Official Cablegram Says Report of British Admiralty Was Untrue

Further controversy as to the re ried sinking of a German submarine British light cruisers we ed a few days ago is given in lowing official German cable

"BERLIN, Germany, Aug. 28.—The German admiraty's report for August 26, in connection with the German ad-miralty's report for August 21, states that all the German submarines which participated in the combats of August 18 have returned to their home ports. The British admiralty's report about the destruction of a German submar-ine is therefore untrue.

(Official Cablegram.) BERLIN, Germany, Aug. 28.-The German admiralty reports that dur-ing the night of August 24-25 several naval airships attacked the southern part of the British east coast and heavily bombarded the city and southwest London batteries and military points, Harwich and Folkstone. GOLD STRIPES HONORED. LONDON. Eng.—The first veterans the war wearing the new stripes kept as a sort of reward for Serbia.

The Entente Powers were not satisfied with Rumanian neutrality. After Turkey entered the war and it became certain that the Central Powers were able to strike hard on many fronts. Rumania was asked to take the field. It was at the moment when the second Russian offensive was tearing through Bukowina and threatening to pass the Carpathians and reach the plains of Hungary.

Rumania was asked to strike at the flank of Hungary and help clear the way for the Allies' success on the east. But by this time old King Charles was rapidly declining in physical power; his ministers hesitated; the moment went by. Russia was swept back by the Tenton offensive and once more Rumania began to dicker with the Central Powers.

Now Russia has come forward again with an amazing show of strength, taking the offensive from Riga to the Carpathians and making her greatest gains down in the corner of Europe most under Rumanian observation-Bukowina and Galicia. Again an hour of decision arrived for Rumania and this time her leaders apparently believe that the Central Powers are being crushed and that Rumania must enter actively now to get the greatest fruits of successful politics.

The war-party in Rumania, led by Take Jonescu and Nicholas Filipescu, has won over Premier Bratiang, head of the Liberal party. Against the war-party is opposed the so-called "intellectuals," headed by Peter Carp, Alexander Marghiloman, and Ex-Premiers Titus Maierescu and Theodore Reosetti. This latter party is determinedly opposed to any alliance with Russia, holding that Russia in the past has been the enemy of Rumania and in the future will continue hostile in spirit.

Rumania has seethed for months with growing agitation. Ever since the new Russian offensive began, the war-party has actively esponsed joining the Allies. Street-meetings have frequently reached the period disorders.

Since the first of August the Rumanian border on Hungary has been closed down both to passenger traffic and to commerce, except in special cases. About the first of August it was reported that Rumania had sold a large consignment of wheat to Austria at a huge price, and the presumption was that King Ferdinand was willing to remain on friendly relations. There is reason to believe that since then the Entente Powers have exerted every possible pressure on Rumania. The Russian offensive, though moving steadily along, is going slowly. Passage of the Carpathians is a huge undertaking, particularly as the redoubtable von Linsingen is reported as commanding the Austrian line. But Rumania can strike at the Anstrian flank as well as throw a scare into the Bulgarian camp.

For more than a year Rumania has kept an army of 150,000 men under arms, in the concentration camps. More than once she has mobilized a much large number. The grain harvests which engage the industry of half a million men from the middle of June to the middle of August, are now safely stored. These half a million are trained to arms and probably have been mobilized quietly since the grain was harvested. It is likely that the Allied censorship has prevented news of the mobilization from reaching the United States, since Rumania certainly would not enter the war without perfecting every resource for an instant strike. Universal military service has been in force in Rumania since the Russo-Turkish war and every young man is trained from boyhood in the ideals of military service.

It is supposed that Rumania has been hoarding munitions since the war broke out but some critics say that even if this be the case, her store is not large. A few days ago two trainloads came through from Russia and it is possible that Russia has now such resources that she can help out Rumania constantly but this is doubtful. Most correspondents who have discussed Rumania's possible entry think she will have to strike hard and fast and is in no position for a protracted warfare, either in munitions or in food supplies. It is virtually certain that Rumania cannot long continue at war, with only one of the Central Powers. There have been persistent rumors of a Rumanian-Bulgarian treaty of mutual defense but the traditional jealousy between Bucharest and Sofia, and the fierce hatred of the two peoples, make it overwhelmingly probable that the declaration of war on Austria will be followed by a break with Bulgaria. Probably the situation is that Rumania wishes Bulgaria to make the break. With King Ferdinand's men pitted against those of Czar Ferdinand, the latter will have their hands full with out trying to hold back the Allies on the Greek Macedonian and Serbian fronts.
