—Punahou, Makiki.
Tuesdays—Waikiki, Kapoliiani Park, Kaimuki, Palolo. First Tuesday—Fort Ruger.
Wednesdays—Nuuanu, Punui, Pacific Heights. First and third Wednesdays, above the Nuuanu bridge; second and fourth Wednesdays, below bridge; fourth Wednesday, Pacific Heights; first and third Wednesdays, Alewa Heights.
Thursdays—The Plains.
Fridays—Hotels and town, fourth Friday; Fort Shafter, first Friday; Manoa, College Hills, first and third Friday.
Saturdays—Kalihi, third and fourth Saturdays; Kamehameha schools, last Saturday.
Fort Shafter—Calling day every Friday.

Note—The telephone number of the Society Editor is 2793.

Of course, Honolulu's side of the instrument is not in perfect working order at present, but no one seems to have a doubt that it will be perfected in a short time, and that in another short span, months, or perhaps a year, some company will undertake to conduct a wireless telephone business for the use of the public.

Ordered to Honolulu

Among the new service folk who will come here in the November transport are Mrs. Walker S. Greason and Lieut. and Mrs. Alfred L. Rockwood. Lieut. Greason has been in Honolulu a short time, having been ordered here for three years' service. Mrs. Greason and Mrs. Rockwood are beautiful women and are well known both in California, where they lived formerly, and in the East. They are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Mason of Central boulevard, Sierra Madre.

Society Personals

The Daughters of Hawaii will hold a meeting in the Library of Hawaii on Wednesday morning, October 6, at 10 o'clock.

Lieut. and Mrs. Robert R. Love are here from Honolulu on a visit. For the present they will be at Dyrton Hot Springs.—S. F. Examiner.

Letters received recently from Princess Abbie Kawaunakoa, who is on the mainland, state that the princess expects to return to her island home shortly.

Miss Alberta Budd of Rochester, N. Y., spent last Sunday as the guest of Civil Engineer and Mrs. Parks at their home at the naval station, Pearl Harbor.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas E. Baldwin (Ruth Carolyn Johnston) will leave for their home in Lihue, Kauai, on Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin are stopping at the Moana at present.

Senator James L. Cooke of Honolulu and Mrs. Cooke are quartered at the Plaza. Mrs. E. Schultz, prominent in Honolulu smart set circles, is a guest at the same hotel.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Dr. and Mrs. Clifford B. High are leaving in the S. S. Manoa in two weeks for California. There they will meet Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thompson and will motor through California visiting both fairs.

The Misses Kathleen and Sophy Walker are booked to leave on the Matsonia leaving on the 20th. The girls will remain for some time in California and then may travel east. They are expected to be gone several months.

George G. Fuller, banker of Honolulu, has taken apartments at the Bellevue with his mother, Mrs. A. Fuller, and his sister, Mrs. E. A. Jones. The Misses Helen, Catherine H. and Margaret Jones complete the party.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Mr. and Mrs. Regis C. Starrett gave a dinner party last evening at their home in Piedmont in honor of William C. Hughes of Honolulu, who, with his mother, Mrs. John A. Hughes, has come here for a visit of a couple of months.—S. F. Chronicle.

Lieut. and Mrs. Harry Hornum and Lieut. and Mrs. F. W. O'Connell, who have been very popular in the service set in Honolulu, are among those who go when the E-boats are sent to Manoa Island for repairs. They will be missed by the many friends they have made here.

W. L. Hopper, rice planter of Honolulu, is at the Cliff with Mrs. Hopper and Alice L. Hopper. Among other arrivals at the Cliff yesterday were Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Baker of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Daverly of Pittsburg and Mr. and Mrs. J. Caunt of Pasadena.—San Francisco Chronicle.

A number of friends of Col. and Mrs. Daniel Howell were at the pier Tuesday to bid them bon voyage as they sailed for Honolulu. Their two daughters, Mrs. Clifton and Mrs. Williams, have also left for their homes. Among those who entertained for them while in this city were Mrs. Eleanor Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sprague and Lieut. and Mrs. James Howell.—S. F. Chronicle.

Letters from Lieut. and Mrs. Howard Bode (Helen Spalding) recently received say that they are anxious to return to Honolulu. Lieut. Bode is stationed on the K-4, Mrs. Bode, whose wedding was one of the social functions of the early summer, was the popular Helen Spalding, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Spalding, and is just a little homesick for the homeland. Their friends, of course, are very anxious to have the popular couple back again.

Commander Frederick N. Freeman has arrived from the south and will be on duty here for awhile as commander of the torpedo destroyer and submarine fleet. Before he left Coronado he was the recipient of a farewell dinner given by the ward-room officers of the U. S. S. Colorado in the grill of the Hotel Del Coronado. Mrs. Freeman is expected from Honolulu where she has been as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Spreckels on their yacht Venitia.—S. F. Chronicle.

MEIJI WILL PLAY FAREWELL CONTEST SUNDAY AFTERNOON

The Meiji university baseball team will play their farewell game here on Sunday afternoon when they meet the Hawaii club in the closing contest of the day. The lack of good pitchers has been one of the causes why the visiting Japanese team has lost so many games. They have played a great defensive game in the series here and they have proved to be excellent base runners, but they have not had a pitcher yet who could deliver the goods against a fast aggregation. Some time the Meiji team will hit better. Watching them in the local series many of the players, especially Nakamura and Ebizuka, had the earmarks of good hitters. It is true that they have not shown much in the slug-ging line, but the one weak spot developed is on the mound. They will meet the strong 2nd In-

HOUSE OF KEYS DOWNS PLAN TO LOSE HOME RULE

LONDON, England.—The Isle of Man, which has enjoyed home rule since ancient times, is in such an economic quandary that a proposal to ask the imperial government that the island be annexed to the County of Lancashire was recently considered in the House of Keys, the legislative assembly of the island. The member who moved the resolution declared that the island faced "imminent starvation and bankruptcy owing to the hanging and incompetence of the present island administration."

The motion for annexation was formally seconded and two other members were in favor of it, but the proposition was eventually lost and the island continues for the present under its own government.

The Isle of Man is one of the favorite resorts of thousands of Lancashire cotton workers and other factory employees, and is practically dependent on visitors, who pay a small toll tax toward the upkeep of the piers and harbors. This year, however, the fast steamers have been withdrawn and only one slow winter boat makes a trip daily. Many hotels and boarding houses are closed. Three of the finest hotels shelter only one visitor each.

THIN FOLKS WHO WOULD BE FAT

A Physician's Advice. "It's certainly give most anything to be able to fat up a few pounds and stay that way," declares every excessively thin man or woman. Such a result is not impossible, despite past failures. This people are victims of mal-nutrition, a condition which prevents the fatty elements of food from being taken up by the blood as they are when the powers of nutrition are normal. Instead of getting into the blood, all the fat and flesh producing elements stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste.

To correct this condition and to produce a healthy normal amount of fat the nutritive processes must be artificially supplied with the power which nature has denied them. This can best be accomplished by eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is a scientific combination of six of the best strength-giving, fat-producing elements known to the medical profession. Taken with meals, it mixes with the food and turns the sugars and starches into rich, pure nourishment for the tissues and blood and its rapid effect is remarkable. Reported gains of from ten to twenty-five pounds in a single month are by no means infrequent. Yet its action is perfectly natural and absolutely harmless.

Caution:—While Sargol has produced remarkable results in the treatment of nervous indigestion and general stomach disorders, it should not, owing to its remarkable flesh producing effect, be used by those who are not willing to increase their weight ten pounds or more.

fantry team this afternoon and should have a hard game. On past performance the local team should win, but the visitors have shown a heap of "pep" and a large crowd should be out to see them in their good-bye game. Today's contest will give a good line on the Fort Shafter team and help to decide whether they are logical contenders for the championship. The game will be called at 3 o'clock at Athletic park.

Two Games Sunday. The attraction at the park on Sunday will be a double header. In the first game the Chinese team will battle with the Portuguese club. Both teams are out to win as there has been much rivalry between the two squads this year. Sam Hop will have Akana and En Sue in the lineup and as these two players were the leading hitters of the recent series, they should be a big help to the offense. The last game will be a fight for victory. The Meiji state that they will win the farewell game and will put their full strength against the locals. The Hawaiians want to be the last to beat the visitors, hence a battle. The Sunday games will be scheduled for 1:30 and 3:30.

Mrs. Powell Fauntleroy entertained with a delightful luncheon at the Pleasanton Friday afternoon. Her guests were the ladies of Fort Kamehameha. The luncheon table was effectively decorated with African daisies, and pretty Japanese cards marked places for Mrs. Frank Coe, Mrs. Charles Winn, Mrs. John Mather, Mrs. Ralph Weston, Mrs. Frederick Garcia, Mrs. Clifford Jones, Mrs. Sanford French, Mrs. George Taylor, Mrs. Herbert Ellis, Mrs. Malcolm Andrews, Mrs. Guy Gearhart, Mrs. Charles Baxter, Mrs. Schmitz and Mrs. Powell Fauntleroy.

The 25th Company of Fort De Russy and the 159th Company of Fort Ruger have returned from their six days' march half around the island to the Sacred valley. Maneuvers were held Wednesday near the coral gardens, and the men were given the opportunity of visiting the gardens. The officers accompanying the two companies were Lieut. Col. Wilnot Ellis, Capt. Carr W. Waller, Capt. Joseph L. Bluer, Lieut. Robert W. Clark, Jr., Lieut. Manning Kimmel, Lieut. Louis D. Peppin and Lieut. George Van Dezen.

Capt. and Mrs. Clifford Jones of Fort Kamehameha were among the guests at a dinner given by Capt. Samuel Creighton of Schofield Barracks. The affair was given at the Haleiwa hotel Saturday evening and later the guests enjoyed the informal dance on the lawn. Capt. Creighton's other guests were Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Frank H. Keefe and Lieut. Otis K. Sadtler.

The bridge club of Fort Kamehameha met Thursday with Mrs. John Mather. The highest scores of the morning were won by Mrs. Frederick Garcia and Mrs. Sanford French.

Lieut. and Mrs. Daniel Swan have returned to their quarters at Fort Ruger after a delightful two weeks spent as house-guests of Lieut. and Mrs. Rollin Tilton of Fort De Russy.

Mrs. Robert W. Clark, Jr., of Fort Ruger entertained at dinner Tuesday evening for Mrs. Wilnot Ellis, Mrs. Carr Waller and Miss Lucy Webb.

Lieut. and Mrs. Louis H. McKinlay of Schofield Barracks entertained Capt. and Mrs. George Taylor of Fort Kamehameha at dinner Sunday.

Mrs. Wilnot Ellis had as her dinner guests Saturday evening Mrs. Robert W. Clark, Jr., Miss Lucy Webb and Lieut. Woodfin Jones.

Capt. and Mrs. Francis Hinkle of Fort Armstrong had as their dinner guests on Sunday Mrs. Wilnot Ellis and Miss Lucy Webb.

Capt. and Mrs. Clifford Jones were the dinner guests Sunday of Lieut. and Mrs. Russell Maxwell of Schofield Barracks.

Miss Lucy Webb of Fort Ruger is the house-guest of Miss Katherine Lenihan of Fort Shafter for a few days.

SCHOFIELD SOCIETY

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)
SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, Oct. 1.—On Saturday evening last quite a number of garrison people motored over to Haleiwa for the moonlight hop given at the hotel. This, as it always is, was a very pleasant affair and was preceded by dinner parties on the lawn. Capt. and Mrs. Henry Fales were hosts at one table, entertaining for Col. and Mrs. D. L. Howell, and Mrs. Howell Clinton, their daughter, who is their house-guest.

Mrs. Robert Harbold entertained on Thursday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Frank H. Albright, who has recently come to the 25th Infantry. The affair took the form of a tea and was enjoyed by a large number of the ladies of the garrison. Great quantities of Shasta daisies and corsages were used throughout the living rooms of the attractive Harbold quarters and on the tea table, where Mrs. Vernon Caldwell and Mrs. John Hunt dispensed hospitality in the form of delicious punch and ices. Among those present were Mesdames George Balley, Waldo Ayer, Miss Welcome Ayer, Clarence Day, Ely Denson, Clarence Tinker, Richard Taylor, Carl Ballinger, William Mapes, George Beard, Madame McCleave, William McCleave, Irving Phillips, Joseph Janda, Albert White, George Gay, Walter Pringle, Kumpe and Pelham Glassford.

An elaborate and attractive dinner of 24 covers was given by Col. and Mrs. L. W. V. Kennon on Thursday evening in honor of Col. and Mrs. Keefe. The color note at this affair was yellow, which tint was carried out in all the decorations.

Present were Col. and Mrs. Frank Keefe, Gen. and Mrs. John Wisser, Col. and Mrs. B. W. Atkinson, Mr. Shafter, Capt. and Mrs. Jay Whitman, Capt. and Mrs. Arthur Casella, Capt. and Mrs. American Mitchell, Capt. and Mrs. Edward Carey, Lieut. and Mrs. Jerome Pillow, Capt. and Mrs. William Mapes, Lieut. and Mrs. Louis McKinley, Mrs. Howell Clinton and Capt. George de Grasse Catlin.

The very delightful hop given by the officers and ladies of the 1st Infantry, which took place on Friday, was an unusually large affair and afforded an early opportunity to the other members of the garrison of meeting the many newcomers to the 1st. In the club rooms proper the arriving guests were received by Col. and Mrs. D. L. Howell, Maj. and Mrs. Lewis Sorley and Capt. and Mrs. Owenshine. Afterwards they went to the pavilion, where the 1st Infantry regimental band played a program of the new dance music. At 11 o'clock a delicious buffet supper was served, after which the dancing was resumed and enjoyed until a late hour.

Mrs. Vernon Caldwell on Tuesday gave a delightful luncheon, entertaining for 15 ladies of the post. One large table was used and was very attractive in its decorations of yellow and white. Two large baskets filled with Shasta daisies tied with big butterfly bows of yellow tulle were placed at each end of the table, which had covers placed for Mesdames John Wisser, L. W. V. Kennon, Frank Albright, Edmund Butts, John Hunt, Clyde Crusan, Henry Lantry, Charles Wyman, Joseph Daly, Arthur Bump, Robert Harbold, Charles Willard, George Bailey, Miss Stella Mayer and Mrs. Caldwell.

On Tuesday evening, preceding the hop in the 1st Infantry Club, Capt. and Mrs. Campbell King gave a dinner of 10 covers. A dainty color scheme of white and yellow was used to advantage on the long table, and carried out in the flowers of the centerpiece, which were graceful Shasta daisies, and the shaded candles at the table's corners. Present were Mrs. Howell Clinton, Capt. and Mrs. Chas. Willard, Capt. Harry Williams, Lieut. and Mrs. Jerome Pillow, Lieut. and Mrs. Rawson Warren and the hosts.

On Friday Capt. and Mrs. Joseph Janda gave a dinner for eight, entertaining for Lieut. and Mrs. William Ganoes, Lieut. and Mrs. Irving Phillips, Lieut. and Mrs. Livingston Watrous, Miss Irene Farrell and Lieut. and Mrs. Schneider and Frank Riley. The table's decorations were charmingly composed of white sweet peas and pink rosebuds, which were arranged in a basket in the center of the table. Corsage bouquets of the same flowers were placed at each lady's cover.

Gen. and Mrs. John Wisser gave a dinner on Friday evening, entertaining charmingly for 12. Red was chosen for the color note of the prettily appointed table, and this was reflected in the large cluster of Transvaal daisies which formed the centerpiece, and in the candles, which lighted the table. The guests were Col. and Mrs. Frank Keefe, Col. and Mrs. Coe from Fort Kamehameha, Capt. and Mrs. John Fair, Capt. and Mrs. Clarence Day, and Lieut. and Mrs. Cary Crockett.

Mrs. Robert Sears on Saturday afternoon gave a delightful tea in honor of Miss Elizabeth Sears, sister of Lieut. Sears, who is visiting them at Castner. A profusion of pink asters in every corner of the living rooms lent a dainty air of festivity to the occasion, which was enjoyed by the ladies of the 1st Infantry invited to meet Miss Sears.

Miss Elizabeth Sears was the guest of honor at the pretty dinner given by Capt. and Mrs. Henry Fales on Friday night preceding the hop. A dainty color combination of green and white was used in the appointments of the attractive table, at which covers were placed for Miss Elizabeth Sears, Lieut. and Mrs. Robert Sears and Lieut. V. V. Enyart.

Dr. and Mrs. Albert White gave a dinner on Friday evening for Capt. and Mrs. Edward Carey, Lieut. and Mrs. Franklin Rice, Miss Dorothy Forsyth and Lieut. William McCulloch. Pink carnations and Shasta daisies were used effectively as decorations.

Lieut. and Mrs. John Hinson were dinner hosts on Friday night, when they entertained for Maj. and Mrs. Edmund Butts, Lieut. and Mrs. Charles Naylor and Lieut. and Mrs. Jerome Pillow. The color scheme at this affair was dainty combinations of yellow and white.

Mrs. B. Walker Atkinson of Fort Shafter was the guest of Col. and Mrs. L. W. V. Kennon for the week end.

On Thursday evening the library benefit vaudeville which proved such a success on Sunday night was repeated in the 25th Infantry amusement hall and was enjoyed by a large number of people who had not been able to see it on Sunday.

On Tuesday evening Lieut. and Mrs. Robert Sears entertained at dinner for Lieut. and Mrs. John Hinson, Misses Elizabeth Sears and Welcome Ayer and Lieuts. Otis Sadtler and Frank Riley.

On Friday evening Capt. and Mrs. Pelham Glassford were dinner hosts, entertaining for Mrs. Esther McMahon, Maj. William S. Guinzard and Capt. George DeGrasse Catlin.

Miss Carrie McMahon was brought home from the department hospital on Thursday, having made an unusually rapid recovery from her recent attack of appendicitis.

Capt. and Mrs. Clifford Jones were the overnight guests of Col. and Mrs. Keefe on Saturday last.

Capt. George de Grasse Catlin is being welcomed back to the garrison, having arrived on Tuesday after an extensive leave spent in the states.

Lieut. William McCulloch entertained for the Misses Dorothy Forsyth, Esther McMahon, Capt. and Mrs. Joseph Janda, Lieut. and Mrs. John Hinson and Lieut. Frank Riley and Smith.

Capt. S. S. Creighton was host for Col. and Mrs. Keefe, Capt. and Mrs. Clifford Jones from Fort Kamehameha, and Lieut. Otis Sadtler.

Capt. and Mrs. David Stone and Miss Pearl Sutherland were the guests of Capt. and Mrs. Clyde Crusan on Sunday last.

Capt. and Mrs. William Chitty gave a dinner for Capt. and Mrs. Clarence Day and Lieut. and Mrs. Irving Phillips.

FT. SHAFTER SOCIETY

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)

FORT SHAFTER, Oct. 1.—Every one at the fort was interested in the announcement of the engagement of Miss Lucy Gary Webb and Lieut. Woodfin D. Jones of the 2d Infantry. Miss Webb, who is the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Daniel Swan, wife of Lieut. Daniel Swan, Coast Artillery Corps, stationed at Fort Ruger, has been a frequent visitor at Fort Shafter since her arrival in Honolulu, and has been extensively entertained here by her many friends at the post. Miss Webb is the niece of Mr. Howland Olney Gary of Boston.

Lieut. Jones is a graduate of the United States Military Academy, class of 1914, and is one of the most popular young officers of the service.

The Monday Evening Bridge Club met as usual in the Officers' Club. Mrs. Parker was hostess and there were five tables of bridge. After several hours of cards Maj. Dashiell had the highest score and was awarded the prize, which was a half dozen plate dollies, Madeira embroidered. Among those playing cards were Capt. and Mrs. Cochran, Capt. and Mrs. Lutz, Capt. and Mrs. Harber, Lieut. and Mrs. Richardson, Lieut. and Mrs. Black, Mesdames Pearson, Lenihan and Malone, Capt. and Mrs. Parker and Lieut. Cohen.

Lieut. George H. Halloran will leave for San Francisco next week to take advantage of a six weeks' leave recently granted him. Due to the transport being so crowded Lieut. Halloran will not be able to obtain transportation on the Thomas, so will sail for the mainland on the mine-plant RINGOLD. Miss Retta Hunter of Alameda, Cal., and the lieutenant will be married some time in October, and will return to Honolulu on the November transport.

There was a most successful hop given at the 2d Infantry Officers' Mess Friday evening, and as the hops have been discontinued for the past few weeks much interest was taken in this one, which was in the nature of a welcome to the new officers and their families of the 2d. The 2d Infantry orchestra furnished the music for the evening.

The many friends of Capt. and Mrs. Charles S. Lincoln are delighted to hear that Capt. Lincoln has been granted an extension of his tour of duty at Fort Shafter. Capt. and Mrs. Lincoln will now be with the 2d Infantry until July 17, 1917. Capt. Lincoln has been with the 2d since 1909 and at present is post and regimental adjutant.

Miss Catherine Lenihan, daughter of Maj. and Mrs. M. J. Lenihan, entertained at a hop supper Friday evening after the informal hop at the 2d Infantry Officers' Mess in honor of Miss Lucy Webb, whose engagement to Lieut. Woodfin D. Jones was announced last week.

Lieut. Clyde R. Abraham was a passenger on the Maucheria when she sailed for the mainland last Wednesday. Lieut. Abraham, after six weeks spent in the east, will return with his bride on the November transport.

Lieut. and Mrs. F. A. Slonn entertained at dinner at their attractive quarters in the cantonment on Friday evening for Lieut. and Mrs. F. A. Barker, Miss Ann Halperin and Lieut. George H. Halloran.

Lieut. and Mrs. F. E. Blank entertained at a delightful informal dinner party last Sunday at their quarters in the cantonment in honor of Lieuts. Lyon and Cohen.

Capt. and Mrs. Randolph, who have been the house-guests of Col. and Mrs. B. W. Atkinson for the past fortnight, have moved into their quarters in the cantonment.

Col. and Mrs. Benjamin W. Atkinson entertained informally at supper last Sunday evening for Col. and Mrs. Kennon of Schofield Barracks.

Capt. and Mrs. Jamerson entertained at dinner Thursday evening at their quarters in the main garrison.

The small fishing schooner Ventura, owned in Gloucester, Mass., sprang a leak and sank off Cape Ann. The crew escaped in their small boat and landed at Rockport.

Alvin Steinel, aged 13, was killed when pushed down a flight of stairs while playing with his friend, Eugene Wagner, 11, at the latter's home in Chicago.

FROM PEGGY TO POLLY.

Dearest Polly:
The other day some one sent me a card suggesting that I start a matrimonial agency. I have not thought great deal about the proposition as yet. It isn't a bad idea. Manly you (the must have been a 7-11th) and only of girls. Now there are many eligible girls in Honolulu, and if I promise to find equal nice young men, perhaps—just perhaps!

An army and a navy engagement. One announced and one not yet. The engagement of Miss Lucy Webb to Lieut. Woodfin Jones has caused a lot of "I told you so's" and the young man's engagement, with probably more "I told you so's" than I can count. And each blank will probably be the name of another of Honolulu's "fair ones." The girl, however, is an eastern one.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas E. Baldwin are in Honolulu for the next few days. Miss Baldwin arrived from San Francisco in the Wilhelmina. Mrs. Baldwin, who was the popular Ruth Johnston was always considered beautiful by her schoolmates at Punahou and all those who chanced to see her. If she was beautiful then—we'd just better find some more adjectives now!

Miss Katharine Schmidt, the niece of Major and Mrs. P. C. Fauntleroy is at the Pleasanton Hotel. Miss Schmidt is a very striking type and is fast adding to her already large circle of friends. Mary and Hilda von Holt are entertaining at luncheon for her on Wednesday.

Letters have been received from Miss Frances Gibson, who left in the Mauds for the mainland en route to Cumnock, a select school in Southern California, saying that she likes the school and the girls and, having visited the Universal City, has become more determined to take up that line of work. Her friends remember the many successes scored in plays on the campus at Punahou and feel sure of her work. For two years at least Miss Gibson will study dramatics at Cumnock.

Carl Low Rolph has written to all her friends in Honolulu saying that she is the happiest girl in the world in her own home and doing her own work. Only Mrs. Rolph insists upon being her own cook, with results terrifying at times she confesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Macfarlane, Mr. and Mrs. E. White Sutton, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Castle all left in the Manchuria, and have left a noticeable void in society here. The three matrons are vivacious and popular, and entertain delightfully. Well, one consolation, their return will be something to look forward to. And then, too, they will bring back new ideas for the winter season, which with all the returning society people is bound to be a gay one.

The ukulele seems to be quite the craze on the mainland, especially in the West. In fact, it is a craze everywhere except in Honolulu, its home. Recently the malihinis who have been visiting here have brought their "ukes" with them and have taught us much. Especially the girls, whether the Honolulu girls have been otherwise occupied or what, the fact remains that many a girl who comes to Honolulu can play the instrument better than the native. That doesn't seem much, but it does seem rather absurd for strangers to teach us things about our own country. In the University of California there is an ukulele club. Perhaps someone will start one at Punahou Academy or one of the other schools, or perhaps just a coterie of girls will form such a club. It would not mean the barring of other instruments, either, and would at least be something new.

I noticed in one of the Los Angeles papers the other day the picture of a number of the Angel City's maids and matrons in swimming costume, and they were in the knitted style. The picture was taken in the new Los Angeles Athletic Club's new tank, which is for women and children only. The tank is of porcelain, 100 feet long, 32 feet wide, and 10 feet deep. What a wonderful opportunity for the women of that club to learn to swim and dive. As there is absolutely nothing more to say I will close with

Love,
PEGGY.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 17.—Miss Mary Kingsbury MacKay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry MacKay, will be married to Lieut. Edwin Colyer-McNeil, U. S. A., Saturday, October 16, at the country home of her parents on the Shore road, Ray Ridge, N. J. Owing to illness in the family only relatives and close friends will be invited to the ceremony, which is to be performed by the Rev. Dr. Charles Carroll Albertson. Miss Isabel Watts MacKay will be her sister's only attendant, and Henry MacKay, Jr., is the best man. Lieut. McNeil was graduated from West Point in 1907 and is now stationed at Governors Island. His classmate, Lieut. William Henry, a few years ago married Miss Elizabeth MacKay, and it was while serving as usher at the wedding that he first met his fiancée.

The marriage of Miss Christine Marburg, daughter of Theodore Marburg, the former American minister to Belgium, and Mrs. Marburg, and Jonathan A. W. L. Tjarda van Starckenborgh Stachouwer, an attaché of the Netherlands legation in this city, will take place in Baltimore, November 16, in old St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal church.

Several members of the diplomatic corps will be in the wedding party and the guests will include a number from this city and New York. Following the ceremony there will be a large reception at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Marburg.

Miss Marburg's fiancé arrived in America at the end of July, since which time he has made his headquarters in New York, making week-end visits to Mr. and Mrs. Marburg at Upper Saranac.

Invitations have been issued for the marriage of Miss Frances Tomlin Marburg, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Edgar Marburg, and Samuel J. Zeigler, Jr., assistant naval constructor, United States navy. The ceremony will be performed in Philadelphia by the Rev. Clarence Wyatt Blapham at St. Philip's church, September 18, at 6 o'clock. The bridesmaids will be Miss Clara Marburg and Miss Anita Marburg, sisters of the bride, and the flower girl will be her cousin, Miss Caroline Mounce. The best man will be Garland Fulton, U. S. N., and the ushers, Edgar Marburg, Jr., Harold Saunders, U. S. N., Thomas D'Arcy Brophy of Staunton, Va., Eugene Willett Van Court, U. S. N., of New York, and Donald Marion McKee of this city. The bride and bridegroom will leave immediately after the ceremony and will live in Boston for the next two years.

PUNAHOU GALLERY TO BE OPEN ON SUNDAYS

Beginning next Sunday afternoon Cooke Library and Art Gallery will be open on Sundays from 2 to 6 o'clock. At this time visitors will be free to inspect the library and gallery. The Sunday opening will be continued as an experiment during the fall term.

In addition to the old masters which have been in the gallery for a long time, new paintings by modern artists, statuary and decorative furniture have been placed in the library. There is also a very fine collection of candlesticks, loaned to the school by Mr. and Mrs. Philip Dodge. This collection will also be on exhibition.

HONOLULU GIRL'S CRAFTSMANSHIP GIVES PROMISE OF NEW ART HERE

Miss Jessie Shaw Block-Painting Tapa Designs; Display of Fabrics at Gurrey's

What Honoluluans of taste and discrimination hail as the nucleus of a new art in Hawaii is a small but notable showing of scarfs, pillow covers and other articles on display at Gurrey's, Fort-street, the product of the skilled hands of a Honolulu girl, Miss Jessie Shaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Shaw.

Those who have seen this display exclaim with delight at the rich, harmonious and striking color effects and not less at the characteristic designs which are faithful copies of authentic tapa designs. Miss Shaw secured the designs from the Bishop museum, where she has put in much careful study, but the craftsmanship necessary to produce them was secured by study and practical work on the mainland.

Miss Shaw has recently finished four years at Columbia, working with Arthur W. Dow, one of the foremost teachers of design. She also worked with Mrs. Gulick, wife of Dr. Luther Gulick, who is president of the organization of "Campfire Girls," designing, decorating and working out the Indian symbolic designs which are most elaborate and interesting. She also had charge of the classes of design in the girl's camp, "Hanoum," at Thetford, Vermont.

Since returning to the islands she has sought to express her art through a local medium—using as a basis the old tapa designs—this she does by means of block printing. This interesting work consists of cutting the designs in relief out of wood, and with these "tools" she works her patterns in harmonious coloring on various fabrics.

White chiffon has been found a very good medium.

In this work Miss Shaw is working in conjunction with Mr. Gurrey and together they hope to originate an entirely new Hawaiian handicraft. Some of the things so far turned out are—chiffon scarfs, blocked in the tapa designs, linen tablet runners, pillow covers and hand bags.

Miss Shaw and Mr. Gurrey are also working on a number of interesting holiday cards, also a book, "The Missionary Sewing Circle."

It is a clever little play by Mr. J. A. Wilder, which Miss Shaw is to decorate and Mr. Gurrey will illustrate with his camera.

LITTLE BLACK DOG UP FOR TRIAL WAGS TAIL, COCKS EARS AT JUDGE

Unusual was the interest about the courtroom Friday morning when the case of Kapena Richard, accused of possessing a ferocious dog which was a public nuisance, was announced in police court. The owner came down the aisle, a vast, shambling man, and behind him, led by a bit of rotten rope, approached the culprit—a little, black dog that stopped behind his master's chair and, looking around the room, wagged his tail with a wave of good fellowship and then lay down to rub his nose with one forepaw, quite oblivious of the fact that he had offended against the laws of men.

"By the unwritten law of dogs," began Chillingworth, with a grin that reflected itself around the courtroom, "every dog is entitled to his bite. However, after the owner has been warned that his dog is a nuisance on his property, and when, a year after that written warning, the dog decides to take the bite, then I think the defendant is guilty in the eyes of the law."

Judge R. L. Weaver, the complaining witness declared that the black dog had long carried on a reign of terror in his yard. Here the little dog stopped his scratching long enough to cock his head to one side and examine the judge with a critical eye. Weaver also put his wife and daughter on the stand, and the girl testified that the dog had bitten her once. She showed a pair of light green bloomers with a little puncture where the blood-thirsty animal's fangs had rent the fabric.

"Kapena Richard," said Judge Monarrat, "stand up."

Up stood Kapena, and at the same time the little black dog bounced to its feet and stood at attention. Whatever its manners are in a garden, its courtroom manner is the height of good breeding.

"Guilty as charged," said Judge Monarrat, "and I fine you"—here the judge coughed—"ten dollars."

And the little black dog hung down its head.

HOW YOU MAY THROW AWAY YOUR GLASSES

The statement is made that thousands wear eyeglasses and do not really need them. If you are one of these unfortunate, then these glasses may be ruining your eyes instead of helping them. Thousands who wear these "windows" may prove for themselves that they can dispense with glasses if they will get the following prescription filled at once. Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Optons; fill a two-ounce bottle with warm water and drop in one Opton tablet. With this harmless liquid solution bathe the eyes two to four times daily and you are likely to be astonished at the results right from the start. Many who have been told that they have astigmatism, eye strain, catarrh, sore eyelids, weak eyes, conjunctivitis and other eye disorders, report wonderful benefits from the use of this prescription. Get this prescription filled and use it; you may so strengthen your eyes that glasses will not be necessary. Thousands who are blind or nearly so, or who wear glasses would never have required them if they had cared for their eyes in time. Save your eyes before it is too late. Do not become one of those victims of neglect. Eyeglasses are only like crutches and every few years they must be changed to fit the ever-increasing weakened condition, so better see if you can, like many others, get clear, healthy, strong magnetic eyes through the prescription here given—adv.

OFFICERS DISCOVER BAD COIN PLANT; MAN ARRESTED

DENVER, Colo.—James Deaton, 39, alleged accomplice of Martin Fay, convicted counterfeit, was arrested by City Detectives Joseph Watson and Frank Holleran and United States Secret Service Officer Goddard, charged with counterfeiting.

The officers say they located Deaton's "plant" at 2342 Blake street and uncovered a complete counterfeiting outfit. More than $20 in counterfeit coins, dollars, half dollars and quarters were found hidden about the place, according to the officers.

CENTRAL UNION PLANNING BUSY FALL CAMPAIGN

Interesting Sermons and Fine Musical Programs Will Be Attractive Features

New deals are the order of the day at Central Union Church this fall. Dr. Doremus Scudder is back from a month of study on Tantalus and promises two courses of sermons for the year.

The first of these he entitles "Jesus Father," which will take up in a practical way what Jesus told men about his father. The great difference between Jesus and other religious teachers lies in his teaching about God, of whom he said he had personal knowledge.

The Sunday evening campaign of the church is now under consideration and will be in full swing by the end of October. Pending the perfecting of the plans the minister will deliver two or three addresses on "The War—A Christian Way Out," beginning tomorrow evening.

For Wednesday evening the church has just issued a program covering the next eight months. It is certainly the most attractive series of weekly evening meetings ever offered in a church to Honolulu people.

The general title is "The Light Which Lighteth Every Man or God's Voice in Man's Soul." The messages of the great religion will be taken up under the leadership of Miss Cross, principal C. T. Pitts, W. P. Frear, Rev. N. S. Schenck, P. S. Scudder, Dr. J. M. Taylor, former president of Yassar College, who is to spend the winter in Honolulu; Dr. J. W. Wadman, Dr. Robert Day Williams and D. L. Withington.

Next week Tuesday the first all day meeting of the Women's Board and Women's Society will be held at 10:45 o'clock. The women of Central Union are wider awake than ever this year.

Urges Moral Improvement of All Hawaii in Address to Convention

Churches Built in Time of Prosperity Which Often Carries Moral Retrogression, Says Killam

One of the talks at the civic convention at Lihue, Kauai, last Sunday was given by Lloyd R. Killam of the local Y. M. C. A. on the subject "The Material, Social and Moral Progress of Oahu During the Past Year."

"In the short time allotted to the speakers to deal with this threofold subject, one is tempted to use all the time talking about material progress and leave the social and moral untouched. Social progress is a thing that can not be measured in statistics. About the most that can be done is to mention the improvements made by those institutions which work for social betterment.

"A prison aid society has been formed to care for released prisoners and during the past seven months that organization has cared for 40 men from the two prisons. The Humane Society has continued a very active work for the prevention of cruelty to children and animals. Giving the word social another meaning we should mention the movement among the Japanese people led by their educators to revise the text books used in the Japanese school.

"This work is made necessary by the fact that within a few years the majority of voters in the territory will be young men of Oriental parents. These men have spent the years from six to fourteen in our public schools and gained much knowledge about the American government. But during the six or seven years between school life and the time they become of voting age they are in the homes of their parents and the tendency is for them to forget all that they may have learned in the public schools.

"Today, I met and talked with 15 young men here in Lihue, and their leader said in introducing me, 'We have set our minds on being good'."

World's Strides in Temperance

Under the law only 300 licenses can be granted in Washington, D. C. A year ago there were 520 applications for these 300 privileges. This year only 239 applications were filed.

Another county was added to the prohibition column a few weeks ago. By a majority of 50 the citizens of Mono county voted dry. A year ago the vote was in favor of liquor by a majority of 60.

L. R. Killam, local Y. M. C. A. secretary, who delivered stirring address at recent civic convention.

American citizens and we hope our speaker will be able to tell us how we can get American leaders to help us learn how to do it. I hope the time will soon come when there will be a man on each island giving his time to the work of citizenship education.

"Moral Conditions. "Were we to judge moral progress by the number of new church buildings completed during the year we could say that Oahu is morally much better than a year ago. But we are not justified in doing this since new churches are often built in a time of material prosperity which too often carries with it moral retrogression.

"It is worth noting, however, that in our city during the past twelve months a new building has been erected for the Christian church at a cost of $35,000, one for the Chinese people by the Episcopal church at a similar figure, the Church of the Epiphany at Kaimuki, a new Korean church and a new Catholic church in Punahou.

"But as I have suggested religious buildings and morals are not the same. Oahu comes to this convention where righteousness is being discussed to confess that never before has she had so many moral failures in such a short period. Where such outbreaks of moral weakness come to the surface it is evident that there is much rottenness underneath.

"If ever there was a time when the men of Oahu, and I doubt not of the other islands as well, needed to rally to the support of those institutions and measures looking toward the moral improvement of the community that time is here now. We hope the note which has been struck in this convention calling for righteousness will aid in producing better moral conditions during the coming year."

COLLECTIONS FOR SALVATION ARMY'S HARVEST FESTIVAL

The Honolulu No. 1 corps of the Salvation Army will be taking up the Harvest Festival collection during the month of October, and desires the co-operation of everyone. Donations of cash, or fruit and eatable articles will be thankfully received.

BELIEVES PROPOSED HOBSON BILL WILL PASS NEXT CONGRESS

G. H. Dickey, one of the Anti-Saloon League's delegates to the Atlantic City convention, last July, has returned to Honolulu. Mr. Dickey was present at all the sessions of the conference and was most favorably impressed. He was elected a delegate to the big Pan-Temperance Conference, subsequently held at Washington, D. C., for the purpose of inaugurating a campaign in favor of national prohibition.

HUGE NEW BELL SOON WILL BE INSTALLED IN PUNAHOU CHURCH

After a wait of 16 months the Catholic Church of the Sacred Hearts in Punahou has secured its bell. The bell is of the latest type and tone. It was constructed in New York City by the Atlantic Iron Works.

The bell is about five feet high and weighs 850 pounds. One of similar size and description was made in France but was lost on the way over to the United States, the ship on which it was being transported having been sunk by a submarine.

SUNDAY SCHOOL TO HAVE RALLY DAY TOMORROW

Students in Classes at Christian Church Will Gather to Celebrate Anniversary

Tomorrow will be "Rally Day" for the Christian church Sunday school and, in the morning, in the afternoon, in the different classes and the activities of the present week. The Sunday school officers and teachers are feeling enthusiastic about the success of the occasion.

The day marks the first year of the Sunday school under the full system of grading the classes and will be featured as a promotion day, when about 25 of the enrollment of 150 will be promoted to advanced classes. Evidently it will also mark the first day of rally and round-ups in the new church building.

Since the early winter last year when the Sunday school council of the church made the adoption of the graded system of classes for the school, there has been an unusual interest among the students for advancement and Sunday will mark the first day of starting in on the full system. In all there have been added three new classes to the Sunday school curriculum, making a total of 17 classes and teachers. Of these, three of the classes are in the primary department headed by Mrs. Cooper.

In the intermediate department where most of the promotions have been made and the changes to take place Sunday, there are 12 classes, the boys and girls separated and classed according to the reading system adopted recently by the World's Sunday School Association.

Rev. D. C. Peters and Mr. Tuttle this year will supervise the study in the adult department of the school, each class taking up the study of the senior department of the series. Beginning tomorrow Minister Peters will realize his ambition to work the school one of real religious education with a departure from the old idea of the Sunday school. This system is being adopted everywhere by the schools in Honolulu and the mainland.

The "Rally Day" program is in charge of Miss Dorothy Rogers, who is head of the committee for "Rally Day." She has been working hard on the plans and is making a mark on the attendance for that date. During the past several weeks the school has taken a remarkable spirit in attendance and it is fully expected that the goal will be reached.

For the first time since the new church has been built, there will be a Sunday school orchestra. The organization is composed of members of the school and will be composed of seven pieces.

The teachers of the school at their last council meeting planned a Sunday school social which will be held in the near future for the purpose of building up the Sunday school library. At this time it will be asked of every member of the school to donate a book for the library. A social Sunday school library room has been fitted up with seating space and the library is good, considering the short time that it has been installed. It is eventually hoped that a reading library of good books can be circulated among the students of the school.

ONE way to reduce the cost of living is to watch the spoonfuls—to learn the many simple ways of kitchen economy.

You have heard a good deal about the discovery of the scientific Crisco Process. Perhaps you have not realized that one of Crisco's most important advantages is economy. Besides being a pure vegetable cooking fat, which produces digestible and delicious foods, Crisco also is a money saver. For the following reasons it is economy to use

CRISCO

For Frying For Shortening For Cake Making

Economy in Frying

Can be used over and over for frying all manner of foods—fish, onions, potatoes. It is not necessary to keep different kettles of fat for different fryings.

In deep frying, Crisco can be heated hotter than lard without smoking. By having Crisco hot enough and by adding a small amount of raw food at a time, there practically will be no absorption. Notice how small an amount has been used.

Economy in Shortening

Crisco is the richest of cooking fats. Less, therefore, need be used. Crisco also is cheaper per net pound than the best quality of pail lard.

Economy in Cake Making

Crisco cakes are as delicate and rich as butter cakes. Crisco costs less than half as much as butter and less Crisco need be used, because butter is one-fifth water, salt and curd, while Crisco is 100% fat.

Letters TO TIMELY TOPICS

DON'T HEED THE JINGOES.

U. S. C. G. C. Thetis, Honolulu, T. H., October 1, 1915. Editor Honolulu Star-Bulletin.

Sir: Please allow me space in your valuable paper. I saw an article in the Star-Bulletin, written by T. R. Ship on Wednesday, September 3, Mr. Ship in his article about military camp for business and professional men at Plattsburg, N. Y., stated three facts, in which he claims that these facts "hit you right between the eyes." By "you" he means the wage earners who fight the wars and pay for all the wars and of course Mr. Ship is right about his "hit," only that he is with Pierr-points and Morgans, not with the people who oppose war. This jingo movement, if successfully carried out, will not only hit the people between the eyes, but will knock all of them out with its iron fist.

The famous lawyers, Pvt. Mitchels and other capitalists of the United States who want a bigger army and navy to secure a commercial upland in foreign markets, will never excite the wage-earners to join them, even if they put on Kaiser's uniforms. The wage-earners today are too aware of jingo movement. The Ludlow, Calumet and Cabin Creek are the facts that would knock George Washington, Abraham Lincoln and Jesus Christ out if they were alive. And it is to these facts that America should wake up. The reason these few people are interested in the jingo movement is because it means millions of dollars in their pockets. Why the reason these so-called few people don't favor government manufacture of armament if the country is so dear to them and is in danger? Why don't the jingoes follow the plans of defense laid out by Allan L. Benson in the Freeman's Magazine of September issue. This man shows that all the military and naval equipments could be manufactured cheaper between 30 and 60 per cent, but why not excite the people? Tell them that if we do not prepare and let our capitalists make millions, then we will be invaded by the ameer of Borneo. Wake up, America! The big jingoes will get you and enslave your children.

And as for Henry Ford, he is a man of peace. It is a lie about him signing to join a military training camp. In the Detroit Free Press of which article I copy Henry Ford says: "I have neither applied nor shall I apply for admission to a school for instruction in professional murder. I will do everything in my power to prevent murderous, wasteful war in America and in the whole world. I will devote my life to fight this spirit which is now felt in the free and peaceful air of the United States. The spirit of militarism is mother to the cry of 'preparedness.'"

"I would teach the child at its mother's knee what a horrible, wasteful, unavailing thing war is. In the home and in the schools of the world I would see the child taught to feel the uselessness of war; that war is a thing unnecessary; that preparation for war can only end in war.

"I have prospered much, and I am ready to give much to end this constant, wasteful preparation. Not by building palaces of peace, not by inspiring fearful peace by powerful armament, but by teaching the men, women and children of America that war does not threaten us, that war will not reach us, that the fulness of peace is their inheritance, not the burden of militarism with its heavy hand that curbs liberty and its foul systems upon the blood, the labor and toil-earned happiness and goods of the worker.

"All the world cries for peace, and there can be no peace while there remains one set of these militaristic parasites who encourage war and damn all whose ideas of patriotism and love of their fellow men does not call for arming brother against brother.

"The voice of the people, I do believe, in every land under the sun, cries out against war. The trouble is that they do not make enough noise, and the ye of the few who, for momentary gain, want war just at this particular time, seem to prevail.

"I hate war, because war is murder, dissolution and destruction, causeless and unjustifiable, cruel and heartless to those of the human race who do not want it; the countless millions, the workers. I hate it none the less for its waste, its uselessness and the barriers it raises against progress and the development of the world, human and material.

"Surely the world is big enough for all to live at peace with all.

"I shall expect the sneers and the condemnation of those whose business is war and of those who profit by war. But I can weigh against this the feeling for peace and against war and the spirit that brings war, which, I know, burns in the hearts of the masses the world over.

"The building of armament by the United States is not only a waste of itself and a war-breeding policy; it is worse still; it is an example that the nations of Latin America and all the world have followed, leaving the burden and danger to the people in those lands.

"The nations of the world need an example to lead them away from war, and this, the country we live in, is, I believe, the land destined to show the world the way toward the end of this murder.

"I feel that this cry for the training of men to kill other men and for the placing of an army and navy as a burden on the backs of the people is a false conception of patriotism and treason to the life of a people.

"Aside from the burning fact that war is murder, the waster of lives and homes and lands, and that 'preparedness' has never prevented war but has ever brought war to the world—aside from all this is the utter futility (from a cold, hard business view alone) of the equipment of an army today with weapons that are obsolete tomorrow.

day. A few months hence it is surpassed by that of another country and is practically useless. We give out to soldiers another nation's soldiers have a weapon that surpasses ours. "The people of the United States have been compelled to throw a billion dollars into the junk pile, and these men would have another billion to go the same way. If one-tenth of what has been spent on preparation for war had been spent on the prevention of war the world would always have been at peace. Let me say that Edison never has, and in my opinion, never will use his great brain to make anything which would destroy human life or human property. He could destroy nothing. His mind is a constructive mechanism that abhors destruction. He is a man of peace.

"I believe that the time is at hand when the man who works will forever put an end to the system that can tear him away from his home and family to send him forth to a death against his will; death inflicted by another human worker who bears him no ill will and to whom he is a brother; death that can bring nothing but sorrow to those he leaves behind; death hurled out by the pressure of a finger moving at the order of one whom the worker has placed above him as a leader and who thus betrays him to murder and the danger of death.

"I believe that this same worker is going to end the conditions that allow the man he places above him to give that murderous order; to cause him to seek the life of a brother worker in another land and send that brother searching in turn for his blood.

"OBSERVER."

BATTERY B MEN WILL MEET 25TH GRIDIRON TEAM

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)

SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, Oct. 1.—The football team of Battery B is rapidly rounding into shape. The early part of the week was spent putting the gridiron in shape, practice in earnest beginning Thursday afternoon.

"While the team has lost a few of the stars of the 1914 season, some of the newcomers are developing into rare form and should put up an aggressive game. Gable is showing us well at quarter, replacing Miller, the former star ground-gainer who has been discharged. Ashmore, the reliable left end of yore, still disputes the right of any man to displace him. Faulkner and Crane have an argument of their own on the right end of the line. The former has developed into a player both quick and accurate in his moves and using a good head. A great deal is expected of him. Crane is a veteran of the Fort Slocum team of last year and is a valuable addition.

New Men for Backs. With the exception of Carlson at fullback, the back line is a complete change. At right half, Norton and Rice are competing for honors while Richards and Daniles are an even break on the left side.

The season will be opened Sunday, when the team will play F Company of the 25th Infantry on the latter's grounds. Owing to a delay in arrival of the equipment of B Battery from the states, the game may be played without the proper shoes, but at any rate an aggressive and interesting contest is promised.

The line-up will be as follows: Ashmore, right end; Daniles, right tackle; Cleverley, right guard; Keener, center; Furin, left guard; Cumberland, left tackle; Faulkner, left end; Gable, quarterback; Richards, left halfback; Norton, right halfback; Carlson, fullback. Substitutes—Rice, right tackle; Letson, right guard; Niemczyk, left guard; Wartell, left tackle; Crane, left end; Daniles, left halfback; Rice, right halfback.

F Company of the 25th, led by their star quarterback, Cabours, has defeated the 1st Battalion of the 25th Infantry last Sunday 6 to 0.

25TH WILL GIVE BIG SMOKER FOR MANILA TROOPS

Provided the transport Thomas stays here long enough for the affair to be held, the National Guard armory will be filled next Tuesday night by more colored soldiers than have ever before been assembled in Honolulu.

The occasion will be a smoker given by the men of the 25th Infantry, colored, in honor of the 24th Infantry, which is on board the transport returning to the coast after service in the Philippines.

Present plans are for the full membership of the 25th, 1200 men, to be present in the armory, and entertain the nine companies of the 24th, 900 men, who are on the boat. "Smokes" will be plentiful. The band will play, there will be a program of stunts, and the 24th, will receive a reception which it will remember long and favorably.

Fans Favor Boston to Win From Philadelphia

Many Pick Quakers to Win With Alexander Their Hope—Alexander Mentioned Most by Critics of National Game—Red Sox Outfielding and Hitting Featured in Boston Strength—"I Told You So," Will Be Slogan of Many After the Series

"Well, if Big Aleck gets started right," they say, and "Watch George Foster pick," you hear this talk on every corner and in every home. The big series is on once more and Pat Moran and Bill Carrigan are mentioned more than President Wilson. Von Hinderberg and Joffre are minor characters alongside of Greger Cleveland Alexander. This season of the year always comes around, and you always hear the talk wherever you go. Last year Bill James and Eddie Collins were the talk of the town. They are not mentioning them this year. It isn't done in best baseball circles.

The banker and the messenger kid forgets stocks and the "Life of Dies Merriwell" temporarily, and the talk goes on as usual in the next, and will in years to come. Different men jump in to take the places of those who have fallen from the limelight. Exit Hender and Deal. Enter Shore and Bancroft. A number of interviews with local fans would lead one to believe that the arguments will be hot and heavy this season. Boston is picked by the majority of fans, but hundreds will place their hopes on the men from Morphewville. The following interviews will give other fans an idea of how the wind is blowing in local baseballdom.

There are always a number who say "I told you so," and the fact of the matter was they were not sure. Now you have the real opinion of the fans. Take your choice.

MAYOR JOHN C. LANE: Boston did so well at the Fall Party that you banking on them winning out in the series. Boston and Massachusetts have always been leaders in many ways, and I believe that they will continue to lead by winning from Philadelphia this month.

LECT. BOOTH, Kamehameha School: Although I am pretty busy with the athletic sport at the present time, I find time to follow baseball, and in summing it all up, I believe that Boston will win out. They have a good hitting team, the best pitching staff in the world, and have the advantage of winning a world's championship before. Alexander is truly a great pitcher, but I do not think he can win the series alone.

PAUL SUPER: I'm not much of a baseball critic, but Boston is my favorite of the two cities, so naturally I would favor the American League team.

JAMES HARVEY: You can't forget Alexander. I believe he will carry the Quakers to a world's championship.

WADE WARREN THAYER: If Joe Wood was in good condition and able to do his share in the series, I might be tempted to select Boston for my choice; but with Alexander in good shape and the Boston star out of it, it looks like a victory for Philadelphia in a long series.

AL. L. CASTLE: It looks like an even proposition to me. The Quakers have a well balanced team, and all fall of fight, and though they may not possess as many stars as Boston can show, still I think they will put up a great exhibition in the coming series. Alexander and Meyer should be the dependable pitchers on the National League team. I would not be surprised if the series went the full seven games.

RAYMOND C. BROWN: I have always had a great deal of faith in the Philadelphia team. I would be picking Boston this year if the Braves had won out, but I believe that the Philadelphia team will triumph in the coming series.

COACH MIDKIFF, Punahou School: Boston is my choice. If Moran had one of two more star pitchers, I might be inclined to favor the Quakers, but the combination of Foster, Shore, Ruth and Leonard will be hard to beat.

CAPTAIN MORRIS STAYTON: Boston will win the world series this year. They have a team of good hitters and the best outfield in the world with the exception of the $100,000 Detroit trip. Philadelphia has one man in the box that is dangerous; they have a good man in Killifer if he does play after his injury, and they have two players in Luderus and Cravath who will hit well, but the entire team is slow on the bases. Boston will have a great hitting team to send into the game at any time and all of the pitchers are good hitters. Shore, Ruth, Leonard and Foster are a great quartet, and should Joe Wood be in shape they will have one of the greatest starting pitcher seen in a world series. Sprater, Lewis and Hooper should be able to look after their territory much better than Fiskert, Cravath and Whitted will. Although Alexander is a great pitcher, and dangerous, I will pick the Red Sox to win in the series.

for the simple reason that they have a better team than Philadelphia.

LOBBIN ANDREWS: While it is impossible to say just who is going to win the world series, I think Boston has the best show. The Boston Red Sox certainly have the better team and if I guess it right will come out in the lead.

HARRY BRUNS: I think Philadelphia is going to win the world series. Germany may also win the European war.

RILEY H. ALLEN: I pick the Red Sox to win the world series, though to me it looks as if the battle will be so close it might go the full seven games. I favor the Bostonians largely because they have so many big class pitchers, while Philadelphia must rely mainly on the great Alexander.

CHARLES R. FORBES: Superintending of Public Works: I can remember how, in the old days in New England, I always used to say that no team could ever beat Boston, and even though they did go back some on my horrid prophecies, still I believe they are coming back now, and coming strong.

E. R. CAMERON, Internal Revenue Official: I'm from Boston—I presume that's all I need to say. I'll add, however, that the Massachusetts team is pretty sure to take four games in succession. They have the pitchers and the batters, and though I have seen all the big league fellows in action, I think Boston has the edge on them all.

COLLECTOR OF REVENUES JOHN F. HALLEY: Philadelphia will win the series on determination and grit. They have their hearts on the pennant, and at such times the so-called superior forces don't count a great deal.

RALPH JOHNSTONE, Chief Deputy Internal Revenue: I don't know a darned thing about it myself, but get a lot of fun listening to the arguments of Haley and Cameron.

CITY ENGINEER WHITEHOUSE: I think that Philadelphia will win the series. No reason for this opinion except a "hunch" I have had all along.

E. J. BOTTIS: Boston has the majority of games clinched. My reason may seem a queer one, but it is this—Boston has always been lucky in the old days, and I see no reason why her luck should not continue during the year 1915.

HARRY MURRAY, Water Manager: My bet would be on Boston if I were a betting man. I think that the Boston team is stronger throughout than Philadelphia. Pitchers are a good part of the game, but not the whole show.

SUPERVISOR DAVE LOGAN: If Alexander enters the game for the Philadelphia team, I will pick the Quakers to win the series. It will be up to the star pitcher of the Phillies to stop the Red Sox.

LIETT. CHAS. LYMAN: The Boston Red Sox will win the series this year. There are many reasons why they should win.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL J. M. STAINBACK: The Phillies will win because of the fact that they have the pitching staff with them.

THE CRAB OVERLOOKED ONE.

"Don't you remember me?" Arthur Nehf, George Stallings' cap-tivity young southpaw, asked Captain Evers when he reported to the Braves and was introduced.

"No, I can't recollect having seen you before," replied the Trojan.

"Why, you had me in Chicago the year you managed the Cubs," was Nehf's comeback. "Don't you remember, I reported to you one morning and you fired me in the afternoon?"

"Well, I'm a son of a gun; sure, and you're the same kid. No wonder Murphy didn't keep me," buzzed back Evers.

And it's the truth. Nehf, found by a Cub scout when attending Rock Polytechnic Institute in Terre Haute, was shipped to Evers at a stage when the Trojan was painfully shy of slab talent. He gave Art Nehf a short workout and then decided he wouldn't do—just then.

HEAD SPINNERS PLEASE GROW UP IN 'FUN' BOUT

Another enthusiastic throng flocked to the Fort street rink last evening which has been temporarily converted into a wrestling pavilion, to witness the feats of physical prowess as it is done in Dai Nippon.

The troupe of Japanese mat experts who are on their way home from a tour of the states fairly outdid themselves to furnish an interesting and clever program.

Several visible, and perhaps more, "prospects" were brought into play, much to the amusement of the cheering spectators. Pairs were seemingly unevenly matched and caused much mirth through their antics. In one instance the little fellow of the pair made a frantic dash at his mountainous adversary who calmly stood his ground and with one mighty swing caught the "bantam" by the que and from somewhere produced some face cork and smeared the astonished face of his would-be conqueror as he cast him scornfully clear of the ring with blackened face.

A. La Don Quixote.

Upon carefully gathering himself together again he gave evidence of great disgust and perhaps a trifle of resentment, for at the next go he fairly evaded the historical Don Quixote in his windmill-like fanning of his erstwhile conqueror. The audience entered into the spirit of things thoroughly and "egged" both on with cheers and banter.

Perhaps the most exciting moment of the evening centered about a bout between two pretty evenly matched giants who had struggled for considerable time, netting one fall each. An effervescent rooster had decided upon his champion and promptly defied the whole house to speak a word in support of the rival of his choice. This promptly brought forth a howl of support from various quarters, probably just so much because of any particular leaning—but in rebuttal of the arrogant defy.

A Real Roster.

It so happened that the fall to decide the winner consumed more time than is ordinary and the excitement waxed to such a height that the effervescent personage above referred to became almost a raving maniac. He cavorted, screamed and howled in many fragments of languages as were at his command until he became the center of attraction. When finally he happened to be his choice who won the fall his joy was absolutely uncontrollable and to describe his antics would be attempting the well-nigh impossible. His sentiments and interior feelings were absolutely and entirely too large for proper expression from one of his diminutive anatomy.

This was but one of the many amusing incidents which kept the audience continually in a state of thrilling tension.

As for the exhibitions; they were truly a treat to the uninitiated and fans as well. It is marvelous how fellows of such generous proportions as these exponents of the ancient art of Japan can possibly be so active. With the disposition of this thought comes that of comparing this sort of wrestling with the American style. It would be worth seeing if one of the champions of each class would meet in contest.

The ceremony attached to the announcing and the jesticulations which follow by the participants themselves, as they prepare to do battle, consume more time by far than the actual action itself. Between the "sacred" salt-bath and water-pail and the characteristic stamping to draw forth every available strength, these modern descendants of Hercules certainly excel anything anywhere in their class at the art of consuming time.

They "get set" much in the same manner as would two blooded game cocks bent upon doing one another to death, then the psychological moment has failed to arrive for one or both and they calmly return to an erect position and perhaps turn to their respective corners and secure another handful of the indispensable salt, cast it into the ring and are at it again. It usually takes from two to several of these false starts to really start anything—but once at it they are far from gentle with each other.

You Can't Hurt Them.

In one of the matches last night, by a piece of clever and elusive footwork, plus a bit of aid-by-hand, one fellow took advantage of the momentum gathered by his opponent for attack, and caused him to hurl headlong off the ring stand and into the laps of the astonished audience. He landed on his head and an ordinary person would have doubtless sustained severe injury. However, this brawny fellow calmly picked himself up and rubbed his head a bit and within a few minutes participated in another bout.

The evening was closed with an exhibition by the champion Umeatani, who easily downed his man.

"Will He Star?"

Dave Bancroft, the peppery shortstop of the Philadelphia Nationals. There have been stars before that have entered the big series and made good, but not many who have jumped to a pennant winner in one year. Hobe Deal and Joe Bush made names for themselves in the big classic, and fans are anxiously waiting to see what the former Portland star will do. Bancroft is the only regular on either team who is playing his first year in the big brush, and Moran believes that he will show up well in the crucial series. Dave started in the Coast League, but he couldn't hit and Walter McCredie shifted him to the North-west League and he was finally taken back to the Ducks when he began to locate the ball. Last year the popular short fielder made good with a vengeance, and is filling the shoes of Doolan to the satisfaction of all fans in the Quaker City.

TONIGHT THEY SING AND MAKE MERRY AT TWO BIG BOAT CLUBS

"To the victors belong the spoils." That expression was used many moons ago by one of our great men who never visited Honolulu. But the expression goes here to, as they say at the Myrtle and Healan Boat clubs. The "spoils" is not easily defined, but will contain a variety of things, including music, hula dancing, big "ests," boxing matches and other stunts. Tonight will be a big evening on the harbor, and members of the two clubs have been preparing for the celebrations this evening.

At 7:30 the men who are fished will set down to a chowder feed at the Healan Boat club, and from then on the fun starts. The Myrtle members will have to wait a little longer for their supper. Then they will begin the evening's performance which should last well along into the night. Speeches will be made and a presentation of the trophies and medals to the winners.

SHAFTER WILL PLAY AT SCHOFIELD

They say around the city that the 25th Infantry team is the champions of the island? They will also tell you that at Schofield Barracks, but at Fort Shafter they can't quite believe it. They maintain that the 2nd Infantry team is the real "goods" in the baseball line, and they are trying to prove it this afternoon at Schofield Barracks. There will be two games scheduled, one between the 1st Infantry and 1st Field Artillery and the big game between the Schofield and Shafter representatives. The games will be called at 10 o'clock and at 2:30.

MCKINLEY TO HAVE NEW TENNIS COURT

Graduates of McKinley high school will give a dance at the Outrigger Club Saturday evening, October 23, to raise funds to establish a tennis court in McKinley campus. With money now in the treasury the alumni have voted to erect a bronze tablet at the school, where the students gaining high honors in scholarship will have their names inscribed each year.

CHINESE TRAVELERS GO TO CUBA TUESDAY

Word was received here today that the Chinese Travelers had left for Cuba on September 26, where they are scheduled to play 12 games in Havana and other nearby cities. Last year the team was offered a good contract to play in Cuba, but the pitching staff at that time was none too strong, so decided not to make the trip. Before they left New York the Chinese team defeated the strong Lincoln Giants by a score of 5 to 0.

STAR END INJURED.

Charles Mock Sing, the fast end on last year's Kamehameha team, will be out of the game most of the season. In practice Thursday night the speedy end was tackled and his collarbone was broken. The injury is not serious, and Coach Booth expects to have him back in harness before the season is over. Kamehameha will miss the fast end as he was one of the big factors on the defense last season.

Play For Manoa Cup Will Begin at Club Sunday

Devotees of the royal and ancient game will gather at the Oahu Country Club tomorrow morning at 9:30 to begin play for the Manoa cup. The tournament will last for two weeks, and 16 players will be picked tomorrow to play off the final on Sunday, October 10. All play will be for 36 holes and medal play will govern the winner. One feature of the play for the cup that has not become generally known is the fact that this will be open competition for anyone who wishes to enter whether they are members of the club or not.

Many are registering for the tournament at present and it is expected that a large number will play the 36 holes tomorrow. The first 16 in total score will be picked tomorrow, and these golfers will go to the final on October 10. With an open meet, a scratch number of good scores are expected to be turned in at tomorrow's play. At the 19th hole they are already picking their choice to win out but the element of chance often enters into the Scottish game and a new star may develop in the 72-hole play.

FOOTBALL STARS TO MEET MONDAY NIGHT AT ARMORY

Manager Fred W. Wichman of the National Guard football team has been a busy man this week lining up the men for practice. At first the players had a tendency to hold back, but the names are coming in every day, and there are now gathered together enough material to make two good teams. A number of new men have signified their intention of entering the game this year, and it is expected that by the end of next week a squad of 40 men will be out for practice.

The initial practice will be held in the armory at 7 o'clock Monday evening, where the gridiron stars will get acquainted and receive their first signal work of the year. Bill Rosa will captain and coach the squad this year, and with the assistance of "Scotty" Schuman the team should not be without capable mentors. Practices will be held three times a week, beginning Monday, and Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays will be the scrimmage days. All players and prospects are asked to come out to Atkinson park at 5 o'clock on these days.

From the list of men who will come out there is already a wealth of material and Manager Wichman and Captain Rosa expect to have a successful season. The schedule has not yet been announced, but it will probably include games with the Shafter and Schofield teams. Most of the men are in good condition, and will be ready to jump into scrimmage practice at any time.

Among the players who have already signed up for practice are many who are capable men. The former McKinley high back and one of the stars on the gridiron, A. E. Carter, who held down a tackle position on McKinley, R. Benny, another tackle who wore the Punahou colors; A. Amoy, a speedy end from St. Louis; Ed Leo, one of the best linemen that ever represented Punahou; A. Parker, who played in the line on the champion towr team, and S. Among, who won his letter at Kamehameha.

Other players who have records on the gridiron are: C. Crozier, R. McEldowney, J. Warren, F. Kanae, P. Kanae, F. Kalua, S. Namahoe, L. Lemon, Wm. Kama, H. Paleka, Sam Letwii, Sam Loo, Albert Arcia, George Macy, John Adolpho, James Kauauni and Pereira. Besides the list there are many other players who will come out on Monday evening, and enough material will be on hand to make two strong teams for the games of the year.

MOLESKIN ARTISTS WILL OPEN SEASON WITH GAME TODAY

This afternoon at 3:30 the football fans of the city will have their first opportunity of seeing the moleskin artists perform when Coach Midkiff's Punahou reserves tackle the Honolulu Juniors. Many of the men who will try for places on the first team will be seen in action at Alexander field as naturally they will want to try and make Coach Midkiff believe that they are second Billy Hestons. The two teams will be evenly matched in weight and the early season contest will be watched with interest.

Capt. Le'i had his men out last night in final practice for the Punahou game, and the Juniors showed up well considering the amount of time they have been practicing. The backfield men were a little slow to starting, but the forward pass work was up to standard for this early in the season. Coach Midkiff will have a light team on the field but they are learning the game fast and have heaps of confidence. Many men new to the game will have their first tryout today and it may come to pass that a new Punahou star will be developed.

The Line-up.

Y. M. C. A. Announces All Schedules For Season

Basketball Season Will Begin on November 2 and Continue to Last of February—Six Teams Will Be in Field This Year for Honors—Trackwork, Handball and Water Sports Will Be Featured in Association—Director Looks for Good Year

The athletic council of the physical department at the Y. M. C. A. met last night in a protracted session and made out all of the athletic schedules for the coming year. Basketball is the first sport and the first game of the season is to be played Tuesday night, November 2, this series lasting until the 14th of December. Six teams are in sight for the league and the prospects were never so good for a banner season of this most popular indoor game.

The athletic council is a new feature in the physical department. Entire authority in all branches of athletics at the association are given over to this cabinet of wise men. They have charge of all schedules, decide as to leagues, their nature and number of teams competing, the nature of the prizes, the rules governing the game, and the selection of the officials. In fact everything which has to do with the organized athletics of the Y. M. C. A. are given over into the hands of this athletic council.

The athletic council is composed of O. P. Soares, chairman, Ralph Gaylord, William Meinecke, Paul MacCaughy, John Gomes, Edgar Methven and W. A. Rasmussen. Two other men are to be selected to complete the council. The council has, in its members, representatives of every sport and of every senior division in the physical department.

Last night at 6:30 the council convened for its first session and after the chairman had outlined the organization and purposes of the council the men immediately set to work out the schedules.

Basketball Has Two Series.

It was decided to hold two series of basketball since there is a natural division at the holiday season for a respite for the players. The first season commences at November 2. The games to be played on every Tuesday and Friday evenings and on both of these evenings there will be double headers. There is enough interest in the game so that every team in the league ought to play at least one game a week and this plan brings this about.

Inter-collegiate rules were adopted for the season. Inter-collegiate rules were given their first trial last season. The Y. M. C. A. took them up and when later in the season, an army league was organized, they also adopted these popular rules. They allow of more freedom without necessarily making the game any rougher.

The first season closes December 14 and the players are then given a layoff for the holidays. On January 7 the first game will be played in the second series and this set of games is completed on February 25 with a championship game.

Six Teams in Sight.

There are six good teams in sight for the league. The Tigers, last year's champions, will be in the game again, according to William Meinecke, one of their number and a guard from the Tiger team. The P. B. C.'s always have in a peppy organization. Thorough practice always brings this outfit up so that they improve as the season advances. The dormitory is being naturally they will want to try and make Coach Midkiff believe that they are second Billy Hestons. The two teams will be evenly matched in weight and the early season contest will be watched with interest.

Number of Athletes.

The Y. M. C. A. now numbers in its membership the largest crowd of good athletes it has ever boasted. Several new strong players have just come from the mainland and joined the "Y" and they are being fast assimilated on one of the many teams that are being organized. The new swimming pool is probably the most popular single feature at the building and the members expect to combine their athletics with fun in the pool following the games. The athletic council adjourned at 8:30 last night to reconvene on Tuesday, October 13, at 4:30.

FORMER PEACE ADVOCATE IS NOW BOOSTER FOR BIG ARMY AND NAVY

Former Senator T. E. Burton Would Have U. S. Prepared for All Eventualities

By C. S. ALBERT.
(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 20.—Former Senator Theodore E. Burton of Ohio has come out flatfooted in favor of reasonable preparedness for national defense. As president of the American Peace Society, the ex-senator always has advocated world-wide disarmament. His views now have undergone a change. As a looming candidate for the Republican presidential nomination they are of exceptional interest.

Former U. S. Senator Theodore E. Burton.

In prefacing an expression of opinion the former senator called attention:

1. To the vast importance of the present war, which he believes this country does not at present comprehend.

2. To the possibility that the outcome of the war may turn the world into an "armed camp."

3. To the alternative possibility that the war may result in an era of universal disarmament and peace.

Fears Militarism.
In connection with the subject of preparedness Senator Burton said that high up in his mind is the question of what the world war will do to popular forms of government. He believes that if the world war, which he believes will crush the recent great developments which the world has seen toward complete democracy. This, he said, he has discussed with many persons throughout the country, and has always found audiences which have listened with great interest.

"In approaching the great question of national defense and adequate preparedness," said Senator Burton, "we must first realize the great importance to the world of the European war. We must realize that out of the war may come an era of militarism, and every nation may be bristling with armaments. If this is to come true, then we must be ready."

"On the other hand, the conflict in Europe may be decisive, and the world will be thoroughly sick of it, and an era of great peace may prevail and nations may decide that justice instead of arms should make decisions. This, of course, would be best of all. After the thirty years' war the beginning of the international law came. After Napoleon there was peace for a long term of years."

"So by a study of the analogies of other wars it is seen that there may be a period of peace, and I accept the word 'may,' but the possibilities are serious. Reluctant as I am to say so it may be better for the present war to be fought to a finish. If there is no decisive result the armies may go home and prepare all over again for the finish fight, and the world will see heavier armaments than ever."

"And then world conditions may be such that we might be drawn into the maelstrom against our will, and with all the other nations armed, and the world we must not be weak. In the language of the man on the street, we must have enough 'front' to keep the other fellow from daring to tread on our toes."

"So I say that steps must be taken for an adequate defense, for whatever defense is proper to protect our nation. We are not justified in presuming that there will be a period of militarism; nor are we safe in conjecturing an era of peace. The probabilities are for peace, but the dangers for something else are great and should be given due weight.

Country is Rich Prize.
"We have millions of men and should not be scared. What should be the exact program for armies and navies I would not attempt to say off-hand, but I do believe in a well-balanced navy. Our country is a rich prize. What would be more foolish than to allow its coasts to be so weakly guarded as to attract the possible armed hordes that would seek for brighter fields after the European countries have been devastated?"

SCHWAB RUSHES TEN SUBMARINES TO COMPLETION

Surprises Britain By Having Craft Ready to Cross Atlantic Under Own Power

Although the impending 2180-mile voyage of the four K-800 submarines here from San Francisco under their own power it had been thought would set a new record, advice reaching here this week from New York state that American submarines built in a Montreal factory have already crossed the Atlantic and are now in Belgium.

To Charles M. Schwab of the Bethlehem Steel Company is given the credit for this achievement. Not only did the genius of Mr. Schwab and his company surprise authorities in the United States, but it dumbfounded the British Admiralty, the officials of which were incredulous when informed by code that the vessels were ready to leave under their own power and without convoy.

Construction of the submarines was so carefully guarded that German spies were unable to obtain any information of what was going on. When the British Admiralty was informed that the vessels were ready for the trip across the ocean it sent crews to Canada, where they boarded the craft and steamed away in haste.

All in Perfect Order.
The British officers and crews were told exactly how to handle them. They obeyed instructions to the letter, and the result proves that in neither construction nor operation was the slightest miscalculation made.

Because Secretary of State Bryan had ruled that no submarines were to be built in the United States, Mr. Schwab, in building the boats, made arrangements to utilize the Vickers-Maxim shipbuilding yards at Montreal.

No sooner was this decided upon than the great steel plant at Bethlehem, Pa., began turning out the parts and shipping them to Montreal. Already scores of American workmen had gone there, and the work of assembling was kept right abreast with the work of production. Night and day shifts were employed, and the most strenuous operations were taken to protect the great secret.

The 10 submarines are of the newest standard type, differing in no important detail from those under construction in this country for the United States. They are 140 feet long and equipped with the Diesel heavy oil engines. These engines were built by the Electric Boat Company at its plant at New London, Conn.

Each submarine has four torpedoes, but when they left Canada they carried no guns. It is assumed that guns have been mounted on them since, as facilities for placing light guns were provided for by the builders. Each submarine, however, carried torpedoes and was prepared for actual hostilities.

The little vessels cost $500,000 each. This is an unusually high price for submarines of this type and is due to the expedition with which they were built. Extra labor and extra machinery had to be provided to keep the work going 24 hours a day, and this was added to the cost of the vessels.

All 10 of the submarines left Canadian waters together and arrived at Gibraltar within a few hours of one another. The five British bound submarines arrived off the Irish coast a little more than a month ago. The other five reached the Dardanelles about three weeks ago. One hundred thousand gallons of oil were stored aboard the vessels.

And while we are in the process of making a navy, the feasibility of the F-type of submarine suggests the advisability of unmaking some, too.—Manchester, N. H., Union.

National Issue Should Have the Control of the Question of Preparedness.
The general patriotic character of the people should be the patriotism of the people, and in making the decision as to what constitutes adequate defense we should cast aside all considerations except those required by the new world conditions. No opinions we have cherished in the past should deter us from protecting our national honor.

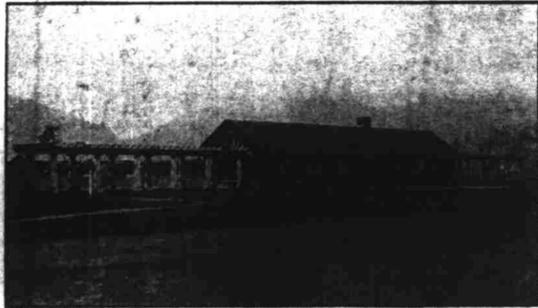

"We ought not to be influenced or alarmed so as to put ourselves on a military footing comparable to the countries of Europe, but a rational degree of preparedness is necessary."

Effect on Government.
Speaking of the possible effect of the war on popular government, Senator Burton said:

"Since the beginning of this century there have been the greatest steps in history in the way of advances toward democracy. The establishment of the Russian duma, the Young Turk movement, the republic in China—then on comes this war, and the result may be a reaction toward absolute monarchy. There may be a wave of feeling that popular forms of government are not capable of handling great military problems, and it may be that preparedness for war may be an answer. Perhaps if we can show ourselves prepared for war this danger would be lessened.

"These are all interesting questions. I do not predict. I merely mention them as part of the possibilities against which we should be prepared."

New Library at Schofield

"The most attractive building at the post" is the way in which the new Carter library at Schofield Barracks is referred to by residents at and visitors to Oahu's largest army post. The building has just been completed, and within the week army amateurs have given two vaudeville performances at Schofield to raise funds for furnishing the structure.

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)
SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, Oct. 2.—Capt. Chitty's vaudeville show was repeated Thursday night, this time at the 25th Infantry theater. The house was crowded and several hundred dollars were added to the fund for furnishing the new library. One of the main attractions was the moving pictures taken of the troops at Schofield. Songs by Mrs. Stone, Mrs. Crusan, Lieut. Hilo and some whistling solos by Mrs. Stenmenberg were greatly appreciated. The officers' glee club and mandolin and guitar club were encored again and again. Lieut. Sears and Lieut. Hinemon gave an exhibition of fencing. Capt. Ferris' recitation, "Tony's Home Run," brought down the house, as did also a speech by Lieut. Elmer Rice, "Senator Ole Olson of Minnesota on the Political Needs of the Day." One of the best numbers was a musical sketch by four different characters in a space of eight minutes. First he was Monsieur LeRien and sang "The Rosary," then Mademoiselle DePunkt, singing soprano. Next he appeared as "one of the boys," with a song about the carnival, and finally as Caruso in Pagliacci. One of the numbers which made a great hit with the soldiers was a Swede and Lobo sketch by Capt. Glassford and Lieut. Rice, full of local color, ending with "Wop Casey at the Bat," which brought back memories of the great ball game a week ago between the 1st Infantry and the 25th.

DANIELS PLANS TRAINED NAVAL RESERVE FOR WAR EMERGENCIES

Details of Scheme Provide for Personnel of 50,000 Officers and Men With Training

News reached Honolulu this week that Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels is nearly ready to put into effect a plan for a trained naval reserve which should mean a great deal to the Hawaiian Islands from a defensive standpoint. An account of it is given in the Army and Navy Register.

This plan, which was worked out by Franklin D. Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy, is a part of the program of the administration to prepare the government for the time when it may be called upon to wage a war. It provides for the organization of various elements, which are considered a natural reserve from which the navy could draw in time of emergency to supplement the regular forces.

Mr. Roosevelt enumerated just how such a reserve could be created, as follows:
Expect Larger Enrolment.
1. The organization of retired officers already exists, and a step toward securing a reserve of former enlisted men was taken last spring by Congress. While the results of this legislation have not been large during the two months it has been in effect, 110 men have enrolled up to September 1, 1915. It is believed that an increasing number of men, whose enlistment expires, will take advantage of the opportunity offered, and it is already having the effect of increasing the number of reenlistments.

"2. This means the coordination of the Coast Guard—that is, the revenue cutter and life-saving services, the lighthouse service, the coast survey, the state nautical training schools, harbor police, etc.—in such manner as to fit readily into the naval service at short notice. Little legislation is necessary to accomplish this, and the organization of this work is already under way."

"3. It is believed that the reserve of personnel should total 50,000 officers and men. What is particularly desired is not merely numbers, but individuals who will be capable of doing the highly specialized service which exists in modern navies. For instance, in war time the navy would need the services of possibly 1000 additional radio operators; it would require local pilots for inside waters, helmsmen, gunners, gasfitter-experts, signal men, etc., besides, of course, first-class seamen."

"4. It is obvious that the navy would need a great number of auxiliaries, patrol boats, etc. Steps have already been taken to organize the merchant shipping, but much remains to be done. Modern naval operations have shown the great need of a large number of small and fast yachts and motor boats of a type as seaworthy as possible."

"The department has already endeavored to cooperate with the power squadrons, and it will be possible in connection with the training of volunteer civilians to list all suitable vessels and to train their crews in the duties that would be expected. This training would be given in conjunction with the use of naval vessels in the summer time and would be in charge of regular officers."

from August 26. The Buford will return in due time from Manila by way of San Francisco with passengers who can not be accommodated on the transports regularly sailing from Manila. All of the transports of this year for two or three months are crowded beyond their capacity on account of the large number of officers who are about to change stations."

ISTHMUS HAS ITS OWN TRANSPORT TROUBLES NOW

Transport troubles are occupying considerable attention in eastern army circles at the present time, and it appears that regular transport service from New York to the Canal Zone by way of Galveston, is wanted as badly as more transports from San Francisco to Honolulu and Manila return.

Says the Army and Navy Register:
"The secretary of war has postponed action on the recommendation of the quartermaster general of the army for the establishment of a regular transport service between New York and the Canal Zone by way of Galveston, and on arrival at that port will transfer the crew to the Kilpatrick, which will take the 23rd Infantry to Jacksonville, Fla., where the regiment will render duty during the national match. The transport will continue on to Newport News and will there be overhauled and repaired, on completion of which will return to Galveston by way of Jacksonville for the 23rd Infantry."

"It will then be possible to determine when the service to the Canal Zone may be instituted, since both the Sumner and the Kilpatrick will be available, and it is expected Secretary Garrison will designate one of them for the service. In the meantime the transport Buford is held at Galveston, pending emergency demands upon it, the trip to Manila with the 25th Infantry being postponed for a month."

KILL COCKROACHES
Easy Matter to Exterminate These Filthy Pests.

Even a feeble imagination can think of the germs the cockroach must bring as it crawls around the kitchen and pantry, contaminating and spoiling food. Now is the time to kill off the cockroaches and free your home from the repulsive insects. A dozen cockroaches killed now is better than killing hundreds later.

A two-ounce box of Stearns Electric Paste, which you can get for 25 cents from any druggist, will rid your home of cockroaches or water bugs. It is much better than powders, as it can not blow away and get into the food. Easy to use and an absolute exterminator. Directions in 15 languages in every package.—Adv.

HAVE 150 TARGETS FOR MATCHES PRELIMINARY TO FLORIDA TESTS

Guardsmen at Jacksonville Will Have Free Use of Range to Encourage Shooting

With Hawaii's team now en route to Jacksonville, having been given a rousing send-off when they left here Wednesday on the steamer for San Francisco, in their details of the national rifle competition, to start at the state rifle range eight miles from Jacksonville, October 15, and to be participated in by the Hawaii team are of interest.

In the Army and Navy Journal is an interesting account of the regulations to obtain through the matches. One of them is that the war department has decided that during the period of the matches preliminary to the national matches, all targets of the entire range, as far as practicable will be operated and teams will be permitted to use, without charge, any targets not being used for conducting matches.

Keep All Targets Busy.
It is anticipated that a sufficient number of troops will be present to keep all the 150 targets in operation and that at all times targets will be available on some parts of the range for free practice. It is expected that if teams are assured of a free and full opportunity to continue the preparation for the national matches by bringing more teams and competitors to the grounds at an early date, cooperation of teams in making an unqualified success of the free practice feature by encouraging the participation of their members in the matches preceding the national matches will be appreciated.

Want Preliminary Matches.
It is hoped that this opportunity for practice will not operate to reduce the number of competitors in the regular matches held during the period preceding the national matches, but will on the contrary increase the importance of the preliminary matches by bringing more teams and competitors to the grounds at an early date. Cooperation of teams in making an unqualified success of the free practice feature by encouraging the participation of their members in the matches preceding the national matches will be appreciated.

ORDERS OF THE HAWAIIAN DEPT.

Honolulu Boy Now Training At Aldershot

TROOPER T. S. MUIRHEAD.

Born in Honolulu just 17 years ago, T. S. Muirhead, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Muirhead of this city, is seen in the above photo in the uniform of the Lovat Scouts, attached for the purposes of training to the 12th Hussars at Aldershot, England. Tom couldn't stand back when Britain needed men, and enlisted a couple of months ago, leaving a business college at Edinburgh, where he was undergoing special training. In his last letter he says he is digging "trenches" and finds it pretty hard work. There are upwards of 200,000 cavalry in the east barracks of this great military post, besides thousands of other branches of the service. It will be some time before he will be ready to participate in actual warfare, but when that time comes he will be found able to "do his bit." Tom was prominent in scholastic swimming and football circles in Auld Reekie.

TWO BIG WARSHIPS TO BE ADDED TO NAVY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Plans for two new battleships authorized by the last Congress were signed today by Secretary Daniels. They will be the largest and most powerful warships ever designed for the American navy, and in addition to formidable main batteries of twelve 14-inch rifles each will be provided with new safeguards against torpedo attack and anti-aircraft guns.

Specifications for the vessels will be ready for bidders before the end of next week, and bids will be opened at the department Nov. 17.

The ships will displace 32,000 tons. They will have four submerged torpedo tubes, secondary batteries of twenty-two 6-inch guns and four 3-inch rifles for repelling air attacks. The length will be 624 feet over all; breadth, 97 feet 6 inches, and draught, 30 feet. The cost of each vessel, exclusive of armor and armaments, is limited to $7,800,000.

Karl Keller, aged 23, an assistant instructor at Camp Kineo, Me., a boys' camp at Long lake, fell from his motor boat and was drowned.

"sloths and lunatics," he is surely going too far," says the Army and Navy Journal in answer to Henry Ford and his peace campaign, which it declares is only an advertising scheme.

"No red-shirted anarchist ever preached a more poisonous doctrine than was recently given out by this millionaire automobile manufacturer."

The Exploits of Elaine

A Detective Novel and a Motion Picture Drama

By ARTHUR B. REEVE
The Well-Known Novelist and the Author of the "Craig Kennedy" Series

Presented in Collaboration with the Famous Players and the Edison Film Company
Copyright, 1915, by The Star Company. All Rights Reserved.

SYNOPSIS.

The New York police are mystified by a series of murders and other crimes. The principal clue to the criminal is the warning letter which is sent the victims, signed with a "clutching hand." The latest victim of the mysterious assassin is Taylor Dodge, the insurance president. His daughter, Elaine, employs Craig Kennedy, the famous scientific detective, to try to unravel the mystery. What Kennedy accomplishes is told by his friend, because a newspaper man. After many fruitless attempts to put Elaine and Craig Kennedy out of the way the Clutching Hand is at last found to be none other than Perry Bennett, Elaine's lawyer, and the man she is engaged to marry. Bennett goes to the den of one of his Chinese criminals. The Chinamen forces from Bennett the secret of the whereabouts of Elaine. Then he gives the lawyer a portion which will suspend animation for months. Kennedy reaches Bennett's side just after he has lost consciousness.

TWENTY-SECOND EPISODE

THE OPIUM SMUGGLERS.

George, the Dodge chauffeur, had just returned to the garage in the rear of the house with the car and was working over it. He was so intent on locating a strange noise in the engine that he did not see the serpentine eyes of Wu as he peered into the garage through a small window.

Wu was not alone. As always, he had been able to secure an assistant in the devilish scheme he had in mind, not a sinister, evil-faced fellow, but a neat, quiet, apparently honest-looking young mechanic.

George was bending closely over the engine as he speeded it up to see what was the cause of the rattle, when the door of the garage opened quietly. On tiptoe Wu and the young mechanic, a man named Johnson, slipped in, Johnson carrying an automobile robe.

The next moment the two had leaped upon the defenseless George. Johnson threw the robe over his head, while Wu wound him about with a rope. He was completely and instantly put out.

Just then, working as if by the clock, for such was the precision of Wu's plans, a closed car, muffled down, slipped up to the garage door. They hastened the unsuspecting George into the car, Johnson taking the place at the wheel and Wu sitting on guard to back with George, bound and almost unconscious.

George was loyal, if anything. Threats and bribes had no effect on him, even after he had come to in Wu's secret den.

"There is paper, pen and ink," whispered Wu. "Write what I tell you."

George remained motionless, defiant.

"You will not!" shrieked Wu, mask-like impatience behind an assumed no-nonsense.

Slowly he picked up a murderous dirk, which lay on the table before him, and felt the point thoughtfully. A deep, guttural order issued from the serpent's lips. Instantly two of the servants seized George, while the third bent his head back. As Wu raised the knife, it was more than when the iron serves of George could stand.

He broke down.

"Take the pen," directed Wu, adding, "George took it mechanically, 'Write.'"

Both Elaine and Aunt Josephine were much surprised at the non-appearance of George in the morning.

It was explained, apparently, when Jennings, the butler, ushered in the neat and quiet young man who politely told a story of an accident to his dear friend, George, as he handed a note to Elaine.

"Think you'll do," nodded Elaine. "Jennings, will you show Johnson how to get to the garage?"

For a long time Kennedy had been performing a miniature wireless telephone of his own invention, and the activities of Wu Fang now caused him to hasten his work.

It was the next morning after the capture of Loung-Sin that Craig got the instrument working to his satisfaction. I was delighted, for I had been much interested in following his work on it.

"You see, Walter," Kennedy explained, setting a little black box on the laboratory table. "I've got this thing down to an irreducible minimum. It's the most compact affair imaginable. See. I open the face of the box. I fit up these miniature aeriols of the inverted L type. Here is the transmitting apparatus, there the receiving, all cased. I press this lever."

He paused. At the other end of the table stood an exact duplicate of the first instrument.

As he pressed the lever the buzzer in the other telephone sounded.

"I'm going to ask you, Walter," he went on, folding down the little aeriols and shutting up the box, "to take this other instrument over to Elaine."

Out on the Atlantic, tossing over the choppy seas, a dingy old schooner was making her way toward New York harbor. The captain, Jake Gregor, was a disreputable looking man, as were both his craft and his crew of mixed whites and Chinese.

stood there gazing off at where the land ought to be. He had just finished scribbling a note on a piece of paper resting on the after-cabin roof when one of the men reached down and from a small wooden cage took a struggling white carrier pigeon. They fastened the note, rolled up in a sort of quill, to the bird's leg and let the bird loose. It circled up, then, straight as an arrow darted off landward.

"They'll be glad to know we're safe and so near," nodded Gregor. "And confound any revenue men that stand between us!"

In a room in a tenement Wu Fang and several Chinamen were seated talking and smoking.

Outside a nearby window was a large box which had a small sliding door on the outside, arranged so that it fell almost at a lurch, working a little signal flag on the back of the box toward the room in which the Chinamen were seated.

Suddenly there was a flutter of wings outside. A pure-white pigeon seemed to glide into the box and, as the homing bird did so, the door automatically shut. It was a cage such as is used for carrier pigeons. The little flag in the room moved, and the Chinamen crowded about the box as Wu opened it, reached in and caught the bird. Carefully he took the message from the bird's foot. As one of them placed the bird in another box and reset the trap, Wu unrolled the paper and read:

Twenty-six miles southeast of Sandy Hook. Will drop anchor off Staten Island tonight.

"You will let me know if any later message comes," directed Wu to one of his men. As a moment later, the Chinese master criminal left the tenement.

Cautiously he made his way to the secret entrance to his own apartment. He had unconsciously entered when a Chinaman who had evidently been waiting for him rose and bowed. It was Hop Ling, the proprietor of the opium den.

"Is there any news yet, master?" he asked.

"Yes, Gregor is landing your opium tonight. I'll have a gift for him to take back to Shanghai with him, where she can be sold."

Kennedy had begun to get closer on the trail of Wu and, having dispatched me to Elaine with the wireless telephone, it occurred to him that he might spend a few hours profitably sleuthing about Chinatown searching for clues to the serpent.

He donned the roughest of his old suits and turned his coat collar up, while an old slouch hat was pulled over his eyes. But it was not so far over as to him his sight.

He paused once by an electric light pole to watch a gangster saunter past. Twice the fellow had walked up and down the street.

As the gangster slouched by, he lurched over to the electric light pole, and Kennedy felt his hand touched by that of the gangster. He was more than surprised to feel something like a piece of cardboard surreptitiously shoved into his hand, and he clutched it. The gangster passed, and, as he did so, Kennedy looked at him, then bent over and read:

Capt. John Brainard,
U. S. Secret Service.

Written underneath the engraved name was "Follow."

Slowly Craig followed. Brainard entered a saloon by a side door and seated himself in a back room. A moment later Kennedy slouched in and sat down at the same table. Brainard nodded and Craig extended his hand quickly. He looked about. They were alone.

"What brings you down here?" asked Kennedy in a low tone.

"A big shipment of opium is going to be landed tonight and I'm trying to locate the Chinese gang back of it. Think you can help me?"

"Anything to do with that hop joint up the street?"

Brainard nodded. Would it prove a clue possibly to Wu Fang?

"I'll help you," agreed Kennedy. For several minutes they talked, laying out a plan. Finally they paid the check and rose to go out. As they reached the side door a Chinaman passed. Kennedy drew Brainard back.

"What's the matter?" whispered the secret service man.

"Did you see that Chinaman?" returned Kennedy. "That's Hop Ling. He runs the opium joint. I think he is worth shadowing."

Keeping discreetly in the rear of the Chinaman, Kennedy and Brainard followed until Hop paused before a ramshackle tenement. No sooner had he disappeared inside than Craig and Brainard advanced, careful that they in turn were not followed.

They entered and went upstairs. At last they came to a door outside which they paused to listen.

"Can you make out what they are saying?" asked Brainard.

"What's that?" demanded Brainard, looking at the box in the window, as Kennedy moved over toward it.

"A pigeon trap, I suspect," Craig replied. "Let's wait."

They sat there for several minutes. Evidently the Chinese had been waiting for something. Craig felt that waiting might pay.

At last he was rewarded by the sound of a flutter outside. A click followed as the little door shut, trapping the pigeon. The signal flag in the room moved.

Kennedy looked at it a moment, then carefully opened the door in the back of the trap and seized the bird. From the quill on its leg he took a tightly rolled note and read.

S. P. M.
Will be off Van Dort Jetty in two hours.
GREGOR.

What did it mean? Threats, imprecations, nothing could extract a word from the two impassive prisoners.

"Come," ordered Kennedy sharply of Hop Ling, now for a moment letting his vexation show in his face. "Walk ahead of me."

Two of the gang had been captured, but Wu seemed as far away as ever. He marched Hop along sullenly, while Brainard kicked the other Chinaman to his feet and followed.

They did not have far to go. Scarcely a block away stood a policeman, and Craig waved to him.

Quickly Craig produced cards of identification and they left their handcuffed prisoners, with the understanding that they were to be held until full charges could be made against them.

At the first telephone pay station Craig turned in and called up the laboratory, to which I had returned.

"I think I've got the best clue yet, Walter," he called. "You remember Brainard? Well, I want you to meet me at the Battery, where a revenue cutter will be waiting. Bring along that wireless telephone, too. Don't forget."

I hung up the receiver excitedly and tucked the little black box under my arm as I hurried out.

Elaine had decided to motor down to the country home of one of her friends who lived on the shore of New Jersey, and accordingly, late in the afternoon, called the garage and ordered Johnson to have the car ready.

As Elaine was whirled downtown and over the ferry from New York she was deeply engrossed in her own thoughts.

How far they had gone she did not pay much attention, but she knew the roads well. They had come to a fork, and Johnson veered off to the left. Instinctively Elaine knew that the right-hand road was the more direct, and she touched a little signal that summoned the driver.

"If you see that for any reason she is about to escape," added Wu savagely, "do away with her."

He finished with a threatening gesture as the Chinamen followed Elaine into the boat. Then he turned on his heel and walked rapidly back to the deserted house. There he climbed into the automobile with the two toughs and all were rapidly driven away by the faithless mechanician.

The yawl tossed up and down on the rough swells that came in from the ocean, as the powerful arms of the sailors pulled her out through the blackness to the schooner.

There Elaine was lifted over the rail and forced across the deck down into the murky, ill-smelling hold. It made no difference to Gregor whether he carried a cargo of contraband or a white slave. In his gruff voice he belloyed orders for getting under way, while the Chinaman half led, half pushed Elaine into a cramped room amidships.

He set down the suitcase and, with a grunt and a scowl left, locking the door and shuffling along the passageway to a steep flight of steps to the deck.

Elaine paced up and down her narrow prison distracted.

Suddenly she paused a moment as her eye fell on the suitcase. There flashed through her mind the message I had given her from Kennedy.

She seized the suitcase and tore it open with nervous fingers.

It was very late in the afternoon. I did my best to get down to the Battery with the wireless telephone to meet Kennedy and Brainard, but it was dark before I got there.

As I hurried down to the dock I saw that they had already boarded the revenue cutter and were waiting impatiently. It was a fairly sizable craft. They hailed me aboard and we cast off. The wind blew in keenly from the bay and we spun down the harbor, keeping a sharp lookout for any suspicious craft.

Finally Wu directed one of his men to set off a signal, a flashlight on the end of the jetty, while he strained his eyes through the darkness for some answering signal.

He had not reckoned wrong. Far out over the water came an answering signal from the schooner.

"Good!" exclaimed Wu with satisfaction, as he turned and picked his way back up the dock.

On he went alone until he came to one of the deserted mansions of a generation, or two ago which lined the shore at that point. There, in a yard beside it, stood Elaine's car.

"Where is the white girl?" asked Wu, calling Johnson.

"In the house, master," replied the mechanician subserviently.

"Wait for me here, then," nodded Wu.

Down in a musty room in the basement of the deserted house was Elaine. She was neither bound nor gagged. In fact, there was no necessity for it. No one could hear her cries, nor could she escape, for the two roughnecks who had seized her were guarding her, besides a couple of Chinamen.

Wu Fang came in silently and moved over close to her. He said not a word, but an evil smile spread over his sinister face as she shrank from him.

Meanwhile a yawl had put out from the schooner loaded with cans of the precious contraband drug and had pulled up at the old stone jetty and dock. Chinamen, hastily unloaded it and started up to the house laden with the heavy tin.

As Wu stood before Elaine the Chinamen carrying the dope tins entered and began piling them up in an old closet in the room. At last they finished putting it away.

"All is done, master," bowed one who seemed to be leader.

Wu nodded, then turned to Elaine. "Go!" he hissed, raising his finger and pointing to the door.

Trembling, she obeyed, and Wu Fang and the two toughs followed.

"Oh, will it work—will it work?" she breathed in prayer to herself as she lifted out tenderly the little wireless telephone.

She opened it, pulled up the little aerials, and pressed the lever.

"Hello—hello—Craig—hello!" It was her last chance. Would it work?

By this time we had come in the revenue cutter to the old dock that was known as the Van Dort jetty.

As we swung around to it, with Kennedy and Brainard I leaped out. We gazed about, hunting for signs of the opium smugglers. Ah, was, as still as a grave, except for the ominous lapping of the waves.

I happened to look down at the ground. There in the light of the lantern I saw one of those square-toed footprints which we had come to know so well—the print of a Chinese shoe.

The footprints led up from the dock to an old, deserted, dilapidated house. We paused a moment before it. Just then a door opened and a Chinaman appeared.

With a cry he darted back, but we were at him. There were others inside, too, but they were easily overpowered.

Prodding the reticent Celestials, we retraced our steps to the jetty. Brainard's men carrying the opium. At the dock we loaded our prisoners and the contraband on the cutter.

It was plain that although we had captured the dope, the ship which had brought it had escaped, and, worst of all, Wu had again slipped through our fingers.

Brainard gave the order, and we left the wharf. As we stood gazing from the cutter up to the prisoners, Brainard was visibly stirred. "Blake," he said, mechanically to Craig.

Whether it was that he was disappointed at the failure to land Wu or whether he had a premonition that all was not well, somehow Kennedy did not share the opinion. He extended his hand mechanically.

Just then she heard a loud report outside, and an instant later another. Then followed the crash of something heavy on the deck above accompanied by a volley of vile oaths and quick footsteps, as Gregor gave hasty orders to his crew.

The Chinaman at the door redoubled his efforts. He seized a fire ax hanging near by and attacked the door with that, hacking furiously.

One after another, the table, a chest, everything movable, Elaine piled up against the door as it splintered. But it was of no use.

She moved over fearfully as far away as she could to the porthole and looked at the black water, as she leaned far out, then up at the deck only a few feet above her.

With frantic strength born of fear the heroic girl wriggled out of the porthole, as the schooner heeled over and managed just to catch the scuppers of the deck. Fear lent her strength. She succeeded in pulling herself up to the rail and then over on the deck just as the piled-up furniture tumbled over after the door gave way.

The Chinaman, infuriated, caught just a glimpse of her through the porthole, turned and rushed for the stairway.

In the commotion Elaine had actually come over the rail, unobserved. But she knew that she could not be that way long. There was just a chance that a white man might heed her appeal. Forbidding though he was even in the moonlight, Elaine started toward Gregor.

Just then the maddened face of the Chinaman appeared at the hatch. A moment later his little body wormed itself out on deck. As he came nearer, Elaine retreated further toward Gregor.

"Oh, sir," she pleaded, "save me! I have done nothing!"

Gregor, one eye on the approaching revenue cutter, the other on his ship and crew, had not seen her till then.

"Get out of the way," he growled roughly, pushing her aside. "Save yourself!"

The Chinaman came a step nearer, knife upraised. She fled along the deck. There in the shrouds was a ladder. In desperation she seized a rung, swung herself around, and started by, swinging herself around, and started by, hand over hand, clenching the knife in his teeth. In her terror she tore off a piece of spar that had been loosened by a shot from the cutter and threw it full in his face.

Still on he came. She drew herself up. There was no escape. A moment she trembled aloft.

Then, from a crosstree, she jumped, diving far out into the water. The Chinaman followed.

Hand over hand he churned the waves after her.

We were now nearing a low, rakish craft. Though we signalled it, they paid no attention. Instead, we could hear the chug-chug of an auxiliary gas engine.

Brainard sent a shot across the schooner's bow. Still she did not stop. Instead, the topmasts broke out in spite of the gale and she heaved away faster.

Another shot flashed out from our gun. This time a spar was carried away, as the searchlight playing on the schooner clearly showed.

"We were rapidly gaining now," Brainard—stop firing—for heaven's sake," shouted Craig from the bow. "Look!"

We followed his finger as he peered forward tensely.

There in the rigging, hanging perilously, was Elaine. She was clinging there holding a Chinaman at bay.

Suddenly we saw her draw herself up and deliberately dive into the water. The Chinaman dived also. Hand over hand he went after her. We watched, speechless.

Kennedy turned and seized the rapid fire gun, whirling it around and aiming carefully.

The Chinaman was a powerful swimmer and was rapidly gaining on Elaine. We could even see the gleam of the knife in the searchlight. Carefully Craig sighted the gun. The mistake of a hair's breadth meant life or death.

He fired.

Not a minute too soon the shot ricocheted over the waves. The Chinaman's arms went up in mute surrender. His head sank below the surface of the water.

Instantly, Craig and I were leaning far over the side of the cutter as, with power off, she slipped along, close to that figure swimming in the cold, black water. Neither of us paid any attention to Gregor's frantic signals of surrender as Brainard covered the schooner.

As we passed, Craig reached over and caught Elaine, lifting her bodily into our boat.

"Oh, Craig!" she gasped, as Kennedy, wrapped his greatcoat about her.

"Brainard—some hot drinks—quick," he ordered as he carried her, half fainting, to the cabin.

"Thank heaven for the wireless telephone," he muttered as he worked frantically to bring her around.

"No—it was the inventor—that did it," she murmured, looking up at him, safe.

"Leave Me!" Elaine Pleaded.

HOUSEWIVES SHOULD KNOW FOOD VALUES

Food is necessary to build tissue, replenish waste, create heat and energy and satisfy appetite. In order to be perfect food, it must contain sufficient protein or tissue building elements to cause a continual and gradual growth, and to overcome fatigue; sufficient starch and sugar to give an abundance of energy and body heat; fat in sufficient quantity to replace loss in illness or great mental or muscular exertion, and ash or mineral salts for feeding bones and tissues.

A Balanced Ration.
The balanced ration may be obtained in several ways and without variety. For instance, we may eat meat, bread and butter and potatoes, but continuation of this diet, while it may cost a great deal for meat and butter, would not give good results, as the diet would be too concentrated, and constipation and its attendant ills would follow. Or, one might eat entirely of vegetables, such as beans and potatoes, and the quantity necessary to supply the required amount of protein would give too much bulk and often tissue starvation will occur.

In providing food for a normal family the housekeeper will find it prudent to decide upon and put in a week's supplies, thereby insuring a variety of well balanced meals at less cost. There is no more extravagant habit than buying a meal at a time. The housekeeper will find that arranging her menus a few days ahead, until three meals a day are provided for, allowing some variation for vegetables, meats and desserts, and providing against the embarrassment of a quick meal, will give her a feeling of security never possible where only one meal is taken care of at a time.

Deciding on the Menu.
We should decide on the menu after we have proportioned our income, prorating the percentage of food so that only one-fourth of the income is used for this purpose. The occupation of the different members of the family, climate, temperament, sex, individual health, all must be taken into consideration, and then such foods as we can afford with due regard given to their caloric value will be determined upon.

The mother will remember that whether the children acquire full size and strength depends more on their food than upon anything else. A child from 3 to 5 years old requires four-tenths as much food as a man at moderate work; from 6 to 9 years one-half as much, while a boy 15 years old requires as large a quantity of food as his father engaged at moderate labor.

In a cold climate more is needed, and this fact is not due to the temperature, but to the greater activity of the people, and it will be noticed that fat forms a large proportion of the northern diet, as it is oxidized slowly in the body. A tall, thin person consumes more food than a short, stout person, for the reason that a larger surface is exposed and is the cause of greater loss of heat.

Personal idiosyncrasies must be considered. It is a homely, but true saying that "one man's meat is another man's poison."

GETTING RID OF FLIES IN THE SUMMERTIME

Fly time! How every housewife hates to see this period of the year come around! These family pests and household nuisances are as much feared by the land owner in her country estate as by the tenement dweller in her crowded rooms. Flies are certainly no respecters of persons and swarm just as busily about the doors of the poor as of the rich, and both rich and poor are united on a common battle ground in their fight against this enemy.

The chief difference lies in the fact that the rich can find the proper means to fight them, whereas the poor can only depend on their own wits for weapons in the fight.

If every housewife had begun a vigorous campaign against the flies two months ago there would be fewer of the pests to combat now. Flies multiply so rapidly that every single one allowed to live can generate millions in a week. So each housewife should take it upon herself to swat every fly she sees.

In striving to eliminate flies we must think, first of all, of what attracts them, so that we can banish the attractions; and then of what the flies avoid, so that we can make use of them. First, of all, flies love food. Sticky messes left on the kitchen sink or table, unwashed dishes still containing bits of food, any scraps of food—these are all pet gathering places for swarms of flies. They love the heat and uncleanness. They avoid the home that is cool and spotless. They very seldom collect in the shade, and they are rapidly dispersed by a current of air.

With these few facts before her, the sensible housewife ought to be able to ponder out some system by which her home can be kept fairly clear of the pests. The first step of all is to keep all food in covered jars or tins or in the ice chest. Then, the wise housewife should never allow the dishes to stand unwashed from one meal to another; it only takes a few minutes to clear off the table, wash and put away the dishes, but these few minutes of work as compared to a few hours' delay make all the difference in the world in collecting a heap of flies.

The rooms should be kept darkened and cool through the heat of the day. It is not only more comfortable for those inside, but it serves to keep the flies out. It is wise to have the windows tightly closed and the shades drawn from 12 to half-past three on very hot days. A good way to let in whatever wind there may be, but to cool off the room as well, is to open the window about six inches from the bottom, then pin a wet cloth to the edge of the window. The cloth should be wide enough and long enough so that it hangs down and covers the space left open. This wet cloth will cool the air as it blows through, but it will have to be re-dampened as it is dried by the hot wind. The cloth flapping in the breeze will keep the flies from coming in, as well as cooling the temperature of the room.

So many women put their faith in the various flypapers and traps, but the wise housewife knows that it is simpler and easier to keep flies out than to catch them when they are once in. Besides, the flies have plenty of time to do all the mischief possible before they are caught. The best way is not to let them in at all.

Coolness, darkness and absolute tidiness are the sure preventive for the fly plague, and an ounce of prevention in this case is worth three pounds of cure.

FADS AND FANCIES.

Quite a capital notion is a sort of trouser petticoat. This opens from waist to hem at the back, and is stepped into, small inner leg pieces being added for this purpose, these serving at the same time to curb the exuberance of a very full cut of some very light material, such as crepe de Chine. It is exceedingly likely this model will have a notable success, since it is replete with reason and practicality. It would be a very probable method for the fashioning of a black petticoat. Say that the petticoat is made of crepe de Chine, or the above mentioned double ninon, trimmed with flounces of fine black Chantilly lace, each one bordered with a cross-way fold of chiffon, a satin-ribbon dividing the two lower flounces and heading

Lace flounce dresses in black or in the various lace shades; ficelle, biscuit, cream, a silvery white which is very delicate and pretty; and a dull gold that may have the fashionable little jacket as an accompaniment. Such a jacket, seen the other day, made of tete de negre brown satin with a very narrow edging of string colored braiding at the edge, was seen to be opened over a folded kerchief of dull gold lace something like a waistcoat and brought to a couple of pofats beneath the waist. The skirt had one deep flounce and another beneath it half the width and still there was room to discern the dark brown satin petticoat upon which the lace was pinned. The flounces were wired at the hems to make them stand away from the petticoat, which was just a sheath with the narrowest hem of braiding to finish it.

Get rid of all heavy curtains and all useless objects about the house if you would have it look cool for summer.
