VILLA TRAPS CARRANZISTA TROOPS AND ROUTS THEM

Leads De Facto Vanguard Into Ambush Near Santa Ysabel Friday and Drives Them Back For Many Miles In Flight

Federal Officials In Juarez Admit That Heavy Fighting Has Taken Place and That Bandits Are Nearing State Capital

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

EL PASO, October 23—Pancho Villa, at the head of a large force is reported to have trapped the vanguard of a de facto army between Santa Ysabel and San Andres, Chihuahua, last Friday afternoon, and to have practically exterminated the Carranzista command. General Ozuna, Carranza leader has been killed.

According to the reports which have reached the military authorities here, the bandits, numbering hundreds, well armed and fighting mad, concealed themselves behind rocks that covered the side of a ravine, into which the advance of the Carranzista forces were led.

When the de facto government troops were fairly trapped the Villista men opened fire with rifles and machine guns and rolled huge boulders upon their foes. The Carranzistas made a desperate fight for escape, and some of them managed to evade the attacks and flee to Santa Ysabel.

Later the de facto troops retreated to Las Palomas and then to Fresno.

Admit Heavy Fighting

The officials of the Carranza government at Juarez admit heavy fighting in this locality.

Villa, at the head of a large force, is reported to be nearing the City of Chihuahua and so disposing of his men as to make certain that an attack in force on the state capital is soon to be launched.

Skirmishing is already going on, according to the reports of the Federalists, to the west of the city, while it is known that the Villistas are in force on the south and northwest.

Garrison Reinforced

The Carranza garrison at the Chihuahua capital, according to statements made a week ago through the Mexican commissioners at Atlantic City, have been reinforced by a large number of the picked men of the de facto government forces. The Mexican commissioners informed the Americans that thousands of the best troops in the country were being taken into Chihuahua and Durango for an extensive campaign, which it is expected will become evident shortly in a series of movements that will lead either to Villa's isolation in the mountains without a force of any size or to his destruction.

The statement issued by the joint commissioners continued: "The Mexican commissioners believe that this movement will materially assist in the settlement of the problems which the joint commission is attempting to solve."

"Mr. Carranza's belief is that the work of the commission can best be helped by a definite and strong prosecution of this campaign and the obtaining of tangible results."

Episcopal Convention In St. Louis Decides They Need Not Abandon Habits of Their Fathers When Accepting Christ

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

ST. LOUIS, October 23—After a spirited debate, which has lasted for some days, the house of deputies of the Protestant Episcopal convention, in session here, yesterday decided that Jewish Christians need not necessarily disregard Jewish customs. A resolution was carried stating that Hebrews who accept Jesus Christ as the Messiah, whose coming was foretold in the Old Testament, may retain their Jewish national and racial customs and may celebrate the Jewish feasts.

DISCUSSED QUESTION OF NEGRO DIOCESES

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

ST. LOUIS, October 16—Debate on a proposal to establish a racial Episcopal diocese was on the calendar today in the house of deputies, the lower body of the Protestant Episcopal convention in session here. It is proposed to amend the church constitution to authorize the creation of dioceses of negro churches presided over by negro bishops, and the removal of negro parishes from the supervision of the present white diocesan heads.

The question, one of the most important to come before the convention has been discussed for a decade, and six years ago resulted in the passage of an amendment permitting the election of negro suffragan bishops in the various dioceses.

Church leaders admit a wide difference of opinion. It is argued that the creation of negro dioceses would make sharper the line of cleavage between the races, while on the other hand it is asserted that such action would enable the negro to keep more easily his racial identity, and that the present law is not essential, as evinced by the fact that in the six years since the last amendment no negro suffragan bishops have been chosen.

An announcement was made that the house of bishops will meet with the house of deputies late today to consider a pension plan for clergymen. An effort is now being made in the church to raise $5,000,000 as a pension reserve fund. Francis Lynde Stearns, a layman of New York, will preside.

AUSTRIANS DENY WIDE SPREAD PLOT

Vienna and Berlin Say Killing of Premier Act of Political Maniac

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

VIENNA, October 23—High official circles and the press unite in declaring that the assassination of Count Carl Stuerghk by publisher Ludwig Adler of the Socialist newspaper "Der Kampf" is the act of an insane man and not part of a widespread political plot, directed against the present ministry.

Reports that Adler is the agent of a large group determined to force the retirement of the present ministry and change the course of conduct of the war are declared false by the government officials.

Government circles regard the killing as the act of a political crank but without influence on the political situation or the course of the war. The Socialist party, of which Adler was an ex-party organ editor, has disavowed responsibility for the shooting or any sympathy with Adler's course.

Adler has stated to the police that he shot Stuerghk because the premier had opposed the convening of parliament. Officials say that Stuerghk at no time had done this. The press brands Adler as an irresponsible criminal, with a brother in the insane asylum.

Adler was not acquainted with the premier.

The Berlin newspapers agree that Adler's act was the deed of an irresponsible fanatic and has no particular influence on the political situation. He has a sister who has been insane for years.

AMBASSADOR WILL VISIT WILSON TODAY BELIEVED TO BEAR GERMAN PEACE TERMS

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

LONDON BRANCH, New Jersey, October 23—James W. Gerard, American ambassador to Berlin, will visit the President today, making his first call upon the executive since his arrival from Germany.

It has been reported in a section of the press that Mr. Gerard is the bearer of a message from the Kaiser to the President, requesting the latter to use his good offices to bring about the end of the war by requesting the Allies to name their terms.

No Peace, Says Britain

In connection with this coming conference at the Summer Capital today a significant despatch was received last night from London, in which Earl Grey, the British minister for foreign affairs, is quoted as stating in explicit terms that the Allies are not prepared at this time to discuss any terms upon which they will conclude a peace with Germany.

Earl Grey is quoted as welcoming any efforts the neutral Powers may desire to make, now or later, to prevent in the future any such catastrophes as the present war has been to the world.

ARMISTICE WANTED SAYS INSIDE REPORT

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

According to reports from Washington and New York, sent out during the week by special correspondents, this interview between the President and the ambassador to Germany will be a momentous one. Mr. Gerard is supposed already to have outlined Germany's desire for an armistice, which he is likewise supposed to be ready to take up formally with Mr. Wilson today.

As an evidence of good faith in connection with the proposal, Germany is ready to evacuate part of Belgium and restore the government of that country.

to the Belgian people, writes one correspondent.

The allied Powers, which are aware of Germany's plans, will not agree to an armistice even if Belgium should be evacuated. Continuing this correspondent says:

It is their view that Germany merely desired to shorten her lines, which the allied troops in Northern France, by constant attack, have prevented; to replenish her munitions supplies and to prepare for an offensive at the expiration of the armistice.

Wilson May Be Mediator

Moreover, it is pointed out that should peace be restored as a result of negotiations following the armistice, Germany would remain the military menace which the Allies have been endeavoring to remove from Europe.

Just how far President Wilson figures in the German plan cannot be accurately learned. It is known the Berlin authorities desire he shall be at least the medium of communication between them and the heads of the allied governments. The Germans would not object to President Wilson acting as mediator under certain circumstances.

From time to time the President has had dangled before his eyes the possibility that Germany would favor his service as mediator.

Allies Want No Mediator

Therefore it is no news that the Berlin government wishes to utilize him in this capacity. But the Allies hold there is no need for a mediator, that the questions at issue lie between Germany and themselves and that it is preferable for peace to be made directly between the belligerents.

It is quite true that Ambassador Gerard is bringing no message from Emperor Wilhelm or Chancellor Bethmann-Hollweg requesting President Wilson to use his good offices in the interest of peace.

Kaiser Makes Desires Known

But it is true that Mr. Gerard is aware from the Emperor the Chancellor, and other German officials, that Germany desires, indeed is anxious for, a peace which will safeguard her honor and her interests.

The ambassador explained to Secretary Lansing at a conference his impression of the frame of mind of Berlin, amplifying cable and mail reports he had made to the state department. When the ambassador seen President Wilson at Shadow Lawn, he will repeat what he said to the secretary of state.

Time Friend of Allies

It is not expected, in view of the facts which have come to the attention of the correspondent, that anything will come out of the German peace movement. The Allies feel that time is their best friend and Germany's worst enemy. Day in and day out Great Britain and Russia are training new legions to throw on the battle front. Their output of munitions is steadily increasing.

On the other hand, Germany, while unquestionably able to continue a formidable opposition, is suffering from the strangling effect of the allied blockade, from the all-round pressure to which she and the countries fighting with her are being subjected, and to the drain upon her population which the necessity of replacing casualties imposes.

The conditions which exist in Germany naturally are responsible for a public opinion to force the government to utilize every available means to strike terror into the hearts of the belligerents. This opinion, which since the beginning of the war, has been directed against the United States, advocates the use of the submarine in accordance with the policy inaugurated by Grand Admiral Von Tirpitz.

The President and his advisers realize from what Ambassador Gerard has reported that there is a strong belief in Germany that war with the United States would not be an unmitigated evil; that the United States could not be of much more value to the Allies than it has been up to date, and that, on the other hand, Germany would be free to sink the ships carrying munitions, cowstuffs and other supplies to England, France and Russia.

ROUGH RIDER FLAYS PRESIDENT FOR MEXICAN SHAMBLES

Declares General Pershing Should Be Sent After Pancho Villa No Matter What Threats Might Be Made By Carranza

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

EAST LAS VEGAS, New Mexico, October 23—"The neighboring republic of Mexico should be restored to its proper governors," declared former President Roosevelt in a speech made before several hundred people here yesterday.

"The United States government should issue orders to General Pershing to go and get Villa no matter what the Carranza or any other temporary government of Mexico might say or threaten to do."

The crowd wildly applauded the assertions of the rough riding executive, who was in fine fettle, and good voice, and seemed perfectly at home with the throngs of westerners who flocked about him, eager to shake his hand, and anxious to cheer every one of many points.

"I am here to tell you what Mr. Hughes will do if he is elected President of the United States," said Mr. Roosevelt, beginning his address, and he then outlined the record of Hughes as governor of New York, and told of the fight he had made in the Empire State for decency in Albany, and for the dishing out of the race track gamblers.

"They say his backbone is full of ice water," exclaimed Mr. Roosevelt, with a laugh. "Don't you believe it. He is just as full of hot blood as any man of his years in the land. He is not 'too proud to fight,' nor is he unable to decide what he should do for more than five consecutive months. He knows what he wants and what the country needs, and once in the White House it will take a brave man or set of men to thwart him."

In speaking of the Mexican situation, Mr. Roosevelt declared that he was "too honest to be a hypocrite," and that he would "back and ally, and said this and done some other thing. We have talked about keeping peace and yet the judge advocate general of the army tells the administration that we are in a state of war with Mexico."

"What means all this? It means that we have not done our duty, that we have chattered idle nothing while the need pressed for action. We have permitted Mexico to be steeped in blood, including the blood of Americans, and we have written notes and mere notes and still more notes, until the air was filled with their flying leaves."

CHICAGO CHIEF OF POLICE INDICTED

C. C. Healey Accused of Plotting To Balk Anti-Gambling Law

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

CHICAGO, October 23—Chief of Police C. C. Healey yesterday was indicted by a grand jury, charged with malfeasance in office. He is accused of entering into a conspiracy to nullify the operation of the law against gambling.

This action was taken following the taking of sensational testimony in the course of which a number of police officers were called upon to give evidence against their chief. Among the others was Captain W. C. O'Brien.

Captain O'Brien's testimony involved a number of saloon licenses which he said he had asked the chief to revoke on the grounds that they were places of bad character, but he said his requests had been ignored. In other cases he said that revocations had been promptly followed by restorations. State Senator George F. Harding, he testified, was influential in obtaining some of the restorations.

A minister, the Rev. Myran F. Adams, pastor of the All Night Church on East Congress Street, also appeared against the chief.

The indictments were found upon the application of State Attorney McWay Hoyle, who asked for a warrant for the arrest of Chief Healey.

BULGARS AND TEUTONS CUT VITAL LINES IN DOBRUDJA

Reports From Berlin and Sofia Say That General von Mackensen Is Now Overrunning District After Rumanians

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

Smashing blows by von Mackensen breaks the Russian lines in the Dobrudja district and forces the evacuation of Constanta, besides cutting the railroad to Tchernavoda.

North of Droby in Galicia the Teutons have launched a number of attacks against the Russians, but are being beaten back, according to official reports from Petrograd.

In Macedonia the advance of the Serbs on the Germa river is halted, owing to the weather conditions.

The Italians began a heavy bombardment of the Austrian positions northwest of Trieste, which is taken to mean another effort to capture that seaport.

BRITISH AND FRENCH ON SOMME RIVER GAIN FAST

Sir Douglas Haig Takes One Thousand Yards From Germans Over Wide Front; Poilus Advance East of Sailly Saillise

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

PARIS, October 23—Constanta, Black Sea port, and entrance to the Dobrudja district is in the hands of the Germans and Bulgarians under General von Mackensen, and the vital railway line, that crossed the narrow neck of that region and connects the sea with the Danube, has been cut in two separate places.

Such are the main results of the fighting on the right wing of the Teutonic army in Dobrudja, according to the official reports from Berlin and Sofia last night.

The Italians began a heavy bombardment of the Austrian positions northwest of Trieste, which is taken to mean another effort to capture that seaport.

Overrunning District

Indeed, the reports from the theater in which von Mackensen is operating declare that the Germans are overrunning the entire district and that the Rumanians are feeble and hopelessly broken before the Teutonic attacks.

Despatches from Bucharest, however, while admitting that the Rumanian army and their Russian allies are retreating, declare that they are offering strong resistance to the further advance of the German-Bulgar troops, and although hampered by bad weather and poor roads, are conducting a masterly retreat.

Railroad Is Seized

It is admitted that the invaders have cut the railroad at the city of Murfatar, near the center of the stretch from Constanta to the river, and have pushed considerable distance beyond it.

In the mountain passes the Rumanians and the Teutons are still fighting desperately, and Bucharest reports minor successes, and to have driven the Austrians back into Transylvania once more.

Leaving the Rumanian front where the Allies have suffered a severe reverse the world interest last night swung to the Somme front once more. Here the British Tommies yesterday smashed into the German lines east of Guedecourt, and in the neighborhood of Les Boeufs, aiming at the Peronne-Lapaume road.

The Teutons held for a time, but finally broke and retreated for more than 1000 yards, leaving the ground gained by the British in the hands of the foe, without an effort at counter-attack.

Berlin Claims Repulse

Of another part of this front Berlin reports that British attacks were repulsed with bloody slaughter. This despatch refers to the fighting in the south of Le Mans, and around Barcourt, which last place is held by the French. Near Sailly Saillise the French advanced and took Spur 128.

DESPERATE STRUGGLE FOR MOUNTAIN PASSES

Berlin Admits That the British North of Somme Have Again Gained, But Says Cost To General Haig Was Staggering

(Associated Press by Federal Wireles.)

PARIS, October 23.—The Berlin war office yesterday announced that General von Mackensen's army had won a "decided victory over the Russians and Rumanians in the Dobrudja district."

According to this despatch, which was issued officially late yesterday afternoon, the Berlin authorities say that the entire allied army has been driven back from the Black Sea to the Danube front, and that von Mackensen has advanced towards the Constanza railroad, the objective of the Mackensen plan.

Uses Flank Attack

The details of the fighting, which now has been going forward for several days, are not yet made public in full, but it appears that von Mackensen had attacked on the flanks and had beaten the Rumanians along the Black Sea front, forcing them to retreat, thus exposing the flanks of the center of the Russian and Rumanian armies.

The first big battle undertaken by Mackensen in the Dobrudja district some weeks ago for the purpose of cutting the railway line from Tcheriavoda on the Danube to Constanza on the Black Sea. This line was covered by the Russo-Rumanian army lying some miles to the south of the railway.

Admits Close Call

Now Bucharest admits that at one time the Tuto-Bulgars had forced their way into Tcheriavoda, and that the Allies would have suffered a serious setback if on the wing nearest to the Black Sea they had not countered with effect, driving back the enemy's right wing and forcing a retirement along the whole line. It must have been at the moment that Mackensen's troops had broken into Tcheriavoda, and were seemingly in control not only of the railway but of the bridge across the Danube, that the Kaiser telegraphed to the German Emperor announcing a great victory for Mackensen. Berlin now makes no claim of control over the railway line across the Dobrudja, which Mackensen set himself to win.

Struggle For Passes Still

In the Transylvanian district the Rumanians and Austrians are still locked in a desperate struggle, which apparently has not yet reached a definite decision. The mountain passes of the Transylvanian Alps, for which the two armies are fighting, are splendid barriers for defense, and the Rumanians have lost them and have a desperately difficult task ahead before they can regain them.

The reports conflict, Berlin and Vienna reporting that the Rumanians have been forced back in the Buzeu Valley, while the formal announcement of the Rumanian war office says that the troops of King Ferdinand have repulsed the counter-attacks of the Tutos at the point of the bayonet "and are holding all the ground we had regained."

North of the Carpathians, the fighting has become more and more bloody and ferocious. Along the battlefields on the Narayuvka River the Russians have been attacking for days, and last night Berlin claimed that they have been totally beaten.

Berlin Claims Victory

The official report of the German general staff says that "the fighting in Galicia has resulted in an important victory for the German forces." The accounts from Petrograd declared that "the decision is still in the balance," and said that "the Russians have made some gains in various sections of the front."

To Macedonia the Serbs are still advancing, and have crossed the Cerna River, driving the Bulgarians and Germans ahead of them as they go. The British also are making gains in the Balkan fighting fields.

In France the fighting has been tremendous, and the Allies have kept up their steady grinding at the vitals of the Germans on the Somme. Berlin last night admitted further losses in that sector, and says in the official report of the action: "The British, by making reckless sacrifice of lives," have made gains in the section north of the river and towards Bapaume. The German statement adds that "some of the trenches we lost were retaken by counter-attacks."

LONDON, October 23.—The town of Sheerness, on the Kentish coast, was bombarded by a high-flying hostile aeroplane yesterday.

Four inflammable bombs were dropped as the enemy aircraft circled high over the town, three of them falling in the harbor and doing no damage. The fourth bomb struck the railway station and damaged several cars that were on a siding. Before more bombs could be dropped the invader was driven off by a host of British fighters. Later a British aeroplane that was seen to plunge into the sea is believed to have been the same that bombarded Sheerness.

LONG BRANCH, October 23.—President Wilson spent a quiet day yesterday and in the afternoon received several political friends and leaders. In conversation he expressed himself as satisfied with the campaign and is absolutely confident of reelection at the polls in November.

So far as the campaign is concerned, the President does not regard it seriously. Before leaving on his final speechmaking tour he will deliver two addresses here. The trip which will commence some time this week, includes Buffalo, Cincinnati and New York, at all of which places speeches will be made.

Twenty-seven Die in Gale On Lake Erie

Three Steamers Washed Ashore in First Big Storm of Season On Great Lakes; Captain Lone Survivor of Whaleback

(Associated Press by Federal Wireles.)

CLEVELAND, October 23.—As a result of the first big storm of the season on Lake Erie, three steamers and twenty-seven lives were lost.

Captain Walter Grashaw, who was washed ashore at Conneaut on a raft in a half-dead condition after having been adrift for thirty hours, told a harrowing tale of the wrecking of the whaleback steamer James B. Colgate, of which he was the master.

At the height of the gale on Friday night, when the sea was running high and it was impossible to see a dozen feet through the blinding storm, the freighter ran aground on one of the sand spits of Long Point, which is on the Canadian side of the lake, northeast from this city.

Before any life boats could be launched the ship was pounded so terribly by the sea that it foundered in a few moments. Nineteen members of the crew were drowned when the vessel went down.

While the ship was sinking, according to Captain Grashaw, a raft was cut loose from the deck of the vessel and two members of the crew besides Captain Grashaw succeeded in getting from the ship in safety.

For thirty hours the raft was driven at the mercy of the winds and rain and during the night both his companions were washed overboard and lost. Captain Grashaw, the lone survivor, succeeded in keeping hold of the raft, which was driven across the lake and finally washed ashore yesterday afternoon at Conneaut.

On Friday night the steamer Filer was sunk during the storm and all the crew, six men, with the exception of Captain Mattison, were lost. During the same hurricane the steamer Marshall F. Butters, founded and went to the bottom. Her crew of fifteen men were saved.

DR. WILLIAM L. MOORE PASSES AWAY Well-Known Physician Dies At Kahala

Illness of Three Months Ends in Death Despite Gallant Fight Made By the Patient; His Brother Doctors Honor Memory

(From Sunday Advertiser.)

After an illness of several months' duration, Dr. William Levi Moore died at four-fifteen yesterday morning at the home of John Waterhouse in Kahala, on the Waialae beach, to which place he had been taken from the Queen's Hospital on Thursday, October 12.

Dr. Moore became ill about three months ago and he was taken to the Queen's Hospital. Death resulted from blood poisoning, due to the treatment by him of a case of ophthalmia. The well-known physician was given the best medical attendance and treatment but his system became so permeated with the violent poison that recovery became impossible. During his lengthy illness Dr. Moore several times seemed to be improving, but relapses occurred which set him back again and again.

As he seemed better, and to have obtained all the good possible from the Queen's Hospital, on the advice of the attending physicians Dr. Moore was removed to Kahala on October 12, where, under the bright sun and clear air, he seemed to improve to a marked degree, but the fever obstinately held on and after a gallant struggle he decided to go away yesterday.

The body was taken to his home, 216 Green Street, at nine-thirty yesterday morning and rested there in the midst of his family and friends until four-thirty in the afternoon when it was removed to St. Andrew's Cathedral, where he was a communicant.

Dr. Moore's services were held at a block in the Union Mission building, where a large number of friends of the deceased present and the many eulogies of beautiful flowers were magnificent. A distinct mark of respect was paid in the fact that his pallbearers were physicians, something unusual, as men of the medical profession seldom officiate in such capacity. The pallbearers were Doctors Clifford B. Wood, Harvey W. Murray, George F. Strash, Edwin D. Killbuck, Arthur G. Hodgins, Archibald N. Sinclair, Charles B. Cooper, E. L. Hutcheson and James A. Morgan.

Sugar Easier Cargo For Ships To Carry Than Other Freight

George H. Robertson Tells Why It Should Be At Less Rates

George H. Robertson, vice president and manager of C. Brewer & Co., in the following statement gives reasons why sugar should be transported at a lower rate than general cargo:

"Talking about the suggestion of a writer in The Advertiser a few days ago that the freight rate on sugar should be raised as well as the rate on canned pineapple and general merchandise, it should be remembered that sugar in bags is loaded and stowed much easier and faster than canned goods. One thousand tons of sugar can be loaded and stowed in the same time that it takes to load and stow 700 tons of canned goods. And in discharging same goods at the coast the sugar can be put ashore nearly twice as fast as canned goods.

"Sugar at $5.00 per ton weight freight rate is a far better paying cargo than canned pineapple at $3.50 per ton measurement.

"Furthermore, nearly one and a half tons of sugar can be stowed in the same space, i. e., forty cubic feet that one ton of canned pineapple (measurement) occupies in a ship's hold."

INTER-ISLAND STILL BEING INVESTIGATED

Utilities Commission Must Hold At Least One Meeting More Before Reporting

Contrary to expectations the hearing on the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company's freight rates did not end yesterday before the public utilities commission. Instead, at least one more hearing was called for Tuesday afternoon at one-thirty o'clock, when Vice-President McLean and Assistant Manager Gedgo of the steamship company probably will take the stand. If the commission is unable to finish on Tuesday other meetings will have to be called.

In the absence of Chairman Forbes, Commissioner Gignoux occupied the chair during the examination of Captain W. G. Bennett, Captain S. J. Harris and Freight Clerk J. F. MacKenzie, all connected with the steamship company.

While being examined by Commissioner Carden in regard to taking shipments from Kahala for Maui ports, Captain Bennett stated that if all the freight from Honolulu could be sorted on the wharf before being loaded on the Glaudiv it would be possible to reserve space for Kahului freight. But he explained that it would require twice as much wharf space as at present available.

MacKenzie testified that freight had been refused from Kahului only three times because of lack of time and space. He advised that the best way to assure acceptance of freight was to take no cargo to Kahului on the Monday trip from Honolulu.

Remedy Comes Soon

When the subject of bruising cattle by the collision of barges was under discussion, Attorney L. J. Warren asked the commission that the company had taken steps to prevent such occurrences. He declared that the company had never heard of any complaints of this kind but was glad to be informed at any time of any matters that concerned shippers. He said that orders had already been given to masters to prevent further collision of loading barges.

Captain Harris informed the commission that the danger of collision of barges could be prevented by using a lead rope that could be thrown from the empty barge to the barge containing cattle. He also contradicted the testimony given by other witnesses in regard to the best way to handle cattle. According to Captain Harris it is crucial to hoist cattle by the horns and that the present method of using a sling is most humane. He also suggested that the use of a chute would be preferable to the sling.

PREMIER OF AUSTRIA SHOT FOR POLITICS SAYS SLAYER

Details of the Killing Show That Ludwig Adler, Vienna Editor, Had Deliberately Planned the Murder of the Prime Minister

UNCONCERNED WHEN HE IS FORCED TO SURRENDER

Publisher of Ultra Radical Paper, Declares That He Slew Count Because Latter Refused To Convene Austrian Parliament

(Associated Press by Federal Wireles.)

VIENNA, October 23.—Ludwig Adler, who shot and instantly killed Carl Stuerghk, prime minister of Austria, Saturday while the latter was dining at his favorite cafe, yesterday confessed to the police that the assassination was for purely political reasons.

Adler, who is an extremely radical socialist and the publisher of "Der Kampf," a socialist newspaper widely read in this city, told the police that he was prompted to the deed because Stuerghk had refused to convene parliament so as to avert a crisis in the Austrian cabinet.

Details of Shooting

Further details of the shooting show that the crime was committed in the most deliberate manner imaginable. "The Prime Minister was dining with Baron Aenrenthal, brother of the late foreign minister, Count Toggensur, governor of the Tyrol district and other persons prominent in the political life of Austria.

Adler entered the restaurant alone and when within a distance of three tables of the distinguished party, took deliberate aim and fired three shots. Two bullets took effect in the head of the Prime Minister who fell groaning to the floor and died almost instantly.

Before Adler had time to do further injury, if such was his intention, Baron Aenrenthal and the head waiter of the establishment threw themselves on the assailant and bore him to the ground. During the scuffle between the men, all the chambers of the revolver were emptied two of the bullets inflicting slight injury on the waiter and Baron Aenrenthal. Neither of the two were seriously wounded.

Adler Unconcerned

When Adler was lifted to his feet by his captors he did not appear to be concerned over his crime but in a calm voice announced with a show of bravado:

"Gentlemen, I fully realize what I have done. I have no regrets. I shot the Prime Minister purely for political reasons, and for the good of the country. I am ready to be arrested and to pay the penalty of the deed."

News Shocks Country

Throughout the empire the murder of Stuerghk has been received with extreme indignation and profound sorrow.

In official circles the crime is regarded as the deed of a madman and it is not thought that the death of Stuerghk will materially affect the present policy of the government, despite the fact that there have been riotous outbreaks throughout the city following the official announcement of the assassination.

THE ADVERTISER'S SEMI-WEEKLY

A Progressive Corporation

THE action taken yesterday by the rapid transit directors whereby they recommend to the company the immediate double tracking of King Street from the Waikiki Swamp to Fort Shafter...

It means that, despite the obstructive tactics which have been pursued by which the desires of the community have been thwarted...

The courts decided that the company had the right to issue the stock and it has been issued...

There are other extensions and improvements that ought to be made, and which doubtless will be made if the company has the guarantee of an extended franchise...

The rapid transit company has shown its hand. It is now up to the Governor to show his.

News Fakers Barred

JUST how much truth there has been in some of the "specials" which have been appearing in the Hearst newspapers regarding the war in Europe is shown by the fact that the representative of "The International News Service" in London...

In the house of commons on June 27 last, the secretary of state for the home department stated that attention had been called to an alleged telegram relating to the Jutland battle which appeared in certain American newspapers...

The home secretary referred on the same occasion to previous cases in which messages which purported from the London correspondent of The International News Service bore no likeness to the cablegram actually despatched.

On the third of September cablegrams were published in the United States purported to have come from London by The International News Service, giving various false statements about the air raid of the previous night...

In view of this continued garbling of messages and breach of faith on the part of The International News Service the secretary of state has directed that no representative of The International News Service shall be permitted to use the official press bureau and that the agency shall be debarred from the use of all facilities for the transmission of news until further notice.

Remove the Tabu

MODERN woman is intolerant of all restraints. She wants all bars down and resents any limitation of her rights as an individual. She feels that she is entitled to go wherever man is admitted. As a result of this impulse woman is found in all lines of human endeavor bearing her share of the burdens of the world.

And she also wants to share the privileges that have for centuries been accorded to men. In many States she has won the right to vote and will not give up her fight until this right is granted to her sisters in all States. Woman is literally hammering at all closed doors demanding entrance.

Woman is just as wide awake in Honolulu as her sister on the mainland. The latest evidence is an effort that is being made to admit women to the dining rooms of the Commercial Club of Honolulu during luncheon hour. President Joseph E. Sheedy has issued a circular to the members of the club asking them to attend a meeting to decide this momentous question.

A correspondent sends us the following clipping from Haiku. It has been printed before in The Advertiser, but it cannot be printed too often. It is advice to the married man who cannot get along without drink and suggests the following means of freedom from the bondage of the saloon. "Start a saloon in your own house," it says. "Be the only customer (you'll have no license to buy). Go to your wife and give her two dollars to buy a gallon of whiskey, and remember there are sixty-nine drinks in a gallon. Buy your drinks from no one but your wife, and by the time the first gallon is gone she will have eight dollars to put into the bank and two dollars to start business again. Should you live ten years and continue to buy booze from her, and then die with snakes in your boots, she will have enough money to bury you decently, educate your children, buy a house and lot, marry a decent man and quit thinking about you entirely."

Labor and Politics

THE open appeal of Samuel Gompers and the two vice-presidents of the American Federation of Labor on behalf of President Wilson indicates the fact that it is now recognized that some desperate expedient must be resorted to to save the Democratic nominee Saturday's action on the part of the labor leaders marks a new departure for organized labor, as never before has it taken so partisan a stand politically.

Undoubtedly the appeal of Gompers to "save the country from Wall Street" will have some effect and will bring to Mr. Wilson many votes that would otherwise be cast for Mr. Benson, the candidate for President of the Socialist party. It will not alienate many of the labor supporters of Mr. Hughes, who are supporting the Republican candidate on the tariff issue and who have not seen the flaw in the so-called "eight-hour law" and feel that they have been lincued by the professor.

A poll of a large number of the labor unions has been made by the Literary Digest, which notes the union trend towards Socialism. An extract from the summing up of the poll by the Digest says:

An official of a cigar-makers' union in Wisconsin took a secret ballot among his associates in five towns, with the result that Mr. Hughes received four votes, Mr. Wilson eight, and Mr. Benson thirty-two, and we hear from a painters' union in Sacramento that among these workers seventy per cent of the vote favors Mr. Benson, and twenty-five per cent, Mr. Wilson, leaving five per cent to Mr. Hughes. Another intimation of the spread of Socialism among the workers comes from a director of the Paving Cutters' Union, who confesses that it is rather difficult to say just what the present trend of sentiment is because theirs is largely a "floating trade," and they do not get close enough together to ascertain the political feeling of the membership, yet he believes that of the members with whom he has come in contact, the majority "would, if they had a vote, cast it for the Socialist candidate."

Following Mr. Benson's forty-seven votes comes Mr. Hughes with forty-three, and in his favor is the striking statement from the Central Labor Union of Asheville that sentiment is "fast changing in his direction." A cigar-makers' union in Illinois reports that seventy per cent of the members will vote for the Republican candidate, and in New York an association of saw-workers informs us that the majority of the membership will support Mr. Hughes, and the same is said of a cigar-makers' union in Wisconsin, where La Follette is the favorite for the senatorship. How the tariff persists as an issue is evidenced in the statement from a glove-workers' union in Gloversville, New York, that the town has always been a Republican stronghold because of the tariff on gloves. While this union favors Hughes, the official who gives us the information personally favors Wilson, and believes "a careful study of his record should convince labor leaders that he has represented labor wherever there has been an opportunity." But we hear from an official of the Brotherhood of Railway Postal Clerks, who disagrees with the member of this union quoted previously, that the men are "disgusted with the Administration's handling of the postal service, especially the railway mail service, and many lifelong Democrats will vote for Mr. Hughes." The Republican candidate is in favor also with the Organization of Railroad Laborers and Helpers of Montgomery, West Virginia, while we hear from the secretary of a local of the International Association of Machinists the following:

"At the time of the passage of the Adamson Bill there was considerable sentiment for Wilson, among the railroad men particularly. Since they have had an opportunity to study the bill and read the discussion of the bill by Hughes and others there has been a marked change in sentiment. I think they feel that they have been deceived and that the passage of the bill was done only for political reasons."

The Volcano Park Bill

DISCUSSING the congressional action which resulted in the passage of the Kilauea Park Bill, the Christian Science Monitor hints at some knowledge of "great changes" political, social and racial, to come to the Islands.

"Congress has taken action," says the Monitor, "that will lead to reservation of the first national park outside the continental boundaries of the United States. Territory in which the Hawaiian volcanoes Kilauea, Mauna Loa and Haleakala are situated has been taken over and put in charge of the department of the interior. Under the direction of Secretary Lane and his assistant, Stephen T. Mather, it is doing admirable work conserving the natural wonders and glories of the federal domain."

"This step, protecting unique assets of the Hawaiian Islands, has not met with serious local opposition. It has been seen that prudence dictates transfer to an authority not subject to local pressure supervision of areas that, as time goes on, under private ownership, might be exploited for selfish gain and injured in some of their extraordinary scenic features."

"Hawaii's growth of permanent settlers from many lands and her increasing floating population of tourists are rapidly forcing upon the islanders solution of problems that a generation ago did not exist. Profitable as are the insular businesses at the present time and generous as are the dominating elements of the population, it was not likely that in the near future private funds could be raised sufficient in amount to purchase the tract that will now be paid for out of the national treasury."

"For the world tourist the decision of the United States to assume care of the region which includes these volcanoes spells stability of administration and conservation of wealth of an unusual kind. Much of the future of the islands is shrouded in more or less uncertainty. Here is what seems to be assurance that however great political, racial and social change may come to a steadily enriched community, vandals are not to mar and speculators are not to traffic in the most august and impressive of the island's elevations."

LURLINE TO DEPART AFTER INSPECTION

Probably Proceed Today To Kaula—Then to San Francisco For Repairs

Carrying freight for Kahului, but neither freight nor passengers, the Maunaloa steamer Lurline probably will depart this afternoon for the Maui port. After discharging about 1025 tons, which she brought for Kahului, she will sail for San Francisco, to enter drydock there, where she will be held an indefinite period, possibly for a month, undergoing repair.

Her departure depends upon the verdict of the United States inspectors, Joseph J. Mac... and Thomas J. Healey, who are to give her a final inspection this morning at Pier 15.

Trial of Capt. Fred K. Smith, master of the Lurline, resulting from the accident of Wednesday morning, when the Lurline grazed a submerged rock at Makapuu Point, was completed by the United States steamboat inspectors yesterday, but their findings will not be made public until late today.

Divers yesterday were in plugging, from underneath, the aperture in the Lurline's hull caused by the accident of Wednesday morning. Afterwards work began on a concrete cofferdam inside the hull, and it is the opinion of this job that the inspectors will study today.

The freight transportation problem between the Coast and Honolulu, already serious, will be further complicated by the Lurline mishap, since there is no vessel to take her place and no one can estimate how long she will be off the run. The full extent of damage she sustained cannot be ascertained definitely until she enters drydock, where thorough inspection of the hull will be made.

Captain Smith reported that substantially another cargo lay on the pier at San Francisco awaiting shipment when the Lurline sailed, and all the freight which was expected to come by this vessel in the next trip, at least, must be handled by another carrier or await her return, whenever that may be.

MANY ISLAND FOLK RETURN FROM COAST IN OCEANIC STEAMER

Sierra Brings Theatrical Troupe and Baseball Players—Reports Smooth Voyage

With 129 passengers, 581 bags of mail and twenty-two tons of freight for Honolulu, the Oceanic steamer Sierra arrived from San Francisco yesterday morning, departing for Pago Pago and Sydney at midnight.

Repairs to a generator in the wireless equipment, which was found to have burned out after the Sierra reached port yesterday, delayed her departure eight hours. She was scheduled to get away at four o'clock in the afternoon. Time of her passage from San Francisco was five days, eighteen hours and nine minutes.

For Honolulu there were eighty-six cabin, twenty-six second class and seven steerage passengers. Many are island folk, returned from trips in the States. Among these are five members of the Chinese baseball team which left here last March for a tour of the mainland. The five are Victor L. Ayau, Fred Swan, W. A. Inman, J. E. Mori-yama and Y. C. Quon. Four others of the baseball aggregation remained in the States, after the team had finished its trip, playing a hundred and thirty-two games.

Ten Hawaiians who have been in Utah for many years, members of the Mormon church, returned by the Sierra. Capt. J. J. Koughan reported an excellent voyage. A. G. Conquest is punter and P. F. Johnson chief officer.

Among Honolulu arrivals were S. E. Bussard and bride, who come on a honeymoon trip.

Among passengers for Sydney was the Hon. Alexander Brown, coal magnate of Australia, and his son Russell Brown.

Miss L. E. Rees, accompanied by her sisters Mrs. L. E. Guest and Mrs. A. I. Smith, and Mr. Smith, arrived from Los Angeles for her wedding here to John C. Searle Jr.

J. B. Blackbeard, Mrs. Blackbeard and their child returned on the Sierra from a vacation tour on the mainland.

A company of twenty-seven theatrical people composing the Ingersoll troupe also arrived. They enlivened the voyage with an impromptu entertainment Saturday evening. The company is under management of Robert McGreer, former resident here. Audley Ingersoll, owner of the company, is well known on the Pacific Coast as a builder of amusement parks.

H. P. Phipps of New York, son of General Frank H. Phipps, U. S. A., retired, and his daughter, Miss L. D. Phipps, were among the visitors to the island aboard the Sierra.

H. D. Woodward came in on the Sierra on a business trip from San Francisco.

Academy Overcrowded As a Result of Doubling of Corps By Congress

Will Be Resorted To As Corps Grows; New Construction Is Delayed

While Congress at its last session passed the bill doubling the cadet corps at West Point it did not appropriate a cent for the construction of buildings necessary for the accommodation and training of the increased number. Plans for these buildings had been drawn by officers at West Point and had been approved by a government board of which Maj. Gen. Hugh L. Scott, chief of the general staff, was president, and Sully by Secretary of War Baker. But Congress postponed action until last session and inserted in the military academy bill a paragraph directing the secretary to appoint another board to take up the matter.

The first contingent of the increased quota of cadets has arrived at the academy. So crowded are the cadet barracks as a result of the authorities have been compelled to assign three cadets to a room in 120 of the rooms, while the limit of the mess hall has been reached so far as feeding all the cadets at the same time is concerned. In June the second contingent of the increased quota will report, necessitating the placing of three or even four cadets in every available room, and for the first time in the history of the academy a first and second table at all meals.

The new construction necessary calls for $3,074,070, of which $770,543 is needed to build a new mess hall, $850,236 for new cadet barracks, and $228,900 for additional quarters for officers. In his report for 1916, Brig. Gen. C. P. Townley, who recently completed his four years' tour as superintendent of the military academy, speaking of the increase of the corps, said:

"This increase, although spread over a period of four years, makes it imperative that the erection of the necessary buildings should be started at the earliest date. It will require two years and perhaps more in some cases to complete the large buildings after they are started. This coming year's increase will be handled with the present plant, but further material increase in the corps of cadets calls for more accommodations and it will be difficult to have the buildings ready in time even if there was authority to start them at once."

Cadet barracks	$770,543
Cadet barracks	503,258
Cadet hospital	270,000
Officers' quarters	288,000
Cadet laundry	118,000
New roads, paving, etc.	120,000
Architects' and engineer's fees	100,000
Quarry work for foundations, walls, grading, etc.	140,000
Alterations academic buildings	42,000
Camp grounds, drainage, etc.	41,000
Heating, lighting, sewers, etc.	80,000
Cavalry and artillery stables	35,000
Infantry men's barracks	100,000
Miscellaneous expenses	50,000
Total	$3,074,070

The new construction board consists of Colonel Isaac N. Littell of the Quartermaster Corps; Colonel John Biddele, the new superintendent of the academy, and Lieut. Col. Edwin B. Stuart, Professor of drawing at West Point. It is believed it will approve the plans already approved. This board is directed to report to Congress on the first Monday in December, but the opinion is general that nothing will be done in the matter by Congress until January or February.

"In the meantime," an officer said yesterday, "the second increment of new cadets, which will bring the strength of the corps to between 900 and 1000, will be getting ready to report. It was to obviate the present delay that Colonel Townley worked so hard in 1915 and again in 1916. Had his recommendations been followed by Congress the barracks and mess hall would be well on the way to completion by the time the 1917 increase began coming in."

The total amount appropriated by Congress last session for "buildings and grounds" at West Point was $120,633.33.

WASHINGTON DENIES OVERCROWDING

According to war department officials statements of overcrowding of the cadet quarters at West Point are not justified, says a Washington despatch to the New York Times. Congress last session provided that the number of cadet appointments should be increased in each of four years by yearly increments of 180, or 720 in all, a doubling of the present cadet strength at the end of the four-year period. The first increment has been at West Point for two months, and, according to reports reaching Washington, its members have been adequately housed.

The existing quarters, war department officials say, will accommodate something more than the entire membership of the old cadet corps of about 700. It was explained that the new West Point board, provided for in the recent congressional legislation, had been convened and would take up the matter of providing additional quarters for the increased cadet corps at once. The board, it was said, would report to Congress next session, so that Congress would have an opportunity to appropriate for the erection of additional quarters before the second increment of increase in the cadet corps.

According to reports reaching Washington a large number of the West Point cadets have been held in camp as a precaution against infection from infantile paralysis, and this has relieved congestion of the dormitories.

WEST FRONT IS SCENE OF BIG BRITISH OFFENSIVE

French Win Wood North of Chaumes, But Are Hard Put To It To Beat Back a Number of Teutonic Attacks Elsewhere

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
LONDON, October 22.—On a front more than 5000 yards long the British yesterday drove the Germans back three or four hundred yards, capturing a number of important positions and compelling the Teutons under the command of the Crown Prince Rupprecht to abandon their counter attacks.

The line of advance lies between the Schwaben Redoubt and Le Sars at the Somme front, and among the other points taken by storm were the redoubts of Stuff and Regina. In addition a number of trenches were taken and several hundred prisoners fell into the hands of the British troops.

The final success of the day of tremendous fighting did not come until late, and several times the British were compelled to fall back before the concentrated fire of the German artillery and machine guns. Tommy Atkins and the colonial troops, which made up the mass of the attacking forces, rallied each time and drove once more at the enemy winning their ground and holding it before night brought the battle to a temporary stop.

German Positions Powerful

The German positions in this sector of the Somme field were particularly strong, and proved a hard nut for the British to crack. The Teutons also had had plenty of warning of the prospective attack in the fierce bombardment which the British launched against their lines, at the outset, and had massed a quantity of artillery, machine guns and men to meet the expected offensive.

In spite of all this the attack of the men under Sir Douglas Haig, was more than the Germans could resist, and between La Sars and Eaucourt l'Abbaye their lines held but a short time under the combined artillery and infantry attacks.

The British plan however had been carefully gone over the night before and each officer in command of a company knew exactly what was expected of him and his men, and acting under orders made no attempt to advance after taking the ground assigned to him.

French Repulse Attacks

While the British were striking hard at the Germans in the northern division of the Somme battlefield the French were warding off a series of blows in the southern. In addition they were beating back a number of German assaults against their newly won positions in the neighborhood of Sully Saillisel, which lies to the north of le Bois St. Pierre Vaast.

In the vicinity of Blaches, the point at which the French line is nearest to Peronne, the Germans attacked strongly only to be hurled back by the French artillery fire and machine guns. Farther

ORGANIZED LABOR JOINS RANKS OF WILSON BACKERS

American Federation Sends Circular Letter To All Officers Calling Them To Get Out Vote of Wage Earners For President

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
WASHINGTON, October 22.—Organized labor has taken the political field against Hughes and in behalf of President Wilson.

Announcement to this effect was made last night when it became known that a circular letter, signed by the heads of the American Federation of Labor, has been addressed to all officers of organized labor throughout the entire country.

The appeal was issued from the headquarters of the federation here, and has been signed by the president of the federation, Samuel Gompers, and Vice-presidents O'Connell and Morrison.

In the statement issued from headquarters last night it was pointed out that labor feels that Wilson stands for the "workingman," while Hughes is a "candidate of the interests."

The circular letter which has been sent out by the organization directs the calling of special political meetings of the branches of the federation to consider the issues raised in this campaign, and also to make arrangements for "getting out the labor vote."

"See that the wage-earners of the country go to the polls to protect their interests against those of Wall Street," is the way the circular reads.

Admiralty Reports That German Warship Escaped Being Sunk By Submarine

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
LONDON, October 22.—A British submarine is reported to have badly damaged a light cruiser of the German navy, which however, managed to escape being sunk.

This statement which was issued last night by the British admiralty, preceded an announcement made by the Admiralty's agency, that two British and three neutral steamers have been sunk with the loss of at least eight lives upon one of them, the Swedish steamer Alfrida, the British steamers sunk were the Hugonot, and Marchioness. The remaining neutral vessels sent down were the Norwegian vessels Athens and the Haudrot.

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
POINT REYES, California, October 22.—The schooner Daisy Gadaby, with a crew of twenty-nine, grounded yesterday afternoon about 200 yards off shore here, but later was successfully floated. to the south near the little town of La Maisonette, the Teuton commanders also launched a number of attacks.

Germans Gain Foothold

There, also they were beaten and failed to fall back to their trenches, but in the trenches along the north end of le Bois Blaise they managed to gain a temporary foothold.

In the sector, near Chaumes the French thrust vigorously and took the wood which had protected the German lines in that sector, which is now bare to future attacks.

RICH CALIFORNIAN ADMITS MURDERS

Benton L. Barrett of Santa Monica Tells of Slaying Wife and Stepson

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
LOS ANGELES, October 22.—Details of a horrid murder were voluntarily laid bare to the police yesterday by Benton L. Barrett, a wealthy man aged sixty-four of Santa Monica. Barrett admitted the killing of his wife and his stepson, a lad of seventeen, and the cremating of their bodies before life had fully departed.

The story of the double killing was told first by Barrett to his attorney, who took Barrett to Chief of Police Butler, to whom the tale was repeated. Detectives were at once put to searching the Barrett house and grounds at Santa Monica and unearthed the charred bones and teeth of the victims.

According to the story told by Barrett he had been burning brush near his house when he was attacked by his wife, who was armed with a butcher knife. She was aided by her son, who brandished the handle of an ax.

After repulsing their attacks for a time Barrett says that he lost his temper and infuriated, beat down the woman and lad, and threw them, still alive, on the heap of burning brush.

They died in a few moments, and after piling more brush upon the bodies until they were incinerated, he took the ashes to a hole which he had dug in his lawn. The police found the remains where Barrett said he had put them.

The Chinese police guarding around the concession have been arrested and Frenchmen substituted. The occupied district is thickly populated with Chinese who are breathing violence. The Chinese press asserts that "this surpasses Japanese tactics in actual warfare against defenseless China."

SOLDIER SUICIDE IS SUSPECTED OF CRIME

Lying near the Kalohi swamps, in an advanced stage of decomposition, the body of Pvt. Arthur Richards, Company K, Second Infantry, was found by a Japanese fisherman early yesterday morning.

Tightly clutched in the dead man's left hand was an army regulation automatic revolver. Upon examination it was found that a bullet had penetrated the brain near the temple. Suicide was the verdict rendered by the military authorities, who took the body in charge.

Richards has been missing from his company since September 16, the same day that a young Portuguese girl was assaulted by a man wearing the service uniform. Detectives link the suicide and evidence surrounding it with the assault committed. A photograph of the dead man will be shown to residents of the Kalohi district, who say that they can identify the girl's assailant. If Richards is identified as the person who ravished the child, mystery which surrounded the case will have been cleared up.

AUSTRIAN PREMIER SHOT BY EDITOR OF VIENNA PAPER

Publisher Enters Dining Room of Hotel Where Prime Minister Is Sitting and Fires Three Shots Killing Statesman Instantly

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
LONDON, October 22.—Count Carl Stuerghk, prime minister of Austria, was shot and killed while dining at his hotel yesterday, by Ludwig Adler, publisher of a Vienna newspaper.

No reason is given for the deed in the meager reports which the Austrian and German censorship has allowed to become known to the rest of the world, nor are many of the details of the affair allowed to become known.

Adler is the publisher of a daily newspaper in Vienna and Count Stuerghk has been prominent in the political affairs of his country for many years.

It is reported that the aged Austrian Emperor is much affected by the killing and has called a meeting of the cabinet to consider the matter this afternoon.

The prime minister was sitting at the table in his favorite place when the publisher entered and immediately began firing. Three shots were fired, killing the count instantly.

Count Stuerghk was minister of public works in the cabinet formed in 1909 and after his retirement in 1911 he was asked to form a new ministry. He was born in 1859 in Graz, began his parliamentary career in 1891, was elected to the Reichsrath in 1894 and became a ministerial director in the department of which he afterwards became head. He was out of office for a time, resigning after the fall of the Windische Graetz cabinet.

Recently the Vienna correspondent of the Vossische Zeitung of Berlin cabled that a ministerial crisis at Vienna was unavoidable, but gave no reason.

DILLINGHAMS GIVE $10,000 FOR HOME

Money Will Build Cottage For Salvation Army Institution In Manoa Valley

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Dillingham have added to their long list of gifts to charity a sum of $10,000 for the erection of a cottage for the Salvation Army Girls' Home in Manoa Valley. This donation became known yesterday, although the money was received by the finance committee of the home six weeks ago.

The cottage which will care for babies entering the home until they are six years old will be named "The Dillingham Cottage" after the couple who have so staunchly backed the institution since it was founded.

With the cottage which will accommodate thirty babies the home will have put into operation the cottage system where children of different ages may be segregated.

Foreign R. Payne chairman of the finance committee of the home, told of the contribution last night. "Few persons know just what a great help Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Dillingham's gift will be to the home," said the speaker.

"When the 'Dillingham Cottage' is completed the home will be able to care for a great many more homeless children than heretofore, because, with a cottage system in operation, space will be saved by having children of corresponding years housed together. This will aid materially in their education."

The "Friends Cottage" which was given by Mrs. J. P. Cooke, Mrs. W. H. Baldwin and J. M. Wilcox, is now nearing completion and will be furnished the latter part of this week. The "Cooke" cottage accommodates youngsters between nine and eleven years. The "Friends Cottage" will be reserved for many of the older girls who are now sadly crowded in the main building.

Adjutant C. Sabine in charge of the home, said that with the completion of the additions Manoa valley may be able to boast of one of the prettiest homes of the Salvation Army.

A. M. BROWN WINS POINT IN OWN CASE

Judge Ashford Overrules Demurrer in Pearl City Injunction Suit

A. M. Brown won a point in court yesterday when Judge Ashford overruled the demurrer to the complaint in the injunction suit instituted by the city attorney, in his private capacity as a citizen, property owner and taxpayer, against the city supervisors and other municipal officials.

The case arises over the decision of the board of supervisors to build a $550 schoolhouse in Pearl City, this island, the item not having been included in the school budget prepared for the period. Work on the school was underway when Mr. Brown had it stopped with his injunction suit. Permission was later secured to roof the structure, to prevent it suffering damage from the elements. Otherwise the schoolhouse is now a mere skeleton.

"It is my judgment that the board is not now, and was not, at the date of said resolution, at liberty to divert or transfer the said sum of $550 from the purposes specifically set forth in said schedule, in order to defray the expense of constructing at Pearl City a school building which has not been specifically authorized by the legislature," says Judge Ashford in concluding a lengthy and exhaustive opinion and decision on the demurrer, which had been argued before him at great length.

"The demurrer is therefore overruled, with leave to the demurrants to answer the bill of complaint within ten days."

OLAA DIVIDEND IS CUT BY DIRECTORS

At a meeting of the directors of Olan Sugar Company yesterday morning it was voted to reduce the monthly dividends to ten cents per share from November 10 until further notice. After the meeting A. W. T. Bottomley, speaking for Bishop & Company, agents of the Olan Plantation, stated that at the end of December, 1916, there will be a credit balance of $160,000, provided sugar prices remain normal.

"If the present prices continue the company will continue the new dividend rate much better," he said.

The 1917 crop will probably amount to 30,000 tons, although many believe the yield will be higher. Olan is capitalized at $5,000,000 and is bonded for $24,000.

UNWRITTEN LAW NO HELP TO KAIODE

Wife Who Caused a Murder Reconciled To Husband On His Way To Penitentiary

(Mail Special to The Advertiser.)
HUIO, October 20.—Sitting on the bench of the fourth circuit court yesterday morning was the wife of Nicolas Kaiode, who was before Judge Quinn on a charge of murder for killing her lover, Hilario, at Pahoa last month. She was a miniature specimen of a woman, and sat there with her hand done up in bandages, showing that she had lost the first finger of her right hand. She was waiting for the news of what happened to her husband.

Within the courtroom, where Judge Quinn had refused to accept a plea of murder in the first degree, he, at this time, permitted Kaiode to withdraw his enforced plea of not guilty and to plead guilty to a charge of murder in the second degree. Attorney Correa represented the prisoner in court.

County Attorney Beers stated that he would accept a plea of murder in the second degree.

Judge Quinn, however, said he could not do that, as the prisoner could not plead to a charge which had not been made against him. He might say he was willing to plead to such a charge, but the charge would have to be made first before the plea could be accepted. Mr. Beers then said such would be the charge, and made it.

After these preliminaries Kaiode was allowed to plead guilty to a charge of murder in the second degree, which he did. Judge Quinn asked a man to tell his story of the killing of Hilario.

"On September 9, last," said Kaiode, through an interpreter, "I went to work, and when I returned my wife was in our room, but in the room of another man. When I saw them kissing together I took a knife and began striking at him. I did not try to strike my wife, but she tried to stop me and I cut her by accident."

In this brief way Kaiode told the tragedy of his love and life. He is only twenty-four years old, but has been married five years, and for the three years he has been in Hawaii has made an excellent reputation for himself as a worker on the plantations, mostly at Olan. The couple have a son nearly five years old. The woman was wounded so badly that it was stated she could not care for the child.

"Where was the child when you came home?" asked the judge.

"He was playing outside," replied Kaiode.

"Did you ask your wife to go home with you?"

"Yes, I asked her to come back."

"What did she say?"

"She told me to go home."

"Where was the child then?"

"In the next room."

Attorney Correa then explained the circumstances of the case and of the arraignment Kaiode had.

County Attorney Beers explained that the law provided a minimum of twenty years in prison for murder in the second degree.

It was apparent from the manner of Judge Quinn that he would have imposed a milder sentence on Kaiode, if the law permitted, but as it was he sentenced him to not less than twenty, nor more than twenty years and six months in prison, which is the smallest sentence he could give him under the circumstances.

When Kaiode was sentenced on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon on his wife and the costs of the court, but in this case Judge Quinn ordered that the two sentences run concurrently, so that Kaiode will serve both sentences within the time of the longer one.

When Kaiode left the court he was greeted lovingly by his wife, who was stuck by him, comforting him, until he was locked in jail.

RUMANIA AND SLAV ARMIES FORCED BACK IN DOBRUDJA

Three Thousand Russians and Several Hundred of King Ferdinand's Troops Fall Into the Hands of Von Mackensen

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
PARIS, October 22.—Forced backward in the western theater of the great war, the Germans have advanced in the eastern front and have again defeated the Russians and Rumanians in the Dobrudja district, reports of Bucharest substantiating reports from Berlin and Vienna.

In Macedonia, however, the battle has not gone their way, for the Serbians are still moving steadily forward, and the British have also reported minor gains in the vicinity of the Struma River valley.

The defeat of the Slavs and their Rumanian allies in the Dobrudja was of small importance, according to Petrograd, the lost territory including but one small village. Berlin and Vienna, however, report that "we have made good progress on a forty-mile front in the direction of the Constantza-Theravoda railroad."

This is the railroad line that bisects the district about midway north and south, and traverses the country from the Danube River to the Black Sea, where the port of Constantza is the main inlet for Russian reinforcements for Rumania.

Petrograd Admits Reverse

Petrograd issued a statement dealing with the fighting in this district, which announced that the Russians had evacuated the village of Kokorjia, but adds that later "attacks have been repulsed by the Russians."

Late German and Austrian reports of this battle declare that von Mackensen has resumed with marked success his attacks upon the lines of the enemy, and has beaten them back over a forty mile front, with the capture of 3000 Russian and several hundred Rumanian prisoners.

The Teuton armies have forced their way into the positions held by the "elite troops along the Black Sea," adds this account of the fighting, and that south of Racheva they have taken positions which they are holding despite strong efforts to dislodge them. In the neighborhood of Tula the Teutonic claims are to the effect that they have crowned a number of heights of importance to the rest of the line locally, as they command a part of the defenses of the Black Sea.

Berlin Official Report

Other despatches from Berlin declare that "in the Transylvania sector the Rumanians have sustained a repulse south of Racheva, while in the Dobrudja district, where the Russians are vainly attempting to reinforce the Rumanians and make a successful stand, the Teutons are progressing along the Black Sea, having captured the town of Tuzia and stormed the heights north-west of Muleiova have also been taken with 3000 Russian prisoners. Russian attempts to take trenches on the west bank of the Stock river have been frustrated by Prince Leopold's army."

Rumanians Claim Gains

In other sections of the Rumanian theater King Ferdinand's troops have been more successful for Bucharest reports that the Rumanian armies have taken 600 prisoners from von Falkenhayn on their own border but had been forced to retire south of Konstadt.

North of the town of Bred, on the Serbian front in Macedonia the Serbs have pushed steadily forward and are more than four miles to the north of the town which they took last week by storm, after series of desperate attacks.

Reports of this fighting in conflict for Sofia says that all "Serbian attacks have been repulsed and desperate fighting continues," while other reports state that the Serbs have crossed the Cerna river and have made marked progress, capturing several villages in their pathway.

TEUTONS AGAIN ON OFFENSIVE GAINING GROUND EAST AND WEST

Prince Rupprecht Drives Against British New Positions Before Bapaume and Retakes Ground Lost By Him Wednesday

RUMANIAN RIGHT ON BLACK SEA DEFEATED

Reports From East Front Differ, Both Berlin and Petrograd Claiming the Advantages In Galicia After Bloody Day

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

A general German and Austrian offensive on the French, Galician and Rumanian fronts has been launched, the Teutons gaining in these theaters.

In Northern Macedonia the Allies' offensive has been checked.

Some ground lost to Germans in France has been regained by Prince Rupprecht.

Two thousand Russian prisoners have been taken near Lemberg.

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

LONDON, October 21.—Yesterday's battling was marked by a renewal of the Teutonic offensives in France, Galicia and on the Dobruja fronts, in each of which the Central Powers either made progress or regained some of the ground recently lost.

The reports from Berlin and Vienna record substantial gains in Galicia and against the Russo-Rumanian army on the Dobruja line in Rumania. These reports being uncontradicted, Bucharest admits that her army has been forced to give ground before the smash of von Mackensen and that the right wing, resting on the Black Sea, has been driven from its advanced positions.

Petrograd denies, loss

Petrograd announces that the German attacks on the Galician front have been repelled with heavy losses to the attackers, while the Berlin announcements state that the Teutons have stormed and captured positions on the left bank of the Nafuvukva River, southeast of Lemberg, and have successfully resisted the Russian attempts to regain these positions by a series of fierce counter attacks. Here the Germans took fourteen officers, 2050 men and eleven machine guns.

On the Transylvania front there has been heavy fighting with both sides claiming to have secured the advantage. Both Vienna and Bucharest agree in that the slaughter on this battlefield has been terrific.

Prinze Rupprecht, according to the Berlin despatches, has resumed the offensive on the Somme and yesterday regained the British positions between L'Abbaye and the Bapaume front, on the road from Guinecourt to Benaucourt. The drive carried the Germans into most of the positions captured by the British on Wednesday, the Germans holding this regained ground last night.

Between Courcellette and Lesars, on the Bapaume road, the British attempted to advance, and here they were thrown back, says the German official despatches.

British Claims Differ

The official press bureau here gives out a different statement of the situation, although agreeing with the Berlin account that the Germans have resumed the offensive. The British official statement is that the Germans attacked heavily in the Thiepval sector and were repulsed with heavy losses in killed and captured. Elsewhere on the British front in France there has been largely heavy artillery work with some few German attacks, which were without result.

The official communications from Paris agree with the British despatches.

Petrograd is the only capital to report on the Volhynia front, stating that "very and undecided fighting is still going on there."

Kaiser On West

An Amsterdam despatch states that the Cologne Gazette announces the presence of the Kaiser on the Champagne front, where he presented General von Einem, one of his commanders, with the Order Pour Le Merite. The Kaiser is reported in excellent spirits and confident of victory.

An afternoon Berlin despatch states that the Germans have found means of checking the British tanks. These were used by the British in attempting to advance from Courcellette, but were met by big guns which put the rimped cars out of commission.

MUNSTERBERG SEES STRANGE ALLIANCE

Russia To Make Peace Soon and Germany, Austria, Russia and Japan To Be Allies

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

CAMBRIDGE, Massachusetts, October 21.—A startling prediction regarding the realignment of some of the nations now at war within a few months was made here last night in an address delivered by Prof. Hugo Munsterberg of Harvard, who stated that he had reliable information upon which to base his announcements.

The first event of world-wide importance that is to happen, he says, is the withdrawal of Russia from the war and the conclusion of a separate peace treaty between Russia, Austria and Germany. This separate peace treaty is now the subject of direct negotiations and will be concluded long before next spring.

Russia Staggering

"The Russians are unable much longer to maintain their end of the conflict against the Central Powers," said Professor Munsterberg. "Only a separate peace will save that nation from a tremendous defeat. Russia now is half bankrupt and her people are starving. She must conclude a peace and her allies, Great Britain and France, will agree to it. A separate peace, then, is her only alternative."

As a result of the breaking away of Russia from the Entente, Japan will also break away, being bound now to Russia by ties closer than those which bind her to any other party to the Entente.

When Japan breaks away an alliance will then be concluded between Germany, Austria, Russia, and Japan, a combination that will control absolutely in the Orient and to which will come the task of the upbuilding of Asia.

WHEAT CONTINUES TO BREAK RECORDS

December Deliveries Reach Such Figure That Attempt To Secure Embargo Will Be Begun

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

CHICAGO, October 21.—The price of wheat continues to soar and records in the pit are being broken almost hourly. Yesterday the cereal touched the high mark of $1.71 3/4 a bushel for December deliveries.

So high is the price of wheat and so apparently strong is the demand that B. H. Dahlheimer, the president of the master bakers' association, announced that on Monday there will be started a systematic campaign through congressmen for the placing of an embargo upon all foreign shipments until the domestic demand end is satisfied.

With the price of flour rising daily, said Mr. Dahlheimer, it is certain that the size of the standard five cent loaf of bread will have to be cut down.

CRANK ATTEMPTS TO ATTACK WILSON

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

PITTSBURGH, October 20.—What might have been the attack of a dangerous and armed crank on President Wilson was averted today during an auto trip through Pittsburgh.

A workman with a toolbox, after chasing the president's car as it rolled through the streets, leaped on the running board. A secret service man, who always accompanies the president and usually rides in the front seat of the auto, leaped forward and with a powerful blow knocked the man to the ground.

When first arrested he talked through a window, saying that he was not satisfied with the President's conduct of the European war.

DIPHTHERIA—HOW IT MAY BE AVOIDED.

Diphtheria is usually contracted when the child has a cold. The organism preys on the child's system for the reception and development of the diphtheria germ. When there are cases of diphtheria in the neighborhood children that have colds should be kept at home and off the street until recovered. Give them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and they will not have to remain at home long. It also cleans out the culture beds, which form in a child's throat when it has a cold, and minimizes the risk of contracting infectious diseases. For sale by all dealers. Border Guards Have a Battle With Greasers

Drunk Mexican At San Jose Started Fusillade

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, October 21.—Continued disturbances along the Big Bend section of the border culminated yesterday in a small battle which lasted for forty-five minutes, in which American troops held off a large band of Mexicans.

The Mexicans, according to accounts, were mad with drink and advanced to the line, hurling insults at the American pickets during guard duty at San Jose, near Big Bend. These guards sent out at night and reinforcements were hurried to the scene.

When the border guard began to be strengthened, one of the Mexican bandits fired. This appeared to be a signal and the Mexicans scattered for shelter and began a desultory bombardment of the Americans. The soldiers also sought shelter and for three quarters of an hour the bullets flew back and forth across the line.

There were no Americans hit, but it is believed that a number of the Mexicans, who exposed themselves in their drunken fury, were either killed or wounded.

Two American and One Coast Marks Set By Her In San Francisco Tank Last Night

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

SAN FRANCISCO, October 21.—Miss Frances Cowell, in competitions here last night, established two American swimming records and hung up a new Coast mark.

In the 100-yard swim she covered the distance in six minutes and fifty-nine and a fifth seconds, a new American record for women for the distance.

Another American record went in the five hundred yard events, which this speedy swimmer covered in eight minutes flat.

In the two hundred and twenty yard swim she set a record of three minutes, fifteen and one fifth seconds, the fastest time that has ever been made in a Coast tank.

These records were made in a sanctioned meet and will be allowed by the A. A. U. authorities.

MANILA MAIL FROM BORNEO IS SEIZED

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

WASHINGTON, October 21.—Information has been received by the state department that the Dutch steamer Arakan, bound from Borneo ports to Manila, was stopped on the high seas by a British warship and her mail confiscated. The seizure of this American-bound mail took place on August 30.

There is no official explanation of this action of the British. It is probable that an inquiry as to the reason for the stoppage of this mail and as to the fate of the confiscated letters will be made by the state department.

MORE TROOPS FOR BALKAN CAMPAIGN

Force of General Sarraill Being Added To—Athens In Turmoil As Allies Take Possession

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

LONDON, October 21.—That the Entente expects to make the Balkan campaign one of its principal concerns this winter appears evident from the attention that is being paid to the developments at Athens and from the manner in which reinforcements for General Sarraill are being poured into Salonika.

Yesterday another strong force was landed from transports at Salonika, while it is known now that additional troops from both France and England are en route to this port for the Allies' offensive against the Bulgarians.

Rumanians Gaining

The Rumanians, according to Bucharest advices, have maintained the advantages they gained against the Austro-Germans in the Cotus Valley, through which the invasion of Rumania had come. The invaders, reports Bucharest, are being steadily driven back to their frontier.

A-cha's Bull Fight

Though French, Italian and some British troops are being poured into Athens, Piræus and other Greek cities in an effort to quell the rising disorders and effect the Allies' control of the country, the situation is growing worse, say reports.

A report's despatch from Athens today says that conditions in the Greek capital are extremely turbulent. Greek reservists are taking the law into their own hands. Riots growing from demonstrations against the Entente powers at times assume serious proportions and the Allies commanders complain that the Greek police and soldiers do not or will not enforce order.

Despite the presence of the Entente marines, whose numbers are being augmented and who are patrolling the streets, the Greek authorities are giving the Allied commanders practically no assistance in efforts to preserve order.

Reservists Out of Hand

A statement from Athens says: "It is evident that the reservists are out of hand, despite the fact that there are strong cavalry detachments escorting the French and other marines. Greek marines and soldiers are everywhere, yet the reservists are taking the law into their own hands. The Greek forces do not dispose of these disorderly elements."

The chief of the French police patrol has notified the editors of the papers opposing the Venizelos party that the French will hereafter exercise censorship over their papers.

SAW WOMEN OUTRAGED AND CHILDREN TORTURED

Calls Upon Americans To Clear Nation's Good Name By Wiping Out Wilson Administration

How Americans have suffered under the Wilson "watchful waiting" policy is being told throughout the mainland by Mrs. Nelson O'Shaughnessy, wife of the former Mexican charge d'affaires, now one of the women campaigners who, starting from New York, are engaged in a transcontinental tour urging the election of Charles E. Hughes.

Mrs. O'Shaughnessy tells a brief story, but one that makes every loyal American blush with shame for the ignominy the Wilson administration has caused to be heaped upon the United States and the stars and stripes.

"I am for Hughes because with my own eyes," she said, "I have seen the destruction of a nation; with my own eyes I have heard the cries of that bleeding, agonized, helpless people of what three years ago was the Mexican people."

"I have seen the House of God profaned, the ministers of Christ cast into ignominy, holy women have been defiled and last, but not least—I have seen our citizens, whose right to protection there is as indisputable as that of the sons of England, Germany, France, Spain, Japan, despoiled of the fruits of honest labor—and Oh, my friends, weep with me—

"I have seen our women outraged, our children tortured, our men lying in their blood.

"But now, with the help of God, and confiding in the underlying greatness of our nation, I hope for the vindication of our honor where other nations are concerned, and the performance of our duty where our own people are concerned."

Mrs. Antin is another member of the delegation on the "Women's Hughes Special," now on the Coast. In her addresses she characterizes Governor Hughes as a practical crusader for Americanism long before, as she put it, "hyphenism became a fashion and a passion."

"Looking about for a master workman for this task of nation building, we for whom the name America sum up the great hope of humanity have chosen a man who has already made a record in a parallel enterprise, Charles E. Hughes, who as Governor of New York a decade ago already sensed the need of social justice for spiritual integration, a man who thought as a statesman, and fought for his policies like a crusader," she says. "We want Hughes to do for the United States what he did for New York State. We want for President a man who can define an issue and stick to it and fight for it. We want this man Hughes to help us lay the foundations of national unity in condition of life and labor that shall not shame our democracy."

Mrs. William Curtis Demorest declared the Women's campaign train is essentially a practical enterprise.

"We are out for votes," she exclaimed. "We are to proselytize and to recruit. I recall the story of an English woman of high rank who was recruited for the English army. Seeing an Irishman milking a cow in the field she said: 'My good man why are you not at the front?' 'Because,' he answered, 'I think I will get more milk here.'"

"We are out for the milk. We cannot stop with enthusiasm, meetings and gatherings and cheering and cheering. What we need is definite enrollment."

The women are carrying a corps of secretaries and stenographers. The baggage car is piled high with trunks of all kinds, which is to be expected on a train carrying women passengers. Those in Party

Those in the party are: Mrs. Nelson O'Shaughnessy of New York, wife of the former Mexican charge d'affaires, and author of "The Experiences of a Diplomat's Wife in Mexico"; Miss Maudie E. Misses of House.

MEAT MAKES ACHY BACKS

Meat eaters are apt to have weak kidneys and lame, achy backs. The kidneys are at work all the time, filtering uric acid out of the blood, and a heavy meat diet increases the production of uric acid so greatly that in time it is likely to overwork and weaken the kidneys.

A little meat is good, and athletes or others who do heavy physical exercise out of doors can stand a lot of it, but persons who work inside should cut down on meat as soon as they begin to feel heavy after eating, and are having backache, headache, dizzy spells, rheumatic pains, nervous troubles and irregular action of the kidneys.

Neglect of this condition leads to danger of gravel, dropsy and Bright's disease.

Don't delay.

Strengthen the kidneys by using Doan's Backache Kidney Pills. These pills will tell you how good they are.

WAR CERTAIN IF ROOSEVELT HAD BEEN THE MAN IN WHITE HOUSE

That 'Wild Man' Would Have Plunged Country Into Euro- pean Conflict Following Lusitania Sinking, Says McAdoo

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

SOUTH BEND, Indiana, October 21.—That this country would have been plunged into the bloodiest war of all history, immediately following the sinking of the British liner Lusitania by a German submarine, if that wild man, Theodore Roosevelt, had been President of the United States at the time," said William G. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury and son-in-law of President Wilson, in an address here last night in advocacy of the reelection of President Wilson.

The secretary was pointing out the advantages to the country of a President who could not be stung into hasty action with such serious results as war in sight, even though the provocation were as great as that when, despite the protestations of the American government, the belligerents sacrificed American lives.

HUGHES, PRESUMABLY, WOULD HAVE DONE SAME

"That President Wilson brought the country through the Lusitania crisis without war is wholly to his credit, said the speaker, who expressed his doubts whether Hughes could or would have done the same, had he been in the White House at the time.

"Mr. Hughes is only the understudy of Theodore Roosevelt in the matter of foreign relations," he said, "and it is natural to presume that he would have plunged the country into war, the same as Mr. Roosevelt would have done."

Both Sides Confident

Yesterday the New York managers of the two national campaign committees issued statements of the situation, each claiming certain victory for his candidate. The Democratic claim, advanced by Vance McCormick, was a general one.

"It is all over but the shouting," said Mr. McCormick. "The President is already reelected."

The Republican claims are more detailed. Figures being given out by Manager F. E. Ryan of the Hughes committee and some of the heretofore doubtful States now regarded as safe being named.

"Hughes is now certain of three hundred electoral votes, with fifty more probable and with another fifty quite possible," said the Republican spokesman. "It is sure now, from everything that can be secured to date, the outcome of the voting on November 7, that Hughes will carry New York State, with its forty-five presidential electors; Ohio, with its twenty-four electors; and Indiana, with its fifteen electors, all of which States have been placed by the Democrats in the doubtful column and by the Republicans as very probably Republican. Our slow canvass shows that Hughes is now certain to win in each."

The number of votes in the electoral college necessary to election is two hundred and sixty-six.

NEW REALTY RECORDS FOR HONOLULU WERE ESTABLISHED AT SALE

Mahuka Site Is Sold At Auction Yesterday For $475,000

COST IN 1910 WAS $104,539

Biggest Transaction Yet In Business Property At Biggest Price

(From Sunday Advertiser) New realty records were established yesterday in Honolulu when Malcolm A. Franklin knocked down the property known as the Mahuka site for $475,000, after spirited bidding. This is the largest real estate transaction of strictly business property ever put through in Honolulu and it fixed a new valuation upon downtown business lots of $14.35 a square foot.

The new owners of this property are Castle & Cooke, representing a hui of three interests—themselves, W. H. McInerney and the Hawaiian Electric Company—and the purchase was made through F. E. Steere, manager of the real estate department of the Henry Waterhouse Trust Company. At which Uncle Sam was the seller and the collector of the port the auctioneer, was dramatic, in that bids were made of advances of five thousand dollars and ten thousand dollars, with one jump of twenty-five thousand. The upset price placed upon the property by the government was $280,000.

The price paid for the lots by the government in 1910 was $104,539. Promptly at noon Collector Franklin mounted a box-truck of the King Street garage on the land to be sold and said "Fellow Capitalists," and read the following notice: "By direction of the honorable, the secretary of the treasury, I offer for sale to the highest bidder, who will comply with the terms of this sale, the federal building site, in the City and County of Honolulu, Territory of Hawaii, fronting 174.85 feet on King Street, 233.6 feet on a Bishop Street, 185.25 feet on Merchant Street, with a rear dimension of 230.3 feet, and containing 41,799 square feet, more or less. The right is reserved by the secretary of the treasury, until November 6, 1916, to accept or reject any or all bids. No bid less than $200,000 will be considered. Terms of sale, all cash on delivery of deed.

"The highest bidder must deposit with me today a certified check, drawn to the order of the treasurer of the United States, for five per cent of the amount of the bid, as a guarantee of good faith, the proceeds thereof to become the property of the United States if the bidder defaults. Rental Contracts "At present there are two rental contracts on this site: The Sehanan Carriage Company, terminable on sixty days' written notice, and the Waterhouse Trust Company, Limited, terminable on thirty days' written notice. This sale will be subject to these contracts. Any rent paid in advance will be adjusted equitably between the government and the purchaser.

"Before proceeding to auction the property I desire to call your attention to the fact that the awards made by the United States district court for the balance of the property between this site and Fort Street amounted to $249,347 for 24,500 square feet, or at the rate of $14.22 per square foot, while the piece of land I am about to sell contains 41,799 square feet, and even at half this price should bring $200,000. "The building and automobile sheds at present erected on this piece of property are not included in the sale. Quarter Million Starter The $250,000 bid of $250,000 was made by E. B. Webster, immediately followed by $200,000 bid by Mr. Steere and $270,000 by John B. Galt. Then in rapid succession the bids were: Webster, $275,000; Steere, $280,000; Webster, $300,000; Galt, $320,000, and so on. Webster jumped the bids from $375,000 to $400,000 and when Mr. Galt said $405,000, he remarked: "That is my limit, go to it." The competition then narrowed to Mr. Galt and Mr. Steere. The price was boosted by $5000 increments from $405,000 to $440,000. Then Mr. Galt raised the ante $10,000, to $450,000. This staggered the crowd of onlookers. There was a pause and consultation between some of the interested parties. Collector Franklin rallied his audience, saying: "Why, gentlemen, if I don't get $750,000 of a million the treasury department will send a collector down here who can sell land."

MAP of Mahuka Site and adjoining property soon to be built on—The block sold yesterday is shaded in the sketch. Since the preparation of which it is announced that the McInerney Block is to face on King Street and not as shown

Castle & Cooke, was declared to be the owner of the property provided the secretary of the treasury ratifies the sale. Transaction Completed The directors of Castle & Cooke then returned to the office of their agent and drew a check for $23,750 payable to treasury of the United States in accordance with the terms of the sale, this amount being five per cent of their bid. The check was then rushed to the bank and certified. At half-past twelve T. H. Petrie handed the check across Castle & Cooke's counter to Collector of Customs M. A. Franklin. He looked at it, passed it to Deputy Collector Raymer Sharp for verification and then casually folded the pink "scraps of paper," put it in a note book and dropped it into an inside coat pocket. Will Recommend Sale "I congratulate you, gentlemen," he said, "and thank you. I feel that the price paid is not enough. Nevertheless, I will recommend that it be accepted." Those present when this official act was consummated were: Frank C. Atherton, George P. Castle, Charles H. Atherton and T. H. Petrie representing Castle & Cooke, the collector and deputy collector and a representative of The Advertiser. The directors of Castle & Cooke, interrogated as to their plans, stated that "we are now the sole owners of the Mahuka site. A hui had been formed with us consisting of the Hawaiian Electric Company and the McInerney interests, but we do not know whether these two interests will care to pay the price now that the value has gone up so much above our original figures. "We cannot at this time say when we will build or anything concerning the character of the improvements to be made. Our lease on this building still has about four years to run."

Hawaiian Electric Ready Frank E. Blake, manager of the Hawaiian Electric Company said after the sale that his company will erect a four-story reinforced concrete building at the corner of Bishop and King Streets, plans for this structure having been fully prepared. The McInerney's, if they complete their option with Castle & Cooke, will build a handsome block fronting King Street, to accommodate both their clothing and shoe stores. Rudolph Buchly, cashier of the First National Bank of Hawaii, asked whether the bank will at once build on its lot at the corner of Merchant and Bishop, said that depends on what his directors decide. It is understood from other reliable sources however that the bank will build as soon as the other property owners start. Their building will be one of the finest business blocks in Honolulu.

When Materials Drop A. W. T. Bottomley speaking for Bishop & Company who own the lot at the makai Ewa corner of Merchant and Bishop Streets said his bank may not build at once as the present price of building materials is considered abnormal. Bishop & Company have planned to put up their new block at the same time as the new buildings on the other three corners are being erected, because traffic on the two streets will be almost completely blocked and the public should not be unduly inconvenienced, he said.

Five-Story Block Albert F. Judd, trustee of the Bishop Estate said that plans and specifications have been ready for some time for the five story concrete and steel business block to be erected by the Estate opposite the Alexander Young Hotel. O. G. Traphagen is their architect and the new building has been planned to correspond in style to its neighbors across the way. "We have simply been waiting to see who got the Mahuka site, and now that it is settled we are ready to go ahead," he said. "Now is the time to go ahead. I have no hesitancy as to our new block finding tenants as we have already received applications for practically the entire floor space. The building will probably be rented before the foundation is finished. "Our architect has so planned the structural details of the building that the interior space can be built to comply with the special requirements of tenants. Area Worth $404,847.00 After the sale Raymer Sharp figured the price received at $11.26 per square foot which fixes the value of an acre in the heart of Honolulu at exactly $494,847.00. Tax Assessor Charles T. Wilder stood six feet away from the auctioneer and smiled in pleasant anticipation. Los Angeles Investor? E. B. Webster stated, after the sale that he was commissioned by a Los Angeles man to bid the property in 14 if it could be purchased for $400,000. John R. Galt, it is understood, was bidding for the property on behalf of the Charles Brower Estate and the Wilcox interests. The attendance at the sale was the largest ever assembled at any auction in Honolulu. Every bank, trust company, agency and corporation in Honolulu was represented. The actual selling time from the first bid to the final acceptance of Castle & Cooke's offer was exactly nine minutes and in that short space of time the most important stroke for the upbuilding of a modern Honolulu was consummated. Much satisfaction was expressed that the property is retained in local control. It means that the men who have made Hawaii what it is are going to direct the affairs of Greater Honolulu for many years to come.

Probation Officer Arrests Proprietor of Playhouse Opening a campaign against proprietors of theaters who allow children to attend evening performances unaccompanied, Joseph Lgal, probation officer, arrested H. Kinura owner of the Pawa Theater on South King Street last night, on a warrant charging violation of the curfew law. The specification in the warrant charged a violation on Friday night, but when the probation officer visited the theater last night, it was found that two boys ten years old and the other eleven were attending the show alone. This is the first time that an arrest has been made since the law has been in effect. "There are other theaters under investigation and I will force the issue of this law until I have succeeded in teaching proprietors that they must observe the law," said Mr. Lgal. Kinura was released on $100 bail and will appear for trial in the police court tomorrow morning. HONOLULU PACKED IN ASHI THEATER STRIKE MEETING

Japanese Laborers Called Upon To Join Unions Vote To Back Stevedores

GATHERING DODGES THREE MOST IMPORTANT QUESTIONS

No Mention of Formation of General Japanese Union On Plantations

Several hundred persons attended a meeting at the Asahi theater last night to hear addresses by Japanese leaders urging support of the stevedores' union in the strike. There were hundreds of Japanese laborers, it was estimated, and many men of other races, members of the union, present at the meeting. Resolutions presented by T. Terasaki, editor of the Hawaii Hochi, were adopted. They pledged the support of those present to the union stevedores and expressed sympathy with the object of the renewed strike, which was for the benefit of thirty-eight Japanese who joined the union and who are not permitted to work except under T. Mizusaki, una, whereas they demand the right to work under any luna that will employ them. There was no mention of three important subjects that many thought would be taken up: Strike if sugar plantation laborers; formation of a general union of Japanese and strike on the vessels of the Inter-Island. Men of the steamer Mauna Loa refused to work yesterday, and, judging by their statements, expected some action last night. Fred K. Makino made the opening address last night. Dr. G. Nogoro, secretary of the Japanese Association of Hawaii, followed. Dr. Nogoro said that stevedores have the right to go on strike for the enforcing of reasonable demands against capital—a right recognized by most American statesmen among whom, he said, was former President Taft, who stated his attitude in a address when he was candidate for the presidency. All Laborers Brothers Japanese, Dr. Nogoro said, have the same right. Races are different, but all laborers are brothers. The crux of the anti-Japanese feeling in California throughout the States is the lower wages for which Japanese are willing to work. If Japanese, especially in California, would join the unions and work at the same scale as Caucasians being against them would disappear well.

Dr. Nogoro attacked Mr. Mizusaki and suggested that he advise capitalists to give the Japanese union men employment under the union. Mr. Makino explained how he came back the union. He was approached by union men, who asked his aid, and so replied that he would investigate. After three days' careful investigation he said, he found that the demands of the union were just, inasmuch as no increase had been granted in several years, whereas the cost of living had doubled. He said that he had been assured by officials of shipping companies that they would not refuse Japanese stevedores who had joined the union. When work was refused to strike was resumed. "I would like to see an extension of the stevedores' strike to the Inter-Island stevedores," he said, "and I would like to see the crew of the steamer Mauna Loa from Maui at midnight, left here without discharging her cargo, which was small. Other Inter-Island vessels—Saturday evening and yesterday morning—Maui, Kinau, Likiep, Mikaela, Hamakua—were worked as usual though there was the belief that their crews were just, inasmuch as no increase had been granted in several years, whereas the cost of living had doubled. He said that he had been assured by officials of shipping companies that they would not refuse Japanese stevedores who had joined the union. When work was refused to strike was resumed. FRED KIRCHHOFF APPROVES PLANS FOR FILTRATION

In Statement To The Advertiser Engineer Estimates Cost At $150,000

BASES HIS FIGURES UPON REPORTS IN DEPARTMENT

Discusses Comparative Value of Two Systems, Fast and Slow Filtration

The amount of bonds, $150,000, which the city supervisors would float for installation of a filtration plant at the big Nuuanu reservoir, is based on fairly reliable estimates, declares Fred O. Kirchhoff, engineer of the city water works department.

Based on his figures on two different reports, made in 1897 and 1899, and figuring increased cost due to the rise in wages and material values, Kirchhoff estimates that the plant would cost about $150,000.

In a communication to The Advertiser, the waterworks engineer discusses the different reports and the comparative value of two kinds of filtration, one known as rapid filtration and the other as slow sand filtration. He favors the latter, as do both predecessors in the study of the subject. He writes:

"The water works department of the city of Honolulu has on file a report on the filtration of the Nuuanu water supply of Honolulu, H. I. by Rudolph Hering, hydraulic and sanitary engineer, New York. This report and the accompanying plans were made in 1897. The report, which goes into details of costs of construction and operation of slow filters and rapid filters, comes to the conclusion that slow filters should be installed.

"The site chosen for the filter was the Queen's Emma Place at Nuuanu Avenue and Puhi Lane. However, further study of the situation later, in 1899, by F. B. Edwards, then resident engineer on construction of sewers led him to a consideration of a site closer to No. 1 reservoir, and he drew up a plan, showing the general details, for slow sand filters to be placed directly below the reservoir.

"Unfortunately, owing to the lapse of time, Mr. Edwards' report cannot be found, but he, as his plan shows, favored slow filters. The reasons for advocating slow filters are given in Mr. Hering's report, and hold good today, notwithstanding the wonderful improvements in rapid filter construction. It is comparatively a simple problem to estimate the cost of slow filters owing to the standard construction and the use of local materials and ordinary skilled labor.

"There are several makes of rapid filters in the market, all of course patented, and it is impossible to get reliable figures of cost without calling for bids and giving the manufacturers detailed data as to site, analysis of water, etc.

"Mr. Hering's estimates of costs were made seventy years ago, so that they can serve as a guide only, today.

"I have made an estimate of the cost of slow filter installation, to pass a maximum of 6,000,000 gallons per twenty-four hours.

"This would consist of five filters with necessary valves, regulators, a filtered water reservoir and a chlorinator, all to occupy space on the lot directly below No. 1 Reservoir, the site proposed by Mr. Edwards.

"I have no detailed figures as to the cost of rapid filters here, except those in Mr. Hering's report.

"Owing to the increased cost of machinery, freight charges, and all classes of labor today, his costs for rapid filters should probably be increased fifty per cent.

"The cost of operating rapid filters would also show an increase owing to the rise in the price of chemicals, not to mention the increased cost of superintendence and skilled labor necessary.

"Rapid filtration requires chemicals while slow does not (except in cases of very turbid waters), so this would be to the advantage of slow filters, especially here, where we are so far from the chemical market.

"Generally the matter of a site with sufficient area is a consideration, but we are fortunate in this respect, having a large lot available.

"The slow filter appeals to me for the reason that, as Mr. Hering says, there is no expensive machinery to get out of order and require repairs and renewals.

"My estimate, which follows, is based on Mr. Edwards' plan and must be understood to be preliminary only. One million gallon reservoir, $15,000; five slow filters, $125,000; engineering, $10,000, making a total of $150,000.

"I am therefore in favor of slow filters and recommend their installation for the Nuuanu water supply.

NEW OFFICER ARRIVES

A new officer for the U. S. S. St. Louis, Lieut. J. L. Hall, arrived on the transport Thomas and will this week relieve Lieut. John C. Thom, temporary chief engineer of the cruiser.

Lieutenant Thom belongs to the Albatross in the division radio officer, and on submarine duty with the third division.

GUNNEMOTOR DIES BY FALL OF 10 FEET

Police of New York Say Morris N. Johnson Committed Suicide

Morris N. Johnson, 70 years old, who was a member of the senior class at Princeton University when President Wilson was a freshman there, was killed yesterday by falling ten feet from a window of his room to the roof of 39 Gramercy Park. Johnson rented the room six weeks ago and had dined at the Princeton Club nearby until a few days ago, when illness confined him to his room.

His niece, Mrs. Frederick Schleider, 601 West 136th Street, wife of the organist of the Collegiate Church of St. Nicholas, requested the landlady to care for him and provide him with meals. When the woman carried Johnson's breakfast to him yesterday, she said, her lodger was leaning so far out of the window that she feared for his safety. She induced him to return to bed and fastened the window with a nail.

Twenty minutes later Johnson forced open the window and apparently threw himself to the yard, striking on his head. The police decided he had committed suicide. The body and his personal effects were removed to the East Twenty-second Street Station pending instructions from his relatives. His home was at Hackensack, N. J. He was a bachelor.

Johnson was graduated from Andover Academy in 1872, and from Princeton in 1876. For some years he was employed by several financial institutions here. Twelve years ago he was associated with Colonel Brown in the invention and manufacture of a machine gun, a model of which Johnson presented to the Princeton Club, where it still has a place in the entrance corridor of the clubhouse, at Lexington Avenue and Gramercy Park.

During the Taft Administration Johnson tried to have his gun accepted by the Government, but was unsuccessful. The weapon has a patented form of wire-chamber, designed for gun boat use or fixed battery. It was said the gun was too heavy for mobile field service. Johnson was later interested in a special form of ammunition. Although he was a college mate of President Wilson and well acquainted with him, he had not recently sought to obtain Government recognition of his gun or ammunition.

Mr. Johnson owned a farm and other realty holdings near Hackensack. He was employed by the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company a year ago, when declining health compelled him to resign. Mr. Johnson leaves a brother, George W. Johnson, at Hackensack, and a sister, wife of Judge J. M. Woods of the State Court, Lewisport, Penn.

MORE MACHINE GUNS FOR OAHU GARRISON

One Quick Firer To Be Issued To Each Company On Duty In Island

What is probably the most important innovation in the infantry service since 1906, is prescribed in general orders No. 25, Hawaiian Department, dated October 18. This order provides that one Vickers-Maxim machine gun be issued, at once, to every infantry company in the department.

This means that forty-eight of these deadly, quick-firing weapons are to be placed in active commission. The order prescribes that in each regiment twelve sergeants be detailed to instruct the company squads in the handling of these guns, and that each company shall detail a corporal and six privates as a gun crew. Three hundred and eighty-four men in the department to fight with the class of weapon that is proving so effective in Europe, adds greatly to the development of an efficient fighting machine for the protection of the Island of Oahu.

The sergeants are especially prepared for furnishing the instructors for this new work, thanks to the muckety school at Schofield Barracks, which has just graduated a large class of sergeants for this type of instruction. Major Eames, the commandant of the school, devoted the major portion of the session to training in handling machine guns, and the students taking the course received considerable actual practice in firing.

The department order states that it is not the intention to form an additional machine gun company in each regiment, and that the twelve company gun crews will be united only occasionally, for combined practice.

The plan is that in action the four guns of a battalion shall be carried in a wagon or truck, which also hauls extra ammunition for the guns, and that this wagon or truck be attached to the combat train of the battalion, and follow the battalion into action. The men composing the gun crews will carry their usual company equipment and arms, and accompany their organizations, unless detached for the service of the machine guns.

The funeral of the late Richard L. Hughes, of Elele, Kauai, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Scott, of Wai-nuku Lanes, Hilo, Hawaii, was held yesterday afternoon from the Central Union Church, interment taking place in the Nuuanu Cemetery. The body of the deceased arrived yesterday morning in the Kinau from Kauai, accompanied by the widow and her father and mother, all of whom were at the bedside at the time of Mr. Hughes' death last Wednesday in the Elele Hospital.

MORE CAPITAL FOR ENGELS COPPER

Shareholders Asked To Subscribe Cash To Build Unit of New Mill

A special meeting of the shareholders of Engels Copper Company has been called at Room 393 Mills Building, San Francisco, on Monday, November 27, to consider and vote upon the director's recommendation to increase the capital stock. The company is now capitalized at $1,500,000. The directors have recommended that an additional $500,000 of stock be issued.

Manager Elmer E. Paxton in a letter to the stockholders under date of October 7 gives the reasons why more capital is to be required, as follows: "Since my report of September 11, the showing in the Superior Mine has been exceedingly satisfactory. The main tunnel has been driven about 320 feet, cross-cutting the general strike of the ore, and still in the ore body. The last 150 feet is in good borate ore, sixty feet of which is very high grade, averaging probably ten per cent copper. The diamond drill work on the upper group is also showing good results, an entirely new large body of ore having been disclosed for over 200 feet.

To Build New Mill "Following a recent visit to the property, the directors have decided to begin the erection of the large mill referred to in my last report by installing the first 500-ton unit thereof as soon as practicable. The best modern practice in large mills is to build in units of about 500 tons each, which provides flexibility in operation and permits increase of capacity by adding more units as the development of the mine may justify.

Plans for the new mill are now being made, and orders for the necessary machinery will be placed in the near future, but it will be several months before it can be shipped, owing to the congested condition of the eastern factories. In the meantime the development of the Superior Mine will be pushed, as it will require at least twelve months' hard work to open the mine so that 500 tons per day can be drawn therefrom economically. But as the No. 6 tunnel in the Engels group will be completed within the next six months the ore supply for the new mill can be supplemented from the upper mine, if necessary. We will, of course, continue to run our present mill at full capacity, the plan being eventually to concentrate all milling operations at the Lower Camp after the first one or two units are in operation.

The first mill unit, together with the necessary camp equipment, water supply, land for tailings, assay office, new mining machinery, etc., will cost about $150,000. The cost of additional units will be less proportionately, as the camp, water supply, etc., will have been provided.

Shares Pro Rate At Par "If this increase in capitalization is authorized, 150,000 shares will be offered, pro rata at par to the present shareholders. The total amount sold will thus be about ten per cent of the present capitalization. The remaining $350,000 in stock will be held in treasury to be sold when necessary to provide further additions to the equipment. Payment in full for the new stock must be made on or before January 20, 1917.

The proposed issue is not a stock dividend as has been erroneously stated. The money derived from the sale of the stock is to be used for building the first unit of a new mill.

Earnings and Dividends "In his letter Mr. Paxton further says that, "it is expected that in the meantime the earnings from the present mill will be sufficient to complete the Inland Valley Railroad, carry on extensive mine development, and maintain the present rate of dividend during 1917, even if there should be a material decline in the price of copper. When the proposed mill addition is completed, the earnings will be fully doubled, and should insure a very satisfactory dividend at average price of the metal.

Formal offer of the new shares will be made as soon as the issue is authorized by the stockholders and also by the commissioner of corporations of California, the purpose of this communication being to notify the stockholders of the proposed allotment as far in advance as possible.

LURINE WILL BE LAID UP A MONTH FOR REPAIR WORK

Many Plates Must Be Replaced; She May Sail For Coast Today

Indications are that the Mason steamer Lurine will be out of commission about one month while at San Francisco undergoing repairs to her hull, damaged in touching bottom last Wednesday morning. This is serious news for the Island. It does not make much difference as to passengers, although the Lurine can handle about fifty cabin, but there will be an irremediable loss of 9000 or 7000 tons of down freight, adding to the congestion existing now. It is fortunate that the pilikia did not come during the sugar season. Up freight has ceased to a point where it can be handled without trouble by the other vessels. Whether the Hiloian or Enterprise will carry passengers temporarily is not known.

The Lurine is being repaired for the voyage up. Work may be finished today. Whether she will sail today depends upon the verdict of United States Inspectors Meany and Heesey, who will examine her after Alex. Lytle's men have finished.

Plugs Driven Into Seams "Work yesterday was driving small wood plugs into the openings of the sprung plates. A tarpaulin will be placed over the deck today and a new pump, which was being connected up yesterday, will be placed in service.

Ten or eleven plates will have to be replaced at San Francisco. It is believed that the Lurine's keel is covered completely by plates which encircle it, the keel itself being between the two skins, unlike the Manchuria class, which have a three-inch by fourteen inch keel outside. Five or six of the damaged plates are on the keel. There is a dent about six inches deep, of an undetermined length.

But the curious feature is this. There is another dent, about four inches deep and sixty feet long, on the port side between the bilge keel and the center of the vessel. Four or five plates here probably will have to come out.

Port Side Was Offshore "As the Lurine was moving toward Honolulu down the channel, the port side was the offshore side. That there should be a dent here can mean only that she was well inside the shoals which she struck. Divers worked in the dark for some time, as they naturally looked for the damage on the starboard or inshore side.

The Mason line will be put to expense of several thousand dollars for repairs. Neither freight nor passengers will be taken to San Francisco this voyage.

SHIPBUILDERS GIVEN POINTS ON WARSHIPS

Discuss Important Matters With Acting Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, September 27.—Problems involved in construction of the new warships, authorized in the new building program were discussed today by heads of several private shipbuilding plants with Acting Secretary Roosevelt of the navy department and chiefs of the bureau interested. Questions of procedure in connection with the construction bids were submitted next month were gone over in detail, and particular stress was laid on the necessity of completing the new ships within the time limit fixed by the department.

Mr. Roosevelt announced that, since the shipbuilders had declared speedy construction depended principally on prompt delivery of manufacturing materials, the department had taken up the subject with steel and other manufacturers, and had secured promises that preference in delivering would be given shipbuilding plants doing government work.

Because the shipbuilders are unable to secure all the insurance desired on vessels nearly completed before being turned over to the navy department, some plan of protection from loss in case of accident to the new ships is under consideration. Mr. Roosevelt said the department might decide to take over the care of such vessels in advance of their actual acceptance.

SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, October 21.—The Twenty-fifth Infantry nowed out their game with their oldtime rivals, the First Infantry, here this afternoon; but they had the surprise of their lives, and their usual luck prevailed again to turn the victory their way. They had a good, safe lead in six runs when they took the field in the last of the seventh frame, but the Castner batters then started a whirlwind batting rally which sent Aulston to the discard, Rogan to the rescue, and Twenty-fifth Infantry stock to the cellar.

The way they went after Aulston was a shame, and then, to make things better for the cheering partisans of the First Infantry, who crowded the north side of the bleachers, Judd hit out a home run with the bases full. Pandemonium reigned for some minutes, for he scored was tied. Five hits and six runs accrued, while Aulston vainly tried to stop the attack, and there was but one down when Manager Chaney sent the redoubtable Rogan in to save the day. He stopped further scoring and, after two were down in the next inning, a hit leave by Nichols of Swinton's hit to short, followed by a race of singles by Rogan and Johnson, gave the upper post team the name, ten to eight.

Strinda Does Good Work "Brinda, the new pitcher of the First Infantry, made his first appearance, and his start was most auspicious. He fanned the Wreckers right and left during the first periods of the game, but in the fifth the Schofielders solved his delivery, annexing two runs and as many hits an inning up to the seventh.

At this point the First Infantry found Aulston, and before the batting order could be stopped they had tied the score. Rogan was then sent to the box, and held the First Infantry safe the rest of the distance. Of the eight batters to face Rogan in the last two innings five struck out. The feature of the batting was the extra base hits, with Judd, Aulston and Johnson figuring with home runs.

KAULUWELAS WIN FROM KOREANS AT INDOOR BALL

The Kauluwelas and the Korean Midget Indoor baseball teams had their first meeting Saturday afternoon and played the most interesting game yet seen in the Midget division. Kauluwelas won 13 to 12. The Koreans took the lead in the first inning, scoring three runs. With the score eleven to six against them and two innings to go the Kauluwelas braced up and by good fielding of several hard hit balls held the Koreans on one run, while they, in their half scored four. The last inning opened with the Koreans leading eleven to ten. The Kauluwelas came to the bat for the last time, needing two to win. Ah Chong drove the ball to right and scored the winning runs.

The features of the game was the poor start and the aching finish of the Kauluwelas and the unassisted double play by Ah Kui in the last inning.

HEEL-AND-TOE RECORD OF ISLAND NEARLY EQUALLED

H. M. Ayres defeated C. D. Luse in the mile heel and toe handicap at Kapoliapi Park yesterday afternoon, and came within three-fifths of a second of the island record. The mile walk championship of the island is held by Dick Sullivan, who negotiated the distance at Alexander Field in 8:30. Luse was given a handicap of 250 yards, with Ayres at scratch.

Next Sunday Ayres will give Luse 175 yards handicap for the same distance. As a preliminary to this match, H. Fontaine and R. E. Nute will step on 880, Nute receiving a ten-yard handicap.

The judges in yesterday's race were H. Whitcomb and W. S. King. Timekeeper, C. E. Ferguson.

Yesterday's results: Los Angeles, 0; Portland, 6. Oakland, 5; Vernon, 2. Salt Lake, 7; San Francisco, 2.

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless) SAN FRANCISCO, October 22.—Although Los Angeles lost to Portland today they have cinched the 1916 pennant of the Pacific Coast League. Frank Chance former Cub star, and manager of the Angels must be given credit this year for keeping the Los Angeles team at the top of the list. They have held the first rung for a considerable time, but many times were all but unseated by the Tigers. Vernon has shown a slump for the past three weeks and taboagned in such quick fashion that the Angels were left high and dry in the lead.

San Francisco has been a menace to the leaders all season long, and at one time it looked as though the Senas would cause the down fall of Chance's aggregation.

Oakland seems invincible. For the fourth consecutive time they won from Vernon. It has been the two cellar teams which have proved so dangerous this year to the leaders.

KEIO WINS SECOND GAME FROM ST. LOUIS

(Special Cablegram to Nippo Jiji) TOKIO October 23.—The Saint Louis baseball team met their second defeat here yesterday at the hands of the Keio team, by the score of four to one. The St. Louis nine was beaten on their arrival by the fast Keio aggregation, five-to-one; but at that time it was thought the sea voyage had much to do with the showing of the Honolulu team.

Yesterday's victory by the Japanese shows that they can win, even when the St. Louis players get accustomed to the country. St. Louis won one game, that with the Waseda University. Batteries: St. Louis, Crumpler, Bushnell and Maddies. Keio, Mui and Harai.

TOWN FOOTBALL TEAM FORMED BY ACHEW

Lincoln Achew, well known in local football circles, has formed a town football team and will be ready to meet eleven at any time. The team is light but fast, and there are a number of good players on the team. It will undoubtedly be of interest to many local football fans to learn that such a team has been organized.

The players who are on the squad are: Eddie Moore, Kamakou, Prestige, Kaikaka, Machado, McGowan, Schumann, Coney, Rice, Andrews, Manoha, Kama, Wright, Desha, Ioane, Achew, Nonh, Collins, Stevens and Bertlemann. The manager wishes to announce that practice will be held every afternoon at Aiea Park at four-thirty in the afternoon, starting tomorrow.

BOY SCOUTS TO SELL RED CROSS SEALS IN DAY CAMPAIGN

The anti-tuberculosis bureau has issued the following announce- ment: "November 11 has been set by the committee in charge of the one-day campaign which will be conducted in Honolulu this year for proceeds for the anti-tuberculosis bureau. The committee has decided that one day will be sufficient to raise the funds necessary for conducting the various organizations and institutions here which fight the disease. Boy Scouts this year will sell the seals which heretofore have been handled by the Honolulu women. Ten per cent of the proceeds of all seals sold on that day will go to the American Red Cross Association. All donations and the remainder of the sales will be divided among the anti-tuberculosis bureau of the board of health, the Leahi Home and the Paola Day Camp.

Sombody has just discovered that Hawaii is a land of all sports, all the year. Sometime that "sombody" will discover that Columbus was responsible for the finding of the land called America.

DETROIT MAY TRAIN ON PACIFIC COAST

SAN FRANCISCO, October 9.—If plans go right, there will be a major league baseball club training in California next spring, with a limited number of exhibition games between the visiting big leaguers, San Francisco, Los Angeles and possibly Oakland. Detroit will be the club, according to the present scheme, but with the understanding that Ty Cobb joins his team during the training season and takes part in the games with Coast league line.

To make this move it will be necessary for the Coast league directors to rescind a resolution barring major league clubs from Coast league parks, either for spring games or post-season matches.

"I'm in favor of such a proposition," said Henry Berry, president of the San Francisco club, today. "While he subject has not been taken up by the league directors, I am certain they will vote for it. Two years ago we had the White Sox here, and our receipts for the spring games counted something like $5000."
