Slayers on Eve of Hanging Confess Murder

VERVER TELLS OF STABBING

In Eleventh-Hour Confession Declares He Killed Japanese and Admits He Lied at Trial at Interpreter's Instigation

"I stabbed the Japanese. I was drunk—I don't remember how many times I stabbed him. I want to be pardoned. I have told the truth—there is nothing more."

THUS spoke today Gabriel Verver, condemned murderer of Tsunetaro Hayashibara, a Kaneohe storekeeper. Verver is to be hanged in the courtyard of the territorial penitentiary at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Two other Filipino murderers will pay the extreme penalty for their crimes at the same hour tomorrow. They are Antonio Garcia, who killed a Japanese at the Honokaa mill last May, and Florencia Bonella, implicated in the Kaneohe murder.

In the presence of Attorney-General I. M. Stainback, High Sheriff William Jarrett, the attorney general's stenographer and a representative of the Star-Bulletin, Gabriel confessed that he was the principal in the revolting Kaneohe crime last August. Pale, haggard, a haunted look on his face, the fear of the gallows already stamped on his features, the doomed man, with dry lips and low voice, told of the crime.

"There were five of us in the gang," he said, "and we planned to attack the Japanese store and steal two bags of money that were there. I had several drinks first, and then we went to the store. I held the Japanese, and Eduardo helped me. Florencio shot the storekeeper, and then told me to stab him. I did so, and then ran away."

Gabriel was asked why he had not told the truth in court, and why he had put the blame on Eduardo.

"I wanted to tell the truth, but the interpreter would not let me. This was when I was talking with the lawyers. The interpreter told me that if I told the truth, I could not be saved. I lied. I am telling the truth now."

The hunted look crept back into his pale, haggard face and his watery dim eyes shifted from face to face of those before him, trying to read if there was hope for the morrow.

"I want to be pardoned," he repeated, so low that his voice could hardly be heard.

Trusties to Press Buttons

Gabriel will go to the gallows at the same hour with Florencio Bonsella. The two doomed Filipinos will be hanged at the same time. Three little buttons, one of them charged with electricity—the one that will release the trap and send the men into eternity—will be connected with the gallows. Three trusties will touch the buttons. No one will ever know who touched the charged button. It is the duty of the high sheriff to name the trusties who will press them. He has not said who they will be. After the executions even these three men will not know which one of them pressed the button that released the trap.

Rumania's Queen Gives Thanks to America For Aid

Declares War-Stricken Country Will Continue Fight Until Oppressed Are Freed

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Wireless.)

JASSY, Rumania, Oct. 25.—Marie of Rumania as she stopped for a moment today from her work of knitting sox for Rumanian soldiers, expressed the heartfelt thanks of the throne and the Rumanian people for America's assistance to her country in the hour of its need.

"Rumania," said Queen Marie, "though sorely pressed, will fight to the bitter end for the freedom of the oppressed and the restoration of the rights of small nations. Rumania in this hour of its suffering and need gives sincere thanks to Americans for their generous and noble assistance to our bereaved country. Mothers, children and soldiers of Rumania bless the Americans. It is a great name. America has the whole-hearted gratitude of 8,000,000 people.

"We are impressed with the noble ideals as enunciated by the United States. President Wilson in his declaration to congress has touched closely on the principles that have always inspired Rumania. We entered the conflict in the hope of securing national unity for the 4,000,000 Rumanians beyond the Carpathians."

The wholesalers declare there is no sugar shortage on the Pacific coast and no hoarding of the product in San Francisco.

HAVANA, Cuba, Oct. 25.—President Menocal has issued formal warning to foreigners that instigators of strikes in the sugar fields and factories will render themselves liable to immediate expulsion from Cuba.

"Despite the entrance of the United States into the war there is as yet no indication that the Turkish officials are ready to seek a separate peace. The feeling towards the United States is favorably inclined."

GOVERNOR TO DRAW CAPSULE

Definite Announcement of Date Hinges on Decision by Washington; General Crowder Also to Name Hawaii Quota for Draft

NOVEMBER 1, one week from today, has been recommended by Governor Pinkham to Brig.-Gen. E. H. Crowder at Washington as the date for Hawaii's drawing in the military draft. Announcement of this was made today by the governor and the approval of the date from Washington is expected at any time.

Upon announcement by the governor of the date he has recommended for the territory drawing, Maj. Francis J. Green, officer in charge of draft operations here, made known the plans for that date. It is expected that with approval of the date by Washington the quota for Hawaii will also be set by General Crowder. So far this has never been announced.

Governor Pinkham will draw the first number, it was announced today, and after that the work will be taken up by relays of boy scouts.

As the numbers are taken from the big glass container they will be withdrawn from the gelatin capsules in which they are now placed and will be announced publicly by a single

Liberty Loan Total Well on Way to Maximum

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Wireless.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 25. —America's great Liberty loan campaign of yesterday bore remarkable fruit. With reports from all over the nation rolling in to the treasury department today, the total subscriptions to date exceed the $2,500,000,000 mark and indications are that the totals will soon reach the desired maximum of five billion.

The campaign until noon on Saturday, when the subscriptions close, will be to add to the over-subscription, bringing it at least to five billion, which has been set as the maximum desired.

Yesterday subscriptions to the loan came in from all parts of the globe, many being received by cable. In all, pledges from 34 different nationalities were received.

German Retreat Along Riga Sector Continues; Italians Bent Back Under Austro-German Blows on Bainsizza Plateau

PETROGRAD, Russia, Oct. 24.—The evening newspapers publish reports that the Bolsheviki element is planning to seize the government from Kerensky.

At a meeting of deputies from the soldiers and workmen's council a resolution was adopted indorsing Kerensky's speech to parliament yesterday in which he declared if "we can rekindle the enthusiasm of Russia by next July peace will come by Christmas. Thus will end war honorably fought for an honorable end."

PETROGRAD, Oct. 25.—Fear of a German rush from the Riga section, despite announcement of a precipitate retreat of the Germans for unknown reasons, has seized upon the civilians of Kronstadt and evacuation of the city has begun.

The German retreat along the northern end of the front continues. The Germans in their departure are destroying bridges, roads and buildings. Russian artillery has frustrated an attempt by the Germans to effect a landing at Werder in the peninsula region of Tomba in the northern end of Riga gulf.

It is officially announced the Germans have retired fifteen miles in the Riga region near Pskoff highroad.

25 Hun Planes Are Brought Down

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Wireless.)

PARIS, France, Oct. 25.—Further progress has been made by Gen. Petain's forces along the Aisne between Chavignon and Mont Dessinges. The Rohay farm has been captured from the Germans and many prisoners taken.

In the course of a furious air battle 23 German airplanes were brought down by French fliers.

General Petain holds safely all his new lines northwest of Soissons, reached by his victorious poilus on Tuesday. The expected German counter attacks have failed to materialize, a striking comment on the utter demoralization of the Germans on this important section of the front.

The number of prisoners is found to be in excess of 8000. Seventy big guns were abandoned by the Huns in their flight, while 39 trench mortars and 80 machine guns have been numbered as French trophies. At many places in the occupied territory stores of munitions have been found, deep in underground shelters.

PURPORTED CONFESSION BY HART ADMITTED AS EVIDENCE

Chester A. Doyle Relates to Court How Accused Admitted Converting to His Own Use the Stock of Three Clients and That He Left Honolulu to Evade Arrest

THAT Lionel R. A. Hart, former representative of the Charles A. Stoneham brokerage firm of New York and now on trial for embezzlement, made a confession while in prison in San Francisco in which he admitted that he had converted certain funds of clients to his own use, was the testimony given in Circuit Judge Heen's court today by Chester A. Doyle.

Mr. Doyle was in San Francisco at the time of Hart's arrest following his return from Japan, where he had gone from Honolulu. In company with Detective Captain Arthur McDuffie, Mr. Doyle visited Hart at the prison where, it is alleged, the purported confession was made. Following Hart's confession, Doyle returned to his hotel where he put it into writing.

Here is the purported confession which Mr. Doyle read in court:

"I admit that I destroyed all my books three days before I left Honolulu. I converted to my own use and benefit the value of the stock in the name of Frank Archer, William McInerny and Otto Bierbach of the drug company.

"I ran away to Japan to avoid arrest. I am guilty and will return to Honolulu, and will not fight extradition. I will plead guilty to each charge. I do not know Alfs.

"I had $2400 in currency when I left Honolulu. I have only $450 left. There never was a certificate of stock issued to McInerny, Archer or Bierbach." — Statement made in answer to questions put to Lionel R. A. Hart in San Francisco, Cal., July 7, 1917, by Chester A. Doyle in the presence of A. McDuffie.

WATER SUPPLY OF SCHOFIELD TO BE CHANGED

Upper Reaches of Kaukonahua River to Furnish Supply Free From Pollution

Schofield Barracks is to be given a change in water supply, beginning within the next 24 hours, in the hope that the typhoid epidemic there may be checked by the transfer.

Arrangements have been made by the quartermaster department to draw water for the post from the upper reaches of the Kaukonahua river, the tunnels and ditches having been completed sufficiently for this to be done. Water below the spot where contamination is believed to exist will not be used at the post after the change has gone into effect.

As an additional measure of precaution all of the mains at Schofield will be flushed of the water now in them. This will probably be done tonight, when all the pipes can be drained with least disadvantage to residents there.

Brigadier General John P. Wisser, commanding officer, expressed regret today that a change in the site of the guard camp has been made necessary, but said he felt it was only fair to the men going into camp.

Major Henry C. Merriam today visited a site near Haleiwa for the purpose of looking it over as a possible place for the camp.

Latest advices from Schofield today say there are now 55 positive and 35 suspected cases at the post, or a total of 90. This is a gain of five positive cases since yesterday.

Dr. J. S. B. Pratt said today that there is nothing new in local developments. Save for cases brought in from the outside districts there have been no new cases since October 20, the last reported for the city proper.

N. Y. K. LINER SINKS U-BOAT IN HOT FIGHT

(Special Cable to Nippu Jiji).

TOKIO, Japan, Oct. 25.—Dodging three separate attacks by German submarines in a single day on September 27, the Nippon Yusen Kaisha's armed liner Kashima Maru arrived safely in Cape Town, South Africa, October 20, from a British port. The captain of the liner has reported that one of the attacking submarines was beyond any doubt sunk by the liner's gunners.

According to the detailed report made by the Kashima Maru's captain, as wired from Cape Town, via London, to the main office of the N. Y. K. in Tokio yesterday, the successful escape from the attacks by the U-boats is chiefly attributed to the naval gunners aboard the armed liner.

The first attack took place early in the morning of September 27, when the Kashima Maru was two days out from a British port on her return voyage. The lookouts aboard the liner for every owner will be a simpler matter than buying a pound of meat or a loaf of bread—and certainly far more pleasing, considering the present prices of foodstuffs.

All the Liberty Bond owner need do, when the interest on his Bond falls due each 6 months, is to present the proper coupon at his local postoffice. The postmaster is authorized to receive these coupons and pay out the cash they call for. Every bond will have coupons attached, and on each semi-annual interest date the owner merely clips off one of these and takes it to his home postoffice.

HAWAII'S LOAN PLEDGES PASS FIVE MILLION MARK

Civilians to Number of 3867 Furnish $3,798,210, While Army Totals, Though Incomplete, Indicate Additional Subscriptions of $1,300,000

HAWAII'S maximum of five million dollars for the second Liberty Loan was reached before noon today, and with incomplete army returns, the total at 12 o'clock was $5,098,210. The civilian committee, striving last week for $3,000,000 was overwhelmed when the returns were sent in today.

"The five million mark has been passed" was the word that went around among the sales agents just before noon. And instead of swlacking up the pace any, now that the maximum has been reached and passed, they are redoubling their energy and striving for more.

"Show the world where Hawaii stands" was the password.

With only tomorrow and until Saturday noon until the second Liberty Loan campaign is officially closed, the workers are going to secure another half million dollars if possible.

Today marks the close of the active campaign that has been conducted for the Liberty Loan among army organizations during the last two weeks. Up to noon Schofield Barracks was the only post that had been heard from with the full totals for the campaign, the subscriptions there having mounted nearly to a million dollars—$919,150 to be exact.

One of the features since yesterday was the big jump in per capital subscriptions taken by the 25th Infantrymen, who are now holding second place just behind the 1st Infantry.

Figures show that the 1st Infantry is $106.82 per man; 25th Infantry, $104.21. Another feature was the big jump by the Schofield ordnance detachment with its 20 men, who have the per capita record for detachments with $208.33. The previous high figure was by the school for farriers and horseshoers. Schofield organizations total as follows at the close of the campaign:

1st Infantry	$147,850
25th Infantry	241,300
32nd Infantry	117,550
1st Field Artillery	103 150
3th Field Artillery	113,350
4th Cavalry	142,000

A gain of approximately $96,000 was made since yesterday, the figures then being $823,000 against $919,150 from the post up to today.

Ambulance Company 9 was one of the heavy subscribing organizations with a per capita of $108.58.

Although the second Liberty loan drive ends officially at noon Saturday, the executive committee members urge all prospective bond purchasers to get their certificate in by tomorrow afternoon. This will aid materially the banks and agents who will tally the pledges, total the figures and report

TODAY'S TOTALS.

With army figures as yet incomplete, but with an approximate total of $1,300,000 at noon today, the Liberty Loan passed the $5,000,000 mark with flying colors. The figures reported at noon today from the civilian committees were $3,798,210, collected from 3867 subscribers. Schofield barracks gained $96,000 since yesterday, making today's total for that post $919,150. Coast Artillery returns have not yet been turned in, but it is believed that the army totals will swell the grand total of Hawaii's contribution to more than $5,098,210, today's figures at noon.

NEGRO SOLDIER CAUGHT IN HOME SHOOTS WOMAN

Awakened, Grapples With Intruder Who Fires Gun When Son Comes to Rescue

Shot through the left hand while grappling with a colored soldier who had broken into her home at an early hour this morning, Mrs. Maria Kauwe, of Queen and Kiawe streets, is at the Emergency hospital. Her mouth is also lacerated, as result it is believed of a bullet wound also. The injured woman's son, aged about 23, received a bad scalp wound, the result of a grazing bullet shot. Their assailant escaped, but a careful search is being made for him.

Mrs. Maria Kauwe, the injured woman, was awakened by someone in her room. Sitting up in bed she saw the figure of a man in uniform outlined against the window. She screamed, and the man struck at her. She attempted to defend herself, but the intruder was slowly overpowering her when her son, hearing the cries for help, burst into the room. It was then that both Mrs. Kauwe and her son saw that the intruder was a colored soldier, they say.

The assailant flung Mrs. Kauwe aside and started for the window. Just as he was about to escape the son grabbed him by the leg. The soldier pulled a heavy revolver from his pocket and fired several shots. One of the bullets penetrated Mrs. Kauwe's hand, while the other one is believed to have entered her jaw. A third bullet grazed the son's forehead.

Motorcycle Officer Kawaihoa was despatched to the scene and searched for the culprit but without success. Police and plainclothes men are scouring the city now for the guilty person.

The motive of the near crime is believed to have been robbery.

WIDOW IS LEFT HALF OF MATSON MILLIONS BY WILL

Late Shipowner Gives $20,000 to Each of Children By First Wife

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—Chief beneficiary under the will of the late Captain William Matson, which was offered for probate yesterday, is the widow, Mrs. Lillie B. Matson, to whom is bequeathed one-half of the estate, variously estimated at $2,000,000 to $2,750,000.

To each of the children by his first wife, Mrs. Ida Bernard, 70 Short street; Mrs. William (Emily) Forrest, 856 Fifty-fourth street, Oakland; Theodore Matson, 66 Short street; Arthur J. Matson, 1077 Sixty-first street, Oakland; Walter J. Matson, Hillsborough, is bequeathed $20,000.

The residue of the estate goes to Mrs. Lurline B. Roth, wife of William P. Roth, a daughter of Captain Matson's second marriage.

A conference concerning the will is to be held today among the brothers and sisters of the first marriage, according to a statement made last evening by Arthur J. Matson. He said:

"I do not know at this time what will be done concerning the provisions of the will as affecting us. The notice of the filing of the will has yet to reach me, and until it does I shall not say anything concerning my future actions. I have not retained any attorney and will make no move until the way seems clear. At this time I do not think there will be a contest so far as I am concerned. I shall try tomorrow to get into touch with the others."

Nothing to Charity

"I think the children by the first marriage are well remembered in the will," said Attorney A. F. Morrison. "I do not know whether any of them will contest. That is not for me to say."

No bequests were made for charity, an omission for which Mrs. Matson expresses regret yesterday. Attorney Morrison, who drew the will and with the widow is named executor, without bonds, said that when the testament was drawn, Captain Matson's affairs were involved.

"I have no doubt that if his matters were in as good condition then as they now are," said Attorney Morrison, "provision would have been made. In any event Captain Matson was always inclined to leave such things to his wife."

The will was drawn on August 7, 1913, and was witnessed by Attorney George J. Hatfield, formerly with Morrison, and Attorney Edward Hoffield, who is in Morrison's office.

The will declares that the estate is community property acquired since the second marriage, though there is a reservation that "an inconsiderable part is not community holding."

Estimates on Values

Those who have close relation to the Matson family indicate the estate to be worth about $2,000,000. In the down town financial circle the figure is placed at nearer the $3,000,000 mark.

The bulk of the fortune left by this man who started in San Francisco as a foremast hand on the sea, is said to be in somewhat more than 400,000 shares of the Honolulu Oil Company of present market quotation of $4 a share, making $1,600,000. Captain Matson owned 3,000 shares of the Matson Navigation Company, of which stock 70 shares sold on the market yesterday at $270. On an appraisement, it was estimated the stock would go about $200 a share, a total of $600,000 for the estate. Other stocks owned by Captain Matson were 4,000 shares of Honolulu Plantation, put at $200,000; Hakalau Plantation, $100,000; Paauhau Plantation, 400 shares. His real estate and miscellaneous investments figure, according to the financial men, at $250,000, unless the realty was deeded before his death.

Captain Matson did not have extensive bank loans, it is said. Under this estimate the estate would bulk about $2,750,000.

WATKINS WILL STUDY PAVING ON MAINLAND

Norman Watkins, chairman of the municipal affairs committee of the Chamber of Commerce, will make an investigation of what other American cities are doing in paving inspection, in the course of a mainland trip which will begin next week.

This was the outcome of a meeting this morning of the committee at which the matter of inspection for Honolulu's million-dollar roadwork came up. The report that Supervisor Mott-Smith has employed an inspector at his own expense to get independent judgment on the work started the discussion today.

The committee found that it could not get far now, particularly in view of the chairman's coming absence, and his trip furthermore furnished an unusual opportunity to learn what other cities are doing with inspection.

It was roughly estimated that the cost of inspection would be about $7500 for the work in prospect.

New arrivals at the Pleasanton are Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Barnes of Sikeston, Mo. and Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Pierce of Berkeley, Cal.

NEW AGENT OF PACIFIC MAIL REACHES CITY

Stanley W. Good, the new agent for the Pacific Mail Steamship company, arrived yesterday on the Maui, and is busy today going over the affairs of the agency with Mr. Klebahn, of Hackfeld company. He has not yet decided where the agency office will be located, after it is removed from Hackfeld's, which will be November 1. Honolulu is the last of the Pacific Mail agencies to be taken over, the company now having its own special agents in all its branch offices.

Mr. Good does not anticipate the taking off of any of the steamers of the Pacific Mail before next summer, nor does he believe there will be any shortage of ships between Honolulu and San Francisco because of the possibility of the government taking over the shipping. He thinks that if any of the present vessels are removed they would be replaced by others. He says people in San Francisco want to come to Honolulu, and that tourists to the West coast all seem to want to get over here before they go East again, and stories of raiders in the Pacific have had little, if any, effect on tourist travel.

Mr. Good is staying at the Young hotel. When he has settled the matter of the location of his office, and had a look around here as to things in general, he will send for his family, now in San Francisco.

SURLY TALK TO SUPERIOR OUSTS HIM FROM ARMY

"My name is Sims. When you want me you will have to call me by name. There are others smoking around here and I don't answer unless my name is called," said Private Howard D. Sims, a member of Company C, 25th Infantry, to Temporary Second Lieut. Stanley Satterwhite, his superior officer.

These words, spoken in a surly and insubordinate manner, according to witnesses, while he retained a cigaret in his mouth as the officer addressed him, won for the soldier a dishonorable discharge, forfeiture of pay and allowances and imprisonment for two years. Sims will be sent to Alcatraz. The case is announced in court-martial orders made public at army headquarters today. Others are as follows:

Private 1st Class Fred C. Morris, C. A. C., 14th Company, Oahu, for wearing civilian clothes. Forfeiture of two-thirds pay for two months.

Private Ulrick H. Hoffman, Battery B, 1st Field Artillery, acquitted of a charge of stealing a flannel shirt, findings of 'not guilty."

Private Louis P. Fortin, Battery F, 9th Field Artillery, deserting the service and stealing a bicycle from one W. S. Gum. Found guilty and sentenced to dishonorable discharge, forfeiture of pay and imprisonment for five years.

Private Hugh R. Wilson, Battery B, 1st Field Artillery, found not guilty and acquitted of charge of stealing clothing from Private John W. Branco, Company D, 3rd Engineers.

N. Y. K. LINER SINKS U-BOAT

picked out the German submarine before the under-sea pirates had time enough to launch a torpedo. The naval gunners manning a 4-inch gun at the stern opened the fire and 16 shots in all were fired. Fifteen shots went wild but the 16th and last finished one of the most exciting running fights in the victory of the Japanese, it hitting squarely the periscope of the attacking submarine. Before the smoke cleared the diver was seen disappearing.

Many torpedoes were fired by the submarine at the Kashima Maru but skilful maneuvering on the part of the captain saved the liner.

In the afternoon of the same day, September 27, while the Kashima Maru was still steaming in the British waters an attack was made by another German submarine. Many shots were fired by the liner's gunners to repulse the attacker.

Later in the very afternoon still another, the third, was made by a German U-boat. This, too, the liner has successfully dodged and after that was not further disturbed.

The Kashima Maru is the second of the armed Japanese vessels to sink a German submarine, the first being the Sanuki Maru of the same company, the N. Y. K. The Kashima Maru is one of the finest of the N. Y. K. liners and is equipped with a 4-inch gun mounted at her stern.

Mr. R. Kondo, president of the N. Y. K., has announced that the company is now working on a plan to shift its London route from the Indian ocean to the Pacific by the way of the Panama canal and via New York to London. Since the N. Y. K. liner Mitachi Maru was lost in the Indian ocean recently the company is now seriously taking into consideration the change of the route.

HAWAII MUST BOW TO NEEDS OF U. S. DECLARES CHILD

Doesn't Think Steamers Will Be Taken Off But if They Are Food Consumption Here Will Be Regulated

If steamers plying between Honolulu and San Francisco are diverted to the Atlantic for war purposes, it will be necessary to regulate the consumption of food in the territory of Hawaii.

This is the declaration of J. F. Child, assistant executive officer of the territorial food commission, who yesterday was appointed by the president upon the nomination of Governor Pinkham, as federal food commissioner for Hawaii.

"The safety of the islands," says Mr. Child, "in obtaining foreign food products lies in the fact that we have $70,000,000 worth of food to export every year, which is needed on the mainland, and we have to import only about $8,000,000 worth of food.

"In other words, the ships taking our sugar away will probably be able to bring food back to the islands. If it were not for the sugar we have, I believe that the islands would be cut off and told to take care of themselves.

"If our ships are needed on the Atlantic side it would not be a patriotic act of the people of Hawaii to try to keep them on this run. The needs of the islands should be made secondary to the needs of the nation. The territorial food commission, through its county agents, has been trying to impress upon the people of these islands the necessity of learning how to grow sufficient produce to support themselves. The woman's committee, working in Honolulu and on the other islands, has been trying to impress on all classes of people the necessity of food conservation and the reduction of the consumption of imported foods.

"Their efforts have been quite successful among some people, but still there are many others who do not yet realize the seriousness of the situation.

"My advice to every housewife and housekeeper is to investigate the supply of local grown foodstuffs to ascertain what they are, where they can be obtained and determine the ways of preparing them for the table, so that if the worst comes to the worst, they will know how to feed their families on local grown foodstuffs.

"Complaints have been made to me that the merchants are trying to make more money on island fruits and vegetables than on imported commodities. I believe this is true to a certain extent on some items.

"It might be explained by the fact that sales of island grown produce are small as compared with the sales of imports, and the losses from decay and spoilage are greater, due to the lack of demand.

"If there was a steady demand for island produce, the merchant would be able to handle it in greater quantities and without any great loss from spoilage. Then the consumer would not be forced to pay for what the merchant now throws away."

LIBERTY LOAN TOTALS EXCEED 5 MILLION MARK

to the federal reserve bank at San Francisco. In addition to the eleventh hour rush which is sure to result, the reports from Hawaii and Maui will arrive by steamer Saturday morning. This means feverish work on the part of the officials of the drive, for the sum total of Hawaii's contribution to the second Liberty loan must be telegraphed to the mainland at exactly 12 o'clock Saturday.

Scouts Get $44,750

While the civilian sales agents were out canvassing the city yesterday, the boy scouts were quietly rounding up subscribers for the second loan and as a result of their activities, received pledges amounting to $44,750. Before the scouts were sent out to cover the city yesterday, a letter written to President Wilson was read to the lads. The nation's chief executive congratulated the American scouts for their splendid work in the first loan campaign and urged that they do even better in the second loan. The president pointed out that the United States has thrown down the gauntlet to Germany, and it is up to the stay-at-home population to back the soldiers with dollars.

Service emblems will be awarded to scouts who sell bonds in 10 or more homes, and a beautiful silk American flag will be awarded to the troop which secures the largest number of subscriptions. The award will be made by President Wilson. The president of the boy scouts will award a gold medal to the scout securing the greatest number of subscriptions, and silver and bronze medals for the next 10.

At Fort Kamehameha yesterday, L. Tenney Peck, chairman of the speakers' committee, delivered an address to the officers and enlisted men at the big coast artillery post. A large thermometer was erected beside the speakers' platform, and when Mr. Peck commenced his talk, the mercury stood at the $75,000 mark. Long before he had finished, the thermometer registered over $100,000. The other army posts are still forging ahead in the drive, and without a doubt, have established a record among the rest of Uncle Sam's army stations outside of Oahu.

There will be a meeting of the Elks' Lodge in B. P. O. E. hall Friday night, with initiating ceremonies for one new member. A social session will follow, in which the members of the Monte Carter company will take part.

REV. AKAIKO AKANA MAY BE CALLED AS KAWAIAHAO PASTOR

REV. AKAIKO AKANA

Rev. Akaiko Akana, for the last several years closely identified with religious work in the territory, is being considered for nomination as the new pastor of Kawaiahao church to succeed Rev. Henry H. Parker, whose resignation is to take effect at the end of the year.

This announcement was made today by a member of the congregation and confirmed by John K. Kamanoulu, leader of the so-called Kamanoulu faction of the church. A committee of the congregation is to meet shortly to select some one for nomination to succeed Mr. Parker and it is declared that Mr. Akana will be the one selected.

According to Kamanoulu, about three-fourths of the members of the Kawaiahao congregation, and probably more, favor Mr. Akana's nomination. Mr. Akana is now on Kauai.

For the last few years Mr. Akana has been associated with the Hawaiian board of missions and head of the Young People's league. He is a profound student and an excellent speaker and is well known to members of the Kawaiahao congregation.

KANEOHE SLAYERS ADMIT CRIME ON EVE OF HANGING

Sullen but frightened, refusing at first to talk, but finally under the awful realization that tonight would be his last on earth, Bonnella confessed that he had shot the Japanese storekeeper. His story was the same as that of Gabriel. They knew the Japanese had a large sum of money in his store and they planned to rob him of it. They entered his store, and while two of the Filipinos held the helpless man, Florencio shot him.

"When I shot the man, and he began to cry out in pain, Gabriel grabbed the gun out of my hand and shot him again," he said.

Wetting his parched lips, and nervously twisting his fingers about his prison garb, the condemned man continued:

"I told a lie in court. Gabriel told me to blame Eduardo, and they would let me go free. I was going to tell the truth to Detective McDuffie but Gabriel said no. Eduardo told us to rob the Japanese, because he had two bags of money.

"I was going to work when they stopped me and made me go with them. I had bad luck that night."

A dazed look spread over his face as he thought of the penalty he must pay for that night's work. He did not plead for mercy, nor pardon. His last words, before he was again placed in the death cell, were brief.

"I have nothing more to say. I have told the truth."

Garcia, who shot the Japanese on Hawaii, had nothing to say. He was silently awaiting the morrow, when he should walk to his death on the gallows.

In the prison yard the attendants have erected a gallows. The three men will be taken from their cells a few minutes before 8 o'clock and walked slowly to the gallows and on to the platform. The black caps will be fitted, and the nooses adjusted. When the final signal is given, and the buttons pressed, the traps will be released, and the three men will have paid the extreme penalty of their crimes.

DRAFT MAY BE HELD ON NOV. 1

reader. The Star-Bulletin will publish that day as many names as are drawn up to press time.

Three clerks will be seated at the right of the announcer to copy down the numbers in their serial order. The number three is chosen to avoid any possible chance of error.

The big glass container with a little more than 7000 numbers in it will sit on the platform in the senate chamber. On the left of the platform will sit army and navy officials, representatives of civic organizations and consuls of the Allied nations. The public as a whole will be welcome at the drawing. As this will proceed throughout the day there will be plenty of time for all who desire to watch the operation. Those given special invitations will be present at the opening of the drawing.

The total number of names registered for draft is 26,337. Of these 8096 are citizens and 18,241 are aliens. Maj. Green said today that from appearances thus far fully 40 per cent of the aliens will waive their right to exemptions. The exact hour of the drawing has not been set but it will be as early as practicable in the forenoon so as to be finished that day.

Child Outlines Policy as Aide To Food Board

Declares Function to Effect an Equitable Distribution of Food, Not to Fix Prices

J. F. Child, assistant executive officer of the territorial food commission and federal food commissioner for Hawaii, did not tell the Ad Club yesterday that the national food administration has no right to regulate prices. What he did say was that the administration "has no authority to regulate retail prices charged for food," and in making this statement he read from an announcement sent out by the administration itself.

In this connection the administration goes on to say:

"We trust that whenever the savings made make it possible, there will be a corresponding change in the price made."

In a statement given the Star-Bulletin today regarding the regulation of prices, Mr. Child says:

"I do not see any necessity for setting a maximum or minimum price on sugar in this territory. These restricted prices are made where there is a lack of a sufficient supply of sugar for all, where the demand is greater than the supply and where the prices are boosted up by speculation.

"The sugar supply in Hawaii is as good now as it has ever been, and there is no danger of anyone hoarding it. It may yet prove to be the cheapest food we have here; perhaps all the food we will have here if they take the steamers off.

"The fact that the government has required the licensing of certain distributors of and dealers in food does not necessarily mean that prices are to be regulated or controlled. In my opinion, it is to effect an equitable distribution of food, so that the administration at all times will know just where all food is."

Mr. Child is unable to say now whether he will be called upon to fix the price of sugar or any other commodity here. Before any legal action could be taken in this respect, he says, a statement of the facts would have to be submitted to legal advisors of the food administration for its final approval and passage.

"The national food administration is not fixing prices anywhere except by agreement," Mr. Child continues.

Legal counsel for Mr. Child, as federal food administrator for Hawaii, probably will be U. S. Attorney S. C. Huber, as it is the announced desire of the government to keep all matters within the machinery of the government.

ROTARY CLUB TO VISIT OFFICERS' TRAINING CAMP

After a vigorous and straightforward talk to the Rotary Club today by Capt. Thomas H. Lowe on the officers' training camp at Castner, the Rotarians decided to visit the camp in a body, if it meets with the approval of the army authorities and a suitable time can be found next week or soon after.

Capt. Lowe told briefly how the men are being prepared for the fighting and hardships of the war-front in Europe under modern trench conditions, and the Rotary trip was proposed by John Butler to show the men in the camp that Honolulu's business and professional men are with them, and to drive home to the Rotarians also what preparation for modern warfare means.

PURPORTED CONFESSION BY HART ADMITTED

Attorney William B. Lymer, counsel for Hart, objected to the reading of the purported confession on the ground that the corpus delicti had not been proved. The court overruled the motion.

Mr. Bierbach testified today that he had never given Hart permission to sell certain stock which he had purchased through the local agency of the Stoneham company. He said that Hart informed him there was a chance that the stock would go to 20 cents a share, "but I never told him to sell," said Mr. Bierbach.

"If he had sold the stock at 20 cents, it would have been in disobedience of your orders?" asked Attorney Lymer.

"Yes," answered Mr. Bierbach. "But the chances are I would not have kicked," he added.

"And did it go up to 20 cents?"

"Yes. It went up to 35 cents."

At the settlement, Mr. Bierbach said, he received 10,000 shares instead of the 20,000 he should have received.

POLISH REFUGEE TOT CHANTS JOY AT HAWAII'S SUN.

Child Born Within Earshot of German Guns, With Others of Kind, on Way to Freedom

GLEEFULLY skipping about the deck of a Maru steamer with her hands extended to the sky early this morning was a little tot who chanted over and over her only English word, "sun."

To this little one sun was the one word connoting glee, pleasure and personal comfort, for she was one of a party of 18 war refugees aboard the Maru who have at last escaped from the rigors of Russian winters.

Life begun for her as a tiny helpless baby fleeing from the German guns in Poland, has been a succession of land trips and voyages for this little girl, who was known to everyone aboard as "Pet," no one being able to successfully pronounce her Polish name.

She was born by the road side in 1915, while her mother and other Poles were tramping 600 miles to get within the lines of the Russian troops with the Uhlans and other German troops daily gaining on the ranks of the refugees.

From point to point they have been moving ever since until finally she, her mother and two brothers were kindly provided with transportation to the states by missionaries in Japan.

Childish memory has erased all remembrance of her life of poverty and privation, but stamped upon the features of her mother and brother are the traces of pain. But to little Pet, as she stood in the Hawaii sun this morning, life still has promises of unalloyed joy.

This is a sketch of the career of the youngest of the refugees aboard the Maru. Every one of them has passed through experiences which are almost beyond belief, but with free America only six days away they went out of Honolulu harbor today with countenances nearly as happy as those of little Pet. Two of them are young Armenian boys whose parents were murdered by the Turks, who now are being sent to the states by missionaries to be educated for the later enlightment of their own countrymen.

Nearly all of the rest of the party were women and children, the one member of the party who spoke English explaining that all the husbands and fathers of the refugees had remained in Russia to fight the Huns.

VAST AMUSEMENT PLANS OUTLINED FOR HAWAII BY OHIO MILLIONAIRE

W. T. Irwin on Departing for Mainland Shows How Honolulu, By Launching Improvements and Catering to Entertainment of Visitors, Could Prove Paradise for Tourists

A large amusement garden on the beach at Waikiki, a partial reclamation of the swamps now crossed by the Rapid Transit system at the McCully tract to create an amusement park for your annual fiesta and a spacious lagoon capable of staging an elaborate aquatic carnival, municipal golf links either here or in Kapiolani park's spacious areas, hibiscus lined avenues leading to a legion of attractions that Oahu has to offer the tourist, a greater development of the bungalow life on the islands, these are a few of a host of pertinent suggestions, along the line of constructive criticism offered by William T. Irwin, a leader in financial circles in the middle western states, who is heavily interested in banks and similar institutions in Cincinnati and other cities in Ohio.

Mr. Irwin, who has just departed to the mainland after spending six weeks in the islands, is now thoroughly confirmed in his belief that Hawaii possesses a charm which in his extensive rambles over the globe is not eclipsed anywhere.

That capital will be available to carry out a number of projects along the amusement line, following the visit of Mr. Irwin and his party, was the prediction voiced today by those who had assisted in the entertainment of the Ohio multi-millionaire.

"Your carnival is one of the big assets, therefore make it unique," suggested Mr. Irwin. "Honolulu is so greatly favored climatically that an event of the sort should easily surpass similar attempts at Venice, New Orleans, Pasadena, Portland or St. Paul. February is a logical time for holding the celebration, with its pagentry and spectacular features." Mr. Irwin believes an athletic carnival should follow, with June 11th, Kamehameha Day, as a central setting. The swimming meet might best be held at that time.

The premises of the Outrigger club at the beach should be made available for tourists in the opinion of Mr. Irwin. He advocated an organization such as the Hawaiian promotion committee taking moving pictures of all scenic attractions, the film being passed upon as authentic, could be released to such exhibitors who might apply for it. There is need for a refreshment pavilion at Waikiki beach, more particularly at the Outrigger club if same is opened to the tourists, where light lunches and soft drinks could be served at moderate cost.

Honolulu should send a delegation of Hawaiians, Japanese, Chinese, Koreans, and Filipinos to the mainland, that it might be demonstrated to the residents of the Eastern and middle states just what Hawaii had accomplised in its efforts toward an intermingling of the races, believed Mr. Irwin. The United States, he said, needs to be better educated in what is being done over here.

"The unbeaten paths offer splendid opportunities," he told his friends here. "I was charmed with the Oriental section of Honolulu. I did miss hearing Hawaiian airs. That is, at least, one feature that is overlooked. Hawaiian dishes are also scarce, few to be found on the better class menus. There should be a splendid business opening for some one to establish a strictly Hawaiian open air cafe.

"A speedway for pacing and running races, motorcycle and automobile events would prove a big boon to those seeking amusement of this sort. By all means cater to the golfing enthusiasts. It is now a difficult matter for the devotee of this sport to gain access to the grounds now available near Honolulu. There should be municipal golf links. The city appears to be well supplied with playgrounds for children."

Mr. Irwin was enthusiastic over the possibilities for a Hawaiian settlement to be located preferably in the amusement park near the beach. He predicted it to be a financial success from the start. Splendid opportunity offers for the sale of native wares at such a place. Mr. Irwin contended that Hawaii does not make the most of the possibilities of its bungalow life. He was shown types which he declared were unrivaled by those found in California. Architecture typical of Hawaii in the home and the business block should not be overlooked. Keep Hawaii typically Hawaiian, he said.

The present acquarium is about one-fifth the size it should be in the opinion of Irwin. The fame of the islands has been spread broadcast over the world through its brilliant pictorial fishes. He praised the service maintained by the street railway and showered compliments on the courtesy of the conductors and motormen.

THEATER PEOPLE GIVE $4000 TO LIBERTY LOAN

Fun and stirring patriotism each had its place at the Bijou theater last night where the Monte Carter Co., playing to a packed house uproarious with laughter, yielded the stage to the Liberty loan and Judge J. J. Banks, who announced that the employes of the Consolidated Amusement Co. and the Monte Carter players themselves had subscribed more than $4000 to the loan. Deafening applause greeted this announcement. Judge Banks, in his address which followed was frequently interrupted to wait for the house to grow quiet again. This was particularly so when he said:

"The flag in whose honor you have just risen to your feet represents freedom, right and liberty—it represents America. It has never been dragged in the dust of defeat. It never will be, and this time our boys will plant it on the high towers of Berlin."

Judge Banks closed his address with an appeal for everybody to help fight the war by buying Liberty bonds, and the girls of the chorus passed through the aisles and collected the applications that had been filled out.

Time and again the patriotism and appreciation of the audience manifested itself in generous applause for the speaker who by his glowing description of America's pledge to uphold at all times the principles of personal liberty and political freedom moved his hearers to a deep-seated feeling of their responsibilities to aid the men in the trenches.

The Bijou management desires to express its gratitude for the efforts of Judge Banks in making Liberty night a success.

She is a daughter of Grover Cleveland and expects to continue in her present field after the war.

BREEZY AFFAIR AT THE BIJOU

"Izzy" and company are going up high in the social whirl in the new show starting tonight. It's to be an altitudinous affair if the title counts for anything. "Izzy" has given it the attractive non de plume of "On the Roof Garden" where the bright lights glow and the freshening breezes blow and they sip refreshing beverages and spend all their stored up energy in the estatic whirl of such mixtures as the fox trot, the one step, the hesitation and their ilk of terpschorean feats.

Anyway, no matter what the surroundings or the atmosphere "Izzy" promises a breezy, up to the minute musical comedy with the usual line of fun, patter and vaudeville stunts that have made his company so popular in the first month of their Honolulu engagement.

The inimitable chicks will dance their way further into the hearts of the audience by the way of new song hits and new costuming, while the principals have arranged plenty of new "stuff" that puts to rout the "blue devils" and brings good cheer instead. Some clever and entertaining musical features are on the program while the ever popular women of the cast, Ethel Davis, Betty Buttrick and Jessie Pehhy, will surpass all previous efforts.

Overworked Women
must learn not to neglect their health

How Women are Restored to Health

Spartanburg, S.C.—"For nine years I suffered from backache, weakness, and irregularities so I could hardly do my work. I tried many remedies but found no permanent relief. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt a great change for the better and am now well and strong so I have no trouble in doing my work. I hope every user of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will get as great relief as I did from its use."—Mrs. S. D. McABEE, 123 Dewey Ave., Spartanburg, S. C.

Chicago, Ill.—"For about two years I suffered from a female trouble so I was unable to walk or do any of my own work. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers and determined to try it. It brought almost immediate relief. My weakness has entirely disappeared and I never had better health. I weigh 165 pounds and am as strong as a man. I think money is well spent which purchases Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Jos. O'BRYAN, 1755 Newport Ave., Chicago, Ill.

SUGAR SHORTAGE MAY LAST WELL INTO NOVEMBER

Hoover Counts on Hawaiian Crop to Relieve Situation in the East

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 16.—The Eastern states face a sugar shortage with no prospect of relief before late in November when the Hawaiian and Western beet crops arrive. In a statement tonight forecasting the shortage the food commission again appealed to the American people to cut down their consumption of candy and sweet drinks, and at the same time gave warning that retailers already have received their stocks at prices recently agreed upon, and the public should pay no more during the temporary scarcity in the East than it has been paying during the past 30 days.

The shortage is due, the food administration says, to the failure of the public, outside of a few loyal homes, to reduce consumption and the unusual exports to France in order that the French people may have their meager ration of one pound of sugar per person per month.

Prices Are Fixed

In regard to prices attention is called to the fact that by agreement the price of beet and Hawaiian sugar has been fixed at 7 1-4 cents a pound, Atlantic and Pacific seaboard basis under which the maximum retail price at interior points should be 8 1-4 cents, while by an agreement with the cane refiners and Cuban producers the price of cane sugar has been held down so that it should reach the consumer at about 9 cents a pound.

The administration notes that it still is waiting a reply to its appeal to the Louisiana producers to join in the agreement.

Shortage Is Temporary

"There will be a temporary shortage in the supply of sugar to the area north of Savannah and east of Pittsburg," the food administration's statement said, "during the latter part of October and the month of November, pending the arrival in the market of new sugar. The beet sugar factories in the Western states are rapidly coming into action, and, together with the Hawaiian production, will be able in a short time to take care of the sugar supply in the area west of the territory referred to.

"As the production of beet and Hawaiian sugar increases the area supplied from this source will gradually extend eastward and the beet sugar should reach the Atlantic seaboard by the end of November. The rapidity with which this sugar invasion from the West can take place will be largely controlled by the economies shown in the consumption of sugar by the people in the Western area, and the food administration makes a special appeal to them that they should rigorously reduce the consumption of sugar, more especially of candy and sweet drinks, in order that the Northeastern states may be supplied at the earliest possible moment."

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Physicians Recommend the Use of Magnesia for Quick Relief.

Sufferers from indigestion or dyspepsia should remember that the presence of gas or wind in the stomach invariably indicates that the stomach is troubled by excessive acidity.

This acid causes the food to ferment and the fermenting food in turn gives rise to noxious gases which distend the stomach, hamper the normal functions of vital internal organs, cause acute headaches, interfere with the action of the heart, and charge the blood stream with deadly poisons, which in time must ruin the health. Physicians say that to quickly dispel a dangerous accumulation of wind in the stomach and to stop the food fermentation which creates the gas, the acid in the stomach must be neutralized and that for this purpose there is nothing quite so good as a teaspoonful of pure bisurated magnesia taken in a little water immediately after meals. This instantly neutralizes the acid, thus stopping fermentation and the formation of gas, and enables the inflamed, distended stomach to proceed with its work under natural conditions. Bisurated magnesia is obtainable in powder or tablet form from any druggist; but as there are many different forms of magnesia it is important that the bisurated which the physicians prescribe should be distinctly asked for.—Adv.

M.-B. IS MINING HIGH GRADE ORE

A Salt Lake newspaper has the following encouraging report for Montana-Bingham stockholders, which tells of what is actually being done in getting out ore from the property:

"According to officials of the Montana-Bingham Consolidated, the Fortuna mill has been increased to 200 tons daily capacity, and it is now working successfully, while a large tonnage of concentrates is now in its drying process.

"It is also reported that some high-grade ore has recently been opened in the Valentine end of the property. The big mile-long drainage and transportation tunnel is close to its objective, the Mayflower vein, and preparations are being made for drifts and raises to the lower Fortuna workings 1400 feet above.

"The Montana-Bingham is now mining and shipping the richest ore coming out of the Bingham district, is the claim. Recently two very high-grade ore bodies have been opened which assay well in silver as well as giving high copper values.

"The company announces smelter settlements on two carloads of ore which gave values in gold 67 cents, copper $70.69. Fifteen tons netted, after paying all smelter and transportation charges, $980.28. On the same day a fifteen and one-half ton lot gave values of .57 cents gold, $3.43 silver and $22.92 copper, netting $328 for the fifteen and a half tons, after paying smelter and transportation charges. Two carloads of concentrates and two carloads of high-grade, shipping ore now in transit from the Fortuna, one of the properties of the Montana-Bingham Consolidated, and several carloads are awaiting shipment."

CANDY DEMAND IS INCREASING, FIRMS REPORT

Dealers Say Cannot See Way Clear to Cut Down on Quantity of Sugar Used

If local candy makers have their way, there will be no reduction in the quantity of sugar used in candy making in Honolulu. Candy, that is good, wholesome and toothsome cannot be made from sugar substitutes, such as glucose and saccharin, they declare. Only the very best sugar, known as confectioner's A, which costs a cent a pound more than white granulated sugar, is used in making the finer grades of candies that are sold over local counters, and there's no prospect of any decrease in the quantity used, they add.

"The only way we could decrease the quantity of sugar used," says George B. Case, manager of the Sweet Shop, "would be to get out a cheaper candy; that is, a grade of candy much inferior to that which we now manufacture. Good candy cannot be made of glucose nor saccharin. The Chinese use glucose in making their candies, but they do not make pure candies. Our candies are all pure, and call for the highest grade of confectioner's sugar. There is no decrease in the demand for our candies. In fact, of late, there has been a marked increase, and we do not see how we could reduce the quantity of sugar we are now using without working a hardship on our customers, many of whom are enlisted men who spend some of the money they formerly put out for drinks in candies and other sweets."

This increased demand for sweets on the part of the enlisted men has very materially increased candy sales at other shops. Thomas A. Fisher, the cafe manager at the Alexander Young hotel, said that it was both interesting and educative to watch how a man takes to candy after he gives up drinking.

"Candy and other sweets allay the craving for drink," says Mr. Fisher. "We are selling nearly twice as much candy now as we did a year ago, and the increase has been almost wholly due to the demand made by men in the service.

"We could not reduce the quantity of sugar we are now using. On the other hand, we shall have to increase it. We turn out a grade of candy here that is equal to anything that can be bought on the coast, and the fact that our soft chocolates and bonbons are made fresh every day causes them to be in greater demand than candies on sale here in Honolulu that are made in famous manufacturies on the coast. Coast candy, to reach the Honolulu public, cannot be less than ten days old, and there is a feeling, very well grounded, too, that candy that has been in cold storage, and subject to the moisture that is apt to come with extreme cold, is not so good as candy fresh from the kitchen.

"Pure and wholesome candy, not to mention the more delicate fancy candy, cannot be made from glucose or saccharin. Glucose, it is true, is used, in a comparatively small way, in making some of the heavier candies, but saccharin, which is a product of coaltar, should never be used in candy. Sugar, in its raw state, might be used in making many of our candies, which would be a saving on the use of sugar imported from the coast, but it would be a cane-product, for all that, and the cost of getting it ready to be made into candy, and the waste in its preparation, would more than offset this saving. No, as it looks now, much as we should like to cooperate with Mr. Hoover, I don't see how we can cut down the quantity of sugar we are using in our candies."

MEXICAN GOVERNMENT IS PLANNING TO OPEN BANK

MEXICO, CITY, Mexico.—President Carranza has issued a decree providing that if the funds for the federal bank of emission the capitalization of which was to have been 50,000,000 pesos, are not raised by an exterior loan prior to April, 1918, the bank will be opened then with a capital of 5,000,000 pesos raised by interior subscription. Many private individuals and government officers and employes already have agreed to donate from one to two days pay each month for the raising of this fund. Each of those who contributed will become a shareholder in the bank.

JAPAN FIXES LIMIT ON EXPORTATION OF SILVER

TOKIO, Japan.—A limit on the export of silver both specie and bullion is fixed under a special ordinance issued by the Ministry of Finance. This is inspired by the recent appreciation of silver in the European markets and diminution of the silver output in various producing countries. As a result of the advance in price the actual value of silver currency in Japan has risen above the face value. A contravention is also provided for melting coin into bullion which could thus be sold abroad at a profit.

A Man's-Sized Job For a Man's-Sized Official

Will the proposed combination of the city water works and street department make a job too big for one man?

Supervisor Ben Hollinger has said so, but will an examination of facts justify this attitude?

Here is the summary of a sugar plantation's business under one manager:

1. Building railroads.
2. Operating railroads.
3. Operating sugar mills.
4. Operating large pumping plants.
5. Erection of buildings of all kinds and sizes.
6. Constructing miles of ditches and tunnels.
7. Developing water.
8. Operating plantation stores.
9. Operating machine shops.
10. Building roads.
11. Building bridges and culverts.
12. Maintaining hundreds of horses, mules, carts, etc.
13. Handling thousands of men and women.
14. Operating electric plants.
15. Handling of many millions of money.
16. Planting, cultivating and producing sugar, with the countless factors entering into this specialized industry.

And the plantation man not only has to reckon with physical facts, such as engineering, buying, selling, etc., but he has to develop community centers, solve social problems, solve labor problems, in the handling of great numbers of men, women and children.

Is his job too big for one man? Not at all. It is too big for the small man, but the success of Hawaii's plantations is proof that there are men big enough to manage these jobs.

The city's departments can be centralized under one competent head just as soon as the supervisors and the citizen quit thinking in terms of politics and think in terms of business efficiency.

WHICH DO YOU PREFER?

Every American city that has compromised with vice has come to regret its mistake with terrible bitterness.

The cities that have fought vice—and there are such cities—have developed not only a sterling moral force, but a civic cleanliness that has helped tremendously to build up sound, clean, progressive, respectable business.

Compromise with vice means that every city official charged with enforcing the law is compromising with his duty—stultifying his conscience. Compromise with vice means that every city official in whose hands enforcement of the law is placed is breaking his trust.

And compromise with vice means that at the door of every official there is placed the most insidious of temptations to graft—insidious because the apathy of the community furnishes him with a plausible excuse.

Every day, every hour that this community refuses to go to the front in an open, unyielding battle against vice—every delay stores up retribution. The day of reckoning must come.

In war a military force must be either on the offensive or defensive. Deadlocks are but temporary. Sooner or later an army must fight or defend. It is almost axiomatic that the best defense is attack. Every commander's strategy is directed toward taking the offensive.

If Honolulu is not on the offensive in the vice war, this city must be on the defensive. There is no alternative. We must take the initiative in this battle or allow the most insolent graft and the most depraved vice to take the offensive against us.

Which do you prefer, citizens of Honolulu?

Since sooner or later home rule will be a fact in Ireland, the question of an Irish flag is one which should be settled as rapidly as possible. A good deal of thought has been given the subject since the passing of the home rule act. Apparently the proposals which have met with most approval are a red St. Patrick's cross on a white ground, charged with four shamrocks and a "golden sunburst on a blue ground." The latter was the banner of Fionn MacCumhall's Fenians. Another design which has supporters consists of three golden crowns on a blue ground, part of the arms of Munster. This was Ireland's national emblem from the twelfth century until the three crowns were replaced by the harp, by order of Henry VIII. Nobody has proposed green as one of the colors; green first being used by the united Irishmen in 1798 as an "amalgamation" of the orange of the North with the blue of the South, blue being Ireland's own heraldic color. —San Francisco Bulletin.

Thirty-three congressmen of the right sort—men of brains, influence and intention to become acquainted with Hawaii—can get as much out of an official trip, and be as valuable to Hawaii, as one hundred who spend most of their time junketing. There are some puzzling situations for the congressmen to investigate—the public land problem, for instance—and they have none too much time in which to do it. That the party is comparatively small is a distinct advantage.

Here's a Buffalo blighter hiding five million pounds of sugar under a flour label while patriotic folks in Hawaii are denying themselves indulgence of the sweet tooth so that the soldiers of liberty may have wherewithal to sweeten their rations. "Tha's no fair," as Hoomanawanui of Kewalo would say.

Up to the Shipping Board Now

Whether Hawaii shall have direct steamship connections with Seattle is preeminently a matter of whether there is a steamer or are steamers available.

George McK. McClellan, former resident of this territory and now a Seattle attorney, has come from Seattle with a commission from the Chamber of Commerce there to sound sentiment here upon such transportation relations.

The editor of the Star-Bulletin, in a letter from Seattle a few weeks ago, told of the earnest wish of Northwest interests that Hawaii and Puget Sound be linked with a freight-and-passenger service. The situation is the same now as then, with this difference, that the federal shipping board is in full control of sea transportation, and it is to the federal shipping board and not to steamship corporations that we must now look.

When the project of a Seattle-Honolulu steamer was agitated here nearly a year ago, the answer of the steamship officials was that no steamer was available. This meant solely that all the vessels were engaged in filling more contracts or in carrying out plans which, the owners felt, it would be neither wise nor profitable to change. The Matson line, for instance, declined to consider seriously, at that time, the plan of diverting one of its vessels to take up the Northern trade.

This situation has been intensified by the growing need for American ships in the war-trade, and by the commandeering of the American steamers of many lines operating on the Pacific.

Seattle's desire for a steamer line is not an expression merely of a friendly feeling for Hawaii. It is dictated by sound business reasons. Business reasons have also dictated the virtual refusal of shipping companies to establish the direct steamer connection.

Mr. McClellan can find plenty of sentiment here in favor of the steamer line. Its advantages are unquestionable, but against them are weighed the disadvantages of diverting vessels from their present routes at a time when the scarcity of bottoms is not only unprecedented but perilous to Hawaii's present trade.

The lever which may be operated with telling effect is that of appeal to the shipping board. That such an appeal would come from Hawaii is doubtful, since Hawaii's businessmen have no such pressing desire for the Seattle-Island service as have the merchants and exporters of the Northwest. It appears now to local interests that a suitable vessel cannot be spared for the northern run.

On the other hand, businessmen of Seattle, Tacoma, Spokane and other Northwest cities can emphasize to the shipping board the necessity, as they see it, of the direct line. Their point is that Pacific shipping, to develop properly and to serve all sections of the coast properly, demands the Seattle-Hawaii line. A very well-known Northwest shipping man represents the federal board for that district, and if the needs of the Northwest can be presented with enough force, the board may act radically and put a large freight-and-passenger vessel on the desired run.

The kaiser declares that the result of Germany's seventh war loan "proves the people are behind the imperial government and are ready for further sacrifices of blood and treasure until the honor and freedom of the fatherland is assured." Meantime the German people are having their lesson, which, when fully driven home, will convince them that only in the liberty of all humanity can the honor and freedom of their own country be established.

France is fortunate in having such a sturdy patriot as Poincare at its head. His holding the members of the cabinet to their positions when they were worried into resigning is one of those instances that strengthen confidence in republican institutions. America and France, indeed, in the test of war exhibit equilibrium at least not second to that of any of the monarchies involved in the world struggle.

Traditions of the American navy were honored in the conduct of officers and men of the destroyer torpedoed the other day. When the time comes for attack on the sea or shore defenses of the enemy it will be delivered in the spirit of Farragut's immortal words, "Damn the torpedoes, go ahead."

Amundsen, the famous Polar explorer, has returned to the kaiser the decorations bestowed on him by the German government. Wilhelm now has a few extra crosses and ribbons to bestow on the bombers of women and children.

"German People Growing Weary of War Sacrifices." And it's becoming harder every month for the war-lords of Berlin to convince the people that their colossal sacrifices are helping to win the war.

Food Administrator Child advises all those who criticize the price of fish to make a personal investigation. If his advice is followed, there will be at least 50,000 investigations started right off the bat.

A repulse of the Germans attempting a landing on the Esthonia coast, following a game naval scrap against superior forces by the Slavs, indicates that the Bear is not quite ready for his winter nap.

The Liberty Loan is pouring whole broadsides of silver bullets into kaiserism.

Germany is using up chancellors at a pretty rapid rate.

PROHIBITION AND WOMAN SUFFRAGE GIVEN THOUGHT BY LAST CONGRESS

Impressions of Session Are Outlined By Dr. Wadman of Anti-Saloon League

Notwithstanding the great amount of work done by the last congress in passing war measures, time was found to take action upon two important domestic matters, prohibition and woman suffrage, says Rev. John W. Wadman, D. D., in a letter received by George W. Paty, secretary of the Anti-Saloon league. Dr. Wadman, who is now making his home in Washington, D. C., is superintendent of the Hawaiian branch of the National Anti-Saloon league. His letter in part follows:

"Well, the session's record of achievement is probably unparalleled in world wide legislative history. Fully twenty billions of dollars have been appropriated as war measures or as loans to our Allies, while other measures have been enacted into statutes of unsurpassing scope and significance and with an enthusiasm and unanimity seldom, if ever, known in parliamentary procedure. It was indeed a most remarkable session. By the passage of the army draft law, a fighting force of a million men was suddenly called into existence and immediate training. By the enactment of another law the entire control of the nation's food and fuel was vested in the president. A huge appropriation was made, providing for loans to our "comrades in distress," while $€40,000,000 was made available for airplanes with which to assist in the final disposition of Prussian autocracy. Then came the big revenue measures, the tax bills, the espionage act and the soldiers and sailors' insurance provisions—one of the sanest measures of all.

Congress also found time to take action on two important domestic matters—prohibition and woman's suffrage.

"Besides prohibiting further manufacture of distilled beverages and authorizing the president in the food control bill, to stop or curtail that of beer and wines, the senate by a vote of 65 to 20 also passed the Sheppard resolution, proposing a national dry amendment to the federal constitution. It is pending in the house for action at the December session.

"The house created a special committee on woman suffrage, while the senate favorably reported the Susan B. Anthony amendment, proposing an equal franchise amendment to the constitution. The latter will be pressed next month.

"Several bills passed the senate and house but failed of joint approval and remain pending on the calendar. Among them are the soldiers and sailors' civil rights bill, the daylight saving measure, the Webb export bill, the measure regulating the killing of migratory birds and the national prohibition measure.

The proposed Colombian treaty, for payment of $25,000,000 in satisfaction of her loss of the Panama Canal zone also failed of senate ratification and is on the calendar.

During the session, six allied missions were officially received and addresses made by the heads of these distinguished delegations. Lord Balfour spoke for the British; Premier Vivian and Marshal Joffre for the French; Prince Udine for the Italian; Baron Moncheur for the Belgian; Boris Bahkmetieff for the Russian and Viscount Ishii for the Japanese.

Upon the adjournment, President Wilson immediately issued a public statement in which he eulogized the work of the session in fitting and eloquent terms and among other things, said:

"'I believe that it has also in equal degree, and as far as possible in the face of war, safeguarded the rights of the people and kept in mind the considerations of social justice so often obscured in the hasty readjustment of such a crisis.'"

BIXBY TO TRAIN AT AMERICAN LAKE CAMP

"I am on my way at last," enthusiastically writes Arthur E. Bixby, former marine reporter of the Star-Bulletin, who left here the latter part of July to join the California militia with the hope that he would eventually besent to France.

On the eve of leaving Southern California for the big training camp at American Lake, Washington, he writes:

"My signal reserve corps company leaves Los Angeles at 7:30 tonight for Camp Lewis. There are 75 of us; 50 from Los Angeles and the remainder from Pasadena. The official designation of the organization of which my company is a part is 316th (27th Field Battalion, Signal Reserve Corps) Field Battalion."

MARU BOAT BRINGS 51 TONS CARGO HERE

Outside of the Japanese commissioners aboard the Maru liner for the coast there were few passengers of prominence other than in business and church circles. The one exception was William Pratt, an Englishman, who has been acting consul general in Kobe, Japan.

In the steerage the Maru had 245 Honolulu passengers, 77 of them Filipinos who came to Hawaii to work on the plantations.

The Maru cargo consisted of 5500 tons, 51 of which were consigned to Honolulu merchants.

The cabin passengers were 150 in number, 45 in the second cabin and a total of 587 Asiatic passengers.

ONE COAT DOES DUTY FOR THREE WITNESSES

Men in their shirt sleeves are not allowed in circuit court rooms when court is in session, and four Japanese, three without coats, solved the dress problem in Circuit Judge Heen's court yesterday afternoon, where they were called as witnesses in a divorce case.

The first one called owned a coat and had it on. As soon as he was through testifying he rushed from the court room, peeled off the garment and passed it to the next witness, who donned it and proceeded into the court room. It went along this way until all four had testified and the first had finally gained possession of his coat.

A son was born yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thayer, of 1026 Fourteenth avenue, Kaimuki.

JAPANESE FINANCIAL COMMISSION VISITS HAWAII ON WAY TO COAST

America and Japan Must Work Together to End War, Asserts Baron T. Megata

"By concerted efforts the United States and Japan must strive to put an end to the world calamity, and after the war we must work together to keep the Pacific pacific."

Thus declared Baron Tanetaro Megata, member of the house of peers and head of the special Japanese financial commission visiting Honolulu, in an address delivered at a banquet given by Consul General Rokuro Moroi last night in honor of the commission.

A special finance commission was established in Japan to carry on the work of investigating the financial and economic measures adopted by the foreign powers to meet the exigencies arising out of the great world war, the purpose of its investigations being to furnish Japan with instructive information as to ways and means for furthering the development of the empire, both during and after the war. In pursuance of this purpose persons, officials and private individuals, having ability and experience in the treatment of the subjects concerned, are to be selected from time to time and charged with this important mission.

As the first step, Baron Megata, chief of the commission and his associate commissioners, were ordered to proceed to the United States. Therefore, the sending of these commissoners to the United States in order to enable them to observe personally the conditions actually exisiting in that country and so to create between the two nations a better understanding which shall serve to promote the mutual interest of both countries, will not only be instrumental in furthering relations of intimacy between Japan and the United States but also will have the effect of bringing into clearer light the industrial and financial fields of this empire, both during and after the war. That the United States will hold a dominant position in the money market of the world after the war seems quite certain, and consequently to strengthen the basis of cooperation with her is tantamount to advancing the economic position of this empire.

In the selection of the commissioners, comparatively many appointments have been made from business circles, in as much as the necessity of making the investigation a combined effort of both government and people has been keenly felt by the authorities.

Following are the members of the commission:

Baron Tanetaro Megata, member of the house of peers.

Osamu Matsumoto, secretary in the department of finance.

Takenosuke Sakaguchi, technical inspector in the extraordinary investigation bureau, department of finance.

Baron Bunkichi Ito, secretary in the extraordinary industrial investigation bureau, department of agriculture and commerce.

Doctor Seiji Hishida, secretary interpreter to the government general of Cho-sen (Korea).

Umekichi Yoneyama, managing-director of the Mitsu Bank, Ltd., Tokio.

Yoshitaro Yamashita, general-manager of the Sumitomo firm, Osaka.

Chozo Koike, director of the Kuhara head office, Osaka.

Kenijiro Matsumoto, representative of the Yasukawa Mining Co., Fukuoka.

At the banquet last night, which was held in the gold room of the Alexander Young hotel, about 40 local business men were present in addition to the members of the commission and local consular attaches. Toasts were drunk to the president and the mikado and brief addresses made. Governor Pinkham welcomed the commission on behalf of Hawaii. The first address was made by Consul General Moroi, who said, in part:

"It is a great thing in these stirring times of world turmoil to be able to point to this country or that country, and to be able to say 'Friend.' I am glad to say that as far as my observations have extended, the warm relations existing between the empire of Japan and the United States have never at any time been other than extremely cordial and while there have been occasions when those who were enemies have attempted to stir up strife between the two countries, I am glad to say that the wisdom and the minds of the great men of the two countries have been able to avert any unpleasantness and we are today enjoying an exchange of commercial and diplomatic relations which we have every hope to believe, will continue for all time.

"There can be no better medium to cement that intercourse than an exchange of personal views between the big men of the two countries, and it is my pleasure, your excellency, and business men of Honolulu, to present to you the prominent men of my country who, I am sure, carry with them a very hearty greeting and a profound hope that the amity we enjoy today may continue as it has in the past."

In part, Baron Megata spoke as follows:

"We have been commissioned to come to your country on this important occasion to study the financial and economic measures adopted here, so that America and Japan may join hand in hand to prosecute the war until our final victory is won. Our visit, we hope, will prove to be a happy omen for the future prosperity of the commerce and friendship of the two nations.

"I am delighted to find so many thousands of our nationals pursuing their peaceful vocations in these beautiful islands. I am also delighted to learn that many of them soon after America joined in the great world war offered themselves for military service under the flag of the country in which they live, thus exhibiting their characteristic patriotism for America as much as for their native country."

Following are excerpts from Governor Pinkham's address:

"It would be inappropriate for me to discuss general international economics, but vastly appropriate to review the local economic and commercial relation of Japan and the Territory of Hawaii.

"For commercial reasons, Hawaii invited the Japanese to come to these islands, and, in various and devious ways, assisted them to come. Briefly, they came in notable numbers and following Christian scriptural injunction increased and multiplied until today Japanese subjects compose practically one-half our population.

"While the original motive was to secure labor there was secured nearly every factor that goes to make up a normal community.

"Those who labor cannot all at once command capital and control business, for years of saving must intervene.

"Some years have intervened until we find three notable Japanese banks in Honolulu. We find a number of strong Japanese wholesale firms. In other important vocations and business, the Japanese are exceedingly prominent.

"We find as of June 30th, 1917, out of 32,282 public school pupils, 13,804 are Japanese. Out of 6,746 private school pupils 1,058 are Japanese. In addition the Japanese have 137 schools and about 14,000 pupils solely their own, maintained and directed by themselves.

"Of our population of relatively 235,000 civilians, 107,213 are Japanese subjects, not to mention children being educated in Japan."

CIRCLE MAKIAG PLANS FOR XMAS

The members of the Outdoor Circle are planning another Christmas tree, to be given in the palace grounds, and to which tourists, men and officers from all the forts and stations, home people, in fact, everybody, shall be invited. As the plans are being formed much earlier this year than last, it is believed that the tree will be an even greater success. This year, with all the singers in all the schools, clubs, circles, churches and other organizations specially asked to make a part of the great Christmas chorus, the music, which will consist wholly of Christmas carrols, and of course the national anthem, should be excellent.

The various groups of singers are asked to practice until they have the carrols note and letter perfect, when they will all be brought together in one big final rehearsal, which will be directed by Miss Jane Winne.

The executive committee now planning for this tree consists of Miss Mary Winne, chairman; Mrs. Isaac Cox, Mrs. A. A. Young, Miss Nora Sturgeon, and Miss Aileen Dowsett.

MOLLA BJURSTEDT AND MARY BROWNE MAY PLAY HERE IN FEBRUARY MEET

World-Famous Tennis Stars Almost Sure to Make Appearance in Local Play—Patriotic Tennis Tourney Starts Saturday Afternoon

MOLLA BJURSTEDT, national woman's singles champion, and Mary Browne, whom Californians claim is a greater player than even the title holder, will probably be the two prominent stars who will appear here for the big tennis tournament during the carnival in February. While no definite word has yet been received as to whether or not they will come, A. L. Castle of the Hawaiian Tennis Association stated yesterday that arrangements are under way to bring the two net stars here and that the arrangements will probably be completed in all details in the near future. Two other star players, probably men, will accompany the women stars to Honolulu for the big tourney.

Fight Battle

Since the latter part of July when Mary Browne and Molla Bjurstedt began their exhibition matches for the Red Cross, it has been a neck and neck race for the greatest number of victories and when the final game was completed Mary Browne was acclaimed the leader. But Molla still remains champion despite her defeats this year. All championship matches were postponed this year and the United States Lawn Tennis Association ruled that champions of 1916 are to remain such, whether beaten in exhibition play or not, until another national tournament is staged.

Following out this plan there will be no championships awarded at the Hawaiian Patriotic tennis tournament which starts Saturday on the courts of the Hawaii Polo & Racing Club at Kapiolani park. The cups of the Polo Club will be used as trophies but no titles will be battled for. Nevertheless a number of speedy matches can be expected.

Many Entries

Among the entries filed yesterday were those of Atherton Richards, former champion of the islands, and Billy Warren, both in training at the officers' reserve camp. They have entered for the singles and doubles. Entries are coming in fast and while the tournament Saturday will be small it should bring forth some clever tennis. Entry fees are $1 for the singles and $2 for a team of doubles.

There will be no admission charged to the tourney Saturday but in the big tournament in February all moneys collected for admission will go to the Tennis Association ambulances.

BILLY RANDALL, NOTED TURFMAN, PASSES AWAY WHILE IN SPOKANE, WASH.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16.—Wellington D. Randall, one of the famous turfmen of the West, died Saturday at Spokane. The remains were brought to San Francisco yesterday and the funeral held this afternoon from his home. "Billy" Randall, as he was affectionately known to thousands of turf followers, raced such famous horses as Ostler Joe, Salvation and Senator Bland. He once trained for the late Marcus Daly and Rudolph Spreckels. He enjoyed a reputation for honesty and integrity on the turf that was overshadowed by no other man. He was 59 years of age, and at the time of his death was campaigning a string of thoroughbreds.

OARSMEN NAMED FOR HARVARD FALL CREWS

CAMBRIDGE, N. H., Oct. 16.—Oarsmen who will make up the Elliott and Thayer crews at Harvard University this fall have been named, and the men selected for these crews are generally looked upon as being the best in the varsity squad. A big fall regatta is being planned for the Charles River Basin this month, and the Thayer and Elliot eights will meet at that time in a race.

Thayer Crew—Stroke, F. B. Whitman; 7, Thomas H. Fisher; 6, R. Saltonstall; 5, D. C. Withington; 4, J. H. Peters; 3, C. H. Watson; 2, C. Mellen; bow, J. S. Randall.

Elliot Crew—Stroke, D. B. Hull; 7, P. M. Cabot; 6, C. F. Batcheler; 5, Francis Parkman; 4, Case Canfield; 3, Arthur Fisher; 2, G. C. Noyes; bow, G. H. Hoods, Jr.

DOUBLEHEADER SUNDAY AT MOILIILI FIELD

Two games of baseball will be staged at Moiliili park on Sunday afternoon. The St. Louis team and the Braves will battle for the title in the second series of the Pacific league. The game will start at 1:30 o'clock.

In the second game the Coast Defense team will stack up against the 2nd Infantry team of Fort Shafter. Kelly will work on the mound for the Coasters while Simons will heave for the Shafter men. The battle will open at 3:30 o'clock.

C COMPANY BEATS B

Company C of the 25th Infantry trimmed Company B of the same regiment at Schofield Barracks yesterday afternoon by a score of 4 to 3. The losers had just returned from a trip to Hilo where they had cleaned up everything in sight which fact made the defeat yesterday all the more galling. Carter heaved for the winners and Johnson for the losers.

FORMER STANFORD STAR GETS SERGEANCY HONORS

SANTA CLARA UNIVERSITY, Oct. 16.—Charley Austin, Santa Clara coach and former star of the Stanford rugby fifteen, is now an acting first sergeant in the new national army at American Lake, Wash. Austin obtained his speedy promotion through constant study and preparation. While at Santa Clara Charley studied other things than the rugby game and was for a time certain of one of the student companies in the Santa Clara University battalion. In a letter to Louie Bergna of the varsity football squad Austin said that he has been on the hop ever since his arrival at American Lake and that he is getting along famously. Austin's friends are looking for him to win a commission before he leaves for France.

M'KINLEY WILL GIVE TEAM BENEFIT DANCE

The students of McKinley high school are making a new departure this year in their method of supporting football. Instead of relying upon the gate receipts at the games, they are giving a moonbeam dance at the Outrigger club Friday evening. The proceeds will be devoted to the paying for new equipment for the football team.

The Royal Kawaiahao Glee club has been secured for the dance, and a good dance list is assured by those in charge. In order to allow the team to attend the dance, it will begin at 7:30.

The friends and alumni of the high school are especially welcome at the dance tomorrow night. Tickets can be secured from the various student ticket sellers or at the Outrigger club before the dance. As the Outrigger pavilion accommodates two hundred couples with ease, a large crowd is expected.

The Seals are all enrolled in the club, and each member was handling out Joe's cards last week. Tommy Sheehan and Charley Swain are among the active workers in Corbett's behalf, which shows that the ball players are faithful to their clan. Joe's downtown headquarters are getting to be a regular visiting place for players and former players, all of whom report that Corbett supporters are to be found everywhere and that their candidate's chances are looking better every day.

Bennie Kauff of the New York Giants was once employed as a mule driver at $1.40 a day in Middlesport, O. From his exhibition in the last two games of the series we judge he was overpaid.

If half the birds who besiege a sport writer for passes on the day of a football game had enlisted, the draft law would never have passed.

If you ask us, the College of Hawaii looks like the winner Saturday. We may be wrong, but there is no novelty in that for an expert.

Boxing seems to be as popular in this town as it is in New York state, and they've dressed the game up in a wooden kimono back there.

Californians have an idea that Mary Brown is a better tennis player than Molla Bjurstert but then "there's a reason." Molla isn't a Native Daughter, and the Golden Gaters are just as impartial as a fixed jury. They don't care who loses so long as it isn't Mary.

SCHROTH AND ROSS TO SWIM IN BIG MEET

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—George Schroth, the swimming wonder from Sacramento, has forwarded his entry for the Patriotic Carnival swimming events to be held at Sutro Baths on the afternoon and evening of Saturday, Oct. 27. The entrance of Schroth in the races promises stiff competition for Champion Norman Ross.

Entries for the meet are coming in and all the large clubs will be represented in the events, including the Olympic, Neptune, Piedmont and Y. M. C. A.

Many Entries

Entries in the Army and Navy events will be large, this being the first meet in which the soldiers and sailors have ever competed for honors on this coast. Lieut.-Comdr. W. A. Gaddis of the navy and Lieut. W. A. Wieland of the army and Gerald R. Simpson of the Army Y. M. C. A. are lining up all the best swimmers of the two branches of the services for the big meet.

FLOCK OF FIELDS

Linda Vista Camp Has 42 Baseball Diamonds for Khaki Play

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16.—That athletics are playing a prominent part in the various camps in the United States was shown yesterday afternoon in a letter received here by Joseph Addleman from Camp Linda Vista, San Diego. The letter conveyed the news that 42 baseball fields, 22 football fields, 10 cement tennis courts and six swimming tanks are being built for the soldiers.

TOWNERS STAGE TIE GAME WITH KHAKI ELEVEN

Before a large crowd at the Moiliili field yesterday afternoon the Town Team battled to a three-all tie with the 25th Infantry Football club in one of the best games staged locally this season. Captain Carr, who captained the soldiers, was their hero scoring a perfect field goal in the first half and Rodrigues of the Towners did the same trick in the second half.

Start With Rush

The khaki-clad men started with a rush and played a smashing game. The Towners, who expected a team similar to the kind that represented the 25th on the last occasion of their meeting, were disappointed. Carr's men played with a vim and had it not been for some of the crude work in the backfield the soldiers might have won.

Melim for the Towners played a good game and in the second half almost swept the warriors off their feet. George Hawkins followed his captain's example and shone brilliantly. Canario did some sprendid passing.

It was a spectacular game from start to finish and kept the crowd on tiptoes throughout. Many long end runs were made, forward passes, fake shifts and open plays were the order of the day.

HARVARD FRESHMEN TO PLAY AGAINST YALE AND PRINCETON MEN

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 16.—The uncertainty which has hung over Yale's football was dispelled recently by the definite announcement that freshman games would be arranged with Harvard and Princeton.

A joint meeting of the board of athletic control, college and Sheffield school councils and the athletic association, it is announced, has authorized Professor R. N. Corwin, the chairman, to arrange for the games, with the restriction that only men enrolled in military or naval training he allowed to represent Yale.

It was also decided that class elevens should be organized and a series of intercollegiate games played.

CO-EDS OF STANFORD ORGANIZE ICE SQUAD

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Oct. 16.—Women hockey enthusiasts at Stanford are starting to organize a team to play their sisters, the co-eds of the University of California. The Berkeley women started the excitement by sending a challenge down to Stanford stating that they wanted to stage an intercollegiate hockey game. Judging from the interest shown at Stanford the "500" will put a good team on the field against California.

It was the first week that the Smiths, who had fallen heir to considerable property, had been in their new home. Mrs. Smith was giving a dinner party, with the fond hope that from this occasion she would be fairly launched in society. "Lena," said Mrs. Smith to her new cook, "be sure and mash the pease thoroughly tonight." "What, ma'am?" exclaimed the amazed cook; "mash the pease?" "Yes, that is what I said, Lena, mash the pease," repeated the mistress. "It makes Mr. Smith very nervous at dinner to have them roll off his knife."

"It is only a step from life to death," remarked the invalid father. "Yes, and a step-father afterward," replied the precocious child.—Town Topics.

WAR AND BUSINESS

¶ "There are some lines of business which have suffered because of the war," he said, "but these are able to keep their sales up by using the right kind of advertising and by 'hammering.'

¶ "Advertising is the greatest force in business today, and I consider newspaper advertising most effective for nearly every kind of business.

¶ "To show that merchants are getting results from their advertising campaigns is only to cite the fact that they are spending hundreds of millions annually in newspaper and other kinds of advertising.

¶ "But advertising has passed the academic and theoretical stage. It is needless to talk of its results. No business can thrive without it."—J. W. Sanger of U. S. Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce.

HEARING TO BE HAD ON BISHOP STREET PLANS

The matter of the Bishop street extension will be brought up at the meeting of the board of supervisors next Tuesday night when a resolution approving and adopting the preliminary report, and providing for a public hearing will be read. Such hearwill be set to take place probably not later than November 21.

Notice has been given to the Hackfeld Co. and to R. W. Shingle, trustee for the Van Tassell properties that the buildings which stand in the way of the widening of this street will have to be removed, together with a government workshop through which the proposed street line now passes. The cost of removing and reconstructing the Van Tassell building is estimated at $3200 and of the government building, $4600. This expense will be borne, one-third by the city and county and the balance by the property owners along Bishop street from Hotel to the waterfront. The assessment for the property owners will be $1.525 per front foot. Edinburgh street, on which the Van Tassell property faces, will lose its name and become a part of Bishop street, and the short street of Kilauea will be closed, and the ground sold at public auction.

The purchase of seven automobiles for the city water and sewer department, which is still in the hands of the committee, will probably be passed upon at the Tuesday meeting.

It has not yet been decided whether the matter of the city purchasing agent will come up again at the next meeting, as no decision has been reached so far on this problem.

E. A. Mott-Smith says he does not intend to bring up his city manager plan again next Tuesday. He wants the public at large as well as the board to have time to give due consideration to the idea before any effort is made to have the board take action on the matter.

SURVEY COST OF BELT ROAD CUT

City and County Engineer A. S. Cantin has reduced the cost of making a preliminary survey of the work to be done on that section of the belt road beginning at the foot of the Pali and ending at Kaneohe from $1410 to $755 a month, a saving of $655, which splits the cost of this work nearly in half. The saving is all in salaries.

It will be remembered that the territorial legislature appropriated $500,000 for this belt road, and, this money not being available, the board of supervisors appropriated $10,000 as a loan—to be repaid by the territory when the funds were available, so that the work might be begun at once. The work now being done, although it is called "preliminary," is really of a permanent character. Just when the territorial fund will be available is most uncertain, as it will have to be acquired through the sale of bonds.

Mr. Cantin stated this morning that he and Supervisor Arnold had made arrangements with Colonel Joseph Wheeler, commandant at Fort Kamehameha, to do repair work on the road between Fort Kahehameha and Puuloa station, and that the work would probably begin within two or three days. Colonel Wheeler has arranged with Captain Clark of the naval station, for the materials, and the work will be done by labor provided by the city and county.

Round Top road is now completed and the work is going ahead on the Tantalus road at a gratfying rate of speed. The prisoners are good workers, Mr. Cantin says, and the work on this road, which begins at the back of the Punchbowl hill along the ridge above Makiki and around the base of Tantalus till it connects with Round Top road, will be completed before so very long. The county is furnishing the material and machinery for this road building.

The convicted man had just received his sentence and was being led out. "Poor man, is there anything I can do for you?" asked a sympathetic woman from the audience. "No, mum," said the prisoner, "unless you'd like to do this three years."—Detroit Saturday Night.

CAPT. OF SUNKEN VESSEL COUSIN OF GOV. PINKHAM

Capt. Boyd, master of the transport Antilles which was sunk by a German submarine last Wednesday, was a third cousin of Gov. Pinkham. The governor said today that he was struck by the name when he read it in the Star-Bulletin Saturday and on rummaging about in his memory recalled that he had a cousin named Boyd in the Southern Pacific ocean service between New York and New Orleans. Later he ascertained that this was the master of the Antilles.

Capt. Boyd remained as captain of the Antilles after it was taken over by the government as a transport. Another cousin of the governor, Miss Brooks, who is a nurse at the front, was heard from today in a letter which tells of bombings and other exciting incidents in the war zone.

KIRCHHOFF FOR METER SYSTEM

Fred G. Kirchhoff, superintendent of city and county water and sewers, says there is no change in the water situation, except that every day brings a little nearer the completion of the work on the Nuuanu reservoirs. There is still no actual shortage of water, so far as household uses are concerned, but all people having a flat water rate are urged to use water for irrigating purposes only between the designated hours—6 to 8 a. m. and 4 to 6 p. m.

Mr. Kirchhoff hopes eventually to see the entire city of Honolulu put on a meter basis, which he considers the only fair and just method of apportioning the water supply. This could not be done at once, he says, because the cost, not less than $100,000, would be too great, and there are no funds available for such purposes, but it could be brought about gradually, say by adding a thousand meters a year until the whole city is covered.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody Will Know

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effects.

But brewing at home is mussy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Adv.

THINK BRITAIN OUGHT TO SELL ENEMY VESSELS

[By Associated Press]

LONDON, Eng. — Vessels captured or seized by Great Britain from her enemies during the war "in restitution for destruction and plunder of the countries and shipping of the allies," should be sold and the proceeds applied as part of the war indemnity, in the opinion of a committee of members of the chamber of shipping of the United Kingdom of the Liverpool Steamship Owners Association. This committee was appointed to ascertain what Great Britain's trade policy should be after the conclusion of the war. They recommend that the funds derived from the sale of enemy vessels taken in war should not be applied to reimburse British shipping owners or underwriters for lost ships but should go to the general indemnity fund.

The committee asserts that, in determining Britain's trade policy to be adopted after the war, it should be the first care of the state to do nothing to imperil the "preeeminent position the United Kingdom holds in the international trade of the world.

"Our manufacturing power, our commerce and our shipping," the committee stated, 'have been established for the world's trade and no smaller field can provide scope for their employment. To maintain that position the nation must with the utmost possible speed after peace is restored bring back its fighting forces into productive industry, so as to reestablish its manufacturing power, and to replace the war wastage in its shipping.

"The ruling principle of our trade policy after the war should consist in the maintenance for each individual citizen of the fullest possible opportunities for the exercise of his energies and enterprises in the markets of the world. We are satisfied that so far as shipping is concerned, apart from any exceptional case for establishing a new trade, it can only hold its own in competition with the world free from state control, and therefore free from state assistance, and that speaking generally state intervention can most profitably be derected and limited to increasing the trading efficiency of the nation as a whole."

PACIFIC MAIL BOASTED BIGGEST SHIP IN 1885

The Pacific Mail Steamship company owned the largest commercial steamship in the world in 1885, says the San Francisco Examiner. This fact was dug up by a clerk in the employ of the company yesterday when he produced the following clipping from the magazine "The Beautiful, Wonderful and Wise," under date of April 20, 1885:

The six largest steamships in the world are Great Eastern, the British cable layer; the City of Peking, recently launched for the Pacific Mail company for the run between San Francisco and the Orient and of 6,000 tons; the Ligura of the Pacific Steam Navigation company, 4,820 tons; the Britannic of the White Star line, 4,600 tons, and the Bothnia of the Cunard line, 4,500 tons.

The Great Eastern was built to lay the first Atlantic cable, and proved a "white elephant" with her double system of sidewheels and two propellers. When she was completed it required three weeks to get her off the ways. She was the largest thing afloat.

The City of Peking carried the California Volunteers to Manila in 1898.

MATSON BUSINESS GOES AHEAD SMOOTHLY DESPITE COMMANDEERING BY U. S.

So far as the commandeering of the Matson ships by the government is concerned it is making no difference in the business of the Matson Navigation Co. or the operation of its ships.

"The government has 'taken over' the ships, but we are maintaining the schedules; fixing the freight and passenger charges, and receiving the receipts and paying the expenses," explained an official of the company this morning.

"The 'taking over' has made no difference at all in the conduct of the ships. They were 'taken over' but that was all there was to it," he added.

Officers of the Matson ships which have arrived from the coast since the commandeering date on October 15 even doubt whether any of the ships are to be diverted from the Pacific, it is asserted. "Anyhow, if they are to be, no one knows anything definite about it in San Francisco," they are quoted as saying.

U. S. INQUIRIES INDICATE GOOD TOURIST SEASON

Yesterday's boat from the coast brought a batch of inquiries from railroad centers all over the mainland, making inquiries as to hotels, boarding houses, amusements and general cost of living in Honolulu, reports Fred J. Halton, secretary of the promotion committee. This Mr. Halton thinks is a pretty sure indication that things are shaping up well for a pretty good tourist season for this autumn and winter.

Daughter Found Remedy That Saved Her Mother

Suffered Terribly But Did Not Want to Submit to an Operation

MRS. MARY K. PEROUTKA

Mrs. Mary K. Peroutka, R. F. D. No. 1, Box 41, Milladore, Wis., is a firm believer in Fruitola and Traxo. She writes: "I wish I could tell everybody how much Fruitola and Traxo has done for our family. Both my husband and I were cured of gall stones, and in such a short time and at such little cost, and Fruitola is so easy to take. Four years I suffered those terrible spells and at last the doctor said I had gall stones and advised an operation. I said if the doctors were in the house when I had one of those spells I might let them operate, but not otherwise. My daughter wrote to a lady who had been cured of gall stones without an operation and who recommended Fruitola. I took only one bottle of Fruitola and have not been bothered since. My husband had stomach trouble and he used Fruitola, too, with most satisfactory results."

Fruitola and Traxo are compounded from the original Edsall formulas at the Pinus laboratories in Monticello, Ill., and can be purchased of Benson, Smith & Co., wholesale distributors; a doctor's prescription is not necessary. Fruitola is a pure fruit oil that acts as an intestinal lubricant and disintegrates the hardened particles that cause so much suffering, discharging the accumulated waste to the sufferer's intense relief. One dose is usually sufficient to indicate its efficacy. Traxo is a tonic-alterative that is most effective to rebuild and restore the weakened, run-down system.

A booklet of special interest to those who suffer with stomach trouble can be obtained by writing to the Pinus Laboratories, Monticello, Illinois.

TROOP MEETING CALENDAR

Troop VIII. will hold a meeting on Friday evening, October 26.

Troop V. will resume the holding of regular meetings weekly. A meeting of that troop will be held on Friday evening, October 26.

Troop XVIII. will hold a regular meeting on Friday evening at the normal school.

Troop I. will hold a meeting at its headquarters on Friday evening at 7:30.

Troop III will hold a meeting at its headquarters in Moiliili on Wednesday evening, October 31.

LIBERTY LOAN SWELLS

Ezra Crane of Troop IX. has sold more bonds than any other scout in Honolulu, having sold 59, Rudolph Duncan, secretary of local headquarters, coming next with 35 sales, Scout Clark of Troop IV. coming third with 29 sales, Guy Gitt of Troop VIII. having sold 26, taking fourth place.

Wah Soon Chin of Troop III., 20 sales, Walker Matherson of Troop IV. and Alatau Wilder of Troop I. having a tie of 16 sales, John Trout of Troop IV. having 11 sales and Herbert Richards of Troop IV. selling 15.

It seems that Troop IV. made a good showing in the number of sales of bonds among its worthy scouts.

Those scouts who did not sell any bonds on the first day of the campaign made up lost time during the past week by getting busy in their neighborhood and thus bringing up their standard in salesmanship.

The total amount in dollars through the boy scouts is $42,900.

TROOP I.

A regular meeting of the troop will be held on Friday night next. The plan is to have a stunt night in which every scout has some part in the program. Each scout is supposed to bring a visitor, preferably a prospective scout.

R. SIMONTON, Scribe.

TROOP III.

On the opening of the meeting of Troop III, Scoutmaster J. Ness told the scouts of the troop the new method of keeping the patrol records.

The troop has practically the largest scout house in Honolulu, and the scoutmaster has received the permission of Mrs. Fenton, who has charge of the Moiliili church, to decorate and hang up whatever they please in their large hall.

This meeting was attended by 20 scouts, one official and three visitors, two scouts being absent. Nine of the boys present are preparing for second class examinations, so that the court of honor will have some work to do when they next meet.

Sgt. Sherry reviewed the scouts in some of the bandages which he taught them when he last attended the troop's meeting and found that none of them had forgotten what was shown them. Some of the bandages which were practised were head, eye, hand, neck and spiral reverse bandages.

Miss Simpson of the naval hospital at Pearl Harbor has offered to make the purple neckerchiefs for the troop.

After a short drill the scouts gathered together and had relay race in which the Eagle patrol won. After this there was an antelope race which resulted in a pile of youthful humans, and amid the shouts and laughter they all found themselves after the great tumble ended.

The scouts were then notified that the troop would hold a meeting next Wednesday evening.

The meeting adjourned at 9 o'clock.

TROOP V.

The scout master of Troop V announces that the troop will have a regular meeting on Friday evening, October 26, at 7:30.

Important business will be discussed and all the scouts ore urgently asked to attend.

Scoutmaster, Troop V.

TROOP XX.

The scouts of Troop XX are going to give an exhibition on November 16th at 7:30 p. m.

The first period of the entertainment will take in an illustrated lecture, this will be followed by the demonstration of the three classes of scout ranks, Tenderfoot, Second Class and First Class.

The scouts are aside from the main showing getting up a comedy which will amuse all who attend. The admission is twenty-five cents and a large audience is expected.

Maui Scout Commissioner Visits Honolulu.

Maui's scout commissioner is planning to have a Liberty Bond campaign on that island to be conducted by the scouts of that area. This is their opportunity to show their patriotism toward their country.

As Mr. Mathews, the scout commissioner of Maui was a visitor here last week he noticed how the scouts were putting in their time on Saturdays, so he has made arrangements to conduct a campaign there, no definite news has yet been received at local headquarters of how the campaign is progressing.

H. C. OF L. HITS JAPAN BUT WAGES ARE RAISED

(Special Cable to Nippu Jiji)

TOKIO, Japan, Oct. 25.—The government officials and employes are being hit so hard by the high cost of living that the government is now planning to come to their rescue with an increase in the salaries.

The officials of the treasury department are now working on the new budget, with a view of inserting in it an item which calls for an appropriation of a special fund to cover the raise in the pay of the government employes. The budget will be ready for presentation to the Japanese diet for approval, when the diet convenes for a regular session in the latter part of December.

BAVARIAN PREMIER AFRAID OF AMERICA

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Wireless.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 25.—Fear of America in case the allies win was expressed by Von Hertling, the Bavarian premier, in a speech in the chamber, was reported from Amsterdam last night.

Von Hertling is reported to have said: "After Germany's existence, the safety of her frontiers and her further peaceful development have been guaranteed, we shall be ready for peace, but we cannot make peace sooner for if the Entente Powers should win with the help of America, then America will step into England's place and we shall be no better off but rather worse, industrially, than we were before the war."

GOES FROM ALASKA TO DENVER WHEN DRAFTED

[By Associated Press]

DENVER, Colo.—The draft registration and the succeeding call of selected men for service produced some unusual tales of distances traveled to answer the call, but few, if any, can compare with the record set by A. M. Cullen, of the city, local officials say. Cullen, when he got word of his selection for the draft, was in Wrangell, Alaska. He started home at once.

SEATTLE DOCK LABORERS AFTER WAGE INCREASE

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 26.—Waterfront workers in meeting last night formulated demands for an increased wage scale. They will seek to make operative here the same scale that is effective in San Francisco, which is said to be the highest anywhere in the United States.

A judge presiding over a court in Washington was administering the oath to a boy of tender years, and to him put the following question: "Have you ever taken the oath; do you know how to swear, my boy?" Whereupon the lad responded: "Yes sir, I am your caddie at the Chevy Chase Club."—Puck.

REFINERY'S SUGAR DCAL MAY RELIEVE FAMINE

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Wireless.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 25.—Promise that the acute sugar shortage in the cities of the Eastern states would soon be relieved was given today when it was announced that the American Sugar Refining company had completed a contract for the purchase of two million pounds, a hundred thousand short tons of Louisiana raw sugar.

Pays Higher Price

The price paid the Louisiana growers is in excess of the rate fixed by the sugar commission, six cents a pound in New Orleans, and this means that the price to the sellers of refined sugar will have to be 8.35 cents a pound.

It was further announced that ships to move half of the purchase had been secured under a definite allotment from the shipping board and that the raw sugar will be brought to the refineries speedily by rail as well as steamer.

NAVAL CREWS TO MAN AMERICA'S TRANSPORTS

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Wireless.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 25.—Naval officers and crews from the navy will replace civilians on the vessels used in the United States transport service, the navy department announced last night.

The war department, to put this plan into effect will ask congress as soon as it meets in December for an additional 30,000 men as a permanent increase of the navy's forces and for 50,000 during the period of the war.

KERENSKY MAY NAME NEW ARMY COMMANDER

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Wireless.)

PETROGRAD, Russia, Oct. 25.—Newspapers last night published the report that Kerensky will probably relinquish the office of commander-in-chief of the army by the end of the week and that he will name a strong leader as his successor in office while devoting his entire attention to the political and governmental interests of the republic.

SUBMARINE TOLL IS HEAVIER LAST WEEK

HUNS FOUND GUILTY OF OBSTRUCTING DRAFT LAW

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Wireless.)

SIOUX FALL, S. D., Oct. 25.—Twenty-seven German Socialists were found guilty in the federal court yesterday of seeking to obstruct the selective draft. They were accused of all being united in one conspiracy and were tried together.

LOTS OF PEOPLE WEAR GLASSES MERELY AS FAD

Odd to Watch Effects on Different People, Says C. H. Trullinger, Optician

"Not everybody needs glasses who wears them any more than everybody wears glasses who needs them," says C. H. Trullinger, a San Francisco optician who has recently taken over the optical business of A. N. Sanford. "It's odd just to watch the effect the wearing of glasses seems to have on different people. I have one customer who insists upon wearing very large, round, dark-rimmed glasses because she says they have a transitory look—as if she had just put them on temporarily, and did not contemplate wearing glasses as a steady diet. She's been wearing glasses for 15 years. Got her first pair of tortoise-rimmed glasses in Germany, where they were very fashionable among the student class. She hates glasses of any kind, thinks they make her look old, but she couldn't see an inch from her nose without them, so she wears the transitory kind.

"Then there are dozens of people, particularly on the mainland, who wear these large glasses purely for effect. It gives them a learned, distinguished air, sets them apart from the common herd. One man when he first put them on said he felt like the negro in "The Canary Bird," whose friend said to him: 'What' fo' yo' got on dem big glasses today, Mose?' 'Why,' says Mose, 'mah eyes is affected, Sam.' 'Doan' yo' fin' dem mighty hahd to git use' to?' 'No, dey ain't hahd to git use' to, but dey's pow'ful hahd to live up to.'

"Still," continues Mr. Trullinger, "those dark-rimmed glasses are the sort which should be worn in Honolulu. Here, where the sun's rays are not only far brighter than they are in northern lands, but where the effect is intensified by the light reflected from the water and the light and heat waves from the sand, it takes a very strong pair of eyes indeed not to need glasses, and the large, dark-rimmed glasses are by far the best. It's the same idea, scientifically brought out and commercialized, that makes the baseball player put a rim of mud around his eyes. These dark rims make a circle around the eyes, providing a shade that is very grateful and necessary, and particularly so in this bright land. Glasses faintly colored, and further protected from the sun's rays by these dark rims, would be even better.

"Now that the fad for the big rims is passing, leaving only their merits to attract purchasers, faddists are going back to the lorgnette and the face-a-main, the French glasses which are carried from 'face to hand,' or rather from hand to eyes when they are needed, whether to improve the vision or for general effect. Many women, not a few of them here in Honolulu, buy these glasses with nothing in the jeweled rims but plain glass. Some of these glasses, as you can see, are very lovely, and, carried to the eyes by the graceful hand of a beautiful woman, there's no doubt as to their effectiveness."

U. S. AND MEXICO SEEK TO SOLVE LAND PROBLEM

[By Associated Press]

MEXICO CITY, Mexico.—The procurator general of the republic has sent to Ambassaror Bonillas at Washington the history of the concession of land in Lower California to Flores Hale and Company which recently was declared void. The land amounting to about 15,400,000 acres reverted to the government. The United States state department has requisted Mr. Bonillas to inform them why the concession had been declared void and the land open to settlement.

According to the procurator general the company did not comply with the requirements of the concession which stipulated that a certain number of Mexicans and foreign families were to be established on the land within a certain time.

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Drink Lots of Water

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your boweis clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.—Adv.

AUCTION BULLETIN

Everything sooner or later has its value fixed by the Auctioneer, and as a rule its real intrinsic merit is brought out by that ordeal, any article that has value to someone or other, such latent worth is at once laid bare in the Auction Room, nothing but rubbish need fear display and criticism, at the present time many articles are inflated by the demands of war, furniture is of extra value just now and will so continue for many moons.

We shall offer a real piece of fine Mahogany shortly; a Wardrobe with Cheval Mirror. Honolulu Auction Rooms. J. S. Bailey.

LONDON COLD STORAGE PLANTS FULL OF FOOD

LONDON, Eng.—All the cold storage warehouses in the London district are filled to capacity with foodstuffs, and have announced to dealers and shippers that they cannot accept any further custom. This is having a marked effect on the markets, forcing down prices and bringing incoming supplies onto the counters.

A large shipment of Tasmanian apples arrived the other day at a time when there was a glut homegrown fruit and when the lifting of the embargo on French fruit had brought a heavy shipment of pears from the other side of the English channel. Ordinarily the Australian fruit would have been put into cold storage, but no space was to be found there, and the apples had to be sold for what they would fetch, some good varieties of cooking apples selling as low as 62 cents a case.

TOG TALKS by Janet Walker

NEW BLOUSES.

The new blouses for wear with separate skirts are sure to meet with instant approval, as designers of popular priced waists have declared themselves in favor of better lines and materials, and fewer frills and laces. It truly seems that every line of ready-to-wear merchandise that is being offered the public has an added air of service; the wish to serve has given even frivolous Fashion something to think over, and She has emphasized a sort of dignity in girlish frocks as well as in the offerings made to mature matrons.

In the wash blouses, no material requiring starch seems to be as adaptable for fine tucking, as organdie. This tucking is combined very effectively in some of the smart French blouses when figured voile is used. As these figures are embroidered in colors, the organdie is inserted in long rows relieving patterns of their monotony.

Bits of rich lace adorn some of the dressy chiffon waists. Some of the more modish effects follow the general lines of the Balkan blouse. The model of flesh colored georgette on the left is an admirable example of this mode, and while it possesses an individuality all its own, at the same time it suggests ever so faintly the smocks that were so popular a season or so ago. The buttons down the back give an immature air to this garment that is delightful.

With the latest fashion books open before us we realize with a sigh of regret that the sport suit has gone. Its departure was so quietly brought about, that we have scarcely realized it. We can not fail to feel peeved at fickle Fashion, as these little suits were so useful as well as modish, one began to feel they were here to stay. The peplums have lengthened into real tunics, and the waists and skirts are "in one."

Our good humor will surely come to the surface again, as we are being offered a garment that will surely compensate the loss for the "Sport suit." This seemingly half basque and half sweater will go far toward replacing it. For want of a better name we will call it a blouse, and proceed with its description. Both silk and wool are equally good for making this model; jersey seems to be the most popular material, but the new Roshanara silk is a close second. The figure on the right is a good illustration of the type.

This long corsage is of purple wool jersey. It is slashed in the front below the neck line, and finished on one side with loops of self-materials, and buttons of the same on the other side. The scarf is in one with the right side, and drapes around the neck, the end finishing over the left shoulder. The seams are lapped over narrow panels which are notched in a tab at the waist line. The back is made in a similar way, the tabs fastening under the arm with a button and button-hole. The small pockets are of the material. The sleeve is seamed to the slightly long arm hole, and is held at the lower part with a band of the material.

The loose, belted or unbelted sacque blouse with the sleeves cut in one, holds its own marvelously. It is so graceful over the uncorseted,—or nearly uncorseted figure—that the excessive vogue for it is not so remarkable. Young women have these little garments made of coarse rough unbleached linen, bordered with coarse woolen embroidery in gay colors. This sort of blouse hangs straight, and is slipped over the head like a sailor blouse, and the length varies according to the figure or taste. Many of these blouses are held in place with wide patent leather belts, and—by the way, brown patent leather is the newest wrinkle. Even the new shoes show narrow bands of this leather, which circles the top of boots, and matches the belts.

White voile blouses continue to be popular, but this season finds them trimmed slightly different. Instead of the lavish laces and embroideries, the designers have given more time to the cut and workmanship. They are decidedly plainer, but richer looking. These blouses are still hemstitched, but in addition many rows of cunning buttons grace the front and cuffs.

Afternoon blouse (left) of flesh-colored georgette, that has a distinctly girlish charm. The sash of grey satin ribbed has a back of black grosgrain. Buttons of jet are used in the closing.

Just a real all-around-smart sweater basque, this model fits into place for fall and winter weather. It is made of purple wool jersey. The self loops fasten over purple velvet buttons.

"TOG TALKS"

This article is number 15 of a series of papers on practical dressmaking and millinery subjects, with special hints on profitable buying for wear in Hawaii. This new department is being conducted by Janet Walker, who, with several years of experience in dressmaking and with a wide knowledge of materials, patterns and values, brings to the work an unusually thorough equipment. All materials described in these papers may be purchased at the Honolulu shops and the aim is to furnish hints in an attractive, readable form for the women and girls of the city whether they make their own clothes in whole or in part, or buy at the tailors, the milliners, the dressmakers or the shops.

BEAUTY CHATS by EDNA KENT FORBES

Beauty Don'ts

THOUSANDS OF WOMEN are asking what to do to acquire beauty. And few seem to consider another thing as important—what not to do. Do you want to be beautiful? Then read, and heed, these "don'ts":

Don't undersleep.

For an overfull stomach means an overworked digestion. And an overworked digestion means that the pores of the skin must help throw off the poison matter accumulating in the body, which in turn means pimples and blotches.

Don't undersleep

Most people need eight full hours of sleep, anemic or nervous women should have nine. Dull eyes and a dull skin are often due to lack of sleep.

Don't be afraid of exercising.

The body is a huge and complicated machine, and the blood acts somewhat like a lubricant. Exercise sends the blood running actively through the veins, stirring up liver and stomach, vitalizing the entire system.

Don't run to the drug store for a cure for every ailment.

This applies to everything from cold cream for a muddy skin to headache powders and dyspepsia cures. A two-mile tramp every day will cure any or all of the above-mentioned ailments more certainly than all the bottled remedies.

Don't neglect yourself in any way.

And by this I mean that you should examine your face carefully, especially your eyes, to judge the condition of your health. If the whites of your eyes are yellowish, instead of a blue white, if your skin is sallow, if you look wilted instead of vivacious—begin and improve your health at once.

Questions and Answers

My hair is very dry and crackly; it splits on the ends and has no gloss nor life. Will you recommend something simple to use, to make it brighter and healthier?—Jeanne.

If the whites of the eyes are yellowish instead of a blue white, it's a sign of bad health

Reply—I could advise better if you had told me the color—however, the simplest remedy is olive oil applied twice a week. Rub it well into the scalp, getting as little on the hair itself as possible. Clip the ends back two inches, and each month regularly, a half or quarter inch more. The oil will restore the lost brilliancy.

WOMEN OF AMERICA URGED TO GET BEHIND U. S. FOOD ADMINISTRATION

A joyful army of women, a million and more strong, has already enrolled with the food administration.

From the windows of thousands of homes gleams the emblazoned card announcing that the family is pledged to food conservation.

In thousands of kitchens during the long summer busy housewives in the blue uniform of the soldiers of the commissary canned and planned to meet the enemy.

Now millions more are being called to the colors. The armies of democracy in their need demand the help of all American women for active service in guarding the food supplies of the nation. They are asked to take this position and hold it—to face stern facts and not to yield.

Women of America, this responsibility and glorious opportunity is yours. A stern and holy task awaits you—yours to strengthen the arm of valor—yours to guard the nation and her Allies from hunger.

This is your part in the Great Adventure. Stand aside, and when those who have suffered for us return, how will it be with your heart? Consecrate yourselves to this work, and the nation will follow.

Faithfully you have guarded the altars of the home. Now, with your heart? Consecrate yourselves to this work, and the nation will follow.

Faithfully you have guarded the altars of the home. Now, come forth from the kitchen! Lift your eyes to the light of a larger service! The task is stern—but the service boundless—yours the charge to hold the line from the hearth fires of America to the camp fires of Europe.

Take the solemn oath of allegiance to your country. Enroll for active duty with the Service Army of the Republic. Emblazon your colors, and follow the flag.

A MESSAGE FROM HERBERT HOOVER

"We are asking every householder, every hotel, restaurant, and dealer in foodstuffs in the nation to become a member of the food administration for conservation, and to pledge themselves to follow, insofar as circumstances permit, the suggestions that will be offered from time to time as to measures of food savings.

"I therefore appeal to the churches and to the schools for their assistance in this crusade; to all the organizations for defense, local and national; to all the agencies, commercial, social and civic, that they join the administration in this work for the fundamental safety of the nation.

(Signed)

"HERBERT HOOVER."

RED CROSS THEATRICAL DAY IS POSTPONED

A. L. Castle received by this morning's mail a letter from the American Red Cross stating that Red Cross Theatrical Day, which was to have been observed throughout the country on October 26, had been postponed to December 7. The postponement was made by Henry P. Davidson, chairman of the Red Cross War Council, and A. L. Erlanger, national chairman for Theater Day, so that attention might not be diverted from the Liberty Loan.

Many theaters will devote the entire receipts for the day, and many actors will contribute their entire salaries for the day, to the Red Cross War Relief Fund. A number of theaters are planning special performances, and the additional time will doubtless mean that many more will make like plans. As the letter had just been received, Mr. Castle had not had time to confer with local theater managers, but he feels sure that they will enter heartily into the plans.

LIBRARY GIVES MUCH WAR DATA

Copies of the National Service Handbook, giving reliable information on all branches of service, both military and non-military, issued by the committee on public information, Washington, D. C., have been received by the Library of Hawaii. The introduction states that the purpose of this book is to point out the most useful avenues that may be undertaken by the people, and at the same time inform each member of the community of the varied tasks undertaken behind the plow, in banks, at the machine, by railroads, by laboratories, by doctors, nurses and social workers everywhere as well as by the army, navy and signal service. It is brought out very clearly that to work without lost motion, so that the most good may be accomplished, and the war won as speedily as possible, there must be harmony of effort, a general "get-together and pull-together" scheme. The signature of the delegate to Washington appears in facsimile on the cover of this book and other pamphlets.

This book, with other pamphlets about the war, is on the stand near the central entrance to the library, where new books and war books are kept. All the latest books on the war as well as older books pertaining to the causes which led up to it, are kept on this stand where they may be readily seen by every patron of the library.

For the further convenience of the public, charts showing the flags of the nations, the federal, executive, army insignia, navy and marine corps insignia as worn on caps, sleeves and shoulders, and new army and navy maps have been placed under glass on the loan counter, where borrowers of books waiting their turn to be served, or anyone else interested, may see and study them.

Miss Carpenter, the catalogist at the library, under whose direction all this information has been made accessible to the public, stated that the committee on public information was now issuing a series of pamphlets called War Information series.

The library now has the following new books on the war in circulation: "The Great War," by Lieutenant A. C. McLaughlin; "The Government of Germany," by C. D. Hazen; "The Nation in Arms," by F. K. Lane and N. D. Baker; "The War Message and the Facts Behind It," by President Wil-

WOMEN EARNING OVER $1000 MUST PAY TAX

Women as well as men are liable for the new war income tax, according to Acting Collector Ralph S. Johnstone of the revenue office. The tax applies equally to both sexes and irrespective of whether they are citizens of the United States or not.

"The new income tax applies to all incomes of more than $1000, says Mr. Johnstone. "Everybody who makes that much in a year is compelled under the law to make a return, whether married or single.

"A single man, or a single woman, for that matter, who makes a thousand a year, net, must pay a tax over and above that amount. A married man, or a married woman (if the latter is the support of the family), will be exempt up to $2000. But just because a man is married is no reason why he should not make a return."

CANDY MAKERS MAY BE FORCED TO SAVE SUGAR

While the territorial food commission has not yet taken action to secure a saving of sugar by reducing the manufacture of candy and other confections in Honolulu, there is a possibility that an investigation into the feasibility of such a move may be made soon, says J. F. Child, assistant executive officer and federal food administrator for Hawaii.

According to figures secured by Mr. Child, candy and other confections valued at $170,000 were imported into the territory during the year ending December 30, 1917, while similar goods valued at $232,000 were imported during the year ending June 30, 1917. Mr. Child says that candy valued at about half of the amount imported is now being manufactured in Honolulu yearly.

Rich Pure Milk from specially selected herds—and germ-free

Quality in Condensed Milk starts with the cow, and the dairy produce of New Zealand is recognised as the world's highest grade. New Zealand's dairy legislation is the world's model—strict Government inspection and supervision is applied to every farm. For this reason New Zealand's butter and cheese tops the world's market.

The pastures of Southland are amongst the richest and best in New Zealand, and it is here that the herds that supply Highlander Milk are situated. The milk is taken from the cows under exceptional conditions of cleanliness, and it is then forthwith filtered and cooled at the dairies.

Next it goes to the great Highlander Condensaries where cleanliness reigns supreme. Here again it is treated by the most modern scientific methods and apparatus.

Highlander Condensed Milk

subjected to a scientific process which destroys all disease germs and leaves it absolutely germ-free. Evaporation in vacuo removes the useless water, the purest No. 1 Cane Sugar is added, and the milk is packed in seamless solderless sanitary tins.

Do you wonder that the finest Condensed Milk in the world is the result? For purity, for quality, for richness, for flavour, for economy, Highlander is supreme. Even though you are satisfied with the milk you are now using, you owe it to yourself to try Highlander. There are hundreds of recipes in the big 200-page beautifully illustrated Highlander Cookery Book. Write for a FREE copy to-d... address "Highlander" Dept. A
