TEUTONS MAKE CLEAN SWEEP DOWN VALLEY OF ALT RIVER

So-called Key to Rumania Now In Hands of German Commanders, According To Reports From Berlin and Bucharest

GERMANS ALSO CLAIM TO HAVE WON IN MACEDONIA

Allies On Western Front Said To Be About To Launch Drive Against Foe From Armentiers To Saint Mihiel, Near Verdun

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
PARIS, November 28—The entire Alt Valley, called the "key to Rumania" is now in the hands of the Germans under the command of General von Delmensingen, and the Teutonic troops reported to be advancing rapidly down both sides of the river. Berlin reports that von Mackensen has taken the city of Alexandria and has consolidated his gains in the vicinity of that city, which is but forty even miles from Bucharest, capital of Rumania. In its official report of this fighting the German general staff last night issued the following statement—

"The Austro-German armies in western Rumania, commanded by General von Delmensingen, are advancing on both sides of the river Alt and have pushed the Rumanians beyond Topolog."
TEUTONS CLAIM VICTORY
Of the struggle in Serbia, north of Monastir, the Germans declare that the Teutonic allies have won a big victory over the Entente seventeen miles north of that city. The account states "the Entente Allies operating in Macedonia against the heights east of parlove, in southern Serbia, were checked and the British attacks on the west bank of the Vardar river were similarly fruitless."

These reports are confirmed by the announcement issued by the Russian war office at Petrograd which said:—
The Rumanians are still retreating through Wallachia before the ferocious attack of the Germans and Austrians from the west. The defenders are endeavoring to make a stand near from Craiova, which is occupied by the Teutons. The invaders have occupied positions on the Vede river between Roehideyede and Valeni.
Bucharest Admits Defeat
Bucharest also admits defeat in the Wallachian district, and says that the Rumanians fighting in the west were forced to retire from the river Alt and also withdraw a little east of the Topolog river.

East of Gorizia the Austrian commanders have resumed the offensive against the Italians and are reported to be pounding the lines of the latter with their heavy guns. So far as reports show they have however, made no marked gains in that theater of the war.
In the Trentino the weather is hampering the attackers and defenders, and but little movement is announced.
Allies Plan Offensive
Reports are current here that the Entente Allies on the Western front are preparing to launch a tremendous offensive along the whole of their line from Armentiers to St. Mihiel, south east of Verdun, and the apex of the German salient which has been held by the invaders since the outbreak of the war.

Berlin reports that the Arabs have attacked the Italians in Tripoli and have killed or captured 20,000 of them.
The French official communique says that news from the Macedonian front is that the Serbians have repulsed Bulgarian counter-attacks near Monastir with heavy losses. The Italians are making steady progress west of Monastir.

Austrian Envoy To America Refused His Safe Conduct

British Officials In Declining To Grant Request of Uncle Sam, Say Teutonic Diplomats Abroad Exceed Their Duties

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
LONDON, November 27—The British foreign office has sent a note to United States Ambassador Page refusing to grant the request from the United States for safe conduct for Count Adam Tarnowski von Tarnow, the new Austro-Hungarian ambassador to the United States. Count von Tarnow is to take the place left vacant by the recall of Count Dumba. No reason has been made public for Britain's attitude.
In giving its reasons for refusing safe conduct for von Tarnow, the British government declares a policy of preventing diplomats of the Central Powers from traveling to and from the United States.
Summarized, Britain's stand is given as follows: "Even if international law forbade the refusal of such safe conducts, the actions of the Austrian and German embassies and consulates abroad have been so much in excess of their regular diplomatic functions that the British government feels justified in withholding consent for such diplomats to travel to their posts."

LANSING SCOUTS IDEA OF A DIVER CRISIS

Not Imminent, He Says After Talk With Gerard

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
WASHINGTON, November 28—Ambassador Gerard, who leaves soon to resume his duties at the American embassy in Berlin, had an extended conference yesterday with Secretary of State Lansing in which general conditions in Germany were discussed and the various matters at issue between the two capitals were gone over in detail, the ambassador securing a thorough understanding of the position of the state department.
At the conclusion of the conference, when asked for a statement concerning the "submarine crisis," the request being based on the knowledge that the department has before it the affidavits of the American survivors of the S. S. Marina and on the knowledge that the requests upon Berlin for information concerning the carrying out of the German pledges regarding the Sussex case, the secretary of state made a short announcement.
The most significant sentence of the official statement was to the effect that "a new submarine crisis is apparently not imminent."
Today the ambassador will confer with the President.
Mr. Gerard will return to Berlin via Copenhagen.

STEAMERS SPEED TO DODGE DIVERS

White Star Liner Bumps Something Which May Have Been a German Submarine

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
NEW YORK, November 27—Six steamships which arrived here today from Europe, passing the West Indies en route, report that while on their way they caught warnings of submarines, which, they feared, are about to operate off the Atlantic coast of the United States as the U-53 did a few weeks ago.
The steamers hurrying to port got the "tip" on the presence of submarines in adjacent waters by wireless. They immediately took every precaution to avoid being caught, proceeding with all deck and rigging lights out, all other lights screened, lifeboats swung outboard, ready for instant action if the steamer should be struck by a torpedo, and in several cases the captains took circuitous routes to get out of their usual "lanes."
"Considerable fear for the safety of other British and French steamers is manifested by agencies and officials here. The steamers due within the next day or two include the two big Cunard liners Laconia and Pannonia, both of which are carrying good sized passenger lists.
A score of French and British vessels are within the danger zone. Warnings are believed to have been sent out to them.
The White Star liner Lapland, arriving from Liverpool today, reported that passengers were thrown from their berths early yesterday by a severe shock, the impact either of a dory or of a submarine or the blow of a heavy wave."

SHIP OFF FLATTERY SENDS CALL FOR AID

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
SEATTLE, November 28—On her maiden voyage, the steamer Niel Nielsen, bound from Seattle to Vladivostok, lost her rudder last night when well out to sea and sent out hurried wireless calls for aid. The vessel was 220 miles off Cape Flattery when the accident occurred. Tugs from this port are proceeding to give the ship aid and tow her back to port. Late wireless messages from the Niel Nielsen were that the ship was anchored and was riding in safety.

GERMANY TO CUT RAILROAD SERVICE

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
BERLIN, November 28—Commencing on Friday there will be a general curtailment of the general use of the railroad systems throughout the Empire, with the number of trains to be strictly limited except those required for military purposes. This curtailment of railroad traffic has been decided upon as a means of conserving the coal supply of the nation and in order that the rolling stock required by the Army may be secured from that already on hand, thus obviating the necessity of building additional cars to replace those wearing out.
One of the drastic cuts in the service will be the elimination of all sleeping car and dining car services on the German lines.

COLUMBUS, New Mexico, November 28—The boys of General Pershing's command in Mexico will not have to go without their Thanksgiving Day dinner, with all the necessary side dishes, even if they will spend the day as unwelcome visitors in a land of cactus and horned lizards.
Yesterday thirty-three motor-trucks crossed the border here on the trail of the punitive expedition, each truck loaded to the limit with good things to eat. In the consignment were sixteen thousand pounds of dressed turkey, a ton of cranberries, two tons of plum pudding, a big quantity of candies and one hundred boxes each of apples and oranges. In the trucks were stuffed other delicacies for the troops.

American Bankers Told Not To Buy Foreign Securities

Warning Issued By Federal Reserve Board. On Ground, Nation May Need Its Gold For Its Own Use

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
WASHINGTON, November 28—One of the most important declarations made by the members of the federal reserve board since its creation was given out yesterday in the form of a warning to the bankers of the nation. This warning urged American bankers not to lock up the funds in their control through the purchase of foreign bonds or foreign treasury bills on terms involving long term obligations.
The members of the board stated that in issuing this warning it must not be implied that they are advancing anything derogatory to the financial stability of any of the foreign nations seeking American loans, as the danger they foresee is not for the banks making the particular loans but for the country generally, as the time may come when the money will be required within the nation and when it may not be available.
The only danger to be feared from further importations of gold into this country, the statement says, is when the large gold surplus in the banks is permitted to become the basis for an undesirable loan expansion.

KENTUCKY SENATOR MAY LEAD HIS PARTY

Ollie James Stated As President Protempore of Senate

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
WASHINGTON, November 28—Senator Ollie James of Kentucky is prominently mentioned for the position of president protempore of the senate, to take the place made vacant through the death last session of Senator Clarke of Arkansas. It seems probable that when the senate meets next month Senator James will be elected by the Democratic majority for the place and will preside over the sessions of the upper house in the absence of Vice-President Marshall. The house appropriation committee yesterday took up for consideration the appropriations submitted by the departments for the expenses of the legislative branches of the government, the executive departments and the federal judiciary. The total involved in this bill is $55,000,000.

BOYCOTT ON EGGS CALLED IN NEW YORK

State Wide Move To Reduce Price of Hen Fruit

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
NEW YORK, November 28—In order to force down the price of eggs in this state, a statewide boycott on hen fruit will probably be called by the mayors of the various municipalities. Steps to that end were taken yesterday, those behind the movement announcing that the consent of the mayors had been obtained and their approval secured.
A proclamation, it is said, will soon be issued by the mayor of every important city and town in the state, in which the people will be urged not to use any eggs for at least two weeks, except such as are necessary for the aged, the infirm, the sick and for children.
The expectation is that with the great falling off in the consumption the stocks on hand will increase so rapidly that the price will be set down to within the reach of everyone.

VILLA ROUTED ASSERTS ONE REPORT FROM BATTLE FRONT

Other Statements Which Have Reached Washington Announce That Bandit Leader Is in Full Control of City of Chihuahua

TREVINO FLATLY DENIES HIS TROOPS DEFEATED

Says Main Body of Outlaws Retreating North While Two Hundred Are Cornered and May Be Extirminated in Today's Fight

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
WASHINGTON, November 28—"Villistas retreating northward. De facto troops in complete control of the city."
"Villa is in control of the City of Chihuahua, the resistance of the troops under General Trevino having been smashed completely."
These contradictory despatches sum up the situation south of the border line so far as the struggle for supremacy between the Villistas and the Carranzistas is concerned.
The despatch first quoted above comes from the Associated Press correspondent, and is part of a statement given to him last night by Trevino himself. The Carranza general added that two hundred Villistas have been trapped in the city and are fighting desperately expecting destruction this morning. The interrupted communication between the City of Chihuahua and Juarez has been restored and the messages tell of the fiercest fighting that even blood stained northern Mexico has seen for many years.

The second message quoted comes from unofficial sources and reached private individuals at El Paso late yesterday evening—too late to allow of any confirmation being obtained. It declared that the garrison under Trevino had evacuated the city and that General Villa is in control. The de facto officials in Juarez admitted the possibility of this report, and especially that portion of it which asserted that the garrison was compelled to flee when the supply of shells was exhausted.
It was officially reported here yesterday that Villa had been successful in the five day battle that has raged around the City of Chihuahua, and had entered the place. This account of the fighting stated that his first act was to open the prisons and liberate all the inmates. He then proceeded to force the populace to assist his men in entrenching the city and making other preparations for attack.

No report of his alleged subsequent defeat has been received here. From Juarez comes the announcement that Judge Francisco Martinez, a Mexican jurist, reported yesterday that he is informed through official sources that General Villa has been driven from Chihuahua and is retreating to the mountains. It is reported from another source there, and at El Paso, that the Villistas have been routed but this is unconfirmed.

ENGLISH EAST COUNTIES ATTACKED BY AIR RAIDERS

TREVINO CUT OFF BY VILLA: SENDS WORD BY COURIER

Reports of Desperate Fighting in the Streets of the Besieged City of Chihuahua are Carried to Marfa and There Telegraphed

MESSAGE DECLARES BANDIT CHIEF HAS BEEN REPELSED

Outlaws by Ruse Managed to Enter One of the Avenues of the City, But Are Finally Driven Back by De Facto Troops

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

CITY OF CHIHUAHUA, November 25.—(By courier to Marfa, November 26)—The city is completely isolated, north, south and east, the Villistas having cut the telegraph lines.

The wires went down about ten o'clock this morning, and since that time it has been impossible to get a message out of the city save by courier, as this one will go.

ATTACK FOLLOWS

The cutting of the wires was preparatory to another violent attack. This came about eleven o'clock and was preceded by a furious outburst of machine gun and rifle fire from the north. Hardly had the garrison concentrated in that direction, expecting an attack from the north, when Villa loosed his men from the southwest.

The ragged horde broken through the resistance of the thin fringe of outposts which General Trevino had thrown out around the city for just such a possibility, and forced the Carranzistas back until they were fighting the streets of the city.

FIGHTING IN STREETS

The main outlet of the City of Chihuahua in that direction is Zaragoza Avenue, and into the entrance of this the Villistas poured their best men. But the garrison commander had foreseen such a possibility and the avenue had been heavily barricaded, and proved a tougher nut than the outlaws had expected to have to crack.

The fighting soon spread to the surrounding streets however, and grew fiercer in character as the garrison hurried reinforcements to the threatened points from the north and east. Soon the weight of the de facto troops began to tell, and when the artillery, of which Trevino has a quantity, came into action the Villistas were driven back.

VILLA'S LOSS HEAVY

As they retreated the Carranzistas raked the retiring masses with the artillery and the machine guns, killing very many. The automobile in which Villa has been riding since his wound, was found after the fighting, overturned in a field outside of the city. It was badly shattered by a shell and bore the marks of many bullets. Villa is said to have escaped on horse back.

Both sides reported heavy losses in the fighting, and General Trevino tonight is bending his energies in preparing for another attack, which he expects to be launched Sunday morning. It may be a surprise attack and from any point of the compass for the outlaws surround the city.

The wounded are still lying where they fell for the fire from both sides has been continuous, making it impossible to go to their assistance.

The bandits have been driven back five miles and were pursued by the cavalry under the command of General Ozunas.

WAR MAKING SWEDEN RICH Many Are Piling Up Fortunes

(By The Associated Press.)

STOCKHOLM, November 20.—Fortunes have been made in Sweden, as in the other neutral countries of Europe, as a result of the war, but the pinch of war prices is beginning to make itself keenly felt among the middle and lower classes. This has been evidenced this week by the filing of petitions for increases of pay by representatives of the railway, postal, telegraph and telephone employees of the kingdom, by the city employees of Stockholm and of other Swedish cities, and by the Stockholm school teachers and other bodies. A special food commission in Gothenburg has decided to recommend to the city council the granting of an appropriation of 300,000 crowns to relieve the distress of the lowest paid classes in the city, and other cities have also been considering the question.

Dr. Guichard, head of the statistical bureau of Stockholm, reckons that the two years of war have brought an increase of at least 50 per cent in the cost of living in Stockholm, in acceleration of a movement which really set in twelve years ago. Dr. Guichard said to the correspondent:

"The budget for an ordinary middle-class household has exhibited a steady increase for all necessities of life since the year 1904. This increase had amounted to 67 per cent at the end of last June. In other words, what this family could buy for 670 crowns in 1904 cost 1119 crowns three months ago, and since then there has been a further increase."

House rents in Stockholm increased 15.5 per cent from 1905 to 1910, 3.3 per cent from 1911 to 1914, and 15 per cent in the last two years. Fuel prices, according to figures cited by the Stockholm teachers in their petition, have more than doubled in the last two years, a great part of the increase having come into the war years.

With so much new wealth in the country, the standard and other sociologists believe the war is clearly indicated to help the less fortunate. According to Statistics, Commissioner Dahlberg of Malmo, this year's assessment lists very generally show big increases of taxable property, ranging from 40 per cent up to as much as 100 per cent. Gothenburg, Helsingborg and Malmo all show large increases.

The figures for Stockholm are not yet known, but it is believed that they will show an increase of at least 25 to 30 per cent. This, Dr. Guichard points out, could mean an increase in receipts from municipal taxes of some 6,000,000 crowns without raising the tax rate, and would even make allowances for the increased cost of running the city, furnish an adequate fund to relieve all distress.

TEUTONIC DIVERS NEAR EAST COAST

British Patrol Cruiser Warns Vessels of Allied Nations To Look Out

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

NEW YORK, November 27.—Warnings of the presence of German submarines on the American side of the Atlantic Ocean were flashed here last night in wireless messages from the British cruiser Lancaster, patrolling off the coast. The wireless warnings were sent to shipping and commercial interests of the Entente Allies, and advised shipping in the harbor to be on guard against the Teuton divers off the United States coast, whose mission is possibly the same as that of the U-53.

The cruiser Lancaster sent her warning of the U-boats' presence from a point fifteen miles southeast of Sandy Hook, off the Navesink Highlands. Two months ago the German diver U-53 docked for a few hours in an Atlantic coast port and the next day sank six allied ships off Nantucket Shoals Lightship.

The Atlantic liner Philadelphia reached here last night shortly after the receipt of the wireless despatch from the Lancaster, and reported that she had darkened all her lights as she neared the coast and swung her lifeboats over the side in readiness for any emergency, but had seen no submarine.

BUCHAREST ATTACKED BY AERO SQUADRON

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

LONDON, November 27.—Despatches to the Morning Post from its Bucharest correspondent last night reported that "a squadron of the enemy's aeroplanes yesterday flew over this city and the town of Chitila dropping a number of bombs. The aviators made the trip twice. Several persons killed, before our aeroplanes managed to engage the enemy and drive them off."

The London papers this morning are optimistic, although they all admit that the position of Rumania is serious, and that the crossing of the Danube makes it worse. They express the hope that the Rumanians will be able to turn the tables at the last moment as the allies did at the battle of the Marne. The arrival of Russian reinforcements is considered vital.

INTERNAL REVENUE RECEIPTS ARE INCREASED BY MILLIONS

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

WASHINGTON, November 27.—The receipts of the internal revenue office for the fiscal year have been $512,724,288, an increase of more than $97,000,000 over the receipts for last year. The increase of the personal income tax was more than $27,000,000, and the production of distilled liquors showed a marked increase. Commissioner Osborn announced in his report that he intends to recommend an amendment to the present income tax law, changing the present minimum from $2000 net to $3000 gross.

HIGH COST OF SOAP MAKES WASHING HARD

(By The Associated Press.)

VILNA, Russia, November 20.—Because the price of soap and such necessities for washing as starch, borax and the like, has increased beyond the reach of the poor people, it is proposed to establish in Vilna a number of "commercial laundries" for patronage by those who cannot afford to pay dearly for cleanliness.

Just how much the local inhabitants have been able to do for themselves, through the agency of twenty-five "Achiever Societies" or institutions of brotherly help, is indicated by the six months' report of the main organization, just issued.

According to this report, the twenty-five "Achiever Societies" in all the portions of Vilna took in during the last half-year just over $15,000 and expended a little more than the $16,000 in helping a total of 50,000 persons.

WHO IS BOOSTING DOCTOR ELLIOT TO SUCCEED THAYER

Second City of Territory Believes Himself Entitled To Second Place In Government

MANY NAMES ALREADY HAVE BEEN MENTIONED FOR POST

Big Island Men Irrespective of Party, Are Behind Movement To Name Veterinarian

(Mail Special to The Advertiser.)

HILO, November 24.—With the resignation of Wade Warren Thayer as Secretary of the Territory, to take effect on January 1 next, already in the hands of President Wilson, will follow the problem of picking a worthy successor. All citizens of Hawaii, irrespective of party, hope that President Wilson will choose for this position, the second highest in the Territory, a man from Hilo. This city, the second largest in the Territory, is entitled to representation in the official family of the Governor of the Territory of Hawaii. At least such is the feeling here.

Several names have been mentioned as probable candidates for this position of Secretary of the Territory, but of all those which are now being considered it is probable that the name of Dr. Harold S. Elliot, of Hilo, will receive the most careful consideration of Governor McKinnon and President Wilson, in case Doctor Elliot is willing to accept the position, if offered him. Metzger Is Mentioned.

It has been stated that former senator Delbert E. Metzger, of Hilo, is favorably looked upon by Governor Pinkham. When he was first considered some time ago, the fact that he was an officer of the Territory and a member of the senate stood in the way. Now that his term has expired that obstacle has disappeared.

So far as Doctor Elliot is concerned he is a Democrat, although not a partisan one, and has served as a Democratic member of the board of jury commissioners for the fourth circuit court, the only political position he has ever held. But as an executive, a man of affairs and a man who "does things," Doctor Elliot is known throughout the Territory.

Headed Board of Trade

For three terms Doctor Elliot has held the position of president of the Board of Trade of Hilo; twice he has been chairman of the Hawaii county fair committee and has made a success each time of this enterprise. He has served as territorial veterinarian in the absence of Doctor Norgaard and has shown in many ways his broad grasp of affairs and of the problems which have come before him at various times.

"I believe that Doctor Elliot is the ideal man for the position of Secretary of the Territory,"—H. B. Mariner, manager of the First Trust Company of Hilo.

"There is no one whom I would rather see given that position. I believe the administration could pick no better man for the place."—C. S. Carlsmith.

"I think that Doctor Elliot would be just the man to fill the position of Secretary of the Territory with credit."—Donald W. Bowman, chief sanitary inspector of the County of Hawaii.

Just The Man, Says Judge

"I appointed Doctor Elliot as one of the Democratic members of the board of jury commissioners, and I believe he would make an excellent Secretary of the Territory, none better."—Ex-Judge Charles E. Parsons.

"Doctor Elliot is the kind of man who would be a credit to the position and to the administration. I hope he will accept."—Rev. J. K. Bodel, pastor of the Episcopal Church of the Holy Apostles.

"I do not believe that Doctor Elliot will accept the position, but if it is offered to him and he does, I know he would make a fine public officer."—William McKee, president of the Board of Trade of Hilo.

"From Koko comes word that there is a unanimous feeling here in favor of Doctor Elliot for the position of Secretary of the Territory."

Doctor Elliot himself says: "I have heard that my name is being considered for the position, but I have not given the matter any serious consideration."

Elliot Movement Strong

In Hilo here, there is a strong movement on foot among the admirers and friends of Doctor Elliot, irrespective of party affiliation, to impress upon the Governor that in Doctor Elliot there are splendid possibilities as his right hand man of affairs in the administration of business for the Territory.

From Honolulu there is already serious consideration of Doctor Elliot's name as a successor to Mr. Thayer, and Mr. Thayer himself is reported to have spoken of Doctor Elliot in this respect with interest.

Patient Rallied and For Six Days Appeared To Be Growing Better, Then Relapse Set In and His Condition Is Now Serious

J. P. Cooke, Honolulu capitalist and one of the Territory's most prominent citizens, is in a serious condition in a San Francisco hospital following an operation for appendicitis, performed ten days ago, according to cable messages received by business associates here. Mr. Cooke is president of the firm of Alexander & Baldwin and is interested in many other commercial and financial corporations in the Islands.

The report current since Saturday of Mr. Cooke's condition was verified last night by John Waterhouse, business associate of Mr. Cooke. Mr. Waterhouse, whose name is being advised daily by cable, described Mr. Cooke's condition last night as "serious but not hopeless."

The operation was performed ten days ago and for the first six days the patient rallied and was seemingly on the road to rapid recovery. Four days ago, however, Mr. Cooke suffered a relapse and has been in a serious condition since. He is in Adler Sanatorium in San Francisco.

HOMESTEADERS OF HAWAII WANT ROADS

Send Protest Against Six Foot Trails Ordered Constructed By Land Commissioner

(Mail Special to The Advertiser.)

HILO, November 24.—Members of the board of supervisors have more than once expressed their appreciation of the work done by Land Commissioner Rivenburgh in behalf of homesteaders on the island of Hawaii, but there is one plan under way by orders of Mr. Rivenburgh which is being criticized in a very general manner, and that is the building of trails, instead of roads, to the Opihiko homesteads in Puna.

This week the homesteaders of that district, most of whom are Hawaiians, signed a petition directed to the land commissioner, in which he is requested to build the roads to the homestead tract at least twelve feet wide instead of the six-foot trails which are now being put through. In connection with this petition, the following letter, dated November 24, from Norman K. Lyman, as representative from the first district, is self-explanatory:

"Dear Sir:—I herewith wish to thank you for the way in which you are endeavoring to assist homesteaders in the County of Hawaii, and having roads constructed through their lots, but am somewhat surprised to learn that you are authorizing the construction of six-foot trails to the Opihiko homestead. If you will notice by sections 374 to 376 that the proceeds from the homesteads must be used for constructing roads to and through them, and by your authorizing that a six-foot trail be constructed, I do not think that the law allows that money should be used for trails, as it is very plain and states that roads should be constructed, and a six-foot trail I deem is not a road."

"I enclose herewith a petition from the homesteaders of Opihiko who are directly interested in this road or trail which you have authorized, protesting against its construction and requesting that a proper road be authorized by you, according to the intents of the above mentioned sections of the revised laws of 1915. As I understand it, there are several hundred acres of area planted and under cultivation at the present time, and several hundred more are being planted now, and to force these people to transport all the products from 500 to 600 acres of land over a pack trail, I believe, a crime, and is an encouragement to anyone to try and maintain a homestead two or three miles up in the woods. I have been requested by the petitioners to take this matter up with you and try and have it adjusted, otherwise I am requested to take it to the legislature."

"I personally am opposed to any public money being spent on any trails to homesteads, but highly recommend that proper roads should be constructed and put in properly, so that the people can transport their goods to their homes by wagon or auto. The days of trails have gone by, and why try to go back to them?"

"At a hearing before Judge Quinn in the fourth circuit court last week, in a probate case, it developed that the price of awa has gone away up and the root is now bringing over $500 a ton, and it is possible to raise from two to three tons to the acre."

VON FALKENHAYN JOINS FORCES WITH ARMY OF GENERAL MACKENSEN

Both Succeed In Crossing the Danube River and King Ferdinand's Capital Is Now Menaced From North, South And West; Rumanian Reports Tell of Flight of Their Troops Leaving Trail of Burning Villages Behind

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

LONDON, November 27.—The fall of Bucharest appears to be certain.

The German-Austrian-Bulgarian armies under the command of Generals von Mackensen and von Falkenhayn are reported to have effected a junction at Alexandria, about forty-seven miles southwest of Bucharest, and to be pressing forward in steadily increasing numbers, beating back the defenders of the little Balkan kingdom.

MACKENSEN CROSSES THE DANUBE

Von Mackensen has crossed the Danube, natural southern defense of the kingdom, and his troops under his personal supervision are declared to be driving forward irresistibly, smashing the Rumanian defense on the Wallachian plains, while at the same time the forces under von Falkenhayn are driving them back farther north to positions along the Alt River.

Rumanian reports confirm the Berlin announcements of victory, and declare that the roads eastward of the Alt are filled with streaming columns of troops fleeing before the invaders, utterly broken and dispirited. The retreat of the Rumanians adds these despatches, is marked for miles by the smoke of burning villages, and the lines of march choked by the broken transport wagons, disabled guns and gun caissons, piles of supplies and all the impedimenta cast away by an army in full flight.

NO RUSSIAN REINFORCEMENT

Contrary to former reports that the Rumanians had succeeded in sending reinforcements to their allies in the south, there now appears no evidence that Russians have reached that sector of the fighting front, and it looks as though the Rumanians would be crushed beneath the Teuton steamroller before any assistance can reach them.

Their capital is menaced from the north, where the armies of von Falkenhayn are hammering at the Rumanian troops defending the passes through the Transylvanian Alps in the vicinity of Kampolung, from the west, where the combined forces of the German commanders are beating back the feeble resistance along the Alt river and from the south where von Mackensen's men are striking northward in an effort to tear loose the Rumanians on the Danube banks.

PLANS TO CRUSH RUMANIA FIRST

Germany's general staff which is now directing the operations of the Central powers on all fronts, appear to have reached the determination to crush the Rumanians for entering the war when they did, while holding back the Entente allies on the other fronts. Certain it is that huge masses of Teutonic and Bulgarian troops have been freed from other fronts and hurled upon the western and southern frontier of Rumania.

According to despatches from Berlin the Rumanian officers who have been taken prisoner in the last offensive attribute the debacle into which their nation and their armies have been flung, to the failure of the Allies to go to their assistance.

"We needed guns, big guns and machine guns," one of these captive officers is quoted as having said, "and we expected that the Entente would supply them. Instead the Allies left us to fight our fight alone, or practically alone, save for what help Russia, herself short of such equipment, could send us. The result was inevitable. We have been crushed by immensely superior forces, armed with superior weapons, which made it impossible for our men to stand before them. That is the explanation the world will have when this is all over."

LITTLE OF IMPORTANCE ELSEWHERE

In Macedonia there was little infantry action save on the left wing of the Allied forces, where the Italians are reported to be making slow but steady progress, according to the official communique issued last night by the French war office. This last statement is flatly denied by Sofia, which declared that the Bulgarians holding that section of the line have beaten back all the attacks of the Italians. Sofia also denies that the Allies have succeeded in taking Dobruja. The fall of that city into the hands of the Allies was reported last week.

On the western front there was but little of consequence, though the usual artillery bombardment is reported. This is true of the Russian front, where practically the entire distance from Riga on the Baltic to the Carpathians the Germans are shelling the trenches and positions of the Slavs with their heavy artillery.

German Armies Unite In Rumania

BERLIN, November 26.—(Via Wireless to Sayville)—According to official despatches von Falkenhayn, whose army has been fighting its way across the Transylvanian Alps, has effected a junction with the army under von Mackensen near the town of Alexandria, forty-seven miles southwest of Bucharest.

The Rumanian front has apparently been broken and King Ferdinand's troops are reported to be retreating towards the east, burning towns and villages in their flight. An entire cavalry division of Rumanians which was fighting a rear guard action was repulsed by the victorious Teutons and forced to fall back on the main body of the retreating army.

The junction of the two German armies was effected when the army under von Mackensen succeeded in crossing the Danube, the natural southern and eastern barrier of Rumania. The dangerous crossing was made under the personal supervision of Mackensen.

Despite the fact that a large force of Russians were thrown into the Dubrudja district to support the Rumanians and that Mackensen's right wing was heavily bombarded by the Russian fleet from the Black Sea, the attack against Mackensen in this district proved to be a complete failure.

DRUNKEN MAN SMASHES HIS WIFE WITH A DINNER PLATE

In a drunken brawl yesterday afternoon Sam Kane, Hawaiian, beat his wife over the head with a plate, inflicting a severe scalp wound that was given treatment at the emergency hospital. Both Kane and his wife, Kaimi, were taken into custody in their rooms at Liliha and Kukui Streets by Policeman Gunderson. Kane came home to find another man in the house. Both were under the influence of liquor.

MAUI SUPERVISORS UNDER BOND FOR ELEPHANT DAISY

The Maui supervisors have been put under bonds, but according to wireless advices from the Valley Isle, are still at large and have been given a certain amount of liberty. Oahu's supervisors are the bond-ees in this case. It is all on account of a little loan, Honolulu's guardians having graciously offered to lend Maui their lady elephant, Miss Daisy, provided the borrowers guarantee the safe return of the little pet.

TWELVE HUNDRED AT LUAU

More than 1200 people were guests of F. F. Baldwin at Paunene, Maui, November 18, at one of the most sumptuous luaus ever given on the island. The luau was in celebration of the Republican victory on Maui on election day. Free trains brought scores from Kihei, Kahului and Camp One. Thirty-five great tables loaded with all kinds of delicacies were spread in the sugar room of the Paunene mill. A dance followed the banquet.

MORE PILKIA FOR BREAKWATER BUILDER

When the charges against James Marshall and George L. Marshall of malicious mischief, preferred by Richard Deming, vice-president of the American Surety Company, came before Judge W. S. Wise, in Hilo, for a hearing Thursday morning, J. W. Russell, attorney for the defendants, demanded a jury trial in the case, according to information received here.

Ex-Judge C. F. Parsons, acting as deputy county attorney for the prosecution, made no objection to the trial. Wise committed the case to the circuit court, before Judge Quinn, where the case will be set for trial later before a jury.

It is claimed by the prosecution that the Marshalls, a brother and son of George E. Marshall, former breakwater contractor, had removed certain parts of the machinery of the Big Breakwater, so that Mr. Deming could not take possession of it.

As soon as this case was settled temporarily Judge Parsons, for Mr. Deming, applied in the circuit court for the replevin of certain property claimed by the surety company which was in possession of the Marshalls, including the following marine property: Tug Breakwater, gasoline tug Ethel, speck dumping barge, oil scow, pile-driver scow, derrick scow.

This property, according to the statement in the papers filed, amounts to $20,000 in value, and bonds were put up by the surety company and the papers filed by Deputy Sheriff Henry Martin. Mr. Marshall stated he would not seek to recover this property under bond.

Honolulu Found Guilty

A trial of importance far surpassing the attention it has been given by the public of Honolulu generally was concluded in the federal district court yesterday, when Dr. K. F. Li, a Chinese physician, was declared not guilty of having violated the Harrison Anti-drug Act, an act passed by congress to provide a weapon whereby those demons who create and cater to drug fiends could be halted and put out of business.

The question of the guilt or innocence of the Chinese physician, however, was but an incident of the trial. It affected him directly, and the members of his family, for whom his counsel pleaded so eloquently and with such evident success.

Doctor Li was not found guilty. But society was. And the accusers of society paraded sorrowfully across the stage in a drama more sordid than any ever written by Brieux.

White of face, with nerve-wracked bodies, their hands trembling in the palsy of death in life, their eyes staring, muscles twitching, their memories now sodden, now drug-excited into weird imaginings, they marched, one by shaken one, across the stage set up by human justice for trial of human justice—and they convicted human justice of having violated itself.

Dore painted no more horrid picture than that set up in the federal court for Honolulu to look upon and be ashamed. Pander and prostitute they came, pimp and procurer, drug slave and master who enslaves by drugs. All the police-protected scum of Iwilei was coughed up from the maw of that sink of infamy. All the mental, moral and physical filth and disease so carefully nurtured by Sheriff Charles Rose and defended and protected by word and deed of Chief of Detectives McDuffie, on the theory that theirs is a "necessary" business "good for Honolulu," was flung in the face of the jury—and of the good people of Honolulu who ask themselves: "Am I my brother's keeper?"

It was not Dr. K. F. Li who was on trial so much as it was the oblique police department of Honolulu, the United States marshal and the godly who shudder at the word "prostitute" and with uplifted hands declare that such things "should not be discussed."

And, above all, it was society, Honolulu, Hawaii, that was on trial. And they were proven guilty, though the verdict returned by the jury did not mention them.

For it was conclusively proven that there exists in this fair Paradise of the Pacific an enormous traffic in the brain-deadening drugs that stifle the souls of men and women. It was demonstrated beyond the shadow of a doubt that between this hideous traffic and the principal business of Iwilei there exists a close and intimate relationship.

The prosecution showed that this Doctor Li in about three months dispensed more than 150,000 grains of sulphate of morphine, 1717 grains of cocaine and quantities of heroin. In the face of the jury's verdict, it is not to be said that his sales of these deadly drugs, mostly to the women of Iwilei and the parasitic monsters like Harry Rothberg who live off the earnings of their shame, were illegal. But Doctor Mitchell of Schofield Barracks testified that the entire medical contingent of Leilehua does not administer all together as much as one grain of cocaine a day in the medical treatment required by six thousand men. It was testified that Doctor Li's sales of narcotics amounted to more in a few months than those of reputable white physicians in several years.

It was demonstrated conclusively that the use of habit-forming drugs is spreading with startling rapidity throughout Hawaii. Heroin, a drug rarely used by decent physicians in their practice; cocaine, the most deadly drug of all the forbidden list, known to its victims as "snow," morphine, the limited use of which is recognized by the medical fraternity but the dangers of which are equally recognized and by all decent practitioners carefully guarded against—these and other deadly poisons, it was shown, are trafficked in in police-protected Iwilei almost as freely as sugar or flour.

And there was no showing that society—the people of Honolulu—is making any efficient effort to stamp out the vicious practice nor insist upon an enforcement of the law that will eliminate its main breeding grounds. In the background of the trial of Doctor Li hung ever the sneering shadow of the chief of detectives of this city, for whom the people of this city stand and for whom they must therefore be held responsible. Always there was intangible evidence of official obstruction of the efforts of the internal revenue department to wipe out the illegal traffic in drugs, just as there is intangible evidence of an official protection of Iwilei, with its white slavery, its crimes of violence and its deadly and foul diseases.

As to Doctor Li himself, it was testified by Maize Crystal, a woman of the underworld; by Harry Rothberg, a human vulture who lives in Iwilei;—and by other inmates of Sheriff Rose's protected district, that he had sold her a so-called medicine for the cure of the drug habit. And physicians who had analyzed his "cure" testified that it contained morphine, combined with other drugs which might have a beneficial effect if properly administered, but that his method of administering them was unskillful, unprofessional and dangerous.

But, as before stated, Doctor Li, the defendant, was but an incident of the trial. He was acquitted. But the people of Honolulu who resolutely shut their eyes to the rapid spread of the drug habit in this Territory, and particularly to the loathsome conditions that prevail in police-protected Iwilei, were not acquitted.

Vote, If Called Upon

PETITIONS are being circulated asking the board of supervisors to call a special bond election. If sufficient signatures are obtained to the petition blanks now being circulated the matter will be brought to the attention of the supervisors when they meet on December 5 and they will be asked to publish a proclamation and call an election within sixty days. This will be sometime in February.

The money asked for in the proposed bond issue is $480,000, the same amount asked for when the bonds were voted on at the November election and defeated because the proposition did not receive sixty per cent of the votes cast.

At present the issue is clear cut. The money is asked entirely for water and sewer improvements and extensions. The first issue divided the money for a variety of purposes, including roads, playgrounds and public bath houses. In addition to this the matter was confused with the excitement of a general election. If a special election is called the matter will be taken entirely out of the realm of politics.

If the board of supervisors decides to call a general election on the bond issue there will be no excuse for any elector not knowing what he is voting about. In sixty days he will have ample time and opportunity to inform himself on the purpose of the bonds. No doubt the subject will be widely discussed at various municipal clubs, at campaign rallies and in the daily press and if the voter does not understand just why there is a bond election it will be because he has not taken the trouble to find out or has turned a deaf ear to those who wanted to tell him about it.

(From Sunday Advertiser.) No new provision can legally be inserted in a government general lease, according to a decision by Attorney General I. M. Stainback which has been filed with Bertram G. Rivenburgh, land commissioner.

German Preacher Urges That Military Mounts and Artillery Horses Meeting At McAllen Proves Successful

McALLEN, Texas, November 15.—With nearly five hundred military mounts, artillery horses and army mules in the ring, the first show of the First Cavalry Regiment recently with about three thousand officers and private soldiers of the New York division as spectators. Wives of officers and daughters of Texas ranchers in the reserved section of the grand stand sided to color that made the show like the annual event in Madison Square Garden, although the sand was substituted for the lanark.

There was much enthusiasm, although a shower late in the afternoon postponed the three most spectacular events on the program—the rescue race, the remount relay race, and the steeplechase championship.

First prize in the first class for officers, chargers, was taken by a Kentucky thoroughbred owned by Col. Gordon Johnston, Twelfth Infantry. His horse is considered by many the best mount in the division, not excluding those of Maj. Cornelius Vandenberg, who made no entries. A horse owned by Col. Charles L. Debevoise of the First Cavalry was second. In class two the positions of these horses were reversed.

A four-in-hand from Company H of the Twenty-eighth Infantry of the regular army won the mule team competition from twenty-five other teams from the New York divisions and other regular army units. A section from Battery D of the Second Field Artillery, commanded by Capt. Howard E. Sullivan, was first in the artillery competition.

Wise, in Hilo, for a hearing Thursday morning, J. W. Russell, attorney for the defendants, demanded a jury trial in the case, according to information received here.

WANTS MORE "WAR" HORSE SHOW GIVEN TEACHING IN SCHOOL UNDER TEXAN SIES

German schools are not paying enough attention to the war to suit the Rev. Doctor Traub, a prominent Liberal clergyman, according to a report of a lecture recently delivered in Hamburg by Doctor Traub and summarized in the London press. In the course of his talk, which was entitled, "The Aims of Education After the War," Doctor Traub expressed his dissatisfaction with the little attention really given to the war by the bulk of communal schools.

"Why are the walls not filled with war maps?" he asked. "The schools are given a holiday when a victory is announced, but nine children out of ten don't know where the victory was gained or against which enemy. The teacher has nothing to tell them. Or a boy who has formerly attended the school finds a hero's death. He is passed over in silence, instead of being honored with a memorial service."

"The children are not to be worried into ceasing to use strong expressions of anger against the enemies of Germany. This anger, no matter how gross its expression may be, no matter how animated with the deepest feeling, is not to be curbed, or regarded as rude. It is the healthy, natural expression of the German boy and girl forced by the deeds of ruthless enemies laboring for the destruction of the Fatherland."

This righteous wrath it is the duty of the German teacher to cultivate. And side by side with the cultivation of these natural feelings let the teacher never forget to lead his children in the paths of the German classics, by the still waters of the German Bible, past the celestial cadences of German musicians, and through the storied halls of German museums."

ROAD TO BUCHAREST NOW REPORTED BLOCKED

Berlin Reports a Series of Successes in North and South, With Repulses For Rumanians, Russians, Italians and French

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) LONDON, November 26.—The latest reports from the Balkans, dated at Bucharest at half-past eleven last night, come as a great relief to the officials here, showing as they do that the Rumanian battalions which the Berlin despatch reported cut off and bottled up in the sector northeast of Tarnu-Severin, have successfully avoided the Bulgar-German enveloping movement and are in a position of safety.

Just where this force has been able to reach is not clear, but it is believed that it has joined the Rumanian army in the Alt Valley, putting that force in an advantageous position to defeat the enemy facing it.

Previous despatches from Petrograd had reported that the Rumanians in Wallachia had been able to save themselves with the exception of the battalions in the Stufnu-Severin district, who had been cut off and were only holding back the Germans through the most strenuous efforts.

BERLIN REPORTS SUCCESSES

Berlin reports that violent attacks by the Serbs and the other Entente forces in Macedonia were repulsed in the vicinity of Lake Ochrida and Presba, while to the north, in Rumania, the Bulgars had seized the islands in the Danube near Orsova. The attempt of the Italians to advance northwest of Monastir in Serbia was also checked, according to the official German reports.

The general German advance along the Danube was brought to an end, the Rumanians holding and repulsing the invaders at Islatche and Zimmizta, barring the way to Bucharest. At this point a German army had been thrown across the Danube, within seventy miles of the Rumanian capital.

In another section of the Rumanian front, where the Germans and Russians are fighting, the Russo-Rumanian advance has been halted, according to Berlin.

It was raining heavily yesterday on the French front in Macedonia and there was little activity. On the entire Serbian front, adjoining the French, there was violent fighting but no change in the general situation.

Suffragist Leader Succumbs After Long Fight For Life

(Associated Press by Cable.) ON ANGELES, November 26.—Mrs. Inez Milholland Boesevain, noted advocate of woman suffrage and one of the most prominent women in the United States, died here early this morning after a long illness during which desperate efforts were made by her attending physicians to save her life. Several transfusions of blood were made and for a time Mrs. Boesevain improved and it was believed that she would recover. But a relapse carried her back beyond the danger point, and death resulted.

Before her marriage Miss Milholland, who was a Vassar graduate and also a graduate of the New York University law school, became greatly interested in the movement to better the conditions of women, especially of working women. Politically she was a Socialist. In the big strikes in New York in 1913 in the shirt waist and laundry industries she took a prominent part, marching with the women in their parades, addressing meetings in their behalf and writing in their defense.

But it was chiefly as a suffrage leader that she was most widely known. She threw herself unreservedly into the "votes for women" movement and worked steadily along that line up to the time she was taken sick. Before her marriage she appeared occasionally in suffrage parades in Washington, and later she was active about the halls of congress trying to win votes for the national suffrage bill.

Mrs. Boesevain was only thirty years old when she died, having been born August 6, 1886. She was a member of the Political Equality League, Women's Political Union, National Child Labor Commission, Women's Social and Political Union, of England, and the Fabian Society, of England.

NAVAL PROGRAM BOUND TO SUFFER

New Battleships Cannot Be Afloat Before 1920 Because of Lack of Labor

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) WASHINGTON, November 26.—None of the eight big warships, whose construction was recently authorized by congress, can be completed in less than three and a half years. This was the statement made yesterday to the house naval committee, meeting in advance of the congressional session, by Admiral David W. Taylor, chief constructor of the navy and chief of the bureau of construction and repair of the navy department.

A shortage of skilled labor and a lack of materials necessary for the construction work was blamed by Admiral Taylor for the delay in pushing the naval program.

The navy department is considering construction of 40,000-ton battleships, Admiral Taylor told the committee. These giant warships will be equipped with heavier guns and heavier armor and will be speedier than any of the superdreadnaughts now in the United States Navy according to Admiral Taylor.

ANOTHER ZEPPELIN LOST TO GERMANY WITHOUT ANY GAIN

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) LONDON, November 26.—The wreck of a super Zeppelin in a storm, with the destruction of the entire crew of the big dirigible, was reported in an Exchange Telegraph despatch yesterday from Amsterdam on the authority of travelers arriving in the Dutch city from Munich, Germany. The aircraft was one of the new additions to Germany's air fleet and was making its first flight in a test before military officials. The storm overpowered the giant airship sending it crashing to earth. None of the twenty-seven members of the Zeppelin crew survived. The disaster occurred Thursday.

GOVERNMENT MUST HAVE NEWSPAPERS

Reichstag Told That the Press Is Aim of the Administration

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) BERLIN, November 26.—(via London)—The Reichstag on Friday discussed the advisability of limiting the number of newspapers in the Empire to one for each city and principal town, those advocating this move stating that one newspaper to each community would serve all the necessary purposes and would be a measure of needed economy. The scarcity of paper was pointed out as one good reason for the move, while the number of men and women that would be set free for other work by the closing down of a number of newspaper offices was advanced as another.

The suggestion was warmly combated by Doctor Helfferich, the minister of the interior, who said that the newspapers of the Empire formed one of the useful arms of the government, a power without which the government would find itself severely crippled.

ANGLO-FRENCH LOSS ON SOMME HEAVY

The losses amongst the New Zealand and Australian contingents have been particularly heavy, those colonies alone having lost 40,000 men. Three divisions have been wiped out.

NO MORE GRAIN TO BE WASTED IN THE BREWING OF BEER

An order to this effect was issued yesterday by the board of trade in regard to the manufacture of beer, while the use of grain in the turning out of other liquors was prohibited as long ago as last May.

The order issued yesterday will practically end the use of beer in Great Britain during the remainder of the war, the stocks on hand being small.

TOO MUCH MONEY TURNS HEADS OF PLANTATION MEN

Bonus Payments Bringing About Results Not Expected By the Planters

BIG EXODUS TO COAST IS THE FIRST RESULT

Paper Money Disgusted Some of the Filipinos, Who Tore the Bills Up

HILO, November 25.—Unofficially it is stated that the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association will soon arrange to make its disbursements of the bonus to its plantation laborers in some other way than the method now in force of the payment of this bonus which is twenty per cent each month and the balance once a year.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars were paid out last week to laborers in this island of Hawaii for bonuses. Never had those Filipinos, Japanese, Porto Ricans, Portuguese, Spaniards, Russians and Chinese seen so much money at one time before. Hundreds of them acted as though they had gone crazy.

Almost continuously during Friday Saturday and Sunday there was a procession of automobiles headed into Hilo from all parts of the island filled with men, women and children. Many of these, it is stated will fail to return to their work on the various plantations.

Steamer Tickets First

Hilo merchants, especially those in the Oriental part of the city, are reaping a harvest from the laborers, some of whom have not visited the city before in months and years. A great many of them have already left the island without any intention of returning.

The Mauna Kea sailed from Hilo last Friday and carried about one hundred and sixty laborers, with their pockets full of money to Honolulu. Many of these will go to the Coast. On Monday last it was the same.

At the local office of the Maunaloa Navigation Company, with C. Brewer & Co., they were standing in line at times waiting to book passage to the Coast.

On one plantation in Kau it is reported that practically every Filipino employed there quit work as soon as they received their bonus and came into Hilo on their way home or to California.

Many other plantations, it is stated, have lost nearly half their working force. One of the plantations which has suffered considerably is Hakalau. Nearly all the Hamakua plantations have lost many laborers, both mill and field workers.

One Spanish family at Hakalau is said to have received altogether in bonuses about $1200. They will all go to California on the next Matapu boat. A number of Portuguese are also leaving. Most of them will be very glad to get back again to where bonuses are paid.

Restlessness Prevails

A restlessness seems to pervade the laborers on most of the plantations on this island. So far there has been very little trouble, in spite of the great influx of strangers to this city.

During the last few days of the week and on Sunday forty-six men were arrested on charges of gambling with opium. This is said to be a record for the time. Nearly all of these men quickly put up ten dollars apiece as bail, which was promptly forfeited. Twenty men were arrested on Sunday and $120 was taken in as forfeited bail money in the local district court Monday morning.

No Savvy This Kind

Some exceedingly funny stories are going the rounds regarding the actions of some of the laborers, especially Filipinos, when they received their extra pay. Most of the bonus money was paid to the men in paper money, each man receiving an envelope with the money in it. In quite a number of instances the men did not know what the paper money was and tore it up. Large numbers of these torn bills, scattered together, have been presented at the First Bank of Hilo for exchange.

In other cases the men receiving the paper money thought they might be ordered for payment and went to the plantation stores to get the real money in gold and silver in exchange. Very few Japanese, however, are reported to have made any mistakes in this regard.

One Porto Rican at Hakalau is reported to have received an envelope containing $51 and some cents. He kept the one dollar and change in silver and threw away two twenty-dollar bills and one for ten dollars.

It is now believed that it will take nearly a month before the labor problems of the local plantations will again be solved, especially as many workers will change from one plantation to another, even when they do not leave the island.

WASHINGTON, November 26.—The condition of President Wilson who has been suffering from a cold during the last few days, was reported greatly improved yesterday by the President's physicians. ## LAIRD CELEBRATED

CONSTANTINE HAS DOUBLE MUTINY

Now His Loyal Officers Refuse To Obey When He Gives In To Entente

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) ATHENS, November 26.—With the revolutionary government defying King Constantine and declaring war upon its own account against Bulgaria, the government here was further defied yesterday by the officers of its own commands, who refuse absolutely to carry out the orders of the crown council to surrender their arms to the Entente Allies.

After vacillating five several days, in the face of an ultimatum delivered by Admiral du Fourment, demanding the surrender of all arms and ammunition in the possession of the royalists, with the exception of the arms of the 50,000 men not as yet demobilized, King Constantine yesterday afternoon gave in and ordered the arms and ammunition turned over as demanded. At once the delivery of the arms to the French marines began, the first lot consisting of ten batteries of field pieces.

Men Occupy Athens

When the orders reached the headquarters of the general staff, however, and were transmitted to the various regimental commanders in the city, a flat refusal to obey was returned to the crown council. The officers announced that there was but one way to obtain the arms of their men and that was for the Allies to commandeer them by force.

That force will be used promptly, unless the arms are forthcoming at once, was the reply to the royalists by the French admiral, who states that he will proceed to occupy Athens within a few hours unless his ultimatum demands be complied with.

War Against Bulgaria

The Provisional Government of Greece, established by the triumvirate, of which former Premier Venizelos is the leader, known as the "war party" before their break with King Constantine, has declared war formally on Bulgaria according to a despatch from Salonika. The provisional government has already begun raising an army and has a cabinet and capital established at Salonika.

UNCLE SAM WILL NOW BE FIRM; AWFULLY AND SEVERELY FIRM

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) WASHINGTON, November 26.—While it is confidently expected that the American government will approve of the terms of the protocol drawn up at Atlantic City by the international commission dealing with the American-Mexican conditions, it is recognized that the attitude that may be taken by Carranza is by no means certain. It is highly problematical what the First Chief will think of the right, implied by the protocol, of troops of the United States to cross the border when necessary in the pursuit of raiding bandits.

Commissioner Pani is now en route to Queretaro, where Carranza has established a temporary seat of government and where he will explain to the First Chief exactly what the attitude of the American government is.

The administration here is determined to deal firmly with all future border conditions, no matter what the attitude of Carranza towards the Americans contentions may be.

SAILORS FROM SUPPLY SHIP GLACIER DROWNED

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) SAN FRANCISCO, November 25.—Four men are known to be dead and several others are missing, while a dozen were painfully hurt today when a launch containing 35 sailors from the U. S. supply ship Glacier met disaster. The sailors in the launch were returning from shore leave to the Glacier when the launch was swept by the tide beneath the paddles of the river boat Apache, the paddles smashing the launch and driving it under. Small boats picked the struggling sailors from the water. The accident happened in the bay near the ferry building.

TELEPHONE ACCOUNTS TO BE STANDARDIZED

Standard classifications of accounts for use in the bookkeeping records of the Territory will shortly be published by the public utilities commission. Charles R. Forbes, chairman, announced at the regular meeting of the commission yesterday that these classifications would be of two kinds; class "A" for the larger companies, such as the Hawaii, Mutual and Maui companies, and class "B" for companies of smaller capitalization. The first class has been completed by Forbes and the second will be ready in ten days, he announced.

JAPANESE UNION IS RESULT OF STRIKE

Following an amicable settlement with the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company, Japanese seamen who inaugurated an abortive strike earlier in the week yesterday organized a Japanese Seamen's Union. One hundred and eighteen men have already joined the union. Members of the crew of the Kinai, it is said, were not allowed to join the union because they refused to walk out when the strike was called.

American Federation of Labor Opposed To Any Training of School Boys

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) BALTIMORE, November 26.—Resolutions denouncing military training in American schools and recording the unqualified opposition of labor to such training for the young were adopted by the convention of the American Federation of Labor in session here. The convention re-elected Samuel Gompers president in opposition to military training reads in part:

"The American Federation of Labor is unalterably opposed to any form of physical training or any program of education in American schools or through any organization that inculcates the spirit of militarism in the youth of the nation.

"The immature and impressionable minds of the nation's children must not be taught and trained in the methods of killing humans except that they be impressed with the horror of such killing."

President Gompers' reelection to the presidency of the federation marks his thirty-fourth term in that office. He has been president of the federation of labor continuously since 1882 with the intermission of but one year. He was one of the founders of the federation and is editor of its official magazine.

The federation also adopted resolutions urging all organized and unorganized workers to concentrate their efforts in a campaign for an eight-hour day.

The case was submitted without action on an agreed statement of facts, the construction of certain provisions of the will of Edward H. Bailey, deceased, and the force and effect of a certain mortgage.

The opinion of the court was written by Associate Justice Quarles and concurred in by the remainder of the bench of the supreme court. Attorney Charles F. Peterson represented the plaintiffs, while Attorney Daniel H. Case, former county attorney of Maui appeared for the defendant.

BATTLING AT SUNDOWN

Although there has been no direct word from Trevino since yesterday morning it appeared certain that the garrison was holding out up until dark last night, as reports from points north of the besieged city stated that the sounds of cannonading could be heard. While his is reassuring in one respect it is disconcerting in another, as it proves that Villa is able to continue his fight on the south and still have men sufficient to make attacks from two other directions.

VILLA GAINS IN STRUGGLE FOR MASTERY OF CHIHUAHUA

Attacks Trevino From Both North and South and Cuts Communications — Carranzistas At Juarez Worry Over City's Fate

WHOSE POWDER LASTS LONGEST WILL WIN

Villa Has Promised To Kill Trevino With His Own Hands If He Captures Him and Juarez Is Afraid Threat May Be Fulfilled

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) JUAREZ, November 26.—"Whoever has the best supply of ammunition will win the battle for possession of the City of Chihuahua."

This is the opinion now expressed by the best posted officers of the Carranza garrison here, after definite information that Villa had been able not only to keep the troops of Trevino busy on the south approaches to Chihuahua but had been able to supply the troops for an attack upon the north and northeast, where the approaches are easier and where Trevino has been unable to mount any guns.

One report, received here last night, announced that Villa had overcome the defense of Trevino and that Chihuahua had fallen, but his is not credited by the officials here, although it is admitted that he reports indicate that the battle is going in favor of the bandit chief.

WIRES ARE CUT

Telegraphic communications with Chihuahua were cut yesterday morning at ten o'clock, this being the first indication received that the Villistas had swung a portion of their force around the city and had launched an attack upon the least defensible sections. Late last night the communications were still interrupted and with every hour of silence from Trevino comes added apprehension that the garrison is being driven in and that the fate promised Trevino by Villa, execution at his own hands, may be the fate of the Carranza leader. It is feared, too, that should Chihuahua fall the victory will so redound to Villa's credit that all the malcontents of Northern Mexico will flock once more to his banner and his insurrection will once again attain dangerous proportions.

While his is reassuring in one respect it is disconcerting in another, as it proves that Villa is able to continue his fight on the south and still have men sufficient to make attacks from two other directions.

As expected, Villa renewed his attack upon the city at dawn yesterday, his earlier attempts to force the way into the city from the south being repulsed.

VILLA TRICKS TREVINO AND REOPENS HIS HOT ATTACKS

By Clever Ruse He Entices Large Force of De Faeto Garrison Away From City of Chihuahua Then Doubles Back Once More

OFFICIAL ACCOUNTS OF MANEUVER REACH JUAREZ

Carranzistas, Baffled and Weakened Said To Be Hard Put To It To Defend The City From Bandit's Assault This Morning

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

JUAREZ, Mexico, November 25.—Following an exultant announcement from General Trevino, commander of the Carranza garrison at the City of Chihuahua, that "the backbone of the Villa attempt to capture this city has now been broken," came an official report last night that Villa, with an increased force, had suddenly reappeared before the city and was last night camped close to the battleground of Wednesday.

The reappearance of the bandit leader and his army was followed by another fierce attack upon the city, while a portion of the garrison, which had left in pursuit of the retreating Villistas the afternoon before, is cut off from return and apparently surrounded. The battle last night lasted until nine o'clock, with the diminished garrison hard put to hold back the Villistas.

It is expected that the attack will be resumed at dawn this morning, and there is great uneasiness expressed here over the outcome.

When General Trevino sent out his message, announcing a defeat of the Villistas and the claim that they had been routed and were being pursued by a portion of the garrison under General Ozuena, it appears that Villa was actually in full retreat, but only as a ruse. Almost as soon as the fleeing Villistas and the column of pursuers had passed out of sight, Villa at the head of another large body of men appeared from another direction and rushed to the attack.

Early reports today stated that the Villistas, in their renewed attack, had penetrated the defenses and were fighting in the streets, but this does not seem to be borne out by the latest news from the scene of the fighting.

The reports sent out at first by Trevino, announcing his supposed victory, stated that the machine guns and the field artillery had effectively smashed the Villa attempt to storm and seize the city, although the fighting was severe and the troops of the garrison lost heavily. Villa, with his army presumably routed, was reported as in full retreat to the mountains. It was the intention of the Carranzistas, Trevino telegraphed, to give him no opportunity to establish headquarters, but to continue on his trail until he was hunted down and his band exterminated.

When the Villistas withdrew on Thursday they left four hundred dead on the field, amongst whom was General Acosta, one of Villa's principal lieutenants. The Carranzistas had lost one of their generals as well as two colonels and about a hundred men. Governor Francisco Trevino, brother of General Trevino, was wounded, being shot through the hand, while Trevino himself was wounded in the head.

MEXICO'S CHANCE HAS COME So Says Lane Explaining The Situation

Secretary of the Interior In Statement Declares Carranza Is Strong Man and Deserves Opportunity To Establish Strong Government

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) ATLANTIC CITY, November 25.—"This is Mexico's chance to prove that her people are able of themselves to restore order in their own land and establish a strong and equitable government," said Secretary of the Interior Lane last night, in a statement of the stand taken by the American representatives of the American-Mexican international commission of which he is chairman.

"Mexico will do what is right, without our help if she is able to accomplish her aim unaided, with our help if she cannot. We must, whatever the terms of the protocol to be signed, reserve the right to cross the Mexican border with our troops in the pursuit of bandits, unless Mexico gets into shape to manage her own internal affairs as to make certain the prompt running down and punishment of raiding bandit bands."

"The whole world wants to see a new Mexico, where the poor and the ignorant will be given the chance they have elsewhere to help themselves and improve their own conditions. Carranza is a strong man and a man able to bring order out of the chaos that has prevailed in Mexico. We believe that he should be given this chance in full measure."

Yesterday, as requested by the Mexican commissioners, the commission adjourned for a two-weeks recess, in order to allow the Mexicans to take up personally with First Chief Carranza the terms of the protocol decided upon.

It being known that the terms therein outlined are the limit of American concessions. The terms of the protocol include an agreement on the part of the United States to withdraw its troops from Mexico within forty days after the pact between the two governments is signed and ratified by those governments, provided the United States is satisfied that the withdrawal of the punitive expedition will not endanger the border.

The control of the border is to be left to the respective armies of the two governments, each on its own side. The question of cooperation for military purposes is to be left to the commanders of the armies.

Although not incorporated in the written agreement, the American commissioners have told the Mexicans that the United States will under all circumstances reserve the right to send troops across the border in pursuit of bandits who have entered American territory.

It was in relation to this reserved right that Secretary Lane spoke particularly last night. He announced that the signing of the protocol is now up to Carranza and is "his chance" to demonstrate his claim that what he wants is a fair opportunity or restoring order, within his own country.

Commissioner Paul left here last night for the City of Mexico, where he will confer with Carranza and present to him the opinions of himself and his colleagues as well as that of the American commissioners.

Daggett had been watched for some time, his actions having brought him under suspicion. How he opened the Harriman safe deposit box and secured the jewelry is not explained, however. The accused has made what amounts to a confession of his guilt, stating that the high cost of living and the necessity he found himself under of living expensively led him to take the valuables entrusted to his charge.

SPORTING WORLD ON TIPTOE OVER BIG GAMES TODAY

Harvard and Yale Clash At New Haven; Army and Navy In Gotham

COLD KEEPS PRESIDENT FROM SERVICE CONTEST

Monster Crowds Expected To Be Present At Yale Bowl and Polo Grounds

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) NEW YORK, November 25.—Football interest today centers on the games between Yale and Harvard at New Haven and the Army and Navy at New York.

Perhaps the greatest interest, from a sporting standpoint, is on the Crimson-Blue contest the outcome of which appears uncertain, while the Army is a strong favorite over the Navy.

Thousands of people went to New Haven yesterday to be on hand for the big struggle today. Little betting was in evidence, Yale adherents demanding odds of ten to eight. The weather has been wet and there is likelihood of a "hippy" heavy field for the game.

President Wilson, who was to have attended the Army-Navy contest here, has cancelled his reservation, owing to a slight cold. It is not of a serious nature, but sufficient to force him to remain at the White House.

Rooters For the Navy

The Navy will have a great following present however, which will be swelled by the greater part of the complements of seven battleships which arrived at New York yesterday with six thousand officers and men aboard. As many of these as can be spared from duty will be given leave to attend the contest, while those who are compelled to remain aboard their ships will keep in touch with the struggle by radioed bulletins.

Oliphant, the big back from Purdue, who has been such a sensation in eastern football circles this season, will probably bear the brunt of the work today for West Point in the Army-Navy game. Oliphant has the season's record for touchdowns scored by an individual, while the Army team as a whole is the strongest in years and should have little difficulty in disposing of the Annapolis stalwarts. The West Point team is one of the eight teams in the United States that has not met defeat so far this season.

Reservations for seats in the Polo grounds for the Army-Navy game were sold out over a month ago, and thousands of requests had to be refused. It is expected that thirty-five thousand people will witness the struggle this afternoon.

One feature of today's big college game is that the captains, Black of Yale and Daddum of Harvard, will play against each other at left and right guard respectively. Both coaches, F. A. D. Jones of Yale and Percy Haighton of Harvard, are optimistic and each firm in the belief that his team will march from the field the victor this afternoon.

From comparative scores the teams appear even. Brown defeated Harvard twenty-one to nothing, and Yale twenty to three. Yale players will pin their hopes on Le Gore while Harvard expects on the rushes of Hart and Cady to bring victory.

Not even standing room will be left in the Yale Bowl this afternoon when the Blue and Crimson eleven line up for the referee's first whistle.

JAMES L. COKE IS APPOINTED JUDGE

Local Attorney Will Fill Vacancy Caused By Resignation of Judge Stuart

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) WASHINGTON, November 25.—James L. Coke of Honolulu has been appointed by President Wilson as third judge of the circuit court, first circuit, Hawaii to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Judge T. B. Stuart. The appointment was announced by President Wilson yesterday.

The appointment of "Jim" Coke to the local bench has been generally expected in Honolulu for some time, but the announcement that the former territorial senator had been actually named for the position by President Wilson was none the less a matter of congratulation for his many friends.

Mr. Coke, it is believed, would have been appointed some time ago had it not been for the provisions of the Organic Act which makes a senator ineligible for federal or territorial appointment during the term for which he was elected. Coke resigned his senatorship prior to the recent election but it was held that this did not render him eligible before the expiration of his term of office as senator, which ended November 7.

Coke has been a resident of Hawaii for nearly sixteen years, coming here from Coos Bay, Oregon. He lived on Maui for eleven years. He returned to Honolulu in 1909, and in 1912 was elected to the territorial senate at the head of the Democratic ticket on Oahu.

It is expected that Coke will be directed by cable to qualify and take the oath of office at once.

Jackass Quartette To Gambol With Elephant In Park

Dainty Donkeys From Kona Will Be Named After Four Leading Democrats "Lucius," "Bertie," "Willie" and "Cholly Feb"

Daisy, Ben Hollinger's lady elephant protégée, is to have four little playmates. They are to be four cute little jackasses. Julian Monarrat is responsible. Julian went out to Kapiolani park recently to look Daisy over. She appeared somewhat homesick. Furthermore, it didn't seem fair to Julian to have the Republican party so well represented while there was not even a dog to speak for the Democrats.

He brooded over the matter, with the result that this week Ben Hollinger got a letter from him, saying that he would donate four "Kona canaries" to the park to play with Daisy. And the inter-island company had offered to donate their passage.

Hollinger immediately began to worry over the names he should give the new acquisitions. He thought at first of Jesse for one of them, commemorating Jesse O'Leary's valuable services to the nation during the recent campaign. But he finally decided to save that name for something more unusual in the zoo line.

At last, after long and painful cogitation, Ben hit upon four names for the four little jackasses which he thinks will be entirely appropriate.

One is to be named "Lucius," in honor of Hawaii's chief executive and ranking Democrat.

Another, that is a particularly handsome jackass, is to be christened "Bertie" as a mark of esteem of Hawaii's handsomest Democrat.

For the third the name "Willie" has been selected, to make proud the heart of the Governor's private secretary of the Territory.

And for the fourth jackass God father Hollinger turned to Kahoana Nui who advised him to call the animal "Cholly Feb."

GOES DRAWING LINES ON KING FERDINAND'S CAPITAL CITY

Germans and Austrians Reported To Be Converging On Bucharest From Three Directions Despite Desperate Resistance

REPORTS DANUBE CROSSED ARE DENIED BY PETROGRAD

Serbians and Their Allies In Macedonia Are Declared To Be Continuing Making Their Steady Gains In Vicinity of Monastir

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

PETERSBURG, November 25.—Flatly contradictory reports make it extremely difficult to gain any clear idea of what is being done on the different war fronts.

It appears certain however, that the troops under the command of von Falkenhayn, operating in Transylvania and Rumania are still advancing in spite of the desperate efforts of the Rumanians to head them back, and the arrival of Russian reinforcements in that sector.

Von Falkenhayn's armies are reported to be converging upon Bucharest, capital of Rumania from three directions, and von Mackensen is said to have crossed successfully the Sava river near Sillistria from his lines in the Dobruja district.

Denying River Is Crossed

This last statement is disputed by the reports from Petrograd, which assert that the general's effort to span the river which is still the greatest natural defense of Rumania on the south, and east have been broken down.

Other despatches to the Wireless Press in Rome are still insisting that all of the bridges over the river have been broken down and that the stream is now impassable. These accounts add that the overflow of the river is threatening the population of Dobruja, already impoverished by the wave of war that has swept over them since Rumania entered the conflict, and that hundreds of thousands are facing starvation. Petrograd declares an attempt at crossing near Zimnitza, failed under gun fire. Zimnitza is seventy miles from Bucharest.

Germans Reach Alt River

Von Falkenhayn is said to have reached the Alt river, driving the Russians and Rumanians defending the positions on that stream before him as he advanced.

Of this fighting the Berlin despatches report that "Austro-German forces in Transylvania have captured several positions. Along the Danube sector they have taken Orsova and Turnu Severin. The resistance of the Rumanians on the west has been completely broken down."

On the Dobruja district situation "Petograd says" the Russians have been an advance in the Dobruja sector, though, the action was delayed by general von Mackensen. The Navy, reinforced by large detachments, have reached Lake Tashaul, crossing the Kartal River.

Rumanians Attacking

Bucharest in the official report on the attempt of the Teutons to cross the Danube declares that "the Teutons have attempted to cross the Danube seventy five miles southwest of Olugina. They were unsuccessful here."

"In the Dobruja district the Rumanians have assumed the offensive and advanced along the entire front, capturing several towns north of the Plovanoda-Constanza railroad. The Russians are now but twelve miles north of the railway."

"East of Monastir, the Serbians have successfully stormed and occupied Napeh, and the allied accounts of the fighting in Macedonia declare that the Germans and Bulgarians have been defeated and routed north of Sghodul."

"Constantinople announces in an official statement that the Turks have driven back the Russians in Armenia, and 'have advanced twenty miles.'"

"The situation on the Somme and Arras is practically the same, with but little activity save by the artillery of both armies."

"On the Italian front the Italians have made additional gains and have reached Nijpole."

It is expected that today's payments will run nearly to $75,000. Many children are being paid as high as $40 and $50 as a bonus under the system and there is much rejoicing on the plantation.

MAUI FAIR PLANS NOW COMPLETE AND SUCCESS IS ALREADY CERTAIN

Exhibitors From All the Islands Shipping Products to Wailuku and Visitors Are Booking For Trip

The big event of the week is to be the Maui County Fair. President Wilson and Governor Plunkham have agreed that it will be appropriate to call the first day of the fair a day of national thanksgiving but, he it remembered, the fair directors chose November 30 for their event several months ago. Thanksgiving will be merely incidental to Maui farmers whose fruits of earth are to enter into competition on that day.

The question of who is responsible for it (the fair, not Thanksgiving), has been much discussed, and while the first move was made by the Maui chamber of commerce at their meeting March 16 last, The Advertiser is inclined to name Prof. F. G. Krauss of Haiku as the first original and only prime mover. He was the electric spark in the County Fair subcommittee. The chamber of commerce and numerous citizens' committees were simply the wheels, gasoline and other incidentals needed to make the machine go.

Seed Fall On Fertile Ground
At the aforesaid March meeting of the chamber various lusty seedlings from the numerous seeds sown by Professor Krauss that "fell into good ground, brought forth fruit." The chamber of commerce adjourned and promptly renewed as a "citizens committee," not quite so official but more comprehensive, and bigger.

The seeds that fell into good ground brought forth fruit, some an hundred fold, some sixty fold, some thirty fold, and now all Maui has become a County Fair committee.

Maui's Pilgrim Fathers
Back in March those who started the movement were H. A. Baldwin, F. F. Baldwin, F. G. Krauss, R. A. Wadsworth, D. H. Case, C. D. Lufkin, W. F. Ingue, J. J. Walsh, Dr. W. D. Baldwin, W. F. Cooper, S. A. Baldwin, D. T. Fleming, A. McPhee, H. B. Penhallow, W. McCluskey, R. B. Dodge, H. W. Rice, Chas. Wilcox, C. Crowell, H. K. Duncan, J. B. Thompson, W. O. Aiken, Egon Vincent and Dr. V. A. Norgaard.

For a complete and up-to-date membership committee as it now stands, see the directory.

R. A. Wadsworth, chairman of the mass meeting, was made chairman of the fair committee. April 17 the committee had increased to such proportions that the meeting had to convene at Wailuku town hall. A permanent organization was there formed and officers elected, comprising: R. A. Wadsworth, chairman; D. T. Fleming, vice chairman; J. Garcia, secretary, and A. McPhee, treasurer. Since then Mr. McPhee has resigned as treasurer and has been succeeded by D. H. Case.

- The general chairman, Mr. Wadsworth, and Manager Cameron are ex-officio members of all of the sub-committees.

Having had weather, Maui is going to put on a show never yet equalled in the Territory. It will be educational, agricultural, advertising and entertaining.

A Tented Town
All this is merely by way of introduction. Like crossing the channels between Honolulu and Kahului. The real center of interest for all Hawaii next Thursday morning will be the tented field of Wailuku, otherwise the baseball park. This has been graced, a bandstand, grandstand, dancing pavilion and numerous other structures provided, and every suitable tent in Hawaii spread thereon.

The tents will be packed with exhibits, every foot of floor space available having been applied for. The grounds will be packed with visitors, for all Hawaii has made plans to attend.

Maui's guests will feel well repaid for being on the Valley Isle on the occasion of this first fair.

"Maui No Ka Oe" will be the watchword during the fair. Literally translated this signifies, "Maui is the best," or in more modern interpretation, "Maui over alles."

Official Program
The following is the official entertainment program:
Thursday, November 30—
9 a. m.—Grand military parade, ending at fair grounds.

Defective Children In Territory To Be Given Attention

Data in regard to the number of physically or mentally deficient and defective children in the Territory will be gathered and the information so secured will probably be made the subject of legislation next session.

The following letter was sent out yesterday by Superintendent Kinney to supervising principals Miss Bertha Be Taylor of West Hawaii, Miss Bernice Hundley of Kauai, Eugene Horner of East Hawaii, William McCluskey of Maui, and James C. Davis of Oahu:

"It is desired to secure some data in regard to the number of physically or mentally defective children in the Territory whose infirmities render it impossible for them to attend the ordinary schools.

"It is probable that data of value can be secured if the principals of the various schools make inquiry from the children in their institutions with regard to the existence of such individuals in the vicinities concerned.

"Will you, therefore, kindly ask the various principals in your district to make inquiries among their pupils relative to the number of defective children whom they know, and that they make lists showing the names and places of residence of these children, as well as the character of the defects from which they suffer; such as, for instance, idiocy, great mental backwardness, blindness, partial or total; deafness partial or total; or such physical defects as render locomotion impossible.

"There is no demand for immediate information on this matter, and if these data are secured before Christmas, the department will be quite satisfied."

SCHOOL FOR DEFECTIVES
Editor Advertiser—When I read in The Advertiser this morning, "Defective Children in Territory to Be Given Attention," my heart gave a bound of great joy; not at the thought of defective children, not at the thought of future and unhappiness of the blind and deaf and dumb, but that ways and means are being devised to gather together the unfortunate children who are so often the victims of the future and educate and mold them into becoming useful and happy citizens in later years.

When we read of the achievements and accomplishments of Helen Keller, all we can say is that every cent and every moment spent on her education and development was well worth while. When we read of a blind girl going from the California Institute for the Deaf and Blind to the University of Chicago and later to the University of the highest honors of her class we marvel and simply say "Well done." When we read of a blind minister who was the head of his synod and leader of his people for over fifty years until his death, we can but say "Well done, good and faithful servant."

These are actual facts that have been accomplished by teaching the blind not only to become self-supporting, but has also developed helpless people into becoming leaders in thought, religion and industry.

When I look back four years I can see a little lad looking into a hopeless future with sightless eyes, and it seems to me it was but a hideous night mare, as that young lad is now a student in the California Institute for the Deaf and Blind, in Berkeley, and is developing a very promising future.

The California Institute for the Deaf and Blind is a State institution which not only educates the blind, deaf and dumb and mentally defective, but also teaches them several different trades adapted to their faculties. For instance: the deaf and dumb are taught tailoring, shoemaking, to be barbers and printers; the blind are taught to be piano-tuners, Chair caning, hammock weaving, broom making and other trades.

It is my prayer that the coming legislature will be able to devise ways and means for the establishment of an institute in this Territory on the same lines as the one in Berkeley, California, wherein the mentally defective, the blind and the deaf and dumb may be gathered together and taught and educated into becoming useful and self-supporting citizens, and consequently happy men and women of the future.

When it comes to writing on a subject of this kind I deeply regret that I have not the fertile mind of a Samuel G. Blythe or the vivid imagination of a Joseph Conrad, but I hope some more capable mind than mine will lift their voice in the interest of the unfortunate children of this Territory and urge that something be done for their development into useful and self-supporting citizens of the future.

Respectfully yours
RUDOLPH BINDT

HEAVY LIMB OF BIG TREE KILLS MAN WHO CUT IT
Caught beneath a falling branch of a tree which he had partially sawed through, Tabamoto Sakaue, a Japanese, was instantly killed Wednesday at Pihau Mauka, according to an account in the Hawaii Herald of Hilo. The huge limb carried the Japanese, a distance of twenty feet to the ground. He was found next day crushed beneath the branch with his arms wrapped about it in falling. Apparently the man had stood on another branch of the tree and sawed at the limb below, not calculating the direction it would fall.

FARM LECTURES
There will be six and possibly more lectures on agricultural topics given by scientific farmers during the Fair. The place, list of speakers, and the topics to be covered will be announced by J. M. Westgate, Thursday. This is an experiment," he stated yesterday. "In line with the way one phase of agricultural extension work is conducted on the mainland. Whether it will be repeated depends on the interest shown by those who attend."

FARMERS OF MAUI STAR BEAN RAISERS

Corn and Sweet Potatoes Also Will Be Shown At Valley Island Fair

Professor F. G. Krauss, chairman of the agronomy, or field crop section of the fair, says the Maui small farmers are the champion bean growers. He is even inclined to grow postie, "Shelled products of the far-famed 'Maui-bender' the 'valley,' the white navies which made Boston famous, and many other varieties of culinary and stock beans will be shown. Kula, on the middle slopes of grand old Haleakala, was put on the map of Hawaii by the prime quality of her bean products.

He now bids fair to place her fame beyond our island shores.

"While the humble Irish potato is reported into Hawaii by the hundred hounded dollars' worth, we propose to show our visitors what real spuds," the aristocracy of Maui county's small farm crop, looks like, the breeding work of the Haiku station, having for its object the development of superior strains of this important field crop will also be shown. Corn and Sweet Potatoes.

"Sweet potatoes, it is expected, will be shown in great variety since every homestead on the island has its patch of this favorite tuber. Those not yet familiar with the famous 'Madeira' or 'Kauai' sweet potato, may here find specimens grown to perfection.

The field corn exhibit will prove a revelation to natives of the American corn belt. Maui county's product will compare favorably with the product of Illinois, Ohio and Indiana. The seed-burthened production of a hundred bushels of shelled corn from a assured Maui acre will be portrayed by charts and text, as well as by samples of the product itself. Not alone should the corn exhibit prove interesting, but highly instructive as showing the possibilities of development in this important crop of the mainland.

"Even the cereal grains will find a place in Maui county's first fair, as well they may, since it is not in the 'days of '49' when Maui county shipped the golden wheat grains to her sister State, our favorite California? The sorghum and millets ranging in height from one foot to fifteen feet and yielding almost as much green matter as sugar cane, will also be there.

Nitrogen Gatherers
"Perhaps the most valuable of all the large number of forage crops to be shown will be the legumes. These gather up the free nitrogen from the air and store unlimited quantities of this expensive fertilizing element in soil and plant. They enrich the soil when turned under, as green manure—develop sturdy bodies in the growing animal.

"One produces a valuable fiber which may make Hawaii independent in its supply of bagging. Some are rich in oil, which Hawaii is in great need of. In a word, they make a promising agricultural possibility. Taken all together this most valuable of all economic field crops will be shown in the variety and profusion which it deserves.

"If you have never heard of but are interested in the possibilities of Hawaii, grown, cured and baled fodder and hay, come to Maui county's first fair. We promise that you will not be disappointed in the variety and quality.

The counties of the Hawaiian Islands are separated by channels of ocean waters, but they are very close neighbors for all that.

The county fair idea in Hawaii has taken well, as evidenced by the very successful fair given at Hilo in September, and with the knowledge of that success the county of Maui will have its own fair next week, where the products of the Valley Isle may be displayed by neighbors and their friends, and their friends, of course, will come from all the Islands, with a number of tourists thrown in for good measure.

Very appropriately the County of Maui is opening up its fair about Thanksgiving time, or more specifically on Thanksgiving Day, a day observed all over the United States, while the display of big pumpkins and large ears of corn and other products of the soil and when all give thanks for the bountiful harvest. It will be Maui's great opportunity to display the products of her soil and the skill of her residents at the County Fair grounds.

Therefore, it will be the best time of the year for everybody on Oahu, Hawaii and Maui to go over (and be neighborly with the Maui people and say "howdy."

The Chamber of Commerce of Honolulu, Hawaii Promotion Committee, Rotary Club, Pan-Pacific Club and Mid-Pacific Carnival Committee will all be sheltered under the roof of the booth and will welcome visitors there. These organizations have nothing in the way of products of the soil to exhibit but they are going to be present at the Maui Fair for the purpose of showing that they are all interested in Maui enterprise and that they are lending their moral support to the cause. It will be a case of service and mutual cooperation on the part of these public organizations and they hope that the Islands will turn out big crowds, fill up the steamers and take in a county fair which is to be held almost in the shadow of the largest extinct volcano in the world (Haleakala), and upon an island which teems with scenic attractions which rival those of many of the American mainland scenic features.

Come on over, the water is fine, the hospitality of Maui is all and every body is going to have a good time.

CANE EXHIBIT FINE
A fine cane exhibit is being prepared by H. D. Sloggett, chairman of the sugar cane section, in cooperation with Maui plantations and the experiment station of the H. S. P. A., whose splendid exhibit at the recent Hilo fair attracted much attention.

STEAMER RATES CUT
As a special inducement to prospective visitors to the Maui County Fair the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company is offering a twenty-five per cent reduction in passenger rates for round trip tickets to Kahului from any port in Hawaii. The Fair is going to be the most comprehensive event of its kind ever held in the Islands and a record crowd is anticipated. There will be at least one steamer each day next week from Honolulu to Maui, including the Mauna Loa, Mauna Kea, Manoa and Kilauea. Return steamers will bring passengers home again Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

AGRICULTURAL MACHINERY
Not the least interesting exhibit at the Maui Fair will be that of agricultural machinery. The implement houses of Honolulu have all reserved space for the exhibit, which includes farm tools, from patent milkers to traction engines and gasoline plows.

J. C. Hedemann of Theo. H. Davies & Co. has just returned from the Coast with a number of new cultivator implements, hand, mule and power, for which he has secured space reserved eighty by eighty feet.

In many instances an exceedingly valuable history is wrapped up in a bit of tapa or hovers about the old hand-made calabash.

The committee has also located some implements of great rarity, which are seldom seen in any exhibition of collections and in some cases are not yet in the Bishop Museum.

SUGAR BEET SEEDS
Importation of sugar beet seeds into the United States in the nine months ended with September 18 was 500,000 pounds and broke all records, according to a Department of Commerce statement. This exceeded by more than a million pounds imports in the calendar year 1913-1914 and was almost twice as much as in the full year 1912.

OUTLOOK FOR HOME RULE FOR HAWAII GROWING BRIGHT

Delegated On Eve of Departure For Washington Expresses Confidence in Measure

Prospects for home rule in Hawaii are better now than they ever have been, according to Delegate Kalaniana'ole, who is preparing to return to Washington next week. The Delegate will leave on the Wilhelmina and will be back in Washington in time for the extra session of congress.

While talking over the subject of home rule for Hawaii Kulo declared that he had every reason to believe that he will be able to get the bill introduced in congress and will be placed before the extra session but he is not expected that any action will be taken on the matter at that time.

Believe Congress Will Act Favorably On Such a Motion
Prince Kuhio Declares

"I have every reason to believe that the new congress will pass the bill giving Hawaii home rule," said Kulo yesterday. "It is not a question of what the administration will do as such as what congress will do. Many assurances have been given me that the bill will be passed."

"Hawaii has been fortunate in its dealings with congress and during the fourteen years that I have been a Delegate at Washington Hawaii has not wanted for anything to which she was entitled. I have always been careful not to bring up matters on my own volition."

Wants Legislature to Act
"It has been my practice to present matters at Washington which have already been endorsed by the legislature of Hawaii. I shall do the same in the case of a home rule bill and will ask the legislature to pass a resolution endorsing it in order that I can show members of congress that the matter is the will of the majority of people of Hawaii and not of a group or clique."

The Delegate stated also that he was in favor of a number of projects which will make the new Hawaii a more desirable place for the new citizen. He is strongly in favor of the homestead laws and other legislation that will result in giving the Islands a better quality of citizens.

MAUI TEACHERS WILL HOLD ANNUAL MEETING
The annual meeting of the Maui Teachers' Association will take place on Friday, December 1, 1916. The following program has been arranged for the occasion:

HAWAII SUPERVISORS PROBE RAILWAY CLAIM
The supervisors on the Big Island are investigating the claim of the Hawaiian Consolidated Railway, Limited, to part of the land of the Waialeale School grounds, according to account in the Hilo Tribune. In a letter signed by the yardmaster of the railway the supervisors were advised that the company claims that the fence of the school ground encroaches sixty feet on the railway property. The land is needed by the railway. The letter stated, for the installation of a new switch connecting the Puua Gaa track with the track to Kulo Bay wharf.

WAIKIKI PROJECT IS HELD UP ONCE MORE

Governor Admits Delay Is To "Heaven Knows When"

The Waikiki reclamation project, which has been in the air for the past fifteen years or thereabouts, has again bumped on the snag of gubernatorial obstruction. Governor Plunkham said yesterday that it is now delayed to "heaven knows when."

The reason given by the Governor for this new delay is that the reclamation project was not laid out so as to make a complete and harmonious unit of the section.

Two weeks ago Superintendent of Public Works Charles E. Forbes said he was merely waiting for the board of health to accompany him on a visit to Waikiki to join them the lands comprising the first unit.

MODERN APARTMENT PERIOD OF GRACE TO BE BUILT HERE BY JOEL C. COHEN

Building Will Stand On Lot At Beretania and Nuuanu Streets, Long Vacant

DIFFICULTY IN GETTING MATERIAL MAY DELAY JOB

Arthur Coyne and J. H. Magoon Equally Interested in Newest Real Estate Project

One more definite step was taken yesterday in the movement that is making Honolulu one of the big cities of the world...

The men in the back of the big building project are Joel C. Cohen, president of the Consolidated Amusement Company...

In explaining the project yesterday Mr. Cohen stated that nothing definite had been done other than that the three capitalists had concluded that Honolulu was in need of high grade apartment houses...

"We really did not intend that this matter should be made public at this time," said Mr. Cohen. "Our plans are not complete. Mr. Coyne, Mr. Magoon and I have entered into an agreement to build such an apartment house...

"The building is to cost not less than $75,000, and you can be sure it will be a credit to Honolulu. It will be modern in every way, a steel, concrete fireproof building, five stories high...

"It is not the intention to build apartments that will be out of the reach of the man or family of moderate means. The apartments will be cozy and provided with every imaginable convenience...

Mr. Cohen further stated that if it were possible to obtain material the building would be started at once. According to the present plans the actual work of erecting the structure cannot be commenced until next spring...

"We have never wanting to build such an apartment house for several years," continued Mr. Cohen. "But we could not see our way clear to do so. We had no idea that the cost of material, especially of cement, would reach such an extraordinary figure...

"No name has as yet been selected for the new building but it probably will be of Hawaiian character and expressive of the comforts and conveniences of the new apartments."

Russia Places Huge Sugar Contract With the Japanese

Sugar is badly wanted in Russia as a result of the war because Poland, the only sugar production section of the country can produce no sugar until after the war...

The Russian government is intending to secure 273,000 tons from Japan. The 1914 sugar crop of Japan in 1916 is about 260,000 tons and the amount of home consumption of sugar is about 165,000 tons per year...

PERIOD OF GRACE FOR THIRTY DAYS

Rapid Transit Given Until Next Christmas To Shift Track On Kalaikaua

After a protracted wrangle over terms and wording, the public utilities commission Saturday adopted a resolution extending for thirty days the time set in its order of October 26 within which the Honolulu Rapid Transit and Land Company was directed to start relocation of its tracks on Kalaikaua Avenue...

Whereas the Honolulu Rapid Transit and Land Company has applied to the order of the public utilities commission under date of October 26, 1916 that owing to the non-arrival of certain materials necessary for the relocation of the company's tracks on Kalaikaua Avenue...

Charles R. Forbes, chairman of the commission, will similarly extend the time of his order as superintendent of public works made at the same time as the commission's order.

Meanwhile the company will start laying out the location of the new tracks this week when its engineers over the ground and according to a statement of C. G. Ballentine, manager of the company, actual construction of the new right-of-way may begin in about a month.

Commissioner Carden precipitated the bill for the extension resolution when Commissioner Gignoux suggested that such a resolution be framed. As a lawyer, Carden's sense of legal technicalities was shocked by the blunt resolution that Chairman Forbes would have. Both Forbes and Carden drafted a resolution, Carden's bristling with technicalities and formalities, and Carden the merits of his own draft.

Just what the time is extended thirty days, that's enough. Why make it a legal document? interposed Commissioner Gignoux. But Carden tried for nearly an hour to have his resolution substituted for that written by Forbes. He said, that unless his draft was adopted the commission would be legally "safe." Carden's attitude was plainly implied that the rapid transit was needed to be bound hand and foot to the letter of the law. He said:

"The commission's original order was a formal document on we must continue to deal formally with the company. This is not an order. We will get ourselves into a sad position if the chairman's resolution is adopted and we do not make a formal order. The chairman's resolution leaves the situation so that the company can take an amount of time to complete the work perfectly hopeless."

"If the commission is going to make an order, let's make it an order on something you can shoot holes through. The legal possibilities of the chairman's draft are dangerous. You can't shoot my resolution full of holes."

"The chairman's order is not safe. As a personal favor Mr. Forbes will you withdraw it. I'm afraid of it." Forbes, however, would not withdraw his resolution, which said the same things as Carden's in different and fewer words. He defended his draft with some heat and said:

"The rapid transit company has stated clearly the situation. They have made no attempt at evasion and have proven conclusively to me that they are acting in good faith. They have laid all the information on all the data before us. Now it is up to the commission to take similar action."

Finally Forbes' draft of the resolution, slightly modified and strengthened to suit Carden, was adopted on motion of Commissioner Gignoux.

HUNDREDS MOURN CHINESE MERCHANT

Large Crowds Attend Christian Funeral of Wong Kwai At Fort Street Church

Mourning by his widow, sons, daughters, a dozen grandchildren and several hundred persons of all nationalities, Wong Kwai, venerable Chinese merchant who died at his home, 1305 Fort Street, Friday, was buried yesterday at the Makiki cemetery, after simple but impressive ceremonies at his home and at the Fort Street Congregational Church.

"He was given Christian burial," will be one of the phrases that will epitomize the long and useful life of Wong Kwai; and if the fact that several thousand persons crowded Fort and Beretania Streets yesterday to watch the merchant's body, escorted by the long cortege, pass to its final resting place is any criterion, the well-known Chinese merchant must have made hundreds of staunch friends during his sixty-one years of business career in Honolulu.

The elaborate casket was placed before the altar and literally covered with flowers. There were no decorations in the church. In a few minutes the sacred edifice was crowded with relatives and friends of the deceased, most of them Chinese, but many of other nationalities.

After the funeral services had been conducted by the Rev. Yuen Dow Poy, the Rev. Wong Tsui Ting preached a long but apparently interesting sermon on the life and character of the beloved merchant. All the services were conducted in Chinese. Following the sermon, the upper part of the casket was opened and several hundred persons trooped by to view the body.

While the choir sang a Christian hymn appropriate for the dead, the body casket was borne from the church and placed in the waiting hearse. With the solemn tolling of the church chimes, the beating of muffled drums and the playing of the dirge "Swan" by the Hawaiian Band, the funeral procession moved down Beretania Street, followed by members of the Chinese Masons on foot and more than fifty vehicles.

Masonic Ceremonies Held At the cemetery the symbolic ceremonies of the Masonic order and the simple economies of the Christian church were all conducted in Chinese. Where the late merchant prince was lowered to final rest in the bosom of another earth.

Wong Kwai, who was seventy-eight at his death, spent sixty-one years of his life in Hawaii. During that more than three-score years his life in the islands has been active and at times spectacular. For more than half a century he has been identified with many of the big movements of Hawaii, and during the reign of King Kalaniana'olaha was instrumental in developing many of the rice lands of Oahu and Kauai, bringing many Chinese from his native land for that purpose.

Coming to Hawaii when he was seventy, Wong Kwai soon became one of the partners of the Chu Lan Company. He immediately identified himself with the civic affairs of Honolulu and was one of the early members of the volunteer fire department. From 1880 to 1900 he was Chinese vice-consul, Young Wan Ping being the consul. He took an active part in the Chinese United Societies and was president of the organization for a number of years. He helped to promote the Chinese hospital and at his own expense started the Anglo-Chinese school. He was also a committeeman at Mills School.

It was only shortly before his death that Wong Kwai became a Christian, but long before that time he donated $1000 to establish the church on Fort Street where he afterwards worshipped and from where he was buried yesterday with the rites and consolations of the Christian church.

The deceased leaves a widow, two daughters, four sons and twelve grandchildren. His sons are Wong Lai, a professor in China; Wong Tin, a bookbinder; Wong Tin Chee, prominent in business. His daughters are Mrs. Hee and Wong Kam Tai.

DESKS FOR TOP SERGEANTS The top sergeants and company clerks of the First and Thirty-second are wearing brand smiles over the prospect from the quartermaster of handsome quartered oak desks, with seven drawers in each desk. This is a perfect wealth of secure filing space and provides so much added office facility that the tops even have a place to put their hasty pouches. Each company has secured one of the desks.

FIRST HAWAIIAN NOVEL PUBLISHED

"The X Sugar Company" Is Announced By Big Eastern Publishing House

Two new books dealing with Hawaii, one a descriptive work, the other a novel, are announced by book publishers of the East. Neither has yet reached Honolulu but their arrival will be awaited with interest, for we always like to know what people think of us.

"The Spell of the Hawaiian Islands and the Philippines" is the title of a 382-page work by Mrs. Lutz Anderson. It is said to be the most serious contribution the author has yet made to literature. In her initial chapter she tells of her visit to Honolulu, which was eventually a considerable time ago, for she says: "We sailed from San Francisco aboard the Gaelic with good jolly Captain Finch. He was a regular old tar and we liked him."

The author adds that on board with her were Captain Gridley, Manila Bay hero; Judge Wideman, "a German of Honolulu, married to a Hawaiian princess; Mr. Irwin, an American with a Japanese wife," and others whom she mentions. She tells of her first glimpse of Hawaii, considerable of the native legends and mythology, and describes enthusiastically Honolulu as she saw it, and her stay there, in a language on the Hawaiian Hotel grounds, "Heaven on earth" is her characterization of Honolulu.

The novel announced for early publication is entitled "The X Sugar Company," by Roger Sprague. The advance notice says that Sprague is a graduate of the University of California and was formerly an instructor in the public schools of Honolulu. The notice says: "This story does with words what 'Bird of Paradise' does with colored lights and stage effects. The author gives a series of brilliant pictures of life in the Hawaiian Islands. The charm, scenery, romance—the whole gorgeous panorama of life in a tropical island—are set forth in this novel of adventure and big business the first novel with a Hawaiian setting that has ever appeared."

HILO WILL SOON HAVE NEW HOTEL

Raymond A. Lucas Announces His Plans For Big Hostelry In Near Future

HILO, November 22.—This city will soon have another hotel, one run on the European plan, and yesterday Raymond A. Lucas, proprietor of the Lucas Block, gave the information of his proposed improvements on his big building at the corner of Pitman and King Streets, opposite the Hilo hotel.

Already work is under way on the installation in the Lucas Block of a fine restaurant and dining room, which will front on Pitman Street. When ready the restaurant will be in charge of Mrs. D. McGregor, who proposes to make it most homelike and attractive, with meals both a la carte and table d'hote.

Mr. Lucas believes that transforming his rooming house into a hotel will be an added accommodation for visitors to Hilo and will be a help in many ways to the city, as well as a good investment.

BOND ELECTION TO BE PETITIONED FOR

Nearly a score of volunteers started out Saturday with the petition blanks for the bond issue. The petition calls upon the mayor and board of supervisors to call a special election to pass on the issuing of bonds to the value of $480,000 to carry on water and sewer improvements.

Hundreds have already signed the petition and it is the intention to have not less than 2000 signatures to present to the supervisors when they meet on December 5.

If the matter is approved by the board it is probable that the election will be called for some time in February.

GAME IS WON BY ALL-AMERICANS GUSTO'S HOMER MUCH FOR WRECKERS

Travelers First Team To Tie Score With Visitors—Four Home Runs Made

(From Sunday Advertiser.) A home run by Gusto in the sixth inning, with the score tied, won for the All-Americans against the Travelers yesterday afternoon at Athletic Park, the score being five to four. For the first time in the series a team managed to get ahead of the visitors. In the third inning the score stood three to two in favor of the Travelers. The invaders tied the count in the following inning, and from then on the game was nip and tuck to the last frame.

The game was featured by heavy hitting. Kenworthy, Bohne, Ayau and Gusto drew home runs; Akana hit for three bases, and Gusto, Hoon Ki and Leard got two base hits. The play of both teams was fast.

The All-Americans scored in the first inning. After Jackson had popped out to Hoon Ki and Javrin had gone out, Ayau to Lee. Kenworthy sent the horsehide over the fence for a home run. The visitors garnered another run in the second, when Bohne hit a run smash over the left field fence.

The Chinese tied the score in the second, the first time that any team has exceeded things up since the arrival of the Invaders. Johnson walked Akana; Kan Yen sacrificed, sending Akana to second. Ayau hit the first ball over into the trees over the left field fence, but it fell back into the playing field. The Ump's allowed a home run on this hit, which gave two scores to the Travelers.

Travelers Ahead In the third the Travelers went ahead. After Ah Lee had walked Akana tripped to left, but Kelley misjudged the fly, and Ah Lee scored when Leard dropped Kelley's peg to the date. This, by the way, was the first time that the All-Americans had been headed in the series.

The visitors tied the score in the fourth, when Leard, after getting to second on two errors, came home on Jackson's hit to left. Until the seventh inning no runs were made.

After Gusto had reached first on an error and put out at second, Kelley walked, and was scored, when Basler drew a hard single to left. Gusto Settles Game Not to be outdone, the Travelers obtained another counter in their half of the seventh. Hoon Ki doubled to left, taking third on En Sue's put out and scoring when Chin dropped one along the third base line.

With the score tied in the ninth and no man out, Gusto took his favorite duh and hit the sphere over the left field fence, which settled the contest, although the Travelers tried hard to score in the final inning.

YALE IS VICTOR OVER OLD RIVAL

Army Downs Navy in Annual Battle—Elephant Star of Game

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) NEW HAVEN, November 27.—For the first time since 1910, the Yale bulldogs Saturday fought their way to victory over the Harvard Tigers, winning by a six to three score, before the largest crowd that has ever witnessed a football contest in the Yale Bowl.

The Crimson's only score came in the first period on a goal from field by Robinson. In the second period Neville, Yale's left halfback, was sent over the line for the Blue's single score. The try at goal failed. From then on both teams battled, with the ball in the center of the field most of the time, until the final whistle sounded.

Fifteen gamblers, mostly Japanese, were taken in a raid by Captain McDuffie's men early yesterday morning. The Twenty-fifth Infantry succeeded in scoring two runs on the All-American yesterday afternoon at Athletic Park. The two tallies came in the first inning, and after that neither held the wreckers safe. By consistent hitting and low-a-running the visitors gathered the eight runs during the afternoon. In the first five innings, the Schofield players played ball, but as the game progressed they weakened, and their errors were costly.

Auston was wild in the first inning, walking three men, and the two hits he allowed the visitors gave them two scores in the opening frame. Rogan, who started behind the bat, caught a good game and pegged out several of the All-American players at first base. The fact remains that the visitors are just a little too fast for anything in the Islands. First, Bohne, Javrin and Gusto are as fast as infielders have ever been seen here, while Jackson, Kenworthy and Kelley can dispose of anything sent to the outfield. Opponents do not pursue many bases on "Rowdy" Elliott, while the pitching staff has been able to hold six in pinches.
