VOTERS TODAY TO DECIDE A HARD FIGHT

Outcome of Presidential Campaign Uncertain and Prediction Is That Whoever Wins Will Do So By Narrowest of Margins

BOTH SIDES CLAIM UTMOST CONFIDENCE

Betting Favors the Republican Candidate in the East, While Private Reports Agree That House Is Certain To Change

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
NEW YORK, November 7—With the leaders on both sides claiming to be confident of victory by substantial majorities and with each announcing the certainty of carrying all the pivotal States, the curtain rises this morning on the final act of the presidential campaign of 1916.

Weighing one claim against the other and basing a prediction upon the net results of all the claims and canvasses, it appears that the voting today will be close and that the winner of the greatest prize in the giving of the people, be he President Wilson or Charles E. Hughes, will secure the presidency by a narrow margin. The presidential candidates left last night for their homes to cast their votes today. President Wilson will mark his ballot in an engine house in Princeton. Mr. Hughes will vote in a laundry chop, rented for the day for a polling booth.

PIVOTAL STATES

It is agreed that the pivotal States, the main fighting ground in the last ditch struggles, are New York, Indiana, Ohio, and Illinois. The voters in these States will decide the presidency.

Just how any one of the four will go is problematical. Both the campaigners for Wilson and Hughes claim each of the four.

Chairman Wilcox of the Republican national campaign committee, in a last statement of the situation yesterday, said that he was certain of a total of three hundred and sixteen electoral votes for the Republican nominee, forty-eight more than enough to elect.

Mr. Hughes called at the Republican headquarters yesterday and personally thanked the workers.

Democratic Claims

Countering on the announcement of the Republicans, Vance McCormick, chairman of the Democratic national campaign committee, announced that the Democratic canvass had shown that Mr. Wilson will receive three hundred and sixty-four electoral college votes, while Private Secretary Tamm, from the White House, sent out an estimate that President Wilson will win with a majority in the electoral college of one hundred and twenty-one votes.

Secretary of Commerce Redfield, after touring Ohio, Indiana, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Illinois, told Democratic Manager McCormick that these States are "undoubtedly safely Democratic."

Both Claim New York City

The state chairman of both parties are claiming New York.

PACIFIC COAST IS AFTER PROHIBITION

This Question, in One Form Or Another, An Issue Today in Nine States

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
SAN FRANCISCO, November 7—Mainland voters today have a multiplicity of issues to decide at the polls in addition to the election of a President and members of the national legislature.

Prohibition, or some phase of the sale of intoxicating liquors, is an issue in nine of the eleven Pacific Coast States and in Alaska. Complete State tickets will be selected in Washington, Montana, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona and Idaho. In nearly all the Coast States proposed constitutional amendments form a feature of the election.

Prohibition in California
 In California prohibition and the race for United States senator divide interest. Governor Hiram W. Johnson, vice-presidential candidate in 1912 on the Bull Moose ticket, running now as a Progressive and a Republican, is opposing George S. Patton, Democrat, of Los Angeles.

A measure for complete prohibition, effective in 1920, and one prohibiting the sale of liquor in public places, including hotels and clubs, effective in 1918, are the center of an active campaign, centering largely about the State's wine industry.

Activities of women, for and against President Wilson, were features of the campaign. Miss Doris Stevens, of New York, supported by a speakers' bureau of the Woman's party, lead the opposition against President Wilson.

Another measure before the California voters provides for a bond issue of $15,000,000 for extension of the State highway system. A single tax measure and a direct non-partisan primary law are also issues.

Municipal Ordinances
 In San Francisco voters will pass on twenty-six municipal ordinances and charter amendments, chief of which are a measure to permit free use of the streets, unregulated, by the jitney buses; another prohibiting picketing, an outgrowth of the present strike of restaurant workers, and one providing for a two-plant system for the fire department.

Oregon, Wets and Drys

In Oregon aside from a congressional contest in the third district, which consists of Portland, state interest is concerned with the adoption or rejection of proposed constitutional amendments under the initiative. Of these, the two which are attracting the most attention are one to make Oregon absolutely "dry" by prohibiting limited imports of liquor, and the second is to modify the present prohibition law by permitting the manufacture of beer within the state. Organized labor is favoring a "land and loan" initiative measure, which is interpreted by asserts that the Democratic plurality in New York City will be so heavy it will overcome the Republican plurality Up-State.

The heaviest vote ever recorded in Ohio is expected. Both sides claim the State.

PRIVATE ADVICES SAY HUGHES SURE WINNER

Private cablegrams to National Committee E. W. Breckons, received yesterday, predict the election of Hughes and a Republican house.

J. M. Dowsett, wiring from New York, says:

"Indians, New York, Illinois, Ohio and New Jersey will give their electoral votes to Hughes."

"Maryland will go for Wilson."

"Missouri is very much in doubt, with chances in favor of Hughes."

"Tennessee will give its vote to Wilson."

"Both Watson and New, Republican candidates for senator in Indiana, and Calder, Republican candidate for senator in New York, will be elected."

"On general elections Hughes will win."

"Believe house will be Republican by at least twenty."

"The fight for the senate will be close. While Republican chances are favorable, there may possibly be a tie."

Betting Against Wilson
 J. A. Breckons, with the Republican national campaign committee, wires:

"Betting in New York, Buffalo, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Chicago, St. Louis and Kansas City averaged up, shows Hughes' a favorite at ten to seven odds."

"The most conservative Republican predictions are that Hughes is sure of New England, forty-four votes; the Middle States, one hundred votes; the Pacific Coast, twenty-five votes; also Michigan, Minnesota, Iowa, both Dakotas, Kansas, Utah, Idaho, Wyoming, Illinois and West Virginia one hundred and eight votes. Total, 277 votes."

"Probably Republican in Ohio and Wisconsin, thirty-seven votes."

"It is predicted that the next house of representatives will be Republican by fifteen to twenty, and that the senate fight will be very close, possibly a tie."

MURDER CHARGES IN EVERETT FIGHT

Seven Deaths Result From Sunday's Battle—Both Sides Claim the Other Started It

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
EVERETT, Washington, November 7—Charges of murder, made by both sides participating in the trouble, were the aftermath last night of the pitched battle that occurred here last Sunday between a stunner band of Industrial Workers of the World and sheriff's posse of citizens seeking to prevent the I. W. W. from landing here.

The battle, fought with rifles and revolvers, resulted in the death of seven persons, and the wounding of more than forty, several of whom are expected to live.

The public prosecutor announced last night that he would prefer charges of murder against all members of the I. W. W. whom it was possible to identify as having participated in the battle with the citizens of Everett.

Counter Charges
 Secretary Mabler of the I. W. W. made a counter declaration to the effect that he would prosecute on charges of murder all the members of the Everett Citizens' Committee.

Each side declared that the other started the shooting.

In addition to the six men who were killed outright during the fighting Saturday, former Sheriff Jefferson Beard of Snohomish county died yesterday as the result of his wounds. Beard was a member of the posse that was called by Sheriff McLean to prevent the landing of the I. W. W.

Ed Buehler, who was also a member of the citizen's posse, is expected to die from the wounds he received. Another who was seriously wounded is Athol Gorrell, of Spokane. He is a student and was standing by as a spectator when he was struck in the chest and leg by bullets. Still another is Harry Blackburn, who was shot in the chest.

Everett's Anxious Day
 Following the order issued by Governor Ernest Lister for the national guard to assemble in readiness for service in the event of further threatened hostilities, the citizens of Everett spent an anxious day yesterday. The I. W. W. had, it was reported, threatened to return in another steamer and "put Everett in order," and more trouble was expected. However, it did not occur, both sides resorting to the courts and the officers of the law for the immediate settlement of their differences.

The Industrial Workers of the World attempted to invade Everett came on the steamer Verona from Seattle. Another steamer full of them also put off from Seattle, but not the Verona after the latter vessel had been driven

SCHACKLETON OFF FOR SOUTH AGAIN

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
SYDNEY, N. S. W., November 7—Lieut. Ernest Shackleton, hero of the Antarctic, who was shipwrecked in the polar regions, compelled to leave most of his men, reached civilization, and then, a few months ago, returned and rescued twenty of his crew whom he had left on Elephant Island, will sail from Australia again tomorrow to plunge into the regions of perpetual ice and snow to bring back, if possible, the remaining ten men of his original command.

These ten men, Shackleton left, after the shipwreck, with the bulk of the supplies destined for his proposed dash to the south pole. He proceeded as far as possible with the remainder of his crew, until he reached Elephant Island, when it became apparent that they could not all get away together.

Shackleton and a few of his men became separated from the rest and, despite desperate efforts, could not rejoin them. He succeeded in reaching civilization, and early this year made an effort to return and rescue the twenty men he had left on Elephant Island. On account of weather and ice conditions, however, he was unsuccessful; but more recently, in a vessel loaned him by the Argentine government, made another attempt, which was successful.

But he had not forgotten the ten men left behind early in the journey back from the polar regions. They, however, were in a less precarious situation than the twenty who had been left on Elephant Island, as they had with them plenty of supplies.

But now that summer is approaching in the Antarctic, the time has come to attempt to rescue them, and it is with this intention that Lieutenant Shackleton sails tomorrow.

Lieutenant Shackleton will be accompanied by Capt. Frank Worsley, of New Zealand.

By the citizen's posse, and did not attempt to land its men.

Right of Free Speech
 Secretary Mabler of the I. W. W. issued a statement yesterday in which he said that his organization is contending for the right of free speech and that its members have been persecuted in Everett.

Merrill of Everett countered with a statement to the effect that during the single makers' strike recently many members of the I. W. W. who flocked into the city abused the municipal officials and incited disorders. They were ordered at that time to leave the city and not return.

FOOD DICTATOR IN GERMANY NAMED

General Groener Will Be Given Absolute Power Over All Matters of Supplies

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
LONDON, November 7—Despatches received here today from Berlin say that the Berlin Post announces that General Groener is to be made dictator of economics with absolute power to deal with all exports and imports and with all food questions.

Heretofore, since the beginning of war, restrictions as to the sale or other disposal of foodstuffs have been in the hands of the authorities of the several divisions of the Empire. Bread tickets, and tickets permitting the purchase of limited amounts of meat, butter, potatoes and other food commodities, according to the number of persons in the family, have been issued, and the issue of them and the right to restrict and regulate the disposal of foodstuffs have been jealously guarded by the several state divisions and municipalities.

For some time, however, it has been rumored that the imperial government intended to take over the control of all foods and materials. This aroused a storm of protest in many quarters, and the step was postponed. Now, however, conditions throughout the empire have reached a stage where it seems necessary for the central government to conserve every pound of provisions and the Emperor, according to reports, has decided to place General Groener in charge of all food supplies.

SMALL CRAFTS IN SEVERAL ACTIONS

Italian Torpedoes Raid Into Pola, Austria's Strongest Base, and Escape Unharmd

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
LONDON, November 7—A spectacular action on the part of Italian torpedo boats, which penetrated to the anchorage of the Austrian fleet in Austria's big naval base at Pola, near the head of the Adriatic Sea, and boldly attacked a great warship of the dual monarchy, was one of the outstanding features yesterday of the war news.

KILLED BECAUSE HE WAS AN AMERICAN

Reports of Execution of Doctor Fisher By Villistas Are Confirmed

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
EL PASO, November 7—Confirmation of the death of Doctor Fisher at the hands of Villista bandits, when they captured Santa Rosalia, was brought here yesterday by American passengers from Chihuahua City. Doctor Fisher was executed, they report, solely on the ground that he was an American citizen.

The fate of the 250 Americans known to have been in Parral when the town fell is not known.

Yesterday, according to the Washington despatches, the secretary of state addressed an inquiry to First Chief Carranza, asking for whatever official information he may have regarding the alleged execution of Americans at Parral and the killing of Doctor Fisher. Mexican army leaders profess to have no information on the subject beyond common report.

Villa On the Move
 Villa, with his main army, was reported yesterday to have been in the neighborhood of Mesa de San Juan, thirty-five miles southwest of Parral, where it is said his sympathizers have hidden stores of ammunition for him and gathered together a large number of horses.

General Trevino, in command of the Carranzistas at Chihuahua City, is making active preparations to meet any attack on the part of Villa, and the extent of his preparations has allayed the fear of the populace that the city is in danger of capture and sack by the Villista bandits. Trevino has mounted cannon to dominate all the approaches to the city and has an armored train and a number of field guns ready.

Reinforcements Promised
 From the City of Mexico comes a report that troops from Sonora have been ordered to the assistance of Trevino.

The Mexican capital also reports that the Federal Secretary of the Treasury has left for the United States to confer with General Cabrera regarding the matter of Mexican finances.

SWAYING LINE OF BATTLE ON MANY FRONTS

Rumanians Turn Upon von Mackensen and Catch Him Napping, While von Falkenhayn Resumes His General Offensive

AUSTRIANS TRYING TO HOLD AGAINST ROMANS

Germans On West Regain Ground Lost To British North of Le Sars, While French Progress In Efforts To Get St. Pierre Wood

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
LONDON, November 7—Following two weeks of silence and doubt as to what was happening in the Dobruja section, where the last official reports told of the triumphant advances of the Austro-Germans under von Mackensen, comes definite word that the Russo-Rumanian army, under General Averesco, have taken the offensive and have driven the invaders back on several sections of the Black Sea Danube line.

It appears certain that the Rumanian army fell back until Russian reinforcements arrived, when Averesco suddenly assumed the offensive and caught the Austro-Germans unprepared. News from this front tells of a number of prisoners taken by the Rumanians and the general success that has attended the past week's fighting.

Successes in Transylvania
 On the Transylvanian front, however, it is the Rumanians who have been checked in their offensive against von Falkenhayn, whose troops were being harried in the Jiuul sector. Yesterday the Germans brought up reinforcements to this front and checked the Rumanian advance, pursuing their first advantage and compelling the Rumanians to retreat.

In the Prudal Pass the Rumanians also report further gains, the Rumanians, after stubborn fighting, being compelled to fall back to new positions.

Austrians Try Counters
 North of Trieste the Austrians are hurrying fresh troops to the Julian front to stem the Italian advance. These reinforcements were shown at once into the fighting line, and a counter-offensive on the part of the Austrians was attempted. According to Rome, these attempts were failures, and the Italians are still pressing south.

The Germans launched strong counter attacks against the French and British in the Somme section, the British being obliged to retire from the heights gained by them on Sunday on the Butte de Warlencourt. The Berlin despatches state that the Sunday attacks of the French and British were delivered along a twelve-mile front and that except for the local success of the French in the St. Pierre Vaast woods the big offensive was held and thrown back.

The Paris reports state that the French increased their gains in the St. Pierre Vaast woods yesterday, taking more ground and adding to the number of their prisoners.

German Offensive
 According to Petrograd, the Germans have assumed the offensive east of Lipitz and west of Silavento, with the object of capturing commanding heights there, but their attacks were repulsed. The battle continues.

Ex-American Sunk
 The steamship Lango, recently transferred from America to Norwegian registry, was submerged yesterday in the war zone. Thirty survivors have landed at Barry.

ELEVENTH HOUR IDEA OF PRESIDENT WILSON

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
NEW YORK, November 7—President Wilson, on the eve of the national presidential election, wrote a letter yesterday to the national civil service commission in which he said that he is in favor of legislation providing for the appointment of all postmasters, of whatever class, through competitive civil service examination.

The President's announcement on this subject follows by several days a statement by his opponent, Charles Evans Hughes. Mr. Hughes last week issued a statement in which he said he was strongly in favor of similar legislation.

CUBAN SENATE TO DECIDE ELECTION

Island Republic Having a Hard Time Deciding Who Has Been Named President

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
HAVANA, Cuba, November 7—The Cuban senate will meet here today to consider the charges of irregularities in the recent presidential election.

The election was a stormy one, resulting in bloodshed and death in some of the interior provinces. Since it was held the opposing candidates have each claimed victory. Immediately following the counting of the ballots Alfredo Zayas declared that he was the president-elect. Later returns, however, appeared to put a different complexion on the matter, and the reelection of President Zayas was announced Monday by Dr. Juan Manuel, assistant secretary of the interior.

Zayas, however, refuses to concede the success of his opponent. It is in the hope of avoiding serious trouble that the senate has been called in session to canvass the results of the election.

Austrian fleet, and the land batteries, the swift torpedo sea stingers dashed boldly into the harbor and launched two torpedoes at the warship. The torpedoes, however, missed their mark.

Escaped Unharmd
 Notwithstanding the alarm that had been raised and the rain of heavy shells poured upon them by the combined batteries of the assembled Austrian fleet, the racing destroyers succeeded in making their escape from Pola unharmd.

An attack of equal boldness and daring under the shadow of the guns of Durazzo, on the Albanian littoral, was made by Italian torpedo boats, with better success. This time their torpedoes reached the mark, with the result that a large steamer of the enemy was sent to the bottom of the sea.

Battleship Struck
 Submarines also played their part in the great war drama yesterday. In the North Sea, according to a report received here, a British submarine launched a torpedo at a German dreadnought, and the deadly explosive reached its mark. The extent of the damage done the dreadnought, however, is not known here.

Germany lost another submarine yesterday when the crew of the U-20 destroyed their own vessel after it had gone ashore on the Jutland coast. The crew of the undersea boat succeeded in saving themselves.

"FIGHT WON" SAYS WILSON IN MESSAGE

Urges State and County Chairmen To Renewed Activity, However, Lest Last Minute Issue May Confuse the Public's Judgement

HUGHES RELIES ON THE AVERAGE AMERICAN

Good Sense and Patriotism of the Country Generally Inclines To Country Republicanism He Says; Tammany Claims New York

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) NEW YORK, November 6—Highly conflicting claims regarding the probable outcome of the presidential election tomorrow were issued last night from the headquarters of the Republican and Democratic national campaign committees. Each chairman professes to be confident of the results and each professes to base his predictions on accurate reports from State and county chairmen.

No direct statement was issued by Mr. Hughes, but the President, from Shadow Lawn, sent telegrams to each state and county chairman of the Democratic organization.

President Says, Fight Won

The President said: "I desire to thank you all most heartily for the splendid work you have done and to ask you to extend my personal thanks to each one of the workers in the cause of the progressive principles at issue in this campaign."

"That the fight is won I fully believe, though I take this means to urge you to renewed exertions and to constant vigilance to prevent any belated efforts that may be made to confuse the public's judgement."

Hughes Is Certain

Both sides claim to be certain of carrying this State. Mr. Hughes is here and expresses his entire confidence in the outcome, basing his confidence, he says, "in the great good sense of the average American voter and the undoubted patriotism of Americans." Mr. Hughes will remain in the city until the results are known.

Tammany Claims State

Tammany leaders estimate that Wilson will carry the City of New York by a majority of 85,000, which, they contend, will be sufficient to offset the majority Hughes is conceded in the Up-State districts. That the vote will be close, Tammany acknowledges.

CUBAN PRESIDENT CLAIMS REELECTION

Liberal Opponent Denies Claims and Election Trouble Seems To Be Thickening

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) HAVANA, November 6—Dr. Juan Montalvo, assistant secretary of the interior, made an announcement here yesterday to the effect that the reelection of President Menocal was assured. His opponent Alfredo Zayas, who is the candidate on the liberal ticket, has not conceded the election and still believes that when a final count of the ballots is made that he will be elected. Despite the announcement of Doctor Montalvo, it is generally believed that the difficulties over the presidential election in this Republic will not be settled for some time. The proposal to have the matter arbitrated by a committee of disinterested persons is gaining in favor and unless the returns show a decisive victory on one side or the other it is believed that the political trouble can only be peacefully settled by such a committee.

EVERETT CITIZENS IN BATTLE WITH INVADING I. W. W.

Four Hundred Agitators From Seattle, On Two Steamers, Attack Neighboring City

SIX DEAD AND FORTY WOUNDED IN THE FRAY

Governor Lister Calls Out Militia and I. W. W. Threaten To Resume Invasion

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) EVERETT, Washington, November 6—A bloody battle was fought on the city wharves yesterday between a posse of citizens, led by Sheriff McRae, and a steamer load of Independent Workers of the World, who reached the city on the steamer Verona from Seattle and who were forbidden to land.

At least six persons were killed and more than forty wounded, while more than a thousand shots were exchanged between the citizens and the I. W. W.'s. Among those seriously wounded is Sheriff McRae.

The Verona with its fighting passengers was finally driven off, steaming away Seattle-wards just as a second steamer, with one hundred and fifty more I. W. W.'s, arrived off port. After a conference between the leaders of the two gangs, both steamers left, sailing together.

Twenty-four Hits

Advices from Seattle last night announce the return of the Verona there with four dead bodies and twenty wounded men aboard.

The battle was begun by the I. W. W.'s, who, when they were told by the police on the waterfront that they would not be allowed to land in Everett, opened fire from the deck of the steamer. The police returned the fire in the meanwhile sending out a call for assistance.

Battle Was Brisk

Sheriff McRae called for volunteers amongst the citizens and one hundred and fifty hastily armed themselves and joined him on the wharves. Hundreds of shots were poured into the steamer as she circled off shore, the I. W. W.'s, answering from behind temporary breastworks built on the steamer's decks behind her rails.

A number of the I. W. W.'s, jumped overboard and swam for shore, being taken into custody by the police.

Result Of Strike

The trouble between the citizens and the I. W. W.'s, started some weeks ago during the shingle weavers' strike, when the I. W. W. workers were driven out of the town and some small bands of the agitators forbidden to land from the Seattle boats.

GOVERNOR ORDERS OUT THE NATIONAL GUARD

SEATTLE, November 6—The steamer Verona, which sailed from this port yesterday, under charter to the I. W. W. workers, who announced that the object of the trip was to "hold an excursion," returned from Everett early yesterday evening, with two dead men aboard and twenty with rifle and revolver wounds. The sides of the ship and the deck houses were pitted with bullet marks.

Accompanying the Verona was a second steamer, both being met at the dock by several hundred members of the local I. W. W. circles. There was tremendous excitement when the dead bodies were brought ashore and carried through the crowd.

Threaten More Trouble

The entire complement of the two steamers and their adherents ashore marched in a body to the headquarters of the I. W. W., where a stormy meeting was held. Following this meeting a lengthy warning was telegraphed to the mayor of Everett, announcing that the I. W. W. would visit that city in force today and hold a meeting for the purpose of "putting Everett in order."

Governor Lister, when he was notified of the battle at Everett and the threat of the I. W. W.'s to return to that city today, issued immediate orders to Adjutant General Thompson of the State national guard to proceed to Everett at once and report on the situation.

All national guardsmen here have been ordered to report at their armories this morning for duty, while four companies have already turned out under arms and are assisting the police in rounding up the known I. W. W. men here for the purpose of placing under arrest all who can be identified as with the party on the Verona.

LAST DOCK STRIKE ON COAST ENDED

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) PORTLAND, Oregon, November 6—The last of the series of strikes along the Pacific Coast launched by the various longshoremen's unions of Tacoma, Seattle, Portland and San Francisco, came to an end last night with the signing of an agreement by the head of the International Longshoremen's Union.

After signing this agreement, President O'Connor immediately took a train for the East.

How Wilson Has "Kept Us Out of War" Kahn Explains In Review of the Facts

Legislator Points To American and Mexican Dead

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) WASHINGTON, November 6—Democratic speakers throughout the country have the "effrontery to keep on claiming that the President has 'kept us out of war.'" This preposterous claim has not fooled the people of the United States," declared Representative Julius Kahn, of California, ranking minority member of the house military affairs committee, in a statement here today.

"If anyone doubts that we made war on Mexico at Vera Cruz ask the mothers and fathers of the boys who were killed on the streets of that Mexican seaport."

"Ask the wives and mothers and sisters of the Mexicans who were killed at Vera Cruz whether we were at war with Mexico."

"Ask the relatives of the eighteen American civilians who were butchered at Santa Isabel."

"Ask the relatives of the United States soldiers who were treacherously slain at Carrizal."

"Ask the mothers and sisters of those who were slaughtered in the raid at Columbus, New Mexico, whether we were at war with Mexico."

How About The Raids

"Ask the citizens of Brownsville, Red House Ferry, Progreso, and Los Peladales whether the President 'has kept us out of war.'"

"Ask the women and children who were threatened with death at Tampico by an infuriated Mexican mob."

"Ask the thousands of American citizens who were called upon to abandon their property in Mexico and to return forthwith to the United States whether the President has 'kept us out of war.'"

"Ask the hundreds of those refugees who are in the United States today, practically penniless again in want, who were forced to leave their property and homes in Mexico because the Wilson administration refused to give them the protection to which they were justly entitled."

"Ask the thousands of peaceful Mexicans who have suffered famine during 'watchful waiting.'"

"And, finally, ask the wives and children, the dependent mothers, fathers and sisters of the 150,000 national guardsmen who are encamped on the Mexican border whether the President has kept us out of war with Mexico."

Violated

"In 1912 the Democratic platform proclaimed this high-sounding doctrine: 'The constitutional rights of American citizens should protect them on our borders, and go with them throughout the world, and every American citizen residing or having property in any foreign country is entitled to and must be given the full protection of the United States Government, both for himself and for his property.'"

"After several years of 'watchful waiting,' Secretary of State Lansing sent a letter to the head of the de facto government of Mexico in which occurs this remarkable language: 'The progress of the revolution in Mexico: Continuous bloodshed and disorders have marked its progress. For three years the Mexican Republic has been torn with civil strife; lives of American and other aliens have been sacrificed; vast properties developed by American capital and enterprise have been destroyed or rendered non-productive; bandits have been permitted to roam at will through the territory; and to seize, without punishment or without effective attempt at punishment, the property of Americans, while the lives of citizens of the United States who ventured to remain in Mexican territory or to return there to protect their interests have been taken, and in some cases barbarously taken, and the murderers have neither been apprehended nor brought to justice.'"

"It would be tedious to recount in instance after instance, outrage after outrage, atrocity after atrocity, to illustrate the true nature and extent of the widespread conditions of lawlessness and violence which have prevailed. Not only were these murders characterized by ruthless brutality, but unprovoked acts of mutilation were perpetrated."

"This is the indictment of the Wilson administration in Mexico by its own secretary of state."

VACATIONS VOTED FOR RAPID TRANSIT MEN

The Honolulu Rapid Transit and Land Company has inaugurated a system of vacations for its employees. Every employee who has been with the company continuously for a year or more is included under the plan. Beginning January 1, 1917, all employees qualifying will be entitled to a vacation of two weeks with full pay. The directors of the rapid transit company voted to adopt the vacation plan at their last meeting, and posted announcements in the company's offices to that effect.

GAMBLING GAME RAIDED

Eight men were taken in a raid on an alleged gambling joint in a tenement near Iliha and King Streets early yesterday morning by a squad of Captain McDuffie's men. They were charged with gambling. Those arrested were Pedro Leguia, B. Esteban, Francisco Ares, Manuel Inosucio, B. Velasco, M. Coro, Lamento and L. Belduco.

POLAND RESTORED BY THE TEUTONS

Double Proclamation Described As "Momentous Historic Event" in Berlin Despatch

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) BERLIN, November 6—An Austrian despatch of yesterday says: "The Polish provinces now occupied by the forces of the Central Powers were the scenes today of a momentous historic event."

Representatives of the imperial German government, with the sanction of the Kaiser, and representatives of the imperial Austro-Hungarian government, with the approval of the Emperor, formally proclaimed the reestablishment of the Kingdom of Poland, with the right of the Polish people henceforth to control their own destinies, live their own independent national life and govern themselves through their own chosen representatives."

The proclamation was made for Germany in Warsaw and for Austro-Hungary in Lublin."

Poland was partially partitioned first in 1772, when Russia took White Russia and all the Polish Kingdom beyond the Dnieper River; Prussia took the Palatinates of Marienburg, Pomorok, Warmia, Kulm (except Danzig and Thorn) and a part of Great Poland, and Austria took Red Russia of Galicia, with parts of Podolia and Little Poland.

The actual partitioning of Poland did not take place until 1793, when, at the Diet of Grodno, the Poles were sold out by their own aristocrats. In this partition Prussia acquired the remainder of Greater Poland, the principal boundary was advanced to the center of Lithuania and Volhynia, and the claim of Austria upon Galicia was made definite. Austria received Cracow and the country between the Pilica, the Vistula and the Bug, when the last division of the spoils was accomplished, and Prussia secured Posen.

Whether Posen and Galicia are to be restored to Poland and made a part of the reestablished kingdom is not announced in the Berlin despatches.

MIKADO WILL WATCH HIS ARMY MANEUVER

(Special Cablegram to Hawaii Shippo.) TOKIO, November 6—Tomorrow the Emperor and his suite leave for Fukuoka, where the grand maneuvers of the Japanese army are to take place. It is at Fukuoka that the German prisoners taken at Tsingtau have been kept, but none of these will see any part of the maneuvers. Two weeks ago all the prisoners of war were taken to temporary quarters some distance away.

MATSON RAISES WAGES OF HILO STEVEDORES

HILO, November 5—The Matson Steamship Navigation Company has voluntarily raised the wages of its stevedores working in Hilo Bay according to the Hawaii Herald. The men, taken by surprise, thanked Ralph Balding, Hilo agent of the company, for the increase in pay. There have been no troubles on the Hilo waterfront among the stevedores over wages, as in Honolulu.

MORE AMERICANS IN VILLA'S HANDS

Definite Announcement That Bandits Hold Parral—No Word As To Fate of Miners

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) EL PASO, November 6—With no information available of the fate of Americans left in the city, word was brought here yesterday that the Carranza garrison under General Herrera had abandoned Parral to the bandit forces against whom the city has been defended for some time past. The news was brought here by passengers on the train from Chihuahua City. It is believed that General Herrera's forces have evacuated Parral to retreat with the expectation of joining forces with General Maycotte at Escalon, Saturday word was received at Chihuahua City that General Maycotte's brigandage troops had fallen back from their position at Jimenez after an attack by Villistas. The de facto troops took up their new position at Escalon.

The arrivals here yesterday from Chihuahua City were unable to give any definite information concerning the Americans in Parral.

DEATH WITHOUT TRIAL NOW LAW IN MEXICO

That Mexico is in more or less of a state of anarchy, extending into the very capital of the Republic, is made plain by a manifesto dated October 9 and issued under the signature of the de facto President Carranza, a copy of which reached Washington ten days ago.

The proclamation amounts to practically an abrogation of the bill of rights in Mexico, allowing the death penalty without trial upon all criminals caught, except petty violators, for terms up to ten years.

The preamble to the decree is as follows: "Whereas, brigandage has been developing in the country as an inevitable consequence of public upheavals which have taken place during recent years, produced by the struggle it was necessary to carry out; first to throw the power which has usurped the government of the Republic, and later to suppress the insubordination of the division of the north and to exterminate the hordes which had invaded the State of Morelos;

Whereas bandits still remain in various parts of the Republic and remnants of civil war no longer have any political significance, standard or pretext which can justify them in their looting expeditions and raids, since it is the sole purpose of such bands to attack villages and hamlets with the object of sacking them, of committing outrages and assassinations, or to shoot up, attack or dynamite moving trains for the purpose of robbing the passengers, or burn bridges, stations, warehouses and so forth, or to tear up the tracks, or destroy the telegraph and telephone lines of federal companies and corporations;

Whereas, railroad traffic is hindered in this way on many occasions or is made practically impossible, since, although the government takes the greatest care to protect the running of trains and to give all possible protection to travelers, it is impossible to avoid these criminalities because of the large number of railway lines and the facility with which the malefactors elude the repressive action of the authorities, as much as the great extent of the national territory and because of its broken character and because of the protection which these bands frequently find among the rural population, which is due particularly to the fear inspired by them;

Whereas, brigandage in all its manifestations has brought about insecurity in the country districts, forcing the inhabitants of haciendas, ranches, hamlets and other small communities to leave their homes and seek personal safety in the larger centers of population, which is notably injurious to agriculture, commerce and other sources of national wealth, and since the consequences of civil war have been discussing have appeared recently in the principal cities, for even in the capital itself persons who were walking the streets have been attacked at night; suburban trains have been held up and the passengers robbed; burglaries, accompanied by violence, have been of frequent occurrence in private residences; all of which has greatly alarmed the people so that it is an urgent necessity that such a serious state of affairs be put at an end by means of extreme measures which may be efficacious in this instance and which, in fact, had excellent results in analogous circumstances in other periods of the nation's history, as was the case after the three wars in the time of President Benito Juarez;

Whereas, measures of this kind always have consisted in the application of the death penalty to all offenders taken in flagrant delicto, or whose guilt is sufficiently proven;

Whereas, the extraordinary provisions of this law are also applicable to accomplices and accessories after the act as well as to cutpurses, pickpockets and petty thieves in general, and further establishes the obligation under severe penalties of a great number of persons to report these acts to the authorities;

Whereas, it is necessary, in order that the measures embodied in this law may be efficacious, that they be applied promptly by the judicial authority in the place in which the crime is committed, upon occasion even without the form or semblance of a trial, when the offenders are taken in flagrant delicto, or after a most summary investigation when such is not the case;

Whereas, by these measures I, the first chief, hope soon to re-establish peace and give protection to the lives, honor and property of the inhabitants, again giving birth, safety, confidence and work.

FOUND FLAG OF JAPAN IN EVERY IMPORTANT PORT

Manager of Osaka Shosen Kaisha Says Japanese Mercantile Marine Will Increase

HAS TOURED IN NORTH AND SOUTH AMERICA

Scouts Suggestion That Japan Has Warlike Designs, But Asks "Why Exclusion?"

That Japan's merchant marine will soon be the equal if not the superior of any in the world and that the Japanese nation is a peace loving people and opposed to war, are two of the statements made yesterday by Z. Kamiya, manager of the Osaka Mercantile Steamship Company, who left for Japan yesterday on the Venezuela.

After a tour of more than 48,000 miles during which time he visited all parts of the world with the exception of Africa and war-stricken Europe, Mr. Kamiya will return to Japan to report to his country the trade and shipping conditions which he found in all the different countries he has seen. During his travels, which started last April, the steamship official has visited China, India, the Islands of the South Sea, San Francisco, New York and other cities of the United States as well as South American ports.

Japanese Ships Everywhere

"I cannot but wonder," said Mr. Kamiya to a representative of The Advertiser yesterday, "how Japan has grown in a little more than a half century from a country scarcely known to a nation whose steamers ply all the seas." Indeed, I found Japanese steamers in every port I visited. At present Japanese shipping is only in its infancy, but I believe in a short time that it will lead the world.

"There has been an erroneous idea current for many years that Japan was dead and only awoke when Commodore Perry came to our country. Nothing could be further from the truth. As a matter of fact Japan had been developing for hundreds of years prior to that time."

Despite the fact that it was forbidden for Japanese to trade with foreign countries for three hundred years, the marine spirit of the Island nation of the Far East was not destroyed but only slumbering. In fact during all those years the people of Nippon were secretly trading with other nations, boldly crossing the seas in small wooden boats. The history of Japan shows that for more than a thousand years the people of Nippon traded with India, China, Korea and the South Sea Islands. The inherent maritime spirit of the people has developed the commerce of Japan to new levels with rapid strides.

Knowledge At First Hand

"During my travels I met many shippers and traders whom I knew and succeeded in learning at first hand the trade possibilities of the world. I regret that my short stay did not permit me to become better acquainted with conditions in Honolulu. Chambers of commerce, shipping firms and other commercial bodies in all places treated me with unusual courtesy and during the six months of my travels I was invited to speak at dinners and luncheons by the principal commercial bodies in the United States and Japan."

The speaker then took up the subject of a possible friction between the United States and Japan and boldly declared that the likelihood of any such difficulty had been grossly exaggerated.

Trouble Not Probable

"I was frequently asked," he said, "if Japan contemplated a war with the United States and many persons wanted to know what was Japan's attitude towards China and the anti-Japanese land law in California. To all I answered that Japan is anything but a warlike country and can be compared with the United States in its hatred of warfare. Both countries are peace-loving nations and war between them is far from a possibility."

Japan did not annex Formosa and Korea because it wanted them, but because she was compelled to do so in order to uphold her national honor. The same thing is true of China. China does not as yet seem eager for modern education, but as the future of the two countries depends upon the awakening of China, this work must be furthered and stimulated by Japan.

Why Any Exclusion?

"Why are Japanese not wanted in the United States?" he asked. "Do your people wish to discriminate against Japan? Of course the United States can do this, but it is not fair to let in other people and races, many of whom, I believe, are inferior to those of Japan. The only difference is in their color. But color has nothing to do with the actual status of human beings. You can keep Japanese from your country, and Japan will not object. But you cannot pass discriminatory laws without our country trying to prevent it. Our people are entitled to the same rights accorded to the people of other countries."

Upon his return to Japan, Mr. Kamiya will present plans to the Osaka Shosen Kaisha for the establishing of a steamship line between Australia and Japan.

VERDUN AND SOMME GIVE ALLIES GAINS

French Recapture Vaux Village and Clear Damloups of Germans, Thrusting Crown Prince Back to Lines of Months Ago

BRITISH CLEAR HILLS ON BAPAUME ROAD

Italians Claim Heavy Fighting and Gains Against Austrians On Carso Front and Cast Up the Tale of Their Prisoners

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) LONDON, November 6—Yesterday was a day of almost steady gains for the Allies on every front.

On the west the French made important advances, while the British stormed and occupied a number of German positions, bringing their front closer to the main objective of the present drive, the city of Bapaume.

The Italians scored further and important successes against the Austrians, while the Rumanians, Serbians and Russians all report minor successes.

Gains On the Somme

The French advances were on two sections of their front. North of the Somme they made important advances between Les Boeufs and Saily Sailissel, driving their lines close to the village of le Transloy. To the south of this advance another important gain is reported between Saily Sailissel and the woods of St. Pierre Vaast, to the east of Ran-court. In these actions the French took a number of prisoners.

On the British front in France the Germans were driven from the hills in the neighborhood of Butte le Warlencourt, to the north of Le Sars, on the direct road to Bapaume.

Clearing Verdun Front

On the Verdun sector the French regained another large section of terrain, advancing and clearing the troops of the Crown Prince out of the Vaux village and the town of Damloups, thrusting the Germans back in this section past the line they held at the end of their first week's offensive against Verdun.

Rome reports still more violent fighting on the Carso Plateau, with the Italians steadily gaining. The morale of the Austrians appears to be breaking under the steady pounding of the Italian guns and the persistent infantry advances, say the Italian despatches. Southerly of Goritz the fighting yesterday was particularly fierce.

Austrian Losses Heavy

The prisoners taken by the Italians on the Julian Alps front since the offensive was launched on August 6 total now 40,365, of whom 1008 are officers. During the last four days the Austrians have lost in prisoners alone 270 officers and 8722 men.

Both Berlin and Bucharest claim to be winning in the Transylvanian theater. The Germans are pressing their advantage south of Pradedel and the Rumanians have taken more prisoners and guns in the Jiu section.

On Eastern Battlefields

In Macedonia there has been no material change in the positions of the opposing forces, with the exception of a slight advance in the Cerna River section by the Serbs.

The Berlin despatches claim that the Germans have made a slight advance southerly of Divinsk, where fighting has been resumed, but the Germans admit that on the Carpathian front the Russians have resumed their advance.

TOKIO RESIDENTS ARE STREET CAR PATRONS

(Special Cablegram to Hawaii Shippo.) TOKIO, November 6—All records were broken in the matter of passengers carried by the Tokio street rail road on Sunday. In all, for the twenty-four hours, a total of one million two hundred thousand fares were paid.

WHAT THE ISSUES ARE ON COAST

Pacific Slope Voters Have Many Questions To Decide At the Polls Today

its opponents as a single tax. Other measures propose to limit taxes and indebtedness, abolish the Sunday closing law and establish rural credits.

Washington today will choose, beside presidential electors, a United States senator, Governor and full state ticket, five congressmen, entire state house of representatives and half the members of the state senate.

Democrats have appealed for the reelection of President Wilson on his record, and have especially pointed to the Alaska railroad work as proof of his interest in the Northwest.

The Republicans have assailed the Underwood law as destructive to Washington industries. Both Hughes and Fairbanks have attacked the State.

Of ten measures on the ballot, general public interest is taken in two bills which permit the manufacture and delivery of beer to consumers and the serving of liquor to hotel guests.

Alaskan issues Alaska will elect a delegate to congress and an attorney general, and also will vote on a law prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquor in the territory after 1917.

Woman suffrage prevails in Alaska, and the burden of the fight for prohibition has been assumed by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of the territory.

James Wickham, Republican, is candidate to succeed himself as territorial Delegate to Congress.

Montana's Campaign Voters will go to the polls throughout the State today to decide whether Montana will be "dry" after December 31, 1919, and to cast their votes for three other amendments to the constitution.

The campaign was brought to a close last night with speeches in almost every city of the State for and against prohibition, which was by far the most intense campaign issue.

Speakers of national and State prominence campaigned both for and against the "dry" issue.

Both the Republican and Democratic State parties included in their platform planks in favor of State-wide prohibition, and the gubernatorial candidates early in the campaign came out in favor of prohibition.

The State Democratic ticket is headed by Governor Samuel V. Stewart, who is seeking reelection. Frank J. Edwards, of Helena, is his Republican opponent.

Miss Jeanette Rankin and G. F. Farr, Republicans, are being opposed in the race for representative in congress by John M. Evans, incumbent, and Harry B. Mitchell on the Democratic ticket.

Stock Issue in Colorado A complete State ticket will be voted on today in Colorado, and a vital issue of prohibition is one of the seven amendments to the constitution, as is a measure, opposed by stockmen of the State, to prohibit livestock running on unfenced ranges.

State-wide prohibition, effective since the first of the year, is endorsed in both the Democratic and Republican State platforms. The so-called "beer amendment" of permitting the manufacture and sale of beer in the State in unbroken packages to the consumer, was an issue of the campaign. The amendment seeks to have been declared a non-intoxicant.

The campaign in New Mexico has been bitter and hardfought, and featured by incidents in personalities by the rival candidates. Though national issues predominate, the fight has centered over the election of the ticket of State officers.

While no constitutional amendments are to be voted on, at least one, providing for State-wide prohibition, is in the air, and many candidates are pledged to it one way or the other.

Wyoming's Senatorial Fight The campaign in Wyoming has centered in the fight of United States Senator Clarence D. Clark, Republican, to succeed himself. He is opposed by John B. Kendrick, Democrat.

Frank W. Mondell, Republican, is candidate for reelection, opposed by John D. Clark, Democrat. The voters will select a new legislature and district court judges.

Puzzlers in Arizona In addition to the candidates on the national and State tickets, Arizona voters today will ballot on two referendum measures, one altering the initiative and referendum act, and on ten proposed amendments by initiative petition.

The more important of these are three forms of a workmen's compensation act, the creation of a State department of labor, an act to abolish the State senate, an amendment abolishing the death penalty, an addition to the present prohibition laws to prevent the introduction of any intoxicating liquor into the State, substitution of local option for the present constitutional prohibition and a proposed divorce act shortening the required residence from one year to six months and making insanity, the drug habit and eugenic unfitness grounds for marriage dissolution.

Utah and Idaho Only two proposed amendments to the State constitution will be voted on in Utah today besides the presidential electors. One regulates the power of taxation and the other directs the depositing of public money by the State.

A constitutional amendment for state-wide prohibition will be voted on in Idaho today although the State is already "dry" by legislative enactment. B. W. Davis is the Republican candidate for Governor opposing the reelection of Governor Moses Alexander, Democrat. A complete State ticket is up for election. Idaho is nominally Republican, though Wilson carried it in 1912 by 33,221 votes.

SOME LETTERS SAY WILSON'S THE MAN

Will Lose New York and New Jersey But Gain In Northwest and New England

Wilson, but by a narrow margin, in the gist of information regarding the election on the mainland today received here by prominent Democrats.

However, the most optimistic Bourbons concede that the majority by which they believe their presidential candidate will be reelected is too close for comfort. Their predictions are of course, based on the pre-election statistics of the mainland showing the only thing that may be deduced with reasonable certainty from the opposing prophecies is that either Charles Evans Hughes or Thomas Woodrow Wilson will be elected President of the United States today.

Secretary of the Territory Wade Warren Thayer, who is a Democrat, acted at once, however, upon the receipt of the Raymond-Mossman letter which was referred to him by the Governor. He sent the following wireless message to the chairman of twenty-two polling places:

"You are warned against voting of a sample senatorial ballot printed on paper similar to the official ballot; top edge smooth; black lines show through paper; words 'Sample Ballot' in small type beneath words 'Territory of Hawaii.' Allow no illegal use of this ballot."

Printers Are Telling According to Moses Waiwaioale and John Duarte, the Times' employees, there were ordered from the printing office 1500 sample ballots with the word "specimen" printed across their faces, and in addition, 500 sample ballots without this word, but with the words "sample ballot" in absence type near the top. The latter ballots, according to the affidavits, did not contain an X opposite the name of any candidate.

Wade Warren Thayer refused to comment on the matter yesterday, other than to say that the sample ballots were so similar to the official ballots that they might be illegally used though he said he charged nobody with intent so to use them.

R. W. Breckons, Republican national committee man, characterized the sensational Maui yarn as a roorback but too late to be effective.

Three prisoners in the penitentiary were granted paroles yesterday. They were Hoshi Masakiichi, sentenced for first degree burglary April 29, 1912, from one to 20 years; Chung Sung, April 8, 1910, same offense, three to 20 years; Francisco Avila, July 24, 1913, six months to five years, assault with a weapon.

HAWAII'S ALONG TO GEN. EVANS TODAY

Popular Commanding Officer Bids Goodbye To His Department—Sincere Regret Expressed

With the sailing of the transport Sherman this afternoon, Brig. Gen. Robert K. Evans, U. S. Army, accompanied by his wife and son, Captain Evans, will bid farewell to Hawaii.

General Evans is one of the most popular general officers in the service and his retirement on the nineteenth of this month is looked forward to with regret by his numerous friends in the service.

The general came to Hawaii several months ago and during his short stay here has made hosts of friends in Honolulu and, in fact, throughout the Territory. He has done much to assist the National Guard of Hawaii and has exerted every effort during his reign as department commander to better the conditions for the enlisted man of the regular establishment.

When it is said that practically every man in the service and stationed on Oahu regrets to see the general depart no exaggeration is made.

General Evans has proven himself to be a genial and popular officer, and those who have had the pleasure of meeting him will always remember his cordiality and kindness.

Through his efforts the Aero Club of Hawaii has been established, an organization certain to be popular, with its membership daily increasing.

Brig. Gen. Frederick S. Strong, who has been in command of the post of Schofield Barracks and the First Hawaiian Brigade, has been designated to command the Hawaiian Department, and it is expected that he will assume command tomorrow. General Strong is equally popular among both officers and men and also has won a warm spot in the hearts of the people of Hawaii.

CONVICTED KOREAN GETS STAY OF HIS SENTENCE

Lawyer May Move For New Trial In Murder Case

Sentence on You Chil Yong, convicted of second-degree murder by a jury in Judge Ashford's court last week, was stayed yesterday when his lawyer, Charles S. Davis, filed a motion in arrest of judgement, the motion will be heard by Judge Ashford at nine o'clock next Saturday morning.

Attorney Davis will probably move for a new trial, on the ground that Yong's conviction was improper. Davis claims that he produced two witnesses who testified that the dead man, and not the man who is accused with his murder, fired the fatal shot or shots.

According to his lawyer, Yong called on his so-called step-father-in-law, being then in court a suit for the annulment of the marriage of Yong and the man's young step-daughter. The parent received his visitor with a revolver. He fired once, Yong producing in court a pair of trousers with so-called powder marks. The shot missed the visitor, who then grappled with the man with the gun. In the scuffle another shot was fired—presumably the fatal one. Then Yong wrested the revolver from his assailant's hand and threw it to the floor, where it went off a third time. This is Yong's story, which his lawyer believes is the truth.

RAIN GOD WAS INCONSIDERATE

Three-ring Political Gathering With Ten Thousand To Listen Was Scattered

Promptly at quarter to nine last night "Jup. Plus" broke up three monster political meetings that were catering to nearly 10,000 persons in Aala Park. Before the downpour, however, the dear voter had three chances to learn just how to cast his priceless ballot.

At the regular pavilion the final Republican rally, reinforced by the Hawaiian Band and a motion picture exhibition, kept the largest gathering interested for more than an hour. At the mauka side of the park the Democrats had a stand erected where most of the candidates on the Bourbon ticket were summoned to their oratorical labors by a leather-lunged trumpeter. The attendance there was large and given to frequent cheering.

In the middle of the park, at a strategic position to catch stragglers from either of the other meetings, the advocates of the bond issue had an independent platform and drew listeners by the seductive strains of the Hawaiian quartet and a quartet of local vocalists.

It was probably the greatest three-ring political circus ever held in Honolulu and should have marked an era in the political history of the city if it had not been for the inconsiderate "Jup. Plus." During the hour and a half that the three meetings raged the great crowd was kept busy going from one meeting to another. If any voter present is in doubt as to how he should vote it was not because there were not enough orators to tell him but because he was confused by an abundance of information.

Mayor Lane delivered a forceful oration in both the Hawaiian and English languages on the value of the bond issue to Honolulu. He stated that he did not talk as a Republican so much as a citizen and mayor of the city, in which capacity he believed he represented all the people. Every item in the bond issue was discussed by the mayor and the voters were urged to vote for the bonds without regard to party affiliations.

Western Fuel Officials, Denied Appeals, Ask Clemency From President

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) SAN FRANCISCO, November 7.—A final attempt was made yesterday to save from the penitentiary the officials of the Western Fuel Company, convicted of conspiracy to defraud the government out of customs duties through the false weighing of coal imported into this port.

Counsel for the defendants, who are James B. Smith, president of the Western Fuel; Edward Mayer, and Frederick C. Mills, transmitted yesterday to President Wilson a plea for executive clemency, asking him to remit the sentences imposed upon the men. These sentences range from eight months to two years. President Smith having been given the longer term.

Following their conviction in the local United States district court, the cases were appealed, but the court of appeals upheld the trial court, as did the Supreme Court of the United States. Every other legal procedure was exhausted until finally the attorneys for the defense, who included the most prominent lawyers of San Francisco, realized that they had no further legal recourse, except appeal to the President for executive clemency.

There is still pending against the Western Fuel Company a suit by the government for approximately a million dollars, the amount it was testified during the trial of the company officials had been embezzled from the government through false weighing of coal. Several times it had been announced that this action was to be compromised, but each time this has been denied by United States District Attorney John W. Preston.

POLICE SUMMONED TO PREVENT CREW LEAVING WHARF

Having got a "tip" that the white crew of the Ecuador lying at Pier 6 was going to make a rush from the wharf and break the quarantine guard, last night, the police were summoned and a squad under the command of Captain Fred Inauen kept watch and ward over the vessel all night.

The expected "break" was to occur at five o'clock, according to the information received but five o'clock passed without any excitement. Whether or not the sight of officers at the gangplank scared the crew off, the quarantine restrictions remained in tact.

The quarantine was imposed in accordance with the rule protecting the port from Oriental epidemics and it worked a hardship on the crew who have had fifteen days of hard weather and no chance to stretch their legs ashore.

The Oceanic liner Sonoma will be off port at daylight this morning and will be docked at Pier 10 at half past seven. She has six passengers for this port, of whom four are steerage.

Intolerable Conditions

THIS week will see the Honolulu harbor overtaxed with shipping, both to and from the Coast, and Honolulu will be able to stand by and observe the malignant effect of the Democratic marine laws and the scarcely less malignant effect of the Coastwise Law, as it is applied to Hawaii.

With the harbor crowded with shipping, Honolulu will see not the least betterment of the ship famine which is driving prices so high on certain commodities that the building progress of the city is practically at a standstill, the automobile dealers have to put prospective purchasers on the waiting list, street work is stopped, scores of necessary public and private improvements cannot go on and the high cost of living goes higher and higher.

A portion of the shipping which will enter and leave the harbor will fly the American flag, but be able to the American people of the American Territory of Hawaii, although free to Americans of the mainland who desire to travel to the Orient, or the people of the Orient who desire to travel to the United States. Only the people of Hawaii are forbidden the use of these ships.

A portion of the shipping which will call once the Stars and Stripes, where now the Rising Sun floats proudly. Once these ships could be used by the people of Hawaii, but no more.

Of twelve great, deep-sea steamers, the people of Hawaii desiring to travel to the American mainland are permitted to use just two, the S. S. Sonoma and the S. S. Manoa, and both leave the port on Tuesday. For one day out of the seven Americans in the Islands are allowed to leave for the United States mainland. One foreign steamer, the Makura, is free to local Americans, but they have to travel through a portion of Canada to reach their own country.

Of the steamers arriving from the American mainland during the week, there is one upon which passengers to Hawaii may travel. That is the S. S. Matsonia.

The harbor officials are wondering where to berth all the shipping that will throng this harbor this week, but there is no worry over where to put all the incoming freight. The freights that cause the worry are the much needed supplies for Hawaii that are piled up on the Coast, unable to be moved for lack of American bottoms.

Between the Coastwise Law and the La Follette Law Hawaii is ground between the upper and the nether millstone of iniquitous legislation, and those who should be foremost in Hawaii in attempting to secure relief are doing nothing. They are either interested in the shipping monopoly or so wrapped up in sugar cane as to be indifferent to anything that does not smell of molasses.

With the election of a Republican government tomorrow will come Hawaii's renewed opportunity to secure some amelioration of conditions that have become intolerable. Temporary relief from the Coastwise Law is the first thing to strive for. Following that, Hawaii can throw its influence towards the securing of some shipping laws to give this American Territory equal rights to free travel with the rest of the Union and the rest of the world.

Fighting Time

At last President Wilson has defined the conditions and circumstances under which he would fight. He is, it seems, "willing to fight," but is "waiting for something worth fighting for," for something which will "put all the corpses of my blood into shouting shape." This is irresistibly suggestive of an old, old story. "Sir," said one grievously abused, "you have called me a liar, a dog, and a son of a dog. You have spat in my face and kicked me thrice. I solemnly warn you not to go too far. Do not arouse the sleeping lion in my breast, for if you do I am dangerous."

In happier metaphor Mr. Wilson warns the insulters of this nation against causing "all the corpses of his blood to shout." But they must all shout. If even one remains silent his fighting moment has not arrived. And this clotted nonsense is offered in explanation and mitigation of the pusillanimous "too proud to fight" San Francisco Argonaut.

The Governor has shown the proper example in notifying the heads of the various territorial departments that those of their employees who belong to the national guard are to be granted leaves of absence to attend the instruction camp to be held on Red Hill. The government should set the example and should, as the Governor has done, make it plain that such leaves of absence are not to be considered as vacations. According to the schedule of work drawn up for the guardsmen in camp the week on Red Hill will be real work and no play period. The heads of business firms should now follow the example of the government. It may be inconvenient to spare employees for a week, but not half so inconvenient as it would be if the services of these employees as fighting men is ever required and they do not know their soldier business. These annual training camps give the business men the opportunity to prove that their aloha for the flag and their undying patriotism is the real thing and not merely lip service.

With Hawaii admitted to statehood there will be an end of the regime of appointive spoilsmen, political nonentities saddled on a community that had governed itself for a hundred years.

Hawaiian Statehood

IF the election is close, Republican victory may confer statehood on Hawaii.

If the Democratic party happens to be again returned to power by the accident of a European war influencing the minds of "peace at any price" citizens to believe that it is better to stay in bed and play sick than to change doctors, the good Lord help Hawaii!

Twenty thousand American citizens would like to have their votes counted in an expression of opinion on national policies, but we who have the most at stake must hold our peace. The best we can do is to make our votes a living protest against free trade, that it shall not be held up against us that in a crisis the citizens of Hawaii were negligent of their own interests.

Statehood for Hawaii means self reliance, equality of opportunity, rapid progress in commercial development. Hawaii will stand on its own feet, think and act for itself, accept responsibility, and grow as no new State has ever developed before. The Republican party has given its pledge. Four years hence Hawaii's voice will be given heed in the national council. Swaddling clothes are no suitable garment for a hundred million dollar giant.

Republican victory will be the harbinger of a new era for American Hawaii. Our commercial influence already extends east, west, north and south. Statehood will give us the right to stand alone, to decide our own trend of commercial and industrial development, and act in concert and on an equal plane with the other States. Republican victory will be the opening of a new door leading towards a resplendent future,—into the commercial, industrial, civic and political fields of opportunity.

Business Epitome

ACCORDING to the business epitome of the Commercial and Financial Chronicle for the week ending October 13,—

"Remarkable activity continues in very many branches of trade even at current high prices. Steel is selling on an enormous scale at gradually rising prices. Large sales of pig iron are in progress at an advance, and copper meets with a brisk demand.

"Exports of general merchandise are phenomenally large. Manufacturers are operating in many cases to capacity, yet find it difficult or even impossible to keep up with their orders or anywhere near it. They cannot as a rule accumulate a surplus stock of goods. This of course prevents the piling up of unwieldy stocks in mills and factories.

"Smaller grain crops are offset by higher prices. Wheat is forty to fifty cents a bushel higher than a year ago, corn nearly twenty-five cents and oats fifteen cents. Cotton is five cents a pound higher. Collections the country over are generally good. Building is increasing.

"The shipyards are extraordinarily busy and are buying supplies for delivery as far ahead as the spring of 1918. On the other hand, the submarine question is a disturbing one. Car shortages too, are increasing. Some fears of a coal shortage are entertained. Raw materials are scarce. So is labor. The cost of living is notoriously high. It bears sharply on people with small incomes. And there seems little or no prospect of immediate relief. Buying for next spring delivery in some directions is becoming more conservative. Submarine attacks on shipping on our Atlantic coasts have caused a sharp rise in war risks and ocean freights and may hamper American exports, at least for a time."

Finding Work For Jobless

CALIFORNIA seems to be fighting Satan's effort, to find mischief for idle hands, quite successfully. State labor commissioner, J. P. McLaughlin has issued a statement of the activities of the free employment bureaus provided for by the last legislature, which were opened on the first day of last February.

Since that date 23,118 men and 3,796 women have been assigned to employment without cost to them nor to employers. The busiest month was August, when 5,952 positions were filled. Of this number 3,492 were outside of the cities of San Francisco, Sacramento, and Los Angeles, and this indicates that the employment bureaus are serving a good rural purpose.

Of the 26,914 positions filled since last February 2,707 were agricultural. This seems a smaller percentage than one might expect, but the undertaking is probably too new to be widely understood away from the towns and villages. It may be expected to grow toward agricultural service later.

In Hawaii the employment bureaus are mainly private, for the purpose of getting men out to the plantations. On the mainland much attention is now being given to getting the "fired" man a job as quickly as work can be secured for him. It is becoming more generally recognized that the laborer who has been forcibly separated from his job, whatever the fault or reason for dismissal, is the most liable to become any enemy of society, a thief, trouble-maker, or gin-mill habitue. Where there are state or municipal bureaus charged with this service the effort is made to keep the supply of jobs ahead of the list of unemployed, because society is the gainer in the proportion that unemployment can be eliminated.

JAPANESE PLANS TO CAPTURE TRADE

Energetic Campaign in Orient and America Being Carried Out By Exporters

(By The Associated Press.)

TOKIO, October 27.—Japan's intention to increase her foreign markets includes preparations to send her goods into every corner of China. Agents of new Japanese companies which have organized new enterprises and manufactures are circulating throughout all parts of China, especially eastern Mongolia and south Manchuria, where the Japanese government is at present seeking additional political rights and additional influence.

What might be styled the economic conquest of China is especially in the hands of the Japan Foreign Trade Association. Chang-tung-hsing, the new Chinese minister to Japan, as a guest of honor recently at a dinner given by some sixty members of this association spoke with friendliness towards Japan's economic ambitions in China.

"No competition or collision of interest," he said, "between the two neighboring countries will severely affect the commercial relations between the two peoples, while the growth of commercial transactions between them is sure to sweep away sources of misunderstanding and contribute to the building up of mutual good will." He declared that the recent development of Japan's commercial interests was astounding and that it called for the admiration of the Chinese.

Members of the association suggested the formation of an economic alliance between Japanese and Chinese business men and, among other things, the establishment of a Sino-Japanese association and a social club of Japanese and Chinese as a means of promoting better relations.

If the war continues for a considerable period, Japanese trade already enhanced to a remarkable degree in the lines which Japan has already followed, will be swelled in new directions.

In the toy industry statistics show that Japan has jumped to the position of leading exporting country in the world, a place that hitherto was held by Germany. The export of toys to the United States alone was valued at $1,000,000 in the first half of 1915, but in the first six months of this year it had leaped to 1,000,000 yen, or $500,000. The total export of toys to foreign markets was 3,340,000 yen, or about $1,670,000, in the first six months of this year.

The confectionery trade is also profiting by the war. Japanese sweetmeats had not been exported before the war, although large quantities of foreign-made candies were imported. Recently large orders have been received from China, Canada, Australia, India and Egypt.

Lead pencils are largely exported to Russia, as their supply from Germany and Austria was stopped. Ladies' combs are also largely exported to Russia.

Although Japan continues to import paper from abroad, a large quantity of Japanese paper is now exported to China.

The most promising export to the United States, after toys, is, according to the commercial museum, artificial flowers for hair and hat ornaments. The Japanese estimate that about $10,000,000 is spent every year in America on these flowers, and are planning to build up a big export to that country.

Japan realizes that the export in munitions of war is but momentary, and is already planning for a commercial development that will prove permanent. The new industries now started cover a multitude of articles which it is hoped to sell to China especially, but also to India, the South Seas generally, and to the two Americas.

BIG FISH LANDED CLOSE OFF SHORE

That it is not necessary to provision for deep sea trip to get deep sea fishing is proved by four enthusiastic anglers who almost broke records a mile off the Mauna Hotel yesterday morning at eleven o'clock, in the launch P. D. Q.

The fishermen used rod and reel, trolling with a Wilson spoon, and state that fish were extremely plentiful.

SOME OFFICERS WHO LEAVE ON THE SHERMAN

Capt. William E. Shedd Jr., coast artillery corps, and Mrs. Shedd, will leave on the Sherman for the mainland, where Captain Shedd is detailed to a course of instruction at the coast artillery school at Fort Monroe, Virginia. Coleman W. Jenkins, until recently stationed with the coast artillery, at Fort Kamehameha, is also detailed to the school at Fort Monroe.

Lieut. Otis K. Sadler, Infantry, unassigned, leaves on the Sherman for Fort McDowell, California, where he is to be on recruiting duty. Lieutenant Sadler has spent over three years on

MOTORCYCLE NOVELTIES IN BORDER USE

Army Adopts Motorcycle Ambulances and Kitchenette

A few weeks ago The Advertiser published photographs of a motorcycle machine gun, with the statement that the Indian Motorcycle Company had fitted up these rapid-fire batteries and that the war department was giving them a thorough test.

On Saturday night word was received from the mainland that the tests had been completely satisfactory and that orders for a large number of the motorcycle mounted machine guns had been placed by the government. Already some of these guns are on the border, ready for whatever emergency may arise.

In addition, the government has ordered Red Cross motorcycle ambulances and motorcycles fitted up as ammunition carriers.

The pictures herewith show the two new types of equipment which were adopted only after severe tests by high army officers.

Motorcycle Ambulance
The motorcycle ambulance, which was one of the last to be adopted, is equipped with a stretcher-carrier and a double deck type, accommodating two persons each trip. Regulation stretchers are used, but they are fitted with special pedestals which set into sections of the carrier frame, where they are clamped to prevent slipping.

The chassis on which the stretcher frame is mounted has such features as vanadium steel springs, which absorb shock when the machine is in motion. Another feature of the motorcycle ambulance is that it is equipped with a first-aid cabinet, which is constructed directly under the frame on which the stretchers are attached, with opening on the side, thereby obviating the necessity of raising the stretcher to get into the cabinet, and affords opportunity for attendants of the ambulance to give dressings right on a battlefield without delay, which would ordinarily be occasioned if a patient had to be moved to a hospital in the rear of the lines before dressings could be applied.

The first motorcycle ambulance similar to the one pictured above was tried out with great success on the battlefields of Europe several months ago, and has been adopted by a number of the belligerent nations.

Motorcycle Machine Gun
The motorcycle machine gun, previously pictured in The Advertiser, after severe tests and a tryout at the business men's training camp at Plattburg, were very favorably commented on by Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, who witnessed the demonstrations. The location selected for the experiment was three miles west of the camp, in a wild field of the meanest soil, sandy and full of stumps, and possessing all other obstacles which tend to make the operation of a motorcycle machine gun extremely difficult. Under these trying conditions men of the regular army put this machine through the paces with such excellent results as to its practicability that they brought comments of favor from all army officials present.

After traversing the rough piece of field above described at a speed of over twenty miles an hour, and crossing a stream, the machine gun was set for action and all this was accomplished in about one-third of the time that the same maneuver could have been accomplished with horses. The machine gun is detachable from the motorcycle and can be freely moved about on its rubber-tired chassis so as to take advantage of the best firing position. The single motorcycle thus freed of its side load is then free for despatch duty, or in case of successful charge by an enemy the gunners of the battery, three in number may make good their escape. At the finish of this test the men who participated in it were highly complimented by Major General Wood.

Ammunition Carrier and Kitchenette
From the picture above this contrivance at first glance would suggest an ordinary iron bound trunk attached to the side of a motorcycle, but what it really is and contains is a complete surprise in the field of inventions. This carrier holds many thousands of rounds of ammunition to supply the motorcycle machine gun, and in addition contains a complete kitchenette, equipped with patent heat producing elements which make it but a matter of a few minutes after a halt is called to prepare a fairly substantial meal for a small detachment, and if necessity demands a whole company might be fed in this way.

The carrier and kitchenette is also detachable from the single motorcycle, thus enabling the men to have the use of the unhampered machine for the transmission of despatches in the field.

According to a statement made by the Indian Motorcycle Company, the three new devices above described are now a part of the equipment of the regular army, and the machine gun and carrier and kitchenette have already been put in actual use along the border. It is also understood that an order has just been placed for sixty-five Indian motorcycles which are to be used by the quartermaster's department in the field along the Mexican border. All these machines, including those already in use, are painted the olive drab color of the army, and all are fitted with powerplus engines, side car and tandem attachments, Prest-O-Lite outfit, and Corbin Brown Speedometers.

GRINGOS AND CHINESE SHOT BY VILLISTAS

Bandits Fear Governments of Neither and Show No Mercy At Santa Rosalia—Town Looted and Women Are Outraged

CARRANZISTAS GIVE UP TWO POSITIONS

Jimenez and Parral Abandoned To the Oncoming Villistas, Who Grow Daily Stronger and More of a Menace to Border Towns

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)

CHIHUAHUA CITY, November 5.—At least one American and a number of Chinese were executed by Villistas under the command of the brigand Uribe recently at Santa Rosalia, according to accounts of the raid given by Mexican refugees who reached this city yesterday.

When the followers of Villa invaded the city, a number of Chinese were placed under arrest as well as an Arab and Doctor Fisher, an American physician. After looting the town the invaders lined the prisoners up in the plaza and announced to them that they were allowed the choice of death or having their ears cut off. The number of victims was twenty-six.

Torture and Rape

Almost without hesitation most of the condemned chose death rather than the fiendish mutilation with which Villa has elected to disfigure his victims.

After looting the town by breaking into store and residences and setting them on fire, the ruffian followers of Villa ravaged all the women and camp followers of the Carranza troops.

Carranzistas Retreat

Information was brought here yesterday that Carranzistas under General Maycotte had fallen back from his position at Jimenez following an attack by Villistas. The de facto troops retreated to Escalon on the ground that Jimenez was not of sufficient strategic importance to hold. Followers of Villa entered Jimenez yesterday, it is reported, using for the purpose the railroad which Maycotte has been using for some time.

Parral Given Up

It is believed that General Herrera who has been holding Parral against the bandits has evacuated that point and is retreating with the expectation of joining forces with Maycotte at Escalon.

Col. Rosario Garcia, a Villa commander in Sonora, convicted of treason, was executed at Juarez yesterday by Carranzista soldiers. He pleaded that he had been forced to carry messages for Villa. The first volley failed to kill the condemned man and two "mercy" shots were necessary to despatch him.

HUGHES CHEERED BY NEW YORKERS FOR HIROHITO

Flashlight Explosion Led To the Belief That Someone Had Thrown a Bomb

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)

NEW YORK, November 5.—An explosion last night near the automobile occupied by Charles Evans Hughes, Republican candidate for President, caused the belief that bombs had been hurled at him in an attempt to kill him. The police declared, however, that it was only the explosion of photographers' flashlight powder. The explosion, however, was so violent that two newspaper men nearby were slightly hurt.

Mr. Hughes made an address here last night at Madison Square Garden in which he reiterated his former statements of what he would have done if he had been President during the administration of President Wilson. He denounced Wilson for his vacillation, charging him with responsibility for the murder of American citizens on the high seas and in Mexico and on the Mexican border. The existing difficulties with Germany, Mexico and other countries, Mr. Hughes said, would never have occurred had the Administration had a firm policy and been consistent in its dealings with foreign nations.

Hughes speech aroused the greatest enthusiasm, and when he expounded his doctrine of Americanism, the audience arose and cheered for forty minutes.

Hughes reached New York yesterday after a swing around the state in which he made a dozen speeches daily. He made five speeches during the day. His final speech was the one delivered last night at Madison Square Garden, in which he vigorously assailed the Democratic administration. Mr. Hughes declared that he is for the maintenance of American rights throughout the world. He said that he was opposed to "treating the American merchant as a suspicious character," and added that if elected to the presidency, he did not propose "to deal with international situations in an academic manner."

G. O. P. FALLS BACK ON ONLY ISSUE

This, Says the President, Is the Tariff, From Which All Pretense Is Torn

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)

LONG BRANCH, New Jersey, November 5.—The Republicans have fallen back upon the protective tariff as the only issue of the political campaign, according to an address made at Shadow Lawn yesterday by President Wilson, who added that "American industry which are protected by the highest tariff pay the lowest wages."

All pretense about protection have been torn away," he declared. Parker Sees Landslide. A telegram was received last yesterday from John M. Parker, candidate for vice-president on the Progressive ticket, to the effect that the Bull Moose of the Middle West are solid in their support of a landslide. "The elements of a landslide are appearing," said Parker in his telegram.

President Wilson, having closed his active campaign, has retired to his summer home at Shadow Lawn. Last night he made his final oratorical appeal in his own behalf. He vigorously denounced the campaign conducted by his principal opponent, Charles Evans Hughes. He accused his opponents of "sneering laborers," and said that "by spreading rumors they used to control the credit of the nation, but now they only control the betting."

While President Wilson was speaking at Shadow Lawn, William Johnson of Adelphi, New Jersey dropped dead of heart failure in the audience.

John M. Hanly, the Prohibition candidate for President, returned to this city yesterday after a campaign tour in which he visited thirty-four States and covered 20,000 miles.

Allan J. Benson, the Socialist party candidate, is still out on the stump. He spoke yesterday in Kansas City. Charles Evans Hughes in the course of his campaign tours has traveled 28,000 miles, visiting practically all the States except those in the South that are certainly Democratic.

"RESIGNATION" OF DUMBA ACCEPTED

Franz Josef Thanks Him For the "Excellent Service" Rendered At Washington

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)

BERLIN, November 5.—Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria-Hungary has accepted the resignation of Dr. Constantine Theodor Dumba as ambassador to the United States, according to an Overseas News Agency despatch today from Vienna.

In accepting Doctor Dumba's resignation the Emperor thanked him, the despatch says, "for his excellent service."

Doctor Dumba sailed from New York on November 6, 1915, following a demand on the part of the United States government for his recall when it was charged that he was implicated in plots to cause industrial disturbances in the United States with the intent of aiding the cause of the Teutonic allies.

Since Doctor Dumba's virtual expulsion from the United States the post of ambassador from Austria-Hungary to that country has been vacant. Apparently to emphasize the displeasure of the dual monarchy over the action of the United States in demanding his withdrawal, in the interim the affairs of Austria-Hungary in America have been handled by subordinate diplomatic officers.

Will Name Successor. Now that Doctor Dumba has formally resigned, however, it is expected that Emperor Francis Joseph will name a new ambassador to the United States.

Secret service men of the United States implicated Doctor Dumba with Captain von Papan of the German army in plots to cause disturbances in munition plants and elsewhere in the United States. Von Papan was a military attaché of the German government. The immediate withdrawal of both men was requested by the state department of the United States when the alleged plot was discovered.

WOULD ARBITRATE ELECTION IN CUBA

Result of Polling Not Yet Known and Confusion Generally Is Only Outcome

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)

HAVANA, November 5.—Complete returns from the various polls in the presidential election held throughout the Republic some days ago have not yet been received and only indefinite news of the results in some provinces are obtainable. It appears from what can be gathered regarding the polling that the result of the vote, whatever it may be, will be unsatisfactory to many.

It is now proposed that a committee of arbitration be named and that before it will be argued out the various questions arising out of the voting and the disturbances at the polls. This committee is to be made up of disinterested persons and its announcement is to be taken as final by all factions.

Revolutionists and Royalists Now Fighting—Neither Side Has Gained

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)

LONDON, November 5.—Open fighting is now taking place in Thessaly between the Greek revolutionists and the loyal troops of King Constantine.

Last week a party of Venizelists, armed with machine guns, drove from Katerina, on the Gulf of Salonika, the small loyal garrison, which fell back and awaited reinforcements hurried to the scene by King Constantine.

In the meanwhile the revolutionists were reinforced, and the arrival of the royalist army has been awaited confidently.

When this army appeared before Katerina and the Venizelists marched out to give battle. The fighting was a progress that night without advantage to either side, according to a despatch from Athens.

YOUNG CHIL YONG FOUND GUILTY OF SECOND-DEGREE MURDER

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)

Five hours after the case had been submitted to them for a decision the trial jurors who heard the testimony in the case of the Territory against You Chul Yong, charged with shooting and killing Kim Hoon Ngul, returned a verdict of second-degree murder against the defendant at four o'clock yesterday afternoon. The case was on trial two days.

You Chul Yong will be sentenced by Judge Ashford at nine o'clock tomorrow morning at which time, also, Gregorio Endoso, convicted by a jury in the same court on Thursday of the crime of second-degree murder, his victim having been Pedro Nolasco, will receive his sentence. In both cases the law provides not less than twenty years up to life as punishment.

Both murder cases have been fully covered in the news columns of The Advertiser. Attorney Charles S. Davies, defending You Chul Yong, made a good fight to save his client's neck, and he succeeded. The testimony was purely circumstantial but there were strong elements in it which the defendant's counsel found hard to combat.

You Chul Yong claimed that the latter assaulted him with a revolver. In the scuffle, claimed the defendant, Kim inflicted on himself his own mortal wound.

One Survivor Only From Each of Two Ships Which Crashed In Gale In the Irish Sea

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)

BELFAST, Ireland, November 5.—Ninety-two persons, it is believed, lost their lives yesterday when the London & Northwestern Railway Steamship Company's steamship Retriever collided in the Irish channel in the midst of a severe gale.

Only two persons from both steamers were saved—one passenger of the Connamara and one member of the crew of the Retriever.

The collision occurred when the vessels were within sight of land and the hulls, partially submerged, can still be seen from the shore.

The Connamara was loaded with cattle and the Retriever with coal. It is not believed that there were any Americans among those who were lost.

The Connamara was a passenger vessel of 833 tons. The Retriever was of 157 tons.

Prisoners At Waimea Camp Go After Each Other With Guns—Murderer One of a Pair Convicted For Rioting In Camp

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)

HILO, November 4.—When Henry F. Ferguson was arraigned before Judge Thompson in the third circuit court at Keolu last week on a charge of rioting, he promptly pleaded guilty. Ferguson was sentenced to not less than one year nor to more than five years in prison.

A present Ferguson is serving a sentence of life imprisonment for the cold blooded murder of Policeman Abrean in Honolulu. When sentenced to from one to five years more than life the prisoner grinned.

At the same time George Lyons and Joan Monroe were arraigned to plead to the same charge. Lyons is serving a sentence of ten years, also for murder, while Joan Monroe is serving a sentence of four years for burglary. Lyons was given an additional sentence of from two to five years in prison, and Monroe received the same sentence. These two were given a severer sentence than Ferguson because at the time of the riot at the Waimea jail camp they were armed with a revolver and a rifle, and the Porto Rican cook was shot and badly wounded.

Judge Thompson announced that all three sentences "be served following the expiration of the sentence now being served."

The cause given by the three prisoners for their riot was that they acted in self-defense, as there was a conspiracy upon the part of the Porto Rican and Filipino prisoners to "do them up."

NEW HILO PAPER MAKES ITS DEBUT

Does Not Like Present Form of Government and Will Reform It

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)

HILO, November 5.—The Hilo Post has made its debut to the public. "No. 1, Vol. 1," under date of November 1, having come to hand yesterday. The editor, T. Wake, and R. L. Halpin, manager of the printing department, are recent arrivals from New Zealand who intend to make Hilo their home.

The first issue of the Post is a four-page, five-column sheet devoted mainly to local news. The editor in announcing his policy states that the Post will be independent in politics.

The foremost plank in his platform is to be steadily open forward such legislative reforms for the home steers as will put the industry on a footing to make the production of the necessities of life a profitable occupation.

Strict accountability in the expenditure of public money by government departments; cheap money for the farmers; the building of good roads with bond money; civil service; and better land laws are some of the other "planks" on which the new publication announces that it will have something to say.

Would Change Government. The Post would also change the form of government declaring that "the present system is a mere apology of government and has outlived its usefulness. Any country we have knowledge of which is under any other system than local control, is not in the front line."

"It would give a great impetus to the movement if the legislative path were cleared to allow ambitious young men to rise to the higher positions, and there is no logical reason now, if ever there was, why sufficient local men could not be found to compose a local Executive Council."

National Guard To Pick Coffee Is the Scheme In Kona

Heavy Crop Ripened Suddenly and in Danger of Being Lost Unless Labor Supply Can Be Supplemented Without Delay

HILO, November 4.—So great is the coffee crop this year that there is a danger that much of it may be lost, and over in Kona it is suggested that the members of the National Guard of Hawaii in this county be called out to help save this valuable crop.

"I don't see how we will be able to save our coffee crop this year unless we call out the militia," remarked Lieut. Julian Yates, of Company H, N. G. H., yesterday, speaking of the labor famine in Kona.

As it is, it is probable that the whole of that district will all be closed for a time and the children, or at least those large enough to work, will be set to picking the coffee berries. Record prices are being paid for this work in Kona this year and as high as eighty-five cents a bag is paid the pickers.

Quite a number of the coffee planters have automobiles scouring the district for pickers, bringing them from their homes as far away as ten miles to pick and taking them home at night. Good pickers are getting $1.50 a day, which is over one hundred per cent more than in former years.

The drill grounds used by the national guard can no longer be used for drills as they are now utilized for drying the pulped coffee berries, at both Napoosipo and Keolu.

The Captain Cook Coffee Company was turned most of its mill men into the fields and has supplied their places in the mill with men who are not such good pickers. Everything possible is being done to save the crop, which is being done to save the crop, which is being done to save the crop, which is being done to save the crop.

ITALIANS TAKE MORE GROUND AND PRISONERS

Austrians Unable To Check Enemy Pushing On Toward Trieste and Fall Back Another Kilometer, Leaving Many Prisoners

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)

LONDON, November 5.—The Italian advance on the Carso Plateau has not yet been checked by the Austrians, who yesterday lost more positions and were driven still further back, leaving five hundred and thirty-three prisoners in the hands of the enemy.

The Italian advance yesterday was made in the direction of the Widpach River, the Austrian front being pushed in for a depth of a kilometer.

In this advance the Italians took an observatory on the slopes of Cima Bozche and a series of trenches and fortified posts.

Stabrous German Advance. On the Gafician front the Germans continued to press their advance against the Russians on the heights east of the Lipcedolna and the left bank of the Narayuka. The fighting which took place south of Brzesany, near Michishow, was stubborn, the "slaves" clinging to their lines and refusing the Germans time and again, to be finally driven out. A portion of the Russian lines on the Lipcedolna in German hands last night, while the advance on the left bank of the Narayuka carried the Teutons into some of the Russian main line positions.

Rumanians Gaining. Although the Germans announce that they have recaptured some of the Rumanian positions south of Pradial, the advantages on the Transylvanian front were heavily in favor of the Rumanians, who were advancing. The Rumanians advanced west of the Buzze River on to the tableland of Butsi, driving the Austro-Germans before them.

West of the Jiu Pass the pursuit of the Austro-Germans continues and the Rumanians, enabled to advance and seize the Boses Heights. Attack and Counter Attack. A strong German counter was made on the west front against the British near Guiney and east of Guedecouff. The latter charges were broken up by the British fire, the Germans being driven back with heavy losses. The attacks near Guiney were more successful, for the Teutons, who entered the British trenches, held them for a while until strong counters drove them out.

WILSON PHRASE SORDID UNTRUTH SAYS ROOSEVELT

Roughrider Went Vigorously After the President in Speech in New York Yesterday—Says Wilson Proves To Be Only a Buchanan

PUTS NATION'S BELLY ABOVE ITS SOUL

Time of World Cataclysm Called For Leaders Like Washington and Lincoln and Had Only a Vaccillator, 'Too Proud to Fight'

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
NEW YORK, November 4.—Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States, was denounced by former President Theodore Roosevelt last night, at a monster meeting addressed by Roosevelt at Cooper Union as having uttered a sordid untruth when he said "You cannot worship God on an empty stomach nor be a patriot when you are starving."

Roosevelt, in his characteristically vigorous manner, charged the Democratic administration with having humbled the United States in the eyes of the world through its foreign policy. "A world cataclysm had overwhelmed civilization," said the former president. "The times demanded a Washington or a Lincoln. But unfortunately they were granted only another Buchanan."

Roosevelt denounced Wilson's administration as vacillating and weak. As a party to the Hague Treaty, he said the United States should not have helped while Germany overran Belgium. This country should not have permitted its citizens to be murdered and drowned at sea by a European power, nor to be ruthlessly killed on land by Mexican bandits.

Instead of "keeping us out of war," the Wilson administration, Roosevelt declared, had actually involved us in war with Mexico, war in which many American lives were uselessly wasted and no good attained.

Referring to President Wilson's alleged statement recently at Long Branch that "you cannot worship God on an empty stomach nor be a patriot when you are starving," Roosevelt said:

"No more sordid untruths was ever uttered. Such a sentence could be offered only by a President who cares nothing for the nation's soul, a President who believes that the nation puts its belly above its soul. Does President Wilson think that Washington's men at Valley Forge were not patriots just because they were starving?"

He said that the nation's soul is being sacrificed to the belly, and that the nation is being led to a sordid untruth.

BRITAIN AND FRANCE SOLVENT SAYS PARTNER OF J. P. MORGAN & CO.

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
CHICAGO, Illinois, November 4.—Henry Davidson, of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Company, New York, who returned to the United States this week from London, where he arranged for a new loan to the British government, at a banquet here last night of bankers of the Middle West, declared that his recent trip to Europe had given him faith in the solvency of both Great Britain and France.

Mr. Davidson reiterated his former statements, made upon his return to this country, that if the United States hopes to get its share of the trade of the Entente Allies after the war, it must show them the same courtesies that a business man would show a prospective customer.

"After the war ends," Mr. Davidson said, "the countries of Europe are going to buy where they can get the best prices and the best credit accommodations. If we want to get our share of their trade, we must extend credit to them. Otherwise, they will buy where they can get the credit they want and need."

HUGHES WINDING UP HIS CAMPAIGN FULL OF CONFIDENCE

In Series of Speeches in Brook- lyn He Vigorously Assails the Democratic Record

CAMPAIGN MANAGERS DIFFER IN FORECASTS

Socialists After Independent Can- vass, Announce Republicans As Well In the Lead

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
NEW YORK, November 4.—"I return home, pretty sure that the fight has been won and that when the votes are counted next Tuesday night, it will be found that a Republican President has been elected," said Charles Evans Hughes yesterday when he arrived in Brooklyn at the end of his last journey as Republican candidate for the Presidency of the United States.

During the day Mr. Hughes delivered four addresses in Brooklyn, in the course of which he assailed the administration's foreign policy, both in Mexico and in Europe. He argued that whereas President Wilson was running for reelection on the ground that he "kept us out of war," he had really been at war with Mexico.

Mr. Hughes reiterated his former statements that if the administration had in the beginning adopted a firm policy and made the nations of Europe understand that he meant what he said, the Lusitania would never have been torpedoed, with the loss of more than one hundred American men, women and children.

Consistency Needed
If the administration, he added, had been consistent in its dealings with Mexico, instead of befriending first one and then another, the United States would not now be spending millions of dollars in maintaining an army in Mexico and on the border between that country and the United States, and hundreds of Americans who have fallen victims to the various warring factions that for years have overrun Mexico would today be alive and happy.

Consistent with the return of Mr. Hughes to his home State, betting on the election took a turn yesterday in his favor. Early in the campaign the odds were ten to six that Mr. Hughes would be elected. Later on, however, the odds dropped to ten to eight. But yesterday, after looking over the ground, the betting fraternity shifted the odds ten to seven. Odds of five to three were offered that Hughes will carry New York, and the same odds were offered that he would even win out in Ohio.

Chairman William R. Wilcox of the Republican national committee issued a statement last night expressing complete confidence in the election of Mr. Hughes by a heavy majority. His estimate gives the Republican candidate more than three hundred votes in the electoral college, and he says Hughes will carry all States that are normally Republican.

Telegram received here from Chicago from Alvin T. Hart, western manager of the Republican campaign, expressed equal confidence in the success of Mr. Hughes. Sentiment in favor of the Republican candidate, he says, is more favorable than any previous time during the campaign. Included in the list of states that Mr. Hart claims will be Republican are Wisconsin, Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, North and South Dakota, Minnesota, Idaho and even Missouri and Kentucky.

Thomas Walsh, Democratic campaign manager in the West, however, makes equally strong claims for the success of this candidate. Prospects for Wilson, he said, were never brighter, and he added that reports indicated that every State in the West claimed by the Republicans was either safely Democratic or in the doubtful class.

The Socialists concede the probable election of Hughes. The secretary of the National Socialist party yesterday issued a statement in which he said that estimates made by Socialists in every State indicate the election of the Republican candidate, and that Hughes will carry Ohio, New York, Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan.

Broken Bourbon Pledges
Mr. Hughes on his arrival in Brooklyn was escorted to his hotel by the Hughes College Men's League. Before leaving Brooklyn he made five speeches en route from Albany. Addressing a large crowd at Hudson he said:

"The Democrats were as eloquent in 1912 as they are today over what they do for labor and for business. They promised to reduce the high cost of living. They have not reduced it. But they have been eminently successful in reducing the chances for making a living."

The Hughes woman's special train which for weeks has been traveling through the country, carrying a large number of prominent women supporters who were campaigning for the Republican candidate, returned to New York today after having traveled a total of 11,769 miles. Twenty-eight States were visited and 191 meetings were held. The women in charge of the train, upon their return to the city, expressed strong confidence that Charles Evans Hughes would be the next President of the United States.

Dr. H. Clemens, the dentist, will leave Honolulu for the Persian Gulf by the Orient. He plans to be gone about three months, during which time he will visit China, Japan and other countries.

DEUTSCHLAND WILL HAVE SISTER OF U-53 AS A CONVOY HOME

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
NEW LONDON, November 4.—The German merchant submarine Deutschland will be convoyed back to its home port by a war submarine, according to a statement made yesterday by Captain Koenig of the Deutschland. He states that the U-57, a sister of the U-53 which recently raided against the shipping of the Allies off Nantucket, is expected to meet his ship somewhere outside of the three-mile limit and accompany it back to German waters. The Deutschland will leave, probably within the next ten days.

Reports that there are a number of British and French cruisers patrolling beyond the three-mile limit, waiting for the reappearance of the Deutschland in the open sea have not been confirmed.

The announcement of Thursday that a German submarine had been sighted four hundred miles east of Cape Henry leads many to believe that this is the U-57, waiting for the Deutschland.

DICTIONARY BEING WHOLLY REVISED

Kamaaina Pastor Being Assisted By Queen Liliuokalani In a Big Work

All the preliminary work in the compilation of a new Hawaiian dictionary, appropriation for which was made by the legislature, has been completed by Henry H. Parker, according to a report made by him at a meeting of the public archives commissioners last Wednesday, and he is now beginning the more arduous part of the labor, which he does not think can be completed in less than two or three years.

The work remaining to be done, in addition to defining the shades of meaning, includes the marking of accents, in itself, a laborious task. Queen Liliuokalani, who volunteered to aid in the work, has already prepared a list of about 3,000 words. Others familiar with the Hawaiian language have also promised to send in their lists. Of course, there will be many duplications, but these will be weeded out, and Mr. Parker expects to find these lists of the greatest aid in compiling a complete dictionary.

Shortly before the Sophie cleared a small boat going ashore with three Hawaiian captains and two men was swamped and all five men were drowned. Two of the captains were of German refugee ships in the port and the other was master of a Chilean ship, AF Mejillones, which is credited with one of the finest harbors on the coast the storm rose to such proportions that every lighter in the place, numbering 120, was driven ashore, something unprecedented in forty years.

The Sophie has 8458 bags of fertilizer for the Hawaiian Fertilizer Company.

SCHOONER SAW FIVE DROWN IN STORM IN ANTOFAGASTA

Fifty-two days of uneventful sailing were completed by the four masted schooner Sophie Christensen when that vessel appeared off port yesterday afternoon from Antofagasta, Chile. The schooner was speedily fanned and released by the quarantine officials and Captain McCaron brought his craft to Pier 16 shortly before five o'clock.

Captain McCaron states that practically the entire trip was made with excellent weather but that her stay at the nitrate port proved to be a stormy one, the first northern gales known in years sweeping the coast. Antofagasta is an open roadstead and several fatalities occurred.

Shortly before the Sophie cleared a small boat going ashore with three Hawaiian captains and two men was swamped and all five men were drowned. Two of the captains were of German refugee ships in the port and the other was master of a Chilean ship, AF Mejillones, which is credited with one of the finest harbors on the coast the storm rose to such proportions that every lighter in the place, numbering 120, was driven ashore, something unprecedented in forty years.

BURGLARS BUSY LAST NIGHT ON WATERFRONT

Two Japanese stores on Queen Street opposite Pier 15, were robbed late last night. The burglars gained entrance through the back doors in each store and stole the contents of the cash registers and safes in each instance. Detectives were detailed on the case but up to early this morning no arrest has been made.

The stores, situated side by side, are practically under the direct glare of a large street light.

According to an officer who made an examination of the premises following the robbery, the robbery was carefully planned. In effecting an entrance "jimmies" were used. The rear windows were opened by cutting the panes with a glass cutter and the lock was removed by the aid of a sharp crooked iron instrument.

ALLEGED PLOT TO STEAL ELECTORAL VOTES UNCOVERED

Republicans Said To Have Ship- ped Sixty Thousand Negroes From the South

DISTRIBUTED THESE IN THREE CLOSE STATES

Department of Justice Authorizes a Warning To Alleged Conspirators

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
WASHINGTON, November 4.—That a gigantic conspiracy is afoot to steal the electoral votes of three States, Indiana, Illinois and Ohio, by the Republican workers, is the statement made last night by officials of the department of justice.

According to this statement, Republican campaign managers have recently shipped sixty thousand Negroes from the South into these three States, where, presumably, it is hoped to vote them.

As a preliminary to this wholesale importation of fraudulent voters, it is charged that the registration lists in many places throughout the three States have been padded with the names of non-existing persons, under which names the Negroes will go to the polls. In one city the lists have been found padded to the extent of several thousands.

Other plans for election frauds have been made, say the officials. Attorney General Gregory last night sanctioned a statement containing these allegations and containing a warning against those who may attempt to carry through the conspiracy.

The warning also states that any attempts that may be made to intimidate voters in order to keep them away from the polls or influence their votes will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

MADISON GIVES WINERIES CREDIT

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
FRESNO, California, November 4.—Thirty per cent of the Muscat grapes of the Fresno grape district of the San Joaquin valley, valued at two and a half millions of dollars, were destroyed by the early rains of this year, so far as their value for raisin making was concerned, according to a statement issued here yesterday by James Madison, president of the California Associated Raisin Company.

Mr. Madison stated that the wineries of the San Joaquin valley, which manufacture sweet wines, purchased a million dollars worth of the damaged grapes, so the loss to the growers was lessened by that amount. If it had not been for the wineries, he said, the loss would have been total.

A succession of heavy rains came unusually early this year. Beginning about the end of the last week of August, rains fell almost constantly for several days. This was just at the time when the bulk of the raisin grapes were on the drying trays, and as a result a large proportion of them were damaged or destroyed, so far as their usefulness for making raisins was concerned.

RAISIN GROWERS SAY MADISON FOR 'WETS'

The raisin growers of Fresno and other grape producing counties of the San Joaquin Valley are indignant at the action of James Madison, manager of the California Associated Raisin Company in signing the company's name without authority to his resignation against the two prohibition amendments, according to a late Fresno paper.

"The 'wets' got Madison to sign their arguments, they say, in order to fool the voters into believing that the raisin growers are opposed to prohibition. As a matter of fact, a large percentage of the raisin men are in favor of prohibition because they believe it will help their business, and they are now circulating and signing the following protest:

"We, the undersigned members of the California Associated Raisin Company, having notified the communications of James Madison, supporting the 'wets,' do hereby enter our protest against the use of the name of our association, thereby conveying the impression that he is acting and speaking for our company. This, we claim, is assuming something that is entirely untrue, and by no means an expression of our sentiment, as we are sure that no one thing could so enhance our land holdings in this State as the adoption of the prohibitory amendments."

SURETY COMPANY GIVEN RIGHT TO QUARRY ROCK

A further step in the Hilo Break water piling has come to light through the entry at the recorder's office, November 1, of a license granted the American Surety Company of New York, by the Pacific Sugar Mill to quarry rock at Waipio.

QUICK SERVICE BY MARCONI SYSTEM

Accelerator, Planned When Sta- tion Was Built, Is Now Be- ing Given Its Tests

The Wheatstone accelerator for the local Marconi station, which it was planned to install a couple of years ago when the plant was being built, and which was described in The Advertiser at the time, has been given a testing out by Messrs. Pillsbury and Winterbottom, the two Marconi officials now here awaiting the opening of the Hawaii-Japan service. This device makes the sending of messages purely mechanical.

The message to be sent is punched in a long tape on the same principle used in preparing a record for a mechanical piano. The roll, or tape, is then run through the "transmitter" at any speed the operator desires, and can be repeated any number of times, the personality of the sender being thus entirely eliminated.

An apparatus with an ordinary typewriter keyboard makes the operation of the tape perforator and therefore the whole system possible for the average stenographer.

Inventing Mechanical Receiver
Messrs. Winterbottom and Pillsbury say at work on a mechanical receiver which will "take" the wireless message on wax cylinders or discs just as the dictograph records the human voice. When these delicate receiving instruments have been so perfected that they can be used commercially the capacity of the great Marconi Wireless plant will be almost unlimited.

The Marconi officials have been experimenting with this method of transmission for two weeks and have found it flawless in sending either to Japan or America.

It quadruples speed, prevents personal error, and eliminates operators. The apparatus is directly connected with the generators and has absolute control of the 300-kilowatt current at the Koko Head plant and of the 500-horse power turbine at Kahuku.

LAST HONORS PAID TO OFFICER DEAD

CANTON, November 2.—At eleven thirty Tuesday morning, in the post chapel, was held the funeral services over the remains of Lieutenant V. V. Enyart, Chaplain William Aiken, First Infantry, officiating. The chapel was crowded with the many friends of the dead man, who gathered to do him a last and honor. The men of the deceased's regiment could not find room within the building, and waited before the chapel while the services were being completed.

The church was massed with the flowers sent by the many friends; and he tribute from the men of Company C, in which Lieutenant Enyart was serving when he met his death was a beautiful token of the esteem in which he was held by his men. Chaplain Aiken conducted a very impressive service, and a final softening touch was added thereto when Mrs. Aiken sang Cardinal Newman's beautiful song of prayer, "Lead Kindly Light."

After the service the body was escorted to the Lethum Station with full military honors. Lieutenant Stanton, First Infantry, commanded the armed escort, a platoon composed of the men of the late lieutenant's company. Six officers who were his nearest comrades, Lieutenants J. N. Smith, F. J. Riley, E. C. Rose, Roy Jones, C. M. Haverkamp, and O. K. Sadler, were the honorary pallbearers; and six sergeants from Company C, were pallbearers. All the officers of the regiment followed the bier, and the eight hundred men of the First Infantry completed the cortege, which was led by the band, playing a funeral march. Captain Hulstead, the deceased officer's company commander, had charge of the funeral arrangements.

ITALIANS ARE DRIVING AHEAD TO OBJECTOR

Austrians Defeated Along Whole Front From Carso Plateau To Adriatic, Losing Strong Posi- tions, Guns and Many Prisoners

BRITISH SURPRISE THE GERMANS AT NIGHT

Strong Raiding Party Seizes Tren- ches At Gueudecourt, Wiping Out Defenders Who Had Ex- pected a Quiet Night's Rest

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
LONDON, November 4.—The outstanding features of the war news yesterday were the reports from Rome, announcing the continuation of the drive upon Trieste. The Austrians, say the official Italian reports, are being defeated along their whole defensive front from the eastern edge of the Carso plateau to the shores of the Adriatic, with the Italians seizing one strong position after another.

Ten Thousand Prisoners
In fighting yesterday the Austrians offered much less resistance to the Italian advance than on the previous day, falling back and abandoning guns and supplies. The impetuous troops of King Emmanuel also pressed their advantage and inflicted heavy losses on the retreating foe.

Prisoners taken by the Italians yesterday numbered 3048, making a total for two days of possibly ten thousand men. The total Austrian casualties in the drive are estimated to be nearly 25,000.

British Spring Surprise
Last night, after it had been taken for granted that the infantry fighting for the day was over, the British made a surprise attack upon the Germans east of Gueudecourt, taking a number of trenches and wiping out the defenders, many of whom surrendered. The attack followed a number of feints against the same positions earlier in the day, the failure of the British to drive any of these early attacks, home being described in yesterday's Berlin despatches as due to the strong German defense. The final attack, made in earnest, was a complete success.

Other raids were carried out after nightfall by the British storming parties entered the German lines near Arras and returning with prisoners and some machine guns.

Somme Front Quiet
On the Somme front yesterday there was comparatively quiet, the French consolidating the gains made the day previous and confining their aggressive to active artillery work. The Germans bombarded the advance working parties of the French but delivered no counter attacks.

Progress Toward Bucharest
Violent fighting continues to mark the Austro-German advance in the Prudal sector, in the attempt to drive an army in the direction of Bucharest. The Teutons are pressing slowly forward, fighting for every yard gained, but the Romanians are falling back and offering a desperate resistance. The Berlin despatches state that the Teutons are making headway south of the Cumana border at this point.

Despatches from Bucharest announce that the Rumanians have cleared their territory of invaders in the region of the Danube, where King Ferdinand's forces crossed back into Transylvania and met and upon the village of Tarnovo and the heights of the same name. In the Buzau Valley the village of Sirul has been cleared of Austro-Germans and occupied.

No Balkan Changes
There has been little change in Macedonia, the one success being credited to the British, who drove the Bulgars back on the Struma River and seized the town of Alibon.

On the German front, Berlin announces that the Sless were repulsed seven times in a desperate effort to advance on the east bank of the Narvyuka River, near Haliex. The Russian loss was heavy, say the Berlin despatches.

The Petrograd despatches covering the same operation dispute those of Berlin, claiming that the Russians made marked advances and drove the Austro-Germans back with heavy losses.

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
SAN FRANCISCO, November 4.—Fumes of poisonous gas used for disinfecting purposes aboard the Norwegian steamship Roud Amundsen caused the death late yesterday of one man and the serious illness of three others. The man who was killed was Jacobus Kramer, a coal passer. Chief Officer Hendrickson, Second Officer Nelson and a sailor named Johansen were overcome by the fumes and taken to the hospital, where it is expected that they will recover.

The quarantine authorities say that the accident was due to the sailor's disregard of instructions given them when gas was applied.

EVERY SQUARE MILE COSTS FIVE THOUSAND MEN TO ALLIES

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
BERLIN, November 4.—The combined French and British losses in killed, wounded, prisoners and missing for the past four months, during which the French and British were pushing their great offensive on the Somme front, totaled 600,000 men, according to an estimate made public here today by the German western headquarters.

The statement says that each square mile of territory captured by the Entente Allies cost them 5000 men. It is believed that this estimate is conservative, headquarters says, as the British in their lists of losses admitted total losses of 372,000 men up to the end of September.

BIG ISLAND PLANS WISE ROAD POLICY

General Scheme for Belt Road Work Being Worked Out On a Modern Basis

(Mail Special To The Advertiser.) HILO, November 1—Realizing that a better-seller policy of building roads is a detriment to the county, the board of supervisors of Hawaii County has marked out a plan of road campaigning which it believes will mean splendid roads around and throughout the island and save all the taxpayers large sums of money on account of the permanent road work to be done.

There was a hope among the supervisors that concrete could be used for a belt road, but the first cost proved to be too high, so it is probable that there will only be a concrete road, outside of this city, as far as the Volcano. Elsewhere throughout the island it is proposed to put in asphalt roads over a macadam base.

Labor Government Boosts Wages and Then Legislates Low Prices For Sugar

BRISBANE, Australia, October 15, 1916—So far as prices are concerned, there is no change to report in the Australian sugar markets, but the question of supply is becoming a serious one, and unless a settlement of the difficulties created by the Dickson award for field and mill workers is quickly reached, the consequences may prove disastrous for consumers.

This decision and proposed award by Justice Dickson of the Industrial Court provides for large increases in the wage scale and changes in conditions under which the laborers work on the plantations, and the planters say it will be impossible to produce cane under the rates and conditions as prescribed.

RATES ON CATTLE LOWER IS CLAIM

Inter-Island Seeks Figures To Prove Tariff Fair; Running Expenses Higher

During the examination of J. L. McLean, vice-president of the Inter-Island and Steam Navigation Company, yesterday, at a hearing of the public utilities commission, the fact was suggested that the freight rate on cattle under the new tariff was lower than it was several years ago.

Exact figures, however, were not forthcoming for the reason that Gilbert J. Waller, Jr., secretary of the Hawaii Meat Company, who was ordered by the commission to procure the figures, had not up to this time been able to go over the company's shipments for the past three years and tabulate the figures.

At the next meeting of the commission, to be held on Monday, November 13, it is believed that the report of the steamship company's finances made by Auditor H. Gooding Field will come up for discussion.

WHERE HOMELESS WAIFS FIND HOME

Quiet, Effective Work for Benefit of Community Going Forward in Manoa Valley

There is no sweeter music in all this world than the laughter of happy children. To make such music in a world of discord is part of the work of the Salvation Army, whose home for children in the Manoa Valley is really a paradise of childish mirth and juvenile melody.

To be a part of that mirthmaking institution, to add to it in the smallest way, surely must be sufficient reward for any sacrifice made towards its upkeep. And many of Honolulu's fortunate citizens must feel a glow of just satisfaction to know that they have by their gifts and support helped to make some little waif happy.

Keystone of the Place

And that is the real keystone of the place. The children are happy. Ten millionaires are contented, and they change in age from three weeks to six teen years. They are all girls—girls who have not yet stumbled on the dark path; girls who have been taken from unfortunate conditions and placed in surroundings that make for peace, efficiency, happiness and—salvation!

Salvation really is the work of the news, and it performs that work in a variety of ways. Some of its ways appear to be unattractive to those looking on from the outside. But always its work is effective and its work is to save. This work has been performed on the street corners of large cities, with a bare shawl, a cornet and a faith that was greater than the power of devils. It began in London back in the sixties, and it has pushed its way around the world. In New York, Chicago, Spokane and San Francisco, and hundreds of smaller cities the work of the Salvation Army, the work of saving, of picking up the wrecks of life and piecing them together, of giving them a goal, a light, a hope, is being carried on by methods that have won the heart of the world.

Quiet, But Effective

But the work in Honolulu is different. It is, too, a work of saving; but it is the saving of the young before they have been bruised in the grim battle of the world. It is carried on in a quiet, systematic manner, without any blaring of trumpets or beating of drums, but it is effective in its results notwithstanding.

At present there are eighty-six children in the "family," as was explained by Essign Payne recently to a representative of the Advertiser.

They are of all ages, from all nationalities and colors. Some of them are blonde white with the blue eyes and golden curls of the Scandinavian countries. Others are black with the tan of the equatorial sun. But to the Salvation Army they are all children of God and when they pass under the kindly discipline of the home all distinctions of race, color and creed fall from them. For the time being they are saved and saved by a power that is no respecter of persons, the power that stirred the heroic spirit of General Booth to conquer the world with love.

And what an army that was which General Booth organized in the sixties! No army in Europe, equipped with all its mighty instruments of destruction, can compare with this army of peace and spiritual power. Privates and officers fall from the ranks, but the army itself goes forward in its work of mercy. The institution out in Manoa Valley is an eloquent testimonial of his abiding work. The laughter of one child there means more to the world than the roar of the greatest gun ever forged by Krupp.

It is not an institution in the ordinary sense of the word. The children are not dressed alike. There is a play of individuality. It is indeed a home and that is the way the children themselves feel about it. Everything has been done to eliminate the institutional atmosphere which is the death of similar organizations. The children are not herded. They are left alone. They go to the public schools like other children and return to the home just as though they were returning to the home of their parents.

The Home Circle

And that is the first and thing that strikes the eye when he enters the home for the first time. They represent so many ruined homes. In every face he expects to see the longing for mother and the friends. The heart is touched as only the tragedy of domestic wreck can touch it. But no, these broken fragments, under the guidance of love, have formed part of another home, a bigger and a better home, almost a miniature counterpart of that greater home which some time will take in the whole human family.

MARINES TOOK RANGE HONORS

Sea Soldiers Capture National Rifle Match; Also Take United Service Cup

JACKSONVILLE, Florida, October 25.—The national team match of the national board for promotion of rifle practice was won here tonight by the United States marine corps team, which scored 3947 points out of a possible 3600.

The marines also won the United Service trophy. Because of the unsettled weather conditions, the program was speeded up and the service match was fired off late today instead of tomorrow, bringing the tournament to a close. The marines, represented by a team of sixteen men, took this event with a total of 4320 points out of a possible 4800.

The national guard team got second place in the service match, making 4212 points. Third honor went to the civilian team, which aggregated 4120 points.

The California national guardsmen were displaced from leadership in the rifle matches by the Ohio and Delaware guardsmen, who tied at 2947 out of a possible 3600. Colorado guardsmen with 2928 also went ahead of California, which finished yesterday with 2923.

George E. Cook, a civilian of Washington, D. C., won the national pistol match on the 25-yard range, scoring 199 out of a possible 400.

NORWAY BECOMING A SHIPPING POWER

Norwegian enterprise in connection with the shipping industry is forcibly indicated in the sale of the seven American-Hawaiian steamships to Norwegian interests. The losses to Norway's merchant marine, arising from the war, are greater than those experienced by any other neutral and stand second to those only of Great Britain and France.

Latest figures indicate, however, that in spite of the destruction of some 200,000 gross tons of Norwegian vessels, the aggregate tonnage now under the flag of Norway is greater than before the war.

A feature that is worth considering in taking account of Norway's gain is the fact that practically all additions to her merchant marine have been new ships, replacing old tonnage. Norway is driving her own shipyards to the limit, and has taken up all possible spare capacity in the yards of neutral Europe, has ordered numerous vessels to be built here, how many can be determined only by a census of American shipbuilding plants which would make public private information. No foreign ship has taken advantage to such extent of the shipbuilding boom in the United States.

SHED TO CARE FOR FREIGHT OVERFLOW

A shed to be constructed on the end of Pier 6 to take care of the freight that now goes to Pier 10, according to a decision reached last week by the board of harbor commissioners. They visited the waterfront to endeavor to find a solution of the problem of freight storage when the present shed on Pier 10 is torn down by the contractor.

BIG ISLAND ROAD LABORERS BOOSTED

Wages Increased To Two Dollars a Day—Means Less Work Done Say Some Officials

(Mail Special to The Advertiser) HILLO, November 2.—Without any preliminary conference by its members the board of supervisors, this afternoon, passed resolutions calling for the payment of a minimum wage of two dollars a day for all road workers for the County of Hawaii. As soon as the resolution was passed the news was telephoned hilariously to all parts of the island.

The resolution, first introduced in the board came as a surprise. Supervisor Naipo, of West Hawaii, submitted a short resolution reading: "That the minimum wage of $1.75 per diem, be established by this honorable board to be the wages for all common road laborers throughout the County of Hawaii."

Supervisor A. M. Cabrera of East Hawaii immediately submitted an amendment that the minimum wages be set at two dollars a day, instead of $1.75. There was considerable oratory following this amendment, which was seconded by Supervisor Yates of West Hawaii. It was announced that four had gone up from $1.75 to $2.40 a day and that the cost of living was higher than ever before and the road workers needed the money.

The amendment carried unanimously on the final vote, although two or three of the supervisors thought that the sudden raise of thirty-three and one-third per cent was uncalculated for at this time. Then the motion was amended was carried. The resolution will take effect at once.

Clerks Lose Out

Immediately following the passage of the resolution Supervisor Lyman moved that the salaries of all clerks and policemen employed by the county should be at once increased ten per cent. He stated that many of these men are making less than the two dollars a day that the road workers will get and stated they deserved a raise as well as the men who work on the roads.

This motion was objected to by the other supervisors and it was finally declared to be out of order. Further argument was cut short by a motion to adjourn, which was carried.

Speaking of this action by the board later Supervisor Lyman stated that while his road laborers were getting $1.50 a day for eight hours work, his skilled workmen on concrete work, rock crushers and other work of this kind, were getting from two to two dollars and fifty cents a day and the resolution would force an increase in proportion.

Sowing Seeds of Trouble

Members of the board of supervisors commenting upon the determination to pay two dollars a day for eight hours work to road laborers, among whom are a number of men who are practically pensioners, confessed that with the great additional cost for the road work under this resolution there would be less work done on the roads.

This will mean, according to those who have given thought to the matter, that many men who are now receiving $1.50 a day will lose their jobs so that others may receive two dollars a day, for there is only just so much money available to pay for road work, and with from two to three dollars being paid to men for a day's work in the proportion of $1.50 to $2.50 the appropriations will be exhausted one-third quicker, consequently there will be at least one-third less work for the road workers to do.

JAPANESE VOTERS FOR BEST MEN

Few Straight Ticket Advocates In Their Ranks But Majority Prefer Republicans

The straight party ticket does not appeal to the Japanese-American voters of Hawaii, according to a statement made Saturday night by Arthur K. Omawa, the only Japanese attorney practicing in the Territory.

"We are endeavoring," said Mr. Omawa, who is the president of the Japanese-American Association of Hawaii, "to educate the members of our association as to their political duty. But, as the registration shows, our association is non-political, and it is left to the free will of the members to vote for the candidates they individually favor. Most of our men say they will vote for those whom they consider the best qualified, irrespective of party. I am glad of this, for it is my hope that Japanese voters will not in the future become partisan politicians."

Omawa added, however, that it was his expectation that most of the Japanese voters would cast their ballots for the Republican candidates.

POLICE ADVISES THE TWILE BENIZENS TO DEFLY COMMISSION

"Why don't you go back and get your room again at Twile? You're a fool to leave the place. The police aren't going to shut it up."

Such, says one of the Japanese girls from the Twile district, who left there some days ago, is what Sergeant of Detective Kellett told her on Saturday. Kellett is Captain McDuffie's right hand man, the acting chief of the plainclothes squad during McDuffie's absence.

This is the "cooperation" the decent citizens of the city are getting from the police in the effort to secure the enforcement of the law. Kellett is only following the lead set him by Sheriff Rose and his chief.

This morning Judge Ashford will lay the matter of an investigation before the grand jury in his court, on the fact that the matter will be before the grand jury will probably furnish a sufficient excuse to have the trial of Y. Abin indefinitely delayed and there will be no opportunity afforded the commission of citizens to have the full facts brought out where the public may know them.

OFFICIAL ARBOR DAY ON THE BIG ISLAND

An absolutely new suggestion for the members of the board of supervisors of Hawaii was considered by them at the meeting last Thursday when a letter was received from G. H. Vicars, chairman of the Hawaii publicity commission, asking that the supervisors put all men who are at work on Arbor Day, to planting trees along the main highways and in the public parks.

ODD RECORDS MADE BY MAJOR LEAGUES

Many Unusual Features Recorded In Box Scores of Americans and Nationals

(By The Associated Press.) NEW YORK, October 31.—The baseball season of 1916, notable for the number of unusual features in major league pennant play, developed a number of games in which heavy hitting, run scoring and base stealing were prominent features. A carefully scrutiny of the box scores for the entire period discloses a cluster of odd records that might also be termed freaks of big league baseball play.

The American league statistics show that during the season every club in that organization figured in at least one game in which the times at bat numbered more than forty; runs equaled or exceeded ten; hits fifteen, and stolen bases five. In the National league the highest at bats ranged from forty nine to sixty-two; runs, ten to thirteen; hits, fifteen to twenty-three, and stolen bases, five to eleven.

Figures indicate that the Boston Red Sox led the American league with sixty-one times at bat, while Chicago was second with fifty-nine and St. Louis third with fifty-seven. The New York Americans made the greatest number of runs in any one game, accumulating nineteen, while Boston and Detroit were tied for second place in this respect with seventeen. The Chicago White Sox won first place in hitting with twenty, while the Detroit and New York clubs divided second honors with nineteen. Boston, Cleveland, Washington and Philadelphia all hammered out seventeen hits in at least one game during the pennant race.

In stolen bases the New York Americans were also leaders, piling nine in one contest, while St. Louis and Detroit were tied for second place with eight each.

BASEBALL LEAGUE IN SAMOA IS LAUNCHED

PAGO PAGO, American Samoa, October 9.—The baseball league of American Samoa, made up of four teams representing the United States Navy Station, the U. S. S. Fortune, Tutuila and the Fitiutias (the native guard) was formed recently, and a playing schedule of thirty games was adopted. With the close of the world series about October 11, the first game of the season will be played.

The opening game will be preceded by a band concert and a parade of the teams of the league. Commander John M. Foye, U. S. N., governor of American Samoa will pitch the first ball in the league's opening, after making a speech.

CALIFORNIANS TO BOOT PIGSKIN BY SEARCHLIGHT

BERKELEY, October 25.—Football practice by searchlight is to be instituted by Graduate Manager John Stroud for the University of California football teams. The college boys have been using a whitewashed football in order to continue twilight practice, but owing to the shortening of the days even this method of practice is becoming difficult.
