A REVIEW.

Are Historical Events Repeated?

Wise Words of "Old Father Damon" Spoken Three Decades Ago—Collected for the Special Benefit of the Present Generation.

"In vain was this English party informed that London was the proper place to adjust these difficulties, and that Commissioners had been sent thither, who would meet Mr. Charlton (the British Representative at Hawaii, and who also had proceeded to London, via Mazatlan) at the Foreign Office.

"At this critical and trying moment, a plan was proposed of making a provisional cession of these islands to the Representatives of the Queen of England." (A similar provisional relinquishment of authority by the Sovereign of Hawaii transpired fifty years later, in the year 1893.)

"The King signed the articles of cession, bathed in tears, but not before the whole body of chiefs knelt in prayer, and sought wisdom from God." * * *

"I desire here to call your attention to a remarkable coincidence. On the very day that the Hawaiian flag was lowered and the British hoisted, Messrs. Richards and Hallio had an interview with Lord Aberdeen, at the Foreign Office in London, when his Lordship assured them that the British Government would acknowledge the independence of the Hawaiian Kingdom. Thus, while one English Lord was compelling Kamehameha III. to lower his flag, another English Lord was assuring the King's Commissioners that the Hawaiian flag should be respected and acknowledged. Above these earthly lords, there was the 'Lord of Lords,' and the 'King of Kings,' who was carefully watching over the affairs of this little Kingdom." (Fifty years later, the watchful care of the Almighty is again called into requisition, and once more He is 'carefully watching over the affairs of this little Kingdom, and the Hawaiian people.')

"During the period from February 25th to July 31st, 1843, the friends and enemies of this Kingdom were not idle." (Nor are they fifty years later.) * * * "Many months elapsed before a reply could be expected. The British Commissioner which was organized to administer the affairs of the government of the islands, until these difficulties should be settled, did not work satisfactorily, and more trouble seemed to be in store for the King and his people. Some were hopeful but others were very desponding." (Fifty years later, a provisional government with similar temporary authority was established; its mode of conducting the affairs of government did not meet with any better results than its "old" predecessor.)

"While affairs were in this unsettled state, it may well be imagined the arrival of H. B. M. S. Dublin, bearing the broad pennant of Rear Admiral Thomas, was hailed with joy, amounting to ecstasy, when it was announced that he was resolved to make an immediate restoration of the flag." * * * "Very few in deed were the foreigners who did not participate in the general exultation. 'The life of the land was now to be restored.'" (Will such an expression of joy, under somewhat similar circumstances again be shown in Hawaii? The answer will be known in a few weeks.)

ation," the reverend gentleman continues:

"The restoration of the Hawaiian flag, and the re-establishment of the King of these islands, in the rightful enjoyment of his privileges and immunities as an independent Sovereign, were as unexpected as they were gratifying. The most sanguine only hoped that after lengthy negotiations this result would ultimately be secured.

"During a period of five months the minds of all classes of the people had been under a strong pressure. Partly feeling ran high. Never before or since have I witnessed such marked exhibitions of coldness and resentment among the foreign residents of Honolulu. (The same feeling again exists fifty years later.) All felt that some change would take place, but what no one could predict. Some hoped. Some feared. All felt uneasy. Shakespeare says:

'Before the days of change, still it is so,
By a divine instinct, men's minds mistrust
Ensuing danger; as, by proof, we see
The water swell before a boisterous storm.'

There was just that feverish state of feeling in the public mind. Imagine then the joyful rebound and spontaneous outburst of thanksgiving; when it was announced that Admiral Thomas had arrived and the purpose of his mission became known."

Speaking of Admiral Thomas, Mr. Damon said:

"His conduct thus effectually produced a kindly feeling among the people towards that country, the representatives of which had only five months previously heaped upon this people and their Sovereign such marked indignities." (History was again repeated fifty years later, when similar indignities were perpetrated at the Court of Hawaii by the Representatives of the United States of America.)

Speaking upon the "Acknowledgment of Independence," he said:

"In consequence of this voluntary timely and public acknowledgment, on the part of these two great powers, this Kingdom has ever since been ranked among the civilized and independent governments, entitled to all the rights, privileges and immunities of a sovereign nation. Thus during the year 1843, the flag of the Kingdom had been lowered and restored; the Kingdom ceded and delivered back, and the Great Powers of Europe acknowledged it as independent and sovereign."

During the year 1893 the flag of the Hawaiian Kingdom was lowered and restored; during the year 1897, the Hawaiian Islands, by the action of the then existing Government and Senate, were again ceded to another foreign power. To complete the chain of historical events, now requires the performance of the act, that of the delivery of the islands back to their rightful subjects, and the re-acknowledgment of their independent sovereignty by the Great Powers.

Speaking under the fourth clause of his discourse, "The happy results of the Restoration and Independence of the Hawaiian Kingdom," the reverend gentleman concluded with the following remarks.

"I do not hesitate in making the open and frank assertion, that, in my opinion, it was a most fortunate and providential event, that the Government was restored to its former position. It was not only restored but established upon a firmer basis, which has been productive of incalculable good to all classes residing upon these islands." * * *

"The most important feature of these changes was the union of natives and foreigners in the executive, legislative and judicial offices of

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 2, 1898.

Manager Willison, the circus man, was charged this morning in the District Court with violating the laws relating to gambling and lotteries. The method of Willison, to which the "law" objected was that each purchaser of an admission ticket to the tent was given a number, and that during the evening a drawing took place, and the holder of the number drawn, was presented with a watch. Mr. Willison was of course unaware of the existence of the "blue laws" in this country and looked surprised, when the Marshal stated that all gambling of such a nature had been stopped in this virtuous town. Judge Wilcox didn't think the offense very serious and inflicted only a nominal fine on the circus man. But how about raffling, Mr. Marshal Brown which is carried on publicly and even advertised in the newspapers? Did any one with a string on one of the Marshal's handsome hindlegs make him "raid" the Willison Circus, which furnishes amusement for a big crowd of people and which should be patronized rather than obstructed?

OUR BLUE LAWS.

The Marshal and his myrmidons have suddenly become possessed of a fit of holy virtue, and are attempting to enforce the "blue" laws yet on our statutes. We hope that the virtuous spasm has been caused by a desire on the part of the authorities to have the Legislature amend existing laws and listen to the will of the masses, and not to the exhortations of a small clique of bigoted men and women, who evidently believe that they are the chosen people and that they are in special rapport with the Lord of the Universe.

We hope that one of the first measures taken up by the Legislature will be the repeal of or at least a radical amendment to the present Sunday laws.

To perpetuate the present obsolete laws probably suitable to the ages when witches and "missionaries" were burned at the stake will be a blot on our boasted civilization, and make us ridiculous in the eyes of the people, at whose door we are knocking for admission.

Last Sunday a number of respectable Chinese storekeepers were arrested, dragged to the Police Station and compelled to appear in Court on the following morning. They were charged with violating the Sunday laws, and in all instances, except one the Government refused to prosecute. The offense of the men consisted in leaving the door of their stores open. A large number of Chinese storekeepers live in the rooms back of their salesrooms and it is an outrage to prevent them from getting fresh air and light into the rooms for which they pay rent and taxes. Why are no raids made on the big "white" firms, which keep their front doors open on Sundays and work their clerks and employees for hours? Has Marshal Brown or his officers never seen the doors of our "big" merchants' stores and warehouses open on Sundays? If they haven't they must be blind; if they have, why did they make no arrest?

One Chinaman plead guilty to having violated the Sunday laws. He did sell ten cents worth of grapes at 8 p. m. last Sunday to some unfortunate wayfarer who probably came from the Central Union Church and felt dry and hungry. The Chinaman sold the grapes, because next morning the fruit would have been spoilt, but by doing so he violated the idiotic law framed and passed by idiots, whose place is in an asylum for imbeciles rather than in a Legislature.

Judge Wilcox declined to punish the man. He wished that he could suspend sentence in the case, but the Supreme Court having decided that he was not a judge during eternity, as they are but only "temporary," he had to do something and he reprimanded the grapeselling Chinaman. The Judge added that he considered our present Sunday law very foolish indeed. It was passed, however, by men elected by the "people" and he presumed that it must be obeyed and carried out.

There is good material in the coming Legislature, and we hope that the last remnant of the "blue" laws will be buried, and that in the future we will be able to get a shave, buy a cigar, a meal or fruit on the Sabbath Day.

The idea of closing the bicycle renting stores and allowing livery stables, hacks, trams, etc., to ply their trades is preposterous. The same game was tried in St. Louis some years ago and the people interfered with retaliated very neatly. They had the paid members of church choirs and organists arrested and the courts found these people guilty of violating the Sabbath law. Why not give our sanctimonious "blue" lawmakers a dose of the St. Louis medicine? It would result here as there in the immediate repeal of a most obnoxious law.

A Big Deal

At noon to-day auctioneer Morgan for Henry Smith, Chief Clerk of the Supreme Court, disposed of the valuable property belonging to the Bishop Estate, and known as the Molokai ranch.

The upset price was $150,000, and the property was eventually knocked down to Arthur D. McClellan of Boston for $251,000. Mr. A. W. Carter bid as far as $225,000 and then he dropped out of the contest. Mr. Desky offered $250,000 when he had reached his limit and at $251,000 Mr. McClellan got the big ranch.

It is understood that Mr. McClellan represents the syndicate in which Judge Carter, the Meyers and others are interested. A big sugar plantation will be established on the land as soon as artesian wells have been sunk. If sugar proves a success, the Molokai plantation will be the biggest on the islands, a very large amount of land suitable for sugar growing being available.

The Band Concert.

A large attendance at Thomas Square last evening. If the audience, when Miss Kanoho sings, would retire from 50 to 100 yards away from the bandstand instead of crowding around it, they would hear her sweet voice to much greater advantage. She will sing at Makee Island this evening.

The Peru Arrives.

The P. M. S. S. Peru arrived at 1 o'clock this morning after a run of 6 days and 11 hours from San Francisco and will sail for the Orient at 10 to-night. She brought the following passengers: G. W. Bramhall, R. A. Cram, W. C. Tyler, W. McMahon, E. E. Rittenhouse, J. W. Regan and wife.

MR. CARTER TALKS.

Hawaiians Are Not Satisfied with the Existing Government.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—A special to the World from Washington says: Major J. O. Carter, one of the most prominent of Hawaiians who oppose annexation and the most influential of Queen Liliuokalani's adherents, has arrived. He is a white man, of American parentage, although born on the islands. In discussing the expediency of annexation Major Carter said to-night:

"I am too good an American to want to see the United States annex Hawaii and too good a Hawaiian to want to see that country annexed to the United States. Personally I like Mr. Dole, and the members of his Cabinet are my friends; but Mr. Dole in saying that Hawaiians are satisfied with the existing Government makes a great mistake if he means to include the natives. Moreover, the desire of the whites for annexation is waning."

A Fine Concert.

Mr. Wray Taylor is to be complimented on the success of the concert given at the Y. M. C. A. hall last night under the management of that clever organist.

The Y. M. C. A. orchestra was heartily applauded by the large audience and the members deserve all possible praise for their good work.

Among the artists assisting at the entertainment special mention is due to Professor Frazier who handles the mandolin with rare skill; J. H. Widman who possesses a fine baritone voice; Misses Alice Rice, whose excellent piano playing is always enjoyed by the music loving people of Honolulu and Mrs. E. D. Tenney, whose highly cultivated voice always bring down the audience.

All the numbers on the program were well rendered and cordially applauded by the ladies and gentlemen who crowded the hall.

A Pretty Wedding.

Miss Grace Richards sister of Mr. Theodore Richards, principal of the Kamehameha schools for boys, was married yesterday afternoon to Professor R. Woodward, a popular teacher at the schools.

The ceremony took place at the Richards residence which was decorated in a very artistic and pretty manner and was witnessed by a large number of friends. Rev. D. P. Birnie, assisted by Rev. Dr. C. M. Hyde "tied the knot."

The young couple left by the steamer Claudine for Maui where they will spend their honeymoon.

There Are Others.

"I want to know," writes an Eastern man who is visiting in Spokane, why every man is a colonel, major or captain out here? How did they come by the title?

That is not correct statement. We also have generals.—Spokane Review.

HONEST GROVER.

Ex-President Cleveland Denounces Morgan.

Annexation is Contrary to America's National Policy and Her Interference in the Revolution of 1893 Was a Disgrace

PRINCETON, N. J., Jan. 24.—"It is one of the strangest things of these strange times that my position upon the Hawaiian question should be misunderstood."

That is the way ex-President Grover Cleveland expressed himself when shown the statement of Senator Morgan relative to his position in the Senate to-day. In order that there could be no misunderstanding of his position on the part of the public he authorized the following statement to the Associated Press:

"I do not believe in discussing matters of this kind as a private citizen. I do not care, however, to be misrepresented.

"I will, therefore, say that ever since the question of Hawaiian annexation was presented I have been utterly and constantly opposed to it. The first thing after my inauguration in March, 1893, was to recall from the Federal Senate an annexation treaty then pending before that body. I regarded, and still regard, the proposed annexation of these islands as not only opposed to our national policy, but as a perversion of our national mission. The mission of our nation is to build up and make a greater country of what we already have instead of annexing islands.

"I did not suppose there was anyone in public life who misunderstood my position in this matter. It has been said that I was partial to the former monarchy and desired to see it restored in order that I might treat with it for the purpose of annexation. How could I have had such an idea if I regarded annexation as contrary to our national policy? The same answer can be made to the statement that my opposition to Hawaiian annexation was based merely upon dissatisfaction with the treaty pending before the Senate at the time of my second inauguration. I was opposed to annexation as such.

"In regard to the Hawaiian monarchy, aside from any question of annexation and without harboring any previous designs of restoring that monarchy, I investigated the relations of our representative to its overthrow. This investigation convinced me that our interference in the revolution of 1893 was disgraceful. I would gladly, therefore, for the sake of our national honor and our country's fair name, have repaired that wrong.

"In regard to the Cuban question my position was fully made known to Congress in the various messages in which the subject was discussed. I was opposed to the recognition of the belligerency of the island and my position was perfectly well known. Indeed, so very unmistakable were my views on the subject that I was time and again threatened by frenzied men and women with dire calamities to be visited upon myself and children because of what they saw fit to assert as my enmity to the Cuban cause.

"My position on all these questions was made very clear in the official documents at the time and there can be no possible mistake.

"It is very difficult for me to understand Senator Morgan's evidently wrong impressions in regard to my position. Indeed, it is one of the strangest things of these times that my position in these matters should be called into question."

Dined.

Dr. John S. McGrew entertained Professor A. Agassiz at a dinner last evening, honored by a number of distinguished guests. The Baltimore's band was in attendance.

this kingdom. The privileges of citizenship was established to foreigners." * * * "Not only have the rights and privileges of the aborigines been better secured under the restored flag, but I maintain, also, that foreigners have been better off. The latter have enjoyed privileges and immunities under the native government such as foreigners dwelling in other lands never dreamt of." (The foregoing statements are perfectly true; in the year 1893, thirty years later, foreigners were still enjoying similar privileges and immunities.)

"You might circumnavigate the globe on a voyage of observation, and I do not believe you would find on any island or continent an instance where two races have met and lived together more harmoniously than upon the Hawaiian Islands. (This is true.)

"In reviewing the past, I would most gladly draw a veil over the deeds of those who have labored to destroy this people and nation. Many of these men have come to an untimely end. I would here repeat a remark which I made eighteen years ago, when preaching on the second anniversary of the Restoration: 'The more I become acquainted with the history of affairs of these islands, the sentiment becomes more strongly impressed upon my mind, that the Sandwich Islands is no field for wicked men, opposers of truth and righteousness, to think of practicing their Schemes before 'high heaven,' unless they are willing to incur the awful risk of being pursued, even in this world by the retributive justice of God.'

"While wicked men and opposers have been afforded an opportunity for displaying their zeal and animus, the friends of order, good government and the native races have enjoyed an excellent opportunity for directly and indirectly, exerting their good offices. (So it is fifty years later.)

"While thus reviewing the past, and looking forth upon the nation's present condition, I can not but glance an eye forward to the unknown future. The question naturally arises, 'what is to come?' 'What are our future prospects?' There are some who take the most sombre view of prospective events, while others look forward more hopefully. "Can we not trust that kind Providence which has led us hitherto? Has not God carefully watched over this government and nation down to 1863, and is he now going to desert us? No. I believe His 'banner of love' is still over this people. Again, if necessary, He will interpose his protecting shield."

Help Him Along.

"When death shall be no more," exclaimed the fiery orator, waving his hand aloft; "I say, when death shall be no more!"

"Death's no mower already!" yelled a voice from the back part of the house; "he's a reaper."—Chicago Tribune.

A REVIEW.

Are Historical Events Repeated?

"In vain was this English party informed that London was the proper place to adjust these difficulties, and that Commissioners had been sent thither, who would meet Mr. Charlton (the British Representative at Hawaii, and who also had proceeded to London, via Mazatlan) at the Foreign Office.

"At this critical and trying moment, a plan was proposed of making a provisional cession of these islands to the Representatives of the Queen of England." (A similar provisional relinquishment of authority by the Sovereign of Hawaii transpired fifty years later, in the year 1893.)

"The King signed the articles of cession, bathed in tears, but not before the whole body of chiefs knelt in prayer, and sought wisdom from God." * * *

"I desire here to call your attention to a remarkable coincidence. On the very day that the Hawaiian flag was lowered and the British hoisted, Messrs. Richards and Hallilio had an interview with Lord Aberdeen, at the Foreign Office in London, when his Lordship assured them that the British Government would acknowledge the independence of the Hawaiian Kingdom. Thus, while one English Lord was compelling Kamehameha III. to lower his flag, another English Lord was assuring the King's Commissioners that the Hawaiian flag should be respected and acknowledged. Above these earthly lords, there was the 'Lord of Lords,' and the 'King of Kings,' who was carefully watching over the affairs of this little Kingdom." (Fifty years later, the watchful care of the Almighty is again called into requisition, and once more He is 'carefully watching over the affairs of this little Kingdom, and the Hawaiian people.')

"During the period from February 25th to July 31st, 1843, the friends and enemies of this Kingdom were not idle." (Nor are they fifty years later.) * * * "Many months elapsed before a reply could be expected. The British Commissioner which was organized to administer the affairs of the government of the islands, until these difficulties should be settled, did not work satisfactorily, and more trouble seemed to be in store for the King and his people. Some were hopeful but others were very desponding." (Fifty years later, a provisional government with similar temporary authority was established; its mode of conducting the affairs of government did not meet with any better results than its "old" predecessor.)

"While affairs were in this unsettled state, it may well be imagined the arrival of H. B. M. S. Dublin, bearing the broad pennant of Rear Admiral Thomas, was hailed with joy, amounting to ecstasy, when it was announced that he was resolved to make an immediate restoration of the flag." * * * "Very few indeed were the foreigners who did not participate in the general exultation. 'The life of the land was now to be restored.'" (Will such an expression of joy, under somewhat similar circumstances again be shown in Hawaii? The answer will be known in a few weeks.)

ation," the reverend gentleman continues:

"The restoration of the Hawaiian flag, and the re-establishment of the King of these islands, in the rightful enjoyment of his privileges and immunities as an independent Sovereign, were as unexpected as they were gratifying. The most sanguine only hoped that after lengthy negotiations this result would ultimately be secured.

"During a period of five months the minds of all classes of the people had been under a strong pressure. Partly feeling ran high. Never before or since have I witnessed such marked exhibitions of coldness and resentment among the foreign residents of Honolulu. (The same feeling again exists fifty years later.) All felt that some change would take place, but what no one could predict. Some hoped. Some feared. All felt uneasy. Shakespeare says:

'Before the days of change, still it is so,
By a divine instinct, men's minds mistrust
Ensuing danger; as, by proof, we see
The water swell before a boisterous storm.'

There was just that feverish state of feeling in the public mind. Imagine then the joyful rebound and spontaneous outburst of thanksgiving; when it was announced that Admiral Thomas had arrived and the purpose of his mission became known."

Speaking of Admiral Thomas, Mr. Damon said:

"His conduct thus effectually produced a kindly feeling among the people towards that country, the representatives of which had only five months previously heaped upon this people and their Sovereign such marked indignities." (History was again repeated fifty years later, when similar indignities were perpetrated at the Court of Hawaii by the Representatives of the United States of America.)

Speaking upon the "Acknowledgement of Independence," he said:

"In consequence of this voluntary timely and public acknowledgment, on the part of these two great powers, this Kingdom has ever since been ranked among the civilized and independent governments, entitled to all the rights, privileges and immunities of a sovereign nation. Thus during the year 1843, the flag of the Kingdom had been lowered and restored; the Kingdom ceded and delivered back, and the Great Powers of Europe acknowledged it as independent and sovereign."

During the year 1893 the flag of the Hawaiian Kingdom was lowered and restored; during the year 1897, and the Hawaiian Islands, by the action of the then existing Government and Senate, were again ceded to another foreign power. To complete the chain of historical events, now requires the performance of the act, that of the delivery of the islands back to their rightful subjects, and the re-acknowledgment of their independent sovereignty by the Great Powers

"I do not hesitate in making the open and frank assertion, that, in my opinion, it was a most fortunate and providential event, that the Government was restored to its former position. It was not only restored but established upon a firmer basis, which has been productive of incalculable good to all classes residing upon these islands." * * *

"The most important feature of these changes was the union of natives and foreigners in the executive, legislative and judicial offices of

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 2, 1898.

Manager Willison, the circus man, was charged this morning in the District Court with violating the laws relating to gambling and lotteries. The method of Willison, to which the "law" objected was, that each purchaser of an admission ticket to the tent was given a number, and that during the evening a drawing took place, and the holder of the number drawn, was presented with a watch. Mr. Willison was of course unaware of the existence of the "blue laws" in this country and looked surprised, when the Marshal stated that all gambling of such a nature had been stopped in this virtuous town. Judge Wilcox didn't think the offense very serious and inflicted only a nominal fine on the circus man. But how about raffling, Mr. Marshal Brown which is carried on publicly and even advertised in the newspapers? Did any one with a string on one of the Marshal's handsome hindlegs make him "raid" the Willison Circus, which furnishes amusement for a big crowd of people and which should be patronized rather than obstructed?

OUR BLUE LAWS.

The Marshal and his myrmidons have suddenly become possessed of a fit of holy virtue, and are attempting to enforce the "blue" laws yet on our statutes. We hope that the virtuous spasm has been caused by a desire on the part of the authorities to have the Legislature amend existing laws and listen to the will of the masses, and not to the exhortations of a small clique of bigoted men and women, who evidently believe that they are the chosen people and that they are in special rapport with the Lord of the Universe.

We hope that one of the first measures taken up by the Legislature will be the repeal of or at least a radical amendment to the present Sunday laws.

To perpetuate the present obsolete laws probably suitable to the ages when witches and "missionaries" were burned at the stake will be a blot on our boasted civilization, and make us ridiculous in the eyes of the people, at whose door we are knocking for admission.

Last Sunday a number of respectable Chinese storekeepers were arrested, dragged to the Police Station and compelled to appear in Court on the following morning. They were charged with violating the Sunday laws, and in all instances, except one the Government refused to prosecute. The offense of the men consisted in leaving the door of their stores open. A large number of Chinese storekeepers live in the rooms back of their saleroom and it is an outrage to prevent them from getting fresh air and light into the rooms for which they pay rent and taxes. Why are no raids made on the big "white" firms, which keep their front doors open on Sundays and work their clerks and employees for hours? Has Marshal Brown or his officers ever seen the doors of our "big" merchants' stores and warehouses open on Sundays? If they haven't they must be blind; if they have, why did they make no arrest?

One Chinaman plead guilty to having violated the Sunday laws. He did sell ten cents worth of grapes at 8 p. m. last Sunday to some unfortunate wayfarer who probably came from the Central Union Church and felt dry and hungry. The Chinaman sold the grapes, because next morning the fruit would have been spoilt, but by doing so he violated the idiotic law framed and passed by idiots, whose place is in an asylum for imbeciles rather than in a Legislature.

Judge Wilcox declined to punish the man. He wished that he could suspend sentence in the case, but the Supreme Court having decided that he was not a judge during eternity, as they are but only "temporary," he had to do something and he reprimanded the grapeselling Chinaman. The Judge added that he considered our present Sunday law very foolish indeed. It was passed, however, by men elected by the "people" and he presumed that it must be obeyed and carried out.

There is good material in the coming Legislature, and we hope that the last remnant of the "blue" laws will be buried, and that in the future we will be able to get a shave, buy a cigar, a meal or fruit on the Sabbath Day.

The idea of closing the bicycle renting stores and allowing livery stables, hacks, trams, etc., to ply their trades is preposterous. The same game was tried in St. Louis some years ago and the people interfered with retaliated very neatly. They had the paid members of church choirs and organists arrested and the courts found these people guilty of violating the Sabbath law. Why not give our sanctimonious "blue" lawmakers a dose of the St. Louis medicine? It would result here as there in the immediate repeal of a most obnoxious law.

A Big Deal

At noon to-day auctioneer Morgan for Henry Smith, Chief Clerk of the Supreme Court, disposed of the valuable property belonging to the Bishop Estate, and known as the Molokai ranch.

The upset price was $150,000, and the property was eventually knocked down to Arthur D. McClellan of Boston for $251,000. Mr. A. W. Carter bid as far as $225,000 and then he dropped out of the contest. Mr. Desky offered $250,000 when he had reached his limit and at $251,000 Mr. McClellan got the big lands.

It is understood that Mr. McClellan represents the syndicate in which Judge Carter, the Meyers and others are interested. A big sugar plantation will be established on the land as soon as artesian wells have been sunk. If sugar proves a success, the Molokai plantation will be the biggest on the islands, a very large amount of land suitable for sugar growing being available.

The Band Concert.

A large attendance at Thomas Square last evening. If the audience, when Miss Kanoho sings, would retire from 50 to 100 yards away from the bandstand instead of crowding around it, they would hear her sweet voice to much greater advantage. She will sing at Makee Island this evening.

The Peru Arrives.

The P. M. S. S. Peru arrived at 1 o'clock this morning after a run of 6 days and 11 hours from San Francisco and will sail for the Orient at 10 to-night. She brought the following passengers: G. W. Bramball, R. A. Cram, W. C. Tyler, W. McMahon, E. E. Rittenhouse, J. W. Regan and wife.

MR. CARTER TALKS.

Hawaiians Are Not Satisfied with the Existing Government.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—A special to the World from Washington says: Major J. O. Carter, one of the most prominent of Hawaiians who oppose annexation and the most influential of Queen Liliuokalani's adherents, has arrived. He is a white man, of American parentage, although born on the islands. In discussing the expediency of annexation Major Carter said to-night:

"I am too good an American to want to see the United States annex Hawaii and too good a Hawaiian to want to see that country annexed to the United States. Personally I like Mr. Dole, and the members of his Cabinet are my friends; but Mr. Dole in saying that Hawaiians are satisfied with the existing Government makes a great mistake if he means to include the natives. Moreover, the desire of the whites for annexation is waning."

A Fine Concert.

Mr. Wray Taylor is to be complimented on the success of the concert given at the Y. M. C. A. hall last night under the management of that clever organist.

The Y. M. C. A. orchestra was heartily applauded by the large audience and the members deserve all possible praise for their good work.

Among the artists assisting at the entertainment special mention is due to Professor Frazier who handles the mandolin with rare skill; J. H. Widman who possesses a fine baritone voice; Miss Alice Rice, whose excellent piano playing is always enjoyed by the music loving people of Honolulu and Mrs. E. D. Tenney, whose highly cultivated voice always bring down the audience.

All the numbers on the program were well rendered and cordially applauded by the ladies and gentlemen who crowded the hall.

A Pretty Wedding.

Miss Grace Richards sister of Mr. Theodore Richards, principal of the Kamehameha schools for boys, was married yesterday afternoon to Professor R. Woodward, a popular teacher at the schools.

The ceremony took place at the Richards residence which was decorated in a very artistic and pretty manner and was witnessed by a large number of friends. Rev. D. P. Birnie, assisted by Rev. Dr. C. M. Hyde "tied the knot."

The young couple left by the steamer Claudine for Maui where they will spend their honeymoon.

There Are Others.

"I want to know," writes an Eastern man who is visiting in Spokane, why every man is a colonel, major or captain out here? How did they come by the title?

That is not correct statement. We also have generals.—Spokane Review.

HONEST GROVER.

Ex-President Cleveland Denounces Morgan.

Annexation is Contrary to America's National Policy and Her Interference in the Revolution of 1893 Was a Disgrace

PRINCETON, N. J., Jan. 24.—"It is one of the strangest things of these strange times that my position upon the Hawaiian question should be misunderstood."

That is the way ex-President Grover Cleveland expressed himself when shown the statement of Senator Morgan relative to his position in the Senate to-day. In order that there could be no misunderstanding of his position on the part of the public he authorized the following statement to the Associated Press:

"I do not believe in discussing matters of this kind as a private citizen. I do not care, however, to be misrepresented.

"I will, therefore, say that ever since the question of Hawaiian annexation was presented I have been utterly and constantly opposed to it. The first thing after my inauguration in March, 1893, was to recall from the Federal Senate an annexation treaty then pending before that body. I regarded, and still regard, the proposed annexation of these islands as not only opposed to our national policy, but as a perversion of our national mission. The mission of our nation is to build up and make a greater country of what we already have instead of annexing islands.

"I did not suppose there was anyone in public life who misunderstood my position in this matter. It has been said that I was partial to the former monarchy and desired to see it restored in order that I might treat with it for the purpose of annexation. How could I have had such an idea if I regarded annexation as contrary to our national policy? The same answer can be made to the statement that my opposition to Hawaiian annexation was based merely upon dissatisfaction with the treaty pending before the Senate at the time of my second inauguration. I was opposed to annexation as such.

"In regard to the Hawaiian monarchy, aside from any question of annexation and without harboring any previous designs of restoring that monarchy, I investigated the relations of our representative to its overthrow. This investigation convinced me that our interference in the revolution of 1893 was disgraceful. I would gladly, therefore, for the sake of our national honor and our country's fair name, have repaired that wrong.

"In regard to the Cuban question my position was fully made known to Congress in the various messages in which the subject was discussed. I was opposed to the recognition of the belligerency of the island and my position was perfectly well known. Indeed, so very unmistakable were my views on the subject that I was time and again threatened by frenzied men and women with dire calamities to be visited upon myself and children because of what they saw fit to assert as my enmity to the Cuban cause.

"My position on all these questions was made very clear in the official documents at the time and there can be no possible mistake.

"It is very difficult for me to understand Senator Morgan's evidently wrong impressions in regard to my position. Indeed, it is one of the strangest things of these times that my position in these matters should be called into question."

Dr. John S. McGrew entertained Professor A. Agassiz at a dinner last evening, honored by a number of distinguished guests. The Baltimore's band was in attendance.

this kingdom. The privileges of citizenship was established to foreigners." * * * "Not only have the rights and privileges of the aborigines been better secured under the restored flag, but I maintain, also, that foreigners have been better off. The latter have enjoyed privileges and immunities under the native government such as foreigners dwelling in other lands never dream of." (The foregoing statements are perfectly true; in the year 1893, thirty years later, foreigners were still enjoying similar privileges and immunities.)

"You might circumnavigate the globe on a voyage of observation, and I do not believe you would find on any island or continent an instance where two races have met and lived together more harmoniously than upon the Hawaiian Islands. (This is true.)

"In reviewing the past, I would most gladly draw a veil over the deeds of those who have labored to destroy this people and nation. Many of these men have come to an untimely end. I would here repeat a remark which I made eighteen years ago, when preaching on the second anniversary of the Restoration: 'The more I become acquainted with the history of affairs of these islands, the sentiment becomes more strongly impressed upon my mind, that the Sandwich Islands is no field for wicked men, opposers of truth and righteousness, to think of practicing their schemes before 'high heaven,' unless they are willing to incur the awful risk of being pursued, even in this world by the retributive justice of God.'

"While wicked men and opposers have been afforded an opportunity for displaying their zeal and animus, the friends of order, good government and the native race have enjoyed an excellent opportunity for directly and indirectly, exerting their good offices. (So it is fifty years later.)

"While thus reviewing the past, and looking forth upon the nation's present condition, I can not but glance an eye forward to the unknown future. The question naturally arises, 'what is to come?' 'What are our future prospects?' There are some who take the most sombre view of prospective events, while others look forward more hopefully. "Can we not trust that kind Providence which has led us hitherto? Has not God carefully watched over this government and nation down to 1863, and is he now going to desert us? No. I believe His 'banner of love' is still over this people. Again, if necessary, He will interpose his protecting shield."

Help Him Along.

"When death shall be no more," exclaimed the fiery orator, waving his hand aloft; "I say, when death shall be no more!"

"Death's no mower already!" yelled a voice from the back part of the house; "he's a reaper!"—Chicago Tribune.
